County tax hike likely

By CINDY POTTORFF
Staff Writer
Deaf Smith County taxpayers can expect an eight percent tax increase next year, County Auditor Alex Schroeter told the Deaf Smith County Commissioner's Court at a budget workshop on Monday.

Stribling said, "I think (county employees) get paid pretty well, compared to other people in the county. But I also understand that it costs more each month to live. I understand that price squeeze, too. People shouldn't live in a box to where they can't advance in their jobs."

The sheriff's department will buy three vehicles instead of four in order to fund most of the cost of purchasing another pickup for the County Extension Office.

The county library now has one such computer terminal, but at peak demand the computer terminal is inadequate to handle use.

Schroeter told commissioners that anticipated county revenues for the 1990-91 budget year will fall $220,006 short of anticipated expenses.

Later, Stribling, along with commissioners Austin Rose and Johnny Latham, voted against giving county employees a pay increase.

The Extension Office uses the pickup, which has 120,000 miles, to haul 4-H'ers to livestock shows, district contests, and state contests, and other purposes.

Commissioner Troy Don Moore then suggested that the commission approach library funding with an "alternative" method of financing.

Commissioner John Stribling asked Schroeter why the county needs to hold so much money in its accounts from one year to the next.

Areas in the county's budget which will increase include insurance, worker's compensation, social security, and retirement for county employees.

Commissioners had trouble deciding whether to fund another computer terminal at Deaf Smith County Library. The terminal would be used as a card catalog, which would access both the local library's selections and the collections of 31 other parhandle libraries in the Harrington Library Center.

The commission will try to finalize the 1990-1991 budget at its next regular meeting, on May 29.

Looking to the future
Hereford High School graduating seniors gathered Sunday night for the Baccalaureate program in the Whiteface Varsity Gymnasium at Hereford Junior High School. The Rev. Sam Lopez Jr., pastor of the Spanish Assembly of God Church, gave the Baccalaureate sermon. The students will meet as a class one last time at graduation ceremonies scheduled at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 3, in the Whiteface Stadium.

City to drill test wells

By CINDY POTTORFF
Staff Writer
Water Industries won a $7,250 bid at Monday night's meeting of the Hereford City Commission to drill four water well test holes.

Commissioner Irene Cantu moved that the city make a $5,000 contribution to the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center. The city donated the same amount to the center last year. The commission unanimously approved the donation.

Lee Street. The federal government will pay $90,000 of the safety crossing's cost, and the state will pay another $5,000.

Although all the commissioners thought that $100,000 is ridiculously expensive to purchase crossarms, all agreed that the crossarms are needed.

McGill told commissioners that test holes for two deep water wells and two shallow water wells will be drilled. Only one of the test holes is expected to be developed into a well this year. That test hole, for a deep well, will be drilled at 13th and Whittier.

Mayor Wes Fisher pointed out that, from a moral point of view, the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center is an organization that deserves the city's support.

After meeting in closed session, commissioners named Joe Kerr, Evelyn Walterscheid, Tom LeGate, Jesse Hernandez and Bartley Dowell to the Golf Course Advisory Board.

Kerr asked the commission to provide a list of all the regulations the city has established concerning the golf course. McGill told Kerr that, as far as he knows, all golf regulations are posted on the first tee box.

TRLA gets budget cut

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Legal Services Corp. board has refused to overrule an administrator's decision to cut $150,000 from Texas Rural Legal Aid's 1990 funding.

Legal Services president Terrance Wear last week said he was cutting the funds because TRLA gave "imprudent" assistance to the Veterans Peace Convoy in 1988.

The board did not act Monday on TRLA executive director David Hall's appeal to restore the cut funds.

The only board member from Texas, Blakeley Hall of Rockwall, suggested that only $20,000 be cut from TRLA. Her motion was rejected and the board took no further action, Boehm said.

David Hall said last week he would argue for an independent review of Wear's decision. Such a review was the main topic of Monday's board discussion, Boehm said.

Beef exports could improve

COLLEGE STATION (AP) - American cattle producers must take advantage of global trends if they are to sell more beef to the swelling world population, the head of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission said.

"With 90 million new mouths to feed every year for the next decade, that is like adding about 3 1/2 new Canadas to the world every year," Wilson said.

But even in Eastern Europe, where political shifts away from Communism could usher in potential buyers of U.S. commodities, tapping the new markets will depend on the availability of Western credit and aid, Wilson said.

Wilson addressed Monday's opening session of the three-day National Conference on International Cattle and Beef Marketing at Texas A&M University.

The first deduction in TRLA's 1990 grant of $4.4 million will occur next month unless some other action is taken by the Westlaco-based law firm, Legal Services spokesman Ken Boehm said.

The board went to court when border officials in Laredo refused to grant permission to cross into Mexico. A Laredo judge ruled that the government could not stop shipments of humanitarian aid. The Justice Department dropped an appeal.

Wear questioned the convoy's financial eligibility for TRLA's legal assistance. Hall said TRLA represented people who were assisting the convoy, not the convoy itself.

Congress established Legal Services Corp. in 1974 as a private, non-profit organization to administer federal money to organizations that give legal assistance to the poor. It was given $316 million this year to distribute among 324 organizations, Boehm said.

TRLA gets about 98 percent of its funds from Legal Services, Hall said. Losing $150,000 will force the agency to put off filling four attorney vacancies, he said.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

A letter mailed to some Deaf Smith County citizens a couple of weeks ago encouraging votes for a slate of candidates in the Deaf Smith County Hospital District on May 5 may not have violated state laws, but it didn't make some unsuccessful candidates happy.

Frankly, it's also offensive. If you did not receive one of the letters, you must not be one of the "good, fair-minded citizens of Deaf Smith County, who are interested in the welfare and future of Deaf Smith General Hospital."

A slate of Craig Smith, Boyd Foster, Diane Hoelscher and John Perrin, was endorsed in the letter dated May 1. It was signed by three of the then-hospital board members: retiring directors Frank Zinser Jr., and Marjorie Ford, and current board president Ralph Detten. The letter is also signed by Randy Tooley.

Tooley signed his name as a "citizen." Zinser, Ford and Detten signed their names as "board of directors."

On May 7, Ron Ducek of the state attorney general's office said the letter probably wasn't illegal unless it was reproduced or mailed at taxpayer's expense. Ducek also said that although a majority of the board acted on a board-related issue, "I can't see it as a violation of the Texas Open Meetings Law even though it was a majority of the board at the time the letter was signed."

The letter did not have a "disclaimer" on it. The disclaimer should appear on any type of political advertising including letters saying who is paying for the printing and distribution.

There were business cards distributed endorsing the same four candidates. At the bottom of the cards was printed: "Sponsored by Committee For Responsible Public Officials & Better Government...Frank Zinser -Chairman."

On May 1, there were only five members of the board. Smith and Raymond Schroeder were the other members at the time the letter was signed. Dr. Trow Mims was not appointed to the board until May 10, meaning a majority of the hospital board signed the letter pushing the election of the four candidates.

All except Hoelscher were elected to the board in Saturday's election. Dr. Stan Fry Jr. was the other successful candidate.

The letter said:
 "Dear Friend,

"Just a brief note to all the good, fair-minded citizens of Deaf Smith County, who are interested in the welfare and future of Deaf Smith General Hospital. We would like to recommend the following candidates for board of directors:

CRAIG SMITH
 BOYD FOSTER
 DIANE HOELSCHER
 JOHN PERRIN

"The elections are being held this Saturday, May 5 at the Hereford Community Center. We feel comfortable in supporting this slate of candidates to look after the best interest of the citizens of Deaf Smith County in conducting the affairs of the hospital."

One unsuccessful candidate said, "I didn't like it a bit." The candidate became aware of the letter on Friday evening. The candidate said the letter "may not have been illegal, but it was inappropriate for a majority of the board to sign on, endorsing these candidates, especially signing the letters as board members."

I don't have a problem with anyone endorsing any candidate or group of candidates, a position or positions. It is our right (in fact, a responsibility) to do that. I think it's not good for that position to come from a governing body, especially from a majority of that governing body. If the letter had simply been signed as "citizen," like Randy Tooley did, than it would have been easier to stomach.

As for being good and fair-minded, I would say there must be more of those than the 200 or so who received the letter.

Those good, fair-minded citizens should also know that the "new" board may have already violated the state's Open Meetings Law. The board held an "orientation" meeting for the new board members on May 14, the day before the regularly-scheduled board meeting. The meeting should have been posted just like any other board meeting. It might have been very good public relations for the old board members and administration at DSGH to include the media in the orientation, to let us also know the problems.

After all, DSGH is a public hospital, and its operations must be above board in all concerns.

Contributions for Sacajawea

Johnny Trotter, left, and Brent Caviness, right, Hereford representatives of The Outfit, present a $500 contribution to Margaret Formby, director of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Hereford. The contribution from the group, which benefits western heritage in the Panhandle area, will be used to help purchase a large bronze of Sacajawea for the Sacajawea Room at the CHOF. Mr. Caviness was mis-identified in Sunday's Brand, and the Brand apologizes for the error.

Tailor-made antibodies can stop melanoma's spread

WASHINGTON (AP) - Tailor-made antibodies can dramatically reverse spreading melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer, when injected directly into the tumors, researchers say.

The work, though still in its preliminary stages, suggests that it may be possible to stop the disease by harnessing the body's own built-in defenses.

Antibodies are among the body's principal weapons for fighting off a variety of foreign invaders, including cancer. In this case, scientists crafted human antibodies in the test tube that were specifically targeted against the cancer. Then they injected them into cancerous growths on victims' skin.

"The lesions dry up and regress," said Dr. Donald Morton, director of the John Wayne Surgical Oncology Clinic at the University of California, Los Angeles.

In initial studies, Morton and colleagues gave the injections to 28 people whose melanoma came back after initial surgery. In 18 of them, the shots caused partial or complete disappearance of the growths.

The doctors injected three different kinds of antibodies. Each recognizes a different chemical structure that is unique to cancer cells.

The antibodies latch onto these chemical structures, marking the cancer cells for destruction by other patrolling white blood cells. To the researchers' surprise, they found that the cancer patients began making more of these antibodies on their own.

Morton presented his findings Monday at the annual meeting of the American Society of Clinical Oncology.

Lewis takes win at Memphis TSHSRA; Noland, Gomez place

Regina Lewis of Hereford extended her lead in the season bending standings Saturday, winning the event at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association rodeo in Memphis.

Lewis had a winning run of 20.829 seconds and added a pair of seventh-place finishes in barrel racing and goat tying to total 12 points in the all-around standings. Lewis clocked a 18.190 in the barrels and a 12.009 in goat tying.

Among other Hereford competitors, Burt Noland finished fifth in steer wrestling and sixth in ribbon roping while Mickey Gomez placed twice in team roping.

Noland threw his steer in 12.810 and posted a 11.114 in ribbon roping. Gomez paired with Canadian's Marty Nicholson for second place in team roping with a time of 7.049 and added an 11.181 with Jerry Don Thompson of Channing for seventh.

Channing's Dawn Bleiker claimed the girls' all-around title with 24 points while Dewayne Evans of Canadian topped the boys with 16 1/2 points.

Blendon-Hill claim HLGA Partnership

The Blendon-Hill team shot a 65 Saturday to win the Championship Flight of the Hereford Ladies Golf Association Partnership at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Blendon-Hill scored a six-stroke win over McWhorter-West with Klein-Lamberson third in the flight at 72.

In the First Flight, Pfahl-Gowdy took top prize with a 71 followed by Swope-Rasco at 73 and Galbraith-Adair at 74.

Buckley-Simons won the Second Flight by shooting a 75 for the 18-hole event with Goforth-Albracht, Hays-Teeters and Rice-Silor tying for second one shot back.

The Third Flight went to Marsh-Barrett with a 79 while George-Burks was second at 80. Whitehead-Stringer and Wiseman-Mason shared third place in the flight at 86.

Blakey-Jones shot a round of 84 to win the Fourth Flight by a stroke over Kreigshauser-Walterscheid with Charest-Scott third at 89.

Magic named MVP of NBA

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Lunch? A news conference? Sure, Magic will be able to make it.

He's a man with lots of free time, much to his displeasure.

The Los Angeles Lakers' Magic Johnson, his basketball playing over for the season, was officially to be named the NBA's Most Valuable Player today.

David Stern, the league's commissioner, will present Johnson the trophy for the second consecutive year - and third time in four years - at a news conference at the otherwise quiet Forum.

The award will be given to Johnson between the first and second games of the Western Conference final, same as last year. But unlike last year, Johnson and the Lakers aren't involved.

Although the Lakers had the league's best regular-season record this year (63-19), they were eliminated in five games by the Phoenix Suns in the conference semifinals.

Johnson said he didn't know what he was going to do for the next month, since he hadn't planned to be off work so early.

Ironically, Lakers coach Pat Riley earlier received the NBA's Coach of the Year honor for the first time. So the Lakers had the league's coach and MVP of the 1989-90 season, yet were eliminated from the playoffs the earliest since 1981.

Johnson, however, did have an MVP-type season, as recognized in the voting by 92 media representatives in 27 cities.

The Lakers announced Monday that he had won the award, but results of the balloting were not immediately released by the league. The deadline for turning in media ballots was the final day of the regular season.

Charles Barkley of the Philadelphia 76ers, Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls, Karl Malone of the Utah Jazz, Patrick Ewing of the New York Knicks, Akeem Olajuwon of the Houston Rockets and David Robinson of the San Antonio Spurs were expected to be among the other top vote-getters.

Johnson averaged 22.3 points, 11.5 assists and 6.5 rebounds per game this season and averaged 25.2 points in nine playoff games.

Weiss headed for Hawks

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Weiss, who won only 59 of 164 games in two seasons as head coach at San Antonio, apparently is the next coach of the Atlanta Hawks.

The Hawks, who finished 41-41 this season and missed the playoffs for the first time since 1985, called a press conference to officially announce the hiring today.

Cable News Network, which is owned by Hawks owner Ted Turner, confirmed on Monday night that Weiss would be hired.

Weiss, who was fired as coach of the San Antonio Spurs after the 1987-88 season, replaces Mike Fratello.

"It seems you slouts have ferreted everything out," Weiss said at the Atlanta airport late Monday. "I'm looking forward to the challenge" of taking over the Hawks. "It's not like starting over."

Hawks president Stan Kasten said over the weekend that Weiss and New Jersey Nets vice president Willis Reed were the two finalists for the job. Reed, however, withdrew his name on Monday and was named senior vice president of the Nets.

Weiss said the demands of the game have changed the job description of an NBA head coach.

"For so many years, the stereotype was for a rarer and rarer. But our season is too long for a galley slave driver," Weiss said. "You're a man among men, and you go by how you can get it done."

By missing the playoffs, the Hawks won a berth in the NBA draft lottery, but had only one ping-pong ball among 66 in the drawing and finished with the 11th pick in the first round of the draft.

After his retirement as a player in 1977, Weiss spent two years as an assistant to Gene Shue with the San Diego Clippers. In 1980, he became an assistant with the Dallas Mavericks, where he stayed until he was named head coach of the Spurs in 1986.

"He's a very good man," said Angelo Drossos, former managing partner of the Spurs.

Drossos said if it hadn't been for the Spurs' financial problems, Weiss still would be coaching the team - which made the greatest turnaround in NBA history this season, going from 21 victories to 56.

The Spurs went all the way to the seventh game of the Western Conference semifinals before losing to Portland in overtime Saturday.

Weiss "wasn't successful in terms of wins and losses, but he was in a building stage," Drossos said. The Spurs drafted David Robinson while Weiss was coach, although they knew he couldn't play until this season.

"I sold the team and Red McCombs bought it, and he brought in Larry Brown and let Bobby go," Drossos said. "He wasn't against Bobby. He wanted to bring in Larry Brown. He had to do something."

"He was buying the team and he went out and got the NCAA champions" coach. Brown had coached Kansas to the NCAA title.

Weiss began his career as the third-round draft choice of the Philadelphia 76ers in 1967.

A native of Nazareth, Pa., and a graduate of Penn State, he was the 25th overall selection in the draft.

He played 12 seasons for six NBA teams, reaching the playoffs nine times.

A veteran expansion player, Weiss was chosen by Seattle and then Milwaukee in expansion drafts. He also played for the Chicago, Washington and Buffalo.

Pistons need to start playing a little prettier

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Pistons may have to play prettier basketball tonight to beat the Chicago Bulls.

On the other hand, the Pistons might be able to continue winning ugly.

Detroit held opponents to a league-low 98.3 points during the regular season, the sixth-best ever in an 82-game schedule. But defense had little to do with the Pistons' 86-77 victory in the opener of the best-of-7 Eastern Conference final on Sunday.

It was just plain ugly.

"That was the game they should have won," Detroit guard Isiah Thomas said. "We played poorly on offense, we missed open shots, which is uncharacteristic for us."

Detroit shot 42.3 percent; Chicago shot 37.8 percent. Detroit missed eight free throws and turned the ball over 16 times; Chicago had only seven offensive rebounds and turned the ball over 10 times in the second half.

It doesn't get much uglier than that.

"We didn't play very well at all and we won pretty convincingly," Thomas said. "I think that's a good sign."

The Pistons, bidding to become only the third franchise in NBA history to repeat as champions, always seem to bring out the worst in Chicago.

"I don't think there will be many beautiful offensive games in this (please see PISTONS, Page 5)

AL's meek muscling up on leaders

By The Associated Press
The meek may not inherit the earth, but they're making noise in the American League.

The Seattle Mariners, who have never had a winning season, scored eight times in the ninth inning, seven off Milwaukee reliever Dan Plesac, and beat the Brewers 9-4 Monday night.

"There is no way obviously this team gave up, no way at all," Seattle manager Jim Lefebvre said.

The Detroit Tigers, who finished last in the AL East a year ago with a 59-103 record, didn't wait until the ninth inning. They scored eight times in the second, including home runs by Lou Whitaker and Lloyd Moseby, and withstood three Kansas City homers to defeat the Royals 11-6 for their seventh straight victory.

"We've got some power," Manager Sparky Anderson said. "We'll hit a lot of home runs, but we have to keep the other guys from hitting so many."

The Chicago White Sox, last in the AL West a year ago at 69-92, remained 2 1/2 games behind the world champion Oakland Athletics with a 6-5 victory over the New York Yankees, scoring all their runs on homers by Dan Pasqua, Robin Ventura and 42-year-old Carlton Fisk.

"We're trying to go with young people here," Manager Jeff Torborg said. "But Carlton Fisk is a special player."

Elsewhere, it was Oakland 4, Toronto 1; Minnesota 7, Baltimore 3; Boston 4, Texas 2; and California 5, Cleveland 3.

Seattle trailed Milwaukee 4-1 entering the ninth. But Darnell Coles, Harold Reynolds, Jeffrey Leonard and Ken Griffey Jr. hit RBI doubles off Plesac and Edgar Martinez, who singled to start the inning, capped it with a two-run homer off Paul Mirabella.

Milwaukee got six shutout innings from Teddy Higuera, a solo homer by Glenn Braggs and Dave Parker's two-run double before the roof fell in. Reynolds' two-run double tied the score and Henry's Cotto single put the Mariners ahead.

The Mariners were 0-17 when trailing after eight innings and Plesac came into the game with a 2.25 ERA - it's now 5.71 - and eight saves.

"I've had worse nights than this, but I never gave up seven runs before," Plesac said.

Bryan Clark (1-0) was the winner in relief of Seattle starter Brian Holman. Clark pitched the final 12-3 innings for his first major-league victory since Sept. 10, 1985.

Tigers 11, Royals 6
The Royals led 2-0 on Gerald Perry's first-inning homer and Jim Eisenreich's RBI double in the second. But Moseby walked to start the bottom of the second, took third on Larry Sheets' single and scored on Tom Gordon's wild pitch.

Jeff Robinson (4-3) got the victory despite yielding six runs and seven hits.

White Sox 6, Yankees 5
Fisk greeted Lance McCullers with a three-run homer in the seventh inning to erase a 4-3 deficit.

Pasqua's solo homer in the third and Ventura's two-run shot in the fourth, both off Andy Hawkins, helped Chicago wipe out a 3-0 deficit.

Athletics 4, Blue Jays 1
Jose Canseco hit a three-run homer in a game featuring a bench-clearing incident. The A's and Blue Jays have had several altercations during the past year, including a fight between George Bell and Gene Nelson last May. This time, Todd Stottlemyre (4-5) came inside to Rickey Henderson on the second pitch of the game, causing both benches and bullpen to empty. No punches were thrown.

Twins 7, Orioles 3
Kent Hrbek and Dan Gladden homered as Minnesota notched its 14th victory in 18 games this month after a 7-12 April. The Twins got all the runs they needed in the first inning off Bob Milacki (1-3).

Minnesota starter David West was replaced in the fifth by Mark Guthrie (1-0), who allowed only three hits in 4 1-3 innings.

Red Sox 4, Rangers 2
Wade Boggs capped a three-run seventh inning with a two-run, two-out single as Boston handed Texas its 12th loss in 15 games. Mike Boddicker (6-3) allowed only three hits.

Texas rookie Brian Bohanon allowed just three hits, including a solo homer by Ellis Burks in the fifth.

Angels 5, Indians 3
Johnny Ray doubled home two runs in California's three-run third inning and Bert Blyleven (2-3) got his first victory in Cleveland since Sept. 15, 1985.

Rookie Jeff Shaw (1-1) took the loss.

Mets meet, snap slump

By JIM DONAGHY
AP Baseball Writer

After Howard Johnson held his meeting in the clubhouse, Kevin McReynolds assembled one at home plate.

Before Monday night's game at Los Angeles, Johnson called a players-only meeting to discuss why the New York Mets had won only one of their first six games on the West Coast.

"Some of these teams are going to pay because we're going to start playing much better," Johnson said after the meeting.

McReynolds hit a grand slam to highlight an eight-run third inning as the Mets routed the Dodgers 12-3.

"I believe in meetings if it produces that," Manager Davey Johnson said after his offense recorded season highs in runs and hits with 14.

Dwight Gooden (3-3) was the beneficiary of the Mets' biggest offensive showing of the season. Gooden allowed three hits and two runs in five innings to improve to 11-1 lifetime against the Dodgers.

He was pitching on a sore middle toe on his left foot sustained Saturday night when catcher Mackey Sasser accidentally placed a chair on the pitcher's foot.

"Warming up, I was favoring it a little bit," Gooden said. "I didn't really want to follow through on the toes. When I got two outs in an inning I went through with it, but I just favored it the rest of the game."

Elsewhere in the NL it was Cincinnati 4, Chicago 3; Atlanta 6, St. Louis 5; Philadelphia 5, San Francisco 2; and Houston 3, Pittsburgh 2 in 11 innings.

Darryl Strawberry got it going for New York in the second inning with a towering leadoff homer to right, his fifth of the season and first since May 6. "We talked about the things we needed to do as a team," Strawberry said. "We had been more concerned about other things than what we should be doing with the talent that we have on this ballclub. We probably all felt like it was time that we started playing like a championship ballclub."

Reds 4, Cubs 3
Cincinnati made five errors but managed to beat Chicago at Wrigley Field as Todd Benzinger drove in two runs.

Jose Rijo (3-1) gave up six hits and three runs - one earned - before leaving with one out in the seventh. Randy Myers got the last three outs for his eighth save.

The Reds, trailing 2-1, rallied for three runs in the fourth against Greg Maddux (4-3) on Benzinger's RBI double, an error by shortstop Shawn Dunston allowing a run and Chris Sabo's run-scoring single.

Braves 6, Cardinals 5
Jim Presley's RBI double with two out in the ninth inning lifted Atlanta over visiting St. Louis.

The Braves hit four home runs, including solo shots in the sixth inning by Dale Murphy, Ernie Whitt and rookie Francisco Cabrera.

Ron Gant opened the ninth with a single off Scott Terry (0-3) and moved to second on a sacrifice. After Lonnie Smith struck out, Presley won the game.

Joe Boever (1-2) earned the victory with one scoreless inning.

Astros 3, Pirates 2
Houston rookie Eric Anthony hit a home run off reliever Ted Power (0-2) with one out in the 11th inning. Juan Agosto (2-1) pitched two innings for the victory after replacing Jim Deshaies.

The Astros tied the score 2-2 in the bottom of the seventh when Franklin Stubbs hit his fifth home run on a pitch from starter Doug Drabek.

Phillies 5, Giants 2
Lenny Dykstra had three hits to hike his major-league leading average to .405 and scored the game-winning run.

Terry Mulholland (3-1), a former Giant, allowed two runs in 5 2-3 innings. Marvin Freeman pitched 2 1-3 innings and Roger McDowell finished for his 10th save.

The Phillies scored three runs in the fifth to snap a 2-2 tie. Dykstra, Tom Herr and Von Hayes hit consecutive singles to put the Phillies ahead 3-2 with none out in the fifth, chasing Scott Garretts (1-4) for Jeff Brantley. After the runners advanced on Jordan's fly to center, Randy Ready grounded a two-run single past diving shortstop Jose Uribe.

Blazers hold off Suns

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - They were unlikely heroes.

Kevin Duckworth, who broke his right hand three weeks ago, made the game-winning basket.

Danny Young, a slender, unassuming backup point guard, blocked Phoenix's last shot, giving him five blocks for the season in more than 1,500 minutes.

As a result, the Portland Trail Blazers escaped with a 100-98 victory over the Suns Monday night in the opener of the Western Conference finals.

"We didn't play very smart down the stretch," Portland coach Rick Adelman said. "That's very obvious. We should have controlled the game better than we did."

"But what I liked about it is defensively we did what we had to do and then Duck made the big shot."

It was a matchup between the weary and rusty, and the weary won. Portland was playing just two days after concluding its emotional seven-game conference semifinal series against San Antonio.

The Suns hadn't played for six days after upsetting the Los Angeles Lakers in the other semifinal.

"Our execution was rusty. We weren't real sharp," Phoenix coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said. "But give Portland credit. They played hard and they got what they needed to win at the end."

After his team took the home court advantage away from Utah and the Lakers, Fitzsimmons wasn't shaken by the two-point loss. He looked optimistically to Game 2 Wednesday night.

"We'll be fine," he said.

The Suns shot just 41 percent from the field and their big guns, Tom Chambers and Kevin Johnson, were inconsistent.

Chambers scored 29 points but missed several open shots. Johnson scored 20, but made only two of 12 from the field after the first quarter.

Portland led most of the game, but never by more than eight points.

The Suns, who lost in Portland for the 18th straight time, took an 87-86 lead early in the fourth quarter on Jeff Hornacek's 10-footer.

The Blazers regained the lead and were up 98-93 on Clyde Drexler's soaring, one-handed rebound basket with 2:59 to play.

Two Portland turnovers opened the door for Phoenix. Hornacek scored on a drive, then Chambers tied the score at 98-98 by converting a three-point play with 1:09 remaining.

After another Portland turnover, the Suns had a chance for the go-ahead basket, but Johnson missed a layup.

For its game-winner, Portland went to a pick-and-roll play it has used "a zillion" times, Duckworth said.

Terry Porter drove to the basket, and Duckworth headed for the baseline. When Duckworth's defender, Mark West, moved to stop Porter, the Portland playmaker got the ball to the 7-foot center, who sank a wide-open eight-footer with 17.3 seconds to go.

"He's phenomenal," Portland's Buck Williams said. "The man came back with a broken bone in his hand. He's playing on a lot of courage right now. That's all he's playing on."

Duckworth, who missed six games before returning in the seventh game of the San Antonio series, said the play has been a reliable one.

"We've won a lot of games with that play," Duckworth said.

Porter said the play is the same one the Suns love to run.

"West came my way and I was just able to get the ball to Duck and he shot the ball with a lot of confidence," Porter said.

Phoenix's final possession was anything but perfect. Eddie Johnson wound up with the ball and, as he was falling down, he knocked it to Mike McGee, who seemed open.

But Young, who is listed optimistically at 6-foot-4, got his hand on the shot, Williams saved the ball from going out of bounds, and Portland had the victory.

"When (McGee) shoots the ball he puts it right in front of his face," Young said. "Eddie Johnson fell down and I was trying to get to the ball and I saw McGee was wide open and I thought 'Oh no.' But I was able to get to him and get my hand up in time."

Drexler scored 20 to lead the Blazers. Jerome Kersey added 19 points, 13 in the third quarter. Williams scored 16.

series," Thomas said. "We're just too accustomed to each other for things to break clean and easy for either team."

During the regular season the Bulls averaged 109.5 points per game, but just 97.8 points against the Pistons. Michael Jordan, who won his fourth consecutive NBA scoring title with an average of 33.6 points, could manage only a 26-point average in five games, four of them losses, against the Pistons.

"We play them five times a year in the season. We've met them the last three years in the playoffs," Thomas said. "We aren't going to fool or trick each other. We've seen their plays and know them, same as they know ours."

Chicago coach Phil Jackson said the first game resembled a rugby match more than a basketball game. It was hard to argue with him.

Each team was called three times for illegal defense and there were long periods when neither club could score. The game was 2:08 old before the first points were registered; Detroit went scoreless for a 3:08 stretch of the second quarter, Chicago went dry for the first 3:23 of the third.

"Man, we're already tired of each other," Detroit's John Salley said. "One game and I don't want to see them again. But we will. It's a drag, but we'll go banging with them again."

The heavy-duty banging, which put Jordan on the floor with a bruised hip, seemed especially distracting to Chicago's two rookies, Scacey King and B.J. Armstrong.

King, a power forward, averaged 10.8 points and 4.2 rebounds in 20.8 minutes against Philadelphia in the second round. Armstrong, a guard who played in high school at nearby Birmingham Brother Rice, averaged 5.4 points, allowing Jackson to rest Jordan occasionally against the 76ers.

But in the first game against Detroit, King was held to six points and no rebounds in 21 minutes. Armstrong scored just four points and turned the ball over five times.

Because of competition from the World's Fair, the record crowd for any one event in St. Louis in the 1904 Olympics was only 2,000.

It was estimated that Japan spent $560 million in staging the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

Back spasms force Ryan onto 15-day DL

BOSTON (AP) - The slumping Texas Rangers got more bad news when they learned that ace pitcher Nolan Ryan will not be back on the mound until at least June 2.

Ryan was placed on the 15-day disabled list Monday, retroactive to last Friday, because of continuing back problems. That means Ryan will not be available until June 2 when the Rangers host the California Angels at Arlington Stadium.

Manager Bobby Valentine has penciled Ryan into the lineup near that date.

Ryan continues back therapy in Clear Lake near Houston, but he said progress is slower than he had hoped.

"I can't see myself improving," Ryan said. "Until I see some improvement, I can't go out and throw seven quality innings. I don't know what time frame we're dealing with, but I know when I come off (the DL), I can throw seven quality innings."

Valentine said he had some trouble convincing Ryan to go on the disabled list.

Ryan originally planned to start throwing today to prepare to start Friday night at Detroit.

Valentine said being on the disabled list also forces Ryan to have adequate rest to heal the injury he tried to pitch through for three starts. At times during that period he said the pain was less severe than it was.

"I hope like heck he's ready to pitch this Friday and we still can't pitch him," Valentine said. "That way, we'll know he's going to be ready when he's off the DL."

Ryan left after five innings of a start on May 11 against Cleveland with spasms in his lower back. He pitched again last Thursday against Detroit but was again bothered by back problems.

This is Ryan's ninth assignment to the disabled list in 23 seasons. The last was in 1986, when he twice was sidelined by a sprained ligament in his right elbow.

Ryan, baseball's career strikeout leader, is 4-2 with a 5.28 earned-run average in eight starts. He was 0-2 in the his last four starts.

The Rangers plan to promote a minor-league reliever unless they are able to make a trade for a middle relief man. Brad Arnsberg of the team's Class AAA team at Oklahoma City is considered to be the best candidate for promotion, but Valentine said the decision will take some discussion.

Ryan was scheduled to see his chiropractor today for treatment and examination. He will continue therapy and might join the Rangers in Detroit later this week.

Valentine said he would prefer that Ryan stay at home in Alvin so he can continue treatment and therapy.

"He's such a competitor that no one wants to be out there more," Valentine said. "This way, we know he'll take the extra time he needs. The plan all along was to have him ready to play for the long haul of the rest of the season."

Moss guest speaker at sorority meeting

Members of the Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently in the SPS Reddy Room with Shelly Moss presenting a program on "The Image You Project". Moss, director of the Hereford Outreach Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center, gave statistics on the local program and discussed self-image of others.

Marge Bell presided over the meeting with 23 members and three guests repeating the opening ritual. Guests included, special adopted sister, Billie Brown; guest speaker, Moss, and Kathy Hafziger's friend, Tammy.

Appreciation was extended to Secret Sisters, Barbara Cochran, Ruby Sanders, Susan Shaw, and Susan Cardinal by Hafziger. Mother's Day cards went to Marge Bell, Pene Coplen, Holly Bixler, Melinda Whitfill, and Linda Arellano. Arellano expressed appreciation for the birthday gift and sympathy cards. Appreciation was forwarded to those who attended the ritual for Tonya Setliff.

Peggy Hyer reported that new city council officers were Ruby Lee, president; Denise Hafziger, vice president; Lynda Brown, recording secretary; Rose Marie Robinson, corresponding secretary; and Danell Culp, treasurer.

Treasurer Deann Harris reminded everyone to have all bills turned in by June 15 for payment.

Kay Williams, program and yearbook chairman, collected yearbooks and covers. Information on Setliff was distributed.

President-elect Gaye Reilly distributed the list of 1990-91 committees and chairmen and gave chairman of ways and means, social, and service committees some suggestions offered by other members.

The scrapbook committee presented the year's scrapbook to Marge Bell. Names were drawn for new secret sisters.

The closing ritual and Mitzpah was given. Bunco was played and a gift exchange featured revealing the identity of secret sisters for the past year. Billie Brown was given a special gift.

Officers and new officers will meet Tuesday, June 5, to discuss next year's budget and this year's "yardstick" information.

Refreshments were served to Bell, Hafziger, Paula Todd, Setliff, Reilly, Whitfill, Harris, Arellano, Bixler, Sharon Bodner, Cardinal, Cochran, Coplen, Culp, Hyer, Carol Kelley, Connie Matthews, Sanders, Shaw, Williams, Ronna Dicus of Friona, Melinda Henson and Kathy Hafziger.

Draper, Duncan present program on Piper Northern

The Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met recently with Argen Draper and Virgie Duncan presenting on program on Piper Northern.

Piper Northern, a not-so-regular kid, has a liver disease. The eight-year-old child underwent two liver transplants. She always radiates sunshine to everyone. The Meadowlark Church of Christ raised funds to help on the expenses.

Audrey Rusher served as hostess and read an article for everyone born before 1945 as an opening exercise. Roll call was answered by members answering "How I Cheer Myself".

Members suggested paper twist dolls and other crafts and food for future programs.

The club will hold a salad supper luncheon in the home of Mary Stubblefield on June 7. This will be the closing spring club meeting.

Members present were Dorothy Lundry, Stubblefield, Marcie Ginn, Camillia Jones, Beverly Brooke, Carol Odum, Coreen Odum, Pet Ott, Draper, Duncan, Clara Trowbridge, Brenda Rusher and Louise Axe. Wynemia Wheeler, a former member, attended as a guest.

Keating receives degree

Molly Ann Keating of Hereford graduated from Carroll College in Helena, Mont. May 12 with a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education.

Keating was among 222 students who received their degrees from Carroll President Dr. Matthew J. Quinn at commencement in the P.E. Center on campus.

Carroll College is a four-year, Catholic, diocesan, liberal arts college in the ecumenical tradition of the Second Vatican Council.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: This lightly edited conversation took place between a doctor and his patient. The woman had seen another physician because of dizziness, fainting spells, tremors in her head and hands, and depression. The symptoms mimicked Parkinson's disease. She had been ill for five years.

"Are you taking any medication?"
"No. I have been off medication for three years."
"Are you on painkillers?"
"No."
"What about relief from depression? Do you take anything at all?"
"Oh, yes. I take Valium."
"How much do you take?"
"Usually three or four pills a day. If my depression is really heavy, I will take five."
"What strength?"
"Full strength."
"How long have you been taking Valium tablets?"
"Maybe seven or eight years."
"Why did you take them in the first place?"
"I had been feeling depressed about a family problem, and my doctor gave me the prescription to make me feel better."
"Did you get a separate prescription each time you wanted a refill?"

"Oh, no. The pharmacist telephoned my doctor, and he authorized a refill over the phone."
"Did you report the fact that you were taking medication regularly to the neurologist that you consulted for your tremors?"
"The last doctor I went to did ask me that question."
"And did you tell him you were taking Valium?"
"No. I didn't."
"Why not?"
"Because Valium isn't really medicine. Isn't it something like vitamins?"
"No. Valium is medication. Surely you must have known this when your doctor gave you a prescription for it."
"Not really. I guess it was so easy to renew the prescription that it didn't seem like medicine."
That conversation is from an excellent book I recommended several weeks ago, "Head First" by Norman Cousins (published by Dutton).
This exchange points out how dangerous it can be for a doctor to authorize a refill for a prescription on the phone. It also illustrates how vital it is for a physician to ask questions and not assume that the previous doctor was competent. For example, Valium is a tranquilizer, not a drug to be used for depression.

I checked with Dr. Richard Rovner, a professor of neurology at Northwestern University Medical School. He said, "The long-term use of any medication can cause unusual symptoms and should continue only under close observation and periodic in-person visits. Sudden withdrawal, however, can be dangerous. No patient should take medicine or stop taking it without professional consultation."

Gem of the Day (Credit Susan Peters, Eastham, Mass.): Children have a much better chance of growing up if their parents have done so first.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Gems," is ideal for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collection of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.87.)

Competing in pageant

There were 83 girls who competed in the annual Little Miss Hereford Pageant which was staged Saturday in the Hereford High School auditorium. Judging the event, sponsored by the Women's Division, were Melanie Gruhlkey of Happy, Barbara Tabor of Amarillo and LaRona Maxwell of Borger. Co-chairmen for the pageant were Karen Keeling and Jackie Murphey. The event was open to all girls from ages four through-ninth grade.

Between the Covers

BY REBECCA WALLS

The best-selling author Robert Graysmith enthralled us with another true-crime story about a serial killer. Sleeping Lady: the Trailside Murders Above the Golden Gate is the story of David J. Carpenter who few people considered to be threatening. Nearsighted, afflicted with a terrible stutter, given to intense rages, a salesman of cheap trinkets, David is found to be unpredictable and the Trailside killer who terrorized San Francisco and most of the rest of Northern California. A series of rape-murders began in 1979 and lasted until his capture three years later.

Missing young women, a coven of avenging witches, a pair of blood stained glasses, an elusive .38 caliber revolver, a "mystery" .44 caliber gun, a discarded knife, and a gold-yellow jacket became pieces in the intricate puzzle that involved the FBI and the law enforcement agencies of Marin County, San Francisco, Santa Cruz, San Jose and Daly City. On July 12, 1960, David Carpenter offered his friend Lois De Andrade a ride to work. On a pretense of taking Lois by to see his new born infant David drives aimlessly through increasingly secluded areas. Lois noticed an "odd lilo" in David's eyes and became really nervous.

When Lois tried to get out of the car as it came to a halt David stopped her, opened the glove box, took out a knife and rope. "David, What's the matter with you? You're my friend" Lois pleaded wanting to know what was happening. David reached under the seat and pulled out a hammer. In despair Lois looked up and noticed a car on the road above them. Reaching the horn Lois was able to scream for help as she struggled out of the car. When help arrived David seemed oblivious to anyone presence as he continued to strike Lois with the hammer.

On April 12, 1961, David Carpenter was received into federal custody at McNeil Island beginning a 14 year prison term. After refusing parole in 1964, the authorities "were forced" to release David when his mandatory parole date was reached on April 7, 1969. Cheryl Lynn Smith will be the next victim.

Joan Quigley's book "What Does Joan Say? : My Seven Years as White House Astrologer to Nancy and Ronald Reagan tells of the influence she had in the creation of major U.S. Policy. Ms. Quigley's advice affected the timing of the Presidents important speeches, to the day, hour and minute of his departure on Air Force One. Her influence was instrumental in the Presidents historical shift from viewing Russia as the "Evil Empire" to accepting Mikhail Gorbachev as a leader who sought peace and reconciliation.

"Joan, you have been a very important part of this administration" "Nancy had put into words what I already knew" said Ms. Quigley.

"This book will describe what I did as an astrologer for seven years of the Reagan administration. The very last word Nancy Reagan said to me if asked about sensitive matters was, 'Lie'." For the sake of history and to set the record straight Ms. Quigley reveals the entire and startling truth about her time in the White House.

Some of the fiction titles available this week are:

Impulse by Catherine Coulter is about the beautiful Rafaella Holland who puts her successful newspaper career on hold when her mother is left in a coma following a suspicious car accident.

"G" is For Murder by Sue Grafton is a Kinsey Millhone mystery. Kinsey Millhone is a "wonderful character, tough but not brutish, resourceful and sensitive"... "a lady detective with class and sass." Kinsey's grit is tested to the utmost as she unearths the gruesome truth about a long-buried betrayal and comes face-to-face with the grisly fact of her own mortality.

The Gold Coast by Nelsom Demille is set on the north shore of Long Island among the collection of Gatsby-esque grand estates. John Sutter, a partner in a distinguished law firm, finds his life turned up side-down when the neighborhoods newest resident, Frank Bellarosa moves in. Bellarosa, the head of one of New York's most notorious crime families, overcomes all in his path with cook savagery and an odd irresistible charisma. John finds himself defending Bellarosa in a sensational murder trial.

Baccalaureate held

Baccalaureate was held Sunday evening in the Whiteface Varsity Gymnasium at Hereford Junior High School. Entertainment was provided by Mary Varner who sang "Wind Beneath My Wings." The Rev. Samuel Lopez Jr., pastor of the Spanish Assembly of God Church, gave the Baccalaureate sermon and the benediction was given by the Rev. James Peach of Westway Baptist Church. Hereford High School graduation ceremonies will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 3, at Whiteface Stadium.

Public invited to meeting

The public is invited to hear Adrienne Buckley of Brook Park, Ohio speak during the Hereford Chapter of Flame Fellowship meeting at 7 p.m. today in the Community Center.

Getting acquainted now can make life easier when time of need arrives.

Now, a single policy with double protection.

Imagine a life insurance policy that protects your family's future in more than one way. Suppose it also protected you from the financial consequences of long term health care while you're living, without reducing the life insurance benefit.

That's the policy our independent agency recommends for many customers thinking about retirement. It's called the Total Protection Plan from the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several we represent. It's the first policy that pays the full cash value or death benefit of your life insurance even after you receive long term care benefits.

To learn more about the policy that protects you now and in the future, give us a call.
