

Our New Teachers Awarded Contracts in Hereford Schools

ROUND TOWN

The new clerk at the Popular Store is Carl Oldham. He was hired to fill the vacancy left by George McLean, who was forced to quit in order to go to school.

The office of the Deaf Smith County Clerk proudly announces the acquisition of a new marriage license record book, and it is now starting a "Buy Your License in Hereford" campaign. So far there is only one entry in the new book. The license issued to Wesley Williams and Miss Catherine Oxford, who have the distinction of being the first to take out a license from the new book. Attendants in the clerk's office say the book is guaranteed for twenty years.

Mrs. Dyaltha Bradley, of the County Welfare Bureau, announces that there still exists an urgent demand for shoes in order that children may start to school with them. Donations arising from the notice issued in The Brand last week have been insufficient to meet the needs of those requiring shoes, and the County Welfare Operator asks that all those who can bring shoes, especially children's shoes, to the bureau office in the court house.

Joe Ballinger and H. H. Boardman have already harvested a record potato crop this year, and they still have plenty of spuds to sell. Mr. Boardman and his sons have adopted a special sack in which they put their potatoes to sell. This sack has "Hereford No. 1 Potatoes" on it, together with the name of the producer. Buyers come right into the field and do their own loading. Often they pay for an entire load before it is even dug, in order to be sure that they get their share of these fine potatoes to take to market.

Donkey Baseball Game Scheduled By Lions Here

The hilarious sport of Donkey Baseball will again attract the citizens of Hereford, next Sept. 14. The game will be played at night on the softball field. The Lions and the Fireboys have signed up for battle.

Those who attended the donkey game last year will remember the great fun they had in watching the efforts of man and beast to co-operate in a pinch. People are still laughing over some of the incidents that occurred in that game. Plans are not complete yet, and a definite line-up has not been announced. Those who expect to play are already beginning to get into shape, though. Just the mention of a donkey baseball game guarantees a good time for all concerned.

Joint Meeting Of Missionary Societies Here

The Missionary Societies of all the Hereford churches will meet with the Baptist Society at the Baptist Church, next Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Conkright will speak on "Churchwomen and the Church." Mrs. E. Coombes will talk on "The Church's Message to the World Today." After a discussion, there will be a social period. The women of all the churches are invited to take part in this vital discussion.

H. M. Redford Awarded Degree From Chicago

The congregation of the First Christian Church will welcome its pastor, Rev. H. M. Redford, back in the pulpit next Sunday morning. The pastor has been at the University of Chicago for the past five weeks, engaged in graduate study in the department of Theology of that institution. He has attended the summer session of Chicago University for several years. He graduated from Texas Christian University, and obtained his degree of Doctor of Divinity from that institution in 1931. Since that time he has been doing reference work for his Master's degree in the University of Chicago. The degree will be conferred on him before his return to Hereford next Sunday.

The weekly auction at the Sale Pavilion Tuesday, was one of the snappiest in recent months, according to Ray Barber, manager, who said that not near enough cattle had hogs were consigned to supply the demand.

Weekly Auction To Feature Only Livestock Sales

Buyers from long distances were present, including butchers, farmers, shippers and buyers. The livestock demand was reported better at this time than in recent years. "We are weeding out the small miscellaneous items and devoting the sale to livestock," Barber said. "Selling small items has been objectionable and we are cutting it out. Plenty of good buyers will be on hand for livestock next week."

August 31 Set As Deadline On 1939 Crop Wheat Insurance Applications

Four Years Is Sentence For Cattle Thieves

Quite a bit of local sentiment was brought out in the trial Wednesday of three men for cattle theft. No jury was ordered in this instance, but the hearing attracted more general interest than probably any of the other cases tried this term. Decision of the court was made August 9, by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, which administers this service.

T. P. McCollister, the Crop Insurance Supervisor for our county, in giving the foregoing information to this paper, tells us that he will keep open, until midnight, on Wednesday, August 31, if necessary, his office at the County Agent's office in the court house. Mr. McCollister tells us that up to August 11, "about 75,000 applications had reached the County Supervisors in the Winter Wheat (Continued on Page 12)

A rain that flooded the fields with five inches of water in about an hour's time fell on the farm of J. A. Roe, 12 miles west on the Harrison Highway, last Sunday. The deluge was accompanied by hail that beat the row crops to the ground.

Mr. Roe said the rain fell for about an hour, and it looked as though it covered a wide area. Hail damage to row crops was so intense that complete destruction of the entire crop was reported.

O'DANIEL'S ACTION IS EXPECTED TO CREATE INTEREST IN POLL

The second primary election on next Saturday brings Hereford voters to the polls to decide only three local races. One of these is the county clerk race, and the other two are commissioner races. State run-off contests are not expected to draw a very large vote from this county.

Greatest interest is expected to center on the county clerk's race, and the largest vote is forecast for this race. A total of 1,685 votes were cast in this race in the first primary; Leonard Foster led with 629 votes, Robert Thompson came in only 45 votes behind with a total of 584, and Ray Conaway trailed with a total of 452 votes. The second primary will decide between Mr. Foster and Mr. Thompson. Mr. Foster is the present officeholder, challenged by Mr. Thompson.

The remaining races in this county are for the commissioners of Precincts 1 and 2. Noah Ewton and Troy Moore are matched in the race for Precinct 1, and T. W. Roberson and George Brumley will face the decision in Precinct 2. The candidates in both of these contests were separated only by a few votes in the first primary. Noah Ewton led in Precinct 1 with a poll of 214 votes; he was trailed by Troy Moore with a close second total of 178, only 34 votes less than Ewton. In Precinct 2, the story was almost the same. T. W. Roberson, incumbent, led with 296 votes, while G. W. Brumley came in a close second with a total of 178.

The capture of the men and the recovery of the cattle occurred Friday at Sweetwater. The cattle were stolen and hauled off in trucks.

Diphtheria Can Be Stopped Only By Immunization

AUSTIN, Texas — "Few conquests of science have been so spectacular and complete as those relating to diphtheria. Science has firmly established the value of serum treatment in both its preventive and curative phases. However, toxin-antitoxin or its successor toxoid for immunization and antitoxin for cure, are serums of which the general public is even yet not fully aware," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"As indicated, toxoid is the immunizing or preventive agent now usually employed. However, three or four months are required for the body to develop immunity. At that time the Schick test can be applied to determine the results of the preventive treatment.

"Children should receive diphtheria immunization as early as possible, preferably as soon as they are six months old. The necessity for this immunization is recognized when it is known that two-thirds of all deaths from diphtheria occur in the age group under six years.

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that to deprive children of this protection science has made possible is to subject them to unwarranted and unnecessary hazards that can easily turn into a tragedy. Parental interest in immunization must be more widespread, if the Texas death rate from this disease is to be decreased from the 1937 total of 267.

"When a child has been taken ill with diphtheria, antitoxin is the only treatment that will have its life. Also, to be effective, it must be given early in the illness and in large doses. Delay is usually caused by parents failing to realize that any sore throat may actually be diphtheria.

I knew you were all my friends, but it is a help to be reminded of that fact.

Survey Shows Good Results From Plowing On Contour

FARMERS FIND CONTOUR OFTEN IS DIFFERENCE THAT MAKES CROP

AMARILLO, Texas—Crooked row farming, or plowing around the slope instead of straight up and down the hills, is paying big dividends to farmers of the Great Plains area in increased yields, reports from Soil Conservation Service demonstration areas show.

Contour tillage, supported by terraces when the slope and soil type make structures necessary to prevent loss of water by run off, holds practically all the water on the land where it falls, and allows the moisture to soak into the ground to aid in growing crops.

The value of this conserved and stored-up moisture is being directly reflected in increased crop yields. Last year in the Littlefield, Lamona and Memphis demonstration areas of the Soil Conservation Service many farmers reported yields of from 25 to 50 per cent greater as a result of using contour farming methods.

A survey in the Dalhart area last fall revealed that contour tillage aided by terraces increased grain sorghum yields more than 50 per cent on all except the sandier soils, and that contour tillage without terraces increased yields 25 per cent over fields cultivated in straight rows.

Last year, C. R. Walsler harvested 60 bushels of grain sorghum to the acre on a field in the Hereford area, which had failed to produce a crop for several years before contour farming and terracing were adopted. In the same area, O. Wilder this year harvested 23 bushels of wheat from his terraced and contour-tilled field, while a straight-row field in the same area produced only 4.5 bushels to the acre. Last year, Max Blau harvested 17 bushels of wheat to the acre on the terraced and contour-tilled portion of his yield near Perryton, while straight-row portions produced only eight bushels to the acre.

In dry years, farmers are finding that contour tillage often means the difference between a profitable crop and a complete failure. Of great importance, the Soil Conservation Service technicians point out, is the fact that crop residues and trash provide protection to the soil during the period of high winds.

"By holding all the available water on the ground where it falls, farmers of the wind erosion region are able to produce crops which will stabilize their land against blowing and aid in checking dust storms," says H. H. Fennell, director of the Service.

Contour Rows Conserve Water

Contour tillage supported by terraces where necessary, holds practically all the water where it falls on the land and permits moisture to soak into the soil for use of growing crops. Residues and trash from crops provide effective protection from wind erosion. Contour rows in this field on a Soil Conservation Service demonstration project are full of water several hours after a heavy rain.

The Balance Wheel of Banking

Efficient banking laws and regulations, periodic bank examinations, sound financial organization — these have an important bearing on the safety and service of banks.

But in the final analysis, the "balance wheel" of banking is able, honest and experienced management. Without it, a bank cannot render maximum service to its community.

It is our constant effort to provide such sound management for this institution. On this basis—as a sound, well-managed bank—we invite you to make full use of our services.

THIS TAVERN OBSERVES THE LAWS

When you drink Beer in a tavern... choose your tavern

WHEN YOU restrict your patronage to legal, respectable retail outlets, you not only encourage those better outlets but you've made a start toward driving out the bad spots in your community.

And that is exactly the aim of the great body of honest retailers of beer who, along with the brewers, recognize that Beer's only problem is to remove the anti-social conditions that sometimes surround its sale. Existing laws can curb these evils. Help us by demanding their strict enforcement! Sales to minors, or after legal hours... or use of a beer license as a screen, for selling illicit liquor or for operating an illicit resort... all these are violations of the law and should be stopped. Public opinion, once aroused, can see that such practices are stopped!

STORY HOUR COMES TO CLOSE

For three months interested children have been getting an extra two hours of wholesome training and entertainment twice each week, all because Miss Lillie Hostetter, librarian, and Mrs. Velma Dawson planned a "Story Hour" for the summer months.

No special type of story was stressed at any time except the long story of Robin Hood which, after studying the characters and their mode of dress, the children dramatized. A contest was engaged in, when the boys dressed like Robin Hood and the girls like Maid Marian, and awards were made to Duane Tice and Bayliss Lee for the best costumes.

Mrs. Dawson has conducted the Story Hour, assisted by Bettye Cockrell. If weather conditions were good the group gathered on the court house lawn, but sometimes the 30 or 40 youngsters who regularly attended, would almost fill the county court room.

Last Friday evening as a climaxing reward of attendance, Mrs. Dawson entertained the group with a jolly hayride to State Park followed by a picnic supper and marshmallow roast.

The Rockwell TUBA

Published Once in a While by ROCKWELL BROS. & CO. Lumbermen

Stack 2—Piece 10 Hereford, Texas Thursday, August 25, 1938

The lawyer for the defendant was waxing eloquent. Everyone hung on his words.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he said, "I ask you, where could the prisoner have hidden the ring? The arresting officer has told you he searched the man. The ring was not in his pockets; not in his shoes—no, not in his clothes. Then where was it hidden?"

As he paused for the dramatic effect of his words, Rastus spoke up.

"Please, suh, boss, Ah put it in my hat."

Every time we load a truck full of gravel, we wish we had an overhead bin so that all we'd have to do would be to let down a chute, open a trap door and let'er slide. We've often wondered why farmers build their grain storage in such a way as to require shoveling in and out. And now comes Joe Evans who is building an overhead granary to store ground feed. It is built so he can blow the ground feed in and when he wants a load, all he has to do is drive up along side of it and let the force of gravity do the work.

Have you noticed Emil Herr's truck garden out in west Hereford? He and Andy Godwin was running a race to see which one can raise the most truck on an acre of ground. Emil was in and bought some posts and smooth galvanized wire for the grape vines he has started.

There's a lot of work to getting a place in shape to handle cattle properly, but Colby Conkright has certainly made a big improvement in the corrals and fences on the ranch he acquired early this year. He was in the yard this week for lumber to make gates for his crowding pens.

Arch Conklin repainted all the outside woodwork on the residence of E. Ramey, 504 Schley Ave., this week. Needless to say, BPS Paint was the material chosen by Mr. Ramey to protect his investment.

That Hereford has a housing shortage is something no one will deny. But most people only think of that condition in terms of how annoying it must be to those who want a place to live and can't find it.

There is more to it than just that.

We believe that the most important fact about it is that there are thousands of days of labor needing to be done right here in Hereford and Deaf Smith County, all bottled up, doing nobody any good, as long as the housing shortage exists.

The Government is using up huge sums of money to spend on public works designed to put men to work. That money has to come from you, whether you are rich or poor. No one escapes. It goes to Washington where it is sent out all over the country. No doubt we will all derive some benefit from these public works. But the point is, we have always had the power to put men to work, and to get from our money direct results that we can see and use every day.

What is there about a dollar that the government spends that is any more magical than the dollar you spend? It won't buy any more. Chances are you yourself are a much better purchasing agent with your own dollar than the government is with the dollar it has taxed out of you. The dollar of yours the government spends is supposed to have the great government buying power behind it, but the government has to take another dollar away from you to pay the cost of collecting the first dollar.

Now say you decide to build a house. You hire your own men. You buy your own material and see that you get your money's worth. You finish your job and it's yours—yours to use and enjoy every day from now on. Your material man replaces the stock you have bought and thus creates more jobs at the mills. Increased consumption of the things we raise produces a better price so that our people can enjoy things they have been doing without.

You, multiplied by all the shortage of building can get us started back to prosperity. Which is better, a housing shortage in Hereford while our money is being spent on public works, or you spending your own money for new homes with everybody living in decent surroundings?

He took her hand in his and gazed proudly at the engagement ring he had given her only three days before.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired, tenderly.

"They did more than that," she replied. "Two of them recognized it."

The City of Hereford has built a good sized garage and workshop down in the vicinity of the pumping plant. This structure also contains a private den, or office, or something for Onias Carroll.

Loran A. Wells, principal of the Messenger School, has hopes of some day retiring from the teaching profession to take up farming. He is having Bill Gentry build him a 20 by 30 poultry house in sections that are bolted together, so that the structure can be taken apart when he gets ready to move it, and then put together again whenever he wants to set it up.

Earl Springer believes that this cheap feed can be made to bring a good price by feeding it to hogs. He has been in the yard lately buying lumber for farrowing pens and other equipment for raising hogs.

"John, I'm sure I heard a mouse squeak!"

"Well, do you want me to get up and oil it?"

The preacher was out on the golf course and thought a small moral lesson might not be amiss.

Minister (mildly): "I notice that the players who get the lowest scores are not those who swear."

Gloomy Golfer (as he dug another slice of turf): "What the he—I have they got to swear about?"

Have you checked over your buildings to see how many Tuba Fours you need to put them in first-class shape?"

With the Second Primary close at hand, I wish to take this means of expressing my appreciation to those who have supported me in my race for District and County Clerk of Deaf Smith County.

Because district court has been in session since the First Primary, I have been busy in discharging the duties of my office, and have not been able to make the type of campaign I had hoped to make. I know, however, that you are more interested in my filling my office properly and have devoted my time during the past month to this duty.

Because I know that I can fulfill the office efficiently, and because I have endeavored to do so cheerfully and courteously, I feel that in asking your vote, I am offering you experience and qualified service.

Again, I wish to thank you for the courtesies extended me in this race, and in event of re-election, to promise you continued fulfillment of the office in a qualified manner which will meet with your approval.

HEREFORD

BULL

By Jimmie Gillentine

Nearly two weeks ago I got back from the first real vacation I have had in six years. Vacations are mighty nice at the time, but I was sure glad to get back to Hereford.

It looked for a while as if The Brand was going to have to put on a regular correspondent at Lake City, Colo. At one time I counted 17 people from Hereford who were there fishing and enjoying mountains. In fact when the Lake City people find out that you are from Hereford, they shoot you plenty of questions about their friends here. The natives of Lake City are unusual, and one of the outstanding is Mike Pavich. Mike knows all of the answers. He was born in Vienna, Austria, and has lived in Lake City 11 years. He has many friends here, and a trip to Lake City is not complete until you know Mike and Mrs. Mike.

Most everyone in Colorado or New Mexico who catches a glimpse of your license plate wants to get the inside dope on Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel. I guess the situation is the same all over the United States.

I don't know about the central and east parts of Texas, but out in this country O'Daniel's endorsement of candidates for the run-off races seems to be flaring back. I have heard a lot of people say that they voted for O'Daniel, but that they won't vote for a single one of the candidates he has endorsed. Down in the thickly settled parts of the state, however, where there are lots of Mexican voters and people who give less thought to their ballots, it may be a different story.

Because politics include the reactions of so many people, it is hard to tell just what will happen.

There is one single factor which is coming to mean more and more in politics—and that factor is voice culture. The experts say that in 1940 we will be voting for a voice, rather than for a man. I believe this is just about the truth. Roosevelt has used the radio successfully; W. Lee O'Daniel and his Hill-billy Boys are also radio artists. It looks like a boom in the profession of Auditorium. When I went to school, they called it Elocution, then it got to be Expression along about when I got into high school—and now they call it Auditorium.

Already scores of politicians are flocking to the voice teachers for instruction in preparation for the coming election.

Just one plug for my friend, Gerald C. Mann, and I will definitely get off the subject of politics. I knew Jerry Mann when he waited tables in the boys' dormitory at S. M. U. Jerry was a fine, honest boy when I knew him and his record has been outstanding since he got out of school. I really don't know any more about his legal qualifications for the office of Attorney General than you know—but he is honest and don't know when to quit fighting. I furthermore expect Jerry Sadler to carry this county next Saturday in his race for railroad commissioner.

Frank Marrs, Paek London and several others were telling me the other day that all of the bass below Buffalo Dam, near Unbarger, are dying and coming to the top of the water. Most of the live water is above the dam, and it seems the fish can't live long in dead water.

The faithfulness of a dog, though an age old topic, never fails to fascinate me. The other morning I saw Gene Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts, in a store drinking a soda pop. Out in front of the store, wedged against the door, was "Coaly," his big, black bird dog. I have no doubt that Coaly would give his life for Gene if such became necessary. I once knew of another instance similar to Coaly's attachment to his young master, and when the lad grew old enough to have dates, his dog still insisted on going with him.

Perhaps neither of the boys will ever know a truer friend than their dogs—and certainly the dogs live a more complete life than any other of their kind.

Home Demonstration News Notes :-

By SADIE LEE OLIVER
Deaf Smith C. H. D. Agent

"Everything is up to good stand except the beets," reported H. B. Hinton on August 18, when asked about the frame garden planted August 4. This seems to prove again that good gardeners are those who take a chance. The vegetables planted were cool season ones such as tender greens, cabbage, lettuce, both summer and winter radishes, and beets. The plot is 4 1/2 by 20 feet. The walls are of old boards in good condition, four on the farm. The cover is of two widths of thin muslin. It is near the windmill for convenience in watering with a sprinkler can.

A spent hot bed was planted as a frame garden at the home of Mrs. O. Benson on August 17. The muslin cover has a wide hem through which a narrow board is run. On this board the cover can readily be rolled off and on the same garden. Four varieties of large radishes were planted, as well as other more usual vegetables. A part of plantings was made for later identification of new plants. A chicken barbecue initiated the turnip built as a part of her home project in yard improvement by Evelyn Benson. Of course, she credits her father, F. C. Benson, with the actual construction work. She plans a weiner roast for a large crowd at an early date.

"It is 5 1/2 by 20 feet," stated Mrs. Ray Coleman of Messenger, when asked for the size of her frame garden being planted at the Home Demonstration Club meeting on August 11.

Nails driven through the side walls at an angle with the points outside, hold the canvas cover in place. This cover is two widths of thin muslin with half inch hems along the sides and one end. The narrow hem is nailed securely to the frame. The long side hems are hooked over the nail points. The other end has a wider hem in which is inserted a stiff but light-weight pole on which the cover is rolled off the frame garden on pleasant days or when vegetables are harvested.

Quick maturing leafy vegetables should be planted in soil into which three or four inches of well-rotted cow manure has been dug. Such vegetables are (1) tendergreen, a mustard mild in flavor due to its low sulphur content. (2) Chinese cabbage, also low in sulphur content and superior to all others for use in slaw and salads. It may be thinned and used as greens at any stage. (3) Shogoin turnips which grow so uprightly as to be termed "lice proof." (4) Lettuce, (a) leaf varieties as Grand Rapids, prize taker, Black Seeded Simpson; (b) head varieties of which New York No. 12 now rates first place. Big Boston, and Iceberg have long been favorites.

McCORMICK-DEERING GRAIN DRILLS now featuring

All-Steel Hoppers

THIS important advancement in McCormick-Deering plain grain drills assures remarkable accuracy and long life. The hoppers are made of rust-resisting, heavy-gauge steel containing copper. They will not sag, warp, split, or rot. Combined with the all-steel, bridge-type main frame, they hold the feeding mechanism in proper alignment. The hopper lids are divided, and are water tight and grain tight. Grain can be poured into the hopper without any of it spilling on the ground.

The fluted force feed and double-run feed mechanisms have also been improved, and roller bearings are now placed in the fully enclosed end axle boxes for light draft.

The McCormick-Deering drill line includes a wide range of sizes, with fluted force feed or double-run feed, to meet every requirement. Semi-deep and deep-furrow drills are available in the line, and there is a variety of furrow openers fitting practically all soil conditions.

See us for your drill needs.

Library Made Over

Another change in the teachers itinerary has been made in the case of Miss Stacia Irene Crawford, senior English and Public Speaking teacher, in order to allow her more time to devote to the management of the new and enlarged library that was installed this summer. The new library accommodations were added to correct a grave defect in the system. The old space given the library was not even half enough to allow good work on the part of the students or careful cataloging of the volumes. The new arrangement has incorporated about half of the old study hall in the new library, and library accommodations for a fifty per cent increase in enrollment now exist. Miss Crawford's teaching duties have been decreased considerably in order to allow her sufficient time to give sufficient management to the new library.

The complete list of instructors in the various courses offered, as announced by Knox Kinard, follows:

High School

G. M. Hudson of Hereford, principal, Spanish, occupations and physics; Irene Crawford of Prairie Grove, Ark., English and public speaking; R. A. counties, the highway patrol and inspectors for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association aided Ranger Captain R. C. (Red) Hawkins and Ranger R. E. McWilliams of San Angelo investigate the case. The Rangers left Amarillo late Friday.

Four men were arrested and charged with cattle theft last week, and four had been caught and charged with the same crime the week before. In these arrests, 67 head of cattle have been recovered and 60 of them have been identified. Most of the cattle were stolen around Hereford and Adrain although some were stolen farther down in the state near Brownwood.

Officers said the cases involved the biggest wave of cattle rustling in Texas in the last 20 years.

date in each of the six run-off races for state offices. This action is entirely without precedent in the history of Texas politics, and an acute interest and concern as to its effect on the races involved has grown up as a result of it. From this standpoint, the decisions manifest in the second primary will be a direct measure of the political support enjoyed by Mr. O'Daniel from the electorate and also an indication of the power he can be expected to exercise in managing the political affairs of the state as its governor. Everyone is agreed that if all the candidates endorsed by Mr. O'Daniel win, he will enter office with more support from the people and with more political power than has ever been the case with any of his predecessors.

Deaf Smith County is one of the three counties in Texas in which O'Daniel did not lead at the polls in the first primary. The other two counties with a similar story, are Potter and Dallam.

In a speech over a wide radio hook-up, O'Daniel endorsed Coke

R. Stevenson for lieutenant-governor, Walter F. Woodul for attorney general, Richard Critz for associate justice of the supreme court, Harry Graves for an unexpired term as court of criminal appeals judge, C. V. Terrell for railroad commissioner, and Bascom Giles for land commissioner.

The following candidates face a run-off election for state and district offices in the second democratic primary next Saturday: Pierce Brooks and Coke R. Stevenson for lieutenant-governor; Gerald C. Mann and Walter F. Woodul for attorney general; Richard Critz and W. H. Davidson for associate justice of the supreme court; Harry N. Graves and James A. Stephens for an unexpired term as court of criminal appeals judge; C. V. Terrell and G. A. (Jerry) Sadler for Railroad Commissioner, and William H. McDonald and Bascom Giles for land commissioner.

In the third congressional district, Lendley Beckworth and Brady P. Gentry are matched, while Ed Gossett and W. D. McFarlane are contestants in the 13th district.

stolen from Easter, McDonald offered no resistance to arrest, Cox said. Patton and McDonald were placed in jail at Hereford, and no plans were announced to take them back to Amarillo for further identification.

The men were accused of stealing a $335 plow from J. C. Newton, Castro County Farmer, last July. They had sold the plow, and Louie Johnson, Amarillo Real Estate man who is also a notary public, had taken notice of the bill of sale when the plow was sold. The plow had been recovered.

this area is the fact that freight rates are considerably higher here. The freight rates cause the loans which might originally have been made on a parity basis to become discriminatory because the net loan rate paid is the original figure set less the charges for freight, handling, etc. Consequently, Jones asserted that the loans were not being made in accordance with the 1938 agricultural adjustment act, which was supposed to allow for the difference in freight rates.

In his request to Wallace, Jones said that one of the first duties of the new freight rate division should be an application for drastic rate reduction in the export freight rates from the Panhandle and Southwestern area to Houston and other Gulf ports.

community affairs. He was a member of the Baptist Church, of the Hereford Lions Club and of the American Legion, having served a short time in the United States Army during the World War.

Mr. Major's friends in this area were many, and they pay tribute to him as being a good citizen and a man whom they were proud to have as a friend and associate. He always had a cheerful word for those he met, and although a successful business man, he also found time for recreation and association. Mr. Major was ever willing to devote his time and efforts toward the welfare and improvement of the community.

In addition to Mrs. Major, he is survived by one brother, John C. Major of Groom, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. G. W. Standifer of Clifton, Texas, and Mrs. J. B. Roy of Goodnight, Texas.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock, Monday, August 27, at the Park Cemetery.

Interment will be made in West Park Cemetery.

Killer Of Dr.

They had lived in Amarillo four years before coming to Hereford.

The confessed kidnaper said he lured the doctor from his office on the pretense of an emergency call and then demanded that he write a ransom note to his wife, because he wanted something better than homespun clothes. Konyon said he shot the doctor in self defense, but the court held that such a statement was untenable, because Dr. Davis was shot five times in the back.

Dr. Davis was called from his office on January 26, 1937. Konyon was arrested on February 5, and the following day, after long questioning, he led police to a pond near U. S. Highway 63, south of Pomona, Mo., where they found Dr. Davis' body.
