IT'S DANGEROUS to attempt dry cleaning at home. Even the simplest effort to clean with naphtha, gasoline or other cleaning fluids may result in fatal burns not to mention damage to property.  We are doing our best to see that you get your new car as quickly as possible

We want to thank our customers and prospective customers for your friendly patience while awaiting your new Chevrolet.

We know it is a hardship to wait for needed transportation; but we believe you will understand that we, and Chevrolet, are as eager to deliver cars as you are to obtain them. Unfortunately, production so far this year is far under expectations. Chevrolet Motor Division sums up the situation thus:

"Even though our rate of production normally exceeds that of any other manufacturer, we have been able to build, up to July 1, only 12.4 per cent as many cars as we had built up to that date in 1941. Production is still far below normal, because of frequent shortages of essential materials and parts. Strike after strike at the plants of our suppliers has seriously impeded our progress toward full production, and the cumulative effect severely hampers every manufacturing and assembly plant. In June we were able to build only 29.2 per cent as many cars as we produced in the same month in 1941."

While production is restricted, so—in proportion—are shipments of cars to us. As production increases, we are assured of getting our proportionate share of the total—and as quickly as cars are received, we will speed deliveries to our customers.

Remember—Our CAR-SERVICE is your best CAR-SAVER. Keep your present car "rolling" until you get delivery of your new Chevrolet by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals.

MY...MY...WHATTA LUSCIOUS TIDBIT FO' AH MIDNIGHT SNACK!

This is a story about some chickens and a bull-frog . . . and it's no bull!

Anyway, Colby Conkwright swears to the truth of the tale, and has witnesses; and the frog's dead and the chickens aren't talking, so that's the way it is.

The story should start with "Once Upon a Time," but it's not a fairy tale, so we'll begin by telling you that Colby had some three-week-old chicks whose mama hadn't told them not to go near the water . . . so they did. "The water" happens to be a stock tank on the Conkwright farm north of Hereford. And in the stock-tank there lived a frog. He was a big frog in a little pool. And his eyes were even bigger than his stomach, and his mouth was bigger than both of them.

But this is Colby's story, and the way he tells it, he came upon the frog just about dinnertime . . . the frog's dinner time . . . and here was this frog trying

The Goodnight Trail

By EVETTS HALEY
 Canyon, Texas

Cowman, historian and author of "Charles Goodnight, Cowman and Plainsman" and other Southwestern books

By far the most important course for cattle westward from Texas was the Goodnight Trail—a trail burned deep into the memories of men by bloody Indian warfare, droughty drives and dying cattle, dry water holes and alkali dust, tragic death and bitter disappointment. It began on the Cross Timber frontier of Texas in 1866; it frizzled out on the ranges of New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming in the late eighties.

It developed from the historic fact that at the end of the Civil War the blockaded ranges of Texas were overrun with Longhorn cattle, coupled with the further fact that in a time when no other means of transportation was available they could carry themselves to any distant market.

In the troubled days of 1866 when only the brave and vigorous would venture, Charles Goodnight and Oliver Loving, prominent frontiersmen in Texas, left the border with a herd in search of a market. They circled the worst of the Comanche country in the Panhandle of Texas by swinging south and west down the old trace of the Butterfield Southern Mail, through what is now the Abilene and San Angelo country. They crossed to the Pecos at Horsehead and turned up that salty and unsettled stream to the first habitation upon it, Fort Sumner, New Mexico, where the Navajo tribe was corralled by the army, and where the drivers sold their cattle.

Then with characteristic frontier vision and bold enterprise, they pushed later extensions of their trail across Trinchera Pass in the Raton Mountains, skirted the foothills of the Greenhorns, crossed the Arkansas at Pueblo, pointed their herds for weary miles across the Great and High Plains and left Texas cattle, weary of work, and tales and talk on the virgin grass around Cheyenne. Other branches turned off to take the cowboy and his herds to the arid ranges of Arizona, and even the lush grasslands of the Pacific Coast. For the Texans without markets a boom in beef began to flourish along the Goodnight Trail.

But troubles swept in like the Southwest wind. The Comanches came down from the Plains to depredate, and the Mesquero Apaches lurked on the left flank in New Mexico. They stampeded many cattle and killed and scalped many men. Near present Carlsbad they wounded and killed Oliver Loving who helped open the trail, and whose name is perpetuated in a Texas County and a New Mexico town.

Some seventy years later New Mexico marked the Goodnight Trail across the state, and the Legislature of Texas commemorated its founder by designating the pavement into the Palo Duro Park, where the great pioneer had come as the Panhandle's first ranchman in 1876, as the modern Goodnight Trail.

Thus out of the travail and tragedy of its founders, and its dimming traces cut in grama-clad soil by the flinty hoofs of its thousands of longhorns, come historic memories of bold and venturesome spirits—memories to enrich the trips of all who comfortably glide along the Southwest's marked and modern trails.

Allan Shivers Is People's Favorite

Senator Allan Shivers, in thanking the voters of Texas for the heavy lead they gave him in the July primary to make him the favorite candidate for lieutenant governor, also warned citizens that attempts will be made by "scheming minority pressure groups" to defeat him in the August 24 run-off.

The Jefferson County legislator, lawyer and farmer, pointed with pride to the overwhelming support which he received in his present home county and in the county where he was reared to manhood. Shivers, a World War II combat war veteran (the only veteran in this race), polled approximately 75 per cent of the votes in Jefferson County, his present home, and was a 25 to 1 favorite over his runoff opponent in Tyler County, where he spent his youth.

"I am deeply grateful for the confidence the people of Texas have shown in me and the progressive program for Texas which I advocate," Shivers said "I shall strive even harder to work for the welfare of Texas." "Because I represent the masses of the people, there will be those in the runoff campaign who will conspire to defeat me," Shivers predicted. "I will not be swayed by these radical minority groups—the C. I. O. noise-makers in particular. My opponent is welcome to the support which they are giving him. I will continue to fight for the right and welfare and progress of our people who make up the backbone of Texas."

Streu's Diary

DEAR DIARY:

V-J Day—the end of another war—and the beginning of still another war—a war of nerves? Possibly, but a war of nerves usually ends up in a shooting war. It has been said that if everyone would quit talking about war there would be no more war—and I agree—if we could just get the rest of the world to quit talking about it. But—can we afford to ignore storm warnings and signals—hide our heads in the sand again? Who knows the answers?

Which brings us to the war for merchandise — and the OPA (which, like the poor) is still with us. OPA was reinstated to hold prices down—but the pressure is too great and prices are rising—with the consent of OPA. The black market is flourishing—dozens—or hundreds of Deaf Smith County people are contributing to higher prices and the black market barons by buying things they "just have to have" at prices much above ceilings. They are the ones who cause excessive prices—not the merchants—not OPA—not labor—not the black marketers. A little patience, a little waiting, and most of the things people need will appear on the shelves of reputable merchants—at prices which are reasonable—out, so long as individuals will pay double in a mad scramble to get scarce items—just so long will scarce items remain scarce—just so long will most of these items flow where the most profit can be made. Think it over—are you helping the black market?

There will be a battle at Streu's for a few days—just received a large shipment of FIESTA! Not enough to furnish full sets, but enough to replace broken pieces in most everyone's cabinet.

The Weber Fly Display in our window is attracting considerable attention—we don't have the flies shown—the display was loaned to us by Jim French—he doesn't have a stock of flies either. But the display is nice to look at—and indicates the things to come—in the future.

Going on a two-weeks trip to the mountains with the Scouts—a vacation—for the Scouts. As is always the case with volunteer work, there is a desperate need for more Scout leaders—will you help?

STREU.

Stanton Looks Over 1946 Football Prospects For Whiteface Herd and Finds Them Good

Despite the fact that the weather is still more reminiscent of a griddle than a gridiron, Coach H. V. (Pop) Stanton is already talking football.

While muttering in his root beer about the grand old game, the veteran Whiteface mentor managed to drop a few hints about the 1946 season's prospects for the Hereford Herd . . . and they're not bad.

With 11 lettermen from the 1945 District Champion squad coming back for the season, Coach Stanton is shedding no tears. Even recalling the loss of six 1945 regulars via the graduation route brings only a brief lament.

The Herd will be able to field a complete team from the ranks of 1945 lettermen, and some promising youngsters are coming up to give the old men a run for their positions.

Four good backs are on the roster, headed by Jim Worrell, 1945 All-District fullback. Others are Freddie Glose, Jimmie Whitaker, and Captain-elect Johnny Rogers.

Two other all-district players will plug the line: Jimmie Easley at guard and Raymond Leub at end. James Ellis Higgins will be put for other guard position. Neely Kimbrough and Jack Simmons, last year's tackles, are due to return; and John Dyer will be one of the leading candidates for the center slot.

Two promising backs from the ranks of non-letter men are Leo Hennington and Wilson. Roger and Buddy Corbett and Trigger Carlisle are also slated for the squad.

Biggest shortage for the Whiteface squad this fall will be in the reserve department, and even that may be remedied by a good turn-out of new men this fall.

Last to the team by way of graduation are six of last year's stars, Joe Bishop, quarterback and co-captain; Davis, all district halfback; Hagar, tackle; Oakes, all district tackle; Orr, described by Stanton as the best guard in the district; and J. B. Sowell, co-captain and end.

The squad will begin workouts on Monday, September 2, and Coach Stanton hopes to run a two-day schedule until school starts the following week.

A new assistant coach will join the Whiteface Herd this fall. He's Dalton Criswell, late of the U. S. Marines and former grid star at North Texas State College at Denton.

The Herd will open the season at Sudan on Friday the 13th . . . a date which Coach Stanton hopes will mean bad luck for the Sudan Hornets, who will be dedicating a new stadium on that date.

Coaches to Attend Oklahoma School

Coach H. V. Stanton and Assistant Coach Dalton Criswell are planning to leave here this week-end to attend a Coaching School opening at Oklahoma City on Monday, August 19, and continuing through the 24th.

Michigan's Fritz Crisler and Boston College's Ed McKeever will be the main attractions on the Coaching faculty.

OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES

Ask for the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown tube

Ever notice how a toy balloon will shrink to half its size overnight, even though the stem is tightly sealed? Scientists explain how the air works its way through the rubber, but the point is, the same thing happens in a smaller degree with most all inner tubes.

B. F. Goodrich is now making a new tube that cuts the escape of air. It holds air many times longer than prewar tubes.

Constant air pressure gives tires better mileage and lessens the chances of damage from cuts and bruises.

The new B. F. Goodrich tube is tougher... resists tearing better. If punctured, is less likely to split or be seriously injured.

For quicker delivery of both the tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES and the tube made to go with it, see us soon.

Revival Meeting Opens Sunday At Assembly of God

A revival meeting will open Sunday, August 18, at the Assembly of God Church, Rev. S. E. Edridge, local pastor, announced this week.

Rev. J. E. Neely of Denver, Colorado, will be in charge of the services. Rev. Neely has spent several years as young people's supervisor in the Rocky Mountain District.

For the past two years he has been Home Mission director for the district.

Services will begin each night at 8 o'clock.

Eight telephone extensions, serving all departments of the bank, will be installed, with two outside lines. New telephone numbers will be 435 and 436.

R. W. Baird

Mr. Baird used to recall that when he first came to the Panhandle, to work on the T-Anchor ranch, his postoffice address was at Old Tascosa, 50 miles from ranch headquarters.

He took part in several cattle drives from T-Anchor headquarters to Kiowa, Kansas, the nearest shipping point to the Chicago market. After leaving the T-Anchor, he worked for a time for the L. S. ranch southwest of Tascosa, and took part in one drive from Tascosa to Miles City, Montana.

After returning to the Panhandle and his own ranch, he moved into Hereford in 1903 in order to be near school for his children, and with L. R. Bradley, operated a feed store here for several years. In 1910 he was elected sheriff of Deaf Smith county, an office which he held for three terms, from 1910 until 1916. He returned to his ranch 12 miles southeast of Hereford, and was active in the ranching and cattle business until his recent illness.

Full banners at the services Wednesday were George Beams, John McLean, E. H. Norton, Edwin Ramey, J. E. Cockrell, and Dave Alexander.

calling for 880 square feet of floor space, the other for 890 square feet. The houses will be of frame stucco construction, 28 by 32 feet, and will include four rooms and a bath. The $5,000 top specified by the Veterans Administration includes the cost of the lot, and installation of all plumbing and sewage facilities.

Since the site selected for the project is outside the present city limits, pressure pumps and septic tanks are included in the building specifications. Gas and electric utilities will be installed.

Veterans Get Priority

Each veteran will be required to secure his own priority for materials and building permit, Smith said, and construction can be started as soon as these are ready.

gainst consolidation — and to afford those voting against consolidation ample time to make other arrangements. Trustees of the Hereford district also cite that any outside district expecting to enter students in the Hereford schools next year must have held consolidation elections and completed the entire consolidation movement prior to January 1, 1947. The above date is necessary in order that accomodations may be arranged, including buses and additional classroom facilities.

Four outside districts are voting on consolidation August 21. In event the election carries "For Consolidation," these districts will, of course, pay no tuition charge this year as they will be part of the Hereford Independent School District. In case the election falls, the Jan. 1, 1947, deadline date will allow these schools to make arrangements for their children in 1947-48.

The trustees have voted to place an order immediately for two school buses to be used to transport students within the Hereford Independent District. As you know, buses are extremely hard to secure and it may be some time before they are delivered. However, we wish to assure our patrons that the buses will be put into operation at the earliest possible time and that additional buses will be purchased in due time, depending upon consolidation of other districts and possible needs which may arise.

We full well realize considerations on both sides of this question. It is not our aim to "force" anyone to do something which they do not desire; after carefully weighing all facts within our means, we have tried to do what is fair and right, and with these things in mind we wish to assure you that we have investigated the legal aspects in full, that we are within our rights, and that we expect to carry out the above plan — especially in regard to operation for the 1947-48 term. We are determined to have Good Schools in Hereford. We invite the rural districts to come in, do your part — and make them even better.

School District.
