Sights and Faces Seen

The words "Pioneer Day" were on the lips of practically every person in the community this week as each planned to take part in some particular event of the day. Gay decorations, flags and streamers were placed Tuesday afternoon across streets, and in many business firms.

It was in connection with the big celebration that John Kropff made his appearance over the radio Monday. The Man-on-the-street announcer saw Mr. Kropff's whiskers and wanted an interview. Before it was over Mr. Kropff made a dandy talk and gave the celebration some good advertising.

Word was also received that Mr. and Mrs. Mont Baker left Fayetteville, Ark., Monday enroute to Hereford to attend the celebration.

Tandy Legg, principal of the Summerfield School, is one of the community's most patriotic citizens. He has a Bluebonnet blooming in the school room.

Residents who live in the northwest part of county and the area adjoining are complaining about the large amounts of trash and cans which are being dumped along the roadside. Many of the ladies are planting trees, shrubs and flowers—and state that persons frequently dump trash near the improvements. (Continued on Page 10)

Bateman Visits College Station To Rush Checks

Following a trip to College Station last week, County Agent A. R. Bateman reported that officials said that government checks for this county will be delivered as soon as possible.

At the present time 1,150 applicants for payment are on file in the offices at College Station, Mr. Bateman reported, which represents practically all of the applications for this county.

"More than 150 employees in the state office are out, because of a flu epidemic," Mr. Bateman said, "and for this reason checks all over the country have been slow to arrive. However, we have been assured that Deaf Smith checks will be given attention as rapidly as the office can handle them."

Mr. Bateman again left Wednesday morning for College Station in an effort to get the checks here as early as possible.

GEO. MUSE GRAPPLES WITH THIEF, BUT LOSES GRIP

A series of minor burglaries over this community were almost solved Monday night—and then Geo. Muse lost his grip on the leg of an intruder in his home.

Late Monday night Mrs. Muse was disturbed by a noise in her room and perceiving an intruder, screamed. Her screams awakened Mr. Muse just as a man dashed through his room and started out through an open window. Mr. Muse jumped up and grabbed the man by the leg. He was holding on for dear life, but the intruder made a lunge and broke loose. A survey disclosed that he had taken Mr. Muse's billfold containing $3 or $4, and two sets of keys, all from his trouser pockets.

Irrigation Of New Crops To Be Reviewed

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO ATTEND MEETING HERE—FRIDAY NIGHT

Featuring a program of talks by local farmers who have specialized in different irrigated commodities, the Deaf Smith Irrigation Farmers Association will hold their regular monthly meeting in the district court room Friday night, May 12, beginning at 8 o'clock.

"Every farmer in this community, along with business men, landowners and other interested persons are invited to attend the meeting," said J. B. Stoker, president of the organization. "We believe that the program Friday will be one of the best ever held here, because it features the experiences of our neighbors who have faced the same problems we will face in attempting to grow the same crops."

S. O. Wilson will speak on "Irrigating Alfalfa"; Alfred May will talk on "Irrigating Wheat"; Joe Ballinger on "Irrigating Potatoes"; Bonnie Brumley on "Irrigating Grain Sorghums"; and Glenn Boardman on "Irrigating Beans."

All of the speakers are recognized for having made a success in irrigating the crops which they will discuss, and leaders of the Association feel that actual stories from men who have grown the crops in this territory will prove invaluable to others who might consider balancing their farm programs with new crops.

In their talks Friday night, the men will relate the cost of growing each of the crops, the plant— (Continued on Page 10)

MOTHER FINDS BABY SAFE IN OWN BEDROOM

Mrs. H. D. Reed is a woman who knows the agony through which mothers have gone when their babies were kidnapped.

Monday she was busy in the back of her home and had placed her one-year-old daughter, Bertella, on a bed in the front room. Twice she thought she heard the baby cry, and left her work to find the cause. When she entered the bedroom the baby was gone!

Screaming and hysterical, she called to her neighbors that the baby had been kidnapped and then returned to the bedroom. She discovered Bertella at the foot of the bed, covered with a spread which she had pulled over as she fell. Mrs. Reed tenderly recovered the child and with a sigh of relief discovered that it suffered no injuries.

As to Bertella, well, nothing's too good for her now.

Rural communities over this territory have also indicated that they will turn out almost 100 percent for the event. The Hereford Schools and most rural schools over this area will dismiss today in order that students may attend the celebration.

Big, Free Barbecue
Due to the fact that some persons are mistaken regarding the big, free barbecue to be held in City Park, directly east of the Main Street bridge, the committee today definitely stated that every person is invited to attend and take part in the big feed; however, it was pointed out that children must be accompanied by some adult. Persons in this immediate area were also invited to bring salads and cakes, since no provisions have been made for these two items.

George Cloyd and his crew of helpers started cooking the seven prime beaves Wednesday afternoon, and were high in their praise of the fine quality of meat donated. Pink Gilliland also has a big job in preparing the 100 pounds of beans which were donated by local grocery firms. Arrangements have been made for 350 pullman loaves of bread, 10 gallons of pickles and plenty of onions. Coffee will also be served.

The program for the occasion has been previously printed in The Brand, and it was pointed out that persons desiring additional programs may secure them by coming to The Brand office Thursday morning following the big parade.

Special music during the entire day will be furnished by the Hereford High School band, Junior band, the Amarillo Golden Sandle Band, West Texas State College band of Canyon, and the Clovis High School band. According to present plans all of these bands will also take part (Continued on Page 10)

County Opens 'Hopper War'

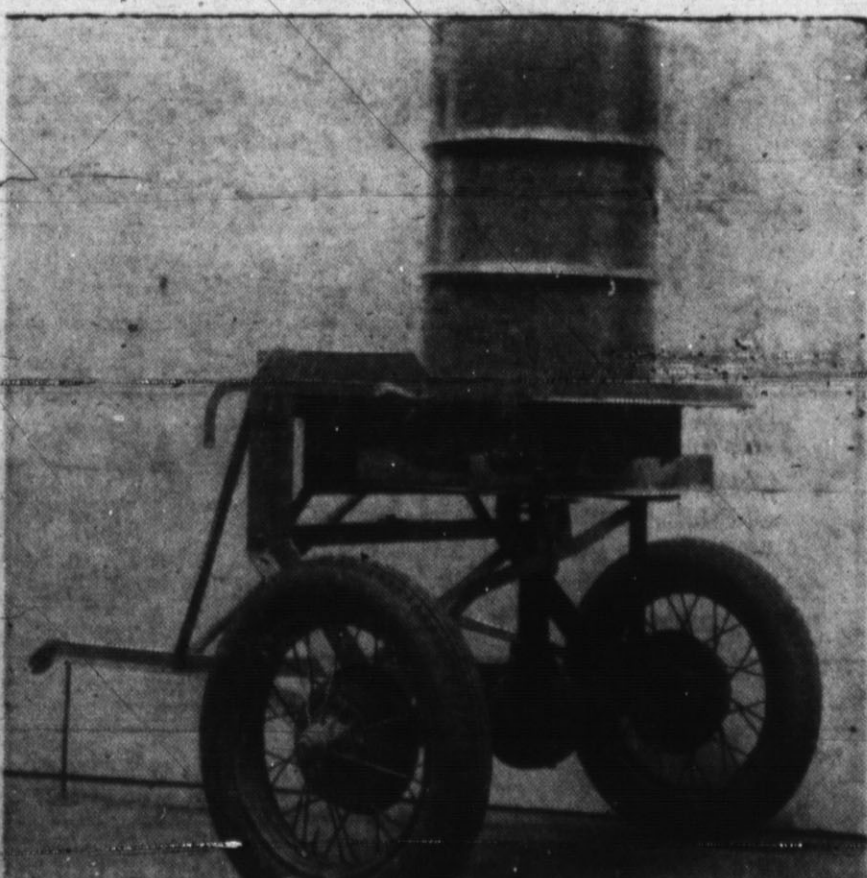

MAY 15-16 SET FOR INSPECTION DAY; BAIT TO BE DELIVERED

In addition to their offer to furnish free bait to all persons in this area in the grasshopper war, the government this week also stated that they will send a truck to Hereford, and will deliver the bait to central points over this territory. Plans are being made now to establish depots at Bippus, Simms, Ford, Fairview and intermediate points. The truck will leave the poison bait at depots on specified mornings at around 6 o'clock in order to help the farmers get an early start. Arrangements can be made at the County Agent's Office or at the Bull Barn.

Reporting that grasshoppers are hatching out over this county, Jim Lipscomb, special supervisor, today warned all residents to be on the alert in watching for the young hoppers.

"An inspection made by the government leaders last week disclosed that the infested areas have around 1,700 young grasshoppers to the square foot," Mr. Lipscomb said. "They seem to be worse in the north part of the county, especially from Ford School north."

MECHANICAL BAIT SPREADERS, such as the one above, are finding favor over the Panhandle in the general movement to control the spread of grasshoppers. Fifteen such spreaders were in use here last year, and the number is expected to reach 25 by the last of the week. The spreaders are made from old automobile differentials, which scatter the bait. Pulled behind cars, they travel 12 to 15 miles per hour, depending on the type of land, covering from 50 acres and up, a day. Cost of the spreaders varies from $25 to $50.

Green Vegetables

"These greens certainly are good," remarked a man who ate of mixed greens at the home of Mrs. J. A. Matthews. These included radish tops, turnip greens and tender greens from the hot bed and wild lamb's quarter. They were cooked five minutes with no water added. They were seasoned with bacon fat fried out at a temperature so low that it did not smoke. The bacon strips were used as garnish.

Green vegetables have a high dietetic rating because they are rich in vitamin A and iron. They also contain calcium, vitamin C, and B1. At least one serving a day of green or yellow vegetables is on the "must" list of foods. It makes no particular difference which ones the family like. At this season in this area the above list and green asparagus tops and dandelion are in season.

To secure the greatest health value from a good "mess of greens," cook as quickly as possible using little or no water. Serve the pot-liquor, if any. After the water boils leave the pan uncovered. This preserves the green color. Use no soda. When soda is added vitamins are destroyed and the greens are limp and poor in flavor, though brighter green in color.

Recipe for wilted dandelion greens.
Wash 2 quarts dandelion greens thoroughly, and cut into small pieces with scissors. Heat 4 tablespoons bacon fat, 1-4 cup mild vinegar, and 1 teaspoon salt in a skillet. Add the greens, cover, and cook at moderate heat until the greens are wilted. Serve at once.

that due to a disappointment in life Emily Dickinson was a recluse for twenty years and that only four of her poems were published during her life time. Since her death her poems have become favorites.

In a comparison of Edna St. Vincent Millay and Amy Lowell. Miss Lueta Borden brought out the fact that Millay who was a small dynamic person wrote only of intangible things while Lowell, a large, even crude woman wrote only of the tangible or concrete. She pointed out that the difference in their works might be due to difference in background. Millay came of poor parentage and was educated by a friend. Lowell came from an aristocratic background and traveled greatly at home and abroad. Several poems from both authors were read in illustrating characteristic types.

Mrs. Ralph Roden gave something of the life of Stephen Benet, a Spanish writer, and of Sara Teasdale, who thought poets should write only out of their own experiences. She said that Teasdale's works were not popular until she changed her viewpoint and that her poems are now translated in many languages.

Miss Edna Daughettee read poems from "Not So Deep As A Well," a compilation of poems by Dorothy Parker, who now writes dialog for movies.

During the business meeting, the study course for the summer was discussed.

Refreshments were served after the program to Mesdames Buford Crosthwait, Bill Edelman, Frank Huckert, Lynn Kester, Alton Miller, Ralph Roden, A. J. Schroeter, Jack Telford, J. B. Whitlow, Louis Woodford, Miss Lueta Borden and the hostesses.

Pioneer Mother Is Honored On Her Eighty-First Birthday With Party

One of the oldest mothers of Hereford is Mrs. E. M. Vanderburgh, who, with her family moved to the Panhandle in 1902 from Oxford, New York. She is the mother of Mrs. C. R. Smith, and a son, the late Frank Vanderburgh of New York, was the first editor of the Hereford Brand. Her experiences were about the usual ones of those mothers who pioneered on the Plains, and until recent years she was active in the work of the local Christian church.

On April 29, she celebrated her 81st birthday. Friends and relatives honored this occasion with a covered lunch given at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Smith. Old fashioned flowers decorated the table from which the luncheon was served, and the centerpiece was a large decorated birthday cake, made by Mrs. S. E. Askren, with whom she lives.

MUSICAL PAGEANT IS PRESENTED BY HEREFORD CHORAL CLUB

This week is being observed throughout the United States as National Music Week. The Hereford Choral Club, directed by Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, presented a Music Week program in the form of musical pageant Monday evening at the Methodist Church. The pageant was written by Mrs. G. M. Hudson and accompanied by Mrs. Ellis Coombes at the piano and Mrs. W. J. Stanford at the organ. Mrs. Mart Burum was reader and members of other organizations in the city assisted.

The performance was marked by its versatility and wide variety of musical selections which had a direct appeal to children as well as grown folks. Colorful costumes and well-rendered numbers provided an attractive and commendable program as the different characterizations told the story of "Music Around the World."

The entertainment was divided into four scenes. The first, "Music, the Fundamental Need" opened with the entire audience participating in the singing of "America," followed by "March from Faust by Gounod," Mrs. Ellis Coombes; as the march progressed the following characters took places around the throne of music, with Miss Ruth Conkright taking the part of "Music." Pages, Jack Ramey and Louis LeGrand; Flower Girls—Mary Estelle LeGrand and Martisha Ramey; Herald, Myers Binon Hudson; Scroll Bearers—Ann Cokrell; Music in the Home—Mrs. James Aiken; Music in Education—Mary Ann Acker; Music in Religion—Eunice Rutherford; and Music in Leisure, Mrs. D. H. Alexander. "Serenade" (Schubert) was played by Mrs. A. C. Thompson (violin). "The Olden Songs" (Viennese Melody), Choral Club; "Minuet in G" (Mendelssohn), Mrs. Ellis Coombes.

The second scene "Hillrooms From Great Composers," included "Folk Songs of America" (Hil-dredth), which was especially appreciated by the audience, and "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" (Burlleigh) by the Choral Club, followed by "Will You Remember" (Maxtime) by Romberg, sung by Mrs. Jim Neill.

The third scene "Music in Every Day Life" included "Cradle Song" (Brahma), Mesdames O. G. Hill and Earl Phillips; "Barbarossa" (Barnhouse), a bass horn solo, John Estes; "The Duke's Song" from Fieloletto (Verdi) a piano duet by Rosemary Phillips and John Samuel Coombes; "Indian Love Call" (Friml); "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" (Holden), and "Lift Thine Eyes" (Mendelssohn), by Choral Club; "Castles in the Air" (Smith) a horn solo, Clifford Estes; "The Bells of St. Mary's" (Adams); and "Welcome, Pretty Primrose Flower" (Pinsutti), Choral Club.

Mothers Day

A day of special honor and tribute to mothers the Nation over. Yesterday we honored "a little old lady" even as the picture shown below. Today, we pay tribute to modern mothers, but always, the memories and appreciation will be the same.

MRS. E. M. VANDERBURGH

Lord, make me like my mother, too;
Give me a little of her song;
She laughed at life, and saw it through,
And never glung to sorrow long,
Yet watched a thousand islands fade
For every port she ever made.
—"Resemblance," by Douglas Malloch.

RARE EXHIBIT DISCLOSES HORNS OF DEER FOUND IN DRIFT FENCE

Sponsored by the Hereford Boy Scouts, the now famous display of deer horns in the above photograph will be on display here Thursday, May 11, as a special Pioneer Day feature. The horns are owned by John Stroud of Amarillo.

HORN DISPLAY RECORDS STRUGGLE of large buck which became entangled in a drift fence on the Moore Ranch in Colfax County, N. M. The exhibit is sponsored here by the Boy Scouts.

The horns were discovered in a drift fence on the Moore Ranch in Colfax County, N. M., and are believed to be the only existing display of their type. Mr. Stroud has been offered as high as $750 for the horns, but has declined to sell them. The following account of the discovery appeared in the Amarillo News, and was written by Dick Martin.

In December 1934, Tex Parker, now of Amarillo, was riding the brush covered slopes of the Turkey Mountains on the Moore Ranch, and figuring on finding a stray or two in the rugged, out-of-the-way spot, headed his horse toward an old drift fence which angled across the slope.

As he approached the fence his horse shied suddenly, nearly unseating Tex. Quieting the animal, he dismounted and picked up a stick, believing it was a rattlesnake that had frightened his horse.

When he reached the fence he found no rattlesnake — only the bleached evidence of one of the greatest tragedies ever written in barbed wire and bleached bones. There were the skeleton and antlers of a once-proud 10-point Blacktail buck deer.

In the words of Parker, "It was the damndest tragedy I ever saw in my life."

He reached down and tried to pull the skull and antlers from the coiled wire of the fence. His 170 pounds were useless in the attempt.

So terrific had been the struggle of the deer that the wire had been pulled from five posts in both directions from the skeleton.

Parker cut the head from the fence with his pliers, and in doing so noticed that a limb from a small tree, either Juniper or Cedar, had been entangled in the wire around the antlers. This added evidence that the deer had thrashed madly through the brush in every direction in its efforts to break loose.

Texas sportsmen and authorities who have viewed the head and antlers agree that the animal must have been between five and six years of age. Parker said bones of the skeleton indicated the animal must have weighed over 250 pounds.

The wire around the horns is so tightly wound it cannot be moved a fraction of an inch. Estimates place the weight of the wire at between six and eight pounds.

On the back side of the antlers the outer surface of the hard bone has been worn through, evidently by the frantic plunges of the deer as it pulled the wire tighter and tighter.

Parker kept the head at the Moore Ranch for some time and brought it to Amarillo with him when he moved here.

In his words, he "kinda formed an attachment for it inasmuch as it tells a story all its own."

John Stroud of Amarillo, when he saw the head at Parker's rubber welding store here, realized the tremendous significance of the story told in wire and bone. It was he who had the head photographed, and already offers have begun to pour in to him from eager collectors.

It's a safe thing to say that never before in the history of the Southwest has there been found a similar head. Its value as mute evidence of an unwitnessed tragedy is invaluable.

BAYVIEW CLUB CLOSES SEASON

Mrs. Travis Dameron was hostess Thursday afternoon for the Bayview Club's closing program for the 1938-39 season, in the form of a lovely and informal tea.

A spring theme was used in gold and purple for the decorations. Gold blossomed cheiranthus and deep purple, ruffled iris formed striking contrasts in blue containers.

Mrs. Ray Barber, president, presided over the program and short business session. Mrs. C. F. Moore, yearbook chairman, reported that the course of study for the 1939-40 club season will be built around the theme, "Our Neighbors." Topics of international interest will be included in the year's study programs.

Mrs. Knox Kinard was voted into the club as a new member. An unusual roll call consisting of "Know Your Bible Better" questions was conducted by Mrs. F. T. Roloson. Interesting facts such as the name of the first woman judge and the location of the first garden pilgrimage were brought out.

JUNIOR BAYVIEW CLUB HAS LAST MEETING

With the month of May Hereford club women are busy with both formal and informal affairs which mark the close of the club season and signify vacations just ahead.

An important date last week for members of the Junior Bayview Club was the Thursday night dinner party given at the home of Miss Ruth Conkwright. Official hostesses were Edna Daughetee, Katherine Kirby and Ruby Dutton.

During a brief business session preceding the dinner new officers were installed and "Modern Drama" was announced as the 1939-40 study course for the club.

Blue and silver decorations combined with blue lighting effects furnished an "ethereal" atmosphere for the affair which carried out an astrological theme. A sky blue cellophane runner, dotted with stars and moons, centered the entire table length. White tapers, in crystal candelabra flanked an arrangement of corn flowers and spirea in crystal. Places were marked by attractive booklets containing astrological readings corresponding to individual birthdates.

A delightful innovation furnished unusual entertainment after the dinner. Tea was served in the living room and the tea leaves were read for each guest by a professional tea reader.

All members of the club were present. Those attending included Mesdames Elizabeth Womble, W. L. Davis, J. W. Witherspoon, Jack Wayland, Frances McClelland, Marlin Gilliland, Jimmie Gillentine, J. T. Gilbreath, Jr., Alton Fraser, and Misses Lueta Borden, Ruth Conkwright, Edna Daughetee, Ruby Dutton, Katherine Kirby, Eloyse Pitman, Rhita Jean Sullivan and Nancy Conkwright.

OIL - CHANGING PART II

At no unusual price get the plus of OIL-PLATING

"The 2-in-1 oil-change," automotive experts call it, because... 1st—It gives your engine the change badly needed today—from Winter dirt and oil to your correct Spring grade of patented Conoco Germ Processed oil... AND 2nd—Your engine thus gets the out-and-out plus of OIL-PLATING.

The exclusive Germ Process gives this oil such an intense "power of attraction" that it holds to cylinder walls, bearings and piston rings as if plated there. Plating on the bumpers, for instance, doesn't fry up in the heat, fly off at speed, or drain down during parking. Neither does OIL-PLATING. So it keeps your engine ready-oiled for safe starting every time. And it helps you get big plus mileage all Summer from your Conoco Germ Processed oil.

Lawns Discussed By Westway Club At Recent Meet

NICE LAWNS IMPROVE APPEARANCE OF MANY HOMES

At the Home Demonstration Club meeting which was held on Thursday April 27, at the home of Mrs. Paul Rudd, Miss Sadie Lee Oliver, CHDA, gave four reasons for planting lawns.

"Besides adding to the attractiveness of the home," said Miss Oliver, "lawns also make the house cooler and cleaner, and add to the enjoyment of family life."

Miss Oliver gave the advantages of having a buffalo grass lawn in this section of the country. She said it was more hardy, takes less water and spreads rapidly. It will grow so well in shady places so a shady grass mixture should be used under trees and in other shady spots.

Blue grass makes an ideal lawn grass but it takes lots of water and mowing and is too much work when there is so much to do. Bermuda grass also takes lots of mowing and must be watered in the winter or it will die out.

After the discussion, Miss Oliver demonstrated the planting of grass cubes, and quite a number of cubes were put out.

The Rudd home has recently been landscaped and in due time will be one of the beauty spots in the community. A foundation planting consists of a variety of shrubs including arbor vitae, tamarax, weigela rosea, Colorado spruce and juniper.

The lawn is enclosed on three sides with Chinese elms which are now three years old and already add much to the attractiveness of the place. An outdoor living room to the southwest of the house will have a fireplace and tables and chairs. It will be shut from view by Scotch pine and beautified by vines (including silver lacer and honeysuckle), climbing roses and flowers. The outbuildings will be closed to view by desert willow, vines and shrubs. The walk to the well-house will be bordered with iris and the one leading to the house has been sodded. Part of the lawn is already sodded and with what grass has been put out lately will all be sodded in another year.

To the north of the house is the playground. It includes a tennis court, croquet court, hut, and space for merry-go-around, and bars, etc. It is enclosed by elms, desert willow, Russian mulberry, and a row of other shrubs. Mr. and Mrs. Pudd have three sons, Kenneth, Eugene and Harold, who with their friends will soon have an ideal place for play and entertainment.

This home is the fourth in the community to be landscaped this spring. The others are those of Al Werner, Henry Allmon and Maurice Tannahill. Shrub and tree planting has also been done at several homes. R. M. Gunn has put out shrubs and flowers on the west side of his store and Mrs. Gunn has a flower garden on the east side of the store. Cherry trees put out last year by A. C. Pierce have made a good growth and are very pretty this spring.

Those who attended the meeting at the Rudd home were Mesdames Bill Rice, E. B. Osburn, P. B. Sowell, Al Werner, Glenn Rutter, G. C. Hartman, Joe Landers, Earl Little, R. L. Wilson, Jim Dale, Merlin Kaul, Moody Stephan, Miss Sadie Lee Oliver and the hostess.

There's a difference in Gasolines, too

All dogs look alike to me, says the man who doesn't know much about them... All gasolines are the same, says the motorist who brags that he doesn't know anything about a car except how to drive it.

But those who love animals know that one dog may be a frisky bundle of steel and rubber, while another is sad-eyed and drowsy.

Experienced drivers soon discover similar differences between low test gasoline and high test Phillips 66 Poly Gas. This modern motor fuel demonstrates in your car, because every gallon contains the extra energy added by the scientific POLYMERIZATION process.

You pay nothing extra. You get extra power and more mileage. And this plus performance is protected against change in weather, because Phillips 66 Poly Gas is more accurately custom-tailored, all year round, to the month by month changes in your climate.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

To the Mayor and Commissioners; and Citizens of Hereford:

In the kindest spirit and with the sincerest heart I make my appeal to you concerning the softball park close to my home. I have tried to be fair and patient. You are my friends and we are neighbors in Hereford. No kinder people ever made up a town. I have had many occasions to test your friendship—in sickness, in health, and in death. In my heart I do not believe you would wilfully harm anyone. I come to you through our local paper that all may see and understand. I want to do what is right. I have lived among you for fifteen years. I have tried to be a good citizen and a good neighbor. My school taxes are all paid to date. You all know me.

You have played softball almost in my front door for two seasons. You are about to begin another season. The dust (which you think you have corrected), the noise, and the late hours have greatly impaired by health and injured my property. I have been very sick this winter; since the first of February I have been confined to my home. I am slowly recovering, but another season of noise and dust will be very hard to bear. Would you, good citizens of Hereford, want that park so close to you? Answer honestly, then remember the Golden Rule.

I am trying to play fair; I ask you very kindly to do the right thing before you begin playing and get out where you will not do harm to others with your pleasant game—I think it is worthwhile—but not under existing conditions.

With sincerest of heart,
I am your friend,
MRS. S. L. EASLEY

YOUR CREDIT AT THIS BANK BEFORE THE NEED ARISES . . . !

All too often the average man waits until he is in financial trouble to dash to the bank for a loan. Apply this to yourself. You wouldn't expect a total stranger to lend you that "ten spot." The same applies to bank loans.

But just knowing your banker isn't sufficient. Furnish him with yearly financial statements. If possible indicate your profit or loss for the year. Many individuals and firms make a regular practice of this. The information is kept absolutely confidential. Keep your bank balance up. The firm or individual which maintains adequate balances in their account receives compensations reflected in credit rating, other ways. You will find that when you have established your credit for possible emergencies that you will use it to take advantage of opportunities. Give your bank information about yourself — it will be filed and used for your own interests.

tion and heavy infestation, he said that Monday and Tuesday, May 15-16, have been set as inspection days for this territory. Each farmer and rancher was urged to make a careful inspection on the specified dates—and to report any infestation at the County Agent's office or at the Mixing Station in the Bull Barn.

It was also pointed out that the migratory hoppers are grey in color, rather than green as are most native hoppers.

"The mixing station is now in operation at the Bull Barn, and the first load of poison went out into the northwest portion of the county this week," he said. "Remember, the government is furnishing all of the bait this year—all the farmers have to do is scatter it. If you find hoppers hatching on your place, make an immediate report and arrange to secure the free bait."

He again pointed out that it is highly important to poison the hoppers just after the hatch—a point that has been stressed for several months by government experts and local representatives who predict a great scourge of grasshoppers unless local residents take steps to poison them as they hatch.
