

Our attitudes create the world in which we spend our lives.

The road to success has many detours because it is always under construction.

Our thanks to readers who complimented us on the "new look" of THE BRAND this week. A new computerized typesetting unit was installed this week, enabling us to return to the larger, bolder type. We think the appearance of the paper will improve even more as the staff becomes accustomed to the new composition methods.

More than usual interest is being indicated in absentee voting for both the school and city elections coming up April 1 and April 4. Two factors have probably upped the interest in the school balloting — the large number of candidates, and the Easter weekend. Many voters may be out of town on Saturday since it is a holiday weekend.

The Hereford Lions Club had a "wild" election party Thursday night, and the candidates for office had to have a good sense of humor, because they were lampooned even by their own campaign managers.

Earnest Langley, campaigning for Nolan "Zip Code" Grady, pointed out that he was the kind who planned far ahead.

"When he was a boy, he didn't waste his time playing baseball with the boys but stayed inside and played post office," claimed Langley.

Langley added that kids don't play post office much anymore; they play pony express — it's similar to post office but there's more horsing around!

"A Maverick Farmer Finds Gold in Natural Food Products" is the title of a recent feature article in THE NEW YORK TIMES, and the story is all about Hereford's Frank Ford and his company, Arrowhead Mills.

Besides telling the story of Ford's highly successful venture, the article outlines some of the history of Deaf Smith County and Hereford. It's the kind of nation-wide publicity for Ford and Hereford that money can't buy.

The writer labels Ford a "maverick" because he farms organically in an area that has boomed due to agricultural technology. Arrowhead Mills "is rapidly making its label, Deaf Smith, a household word to the growing army of shoppers in New York and elsewhere who buy natural foods," says the author. Arrowhead distributes a large line of products nationally, the story continues, operating on the theory that manmade fertilizers, herbicides and pesticides "poison the food and degrade the soil."

The writer says Ford's farm "is a textbook example of current ecological thinking." While success did not come quickly, the writer points out that business has quadrupled each year for the past two years. "Ford estimates that this year Arrowhead's gross will exceed $2 million," the writer states.

BEE WINNERS — County Judge H.C. Williams congratulates Tony Albracht for winning the Senior Spelling Bee in competition Friday. Show next to Albracht, to the left, are Dennis Artho, runner-up in the Senior Bee; Junior Bee champion Billy Bayne; and Junior Bee runner-up Donna Dawes. Albracht will advance to Regional competition in late April in Amarillo.

Tony Albracht Top Speller

Tony Albracht, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Albracht of Rt. 3, emerged the winner Friday in the annual Deaf Smith County Spelling Bee and earned the right to advance to Amarillo April 29 to compete in the Regional Bee.

The seventh grader from St. Anthony's school won the contest when he spelled "colonel" correctly after runner-up Dennis Artho had missed the word. Tony had to spell the following word, "colossal" correctly in order to win, and he did.

Artho, 12 and also a seventh grader from St. Anthony's, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Artho of Rt. 4.

Billy Bayne, sixth grade student at Aikman, was the winner in Thursday's Junior Spelling Bee as he defeated Donna Dawes, also a sixth grader from Aikman.

Billy and Donna went a record 133 rounds in a marathon spelling duel that lasted almost two hours. Billy finally won when Donna missed the word "wriggle" and Billy spelled that correctly then won with the word "whiff".

Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bayne, 514 Star, and Donna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Dawes of 827 Blevins.

Some 14 students competed in the Junior Bee.

Tennis Courts Being Bid On

Work is scheduled to begin in April on several new tennis courts and a nine-hole addition to the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course, according to city officials.

Bids on the tennis courts are now being accepted by the city, city manager Dudley Bayne said Friday. The present plans call for twin tennis court complexes to be built on Park Avenue and on Plains Street with renovation of two present courts on Avenue D possible.

The renovation of the courts on Avenue D will be done only if bids on the new courts are low enough to allow funds to be carried over.

The new tennis courts will be ready for play in May, the city manager said.

Bill Cantrell, a Lubbock architect, has been employed by the city to lay out the nine new holes on the golf course. He will present his plans to city officials sometime this week.

Cantrell has designed several courses in this area, including the newest course in Lubbock and the one in Friona.

Cattle Industry Short On Vets

(Editor's Note: Veterinarian care for feedlots has long been a problem in this area. The following story on that subject was written by Michael O. Wester for United Press International and deals with the local problems as seen through the eyes of feedlot managers.)

HEREFORD, TEX. (UPI) — A Major problem facing one of the fastest growing west Texas industries is medical help for cattle feedlots, according to the men who manage those day-to-day operations.

"There are too damn many of those poodle fellows and not enough vets who are willing to come to the lots," said James McCarty, manager of the Bix Tex Cattle and Grain operation at Hereford.

"We keep a veterinarian on our payroll as a consultant. But at times he is short handed and we need additional help. When we do we have trouble finding someone willing to come out and give us a hand."

McCarty said Texas was "very definitely" in need of additional veterinarians, especially those trained to work on large animals instead of household pets.

The 1971 official directory of licensed veterinarians by the Texas Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners lists 2,093 for the Lone Star State. Some 614 are in military service, retired, inactive or reside out of state, leaving only 1,479 practicing in the entire state.

Of those, there are only 75 veterinarians listed as "Large Animal Only" veterinarians.

"The field of feedlots in this area is still wide open—we are nowhere near the saturation point. But if the industry is to continue to grow, we must have some medical help. We already feel the shortage, and if our industry continues to grow it will become even worse."

McCarty said it would be extremely helpful if there were a veterinarian school located somewhere near the industry so it would be constantly aware of the need during the training stage.

Such a school has been proposed in the school of veterinary and zoological medicine to be developed within the Texas Tech University School of Medicine.

The main school would be located in Lubbock, with a branch on the West Texas State University campus in Canyon. Plans for the school were announced last year, with enrollment hopefully to begin in the fall of 1973.

A major portion of clinical training will be centered around the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of diseases of animals in feedlots and proper management of food producing animals such as cattle and swine.

"I hear plenty of talk about the proposed school when the feedlot managers get together," McCarty said. "We all favor it—and hope it gets started soon. It may be that most of the larger feedlots eventually keep a veterinarian on its payroll fulltime. But there are too few vets to meet the need at this time."

Shuval Indicates Appeal Possible

District Attorney Andy Shuval said there is a "99 per cent chance" that he will appeal a ruling by 47th District Judge E.E. Jordan that held him in contempt of court during a county court session here in January.

Shuval was held in contempt of court judge H.C. Williams during a driving while intoxicated case, but Shuval appealed the case. The case was heard by Judge Jordan Wednesday in Canyon and Jordan upheld Williams' decision.

Shuval and R.C. Hoelscher, defense attorney, were both held in contempt of court by Williams and fined $25.

"I have received calls from several prosecutors all over the state who have urged me to get an interpretation of Article 2.01 of the Code of Criminal Procedures," Shuval said Friday. "I am consulting with the DA in Randall County who observed the trial and with my own attorney and the three of us tentatively feel that the issue at stake is the interpretation of the article."

"I am pretty sure we will appeal it."

Shuval said the possibility of appealing the decision comes because Article 2.01 says, in part, "it shall be the primary duties of all prosecuting attorneys, including any special prosecutors, not to convict, but to see that justice is done."

He said the issue in this case is "whether a prosecutor must prosecute a man to the fullest of his ability when a judge wants to dismiss a case when the prosecutor knows from the facts, that the defendant is innocent."

"Judge Jordan did not find me in contempt of court for being disrespectful to the court," the District Attorney said. "He could not imagine how the case was ever brought to trial, and he did not understand why a judge would not dismiss a case when the prosecutor asked that it be dismissed.

"As long as the judge (Williams) didn't dismiss the case, and didn't allow the introduction of the evidence, Judge Jordan said it was my duty to convict the defendant."

'Eye' Donors Sought Today

The Hi-Plains Eye Bank, supported by the 81 Lions Clubs in District 2-T1, of which Hereford's clubs are members, is sponsoring a "donor drive" today as part of an effort to get 5,000 new donor cards signed.

Along with the drive will be a Telethon to be presented at 1:30 p.m. today on KGNC-TV.

The Hereford State Bank will serve as the drive headquarters and anyone wishing to sign a donor card can call 364-3456. A team of Lions will be sent to the home of the prospective donor to either give additional information on the Hi-Plains Eye Bank or to present that person with a donor card.

"This is a non-profit organization. It has been in operation for eight years and approximately 160 persons have received tissue by way of the Hi-Plains Eye Bank," Lion H.A. Cavness said.

"This is not a drive for financial donations. It is a drive to sign up donors—individuals who are willing to pledge their eyes—upon death—for use in sight-restoring operations."

Individuals whose blindness has been caused by damage or diseased corneas can often be given restored sight through the transplanting of human eye tissue, which has been donated by some other person.

The quality of a person's vision makes no difference whatsoever. If the cornea, sclera and vitreous are not diseased, the tissue can be used

As many as six persons can be helped by one pair of eyes. Two corneal transplants can be given; two sclera (white part of the eye) can be used for ruptures, and vitreous (fluid in the eye) can be used for two vitreous implants.

Eyes cannot be designated for a specific person, therefore they are used on the next patient on an eye surgeon's list. In the event a patient is not available within the time limit need to use the fresh tissue, the cornea and vitreous are preserved and stored for later use or shipped elsewhere. If a donated eye is diseased or cannot be used for grafting, it is carefully studied in research to help find causes and cures for blindness.

Student Transfer Deadline Nearing

June 1 has been set as the deadline for registration of students transferring to or from the Hereford Independent School District, it was announced this week.

Any student who is planning to transfer from the Hereford system should contact the superintendent's office of the school which he is planning to attend next year.

Anyone coming into the Hereford system should go by the superintendent's office before June 1 and fill out the necessary forms.

This applies only to transfers from one school district to another, such as from Walcott to Hereford. It does not apply to transfer from one school in town to another in town, such as from Aikman Elementary to Bluebonnet.

Funeral Is Held On Saturday For Harold Beauchamp

Funeral services for Harold Beauchamp, 44, who died early Thursday in Deaf Smith General Hospital after a year's illness, were conducted Saturday afternoon in First Christian Church by the Rev. Eugene Brink, minister.

Burial in Rest Lawn Memorial Park was directed by Gilliland Eudender Home. Mr. Beauchamp, who resided northeast of Hereford, had come to this county in 1953 from Tulsa. He was born in Amarillo, on April 21, 1927, and married Freda Mae Brisco in that city Dec. 22, 1946.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter, Toni Jones, and a son, Mike, all of Hereford; also a brother, H. G. Beauchamp of Hereford; two sisters, Joyce Nesbitt of Amarillo and Hana Jo Irving of Glen Eden, Calif.; and one grandchild.

City Churches Plan Worship Services

Daily services for Holy Week will begin Monday in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Bill Ray of the Nazarene Church presiding, it is announced by the Hereford Ministerial Association.

Other ministers to speak during the 12:05- to 12:30 p.m. pre-Easter worship services are Dr. Gerald Mann, the Revs. William Lang, Norman McDonald, Gene Brink, Boniface Reidmann, C.W. Allen, W.A. Appling, Homer Goodwin and Lynn Dehart.

Meetings each day through Good Friday will be conducted by ministers and laymen from churches of the city.

Churches participating include St. Thomas Episcopal, Nazarene Baptist, First Baptist, Nazarene, St. Anthony's Catholic, First Christian, First United Methodist Church, Assembly of God, Westway Baptist, and St. John Baptist.

Denise Strange Wins Science Fair

Denise Strange, 16-year-old Hereford High School sophomore, had one of the two best projects at the 15th Annual Texas Panhandle Science Fair, held in Amarillo Friday Saturday and Sunday.

Denise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Strange of 203 North Bennett St. had a first place in the 1972 Hereford Public Schools Science Fair earlier this month, and joined several other Hereford youths at the Amarillo contest.

Ginger Newton and Mike Aven, also of Hereford, had first place awards at the Panhandle Show, but only the two best Orleans, La., May 1-5.

Miss Strange will be accompanied by one sponsor, probably Robert Priest, HHS science instructor, and her sponsor in the area shows. Her project is titled "Inhibition of Seed Germination by Plant Abstracts."

Miss Newton had first place in the Girl's Medicine and Health division, with her project entitled "Cancer Growth in Carrot Combium." She also is a HHS student.

Aven's first place was in Senior Boy's Botany. The HHS student named the project

"Slime Molds—Plants or Animals." Another HHS student, Joan Waters, took second place in the Senior Girl's Medicine and Health class. Her project was "Antibiotics from a Pinch of Soil—a Miracle of Production."

Another second place was picked up by Jess Robinson in Senior Boy's Botany. He called his project "Inhibition of Wild Mustard on Wheat Germination." Shelly Hacker and Jim Henson each claimed honorable mention honors at the Amarillo show.

Hacker's project was entitled "Yeast Respiration in Relation to Caffeine," and was entered in Senior Boy's Chemistry and Biochemistry. Henson took Honorable Mention in Senior Boy's Earth and Space Science. His project was "Robtronics."

As Deadlines Approach

Absentee Voting Picks Up

Upcoming Easter holidays and an unusual number of candidates in each race have promoted votes to take advantage of absentee balloting in the school and city elections set for April 1 and April 4, respectively.

Through Friday, some 137 voters had cast absentee ballots for the 12-candidate race for the three spots on the school board and five absentee votes had been cast for the city election in which both positions are being contested.

Absentee balloting ends Tuesday for the school board and Friday for the city commission. Absentee voting can be done at City Hall for the city election and at the school tax office for the school election.

The large number of absentee votes in the school election is attributed to the Easter holidays during which school will be closed and a number of teachers and eligible students will be out of town. The school system dismissed classes Friday and will not resume until April 3—two days after the school board election.

Persons who vote absentee are required to sign up affidavit stating they will be unable to vote in an election on election day. Those who qualify must be either ill and unable to go to the polls, in the armed services stationed overseas or a student and unable to go to the polls.

The only other election slated for the county is the May primary for county and district offices.

Absentee voting for that election, which will be held on May 6, will begin April 17 and continue through May 2.

Tornadoes, Hurricanes Make Presence Felt

The vulnerability of Texas to the ravages of wind and hail has been painfully established, by such super destructive hurricanes as "Celia" which, in 1970, caused $310 million in insured damage.

By the statistical reality that tornadoes hit the Lone Star State far more frequently than any other, including the no winamous $50 million Lubbock Tornado, and by perhaps the most damaging hailstorm in U. S. history, which caused some $24 million in insured loss at Amarillo in June, 1969 this has been proven.

From 1966 through 1970 alone, 697 tornadoes struck Texas, killing 61 persons, injuring 872 and causing damage in the hundreds of millions.

The insurance industry is prepared to meet the challenge presented by these property damaging natural castrophes, according to the Texas Insurance Advisory Association and has established special procedures to deal with the large volume of insured losses and chaotic conditions that follow such storms.

To help storm victims, the TIAA says, insurance injusters will work overtime in an effort to settle claims promptly and fairly, with the hardship cases handled first. Often hundreds of additional adjusters are flown in from all parts of the nation to speed the investigation and processing of claims.

Assuming you are the one with property damage, it's only natural that you will want necessary repairs to be made both quickly and properly and the TIAA advises how you can help:

1. Notify your insurance agent, telling him the extent of your damage. He will report the loss to your insurance company and have an adjuster call on you.
2. Make whatever temporary repairs are necessary to prevent further damage by wind or rain. This should include boarding up or otherwise covering broken windows, covering holes in the roof and siding with temporary materials. Keep a record of the costs, if any, and provide the insurance adjuster with itemized bills.
3. For your own protection, deal only with a reputable contactor in having temporary repairs made or obtaining a loss estimate.

4. Let your insurance agent know where you will be if you must move into temporary quarters. If your policy covers additional living expenses, keep records of those expenses for your adjuster.

5. If possible, be prepared to provide the adjuster with an inventory of damaged personal property including furnishings, clothing, jewelry, etc.

The TIA notes that the public should keep in mind that each individual is only one of many who is effected by the storm damage, possibly one out of several thousands.

The most urgent cases must get first attention. Cooperation on every individual's part will contribute to the insurance industry's prompt and fair settlement of storm claims and its efforts to rapidly return the affected community to normalcy.

RECORD IN FORFEITS

DALLAS (AP) — A record $472,126 in bond forfeitures was collected by Dallas district and county criminal courts during 1971, according to Asst. Dist. Atty. Robert Stinson.

Stinson said Dallas County forfeited more bail bonds than did all the other 253 Texas counties put together.

Bonds were forfeited on an estimated 350 defendants charged with felony offenses and 750 charged with misdemeanor offenses in the criminal courts.

VETS....

At the end of last year there were more than 1.3 million head of cattle being finished for market on the Texas High Plains feedlots. Cattle worth almost $1 billion are fattened annually in a 39-county area surrounding Lubbock.

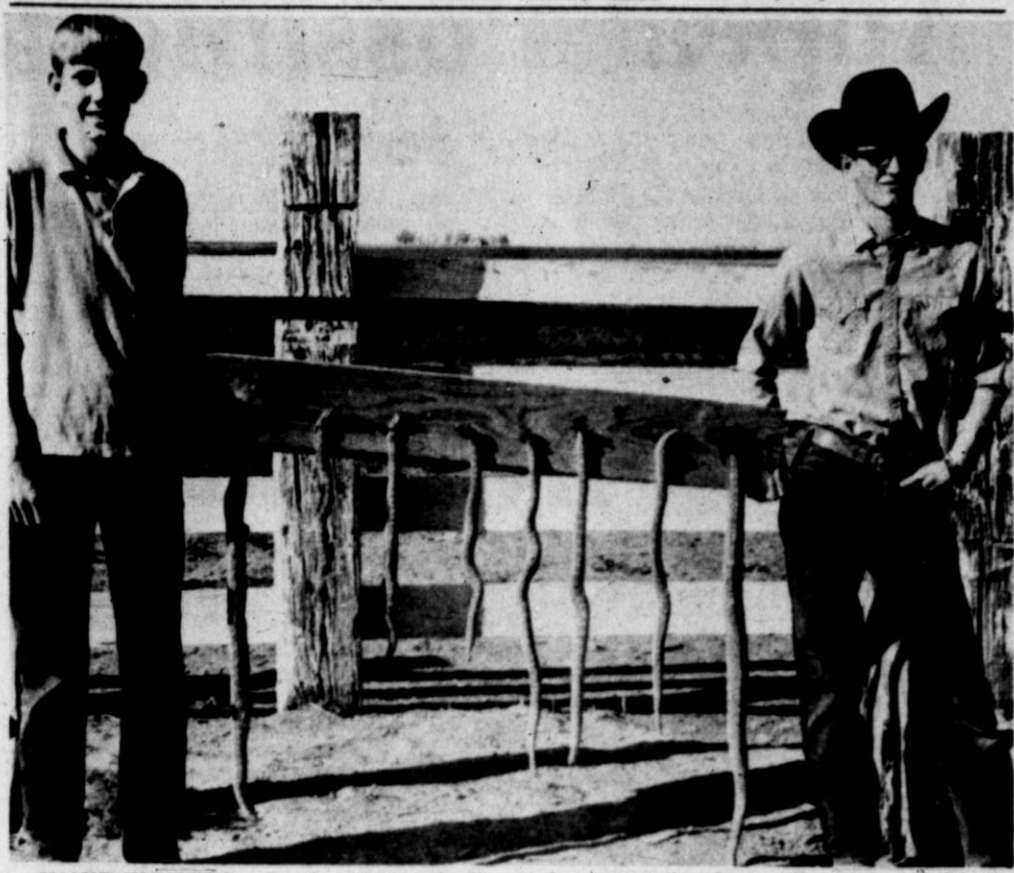

Cattlemen estimated that death losses to the feedlot operators run almost $10 million annually, and that losses from disease which result in lack of weight gain equal that amount.

"We have a definite need," McCarty said. "In this small area around Hereford there are about two dozen feedlots now."

"Yet, Hereford has only three vets. You can see our need."

Subject to funding by the Texas legislature, the Texas Tech Veterinary School calls for a $6.7 million construction program including $4 million for a veterinary medicine facility as an addition to the school of medicine's main building.

A separate $1.7 million large animal facility and small animal hospital would be constructed on a 250-acre site designated for the medical center. At Canyon a $1 million large animal clinic would be constructed at West Texas State.

SNAKE HUNTERS — Rattlesnakes in the Hereford area are already crawling. Just ask Greg Skypala (left) and Denny Askew, who happened on to a snake den recently about four miles east of Hereford, and killed two of the deadly Texas rattlers. Askew and Skypala, joined by two other boys, dug into the den after killing the two unlucky snakes out for an afternoon crawl. They killed seven more snakes, and Tuesday on a return trip to the hole killed two more.

Social Security

Q. I will be age 65 in a few months but have no immediate plans to retire. Will it be necessary for me to go to the social security office to enroll in the Medicare program?

A. You will need to apply with social security about 3 months before you become age 65. However, a trip to the social security office will not be necessary. Telephone your local social security office and explain your situation. They will complete the application forms and mail them to you to be signed and returned by mail.

Q. My first husband died about 10 years ago. My child, now age 14, and I received social security checks following his death. About 3 years ago I remarried and my check was stopped but I still receive a check for my child. My last marriage ended in divorce recently. Would I be eligible for social security checks again?

A. It appears you need to complete an application with social security for benefits on your first husband's record. You should telephone the local social security office and they will explain what is needed to start your benefits from social security again on his record.

FIRST NEW MEMBER — Jay Swayze, receives a Chamber of Commerce plaque from Hereford Hustler Gene Campbell for being the first person to sign up during last week's Chamber of Commerce membership drive. Some 35 new members were signed up during the one-week drive.

C of C Drive Nets 35 New Members

A membership drive of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce the past week reaped 35 new members, it was reported during a quarterly C of C meeting Friday in the Civic Center.

Bob Emery, drive chairman, recognized three men as the winners in a membership contest between two teams. Jeff Carille took first place; Don Louder was second, and Mac Tubb came in third.

Melvin Jayroe, C of C president, explained that the quarterly meetings will be held this year in an effort to keep the general membership in closer touch with the activities of the Chamber. He plans to call three more of the sessions this year. Other reports at the luncheon meeting Friday came from Roy Faubion, director in charge of community development; and Tom Burdett, director in charge of community development.

Faubion outlined activity of some of his committees, headed by Bud Eades, Dale Young and Gene Campbell. Burdett also gave an activity report which included committees headed by Jake Diel, Roy Hartman, and Larry Dipple.

A goal of 50 new members had been set for the membership drive. Terming the drive as "very successful," Jayroe said still more prospects are expected to sign up and the goal of 50 may be reached in the next few weeks.

Play School Called Ideal for Students

CANYON, Tex.—Ideas embodied in the so-called "free" school could be used to "more humanize" the traditional educational system in this country, a West Texas State University educator says.

A "free" school is one in which students are allowed to choose their activities without interference, compulsion or coercion from adults and attendance is optional. Students are restricted only by safety considerations and respect for the rights of others.

"Evaluation of this school by a person steeped in a traditional educational system poses a difficult task," says Dr. W. M. Fred Stoker.

"To the most conservative parents or teacher this organization represents an anti-school or at least a non-school where pupils are allowed to play and avoid all disciplined learning activities."

Stoker, professor of education and head of the Department of School Services at West Texas State, commented after visiting the Konama School at Corrales, N. M., a suburb of Albuquerque.

At Konama, a "free" school started two years ago, students have no assigned time to come to school and field trips requested by students provide many of the school's activities, Stoker says.

"These excursions range from a nude swim to attending a formal lecture at the nearby University of New Mexico," he says. "The school maintains a station wagon and will attempt to take one or more students on any requested trip within a reasonable distance."

Writing in the January issue of The Educational Forum, published by Kappa Delta Pi honorary society in education, Stoker says:

"Perhaps the traditionalist will admit that this organization for individual freedom may be a good idea for at least the students who have been completely unsuccessful in the customary schools."

"One striking thing about the school and its relationships is the apparent love and absence of antagonism existing among the pupils and the staff."

Lions Select Grady As New President

Nolan Grady, Hereford postmaster, was named as the new president of Hereford Lions Club during a ladies' night election party at the high school cafeteria Thursday night.

Grady, along with other new officers, will be installed in June. Lynton Allred is the outgoing club president. Grady, currently serving as treasurer, edged Jim Hale in the election Thursday night.

Elected to vice presidential posts were John Thames, Flake Barber and Ted Higgins. Other candidates were Glen Nelson, Lynn Brisendine and Bill Lamm. Wayne Lady was picked for secretary after a race with Philip Shook, and Albert Ricketts won the treasurer's post over Carroll McDonald.

Selected as Lion tamers from a field of four candidates were James Gentry and Jim Holmes; tail twister jobs went to Tommy Bowling and Joe Shollenbarger, and the two new directors will be David Honea and Wayne Jones. Holdover directors are Sam Ratcliff and Bill Brady.

Current vice presidents of the club include Ed Wilson, John Thames and John D. Bryant. Grady and Ricketts are the treasurer and secretary, while Jim Hale and Homer Garrison are Lion tamers, and Pat Hughes and Virgil Walker are the tail twisters.

Floyd Sackett, District 2-T1 governor from Pampa, was a special guest at the meeting. Special entertainment was provided by a trio from Gristown, U.S.A. Allred presided over the meeting.

Donny Anderson Golfing Classic Set in Lubbock

A Golf Tournament featuring perhaps the largest gathering of entertainment and sports celebrities in the history of Lubbock, will be held at Hillcrest Country Club on May 22nd and 23rd. The event, a Celebrity - Amateur - Professional Tournament, will be called the Donny Anderson Pro - Celebrity Classic.

never before seen in Lubbock."

Amateur players from the Lubbock area will be invited to play with touring professionals and celebrities from show business and professional sports. Each amateur will be teamed by blind draw with other amateurs and one pro or celebrity for each of the two rounds played. Prizes will be awarded for low team net scores and the professionals will play for a steer which will be donated to the Tournament. Donny said the participants and guests of the Tournament will be guests at a dinner and show, during the Tournament. This event will feature entertainment by many of the show business stars who will be present.

"This will be a first class Tournament in every way," Donny continued, "we are fortunate to have the services of the sports promotion firm of Wileman and Adams from Los Angeles to assist us in this endeavor. This firm and Bob Wileman, one of the partners, will act as tournament directors. Wileman and Adams have been associated with the Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open for a number of years and last October staged the Buck Owens Pro - Celebrity Invitational in Bakersfield, California, that was tremendously successful and raised a large sum of money for the American Cancer Society in that area. The Buck Owens Tournament was listed in the January issue of Golf Digest as one of the most fun amateur tournaments in America."

Anderson made the announcement jointly with the local Jaycee Chapter. The charity event will support a home for juvenile delinquents, something which has been badly needed in Lubbock.

Anderson also announced that his brother, Larry, will be General Chairman of the Tournament. Both Larry and Donny expressed their pleasure that this Tournament is coming to Lubbock. Larry outlined the format of the Tournament as "two days of great fun, good golf and spectacular entertainment, such as

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Play At Your Own Risk

Eddie and the corner grocer were boon companions. Often, when business was slow, the two men would engage in friendly scuffling around the store. One day, the grocer shoved Eddie a little too vigorously. Eddie lost his footing, fell against the counter, and cracked two ribs.

That ended their friendship. In short order, Eddie sued the grocer for damages on grounds of assault and battery. But a court turned him down, saying his claim was barred by the doctrine of "assumption of risk."

This doctrine has wide application in all kinds of playful and recreational activities.

"One who takes part in a sport," said one court, "accepts the dangers that are obvious and necessary, just as a fencer accepts the risk of a thrust by his antagonist."

Most often, the doctrine has been applied in golf. Thus: A golfer shanked an iron shot, and his ball struck another player standing far to the right. Admittedly, he had not yelled "Fore!" before taking his swing. Nevertheless, he could not fairly have foreseen danger to anyone so far out of range.

Result: a court ruled that the victim should not collect damages. The court said this was the kind of risk he had assumed by going onto a golf course in the first place.

But the doctrine does not apply to risks that are not "natural" to the sport—that are due instead of somebody's misconduct.

In another case two fishermen were sitting in a rowboat when one, trying to make a backward cast, hooked his companion in the cheek. Sued later for damages, he sought refuge in the doctrine of assumption of risk. "Accidents," he said, "will happen."

But the court said accidents like this will not happen if fishermen are reasonably careful with their hooks. The victim had not assumed a risk, said the court, that was preventable by plain common sense.

That's quite a line.

It is for a fact. Nobody else can say that because nobody else builds an irrigation pipe like Gifford-Hill builds LOCK-SEAL.

Nobody has anything to do with anything where LOCK-SEAL is concerned but us. Our sole objective is to build a pipe line that conserves your water and uses it to the best possible advantage.

■ First, we make sure that every section of LOCK-SEAL meets our rigid set of standards. If one doesn't, it's scrapped.

■ Then we put a flexible rubber gasket in each section. That virtually eliminates expansion, contraction and soil movement problems.

■ Before we install it, our irrigation specialists design the system that will work best on your farm.

■ When it's time to install it, a team of specialists gets involved. LOCK-SEAL is installed to the exact design specifications. From cutting the ditch to the final tie-in, experts are at work, making sure that you have a trouble-free system.

■ After the job is finished, the same experts are standing by to provide any service needed.

■ Year after year, you'll have the same reliable people offering the same dependable product and service.

GET OUT and watch the Hereford Little Dribblers' League in its' last week of play. Games are Monday, Tuesday and Friday.

Little Dribblers' basketball is more than just a bunch of little kids out there trying to dribble a basketball. Especially for us crazy coaches, who lose sleep, chew fingernails and literally blow our minds before, during and after each game. You'd think it was for the world championship or something.

But, that's why Little Dribblers' is so good. Basketball teaches the boys to handle pressure, play by the rules, and hopefully pick up some good sportsmanship.

Of course there are always the exceptions, and almost every coach finds himself wondering at some time what that ref had against him. It's hard to go an entire season without stomping your foot, muttering or objecting to one call by an official.

But one thing is assured, there's not a bunch of harder-working guys anywhere than those Jaycees who spend four nights a week running up and down the court officiating Little Dribblers' games. It's not only hard work, but also cuts into these men's time for other things.

And these Little Dribblers' games, by the second or third week, feature some very good basketball. Just like last Tuesday night's contest between the Raiders and Wildcats.

The contest went into five overtimes before the Raiders fell 28-25 on a free throw and follow-up basket. A good crowd watched the game, and the gym's acoustics got a true test.

The Hereford Summer Baseball Program is now only about two months away from opening day and there are still about 15 coaches needed for the teams.

Also this year, because of a lack of funds, sponsorships of the baseball teams will be sold to Hereford businesses. These sponsorships are not very expensive, and are necessary for Hereford's youth to have a baseball program this summer.

Plainview Gets First Loop Win, 5-4 Over Whitefaces

By Terry Neill
SPORTS EDITOR

Hereford High School's baseball team survived a defensive collapse in the first inning Friday against Plainview, only to lose 5-4 in the 11th inning after deadlocking the game at 4-4 at the end of the regulation seven innings.

Cold, biting winds kept the crowd small Friday, but those who braved the cold saw a fine baseball game, as the two squads opened the District 4-AAAA season with a bang.

The Whiteface infield started very shakily, allowing three runs to cross the plate in the opening inning. The locals made two consecutive errors on the opening plays of the contest, then the visitors got to Herd hurler Rudy Gonzales for two straight hits and when the Whiteface catcher lost the ball on a low pitch, the third Plainview run scored.

Hereford came to bat in the bottom of the first, but couldn't get a runner on base until centerfielder Eugene Suttle doubled and second baseman Terry Scott drew a walk. Plainview escaped untouched from the Hereford rally, however, when Gonzales grounded out to second.

Rick Peters, Hereford left fielder, got the locals off on the right foot in the second inning, when he speared a long drive for the first out. The Bulldog's second batter reached first on a blooper over Gonzales' head, but the next batter hit a grounder to Gonzales, who threw the runner out at second. The next man up grounded out to Scott, ending the visitor's inning.

The Hustling Herd couldn't come up with a score in the second inning either, even though Dwayne Davidson and Frank Bezner drew walks. Terry Poindexter grounded out to third.

Plainview bit the dust 1-2-3 in the top of the third, and Peters beat out a single to start the inning for the Whitefaces. Peters then stole second and third, to halt in scoring position. Once again Plainview stiffened, however, and got the third out when Gonzales grounded out to the third baseman.

Scott made a great running stab of a hard-hit grounder in the top of the fourth inning, and the Whitefaces set the visitors down in order once again.

It was the Herd's turn to score — Frank Bezner walked and scored when Davidson rolled a dribbler down the third base line which no one could handle. Both runners were safe.

The Whitefaces tallied on a double steal, and cut the Bulldog's lead to 3-2. Locke grounded out to the shortstop for the final out.

The Bulldogs threatened in the fifth inning, as their two leadoff men notched singles, and advanced to scoring positions when one batter struck out and another grounded out to first. Gonzales walked the fifth Plainview batter intentionally, then fanned the next for the final out. Hereford got another score in the bottom of the fifth. Suttle singled and advanced to third on a double-error. Scott followed with a single, which scored Suttle with the tying run. Gonzales used a sacrifice bunt to advance Scott, but Bezner and another Herd batter struck out to end the inning.

Plainview bounced right back, and scored on a long out to centerfield. Hereford got only one runner on base in the sixth. Poindexter walked but was called out trying to steal second.

Plainview had a couple of hits in the seventh but failed to scratch, and Peters went to the plate as the leadoff batter in the bottom half of the final inning.

Peters drew a walk, but Suttle struck out, for one away. Scott came through again, this time with a single, which advanced Peters to third. Gonzales punched one past the Bulldog third baseman, and Hereford scored to deadlock the game.

The next three innings were spotlighted by some great Whiteface play, as Gonzales remained on the mound, doing a fine job. Hereford had several chances, but the tough Bulldogs managed to escape each time.

In the next three innings were — In the top half of the 11th inning, Plainview's leadoff man singled, and then scored the winning run when the next batter rapped a double into right field.

The Whitefaces failed to get anything started in the bottom half of the inning, however, and ended up with the loss. The local's record now stands at 4-6 for the season, and 0-1 in loop play.

Gonzales struck out seven, walked three, and gave-up seven hits.

Harlem Stars To Try Jaycees April 4

The Hereford Jaycees will play the Harlem Stars, professional basketball clowns, Tuesday, April 4 in the La Plata Junior High School gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the game will be used in sending Hereford's representatives to the Little Dribblers' Inc. regional tournament in Lubbock, April 14 and 15.

Members of the Hereford team which will compete at the tournament will be named at the Jaycee-Harlem Star game, and all Major League players are asked to attend the contest.

The Harlem Stars have played all over the nation to crowds of all sizes, and combine comedy with some eye-catching basketball play to provide good entertainment for the entire family.

YHT Little Sister Presented at Party

Shalyn Sisson was presented as the 1972 Little Sister for the Young Homemakers of Texas as they hosted a Coke party for Future Homemakers of America of Hereford High, La Plata and Stanton Junior High chapters Wednesday afternoon at La Plata cafeteria.

Candidates for the Little Sister award with Miss Sisson were Melissa Johnson, Shelia Lea and Patricia Brownlow. Shalyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Sisson of Westway.

Games were planned and carried out by Mrs. Wayland Wampler, Jo Ann Hill and Mrs. Troy Foster. Mrs. Foster presented Donita McDermitt, 1971-72 Little Sister, with a gift of appreciation.

Refreshments of sandwiches and cookies were provided by La Plata and Stanton Junior High homemaking departments and the Young Homemakers.

Guests attending the party were mothers of the honorees, Mmes. Woody McDermitt, Lewis Lea, Gene Brownlow and Julian Johnson, and homemaking teachers, Mrs. M. T. Burelsmith of La Plata, Mrs. Larry Kennedy and Mrs. Frank Prowell of Hereford High, and Mrs. Joe Bradley of Stanton.

Club members attending were Mmes. Jim McDowell, Floyd Neill, Connie Urbanczyk and Charles Weatherford. Approximately 90 girls attended the party.

LITTLE SISTER NAMED — Admiring the charm she received after being named Little Sister for the Young Homemakers of Texas, Shalyn Sisson shows it to Donita McDermitt. Donita, pictured at right, was the 1971-72 Little Sister for the club. Shalyn was named Little Sister at a Coke party which the club gave for all Future Homemakers of America members at La Plata Junior High cafeteria.

Hicks, Thomas Receive Honor

David Hicks and David Wayne Thomas, Hereford High School students, are among the 247 senior students in West Texas who have been named Outstanding West Texas Scholars for 1972.

The announcement of this high honor was announced this week by Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools here. Recognition of outstanding high school students in West Texas is sponsored each year by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the selection of the student is made by the faculty of the school.

an Outstanding West Texas Scholar is made by the local school on the basis of the nominee's school activities, character, citizenship and aptitudes for leadership.

Hicks and Thomas will be recognized by public presentation of a West Texas Scholar certificate. There is no stipend nor scholarship with the award.

McIntosh Will Speak On TB And Skin-Testing Program

Charles McIntosh, of the Top of Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association, will speak April 4 at 10 a.m. at the Hereford High School auditorium on the upcoming tuberculin skin-testing program in Hereford and tuberculosis in general.

All interested persons, including civic clubs and organizations are invited to attend the meeting. Volunteers to work at the tuberculin skin-testing program, planned for April 29 are also welcomed.

McIntosh will answer any questions concerning TB, or the testing program, which will be the first ever held in Hereford.

Residents of Deaf Smith County are urged to take the simple test, which is free, and indicates if a person has been exposed to TB, and if some medical treatment is needed.

Everyone in the county should have a test, including the young and old. Babies three-months-old and up can be tested.

Raymond Wiley, formerly of Rt. 2, Hereford, made enough in two years of farming with Clod Buster to pay his way through four years of divinity school and support his family too. But the photo is of him and his 1967 beet field. As well as increased yield, Sugar content of beets increased from 12.2 per cent to 15.4 per cent.

But if you want to see an almost unbelievable demonstration of Clod Buster effectiveness that's current, go look at W. R. Stockett's dry-land wheat as contrasted with his neighbors. Exactly six miles due south of Wayside, East side of road. We dare you look and verify! Stockett harvested 36 bu of dry land wheat per acre with Clod Buster; only 9, the area average, without it in carefully controlled test in 1970.

Emigdio Ramos, now at Rt. 1, Tulia, built up two farms with Clod Buster at Happy, only to have owners take them back. He now owns his own spread and is starting carefully controlled demonstrations of Clod Buster value. Clod Buster investment: About $5 per acre per year.

'Meals On Wheels' To Elect Directors

A board of directors is to be named when an organizational meeting of "Meals on Wheels" is held Monday night in the Community Center.

The meeting has been scheduled for 7 p.m., according to Mrs. Lola Curtsinger, with all interested persons invited to attend.

Elks Lodge Plans Meeting Tuesday

The Hereford Elks Lodge will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at 131 East Second St. to elect officers for the upcoming year.

All present members, delinquent members and prospective members are invited to attend.

SONG DRILL

Mrs. Curtsinger initiated the campaign to provide the community project here.

"Meals on Wheels" is a citywide project to provide hot meals once a day for shut-ins who are unable to prepare their own meals. Application is being made to the Governor's Committee on Aging to help fund the program.

Mary Williams coordinator of MOW in Lubbock, will be guest speaker and will have slides which explain the program. The possibility of in-home nursing services also will be explained.

Mrs. Curtsinger announced that arrangements have been made for King's Manor to prepare the meals. Volunteer workers will deliver the meals to the homes. Anyone interested in helping with the program is invited to attend the meeting Monday night. Pledge cards will also be available for those who desire to contribute to the project.

The program is set up so that recipients agree to pay for their meals to the best of their ability, but no one is turned down because of inability to pay. If the local program is approved, grants will help pay for the program over the first three years.

Clubs and groups are invited to participate in the program, Mrs. Curtsinger stressed.

CCA Will Present Three On Broadway

Two concerts are in store for Community Concert Association members here in April, closing a season which bunched its final programs in one month because other dates were not available for these especially-wanted attractions.

Three On Broadway is the title of the April 3 program, presenting Jan McArt and Ronald Rogers with a pianist in selections from hit stage musicals, old and new. Stan Kenton and his orchestra, booked early as the "hold" attraction for this season, will appear April 23.

Miss McArt and Rogers have both sung in concert and musical comedy performances, on Broadway, on tour and television. Teamed for the current tour, they present hits and bits from great musicals of the stage.

The program includes songs from such recent musicals as "I Do, I Do", Man of La Mancha and Hello Dolly; from contemporary classics including Camelot, Sound of Music and West Side Story, and from old favorite musical comedies dating back to early in this century.

Composers represented in the latter group include Victor Herbert, Romberg, Friml, George M. Cohan, Irving Berlin and Cole Porter. Songs from George Gershwin's folk opera, Porgy and Bess, are also in their repertory.

They will be heard here in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. April 3. Admission is by Community Concert Association membership card only; members are reminded that use of the cards is transferable so one who is not able to use his card for this concert may lend it to someone else.

In addition to the two April programs here, Canyon CCA will bring the young pianist, Andre Juliette Brun, to that city for a concert the evening of April 16. A reciprocal agreement between Canyon and Hereford associations permits members from both cities to attend concerts in either.

Calliopian Club Hears Minister

The Rev. John Kiesling presented the topic of "Woman's Role In Church And Community" at the Calliopian Club meeting Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Alton Fraser.

A member of Friars of Atonement, he is associate pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church. He emphasized Christian unity.

As far as the scriptures were concerned, he said, the Apostle Luke is the author in the Bible who recognized the importance of woman in a community. Luke presented women in many of the major events he wrote of.

Women are needed in a community in order for that community to function, he added before a question and answer period which involved all present.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Irving Alexander, Clyde Cave, C. J. Crump, E. W. Dettman, J. T. Gilbreath, Mary Gibson, Sue James, Tom Kendrick, Ansel McDowell, D. C. McWhorter, Emmett Milburn, Trow Mims, Gene Parsley, Dolson W. Palmer, Jack Wilcox, Hazen Wood and Bob Word.

GIBSON NEAR RECORD
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Next spring pitcher Bob Gibson hopes to become the biggest winner in the history of the St. Louis Cardinals. He will start the season with 206 victories. Jesse Haines holds the team record with 210 wins from 1920 to 1937.

Gibson had a 16-13 record last season after 21 days on the disabled list with a pulled thigh muscle.

MUSEUM PRIZE — A valued contribution to Deaf Smith County Historical Museum was made Thursday afternoon when Mrs. J. O. Newell presented a complete collection of all the annuals issued in Hereford High School. Here she shows the earliest, the Whiteface, to Palmer Norton, president of the county Historical Society which maintains the museum. High School Counselor Robert Thompson, right, represented the school administration in accepting this gift, and pledging a copy of all subsequent issues of the yearbook to add to the collection.

Newell Family Presents HHS Annuals to Museum

A gift from Mrs. J. O. Newell and her family has given Deaf Smith County Historical Museum an unusual addition to its collection of material concerning early history and pioneer life in this area — a complete file of all annuals ever issued in Hereford High School. Mrs. Newell made the presentation of the yearbooks, dating back to 1916, at a meeting of officers and board members of the county Historical Society in the museum parlor Thursday afternoon. Representatives of high school officials and students were also present. Robert Thompson, high school counselor who represented the school administration, announced that a copy of the annual will be given to the museum each year in the future to add to the valuable collection. The Whiteface annual was not published every year since the beginning in 1916, but there is a copy of all that were issued in the Newell family's collection. In most years a member of the family was a high school student; Mrs. Newell's sister represented the family in that first edition. Mrs. Newell was accompanied to the meeting by her daughter, Mrs. Richard Winget. Palmer Massey, County Historical Society president, accepted the gift; other board members present were Mrs. Austin Rose Jr., Mrs. George Turrentine, Mrs. Colby Conkright and George Stambaugh. From the high school, those present were Joan Grady, annual editor this year; Charles Allison, president of the student council; Eddie Gage, Key Club president, and Bill Penn, faculty sponsor of the annual.

Fairly Free Private Enterprise

Curbside flower vendors became so numerous in a certain community that the regular florists began to complain about the competition. Finally, the city council passed a tough licensing law aimed at knocking the street vendors out of business. But when the new law was tested in court, it was held null and void. The court said the city simply had no power to regulate a business as harmless as selling flowers.

Private enterprise, while not wholly free, still has considerable vitality. A city's "police power" does not include blanket authority over all kinds of business activities, just because they happen to be within the city limits. On the other hand, a city may indeed impose restraints on a business that has a real potential for harm.

Consider the case of a man who started a telephone answering service. According to a city ordinance, he and his employees were supposed to submit to photographing and fingerprinting. Challenging the ordinance, the man said it was unfair to "single us out."

But a court saw two ways in which a telephone answering service could be harmful:

- 1) by the misuse of confidential information about subscribers; and
- 2) by the encouragement of immoral activities.

Upholding the city's requirements, the court said: "There is a reasonable basis for distinguishing this type of business from others that are not regulated."

Another ordinance, covering private detectives, went still further. Under its terms, they had to put up a special bond and get a character clearance from the police department.

But again, a court decided there were enough possibilities for mischief in this line of work to justify the city in taking precautions.

Planter Box Treatment Urged

Farmers are urged to watch the treatment tag on the hybrid sorghum seed they plant this year, because the insecticide used may not be effective against wireworms.

Pressure being applied by both federal and state regulations has forced most seed companies to drop Dieldrin as a seed treatment. Methoxychlor and Malathion are being substituted. These insecticides are not effective against wireworms. Producers should use planter box treatments if Dieldrin has not been used as a seed treatment.

While the Environmental Protection Agency has not banned Dieldrin to date, it is presently under federal review. Dieldrin is a hydrocarbon similar to DDT. Several states have already prohibited the sale to agricultural seed treated with Dieldrin. Because of the threat of banning and action of some states, the seed industry was forced to change. Since some seed will still have the Dieldrin treatment, check the treatment tag and act accordingly. Wireworms can destroy stands and are serious.

Stanton Choir Gets Top Award

The Stanton Junior High Mixed Choir, under the direction of Douglas Morris and assisted by Fred Ratliff, won a sweepstakes trophy in competition last week in Amarillo. The choir received a Division I rating in concert and a Division II rating in sight reading. The sweepstakes trophy was the first won by a Stanton choir in several years. Some 25 choirs from across the Panhandle competed in the contest. All three of the judges for the concert gave the Stanton Mixed choir a I rating while the Stanton girls' choir was awarded a Division II for concert. Nancy Jones accompanied the choirs on the piano.

memo to advertisers

With two seemingly equal advertising opportunities available, how would you decide which was to carry your sales messages?

We have a suggestion—take a few minutes to find out just how seemingly equal they really are.

Ask questions—how big is their circulation audience? Where do readers live? How much do they pay? And others.

Then ask for proof!

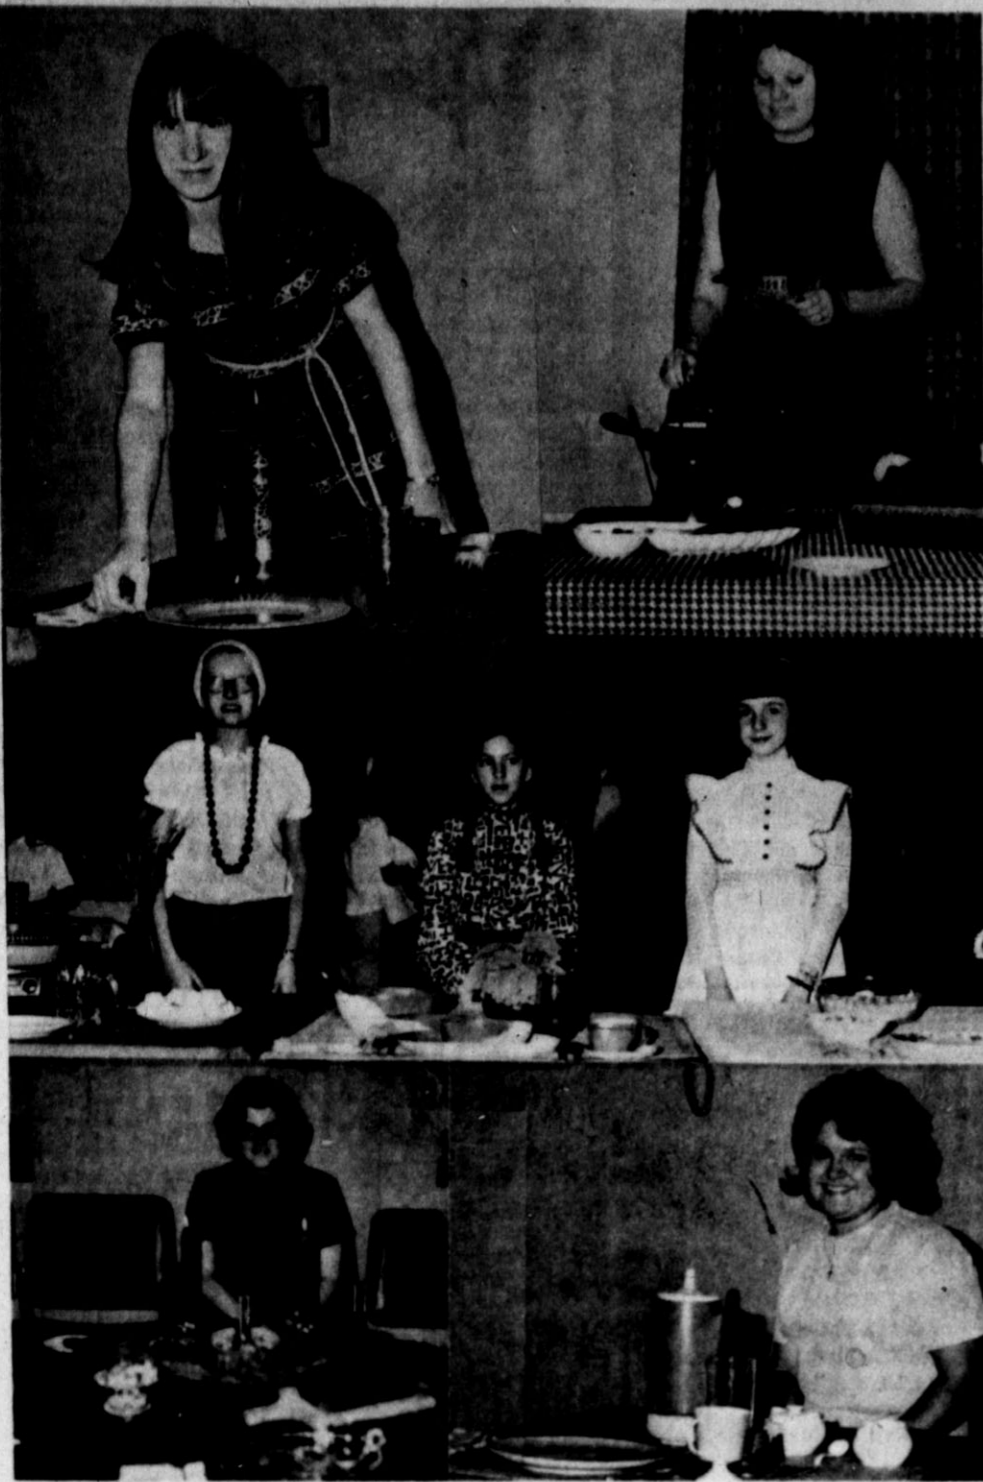

Ask to see a copy of their latest report from the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Equal opportunities? Be ABC-sure!

FOOD SHOW WINNERS — Top rating in the senior division of Deaf Smith County 4-H food show last weekend went to Chris Marnell and Sue Shirley, top photos, who will enter the district show April 8 at Amarillo to compete for a trip to the State 4-H Roundup in June. Kathy Vogel, bottom right, and Carmela Burges, not pictured, are alternates. Winners in the junior division, from left, center photo, were Beverly Beene in the milk group, Stephanie Paetzold in meat group, Diane Van Zandt in fruit-vegetable group, and, at left below, Shelly Scott in cereal group. This year's county show had 36 entries, each arranging a table and showing food she had prepared, as well as submitting records.

The first cooking lesson was Wednesday morning at the Community Action Center - Labor Camp. Listed are the recipes used.

The oatmeal pie tastes like Chess, but slightly crunchy. Lorenzo Granado and Virgil Dodson were the men in attendance and said the pie was good and to count on them anytime tasty food is served.

Virgil Dodson was one who worked long hours to build Casa de Amigos. Many people have made our work at the center possible and our sincere appreciation to all.

Pie Crust
 2 c. flour
 2/3 c. shortening
 1 tsp. salt
 5 to 6 tbs. ice cold water
 Cut shortening into flour and salt until it resembles cornmeal. Add water and mix just enough to form ball. Roll out on floured board and put in pie pan. Makes one two crust pie or two one crust pies.

Pastry Mix Only For Tart Shells
 1/2 c. margarine
 1 3-oz. package cream cheese
 1 c. flour

Mix together margarine, cream cheese and flour. Form into even balls. Shape in miniature muffin tins. Add filling. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 min.

Oatmeal Pie
 2 eggs, beaten
 2/3 c. sugar
 2/3 c. uncooked oatmeal (regular or quick-cooking)
 1/2 c. margarine
 2/3 c. white corn syrup
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 unbaked 8-inch pie shell
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 Mix all ingredients and pour into uncooked pie shell. Be careful not to mix or beat too much. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 1 hour. Makes 1 large pie or 24 small tarts or 12 cupcake size shell pies.

Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes if making tarts in miniature muffin tins.

Mock Pecan Pie
 1 c. mashed, cooked pinto beans
 4 eggs, well beaten (2 3/4 cup dry egg & 2/3 c. water)
 2 c. sugar
 1/3 c. melted butter or margarine
 2 teaspoons vanilla
 Mix together all of above ingredients and pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake at 375 degrees for about 30 minutes. Makes 1 large pie or 24 small tarts or 12 cupcake size shell pies.

Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes if making tarts in miniature muffin tins.

Questions and Answers

Q Can a landlord evict a tenant for filing a complaint of an illegal increase with the IRS?

A No. Retaliatory action by a landlord against a tenant who exercises any right conferred upon him by the rent regulations is prohibited. Under the rent regulations, retaliatory action includes undue or unusual inconvenience; violation of privacy; harassment, reduction in quality or quantity of services, or any form of threat coercion.

Q Does a landlord have to explain to a new tenant or a prospective tenant any difference between the base rent and the rent charged for the unit?

A Yes. A landlord must inform a new or prospective tenant of the factual justification for the difference between the rent he proposes to charge and the rent charged for the residence between July 16 and August 14, 1971, or an earlier period during which the base rent was established.

Q I regularly defer the incentive bonuses for the supervisors in my firm until a future year. How are such items treated under the Pay Board regulations?

A An item of incentive compensation paid to employees covered by an incentive compensation or sales commission, or production incentive plan or practice during any wage year which was granted to them during an earlier wage year is not considered an item of incentive compensation for such employees for the wage year during which it is paid. Such items would not be subject to the 5.5 percent general wage and salary standard for the year of payment. However, an item of incentive compensation granted to such employees during any wage year and deferred to a later wage year is considered an item of incentive compensation for the year it is granted, and thus subject to the wage and salary standard for that year.

Q My employer furnishes me with a car for my personal use.

Does that count toward the 5.5 percent standard set by the Pay Board?

A Yes. Such job perquisites awarded to the employees in an appropriate employee unit during any wage year are subject to the 5.5 percent general wage and salary standard.

Q I thought meat cuts were subject to price controls, but if this is so, why are meat prices rising?

A Meat cuts are subject to price controls. Live cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs, however, are exempt from controls. If prices rise on these exempt items, retailers are permitted to reflect this increase in their costs by passing on the increase in the form of higher prices for controlled items to the consumer.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER
 BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
 Attorney General of Texas

Recreational land promotions always increase during the spring as companies selling lake lots, wilderness lots, and speculative land investments begin to advertise. Direct mail promotions for local developments encourage personal visits by the whole family by offering "discounts" of the "regular" price of the lots. Some companies conduct contests while others speak of the investment potential inherent in land - particularly their land.

If you are considering the purchase of a lake lot or a small tract of land as an investment, then you should be cautious. The following guidelines are worth reading before you sign the contract:

1. Make a personal visit to the property to see for yourself the overall condition of the land, access roads, improvements and the specific plot you will be purchasing. Every year thousands of people purchase land they have never seen and are often disappointed when they later visit the land.

2. Ask the salesman for a copy of the Property Report which many land developers are required to file with the Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D. C. 20411. This report will furnish information regarding the existence of liens on the property, availability of recreational facilities, availability of water service and utilities, the type of title the buyer will receive and the distances to nearby communities over paved or unpaved roads.

3. Determine a fair price for the land on the basis of land near the development rather than accepting at face value the salesman's claims of rapid appreciation of land values in the area. Don't fall for the "free lot" sales pitch or its companion the "dishonest check". These pitches are merely designed to encourage people to purchase a lot on their first visit to the development. Land developers are going to make a profit on the sale of their lots. If the development advertises a country club, golf course, boat marina, water district or other improvements which would enhance the value of the land, check on the status of these items to determine whether or not they are still in the "planning stage".

In summary, the most important first step you should take before purchasing land would be to make a personal visit to the land to see for yourself what you are buying. But just as important would be to ask the right questions regarding the availability of the items necessary to insure your enjoyment of the property. If good quality drinking water is not available at an economical rate, septic tanks are not permitted, or electric power cannot be obtained at a reasonable cost, then the progress of the development may be very slow. Think about these problems before signing up for a lot in Rainbow City.

1. Make a personal visit to the property to see for yourself the overall condition of the land, access roads, improvements and the specific plot you will be purchasing. Every year thousands of people purchase land they have never seen and are often disappointed when they later visit the land.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas voters will get a chance to express themselves at the May 6 polls on the explosive issue of forced busing to achieve racial balance in public schools.

Both Democratic and Republican executive committees decided to put a busing referendum on the ballot to encourage voter turnout and demonstrate Texas sentiments to federal authorities. Both ballot items ask Texans to state whether they want a federal constitutional amendment to outlaw forced busing.

Neither party went along with Gov. Preston Smith's suggestion to submit to voters a presidential preference referendum. There isn't much choice for the Republicans, and Democrats dropped the presidential choice poll (which would have had no binding effect anyway) in a scrap over party rules.

Republicans adopted their required new rules routinely, but reform regulations went down hard for the Democrats. SDEC finally adopted rules largely identical with the moderate reform proposals of William R. Anderson Jr. of Corpus Christi. They are designed to assure a form of proportional representation of minorities, youth and women on convention delegations and to reflect delegates' choices of presidential candidates. Internal operating procedures for parties are also set out.

Loudest opposition to the compromise Democratic rules drafts came from Young Democrats who wanted three seats on the senior party's executive committee. Instead, two seats went to SDEC's youth advisory council officers. Young Democrats vowed to keep trying for reconsideration on the point.

The busing referendum may have played a part in Alabama Gov. George Wallace's decision to live up to the conventions by openly seeking Democratic presidential delegate votes in Texas. The issue helped Wallace win in Florida.

VERDICT SHAKES POLITICOS—Conviction of House Speaker Gus Mutscher and two aids on bribery conspiracy charges left many political figures wondering about effect of fallout on their own futures.

Sharpstown Bank stock-loan scandals already were a major issue in some campaigns. Conviction of Mutscher is expected to increase the chorus of I-told-you-so's, and some incumbent officials' fear outcries may increase for removal of everybody who had anything to do with the Sharpstown Bank bills of 1969.

First direct political effect of the trial may be felt in the House of Representatives soon. Heading the order of business there — is Mutscher declines to yield his office voluntarily — will be choice of a replacement for the speaker.

Other speakership candidates except Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine appear ready to join in a move for election of an interim speaker (possibly veteran Rep. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi) who will agree not to seek the job next year. Price, who claims a majority of House votes, wants the speakership himself at the first opportunity. He doesn't care to turn it over to somebody else for safekeeping.

Meanwhile, the Sharpstown issue continues to figure prominently in at least four statewide races as well as legislative contests — governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general and treasurer.

OIL PRODUCTION WIDE OPEN—For the first time since 1948, the Railroad Commission has pulled the throttle wide open on Texas oil production. A 100 per cent allowable was approved at the Commission's annual state-of-the-industry meeting in El Paso. Major buyers of crude requested 3,544,966 barrels of oil daily next month, a sharp increase over the big 86 per cent allowable in March.

Rising demands for energy forced the "sad" order, Commission Chairman Byron Tunnell said. Oilmen said imports would have to make up the deficiency of domestic oil in 1972.

AG OPINIONS—Retired judges are eligible to receive the benefit of limited state participation in payment of insurance premiums under state group programs, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, the Attorney General concluded: — Blood donors between 18 and 21 can receive no compensation or blood bank credit. — A Housing Authority tenant is prohibited from serving as a commissioner of that authority.

County court at law of Bell County exercises concurrent jurisdiction with district courts in civil cases where the amount in controversy is between $500 and $5,000 exclusive of interest. — Angelina County court at law is a court of record, and its judge on demand of a litigant must furnish a competent stenographer paid out of court costs. An official court reporter is not required to be appointed on a fulltime basis.

COURTS SPEAK—Constitutionality of the death penalty has been upheld by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. Judge Truman Roberts concluded in the divided opinion that execution for a crime is not cruel or unusual punishment forbidden by the U.S. Constitution. The issue is now before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Texas Supreme Court blocked a last effort by The University of Texas at Austin to obtain an Austin house deed to it by a late professor. Lower courts found "undue influence" had been used by UT officials on the aged professor to get his property.

The Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal of an insurance company from a lower court order that an Hidalgo County man's suit to recover for loss of a 3.19 carat diamond ring must be tried on its merits.

APPOINTMENTS — State Rep. Fred Agnich of Dallas was selected as new Republican national committeeman.

Governor Smith announced these recent appointments: — George E. Stanley of Fort Arthur to the Veterans Affairs Commission.

— Martin Frank Wood of Dallas and Bobby M. Burns of Wichita Falls to the Midwestern University board of regents. Mrs. Mary Nell Garrison of Austin was named for a new term on the same board.

SCHOOL ASSIGNMENT SET—State Board of Education set $265 million as local school districts' share of the Texas public school program cost for the next school year. This is calculated at about 20 per cent of a district's total operating outlays.

The Board also adopted an economic index determining just how much each district contributes. The state's system of financing public school education already has been found illegal by a federal court — but the legislature has been given one more chance to come up with a formula suitable to the court.

"POVERTY" COUNTIES IDENTIFIED — Thirteen Texas counties with the lowest family income as reflected by the 1970 census were designated under the Hill-Burton hospital aid program as poverty areas. Counties designated were Starr, Zapata, Kinney, Jim Hogg, LaSalle, Dimmitt, Willacy, Presidio, Brooks, Real, San Jacinto, Houston and Duval.

Hill-Burton federal hospital aid is distributed on a 50-50 matching basis, but poverty areas may receive up to 90 per cent of money needed for building hospitals and related facilities. SHORT SNORTS—First draft call for 500- to 600 young Texans under a new uniform national procedure has been received — for April and May — by Texas Selective Service headquarters. The state earned $15.2 million from its funds on deposit with Texas banks last year, Treasurer Jesse James reported.

The United States manned lunar landing program alone has cost $23 billion, says National Geographic.

The Supreme Court refused to

Friona Boy, Girl

Win REC Contest

Names of winners of an oratorical contest sponsored by Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative were announced this week by James T. Hull, manager of the cooperative.

Winners whose oratory qualified them for all expense paid trips to Washington, D. C. are Holley Stephenson and Carl Evans, both of Friona.

Miss Stephenson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Stephenson of Box 313, Friona. She is a junior at Friona High School where she is active in Forensics and Thespians, along with being a Girl Scout. She is a member of the Union Congregational Church of Friona.

Evans is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Evans of 110 Etta Street, Friona. He takes an active part in the band, Forensics and Thespians at Friona High School. He is classified as a junior, and is in the Distributive Education Program at his school. He attends the Friona United Methodist Church.

The winners were among nine high school contestants from the area served by Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative. The other students participating as finalists were Arthur Woolever, alternate, Dimmitt; Laurie Artho, alternate, Vega; Ronnie Nuttall, Bovina; Vickie Wilhelm, Nazareth; Kelvin Klemman, Nazareth; Leslie Breeding, Hereford; and Donna Digby, Hereford.

Each of the students delivered their oratory of five to eight minutes on the subject of "Rural Electrification—Challenges of the '70s."

They will be among 100 young people from all over the state participating in the eighth annual Texas Electric Cooperatives' Government-in-Action Youth Tour to the nation's capital city, June 9-20. Expenses of the Youth Tour are shared by other electric cooperatives in Texas which sponsor oratorical contests similar to the one sponsored by Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative.

Mothers Guests Of Girls' Group

A salad supper was recently held by Lewani Campfire Girls at the Campfire Lodge.

The girls, dressed as bunny rabbits, put on an Easter program for their mothers. All 14 members of the group and the two leaders were present.

Mothers present were Mmes. Bill Ferguson, Pete Padilla, Gayle Hamby, Bill Simon, Joe De La Garza, John Fielder, Carol Jeffery, Don Weems, Israel Vera, Douf Fowler and Patsy Gonzales.

CONTEST WINNERS — Holley Stephenson and Carl Evans, both of Friona, will represent this area in the June Texas Electric Cooperatives Government-in-Action Youth Tour of the nation's capital. The two won an oratorical contest sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative.

Along the Frio

Mrs. Owen Andrews

Rev. and Mrs. Sam Ogan flew from Amarillo to Galveston, Wednesday, for Mrs. Ogan to enter John Sealy Hospital. They flew in a six passenger plane, converted to accommodate her hospital bed, and arrived about 3 p.m. Mrs. Ogan almost immediately began therapy.

They reported a most encouraging interview with the doctors and were much more optimistic than they had been for some time. Their daughters, Mrs. Jackie Andrews and Mrs. Marsh Pitman, and Mr. Pitman drove through in cars, picking up an aunt of Mrs. Ogan's, Mrs. Tom Hatchett, at Stephenville, to go with them. Several of the Ogan's relatives live in the Houston-Galveston area.

Progress on the new pastors home of Frio Baptist Church is being made, the shingles and sheet rock having gone up this week. Floors are cement, so the major part of construction is in place. Selected for the exterior is brick in random shades of pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Andrews and children visited their relatives, including the Pilgreen and Haseloff families, in Vernon, last weekend.

Visiting Mrs. H. M. Mobley last weekend were her sisters, Mrs. Jewel Price, of Floydada and Mrs. Opal Bentley of Monahans and their sister-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Taylor of Odessa.

Among college students home for Easter were Cheryl Cole, Bill Cole and Virgil Barber. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vinson of Pampa were also spending the weekend with her folks, the Floyd Coles.

AMERICA'S LARGEST TAX SERVICE WITH OVER 4000 OFFICES

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY

Elizabeth Cox, Manager of S&H redemption center here, 411 Main, Hereford, Texas, announced today that S&H has begun a system that permits consumers to mail film directly to a processing plant and receive 200 S&H Green Stamps for each roll of film sent in.

The local redemption center is distributing special envelopes imprinted with the address of the nearest processing plant of Technicolor Films, Inc. Housewives may keep a supply of envelopes at home for family use and send the film directly to the Technicolor plant. Technicolor will return the finished prints and the stamps directly to the customer.

More than 700 S&H redemption centers across the country are distributing the self-mailers.

The stamps given by Technicolor are printed in a special saver folder that eliminates the need to paste them in collector books. The usual S&H Green Stamps collected at retail outlets may be pasted in a special folder along with the preprinted stamps. The folder holds the equivalent of 1,200 stamps, the same amount as S&H regular collector books.

Mrs. Cox said, "S&H recently has been expanding stamp use beyond the traditional local grocery, service station and other retailer outlets to large national companies such as National Car Rental, E-Z Haul truck and trailer rental and Rodeway Inns of America."

Technicolor, the second largest film processor in the nation, has nine film processing plants at Springfield, Mass.; St. Louis, Mo.; Sacramento, Fresno and San Francisco Calif.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Denver, Colo.; Seattle, Wash.; and Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Sperry and Hutchinson Company, originator of S&H Green Stamps in 1896, provides the only coast-to-coast trading stamp service.

Marlene Roe Is Bowler Of The Week

Stribling Spraying Service took high game team score, 905, and the high series team score, 2565, in the Strike Outs Bowling League last week.

Marlene Roe was bowler of the week, with a high score of 556 series. The individual high game was rolled by Cleta Weemes, 182, and Bea Rhodes took the high series, 485.

Converting splits were Randy Hamilton, 3-10; Ruth Swayne, 5-7 and 5-10; Marlene Roe, 5-10; Betty Frye, 3-10; Johnnie Alford, 3-10; Bea Rhodes, 3-10 and 3-10; Maxine Lewis, 5-6; Lois Turpin, 2-7; Ann Cummings, 4-5 and 2-7; Alice Lueb, 3-10; Jean Watts, 4-5-7; and Helen Arnt, 2-5-7.

In play last week Weatherford Gin and Lone Star Agency each won four and lost none, while Stribling Spraying and Pants Cage each won three and lost one, and Western Commercial Transportation Inc. and One Hour Martinizing each won one and lost three. Hereford Welding lost four games last week.

To date, the league leader is Lone Star Agency, 53-19; followed by Stribling Spraying Service, 51-21; Weatherford Gin, 40-32; One Hour Martinizing, 40-32; Pants Cage, 36-36; Western Commercial Transportation, 36-36; and Hereford Welding, 32-40.

Two Teams Are Tied For Lead
In K&Q's League

In the King and Queens Bowling League last week Joyce Bishop, 565, and Emil Dettmann, 629, were named bowlers of the week.

For the men, Ray Lueb recorded a 559 for the high individual series, and Ben Lueb had a 204 for high individual game. Pauline McDonald had the high individual game, 484, and high series, 182, in the women's league.

Converting splits were Bertha Arnold, 3-10; Eleanor Hudspeth, 4-5-7; Marilyn Bell, 3-10; Emil Dettmann, 3-10; Pauline McDonald, 5-6-10 and 3-10, 3-10; Ben Lueb, 5-10; and Sonny Armstrong, 5-10.

The high team series and game was recorded by Hereford Janitor Supply, 2327 and, 845.

Team No. 5 won three and lost one from Vance Hall last week, as did Bob's Hickory pit over E-Z Way, and Hereford Janitor Supply over Ten Pins. Dickie's Restaurant and Reeve's Chevrolet-Olds were incomplete.

Hereford Janitor Supply and Bob's Hickory Pit currently lead the league with 16-8 marks, followed by Vance Hall, 13 1/2-10 1/2; Team No. 5-13-11; Reeve's Chevrolet-Olds, incomplete; E-Z Way, 10-14; Dickie's Restaurant, incomplete; and Ten Pins, 2 1/2-21 1/2.

RECORD TURNOUT
ELMONT, N.Y. (AP) — When 82,694 fans turned out to watch Pass Catcher win the Belmont Stakes here last June, the Stevens catering clan served 16,100 meals, 48,538 frankfurters, 10,034 sandwiches, 3,142 orders of fried chicken, 56,598 cups of beer, 44,070 soft drinks and 24,276 cups of coffee.

"The sick calves of each group will be closely watched throughout the experimental period to see if any treatment might do a better job than another treatment," Dr. Coleman adds.

Baseball Loop To Meet On Thursday

About 15 coaches and managers are still needed for the Hereford Boy's Summer Baseball Program, John Bunch, league official announced Thursday.

A meeting of all persons interested in the baseball program, which includes Bronco Colt and Pony leagues, are asked to attend a meeting at the Pioneer Natural Gas warehouse, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Bunch also announced that sponsorships will be sold for this year's teams, because of a lack of funds. Any business or individual who would like to sponsor a team should contact Bunch or any member of the program.

SUCCESS CONSCIOUS
MONTREAL (AP) — Pushing and prodding a son to achieve outstanding success in sports is "the most damaging thing" a parent can do, says Ted Wall, assistant professor of physical education at McGill University.

"Negative feelings develop from sports failure because in elementary school in particular their status is definitely related to physical prowess," says Wall. Poorly coordinated children tend to avoid sports and therefore haven't the experience to develop athletic ability.

HOT SUMMER HITTER

Herd Wins
Third Place
At Dumas

The mile relay — the final event — meant the difference in the team title at the Dumas Relays Saturday as Pampa, Borger and Hereford headed into the race with two points separating the leaders.

The swift Pampa team captured the mile relay, Borger was second and Hereford third, and that's the way the teams tallied up in the overall meet. Pampa had 126 1/6 points; Borger finished with 119, and the Whitefaces came up with 116.

Capturing first places for Hereford were Wesley High in the high hurdles, Keith Kitchens in the intermediate hurdles, Luther Mays in the 880, and Joe Coleman in the high jump.

Complete results will be published in the Thursday Brand.

LIONS LIST RAMS
NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University will open its 1972 football schedule in a game against the Fordham Rams on Sept. 30, marking the first game between the New York City rivals in 70 years.

The Lions open their Ivy League season by visiting Princeton on Oct. 7. After games with Harvard and Yale, Columbia plays host to Rutgers in a non-league game. This will be followed with tests against Cornell, Dartmouth, Penn and Brown.

Cattle 'Stress' Period Observed

Sweat period, stress period, whatever you want to call it; it is the first days after cattle arrive at a feedlot. This is the hardest time of the feeding cycle, and cutting weight and death losses here can be a real boon to the cattle industry.

West Texas State University is cooperating with Texas A&M University in a feedlot health research project at the W. T. Nance Ranch near Canyon.

The program calls for cattle to be fed for 60 days at the ranch's feeding facilities. During this time they are carefully observed for health problems, and are treated with different combinations of practices to find the best overall health program.

The first cattle arrived the last day of February by truck from Louisiana. The 100 steers were divided into several experimental groups.

"Among these was a grouping to compare the effectiveness of various antibacterial treatments," reports Dr. Coleman. He explains that the cattle were divided into three groups to compare treatments of injectable penicillin-streptomycin-oxytetracycline and oral sulfas.

"The sick calves of each group will be closely watched throughout the experimental period to see if any treatment might do a better job than another treatment," Dr. Coleman adds.

were separated to compare the performance of the cattle hauled on the upper decks of the trailer.

"If there are performance differences between these two groups, then the cause of these differences would be related to the decks the steers were shipped on," explains Smallwood.

When the cattle arrived, they were given a battery of tests and examinations, with some interesting results. On the whole, the calves had moderate to heavy infestations of stomach worms. So one half of them were treated for worms and the other half were left, as a "check" for the treatment.

Twenty per cent of the cattle had body temperatures of at least 103.5 degrees, which is higher than normal. Another 20 per cent had abnormally high or low white blood cell counts, which indicated disease activity.

"Blood serum samples from these clinically sick animals were collected and will be assayed for immune responses to IBR, PI-3 and BVD viruses," Smallwood says.

More loads of cattle will undergo similar tests to determine any trends and similarities in feeder cattle health problems. The cattle are being furnished by a Randall County feedlot.

"Hopefully, we can come up with some concrete recommendations for treatment of incoming feeder cattle, which are one of the main problems in the feeding industry," Smallwood adds.

FARMERS, RANCHERS and RELATED INDUSTRIES

One of the first jobs the farmer needs to accomplish is to show unity in a manner which cannot be misunderstood. We have an idea to help provide this evidence and a starting place to improve the economic position of agriculture. We believe the place to start is at the highest level of Government. We have, therefore, prepared a statement addressed to the President of the United States. This statement is intended to show the President there is unity in the thinking of farmers about their position and what is needed.

Mr. President

Your Administration has demonstrated a keen awareness of agriculture's great contribution to the American economy, and has sought to enhance that contribution. The Congress has been willing unflinchingly to debate the problems of agriculture, and has displayed increasing concern over the economic plight of the American farmer. We commend both your Administration and the Congress for this attitude and concern.

It is time, though, for a great effort to be made to bring the farmer into the mainstream of the American economy, a position he has not enjoyed except for a few very brief intervals in the past half-century. Government programs of the past have been helpful but all of them have been, and are, of a temporary nature, thereby, leaving the farmer in a quandary about the future.

Farming is a long-term venture, requiring long-term planning and long-term financing and indebtedness. Today's farmers are businessmen, but they are the only businessmen in America whose commodity prices are subjected to sharp peaks and valleys, caused by uncontrollable events, "scare" propaganda or other acts which the farmer can neither foresee nor govern.

The majority of farmers today are skirting outright financial disaster every year. Their indebtedness is increasing yearly. In the past five years, the national farm real estate debt has risen 39%. In terms of dollars, farmers' total indebtedness in this period has increased from $37.5 billion to $65.5 billion. Meantime, farm prices have declined. In the past 25 years, the parity ratio has dropped from 108% to an average of 70% in 1971. This has seriously weakened the financial position of farmers. We are rapidly approaching a complete erosion of our entire agriculture community.

If this trend is to be reversed and we are to regain and maintain a healthy agriculture where young men can be attracted for a career, we must provide economic stability for our farming industry. To accomplish this, we respectfully submit the following recommendations:

1. See that temporary measures are taken to immediately bolster and stabilize grain prices.
2. Get to work promptly the necessary planning for a permanent program for agriculture so that an end can be put to the chronic gyrations of grain prices. If grain prices domestically are to be stabilized at a level which puts the farmer on a par with all other American business, the influence of world prices must be removed from our domestic pricing.
3. The consumers of America must recognize the vital need for farmers to be a healthy segment of the U.S. economy because, only through the high degree of efficiency of the farmer, is the American consumer able to enjoy the limitless benefits of today's American agriculture. Consumers must know that if agriculture deteriorates, the living standard of all of America deteriorates. An informational program to acquaint consumers with the status of agriculture, with the benefits of a healthy agriculture, must be mounted and continued at a high level throughout this transitional period while the agricultural economy is being stabilized. This program can, and should, be the bridge bringing the farmer into the mainstream of American society.

We farmers have supported, and will continue to support all those things that have built a great America. We only ask an opportunity to share equally in the protection and benefits of our American society. We shall be most grateful for your sincere consideration of the above statement.

Respectfully,
American Agri-Businessmen

Engagements Announced

Engagement of Miss Nova Goodwin to the Rev. Charley Pierson is announced by her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Homer T. Goodwin, 606 East Fifteenth. An evening wedding on May 27 in the new Hereford Assembly of God Church is planned.

The couple, both students now in West Texas State University, have both served in the missionary program of the Assembly of God. The bride-to-be is a graduate of the School of Evangelism in Lausanne, Switzerland and served in its "Youth with a Mission" program in the Orient, Mideast, Africa and Europe. She attended Wayland Baptist College after graduation from Christian High School in Watsonville, Calif.

As a missionary intern, Rev. Pierson worked in Alaska and Ghana, West Africa. He received a BS degree from Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie and was a 1966 graduate of Hereford High. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pierson, Route 3. (Bradly photos)

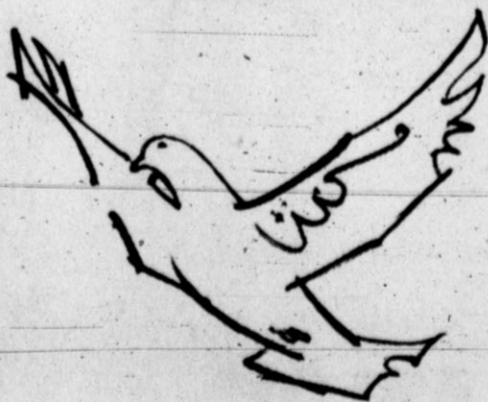

Announcement of plans for a wedding May 26 is made by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hoffman, Route 4, whose daughter Mary Ann is to be married to Donnie Houle in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Houle, 117 Avenue A.

Both Miss Hoffman and her fiance are graduates of Hereford High School with the class of 1971. He is an employee of Pioneer Natural Gas Company and the couple will make a home here.

Small talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

IF WE GET that late freeze which still could come, even though spring is officially here, it may ruin the fruit crop, kill the lilacs and even nip the budding roses so their spring bloom is set back, but we can relax and be sure of one thing. Enough Chinese elm seed have matured that a goodly number of seedling trees will certainly spring up in every flower bed in town.

Not all the blooms are mature yet — those trees are smart enough to bloom in relays so one freeze won't kill them all — but a lot of the seed pods are drifting down off the branches ready to plant themselves.

Whatever you think of Chinese elms, you've got to admit they can take care of themselves. My private opinion of them is a real admiration for their toughness — and it takes a tough tree to flourish in West Texas. But I do wish they didn't go to seed so prodiously.

That habit is just one more illustration of an immutable law of nature, to wit: Whatever it is that you don't really need, that's what you've probably got the most of.

THE QUALITY of reading material found in beauty shops has always been a subject of joking among women. We all admit that we are likely to while away time under the dryer reading a confessions magazine or one of those lurid journals that detail the private lives of noted entertainers.

In a conversation about that, not long ago, somebody said, "But it really surprised me when I saw somebody as dignified as Mrs. Jesse Stanford reading a movie magazine in the beauty shop!"

You know who said that? Somebody as dignified as Corinne Neely, who had just said she read 'em.

INCIDENTALLY, when I had the pleasure of meeting Veulah Lee Rutherford Carter last week, at a tour her club from Amarillo made of Deaf Smithsonian Historical Museum, she talked of living in Hereford as a girl.

One of her happy memories, she said, was being a flower girl in the wedding of Nellie Black and Jesse Stanford. And I'd like to have seen that wedding. There was not one or two flower girls, but a dozen. A wedding procession in those days was a real procession!

Further information may be obtained locally from Mrs. Lewis Lea, executive secretary of the Hereford Council.

Recently Wed Couple At Home In Muleshoe

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Parker are at home in Muleshoe after their recent marriage in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cottam, 124 Ranger. Mrs. Parker is the former Elaine Hendrix.

The Rev. Norman Cobb, associate pastor of First United Methodist Church, read the ceremony in which her stepfather gave the bride in marriage.

She was dressed in a slim-fitted frock of sheer lavender cotton, the empire waist and tiered sleeve puffs accented with lace beading run with violet ribbons. Hand-crocheted lace leaves held her fingertip veil of lavender net. She carried a nosegay of white and lavender mums.

Her sister, Mrs. Gennelle Nichols, was maid of honor and the bridegroom's brother, J. O. Parker of Muleshoe, the best man. Caice Hendrix, small daughter of the bride, was flower girl.

Her dress was a miniature of her mother's, with lace yoke. Mrs. Nichols wore violet brocade with chiffon sleeves. Miss Brenda Parker, the bridegroom's niece, played the wedding march and other organ solos.

An informal wedding supper was served to relatives and close friends who attended the ceremony. Mmes. Willard Parker and J. O. Parker served the three-tiered cake, decorated with white dove figurines and lavender flowers and topped with miniature bride-and-groom.

Mrs. Parker formerly lived in Muleshoe and graduated from high school there. The bridegroom is employed there after recently completing a term of U. S. Army service.

Women Plan Part in 50th Anniversary

Part to be taken by the Women's Organization of St. Anthony's Catholic Church in the Golden Jubilee celebration in June, when the local parish will observe its 50th anniversary, was discussed in the women's meeting at the parish school auditorium Thursday.

Other business, with Mrs. Bill Reinauer presiding, included making a pledge of $50 to the Meals On Wheels program in Hereford, and a report by Mrs. Paul Zinser on a class begun this week in the Labor Camp to teach cookery with surplus commodities. She added that more utensils are needed for this class.

A demonstration on sewing was given for the program, by Sandy Gilbert and Sue Cox, owners of a Lubbock fabric shop.

Hostesses were Mmes. E. N. Reinart, John Jesko, Doug Sanderson, Roy Kuper and Roman Friemel.

Couple Wed At Wheeler To Make Home In City

The marriage of Miss Mozelle Fillingim and Glenn Thomas was solemnized in an evening ceremony Saturday in First Baptist Church of the bride's home city, Wheeler. A faculty member in Hereford schools, she is the daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Leon Fillingim of Wheeler.

A brother-in-law of the bridegroom, the Rev. Jackie Heath of Plattsmouth, Nebraska, officiated for the wedding.

Her twin sister, Mrs. Everett McAdams, was Miss Fillingim's matron of honor while Charlie Thomas attended his brother as best man. Miss Debby Collins of Littlefield was bridesmaid, Becky Irvine of Briscoe and April Free of Bowie were junior bridesmaids.

J.D. Harder acted as groomsmen, Phillip Dennis of San Jose, Calif., and Rich Irvine of Briscoe as junior groomsmen. Brent Free was the ring bearer. Cindy and Sandra Heath lighted candles as Miss Pat Parmer played an organ prelude.

Vocal solos, Twelfth of Never and The Lord's Prayer, were by Miss Sylvia Belan, accompanied by the organist.

Bridal white satin made Miss Fillingim's gown, trimmed with lace on the empire bodice and sleeves. Her short veil was held by a satin caplet and her bouquet was of white roses.

Matron of honor and bridesmaid were dressed in gold crepe, junior bridesmaids and candlelighters in a paler shade of yellow. Their dresses were styled with empire waistline and puffed sleeves. Their flowers were white and yellow daisies.

A reception in the church hall followed the ceremony. Miss Beverly Barrett registered the guests. Mmes. Richard Sims, Bob Stiles Jr. and Charlie Thomas served the three-tiered bride's cake ornamented with yellow roses, also the chocolate cake on the groom's table. Miss Shirley Vineyard and Mrs. Danny Fillingim poured punch and coffee at the respective tables. Misses Mary and Bonnie Fillingim assisted in the houseparty.

Leaving for a short wedding trip, Mrs. Thomas had changed to a tailored dress in white and brown. The couple will be at home here at 509 Avenue H.

The bride is a graduate of West Texas State University. The bridegroom is completing a tour of duty in the United States Air Force, stationed at Cannon AF Base at Clovis. He was graduated from Hereford High School.

Religious Art Festival Opens This Afternoon

Opening of the annual Festival of Religious Art, an event of the Easter season each year in First United Methodist Church, is scheduled at 3 p.m. today with the public invited. The exhibit of work by artists of this area will continue through the week.

Viewing hours today are 3 to 9 p.m., the same next Sunday.

Through the week the exhibit will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Saturday, when closing time is 12 noon.

Sponsored by the fine arts committee of First United Methodist Church, the festival includes paintings, carvings and other exhibits from artists in or out of that church. The only requirement is that work must be on a religious subject.

Local Campfire Girls Join National Contest

Campfire Girls of Hereford are campaigning for votes this month, in a national "Help Young America" program in which a quarter of a million dollars is being offered to five youth organizations including the Campfire Girls.

The national organizations will receive $200,000 of this money, and an additional $56,000 may be won by local groups such as the Hereford Campfire Council. The cash is to be given by Colegate-Palmolive Co.

Anyone may vote, and local Campfire Girls are asking area residents to cast votes for their organization. Ballots are available in supermarkets, drug stores and the February issues of Reader's Digest, Good Housekeeping, Ladies Home Journal, American Home, Redbook, Better Homes and Gardens and McCall's magazines.

A. E. Hodges, president of Hereford Campfire Council, says local winnings would be used to prevent a rise in cost to individual girls in the summer camping program, also for needed general programs.

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, wife of the President, has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the program. Winners are to be announced in April.

Day Care Politics

When President Nixon vetoed a proposed child care program last year, he described it as the most radical legislation to emerge from the 92nd Congress. Nevertheless, the subject of child care is very much alive on Capitol Hill, where several modified plans have recently been drawn up.

Mr. Nixon was probably right when he said the original child care bill was flawed by "fiscal irresponsibility, administrative unworkability and family-weakening implications." Although probably only a cryptographer could be expected to understand the vague language of that bill, the intent seemed to be that eventually the federal government should undertake a comprehensive range of health, education and social services for just about every child in the nation, regardless of family income. Even supporters agreed that the proposed $2 billion initial appropriation would soon cost many times that amount.

Sen. James Buckley asked whether we really want the federal government to become "the most important and ultimately the strongest arbiter of childrearing practices in the United States." It is legitimate to ask what values any comprehensive federal program would instill in pre-schoolers, but the question suggests a reputation for effectiveness that the government does not deserve. For example, a study of day care money for fiscal 1969 found that Congress allocated $22.6 million nationwide. Yet the states — because of transfers to other programs, lapsed appropriations and "carry-overs" into future years — actually managed to spend only $4 million of that.

In view of the failure of the much ballyhooed war on poverty, it is surely reasonable for the administration to question the wisdom of plastering another bureaucratic layer over what is deemed to be another pressing social problem. And at a time when a national newsweekly can seriously raise the question of whether the U.S. is going broke, we would think that even official Washington should hesitate to vote another multi-billion-dollar program.

The usual argument is that we can actually save money by spending it now instead of later, when costs are sure to be higher. But many a bread-winner can remember how he went broke "saving" money exactly this way.

For all the hue and cry, the present arrangement seems to be working fairly adequately. Statistics reveal that about 50 per cent of mothers of school-age children and one-third of mothers with pre-school children already have jobs, the majority working fulltime. Care of their children is entrusted to relatives, neighbors, babysitters, church-run agencies and existing day-care agencies.

Some of these arrangements undoubtedly leave much to be desired, in terms of the child's intellectual and even physical well-being. Even allowing for these exceptions, though, today's working mothers have by and large been able to solve their own problems. The cost of day care for each child under a comprehensive federal program is estimated at anywhere from $2,000 to $2,800. What the nation needs to decide is how much it must spend on a problem of this priority, since what it spends is raised by taking from, among others, mothers who are already working.

All in all, though, the day care proposal strikes us as being flawed from just about every perspective: financially, philosophically and practically. It is a splendid example of the mentality that whenever a problem arises Washington must do something, even if it means taking over responsibilities the bulk of the individuals concerned are already handling pretty well themselves.

Freedom To Manage

Some of the cases that reach the National Labor Relations Board are a little hard to believe, and what happens to the cases as they move through NLRB channels sometimes is even more incredible.

Consider, for example, the story of Ace Tool Engineering Co. Inc. of South Bend, Ind. In the middle of some disputes with a union, Ace decided to get out of the manufacturing business and did so. It still had some operations left, but in none of them did it produce anything.

The union subsequently filed charges with the board, claiming among other things that it was illegal for Ace to end its manufacturing operation without bargaining with the union about it. The NLRB trial examiner not only agreed with the union but wanted to order the company to reopen its manufacturing business.

When the case was heard by a three-member NLRB panel, one member agreed with the trial examiner. In his view it was clear that the shutdown had not been based on economic considerations, so it could easily and smoothly be reversed.

It's obvious that the company had not been getting along with the union, and that factor presumably helped to influence the closing. The labor board, however, should be able to see that the state of union relations in a company can often be a highly important economic consideration.

Fortunately, an NLRB panel majority did recognize that, even if Ace gave up a very profitable business, it had a right to be foolish. To require the company to bargain about shutting down, the majority said, would significantly abridge its freedom to manage its own affairs.

Once the company had departed manufacturing, the majority added, it would be highly impractical to order it to return. After years out of business (NLRB cases aren't decided overnight) Ace would have in effect been trying to start up almost a new operation.

In the past NLRB decisions have frequently nibbled away at an employer's right to run his own business. In this case common sense prevailed, albeit by the narrowest of margins.

'No Solicitors' Sign For Your Telephone

By Bert Mills
Washington, D. C. — You have just sat down to dinner when the phone rings. Annoyed at the untimely interruption, you answer and learn the caller is a stranger with something to sell that you do not want to buy. Politely or otherwise, you terminate the conversation.

This scene is repeated millions of times daily in American households. Complaining to the telephone company does no good because anybody who has a listed number can be called by anybody else at any time for any reason. Nor is an unlisted number much protection because advertisers somehow obtain lists of these supposedly secret numbers.

It is also impractical to complain to the advertiser, who may be a Florida real estate promoter peddling lots. Persuading one company to drop telephone selling will not solve the problem since there are so many others using the same technique, which often involves some soft soap by a slick talker reciting a memorized spiel. Many of the callers are women with sexy voices.

Is commercial use of the phone for solicitation purposes an invasion of privacy which should be banned by law? A group of Congressmen, led by Rep. Les Aspin, a young Democrat from Racine, Wisconsin, thinks so. They are co-sponsoring a bill "to prohibit making unsolicited telephone calls to persons who have indicated they do not wish to receive such calls."

In effect, telephone subscribers would hang a "no solicitors" sign on their phones. Violators of the law would be subject to fines of up to $1,000 and imprisonment for not more than 30 days.

Asterisk
Would Mean
Don't Disturb
Rep. Aspin's bill would empower the Federal Communications Commission to require the telephone company to prepare a list of those subscribers who do not wish to receive phone solicitations. Commercial firms would be forced to delete these names from their list of people to be called.

As an alternative, FCC might require the phone company to put an asterisk by the name of those listed in the phone book who have asked to put on the "do not disturb list." Either way, the bill would forbid the phone company from charging the customer extra for the service.

There are some exceptions included in the Aspin bill. Exempted would be charities and other non-profit groups, political candidates and organizations, debt collection agencies, and opinion poll takers. Some citizens may feel that some of these exemptions are unwise but of course the bill will be subject to amendment as it proceeds through the legislative process.

Rep. Aspin, who said he has "received an enormous amount of correspondence on this legislation" and who has published a series of commendatory letters in the Congressional Record, has predicted that passage of his bill "will significantly reduce the use of the telephone as a tool for invading an individual's privacy."

Aspin is a Freshman in case the name of Les Aspin does not ring bells in even the minds of close political observers, he is a 33-year-old freshman in Congress. His chief claim to fame is that he is the only Ph.D. in economics now serving in Congress. He was an Assistant Professor of Economics at Marquette University when elected to Congress in 1970.

However, Rep. Aspin is no stranger to Washington. He was on the staff of Senator William Proxmire (D., Wis.) in 1960 and 1964, served as an aide to the Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, and was an Army officer-at the Pentagon.

The Aspin bill is H.R. 13267. It has been referred to the House Interstate Commerce Committee. No hearings have been scheduled yet, the measure having only been introduced on February 21. Rep. Aspin hopes to build up a head of steam behind the bill before pushing for enactment. Those who would like to help do that should write him and their own Congressman.

The Telephone Privacy Act sounds like a great idea. The phone is a useful medium of personal communication. When it becomes an instrument of salesmanship, its purpose is corrupted.

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — Rice University owes its origin to good police work.

The Houston school was built with $10 million left to it by William M. Rice on his death in 1900. But the endowment might have been lost forever and a bizarre murder never discovered except for a teller in a New York bank.

In September, 1900, John W. Wallace, a clerk in the S. M. Swenson & Sons bank, was handed certified checks for $25,000 and $65,000 signed by Mr. Rice and made out to an Albert L. Patrick. Wallace was suspicious of the endorsements and had his superiors to some checking. They found that Mr. Rice had died, apparently of a heart attack.

Lawyer Patrick insisted that the checks were payments to him for legal work. He also produced a will making him the principal beneficiary of the Rice fortune. Unconvinced, the New York district attorney ordered a full investigation and an autopsy on the body of the philanthropist.

"The autopsy report showed that Rice had died of poison. The investigation proved that Patrick had never been Rice's lawyer. He had become friends with Charles F. Jones, a young man who was Rice's valet, and had concocted both the plan to forge the checks and the will and the slow murder of the financier."

Later, James A. Baker of Houston, Rice's long-time attorney, arrived in New York with the real will. It left the bulk of the estate to found an institution "for the advancement of literature, science and art."

Thus a suspicious bank clerk and smart detective work combined to give Houston one of the nation's major educational institutions.

THE LAND OF ODD — Mount Selman, a Cherokee County village in the East Texas piney woods, has become a sort of mecca for Americans with an odd dietary habit — the eating of dirt.

Human dirt-eaters are something of a medical rarity. For those whose strange nutritional urges require soil in their diets, however, a certain white clay is a particular delicacy. There is a strata of such clay beneath the normally red dirt around Mount Selman. Old-timers recall that shipments of the clay once were sent to dirt-eaters throughout the country.

There is no longer any commercial sale of the clay as food. However, dirt-eaters still travel to Mount Selman to scoop up the succulent soil.

FACTS TO PONDER — It will cost taxpayers an average of $1,452 a mile just to maintain Texas highways and farm roads this year.

Farm-to-market roads are the least expensive, costing only $968 a mile for yearly maintenance. Those multi-lane, controlled access urban freeways, however, cost ten times as much to keep up. The Highway Department will spend an average of $9,061 per mile this year to keep these super roads in top condition.

IT'S THE LAW — Motorists who cut through filling stations and parking lots to avoid a traffic light can be fined up to $500 and jailed for up to six months under Texas law.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

Advocates of compulsory unionism in American agriculture rejoiced recently when the United Farm Workers Union, headed by Cesar Chavez, obtained its first contract in the Southeast. The victor for Chavez came when the union obtained a contract agreement covering 1,200 agricultural employees of the Minute Maid Corp. in Florida.

Chavez, who organized the grape boycott in California; has had his eye on Florida for some time. The agreement in Florida came after what "The Wall Street Journal" referred to as "union threats of a national boycott."

Food industry people know what a Chavez boycott means. Ralph de Toledano, in his book, "Little Cesar" (Anthem Books, 1052A National Press Bldg., Washington, D.C.) described the Farm Workers technique, saying: "The approach, in New York and elsewhere, was the same. Harass the supermarket manager, the chain, to convince them that handling grapes wasn't worth the bother. This required not too much work. Picket, make scenes in the stores, drop a few stink bombs in the meat section."

Given these realities, one can see why Chavez has scored a success. In addition, he had the full backing of George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, who set out in 1970 to unionize farm workers. As Mr. de Toledano said in his book, Meany determined "to put the straitjacket of compulsory unionism on the last body of American labor still protected by the Bill of Rights."

That George Meany is pleased with the success of the Chavez efforts is indicated by the fact that in early March the Chavez organization was accepted into the labor federation as a full-fledged union. Prior to that Chavez' group had the status of an organizing committee. As far back as 1970, however, Meany hailed the effectiveness of the Chavez boycott technique, declaring that "a boycott can, in some cases, be much more effective than a strike."

It is likely that the threat of a boycott will be used time and again in the Farm Workers Union campaigns in Florida. Citrus and sugar workers who imagine that "Little Cesar" has something to offer them would do well to acquaint themselves with the contract the Farm Workers Organizing Committee drafted for grape workers in California's San Joaquin Valley. That contract provides that "union membership shall be a condition of employment... The union shall be the sole judge of the good standing of its members."

In other words, a worker can obtain and hold a job only with the permission and approval of the union officials. This means that the union virtually owns the jobs covered by the contract. The agricultural employe working under the union contract is without rights. He can be dismissed if the union makes that demand. Expulsion from the union amounts to dismissal from the job.

Workers in Florida's citrus groves and sugar fields need to educate themselves concerning the operations of the Chavez union. They need to know, for example — as George H. Gannon pointed out in "The New York Times" last December — "there are no election of union officers. The union has no by-laws. There are no comprehensive statutes, state or federal, that attempt to protect the farm worker from abuses by union leadership." The union ardently campaigned against any such legislation in all three Pacific Coast states in 1971.

Farm workers also should know that the Chavez union can raise dues without a vote of the members. At last report, dues are $42 a year. And, as Mrs. Gannon reported, "if five in a family are members, the dues are $210 a year."

The Chavez organization has been very skillful in presenting farm worker unionization as an idealistic enterprise. Limousine liberals favor Cesar Chavez' operations as a radical chic cause. But there's no reason to regard the compulsory closed shop and unionism on the farm as deserving of idealistic fervor. The truth is that union has been engaged in bludgeoning agricultural companies into signing agreements that force union membership on workers who don't want it.

THE BOOTLEG — Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has cleaned off his desk, his letter this week reveals. Must be spring.

Dear editor:

A man's desk, like a state capitol, ought to be cleaned out every once in a while to see what's worth keeping and what's ready to be gotten rid of.

For example, here's an item under a pile of old newspapers on my desk saying a Japanese automaker has developed a device that automatically stops the engine of a car if an intoxicated driver sits at the wheel. It's a special platinum plate at the center of the steering wheel which is highly sensitive and sends an electronic signal to switch the engine off if the driver has alcohol on his breath.

Maybe so, but has it occurred to the inventor that what this would result in is a tremendous increase in sale of surgical face masks?

Here's another, from a politician dodging the busing issue: "Quality education is the issue. The better educated we are, the better we can live together."

That's true, except for the fact some of the biggest squabbles on record have occurred between multi-degreed professors at some of the biggest universities. I won't mention high school faculties, scientific societies, or medical conventions.

Speaking of busing, if that issue is settled, will the next issue be car-ing? You know, outlawing the use of a car to get to school. Everybody has to walk. Of course, I can see a lawsuit now claiming it's unconstitutionally unfair for a pupil living across the street from his school to get by with having to take only fifth steps while a pupil 12 blocks away has to walk a thousand times further. This could be answered by the argument that the across-the-street pupil would really not have an advantage because he would be at home doing his chores longer than the 12-blocks-pupil, since it would take him only a couple of minutes to get to school before the bell rings.

This would be answered by the question from modern-day kids: What's a chore?

By the way, the politicians aren't going to have much trouble in complying with the truth-in-advertising rules in this year's campaigns. There's no such scandal around that regardless of what one candidate says about another, he's likely to be telling the truth.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Newcomer Directs Show

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor
PLUNGING into a community project sponsored by an organization of hard-working women is a short-cut to getting acquainted in a new home, Mrs. Pat Green is finding.

A relative newcomer to Hereford, she has been recruited by the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Women's Division to serve as director of the Miss Hereford pageant which that organization will stage April 29. In that capacity she is working with the various committees made up of Women's Division members and her duties include contacts with prospective pageant entries and their parents, and with businessmen who will be their sponsors.

ASSIGNING Carolyn Green to the director's post was no accident; she has been involved in conducting similar pageants at Lamesa three years and in Duncan, Okla., four years. Also, she directed the Little Miss pageant and the South Plains Little Miss contest at Slaton.

The Greens moved to Hereford when Pat Green became sales manager for Dick Norwood Chevrolet-Olds. The family also includes, Mrs. Green says, "three children and three dogs."

Teenage daughters are Patricia and D'Ann, while son Todd is a ten-year-old, enthusiastic just now about his Little Dribblers basketball team. The family lives at 1507 Irving.

CAROLYN GREEN, who got the habit of working outside her home while she was "putting hubby through college" is employed in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office here, as she was for five years in Lamesa.

She has taught classes in baton twirling ever since she graduated from high school at Paducah, until this year. She grew up in that West Texas city, where her parents still live and her father was fire chief for many years.

The former Carolyn Sandlin, she married her hometown sweetheart soon after graduation and did secretarial work while he attended Texas Tech. Her birthplace was Shamrock, but her family moved to Paducah when she was a baby.

HER DARK-EYED sparkle and big smile which must have been a factor in her choice, as high school twirler, also won her a place in a local beauty pageant, and she remembered the excitement and fun of that event several years later when a sorority of which she was a member in Duncan was looking for a community project.

She suggested sponsoring a pageant in the contests which lead eventually to the Miss America title, and so her involvement began. Duncan hadn't had such a contest for years, she said, so it was very successful; Jaycees there sent the winner to the Miss Oklahoma pageant. A first for Hereford, the pageant here will send a representative of the city to the Miss Texas event at Fort Worth in July and give a $250 scholarship to the local winners.

IN ADDITION to her homemaking and career duties, Carolyn Green gives time to her church, First Baptist, along with the rest of her family. Their special contribution is music; the Greens have joined the choir here, each in his own age division, as they have in other home cities. Sewing for her daughters is another activity that Mrs. Green enjoys, and she says, "With two girls growing up in the family, you have to sew! I'm hoping they will like to make clothes for themselves as they get older."

Since her husband is a volunteer fireman as her father was, she feels at home with the Hereford firemen's wives in their informal meetings and potluck suppers.

Mrs. Pat Green . . . music is one hobby

Shower Precedes Wedding

A pretty spring coffee and shower honoring Susan Katzen of Dallas, whose marriage to Greg Combs will take place April 15, was given in Hereford Country Club when the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. Harry Katzen, were here for a recent visit with the Combs family and friends.

Forsythia, carnations and daisies decked the table where coffee was served by Mrs. Jim Westbrook of Lubbock, Mrs. Troy Don Moore of Amarillo, Mmes. Jonny Cloud, Bobby Renfro and Dwight McGee. Daffodils and butterflies centered yellow cloths on quartet tables.

Mrs. Steve McWhorter registered guests, who were greeted by Mrs. Leslie Combs, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Richard Barnard, Clifford and introduced to the honoree and her mother.

In the hostess party were Mmes. D. C. McWhorter, Richard Winget, Ansel McDowell, Paul Coneway, Earl Holt, Millard Nobles, Ray Todd, Wayne Thomas, Charles Frye,

Also Mmes. Joe Reinauer, Sr., J. J. Durham, George Warner, Gene King, Renfro, Charles Holt, H. D. Boardman, Hazen Woods, J. R. Johnson, C. J. Crump and A. T. Mims.

Trip Takes Club To Museum

A trip to interesting spots near Hereford was taken by Progressive Home Demonstration Club members to replace its usual program this week.

The group went first to St. Mary's Catholic Church at Umbarger, where there are religious pictures painted by an artist who was an Italian prisoner of war confined during World War II at the POW camp southwest of Hereford.

They went on to Canyon to spend the remainder of the afternoon at the West Texas Historical Museum on the campus of West Texas State University, viewing its exhibits of area history and pioneer life.

Club President Picks Committee

Mrs. G. C. Merritt, La Madre Mia Study Club president, named a nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the coming term at a meeting Thursday evening in the Community Room of First National Bank.

To serve on the committee are Mmes. Waldo Baxter, W. E. Sparks, James Gentry and Don Walser.

Mmes. Jim Conkright and Sam Morgan were welcomed as guests and served refreshments by hostess Mrs. Bud Snyder and co-hostess Mrs. Gerald Martin.

Mrs. Morgan brought a program on Antique Glass displaying various types to show changes of glassware down through history.

In other business plans were made for the Guest Day Tea to be held at 8 p.m. April 13 in the First National Bank Community Room. Mrs. Gerald Mann will present the program.

A letter of thanks was received from Buff Morris of the West Texas University Opportunity Plan program. Members voted to transfer their donation to the Plan to the Hereford Fund for use by city students only.

Others present were Mmes. Herschel Black, Carl Carlile, Charles Frye, Dean Herring, Dave Honea, Don Lane, Bobby Owen, Don Walser, Richard Ward, Charles Watson and Roger Williams.

Human Conflict At Sea Related

A novel in the tradition of great stories of the sea, drawn from facts of a famous episode in U.S. Naval history, the Somers mutiny affair of 1842 has become the subject of a new book at Deaf Smith County library.

Lorene Newman the librarian, and her assistants will be glad to find this novel, Voyage To The First of December, or any other book on the shelves at request. Use of the library is free to readers in the county.

VOYAGE TO THE FIRST OF DECEMBER
by Henry Carlisle

The story of a conflict between 18-year old Midshipman Phillip Spencer, son of President Tyler's secretary of war, and Alexander Slidell Mackenzie, commander of the Somers, provides an existential excursion to the center of a tragedy in our past which brilliantly illuminates the present.

On the first of December, 1842, Phillip Spencer was hanged at sea along with two sailors, the three having been charged with leading a conspiracy to capture their ship, the brig of war Somers.

Voyage to the First of December recreates this controversial incident through the journal of the ship's surgeon. In his voice two stories unfold in counterpoint, each illuminating the other and eventually becoming one.

The first is the surgeon's recollections of the events at sea; the companion story covers the naval court of inquiry. Was there a real mutiny which nothing less than execution could check or had the officers acted in panic, the commander for perhaps darker reasons? What happened at sea that the court martial chose to overlook?

Voyage to the First of December joins the very taste of the sea with the inexorable drama of men sitting in judgement of one another: a conflict between authority and rebellion and one man's quest for meaning.

THE CHANDLER HERITAGE
By Ben Hass

Spanning three generations and nearly a hundred years, this is a novel about a great Southern family dynasty. Like the few that even today still wield immense power over the lives of thousands of people and entire towns.

We first meet the founder of the Chandler dynasty as a 12-year-old fatherless boy, hopelessly mired in the poverty of his North Carolina valley during the black days following the Civil War.

But then young Bolivar Chandler makes an astonishing discovery—that miracles do happen—and he decides that, given sufficient determination, anything is possible.

Pursuing his goal single-mindedly, he grows up to be a stern, God-fearing man who eventually dominates the entire cotton industry from his personal fiefdom—the town named, naturally enough, Chandlerville.

His son, Heath, is a very different kind of man. Educated at Harvard, he seeks to avoid his father's stern hand and a heritage he hates by enlisting in the World War I Flying Corps, where the legends of his suicidal exploits in the air are matched only by the tales of his spectacular prowess in the bistros and boudoirs of Paris.

At the close of the war, faced with a return to the mills, he defies his father and flees to New York with a most unlikely bride. There he carves out new careers, first as a test pilot and then as playwright, and the remarkable woman his wife becomes, seems to put the capstone on his successful, sophisticated, cosmopolitan life.

But the Chandler heritage cannot be dodged. Time and circumstance eventually reach out and pull Heath back during the depth of the depression.

In his own swashbuckling way, Heath builds his empire to even greater eminence, but it costs him almost more than he can pay in what happens to himself, his family, and to the all-important love and respect of the man he intends to make his heir.

Only as his rip-roaring life is ending does he at last face squarely the question of whether the Chandler heritage is blessing or curse.

Cooking Classes Underway In CA Cooperative Effort

A series of cooking schools at the Community Action Agency in the Labor Camp began this week with Argen Draper, County Home Demonstration Agent, as instructor.

Held in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the classes are aimed at teaching basic cooking and nutrition to women in low-income families, with emphasis on the use of foods distributed in the USDA surplus commodity program.

Mrs. Paul J. Zinser is chairman with Mrs. Bill Gilleland as co-chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Ira Ott and Mrs. Leroy Williamson are assisting Mrs. Draper in presenting the series of lessons, as is Mrs. Manuel Alonzo, who serves as interpreter as well as instructor.

At the Wednesday morning session, Mrs. Celia Sturgeon and Mrs. Bertha Maldonado assisted in distributing recipe sheets to the women present.

The program opened with the U. S. Flag pledge led by Mrs.

Gilleland, and a prayer by Mrs. Burce Terry.

In each lesson Mrs. Draper will talk informally of selecting and preparing food for a family, stressing proper nutrition, as she gives a recipe and demonstrates making the dish. She tells how the free commodities may be used in appetizing ways.

Easter Services Slated at Dawn

Easter Sunrise services conducted by members of Dawn Baptist Church will be held this year at the High-Plains Baptist camp grounds northeast of Umbarger beginning at 6 a.m. Easter Sunday.

The outdoor services will consist of a dramatic portrayal of events in the last week of Jesus' life concluding with the Resurrection.

The camp ground is located 1.8 miles north of Umbarger on farm to market road 168, 3.9 miles east on FM 1062 and 2.4 miles north.

Miss Coffman Is Bride Of Kenneth D. Walser

Miss Janet Louise Coffman became the bride of Kenneth Dale Walser in a Saturday evening ceremony in First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. C. B. Melton of the First United Methodist Church of Floydada officiating.

Miss Coffman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coffman of Deming, N. M. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walser of Summerfield.

The church was decorated with paired seven-branch candelabra twined with greenery and holding votive candles. A floral arrangement of turquoise daisies, white roses, stock and babybreath was centered at the altar.

The bride's father gave her in marriage as Mrs. Charles Jones played organ selections.

Miss Linda Wilhite attended Miss Coffman as maid of honor with Bob Huckert as best man. Don Walser, brother of the bridegroom, and Skip Ferrell of Amarillo were ushers.

The bride wore a white street length dress with long sleeves and gold cuff buttons. The skirt was pleated and the lace bodice was styled with cameo neckline. A white flat bow centered with white daisies was her headpiece.

The bride carried a nosegay of white roses and turquoise daisies with greenery surrounding it.

Her attendant wore a turquoise dress similar to the brides. She carried a nosegay of turquoise daisies and babybreath.

The Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company was the setting for a reception following the ceremony with Mrs. Skip Ferrell, sister of the bride, at the registry.

Miss Gayla Winburn and Mrs. Ray Skelton served a heart-shaped cake with a bride and groom atop as Mrs. Don Walser and Mrs. Don Brooks poured punch and coffee.

After a honeymoon trip of a week in New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 236 West Third, No. 9.

Mrs. Walser is a graduate of Shamrock High School and West Texas State University and is presently a music teacher at Shirley Elementary School.

The bridegroom graduated from Hereford High School and WT, where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity. He is employed at Poarch Brothers.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Virgil Caperton, grandmother of the bride, of Shamrock, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Purcell and family of Canadian and Mr. and Mrs. Cleatus Hayes and family of Lockney.

Filipino Student Sends Letter To Friends

An open letter to her friends in Hereford, with the request that it be published, was sent by Teresita Parba, student from the Philippines who attended Hereford High School in 1965-66, in a recent letter she wrote to Mrs. Ray Wilhelm, in whose home she lived here.

The letter brought the announcement of college graduation exercises April 8, when Teresita will receive her bachelor of liberal arts degree and also a bachelor of science in education, both with major in mathematics and minor in physics.

She was in Hereford under the American Field Service program when she attended high school as a senior and lived in the Wilhelm home for a year. The graduation picture she sent was inscribed "to Bea and John, for you to remember your foster sister."

Her letter "to the Hereford

People" follows:
"Dearest, you're adorable, unaffected, hospitable, charming and sweet." Those were my words, words that I always loved to hear, to treasure, to boast of, that I could not help but remember.

You were very, very, good, kind and thoughtful to me. I remember the time when I said goodbye. I seemed restless and worried till I ended up smiling, then laughing in the outside but crying in the inside.

How I love to see myself in your mind, in your heart and in your memory, and the more I love to wish I could be your love.

Yes, it's true, you showered me with tender affection, your sweet care, your lovely jokes. "Twas really nice of you to be that caring, that affectionate, to be that someone who thought of me, concerned with everything I did, every dream I dreamed, every scheme I built.

You see, I know well it was you who led me to a wholesome path of life. Life with you was never anything but lovely.

Now years have passed. I have ended up to something that God really meant for me and I life a life full of memories of those bygone happy days that are already over and won't come again.

Good luck, good health and God bless you. I love you all.

Comings and Goings at King's Manor

Several King's Manor residents went on a recent picnic. Three cars with 16 persons left the Manor at 10 a.m. carrying lunch.

They first visited the Irvin Greenhouse five miles north of Canyon. The chrysanthemums were at their highest and lilies are timed to be their best April 2.

The group spread their lunch at the United Methodist Student Center of West Texas State University where the Rev. Cecil Matthews welcomed them and gave the thanks. After this a drive around Buffalo Lake completed the trip.

J. C. Surret visited his niece in Borger Monday.

Mrs. Gladys Lair made a business trip to Amarillo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams went on a rock hunt to Rock Creek east of Tulia. They returned with several prize rocks.

Mrs. L. N. Cox has returned from a meeting of the Women's Society Guild of the South Central Jurisdiction at Lake View Camp south of Palestine.

Ardis Stamper had a pleasant three-day visit with relatives in Canyon.

Mrs. Dwaine Menefee and daughter Debbie of Friona, Mrs. Keith Menefee and daughters of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wright of Plainview were recent visitors of Mrs. Lena Menefee.

Mrs. Winnie Hale is on an extended visit with her son and family in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Carrie Hendrix is also on an extended visit with her daughter and families of Panhandle and Pampa.

Mrs. H. T. Fields, Mr. and

Mrs. Joe Williams attended dedication services of the First United Methodist Church at Shamrock.

Caraway-Gunter Wedding Vows Solemnized Friday

Miss Alice Ann Caraway and Johnny Ray Gunter of Phillips were united in marriage Friday evening in a ceremony in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie B. Caraway of Dawn. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gunter of Phillips.

The Rev. Bob Wear, Crescent Church of Christ at Littlefield, officiated.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Bobbie Neie of Abilene, Mrs. Ray Stewart, aunt of the bride, Bill Caraway, brother of the bride, Carol Copeland of Oklahoma City and Becky Cox. Selections were Hawaiian Wedding Song, Whither Thou Goest and Wedding Prayer.

The couple were married as they stood before an altar setting in front of a window, marked with branched candleabra and yellow roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of bridal taffeta and Alencon lace featuring empire waist, Camelot sleeves of lace and inverted V of lace at hemline.

Accents of pearls were seen on the chapel length train and on the tiara which held a veil of imported illusion flowing to waist length.

She carried a nosegay of white and yellow roses and wore her mother's antique cameo brooch and matching earrings.

Mrs. Gary Dyches of Canyon served her cousin as matron of honor while Mrs. Bob Caraway of Perryton and Miss Michele Baker of El Paso were bridesmaids.

The trio wore gowns similar in fashion to the bride's, green in color, and wore corsages of spring flowers.

Larry Reed of Borger served as the couple's best man with Ronnie Gunter of Phillips brother of the groom, and Gary Dyches as groomsmen.

Bette Stewart, cousin of the bride, registered guests at a table centered with violets. Carolyn Stephenson of Groom and Karen Thompson of Canyon served punch and cake assisted by Mrs. Jerry Stewart.

The three-tiered wedding cake decorated with roses and bells, was flanked by white roses and green tapers.

For their wedding trip the bride wore a green plaid pants ensemble with white accessories. They will make their home in Phillips when they return next week.

The bride, a 1967 graduate of Hereford High School, graduated last year from Oklahoma Christian College. Her husband graduated from Phillips High School and West Texas State University.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mrs. Gunter of Borger and Mrs. Glidewell, the groom's grandmothers, and Mrs. J. R. Oglesby, the bride's grandmother who resides in Canyon.

Concert Set This Afternoon

Jane Gulley, soprano, with Amarillo pianist Phoebe Stephenson will present today's program in the Sunday Afternoon Concert series at the Federation of Women's Clubs building, 2001 Wolflin Circle, Amarillo.

The public is invited to hear the concert at no admission charge. It will begin at 3 p.m. A reception honoring the musicians will be held in the solarium after the program.

Mrs. Gulley is a voice student of Mrs. D. W. Palmer. She will be accompanied by Nancy Jones, also of Hereford, in singing two groups of songs. Piano solos by Miss Stephenson will round out the matinee concert.

Mrs. Carrie Hendrix is also on an extended visit with her daughter and families of Panhandle and Pampa.

GIVE A BIT OF ROMANCE

This is the time of year when romantic thoughts are rampant across our land. For the young, graduation and engagements may be uppermost in their minds. For those of us in our middle years, anniversaries, Mother's and Father's Day, or our own children's weddings may give pause. As a jeweler, this period makes me think of diamonds — the gift of love.

People today realize that the giving and wearing of diamonds can take place throughout a lifetime. They are no longer worn only in the traditional engagement or marriage ring. It did not take long for fair ladies to realize that coordinated diamond jewelry effectively set-off their important diamond rings, whether it was small diamonds in a 14-Karat gold floral pin, or in a jeweled watchband.

The family of the bride can give her a diamond pendant to wear with her wedding gown. Fathers and mothers on their special days will enjoy small diamonds in cufflinks or whimsical scatter pins. The couple celebrating a wedding anniversary of any year, can make it a great occasion by exchanging diamond gifts. We have helpful suggestions for you in every price range and fine new stock of diamond jewelry for both men and women. Stop in and see us soon.

Our Story: SILAS FIGHTS DESPERATELY FOR THE GLARE OF THE RISING SUN MAKES IT IMPOSSIBLE TO JUDGE THE NUMBER OF HIS ENEMIES.

FAR OUT ON THE LEFT WING PRINCE ARN LEADS HIS HUNDRED HORSEMEN ON A WILD CHARGE. AGAINST POUNDING HOOVES AND FLASHING SWORDS THE POORLY ARMED REBELS HAVE NO DEFENSE AND PANIC SPREADS.

AND NOW THE DONDARIS ARMY ARRIVES ON THE RIGHT WING TWO HOURS LATE AND WEARY FROM AN ALL-NIGHT MARCH. THEIR COMMANDER COUNTS HIS SADDLE SORES AS WOUNDS AND THINKS HE HAS GIVEN HIS ALL FOR HIS COUNTRY. HOWEVER, HE ORDERS A CHARGE.

THE ARMY ADVANCES IN FINE PARADE FORMATION. IN FACT, THAT WAS ALL THEY HAD BEEN TRAINED FOR AND THIS IS THEIR FIRST BATTLE. AND WHEN THEY FIND THE REBELS HAVE NO WEAPONS THAT CAN PIERCE THEIR SHIELDS AND ARMOR THEIR COURAGE GROWS.

FROM A HILLOCK WHERE HE IS RESTING THE HORSES ARN LOOKS IN AMAZEMENT AS THE ARMY MARCHES STRAIGHT INTO THE ENEMY REAR UNTIL IT IS ENTIRELY SURROUNDED. HE TELLS THE TRUMPETER TO SOUND THE CHARGE.

THE SMALL DETACHMENT OF SOLDIERS AND ARN'S HUNDRED HORSEMEN FIGHT ON AMID THE THOUSANDS OF REBELS WHO ARE GAINING COURAGE AS THE BATTLE SWINGS IN THEIR FAVOR.

THE ROAR OF THIS BATTLE REACHES THE FIGHTERS AT THE FRONT, AND BELIEVING THEY ARE SURROUNDED, BREAK RANKS AND FLEE IN PANIC.

TO SAVE THOSE FEW WHO WOULD FIGHT ON, SILAS, NO LONGER 'THE LIBERATOR' SURRENDERS AND THE WAR IS OVER.

NEXT WEEK - Unearned Victory

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
I never miss reading your column and now I want to make my little contribution...

It has to do with opening and storing grocery items that come packaged in boxes, such as cereals, rice, macaroni, etc., and it works equally well on boxes of detergents.

After you have opened these boxes they are never the same—they are very difficult to close again and sometimes too tall to sit upright on the shelf.

I have a solution to both problems. This is the way I open all my boxes of this type:

First of all, I mark the box all the way around, measuring an inch from the top of

into the slits made in the box—hence you have a nice-fitting new top, and, besides that, the box will fit in a smaller space.

When I use this idea on the large box of detergents I usually measure down two inches instead of one, and make the slits two inches also. This seems to work better on the larger boxes.

Mrs. "X"

"X" marks the spot and that is where I would love to plant a big ol' kiss right on your forehead and throw in a big-hug to boot.

That just has to be the niftiest idea I've heard in many a day.

Thank you! And if you could see my pantry you'd know how really impressed I am with your idea. I did 'em all! Big ones, tall ones, fat ones, small ones. Wonderful!

I tried to drown my sorrows, but I found out that they were all expert swimmers.

YOU CAN'T BEAT IT

DEAR HELOISE:
I have a hint for women who cook for large families.

When whipping potatoes or beating a batter, use a wire beater and put a steel ball inside it.

It will give you more beating power plus an easier cleaning job. Most of the food ingredients will fall off when the beater is hit against a hard surface.

KEEP IT CLEAN!

DEAR HELOISE:
Have you often wondered

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

what to do with those plastic bags that your new drapes, curtains, blankets and bedspreads come in?

Well, I don't throw them away—I reuse them when I change my drapes, etc. I wash and dry my dirty ones, refold them and slip them into these same bags.

Saves them from getting soiled and they seem to take up less storage space this way.

Mrs. V. Micalizzi

THE BOOK SHELF

DEAR HELOISE:
I have recently joined a book club and have run across an idea that may interest other book readers.

Since I have small children I found it very difficult to keep the paper jackets intact on hard-back books.

As soon as I get a new book, I cut-off the synopsis from the jacket and the biography of the author. I paste the synopsis inside the front cover and the author's biography in the back.

Long after the paper cover has been discarded, I still have the vital information about the book at my fingertips.

A BRANCH BANK

DEAR HELOISE:
When my husband graduated from college, my family wanted to give him a gift for his efforts, but at that time they were all raising their families and money was scarce.

My mother designed a "money tree," gluing a small tree branch to a wooden block and spraying it with gold paint.

When the money gifts arrived (everyone donating no more than they could afford), she rolled each bill inside a tiny piece of white paper and tied it with little ribbons to the branches of the tree.

The ribbons were in school colors and the money rolled in the white paper looked like little diplomas.

A note attached said, "Who says money doesn't grow on trees?" and they had all signed the card.

A Reader

JR. MISS HOSTESS

DEAR HELOISE:
If you need a gift suggestion for a very special young lady I think I might be able to help.

Sew a full-length hostess gown! This is perfect for any age. If she is a very young miss she'll feel so proud and grown-up.

Make it out of a wash-and-wear fabric so that it can be laundered easily. And make sure you leave an extra-big hem for growing girls!

Mrs. R. C. C.

A TALL STORY

DEAR HELOISE:
Like most tall girls I have been frantic trying to buy clothes the proper length and fit. In fact, some of the new pants suits hug my ankles instead of reaching my heels. So, I've taken up dressmaking.

Finding the proper place to lay out my pattern and cut my material was a real bugaboo. I discovered the best place for me to do this chore was the top of our chest-type freezer.

There are several good things about using the freezer top: it is the right height for me; it is large enough to roll and unroll my material; it is always there, I don't have to find a place to put up a cutting board or a place to store it; and my freezer is in my sunny "Florida" room, so I don't need to work under electric lights.

Now I don't have to tug my skirts when I sit down, or wear my pants at the lower level of my hips, because my clothes now fit me properly and they are the proper length for me.

A Faithful Reader

STRING ALONG!

DEAR HELOISE:
Our grandchildren broke a badminton racket and I almost threw it away, but thought, "What would Heloise use this for?" Well, here goes:

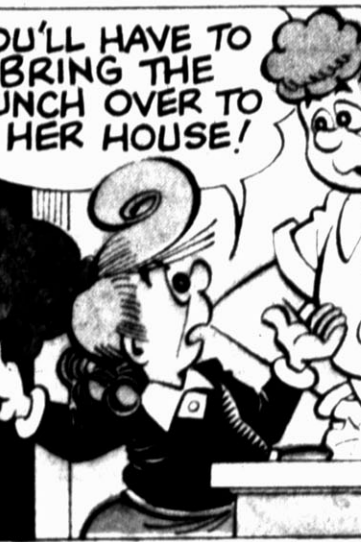

We have a cat, so I use the broken racket to sift the cat litter. This keeps it nice and clean and it lasts so much longer.

You're right, Heloise—if you look hard enough and long enough you can find a good use for anything.
