Relief in Deaf Smith.

In terms of meat and bread passage of the proposed bond issue amendment in Saturday's election is of vital importance to Deaf Smith county.

During the past ten months this county has been given $12,884.35. Every dime of this has been spent in relief for persons who would have been fed and clothed at local expense had not the Federal funds been furnished.

For the month of August Deaf Smith county has asked for $5,300 to be used in relief work.

On the county's relief rolls are 2,000 persons.

In addition to the relief funds, the Red Cross has spent the equivalent of $1,750 here this year, furnishing flour, clothing, cloth for clothing and some cash.

In case of defeat of the bond issue relief will become a local problem, as Federal and State aid will be withdrawn.

Furthermore, there is to be no direct tax levied for payment of the state's $20,000,000 issue.

The following report was sent out this week by a committee of state senators:

"If the bond issue fails, no money for relief purposes can be appropriated out of the state treasury, and the legislature will be powerless to again submit this question to the people before 1935. If the people see fit to adopt the amendment, we as members of the Texas Senate solemnly pledge:

"1. To do all in our power to pass legislation to properly safeguard the expenditure of relief funds by competent and trustworthy agencies of government.

"2. To restrict the expenditure of funds so far as possible to the payment for labor exerted and well planned projects that will be of lasting benefits to the state.

"3. To the utmost limit of our skill and ability we pledge that no legislation will be enacted that will encourage a dole system in Texas.

"4. Able bodied Texas citizens will be provided with useful employment. The rural sections of Texas need lateral roads; the cities and towns need street improvements; many other enterprises can assimilate a large amount of labor for beneficial purposes. Many state institutions are badly in need of repair and renovation, for which Texas labor will be employed if funds are provided.

"5. These funds will by law be equitably distributed over the state, and we pledge that every county in so far as in our power to provide will receive its just portion.

"6. No single industry, or special group will be called upon to provide the funds necessary to retire the bonds, and no one form of taxation will be resorted to, but the taxes will be distributed evenly over the state, it being distinctly understood that no direct or ad valorem tax will or can be resorted to."

Notice to Taxpayers.

In accordance with the law, Act 1931, 42nd Legislature, page 330, chapter 206—the Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County will hold a public hearing on proposed budget of the county for the year 1933 at the regular meeting on September 11, 1933, in the county court house.

At this time any suggestion of the taxpayers will be considered after which the tax rate will be set.

By Their Words
What Panhandle Papers Say

The Panhandle is blessed with numerous country editors. And they are just as brilliant as they are numerous. Here are some of their opinions, ideas and witticisms. "By their words ye shall know them."

Farwell hasn't a single million-aires hence no kidnapers ply their trade in this city.—Graham Crackers in the State-Line Tribune.

If the short-hour week keeps on, people will be forced to learn to play. This may sound silly, but there are a lot of men in Wellington who don't know how to do a thing but work. When they quit work they go home and sit on the front porch and wish that it was time to go to work again. This is the truth if I ever told it. Now is the time to develop a hobby. If you don't like sports and can't think of anything better to do, you can raise roses like I do.—Deskin Wells, Wellington Leader.

Uncle Sam is spending about $1,500,000 more in Texas every month through the county relief committees. This would be lost should the bonds (state bond issue) fail. . . . The amendment is limited to $20,000,000 and has a life of two years. Thus, it may be seen that we are limiting our total expenditures and opening the way for NO OTHER bond issue.—Olin Hinkle, in the Pampa News.

This paper is the only paper that gives a darn about McLean. And this is nothing particularly to boast about, as it is characteristic of all papers to work for their own town, while being nice to all other towns. However, it is a good thing to remember that there is only one paper that is giving of its efforts to your home town.—T. A. Landers, in the McLean News.

Someone has told me that N. R. A. stands for "No Rains in Abernathy" and that sounds about right.—Archibald, in the Abernathy Review.

It is a foregone conclusion that if Bailey county goes dry and some of the neighboring counties in Texas or New Mexico goes wet, there will be hundreds of people every week who will strike a bee line for the wet territory not only for beer, but while they are there they will visit the picture shows and other places of entertainment, buy much of their dry goods, groceries, etc., also.—Muleshoe Journal.

We do not want to hear any more complaining about the lack of rain in Dumas. The people had their chance and passed it up. If you will remember the last big mass meeting we had here, it took almost all night to get the cars out of the mud after the downpour during the meeting. Well, Tuesday night we had another mass meeting and it rained only a proportionate amount to tally with the attendance at the meeting, so if you were not there do not kick about the lack of rain.—Moore County News.

The world is a funny place and is inhabited by a queer people. And as the old lady once said: "I'm glad I'm not one of them." Many people have referred to the money to be received from plowing up cotton as a gift from Santa Claus. This brings to mind the thought that although there are thousands of letters addressed to Santa Claus each year that eventually find their way to the dead letter office, not one letter is mailed after Christmas thanking old Santa for what he has seen fit to bring.—Turkey Enterprise.

Stairs Made Her Gasp for Breath

Penalty of Excess Fat
Although she has lost but 7 lbs. of her overweight, this woman finds that 7 lbs. has made a remarkable difference to her.

Her letter reads: "I am 33 years old and my height is 5 ft. Last year I weighed 154 lbs. I have been taking a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts, making no change in my diet. Now I am less round the hips, and only weigh 147 lbs. dressed. But I feel lighter and can now run up stairs, which before used to make me gasp for breath. Everyone says how well and fit I look."—(Miss) J. H.

Kruschen is an ideal blend of 6 separate salts which help body organs to function properly and maintain a splendid degree of health—it builds up energy and strength while you're reducing to normal weight.

Get Kruschen Salts at any live druggist in the world—a jar lasts 4 weeks and costs not more than 85 cents.—adv

A LONG TIME AGO IN HEREFORD

(From The Hereford Brand, August 29, 1902.)

A number of Hereford folks had spent a day at the HO2 ranch in Castro county to witness the branding of 150 head of stock. The day was marred when Wm. Twyman, expert rope hand, was thrown from his horse when a clench broke.

M. O. Meeks undertook to catch and lasso a wolf. His horse stepped in a dog hole, fell and rolled over Mr. Meeks, braining his face and head, and various parts of his body.

Miss Mina Dameron had entertained a large number of friends, honoring Miss Julia Martin, of Childress.

R. J. Sanders of Frost had bought had purchased three sections of land from W. B. Evans, paying therefor $5,000.

T. J. Davis had bought a half interest in the Dr. R. H. Gough drug store.

Still another accident was recounted in a story having to do with a runaway team driven by Roscoe Harris, then a candidate for county treasurer. In this instance the tongue of the wagon dropped to the ground, causing his team to bolt. In the mix-up Mr. Harris received a broken arm and the wagon was demolished.

Randolph Clark had returned from a trip to East Texas where he had been working in the interest of Hereford College.

WANTED: Room and board, or prefer both, by young man. Address W. H. Russell, City. Judge Russell was a new comer in Hereford.

Moonlight hay rides seemed to be a popular outdoor pastime at that time, and a number of such rides were recounted.

No car accidents are told of in 1902, but once more the hazards of cowboy life were told in an item concerning C. E. McLane of Castro county. He roped a three-year old steer, the rope caught under McLane's leg, throwing him from his horse and breaking his right arm. Mr. McLane was a candidate for county judge, and was the second candidate told of in this issue of the Brand who was put out of business by fooling with horses.

D. R. Gass was in Kansas City and St. Louis buying fall and winter merchandise.

A boy had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Troy Womble, August 22.

The little son of W. S. Files had been thrown from a horse and kicked in the stomach, seriously injuring the lad.

(From The Hereford Brand, August 23, 1912.)

Miss Jessie Sisk was returning next day from Canyon Normal, where she had been in school during the summer session.

Chas. Purcell, Hugh Witherspoon and Henry Cloyd had attended a Firemen's convention in Vernon.

Watermelons in the Hereford vicinity were in their prime, and the small boys of less than 100 years of age were enjoying them.

A. H. Elliston and family were at home from a trip to California.

Karl Shirley had marketed the first load of 1912 millet.

Carl Gilliland was sitting as special judge in district court in Hartley county.

The Brand was advocating a policy of "more brains—less sweat" for adoption of farmers in the Plains country.

A jolly crowd of youngsters had helped Esther Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fox, celebrate her ninth birthday.

Church of Christ

The revival at the Church of Christ continues with high interest, being shown in the preaching of James D. Willeford, 47-year-old boy preacher. Mr. Willeford is presenting the gospel in terms simple to understand. Every citizen of Hereford has the opportunity to hear this young man. Mr. Willeford was elected to preach regularly throughout the coming year for the Church of Christ at Canyon. He is possibly one of the youngest preachers to hold the position of regular minister of a church. Although he is only 17 years of age, Mr. Willeford is not a novice in the ministry. When he was 14, in the high school of the Boies Orphan Home in Oulman he determined that his life's work would be the spreading of the Gospel. At that age he began to preach, and at the present has been preaching regularly for two and a half years. While he was completing his high school work he preached to many congregations. He conducted several revival services dur-

If 3.2 beer is not intoxicating, then why the agitation by the wets?

Ask your physician if beer is healthful.

How will liquor lessen crime, violence, racketeering and corruption? Why were saloons always closed in so many states on election days?

Why do railroads and other corporations absolutely forbid the use of liquor by employees?

SAUL

1 Samuel, 15:13-23.

13. And Samuel came to Saul; and Saul said unto him, Blessed be thou of Jehovah: I have performed the commandment of Jehovah.

14. And Samuel said, What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?

15. And Saul said, They have brought them from the Amalekites; for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto Jehovah thy God; and the rest we have utterly destroyed.

16. And Samuel said unto Saul, Stay, and I will tell thee what Jehovah hath said to me this night. And he said unto him, Say on.

17. And Samuel said, Though thou wast little in thine own sight, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel? And Jehovah anointed thee king over Israel;

18. And Jehovah sent thee on a journey and said, Go, and utterly destroy the sinners the Amalekites, and fight against them until they be consumed.

19. Wherefore then didst thou not obey the voice of Jehovah, but didst fly upon the spoil, and didst that which was evil in the sight of Jehovah?

20. And Saul said unto Samuel, Yea, I have obeyed the voice of Jehovah, and have gone the way which Jehovah sent me, and I have brought Agag the king of Amalek, and have utterly destroyed the Amalekites.

21. But the people took of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the chief of the devoted things, to sacrifice unto Jehovah thy God in Gilgal.

22. And Samuel said, Hath Jehovah as great delight in burnt-offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of Jehovah? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams.

23. For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as idolatry and teraphim. Because thou hast rejected the word of Jehovah, he hath also rejected thee from being king.

Golden Text: Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice.—1 Samuel 15:22.

Time: Saul made king B. C. 1102. Death of Saul B. C. 1063, after a reign of forty years. Place: Ramah, Gilgal, Gilboa.

Introduction.

It was indeed fortunate for Saul that in the beginning of his career as king he had upon him the guiding hand of Samuel, the last and greatest of the judges. The preparation of a constitution for the monarchy and the writing of it in a book for future reference was a piece of constructive statesmanship on the part of Samuel. It was calculated to be of great service to the new monarch and his court in the management of the nation's affairs. At the word of Samuel the people dispersed to their homes bearing the news of the new king into every part of the land.

Paul began his reign auspiciously with victories over the Ammonites, Philistines, Moabites and others. But his disobedience in the war against Amalek forecast his overthrow. The youthful David was privately anointed as his successor by Samuel. Finally, in a war with the Philistines, Israel was decisively defeated and Saul died in a suicide on Mount Gilboa.

Saul Proves His Leadership.

The Ammonites, a fierce desert tribe to the east of Palestine, attacked Jabeshgilead, an Israelite town west of the Jordan sixty or seventy miles away from Saul's home at Gibeah. The besieging army threatened to put out the right eyes of all in the town, and gave them only a week's respite in which to obtain aid. It looked like a hopeless case, but with magnificent energy Saul sent out swift couriers threatening with death all that did not join him instantly in the rescue. No fewer than 300,000 warriors hastened from Judah and 300,000 from the near-by tribes. This great host fell on the Ammonites and put them utterly to rout. Thereupon Samuel called the people together once more at Gilgal, where they made joyful sacrificial offerings to Jehovah.

Saul's First Disobedience.

At the very outset of the campaign Saul was guilty of an irreligious act which brought down upon him the awful condemnation of Samuel. The rendezvous of the Israelites was at the ancient camping-field, Gilgal, near Jericho, and there Samuel bade him wait for seven days for him to offer sacrifice before the fighting. But terror seized upon the people, for the Philistines were coming up in vast numbers not far away, and Saul's forces began to desert, and to hide themselves in caves and thickets and pits. The seven days passed, and still Samuel did not come.

Saul could not endure to watch his army diminishing and at length he dared to assume priestly functions, and impiously offered the sacrifices himself. Hardly had he finished, however, before Samuel appeared. Saul made his excuses readily, but Samuel could not accept them. "The Lord," he said, "sought a man after his own heart, but you have shown by this disobedience to God that you are not such a man. Now your kingdom shall not continue." So Samuel sadly left Saul to go his own headstrong way.

Saul's Second Disobedience.

The Amalekites were a wandering desert tribe originally roaming through the wilderness south of Canaan, though by Saul's time they had spread also east of the Jordan. Through all the centuries they had harassed the Israelites. For all their wicked deeds, the Lord had decreed their destruction, and Samuel bade Saul to accomplish it thoroughly, sparing no living thing, whether human or cattle. This was done by Saul, but not with the required thoroughness. He spared Agag, the king of the Amalekites, to give lustre to his triumphal return, and he spared the best of the sheep and cattle to enrich himself and his officers.

Saul's Excuse for His Sin.

"The people spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen," Saul is not many enough to take the blame himself, but throws it on "the people" whose commander he was. We are all skilled in throwing off our sins upon others; but they will not stay there. "To sacrifice unto Jehovah thy God," Saul had the effrontery to allege a religious motive for disobeying God. So a man will save his conscience for oppression and robbery and trickery by giving part of the proceeds to the church. The king sought to shift the responsibility from his own shoulders to that of the people. "They have brought them," "The people spared the best," and the purpose, he said, was a good one—"to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God"; and for himself he claimed—"the rest we have utterly destroyed." Thus also Adam shifted his responsibility upon Eve, and Aaron claimed to make the golden calf in response to popular demand, but neither they nor Saul nor any one else can evade individual responsibility.

A Lesson for All Christians.

The lesson for Christian people from the story of Saul is that to obey God is better than sacrifice, or anything else. A religious ceremony which expresses a yearning for godly character is wholesome for the soul. But when we offer to God these ceremonies in lieu of righteous conduct, then our religious acts harm our souls. Jesus condemned people who scrupulously tithed their mint, anise and cummin, but neglected the weightier matters of the law; justice, mercy and faith. One may be very religious and yet unrighteous. (Cp. Amos 5:21-27.)

Saul and Samuel—a Contrast.

"From this time the Spirit of the Lord departs from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord troubles him, making the residue of his life a tangled web of intrigue, discord and lost faith seeking refuge in necromancy and witchcraft.

A presentment of disaster had meanwhile crept over Saul's heart and in his excitement he sought the aid of unholy arts for counsel. The strange episode of his visit to Endor fitly led the way to the catastrophe. In the battle that followed, his heroic son Jonathan, and two other sons were slain, and when Saul saw that he was defeated he killed himself. (1 Samuel, 31:1-6.)

"How nobly Samuel, who was permitted to write the story of life at length, wrote it, even to the end! How sure in his youth; how faithful and brave in the days of his strength, and when the end drew in sight how full of noble self-forgetfulness toward man and an obedient trust toward God!" Equable progression from the beginning to the end was the special characteristic of the life of Samuel. He died in his own house at Ramah. Around him were the lamentations of his people. It is written with expressness of emphasis, "All the Israelites were gathered together, and lamented him and buried him." "Another mighty one had passed away; one who, like Moses and Joshua, had inaugurated a new dispensation."—Bishop Samuel Wilberforce.

Why You Should Vote

"For the amendment to the Constitution providing that the Legislature may authorize the issuance of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed twenty million ($20,000,000) dollars, for relieving the hardships of unemployment and for the necessary appropriations to pay said bonds."

More than one and a quarter million Texans are now living entirely from funds supplied by the Federal government in Washington.

Nearly a third more destitute Texans required Federal aid in July than in June.

Half of those now unemployed are not yet on the relief rolls. They will likely be the first ones to get their jobs back. Until they have been re-employed there will be as many helpless Texans to be cared for as now.

In July we received more than two million dollars direct from Washington to feed hungry people in Texas. The payments averaged one million and a half a month. The bonds that you are asked to permit the Legislature to issue can be repaid in ten years for two and one-half million dollars per year.

Unless this amendment is passed the Legislature cannot appropriate a single dollar to aid hungry and destitute families. No matter how many destitute there are or how severe their condition, no Texas city or county can expect any outside aid in caring for them unless this bond issue is passed.

If the bond amendment to be submitted August 26th fails, it will be two years before it can possibly be voted on again. The Constitution fixes that.

If the bonds are defeated we can expect no more funds from the Federal Government. If more than a million Texans are left without food for a single week, there will certainly be a distressing situation. When they find out that it will be two years before they can be relieved, the result will surely be disastrous.

The people are not voting bonds. If the amendment passes it will merely permit the Legislature to issue such bonds as are necessary.

Our Legislature is not wasteful. A constitutional amendment voted last year authorized the Legislature to expend a large sum of money to stage the Texas Centennial. Because of the distressed financial conditions, they did not appropriate a dollar for this purpose.

If our vote on August 26th shows we do not want to help carry out the President's relief program, it might cause us to lose millions of dollars that would otherwise be spent in Texas under the Public Works Act. Texas must keep in step with the National Recovery Program.

While Texans are generally opposed to state-wide bonds, our citizens must place the lives of more than a million of their fellow residents above their dislike for State bonds. Fifty cents per person per year will pay these bonds in the ten years they are permitted to run.

No property tax can ever be levied to pay off these bonds. The Legislature saw to that in submitting the amendment.

Vote for the relief bond issue. Don't let a million Texans starve.

REMEMBER—No Property Tax Can Ever Be Levied To Pay Off These Bonds!

The City of Hereford is unable to feed the unemployed; Deaf Smith County is unable to feed the unemployed. The State cannot help without the passage of the bond amendment. The Federal government refuses to help further, unless Texas helps itself.

People in Deaf Smith County cannot starve. They will have to be taken care of in some way. It will be up to the county to take care of its own troubles if the state and nation fail. If the county has to do it that means an additional tax on the properties of the county.

VOTE FOR THE AMENDMENT—AUGUST 26th.
