AROUND TOWN

Sights and Faces Seen

Gus Streu has not joined a nudist colony, although he does occasionally appear on the streets in his pajamas. The other night a customer went to Gus' house and got him out of bed to sell some hardware. Gus made the trip, and the sale, in his pajamas.

Jim Clark the other day sold an alarm clock to Frances Morgan, who is employed at the SCSS office. He made the sale at 4 o'clock and (he says accidentally) set the alarm at 4:15. Miss Morgan went to the picture show and shortly afterwards the show was interrupted by the alarm. Strange as it may seem, Jim had also accidentally wrapped the clock very securely; in fact, too securely, according to Miss Morgan.

Erschel Young is helping organize a skeet club here. He says it is a form of trap shooting, but Mr. Webster's dictionary defines it as "a scap with a long handle, as for washing the sides of a vessel." Anyway, it will provide a lot of fun and amusement for sportsmen of the community, and will probably attract sportsmen here from over the entire Panhandle.

H. J. Walker, who lives 20 miles north of Hereford, makes the equivalent of a pretty good salary each week through the marketing of cream and eggs. His weekly income from this source varies between the $25 and $30 mark.

Carl Frye, who farms west of Summerfield, has just completed a new $4,000 barn and is working on a new irrigation well. Mr. Frye is going to have one of the best equipped farms in this section.

Assembly of God Church To Open Revival Meeting

That an old-fashioned Camp Meeting Revival will start Sunday evening at 8:15 o'clock was announced here today by Rev. W. A. McCann, pastor of the Assembly of God church. The meeting is to be held in a tent across south from the Baptist church.

Rev. McCann will open the revival meeting Sunday night by delivering the first sermon. Monday night the services will be conducted by Rev. H. L. Sheets of Nebraska. Rev. Sheets is a nationally known speaker, and comes to Hereford highly recommended.

Sherman Morgan Added To Brand Printing Force

Sherman Morgan this week became the man and compositor in the Hereford Brand shops, succeeding Russell Whitehead who accepted a position in the Evening Journal shops at Cloria.

A resident of Hereford for the past 20 years, Mr. Morgan is well known here having attended Hereford school and graduated with the class of 1913. For the past four and one-half years he has been employed as printer by the Whitehead shop.

She was elected to congress in 1924, the first Democratic congresswoman. She was also the first to introduce a resolution for repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Funeral Held Thursday For Mrs. Jones

Funeral services were held Thursday for Mrs. J. S. Jones, 79, pioneer resident of the Panhandle, from Black Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. J. C. Thomas. Mrs. Jones died at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning following an illness of five days. She was born July 23, 1858, in Louisiana, and first came to this section of the country in 1898 with her husband.

Lion Secretary To Leave Soon For Convention

John McLean will leave Saturday for Chicago, where he will attend the Lions International Convention July 20-23, inclusive, as representative of the Hereford Lions Club.

Mr. McLean will go from here to Dallas where he will board a special Lions International train and make the trip to Chicago. He expects to return here July 25. Delegates from Lions Clubs over the world will flock into Chicago for the International convention and preparations are being made to accommodate a crowd of 10,000 persons.

Mr. McLean holds the post of secretary of the Hereford Lions Club and will go to the convention with the security of representing one of the outstanding clubs of the nation. The Hereford club was recently recognized for having made the greatest increase in membership of any club of its size in the United States.

PREDICTS BIG OVER-PRODUCTION IN NEXT TWELVE MONTHS

Stressing a diversified farming program, Alex R. Bateman, county agent, today said that during the next 12 months, it is more essential than ever before the farmers of this area include livestock in their farm program.

Expect Much Wheat.
"Farmers over this entire territory, because the price of wheat is fairly good this year, are figuring on planting more wheat for harvest in 1938," Mr. Bateman said. "If this situation is carried out over the entire country we will be faced with over-production and consequently a low price. For this reason, farmers should diversify and have their livestock to fall back upon in case wheat does bring a low price next year."

Summer Fallowing.
Another important factor which Mr. Bateman stressed was summer fallowing of wheat lands. "One-third of all cultivated lands should be summer fallowed," he declared. "By this method, the third portion will build up soil."

Fraser Completes Modern Elevator Here This Week

Alton Fraser today announced that his new, modern elevator has been completed and is now in operation in addition to his old elevator. The elevator has a capacity of 10,000 bushels and was constructed in such a manner that it can be enlarged to a capacity of 60,000 bushels.

One of the most modern elevators in this section, it has an electric dump, which Mr. Fraser says will unload twice as fast as the old style. It is equipped to handle both trucks and trailers.

In addition to the new elevator, Mr. Fraser will also continue to operate his old elevator, which has a capacity of 60,000 bushels. He says that with a large row crop here this year he expects to enlarge the new elevator to 60,000 bushel capacity.

Attempt To Get Veteran Hospital Here

Seeking to secure the location of a Veterans' Hospital in Hereford, the Lions Club Wednesday offered their assistance to the Hereford Post of American Legion. The hospital is to be erected in the Panhandle of Texas, and delegations will go to Miami Sunday to confer with officials in an effort to get the hospital here.

The hospital will primarily serve veterans in the Panhandle section and Legion members are of the opinion that it will be located and constructed in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Moore and children spent last Sunday visiting relatives in Abernathy, Texas.

Highway To Be Finished Here By August 15

STRIP WEST OF TOWN TO BE COMPLETED COMING WEEK

Estimating that the Deaf Smith strip of Highway 60 will be completed by August 15 or shortly afterwards, contractors today said that the six-mile strip west of town will be surfaced and open for traffic by Friday or Saturday of next week, according to present plans.

To Open Strip.
The strip west of town was opened for a short while after the Caliche base was finished and is now being prepared for the asphalt surface. Workmen expect to start surfacing the strip this week and estimate that they can open the strip in one week after the topping has been placed.

Work was finished Tuesday on the caliche base of the first seven miles of the strip from Hereford eastward, and machinery was moved from the Fuqua pits to the Humphrey pits near Dawn. They estimate that it will take another three weeks to prepare the caliche base on the remaining seven miles to the east.

Contractors hope to complete surface work on the entire project by August 15, and have set August 31 as the latest possible time for ending the work in this county.

Engineer Will Make Survey On Proposed Lake

Following the appearance of a committee before the commissioners court Monday morning, the county granted the use of a truck for an engineer who will be sent to Hereford to make a survey and consider plans for a proposed dam and lake near Hereford. The survey is to be made in the near future.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting last Friday selected a committee to work toward the erection of a dam near here and the creation of a lake for fishing and boating purposes.

Wilson Gyles was named as temporary chairman of the committee, which also includes Judge J. P. Slaton, Jimmie Gilentine, Verne Witherspoon and J. E. Hill.

A location will be considered following the survey by the engineer, and more complete details regarding the proposal will be announced by the committee, Mr. Gyles said.

Vaughn Sustains Minor Injuries

R. E. Vaughn sustained painful bruises and scratches Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock when he fell from a ladder between a freight car and the Fraser Elevator. He fell approximately six feet when his feet slipped from the plank and landed on his back.

His injuries were not considered critical, and he is expected to return to his work in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Moore and children spent last Sunday visiting relatives in Abernathy, Texas.

Three Companies Interested In Sugar Beet Factory Here

Jim Farley Lauds Hereford Band

In a recent letter to Ralph Smith, director of the Hereford High School Band, James A. Farley, Postmaster General, paid high tribute to the band. The letter, posted Washington, and in part read: "The band was one of the important features of the event and the subject of such favorable comment." He closed by wishing the band continued success. Mr. Farley was welcomed by the band when he visited here several weeks ago.

Two Women Injured In Automobile Collision Here Tuesday Afternoon

MRS. M. E. MOORE AND MRS. TROY MOORE IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. M. R. Moore, 70, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Troy Moore, were both confined to the hospital following an automobile collision at the corner of Fifth Street and Miles Avenue at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Sharon Dee Moore, three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moore, escaped uninjured.

The accident occurred when an automobile driven by W. A. Long collided with the back of the Moore car at the street intersection. The car, driven by Mrs. Moore, overturned three times as a result of the collision and the car was demolished. Mr. Long escaped without serious injury and his car was not badly damaged.

Mrs. M. R. Moore, who has been in failing health, was rushed to the hospital following the accident. Physicians were unable to determine the extent of her injuries. Bruises and scratches were apparent, but unless internal injuries develop her reaction

Gilliland Named Manager of Furr Food Store Here

Vernon Gilliland arrived Saturday to become manager of the Furr Food Store in Hereford.

Already well acquainted in this section, Mr. Gilliland comes here from Amarillo, where he has been assistant manager in one of the Furr Food Stores for three years. He started out with the company in Hereford five years ago, and after remaining with the local store two years was transferred to Amarillo.

Mr. Gilliland attended the local schools before he began working with the Furr Food Store, and is well known over this section.

COLORADO FIRM SENDS MAN TO SURVEY THIS AREA

The possibility of a sugar beet factory in Hereford, demanded wide interest this week when one sugar beet company sent a representative here Wednesday, and two more companies indicated that they would send men to inspect the location and possibilities in the near future. Interest in the establishment of a sugar beet factory here was attributed to the rural electrification lines which are to be constructed here, affording development of irrigation facilities.

Knapp Inspects Area.
H. E. Knapp, agricultural agent for the American Crystal Sugar Beet Company of Denver, Colorado, visited Hereford Wednesday and informed H. V. Hennen, Chamber of Commerce, secretary, that tests are to be made in this area. He also made a tour of this territory.

Mr. Knapp said that beet seed used by the company have been bred to certain specifications; he plans to send some of the seed here in the near future in order that beets may be grown from them and tested as to sugar content.

Consider $750,000 Plant.
Provided the sugar content proves satisfactory, and sufficient acreage can be secured for sugar beets, he said that his company will consider erecting a $750,000 plant in Hereford. He left for Amarillo Wednesday afternoon to contact D. L. McDonald, who produced sugar beets here in 1912.

Another favorable factor for the growing of sugar beets in this section is the fact that in sunshine and fair weather during fall months will greatly increase the sugar content of beets.

High Sugar Content.
The beets grown here by McDonald in 1912 were reported to have tested from 18 to 20 per cent sugar content, while the average test of beets in the Colorado area is 14 to 16 per cent, according to Mr. Knapp.

While Mr. Knapp was the first to personally appear here in the interests of a beet sugar factory, two other companies have written here for information and state that they will send representatives here for investigations. Both of these companies have contacted Jack Rose, Commissioner of Precinct 1, and he has already forwarded the desired information to them.

Seek New Location.
The U. S. A. Sugar Company of Garden City, Kansas, stated that they are looking for a new location and sought information as to the McDonald experiment, irrigation facilities and character of producers. The Holley Sugar Company, with headquarters in New York City, made similar inquiries and both firms indicate that they will send men here in the near future. The desired information has already been forwarded to them.

In case they decide to erect a factory here, the latter companies, both stated that they would require from 3,000 to 5,000 acres of sugar beet cultivation in this irrigated belt. They estimate that the crop will pay the producers from $700 to $150 an acre, depending upon prices and yields. They likewise will furnish their own specific seed.

Customary procedure on sugar beet planting includes furnishing of seed to growers, subject to payment when the crop is harvested. Funds are also sometimes advanced on crops prior to their harvest by some of the companies.

Expect Million Bushels By August 1

A million bushels of wheat, and probably more, in this immediate territory were assured this week, according to local grain dealers and old timers, as wheat continued pouring in to elevators over the entire section.

Some estimates indicate that approximately two-thirds of the wheat in this territory has been cut, but combines are still humming in every direction as harvest continues at a peak.

Wheat is being cut early, averaging 30 bushels in the acre, the average has dropped considerably and many farmers were cutting as low as six and eight bushels. Wheat grades were also reported to have taken a decided drop, averaging from 45 to 55 pound tests. The drop in both yields and tests was attributed to rust on late wheat.

If favorable weather continues, present indications point to a completion of harvest by August 1, and a large percentage of the wheat in this territory is expected to be harvested by the last of next week.

The price of wheat dropped to $1.03 here the latter part of last week, but Tuesday bounced to $1.08 a bushel, and Wednesday to $1.09, again reaching the record price seen here July 5.

Approximately 40 per cent of the farmers in this section were said to be holding their wheat for an advance in price above the present market. Others were satisfied to sell at the present price, and for the first time in several years many of the producers are getting in good shape.

Most of the wheat in the south part of this territory has been cut, and harvest swung generally to the northwest. The Adrian community reported an average of 12 bushels to the acre and 25 bushels is considered high this year in that section. Tuesday at noon 75 cars had been shipped from the Adrian section.

Many farmers who have already harvested their wheat are turning their attention to row crops, and in many sections cultivators and go-devils have replaced combines as farmers eliminate weeds in their fields. One of the largest row crops in recent years is anticipated in this section if favorable conditions continue.

Wasting no time, she plunged headlong into her enterprise, throwing into it all her pent-up energy. She herself had not the faintest notion of how to go about building a house; but Poleon, who had lived all his life in the North and could do almost anything proved a capable lieutenant.

Under his direction a gang of 25 prospectors cleared a site for the big lodge, cut trees in the near-by hollows, worked the logs into shape, and started laying the foundations of the building.

After making innumerable lists of the supplies and equipment needed, Patricia finally pared the order down to a five-ton minimum and sent out to Edmonton for it.

All this, the work and the supplies, she paid for with her own money, writing checks against her allowance account in Chicago.

Until Poleon and his men were actually at work, she was able to keep her plans a secret from Warren. But one evening, when he and she were taking their usual walk down the lake shore, he "bounced" her about her scheme.

"Patricia"—he led around to the subject indirectly—"when are you planning to go back to Chicago, if I may ask?"

The question startled Patricia. Almost a month had passed since she came to the Arctic; a dozen times she had resolved to tear free and leave the very next day, but she was still there, and now this community house was going to hold her for at least three weeks more.

Vaguely she felt that she was getting caught and dragged into the human court at Dynamic Bay—dragged deeper and deeper all the time.

"I can't go for two or three weeks yet, Warren," she answered. Warren motioned across Resurrection at the drogue of trees, where axes were ringing lustily, and the first tier of logs were being heaved into place for the big barracks-like structure.

"You're staying here on account of that, Patricia!" he accused. "I was rather stunned this afternoon when I found out what you're planning to do over there. Whatever put such a preposterous a notion into your head? And why did you keep it a secret from me?"

"You never tell me anything about your business," Patricia retorted, "so why should I tell you about mine? And what's 'preposterous' about this 'notion'?"

"Many things, dear. You're wasting time, money and expectations on a project that's doomed to fail. By the middle of November there won't be three dozen prospectors in this whole field."

"I don't believe it! They're not ordinary prospectors. They're northern men, and they can stand a lot if only they have an occasional let-down."

Warren flicked a sand rose with his cane. "Dear, I've had a world more experience with prospectors and mining camps than you, and you ought to take my advice. Even if these men were sure to stay and your project was sure to work, I'd still have to object to it."

"Buy why?" "Well, uh," he evaded shily, "you're getting yourself into a bad jam here, Patricia. You don't realize it, but I do. You're getting yourself all tangled up. You ought to drop this project of yours at once."

"Drop it—with the building already going up and the supplies on the way here from Edmonton? Why, that's make me look like a fool!"

"I'll take the blame on myself." "I won't stop." "You must."

"No!" In silence they walked on down the handwash.

At the boulder where they usually turned during their evening stroll, Warren stopped and confronted her.

"Patricia, in the matter of that Fornier prospector, I let you have your own way; but in this matter—he spoke very firmly, the firmest he had ever spoken to her. "You really must listen to me. I can't allow you to carry your plan any farther!"

"I think I'm doing right," Patricia argued stubbornly. "Unless you show me I'm doing wrong, I won't stop, and that's that."

Fiesta Costume

Among the many gorgeous costumes which will be seen in the Casa Manana Revue at Fort Worth beginning June 26, is this Neptune's daughter garment worn by Miss Virginia Doffmeyer.

"You'll have to." "I won't!"

That was the end of their clash—Patricia's flat and final "I won't." Warren dropped the subject. Without another word about it he walked back to her tent with her, chatted casually a few minutes, kissed her good-night and left.

For a long time after she went to bed that evening, Patricia lay awake, thinking the incident over. Why was Warren so dead-set against her helping those men?

It troubled her badly to realize that she had openly defied Warren in a very important matter. After all, he was going to be her husband; he loved her; he never made requests without good cause. Maybe she oughtn't to defy him even if she was wholly right in the argument. As her fiancée she owed him loyalty; ought to side with him instead of against him.

Warren Lovett—her husband—tossed sleeplessly on her cot, brooding about that imminent marriage. When she finally did drop off to sleep she dreamed about it, dreamed of the ceremony itself. . . . She was in a church walking with slow unwilling steps down the aisle toward the flower-banked altar. The man who waited for her there was Warren.

But when she reached him, the picture blurred, changed. The man who gathered her into his arms and took her away on a long nebulous journey, away from home and parents and the old life was not Warren, but Craig Tarlton. . . .

In spite of Warren's objection and her own doubts about the community house, she drove the work on to completion. For once she had an enterprise that was all hers, and in it she found refuge from her harrassing troubles. The help which she had given Bill Fornier had brought her a sense of satisfaction, a sort that she had not experienced before; and she felt that during the coming winter, when she was back home in Chicago, she would think about those 300 men and the comfortable big lodge she had built for them, and would be the happier for it.

And she believed, too, that Craig, who had befriended those men in so many ways, would applaud her work and change his opinion about her. Though she would not admit it to herself, the desire to win respect from him was one of the biggest motives behind her enterprise.

During the last days of July the dark had started coming back again—at first a mere spell at twilight; then a brief one-hour night in early August, then a swiftly increasing period. When she first had come to the Arctic, the never-ending day had been a delightful curiosity, but very speedily the perpetual beating sun got on her nerves, and she longed for the soft velvety blackness of a Midwest night. Now the coming of the dark was like the return of a welcomed friend.

On the day when the supplies arrived from Edmonton and were being toted into the nearly finished building, Craig Tarlton and an Indian came past the place on their way down the river. Near the main entrance of the big lodge, Craig paused to glance over the confusion of goods, carpenter debris and hustling men.

Busily checking crates and bales at the doorway, Patricia failed to see him at first; but when she did look up and meet his eyes, she flushed violently and dropped her pencil.

Craig nodded a cool greeting. Patricia, answered, trying to make her nod as curt as his.

When a minute had passed and he did not speak, she herself made an overture. "We're planning to have our housewarming tomorrow night, Craig, and I hope you can be in on it," she said. "The men would want you to come, I know." "Sorry," Craig refused. "I can't be at the Bay tomorrow night." His sharp eyes roved over the litter of goods, over the rambling lodge, and came back to her. "What stumps me about this whole business, Miss Wellington, is this—why did Warren ever allow you to take it up? I can't understand that."

"He didn't allow me. It was my own idea. In fact he ordered me to—to—I mean—"

"He ordered you to stop," Craig completed her slip. "Humph! So that's the lay of the land. I'm not exactly surprised. I've been thinking that he's kept you all in the dark."

"About what?" Patricia demanded. "I believe you'd better ask Warren. You ought to be on good enough terms with your fiancée for that. So this was your own idea. Humph! I suppose you're getting a real kick out of it."

"A kick out of what?" "Why, out of taking up a new game and giving it a whirl. The humanitarian game. Being Lady Bountiful to 300 men instead of merely one, Bill Fornier. I'm wondering how long it'll take you to get tired of this new toy and junk it for something else."

Patricia's hope for a kindly word and a little friendship from Craig went crashing. His remarks made her furious. There was a small element of truth in his "Lady Bountiful" charge, and this infuriated her all the more. Once again she lost her temper completely.

Parker who spent the past winter in Austin, and Mrs. Ted Houston of Boise, Idaho, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Oberthier.

Blooming pot plants on the wide porch, and bouquets and baskets of summer blossoms inside formed a veritable flower garden for the occasion. FARM WOMAN RAISES GOOD LETTUCE IN THIS SECTION

From Northwest Texas, county home demonstration agents are reporting the success of frame gardens. Members of home demonstration clubs and 4-H club girls are finding that the small gardens, protected against extremes of temperature, allow intensive gardening which is more successful than ordinary large gardens.

The 28 frame gardens which were built this year in Ochiltree county are still producing kale, radishes, onions and similar vegetables after yielding a rich harvest early in the season.

"My family never enjoyed eating home grown lettuce, but when I gathered it from my cold frame it did not have that bitter taste common to much of the open garden lettuce," Mrs. W. S. Anglin of the Tahoka club of Lynn county, recently told members of her club. Mrs. Anglin has three frame gardens which have a total area of 900 square feet, and has gathered lettuce, radishes, tendergreens, mustard, beans, beets, carrots, cucumbers, okra and onions. From the sale of surplus tomato plants she made enough money to pay for the cost of constructing the frames.

Frame gardens are popular in Castro county, where the Nazareth 4-H girls' club, with 45 members, has 30 cold frames; the Hart club, with 13 members, 11 frame gardens, and the Jumbo club of nine girls, six frame gardens. In several instances, members of the clubs are sisters and have the frame gardens together.

Gamts of tennis at the high school court were enjoyed after the dinner.

Grasshopper Sets Two Boys Afire

A flaming grasshopper, set afire by two small boys, turned on its tormentors recently, and sent one to a hospital, the other to his home suffering from burns.

Authorities said the boys, Walter Rude, 9, and Clifford Snipes, 8, poured gasoline on the grasshopper, carelessly drenching their clothes. They applied a match to the grasshopper. In flames, it leaped into the air, first landing on Walter and then on Clifford.

Walter ran three blocks before he was stopped and taken to a hospital. Clifford ran home and his mother extinguished the flames.

Old Book May Bring $2,000 To Doughboy

Rare book experts in the Congressional Library said recently a priest's prayer book found by a Texas doughboy in a muddy trench during the World War is 500 years old and of a kind sold in auctions at from $25 to $2,000 each.

The book was sent to Representative J. J. Mansfield of Columbus, Texas, by the Rev. Father D. M. Buckley of Port Lavaca, Texas, who said it had been turned over to him by a friend in need. The priest explained the owner was aware the book was of some value, but, unable to read the hard-printed French text, could not estimate its age and worth.

It is believed to have been written between 1400 and 1450, the librarian said.

Mr. and Mrs. Levin Gray and children of St. Louis, Missouri, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Boardman.

Sunday, July 18

HOSPITAL FOR PLAINS
VETERANS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Legionnaires and auxiliary members of the Eighteenth District will bivouac at Miami Sunday afternoon, July 18, to conduct an assault on barbecue and drinks that would make "the watch on the Rhine" look like a noseless bloodhound tracking a weasel.

District Commander Lou Roberts of Borger has issued a rally call to all members to lay sights on this Sunday's affair as it promises to be more fun than an evening in Patee. The Miami members of Pulaski Post, No. 708, will furnish the barbecue and liquors for the many families expected. The event will be staged at the picnic grounds, near the paved highway one and one-half miles east of Miami, beginning at 4 o'clock.

Commander Roberts attests to the prowess of the Miamians in staging such affairs. He says, "This bunch at Miami knows how to put on a barbecue, as some of you already know. Plan now to come to this one."

Families attending are expected to bring well filled baskets in order to add the fruits to the barbecue and beverages.

Serious work of the meeting will be devoted to the latest developments on the Panhandle Veterans Hospital project. A report of the Fifth Division convention will also be given. Judge E. J. Pickens, Canadian, of the 84th Judicial District, will be the principal speaker.

A number of Hereford Legionnaires and Auxiliary members are hoping to attend the picnic and business meeting. A similar meeting by the Eighteenth District Legionnaires.

FOR TRUCKS, TRACTORS, and PASSENGER CARS

HERE'S THE ONLY TIRE THAT GIVES YOU THESE ADVANTAGES!

1. STOPS YOU FASTER... Streamlined tread, made up of hundreds of independent rubber cleats insulated by ribbons of specially compounded white gum, gives maximum tread flexibility; adds amazingly to road-gripping qualities and braking power under all road conditions.
2. STARTS YOU FASTER... The independently acting rubber cleats prevent "initial spin" and give instant traction.
3. ROLLS MORE QUIETLY... The streamlined tread eliminates angles and pockets that cause "tire hum."
4. RIDES MORE SMOOTHLY... The tread gives an unbroken contact with the road surface, insuring positive traction without "bumping action." The whole tire is so flexible that 6-ply SAFTI-FLIGHTS give the sensation of riding on 4-ply tires while affording the greater protection of two extra plies.

Banty Hen Has Double Life In Barnyard

A bantam hen that crows like a rooster is the pride of the Whitefield Poultry yard at Hedley. The bird, disbanding her first brood, is laying again.

Every morning she gathers the bantlings about her and crows for nearly 15 minutes. After that she leaves the brood to shift for itself.

Since assuming her social standing in the chickenlot, she cackles too, which is the more ladylike thing to do.

Women Injured

to the shock is expected to prove most serious from the accident.

Mrs. Troy Moore suffered two serious lacerations; the outside of her right hand was cut through and she sustained a deep gash on her leg. She was also carried to the hospital Wednesday morning when her back was found to be sprained.

Sharon Dee was uninjured. This is the second time she has been in similar accidents recently, having been with her grandfather, M. E. Moore, when a car overturned with them in March.

Mrs. Jeff Gilbreath and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilson were in Amarillo Tuesday. They returned home by Vega where they visited in the home of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Claude Morris.

Sugar Beets

tons of sugar beets to the acre here in 1912, the companies estimate that the yield can easily be boosted to 30 tons to the acre. McDonald shipped two cars, the first testing 18 per cent sugar content, and the second testing 20 per cent sugar content.

S. O. Wilson also planted one-fourth of an acre in sugar beets on his place south of town one year. From the quarter acre he reported that he got five large wagon loads of beets, but did not have the exact poundage.

Sugar beets have always been considered as an excellent crop for this immediate area, due to irrigation facilities and to favorable weather conditions, but producers have refrained from growing them because no market was available to them.

Pulp For Cattle.
Pulp from the beets is also considered excellent for wintering of cattle and the adaptability of this country for cattle breeding and feeding is also expected to greatly enhance the movement, provided tests result in the establishment of a sugar beet factory here.

Miss Gloria Sadler, talented young daughter of Harley Sadler, of Sadler Shows, spent Tuesday night and Wednesday as the guest of Miss Minnie Dea Smith. She joined the show in Friona Wednesday night and was accompanied there by Miss Smith, Billy Smith and J. T. Carroll.

Hospital Notes

Four persons were this week confined to the hospital and each of them was the victim of an accident.

Mrs. M. R. Moore was Thursday morning reported to be resting better and no internal injuries were thought to have resulted from an accident Tuesday, when a car in which she was riding overturned.

Mrs. Troy Moore, in the same accident with Mrs. M. R. Moore, was also greatly improved. She is suffering from lacerations and a sprained back.

Bob Vaughn, who fell from a freight car this week, sustained only minor injuries, and was reported to be resting nicely.

Len Albert Johnson, confined to the hospital with a broken back last week when he fell 30 feet in an elevator, was this morning reported to be resting nicely and showing much improvement.

tion when he finishes the present improvements.

W. W. Hill, who lives north of Hereford, recently caused considerable comment when he "shot" an irrigation well with 50 quarts of nitro-glycerine. The well is 300 feet deep when it was shot, and he believes there is a regular lake at the bottom. The new well is located one-half mile west of his other well.

fertility, which will enable farmers to seed wheat early. Experience this year has taught us that it pays to seed wheat early; most late sowing has developed either black or red rust, which has taken all the vitality from the plant.

"A well balanced farm program is one that practices diversification with livestock. A one-crop system on the average will never pay. When you look around and find a producer with good equipment, he will usually be the producer who diversifies—surrounded by poultry and livestock which naturally calls for the practice."

Suggest Farm Stock.
For the average farm of 100 acres, and others increased in proportion to their number of acres, he suggests 200 chickens, from five to 15 head of dairy cattle, 20 head of sheep, two brood sows, and the marketing of 50 turkeys each year.

Daughters Visit Here.

Mrs. H. H. Gilliam and her twin daughters of Brownwood are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Hennen; Mrs. H. V. Stanton of Denton and her two sons also arrived recently to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Hennen and her sister, Mrs. Gilliam. They expect to return to their respective homes in two weeks.

McFarland Is Recovering From Shot Wound

Maurice McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McFarland of Friona, who was accidentally shot a few weeks ago, is now able to walk and to feed himself.

He walked to the table and took his meals with other members of the family Tuesday for the first time since the accident occurred, and his conditions appears to be steadily improving.

Mrs. Grant A. Fuller returned home Wednesday from Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she visited friends the past two weeks.

Mrs. Walter Zea and two children of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, are visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Cecil Wilkins and family.

DON'T SAY RADIO — SAY ZENITH. McCONNELL ELECTRIC CO. 28

Mrs. George Butter and sons, Jerry Dale and Frederick Walter, are this week visiting Mrs. Butter's aunt, Mrs. A. D. Godwin, and Mrs. Butter's sister, Mrs. V. Jesko.

who was auditor for the old T. & N. T. railroad company, which was later absorbed by the Santa Fe. In 1900 they moved to Hereford, when Mr. Jones accepted the position of agent at the depot here. He continued in this capacity for five years.

A faithful pioneer wife and mother, Mrs. Jones saw her husband elected to the position of county clerk here in 1910. She was a member of the Episcopal church in Amarillo when the little group of early members met in the old court house. After coming to Hereford she attended the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Jones fell last Wednesday while ascending the stairs in her home and broke her left hip when she landed at the foot of the stairs. She was alone on the stairs when she fell, but she was believed to have fallen five or six steps to the bottom of the stairs. Mrs. Helen Pipkin of Stephenville arrived last week to be with her mother, and has remained here since. She and Mr. Jones were both in the house when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Jones had many friends in this section, especially among old timers, who mourn her death, and she was widely known over this area.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Helen Pipkin of Stephenville, and Mrs. A. F. Luce of Los Angeles; three sons, Norman A. Jones of Fort Bliss, J. H. Jones of Waco, and James E. Jones of Hereford.

Interment was made in West Park Cemetery.

Warren Cliff and Paul Probst, who have been harvesting their wheat in this county, returned to their homes in Vernon Monday.
