

Marijuana-Sniffing Dog

"Thor" is an ordinary looking German Shepherd. Black and tan and sleek, he can sit in front of an audience and appear to be just another dog.

However, "Thor" is not "just another dog." He is a marijuana-sniffing dog trained for special police work in finding concealed marijuana.

The dog and his trainer, and several other members of the New Mexico State Police, presented a program Thursday at the regular meeting of the Peace Officers Association meeting here, as an added bonus, the group also appeared before a large crowd at the "Resource Management In Emergencies" meeting at the high school auditorium.

"Thor" is a 3-year-old dog that formerly belonged to a district attorney in New Mexico. The dog and the trainer were both sent to Chicago where they underwent two months of special training in finding hidden marijuana.

A member of the New Mexico State Police hid several varying amounts of marijuana on the stage of the high school auditorium while the dog and trainer were outside the building. The dog and trainer were brought into the auditorium, onto the stage and the animal quickly found each of the hiding places.

The trainer, in explaining the training of the dog, said there have been several experiments tried with dogs in locating different things such as bombs, heroin and marijuana. He said dogs trained to locate bombs and marijuana have proved most successful while the program on heroin finding has been halted.

The trainer said the heroin program was slowed down because many of the dogs used in searching for marijuana became addicted to the drug and had to be destroyed. There is no way to save a dog once it becomes addicted to heroin, he said, because in the process of sniffing the drug out, some of the heroin gets into the animal's nostrils and he becomes addicted.

Shrine Clinic Planned May 6

The Oasis Shrine Club will conduct its 16th annual children's diagnostic clinic here May 6, but possible patients are asked to visit an area doctor prior to the clinic to get an application form filled out.

Doctors who have the application blanks are Robert Alexander, Friona; Harold Bischoff, Dimmitt; John Blackburn, Dimmitt; W. B. Childress, Tulia; Lee Foreman, Tulia; C. E. Hicks, Hereford; Kenneth Hunt, Hereford; H. R. Johnson, Hereford; Bill Lee, Dimmitt; A.

T. Mims, Hereford; Duffy McBrayer, Hereford; Bill Murphy, Dimmitt; Millard W. Nobles, Hereford; Gerald Payne, Hereford; Fred Richards, Tulia; C. E. Rush, Hereford; J. J. Scarborough, Tulia; Floyd Spring, Friona; Paul Spring, Friona; and Ralph Wills, Hereford.

Prospective clinic patients are asked to see one of these doctors ahead of time in order preparations can be made to see the patients at the time of the clinic.

Also, arrangements must be made before the clinic date for all necessary "extras" such as x-rays.

General physicals will be conducted the morning of the clinic, at the Community Center, and all applicants should show up there. After the general physical, the patients will be assigned to one of a large number of specialists from across the state who will be here for the clinic.

General physicals will start around 8 a. m. May 6. The clinic was established 17 years ago for diagnosis of children with handicaps, not necessarily crippling, who are referred by their private physicians to see the specialists.

Children up to 18 years of age from throughout the area attend the clinic each year.

SNIFFING IT OUT — "Thor," a New Mexico State Police marijuana-sniffing dog, indicates to his trainer there is marijuana hidden under the table. The officers hid several samples of marijuana and the dog found each of them.

Hereford Booster Club is hoping all sports fans will mark their calendars for April 24, when the annual All-Sports Banquet is to be held in the Bull Barn. The Booster Club is selling tickets for only $2 each, striving to draw a large crowd rather than trying to make money. Make your plans now to see Hereford High athletes honored at the annual event!

We hope most of our readers saw the story in last Sunday's paper about the organization of NORM — National Organization for Raw Materials, with headquarters in Hereford. It will be an effort to educate the general public, all across the nation, of what agriculture contributes to the economy.

Harlan VanderZee, president of Hereford State Bank, was elected president of NORM by representatives from 24 states. He says the organization will launch a nationwide crusade for public support to challenge the present economic policies and to "construct an economic rebirth of the nation."

The program appears to be one that all segments of the agricultural industry can rally behind. He adds that the group is seeking an end to the "frustration economics" of the past five administrations. Main goal is to educate the public on the factors which brought about the imbalances between farm prices, raw materials, labor and interest costs.

Publicity releases are now being sent all over the nation... we hope you'll be hearing a lot more about NORM.

Hereford Lions are making plans for their annual Auction Sale, with this year's project to include a public auction sale at the Bull Barn.

The sale is scheduled April 22, with proceeds going to the Hereford Opportunity Plan.

Tommy yelled back, "I'm not pulling the cat's tail; I'm only standing on it... he's the one that's doing the pulling!"

Junk Car Letters Go Out

The City of Hereford last week sent out its first series of 300 letters to city residents, warning them action will be taken to remove junk vehicles from both city property and private property.

City Manager Dudley Bayne said the letters sent out last week were only the first such ones that will be sent in the city's attempt to clean up the streets, alleys, vacant lots and private property.

"Cars on streets on the city right-of-way — we are just going to haul them off," Bayne said. "They have no right to be there in the first place."

"Those that are on private property, the people will be notified by way of this letter and they will be given a certain period of time to have the vehicle hauled off or we will haul it off ourselves."

City policemen have during their regular rounds, been checking on old, abandoned vehicles during the past three months. The officers, each time they see a vehicle in violation of the new city ordinance, will stop, get the license number if there is one, and the serial number and send both into Austin for verification.

The city commission, in an early December meeting, passed its first ordinance that gave it the authority to take action against persons in violation of the relatively new state law on junk vehicles.

In the past, if a vehicle was on private property, the city had no authority to remove that vehicle. Now, if the vehicle constitutes a public nuisance or is an eyesore, the city can have the vehicle removed, without payment of any type to the owner.

"If these people want these cars, they are going to have to improve them to where they are not considered junk vehicles. They can sell them to some wrecking yard if they don't want them, otherwise, if we pick them up, we have the right to sell them," Bayne said.

"By selling them, it is the only way the city can pay for having them picked up."

If a vehicle owner does not agree with the decision of the city to have the vehicle removed, he has the opportunity to file for a public hearing before the city commission.

"This is the thing first and foremost in their minds," he said.

The 49-year-old Connally, brother to U. S. Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, said the problems of this area of the state are three deep as he pointed to the water shortage, environmentalists' attacks on feedyards and the future of education.

"These are the things the people of this area are primarily concerned with," Connally said.

"Water — where is the answer?"

"We hope to use the Texas State Water Plan as a starting point. The people voted it down a couple of years ago due to the metropolitan influence against it."

"I have pledged myself to this because I know of the critical water problem. It is diminishing and diminishing rapidly."

On education, Connally said the state is going to have to come up with some type of state-wide program to finance education as a result of the recent court ruling calling for equal distribution of school taxes.

The Floresville Senator also said, if elected Lieutenant Governor, he would attempt to reform the legislative process. He said the one weakness in the process is allowing bills to come up in great numbers during the closing session that representatives do not have time to read and "look at all the commas and wording."

He said he would suggest a two week moratorium in which no new bills would be introduced on the floor of the Senate. This, he said, would prevent the passage of bills that representatives know nothing about.

"I am not seeking any lifetime public career. I owe a great deal to my state and if I can make a contribution to it, I want to," he said.

Connally Visits City On Campaign Trail

Senator Wayne Connally, on a campaign stop here Thursday, said the main campaign issues in the race for the Lieutenant Governor's office this year is to find a man who is "going to dedicate himself to the problems instead of being a part of those problems."

In a press interview prior to his luncheon with some 50 local persons, Connally, a candidate for the Lieutenant Governor's position, said everywhere he has visited in the past few months, the people he has talked with have indicated they want a change in the present system of state government.

Emergency Procedures Discussed At Meeting

Individual precautions and procedures by local government during a disaster were the topics discussed Thursday night when representatives of two of the state's top emergency departments presented a program on "Resource Management In Emergencies" at the high school auditorium.

Charles Crouch of the National Weather Services in Amarillo and C. O. Layne, state coordinator, State Civil Defense, spoke to a large group of city and county officials Thursday, discussing with them the procedures that should be taken in the event a disaster hits Hereford. A 15-minute color film entitled "Tornado" also was presented during the two-hour program.

Crouch told the audience that a new plan will be tried this year in an attempt to categorize tornadoes. Beginning with the tornado season this year, tornadoes will be listed in regard to their intensity. Small tornadoes will be called "ordinary"; those with winds up to 75 miles per hour will be called "mini"; and those with winds up to 175 miles per hour will be called "maxi."

Crouch also pointed out some of the precautions that can be taken during a tornado. These included:

- (1) The bed makes a good cover and protection during a tornado.
- (2) The bathtub also provides adequate protection during a tornado.
- (3) Windows should be opened during a tornado so pressure inside the house will equal that outside the house.

(4) Don't get into your car during a tornado because when pressure drops during a tornado, it can affect the car-bumper, and you may not have enough gasoline to "out-run" a tornado.

(5) Get into a low area if unable to get to an adequate shelter. If on a rural road, get into the nearest ditch, but don't crawl into a culvert.

Crouch added that tornado warnings and watches will be posted this year, as in the past, over KGNC-TV in Amarillo and also over radio station KPAN of Hereford.

Layne, a 1929 graduate of Hereford High School, discussed the role of local government in the event of a disaster.

"Civil Defense," he said, "in our modern vocabulary is probably one of the most misunderstood and misinterpreted terms we have. What Civil Defense actually is — local government responding to any massive emergency such as fires, floods, explosions, tornadoes, and God help us, nuclear wars."

Layne said efforts should be made to organize the local civil defense effort; to select any Emergency Operating Center (EOC); and to prepare an emergency Public Information Operation (PIO).

"Encourage people to become trained to cope with any crisis that comes your way," he concluded.

Lions Auction Scheduled

The annual Hereford Lions Club radio auction has been changed this year to a live auction with proceeds to go to the Hereford Opportunity Plan.

The auction, planned for 1:30 p.m. April 22 at the Bull Barn, will be broadcast live over KPAN but phone-in bids will not be taken this year. The Lions Club is asking that all persons who want to bid on the merchandise come to the Bull Barn.

The proceeds from the auction will be presented to the Hereford Opportunity Plan to allow some deserving student the chance to attend college by borrowing the money from the Plan.

Merchandise to be sold has been donated by various merchants throughout the city, but Lions Club officials still are seeking additional donations. Any merchant who has not donated anything and would like to can contact any Lions Club member.

The items to be sold will be available for inspection at the Bull Barn from Friday, April 21 through the end of the sale. Items will vary in value and usefulness.

Workers Needed For TB Skin Testing

A meeting for all persons who want to work at the Hereford tuberculin skin-testing program April 29 has been slated for Monday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Action Agency office at the Labor Camp.

The meeting was set at a tuberculin skin-testing seminar given by Charles McIntosh of the Top of Texas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association Tuesday in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Man Charged In Rape Case

A 35-year-old Hereford man is being held in the county jail on charges of raping his 9-year-old daughter.

The man was arraigned Friday morning after being picked up at his home. He was charged with rape and bond was denied.

City police officers learned of the incident when the mother, who works at night, went to the police station Friday morning and told them of the incident. City police officers and sheriffs officers went to the home and arrested the man.

After questioning the girl, officers said they learned it was not the first time the incident has occurred.

Rabies Still Must Be Reckoned With

Rabies in man doesn't happen too often, but the disease still is one to be reckoned with because of its presence in wildlife and the increase in the number of pets owned by Texans.

Those who believe that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure should guard their pets against rabies by having them vaccinated, says the Texas State Department of Health. It is a good way of protecting your pets — and yourself — against the threat of rabies.

Rabies last year was on the increase after a record low number of cases in 1970. Following a low of only 226 cases, laboratory confirmed animal rabies rose to 322 cases in 1971.

Surprisingly, cat rabies cases outnumbered the number of dog cases last year. This can be interpreted two ways. First, it could be interpreted to mean that the vaccination of dogs is showing results. Or, it could mean that cat exposure to rabies is increasing and that cat vaccinations aren't on par with those of dogs.

Whichever reason you choose, you'd be correct.

Of the 39 pets which came down with rabies, the cats outnumber the dogs 21 to 18. Dog rabies cases showed a decline by one case, but the number of rabid cats increased from 16 to 21 in one year.

The Veterinary Public Health Division of the State Health Department instituted a bite surveillance program during 1971, and the nine-month results showed the need for more pet rabies protection. Of 5,119 dogs involved in biting episodes, only 34.1 per cent — or about one-third, were known to have been vaccinated. The percentage was much worse for cats. Of 835 cats involved in biting incidents, less than 10 percent were known to have rabies protection.

As usual, wildlife rabies cases took the spotlight in 1971 with 252 cases. Rabid skunks headed the list with 186 of the 252 confirmed cases. Thirty-one cases of rabies were confirmed in livestock last year. To protect the public, the State Health Department furnished 689 anti-rabies treatment series (14 injections) to bite victims last year. This treatment is doing the job, and the last human fatality to naturally-acquired rabies in Texas was in 1962.

The record is good, but Health Department officials believe that the odds against rabies can be better if all pets — dogs and cats — are protected against rabies.

SCS Helping Near-Extinct Animals

Have you seen a Texas pistachio tree, an Attwater prairie chicken or a Texas Wildlife plant lately?

Probably not, because they are scarce.

But, they are some of the rare and endangered species that were discussed last week during an interagency conference in Austin.

Called by the USDA Soil Conservation Service, the meeting was attended by representatives of state and federal agencies, universities and various organizations interested in preserving Texas plants and wildlife.

Clyde W. Graham, state conservationist for SCS in Temple, said the purpose of the meeting was to prepare a correlated Texas watchlist of rare and endangered species of plants, animals, fishes and birds; to discuss the kinds of measures important to their habitat; and to discuss the possibility of setting up a monitoring program.

Objective of the monitoring program would be to obtain advance warning of actions and conditions that could further endanger these species. Appropriate action could then be taken to protect them.

"With professional conservationists headquartered in 259 field locations in Texas, we feel that SCS is uniquely capable of playing a vital role in monitoring the situation," Graham said. "We are asking all district conservationists to examine local SCS and SCS-assisted programs to evaluate effects on these plants and animals, and recommend any action needed for their protection."

The secretary of the Interior annually issues a list of rare and endangered fish and wildlife species in the United States.

This list includes several species found at least part of the time in Texas including the Attwater prairie chicken, golden-cheeked warbler, ivory-billed woodpecker, whooping crane, American alligator, red wolf, Houston toad and the ferret which has been cited in Deaf Smith County.

SCS has already been actively engaged in trying to help save several rare species, Graham pointed out. For example, range conservationists along the Gulf Coast have helped improve tall grass habitat needed by the Attwater prairie chicken. Excellent results have been obtained in the last few years.

Also, an SCS range conservationist found a specimen of the mysterious Texas pistachio tree clinging to the steep banks of the Devils River near Amistad Reservoir. The lovely evergreen, relished by wildlife and livestock, was once feared extinct. Seed collected from the tree were planted at the SCS plant materials center at Knox City and at a Texas Forest Service nursery.

The state conservationist also pointed to SCS work in promoting grassland restoration work in strips or other patterns to benefit wildlife. When grassland restoration work is done according to SCS recommendations, strips or patterns of land are restored to formerly productive stands of nutritious grasses, legumes and forbs needed by both livestock and wildlife.

Herd Track Team Has 7th At Amarillo Relays

The Hereford High School track team tuned-up for the District 4-AAAA track meet in Lubbock next weekend with a 28 1/3-point production and a seventh place finish at the Amarillo Relays Saturday afternoon.

San Angelo won the huge meet, compiling 93 points, and was followed by Plainview and Pampa, 60; Amarillo Palo Duro, 46; Amarillo Tascosa, 37 1/3; Amarillo High, 34; El Paso Irving, 30; Hereford, 28 1/3; Altis, Oklahoma, 26; and Midland Lee, 24.

Luther Mays and Keith Kitchens had the best finishes for the Herd, taking seconds in the 880-yard run and the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, respectively. James Harris was third in the high hurdles and Wesley High was fourth. Harris also took sixth in the 330-yard hurdles, as did Steve Nieman in the 440-yard run.

The HHS mile relay team missed the handoff after the first lap and was disqualified. Floydada won the AA and A competition.

Boxing Matches Are Scheduled

Any boxing fan who missed the first Hereford Boxing Club matches last month will get another chance Friday when the Hereford club sponsors matches involving four area clubs.

Boxers of all ages and weights, including two heavy-weight fighters, will be in the Bull Barn at 8 p.m. for about 20 bouts.

Fighters from Hereford, Plainview, Amarillo, Lubbock and Dimmitt will participate. The Hereford club's last action was at the Amarillo AAU tournament last week.

Kenneth Paetzold was the only Hereford boxer to gain a victory in the finals, winning on a decision of the 45-pound classification. Ernest Castro, Richard Rodriguez and Jesse Martinez all lost on decision.

CARNEGIE REUNION
NEW YORK (AP) — Two of Italy's most famed singers, soprano Licia Albanese and tenor Giuseppe Di Stefano, will sing at Carnegie Hall on March 12, celebrating the centennial of St. Peter's College in Jersey City, N.J.

They last appeared together at the Metropolitan Opera on the closing night of the 1951-52 season in "La Traviata." This will be their first joint concert.

Miss Albanese made her opera debut in 1935 in Parma and Di Stefano made his debut in 1946 in Reggio Emilia, Italy.

OPERA LEAVES ZOO
CINCINNATI (AP) — This city is to become the third to see the New York City Opera's "Mefistofele," starring Norman Treigle.

Through a gift of the Corbett Foundation of Cincinnati, the Cincinnati Summer Opera will celebrate its move from the Zoo to the Music Hall next June, with "Mefistofele."

The cast will be from the New York City Opera, except for John Alexander of the Metropolitan Opera, who will sing Faust.

Kiwanis Club Plans Meet Sat.

Fourth, fifth and sixth grade students from Hereford's seven elementary schools will be participating in the annual Hereford Kiwanis Club track meet April 14 on the Whiteface track.

The meet will begin at 1 p.m., and trophies will be awarded to the 15 top finishers. Larry Wartes is the meet director.

Coaches of the elementary school teams are John Poindexter, Aikman; Mal Manchee, Bluebonnet; Tom Templeton, Central; Gary Billingsly, Northwest; Tommy Bowling, Shirley; Roger Huber, Tierra Blanca; and Ralph Loerwald, St. Anthony's.

More than 500 people were on hand Tuesday night at La Plata Junior High School's gym to watch the determined Hereford Jaycees get massacred by the Harlem Stars.

Not that the final score really mattered (72-56 in your know who's favor), but it really was a lot closer than the Jaycees had figured. Confidence didn't actually flow along the Jaycees' bench, in fact it would have taken a master sleuth to find any confidence, real or false, among the hometown stalwarts.

As expected, 8'11" John Bunch dominated the game, sweeping both the offensive and defensive boards as the terrified Stars gaped in amazement? (Would you believe he got two or three rebounds?)

Terry "Two Point" Hill kept the Stars off their feet with his fancy ball handling and speedy moved under the basket, while "Diamond" Dale Smith kept the cards swishing from outside — and I mean 'way outside — almost in the hall.

Just exactly why the Jaycees lost has still not been determined. It could have been because they didn't have any talent, but most feel they must have thrown the game. With all that height and speed going for them, there just wasn't any reason for a loss.

Hill ended up with high point honors for the Jaycees, putting in 15 big points, while Smith contributed 10 markers. Greg Chisholm added six points, after taking over the center slot from Bunch who was injured after after scoring 11 big points.

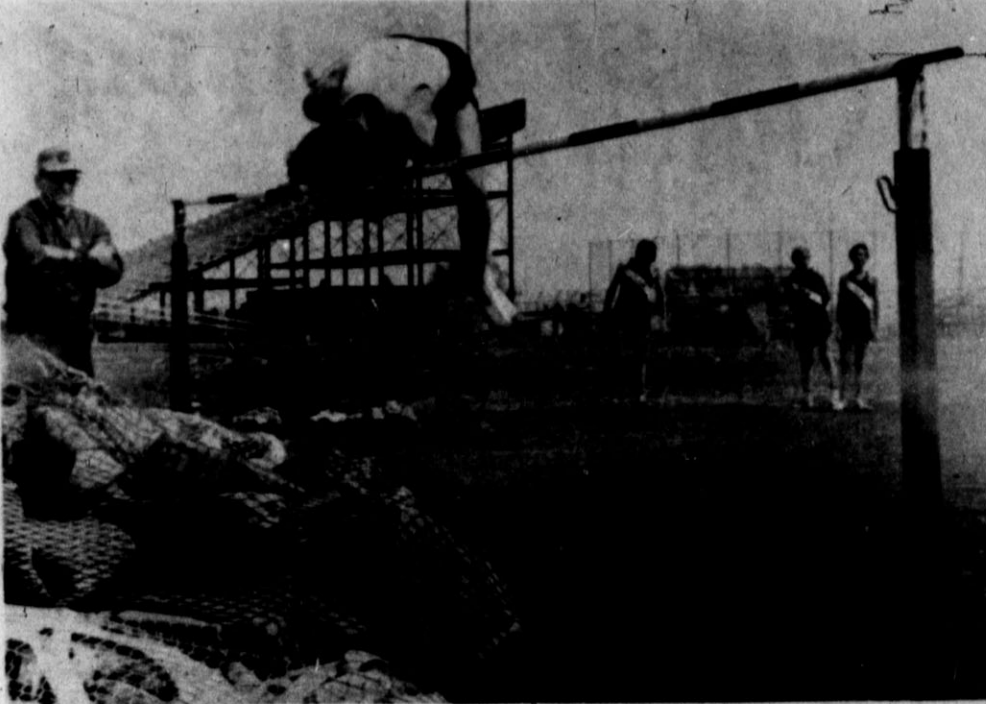

Bunch and the tallest member of the Stars were slightly injured when their heads protruded through the gym's roof while both athletes were scrambling for a rebound.

The game almost had to be called off when the Jaycees couldn't find a dressing room. Why? Well there is a sign on the La Plata dressing room door which says "Athletes Only" and the Jaycees were sorta left out in the cold.

Finally Pat Hughes, La Plata assistant principal, happened along and let the anxious ball players into the dressing area. What are rules for but to be broken?

At halftime the Hereford Little Dribblers' Inc. champions were recognized and ribbons awarded them. An All-Star team from the Major League was also named, and will travel to Lubbock next weekend to represent Hereford in the district Little Dribblers' Inc. Tournament.

During the second half things kinda went sour for the Jaycees, as the Stars got hot enough to come back and squeak out a narrow victory. A Star was also injured in a tussle, but a good sniff of some lady's shoe brought the unconscious basketballer back to his feet and the game continued.

Bornstein Takes Coaching Job

David Bornstein, defensive coach and first assistant on the Hereford High School football team for the past four seasons, was named head coach at Stratford High School Thursday.

"The decision was real hard because I hate to leave a town, school system and community which has been so good to me, but I just didn't feel that I could pass up the opportunity and challenge," the 26-year-old Bornstein said.

The new Stratford mentor attended Stamford High School and West Texas State University. He began his coaching career at Borger in 1968, before moving to Hereford. Bornstein was a member of the Whiteface staff last season when the Herd advanced to the AAAA state quarter-finals.

Bornstein will replace Bill Mires, whose contract wasn't renewed following a 1-9 season last year.

The U.S. Weather Bureau was established in 1870.

Ray Lueb Makes Bowler Of Week

Ray Lueb, 630, was the bowler of the week last week in the Kings and Queens Bowling League.

Lueb also had the high individual series, 573, and high game, 223, while Pauline McDonald rolled a 504 for high individual series for the women, and a 210 for high game.

Team No. 5 had the high team game, 907, and Bob's Hickory Pit recorded the high team series, 2289.

Converting splits were Bertha Arnold, 5-10; Jimmy Bell, 5-7, 3-10; David McDonald, 6-7; Alice Lueb, 5-7; Pat Stevens, 3-10; Carl Skaggs, 3-10; and Audine Dettmann, 2-7.

In play last week Ten Pins won three from Vance Hall, E-Z Way, won three from Dickie's Restaurant, Hereford Janitor Supply won three from Reeves' Chevrolet-Olds, and Bob's Hickory Pit won three from Team No. 5.

Hereford Janitor Supply currently leads the league with a 23-9 mark, followed by Bob's Hickory Pit, 21-11; Reeves'

Coronado Wins 3-0 Game

Several unsuspecting Jaycees also received a free bath from the Harlem funmakers, when one accidentally (?) dropped a bucket of water on the Jaycee bench. Only the quick-thinking and fast-a-foot kept from getting wet — which means most got soaked.

But even as the final buzzer sounded and most Jaycees strode from the court thinking just like the Dallas Cowboys for so many years — "there's always next year," one thing is for sure.

The Jaycees will ride again, and the Stars will hopefully be back again to bring laughs from one and all.

The Hereford Whiteface baseball nine lost another close decision in 4-AAAA play Friday, losing to Lubbock Coronado in Lubbock, 3-0, on a four-hitter by Bill Wallis.

Frank Bezner, Herd third baseman, led the crippled Hereford attack with two singles. Terry Poindexter and Eugene Suttle each singled to finish the Herd's hitting.

Ricky Locke absorbed the mound loss, giving up eight safeties to the Coronado squad, while striking out three and walking none. It was Hereford's sixth consecutive loss in loop play, all by close margins.

Sponsors And Coaches Needed

An urgent plea has been made by the Hereford Boy's Baseball Program for sponsors for several of the 30 teams which make up the baseball program locally. As of Friday night there were still 10 teams without sponsors.

Another meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room. All league officials, coaches, and managers are asked to attend.

There also are several teams which do not have coaches or managers. Anyone wishing to help out in any capacity, including as a team sponsor, are urged to contact John Bunch or Terry Neill.

Registration was held Saturday for the Bronco League at the Community Center. The other two leagues will have registrations coming up, and all boys should take at least one parent and some proof of age with him to registration.

Cupell-Victor Wedding Held On Special Date

On the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents Miss Nita Sue Cupell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. JoEd Cupell of 349 Stadium Drive, and Jimmy Edward Victor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Victor of 1612 Avenue K, were married in First Baptist Church sanctuary at twilight Friday.

Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor, conducted the ceremony. The couple stood before an arch of fresh leaves backed by sprays of blue-carnations and white gladiolus, and candelabra based in greenery.

Miss Cupell's matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Jerry Stephens of Pampa, and David Vines acted as best man. Miss Connie Betzen and Mrs. Kelvin Betzen were the bridesmaids, Kelvin Betzen and the bridegroom's brother, David Cupell, the groomsmen.

Ushers were brothers of the couple, Gary Victor and Albert Cupell. The Gary Victors' small daughter, Donna, was the flower girl and Shannon Williams, son of the Johnny Williams of Hartley, carried the rings.

While the prelude music was presented by Larry Kuper, cousin of the bride, and the pianist, Reita Victor of Portales, cousin of the bridegroom, Cindy and Sheila Stephens of Pampa lighted the candles. Solos included Twelfth of Never, the theme form the motion picture, Love Story, and We've Only Just Begun.

A portrait wedding gown was chosen by the bride, in Victorian style with spreading skirt formed of lace tiers of waterfall effect. The figurine bodice was cut with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves.

Of Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta, it had scallops of the lace edging the carpet-length skirt and the neckline. Her illusion veil, which extended into a chapel train, was also bordered with lace scallops and fell in tiers from a lace coil. She carried a cascade of white and blue carnations and babybreath with satin streamers.

Blue lace over satin made the attendants' dresses, featured by wide-cuffed long sleeves. Their flowers were nosegays of the carnations circled with net and ribbon.

Before they left on a honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs, the couple received guests with their parents at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Albert Cupell and Miss

Debbie Williams served the four-tiered colonnade wedding cake while Misses Becky Williams and Charlene Williams ladled punch. Miss Anne Frye was at the guest register.

The table was covered with white lace over blue satin and decked with flowers of the same colors.

For travel Mrs. Victor wore a blue pantsuit with floral patterned blouse. The couple will be at home at 405 Witherspoon after a short trip.

The bride is a candidate for graduation next month from Hereford High School, and the bridegroom graduated with the class of 1969.

Wedding guests from other cities included grandparents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Williams of Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cupell of Vega, Mrs. Exie Martin of Portales, and Mrs. Dee Victor of Dora, N. M.

Others were the Jerry Stephens family of Pampa, the John E. Williams and Johnny Williams family of Hartley, Gene Victor and the M. E. Saints of Amarillo, the Bennie Victors and James Kyles of Portales, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Victor, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Victor of Dora.

excerpts from Spoon River Anthology. Directed by Nan Coneway, the cast includes Amy and John Gilliland, Sue Coleman, Charlie Riggan and Wesley Gully.

BJM MIXER FEEDER Full line of truck models with capacities from 160 to 400 cubic feet. All with these most-wanted features:

PRECISION MIX of the total ration, including trace elements! In testing a variety of materials, our engineers "designed out" the dead spots that can show up between box and auger. Result: every particle moves during the mix. With gentle tossing and tumbling, rations are blended precisely in three to five minutes — even in transit. You can count on this uniform blending every time.

SELECTIVE DISCHARGE allows release of an exact amount of feed. You control this discharge rate right from your driver's seat in the cab. On the 900 and 1200 Series, conveyor width is 86"; gate door opens from 1" to a full 24" — the biggest, fastest discharge in the field!

STRUCTURAL STRENGTH is evident in the frame, the reinforcement along box sides, the 2 1/2" x 2 1/2" square tubing around the top, heavy duty independent bearing mounts, and special steel bottom and epoxy painted finish to minimize corrosion.

Jane Bezner Is Bride Of Ronald W. Matthews

Mrs. Ron W. Matthews
...nee Jane Bezner

A double ring ceremony and nuptial mass for Miss Jane Elaine Bezner and Ronald Wayne Matthews was conducted by the Rev. John Kiesling, S. A., in St. Anthony's Catholic Church Saturday.

The couple will be at home in Canyon after a short honeymoon trip. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bezner of Dimmitt Highway and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Matthews, 111 Avenue I.

White gladiolas and chrysanthemums in gold vases were set on the altar, with seven-branched candelabra and palms along the sides.

Mrs. Lynn Crabtree of Canyon, sister of the bride, was the organist who played traditional marches and Somewhere My Love. She accompanied Ben Gollehon as he sang On This Day O Beautiful Mother, Whither Thou Goest, and as the couple knelt for the nuptial blessing, Mother At Your Feet.

Another sister, Miss Judy Bezner, was the maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Connie Matthews, the bridesmaid. Randy Jones, best man, and Frank Bezner, Jr., groomsman, were the bridegroom's attendants.

Joanie Kalka, daughter of the Melvin Kalkas, was flower girl and Brete Bedwell, son of the Teddy Bedwells of Borger, carried the rings on a lace-edged heart pillow. They are niece and nephew of the bride. Serving as acolytes were Larry and Lynn Vaughn of Canyon also nephews. Ushers were Wayne Stoerner, Kevin FaFleur, Ray Leasure and Kenneth Justice.

As Mr. Bezner gave his daughter in marriage she was attired in nylon organza over bridal taffeta, designed with empire waist, high neckline, Camelot sleeves and A-line skirt. Venice lace run with wide satin ribbon covered the bodice front and sleeve caps, and formed wide cuffs.

Her train of the dress fabric, edged with lace scallops, back waistline. Feathered crescents and seed pearls attached the illusion veil to an organza ribbon. It fell elbow length, bordered with Alecon lace. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of daisies and yellow roses.

Attendants' gowns were floral print organza emphasizing lime green, over yellow satin underskirts. Necklines and sleeves were of similar design to the bride's; skirts were gathered and accented with green satin sash and bow.

Yellow daisies were worn in their hair and each carried a longstemmed yellow rose. Yellow roses, daisies and green

Following the wedding the bride's parents were hosts for a buffet-reception in Knights of Columbus Hall. Miss Terri Vaughn of Canyon presided at the register.

Centering the bride's table, leaves overflowed the flower girl's basket. Her yellow organza frock over lime satin was styled like the adult attendants' dresses.

the three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow roses and topped with traditional bride-and-groom figurines surrounded by daisies.

Cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Melvin Kalka and Mrs. Teddy Bedwell of Borger.

Mrs. Matthews' traveling costume was a white pantsuit with yellow accessories. Her corsage of yellow roses was from the bridal bouquet. She is a candidate for graduation in May at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. She has also attended Amarillo College after graduation from Hereford High School.

Presently employed with Missouri Beef Packers at Friona, the bridegroom is a HHS graduate, and attended West Texas State University.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

This is a retaliation of a letter to you published in the paper, Sunday, April 2. I feel I must state my opinions not only in defense of the sheriff and his deputy, but all of the law enforcement officials in this country.

I can't help but feel that this person is like so many others in this country today who have no respect for laws and those who enforce them. After all, their purpose is to protect us.

I know this deputy quite well. I talked to him last Saturday about this incident prior to the letter in Sunday's paper. Before the author of the above mentioned letter makes a fool of himself again, he should have his facts straight. The deputy told me they took an array of knives from "those unarmed and defenseless men and boys." I quote the author of last week's letter. Knives are just as deadly as a loaded shot-gun. Besides, the odds weren't very even. There were twenty-seven "unarmed and defenseless men and boys," and one deputy. If it were you, what would you do? Sincerely, Nick Milburn

Clinic Gift Made By L'Allegra

Culmination of a major service project of L'Allegra Study Club came at its meeting Thursday afternoon, when a check for $300 was presented to Gary Stagner, Public Health Clinic administrator, for the "We Care" fund that supplies medical aid to children of indigent families.

Mrs. Hazen Woods, chairman of the finance and project committee, presented the check, the profit from a recent musical review by Mary Allen Vincent of Dallas under club sponsorship.

Meeting briefly in the home of Mrs. Alex Schroeter, 825 S. Miles, members were served coffee and disposed of business before going to nearby Tierra Blanca Elementary School for a tour conducted by the principal, Philip Shook.

He explained the operation of this new facility, using new methods of instruction and latest types of educational equipment.

Making the tour were a new member, Mrs. Don Lowder, and Mmes. Danny Martin, Bill Warrick, Eddie Reinauer Jr., Buddy Bloomer, Cameron Gault, Steve Coneway, David Gibson, Gary McQuigg, Cal Garrett, Terry Caviness, J. H. McCrary, Rudy Metz, Woods and Schroeter.

CHECK PRESENTED — A check from L'Allegra Study Club was presented Thursday afternoon to Gary Stagner, administrator of the county public health clinic, to be used in the "We Care" fund for medical needs of children from local indigent families. Mrs. Danny Martin, club president, looks on as Mrs. Hazen Woods, project committee chairman, presents the check.

NEW RELIGIOUS BEAT NEW YORK (AP) — Avant Garde Records, a leader in publishing popular religious albums, has issued five new ones, including "Songs of Promise" and "In Love" by the Medical Mission Sisters, who have turned out several previous hits. Other new religious albums, with a contemporary beat, include "Dust and Ashes," "The Mission" and "Rebirth."

Vehicle registration in Deaf Smith County was up by a considerable margin over last year, according to figures released this week by county tax assessor-collector Neil Miller.

At the end of registration March 31, some 12,036 vehicles were registered. This compared with 11,293 at the same time a year ago. "It usually increases from 300 to 600 every year, but this 743 increase we had is real good," Mrs. Miller said.

Once there was a boy who got a nickel. Instead of spending it for gum, marbles he started saving this nickel. Soon he had a whole dollar. Now he could buy something much better than gum or marbles.

Grown-up saving is like that, too, as your parents know. When you grow up, if you want to stay happy and not be worried you must learn to save small amounts of money every month until you have big amounts. All through your life you can live better and buy what you need and even take care of troubles if you save every month in the credit union.

Let's put government into hands we can depend on

When scandal rocks our state government, as it has for more than a year, it is time for Texans to take the reins of government and place them once again into the hands of an honest, capable man. This is a time when Texans need a man to believe in. A man like Dolph Briscoe. His successful experience in business and agriculture, his work in government to provide farm-to-market roads and to eliminate the screwworm have proven him a man Texans can depend on when solutions are needed. His unquestioned reputation for honesty and integrity stand him head and shoulders above his opponents. Never has Texas been offered such unacceptable candidates for the office of governor. And never has Texas so urgently needed a man like Dolph Briscoe. May 6, elect Dolph Briscoe governor.

Couple Is At Home At Gruver

A recent wedding in Vernon is of interest here to friends of the bridegroom, Danny Carthel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carthel of Friona, former Hereford residents. The bride was Miss Harletta Capps, daughter of the Duane Capps of Vernon.

After their marriage in Wilbarger Church of Christ and a trip to Oklahoma City the couple is at home on Route 3, Gruver, where Carthel is a farmer-rancher. Both have been students in West Texas State University.

Wedding attendants included Donny Carthel as his brother's best man, Becky Elliott of Hereford as a bridesmaid and younger brothers of the bridegroom, Doug Carthel as ring bearer and Davy as a candle lighter. Larry Marshall, minister of the church, conducted the ceremony.

Guests from this area at the wedding included Wayne Carthel, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Bloomer of Hereford; the Dick Golden, H. V. McCabe and Jim McCabe families of Dawn.

Cool Salads For Hot Days

By Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

WARM WEATHER brings thoughts of cool, crisp, nutritious salads. A salad can introduce a meal, complement a meal, end a meal or even be the complete meal in itself. Of all greens used for salad making, lettuce is by far the most popular. It has become an important item in today's meal patterns.

Lettuce is the crop that can so easily be a boom or a bust; this can be verified by lettuce farmers in this area. This is interesting since lettuce is in demand by shoppers the year 'round.

Weather can really play havoc with the best of man-made plans for producing lettuce for a pre-selected harvest date.

Unusually high or low temperatures or amounts of moisture can easily result in the bunching or maturity of different production areas, and thus overload the market. Lettuce is a vegetable that can't be stored for long periods, neither frozen nor processed, for later marketing.

IT'S TIME for turning leaves

— fresh, crisp, and nutritious lettuce leaves into tasty salads. Selections are big, quality is excellent and cost is low now.

Iceberg lettuce commercially is the most important of salad green. It keeps exceptionally well. Iceberg lettuce has a springy-firm head, is ideal to spread, slice or tear into bite-size pieces and its outer leaves remove for sandwich use of as a background for other salad ingredients.

If head lettuce becomes wilted or dried out, it can be refreshed by placing the head (after it has been cored) in cold water with some ice cubes for several minutes.

Separate the leaves, drain, wrap and store in a film bag in the hydrator of your refrigerator.

Lettuce is a true friend of the weight-watcher. A one-pound head of Iceberg lettuce supplies a dainty 47 calories. Two large or four small leaves provide seven calories.

SUMMER SALAD

- 1/2 head firm lettuce
- 1 bunch sliced small radishes
- 1 long slender cucumber sliced
- 1 large firm diced tomato
- 2 cups cauliflower broken in small pieces

- 1 large firm stalk celery diced
- 2 large grated carrots
- 3 tender green onions
- 2 cups purple cabbage

Place all ingredients into large bowl with lid and toss. This is good without dressing or can be served with sour cream or lemon juice.

Newswoman Is Newcomer

Civic Work Assumed

By SUE COLEMAN Women's Editor

WHEN LAVON Nieman is interviewed as a newcomer in the city, she is switching roles. For several years as a West Texas newspaperwoman she has been accustomed to doing the interviewing.

Before moving to Hereford, early this year when her husband, O. G. Nieman, became publisher of The Brand, she worked with him on the Slatonite, the weekly paper he operated at Slaton.

She wrote society news, features and a column, also helped in the advertising department and was the office manager-bookkeeper.

EMPLOYEES on the city newspapers whose traditional dream of owning a small-town weekly so they "can take it easy" don't have a realistic idea of the work entailed in running that weekly, she opines. Mrs. Nieman, energetic mother of two sons who have already become involved in civic and church activities in Hereford, was an overnight newspaperwoman who found herself taking care of various duties on the Slatonite because there was nobody else to do it, then learning how the job should be done.

Her previous experience had been selling advertising for a special edition of the Littlefield paper when she lived in that city. Otherwise, her employment had been in the secretarial field.

LIKE MANY young wives whose husbands had returned from military service to finish college educations, she says she earned her PHT degree — Putting Hubby Through — as she worked in the first two years of their marriage while he completed study for graduation from Texas Tech.

She was graduated from high school at Lamesa and married soon afterward. Born in the small ranching community of Swenson in Stonewall County, she was Lavon Stewart, who started to school at nearby Aspermont.

Her family moved to Hamlin when she was in the sixth grade, then to Lamesa when she was a high school junior. Her parents still live there.

SOME of her working career was as secretary in the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce office. She likes news work, largely because "you get to know people," and now she misses friends she made at Slaton just by taking their reports of club or church meetings.

To be home when her sons came in from school, she had a desk at home and part of her work there, sometimes far into the night.

Because she and her husband felt that they couldn't both take holidays at the same time — they never had a real vacation, just weekend trips, she says. Some of those trips were to the West Texas and Texas Press Associations, and Nieman served a term as president of the former.

Their sons are Steve, a high school junior, and Craig, who attends LaPlata Junior High. Both participate in school athletics so the parents have more than usual reasons for going to all school sports events.

"WE BOTH enjoy sports and went to the games even when the boys were too little to play. I don't think Speedy has missed a high school football game, in whatever town we were living, for 20 years!" she says.

Another game Lavon Nieman likes is bridge and she plays with a group of women here who meet monthly.

She has also become a member of La Plata Study Club, and after joining the Women's Division of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce was promptly put to work on one of the committees getting ready for the Miss Hereford Pageant which the division will stage April 29. Her newspaper advertising experience is being used in laying out the program ads.

In First Baptist Church she has volunteered to serve in the ministry for newcomers, since she is a recent comer and appreciates the welcome she received in Hereford.

She also has joined a prayer group that meets weekly, and calls it "the most inspirational thing I've ever been associated with."

Living at 513 Willow Lane, the Niemans are looking forward to occupying a house built for them on Douglas Street, with work just started. Getting the house built, moving in and settling down is expected to take any spare time Mrs. Nieman may have for the next few months.

By that time she will no longer be a newcomer in Hereford.

Recent Comers To City Honored

An introduction to Hereford residents they have not previously met, and a welcome from those whose acquaintance they have made, was given for Mr. and Mrs. Wilber H. Griffin at a party in the Keith Simmers' home Thursday evening.

The Griffins have lately moved to Hereford from Houston, and are at home now at 400 Sunset. They became acquainted with a number of area residents on visits before they moved here, and were friends of Keith and Joanne Simmer when that couple lived at Houston.

variety decorated the rooms for the reception. Smilax was massed on the dining-room table as a base for pink roses, lilacs, white iris and other flowers. Others were arranged on a fruit-and-sweets table in the den and in bouquets about the house.

Refreshments included an array of traditional Greek dishes, a specialty of the hosts. Mmes. Pat Malone, Jack Wilcox, Vernon Denson, Alton Fraser and David Emerick assisted in serving the guests who enjoyed the casual evening of conversation centering around the honorees.

Players Honor Most Valuable

Awards to most valuable workers of the year in Hereford Community Players were made by Sylvia Emerick and John Claypool at the annual membership dinner Friday evening, when new directors and officers headed by John Aikin as president were introduced.

"Most valuable" designation to members for work done in play production, excepting actors and directors, is given each year to a woman and a man in the organization.

Claypool was one of the organizers of the Community Players in 1968 and has been active since, chiefly in lighting, sound and other backstage work. He directed a one-act play the first season, and appeared in a supporting role in the 1970 comedy, Dear Delinquent.

Gilliland, Sue Coleman, Charlie Riggan and Wesley Gulley. This will be repeated Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon as the Community Theater's part in the annual Hereford Art Festival at Community Center.

Faubion served as master of ceremonies for the dinner. In Hereford Country Club. Mrs. George Warner was chairman of the committee which made arrangements and decorated tables with a procession of caricature figurines of ballet dancers, and bright paper flowers.

Beauty. Mrs. Manjeot and Mrs. Sam Long, a voting delegate, reported on the recently attended District I convention in Lubbock. Mrs. Long, vice president, presided over business in the absence of Mrs. R. N. Yarbrow, president.

Views From Trip Shown For Club

Pictures brought from a European trip by the Ed Wilsons last year, highlighted with scenes of a boat trip on the Rhine River, were shown on slides as Mrs. Wilson gave the program for Hereford Study Club Thursday evening.

Members will plant a tree in some public place; Mrs. Don Robinson and Mrs. Bartlett were named to a committee to make the definite plans.

Mrs. Richard Winget and Mrs. N. D. Bartlett were hostesses in the home of the former. Mrs. Art Stoy planned the program.

Others at the meeting were the club's associate member, Mrs. J. W. Witherspoon; Miss Gladys Setfill and Mmes. Joe Story, Bob Proest, Sam Long, Merlin Kaul, Noble Howard, Roy Hartman, O. Z. Golden, W. CARD OF THANKS
The Family of GERALD VAUGHN would like to thank everyone who has been so kind since the accident on March 21st.
We will never be able to adequately thank the many people who helped at the time of the accident, who visited, sent cards, flowers and called while we were in Amarillo, and since we came home
Gerald is improving at home now, but will return to Amarillo to the hospital cast on his right leg.
We wanted to let everyone know he is much better and to tell you we appreciate the prayers and many acts of kindnesses.
May God Bless each richly because you cared.

Questions and Answers

Q. A letter announcing a rent increase for my apartment was slipped under my door. Is this proper notification under the rent regulations?
A. No. If your landlord does not mail you a notification of a rent increase and chooses some other method of notifying you, he must obtain a receipt from you or your representative.
Q. My landlord wants to increase rent because after August 15, 1971 he built a washroom in our complex and installed coin-operated washing machines and dryers. Can he charge a high rent for this reason?
A. This capital improvement which is available to a residence only when the tenant chooses to pay money to receive the service provided by the improvement does not benefit the residence. Therefore, the landlord may not increase the monthly rents of the residence because of the construction of the washroom.

Q. I want to give my employees a 10 percent pay increase on June 1, 1972. Since this 10 percent increase will only be effective for six months of the 12-month year commencing Nov. 14, 1971, won't the increase be equivalent to a 5 percent increase for the whole year and well within the Pay
Board's standards?
A. No. The general wage and salary standard of 5.5 percent applies to the "annual aggregate wage and salary increase." This means that the standard applies to the total percentage increase within the 12-month period commencing
Nov. 14, 1971. In your case, this is 10 percent, not 5. Except for cost-of-living increases, no other wage and salary increase may be averaged over the 12-month annual period.
Q. My request for an exception to the wage and salary standard has been denied. How many days do I have in which to appeal?
A. A request for reconsideration must be filed within 10 days of service of the letter refusing to grant the relief you requested.

ment supplies motorists with

COMING SOON TO THE STAR THEATER

'You Park Here, You Accept The Rules'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Ben Richardson is a parking lot despot with an unbending devotion to rules and a penchant for patriotic campaigns. One mistake — a wheel nudged over the yellow parking line or a cigarette butt dropped on the lot — and another name goes on Richard's lengthy black list.

The wiry 67-year-old parking lot manager keeps copious notes on those he has banned from his downtown lot. "The guy in the green Ford, the one with the big dent in the back," one entry reads. "He parked his car at least a foot over the line. This is not the first time he has done this. He says he is sorry. That is too bad. Get that car off this lot."

"You park here, you accept the rules. You want to park in a dump, that's your business," Richardson said.

Parking lot customers accept this philosophy, as well as Richardson's "crusades," because he takes good care of their automobiles and his location is convenient.

"He always has something going," said a Gas and Electric Company executive who parks on a monthly basis at the lot. "One month he wants the flag pole on top of the Gas and Electric Company building painted and the next he is after us to fly the flag every day, rain or shine."

Richardson's biggest project, however, was a beautification campaign which began last summer. He started by planting marigolds around the parking area. To draw attention to the campaign he hung beer cans, pop bottles, candy wrappers and other debris on the fence and trees around the lot.

About mid-summer he started regular weekday broadcasts from a loudspeaker system hooked up to his car.

"Your attention please," his voice would boom. "This is Ben with an important message. Throw your garbage in a garbage can. Do not throw it in the street. This ain't no pigsty. This is America. This is your country. Be proud of it. And don't let me catch you throwing anything on this parking lot. That is all."

Company officials and a number of customers have complained about Richardson's maverick tactics over the years. The veteran parking lot employe says he has been fired seven or eight times in the years he has managed the lot.

But the prospect of being fired again does not seem to bother Richardson.

"I don't care," he said, "because every time the owner fires me he has to give me a $5 raise to get me back."

DRAMATIZED READING of excerpts from Edgar Lee Masters' Spoon River Anthology will be the Hereford Community Players' presentation, directed by Nan Coneway, right.

Those assisting include Amy and John Gilliland, displaying tombstones of some characters from the poem whose stories are told in the readings.

Annual Festival To Spotlight Fine Arts In City

A COMMUNITY FINE ARTS Festival, third in a series sponsored each spring by the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, will be staged in Hereford Community Center next Saturday and Sunday, open to the public without charge.

DISPLAY OF ARTS in various forms is the objective of the Festival, with local organizations and schools involved. Programs of music, speech and drama will be given, and there will be exhibits of painting, carving, decorated cakes, ceramics and flower arrangements. Visitors are invited from 1 to 8 p.m. Saturday, from 1 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

CHORAL SONGS by members will be part of the program by Music Study Club. Mrs. D. W. Palmer, standing left, directs the club chorus in a rehearsal in her home. Mrs. Allen Canster, right, will sing a solo obligato in one number.

AMUSING PIECES and dignified plaques for home decoration are among the articles to be shown in the exhibit of ceramics and china painting. Mrs. Marcel Fischbacher, president of the Ceramic Arts Club, had these items in her collection.

FINISHING TOUCHES on a child's birthday cake are being applied by Mrs. Dale Henson, Mrs. J. A. Crofford and Mrs. Leroy Edwards of Sweet and Fancy Decorating Club, which invites other residents of the area to exhibit fancy confectionery with its members. A junior division is planned in this exhibit.

Penny Young Wed To Houston Man

Miss Penny Lee Young and William S. Ashley were married in a mid-morning ceremony Friday in first Baptist Church at Houston, and after a trip to Galveston and other parts of the Texas Gulf Coast will be at home in Houston.

A lace headpiece held layers of bouffant illusion which formed her short veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor was dressed in organdy embroidered with yellow and green flowers, and her yellow rose bouquet repeated the motif. For travel Mrs. Ashley chose a brown and white cotton organdy frock accessorized in white. The couple attended Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos and both are employed in Houston, the bride with the Better Business Bureau and the bridegroom son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer S. Ashley of Corpus Christi, with American Investment Corporation. She is a graduate of Hereford High School.

Family were here from Fairbanks, Alaska, for a couple of weeks. A party in the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas Co. was the occasion for a large gathering, where guests played -42 and talked informally to renew their acquaintance with the Alaskans.

Frank Dutton has been employed with Sears in Fairbanks for three years. With Mrs. Dutton and their son, Scott, he left this weekend for their home after a month's vacation. Part of the time was spent in California visiting her parents. During their stay in Hereford they enjoyed visits from Scott Martin of Moline, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Chuck O'Connor and daughter, Neesa, of Tulsa, all old friends.

Guests at the party from out-of-town were the J. O. Carpenters, the John Martin family and the Kenny Jones, all of Dimmitt; the Eural Burtons of Kress, the Burneal Duttons of Tulia, the Jerry Browns of Amarillo, the Fred Boren family and the Jerry Stewarts of Dawn.

Other present were Messrs. and Mmes. Don Dutton Bill Dutton, E. P. Worthan, Bill Ott, Boyd Foster, Clifton Robison, Davis Sawyer, Roy Evans, Alton Johnson and Henry Andrews.

Small talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

VISITS lately to two older homes in the city which have been restored and somewhat remodeled for pleasant family living today, convince me more than ever that such places have more to offer than shiny new houses.

Of course that's a personal opinion; I just happen to like old homes that have known heaps of 'livin', and show it. As you may have suspected in case you've noticed my 1920-something model.

Although it is furnished and decorated in a contemporary mode, there is a special air about the Alex Schroeters' house on South Miles that could come only from its dating back to a more leisurely period of existence.

HUGE TREES and lilac hedges outside, where there is space even for keeping a horse, blend naturally with the spacious rooms inside.

Then there is the Dale Henson place, also on Miles Street but north of downtown, where the restoration has preserved the turn-of-the-century look inside, even to stripping off layers of varnish and paint to give the quaintly-ornamented woodwork its original finish.

Maybe those two houses aren't as functional as new ones designed by architects who have had the Frank Lloyd Wright influence, but they look like wonderful places for a family to live.

SO DO THE homes of other families here, who are living in older residences while they make a continuous project of working them over, like the Bill Devers, the Bill Smiths and the L. T. Johnsons.

Government programs of aid to finance home-buying favor the new homes, so it is often more practical for a family to have a house built rather than to buy and repair an old one.

That seems too bad to me, especially when I see a fine old house built so well and with such good material that it would probably outlast a lot of the fancy new brick ranch-styles, turned into a rent house for migrants and soon wrecked, because a family which might enjoy it can't afford it in consideration of the long-time government loan on a shoddier house.

MR. AND MRS. Birch Larsen and family of Edinburg spent the Easter weekend visiting Mrs. and Mrs. Daniel J. Larsen, 125 Ave. E. The Edinburg couple recently returned from a trip to Portugal, Spain and over into North Africa to Morocco.

Their daughter, Christine, is in Spain with a group of students from Brigham Young University of Provo, Utah, where she is a soph. They are spending a semester studying the country, customs, language and people. A grand experience, but don't you know she was glad to see her parents when they dropped by for a visit?

MRS. D. W. ALLMON returned the first of the week after spending the holiday with her son, Jack Allmon, and family in Dallas. The Jack Allmons formerly lived in Hereford.

Mrs. W. H. Genfry, guest of Wyche Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Wayne Jones, presented a program on roses, stating "Roses are called the Queen of Flowers and they will talk back to you as you care for them."

Mrs. Jones, president, presided over business when assortments of greeting cards were distributed to members to sell as a club project.

Members answering roll call with My Favorite Cut Flower included Mmes. J. H. Holden, Jack Harrell, C. F. Newsom, Norman Hodges, L. B. Worthan, G. W. Duncan, Leroy Bodkin, Ira Ott, W. P. Axe and Harley Ward.

Mrs. Worthan will host the April 20 meeting at 2:30 p.m. in her home.

Mrs. West, senior class president, will conduct the meeting.

Festival Cake Show Is Open For Entries

An exhibit of decorated cakes, one feature of the Community Fine Arts Festival on the weekend, is open to anyone who wishes to display a cake, announces Mrs. Leroy Edwards, president of Sweet And Fancy Decorating Club.

That club is in charge of the cake exhibit but entries are not limited to members, Mrs. Edwards emphasizes. Both adult and junior divisions are planned.

Non-members of the club who are interested in making entries are asked to notify Mrs. Jim Garner before noon Wednesday.

Supreme Penalty

A SPECIAL KIND OF KILLER haunts many of our communities today. He is the cowardly jackal who murders law enforcement officers. For many of his victims, he will be forever faceless because the fatal assaults are at the officers' backs and they have no opportunity to defend themselves. For others, the murderer's leering face is their last cognizable reality before the deafening explosion of gunfire brings their lives to an end.

Last year, 126 local, county, and State law enforcement officers were murdered. This is 26 more than the number slain in 1970. For the years 1962 through 1971, 722 law enforcement officers were killed by criminals. During the same 10-year period, of the 965 offenders arrested on charges relating to the killings 73 percent had prior arrests for criminal charges. Firearms were used in 96 percent of these slayings.

The sharp increase in the number of police officers slain from ambush is particularly alarming and foreboding. During the period 1968-71, 49 officers were killed from ambush. There were seven ambush slayings in 1968, three in 1969, 19 in 1970, and 20 in 1971.

The murdering of a police officer from ambush is a shocking, unconscionable act. Beyond this, in many instances it is the ultimate penalty exacted from an officer because of his availability. A foot patrolman hearing the cries or screams of an alleged crime victim responds immediately; officers in a police cruiser race to the scene of a reported crime or disturbance without question — each is an act of duty and human compassion.

But today, all too often it turns out to be a dastardly planned scenario for deranged killers bent on the ambush slaying of peace officers.

Too many people are misled by the revolutionary romanticism babbled by self-styled guerrillas who cry of repression and abuse while plotting to overthrow the Government and undermine society. The law enforcement officer, as the front-line symbol of the orderly process of justice, has become a primary target of assassination. After some police slayings, certain insurgents have gloatingly pronounced their groups were responsible. This indicates the depths of depravity to which men can sink.

Most ambush slayings are not caused by the negligence of the victim officers. However the increasing frequency of these tragic incidents makes it imperative that each police officer be constantly alert to the planned terrorism directed against him by extremists. No complaint or call for police should be handled as "routine." This fact has been made evident by the number of officers slain while on their regular patrols.

The barbaric murderers must come to know that when law enforcement officers pay the supreme sacrifice our society will demand a supreme penalty. To allow police killers to go without just punishment would be to encourage the growing assaults against the rule of law and the principles of self-government. Further, the blood of every slain officer is on the hands of those who, by word or deed, condone, encourage, minimize, or excuse the terrorist tactics of extremists.

Automatic Money

Ever since men began to talk of an international monetary system, many of them have been trying to make it as automatic as possible. Somehow, though, they've never been able to find a way to avoid the interference of the human beings who run the world's governments and central banks.

In theory nearly everyone sees the desirability of all nations balancing their accounts with one another. In practice, though, a nation that runs a surplus usually gets attached to it. And a nation that runs a deficit, as the U. S. has for nearly all of the past 20 years, is reluctant to deflate its economy at home to improve its payments position abroad.

The split between theory and practice will probably plague U. S. officials as they seek a new "automatic" system to replace the setup that fell apart last year. Certainly the Treasury has yet to come up with anything approaching a solution to the age-old problem.

Recently, for instance, Treasury Secretary John Connally suggested that one idea might be to require a nation with a string of payments surpluses to pay part of its surplus into a special fund at the International Monetary Fund. Then deficit nations could borrow from the fund to tide them over their troubles.

Mr. Connally asked, "What would be wrong" with such a plan? Well, for one thing, it would be of help only temporarily, since it offers nothing at all to promote long-term equilibrium. A country runs a payments surplus because its currency is undervalued internationally, or because its price level is relatively low, or for other reasons — none of which would be attacked by Mr. Connally's "excess-profits tax" on payments surpluses.

The gold standard at least came to grips with the basic causes of payments imbalances — or it did, that is, when countries were willing to play by the rules. A payments deficit was supposed to produce an outflow of gold, and that was supposed to lead the deflation of the domestic economy. Slower domestic business meant fewer imports, and lower domestic prices encouraged exports, and pretty soon the payments deficit disappeared.

In the surplus country, on the other hand, there was supposed to be an inflow of gold that would increase the money supply and inflate the domestic economy. Higher prices encouraged imports and discouraged exports, and pretty soon the surplus disappeared.

The trouble was that the gold standard seldom worked quite that way. The deficit countries refused to deflate and the surplus countries refused to inflate. No matter how perfect a system may seem, governments usually can find ways to override it.

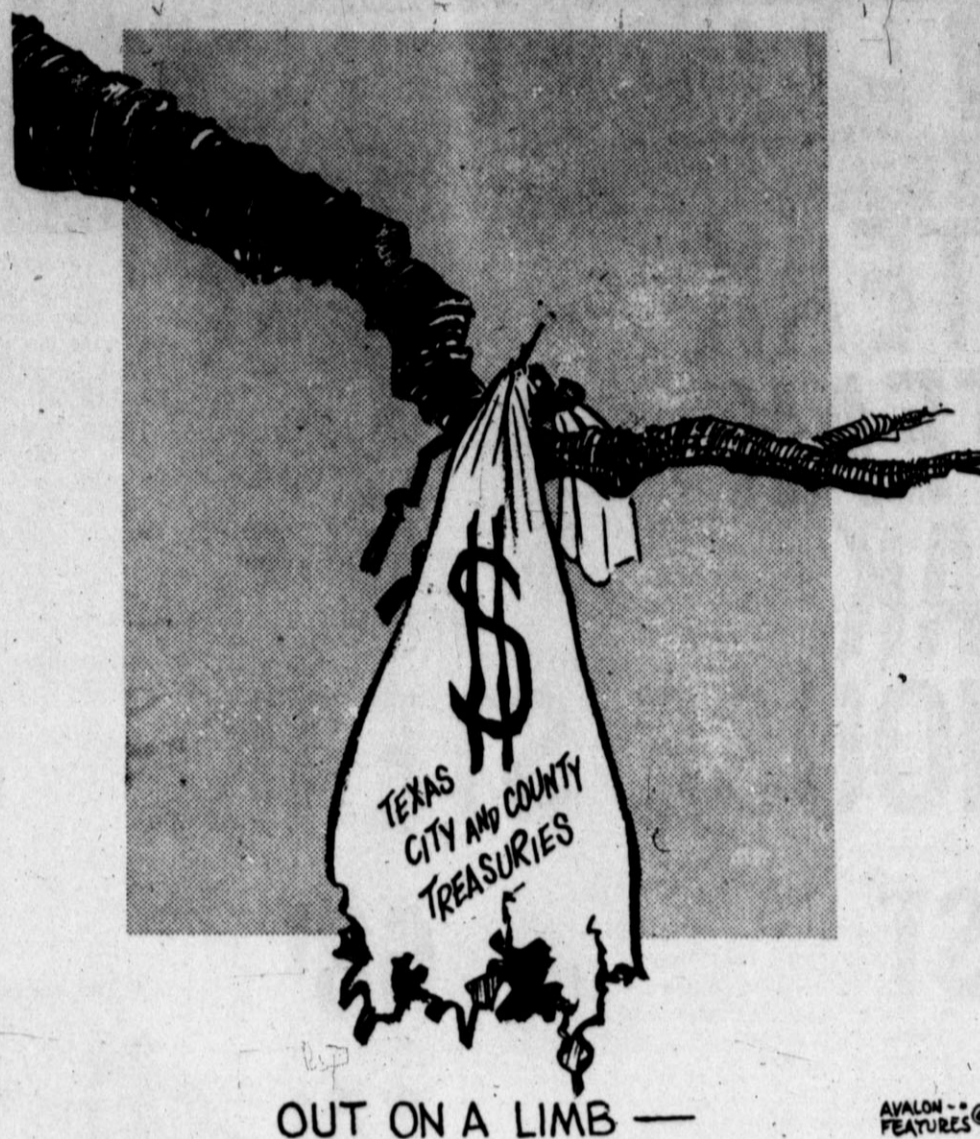

No matter how global-minded any government may be, it will act first and foremost to guard what it believes to be its own interests, even though those beliefs sometimes may be misguided. Certainly some of the sentiments in both surplus and deficit countries recently have been more than a little misguided.

The surplus countries go on accumulating huge stacks of foreign currency, chiefly dollars, in exchange for the automobiles, television sets and other useful goods their industries produce. They complain that their dollars are not "convertible," by which they mean convertible into gold, an attractive metal that earns no income and costs a good deal of money to store. The problems could be eased a bit if they recognized that the dollars are, and always will be, convertible into U. S. goods and services.

Meanwhile, the chief deficit country, the U. S., appears to be making more headway against inflation than many of its trading partners are. Yet enormous budget deficits and a creaking wage-price control system surely don't reflect great concern about America's international payments future.

In the current situation about the best that anyone can hope for would be more flexible exchange rates, which could at least insulate responsible nations against the irresponsibility of others. Even greater flexibility, however, will accomplish nothing unless nations play by the rules.

A lasting solution to world monetary problems depends not on new machinery but on an increase in financial wisdom of national leaders. Unfortunately, there will be nothing automatic about that.

Tree-Loving Americans To Celebrate Arbor Day

By Bert Mills
Washington, D. C. — Arbor Day celebrates its centennial this year and millions of tree-loving Americans will participate by joining in tree plantings on various dates, mostly in April.

While every state observes Arbor Day and it is a legal holiday in Nebraska, Utah, Wyoming and Florida, there is no common date. The first Arbor Day was held in Nebraska on April 10, 1872, after a long campaign by J. Sterling Morton, a Nebraska homesteader, newspaperman and later U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Nebraska was virtually treeless 100 years ago but more than 1 million trees were planted there on that first Arbor Day, and 350 million more in the following 16 years. Many of the original Arbor Day trees are still alive today. Nebraska City was Morton's hometown and there will be a celebration there on April 23. Among the speakers will be Edward Cliff, Chief of the U. S. Forest Service.

On April 28, there will be a tree planting on the grounds of the U. S. Capitol, sponsored by the International Shade Tree Conference. On the same day, a children's forest will be dedicated in Goerge Washington National Forest in Virginia.

Several national corporations give seedlings in return for boxtops or labels. Hunt-Wesson Foods, Inc., has distributed more than 1 million prospective trees in that fashion.

Earth Week Starts April 17

In many communities, Arbor Day will be part of Earth Week. President Nixon has proclaimed the period between April 17 and April 23 as Earth Week, and called upon every American to "endeavor by earnest and sustained effort to nature this earth which we all share."

On March, 15 the U. S. House of Representatives passed by unanimous consent a joint resolution, authorizing and requesting the President to issue a proclamation designating the last Friday in April — April 28 — as National Arbor Day. However, the Senate has not acted and meanwhile the Earth Week proclamation has been issued.

In an effort to focus national attention on Arbor Day, whenever it may be celebrated locally, a National Arbor Day Foundation has been established at Nebraska City. Mrs. Richard Nixon is Honorary Chairman, and Stewart Udall, former Secretary of the Interior, is National Chairman. The 100th anniversary slogan is: "Try to say trees — without smiling."

Many adults, even those not active in any conservation or ecology group, will recall with nostalgia their own participation in a tree planting as a youth, perhaps as a Boy Scout or Girl Scout. Even today, memorial plantings are a favorite way of remembering the life of an outstanding citizen.

Go Plant a Tree
The first thing a suburban developer does is to cut down a lot of trees to make way for houses. The first thing a suburban dweller does is to plant some new trees. In fact, tree planting is so popular today that nurseries are worried about a growing scarcity of young trees for transplanting.

Americans have a love affair with shade trees. Those who grew up in small towns or rural areas have fond memories of trees they knew as children. Those who spent their youth in a treeless metropolis can't wait to get to the wide open spaces where there are plenty of trees.

Few can forget one of the first poems learned by every schoolboy, Joyce Kilmer's "Trees," beginning: "I think that I shall never see, a poem lovely as a tree." That has to be one of the best known lines of poetry ever written, along with the concluding couplet: "Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree." So let's all go plant a tree on Arbor Day!

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a rather violent reaction to an oddity in the news.

Dear editor:

There's enough violence in the world without any additional help from me, for example a Washington commission has just finished an alarming study on the effect of T. V. violence on children, although it failed to study the effect of children's violence on adults, but, to pick up this sentence where I started it, I don't want to add to the sum total of violence but I heard about something the other day that needs perhaps violent attention.

It's a light bulb. There's a light bulb in California that's been burning for 71 years and is still going strong. Located in a fire station, it stays on night and day and is as good now as the day it was first turned on.

Understand I'm not suggesting it and it'd be a shame for it to happen, but perhaps somebody who understands world economy ought to shoot that thing out.

Have you stopped to think what would happen to the world's economy if everything lasted as long as that light bulb?

Buy a new car every 71 years? Never have to take it to a garage? Plug in a new refrigerator and an air conditioner and sit back with the comforting thought that your great grandchildren will have cold sodawater and never swelter in the summer time? Buy a new T. V. set and realize you won't have to buy a new one for the next 8 or 10 wars?

You can see immediately what this would do to manufacturing throughout the world and the ruination of the economy. You know what it did to the maker of that light bulb. The firm closed up for lack of new business.

Wouldn't be much left for people to do but sit around on sofas that won't wear out listening to old men tell about the excitement throughout the country when the last new model car came out years and years ago.

Actually, I ought to be ashamed of myself for calling even this much attention to that light bulb. Let's forget all about it, even if it does indicate the only known way to halt inflation.

If you want to keep the wheels turning, let your light so shine that it will burn out at least every 90 days.
Yours faithfully,

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

THE NAME'S THE GAME — Texas' ponderous legal system once cost a citizen his good name. In fact, it left him without any name at all.

In 1934, a young Dallas attorney named Jefferson Taswell Baker, Jr., decided to be a candidate for the office of state treasurer. At the time, one of the most prominent members of the Texas delegation in Congress was George B. Terrell of Cherokee County. Baker decided that since the name Terrell had proved that it was magic with the voters he would adopt it as his own. He went to court and had his name legally changed to George Baker Terrell.

As "George B. Terrell," he filed in the Democratic Party primary for state treasurer. However, Congressman Terrell strongly object to the whole thing was succeeded in getting the court to set aside the order changing Baker's name to Terrell. Under the law, however, any action reversing a name change had to take place within 45 days after the original court order. In this case, the court acted after the time limit.

As a result, it was ruled that Jefferson Taswell Baker had no legal name at all. And it was not until almost three years later, in 1937, that he finally succeeded in getting another Dallas court to restore his original name.

For all of his trouble, he also lost the race for state treasurer.

FACTS TO PONDER — Texas' 9,968,926 registered motor vehicles have plenty of room to which to travel. As of January 1 of this year, there were 254,270 miles of highways, farm roads, county roads and city streets in the state.

SCOTLAND IN THE PINES — TEXAS' only Indian tribe, the Alabama-Coushattas, still govern themselves much like the Scotch did in days of yore.

The tribe is divided into clans, and each of the present clans sit together at tribal meetings. Most of the clans have animal names, but one is named for the wind and another is called simply "Salt" in honor of one of life's necessities. Marriages are prohibited between members of a clan, but members must marry other Indians or be expelled from the tribe.

An Alabama-Coushatta is born a member of his mother's clan and remains so throughout his life. He cannot produce members of his own clan, however, because his children are born into their mother's clan.

WHAT NEXT? — The Texas Historical Survey Committee finally has gotten around to erecting a marker to a horse.

An unusual horse he was, too. His name was "Steel Dust" and he was a racing champion in Texas in the 1840's and 1850's. He also was the founding father of a renowned strain of quarter horses.

The marker honoring "Steel Dust" appropriately was unveiled at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

DO YOU REMEMBER? — The train callers who used to announce the arrival and departure of every passenger train at the Union Stations in Dallas, Houston and other big terminals? Long before loudspeakers were available, these leather-lunged gentry would go to the various waiting rooms and shout the fact that a certain train was ready for boarding.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

While the presidential primaries produce vast amounts of copy for journalists, the speeches of the candidates contain little that is relevant to America's worsening financial crisis. Neither the candidates nor the public seem interested in the fate of the U. S. dollar.

Eliot Janeway, the economist, made this point in a recent essay. "The defense of the dollar," he said, "is the forgotten issue of this year's presidential politics. The cliches of politics-as-usual will not save it from the demoralizing tragedy of still another devaluation."

The majority of candidates for the presidential nominations prefer to focus on giveaways, domestic or international. That is tragic, for there is pressing need to debate on financial issues. The United States has enormous debts and the proposed budget for fiscal 1973 contains a planned deficit of $25 billion, incredible as that sounds. The debt situation and the related fate of the dollar should be prime topics for discussion during the primaries. That isn't the case, however.

Politicians shouldn't be assigned all the blame. The voting public, it is clear, isn't willing to hear unpleasant truths, and nothing is more unpleasant than a discussion of the wounded U. S. dollar.

Immediately after Inauguration Day in 1973, the President of the United States will be faced with grave financial problems. Foreign countries, with large dollar holdings, aren't convinced that the American people or prominent leaders in either party have any serious intention of mending the ways responsible for the weakening of the dollar. They note the political talk about expansionary budgets and foresee grave financial problems ahead for the U. S.

Secretary of the Treasury John Connally is busy trying to assure Europeans that the U. S. has a tough anti-inflation policy, but the Europeans remain unconvinced. In a recent letter to "Barron's Financial Weekly," Count Sixtus Plattenburg, writing from Spain, said that in effect, "the U. S. is broke." He expressed doubt that Europeans will go on much longer accepting "the dollar as the ultimate yardstick of everyone else's value" and suggested that the U. S. credit structure will fracture.

The Nixon administration method in dealing with the crisis of confidence has been to impose wage-price controls that amount to a cartel approach to industry, labor and agriculture. This is roughly what President Franklin Roosevelt attempted to do with the NRA legislation in the 1930's and what Mussolini aimed at in his Corporate State plan. But the pay and price board system isn't working. The unions are smashing huge holes in the system, as is the case of the West Coast dock settlement.

Mr. Nixon's political opponents have nothing better to offer. In fact, they recommend stepped-up spending, more government jobs. They ignore the crisis of confidence around the world that poses tremendous danger to the United States. Tragically, neither the administration nor anti-administration forces will accept free enterprise solutions to the nation's difficulties.

The sound, capitalist position has been ably set forth by Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago. He said: "Government spending is the problem, not the solution. We do not need new government programs. We need to abolish the old programs and let people spend their own money in accordance with their own values."

If the vast government programs were dismantled and new ones weren't established, foreigners who hold billions of U. S. greenbacks would regain confidence in those dollars. If curbs on unions were ordered, the world would regain confidence in U. S. productivity. Europeans and Asians would be convinced that the United States intends to fight inflation and protect its currency. But the political talk in the presidential primaries is of more government spending, not less.

The Honorable Preston Smith

Democratic Candidate for re-election to the office of

Governor of the State of Texas

GOVERNOR PRESTON SMITH, "THE MAN", WHO STANDS ON HIS "TRACK RECORD"

QUALIFIED BY EXPERIENCE . . . 6 YEARS EACH IN THE HOUSE, SENATE, and OFFICE OF LT. GOVERNOR WITH 4 YEARS AS GOVERNOR OF TEXAS.

PRESTON SMITH - GOVERNOR FOR ALL OF THE STATE INCLUDING THE PANHANDLE AREA

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF "THE MAN"

Governor Preston Smith has worked hard to produce results not rhetoric, products not promises, issues not images, leadership not laxity and growth not gimmicks. An acre of performance is worth a whole world of promises. He is:

- ★ THE MAN who had the guts to stand up and veto the bad banking bills which passed in a flurry with no hearings in 1969. This bill WOULD BE LAW NOW WITHOUT HIS VETO!
- ★ THE MAN who provided more funds for industrial development than any two governors before him. Texas had led the nation in industrial development.
- ★ THE MAN who has brought vocational-technical education out of the dark ages and turned it into one of the most progressive educational programs in the nation.
- ★ THE MAN under whose leadership, more new State universities have been established than under any other governor in the history of Texas.
- ★ THE MAN who has helped establish more new medical and dental training facilities and expand existing schools to a greater degree than any other Governor of Texas, and led our state to more accomplishments in these fields than any other state in the entire nation.
- ★ THE MAN who established the Texas Urban Development Commission, the first entity in the history of Texas to concentrate exclusively on developing solutions to the urgent and growing problems of our metropolitan centers.
- ★ THE MAN who has brought about a new 10-year salary plan for our deserving teachers.
- ★ THE MAN who rejected proposed sales taxes on food and medicine.

By the Garden Gate with Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjeot

A gush of beautiful falling snow.

The patter of robin's feet, as they search for food, Beauty created by snow on tulips.

Suddenly the skies clear . . . out comes the spring sunshine. The snow disappears!

An April day — in Hereford. April is one of the busiest months in the year for gardeners. For many of us who had planned to prune, clean, rake, spade and plant, the change in weather has really dampened our gardening enthusiasm.

Good Friday has been the day that I have made the first planting of gladiolas. This one will be an exception, as the ground is not prepared. My recent stay in the hospital and the weather has curtailed activities, so in the very near future the hours will be busy, busy.

It is good garden practice to make the first planting of gladiolas on or near Good Friday, then every two weeks until July 15. This will give a continuous bloom. Color and beauty can be created by such plantings.

Gladiolas have been greatly improved in recent years; it is now one of the greatest favorites of commercial buyers and the sale is one of the leading one for florists.

The range of color has been extended and the quality of plants and bloom has been greatly enhanced. Size has also benefited by new findings. Gladiola fanciers are always interested in the new introductions. Personally I am real eager to get some of the corms of Miss America and Cameo planted, and will wait with great anticipation for them to grow and flower. Also have some old favorites that have grown for years. They add joy when they flower and are used in arrangements for friends, church or shut-ins.

HOT TO GROW GLADS
When received, open package at once to admit air. Store in a cool, dry place. The temperature should not exceed 50 degrees or be under 32 degrees. Before planting the husks should be removed from the corms (bulbs to most of the trade people) and even though they have been bought disease resistant, I usually soak them in a Clorox solution, 2 tb. to one gallon of tepid water.

If it is desired to keep color and/or varieties separate, take an old nylon hose and place the corms in this by layers, separating by tying or by rubber band, then submerge in the solution. Thrips are the worst of enemies of glads, and this is a good preventive.

Where to plant: Glads prefer a full sun most of the day. They do well planted in the vegetable garden, interspersed in the rows of vegetables. They do not enjoy competition from trees, shrubs or buildings.

Do not ever let them have wet feet. Use precaution in watering. This can be aided by proper condition of soil; they enjoy a deep mellow soil.

For effect try planting all of one color together. If planting in flower garden or for accent, plant 3, 5, or 7 to the clump, and again plant by color.

Bright colors are best adapted for landscape effects. The warm colors, such as yellow, red, bronze, and white are eye catchers when so planted, also some of the bright intense pinks. These are also advancing colors, and draw the attention of the eye quickly.

Blue, bi-colors, lavender, green, and light pink are used primarily for close-up viewing, arranging, and when a feeling of coolness is desired in the garden.

Plantings which will blossom in the hot summer months like a partial shade. The hot sun is harmful to the forelets as they open. The scale relative to number of days bloom is given in most catalogues but is not always 100 percent correct. If planting for a definite occasion, allow a few more days.

Glads can be cut early and kept for several days before being used in arrangements. Early varieties usually take 70 to 75 days, the mid-season varieties 75 to 85 days and late ones should have at least 90 days: sometimes it takes longer as the days are cooler and sunshine does not last as long as the days grow shorter.

How to plant: Soil should be plowed or spaded to a depth of about 8 inches. The roots will spread to reach nourishment and moisture.

The usual way to plant glads is to dig or furrow out a trench and plant the corms in either single or double staggered rows. Place bulbs right side up two or three inches apart in the row, or if you are growing for shows give them six inches or more.

Large bulbs should be planted four to six inches deep, medium 3 to 4 inches and small two or three inches deep. As they grow the soil should be hilled to the base of plant to strengthen the spike. In many instances it is necessary to stake the plants, especially if growing for show purposes.

Personally I like the spike to be a bit crooked, as this makes arranging more interesting and attractive. Extra tall varieties should be planted deeper. Rows should be 20 to 36 inches apart and should have good drainage.

Fertilizer: Glads do well on ordinary soil, however most gardeners like to give their glads a light application at planting time and at two or three week intervals during the growing season. I usually make by first feeding when at least 3 leaves appear and have reached 3 to 4 inches in height.

A cupful of 5-10-10 fertilizer or some similar analysis scattered broadcast on top of ground aids in growth and development. Note that the second numeral (phosphate) is high and should be, as the bloom is very important as is the stem and substance. One does not want to use a feeding that will promote foliage. During the months when temperature is high, a mulch aids the plants and helps to keep them cooler.

Cultivation should be shallow as the roots grow near the top of soil, therefore when cultivated they should not be damaged. The mulching (which should be about 4 inches) will aid in this. Moisture will be preserved and weeds will not grow as much if properly mulched. Straw, shavings, sawdust, chipped wood, or other local mulching materials are recommended.

Watering: In our area, unless we have rain it is necessary to water thoroughly at least once a week. Water is one of the chief promoters of the spike growth. Extra care should be exercised when the flowering starts; one can hardly ever overwater when glads are coming into bloom.

To aid in keeping down disease, the above mentioned precaution can be used, or Malathion can be used in the furrow or placement of planting. For liquid use 1 qt. Malithion to 100 gallons of water, and use in furrows before planting, or 5 percent DiSyston granules to 100 feet will need approximately 1 pound.

If this seems too much trouble, then after soaking bulbs dust lightly with Malathion; this should also be done when corms are dug for storage. If plants show signs of disease, remove from others and destroy. Check bulbs well before planting because on some there could be disease scars.

The 26th annual meeting of District One Texas Garden Clubs, was very successful. There were many high points.

Perhaps the one which I would mention first, because it thrilled me so, was that the juniors and high school students brought some very timely declamations on Action Against Pollution. They were written by the young people, and the winner was sponsored by The Sundown Garden Club.

It was truly a thrill to talk with the District One scholarship student, Dennis Woffard of Andrews. He is the 23rd student that has benefited from the scholarship. This of course makes my very proud and happy.

It was also a high moment when Hereford Garden Club led the district in the number of awards received, and when I was awarded The Citation on Civic Beautification was exciting — Glad.

Our Story: THE SUNNY MONTHS FLOW BY AND PRINCE VALIANT IS SUPREMELY HAPPY WITH HIS BEAUTIFUL WIFE AND CHILDREN.

BUT AS HE WATCHES THE TALL SHIPS GOING TO AND FRO ON THE SPARKLING SEA HE WONDERS WHAT FAR PORTS AND ADVENTURES THEY WILL SEE, AND HE BECOMES RESTLESS.

THEN HE REMEMBERS THE PROPHECY OF THE WITCH HORRIT: "YOU WILL KNOW KINGS, LEAD ARMIES, SURVIVE MANY ADVENTURES, BUT YOU, POOR BOY, WILL NEVER KNOW CONTENTMENT!"

NOT KNOW CONTENTMENT! WHAT MORE COULD ONE ASK FOR THAT IS NOT ALREADY HIS? BUT HIS SPIRIT IS FAR OUT ON THE BLUE AEGEAN WITH THOSE SHIPS BOUND FOR STRANGE PARTS AND UNKNOWN ADVENTURES.

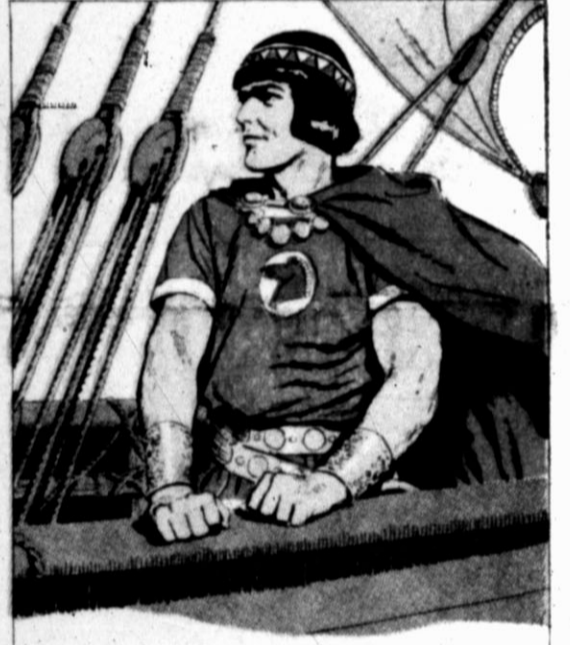

"A COURIER HAS ARRIVED WITH RUMORS OF WAR IN DONDARIS WHERE ARN IS. I MUST GO."
"NO, YOU STAY HERE. I'LL SEND A SHIP FOR ARN."
SAYS QUEEN ALETA FIRMLY, FOR A PRACTICING QUEEN IS USED TO GIVING ORDERS.

VAL LIFTS HER UP, HER FEET DANGLING HELPLESSLY. "YOU ARE THE WORLD'S LOVELIEST QUEEN, YOU ARE ALSO MY WIFE, SO ORDER ME A VESSEL. I GO TO DONDARIS!"

THEN HE KISSES HER, PUTS HER DOWN AND IS GONE. HER ANGER MELTS. "OH! YOU GREAT BIG STUBBORN ANIMAL!" THEN SHE SMILES, "BUT SUCH A MAGNIFICENT ANIMAL!"

SO ONCE AGAIN PRINCE VALIANT LEAVES CONTENTMENT BEHIND AND GOES IN SEARCH OF ADVENTURE.

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
Some years ago, when discarding some rubber floor protectors that had come off my kitchen chair legs, I had an idea. I put one of the little floor protectors on the head of one of our hammers and secured it with electrician's tape.

When we need to soften the blow of a hammer we find this tool indispensable.

Bess F. S.

What a find! And especially for Moms with young-uns who have a hankering to do a little carpentry on their own... Just think what a blessing this will be, softening all that bang, bang, banging. Worth a million on Mom's frazzled nerves.

So you see, Bess, this little idea of yours will cover a multitude of thumps.

WIN BY A NECK

DEAR HELOISE:
Children have a tendency to stretch the neck of their hand-knit sweaters when they take them off and put them on.

To stop the neck ribbing from stretching, and to give it the extra strength it needs for tugging, knit in a crochet cotton thread or a silk thread (depending on the weight of the wool being used) with your castoff stitches in rib fashion.

This will give a good, solid hard-to-break edge to your work and prevent stretching.

NICE AND COZY

DEAR HELOISE:
Because of my age I prefer to wear housedresses around the house rather than slacks. But I find that at times dresses are really not warm enough.

I solved this problem by buying inexpensive, full-length, old-fashioned "granny" nightgowns made of cotton flannel and converting them into housedresses.

I buy one-size larger than I need and launder it in hot water to "set the shrink."

Then I hem it at mid-knee, and make a tie belt from the material I cut off the bottom.

The result is a warm housedress with high neck and long sleeves, a nice full skirt, usually a pretty Peter Pan lace-trimmed collar and a tucked bodice. The fullness of the dress, loosely gathered in by the tie belt, makes it comfortable for doing housework.

I have been wearing these housedresses for quite some time and several of my friends suggested I share the idea with you and your readers. They think it's great!

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

CURTAIN GOING UP!

DEAR HELOISE:

In a recent column one of your readers said she used magnets when hanging curtains in her basement on windows that were set in cement blocks. I think I have another idea that would also solve her problem.

You know that you can get spring-type curtain rods in various lengths, also in different sizes, both round and flat.

I find them ideal for over-the-sink kitchen windows where the cabinets are built flush with the window frames.

I use three in hanging cafe curtains—one for the bottom piece, one for the top piece and one for the valance.

These rods eliminate marring the sides of the cabinets since nails and screws are not necessary to hold the rods.

I'm sure this would work on windows in a basement.

JUST FOR BABY!

DEAR HELOISE:

On cool nights, our very active one-year-old would not stay covered up in her crib. Instead of buying an expensive blanket sleeper, I decided to make one out of her fuzzy warm baby blanket. I also made a warm robe from another washable blanket.

Then went even further with the idea and made her two pairs of pajamas from her now-useless receiving blankets.

I had always wondered what one did with these nice warm blankets once the baby grew older. Now I'm glad I kept them.

ALL TUNED UP

DEAR HELOISE:
One day while shopping I lost my pocket-sized transistor radio.

After I purchased a new one, I threaded three lengths of yarn around one of the slats in the back of the cover. I then braided the yarn into a necklace.

Lose this one? Not likely, it's always around my neck!

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

My young son asked me what a valet was.

I explained to him that some men could afford a helper who would keep their clothing in order, help them get dressed and undressed, draw their bath water and such.

He thought for a moment and then replied: "That sounds just like a mother to me."

SAVE THOSE CARDS

DEAR HELOISE:

Birthday and greeting cards are just too pretty to throw away.

I cut mine in circles to fit my coasters or to place in saucers under coffee cups. They are colorful and interesting attention-getters.

Many times friends are pleased to recognize cards that they have sent.

Grace Clark

DINING IN STYLE

DEAR HELOISE:

A couple of months ago we bought new bedroom furniture and a new dining table and chairs.

Our old bookcase headboard now stands neatly on top of our old triple dresser and makes the buffet for our dining room.

Dishes, glassware, napkins, silverware, etc., are easier to get to because the drawers pull them out within easy reach.

Myrna G. Wagner

SAFETY FIRST

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a suggestion that could save a life.

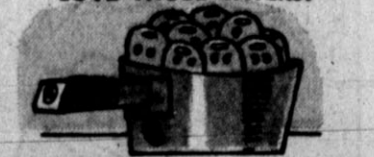

Our garage door spring snapped and just missed hitting the car. Fortunately, no one was injured.

We felt we were lucky this time, so when my husband bought a new spring he ran an extra cable through the spring and secured each end very tightly.

Now if it snaps, the spring can do no damage. Works fine.

LOVE THOSE TATERS!

DEAR HELOISE:

When you want to boil potatoes without peeling them, cut a small circle from each end of the potato. This will prevent the skin from bursting.
