Judge hears contempt motion

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer
A motion for contempt filed last month by the Hereford law firm of Smith and Davis against Assistant Attorney General Linda Walden was heard Thursday in 22nd District Court.

Against Walden concerning records used for district attorney probe

Judge Pat Boone Jr. of Littlefield found Walden in contempt but ruled another judge should also hear the motion.

The motion was filed after Walden allegedly failed to return records from the Smith & Davis office and that of Certified Public Accountant Julian Berry of Hereford. She is assisting an extended Deaf Smith County Grand Jury in a probe of alleged wrongdoings on the part of Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul and Jerry Smith, former assistant district attorney and law partner of Saul.

On Jan. 20, Boone ordered that the records, which had been subpoenaed by the grand jury, be copied and copies returned to the two offices. Attorneys for Smith, Davis and Berry filed the contempt motion on Feb. 2, claiming the records had not been returned as ordered.

Walden stay in jail until the proper records were produced. However, Walden's status as an attorney and an officer of the court kept her from going to jail. A clause in Vernon's Annotated Texas Civil Statutes which says "an officer of a court held in contempt by a trial court, shall, upon proper motion filed in the offended court, be released upon his own personal recognizance pending a determination of his guilt or innocence by a judge of a district court, other than the offended court."

Supporters to continue aid push

By W. DALE NELSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional supporters of President Reagan say they will continue to fight for more money to combat leftists in Central America despite a narrow defeat and bipartisan criticism of administration tactics.

For Central America

White House spokesman Robert Sims said the administration was "disappointed" by the committee vote. White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the administration settled on the maneuver because "we want the matter considered by Congress promptly." The administration contends the Salvadoran army may run out of supplies before elections scheduled for spring, leaving the guerrillas free to disrupt the balloting.

Administration tactics drew sharp criticism from Democrats and some Republicans, both on and off the Appropriations Committee, who said the procedure did not give Congress enough opportunity for deliberation on the issue. "I really am sorry for the president of the United States, to tell the truth," said Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M.

Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, chairman of the subcommittee on military spending, moved to add funds for the Nicaraguan rebels to a bill containing $200 million to buy heating fuel for poor people. After his amendment failed, the committee approved the bill by a voice vote. Stevens said he would confer with administration officials about his next move, which might be trying to attach the Nicaragua money to the African aid bill or attempting to put it on the energy bill when it reaches the Senate floor, probably next week.

Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., joined the criticism, saying, "I don't want to have to vote against aid to the starving people of Africa in order to have my vote against military aid to El Salvador recorded."

Public School Week Ending

This is the last day of Public School Week in the Hereford Independent School District. Above, Robert Chavez of the Hereford High School power technology class examines a steam turbine.

By a vote of 15-14 Thursday, the Republican-controlled Senate Appropriations Committee rejected Reagan's emergency request for $21 million in aid between now and Sept. 30 for CIA-backed rebels fighting Nicaragua's leftist regime. The committee then postponed until Tuesday any action on the president's companion proposal for $93 million in emergency military aid for El Salvador's beleaguered army, which is struggling against a left-wing revolution.

Sen. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., chairman of the subcommittee that screens requests for overseas spending, said he would move for approval of the Salvadoran aid on Tuesday as an amendment to the bill.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., a leading critic of Reagan's Central American policy, said, "We don't want any backdoor approach. We want to face this issue." William Schneider, undersecretary of state for security assistance, told a House panel the administration was "simply left with no alternative way of doing it" because Congress has opposed the use of presidential emergency powers to send military supplies to El Salvador without congressional action.

Steelmakers launch quota drive

On imported steel

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — The U.S. steel industry, reeling from the effects of inexpensive foreign steel, wants Congress to limit imported steel to 15 percent of the American market by establishing quotas.

And to dramatize the push for legislation to slap quotas on foreign steel, a tractor-trailer rig carrying two symbolic pieces of steel is heading from Texas to other major steel manufacturing centers to collect signatures for delivery two months from now in Washington.

however, indicated the steel was being sold at $403 per ton in 1983 and $378 in the first quarter of 1984, Collins said. "Everybody operates from a protected home market except those steel manufacturers in the United States," he said. "We have tried and tried and tried to solve this problem through U.S. unfair trade statutes. It has not worked for us. It has reached the point where we need a blunt instrument."

Unemployment hits two-year low

By SCOTT McCARTNEY AP

DALLAS (AP) — Unemployment in Texas last month plummeted to its lowest level in two years — a reflection of the state's continuing economic improvement, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said today.

Labor Statistics Bureau says

The seasonally adjusted joblessness rate dropped to 5.7 percent in February from 6.9 percent the previous month. More than 97,000 people found work in February, said the bureau's chief economic analyst in Dallas, Nic Santangelo.

seen since last year," Santangelo said. Texas still has "pockets" of depressed areas, Santangelo said. But the future looks bright, he added. "This improvement was achieved despite the lack of a full recovery of energy-related industry and the depressed levels of our border areas," Santangelo said. "When you look at the whole picture, we're really demonstrating the complexity of the economic situation here."

In February, 433,000 people in Texas were unemployed. Nearly 7.2 million did have jobs, he said, an increase of 81,000 from January. In February 1983, unemployment in Texas stood at 8.6 percent with 652,000 people jobless. Unemployment in the state peaked in the first quarter of last year, Santangelo said. Skelton found top speller

After 47 rounds, 12-year-old Carrie Skelton was pronounced champion of the junior division spelling bee Thursday afternoon. Skelton, the daughter of Donnie and Grace Skelton, is a sixth grade student at West Central Intermediate School. Her teacher there is Becky Flores. Thursday's runner-up was Edward Castillo, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Castillo. He is instructed at Bluebonnet Intermediate School by Mary Dzuik. The competition began at 1 p.m. in the Heritage Room at Deaf Smith County Library. Senior spellers, along with the junior division winners, were to compete at 1 p.m. today at the same location. Judges for the two-day event were Rev. George Belford, Margaret Bell and Eloise McDougal. Bera Boyd served as pronouncer.

Name orders established

Orders have been determined for names to appear on the April 7 Hereford City Commission and Hereford Independent School District board of education. Those voting for city officers have no choice for Place 3, in which incumbent R.W. "Bud" Eades is running unopposed. For Place 4, challenger Dewey Kinbell leads off against incumbent Emory Brownlow. The two candidates for District 2 of the school district are to be listed as follows: Ronnie Nunley then Jo Garcia. Aspirants for the two at-large school board slots are supposed to be headed on the ballot by current member Bill Townsend. Following him are to be John Fuston, R.C. Hoelscher (another current board member) and Bob Baker.

Police report two incidents

Hereford police Thursday investigated one incident apiece of injury to a child and open door, it was reported this morning. Meanwhile, two were arrested for public intoxication and disorderly conduct, two for driving while license suspended and one for driving while intoxicated. There were not any accidents nor fires police knew about. The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office had nothing to report.

Steelmaking in this country is down 25 million tons from a peak of 160 million tons in 1977 while steelmakers abroad have expanded far beyond the world's ability to consume," U.S. Steel Corp. Chairman David M. Roderick said in a statement released Thursday. Employment is down more than 40 percent and imported steel use in the country for 1983 topped 22 percent of the market, costing 75,000 steelworkers their jobs, he said. "Our industry is now in a state of accelerated self-liquidation. We had a $5 billion net operating loss carried forth at the end of 1983," James F. Collins, executive vice president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said. Collins cited a Wall Street analysis by Merrill Lynch that shows steel from Europe should cost $465 per ton while Japanese steel should cost $500 per ton. A Commerce Department survey,

Venue change sought in trial

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The attorney representing convicted baby killer Gene Jones says he expects a state district judge to grant a change of venue today for the nurse's trial on charges she injured an infant boy with drug injections.

"I'd go into cardiac arrest if it wasn't moved," said court-appointed attorney Royal K. Griffin. "Unless you've been underwater here for the last 19 months, you have to have heard about Gene Jones."

Ms. Jones was convicted last month in the murder-by-injection of a young girl at a Kerr County pediatrics clinic. She faces a pre-trial hearing today on a Bexar County indictment charging her with injuring a month-old boy at San Antonio's Medical Center Hospital.

State District Judge Pat Priest has been considering motions filed by Griffin last month to move the trial and to quash the indictment against the nurse.

Ms. Jones, 33, was employed at Medical Center before moving to the small Kerrville clinic in spring 1982.

Autopsy results released

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — The daughter of a militant tax protester died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the chest, a justice of the peace has ruled.

Linda Kahl Holder, the 36-year-old daughter of Gordon Kahl, was found dead Tuesday in her car along a dirt road about four miles west of Odessa, Ector County Justice of the Peace R.G. Hungerford said Thursday.

"It's going to be self-inflicted... a suicide," Hungerford said following completion of an autopsy Thursday.

Ms. Holder's father was killed in a gunfight with police in northern Arkansas on June 3, 1983 following the slayings of two federal marshals in North Dakota.

Authorities said Kahl, a former Crane, Texas, resident, was a member of Posse Comitatus, a militant tax protest organization.

Sewer accident kills two

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Officials kept a carbon monoxide-filled sewer pipe sealed today while they pondered how to safely investigate the site where a construction worker and a would-be rescuer were killed and 29 others were felled trying to save them.

The carbon monoxide apparently was created by a malfunctioning gasoline-powered water pump in the half-mile-long pipe, Gordon Routley, a fire protection engineer with the Phoenix Fire Department, said Thursday.

The construction worker who died had gone inside Thursday afternoon to check the pump, and when he didn't emerge, others went in to try to save him. In all, 31 workers and firefighters were overcome by fumes and heat exhaustion, officials said.

The federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration sealed the entrance at a Papago Freeway construction site after the accident, Routley said.

"We really can't tell at this point what happened," he said.

Man hospitalized after beating

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — A frail elderly man is hospitalized today after enduring three days of torture from his 77-year-old wheelchair-bound wife, who beat him with a cane and abused him to keep him from falling asleep, authorities said.

"I've been on the police force for four years and I've never seen anything as bizarre as this," said investigating patrolman Michael J. O'Brien.

Eighty-year-old Carlos Mello was in serious condition at St. Luke's Hospital with what police described as swollen genitals and bruises covering his arms and legs.

O'Brien said Mary Ana Mello denied that she beat her husband.

"No, he must have fallen out of bed," O'Brien quoted her as saying.

Convicted killer violates parole

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Theodore Strelski, who beat his Stanford professor to death with a hammer only 5½ years ago, was back in prison today after only three hours on parole because he didn't want to say he was sorry.

The bearded, long-haired Strelski, 47, told reporters in a confused statement Thursday he felt no remorse about the killing but that he was breaking parole "as a statement against the power and arrogance of Stanford."

The unexpected move meant authorities could keep Strelski prisoner up to 18 more months and that students and faculty at Stanford — terrified at his refusal to say he would not kill again — could rest easier.

Hunt for seal pups off

WILD COVE, Newfoundland (AP) — Frustrated by persistent protests, Canadian sealers are asking the government to declare a moratorium on the hunting of baby seals and tell the public that seal pups are no longer being clubbed to death.

International opposition to the clubbing of baby seals, considered inhumane by many, has sharply reduced the market for the once desirable pelts.

Mark Small of the Canadian Sealers Association said after a meeting of the organization Thursday that whitecoats — newborn harp seals — and bluebacks — infant hooded seals — were not hunted last year and would not be hunted this year either.

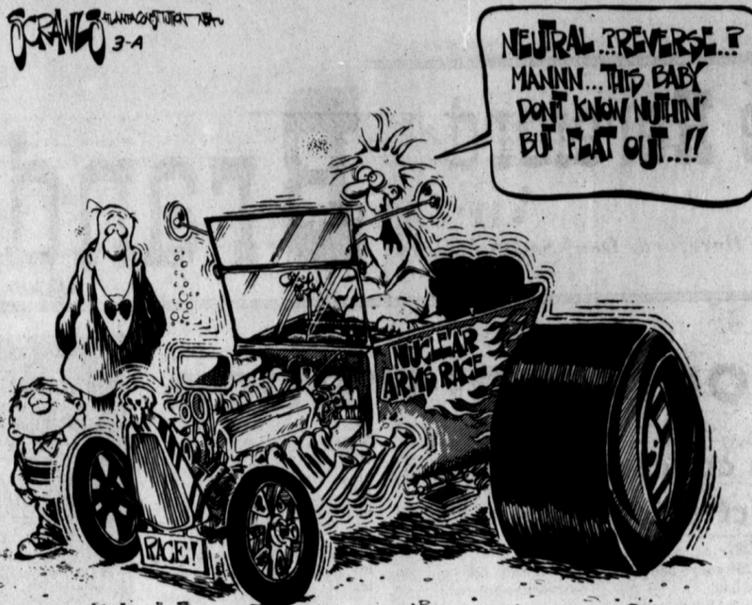

However, anti-sealing organizations persist in distributing pictures showing the wide-eyed harp seal pups being clubbed, Small said in a telephone interview.

Mexico's inflation rate lowers

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government, struggling to overcome Mexico's worst recession in half a century, has announced a February cost-of-living increase that casts doubt on its hopes for lowering the inflation rate to 40 percent this year.

The Banco de Mexico, Mexico's central bank, announced Wednesday night that the cost of living increased 5.3 percent in February. That is a drop from the 6.4 percent increase in January, but if price increases continue at the level of the first two months, the annual inflation rate will be 70.2 percent.

President Miguel de la Madrid and other top officials have said controlling inflation is a key to pulling the country out of its worst economic crisis since the 1910-1920 Mexican Revolution.

A blizzard-strength storm blamed for at least 11 deaths lashed the Northeast with up to 10 inches of snow today, rumbling up the Atlantic coast with thunderstorms and pulling record-setting cold in its wake.

In Gallop Poll

Hart leads Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sen. Gary Hart, riding a wave of popularity from his New England victories, leads President Reagan by 9 percentage points in a new nationwide Gallup poll.

The Gallup poll gave Hart 52 percent support to Reagan's 43 percent among the 719 registered voters surveyed March 2-6.

Another poll, this one conducted March 2-5 among 1,190 registered voters and published today in the newspaper USA TODAY, showed Reagan with 46 percent compared to 40 percent for the Colorado senator.

Both polls showed Reagan with a sizable margin over former Vice President Walter F. Mondale — 54 percent to 34 percent in the USA TODAY poll and 50 percent to 45 percent in the Gallup poll.

Among Democratic voters surveyed, Hart and Mondale appeared to be neck-and-neck in both polls.

The USA TODAY poll of 534 Democrats showed Hart with a 34-32 percentage edge over Mondale, with a 3 percent margin of error. Gallup gave Mondale a slight edge, 33 percent to Hart's 30 percent, with a margin of error of 4 percent.

In surveys one month ago, Hart polled only 2 percent in 800 to clear streets in New York City this morning as the snow, blown in by 30 mph winds, quickly reached 4 inches. The National Weather Service predicted "a rough rush hour for those venturing to work."

"We're getting a siege here," said a police dispatcher in Allentown, Pa., where the snow reached 8 inches by midnight and was falling at an inch an hour.

Temperatures plummeted west and north of the storm.

Sioux Falls, Iowa, began the day at 11 below zero, breaking the record of 5 below set March 9, 1948. Indianapolis was at a record 3 above zero and that was likely to drop further, forecasters said. But neither the 16 below at Massena, N.Y., nor the 18 below at Marquette, Mich., was a record.

The mercury was in the 20s in most of the Northeast, but that too was changing as the storm settled in.

"I'm looking forward to at least a dozen record lows for the date scattered across the Northeast," said forecaster Harry Gordon at the Severe Storms Center in Kansas City, Mo.

Snow fell today in eastern Kentucky, eastern Ohio, parts of Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and southern New England. Forecasters said the storm would pick up moisture from the Atlantic Ocean and dump 8 inches on Massachusetts' Cape Cod as it moved off the coast later today.

Santangelo said the changing profile of the Texas economic has caused economists problems with season adjustments and interpretations of data, but the most recent figures are well within margins for error.

"We're in a position now in the state that's very unlike the historical picture of Texas over last 10 years," he said.

Dear editor:
Jesus Christ must be delighted to know that the Supreme Court put Him back in Christmas ("Christ officially in holiday," March 6 Brand, page 2). The Supreme Court must not know that "Jesus is the reason for the season."

on and on. And as I wrote our congressman, God is trying to tell Americans something. If we don't get back to prayer everywhere, things will get worse.

Prayer defined in one sense means the soul's sincere desire to God from the heart, not uttered nor expressed. So what is wrong with a teacher or student asking God to help them through the day? As many problems as there are today, at homes and in schools, prayer is much needed.

I was listening to someone on TV saying it may be a certain denominational prayer. As far as I'm concerned, there is no such thing as a Baptist, Methodist, Catholic or any other denomination prayer.

There is only one true God, and his son, Jesus Christ. We all should and do pray to him, regardless to race, creed or denomination.

In Matthew 21:22, it is written: "And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive."

Now I can understand how some youths feel from 1963 until now, but beyond that it is the negligence of the heads of our country.

JESSE THOMAS

LUBBOCK — Services for Jesse Claiborne Thomas, 85, of Lubbock will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Azbury United Methodist Church with the Rev. Hardin L. Atkins III officiating.

Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park under direction of Resthaven Funeral Home.

Mr. Thomas was the brother of Mrs. Ella Cowart of Hereford. He died at 12:15 a.m. Thursday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after a brief illness.

He was born May 6, 1898, in Waxahachie and moved to Lubbock in 1938 from Plainview. He married Floy Tunnel Oct. 27, 1971, in Clovis, N.M. He was a civil service aircraft electrician at Reese Air Force Base for 25 years. He served in the U.S. Army in World War I.

He was a 32nd degree Mason with Plainview Lodge 709, and was a member of the Royal Arch Masons Plainview Chapter 228 and Council 164. He was a Methodist.

Other survivors include his wife; two sons, Calvin of Lubbock and George of Plano; a daughter, Mrs. Rogene Lewis of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. June Terry of Plainview and Mrs. Marie Oler of Minden, La.; 11 grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Hart, Mondale running even

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gary Hart and Walter Mondale, both eschewing the front-runner title, are locked in a virtual dead heat in two new polls as the two Democratic presidential rivals head into their first confrontation in the West and even bigger stakes on "Super Tuesday."

Hart said Thursday he was "sprinting" to "catch up against campaigns that have had five or six times as much money."

And Mondale, asking voters in Florida to "please help me," said his ailing campaign was coming back from 1-2-3 losses in New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine.

His first chance to prove that is Saturday, where the outcome of Wyoming caucuses will be the first test of either candidate's strength in the West. Then comes Tuesday, and with it primaries and caucuses in nine states.

As those contests draw near, polls from the newspaper USA TODAY and the Gallup organization put the former vice president and the Colorado senator in a virtual tie as the choice of Democratic voters.

The USA TODAY poll gave Hart a lead of 34 percent to 32 percent over Mondale among 534 Democrats surveyed March 2-5, but the figures translate into a dead heat when the 3 percent margin of error is taken into account.

In the Gallup poll, Mondale held a slender 33-30 percentage lead over Hart with a 4 percent margin of error. Those results came from interviews with 719 registered voters March 2-6.

When compared with earlier surveys, both polls underscore Hart's dramatic rise from virtual unknown to contender in just a few weeks. In a Feb. 6 survey, Mondale was favored by 54 percent of the Democrats compared to just 2 percent for Hart. Similarly, the USA TODAY poll one month ago found Mondale the choice of 47 percent to Hart's 2 percent.

If the November election was held today, the Gallup poll said Hart would defeat President Reagan, 52 percent to 43 percent. The USA TODAY poll said Reagan would win, 46 percent to 40 percent.

Analysts forecast

Market improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a record number of Americans at work and unemployment lines shrinking, there is virtually no hint that joblessness will surge again any time soon, private economists say.

In the absence of another recession or an unexpected influx of hundreds of thousands into the labor force, these analysts say, job opportunities should remain good.

These private analysts, assessing labor market health on the eve of today's release of the February's national unemployment rate, did say, however, they believe the period of dramatic drops in joblessness has passed.

Employment figures for December and January furnished evidence of the trend toward gradual rather than sensational declines as the civilian rate fell from 8.4 percent to 8.2 percent from November to December and to 8.0 percent in January.

A record 103.9 million Americans held jobs in January — and that record will be broken so long as more people are hired than laid off.

Some 4.2 million Americans have gone to work since unemployment peaked at 10.7 percent of the labor force in November 1982. In January, however, approximately 9 million people still were officially categorized as jobless.

Martin Feldstein, chairman of President Reagan's Council of Economic Advisers, said Thursday the economy continues to grow at a "very strong" annual clip of more than 6 percent in the over Hart as the Democratic nominee. Both polls said Reagan would be re-elected if Mondale was the challenger.

Both surveys also placed Sen. John Glenn of Ohio a distant third, followed by the Rev. Jesse Jackson and former Sen. George McGovern.

Mondale, Hart, Glenn and Jackson all stumped the South Thursday in search of votes in the upcoming Alabama, Florida and Georgia primaries.

In Miami, Hart called 1984 "a watershed year" and said the Democratic Party has the "awesome responsibility" of replacing the Reagan administration. Earlier, before the Alabama Legislature, Hart said the issue in 1984 is "are we going to move to this nation's future or are we going to slip into its past."

Mondale told senior citizens in Florida that they would be the "most powerful citizens on Earth" on Tuesday.

"The world will tremble waiting for your judgment. Please help me," he said.

Glenn, still billing himself as the only moderate Democrat, predicted Thursday he would emerge from "Super Tuesday" in a position of strength.

"I haven't over-promised. Before they rush to judge the candidates, I hope people think about what each proposed in regard to economics, defense and what we've promised," Glenn said. "If they do, I think we'll win."

His comments came during a visit to the Marine Corps Logistics Base in Albany, Ga., in the first of a string of appearances backdropped by patriotic themes designed to emphasize Glenn's Marine and astronaut experience.

Glenn's campaign was stunted Thursday when his Michigan campaign manager, state Rep. Richard Fitzpatrick, defected to the Hart ranks.

Jackson, meantime, told voters that his civil rights record stacks up best when compared to the other Democrats.

"I have been a participant in the transformation of the South," he told a crowd at Jacksonville, Ala. "I've been here when you needed me, not just when I needed you."

Ann Landers Not easy caring for elderly

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It is often said that children owe it to their parents to take care of them in their later years because the parents took care of the child. I have no argument with this, but I can tell you it is much easier to care for a child than for an elderly parent. I have done both.

Caring for the elderly is difficult even when that person is sweet-tempered and well-behaved. Many are not. In all fairness, I understand it is hard to be agreeable when physical problems develop and formerly active people can no longer be involved in community affairs. Nor is it easy to see one's health and energy declining, knowing full well things will never get better. In fact, the certainty is that things will get worse.

Often food requires special preparation. Medication must be given several times a day. Bathing and dressing take time and energy. The offspring must give up his or her well-established lifestyle. The roles are reversed. Now it is the elderly parent who does not want the child to go out for an evening or even take a brief vacation. No substitute caretaker is acceptable.

My sister insinuated that I was caring for my parents because they have some money and in the end I will be well rewarded for my trouble. This made me furious. I would not do this for anyone but my parents for 10 times the amount of money I may inherit.

Thanks for letting me share my feelings with you, Ann. I'm sure there are a large number of readers who are walking in my moccasins. They will know exactly how I feel, even though others may not.—Faithful Fan In Memphis

As a youngster I can remember the German Shepherd next door. He barked every night, starting at about 8 p.m. and kept it up well past midnight. No one had the gumption to tell the owner that his dog was driving everyone bonkers, much less go to court over the matter.

One night my father went out in the yard with a tape recorder. The next night when the dog started to bark he telephoned the neighbor and played the tape. My father repeated the performance for five nights running. The sixth night the dog was quiet. We never did figure out what that neighbor did to put an end to the bark-

NARFE district meeting set Monday in Amarillo

This is to be an all day meeting, with registration at 9:30 a.m. Plans and aims of the organization for the benefit of all current and retired federal employees in this area will be discussed.

Several of the out of town speakers will be W.R. Adams, El Paso, federation president; Mrs. Ada Spivey, Midland, area vice-president; and Vernon E. Bell, Lubbock, national vice-president.

Miles W. Caudle of

Hereford, district representative, will preside.

One of the subjects to be discussed is how the individual will be affected by the inclusion of Social Security and Tier 1 of the Railroad Retirement incomes in figuring the federal income tax for 1984.

All current and retired federal employees are urged to attend.

Recreation party planned at Manor

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 192 met Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall.

Following the formal opening, a memorial was held for Donna Mandina and a money memorial was voted for the Freedoms Foundation from the unit.

The group will host a reception party in King's Manor Retirement Home March 15 and the VA Medical Center March 12.

The Girls State chairman announced that a Girls State delegate and alternate will be selected at the unit in April and a $250 scholarship will be given to a graduating senior.

Nazareth will host Zone One Legion and Auxiliary March 20. This will also be a Legion birthday dinner. The local post will host a birthday dinner beginning at 7 p.m. Tuesday with both the Legion and Auxiliary invited to attend.

American Legion Auxiliary Department President Wanda Konkle will make a tour of the 18th District and will be in Hereford Friday afternoon. The local unit will host a reception for her at the James Jesko home at 1 p.m. Auxiliary members are asked to be present.

The Legion and Auxiliary members of the 18th District will meet in Nazareth April 14 for a one-day convention and district officers will be electd for two-year terms. Following the business meeting, the Legion members merged with the Auxiliary for a talk by Roy Blanton who spoke on "A Salute to Veterans."

Mary Williamson, program chairman, introduced Blanton who said, "It is time we recognize our veteran citizens who went, who did, who supported, who upheld our country, aims and goals. It is time we acknowledged their efforts however great or minimal, not just once a year, but everytime that it is afforded us."

June Koelzer and Ethel Logan served refreshments to approximately 35 Legion and Auxiliary members.

Senior Mickey Stengel receives congratulations from a dejected Borger catcher Burlson Cumpston. Stengel had just blasted a game-winning two-run homer with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning to make the final score 8-7 in favor of HHS. The Herd now advances to the semifinals of the Hereford baseball tournament.

Stengel's blast powers Herd past Borger, 8-7, into semifinals

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

It could not have been more dramatic.

Two outs, bottom of the seventh, man on third and Hereford down 8-7.

Senior Mickey Stengel steps up to the plate and with one ball and one strike on him, he straightens his cap, tugs on his pants and gets set in his batting stance.

The Whiteface bench runs onto the field with jubilation, congratulating senior Gary Ruckman who was on third and Stengel as they cross the plate.

With the win HHS advances to the semifinals of the Hereford baseball tournament. The game will be played today at 3:45 against either Clovis or Dumas.

"That was a good ballgame to play in, and to watch. It was a total team effort," coach Don Long said after the game. "Today we had the kids hitting when they needed to hit."

The long ball played a major role Thursday's varsity contest. Senior Tommy Wade hit a two-run shot for the Bulldogs in the third. And Senior Ronnie Collier and Stengel blasted roundtrippers for the Herd.

After three innings it looked as if Hereford would be blown out as BHS scored once in the first and four times in the top of the third, highlighted by Wade's homer.

The Whitefaces had been held hitless until the fourth. After Stengel flew to left and Collier hit out to the first baseman, junior Chel Bunch poked a grounder up the middle for HHS's first hit of the game.

Senior Robert Martinez then singled and Bunch raced to third. After Martinez stole second, the next batter, junior Sammy Suarez, laced a single to left to score Bunch and Martinez. But the ball got past the left fielder, rolled to the fence, and Suarez also scored. The inning ended, 5-3, in favor of Borger.

The Herd took the lead, 6-5, in the fifth, again with a two-out rally. Senior J.D. High reached first on a force and stole second. Stengel hit an infield single to move High to third and then Stengel stole second. Both runners scored when Bulldog hurler Dave Melharg threw a wild pitch.

The next batter, Collier, ripped his solo homerun over the fence in left.

Borger bounced back with two runs in the top of sixth to set up Hereford's dramatic seventh-inning comeback.

Junior Mike Scott started the game for HHS but gave way to Martinez when his arm stiffened up after two innings. Martinez had a shaky third inning but settled down to complete the game.

Turpin nets 42 points, pulls down 16 rebounds, for Wildcats

By The Associated Press

Melvin Turpin had one of those nights that comes along every 32 years.

Kentucky's 6-foot-11 senior center scored 42 points and pulled down 16 rebounds Thursday night to lead the No. 3 Wildcats to a 92-79 victory over Georgia and a berth in the semifinals of the Southeastern Conference basketball tournament.

Turpin's 42 points tied the conference scoring mark set in 1952 by former Kentucky star — and current athletic director — Cliff Hagen.

"I wasn't thinking about the record, I just wanted to win," Turpin said. "It just happened that I was very hot."

Hot is a good word to describe a player who shoots 18 of 22 from the field and six of seven from the free-throw line.

Turpin started the game at a pace where a lot more than 42 points seemed possible. He scored 20 of his points in the first 10:30 of the game as Kentucky opened a 35-16 lead and was never threatened.

In other games involving teams in the Associated Press' Top Twenty, No. 2 Georgetown beat Providence 70-50; seventh-ranked Illinois defeated Minnesota 53-41; No. 10 Nevada-Las Vegas downed San Jose State 70-55; 12th-ranked Tulsa edged Wichita State 86-80; No. 15 Temple crushed Massachusetts 78-54; 17th-ranked Memphis State blasted Southern Mississippi 86-58; No. 18 Louisville beat Cincinnati 62-55; and 20th-ranked Oregon State defeated California 64-60 in overtime.

Two people who didn't want to talk about the scoring mark were Turpin and Georgia Coach Hugh Durham.

Turpin kept changing the subject when reporters asked him about the scoring mark and he gave credit to his teammates.

"We had other guys hitting from the outside — Sam Bowie, Jim Master, Dickie Beal," Turpin said. "It just so happened they were coming to me inside."

Durham was upset about Kentucky going inside.

"He was playing against a 6-foot-6 guy and got his confidence up," Durham said. "What do you want me to say, that he's the greatest thing since sliced bread?"

The record-tying basket came on a short jumper at the buzzer after sophomore forward Kenny Walker gave up an open layup to let Turpin take the shot.

"The one he got the record on, Kenny made an unselfish play," Kentucky Coach Joe B. Hall said. "It was a medium-range jump shot, so it was honest."

Kentucky, the regular-season champions, will face Alabama, which needed an overtime session to defeat Louisiana State 72-70, in one semifinal tonight, while Auburn, a 59-58 winner over host Tennessee, will face Tennessee, which also needed an extra session to eliminate Florida 80-74.

Regular-season Games
Bruce Douglas scored 15 points and George Montgomery 14 as Illinois, 22-4 overall and 14-3 in the Big Ten, moved back into a first-place tie with Purdue. Illinois has one game remaining, when Wisconsin visits Champaign on Saturday, while Purdue ends its conference season Sunday at Minnesota.

Charlie Sitton made all six of his free throws in overtime to lead Oregon State and keep alive its hopes for a championship in the Pac-10. Even a tie with Washington wouldn't get the Beavers the automatic berth in the NCAA tournament as the Huskies, who beat Washington State 67-51, have not represented the conference in a longer period of time.

Tournaments
Patrick Ewing scored 18 points as Georgetown rallied from a 25-23 halftime deficit for the easy victory over Providence. The Hoyas' semifinal opponent will be St. John's, the defending Big East champion and a 57-56 winner over Boston College. The other semifinal will pit

Syracuse, a 73-58 winner over Connecticut, against Villanova, which held off Pittsburgh 75-65 behind Ed Pinkney's 21 points, 17 of which came in the second half.

Reserve Eric Booker scored a game-high 21 points to lead Nevada-Las Vegas, which will face Utah State in the semifinals of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association. Chris McMullin canned a rebound of a blocked shot with four seconds remaining to lift the Aggies over New Mexico State 79-77. The other semifinal will have Cal-Irvine, a 77-65 winner over Long Beach State, against defending National Invitation Tournament champion Fresno State, which defeated Fullerton State 53-51.

Junior guard Steve Harris scored 26 points to lead Tulsa to the finals of the Missouri Valley Conference tournament. The Hurricane, 26-3, didn't take the lead for good until the second half and had to overcome an outstanding performance by Wichita State's Xavier McDaniel, who had 35 points and 14 rebounds. Tulsa will face Creighton, a 69-59 winner over Illinois State, Saturday for the title.

Terence Stansbury's 15 points led Temple, 25-3, over Massachusetts and into an Atlantic 10 semifinal game against West Virginia. The host Mountaineers crushed Rutgers 93-73. The other semifinal matches St. Bonaventure, a 68-67 upset winner over St. Joseph's, and George Washington, which eliminated Duquesne 79-66.

Milt Wagner scored 18 points and Louisville used a pressing defense and a tough 1-3-1 zone to overcome a 31-27 halftime deficit and beat Cincinnati. The Cardinals, 22-9, will face Virginia Tech, a 49-47 winner over Tulane, in the Metro Conference semifinals. Junior forward Keith Lee scored 20 points and pulled down 12 rebounds to lead Memphis State over Southern Mississippi and into a semifinal against Florida State, which beat South Carolina 72-65.

In other tournaments that didn't involve ranked teams, Robert Morris, Fairleigh Dickinson, Long Island U. and Marist advanced to the semifinals of the ECAC Metro; Maine and Canisius will meet for the ECAC North Atlantic title; James Madison and William & Mary will meet for the automatic berth in the ECAC South; Rider, Bucknell, Drexel and Lafayette won their East Coast Conference quarterfinals; Oral Roberts, Evansville, Xavier, Ohio and Loyola, Ill. advanced to the semifinals of the Midwestern City Conference; and Houston Baptist and Samford will meet in the Trans-America Conference championship.

Longhorns win

match over

Houston women

HOUSTON (AP) — The other teams in the Southwest Conference Women's Basketball Tournament hoped the top-ranked Texas Longhorns would show some effects of losing All-American junior center Annette Smith last week.

The Longhorns dashed that idea by breezing past Houston 96-76 in a semifinal game at Hofheinz Pavilion Thursday night.

Texas Tech downed Arkansas 56-43 in the other semifinal game and will meet the Longhorns in Saturday's championship game at 2 p.m.

Smith was the fifth Texas player to suffer a knee injury this season.

"I was beginning to feel like there was a cloud over my head," Texas Coach Jody Conradt said. "Now, I think I've got to be the luckiest person alive. I've got the kind of people who grab your heart and won't let go. They give everything they can and play as hard as they can play."

The Smith family was represented by sophomore Audrey Smith, who hit a career high 23 points on eight for eight shooting from the field.

"I knew I had to contribute a lot," she said. Leeta Whaley, sidelined since December with a knee injury, came off the bench in the first half to ignite a 27-8 spurt that buried the Cougars, now 16-12.

"I don't think there was any more pressure on me after Annette went out," said Whaley.

Worth millions

Walker gets extension

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Herschel Walker, who says his father once told him he's "not worth a quarter," has signed a four-year, $6-million contract extension with the New Jersey Generals that he claims is the "best contract in the world today."

Walker also said his new pact was better than the staggering $40-million deal the Los Angeles Express gave to quarterback Steve Young earlier this week because he gets more money sooner and not in deferred payments.

The star running back's extension also is considered more lucrative than the five-year, $6-million contract former Oklahoma running back Marcus Dupree received last week from the New Orleans Breakers of the United States Football League.

Walker said he is glad he's staying in the USFL rather than playing out his current three-year, $5-million pact and signing with a National Football League team.

"If I leave the USFL now I can't accomplish the things I want in life," Walker said Thursday at a news conference to announce the new pact given to him by Generals owner Donald J. Trump, a New York real estate developer.

"I want to stay in the new league. I think Herschel Walker and the new league go together," Walker added. "It's like Mr. Trump would say. If I'm going to build a building I'd rather build from the ground up than renovate an old one."

Walker's contract extension apparently is aimed at discouraging the NFL from making him eligible for its May college draft. The 1982 Heisman Trophy winner left the University of Georgia in his junior year and would not have been eligible until the 1985 draft.

The extension is guaranteed and begins when his current pact expires at the end of the 1985 USFL season. He will receive the money even if the fledgling USFL folds.

"My contract, I think, is the best contract in the USFL and NFL both," Walker said.

Terms of the new agreement were not disclosed, but one source said the deal called for $6 million over the four years. Unlike Young's contract, Walker said none of his money will be deferred. The former Brigham Young quarterback reportedly will earn $40 million over the next 43 years, with $35 million accruing through annuities which will not benefit him until 1990. Although most of the money is deferred it still is considered the richest agreement in sports history.

Walker signed the extension three weeks ago — at least two weeks before Young came to terms with the Express — but the announcement was delayed until Thursday.

PURSE RAISED

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Opportunity will knock again for the owner of a 2-year-old race horse in 1984 at the Meadowlands race track. The purse of the Young America Stakes, a mile and 1-16th event for juveniles, has been raised to $500,000.

In 1983, it was a $400,000 event and was won by Swale in a hard-driving photo finish with Diastrous Night. The 1984 renewal of the Young America is scheduled for Oct. 18, a Thursday night.

Rice, SMU, want respect in tonight's tournament

HOUSTON (AP) — The Rice Owls have never advanced past the second round of the Southwest Conference Basketball Post-Season Classic, and the Southern Methodist Mustangs have not reached the NCAA playoffs in seven years.

They'll both be looking for a little respect tonight when the Owls play Texas Tech and SMU meets Texas A&M in quarterfinal games of the ninth annual SWC tournament in Hofheinz Pavilion.

Awaiting the outcome of tonight's matchups are fifth-ranked Houston and eighth-ranked Arkansas, who earned byes into the tournament's semifinals by finishing first and second in the SWC for the second consecutive year.

The Red Raiders finished fourth in the SWC, including a pair of tight victories over the Owls, but Coach Gerald Myers said he told his team not to feel disappointed.

"We had to play against three of the top four centers in the country," Myers said. "It's been three big ones (SMU, Houston and Arkansas) and six dwarfs this year. Really, the rest of us aren't that bad, we just don't have the big centers. We can compete with those teams that don't have the big centers."

Myers referred to Houston's Akeem Ojaluwon, the nation's leading rebounder; SMU's Jon Koncack and Arkansas' Joe Kleine.

The Raiders bring a 16-11 overall record into the game against the Owls, who were 11-16 and won their first SWC tournament game Tuesday to reach the second round.

"It feels great to have the opportunity to play in the tournament for the first time," Rice guard Tracy Steele said. "We've had a winning feeling all year. When we'd get down, we just kept hanging in there. I hope we stay loose and play like I know we can."

The Aggies will have to play a near-perfect game to beat the Mustangs, A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf said.

"We'll have to play our best game of the year," said Metcalf. "We'll have to draw to a Royal Flush — that's our only chance."

The Aggies, who are 14-13, have lost to SMU twice this year, once in double overtime at College Station.

SMU Coach Dave Bliss brushed aside his team's failure to make the national rankings this season despite its 24-6 record.

"I think there are 40 top 20 teams instead of in the old days — when there was a distinct line between the haves and the have-nots," Bliss said. "But really, that doesn't matter to us. It's how you end up that counts."

SMU lost twice each to Arkansas and Houston and was defeated by Louisville and Nevada-Las Vegas.

Vocational classes help prepare students

For the last several years, Stanton Junior High School has offered a variety of vocational classes for all students. This type of course enables students in making decisions about occupational training when they enter high school.

There are four courses that are offered in industrial arts which the students can enroll. Woods offer the students an opportunity to learn basic drafting and design. This course also gives the student an opportunity to use all types of woodworking tools and equipment in the shop. Towards the end of the course, students are allowed to construct a project of wood.

Another shop course which is offered at Stanton is metals. This course is designed for students to receive the basic skills in sheet metal construction using oxy-acetylene and electric welding.

If a student enrolls in power technology, he is able to learn how the two and four cycle engines operate. Also included in this course is solar and rocket power. The electricity class offers students the opportunity to learn basic AC and DC current. Basic skills in the use of computers are taught in this class.

The local chapter was formed late last year following two PBS programs dealing with drug abuse, hosted by Nancy Reagan.

The film to be shown Tuesday is for everyone, local chapter organizers Jeffrey Hill and Deane Jones. Preceded by a few organizational matters, the film will run approximately 28 minutes.

Another major area in the vocational program is the home economics department. Students have an opportunity to learn food and nutrition, consumerism, family living, clothing and textiles, housing, and child development.

Two classes are offered at Stanton for the disadvantaged students. For girls, coordinated vocational academic education (CVAE) classes are offered, and boys can take general mechanical repair course. Both of these classes are designed to help students gain entry level skills for employment in one or more occupations covered in the classes.

Having four teachers in the vocational program at Stanton, more than two hundred students were served through these classes.

Local Church Roundup

GRACE GOSPEL

The Rev. Bennett Allen and his wife, Vonda, and daughter, Kris, will minister in the Sunday services at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. at Grace Gospel Church, 13th and Avenue K.

They will also be guests at a noon luncheon in the Community Center following the morning worship service.

Allen, a native of Dallas, is a graduate of Christ for the Nations in that city. He has pastored churches in Texas and Arkansas during the past ten years and has also hosted a weekly radio ministry.

He pioneered and pastored Maranatha Ministries in Weatherford for four years, and he has held evangelistic crusades in the United States and Mexico.

His wife is also a guest speaker at churches and women's meetings, and his daughter complements her parents' ministry with music.

The Rev. Evelyn Tallant, pastor, extends an invitation to all interested persons.

FIRST BAPTIST

"Strengthening Your Grip," a film series featuring well-known author Chuck Swindoll, is currently being shown on Sundays at 6:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church auditorium. The series will run through April 8.

The public is invited to attend these free films.

AVENUE BAPTIST

The Avenue Baptist Church single-again share group will meet at 427 Avenue C at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays during the month of March. The single-again Sunday school class meets at 9:45 a.m. every Sunday.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST

A covered dish family supper at First United Methodist Church Sunday evening will be the occasion for a farewell to the Jeff Wakeley family. It will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the church fellowship hall.

Wakeley has been minister of music and youth in the church the past year, and will leave next week for Sweeney, near Houston, where he will begin his duties as minister of music and programming March 15. His family includes his wife, Colleen, and their small daughter, Shannon.

Entertainment featuring skits will follow the supper Sunday. Plans are under direction of the Family Life Committee, headed by Kathy and Troy Don Moore, and the Pastor-Parish Relations Committee, with Karen Abney as chairman.

Members of both senior and junior high Methodist Youth went skiing recently at Angel Fire, N.M.

There were 21 members from each group, accompanied on the trip by Suzanne Duval, Pam and Dick Fellers, Karen and Temple Abney, Donna and Calvin Jones, senior sponsors; Mark and Billie Landrum, Sharon Bodner, Billie Farr and Steve Coneways, junior leaders.

The junior highs were housed over the weekend in the

Rev. and Mrs. Bennett Allen...and daughter, Kris

Coneway's cabin at Angel Fire.

NAZARENE

Hereford Church of the Nazarene will once again host the annual Youth-a-Rama Thursday, March 15, through Saturday, March 17.

This event includes competition in talent and sports for junior high and senior high youth. Participants are expected from throughout the Panhandle and from as far away as Dallas and Fort Worth. Last year there were approximately 400 in attendance.

Highlighting Friday evening will be a banquet in the Bull Barn with special musical entertainment by the Speer Family. The banquet is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., followed by the concert at 7:30 p.m.

Cost of the banquet is $6 per person and anyone wishing to attend must call the church to make a reservation by Wednesday, March 14.

The concert is open to everyone and a love offering will be taken.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL

The Lenten study program for St. Thomas Church, which is to begin at 5 p.m. Sunday and continue each Sunday until April 8, is entitled "Death and Dying: Be Prepared!"

Each session is to last about one and one-half hours and will consist of an address by an expert in a particular field followed by a group discussion period.

The scheduled sessions are March 11, "The Community of Saints and the Theology of Dying," the Rev. Charles Threewit; March 18, "The Medical Treatment of the Dying," Dr. Duffy McBrayer.

Also, March 25, "Dying With Dignity," Mrs. Rose Ann Smith, BSN, FNP, April 1, "The Care of the Dead," Gary Phipps, NFDA; and April 8, "The Legal Ramifications of Dying," John Aikin, Esq.

Threewit, vicar of St.

Thomas, said that "This study program will give a clear understanding of Christian living and dying and how we can make decisions now which may well determine whether or not our last earthly living will be as Christians, surrounded by our Christian family, or as people deprived of the comfort and care of the Communion of Saints."

"It will also help us to know how to relieve our families of the burden of decisions thrust upon them at a time when they are least able to make them."

Visitors are welcome to attend these meetings, which will be held in the Parish hall of the church, 601 West Park Avenue.

Gonzalez gives club program

Susana Gonzalez presented a program on making dough baskets or dough pie plates when Sweet 'n' Fancy Cake Decorating Club met Thursday morning.

Alice Koenig and Ms. Gonzalez are to donate cakes for King's Manor for the month of March.

Other members present were Mary McCutchen, Teresa Paetzold, Betty Henson, Elida Balderaz, Evelyn Crofford and Ms. Koenig.

The next program on March 22 will be given by Betty Henson. She is to discuss making royal miniatures such as flowers, chicks, dogs, and rabbits.

Stanton students compete

Each year for the past 10-12 years, the math and science departments at Stanton Junior High School have selected the more talented and gifted students in each field to represent the school in a limited number of math-science contests conducted within the surrounding area.

We have a math team composed of eight members from each of the three grades at Stanton. This gives us a total of three teams to represent the school in an early contest each year in Lubbock.

Near the end of the school year the teams are combined into one unit to represent Stanton in the annual math-science bowl at Portales, N.M. The following math students will compete at Portales this year: Crystal Ball, Fidencio Cantu, Carla Fry, Nadine Herrera, Isaac Gomez, Augustine Melandrez, Nancy Turrubiates, Jo Anne Urias, Hugh Villarreal, Karla Gayton, Denise Carreon, Jason Bradshaw, Vincent Garcia, Michael Riley, Glenn Parker, Brad Blum, Ruben Rodriguez, Keith Anderson, Kyle Streun, Craig Rogers, John Banner, Kent Walterscheid, Michelle Green, Edna Soliz, Judy Hamby, Margie Stacy and Brian Townsend.

The science team members work hard each year in preparation for UIL contests. The team also takes one field trip each year. We have attended programs at the Don Harrington Discovery Center and the WT Geology department presented a program in Palo Duro Canyon last year.

Intramural program begun at Stanton

An intramural program was started at Stanton Junior High School this year to give the students some type of activities during their lunch hour.

Some of the activities include: softball, basketball, flag football, volleyball, cageball, arm wrestling and a chess tournament.

In first and second lunch the students are divided into groups: 7th, 8th and 9th grades, and boys separate from the girls. First lunch students compete against first lunch and second lunch students against second lunch students. After a person or team has won the championship of their lunch the school may have an assembly so that the champions from each lunch can challenge the other for the school championship.

In volleyball, we had a boys team and a girls team from first lunch against the champion boys and girls team in second lunch. The student body really enjoyed the games. The first semester we presented more than 650 certificates to those people who had won a 1st, 2nd or 3rd place.

The situation at Stanton is such that at lunch the students have 45 minutes for lunch, but are out of the cafeteria in 25 minutes. This allows the students around 20 minutes before their next class. We started the program to give students something to do during this 20 minutes. The program has given all students a chance to participate. It has shown students how to win, lose, compete, sportsmanship and lifetime skills.

At the end of the year we will award a high point girl and boy for participating in intramurals.

The sponsors this year are Sammie Henderson, Aurora Dominguez and Suzanne Duval.

Funds used for housing

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Texas prison records say that funds for prison inmate education and recreational programs have been used to buy housing and other amenities for prison staff members, The Dallas Morning News has reported.

The newspaper said in a copyright story in Friday's editions that the inmate education funds were also used to pay for employee parking lots and the property on which the prison administration building sits.

The money was used to pay for such things as four revolvers bought in 1968 and former TDC director W.J. Estelle Jr.'s travel expenses from Montana when he interviewed for a job, records obtained by the newspaper also show.

Officials said the money has been raised primarily through the inmates' annual prison rodeo and the sale of cigarettes and other items to inmates through the commissary.

"It has been used over the years as a slush fund," said Rep. Ray Keller, R-Duncanville, whose office is investigating the use of the fund. "It was an extra fund used to circumvent the Legislature."

The newspaper study of TDC files shows the educational and recreational account receives no rental payments for the vacant lots and employee parking areas it owns.

TDC officials told the newspaper that employees pay monthly rents of no more than $30 to live in houses the inmate funds have bought.

"I think there's clearly been an abuse of these funds," said Keller, who chairs the House committee that oversees the Texas prison system.

Committee chairman Robert Gunn of Wichita Falls said that members of the State Board of Corrections have asked for reports on the educational and recreational fund. The reports will be presented at the board's next meeting in Huntsville Monday.

Gunn denied that the fund had been abused.

"To my knowledge, at this stage, I don't think the fund has been abused," Gunn said. "I think the definition of legislative intent has been ambiguous. It has needed refining."

The inmates' educational and recreational fund, whose revenues totaled $4.3 million during the past fiscal year, is one of at least three TDC funds whose monies are raised within the system, officials said.

They said expenditures are made directly by TDC rather than through the state comptroller's office as state funds are. Keller said guidelines indicating how the funds can be spent have been broadly interpreted.

TDC records show that the fund pays the $23,000 annual salary of TDC staffer Jay Byrd, a position Keller said should be budgeted by the Legislature. Byrd is director of the prison rodeo, and also serves as public information officer for the prison system.

Byrd's full salary is paid through the inmate fund "because there's no way to do it any other way," said TDC bookkeeper Mike Turner, who has worked with the fund for about six years.

He said a trade-off is involved since other employees on the state payroll have some rodeo-related duties.

TDC officials said that the fund has paid for musical instruments, television sets for inmate day rooms and a pre-release building for prisoners.

"The money does provide benefits to inmates where it is not appropriate to spend tax dollars in those areas," said TDC spokesman Rick Hartley. "It is used in the areas of medicine, education, religion and recreation."

The educational and recreational fund was established in the 1930s to handle earnings from the prison's inmate rodeo, which is held each fall in Huntsville.

The fund also receives interest from the money prisoners have deposited in bank accounts administered by TDC officials.

The fund's fixed assets were valued at $8.7 million at the end of the fiscal year last August, including buildings, land and other property and $3.8 million invested in certificates of deposit, said TDC records.

TDC accountant Gary Baker, who works with the fund, identified the buildings and land it owns as including:

— A city block in Huntsville where TDC's administration building sits. Baker said the state uses the land, which was bought in 1940, free of charge.

— A lot and a three-bedroom house in Huntsville. Hartley said an employee of the TDC's records and classification division lives in the house and pays the fund $25 a month to rent the house.

— A lot where TDC officials used other funds to construct a quadruplex for prison employees. The "E and R Fund" receives no rental payments from the prison system for the use of the lot, Baker said.

— Nineteen other duplexes and houses built on three different prison units. TDC employees live in the houses, paying rents ranging from $17.50 to $30 monthly, Hartley said.

Situation comedy to be shown

NEW YORK (AP) — For maybe the first time in his broadcasting career, Ted Turner has done the networks a big favor.

On Saturday night, Turner's Atlanta-based superstation, WTBS, will show its first original situation comedy, "Down to Earth," and it's so pathetically bland, schmaltzy and amateurish that it will make the networks' laugh tracks sound sweet.

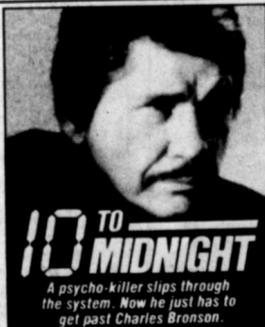

Of course, WTBS, which reaches nearly 30 million cable homes and was watched by an average of 3.2 percent of those homes in January, isn't the first cable service to fail at what ABC, CBS and NBC don't do so well in the first place. The Playboy Channel's first original comedy, "4-Play," was worse.

And, if used as a night light, "Down to Earth" is much less offensive.

"Down to Earth" is about a daffy angel, whose earthly assignment is to serve as homemaker and peacemaker to a widowed father of three kids. This, says her stuffy boss, Charles Divine (Lester C. Fletcher), is her last shot at earning her wings after 59 years in limbo.

Angel 972 was known as Ethel Methel MacDoogan (Carol Mansell) in her mortal days. That was from 1887 until 1925, when she was hit by a trolley car.

Nurse fired twice

DALLAS (AP) — A nurse who refused to immediately dispatch an ambulance for a woman who later died was discharged from two jobs she held in 1982, a television station has reported.

Nurse Billye Joyce Myrick was fired from jobs at two hospitals in the year before she was hired to screen emergency calls to the Dallas Fire Department, KDFW-TV reported Thursday.

The station said that among the nurse's previous jobs, she worked as nursing supervisor for the operating room at South Oak Cliff Hospital in Dallas, but was fired in April 1982, the TV station said. Her personnel file reads, "No rehired," according to the station.

KDFW reported that Ms. Myrick was a freelance nurse at Oak Cliff Medical and Surgical Hospital in Dallas from July to November 1982. Officials said she was terminated for being unreliable, and there were complaints that she was argumentative with her supervisors, the station reported.

The station said Ms. Myrick granted one of its reporters an interview but declined to go on camera. Throughout the interview, she cried and sobbed and repeated, "I'm so sorry. I didn't mean it," the station said.

The Texas Board of Nurse Examiners gave Ms. Myrick official notification Thursday that she is being investigated on allegations of unprofessional conduct.

A complaint was filed Wednesday by Clair Jordan, executive director of the Texas Nurses Association, said Margaret Rowland, executive secretary of the nurse examiners board.

Ms. Jordan said in Austin she filed the complaint as an individual, not on behalf of the association.

"I did it because I was concerned over the vast amount of press (attention) the incident was receiving. I think it is causing the public great concern over what kind of care they could expect," Ms. Jordan said Thursday.

The Dallas Fire Department, which received a second complaint about a slow response during a call for help this week, is considering whether to drop the nurse screening procedure.

During a Jan. 5 phone call, Ms. Myrick argued with Larry Boff, who was trying to get help for his dying stepmother. The nurse insisted on speaking with the woman, even though Boff repeatedly told her his 60-year-old stepmother, Lillian Boff, was incoherent and was having trouble breathing.

The nurse and her supervisor scolded Boff for screaming and cursing and insisted on talking with the woman. Boff hung up and a few minutes later his roommate called and pleaded for an ambulance.

Twelve minutes elapsed between the calls and the arrival of the ambulance. By the time paramedics arrived at Boff's home, his stepmother was dead.

Boff has filed a $315,000 claim against the city, seeking $15,000 in compensatory damages and $300,000 in punitive damages.

On Monday, while the Boff incident was being made public on KDFW, another family was having trouble getting an ambulance to help Beatrice Flores, who was suffering a heart attack.

Raynaldo Cardenas said he grew tired of listening to his sister argue with the nurse who took the call, so he put his mother in his car and raced to a hospital.

Mrs. Flores, 51, died shortly after arriving at Stevens Park Osteopathic Hospital Monday night, KDFW reported Wednesday. The fire department said the incident is under investigation. The nurse who took the call has not been identified.

Both incidents have sparked complaints and city officials are considering dropping the screening procedure, which was adopted in 1980 to reduce the number of non-emergency calls.

Ms. Rowland said the nursing board would collect evidence, testimony, and a hearing could be held. The board could revoke Ms. Myrick's license, Ms. Rowland said.

Ms. Jordan said her reasons for filing the complaint were two-fold — to protect the nurse if it didn't happen the way reports have indicated and to protect the public.

"I felt like the public needs to be aware that the state of Texas does have a process for regulating nurses' behavior. I felt like someone needed to complain," she said.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — When it comes to redirecting government policy, tight money might be the real mother of invention. When government's coffers get low, some creative officeholders look for new ways to raise revenues, while others simply fall back on tax increases.

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro last week briefly pointed out a new direction his office will take to raise money for Texas schoolchildren from management of public lands.

Mauro wants to trade non-productive state land for land he can rent at commercial rates, a new tactic he says could bring in extra millions to the Permanent School Fund.

Interest money from the Permanent School Fund is divided and given to Texas public school districts by the Legislature. Traditionally, the fund is replenished by proceeds from oil and gas leases on state lands which Mauro manages. State lands without oil and gas are leased for other purposes such as grazing, hunting, etc.

Mauro's intent is to swap the low-revenue lands for commercial tracts which can be leased at 10 percent of purchase price or more. Although the concept is not new, Mauro is pursuing it with emphasis. Should he be able to put it together, the school fund could grow by several hundred million.

Encroachment Settlement

Mauro told reporters last week he will use $2.5 million obtained from a recent coastal encroachment settlement to purchase three to four commercial tracts in the near future. He did not identify the tracts.

The settlement was reached with a Texas City firm that had unintentionally, but illegally, used 106 acres of state land for over 70 years. It is the largest encroachment settlement in Texas history, but Mauro says his office is looking at more than 50 other coastal sites where encroachment may have occurred.

Mauro will reinvest money from any future settlements in more commercial real estate, according to Jack Boettcher, Director of Encroachments.

Reception to honor families

The Ford Extension Homemakers Club will host a reception and Mexican covered dish dinner for the Jimmy Conkwright and Dan McWhorter families at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Ford Community House.

Friends of these families in the Ford Community are invited to attend. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish; the club will furnish desserts and beverages.

The term "digs," for rented accommodations, comes from the Gold Rush days, when prospectors lived on the plots where they were digging for gold.

The first baseball World Series took place in October, 1903, between the Boston Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals.

White, Reagan

Texas Governor Mark White visited the president at the White House while attending the National Governors Conference last week.

A few hours later, White spoke to the National Press Club and blasted Reagan on a number of issues ranging from the federal deficit to the economic plight of the Rio Grande Valley. It was the latest in a long stream of public criticisms of the president by the governor who has promised to campaign and unseat him.

In Washington, White also visited with Texas congressmen and other dignitaries. White is mentioned in Democratic Party circles as a vice presidential possibility.

Speaker's Water Plan

Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis last week pulled the drapes off his comprehensive state water plan which he will push in the next legislative session.

Included is a proposed constitutional amendment to provide $600 million in bonds to develop water resources and improve water quality over the next 10 years. The dollar figure is twice the amount passed last year by the Senate but rejected in the House.

Lewis' plan would allow local water suppliers to adopt water conservation regulations as necessary.

Special Session

The speaker's proposed water plan and the governor's proposed tax hike to raise teacher salaries may be found loosely tied together in a special session later this year. The speaker's forces killed the tax bill last session, but Lewis has indicated he could support a self-destructing tax for education while the Texas economy recuperates.

The governor needs the speaker's support and the votes of the West Texas delegation to keep his campaign promise of raising teacher salaries.

The two issues could be headed for a mutual trade-off. Meanwhile, rumors of a special session have sparked several groups and agencies to prepare to ask Gov. White to include their budget concerns in the special session.

MAD Convention

Texas Mexican-American Democrats held their endorsement convention in San Antonio last week and, when the smoke cleared, failed to underline any candidate for U.S. Senate.

A two-thirds victory is needed for a MAD endorsement, and the two main contenders for the endorsement, Bob Krueger and Lloyd Doggett, campaigned hard. A third candidate, Kent Hance, acknowledged he had little endorsement support but told the convention he wanted their November votes, should he get the nomination.

Houston Center studies sleep

HOUSTON (AP) — Nearly one third of all Americans suffer from chronic sleep disorders, and physicians at a new clinic hope to solve the problem.

"Everyone has an occasional experience with insomnia or daytime sleepiness, but when the pattern becomes repetitive over six to eight weeks, then there's cause for concern," said Dr. Todd Swick, a neurologist at the Sleep Disorders Center.

Sleep disorders have puzzled both patients and physicians for many years, Swick said.

Sleep studies show that at least 75 million of 232 million Americans suffer from some sleep disorder. The Houston Post reported.

"More people probably complain about the quality and quantity of their sleep than almost any problem," he said Wednesday, the day the clinic opened.

Swick said sleep problems can hit people of all ages and says that, while many of the causes are unknown, doctors have an increasing number of effective treatments available.

Patients being treated at the center are asked to chart their sleeping and wakefulness patterns for two weeks, then take tests at the center. Treatment also includes a complete psychiatric evaluation and psychological tests.

Patients at the center may stay in rooms where their sleep habits are monitored. Swick said some tests are covered by medical insurance.

Doctors at the center try to treat sleep disorders ranging from minor insomnia and daytime sleepiness to nocturnal kicking, sleepwalking, teeth grinding and sleep apnea, which occurs when airways collapse.

Another common problem treated at the center is snoring.

"Many snorers cause sleeping problems for spouses or others within hearing range, but these may be fairly mild cases," Swick said. "At the worst extreme, though, snoring may be a sign of obstructive sleep apnea which, if untreated, can lead to sudden death."

No pluses to alcohol

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read a newspaper article that suggested alcohol was beneficial for some people.

If I have a few cocktails before dinner, invariably I have to take Maalox during the night. If I leave booze alone, I have no problem. I've had several bleeding ulcers in my lifetime.

I believe booze is destructive, not only to the body, but to humanity as a whole. Every year thousands of accidental deaths and injuries result from the use of alcohol. Think of the efforts we use to avoid physical injuries, yet not a single step is taken by our government to outlaw booze. I wish you would comment on this in your column.

DEAR READER — Alcohol to help prevent heart attacks or fatty-cholesterol deposits in arteries should be considered as medicine. Like all medicines, it's not for everyone and it must be used in the right quantity at the right time.

Anyone who has an ulcer or ulcer-related problems should avoid alcohol completely.

In addition, many people complain that alcohol interferes with sleep. Studies have shown that it significantly increases the episodes of arrested breathing — sleep apnea — that can occur and can make sleep restless.

You are absolutely correct about the role of alcohol in accidents. And there are efforts to do something to prevent these — efforts against drunk driving are a step in that direction.

Beyond accidents is the role of alcohol in crime. A high percentage of murders, assaults and other violent crimes are associated with alcohol. After all, alcohol is a drug and improper use can lead to irrational behavior. The prevention of alcohol abuse could have a significant impact upon crime prevention.

As far as the theory of one or two drinks a day to prevent heart attacks, the problem can be better approached with medicines that don't create the same problems as alcohol. You can get the same results through a better lifestyle, including proper diet and exercise.

Changes that occur in blood cholesterol and blood fat from having one or two drinks a day can be achieved through a good exercise program. I'll let you guess which one is better for your health.

The list of the harmful effects of alcohol is almost endless. I've discussed many of them in the Health Letter 14-6, Alcohol Can Be Dangerous to Your Health, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Today in History

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Health officials say they have controlled rabies in the capital city even though 3.5 million street dogs are still on the loose.

Dr. Juan Jose Rivera Martinez, director of the Luis Pasteur Anti-Rabies Center here, said Wednesday that the city has not had a single case of rabies over the last two years.

He indicated that rabies caused by stray dogs had been a problem in the past, but he did not have statistics showing how many cases there were before two years ago.

He attributed the success to vaccination campaigns and awareness programs conducted in the city's schools. A dog owner can have his pet vaccinated for 12 cents at either of the city's two anti-rabies centers.

Rivera said dog catchers every day round up 30 of the estimated 3.5 million stray dogs that roam the city's streets. He said the dogs are either given to animal research centers or are put to death.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City's new plan to eliminate meat wholesalers is successful and butchers are cutting the prices of their beef, city officials say.

But the newspaper El Financiero reported Thursday that "the program put in to effect by city authorities... has not reduced speculation" in the sale of meat. The daily Mexico City financial newspaper said meat prices continue to be as high as ever.

City officials in charge of meat supply said Thursday that some butchers reduced their beef prices by about three cents a pound over the last two days.

The officials said the price reductions followed the opening Tuesday of a city-run supply center, where producers can deliver their meat for direct sale to butchers.

The city has said it plans to try to eliminate dozens of meat wholesalers working at private supply centers throughout the metropolitan area. City officials have blamed the wholesalers for increasing meat prices.

Last month a butchers union called for a four-day strike to protest high prices, which they said many of their customers can no longer afford. City officials said the strike met with "minimal" success.

Butchers said at the time they were forced to sell their beef for $1.74 a pound — about 40 percent above the official government price — in order to make a profit.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A Roman Catholic official said the church here does not want to involve itself in politics, despite a demand by some priests that the government relax its century-old restrictions on the church.

"The church is neither interested in nor plays a part in the political arena," said The Rev. Carlos Talavera, the Adjunct Bishop of Mexico City.

Talavera was speaking at a mass here Wednesday celebrating the beginning of Lent.

"Our work is limited exclusively to the spiritual, and priest are the ones who most desire the firm continuation of separation from the State," Talavera said.

In 1873, the Mexican government put together a series of laws that severely restricted the activities of religious institutions. The laws were a reaction to the pervasive power and influence of the Catholic church before independence was achieved in 1821.

The so-called reform laws forbid churches from owning property and make it a crime for priests to vote or wear their clerical garb in public.

Some priests have spoken out against the laws, saying the restrictions are a denial of their human rights.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A U.S.-Mexican agreement allowing some 1,500 companies to postpone payment of their foreign debts will help avoid a "paralysis" of the nation's economy, a business leader said Thursday.

The debt moratorium comes "at a time when the country desperately needs economic resources in order to avoid a paralysis of the economy," said Fernando Canales, vice president of the National Federation of Chambers of Commerce.

Canales' comments were carried by the wire service of Excelsior, a local newspaper.

He said the nation's businesses welcomed Wednesday's debt restructuring because businessmen are strapped for dollars needed for investment.

On Wednesday Treasury Secretary Jesus Silva Herzog and U.S. Ambassador John Gavin signed an agreement that covers the obligations of Mexican companies to the U.S. Export-Import Bank. The obligations include debts owed to, guaranteed by or insured by the bank.

The rescheduling agreement applies to between $500 million and $650 million of debt that fell due last year.

The debt will be rescheduled over three to six years, the U.S. embassy said in a statement.

After an 1808 Act of Congress prohibited African slave trading, at least 250,000 slaves were illegally imported into the United States.

Author Mark Twain was born in 1835 when Halley's Comet appeared and, following his own prediction, died when the comet next returned, in 1910.
