Do You Remember?

JULY 1, 1904

On Sunday afternoon, June 18th, at 4 o'clock, Miss Ella Hodges was married to Mr. Lile of Plainview at the home of the bride's mother in west Hereford, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. B. McGee.

From the continued stir and work by the several leaders of the Democrats and the seemingly tumbled up condition of the party, it may be that it would be wise for us to conclude that Parker, Hearst, Gorman and all the others heretofore mentioned will be dropped at St. Louis and get ourselves into readiness for the springing up of a presidential nominee with the same meteoric suddenness and inspiring brilliancy with which from Chicago in 1896 William Jennings Bryan flashed forth.

For the third time this week it becomes our sad duty to chronicle the death of someone of Hereford's inhabitants. As we go to press we learn of the death of Mrs. L. Gough which occurred soon after midnight last night.

The farmers' meeting at the court house Saturday was, in the main, a dismal failure, there being only a few present. The primary purpose of the meeting was to decide whether or not there would be a picnic in Hereford on July 4th. Owing to the lack of enthusiasm, it was voted unanimously to have no picnic.

On Friday night of last week Jupiter Pluvius appeared in a dense cloud in the west and sent refreshing rains to almost all parts of the Panhandle.

JACK LONDON, famous he-man novelist, is convincingly portrayed in a screen biography by Michael O'Shea, pictured above with Susan Hayward, who plays the part of Charmian London. The picture is especially concerned with London's part as a war correspondent in the Russo-Japanese War of 1904, when London became convinced of the Jap menace to American security in the Pacific. The picture comes to the Texas screen next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

JULY 3, 1924

Even by surpassing the party record for continuous balloting, the Democratic convention had failed to nominate a candidate for the presidency Thursday night. At the close of the sixty-first ballot the convention adjourned. . . The McAdoo management blamed the favorite sons, who they said, by remaining in the race had prevented the real strength of both Governor Smith and Mr. McAdoo from being shown.

The cornerstone of the new Deaf Smith County Hospital was laid last Monday afternoon without formal ceremonies and with only members of the Commissioners Court as witnesses.

Seven men and a 20-gallon keg of doubtful corn "hooch" was the net result of a joint raid by peace officers of Deaf Smith and Odham counties last Sunday afternoon on the old George Sasche place or Jackson ranch, about 28 miles northwest of Hereford in Deaf Smith County.

About 40 National Guardsmen were busy Thursday preparing their camp outfits for movement to Fort Crockett, within the city limits of Galveston, where the annual summer camp will be pitched until July 21. The Hereford company is headed by Capt. Buford Parmer and Lt. A. L. Biggs.

E. W. Harrison advertised the net cash prices paid for 1923 wheat, Basis No. 1, from June 27, 1923 ($.90) to June 24, 1924, ($1.05).

NEWS ABOUT FOOD

from local W. F. A. Committee

SUMMER TOMATO TROUBLES
BLOSSOM SHEDDING. This condition apparently is brought on by more than one cause. It is, however, caused generally by blossom sterility or lack of proper pollination believed to be caused in the majority of cases by high temperature, high winds, and dry atmosphere and low humidity; first, set out large, thrifty tomato plants as early in the season as possible so that they will come into bloom and production prior to excessively hot, dry weather; second, even though pruning and staking of summer and fall tomatoes is not generally a recommended practice, pinching off all suckers up to the first flower cluster will provide more moisture and plant food for blossoms, thereby causing them to stick better as well as increasing the size of the fruit and hastening fruit ripening ten days to two weeks; third, spraying or sprinkling tomato plants with water every day or two, in the late afternoon, to lower the temperature and raise the humidity, seems to have some merit in slowing down blossom shedding. Then too, providing lattice shade or covering plants with paper or similar material during the hottest part of the day has helped in some instances. Even though it is late and difficult to correct blossom shedding on plants now blooming, summer plantings should be made with varieties known to be tolerant of excessive heat and low humidity. A good summer tomato, well adapted over a wide area of Texas, is the Porter variety. Other varieties that have shown remarkable resistance to shedding include the "Bison" and Danmark.

In some areas rains have been more than adequate and temperatures have not been unusually high, yet blossom shedding is very serious. In these cases, blossom loss apparently is generally due to a small, greenish brown, sucking insect or plant thrip that stings or sucks the blossom area causing it to shed. Three tablespoons black leaf 40 to 1 quart air slacked lime should correct this trouble. It may be necessary to repeat treatment once or twice.

The tomato plant thrives and produces best in an acid soil. In areas such as the Hereford territory, which are high in lime or calcium, the tomato plant often grows slowly and may show yellowing or chlorotic condition of the foliage. Such condition may induce blossom shedding. This trouble may be partially or entirely corrected by making up a solution composed of one pound iron sulphate to ten gallons of water. Apply 1-2 to 1 gallon of the solution per plant in the feeder roots area.

BLOSSOM END ROT: Troubles with this disease vary considerably from year to year. It makes its first appearance on the blossom end of the tomato when the fruits are from the size of a marble to that of a fifty cent piece. It is evidenced by black sunken areas varying in size from very small at first to a size that may include a large part of the fruit. The trouble is usually more severe when alternating rains with hot, dry weather prevail. Continued hot, dry weather, without rains may cause severe outbreak. Providing a uniform supply of moisture during the fruiting season as well as removing and destroying affected fruits generally reduces the trouble considerably.

Fall Tomatoes
Rutgers, Marglobe or Break O'Day are good Fall varieties. Apply 200 pounds of 5-10-5 fertilizer per acre and sow the seed directly into the row. Use 1-4 pound seed per acre in rows 5 to 6 feet apart. Cover the seed 1-2 to 1 inch deep. Thin the plants to 2 feet apart in the row when they have reached a height of 6 to 8 inches. Cultivate shallow and water thoroughly at 7 to 10 day intervals.

"The foreign missionary movement of Christianity is a symbol of the fact that the church stands for the unification of men and nations under the laws of brotherhood which are the laws of God as Christ revealed them," says Dr. Douglas Horton of Boston, Mass. "In all nations it attempts to bring into being a type of men and women who, governed by their own conscience, can be trusted to keep the welfare of mankind to the fore. The foreign missionary movement of the church is opposed to the international hatred which is being disseminated today and bids the nations which are to gather at the peace table, if they have any concern for their own future, to build their new world order on the foundation of the Christian principles of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

Summerfield MRS. GUY WALSER

Harvest is in good swing now. The wheat has averaged from 25 to 41.3 bushels to the acre. Some of the wheat is still too green to cut. Forbes Blakemore had a field of dry land wheat that averaged 41.3 bushels an acre.

The Summerfield elevator, owned by Pitman Grain Co. of Hereford, is being run by Harry Cannon, John Hicks and Marlon Clark. There have been several cars shipped out and the elevator is full at this time.

Several women are driving wheat trucks. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lookingbill of Amarillo spent Sunday visiting relatives here and in Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Huckert received word recently that their son Mike, who is stationed somewhere in Alaska, was in the hospital. He broke his left arm when it was caught between two box cars while he was helping load supplies.

Lt. Kenneth Neill, who has been visiting his parents, has gone to Lincoln, Neb., for further training.

Ernest Key of Freedom, Okla., is working for W. H. Walser. A shower of rain fell Monday night. It was welcome on the row crops and gardens, but not on the wheat as it stopped the cutting for a day.

Mrs. Cleo Wade of Oklahoma

The Cow with a Complacent Ego

City is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Atchley. Mrs. Wade was formerly Miss Gertrude Atchley.

Mrs. Shirley Foreman of Dalhart spent the week end with her father, C. B. Thomas and sister, Mrs. Ross Royce and Mrs. Marvel Upton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kendall, who have been in Hot Springs, N. M., returned from there last week. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coker have received from the State of Texas a certificate announcing that the name of Wesley Coker, was being placed on the State Honor Roll of men who have made the supreme sacrifice in World War II. The certificate was signed by Sidney Latham, Secretary of State, and Governor Coke R. Stevenson.

Sunday School and church was attended by 67 Sunday morning. There were several visitors present. They are always welcome. Lamona Neff celebrated her seventh birthday Saturday with a party at her home. Those enjoying the occasion with Lamona were Diane, David and Yvonne Walser, Allen Neff and Betty Jean Roland.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland, Chas and Nancy were business visitors in Amarillo Saturday.

Pfc. Thurman Atchley who is stationed at Dodge City, Kan., is here helping his father B. A. Atchley with harvest.

Mrs. Alvis Reed and son of Amarillo and Mrs. Hubert Anderson and baby of Houghton, Kans., spent the week-end with Mrs. Reed's brother Roy Coker and family. They also visited Mr. Reed who is here working in the harvest.

Miss Edith Neill and a friend from Canyon spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Neill.

Mrs. Bill Turner and baby of Friona are visiting her mother Mrs. Roy Coker this week.

Navy Announces Plans For Christmas Mail

The Navy Mail Service has already initiated plans to handle the volume of Christmas mail for Navy, Marine and Coast Guard personnel stationed overseas. Mail this year is expected to exceed last year's record figures, according to Eighth Naval District Headquarters at New Orleans.

The 30-day period from September 15 to October 15, 1944, has been designated as Christmas Mail Month for Bluejackets, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen outside the United States. With distances so vast and fleet operations so widespread, every effort should be made to mail early in this period in order to assure delivery of packages to men in the farthest outposts.

Christmas gift packages this year will be accepted for mailing only within the present limitations of weight and size—five pounds in weight, 15 inches in length and 36 inches in length and girth combined. Perishable articles will not be accepted for mailing and every effort will be made to discourage the mailing of fragile articles which cannot survive transportation to war zones.

Emphasis is being placed on the necessity of addressing packages properly. Incorrect addresses may hold up the mails an average of 90 days and sometimes longer. Last year, several thousand Navy Christmas packages were delayed due to this factor.

Plans are now being formulated by the War, Navy and Post Office Departments in conjunction with the Office of War Information and the War Advertising Council for a nationwide campaign to inform the public of all phases of Christmas mail regulations in an effort to secure wholehearted cooperation in mailing early, wrapping packages carefully, and addressing them properly with the purpose of insuring safe and prompt delivery of the servicemen's Christmas mail.

William Perry McMinn has finished boot camp at San Diego, Calif., and is now Seaman second class studying radar at Camp Mahan, Point Loma, Calif.

Seaman McMinn joined the Navy in April and before that time he was representative for the Texas Oil Company at Dimmitt. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McMinn of Hereford.

Miss Jessie Ann Buckner is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. Barbara Roles of Pampa.

Birth Announcement
Mr. and Mrs. Glen Oliver announce the birth of a daughter, Glenda Sue, on Tuesday, July 4.

Rev. and Mrs. Noel Bryant and children are visiting in Hereford. They are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Bryant.

Some of the war-winning activities in which WAVES are engaged—Left, Phyllis Hodgson, Dodgeville, Wis., Aviation Machinist's Mate, climbs into a plane preparatory to observing airplane motors under flight conditions; right, WAVE "cameramen" shooting scenes at maneuvers at Port Hueneme, Calif. Thousands of young women, 20 to 36, who have no children under 18, are needed in the WAVES.

Congress Makes Plans For Post-War Era

(Editor's Note: The following news letter is from Congressman Gene Worley.)

Everyone clearly recalls the economic chaos which was one of the aftermaths of the last World War. Millions who wanted to work and who were able to work could not find jobs. Soup kitchens and breadlines to feed the starving populace were set up. Agricultural products could not be sold and many farmers lost their farms. Business, both big and little, felt the clammy hand of bankruptcy on their throats. Grass and weeds grew in the streets.

This nation cannot afford another such catastrophe. And one big step taken to avoid the same crisis was taken on Jan. 26, 1944, when the House of Representatives set up a Special House Committee—the Committee on Postwar Economic Policy and Planning.

The wide scope of its authority and work can be grouped under the following ten subjects:

- (1) Equitable termination of war contracts.
- (2) Disposition of surplus war commodities and Government-owned plants in a manner to protect the Government and prevent the flooding of domestic markets.
- (3) Insure the continuation of free enterprise and bring about a cessation of wartime regimentation of the people.
- (4) Maintenance of the standard of the American way of life.
- (5) New markets, both foreign and domestic, for increased production.
- (6) Problems of demobilization and effect on unemployment.
- (7) Reemployment of demobilized soldiers and war workers.
- (8) Public works—Federal, State, and local—to the extent necessary to absorb the slack in employment by private industry.
- (9) Careful analysis of Federal statutes to determine which will retard and which will aid successful post-war conversion.
- (10) Generally to study the problems and make recommendations for the reconversion of a highly geared war machine economy to a peacetime basis with a minimum of government direction.

It will be the duty of this Committee, of which I had the good fortune to be named a member, to go thoroughly into each of the above subjects and to make recommendations to Congress. The Committee has been in constant session and has heard representatives of agriculture, industry, labor, business, both big and little, and many other men of national prominence and reputation in every known field. Hearings will be resumed immediately after the brief Congressional recess.

I would like to know what you think about any one or all of the ten points mentioned above. The action taken by Congress is bound to have effect on you no matter whether you are a farmer, rancher, business or professional man. One question alone, namely the disposition of millions of dollars worth of surplus war commodities which the government owns for war purposes, is a staggering problem. Should all of these commodities, from a can of tomatoes to a battleship, be dumped on the market, scrapped, or otherwise disposed of?

The question of public works—if they are necessary to absorb unemployed people—is of great importance. Each community in the Texas Panhandle is probably interested in an airport or a dam for irrigation or recreational purposes or a public building of some kind. Many postwar community plans are now in the making.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Hawkins and Mr. and Mrs. F. Y. Ross, both of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Wheelless and children and William Hawkins of Amarillo and Donald Hawkins of Austin have returned to their homes after being called here two weeks ago by the death of their father, D. W. Hawkins. Mrs. Donald Hawkins of Austin is remaining for a longer visit in the home of Mrs. D. W. Hawkins.

Mrs. Henry Gooch of Amarillo is a house guest of Mrs. Seth B. Holman this week.

W. S. C. S. Holds Fellowship Meet

Members of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church held the regular monthly Fellowship luncheon at the church yesterday.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mesdames E. W. Harrison, G. A. F. Parker, Lyle Blanton and D. H. Bryant. Daisies were used to decorate the luncheon tables.

Mrs. Forrest Minton, president, was in charge of the afternoon program. Mrs. W. S. Flutt gave an interesting talk on the hospitals and nurses work of the church in Africa.

Lutie Fox Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. T. E. Seigler Sr., with Mrs. D. W. Hawkins as leader next week.

Carrie Black Circle will meet in the home of Mrs. Harry Lomas with Mrs. Cawthon Bryant as leader.

WESTWAY H-D CLUB MEETS

Westway Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Merlin Kaul on Wednesday afternoon June 28, with Mrs. Chas. Burke as co-hostess.

At 1:30 o'clock luncheon was served buffet style and places were laid at quartet tables where a month-of-roses theme was carried out in decorations. Bouquets of sweet peas and larkspur centered the tables and place cards repeated the flower theme.

Mrs. Liston Wilson was in charge of the program on flower arrangement and demonstrated the correct arrangement and use of flowers by decorating the Kaul home.

Mrs. Kaul, who is yard demonstrator of the club, told of the improvements made in her yard and outlined plans for an outdoor fireplace.

Guests of the club included Mrs. C. F. Rickels, Bippus Club, Mrs. Liston Wilson, Wyche Club, Mrs. Olin Cook of Kellerville, Mrs. H. M. Thomas and Agnes Burke.

Members present were Mesdames Roger Brumley, Clinton Jackson, Maurice Tannahill, Chas. Burke, Paul Rudd, Claude Caison, Jim Bookout, Buren Sowell, Moody Stephan, Hughes Millard, Grady Wilson, Joe Landers, Phillip Miller, T. B. Cox, Earl Little, Roy Lee Wilson, Carl Schroeder, A. C. Pierce, W. S. Rice, the hostess and children of the members.

Inner Tubes Off Rationed List

Moving to conserve tires by making new inner tubes more readily obtainable, the Office of Price Administration has announced the removal of all inner tubes from rationing. In explanation, officials stated that a good tube properly inflated will extend the life of a tire. The inner tube stockpile has grown enough to meet the anticipated future demand for 1,500,000 tubes a month. At the same time, officials estimated that conditions would prevent "A" gasoline card drivers from receiving tires until early next year.

MRS. SAM HUNTER
Sunday morning, Rev. C. W. Williams of Dimmitt preached to a very small group of people at the schoolhouse. Plans were discussed for the Union Daily Vacation Bible School and Revival which it is hoped may be held later in the summer.
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Richardson and their sister-in-law of Shreveport, La., arrived last week to spend a month or so on their farm here.
Mrs. Clyde Renfro and O. C. returned home last week after visit with Mrs. Renfro's parents in Arkansas.
Sgt. Orval Pierce of Blacklands Army Flying School at Waco arrived Sunday to spend a ten-day furlough, with his mother, Mrs. Finis Hunter and his family.
We were very happy to hear last week that the families of our two fighting men in France had received letters from them, dated since the invasion began. Both letters were date-lined "Somewhere in France," and though neither could, of course, give any details, each said its writer was O.K. The letters were really good news to the home folk. The letter received by the Andrews family from their son, Pfc. Cye Andrews, Jr., of the Infantry was dated June 10; and that received by Mr. and Mrs. Clem Gilliam from Pvt. John Hardy Wood, who is a tank driver in an armored division, was dated June 18. John Hardy who landed with the first troops spoke of the severity of the first five days fighting.

Point Values Restored On Some Vegetables
George W. Wilson, District Food Rationing Officer for the Office of Price Administration, has announced point value changes for processed foods and rationed meats for the period July 2 through July 29. Point values have been restored to three canned vegetables—asparagus, peas, and tomatoes. Point value for the No. 2 size can of asparagus is 10 points; for peas, 5 points; and for tomatoes, 5 points. Branded, spiced or pickled fruits are restored to the list of rationed canned goods with the same point values as other canned fruits.

Effective July 2, point values were restored to previously point-free best cuts of lamb and choice beef steaks, and roasts were raised in point value slightly.
Butter and margarine and American cheddar cheese remain unchanged in point value. Group 11 and 111 cheeses, which have been point-free for a two-weeks period have been given a ration value of four red points per pound, compared with 10 points before the point-free period.

Wheat is Rolling

IN A BIG HARVEST SEASON

Thanks to the Ladies!

PLENTY OF PEOPLE were worried about harvesting the 1944 crop . . . SOME even said it couldn't be done. However, tractors are running smoothly, combines are whirring and trucks are grinding their way to the elevators—with choice grain to feed a nation at war!

The 1944 HARVEST IS FAR FROM FINISHED, but one reason Harvest has gone this far can be seen by watching our scales and noting the large number of women and girls who are driving pick-ups and trucks . . . we've seen them on tractors and on combines . . . even our scales are "manned" by girls. We are proud of them and of their spirit.

THERE ARE MANY PROBLEMS yet to be faced as wheat continues to roll in . . . No one can foresee or solve them ahead of time. However, we want to assure you that we will tackle these problems with the same spirit you have tackled your jobs . . . that we will work them out to offer you every possible advantage, serving you at all times to the best of our ability.

Water Reservoir Ample After 10-Year Use

Underground water reservoirs have withstood the big pumping draft of the past ten years very well, according to a report issued this week by the Texas State Board of Water Engineers, which shows that only in relatively small parts of the most heavily pumped territory of the High Plains has there been any serious decline in the water level.

In general, the report provides an effective answer to any charges that the High Plains irrigation district is being "pumped dry," and reports from the Hereford territory appear excellent in comparison with the district as a whole.

The report, prepared by the state board in cooperation with the U. S. Geological Survey, first traces the development of well irrigation in the High Plains from 1911 to 1944, showing the slow development from 1911 to 1934 and the rapid development of irrigation after that date.

According to the state board, their reports are based on records collected each year from dealers in pumps, from individual farmers, county agricultural agents and others; and from these records estimates have been made of the total number of wells operated each year, the acreage irrigated and the acre-feet of water pumped.

Measurement Explained
Quoting from the report: "In the pumping districts of the High Plains, most of the water is drawn from sands that range from 100 to 300 feet below the land surface, whereas the upper limit of the zone of saturation, called the water table, is in general less than 80 feet below the surface. When wells are pumped, water moves downward to replace the pumped water, the upper part of the zone of saturation becomes unwatered and the water table declines. If the ground water is replenished by infiltration from the surface and by movement from outside areas faster than it is withdrawn, the water table rises.

"If it is possible to compute the scientific yield of the water bearing formation—that is, the ratio between the volume of water that drains out to the volume of material that is drained as the water table declines, the quantities of water taken from storage can be estimated from water table measurements and such estimates have been made from the Plainview and Hereford districts. It has been found that the most dependable information regarding net annual losses from or additions to storage in the ground water reservoirs in pumping districts and closely adjacent territory can be obtained by comparing water level measurements made in successive years in the late winter or early spring before irrigation has been started.

Hereford District Records
The records of 42 observation wells distributed over an area of about 450 square miles comprising most of the Hereford district have been used as a basis for computing the net change in water levels from February, 1943, to February, 1944. In 41 of the wells, there was a decline ranging from 0.2 foot in areas of moderate pumping to 3.9 feet in the most heavily pumped part of the district. One well near the Frio Draw showed a rise of 0.3 foot. The average net decline in the 42 wells was 1.4 feet, as compared with an average decline in the Plainview territory of 1.43 feet.

A Trimming

While Republican National Convention delegates were figuring how to spend their time between opening day and nominating time, New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the man they named, took it all calmly. Here he is, cool as a cucumber, getting a trim preparatory to his acceptance speech.

Of 56 wells studied for water level measurements, 51 showed a decline from 1938 to 1944 ranging from 0.3 foot to 7.0 feet and averaging 2.5 feet, whereas five wells showed a range from 0.5 foot to 2.0 feet and averaged 1.0 foot. The average net decline was 2.3 feet from March, 1938 to February, 1944; and the maximum drop was reported near the center of a district where 100 wells are pumped in an area of about 50 square miles—an average of one well for every 300 acres.

Though the general tendency, as pointed out, was toward a slow decline of the water level, one well located about three quarters of a mile from Tierra Blanca Creek, showed a rise of 4.4 feet in the ten year period from 1934 to 1944.

Water Used Productively
As in the Plainview District and most other irrigation sections of the high plains, the graphic illustration of changing water levels in the Hereford District shows a gradual decline from 1936 to 1938, a more rapid fall from 1939 to 1940, and a rise during the wet years of 1941 and 1942, which was followed by another slight drop in 1943.

In general, the rate of decline is believed to be normal and not nearly so heavy as might be expected considering the unprecedented growth of irrigation in the High Plains during the past ten years.

In 1943, approximately 2,950 wells were operated in 14 counties and about 400,000 acres were irrigated from them. This year the number of wells and the resulting contribution to the war food program is still greater.

We don't know how to pronounce it either, but the Zulu word "Ukukulelankoko" in the old days of Africa meant "spoils for the king," or in modern language "loot" or "booty." When the fierce Zulu warriors made their marauding wars on their less warlike neighbors they killed the men but returned with captured women, children, cattle and other plunder. The spoils were divided, and the best went to the king. Now that Christianity has tamed these fierce warriors, and there are no more wars upon unsuspecting neighbor villages, the word "Ukukulelankoko" has taken on a more civilized meaning: it is now the equivalent of our "harvest home festival." Each South African autumn the Zulus carry to market the best of their herds and their farm products; these are sold in the school or church compound; and the proceeds are made an offering to the church—the "Ukukulelankoko for the King of kings."

Care Is Needed for Control of Black Spot Fungus on Roses

(Note—Mrs. C. D. Carnahan, member of the Garden Club, prepared this article for the benefit of those interested in the growing of roses.)

Although your roses may have black spot, it is well to know what can be done to keep them from becoming further victims of disease and pest. Once a rose is affected by disease, its vitality is weakened and special treatment should be given to build it up.

The rose is probably the best known and best loved of all flowers. The many kinds may be divided roughly into three main classes; bedding roses, climbers and shrubs.

The control of rose enemies is much simpler than it sounds for a few minutes of care each week will give luxuriant foliage.

Actually they are less trouble than most plants. The only thing to remember is to care for them regularly, not spasmodically.

Although the germination of black spot fungus is reduced with hot, dry weather dusting and spraying should be continued until the disease is well under control. All affected leaves should be clipped in a bag and burned. There is no cure for a leaf after infection, and by removing it at once the danger of the disease spreading is lessened. The disease is easily recognized by black irregular circular spots with a radiating margin on the leaves, which may turn yellow and drop off.

A dusting mixture which is effective against black spot is nine parts of fine dusting sulphur and one part of arsenate of lead.

Survey on Price Ceilings For Durable Goods

A consumer durable goods survey, including such items as furniture, hand tools, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, and cook stoves, is under way throughout the District, the Office of Price Administration reports.

"Because there have been fewer of these items for sale, the demand for them has increased many fold, and in counties where there have been any of these items for sale there have been complaints on prices," District officials stated.

The survey, scheduled to end by July 15, is to determine how well price ceilings are being observed.

Forbidden Path

Two American infantrymen hold their guns at the alert, ready for a Nazi trick as they look down a path in Italy labeled Verboten Weg—Forbidden Path. Apparently the sign was put up by the Germans to discourage their troops from straying into harm's way, or maybe to the safety of capture.

Around Town

Mrs. C. O. Wilkins of Streu Hardware Company has been attending the gift market in Dallas this week.

Don't know whether it came off or not—but Mr. and Mrs. Homer Henslee, Jr., planned to play hosts last Sunday to a reunion of all the Herefordites temporarily stranded in New York. Among those invited were Capt. Bill Phillips, Rex Tynes, Jr., Ens. Paul Coneway and Elyse Wilkins Smith and Barbara Brotherton. WAVES stationed at Hunter College. Also to be present were Mrs. H. E. Henslee and daughter Mary Ellen, who are visiting their son and brother in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith plan to leave Sunday for Long Beach, Calif., where they will spend the next four or five months. Bill is making the change for the sake of his health. During the Smith's absence their home on Miles Avenue will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mathies and family.

Bond sales last Saturday at the booth in front of the J. C. Penney Store totaled $918. The booth will be kept open this Saturday and will offer a convenient opportunity for persons who have not yet bought their "E" bonds to make purchases.

Some of Henry Hoffman's friends think he is getting a little over-enthusiastic about his "50 bushel wheat." In fact some of the boys think Henry should go to work right now to get someone to help him spend the money.

good, were being reported this week; and the unusually large oat and barley crop is adding to the storage problem set by the shortage of freight cars.

Grain bins, moved into the territory two years ago, may help solve part of the storage problem. Details on purchase or rental of the bins may be obtained at the local AAA office.

to the clerk's office during the day, may phone Mr. Thompson at No. 643, or his assistant, Miss Lillye London at No. 321, to get absentee ballots.

Soldiers who have paid their poll tax and otherwise qualified under Texas law, are eligible to vote in the primaries and general election, Mr. Thompson said; however, because of the complicated system of absentee voting in Texas, it is doubtful if many men will be able to use the regular ballot. The short Federal Ballot may be used in the general election, if the soldier's poll tax has been paid and he has otherwise complied with Texas law; but because of the poll tax ruling, most Texas servicemen will probably find themselves without a vote.

Captain Wedel

that American airmen in town are followed by crowds of Chinese, who grin, lift up their fingers and yell "Ding Eoo", which according to Captain Wedel means "everything O. K." Evidently the Hereford man saw some of the work done by Chinese preparing landing fields for the huge B-29's for he comments on the remarkable building achievements of coolies, whose work is almost entirely hand labor.

Captain Wedel's first tour of foreign duty was in the South American area. He has been in the Asiatic Theatre for the past several months.

His wife and young son, Louis Karl, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wedel, live in Hereford.
