Clements expands special session

Two jailed on drug charges

Two Amarillo men were arrested Saturday by Hereford police on charges of possession of heroin.

Hereford police said in a prepared statement that Detective Cpl. Mike Ahrens was told by an informant that Juan Elizondo, 35, and Martin Pesina, 30, were trying to sell heroin in an alley in Hereford. When Ahrens and Corporal Israel Silva attempted to stop the suspects, the two men fled.

Assisted by Deputy Sheriff Fidel Reyna, Ahrens and Elizondo chased the suspects through Hereford. The high speed chase ended at Second and Lawton. Officers did not discover drugs on Elizondo and Pesina when they were captured, but found eight individually wrapped packages of heroin along the chase route.

Elizondo and Pesina were each charged with possession of a controlled substance, heroin. Elizondo was also charged with evading arrest and reckless driving. A $50,000 bond was placed on each of the men by Justice of Peace Johnnie Turrentine.

City raises garbage fees

By CINDY POTTORFF
Staff Writer

The Hereford City Commission decided to raise sanitation fees at Monday night's meeting. Residential rates will increase $1 per month, bringing the cost to $5.50 per month. Rates are being increased so the city will be able to comply with new federal and state regulations.

Brownlow Brothers was awarded the $20,000 bid to replace the roof on the Fullwood Building.

Brown, Graham and Company was appointed as the City of Hereford's auditor for the upcoming year. Gerhardt & Puckett wanted to be the city's auditor.

"Both are capable firms; why fix something that's not broken?" asked Commissioner Terry Langehenning.

Brown, Graham and Company has been the city's auditor since 1984.

Felberto Vallenjo was told by commissioners that he must stop operating his truck repair business out of his home. Doing so violates a city ordinance prohibiting operating a business out of one's home.

Numerous complaints had been lodged against Vallenjo because of noise, diesel fumes, and the large number of trucks parked at his home.

"If it's going to be like that, you need to enforce it against everybody that's doing it," Vallenjo told the commission.

"The commission sympathizes," Mayor Wes Fisher told Vallenjo, "but we can't do anything about your problem. You can park the trucks in my shed until you can make other arrangements."

The city will move forward with the demolition of dangerous buildings located in the 500 block of George Street, the 200 block of Kibbe, the 300 block of Avenue G, and the 200 block of Short.

A resolution supporting the city's proposed 1/2 percent sales tax for economic development was passed by the commission. The tax proposal will be on the May 5 ballot.

A transfer of $300,000 from the city's Water/Sewer Fund to the General Fund was authorized by the commission. The city keeps a surplus in the Water/Sewer Fund to cover unexpected expenses.

The Men's Golf Association and the Women's Golf Association will each be able to choose representatives to the city's Golf Advisory Board. Commissioners decided allowing the associations to each choose their own representative would allow greater flexibility.

One representative from the Men's Golf Association and one representative from the Women's Golf Association will sit on the Golf Advisory Board. Each will have a one-year term.

Three other people will sit on the Golf Advisory Board, one city commissioner and two people from the community at large. Each will have a two-year term.

Commissioners also decided to continue the city's DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program. Hereford was the first city in the Panhandle to implement the DARE program by reaching Sixth Graders throughout the city. Students, teachers, and Patrolman Roy Rector actively participate in the program.

Funding authorized for DARE is $36,783. The city hopes to get $19,426 of the sum through grants. The money goes toward salary, benefits, and expenses. Contributions to the DARE program are welcomed.

City Commissioner Bud Eades moved for the city to continue funding Kid's Inc. at $2,000 this year. The motion passed unanimously.

Mr. Lonnie Skelton and Mr. Fred Ruland were reappointed to the Board of Electrical Examiners. Authorization was granted for the city to drill test holes for a new water well.

Texas Tech Coach Spike Dykes, mascot "Raider Red," and Midnight Raider and his masked rider will appear here Wednesday during the annual Red Raider Club Day activities sponsored by the local chapter.

A free public reception is scheduled from 5 to 6 p.m. Wednesday at the Community Center for local Raider fans to meet Coach Dykes, Raider Red, and the masked rider and his horse. Fans are invited to bring their cameras to the event. A ticket table will also be set up to sell Tech football tickets or provide information on Tech games.

The local Red Raider Club chapter, headed by Dave Hopper, is also sponsoring a golf tournament and Ready for tornado drill

Emergency personnel at Deaf Smith General Hospital assist "patients" as they prepare for a tornado drill to be held next Monday at 7 p.m. The "patients" are co-workers at the hospital. Emergency workers from several county agencies will participate in the full-scale drill so they may be better prepared in the case of a real tornado or other emergency.

Tornado drill will test preparations

What would happen if a tornado hit Deaf Smith General Hospital?

A tornado almost did hit DSGH, almost 20 years ago in the last tornado to cause damage in Hereford. The tornado passed directly over the hospital.

On Monday night, in a full drill, a tornado will hit the hospital.

Unless the weather is too bad. You wouldn't want a full-scale tornado drill if it looks like there may be the real thing.

The drill will be the combined effort of the hospital, city and county law enforcement agencies and emergency personnel. Fire Marshall Jay Spain will coordinate all efforts as the city-and-county civil defense coordinator.

The full-scale drill will test all systems and responses. Tornado sirens will be sounded, and Spain will broadcast warnings and alerts on Hereford Cablevision. All announcements will be heard on all channels on the cable system with special equipment that can override the sound portion of broadcasts on all channels.

After the "tornado," Spain will make several announcements, provided the cable system still "works." If it doesn't, hospital personnel and other will look outside and make a determination of whether or not it is safe to go to the hospital. They will try to call the hospital: the phones may or may not work, depending on "tornado damage" and concerns that too many calls at the same time could blow out telephone circuits.

The "tornado" will strike at around 7 p.m. on Monday, with sirens and broadcasts announcing the impending strike. While emergency personnel will be going through their appointed tasks to prepare for the tornado, all residents are urged to hold their own drill. You can make sure that you are prepared in case a tornado does strike: go to a basement or cellar, or to an interior room on the lowest floor of your home. If you are in a mobile home, you should move to a safe shelter immediately. If you are in a car, you should quit driving, get out of your car and find a shelter or a low-lying spot that will not be flooded.

About 10 minutes after the tornado strikes, hospital personnel will begin calling the hospital to see where they need to go. Because the hospital will be "hit," the Hereford Community Center will become an emergency treatment area. Lisa Formby, a registered nurse at DSGH, said the hospital plans to move as many patients as they safely can from the hospital as if it were an actual emergency. Others (not actual hospital patients) will be placed in empty rooms to be evacuated.

Mrs. Formby also said several persons will be "injured," with makeup and other things used to make the injuries appear realistic. There will be several "traffic accidents" along with damage and injuries from the "tornado".

Because of the emergency situation, persons out driving on Monday evening will not be permitted near the hospital or the community center.

Officers with the sheriff's office will be directing traffic on Park Avenue and on Third Street. Only persons with a Deaf Smith General Hospital employee sticker on their car or other emergency workers will be permitted in the area.

"We feel like this is the time of the year that we really need to do this," Mrs. Formby said. "It has been so long since a tornado has hit here we need to work hard to be ready in case one does strike here."

Cold front drops rain, temperature

By The Associated Press

A cold front triggered showers and thunderstorms across the Red River valley and Low Rolling Plains early today.

Moist air from the Gulf of Mexico was moving northward across Texas as the cold front moved southward, meaning that the showers and thunderstorms will continue tonight and Wednesday.

Forecasts called for drizzle or light rain over most of West Texas except for the Concho Valley and lower Pecos valley tonight and Wednesday. The rest of the state will have scattered showers and thunderstorms through Wednesday.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the 40s and 50s, ranging from the 30s in the Panhandle to the upper 60s in South Texas along the coast.

Highs Wednesday will be mostly in the 60s and 70s, ranging from the 50s in the Panhandle to around 80 in South Texas and the lower 90s in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

The cold front had moved across the Panhandle by early today and was located from near Wichita Falls westward to south of Lubbock and into eastern New Mexico.

AUSTIN (AP) - Midway through a second special legislative session on school finance reform, Gov. Bill Clements predicted the session would end in failure.

But lawmakers today were expected to continue the battle when the House takes up $114.4 million in proposed budget cuts that would go toward education.

Meanwhile, legislative leaders ruled out a Texas lottery as a revenue source for increased school funding.

Clements, saying it was a precautionary measure, Tuesday opened the agenda of the session to include a bill designed to ensure schools stay open past a May 1 court deadline for reform.

"It's time to put aside the political bickering. This is no time for partisan brinkmanship," Clements said.

But the governor repeated his vow to cut any new taxes for education and indicated he would fight for deeper cuts when the House considers a measure to pay for school finance reform by slashing other state programs.

Lawmakers are in their second 30-day special session to address the Texas Supreme Court's ruling that the current method of financing public schools is unconstitutional because it allows huge disparities in funding available to property-rich and property-poor schools.

"I don't think that they (lawmakers) anticipate that this will be solved and put aside by May 1. I never have thought there would be any proper solution to this by May 1," Clements said.

Clements said opening the session was a precautionary measure to make sure schools get the state money they need to keep operating.

The legislation, filed earlier this month by state Reps. Bruce Gibson, D-Godley, and Harvey Hilderbrand, R-Uvalde, would allow the state to pre-pay education funds for the remainder of the school year.

Clements' action came at the same time the House budget-writing committee proposed trimming $114.4 million from other state programs for education.

Several committee members said they feared that when the bill is before the full House, it would open the floodgates to further budget cuts.

Clements said he and his staff have talked with several House members about proposing further cuts or fund transfers.

"We have ample funds that we could move around and curtail some other programs that will give us the necessary funds that we need for this school bill. I am confident that eventually that's exactly what we're going to do," Clements said.

But Senate leaders have said a tax bill is needed, and Speaker Lewis appeared to be leaning that way.

The House has passed a bill that would increase school funding by $450 million next school year, while the Senate measure would pump in $1.2 billion. Clements has outlined a proposal that would spend about $250 million.

"If I were guessing, I would say it's going to be very difficult to fund the current bill under any proposal without additional revenue," Lewis said.

Earlier, Lewis ruled out a Texas lottery as an option to help fund education.

He said there aren't the necessary 100 votes in the 150-member House to place a proposed constitutional amendment on creating a state lottery before voters.

State Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, a proponent of the lottery, said a lottery's chances are about the same as a school financing measure.

"Everything is dead right now. Lottery is going to pass itself. It's too attractive a method of raising funds when you compare it to other alternatives," such as implementation of a state income tax or an increase in the sales tax, he said.

Austin traffic court jammed by jury trials

AUSTIN (AP) - This city's traffic court used to hold jury trials one afternoon per week.

But that was before an Amarillo law firm - Miller and Herring - decided to test the speeding ticket market in Austin two years ago.

Since then, it's been life in the slow lane with tickets jammed in a crush of crowded dockets.

Now, there are three afternoons per week devoted to jury trials and the courts are seeking a fourth, and possibly a fifth day of trials.

Miller and Herring has one attorney handling the caseload of approximately 1,600 pending cases. It has already disposed of 1,000 or so speeding tickets. Jury trials for the firm's clients are now being scheduled for January 1991 and the backlog continues to grow.

The lone attorney in Austin for the firm - Pam Ogelsby - said she realizes the jury trials are a waste of time and taxpayer money, but said, "We're required by law to do the best we can for our clients."

"The best job I can do for my client is to set it for jury trial, make them bring in a jury, go to that expense and that extreme," she said.

Ms. Bowling said she respects the defendant's right to a jury trial, but said Ms. Ogelsby is taking advantage of the system.

When Ms. Bowling gets a jury conviction for one of Miller and Herring's clients she seeks the maximum penalty.

Ms. Ogelsby loses about 80 percent of her trials, but the firm comes out ahead when cases are dismissed, which is what happens every time a police officer fails to appear in court for a trial that he or she knows is probably not going to happen.

Some of the officers have left the force, some are busy with other duties, and some get tired of wasting their time.

Ms. Ogelsby said there is a simple solution to reduce the expense the city incurs: plea bargaining.

But the city frowns on that practice. Presiding Judge Harriet Brown said plea bargaining favors "the more wealthy people who can come up with those large special expenses, and poor people would not have that opportunity."

Some farmers want rain; others want dry weather

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Farmers in North Central Texas don't like the recent record rainfalls, but growers elsewhere, especially in dry South Texas, wish a spate of storms would move their way.

"Every region of the state except for the Rio Grande Valley is reporting 100 percent normal rainfall over the last three months," says Doug Bierstedt, head statistician for the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service in Austin.

"But considering the drought-like conditions over the past year, that's not much improvement," he said.

Elsewhere, the rain is delaying farmers' work.

"If the farmers in north central Texas don't get some open weather to finish their planning, they could get into a critical situation," Bierstedt said.

Rodney Jacques, a spokesman for the Texas Corn Growers Association based in Dimmitt, said it was too early to tell if the recent rains would bulk up the state's corn harvest.

"The rain is better than it has been," King said Monday. "I wouldn't say the drought is broken yet, because there are still isolated parts of the state that are still dry. General rain all over the state would boost the crop tremendously."

Carl King, a spokesman for the Texas Corn Growers Association based in Dimmitt, said it was too early to tell if the recent rains would bulk up the state's corn harvest.

North central Texas, also known as the Blacklands, produces about 20 percent of the state's wheat crop, said Bill Nelson, executive director of the Amarillo-based Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Rust, a disease which plagues wheat in drizzly, overcast conditions, seeps into the grain and cuts off its water supply, causing the stalk to grow crooked before dying, Nelson said.

Don Johnson, vice president of Plains Cotton Growers Inc. based in Lubbock, which represents the nation's largest cotton-producing region, said Monday cotton farmers are expecting to rebound from last year's crop, the smallest in three years.

Carl King, a spokesman for the Texas Corn Growers Association based in Dimmitt, said it was too early to tell if the recent rains would bulk up the state's corn harvest.

"The rain is better than it has been," King said Monday. "I wouldn't say the drought is broken yet, because there are still isolated parts of the state that are still dry. General rain all over the state would boost the crop tremendously."

Lego creations on exhibit

Roy Homfeld, son of Mariellen and Jerry Homfeld, shows his airplanes, airport and airstrip that he made from Legos. Roy began collecting the Legos about six years ago. He also likes to make farm equipment from the toys. His creations will be on exhibit this month at Deaf Smith County Library.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been married to "Rusty" for six months. He's a great guy and treats me swell. The only problem is his mother. She is not an easy person to get along with, but I have managed to steer clear of her sharp tongue and avoid a confrontation. Now I am faced with a situation I can't handle.

A few weeks ago, Rusty's mother started to have trouble with dog fleas. Her neighbor told her that if she put mothballs all over the house, the fleas would disappear. Well, it worked. The fleas won't come into her house anymore, and neither will I.

The entire house smells like one big mothball. When Rusty goes to see her, he comes home smelling like mothballs. The food she cooks and sends over here smells like mothballs. I can't eat it.

Rusty says he doesn't know what I am talking about. He doesn't smell a thing. I'm sure he thinks I am just picking on his mother. He doesn't insist that I go over there anymore, which is a good thing, because it makes me ill. What I am wondering about is how long my mother-in-law's house is going to smell like that. I can't stay away forever. Loozianna

DEAR LOO: If your mother-in-law keeps putting fresh mothballs all over the place, the smell could last forever. In the interest of family harmony, however, you ought to show up for just a couple of minutes, decline any food and be as gracious as possible. This is not too much to ask for a great guy who treats you "swell."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print my letter. Maybe it will help "Screw Loose in Iowa," the woman who was addicted to Richard.

I went through the same mental and emotional torture a few years ago. My "Richard" dragged me through the mud time and time again. He was possessive and abusive--wouldn't even allow me to have lunch with my mother.

I was so hooked on him, I moved into his place knowing it was the wrong thing to do. I lost my family and all my friends. After nearly three years, he walked out on me. I cried for days on end, had the shakes, stayed in bed, lost my job and became an alcoholic. Eventually I had a nervous breakdown.

Don't do this to yourself, "Iowa." No man is worth it. This isn't the end of the world. Get counseling and begin a new life. It took me a long time to get straightened out, but thank God I did. I now have a wonderful husband and a baby on the way. My life could never have been this good if I had stayed with that kook. -- Another Love Addict in L.A.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been divorced for two years and am dating a man who is also divorced. I am almost certain that we are headed for marriage, but I have a major concern.

We are both Catholic. I've heard that it could be a problem for two divorced people to remarry and have the marriage blessed by the Catholic faith. We don't want a large wedding; we just want our marriage to be valid in the eyes of the Catholic Church. Is this possible? -- New Orleans

DEAR NEW ORLEANS: Were

you both previously married in the Catholic Church? If so, you will need to apply for annulments. If you were not married in the Catholic Church, your first marriage was not valid in the eyes of the church, and all that is needed is a baptismal record. If things are still tangled by the time you read this, see a priest.

Lady Whiteface miss 1-4A track crown by 4 points

By SAM W. WALLER
Sports Editor

WOLFFORTH -- The District 1-4A track and field meet's girls' division came down to the final race Saturday with four teams having a shot at the team title at the start of the 1,600-meter relay.

Levelland came away the winner, holding off the Hereford Lady Whitefaces in what was basically a winner-take-all, four-lap duel on the Tiger Stadium track.

Coming into the race, Borger held the lead with 106 points with Hereford, Levelland and Pampa all tied for second at 95. The Lady Bulldogs were the only squad in position to win the meet without having to win the relay, needing only to place third to clinch the 1-4A championship, but fourth was all Borger could manage as the Loboettes took the crown by a single point.

Levelland finished with 115 points with Borger at 114, Hereford at 111 and Pampa at 107. The Loboettes were led by Twylana Harrison, who picked up individual gold medals in the long jump, triple jump, 200-meter dash and 400-meter dash as well as anchoring the mile relay.

"I can't ever remember being in a district meet where the top four teams were so close together," Lady Whiteface coach Martha Emerson said. "That's only an eight-point spread."

"You can always start saying 'if we had done that,' or 'not done that,'" Emerson added, "but could say that also."

One 'what if' for the Lady Whitefaces was in the long jump, where Jill West was fifth at 15 feet, 6 1/2 inches. But Levelland's Amy Frescaz jumped 15-7 for fourth place, picking up two more points than West.

Frescaz almost became the biggest 'what if' of the meet in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles. After winning the 100-meter lows, Frescaz appeared to have the 300s won, but fell as she cleared the final hurdle and never finished the race. The gold medal, trip to regional, 10 points and (for the moment) the team lead instead went to Kelly Wimborne and Pampa.

Hereford also benefited from the mishap as Jayme Moore, who ran a personal-best 51.3, finished fifth instead of sixth. Moore's time was a mere one-tenth of a second off the school record for the event, set earlier this year by Libby Kosub.

The Lady Whitefaces wound up with four individuals and two relay teams qualifying for the Region 1-4A meet in San Angelo as well as posting several personal bests at the meet.

"We did some very positive things," Emerson said. "All the girls competed well. This is a great group of young ladies, I'm proud of every one of them."

Teresa Castillo gave Hereford its first win of the meet Friday in the 3,200-meter run, chopping more than 14 seconds off her previous best with a 12:15.7. Veronica Hernandez was fifth in the long race in 13:21.5. Castillo also ran on the 800-and 1,600-meter relays.

Shantel Cornelius added another gold medal in the discus with a best-ever 117-5, and Candi Robbins made it a 1-2 sweep with a toss of 115-0, nipping Pampa's Tara Hamby by three inches for the second regional berth.

Cornelius finished fifth in the high jump at 5-0 in only her second competition in the event after having arthroscopic knee surgery.

Sprinter Daphne Roddy, who has been plagued by shin splints all spring, put up with the pain long enough to finish second in the 200 in 21.6 and anchored the winning 800-meter relay team to a 1:46.3. Roddy was forced out of the mile relay, but the foursome of Lisa Zepeda, Minerva Salazar, Castillo and West clocked in at 4:10.7, the second-fastest time of the year and five seconds faster than any time without Roddy.

West, in addition to her relay duties and effort in the long jump, was fourth in both the triple jump (33-9) and the 200 (27.1).

Zepeda and Salazar both garnered medals in the 800 with Zepeda second in 2:28.7, her best ever, and Salazar third in 2:32.6. Denise Davila also placed in the race, running a 2:39.8 for sixth place.

The Lady Whitefaces' sprint relay unit of Brandy Dunn, Mandi Jones, Rachel Alaniz and Moore brought the anchor around in 54.0 for fourth place.

In the boys' division, Hereford finished seventh in the team standings with 45 points, gaining three regional berths and an alternate spot.

Dunbar ran away with the team title, posting 142 points, well ahead of second-place Estacado at 85 1/2.

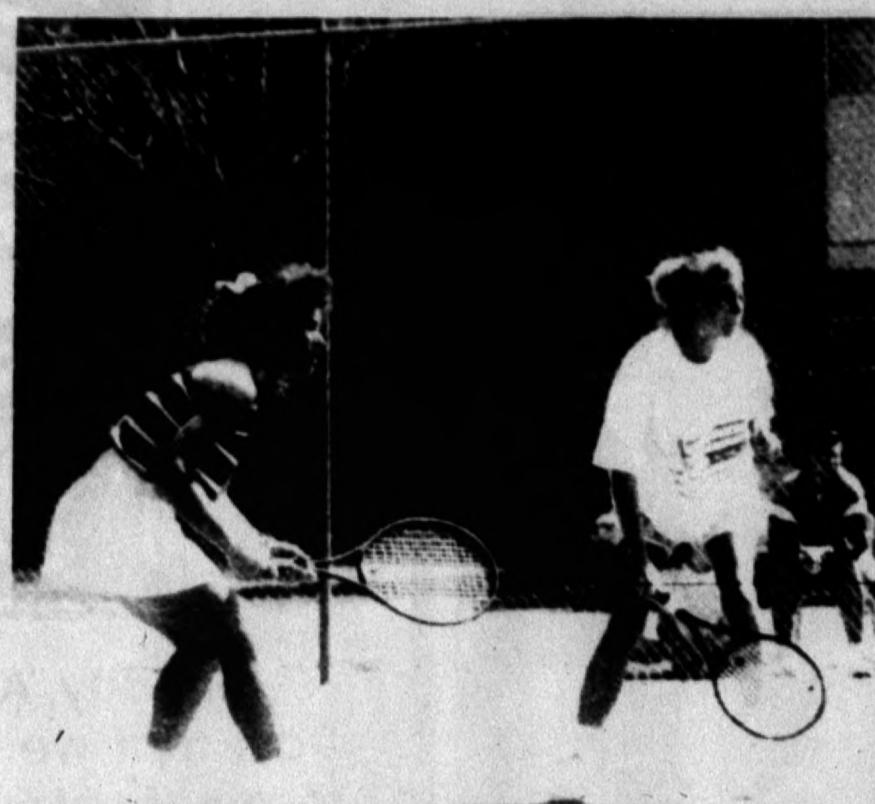

The Herd did most of its scoring in the field events with 37 points. The track proved a little more unfriendly as Hereford had only three entries qualify for the finals. Tate Smith picked up fourth in the 110-meter hurdles in 15.4 while the sprint relay (please see 1-4A TRACK, Page 5) bending and was second in barrel racing to finish second in the all-around standings. Lewis ran the cloverleaf in 18.112 while clocking a 20.595 in the poles to score 15 points.

Channing's Amy Hill won the girls' all-around with 17 points.

Hereford's Mickey Gomez also finished in the money at the rodeo, teaming with Marty Nicholson of Canadian for eighth place in team roping in 18.992.

Noland claims Floydada all-around

Burt Noland of Hereford claimed the All-Around Cowboy title Saturday at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association event at Floydada.

Noland tallied 14 points with a win in steer wrestling and a third-place finish in calf roping to edge Gruver's Marty McCloy for the title. Noland threw his steer in 5.139 seconds and posted a 10.120 in the roping.

Herd rules in 1-4A tennis

By SAM W. WALLER

LEVELLAND -- The Hereford Whiteface tennis team completed its dominance of the District 1-4A tournament Saturday, laying claim to three district titles and five of eight regional berths.

The Herd netters made a clean sweep of girls' singles and boys' doubles and added another win in girls' doubles.

Defending 1-4A champion Kristie Allison completed her title defense with a 6-4, 6-3 win over teammate Brenna Reinauer in girls' singles.

Allison waltzed through the bracket with three straight-set wins. The district's top seed opened with a 6-2, 6-2 win over Borger's Amy Doerge in the quarterfinals before topping Melissa Reed of Randall in the semis 6-2, 6-3.

Reinauer made it an all-Hereford final with a 4-6, 6-1, 6-1 win over Danette Jordan of Borger in the quarterfinals and a 7-6, 6-4 decision over second seed Gracie Lara of Dunbar in the semis.

Second seeds Gina Alley and Misty Reed held off Levelland's Rocki Serenil and Jenny Moss 6-1, 7-6 (8-6) to claim the girls' doubles crown. Alley and Reed lost three match points in the second set before taking the tie breaker.

The pair took a 6-1, 4-6, 6-3 win over Pampa's Heather Gikas and Allison Thompson in the quarters before dumping Rachel Soliz and Sandy Ochoa of Estacado 6-3, 6-1.

Serenil and Moss started the tourney by beating Hereford's Teresa Baker and Lori Sanders in the first round.

The boys' doubles team of Randy Robbins and Jeff Eades upset top-seeded teammates Eric Cortez and Torey Sellers for the championship 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

Robbins and Eades advanced through the bracket with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 win over Joe Wellborn and Semer Mohan of Pampa and a 6-3, 7-5 win over Borger's Eric Barton and Mark Cash.

Cortez and Sellers reached the finals by beating Pampa's Andrew Ramirez and Darren Jones 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 before knocking off Lance Williams and Chris Northcutt of Dumas 6-2, 6-4.

In boys' singles, Jamie Kapka reached the third-place match for the regional alternate spot, losing to top seed James Gibson of Estacado, 6-2, 6-1. Kapka played four matches during the weekend, winning a play-in Friday before dumping Dunbar's Byron Tillman 7-5, 6-4 in the quarterfinals. Kapka was sent to the consolation match by Borger's Fitz Moles with a 6-4, 6-1 loss.

Moles lost the title to teammate Barry Thrutchley 6-4, 6-4 in the only championship match not involving a Hereford entry. Thrutchley defeated Hereford's Greg Coplen in the first round.

The district winners and runners up will participate in the Region 1-4A tourney April 23-24 in San Angelo.

Dunbar hands Whitefaces 18-1 thrashing

Dunbar's Panthers maintained their hold on second place in District 1-4A with a six-inning, 18-1 win Saturday at Whiteface Field.

The Panthers sent 13 batters to the plate in the sixth inning, scoring eight runs. The game was stopped by the 10-run rule.

Hereford managed only two hits off Dunbar pitchers Lee Roy Danford and Sammy Flores. Danford gave up the only run, an unearned one by Jim Andrews in the second. Andrews had reached on a passed ball by Dunbar catcher Royce Toler, went to second on an error by shortstop Robert Reyes on a grounder by Tab Hathaway, was sent to third on a Jim Anima walk, and scored on a ground out by Luis Mungia.

The Herd's hits were bloopers to the outfield by George Jowell in the fourth and by Andrews in the sixth. Danford struck out four and gave up two walks in his four innings. Flores struck out five and gave up three walks in his two innings.

Dunbar had a few bloopers of its own off Hereford pitchers Chad Brummett, Jason Walterscheid and Matt Bromlow, but also had four solid doubles (including two ground-rule doubles that hit just inside the fence before bounding out of play).

Brummett pitched the first four innings and faced four batters in the fifth. He was charged with 10 runs. Walterscheid faced just four batters in the fifth, getting three groundball outs to get out of the inning.

In the sixth, Walterscheid struck out DH Pat Lewis to start the inning, then walked Danford and gave up a ground-rule double to Sammy Flores. Paul Ramos grounded out to third baseman Hathaway for the second out. The Panthers scored six more runs in the inning before finally being retired.

The Herd had a couple of other scoring chances but frittered them away.

Bromlow began the game with a walk off Danford and stole second. Brummett hit a line drive to center that appeared to be going over the head of center fielder Ramos, but Ramos jumped at the last instant to catch the ball, then doubled Bromlow off of second base for a double play.

In the fifth, the Herd walked the bases full with one out but Ramos struck out the last two batters. In the sixth, Andrews' bloop single to left started off the inning, and he stole second, but the Herd was able to advance him no farther.

The Herd plays a non-district game at Canyon today at 4:30 p.m. before picking up the rest of the district schedule this weekend.

YMCA extends youth soccer sign-up deadline

The Hereford YMCA has extended the registration for its summer youth soccer league to 5 p.m. Friday.

The league will have divisions for first- and second-graders, third- and fourth-graders and fifth- and sixth-graders. The league will be divided into first through third and fourth through sixth grade groups if there are not enough players for three divisions.

All players must be YMCA members. One-year memberships for children cost $20 and include use of all YMCA facilities.

team was fifth in 45.3. Chuck Lemons made the finals of the 400, finishing seventh.

Hereford picked up wins from Benny Gonzales in the shot put and Phillip Betzen in the discus. Gonzales heaved the steel ball 53-10 3/4 to win by nearly four feet over Dunbar's Steve Turner. Betzen hurled the platter 141-11 and had two other throws of more than 140 feet.

Pole vaulter Brad Mason extended his season by clearing 13-0 for the third straight week to finish second. Pampa's Tony Bybee won the event at 13-6 when Mason, who was ahead on fewer misses, hit the bar on his way down.

In the high jump, Tate Smith literally missed out of a regional berth. Smith, Nathan Rains of Pampa and Brad Sandin of Randall all cleared 6-2, but Smith was placed third with more misses.

Pacers reach playoffs

By The Associated Press

For a team that made the NBA playoffs for only the third time in 14 years, the Indiana Pacers may be having delusions of grandeur.

"We proved we could play with anyone in the league," Coach Dick Versace said after the Pacers made his 50th birthday a happy one.

"If we can play that kind of ball in the playoffs we can beat anybody on any given night," Chuck Person said.

What had the Pacers all giddy was a playoff-clinching 111-102 victory over the Chicago Bulls on Monday night behind Person's 33 points, nine in the fourth quarter.

Elsewhere, it was San Antonio 110, Charlotte 101; Portland 93, the Los Angeles Clippers 85; Phoenix 141, Golden State 129 and New York 119, Miami 102.

The Pacers' other playoff appearances came in 1981 and 1987.

Chicago's setback gave the idle Detroit Pistons their third straight Central Division title and assured them of a second consecutive Eastern Conference crown, as well. The Pistons are 57-22 to the Bulls' 53-25. Detroit has three games left, Chicago has four, but the Pistons have clinched the season series.

Jordan, who had averaged 36.3 points in four previous games against the Pacers, was held to 23 on 11-of-24 shooting.

Scottie Pippen added 19 points for the Bulls. Smits had 20 and Detlef Schrempf 17 for Indiana.

Spurs 110, Hornets 101

San Antonio, with rookie David Robinson bouncing back from his worst game of the year with 25 points and 12 rebounds, tied the NBA record for the most improved team. The Spurs are 53-26 after winning only 21 games last season. The 32-game improvement matched the Boston Celtics of 1979-80.

Robinson scored 12 points in the fourth quarter. After Charlotte pulled to 97-96 with 3:30 left, the Spurs sealed the victory with a 9-0 run.

Willie Anderson scored 28 points for the Spurs. Kelly Tripucka led the Hornets with 24.

Trail Blazers 93, Clippers 85

Jerome Kersey scored 23 points, including two free throws with 3:13 left that put Portland ahead for good. Kevin Duckworth followed Kersey's free throws with a pair of his own to widen Portland's margin to 84-81.

Following a free throw by the Clippers' Charles Smith, Kersey scored on a layup, the first field goal for the Trail Blazers in over four minutes. They had scored 13 consecutive points from the free throw line before Kersey's layup. Duckworth had 17 points for Portland, and Clyde Drexler 15. Smith led the Clippers with 21.

Suns 141, Warriors 129

Dan Majerle scored a career-high 32 points, including a crucial 3-pointer with 2:30 remaining.

Kevin Johnson added 29 points and 13 assists for Phoenix while Tom Chambers scored 26 points. Rod Higgins scored a season-high 28 points and Chris Mullin had 35 for the Warriors.

Knicks 119, Heat 102

Kiki Vandeweghe and Patrick Ewing combined for 28 points as New York scored a season-high 46 points in the third quarter.

The Knicks had two more points in the third period than they did in the entire first half, breaking away from a 44-44 halftime tie by outscoring Miami 46-26 in the quarter for a 90-70 lead.

New York made 16 of 23 shots in the third period and Vandeweghe, who was 0-for-6 and failed to score in the first half, was 6-for-6 and scored 15 of his 22 points in the quarter. Ewing scored 13 of his 25 points in the period. Grant Long led the Heat with 17 points.

Hints for healthier air

Warning: The air you're breathing could be hazardous to your health.
That's the message from the American Lung Association (ALA), a nationwide public awareness campaign on indoor and outdoor pollution.

The ALA suggest you take the following steps to help clean up the air:

*Have furnaces checked at least once a year, before the heating season, to be sure that air intake is adequate and that the exhaust system is operating properly.

*Check your stove. Gas burners emitting orange or sputtering flames are dangerous sources of carbon monoxide; a properly operating burner will have a blue flame. If possible, have a range hood on you stove that vents to the outside.

*Keep air conditioner filters clean and replace them regularly. If you use a home humidifier, make sure it's maintained and cleaned properly.
Bacteria, fungi and molds can flourish in improperly maintained air ducts, air conditioners, humidifiers, dehumidifiers and air-cleaning filters. These biological agents can make you sneeze, cause breathing problems, rashes, watery eyes and dizziness.

*Quit smoking. In addition to endangering your own health, you could be hurting others. The U.S.
Environmental Protection Agency has estimated that as many as 5,000 lung cancer deaths each year are the result of exposure to second-hand smoke.

*Have your home tested for radon contamination, a natural gas given off by soil or rock. It has been linked to lung cancer. If you find high levels of radon contamination in your home, seek a professional's help.

The opulent era

Ball gowns by Jean-Philippe Worth and Jacques Doucet are among turn-of-the-century finery on exhibition at the Brooklyn Museum of Art through Feb. 26.

Feast your eyes on garments

NEW YORK (AP) - In an age when torn jeans and well-worn sneakers are de rigueur on skinny, wild-haired models, it's a tonic to be reminded of the turn of the century when curvaceous ladies donned some of the most ravishing clothes ever to grace the salons of Paris and New York.

Seventy of these glorious garments are in an exhibition, "The Opulent Era: Fashions of Worth, Doucet and Pingat," at the Brooklyn Museum of Art through Feb. 26. This is an elegant parade of luxurious silks, velvets and laces in colors reflecting delicate flowers and butterflies, or glowing deeper jewel tones, worn in Paris, for example, by the countess who inspired Proust's Madame de Guermantes, or in New York by high-society belles with names such as Astor, Biddle and Vanderbilt.

Another current exhibition, at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, offers a look at the dressy French of an earlier age. It's "The Age of Napoleon: Costume from Revolution to Empire," a display of about 120 examples of clothes, court dress, military uniforms and textiles from the eve of the Revolution in 1789 to the end of the First Empire. The installation includes paintings, jewelry and decorative-art objects, and it will all be on show through April 15.

The gowns at the Brooklyn museum become more than mere museum pieces because one is privy through personal notes on exhibition labels to exactly who ordered and wore the garments.

"About a third of the exhibits are from our own collection," said Elizabeth Ann Coleman, who as curator of the department of costumes at the Brooklyn museum.

The designers borrowed from periods such as the renaissance, for crimson velvets with heavy lace and ermine; or echoed the high-waisted waists over swelling bustles.

Creative splurges abound.
Inspiration came from many sources.
Natural motifs, apart from the obvious roses and butterflies, include wild tulips splashed over a black silk evening wrap, pearly bunches of grapes or jet-beaded pea pods, airy-winged dragonflies and bees, embroidered on pastel silks.

The workmanship and materials are dazzling, a response to clients' wealth and desire to show it off: dramatic prints and brocading, lavish gold, sequin and crystal embroideries, drifts of tulle, sighs of feathers and whispers of fur cascading over silk taffetas, chiffons, satins, failles and velvets, swathed over swelling bustles.

Then with a sigh she can grab her duffle jacket and backpack and jump on the subway or head for the nearest shopping mall.

empire style for a beige brocade outfit, and the late 17th century for a dinner-evening dress in rose-color satin over rose brocaded panels with ruffles of ecru lace, embellished with ribbons and bows.

These ladies sallied forth into the daytime world in walking suits, perhaps one of rich dark turquoise or one of olive velvet, encrusted with embroidery. And there's a group of other wraps, jackets and capes - a fantasy world of dramatic folds, flares and drapings, of rich fabrics, furs and velvets, tassels, metallic threadwork, topped with colored feathers.

Having done the round of the exhibition, today's woman can picture these brilliant, stately figures sweeping away down the avenues with incomparable grace, picture perfect from chic toques perched on impeccable heads down to exquisitely shod feet barely visible beneath flowing, full-length skirts.

Then with a sigh she can grab her
duffle jacket and backpack and jump
on the subway or head for the nearest shopping mall.

PICTURE PERFECT

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - The job of identifying felons could be easier for police who use a technology developed at the University of Rochester that makes blurry photographs clear.

The computer process can be used on photos of fingerprints, license plates or bank hold-ups, for example, as well as on satellite images of military targets or nuclear plants. Facial features, numbers and other details become clear where previously only a white blur was seen.

Tips for grocery shopping

The Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society has provided helpful tips for grocery shoppers in its Great American Food Fight Against Cancer to be observed Thursday, April 19.

April has been designated as Cancer Control Month. Prior to the annual crusade campaign, the ACS will be distributing educational messages about nutrition on Thursday. The pamphlets, which will include guidelines on how to help reduce cancer risks by eating the proper foods, will be given out April 19 at Moore's Jack and Jill.

The community crusade, set from 2-5 p.m. Sunday, April 29, is continuing the educational message about nutrition with the following tips for conscientious shoppers.

Try to plan shopping as carefully as possible. Sometimes, shopping has to be done in a hurry, but try to give some thought to it ahead of time in order to minimize or eliminate impulse purchases.

Never shop on an empty stomach. It is not necessary to avoid treats or rewards. Just try to think of healthy foods as special treats.

Explore the produce section. Be adventuresome and try a new kind of fruit or vegetable. Try them one at a time, so they don't seem as threatening. Think of new ways to try produce, and remember that it is usually low in fat and high in fiber.

Look for fresh herbs to season foods, instead of fats, sauces, and gravies.

Read labels carefully. Ingredients are listed in order of quantity. Choose products that have no fats or oils or in which fats are listed last.

Beware of so-called healthy or lite foods. Read the labels carefully for fat, fiber, and vitamin content. Remember that you don't need to buy any special foods to improve your diet.

NUTS DOWN UNDER

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) - Macadamia nuts, usually associated with Hawaii, were first grown in Australia.

The tropical evergreen Macadamia tree is a native of this country. The nuts it produces are rich in oil and have a sweet flavor similar to that of Brazil nuts. They are known here as Queensland nuts.

Changing the course

Changing the course of bad eating habits by consuming nutritious foods can lower the risk of cancer, according to the American Cancer Society. On April 19, employees at Jack 'n' Jill will be distributing ACS nutrition pamphlets to customers. Mayor Wes Fisher reminds the public that foods, such as potatoes, are high in fiber and nutrients.
