Dr. Jones leaving Hereford

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Hereford will be losing one of its new doctors in the very near future, and his services may not be offered again in the near future in Hereford. Deaf Smith General Hospital Administrator Gary Moore told the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of directors on Tuesday that ophthalmologist Dr. F. Ray Jones will be leaving Hereford to accept a position at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., on July 9.

"His practice has not grown as we thought it would," Moore told the board. "His practice is not covering his overhead. He has been offered a position he would like to take, and it would probably be in his best interest and the best interest of Deaf Smith General Hospital to take that position."

Jones has been sustained on guarantees paid by the hospital district for the past six months. His contract called for a 12-month guarantee which would cost the district $50,000 or more for the next six months.

Moore and Jones have proposed a contract, which will likely be considered by the board in a special meeting next week, that would release Jones and the hospital from their obligations.

The hospital district would also trade or sell equipment that had been purchased to allow Jones to do surgical procedures at the hospital. "It would be my intent to liquidate this equipment and never offer this service to Hereford, Texas again," Moore told the board. "His training is as good as it could be, as someone at the Mayo Clinic must think."

"He (Dr. Jones) was the subject of some abuse...Only two of five doctors (Dr. Tim Revell and Dr. Mary Birdsong) referred patients to him...He received some intentional slaps in the face from some doctors and some patients."

Board member Dr. Stan Fry Jr., a local dentist, said the hospital "should approach doctors with prospective new doctors and specialists before we bring them in. I think we need to look at it more carefully up front instead of doing a post-mortem."

The board was expecting to receive a joint venture proposal from High Plains Baptist Hospital to purchase the building and practice of Dr. Tim Revell, a family practitioner who had earlier announced he would be leaving Hereford. Instead, High Plains Baptist Hospital Administrator T.H. Holloway Jr. submitted a letter that offered only to co-sign for a loan or letter of credit for DSGH if the local hospital wanted to purchase the practice.

There is a husband-and-wife doctor team, currently living in Puerto Rico, that is considering moving to Hereford and taking over the practice, but they have been delayed in visiting Hereford because of problems with patients there they have not been able to leave.

The operations report showed that the hospital had a cash profit for May of $45,961. However, the statement of revenues and expenses showed the total operating expenses for the month were $504,047, with revenues of $351,868.

Thanks to a good month in collections, the hospital deposited $559,377, and paid expenses of $518,432 to account for the month's cash flow profit.

The board also received a report on self-funded worker's compensation insurance that could save the district considerable money, and heard a presentation from Hereford native Jim Allison, executive director of the amarillo Area Foundation, on setting up an endowment with the foundation.

Fire chars ranchland

Firefighters from eight area communities are battling a fire in northwestern Deaf Smith county that had burned 15 to 20 sections of land on the Bridwell Ranch as of late this morning.

The fire is in the far northwestern part of the county, 40 to 45 miles northwest of Hereford.

The fire was started by lightning at about 6:15 p.m. Tuesday, volunteer firefighters from Hereford, Walcott, Vega, Adrian and Dimmitt, and New Mexico units from San Jon, Eaton and Endee responded to the call.

Some of the units from Vega and Wildorado had been helping Amarillo and Potter County firefighters help fight a large grass fire along the breaks of the Canadian River northwest of Amarillo when they were called to help with the fire northwest of Hereford.

Hereford volunteers were working in shifts in fighting the fire, with several firefighters staying in town to cover in case of an emergency in Hereford or other parts of the county. They were also resting, to relieve each other as the battled the fire.

Firefighters were hampered by a lack of easily-accessible water and gusty winds that were boosted by a cool front that came through the region. The front was responsible for building up the clouds that produced the fire-provoking lightning.

The Bridwell Ranch is located along the breaks of the Caprock near Glenrio. That is near the point where the Deaf Smith-Oldham county line intersects with the Texas-New Mexico state line.

Flag vote looks near

WASHINGTON (AP) - A constitutional amendment against burning the American flag is speeding toward a House floor vote, with critics saying "the momentum is with us" and backers grumbling about too much haste.

"It's going to be close," Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, said Tuesday as his House Judiciary Committee sent the measure to the full House for a vote Thursday. "It would be close this week, it would be close next week."

Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., agreed with that assessment.

Brooks said the 19-17 vote by which the panel sent the measure to the floor - with no recommendation for or against - was a sign that the final outcome also would be by a narrow margin.

To become part of the Constitution, the amendment must get 289 votes in the House and 67 in the Senate plus ratification by 38 state legislatures.

President Bush is pressing for approval of the amendment, which would allow Congress and the states

Jury questioning continues in trial

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Jurors were being questioned today in the second day of jury selection in the murder trial of Helen Owens of Hereford.

Mrs. Owens has been charged with first-degree murder in the shooting death of her husband, Charlie, on July 5, 1989.

Mr. Owens, who had lived in Hereford since 1945, was shot twice, once in the arm and once in the chest, with a .38-caliber handgun. The shooting occurred at the couple's residence at 541 Westhaven in Hereford.

The shooting occurred at about 1 a.m. on July 5. Police were called to the home at 1:15 a.m. Mr. Owens was pronounced dead at 2 a.m. at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

After police questioned several persons who had been at the home the day and night before, they obtained an arrest warrant for Mrs. Owens. She was jailed the afternoon after the shooting. She was in jail for several days before being released on $50,000 bond.

There were 174 jury cards mailed for the trial, but only about 65 persons answered the jury call. Persons who did not respond to the summons will be questioned, and could be fined up to $100 for failure to report if they do not provide a legally-acceptable excuse.

Six persons who did respond to the summons were excused during the first round of examination by Deaf Smith County Criminal Defense Attorney Roland Saul. The jurors were to be examined today by court-appointed defense attorney Jerry Smith of Hereford.

During questioning by Saul, he read the laws for self-defense and for insanity. Those defenses may be used by Smith for Mrs. Owens.

"You will see they (the Owenses) had a rocky marriage," Saul told the panel of prospective jurors. "There was physical confrontation, they were separated. They accused each other of having affairs. It is not a picture-perfect marriage you're going to see."

If the defense uses a defense of sanity or temporary insanity, the burden of proof will shift from the state to the defense, Saul told the jurors. "If that defense is used they must prove it," Saul said. "The burden of proof shifts from the state to the defense with a greater weight to the defense."

Saul said the law on self-defense allows the use of force only to protect one's self from the use of force by another person. A person is justified in using deadly force only if the person, given a reasonable chance, does not retreat from the use of similar force.

If Mrs. Owens is found guilty of first-degree murder, she could be sentenced to 5 to 99 years, or life, in prison, and be fined up to $10,000. If guilty, Mrs. Owens could be eligible for probation if recommended by the jury.

Both attorneys said a jury could be selected today, with testimony to begin this afternoon. Because of scheduling conflicts, the trial will likely be continued into next week.

to outlaw burning or other desecration of the flag.

House and Senate Democratic leaders oppose the measure, saying it would undermine the Constitution's First Amendment guarantee of free speech.

The amendment was sidetracked last year when critics prevailed on lawmakers to pass the 1989 Flag Protection Act. That law was held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court last week, rekindling debate over the amendment.

"The momentum is with us... We're picking up a vote here and a vote there," said Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., a leading critic.

Rep. Joe Moakley, D-Mass., chairman of the House Rules Committee, scheduled a meeting of his panel today to clear the amendment for floor action Thursday. He said he was prepared to waive House rules if necessary to keep the measure rolling.

But supporters said the House needed more time to weigh the issue.

White House, Demos point fingers about S&L charges

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House and congressional Democrats, drawing their political swords for an election-year battle, are bluntly blaming each other for the multibillion-dollar savings and loan scandal.

The White House went on the offensive Tuesday, daring Democrats to try to turn the crisis into a campaign issue.

"There are a lot of battles that can be fought on this turf, and we're ready," White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater warned. He said "the Democrats have a big role" in the collapse of the savings and loan industry.

Returning the fire, Democrats accused the White House of moving sluggishly against those who looted thrift institutions.

Pointing to 10 years of Republican rule in the White House, Sen. Tim Wirth, D-Colo., questioned, "Who ran the government during this decade of mismanagement and negligence?"

Sen. Robert Kerrey, D-Neb., who was singled out for attack by the White House, called Fitzwater "the mean-spirited little spokesman" and accused him of trying to intimidate Democrats into silence.

Referring to another sensitive political issue, Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., said, "Maybe Mr. Fitzwater has been so busy the last two or three weeks protecting us from the flag burners that he forgot to do his homework on the history of the last decade."

The charges and counter-charges did not shed any new light on the S&L scandal but put it into sharp focus as a key issue for the fall elections.

Estimates of how much it will cost taxpayers to clean up the industry range anywhere from $130 billion to $500 billion and more.

There were these other S&L developments Tuesday:

-Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., demanded that federal regulators spell out their charges against President Bush's son, Neil, in the $1 billion collapse of the Silverado Banking, Savings and Loan Association of Denver.

The Office of Thrift Supervision has brought administrative charges against Neil Bush, a former director of Silverado, but has not publicly outlined its case. "No law or regulation prevents the agency from revealing the charges," Annunzio said at a hearing by the House Banking Committee. Neil Bush has denied any wrongdoing.

-Charles H. Keating Jr. predicted that a federal judge will give him back his Lincoln Savings and Loan Association, seized by the government in April 1989 in perhaps the nation's costliest S&L collapse. Lawyers for Keating and the government summarized final arguments in the case Tuesday before U.S. District Judge Stanley Sporkin.

Fitzwater's attack against Democrats was notable both for the sharpness of his words and his willingness to point fingers.

"Take a look at Jim Wright and Tony Coelho and Mr. Kerry and some of his Nebraska accounts and Don Riegle and DeConcini; take a look at all of them," Fitzwater said. "I don't think you hear any serious analysis of this problem that doesn't point to Freddy St Germain and the changes that were made in the banking laws back at that point."

House begins planning budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Democrats frustrated by a stalemate with President Bush over budget cuts and taxes are starting to appropriate spending for next year, beginning with $20.8 billion for energy and water projects.

Ignoring the absence of an overall budget accord, the House voted 355-59 Tuesday to raise by $350 million what Bush would spend in fiscal 1991 to clean up the nation's atomic weapons complex. The House vote also would launch 25 water projects opposed by the administration.

"What the House has done is to flaunt or doom the (budget) summit," said Rep. Bill Frenzel, R-Minn., as several efforts to cut the spending were defeated. "This is something that is going to get this house in great trouble."

The measure is the first of 13 appropriation bills for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 to pass either the House or Senate. Until Tuesday, congressional leaders had stalled action in hopes of reaching an overall budget agreement with the White House.

One person arrested

Police arrested a man, 17, at U.S. Highway 60 and Lawton on Tuesday for evading arrest.

Reports included a Nintendo entertainment system, worth $130, taken from a house in the 500 block of Avé. G; $15.50 worth of gas taken in the 100 block of South 25 Mile Ave.; and a camera was believed to be taken from a vehicle but was later found; domestic violence; and a man on work release from the Deaf Smith County Jail failed to return.

Community distribution planned

Panhandle Community Services will have a commodity distribution on Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford.

A variety of commodities will be distributed to eligible persons. Senior citizens should use the east door, and other recipients should use the west door at the Bull Barn.

Slight rain chance

Tonight will be partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of mainly evening thunderstorms. The low will be in the mid 60s with east wind 10 to 20 mph. Thursday will be partly cloudy with isolated afternoon thunderstorms. The high will be in the lower 90s with southeast wind 10 to 20 mph. Rain chance less than 20 percent.

The extended forecast for Friday through Sunday is for a slight chance of thunderstorms Saturday, otherwise fair. Highs from the upper 80s to the lower 90s. Lows in the 60s.

This morning's low at KPAN was 61 after a high Tuesday of 102, with a few sprinkles on Tuesday night.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, June 20, the 171st day of 1990. There are 194 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On June 20, 1756, in India, a group of British soldiers were captured and imprisoned in a suffocating cell that gained notoriety as the Black Hole of Calcutta. Most of the men died.

On this date:

In 1632, the English Crown granted the second Lord Baltimore settlement rights to an area surrounding Chesapeake Bay, most of which would later become the state of Maryland.

In 1782, Congress approved the Great Seal of the United States.

In 1791, King Louis XVI of France attempted to flee the country, but was caught.

In 1837, Queen Victoria ascended the British throne following the death of her uncle, King William IV.

In 1863, West Virginia became the 35th state to be admitted to the Union.

In 1893, a jury in New Bedford, Mass., found Lizzie Borden innocent of the ax murders of her father and stepmother.

In 1947, President Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley Act, but had his veto overridden by Congress.

In 1977, oil began flowing through the recently completed trans-Alaskan pipeline from Prudhoe Bay.

In 1979, ABC News correspondent Bill Stewart was shot to death in Managua, Nicaragua, by a member of President Anastasio Somoza's national guard.

Ten years ago: Former lightweight champion Roberto Duran scored a unanimous 15-round decision over Sugar Ray Leonard to win the World Boxing Council welterweight championship in Montreal.

Five years ago: Day seven of the hijacking of TWA Flight 847: five hostages appeared at a chaotic news conference in Beirut, Lebanon, pleading with President Reagan not to launch a rescue attempt.

One year ago: Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev greeted the speaker of Iran's parliament, Hashemi Rafsanjani, who was visiting Moscow as part of an attempt to improve Soviet-Iranian relations.

Today's birthdays: Guitarist Chet Atkins is 66. Singer-songwriter Brian Wilson is 48. Singer Anne Murray is 45. Actress Candy Clark is 43. Singer Cyndi Lauper is 37. Rock musician John Taylor is 30.

Thought for today: "We seldom stop to think how many peoples' lives are entwined with our own. It is a form of selfishness to imagine that every individual can operate on his own or can pull out of the general stream and not be missed." - Ivy Baker Priest, former U.S. treasurer (1905-1975).

Dr. Don A. Rice awarded endowment at Texas A & M

Dr. Don A. Rice, professor of industrial distribution and director of the Thomas A. Read Center for Distribution research and education at Texas A&M University, has been appointed as the first J.R. Thompson Endowed Professor.

Dr. Rice, a 1954 graduate of Hereford High School, is the son of the late W.S. "Bill" Rice and Betty Rice of Hereford.

Rice is eminently qualified to be the first J.R. Thompson Professor because of his international achievements in industrial distribution education and research, said Dr. Herbert H. Richardson, dean and deputy chancellor for engineering at Texas A&M.

"Dr. Rice has built an excellent industrial distribution program at Texas A&M, created and developed the new Read Research Center, and enjoys an international reputation among the industries the program serves," Dr. Richardson said. "The program that Dr. Rice has developed here is undoubtedly the premier program of this type in the nation."

Dr. Rice was recognized in the September 1989 edition of Electrical Wholesaling as one of the top 20 most influential people in the United States in electrical wholesaling. He was cited for leading the quality revolution in the United States and was the only educator honored among a group of distinguished industrialists.

Dr. Rice is the author of five texts and numerous articles on wholesale distribution. He earned his degrees from West Texas State University and the University of Missouri. He has been with Texas A&M for 20 years. He is a past recipient of the Texas A&M Association of Former Student's Distinguished Teaching Award and the General Dynamics Award for Excellence in Engineering Teaching.

The late J. R. (Dick) Thompson was a longtime supporter of Texas A&M and president of Warren Electric Company of Houston. Thompson established the $750,000 professorship in 1988 to encourage further development of education for the electrical wholesaling industry.

Dr. Rice will spend the earnings from the endowment to enhance his academic and research efforts.

'Midway' explosions injure nine

TOKYO (AP) - Two explosions rocked the U.S. aircraft carrier Midway today during flight operations, and nine crewmembers were injured, the Navy said. Military sources said four were burned.

A fire that broke out at the time of the first explosion was under control and the ship was steaming under its own power about 125 miles northeast of the U.S. Navy base at Yokosuka, near Tokyo, the Navy said in a statement.

Japan's Foreign Ministry later said the fire had been extinguished.

Lt. Jeff Gradeck, an information officer at the carrier's home port of Yokosuka, said he had no information on what part of the ship was affected by the explosions and fire.

The Foreign Ministry said in a statement that it was trying to confirm reports that the explosions occurred in a room housing machinery for a catapult used to launch planes from the deck of the 980-foot carrier.

The Navy said no deaths had been reported aboard the ship, which had 4,500 people aboard including fliers and aviation crews.

It said some of the nine injured had been taken to Yokosuka, others to the U.S. air base at Yokota, west of Tokyo.

U.S. military sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said four burn victims were taken to the U.S. Yokota Air Base, west of Tokyo.

The Navy statement said the first explosion occurred at 12:23 p.m., about half an hour after smoke had been reported. Firefighters were called, and a second explosion occurred about an hour later, it added.

"The cause and extent of the explosion and fire are unknown at this time," it said. The Navy said the Midway was conducting routine flight operations at the time.

The 51,000-ton carrier, launched in 1943 and later extensively modernized, is based at Yokosuka.

Mandela is slated to speak in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) - Nelson Mandela, a freedom fighter who became one of the world's most celebrated political prisoners, headed for the United States today looking for money and moral support for his battle against apartheid.

In New York - the first stop on a 12-day, eight-city U.S. tour - a hero's welcome was in store for the deputy president of the African National Congress, including a ticker-tape parade up Broadway and a rally at Yankee Stadium.

Along with the festivities celebrating the end of Mandela's 27-year imprisonment in South Africa will be meetings with business, religious and political leaders. Mandela, making his first U.S. visit, is scheduled to speak at the United Nations and meet in Washington with President Bush.

His message: keep the economic sanctions and international pressure in place until the white South African government gives up its monopoly on power and ends all vestiges of racial segregation.

Among the activities on today's agenda were a speech at a Brooklyn high school and a ticker-tape parade through New York's concrete canyons to City Hall, where Mayor David Dinkins was to present the key to the city.

Speaking Tuesday at a national mayors' meeting in Chicago, New York's first black mayor said

Mandela comes to America "as a transcendent symbol of freedom, and as a solitary person who is altering world history."

Mandela's Feb. 9 release from prison was part of a program of social reforms by the government of President F.W. de Klerk that included legalizing the ANC and other anti-apartheid groups.

De Klerk also has opened talks with black groups on giving a political voice to the country's 28 million blacks. South Africa's 5 million whites control the government and economy.

Mandela, 71, is in the midst of a six-week tour of 14 nations in Africa, Europe and North America that began June 6 - one day after he was discharged from a Johannesburg hospital after surgery to remove a cyst from his bladder.

Because of concern about his health, ambulances were to be stationed at cross streets along today's parade route, and the city's Emergency Medical Service was given a detailed medical history.

In Canada on Tuesday, Mandela appealed to students at a Toronto high school to raise funds to help black youth in his South African homeland. He said they get an education "far inferior to whites," and that those who have spoken out "have been crushed with force" by the white-minority government.

In New York, thousands of police and federal and state agents were enlisted to protect Mandela. He was assigned to ride in what police called the Mandelamobile, a flatbed truck with a bulletproof bubble big enough to hold several people.

On the eve of his arrival, about 100 protesters gathered at the mayor's official residence to condemn Mandela's pro-Palestinian comments. But the protest leader, Rabbi Avi Weiss, tempered his criticism with kind words for Mandela's anti-apartheid leadership.

Another controversy surrounded the concert and rally Thursday at city-owned Yankee Stadium. Tickets to the fund-raiser for the ANC were $5 to $50.

Rock promoter Bill Graham pulled out as organizer, citing disagreements with city officials. Tour organizers, in turn, blamed Graham for poor ticket sales. About 20,000 of 45,000 tickets had been sold by late Tuesday.

Also planned were a street rally in Harlem on Thursday, breakfast with business leaders Friday at the World Trade Center and a $2,500-a-person fund-raiser Friday night, catered by actor Robert De Niro's restaurant. Mandela leaves Saturday for Boston. The trip continues with stops in Washington, Atlanta, Miami, Detroit, Los Angeles and Oakland, Calif. He leaves the United States on July 1.

Oil slick contained in Gulf as volunteers watch for tar balls

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - A 30-mile oil slick from the crippled supertanker Mega Borg remains in a holding pattern off the Texas coast as volunteers remain on alert to help scoop up the messy tar balls expected to wash ashore.

U.S. Coast Guard officials said Tuesday the slick, about 10 miles offshore, could wash up closer to High Island 30 miles northeast of Galveston, rather than Sea Rim Park, which is further to the northeast.

"That's good news," said Coast Guard Petty Officer Mark Sedwick. "That means it will be away from the marsh areas where we were concerned about the wildlife."

A flight over the slick Tuesday morning showed no signs that any of the tar balls had washed onto Texas beaches.

Some 1,200 volunteers from five counties were on alert Tuesday to clean up the beaches should the tar balls strike. About 100 volunteers arrived at Sea Rim for the second day to prepare for the oil slick, state officials said.

Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. Frank Whipple said skimming crews have recovered 463,000 gallons of an oil and water mixture from the Gulf of Mexico.

The June 8 explosion aboard the Norwegian tanker spilled 3.9 million gallons of the ship's 38 million gallons of oil into the Gulf about 57 miles from Galveston. Most of that oil has either burned off, evaporated or been collected.

"I think what's very good news is the fact that it's not coming closer to the beach right now - it's staying offshore," Whipple said. "That allows more evaporation, allows the contractors more time to pick the oil out of the water. We've been trying all along to remove as much of it from the water before it got to the beach."

Coast Guard officials have been hesitant to say how much oil remains in the slick and sheen.

"We're kind of staying away from those figures," Coast Guard Chief Warrant Officer Rick Meidt said. "We've already picked up something like five times more oil than we thought was in the water. But, I should point out, what we're picking up is an oily water mixture that is about 20 percent oil and 80 percent water."

Coast Guard Capt. Thomas Greene said 250,000 gallons of oil had been collected through Sunday, but the figure was expected to rise by 100,000 gallons a day.

The Mexican skimmer ECOPEMEX and 10 other skimmers were removing oil off the water Tuesday. Booms and other deflector devices also have been deployed to protect the shoreline.

Meidt said salvage crews again may postpone transferring cargo off the Mega Borg to smaller cargo vessels. The oil transfer had been planned for Tuesday, but crews were continuing integrity tests of the vessel.

State officials also wrapped up tests Tuesday on oil-eating bacteria that was poured into the oil during the weekend.

"We've got some good samples," said Bianton Moore of the Texas General Land Office. "We know some change occurred, but what that change is we don't really know until we run some lab samples."

The bacteria, in a process known as bioremediation, eats the oil and turns it into a fatty acid that fish can eat. This was the first time the process has been tried on a spill in open waters.

The Land Office and the Texas Water Commission hope it will be considered a new tool for fighting oil spills. An analysis of water samples should be available later this week, Moore said.

Two crew members died in the explosion and two are missing and presumed dead.

Students named to dean's list

Three students from Hereford have been named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring semester at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

Junior Kevin Lindell maintained a perfect 4.00 grade point average (GPA) during the recently completed term. Also, honored was David B. Manchec, a senior with a 3.81, and Lois Varner, a sophomore with a 3.50.

The Dean's Honor Roll is announced at the end of each semester by Dr. Bill Hardage, academic vice president and dean of the university. It lists the names of students who earned a GPA of at least 3.50 on a 4.00 scale while completing at least nine semester hours. A total of 176 students from 14 states were named to the Dean's honor roll at Wayland for the spring semester.

Make grilling safe

NEW YORK (AP) - The National Pork Producers Council has the following tips for grilling safety:

- Always read the owner's manual before using a new barbecue grill.
- Never use gasoline or other highly volatile fluids as a starter; they may explode.

- Barbecue grills should not be used within 5 feet of any combustible material.
- For fewer hazardous sparks, experts recommend using a covered grill.

- Never use a barbecue grill unless all parts of the unit are firmly in place.
- Barbecue grills should be kept at a level position at all times; an unstable unit can easily be tipped over.

- Infants, children and pets should never be left unattended near a hot barbecue grill.
- Never add liquid starter to hot or even warm coals.

- After unplugging, remove a hot electric starter carefully and remember where you placed it.
- Always use flame-resistant barbecue mitts and barbecue tools with long, heat-resistant handles.

- Barbecue mitts should be worn to adjust hot vents. Wear a heavy apron to protect clothing from grease and sparks. Never wear loose clothing around a hot barbecue grill; it could inadvertently catch on fire.

- Never touch charcoal or grill to see if it's hot.
- Electric cords should be placed away from walkways.
- Charcoal grills should never be used indoors; toxic fumes could be fatal. Starter fluid should be capped immediately and placed a safe distance from the grill.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have always had trouble reading house numbers from my car because it seems some people like to hide their house numbers with hanging baskets or they are placed in unusual places or at angles as a decorative touch.

I have found that house numbers painted on the curb with white paint are easy to spot and read. I have done this with my house number and many of my neighbors have followed suit.

— A Farsighted Reader, Houston, Texas

It is very important to have your house number clearly visible from the street — it could be a matter of life or death if you had to summon an emergency vehicle. — Heloise

Who will go to SEC?

By The Associated Press

At least one Southwest Conference athletic director wants Texas and Texas A&M to say whether they intend to remain in the league if Arkansas departs.

Arkansas said Tuesday it is talking to Southeastern Conference officials about leaving the SWC and joining the SEC. Some published reports have suggested the SEC might also be interested in luring Texas and Texas A&M into its fold.

That has upset Texas Christian athletic director Frank Windegger.

"We're letting the Southeast Conference feed their egos on the Southwest," he said. "I hope Oklahoma will be at the door, knocking to come in, if Arkansas leaves."

Windegger said he also hopes Texas and Texas A&M will soon state their intention about their futures in the SWC.

"I would like for them to say something positive," Windegger said.

Speed is important

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Speed is important if Arkansas is to move to the Southeastern Conference, UA Athletic Director Frank Broyles says.

And, if Arkansas is going to leave the Southwest Conference for the SEC, Broyles would like to see it happen before football season.

Broyles left Tuesday for a two-week trip to Russia, but is anxious to continue discussions upon his return. He said he didn't know how long it would take to make the transition to the SEC.

"It is in the interest of a school moving from one league to another to move quickly," Broyles said. "The speed with which the transition could be made is important. That will be a factor."

"We will be in a position to talk with them in a month or so," he said. "If a school changes conferences, it would like to do as soon as possible. It would be advisable to get it done before football season. Whether or not that is the SEC's schedule remains to be seen."

Asked if Arkansas could join the SEC in time to play in the 1991 football season, Broyles said Arkansas has contracts with SWC schools through the 1991 season. "At this time, I don't see us asking out of those commitments," he said.

On predictions that Texas and Texas A&M would follow Arkansas to the SEC, Broyles said he didn't know anything about that except what he had read in the newspapers. "Our decision will be based on those two schools remaining in the SWC," he said.

Arkansas has been in the SWC for 76 years. Broyles and athletic directors at Florida State and Miami said last week their schools would be interested in being considered for inclusion in the 10-team SEC if the league extended an invitation.

Astros win major

The Astros won the regular-season championship in the Hereford Kids, Inc. Major League, and will have a bye in the post-season tournament to be held June 18-29 at the Kids, Inc. complex.

The Astros finished the regular season with a 10-2 record. The Yankees were second at 9-3, the Pirates third at 7-5, and the Cardinals and Giants tied for fourth with 2-10 records.

The post-season tournament will begin June 18 at 6 p.m., when the Giants face the Pirates. The Yankees will meet the Cardinals at 8 p.m. that same day. On June 19, the Astros will play the Giants-Pirates winner.

On June 21, the Giants-Pirates loser will face the Cardinals-Yankees loser in the first elimination game at 7 p.m. On June 22, the winner of the Cardinals-Yankees game will face the winner of Game 3 for a berth in the championship game at 7 p.m. on June 28.

All-stars will be announced at 7 p.m. on June 29. The "if necessary" game will be played after the all-stars are announced. The all-stars will play in the District Bronco Tournament featuring area 11-12 year olds.

Kids Inc. major league champions

said. "I think it would be prudent in their behalf and on behalf of the league to do so."

Other SWC athletic directors say Arkansas will only be hurting itself with a move to the SEC.

"They would be giving up a lot, historically," said Texas Tech athletic director T. Jones. "But I guess they're the ones that have got to make that decision."

Windegger said the Razorbacks may not be thinking about the high cost of competing in another league.

"Arkansas just has to travel in the state of Texas now," he said. "But they would have to send teams like women's basketball and baseball to Florida and other places. Their travel costs would escalate dramatically."

"If they choose to remove themselves from our league, I don't know anyone who would be real crazy to play them."

Baylor athletic director Bill Menefee said he regrets the talks are under way.

"It certainly would be a break with tradition if they should leave us," Menefee said.

Arkansas is a charter member of the 76-year-old SWC.

Texas football coach David McWilliams said Arkansas might find other changes as well in the SEC. The Razorbacks, for instance, get a majority of top recruits from their own state and recruit freely in Missouri and Texas.

"So, it's not a give-and-take, it's almost a take for them," McWilliams said. "They take from other states, from Texas and all, and yet they don't really have to give many up. I don't know if that would change if they go into the Southeastern Conference where now you're getting some schools that are a little closer."

McWilliams added that Arkansas' recruiting might be adversely affected if the Razorbacks join the SEC and if they fail to win as frequently as they have in the SWC.

Rice athletic director Bobby May said he faults Arkansas for listening.

"They need to look at their options, and I think the Southwest Conference needs to look at its options," he said. "Hopefully everybody will end up where they want to be."

Houston athletic director Rudy Davalos said he was puzzled that the Razorbacks chose to call a press conference to announce the talks.

"It's a little anticlimactic," he said. "It's not an earth-shattering deal. The fact they were talking has never been in question. All this is a little dramatic, but that's their business."

Calls by The Associated Press to Texas athletic director DeLoss Dodds and Texas A&M athletic director John David Crow were not immediately returned Tuesday.

A's strike out on Van Poppel

ARLINGTON (AP) - The Oakland A's went to bat to get star high school pitcher Todd Van Poppel, but for now it appears they've struck out.

Three representatives from the Oakland organization, including vice president of baseball operations Sandy Alderson, met Monday with Van Poppel for the first time.

Van Poppel was Oakland's first pick and the 14th overall in the recent amateur draft. But the Arlington Martin High School pitcher intends to become a University of Texas Longhorn.

"It's always been a dream of mine to go to Texas," Van Poppel said. "But it'd also be a dream to play for the Oakland A's. Either way, it's a dream situation. I just have to decide which is the best way to go."

Van Poppel has accepted a scholarship to play baseball at Texas next season, and he hopes to gain a spot on the 1992 U.S. Olympic baseball team.

A's officials said no money was discussed during Monday's meeting, and they said they still hope to lure Van Poppel to the pro ranks.

"The young man has the luxury of making a decision between two good choices," said Harvey Dorfman, an instructor-counselor for the A's. "Naturally, we're trying to say the choice of the Oakland Athletics is the better choice."

Van Poppel said he intends to meet again with A's officials, and the time of that meeting has been left up to Van Poppel.

"It went good," said Van Poppel of the three-hour discussion at his home. "We just talked about their organization. They gave me a few more things to think about, but my position is the same."

Van Poppel, who pitches consistently at 90 mph, had warned baseball scouts that he intended to play college baseball before the draft, but Oakland risked their first pick on him anyway.

He is playing amateur baseball this summer for the Dallas Mustangs in the Connie Mack League. He is scheduled to pitch Thursday.

AL's top relievers suffer bad night

By The Associated Press
Two of baseball's best relief pitchers decided to have an off-night at the same time.

First, Cleveland's Doug Jones blew a save for only the fourth time in 25 opportunities when Baltimore scored the tying run in the top of the eighth inning.

Instead of a save, however, Jones (2-2) came away with a win when Gregg Olson, Baltimore's near-perfect bullpen ace, gave up the winning run in the bottom of the inning and the Indians edged the Orioles 5-4 Tuesday night.

Light-hitting Felix Fermin, who started the game batting .217 with only seven extra-base hits in 138 at-bats, doubled with one out in the Cleveland eighth and scored on Sandy Alomar's two-out single.

Fermin's double was only the third extra-base hit yielded by Olson (3-1) this season and the first by a right-handed batter since last Aug. 12.

"I hung a curveball to him, the basic mistake," said Olson, who began the game with a 0.50 ERA, having given up only two runs in 36 1-3 innings. "You live by the sword, you die by the sword. You can't throw a perfect curveball every time."

In other American League games, it was Boston 4, Toronto 2; Detroit 7, Oakland 6; California 5, Chicago 3; Texas 5, Minnesota 5; Kansas City 2, Seattle 1; and New York 5, Milwaukee 1.

Mickey Tettleton walked to start the Baltimore eighth, took second on Joe Orsulak's long fly and scored the tying run on Cal Ripken's single. Jones has failed in two tries at his 100th career save.

Alomar's game-winning single extended his hitting streak to 11 games.

Jerry Browne and Brook Jacoby homered in the Indians' fourth straight victory.

Red Sox 4, Blue Jays 2
Rookie Dana Kiecker limited Toronto to three hits and two unearned runs in 8 1-3 innings and Ellis Burks tripled home the go-ahead run in the ninth.

After Toronto's John Cerutti held Boston to two runs and eight hits in eight innings, Duane Ward (1-3) took over in the ninth. He started out by walking Dwight Evans, and Burks followed with his tie-breaking triple. Burks scored on a grounder by Tony Pena.

Tigers 7, Athletics 6
Alan Trammell drove in four runs, three on a first-inning homer, and Cecil Fielder singled home the tying and winning runs in the fourth inning.

Paul Gibson (2-1) was the winner with 3 2-3 innings in relief of Frank Tanana, who gave up six runs and eight hits in 3 2-3 innings. Dave Stewart suffered his second straight loss.

Angels 5, White Sox 3
Donnie Hill and Devon White each doubled home two runs in a four-run sixth-inning rally.

With Chicago leading 3-1, Dave Winfield opened the California sixth with a single and losing pitcher Melido Perez (6-6) walked Lance Parrish and Chili Davis to fill the bases.

Ken Patterson came in and struck out Jack Howell, the only batter he faced. Donn Pall relieved Patterson and Hill doubled to tie the game. White followed with a double that put the Angels ahead.

Rangers 5, Twins 4
Pete Incaviglia homered with one out in the seventh inning to break a 4-4 tie. Incaviglia crushed a 3-2 pitch from John Candelaria (7-3) some 411 feet over the center field wall.

Incaviglia's 11th homer made a winner of Brad Arnsberg (2-1), who pitched one hitless inning in relief of Mike Jeffcoat.

Royals 2, Mariners 1
Kevin Seitzer tripled home the decisive run in the second inning.

Steve Farr (5-3) gave up five hits in five innings. Jeff Montgomery, the Royals' fifth pitcher, worked the ninth for his fifth save.

Kansas City scored off Russ Swan (1-1) in the first when Bill Pecota got an infield hit, took second as third baseman Edgar Martinez threw the ball away for an error and scored on Jim Eisenreich's single.

Yankees 5, Brewers 1
The usually punchless Yankees took a four-run lead for only the third time in 23 games and Chuck Cary pitched out of two big jams in six scoreless innings.

Cary (4-2) scattered five hits before leaving after the first of two rain delays. The Brewers had runners at first and third with none out in the first inning and second and third with none out in the fifth and failed to score both times.

Mel Hall hit a two-run homer. Loser Chris Bosio (4-5) failed for the sixth straight time to win his fifth game.

Tommy Gregg of the Atlanta Braves played football at Wake Forest and returned 47 punts without calling for a fair catch.

Lefferts tough on former team

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants finally went under, losing for only the second time this month.

But the way they lost made it seem almost as if they'd extended their nine-game winning streak Tuesday night: They dropped a 4-3 decision to the San Diego Padres because former Giant reliever Craig Lefferts was too tough to handle.

He retired Will Clark with the bases loaded to end the seventh and Kevin Mitchell with two on to end the game. And, just for good measure, the former Giant left after the eighth inning and headed briefly for the wrong dugout.

Those things happen when the adrenaline is flowing.

"I probably have not been more up for a game than this," Lefferts said. "The Giants had won nine in a row and we'd won one of our last seven. So this was a really big game for us."

And it was a big game for the Padres bullpen, which is leaning on the left-hander with 10 saves as the replacement for departed National League Cy Young Award winner Mark Davis. Lefferts moved from the Giants to the Padres as Davis jumped to Kansas City via free agency.

Elsewhere, it was Los Angeles 5, Houston 1; New York 6, St. Louis 0; Philadelphia 2, Pittsburgh 1 in 10 innings; and Chicago 2, Montreal 1. Cincinnati and Atlanta split a doubleheader, the Reds winning the opener 4-2 and the Braves taking the nightcap 3-0.

Roberto Alomar got three hits and an RBI for San Diego.

San Francisco did not play like a winner of 16 of its previous 17 games, committing an error, a wild pitch and a balk in San Diego's three-run first inning. Alomar and Joe Carter drove in runs with singles and Mike Pagliarulo added a sacrifice fly.

Bruce Hurst (4-6) allowed five hits in five innings.

Dodgers 5, Astros 1
Fernando Valenzuela ended a personal four-game winless streak as Los Angeles handed shaky Houston a club-record-tying 11th straight road loss with its fourth straight victory.

Valenzuela (5-5) allowed four hits in seven innings, struck out six and walked four while beating Mike Scott (4-7) as the Astros lost their fifth straight. Eddie Murray hit his ninth homer in the fifth for Los Angeles, which had lost five straight before its current winning streak.

Mets 6, Cardinals 0
David Cone pitched a four-hitter and New York kept up its power show, beating John Tudor (5-3).

The Mets, who have won nine of 11 games, got home runs from Kevin McReynolds, Orlando Mercado and Howard Johnson. New York has homered in 22 of its last 25 games to increase its league-leading total to 81.

Cone (3-4) didn't allow a hit until Milt Thompson's opposite-field double to left field with two out in the fifth inning.

Phillies 2, Pirates 1
Dickie Thon's single with two out in the 10th inning scored John Kruk from second base.

Kruk, who drove in the first Philadelphia run, singled to center and advanced on a single by pinch-hitter Randy Ready. Thon followed with his game-winning single, a liner down the left field line against Bill Landrum (2-1), making a winner of reliever Don Carman (4-0).

Cubs 2, Expos 1
Chicago's Shawn Boskie won a duel of rookies with Mark Gardner and Montreal's Spike Owen set a National League record for consecutive errorless games in a season by a shortstop.

Owen had one fielding chance, taking a relay from left fielder Mike Aldrete and throwing Mark Grace out at the plate on a double by Andre Dawson in the seventh inning. Dawson drove in a run for the Cubs in the third. Ryne Sandberg added his 19th homer, off Bill Sampen in the ninth.

Owen's errorless-game streak reached 61, surpassing the record set in 1988 by Kevin Elster of the New York Mets.

NEW YORK (AP) — Once upon a time in Hollywood, an actress who wears quirky clothes went to a cable mogul. She carried two bags full of illustrated fairy tales and said she wanted to turn them into shows.

Why, sure, the mogul said. And this is no fairy tale. It's how Shelley Duvall became a mogul herself when, fresh from playing Olive Oyl in the movie "Popeye," she got the okay in 1980 to produce "Faerie Tale Theater" for the Showtime cable channel.

A friend had warned her the major networks would be wasted time, she says, "so I walked into Showtime and the head of the company was laughing at me with my two cloth knitting bags full of books."

"But they gave me an order for three shows right off the bat," she said. "And thank goodness they had the courage to put their faith in Olive Oyl as the producer. Otherwise, I wouldn't have gotten here."

Duvall, who played Rapunzel in one "Faerie Tale," since has produced two other Showtime series, "Tall Tales & Legends" and "Nightmare Classics," and a cable remake last year of "Dinner at Eight."

Her latest effort, running tonight and Friday on the Disney Channel, is a gently bent music special called "Mother Goose Rock 'N' Rhyme." Like "Faerie Tale Theater," it also can be bought or rented in video stores.

As is the Duvall custom, the special does things differently. Its childhood-tale characters are played by a variety of performers you wouldn't normally see in your basic Mother Goose show — like ZZ Top, Debbie Harry, Little Richard and the ever-popular Pia Zadora.

Dawn-to-dusk workday made Griego successful

By ORVILLE HOWARD
Special Feature Writer

Bobby Griego moves mountains and sometimes carves out his own canyons—not the Colorado kind but the highs and lows common to the flatlands of the Texas Panhandle.

He also builds river-beds, road-beds and turns gulleys into lakes. Or in the remote regions of the Canadian or the backwash of the Pecos, Griego puts the squeeze on erosion and manures the Good Earth as if he owned it all.

But he doesn't own it all—just a small niche on Holly Sugar Road where the Hereford contractor directs a fleet of earth-moving equipment across a five-state region of the High Plains. From the tailwater pits of the Deaf Smith County turnrows to the deep dikes below the Caprock, Griego deals in dirt. He'll move it, haul it, scrape it, pack it or pamper it.

For nearly 30 years, Griego has had a lifestyle close to the soil, building a dirt contracting business with a lot of sweat and pig-iron. He speaks of the big crawlers as toys of the trade, while reflecting a contented smile in describing the maintainer blade—"If you keep a steady hand on the controls and an eye on the dirt you can make the surface nearly smooth as a piece of glass."

Griego's first love is with the big CATS... "Man, I love to move that earth—to feel the power of the big machines at work. But the dragline work is very boring, you know, like cleaning out tailwater pits or feedyard lagoons." Incidentally, however, it was an old second-hand dragline that paved the way for his successful venture in the heavy-equipment contracting field.

Other than for a short stint in Pecos, Griego has devoted a lifetime in the heavy-equipment work to the Greater Hereford area. But occasionally, his rigs have been seen in the break-country of the Guadalupe, Medina or San Antonio in South Texas or in the rolling ranchland of Oklahoma...or digging in the turnrows of Southwestern Kansas or Eastern Colorado irrigation fields.

Dirt business is big business for the Bobby Griego family, but at one point in time it was much bigger than it is today: "Things have slackened off here in the Hereford region during recent years, but I believe that with a little luck and a lot of work on the part of the community, we can get it (economy) going again."

The Hereford contractor was speaking of the times when he had a heavy-equipment crew of 47 moving mountains of earth a year from South Texas northward to Kansas. But most of his dirt contracting was centered in the Golden Triangle of Hereford, specializing in all types of farm, ranch and feedyard work.

"The farmers, ranchers and feedyard operators were the ones who kept us going," said Griego as he reflected on both the good times and bad times. "When the farmers didn't do good, then we didn't do good...tailwater pits, feedyard lagoons, roadways and soil conservation work have been our main business."

Griego has also handled considerable amounts of government work in the air base regions of the southwest, mostly in road work, and has done a lot of hard-surfacing for the feedyards and rural sectors of the Hereford area.

"We handle a lot of caliche work, especially for the feedyards," said Griego. "Those feedyard managers take great pride in keeping their roadways well-drained and in good condition. We also build a lot of roadways for the farmers and ranchers."

As an example of the volume of roadwork performed by Griego he has a caliche pit leased on the east edge of Hereford, with a second pit of his own used as a back-up supply of roadway base material outlying from Hereford.

Soil conservation work is another specialty of Griego whose perfection with the big dozers or the multi-yard scrapers can turn a jagged gorge into a manicured waterway. Nearly every major ranch from the New Mexico state line to Lake Meredith north Amarillo contains a Griego dam, waterway, stock tank or caliche roadway. Some of the jobs have been big, some have been small, but all for the purpose of conserving the land for generations to come.

Terrace work has been a major line of Griego contracting since the very beginning of his own business more than 22 years ago: "We've done a lot of terrace work through the years for both the farmers and ranchers. Some folks don't think of terraces as being helpful to the ranchers, but range water control has become a very important item in recent years." Most of his conservation work is performed under the guidelines of the Soil Conservation Service.

Griego noted that his tailwater pit work and field terracing has been on the decline in recent years (due mostly to acreage idled under CRP) but on the other hand, his roadway work and conservation am building has been holding good. He also handles the small jobs, from patching up washed-out culvert to putting the polish on a landscape job.

In recent years, Griego has sold some of his big equipment as demand for dirt work declined, but his replacement inventory will still run into the millions. A moderately-sized loader added to his inventory this year cost in excess of $100,000 -- "But the big ones are really high-priced." Every piece of equipment, no matter how small, is radio-equipped, allowing the Hereford headquarters immediate voice contact with all job sites.

"It would be a real nightmare to try to handle this kind of work without those two-way radios," said Griego. "In this kind of work, it seems like there's always something breaking or unexpected problem." His son, Robert, rides herd on the fleet of equipment and a daughter, Lela, is office manager, sort of a "second boss" who keeps every one in line.

Griego brushed a wisp of greying hair from a weathered face as he reflected on the past—"My children keep telling me I should retire but retirement is not for me...just being in this office drives me crazy. My life has been out on the job, but I guess there comes a time when you've got to slow down a little bit."

Griego recalled how in younger years he geared a day's work to the daylight hours, working from dawn to dusk: "It was hard work but I liked hard work...I loved to feel those big dozers move big earth, I should be out there right now but Robert and Lela say I need to be here in the office running business...I don't like it but I guess it's gotta be that way."

Other than this work, Griego's first love is for his family, with his American heritage dating back to before the birth of the nation. Though his maternal heritage is steeped with a blend of Spanish and French, of the Southwest his maternal ancestorage is rooted in Greece which produced an American immigrant who came West to seek fame and fortune.

JOSE GRIEGO, born in 1825, was the son of "The Greek." His lineage includes Bobby Griego.

ROBERT GRIEGO

HUSTLE HEREFORD

But the Greek found neither...what he found was a beautiful pinon-covered valley near what is now Las Vegas, N.M., and a beautiful black-eyed maiden, both of whom reminded him of his homeland on the mediterranean.

The exact date of the arrival of "The Greek" in the Southwest has been lost to the ages, but legends of the La Garita Valley in New Mexico says that in 1825, a son was born to El Griego (The Greek) and his wife, Maria. Since none of the Valley residents could pronounce "The Greek's" surname, they Baptized the child, Jose Griego, the son of El Griego and Maria Griego, thus, forming a line of Griegos that would stand as seedstock for a Hereford contractor of the 20th Century.

Pinpointed near the small village of San Jose on the Pecos River southwest of Las Vegas, Jose Griego developed a stock farm where he and his French-Spanish wife, Dona, began a family that would eventually spawn throughout the West. But it was a son, Bernado, who would become the direct link to the Bobby Griego family of Hereford.

And it was Bernado who became known throughout the region as a great buffalo lancer. Guns were scarce and ammunition even more scarce in those valley villages of the West, so the men at an early age learned the art of survival through the lance. Annual treks into the Staked Plains or Llano Estacado, as called by the natives, were big times of the times as the Griego family sought food in the prairie buffalo herds.

Ancient records of the San Jose Village show that the buffalo were exceedingly plentiful in the first half of the 19th Century, with their Staked Plains buffalo hunts centered in what is now Deaf Smith and Oldham counties of Texas. Then came the "Big Fifties" and the Civil War, both of which turned a lean diet of the New Mexican villagers into an even leaner diet on the consumption side of the table. A number of the Griego family served with the Union Army during the Civil War, and during an Indian uprising, one of the Griego boys was captured by a band of renegade Indians and held captive for six years before managing an escape and uniting with his family in the La Garita Valley.

An account of the Griego family in the La Garita Valley was written and published in hard-back cover in 1980 by Alfonso Griego, an uncle of Bobby Griego who is now retired in Albuquerque. The writer gave a detailed account of the last buffalo hunt in 1870, the year the Griego family found the Texas Plains filled with rotten carcasses and bleached bones of the vast buffalo herd that once roamed the Prairies.

"The Griego family had been taught to never take more than they needed," write Alfonso Griego in his history of the family. "They salted down the buffalo hides for making into leather, dried the lean meat for food, cooked the fat and scraps into oil and soap and even used the bones of many things.

A crew from Griego Dragline of Hereford works at a site north of Amarillo.

They never wasted a thing and left the Staked Plains just as clean as they found them."

But the commercial buffalo hunters and the thrill-seekers of the East turned the Staked Plains (Texas Panhandle) into a buffalo graveyard, taking the hides and leaving the rest to rot. This great slaughter not only affected the food supply of the New Mexico villagers, but also contaminated the air and formed a springboard of diseases believed to have originated on those spoils of the land.

LELA LISCANO

With the buffalo meat supply gone, the Griego family moved heavier into stock farming, building sizable herds of sheep and cattle, along with grain and apple crops along the Pecos. The population of the La Garita valley also grew and the tiny village of San Jose became something of a social center for the small valley—the families of Don Gonzales, John Taylor, James Boylan, the Halls, the Hages and the Griego families.

Then came World War I and the year of the flu, both of which hit hard on the Griego family. The population of the Valley began to dwindle. A severe drought, seldom recorded in the history books, had already taken a heavy toll on New Mexico stockmen in the early 1920s, prior to the Big Depression of the 1930s. And by the time the Wall Street stock market collapsed in 1929, the Griego family had moved eastward to the spring-fed meadows of the Concho River Valley near Tucumcari, N.M. And it was here that Bobby Griego's grandfather, Iasias, established a second stock farm, a point not far from Tucumcari where Ernesto Griego became the father of Bobby Griego, a New Mexico farm boy on the Conchos who would some day become a Texas contractor.

Though New Mexico stockmen saw many tough times in the drought of the early 1920s, the drought of the 1930s was much worse. Springs dried up and summer crops withered under a devastating sun. Ernesto Griego, as many of his neighbors, sought survival in greener climes. Some died, some went to the vineyards of California, some went to the apple orchards of Oregon, but Ernesto Griego came to Hereford, a farming community which by this time was moving into irrigated potato production. Griego was here nearly three years before he sent for his family, and so it was in 1943 that Bobby Griego first set foot in Deaf Smith County, an area where his great-great-grandfather had hunted buffalo a hundred years earlier.

Griego worked at various jobs around Hereford during the 1940s, but in 1953 he hired on as an oiler for the Wallace Construction Co. of Hereford. But it wasn't long before the Griego youngster was crawling into the driver's seat of the big crawlers where he soon became a day-to-day operator of the big earth-moving machinery.

"From the very beginning, I fell in love with the big equipment," recalled Griego, who was 17 when he pulled his first throttle on a big CAT. When he and Licha, a girl from Eagle Pass, were married the following year, Griego continued in the excavation business as a big-equipment operator, but the Korean Conflict interrupted his dirt work for a while. Following a stint in the Armed Forces, Griego returned to his old job with Wallace Construction Co., but by this time, the company had set up offices in Pecos so Griego wound up in West Texas for a time.

Griego wanted to be back in Hereford, so he pulled stakes and returned, working for a time at the Tip Top Service Station. He later hired on with the National Construction Co, then became part of the line crew for the Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative.

"I had been doing a lot of part-time tailwater pit work for other people, then one day in 1968, I spotted this old dragline rig for sale and decided to go into business for myself," said Griego. "I quit REC and started out with one dragline, cleaning out tailwater pits and feedyard lagoons...then I added two more rigs—one for spare parts and one to work."

From the one-unit dragline service, Griego expanded into excavation and road building—he not only would clean out a tailwater pit, but he would dig a new one or fill up an old one.

Then came sizable contracts with the U.S. Air Force, building roadways for various base operations of the Southwest. The Hereford-based business grew until at one point in the early 1980s, his inventory included more than 50 pieces of heavy equipment, including rollers, earth scrapers, maintainers, dozers, loaders, dump trucks and water-wagons.

"Most of our business these days are now related to the farming and feedyard business," Griego added. "We sell a lot of caliche and we haul a lot of caliche, mostly for driveways, roads and alley-ways for the feed yards."

The Griegos have four children. Other than Robert and Lela who work for the family business, Ruth lives in Amarillo and Maria lives in Lubbock. Griego moved to his present business headquarters on Holly Sugar Road in 1984, a home-base that includes a spacious office and maintenance shop, along with several acres of equipment. His first office was his home over at 209 Avenue A. As business grew, so went the equipment inventory and the second move was to 615 Grand.

"I bought the place over on Grand to put some of our machinery," said Griego. But the Grand Street place included an old two-story ranch house which my wife wouldn't let me tear down...she made me re-model it into our home."

The Griego couple now make their home in the 13-room house that initially was bought to be razed for an equipment parking lot. Though the agribusiness economy base of the Southwest suffered a bleak run during the 1980s, Griego has much faith in the Panhandle people, the land and the nation—"We've had our problems but America is still the greatest country in the world and the country around Hereford is still one of the greatest farming areas of the world."

"Right now, I guess the main thing we need is a lot of rain and a lot of something to get us all moving together again."

It's garage sale season, the time when everyone is offering bargains or looking for bargains. Turn your unwanted goods into treasure with a Hereford Brand Classified Ad. If your garage sale is on Friday and Saturday, bring in your classified before 3 p.m. Wednesday so it will be in the Thursday and Friday issues of the Brand. Give it to Janey Allmon at the front desk. For a two-day, 20-word ad it costs just $4.80. Don't forget: if you live in the city of Hereford you must have a garage sale permit. You can get your permit at City Hall, then drive a half-block to the Brand and put in your classified ad. If you don't know how to word your ad, Janey can help you. She can help you have a very successful garage sale!

LONDON (AP) - Prince Edward plans to quit serving tea to members of composer Andrew Lloyd Webber's Really Useful Group and set up a production company of his own with five members of the theater company.

The 26-year-old prince, the fourth and youngest child of Queen Elizabeth II, joined Lloyd Webber, whose hit musicals include "Cats," "Starlight Express" and "Aspects of Love," as a production assistant in 1988.

Production assistant is the most junior job in theaterland. The prince's backstage work included making tea for co-workers.

Edward said in a statement Tuesday that he was grateful to Lloyd Webber and the Really Useful Group for the chance to work in the theater.

THREE RIVERS, Mich. (AP) - When Tammy Chamberlain wrote a letter to talk-show host Gary Collins, she didn't expect a reply - much less a personal visit.

The host of ABC's "The Home Show" was to do a portion of Friday's show live from this small southwestern Michigan town.

"I didn't think the letter was that big a deal," said Chamberlain, the city's official hostess.

In the letter, Chamberlain told how the recent shutdown of a General Motors Corp. plant hit the town hard. She said Three Rivers' 7,000 residents needed a morale boost as they prepared for their 34th annual Water Festival.

Chamberlain said she was stunned when Collins called her on his live show June 4 to tell her he would be coming.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Eight months after my husband died his mother had a stroke. She is now in the hospital being rehabilitated. I help out by driving my 87-year-old father-in-law to visit her. Sometimes there are other family members in the car, but usually we are alone.

Lately he has been making passes at me. When he takes my arm to walk he brushes my behind with his hand, "accidentally." He has also made suggestive remarks about my sleeping alone. Once he kissed me hard on the lips, catching me completely by surprise. I was absolutely speechless.

I find his behavior more and more upsetting and I don't know what to do about it. At times I would like to belt him, but I'm not one who goes around hitting people and I can't see myself doing that.

I've admonished him to behave himself and remember that I'm his daughter-in-law, but he just laughs. I confided this to another family member who also laughs and thinks it's hilarious.

This situation is becoming increasingly intolerable and I don't know what to do about it. Can you guide me, Ann? -- Not Amused in New York

DEAR NEW YORK: For crying in the grog, this 87-year-old Romeo has a geranium in his cranium. When he gets fresh, don't hesitate to put his hands where they belong in a firm-nonsense manner. If you decked the old coot and he were injured when he hit the turf, you'd feel awful.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been married for nine years to a man who has always stressed the importance of "family." His invalid mother lived with us from the time we married until she died. His daughter and son from his first marriage moved in with us shortly after "Grandma" passed away. The daughter stayed for five years until she was 23. The son was with us for six years.

The daughter and I do not get along because she was dead-set against her father marrying again. My husband felt guilty for going against the wishes of his children, although they were well aware that his marriage to their mother was miserable.

A while back, during a discussion about having the family together for Easter my husband made a statement that absolutely floored me. He said, "Men should not put their wives first because wives are not family. They are strangers. Blood relatives should always come before the wife."

Now I ask you, Ann, am I crazy or does he have it wrong? What do you do with a spouse who has this sort of attitude? Do you get him to go for counseling or do you get yourself a divorce lawyer?

I don't expect my husband to change but I find it very difficult to accept the fact that I will never be No. 1 in his life. I know now that this was the main problem all along, because all our arguments have been about his family. Please size up this situation and give me some guidance. -- An Unrelated wife

DEAR UNRELATED: After nine years of marriage you are well-aware of the way his head works. You are wise not to expect any changes in a man whose concepts are etched in granite.

The best thing you can do is ask yourself that well-known Ann Landers question, "Would I be better off with him or without him?" Then, do what is in your own best interest. Good luck.

Gem of the Day: It's always a good idea to plan ahead. Remember, it wasn't training when Noah built the ark.

In 1951, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said farewell to Congress after being relieved of his command in Korea by President Truman. Said MacArthur: "Old soldiers never die; they just fade away."

Keenan named to honor list

George Matthew Keenan, a Hereford resident, was among students named to the Dean's honors list at Texas Christian University for the 1990 spring semester. This recognition cites undergraduate students for academic achievement.
 Though not the only indication of educational accomplishment, outstanding grades mark the meeting of high challenges set by the University's faculty members, according to Dr. William H. Koehler, vice chancellor for academic affairs.
 In order to be eligible, a student must have been enrolled for 12 or more semester hours of study and have earned an exceptional grade-point average.
 Keenan, of 126 Mimosa St., is a freshman communication graphics major.

"Souper" easy meals in minutes

Ever have breakfast for dinner? A hearty soup featuring some breakfast favorites may be "eggs" - actually the treat for hard-working folk who "bring home the bacon."
 Bacon and eggs combine to make a zesty-flavored meal with the help of a tasty soup known as "Oodles of Noodles" in the east and "Top Ramen" in the West. The oriental-style instant noodle soups from Nissin make it easy to create a quick hot supper that's "souper."

BACON 'N' EGG SOUP (1 serving)

Boil two cups water in a saucepan. Break up noodles in one package of Top Ramen before opening. Add noodles to boiling water, cook for three minutes. Meanwhile, scramble one egg in a little butter, break into bite size pieces. Add seasoning from flavor packet to cooked noodles and pour into serving bowl. Top with the scrambled egg pieces, a few bite-size pieces of cooked bacon and serve immediately.

Variation: You can add 1-3 tablespoons cooked vegetable just before serving-broccoli, green beans, or mixed vegetables; or sliced fresh green onions.
