Lions piling it high

Hereford Lions Club member Larry Alley, right, piles up the tray of fellow Lion Lupe Chavez at the club's Mexican Stack Supper on Thursday at the Hereford High School cafeteria. The club served about 500 persons, raising about $1,000 to benefit local projects.

Large voter turnout expected on Saturday

With hotly-contested races on the ballots in the city and hospital elections, a large turnout of voters is anticipated Saturday at the Hereford Community Center. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

There was heavy absentee voting in all the local elections, including the school board election, where only the incumbents are on the ballot. The city ballot has a contested race for two commission seats, as well as the highly-publicized proposition concerning a one-half percent economic development sales tax.

Voters throughout the county are eligible to vote in the hospital board race where 10 persons are candidates for four positions on the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board. Those candidates--in the order listed on the ballot--are: John Perrin, Janie Granado, Donita Rule, Craig Smith, Stan Fry Jr., Valerie Fellhauer, Nancy Hill, Bert Parker, Diane Hoelscher,

See editorial, Page Two and Boyd Foster. Smith is the only incumbent seeking reelection. Incumbent city commissioners Paul Hamilton and Terry Langehennig are being challenged by Ron Weishaar and Emory Brownlow for city commission at-large seats. Irene Cantu, Place 2, and R.W.(Bud) Eades, Place 4, are unopposed. In the school election, incumbents Dennis Newton and John Fuston are unopposed for at-large seats, and Sylvia Flores is unopposed for Place 2.

Proposition 1 on the city ballot is the one-half percent city sales tax for economic development. Groups for and against the proposal have actively campaigned on the issue. If approved, the city commission would appoint a five-member board to supervise the project. Voters are reminded that the proposition is listed at the bottom of the city ballot.

Since the March primary was the first time the "no-excuse" absentee voting plan was in effect, it is more difficult to estimate election-day turnout, based on the absentee total. County Clerk David Ruland estimates that more than 2,000 votes will be cast Saturday. The percentage voting absentee in March was about 25 percent of the total vote.

DSGH ready for any patient, ailment

Deaf Smith General Hospital will host an open house on Sunday from 2-4 p.m. in recognition of Texas Hospitals Week.

Most departments will be open for tours and representatives will answer questions. All interested persons are invited to attend.

In this second part of a series, we'll look at more of the departments at the hospital.

SURGERY

"Surgery" in 1990 isn't what it was five or 10 years ago. Many of the surgical procedures done at Deaf Smith General Hospital require little hospital time; sometimes, you check in at 7 a.m. and are home for supper the same evening.

"We have day surgery, outpatients and, of course, inpatients," said

De'Aun Spain. "With two general surgeons, Dr. Clark and Dr. Khuri, an ophthalmologist, Dr. Jones, and an orthopedist, Dr. Finley, we stay pretty busy and see all kinds of things...It goes from aneurysms to tonsillectomies, and every patient is different."

Spain said the five persons on the surgical staff are ready anytime, any day or night, and also pitch in with intensive care, emergencies, and obstetrics if they are needed.

"We do a lot of sterilizing for the rest of the hospital and the doctor's offices. We keep busy all of the time, but we have a wonderful staff and we enjoy our work."

EMERGENCY ROOM

Like the three surgical suites, the emergency room is one of those places you don't like to have to see but you're glad it's here.

The emergency room is busy all of the time, but especially after five on weekdays and all weekend long.

The emergency room has full-time physician coverage from 8 p.m. Friday to 10 p.m. Sunday, with physicians from Hereford available during the week.

the emergency room staff sees cases ranging from sore throats to cardiac arrest during a typical month's 400-plus cases. Sometimes, their job is just to relieve fears and put someone in touch with their doctor. For others, it's every-second-counts work to get someone stable for more prolonged hospital care, with some of the most capable staff and most up-to-date equipment of any hospital in the Panhandle.

Second in a series

the intensive care unit does just what the name implies: provides hands-on coverage 24 hours a day.

With technological advances, the intensive care unit doesn't have to have a nurse hovering over the patient's bed at all times, although a registered nurse is always on duty, there are telemetry devices that strap on a patient's chest that monitor vital signs for read-outs on monitors in front of the nursing staff.

Many of the patients in intensive care have heart problems, but there are other needs that require care in one of the units four beds. Sometimes it's just that someone is slow reacting after a surgery, or some other problem. The hospital also has all patients using ventilators in the intensive care unit to provide better monitoring.

MEDICAL/SURGICAL UNIT

Even if your affliction isn't life threatening, care doesn't diminish when you're in the medical/surgical unit.

Station Two, as it's called at the hospital, handles 27 beds, they care for 15 to 20 patients a day at most times with a variety of ailments. Nurses are just a push on the call button and a few steps away at all times, with a registered nurse in charge of a very capable nursing staff.

'Cinco de Mayo' planned

A Cinco de Mayo festival will be held Saturday and Sunday in Hereford.

The sixth annual event, sponsored by the Hereford Softball Association, will include a two-day tournament at the Kids, Inc. complex just northeast of Hereford and activities on Saturday.

From 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday behind Mrs. Abalos' Restaurant on East U.S. Highway 60 in Hereford, the celebration will include live bands, food booths, games and entertainment. The association will also honor an outstanding citizen at the event.

Germanys deciding ownership

EAST BERLIN (AP) - West Germany is pushing East Germany to quickly open the door to private ownership and get out of the business of owning land and factories.

With a self-imposed deadline of July 2 for merging their economies and social institutions, experts from both countries have been meeting this week to discuss the logistics of moving East Germany to a free market.

Almost all property and enterprises were state-owned under the Communist system that once controlled the country.

East Germany and West Germany on Wednesday agreed on a basic plan for circulating the West German currency in the country beginning July 2. On Thursday, several West German officials said that must now be followed by a quick conversion to private ownership.

West German Economics Minister Helmut Haussmann said private ownership of property and industry was crucial to creating a market economy that would spawn jobs and incomes necessary to offset the loss of huge social subsidies.

He said many details remain to be worked out, but that private ownership is needed to cope with the widespread joblessness expected in East Germany as the country is forced to compete in the free market.

"From July onward every company that's active in West Germany can also become active in East Germany," Haussmann said in Bonn, the West German capital.

Otto Lambsdorff, head of the West German's Free Democrats, said a conversion to private property must quickly follow the decision to convert East German marks to West German marks.

Otherwise, it will be money thrown "out the window," he said.

Teams of experts from the two governments began talks on the key aspect of unification in East Berlin on Thursday.

The groups also are negotiating a way to restructure the health insurance and unemployment systems set up by East Germany's former Communist government, whose leaders lost the country's first free elections in March.

East German Prime Minister Lothar de Maiziere said he wanted an "appropriate legal basis" established for the purchase of land, enterprises and government-run media by foreign concerns.

He said Thursday he would block the "uncontrolled" acquisition of such government-owned assets by West Germans and foreigners.

The latest talks follow an agreement that sets broad objectives for an economic union that is to be in place on July 2 and establishes the conversion rates for changing East German marks to West German marks.

Social Democrats in the government of de Maiziere, who leads the conservative Christian Democrats, sharply criticized the plan.

East German Finance Minister Walter Romberg said the agreement still does not give adequate protection to people earning low incomes and fails to include a mechanism to protect people when rents and living costs rise in the free market.

East Germans now are dependent on subsidized food, housing and jobs.

Some East Germans want guarantees that prices and rents will not rise at a vastly sharper rate than their wages. Kohl's government says the influx of new Western businesses will raise living standards in East Germany.

The agreement would convert East German wages, pensions and small savings accounts at a 1-1 exchange to the West German mark.

Clements aide feels income tax threat

AUSTIN (AP) - Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby says a state income tax is inevitable, but the top adviser to Gov. Bill Clements says it shouldn't be hurried along with the school finance reform plan lawmakers have proposed.

"I wish you'd ask them (Democratic lawmakers) how they intend to fund their $9 (billion) to $10 billion program. They haven't the foggiest idea. There's no way to do it but an income tax. That is irresponsible," said Mike Toomey, Clements' chief of staff.

In response Thursday, Hobby said an income tax is on its way, anyhow. "An income tax is coming in the next few years regardless of the education bill," said Hobby, a Democrat who is retiring after nearly two decades in office.

Toomey insisted that the governor's $250 million school proposal - which would be funded by cuts in other state programs - is affordable and would meet the Texas Supreme Court requirements on equalizing school aid to poor schools.

But the Democrat-controlled Legislature's $555 million plan - which needs a half-cent sales tax increase - eventually would be so expensive as to require the state to levy an income tax, Toomey charged.

Texas is one of only a handful of states with neither a corporate nor personal income tax.

"Someone needs to address the fact that that bill would cause an income tax in this state because you've got a $6 billion shortfall in funding" down the road, Toomey said of the plan approved in the last special legislative session and being proposed again.

He said Clements' plan would cost $4.5 billion over five years, money that would be raised by an expanding economy. But the plan approved by lawmakers - and nullified Tuesday by a Clements tax veto - would cost $9 billion or more over five years, Toomey said.

"No one's acknowledging that. No one's confronting that," Toomey said of the long-term school costs in the legislative plan.

The Clements plan, he said, tallies "$4 billion over five years, and certainly the economy can handle that... Can we handle $9 (billion) or $10 billion? ... No."

Hobby, who has called for an income tax in the past, said Texans are going to face one sooner or later.

Talks clearing way for Germany, NATO

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) - Secretary of State James A. Baker III is back to bargaining with the Soviet Union over Germany's future and slumping arms control negotiations, now that NATO allies have agreed on a summit schedule.

Baker sees Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze in Bonn today on the heels of a decision by the Western allies approving a meeting in London in late June and a 35-nation summit including the Soviet Union by the end of the year in Paris.

President Bush in Washington, and Baker in Brussels, announced Thursday that new short-range nuclear missiles would not be deployed, nor artillery shells modernized.

Baker also offered to consider withdrawing some of the short-range Lance missiles now based in West Germany if the Soviets dropped their objections to NATO membership.

Behind Thursday's decisions are determination by the allies to respond to the historic political change sweeping Europe and finding a new role for NATO after 31 years of eyeing the Red Army suspiciously over an East-West divide that is now melting away.

But the 35-nation summit depends on completion of a treaty to reduce troops, tanks, airplanes, helicopters and artillery in Europe. NATO Secretary General Manfred Woerner on Thursday accused the Soviets of "foot-dragging" in the negotiations in Vienna.

Baker, meanwhile, said at a separate news conference that "the negotiations have not proceeded as rapidly as we would have thought," but deferred making a judgment until he saw Shevardnadze.

Today's session will be followed by more intensive talks in mid-May in the Soviet Union. By then, Baker said, "we'll know a lot more."

The talks also hold the key to how much President Bush and Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev will be able to do about reducing armories during their summit beginning May 30 in Washington.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was outraged when I read the letter from the woman who was a "Family Friend" of a teen-aged child who died. The woman thought it was terrible that 200 kids showed up at the viewing and said they couldn't have all been close friends and many came because they were curious. Well, she is wrong.

Our teen-aged daughter was killed in a motorcycle accident on June 7, 1987. She was a loving and giving person. There were 632 people at her viewing, and at least half of them were kids she went to school with.

The only thing that got me through that night was the fact that so many of Kim's friends needed comforting and I had no time to dwell on my own sorrow.

As for how the kids conducted themselves, each person handles grief differently, and maybe I didn't conduct myself properly either, but a funeral is a strange place to worry about etiquette. -- Irate in South Royalton, Vt.

DEAR FRIEND: Earlier this week I printed several responses to "Family Friend's" letter. I felt yours would be an appropriate close to this sad story. I agree with you completely, dear.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I received this poem after volunteering to teach Bible school to 20 three-year-old children. It turned up precisely when I needed it. I don't know who wrote this, but National Volunteer Week was in April. Please find room in your column for this verbal shot in the arm for all us volunteer nuts. -- A Contented Volunteer

DEAR CONTENTED VOLUNTEER: Having been one myself, I know where you're coming from. The meter is a bit rocky, but the sentiment is great. Thanks for the memories.

Volunteers, God Bless Them
Many will be shocked to find
When the day of judgment nears
That there's a special place in heaven
Set aside for volunteers.

Furnished with big recliners,
Satin couches and footstools,
Where there's no committee chairmen,
No group leaders or car pools.

No eager team that needs a coach,
No bazaar and no bake sale,
There will be nothing to staple
Not one thing to fold or mail.

Telephone lists will be outlawed,
But a finger snap will bring
Cool drinks and gourmet dinners
And treats fit for a king.

You ask, "Who'll serve these privileged few
And work for all they're worth?"
Why, all those who reaped the benefits
And not once volunteered on Earth.

Primary schools to feature Around the World With Beef

Students will experience the culture and cuisine of five countries, May 7-11, without ever leaving the school grounds.

The school district, in conjunction with the Texas CattleWomen, will conduct a beef foodservice promotion called "Around The World With Beef."

Each day of the week, Aikman cafeteria will be transformed into a different country with table top displays, decorations, travel posters, and authentic music from the country of the day. Cafeteria staff will dress up to add to the excitement. For lunch, students will enjoy a beef entree representative of the country being "visited."

Students at the primary schools will receive a passport at the beginning of the week. If they purchase the featured entree from the cafeteria, the purchase will entitle them to receive a passport sticker from that country.

"We want to instill in the students a cultural awareness of the five countries studied and the role beef plays in the country's diet," Karen Keeling, Hereford CattleWoman, said. "Only the students who participate receive a passport and sticker, so this may help increase participation in the district's school lunch program."

The week's schedule features beef dishes representative of Japan, Italy, Ghana, England, and Mexico. Teachers and students are encouraged to take part in the festivities for the featured countries.

SAY "NO" TO MORE TAXES VOTE NO TO PROPOSITION I

ON MONDAY FEBRUARY 19TH, your city commissioners voted to call an election for May 5th for us Tax Payers to decide whether a half-cent (1/2) sales tax should be added to our already high taxes of 7 1/2%. This tax raise is to be used ONLY for funding the "Economic Development"

This group has already spent thousands of dollars with no results-but they want us to give $300,000, and more for them to spend as they have in the past. Let's be realistic - quit trying to compete with Amarillo and Plainview. Let our chamber industrial committee get back to work and get some results.

If the state imposes a 1/2% sales tax for education and this 1/2% for the "Fund" is voted in - we will be paying 8 1/2% in sales taxes!!

You, as a registered voter must get out and vote against this tax raise on May 5th. If you don't vote then this group will probably push the tax raise on us.

JOIN US AS WE VOICE OUR MUTUAL CONCERNS ABOUT WHAT WE FEEL IS A TOTALLY UNWARRANTED TAX INCREASE.

KC Royals playing like commoners

By The Associated Press
 The major leagues' highest-paid team, playing in the smallest market, has the worst record.
 The Kansas City Royals were supposed to push the Oakland Athletics from April until October in the American League West. They paid millions to get Mark Davis and Storm Davis for the pitching staff, destroying their payroll balance.
 So far, all they've gotten for it is a 6-14 mark. The latest loss came Thursday night, 9-5 to Milwaukee, which is headed the other way in the East. The Brewers are 14-6.
 Some of the Royals can't believe it. Pitcher Mark Gubicza, the loser Thursday and 1-4 this year, was asked if he thought such a start was possible.
 "I'd have said you've got to be out of your mind," he said. "At the worst - at the very worst - I'd say it'd be reverse, 14-6."
 "Oakland's not going to come back to the pack. They're not going to kick back when they see how we're doing. We have to go out there and start kicking some butt."
 Elsewhere Thursday, it was Seattle 10, California 8; Cleveland 10, New York 5 and Minnesota 3, Detroit 1. The Texas at Chicago game was rained out.
 Royals manager John Wathan knew where to place, much of the blame for his team's flop.
 "It's depressing, no doubt about it," he said. "But the past is the past. And there's nothing we can do to change what's happened. If we don't pitch better than we've been pitching, there's nothing we can do."
 Robin Yount's three-run, inside-the-park homer carried Milwaukee.
 Jamie Navarro (1-0) got the victory as the East-leading Brewers won their seventh game in eight starts. Milwaukee has scored first in every game this season.
 "It is hard to believe," said Rob Deer, who hit a two-run homer. "It is amazing when you think about it. We just go out there and it's in the back of our minds and boom! We've scored first again. We just have to try to stay in this groove as long as we can."

Mariners 10, Angels 8
 Jeffrey Leonard hit two home runs and drove in five runs, and Brent Knackert got his first major-league victory.
 Leonard's three-run shot in the fourth inning capped a seven-run rally on just two hits off Chuck Finley (3-2) and Scott Bailes.
 Trailing 6-3, the Mariners started the rally with walks to Pete O'Brien and Darnell Coles and an RBI single by Dave Valle.
 Finley's wild throw to first base on Mike Brumley's bunt scored two runs and tied the game. After Harold Reynolds sacrificed, an error by shortstop Donnie Hill on Henry Cotto's grounder put Seattle ahead.
 Ken Griffey Jr. walked before Leonard hit his home run, marking the seventh time in his career he had two home runs in a game.
Indians 10, Yankees 5
 Mike Blowers must wish games ended after six innings.
 The New York third baseman made four errors, tying an American League record and leading to seven unearned runs. All the miscues came late - two errors in the seventh, one in the eighth and one in the ninth - to tie the league mark for third basemen shared by 20 players.
 The modern major-league record for errors by a third baseman is five, by Boston's David Brain in 1906.
 Thanks to Blowers' errors, the Indians scored four unearned runs in the seventh, one in the eighth and two in the ninth to hand the Yankees their fifth straight loss.
Twins 3, Tigers 1
 Gary Gaetti continued his hot hitting at Detroit with a two-run homer in the 10th inning as Minnesota swept three games.
 Kirby Puckett started the 10th with a walk from Mike Henneman (0-2). Then Gaetti, who had a pair of three-run homers Wednesday night, hit an 0-1 pitch just over the left-field wall for his fourth homer of the season.
 The loss extended the Tigers' losing streak to five.

Mets give one away again

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer
 With the New York Mets in a giving mood and the Cincinnati Reds out to take anything they can get, the result was predictable.
 "This is just about as bad as it can get," Mets infielder Dave Magadan said in summing up New York's 5-0 loss Thursday night, its fifth in six games. "There's nowhere to go but up."
 Mets shortstop Howard Johnson committed three errors and the Reds stole five bases in as many attempts.
 "There's nothing to say," Johnson told reporters after matching a club record for errors in a game by a shortstop. "Go write what you want."
 What they wrote was that New York has made 27 errors in 22 games, allowing 14 unearned runs.
 But few should feel sorry for a pitching staff that has demonstrated for several seasons an inability to keep runners close. The opposition has stolen 46 bases in 53 attempts, a success rate of 87 percent.
 When Cincinnati is the opposition, that can hurt. The Reds have swiped 34 bases in 19 games.
 "That's part of our game plan," Reds manager Lou Piniella said. "With our speed, when we have the opportunity we will take it."
 And Alejandro Pena, once described while with the Dodgers as a man who stands slowly, gave them plenty of chances. The Reds stole four bases with him on the mound in the eighth inning.
 "They exploited Pena and he gave them a working lead," Mets manager Davey Johnson said. "He's deliberate and slow to the plate. No catcher can get the runners."
 Elsewhere, it was Houston 10, Philadelphia 3 and Atlanta 4, Montreal 1.
 Jack Armstrong allowed four hits in 7-2-3 innings to win his fifth game and Joe Oliver hit two home runs for the Reds.

 Armstrong (5-0) joined New York's Frank Viola and Oakland's Dave Stewart as the only five-game winners in the major leagues. Viola shut out the Reds on Wednesday.
 Sid Fernandez (1-3) and Armstrong breezed through the first four innings until the New York defense reared its ugly head.
 Johnson, playing out of position at shortstop, bobbled Rolando Roomes' one-out grounder for an error in the fifth and Oliver followed with his first home run. Oliver led off the ninth with his second homer of the game and season.
 In the eighth, Chris Sabo led off with a walk against Pena, stole second and third, and scored when Johnson made a two-base error on Barry Larkin's grounder with the infield in. Larkin went to second on the error, stole third and came home on Billy Hatcher's infield single.
 The victory was Cincinnati's eighth in 10 road games.
Astros 10, Phillies 3
 Bill Gullickson, back after two seasons in Japan, pitched a strong game and Ken Caminiti drove in three runs as Houston cooled off Philadelphia.
 The Phillies, who got 20 hits in winning 14-4 Wednesday night, were limited to six by Gullickson (2-1) in 7 1-3 innings. He struck out four, walked three and didn't trail after Caminiti hit a two-run single off Terry Mulholland (1-1) in the first inning.
 Philadelphia scored in the first on an RBI double by Von Hayes and in the eighth when Carmelo Martinez hit his third home run. Dave Smith, the third Houston pitcher, worked the final 1 2-3 innings for his eighth save.

The Astros put the game out of reach with a six-run ninth against Jeff Parrett and Chuck McElroy.
Braves 4, Expos 1
 Tom Glavine allowed one hit in seven innings and Atlanta scored three times in the ninth to win its fifth straight game.
 The Braves' winning streak is their longest since they won seven straight last May. Montreal has lost five of seven.
 With the score tied 1-1, Andres

Thomas greeted reliever Drew Hall (2-3) with a single to start the Atlanta ninth. After moving to second on Mark Lemke's sacrifice, Thomas scored on Greg Olson's double to right-center.
 Steve Frey replaced Hall and Jeff Treadway singled to score Olson. Pinch-hitter Lonnie Smith's RBI single against Tim Burke scored Oddibe McDowell.
 The victory went to Charley Kerfeld, his first since 1986. Joe Boever collected his second save.

PENDERS

been assessed a technical foul for leaving the court, Penders said.
 Tanco was out of town Thursday, a family member said, and could not be reached for comment.
 Tanco also officiated Texas' SWC tournament loss to Houston five days later in which Penders received three technical fouls and was ejected from the game.

Penders said Jacoby also placed assistant coach Jamie Campaglio on one-year probation for comments he made about the officiating after the Feb. 4 game against Arkansas and after the Longhorns' first-round NCAA tournament victory over Georgia when he said on a radio broadcast: "This isn't Baylor, TCU or Texas Tech. This is big-time basketball."

Going could get pretty rough in rain-shortened Nelson Classic

IRVING (AP) - The rough was up and scores were expected to follow today in the day-late start of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

"The Bermuda rough was pretty impressive when we got here Tuesday," said Tom Watson, a four-time winner of this event.

"Now, with all this rain and a hot sun yesterday afternoon, it's really going to be something.

"If you don't keep your ball in the fairway, you're going to be in trouble.

"I think you'll see scores appreciably higher than they have been in recent years."

While the heavy rains heightened the rough on the TPC at Las Colinas, they also shortened the tournament.

With eight inches of precipitation over a two-day period, the course was partially flooded and unplayable Thursday.

The day's play was cancelled and the tournament shortened to a three-day, 54-hole format, starting today and ending Sunday.

Some consideration was given to a double round of 36 holes on Sunday, tournament director Mike Shea of the PGA Tour said. But officials decided it would not be possible to get in two rounds and meet the 5 p.m. CDT television finishing time on Sunday, so the tournament was cut to three rounds. The local sponsors said the full $1 million purse would be paid, despite the reduced format.

PGA champion Payne Stewart, a frequent contender in this event, leading money-winner Mark Calcavecchia and Greg Norman ranked among the leading contenders for the $180,000 first prize. Other leading figures included Lanny Wadkins, Mark O'Meara, Fred Couples, Tom Kite, Bruce Lietzke, Ben Crenshaw and David Frost, whose 72nd-hole save from a sand trap made him a winner over Norman at New Orleans last week.

Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by ABC.

JOBBS?

In the risky arena of economic development, there are no guarantees that a community will succeed, no matter how big the budget. The proposed sales tax could be paid for years without attracting new industry.

Jobs are being promised to local voters. The only jobs that can be guaranteed through Proposition 1 are these two -- a professional economic development director and a secretary.

Lakers, Bulls win series; Cavs force fifth contest

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers and Chicago Bulls have punched out first-round opponents in the NBA playoffs. In the case of the Bulls, it was nearly in the literal sense.

"We went out with a physical attitude and did what we had to do," Michael Jordan said after scoring 25 points in the Bulls' hard-nosed 110-86 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks on Thursday night.

The Bulls used an aggressive body-checking defense and a decisive second-quarter run to wrap up the best-of-5 series in four games.

"It was a trench game and a warfare game," Bulls coach Phil Jackson said. "We hadn't played great defense this series. We talked about not letting them get to the basket for easy ones."

The Houston Rockets didn't get many easy ones against the Lakers, who prevailed 109-88 at Houston to advance to the second round.

In Thursday night's other game,

Cleveland beat Philadelphia 108-96 to tie that series at 2-2.

Two more first-round series continue tonight, with Boston at New York and Utah at Phoenix. Boston and Phoenix hold 2-1 leads.

Bulls 110, Bucks 86
The Bulls, promising to be more physical to reciprocate for what they felt was rough play and hard fouls from the Bucks in the first three games, got tough on defense in the final seven minutes of the second quarter.

Chicago, getting 11 points from Jordan, outscored the Bucks 22-5 in those seven minutes, taking a 56-39 halftime lead.

Milwaukee managed only one field goal in the final 7:37 of the first half, that a 3-pointer by Brad Lohaus with 56 seconds to go. Chicago then held the Bucks to only two third-quarter field goals, pulling ahead 84-60 going into the fourth quarter.

Scottie Pippen had 20 points for Chicago, which has beaten the Bucks 20 times in 23 games. Alvin Robertson led Milwaukee with 20 points and Ricky Pierce had 19.

Lakers 109, Rockets 88
James Worthy scored 10 of his 20 points in the final eight minutes as the Lakers finished off the Rockets in four games.

Worthy scored his first basket of the fourth quarter with 7:37 left, during a 12-2 run when the Lakers took charge of the game at 93-83 with 6:35 to play.

Magic Johnson scored 19 points for the Lakers, who outscored the Rockets 12-2 over the final 4:17.

Akeem Olajuwon led the Rockets with 28 points and 14 rebounds and Otis Thorpe scored 18 points.

Cavaliers 108, 76ers 96

Brad Daugherty hit 10 of his first 11 shots and scored a team playoff-record 34 points as Cleveland beat Philadelphia.

The teams split their four regular-season games, with each winning once at home and once on the road. Each has won its two home games in the playoffs.

The fifth and deciding game will be Saturday at Philadelphia.

Mark Price set a Cleveland playoff record with 18 assists, and Daugherty, who also grabbed nine rebounds, had his best offensive game of the season. His regular-season best was 30 points.

Cleveland's previous playoff scoring record was 32 points, set by Campy Russell against New York in 1978 and tied by World B. Free against Boston in 1985.

The Cavaliers virtually shut down the 76ers in the fourth quarter, outscoring them 22-14. The Sixers went scoreless from the field for seven minutes as Cleveland widened an 89-84 lead to 97-85 with five minutes left.

Upshaw unhappy with quick rookie signings

HOUSTON (AP) - Two NFL first round draft choices already have signed their contracts and NFL Players Association executive director Gene Upshaw doesn't want to see the early signing trend continue.

He's asked linebacker Lamar Lathon and his agent Tom Williams to delay signing their deal with the Houston Oilers, who made Lathon their first round selection in the April 22-23 draft.

"I did tell Tom it's not a deal that we are completely satisfied with," Upshaw told KRIV-TV Thursday night.

"We want him to get the best deal and a fair deal. Any deal he gets should be at least 25 per cent higher than the same round last year."

Illinois quarterback Jeff George, the No. 1 pick overall, agreed to a six-year, $15 million contract with the Indianapolis Colts.

Mark Carrier, a surprise top pick and the sixth overall selection, by Chicago was picked in part because he immediately agreed to a contract with the Bears if they would pick him.

Carrier, a defensive back from Southern California, signed a five-year deal.

Williams says Lathon is close to reaching agreement with the Oilers.

Williams represents two first round selections from the April 22-23 NFL draft, Lathon and Baylor linebacker James Francis, the first round pick of the Cincinnati Bengals.

"I was hired to do a job for Lamar Lathon," Williams said. "I have nothing to do with nor do I want anything to do with any argument with the NFL and the players association."

"They just want everybody to hold up, don't do any early signings but no explanation was given."

Williams said he told Upshaw that Lathon would not sign early if the players association would guarantee in writing to give Lathon not less than a certain amount of money.

Williams announced on draft day that he would not use the holdout as a tactic in negotiations with either of his clients.

"When a team drafts a player as a prospect, the day he comes in he's a suspect," Williams told The Associated Press. "This is a tremendous time for them to prove their worth."

Lathon already is working out at the Oilers training facility and Francis has been in Cincinnati this week, learning the Bengals' system.

"I think it's very valuable to a player to get to camp and learn the system," Williams said. "You learn the system in mini-camp and you're that much farther ahead for the regular season."

Upshaw told KRIV he just wanted Lathon to get the best deal possible.

"I don't want the player to look over his shoulder in the next year or so and look at us and say why didn't someone advise me that this is not a very good deal," Upshaw told the station. "That's what I'm trying to avoid."

Lathon was the 15th player chosen in the draft and reportedly is going to sign a five-year deal worth $3 million.

"We're going to check all our options, we're going to make sure I get the best possible deal the 15th player can get," Lathon said.

Williams said he had made contact with Bengals vice president Mike Brown but wanted to get Lathon's contract finished before turning to Francis.

"This is what I mean about getting to camp," Williams said of Francis. "He's already learning their system and they've put him at outside linebacker and moved some other guys around."

"They love him already. He's getting acquainted with his new teammates."

How to treat endometriosis

An estimated four to six million premenopausal women suffer from endometriosis. Physicians believe most women afflicted with this potentially serious disease have yet to be diagnosed.

The condition occurs when endometrial tissue, normally lining the uterus, is found outside the uterus in other areas of the body, most frequently the abdomen. It can cause pain, scarring and infertility. Endometriosis is not commonly diagnosed by laparoscopy, a minor surgical procedure.

The cause remains uncertain, although evidence proves that the female hormone, estrogen, plays a part. Surgery and hormone therapy are the most common treatments.

Symptoms include:

- severe monthly cramping
- persistent abdominal pain
- painful intercourse

-pain during urination or bowel movements

-infertility

Many women believe these symptoms are part of normal monthly cycles. However, women experiencing such pain should consult a physician.

Recently, a new drug, marketed under the brand name Synarel, was introduced in the United States by Syntex Laboratories, Inc. In clinical trials, Synarel reduced the size and number of endometrial lesions in nearly 86 percent of women who took it, and relieved or eliminated symptoms in 94 percent.

Synarel is taken twice a day as a nasal spray which allows for a measured daily dose. It is extremely convenient for busy patients. If you suspect you have endometriosis, see your doctor. You may find relief from this painful condition.

Accent on Health

Although tuberculosis (TB) infects many people, those who develop the disease's symptoms sometimes fail to seek health care. Health officials attribute that fact to a lack of understanding about how serious untreated TB can be.

The same officials cite that lack of knowledge about TB as one of the main reasons for a current increase of TB among Texas minorities.

Dr. Michael Kelley, of the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Bureau of Disease Control and Epidemiology, said that until recently TB was declining nationwide.

However, TB cases among Texans increased in 1988 and 1989, especially among the black population. Dr. Kelley said that last year 529 blacks contracted tuberculosis, compared with 479 in 1988.

Reports also show increased TB cases among Hispanics and persons infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.

"Before TB can be treated or cured, it first must be recognized. Years ago, when tuberculosis was a leading cause of death, the disease was often suspect in a patient. Today, though, doctors and nurses inexperienced with tuberculosis may overlook the disease, thus delaying a diagnosis."

Tuberculosis is an infectious disease primarily affecting a person's lungs and may spread to other organs causing severe complications or death. The disease is both preventable and curable if patients comply with the physician's instructions in taking medication.

The disease usually is spread by exhaled airborne bacteria from someone with the disease who may infect family, friends and co-workers.

Dr. Kelley said that the general symptoms of TB include cough, fatigue, weight loss, fever or night sweats.

The federal Centers for Disease Control's "Strategic Plan for the Elimination of Tuberculosis in the United States" has a goal of 99 percent reduction in tuberculosis by 2010.

Dr. Kelley explained that to reach that goal in Texas, the TDH tuberculosis control programs will have to: concentrate its surveillance of infection among high risk groups; more thoroughly investigate patients' contacts; and more closely monitor patients' compliance in taking their medications.

"We cannot over-emphasize the role of the public health nurses in Texas. They are the front-line educators, counselors and health care providers in preventing and detecting TB and other diseases," Dr. Kelley said.

"However," he added, "no matter how competent the medical personnel are, tuberculosis may needlessly continue to spread in any minority group which is at risk of tuberculosis if infected persons don't seek care."

Home buying easier now

You want to buy a home for your family. But there's a problem. Though you'll be able to handle the monthly payments, you just can't seem to save up 20 percent for a down payment.

Fortunately there's a way around this—but not many people know about it. It's called private mortgage insurance and with it you can put as little as five percent down.

"With the financial pressure on families today it's impossible for many of them to save $20,000 to put down on a $100,000 home," says Christina Carosella, senior vice president of marketing for GE Capital Mortgage Insurance Company. "With mortgage insurance they could put $5,000 down on that same house and become owners," Carosella adds.

In many cases people will pay less in their mortgage payment than they would for rent payments. That, plus homeowner tax breaks and equity build-up, make a strong case for buying a home. Private mortgage insurance costs are about less than one percent of the mortgage each year. The insurance only has to be paid until the homeowner has paid off 20 percent of the mortgage.

For a $100,000 loan the mortgage insurance cost would be about $4,500 for eight years. But by that time, a homeowner would have saved about $30,000 because of income tax deductions for loan interest and property taxes.

Why haven't more people taken advantage of private mortgage insurance?

"Most people don't know about it," says Carosella. "But it's a great way to buy a home."

For a free booklet about mortgage insurance, call 1-800-876-4343.

Winston Churchill in a 1940 speech, his first as British prime minister, told the House of Commons, "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat."

Plainview succeeds at economic development because:

1. Its industrial foundation is directed by 18 board members, plus 10 ex-officio members.
2. The foundation was organized in 1984 by private businesses, who elect the board of directors.
3. The board has guidelines for industries that it will not pursue, including those that would be pollution-risks or high-users of water.
4. The public moneys ($50,000) donated each year from the County and City government can only be used for one purpose—salaries for an economic development staff.
5. The community supports economic development through direct involvement with its growth programs.

Plainview has broad representation on its development board, strict accountability to the taxpayers, guidelines for growth and community consensus.

Hereford can compete for new industry without Proposition 1.

SPEAKING OF LANGUAGES

NEW YORK (AP) - While English is spoken by 426 million people around the world, it is not the world's most widely used language.

That distinction belongs to Mandarin, spoken by 806 million people.

By comparison, 308 million people speak Spanish, 287 million speak Russian, German is spoken by 118 million and 115 million people speak French.

However, it's estimated that three quarters of the world's mail is written in English and 80 percent of all information in computerized data banks worldwide is stored in English.

Proposition 1 asks for your trust in:

1. An appointed, five-member corporation which will use $300,000 of your taxes every year.
2. A program which has no guidelines for the community's direction of growth.
3. The prerogative to keep target industries and negotiations secret.

When that much public money is involved, it becomes more than a matter of trust -- it is business. Would a bank be willing to loan out $300,000 every year simply on the basis of trust? Before we lend our tax dollars, local voters should be as discriminating as any good loan officer.

It is only good business sense to expect accountability when public money is involved.

Vote against Proposition 1 on May 5th.
