Dana Cabbiness voted Miss Hereford

By KIM THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

Eighteen-year-old Dana Cabbiness was crowned Miss Hereford Saturday night at Hereford High School auditorium by last year's first runner-up, Kathy Weldon Officer.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cabbiness and a recent graduate of Hereford High School, Cabbiness was the second runner-up in the 1983 Miss Hereford Pageant.

Named first runner-up this year was Amy Quillen, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Quillen, while Cynthia Barrera captured the second runner-up spot. Cynthia is 18 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Barrera.

Cabbiness was also the winner of the talent award, with Amanda

Cabbiness wore a light green sequined gown for the evening gown competition and donned a blue satin dress for her talent presentation. She accompanied herself on the piano as she sang "My Corner of the Sky."

Quillen wore a blue sequinned evening gown and changed to a red ruffled dress to perform a medly of country and western songs.

Barrera, who wore a white evening gown with red trim, performed a tumbling routine in a florescent pink

Other entrants and their talent presentations were: Teresa Phibbs, who did a jazz dance routine to "Far From Over"; Ronda Batenhorst, a poetry recitation; Stacy High, jazz dancing to a song from the movie "Footloose"; and Stacy Sanders, who sang "Somewhere Over the Rainbow.' Also: Michelle Hughes, who performed "Clouds" on the piano; Buffy Huckert, who sang "Hard-Hearted Hanna"; Eva Medrano, who sang "You Belong to My Heart" in both Spanish and English: Amanda Tackitt, who sang a religious song; and Cruz Hill, who sang "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head."

The pageant was judged by Bud and Janice Joyner and Christie Higgs, all veterans of scholarship pageant judging.

John Dawson, operations manager of KGNC radio in Amarillo, served as master of ceremonies.

The theme of the pageant was "At the Hop," with special 1950s entertainment presented by the contestants and by a trio composed of Terry Laing, Tracy Coker and Keith Ann Gearns of Hereford.

Cabbiness was active in sports and music and served as a twirler while at HHS. Earlier this year, she placed fourth in the nationwide Miss Teenage America pageant sponsored by Teen Magazine. She has been selected as a twirler next year at Texas Tech University, where she plans to study music and accounting.

Griffin attains Miss Wheatheart honors

Thirteen must be Gina Griffin's, lucky number.

Last year, she was contestant Number 13 when named Miss Hereford of 1983. Saturday night, Griffin was crowned Miss Wheatheart of the Nation during the annual pageant in Perryton.

"Actually, one girl dropped out at the last minute, so that made me Number 12. But I started out as 13 and I consider that a lucky number for me." Griffin may be a bit modest in contributing her win to lady luck. Her newest title carries with it the chance to enter the Miss Texas Palmer and has continued private pageant next July. It is the result of eight years of private voice study, aerobic dance classes and endless drilling on politics and current events by her mother, Marie Griffin, and brother, Rick Brown. A red strapless gown with sequined trim also proved to be lucky for Griffin Saturday night; it was the same dress she wore when crowned Miss Hereford last August. "Red is definitely my color," she said.

Reinauer replaces Jayroe on city body

By KIM THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

Hereford City Commissioners Monday night appointed Deaf Smith County native Joe Reinauer to fill a vacancy on the commission created by the resignation of Melvin Jayroe. Hereford Mayor Wes Fisher said Reinauer was chosen from a field of four nominees, with commisioners meeting in executive session only about 10 minutes before announcing their decision. The action came at the close of the regular city commission meeting.

Reinauer, 43, is a four-year member of the city's zoning commission. He will resign that position to accept the commissioner's post.

"I'm pleased that they had that much confidence in me," Reinauer said this morning. "It's an opportunity to do my part to help Hereford pro-

City sent sales tax payment

Hereford's city government was Friday mailed a local sales tax payment of $64,042.17, according to a press release from the state comptroller's office.

The local reiumbursement of the tax is dwarfed by the $17.1 million Houston received. The state's other top recipients were Dallas with $11.7 milion, San Antonio $6.1 million, Austin $4.3 million, Fort Worth $3.5 million and Midland $911,000.

Last August, Hereford received an $80,324.80 local sales tax payment. Tax reiumbursements this year are still ahead of those in 1983, however. Through July, Hereford has received about $359,560, approximately $11,000 more than at this time last year.

Motorcycle accessories stolen

An estimated $960 worth of accessory theft and vandalism was done early Sunday morning to a 1978 Honda motorcycle parked at Plains Motel, 520 W. First St., Hereford police reported.

Victim of the crime is John Smith, a resident of Liberal, Kan. Among the items taken from his bike were the $750 farring and a deluxe pair of sunglasses valued at $70. Scratches to the windshield are expected to cost $120 to repair, he told police.

The incident occurred, according to the police report, at 4:42 a.m. Meanwhile, a stereo, equalizer and three cassette tapes were stolen from a 1965 Ford pickup sometime Saturday night or Sunday morning. The $290 theft victimized Joel Lytal and occurred outside his 426 Western St. residence. Rosemary Davila's $470 lawn mower was taken from her 116 Catalpa St. garage sometime Sunday night, police reported. Among the weekend arrests were three on warrants and one apiece for driving while intoxicated, driving while license suspended and simple assault. Two juveniles were picked up, one for assault and the other for theft. Monday, two people were arrested for public intoxication, one with an additional charge of urinating in public. Weekend incidents included four reports of disorderly conduct, two minor thefts and one each of burglary, harassing telephone calls and threat. There were two minor, non-injury motor vehicle ac-

Cemetery move raises questions

BUTLER, Texas (AP) - They're digging up graves in a small cemetery here as a small part of a long-range plan to provide power to residents of San Antonio.

Eighty-year-old Glena Dungan, who watched her grandmother's burial beneath the tall oaks 70 years ago, has signed her approval for the move of several ancestors' remains, but she has some questions.

"I'm not for any graves being disturbed," she said Monday as she sat on a folding chair and watched the digging. "According to the Bible, when Christ comes people are supposed to be rising from the dead. What's going to be with these people?"

The graves must go because the United Methodist Church, owner of the small tract about 30 miles east of Austin, is selling the land to San Antonio, which is interested in lignite to produce power. The remains from the eight marked graves will be moved to a more attractive cemetery in nearby McDade.

"I guess you can't stop progress. That's what they informed us," said Mrs. Dungan, now living in Waco.

Saftey of airports questioned

DALLAS (AP) - Air traffic at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional airport has increased so dramatically since an controllers strike three years ago that the congestion is raising concern from some critics about whether busy airports are operating safely.

On Aug. 3, 1981, 11,400 members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers union went on strike and were later fired by President Reagan. The Federal Aviation Administratioon responded by limiting flights in 22 of the country's largest airports.

Air traffic in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, where restrictions were lifted in September, is 16.6 percent higher today than it was a month before the PATCO strike.

The problem, critics say, is that fewer controllers are handling the increased traffic, resulting in an overburdened system.

"The air traffic system is a mess and it's getting worse, and unless the FAA takes serious steps, they're risking disaster," said S. Michael Hancock, director of the Aviation Consumer Action Project, a Washington-based organization sponsored by consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

It's estimated that between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. on a typical August week night, 128 planes pass through the Dallas-Fort Worth airport. That's a plane every 28 seconds - an amount that was not allowed before the PATCO strike.

Another Amtrak train crashes

COLUMBIA FALLS, Mont. (AP) - A westbound Amtrak train struck an automobile that had gone through a railroad crossing Monday night, killing both people in the car, authorities said.

No one was hurt in the train, the Empire Builder, which stayed on the tracks, said Corky Derby to a spokeswoman for the Flathead County Sheriff's Office.

The collision occurred at 9:49 p.m. MDT in the Vetville area on the west side of this northwestern Montana town of 3,100 people.

According to three witnesses, the arms were down at the railroad crossing and the warning lights were flashing, but the car went around the arms and collided with the train, Ms. Derby said.

"As far as we know, no one in the train was hurt," she said. The Empire Builder was en route from Chicago to Seattle.

Last month, 11 people were killed in five separate incidents involving Amtrak trains. The federal Department of Transportation announced earlier Monday that Amtrak operations will undergo intensified government scrutiny.

Economy to not slow deficits

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress' chief economist says the booming economy will not grow quickly enough to wipe out the record federal deficit without spending cuts, more tax increases or a combination of the two.

"I can't say it's impossible but I can say it's improbable," Rudolph Penner, director of the Congressional Budget Office, said Monday of the argument by some conservatives that Congress should do nothing about the deficits except step back and let the economy grow.

CBO expects this year's deficit to total $172 billion, down from last year's $195 billion, but predicts that by 1989 the red ink will hit $263 billion in the absence of additional spending reductions, tax increases or both. Without significant action to cut the deficit, CBO says, interest rates will remain unusually high.

There was some good news in the report: CBO looks for inflation to remain low for the next 18 months and for unemployment in 1985 to average less than this year.

Inmate claims he killed 16

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A jail inmate has admitted killing "16 and possibly more" young women in the so-called Green River murders in Washington state last year, and police said they are investigating the claims, a newspaper reported.

Robert Matthias, 25, told the San Francisco Chronicle that he killed at least 16 women. In a separate interview, jail inmate Richard Carbone, 32, said he committed two murders with Matthias, and helped him kill nine others.

San Francisco police said they would question the men about the killings Tuesday. Authorities have said they believe one man committed 26 Green River murders in the Seattle area since 1982, when several bodies were discovered in the river. Many victims were young prostitutes. The two men, who are being held on charges urelated to the Green River cases, said their victims were white teen-age girls who were part of the street scene, the newspaper reported.

Iranian radio praises attack

Iran's state-run Tehran Radio today praised the recent mine attacks on Red Sea shipping and said they were carried out by the same radical Islamic group that claimed responsibility for the devastating truck-bombing of the U.S. Marine post in Beirut last fall.

In Washington, the Pentagon today said the United States will send minesweeping helicopters to the Gulf of Suez region to help Egypt try to clear heavily traveled Red Sea shipping lanes of the explosives, which reportedly have damaged 13 ships in recent weeks.

Western and Arab governments have not said who they think is responsible for the explosions, but Tehran Radio said a mine-laying operation had been conducted by the Islamic Jihad, or Holy War.

Anonymous telephone callers to news agencies in London last week claimed that the organization, about which little is known, had laid 190 mines in the Red Sea.

The radio, in an Arabic-language broadcast monitored in London, said: "All the arrogant powers are helpless, unable to save the dozens of ships facing destruction in the Gulf of Suez and the Red Sea

State and local governing agencies should pass ordinances restricting the transportation of nuclear waste through their districts, a Washington, D.C. lobbyist said in Amarillo Saturday.

Fred Millar of the Environmental Policy Institute explained such measures are needed due to the U.S. Department of Energy's search for a high-level nuclear waste dump site. The Panhandle counties of Deaf Smith and Swisher each contain one of nine locations being considered for the repository, scheduled to begin storage operations in 1998.

Whether or not the Panhandle is selected for a nuclear waste dump," Millar said, "there is going to be a lot of transportation through here."

Millar had testified Friday in Austin before the Texas House-Senate Joint Study Committee on Hazardous Waste Disposal. He summarized that presentation Saturday afternoon at a press conference in Amarillo International Airport.

Should any of the five dump candidate sites in Texas, Utah or Nevada be chosen, trucks and train cars carrying nuclear waste would apparently pass through the Panhandle area, Millar said. He exhibited a map showing the most likely transportation routes should Nevada be selected. One of the three major arteries appeared to go through Amarillo.

The map, Millar claimed, clearly illustrated a "regional inequity" in the DOE's search for a repository. Though most nuclear waste is produced in the eastern United States, radioactive garbage targeted for the high-level dump would pass through several Midwestern states which contain no nuclear power plants.

Should as little as 1 percent of the nuclear waste stored in a cask escape during transporation, Millar maintained, there would be "thousands of latent cancer fatalities." This becomes more frightening, he pointed out, since Millar felt.

none of the 17 cannisters planned to be used for transportation have yet been tested for durability.

Claiming "our organization is not opposed to the geological disposal of nuclear waste," Millar said EPI wants the safest site and transporation methods employed. State and local officials, he stressed, can help reduce the risk of nuclear waste catastrophies.

Millar said cities in the Panhandle, for instance, could pass laws restricting the passing of hazardous chemicals through their boundaries. An example of a "tough permit ordinance" for Amarillo, he said, would be one which requires all containers to have been tested.

Also, the ordinance would require satisfactory proof be given Amarillo is part of the safest possible route. There must also be shown an "actual need" to make the shipments.

Furthermore, the law would mandate a sufficient emergency procedures system be established. Accidents would be handled quickly and efficiently by a group of thoroughly trained workers.

Though a final decision on the repository is not to be made until 1991, Millar said, "The decisions about nuclear waste are being made now." He believed local and state officials need to act and resist their traditional tendency to "pass the buck" to the next highest form of government.

Aside from untested casks, plans for transporting nuclear waste have several other deficiencies, Millar thought. There has been no indication routes, for example, are to be established by the federal government. Rather, carrier companies are to themselves decide which roads they will take.

Allowing nuclear waste to be taken through major cities, Millar said, represented a "pathetic, ludicrous, token situation." Federal regulations about that and prevention of terrorism need to be improved, Neither truck nor train transportation is ideal for nuclear waste, the lobbyist said. A flurry of recent railroad wrecks has made that form of getting around especially risky, he claimed, adding strict speed laws would have to be enforced should trains be used.

Millar said he was "very skeptical" about DOE predictions an accident involving transported nuclear waste would happen only once every 300,000 years.

Most speculation on durability of cannisters carrying nuclear waste is based on head-on collisions, he said. That is inadequate, the transportation expert said, since a truck or train engine car would absorb much of the blow, substantially decreasing the speed at which a cask would crash. Millar pointed out side-on wrecks would require sturdier containers.

As now outlined by the DOE, five of the nine candidate sites are to be recommended for the dump late this year. Next spring, three are to chosen for detailed site characteriza-

Fred Millar of the Environmental Policy Institute in Washington, D.C., Saturday shows members of the local media over what routes nuclear waste might be transported should Nevada be selected for the highlevel repository. Tax technically - not actually - raised

School board members took a first look at the proposed 1984-1985 district budget Monday and approved salary schedules for aides and extracurricular activity directors. In order to balance the budget, directors agreed to raise the Hereford Independent School District tax from 89 to 94 cents per $100 valuation. Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder and board members were anxious to point out, however, area residents will be taxed no more

The 1983-1984 budget had a 5 cent charge added to the 89-cent "maintenance tax," meaning 94 cents per $100 valuation is what everyone was to pay. Board members hope to use part of this year's maintenance tax increase for renovation work to several HISH buildings.

As outlined in the proposed budget, $1,333,685 is set aside for improvement of facilities. Priorities for using that money, according to Holder, are topped by the addition of media

Oil, tar still being removed

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - As crews continued to clear Galveston Island's beaches of tar and oil, officials prepared for a federal inquiry into a spill that poured almost two million gallons of crude into the Gulf of Mexico last week.

Although no definite plans on the federal probe were announced Monday, the investigation was to begin perhaps as early as today with meetings between ship representatives and officials of the National Transportation Safety Board, Coast Guard spokesman Jim Kosch said.

Meanwhile, Coast Guard officials concluded after a four-hour overhead search that the Gulf Coast appeared free of remnants of slick that had reached a length of 85 miles.

"Nothing. We didn't see anything up there," Coast Guard Lt. Larry Clark said after returning from a flight in a specially outfitted C-130 transport summoned to Texas from its base in North Carolina. About 1.89 million gallons of oil were spilled after the British tanker Alvenus split a week ago off Louisiana. Malcolm Gillis, the Alvenus' pilot said his vessel hit nothing and he did not know why it ruptured. The Coast Guard said divers and sonarequipped vessels also have been unable find anything the tanker could have hit.

Clark said the flight from the ship to Corpus Christi Monday indicated some oil still lay around the ship.

Roy Hann Jr., a Texas A&M engineering professor, said tarballs from the spill will likely continue to wash ashore well into the winter.

And there are hundreds such monsters presently loose in our land. LIFE magazine-in peace or warhas never published a more ominous picture than the one in its August issue of Henry Lee Lucas.

He claims to have slaughtered 360 men, women and children in 13 sunbelt states. In this two-page photograph he calmly, without apparent feeling, displays photographs of his victims.

Henry Lee Lucas roamed the highways and byways of our country for eight years on the lookout for young women alone in cars so that he could abduct and kill them.

"I hated women," he says, "and wanted to destroy every woman I could find. And I was doing a good job of it...."

Among the suspected common denominators among recreational killers are these:

Most recreational killers are men and are above average in intelligence.

An alarming one-out-of-10 are doctors, dentists or other health professionals.

Most, when they are not enraged with sadistic lust, appear reassuringly normal, even charming, as they wander the highways and the shopping centers ont he prowl for easy victims.

The recreational killer rarely knows is victims, according to Dr. Joel Norris, a student of serial murder in America.

Most have cell damage in the brain from abuse or neglect before or after birth. Most feed on pornography.

One victim is never enough. The blood lust revives soon and the predator goes hunting again.

Our FBI guesstimates that last year in the United States serial murderers killed 5,000 Americans.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications has filed with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to introduce a new intrastate, optional long distance service to begin August 1, 1984, the same date "Reach Out® America" plan will be available for interstate calls.

A new service designed to give customers the opportunity to reduce the cost of long distance in Texas has been filed with the state PUC by AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc.

"Reach Out" Texas" is an optional calling plan which will provide additional discounts on long distance rates for Texas customers who frequently place calls in the evening, weekend, and night time calling periods.

The new "Reach Out" Texas" plan for the first time extends the benefits of competition to many Texas consumers who previously have not had any discounted long distance service available to them. AT&T Communications customers who choose this new optional service will pay a monthly charge of $14 which entitles them to one hour of intrastate

"Direct Dialed" (1 +) calling during the weekend and night rate period. An additional customer savings for those participating in the plan will be that any Direct Dialed calls placed during the weekend and night rate period that exceeds the one hour period will be charged at an hourly rate of $12, or $.20 per minute. Customers selecting this option also receive an additional 15 percent discount for intrastate Direct Dialed calls during the evening discount rate period for a total savings of approximately 38 percent.

A one-time charge of $6 is billed when a customer orders the "Reach Out® Texas" plan. The $6 is collected by AT&T Communications and paid to the local telephone company to establish the service. This charge will be waived during the first 90 days that the offering is available.

AT&T Communications is proud to offer this optional service for its Texas long distance customers and will in the future continue to introduce cost cutting programs to help Texans reduce their long distance bills. A complete copy of the "Reach Out" Texas" tariff and rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas.

AT&T Communications estimates that the revenue impact of this new service would be significantly less than 2.5 percent of annual gross revenues. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

*Customer billing for the optional calling plan will be provided for AT&T Communications through billing contracts with the local telephone companies. Therefore, the introduction of these rate plans into a specific area is contingent upon local company billing capabilities. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has agreed to handle the billing in its service areas effective August 1, 1984.

Lewis holds on for track gold medal

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) - Track and field rules say you get six chances in the long jump. They also say you Lewis knows the rules. So, Lewis decided to play a highstakes game of Olympic poker with tried. the world's best jumpers and made it pay off with another gold medal.

don't have to take them all. And Carl

His reward was a razzing. Chasing a four gold-medal dream at the 1984 Games, Lewis took his chances in a dangerous test of nerves and survived when no one could match his first jump Monday night. He had sailed 28 feet, 1/4 inch on that attempt, and after fouling on his second try, decided to let the field try to catch him if it could. If you want the gold, Lewis was telling the others, there it is. Take it if you can.

It was a dangerous gamble as Lewis decided to pass on three jumps, preferring to jog easily at the side of the track and let the others go sailing into the pit.

"I was sore after the second jump," he said on a tape recording played by the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee for the press. "Regardless of what happened - if someone had jumped farther than I, I wouldn't have come back."

So there was the dream of four golds, dangling delicately in the balance. But, for four rounds, none of the other jumpers came close. Lewis seemed impassive, almost disinterested, as time after time, the others dashed down the track and

Three times, Lewis passed on jumps, and through each round, his lead stood. Finally, the competition came down to two last jumpers -Lewis and teammate Larry Myricks would complete the event.

Again, Lewis chose to pass. It was the ultimate challenge. The medal was Myricks' for the taking. His personal best of 28-1 would have delivered it and the 28-year-old from Chino, Calif., knew it. "I thought of that," he said. "It crossed my mind on the last jump.'

Myricks took a deep breath and charged down the track. He did not foul, but that was about the only thing right with his attempt. It was 20-71/4, well short of Lewis. The gold belonged to King Carl.

But there was no gleeful exultation for Lewis this time, no joyous jog around the track, no flag waving. Instead, the fans booed him. Winning, it seems, is not enough for Lewis. He must win dramatically, impressively, with record-challenging efforts, or else, it just won't do.

Many fans thought Lewis would take a shot at Bob Beamon's awesome Olympic and world record of 29-21/2 set in the 1968 Games at Mexico City. He has, after all, twice reached 28-1014, well within hailing distance of Beamon's incredible accomplishment. And what better showcase for it than the Olympic Myricks offered some insight on Lewis and the record book.

"I think if he kept jumping, he wouldn't have surpassed the record anyway," he said. "I really don't blame him for not jumping anymore. He's run a lot of races already. Just from looking at him, he really doesn't look like he does when he's

So Lewis settled for a mortal 28-1/4, merely tying the second best long jump in Olympic history. That is hardly a jump that ought to be booed.

Some of the reaction may have

Canada grabs gold in diving

Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Kelly Mc-Cormick, silver medalist in the Olympic women's springboard diving competition, handled the outcome with class - even though it wasn't the script Hollywood would have written.

The dream ending would have had the 24-year-old McCormick joining her mother as an Olympic diving champion.

But Sylvie Bernier of Canada had her own idea for the final chapter of the competition. Her victory Monday gave Canada its first-ever diving gold medal.

"I'm not disappointed at all," said McCormick, whose mother, Patty, won two gold medals in both the 1952 and 1956 Olympics. "It was an honor to make the Olympics and to win a silver medal."

Bernier, 20, of Ste-Foy, a suburb of Quebec City, cooly compiled 530.70 points to 527.46 for McCormick, an Ohio State student, in a 10-dive pro-

Chris Seufert of Ann Arbor, Mich., came from behind to grab the bronze medal, while China's Li Yuhua, first after Sunday's 10 preliminary dives, finished fourth and Li Quiaoxian, fifth. Both had been rated good chances to earn medals.

Bernier said she never looked at the scoreboard.

"I just listened to Flashdance on my Walkman between dives," she said.

The only Canadian ever to win an Olympic diving medal was Irene MacDonald in 1956 on the springboard. Ironically, the gold medalwinner was Patty McCormick.

"I'm proud to win a gold medal for Canada," said Bernier. "I didn't realize we had never won one."

Her victory gave Ste-Foy a heroine to go along with Gaetan Boucher, who won two speedskating gold medals at the Sarajevo Winter

Bernier outperformed McCormick on the eighth dive of the program and that proved to be the difference.

It was a tricky reverse 21/2-somersault in the tuck position. Bernier scored 60.48 to McCormick's 51.24, McCormick's worst of 20 dives in the two days of preliminary and final competition.

"I kicked too high on the dive and did a Hawaii Five-0," said McCormick. "That's a wash out." The 27-year-old Seufert said she was retiring. "I'm going to have my suit bronzed so I can't get into it," she quipped.

Tug-o-War entries must be received by Wednesday

Fee is $5 per team. Team trophies will be awarded.

For entry information, contact the Church of the Nazarene at 364-8303. The Tug-o-Wars contests are sponsored by the Good Guys Youth Ministries of the church.

All-State picks

Gridders ready for '84 season

By DENNIS BALL Sports Editor

If confidence should be a determining factor in a football team's success, the Hereford Whitefaces have little to worry about this fall-at least in three positions.

"We (members of the team) are looking forward to proving people wrong and hoping to come out on top," noseguard David Parsons said.

The people Parsons said the Herd wanted to prove wrong were the pollsters for Top-O-Texas Football magazine. Top-O-Texas listed Hereford sixth in its District 3-5A pre-season poll.

However, there are things the players don't intend to disprove: individual rankings.

Parsons, linebacker Lee Brockman and quarterback Mike Scott have been chosen pre-season All-State selections by the magazine. In addition, Brockman and Scott are listed on the magazine's Super

"I like the rating," Scott said. "It's a big honor." But Scott should be used to big last year's District 3-5A Player of the Year. He won the honor as a junior.

Brockman also was named to the 1983 All-District first team. He and Scott joined Jeff Streun, a nowgraduated defensive back, on the elite 3-5A team.

Parsons was a second-team pick a

'I was surprised at the rating," Brockman said. "I think it adds a little more pressure. It provides motivation. Parsons agreed the three would have to work harder during practices in order to become better players.

With the Whitefaces' second-year coach Jerry Taylor at the helm, however, working a little harder should pose no problem, Brockman

"One of the reasons for our success last year," he said, "is we worked so hard. "He (Taylor) brought us discipline.

"I'm looking forward to that first hit and getting started."

Scott said Taylor brought the Herd's talent to the surface in 1982, and Scott felt good about the team's chances for a repeat performance in reaching the bi-district playoffs.

"It (the talent) may have always been there, but Coach Taylor knew how to get it out," he said.

Taylor's work didn't go unnoticed,

Treating schizophrenia

DEAR ANN LANDERS: "Learn- one or more of the above. ing to Cope in Maryland" wrote in your column that schizophrenia is not split personality, as many believe, but a disease caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain. She further stated that schizophrenics cannot perceive the difference between fantasy and reality, and counseling is of no value.

Since you are considered a leader in the field of mental health, will you please answer these questions? (1) Is there a known cause for schizophrenia? (2) What is the best treatment? (3) Where is the most promising research being done? (4) Since depression and schizophrenia appear to have similar components, is it possible that the diagnosis could D.C. be confused?

I beg you to respond.-Mother Of One In S.C.

DEAR MOTHER: I consulted with an eminent authority who provided these answers. He is Dr. Frederick Goodwin, Scientific Director of the National Institute of Mental Health in Bethesda, Md.

(1) There is no single known cause of schizophrenia. Genetic factors have been identified in some forms of the illness. Other likely contributing factors include chemical toxicity, psychological trauma, physical, physical trauma or a combination of

> Dr. Milton Adams Optometrist 335 Miles Phone 364-2255 Office Hours: Monday - Friday 8:30-12:00 1:00-5:00

(2) Because there are different types of schizophrenia, one cannot say which treatment is best without knowing the patient. The techniques widely used are drug therapy, psychotherapy, occupational therapy and, rarely, shock treatment. Acupuncture has some advocates but this approach is not widely respected.

(3) The National Institutes of Mental Health provide most of the funding for research in the United States. The work is being done in major universities and medical schools and in the Institutes' own research program in Bethesda and St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington,

(4) Depression is indeed a frequent factor in schizophrenia and some manic depressives are misdiagnosed. These diagnostic errors can be cleared up by a competent specialist.

Stop Looking in the School bill tough for some billion education reform bill recently passed by the Legislature comes as a relief for some Texas school districts, while others are scrutinizing budgets - and considering tax increases to fund higher teacher salaries and other expenses.

The law, which also includes stricter academic requirements, teacher competency testing and new restrictions on extracurricular activities, was hammered out by lawmakers after more than a year of hearings conducted by a blueribbon education panel headed by Dallas industrialist H. Ross Perot.

In the Edgewood Independent School District, located on the west side of San Antonio, the measure was greeted enthusiastically, said Superintendent James Vas-

The 13,000-student system is "known among the education system as the poorest urban district in the state," said Vasquez, estimating the district would receive an additional $10 million for the 1984-85 school year.

Without more state financing, to be paid for largely by a one-eighth cent increase in

DALLAS (AP) - The $2.8 the state sales tax, the district could not afford mandated curriculum changes. such as a requirement to teach computer skills to secondary students, Vasquez

> Even more important, he said, the additional state funding will enable Edgewood to increase teacher salaries - a major problem for a district that has had trouble attracting qualified instructors with an average starting salary of under $12,000 annually.

Salaries of two neighboring districts, the San Antonio Independent School District and the Northside Independent School District, rank far above Edgewood, Vasquez

"We're not in the ballpark," Vasquez said. "It made it very, very hard for us to recruit teachers.

In the huge Houston Independent School District, the reform measure means a tight budget - and almost guarantees a tax hike, officials said.

The bill sent administrators scurrying for money to cover $42 million to $43 million in additional expenditures over the next two years, said HISD Superintendent Billy Reagan.

Rotary is visited by Governor

Hereford Rotarians were reminded of the purpose of their organization when they met at noon Monday with District 573 Governor Charles Beil of Big Spring.

"Rotary's common goal is creating a better, more harmonious world for all," Beil told the club. "The theme this year is 'Discover a New World of Service."

Beil said he feels some Rotarians may not see the organization as more than a noon meal every week, and he thinks it is time for "a back to basics approach to Rotary."

The purposes of Rotary are to learn to serve, to help members improve themselves in their business, personal and family lives and to advance international understanding, good will and peace, Beil reminded the local group.

The district governor played a tape-recorded message from the president of Rotary International, who is urging members worldwide to find ways to educate, serve and promote world peace. Beil, who has 17 years of perfect attendance at Rotary meetings, praised local members for their 89 percent attendance record last year. He said that places them at third or fourth in the 49-club district.

"Your program is impressive, but you need more Rotarians," Beil told the local club. Membership grew by 15 percent in 1983.
