The Texas Department of Water Resources is asking the state attorney general's office to get involved in a contamination case involving a Hereford business.

According to the TDWR, Hereford Grain Corporation has violated the Texas Water Code, Solid Waste Disposal Act and rules of the TDWR by discharging herbicides, pesticides and fertilizers into Tierra Blanca Creek.

"High concentrations of herbicides have been documented in soil and water samples collected by our District 1 office," the letter from TDWR to the attorney general reads. "The solid contamination poses a serious environmental threat of aquatic and plant life.

"The herbicides are leaching and migrating through the soil and water with each rainfall event," the letter further explains. "Evidence of the destructive nature of this discharge is visible along the discharge path. Cleanup operations must be expedited to prevent the pesticide contamination from spreading."

Of contaminated local creek

The letter, while asking the attorney general to step in, also points out that Hereford Grain is "responding to a department demand to begin cleanup and make changes in its processes to prevent further discharges."

The city of Hereford filed a complaint with the District 1 office of TDWR in Amarillo after empty herbicide containers were found by a city employee in the creek near the golf course.

In June, Don Manning of the Amarillo office said Hereford Grain appeared to be the source of the contamination. He said a loading area at the company is sloped to empty into a storm drain which eventually leads to the creek.

The letter to the attorney general was sent by Charles Nemir, executive director of the TDWR, who asked attorney general Jim Mattox to give the matter his "soonest attention."

Mike Horton, golf professional at the Hereford Public Golf Course, said "60 to 80 trees" have died or appear to be dying along the banks of the creek. He said the affected trees, mostly cottonwood, are along a one-and-a-half mile stretch beginning at Hole No. 5 and ending near Veterans Park.

Mark Gates, district supervisor at the TDWR office in Amarillo, said his inspectors could not confirm or deny that the trees were killed by herbicide contamination. "That's not our job to do that," he explained. "We made our determinations based on soil samples taken from the creek bed."

Gates said it would probably be the responsibility of the Texas Department of Agriculture to investigate damage to the trees.

Joe Artho of Hereford Grain said Tuesday he would be visiting with his attorney today, and did not feel he should offer comment. "We really don't know how serious it is," he said.

The tree pictured above is one of 60 to 80 along Tierra Blanca Creek that have died or suffered damage in recent years. While there has been no testing to determine what killed the trees, the Texas Department of Water Resources is accusing a local fertilizer company of contaminating the creek with herbicides.

Board approves tax rate hike

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

A 31 percent tax rate increase was tentatively approved Tuesday afternoon by the Deaf Smith General Hospital board of directors.

Even should the hike be formalized, however, an estimate would still place the 1984-1985 DSGH budget more than $90,000 in the red. Hospital

Thirty-one percent increase proposed board members scheduled an 8 p.m. Thursday gathering to determine areas from which they could cut the needed funds.

When the board was first given a projection of next year's budget Tuesday, it appeared the district was staring at a more than $800,000 profit. However, the $4.94 million in anticipated revenues - not including taxes - had to be reduced 20 percent, DSGH Administrator James Bullard explained, since collections are running at about that rate this year.

The 20 percent reduction would place 1984-1985 revenues about $185,000 under projected expenditures. That debt would balloon to around $525,000 when other costs - including proposed renovation work and a $100,000 bank note - are tacked on.

This year's tax rate is 9.8 cents per $100 valuation, while the tentative increase is to 12.8 cents. Marjorie Ford, Dr. Gerald Payne and Frank Zinser Jr. voted for the hike, Dr. Charles Allison and John Gilliland against. Ed Reinauer Jr. was the only board member not in attendance.

According to Bullard, any tax rate increase over 3 percent requires a public hearing. Any raise exceeding 8 percent may be "rolled back" to 8 percent, should the necessary steps be taken by registered voters.

Assuming 94 percent of levied local taxes are collected next year, DSGH would gather a little more than $435,000 with a 12.8 cents rate. The present rate would yield $333,100, while a 3-percent rate hike (10.66 cents per $100 valuation) would make total tax revenue $362,300.

Tuesday's budgetary predictions may jeopardize proposed renovation work at the hospital. In the spring, board members agreed to chop $100,000 off the $350,000 worth of remodeling they intended to authorize.

The needed $90,000 may come from several cuts, Bullard said. "We have lots of suggestions," he commented in a telephone interview this morning. "That's not the problem."

What seems to bother Bullard is renovation work may be further chopped to balance the budget.

"We have a very old building," Bullard explained, "and if we don't start putting some monies back into our facility, which we haven't been able to do for several years...then we're going to wind up with a very difficult plant to maintain."

Allison questioned whether Hereford State Bank would require the entire $100,000 bank note be paid next budget year. Considering the plight of other medical institutions, he believed one-third or less of the amount might be accepted.

Ford, who thought the note should be paid in full, wondered if rooms could be renovated singularly rather than blocks at a time. The only problem with that idea, Bullard responded, is it could cause jealousy among patients. He did say, though, local civic organizations are being approached to sponsor the remodeling of individual rooms.

Both Allison and Gilliland explain-

YMCA drive exceeds goal

The Hereford and Vicinity YMCA has officially ended its fund-raising efforts to pay for a new building with the receipt of a $75,000 check from the Mabec Foundation of Tulsa.

President Rick Brown made the announcement during a board of directors meeting Tuesday at Hereford Country Club. While some of the money is in outstanding pledges and may not all be collected, Brown said the total with the Mabec check comes to around $947,000 - $22,000 more than the YMCA's goal.

"From a year ago, where we've come is fantastic," Brown told the board, which applauded when it heard the news. The challenge grant from Mabec had been contingent upon the community raising $850,000 on its own. That milestone was reached a few weeks ago.

Construction of the 26,000-square-foot facility, located at 500 E. Fifteenth St., began in the spring. Brown said he expects the building to be completed by Nov. 1.

While the fund-raising drive started July 10 of last year, the planning and designing of the new YMCA structure has been going on for more than two years. Hereford has had a YMCA since 1976.

Crimestoppers give out award

A $500 reward has been paid by Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers following the indictment of a burglary suspect.

Terry Colston, special investigator for the Deaf Smith County District Attorney's office, said the Crimestoppers board authorized the payment at a Friday meeting.

Information provided the "crime line" led to the arrest and indictment of Ruben Mary, 21 of Hereford, who is accused of burglarizing the Hereford Veterans of Foreign Wars building on June 21. Colston said more than $100 worth of bottled alcoholic beverages and a small amount of cash were taken.

Donations to the Crimestopper reward fund are tax deductible and may be mailed to Hap Caviness, Maarki Hutto or the district attorney's office.

Plate glass window broken

A plate glass window was broken early this morning at The Store, located on N. Highway 385 near Sugarland Mall.

Hereford Police discovered the south window broken during a routine patrol. A large piece of heavy metal was found inside the store, but the owner could not find anything missing when he checked around 4:30 a.m.

Officers also investigated a bicycle theft and a case of $40 taken from a video machine at a local laundromat.

A burglary was reported in the 500 Block of Avenue H. About $165 worth of miscellaneous items, including a switchblade knife, were taken.

Deaf Smith County Sheriff's deputies reported a quiet night Tuesday, when the Hereford Fire Department answered just one call. A feed grinder belonging to Doyle King caught fire and was moderately damaged. The call came Tuesday morning to the location just south of Hereford Feedyards.

Breeder escapes to America

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN

More than five million people have fled from Afghanistan since the Russians invaded the Mid-Eastern country in 1979.

Among them was Dr. Azam Gul and his family, which arrived safely in the United States about two years ago.

Gul now works as a plant breeder for Atlantic Richfield Company and is wrapping up a summer stint at ARCO Seed in Hereford. When he returns to Nebraska, later this month where his family has lived since arriving in the states, he will prepare for a move to Rochester, Minn., where he will perform triticale research at another Atlantic Richfield laboratory.

Though Gul's affiliation with American universities caused him to come under suspicion at the KGB, the Russian Intelligence Agency, it also helped him escape. The KGB did not like the fact that he had connections with the United States, and began monitoring his telephone calls and following his children to school. "They do not like for the educated people to leave Afghanistan," Gul said of the Russians. "They don't care if the farmers leave."

Gul has three degrees in agriculture, all earned in the United States. The fact that he was considered a valuable piece of property made escaping from the communist-controlled country a daring and potentially deadly feat.

To realize his dream of freedom, Gul and his family worked out an elaborate escape plan that was almost thwarted several times by the KGB.

Traveling to the village near his 340-acre farm by using their identification cards, which would have been taken from them the very next day. Without the cards, his sons could have been forced into the Russian army.

The two youngest daughters, only 8 and 9 years old at the time, traveled with their mother by truck, then bouncing along behind a farm tractor on a plow covered by a board. The trek also included riding donkeys along a hairline path above a 5,000 foot abyss of the Khyber Pass.

The third daughter, who stayed at home until the last minute to field telephone calls from the suspecting KGB, managed to slip out of the country entirely on her own.

Once over the Khyber Pass and into Pakistan, father and the oldest daughter took a bus to the town where the rest of the family waited. They stayed there for 10 months, while Gul earned enough money for passage to America.

Gul, who was president of the College of Agronomy at Kabul University, said it became easy to walk away from the status he enjoyed in Afghanistan because the Russians made life in his native country intolerable.

At its height, the population of Afghanistan numbered 60 million. In a country about the size of the state of Texas, Gul said the farming economy was strong enough to easily

Times have changed, but one irate cotton farmer this week compared the damage of cotton crops to the rancher-shepherd feuds of the old west. "The ranchers tried to run off the sheepherders back in those days, and now the grain producers just don't give a damn about their neighbors who are growing cotton," said the farmer.

He said recent evidence of a new wave of pesticide damage "proves that some individuals are thinking only of themselves and don't care what happens across the road."

The Texas Department of Agriculture has been testing and making an investigation of the alleged damage by 2,4-D for the past three weeks. The TDA said 15 state inspectors took part in the investigation, which was centered in Friona.

Nader criticizes local service

AUSTIN (AP) — National consumer advocate Ralph Nader says Texas customers are telling Southwestern Bell it is in for the "greatest political fight" of its "insidious corporate career" if Bell tries to begin local measured service.

"Furthermore, the top executives of Southwestern Bell will become household words in Texas for the first time — no longer able to hide behind the anonymity of their corporate bureaucratic veil," Nader said Tuesday.

Nader, founder of Public Citizen, a national consumer advocacy organization, held a news conference to attack local measured service — or LMS — in which local phone calls would be billed in much the same way as long distance calls.

He said his organization would open a field office in Austin to work with Texas groups to stop Southwestern Bell from implementing LMS. The new system would bill customers for local calls based on the number of calls, the time of day the call was placed and the distance and duration of the call.

The Public Utility Commission has scheduled hearings on the proposal for mid-September.

Parents continue refusal

HOUSTON (AP) — The parents of a teen-ager charged with murder have been ordered for a second time to show why they should not be held in contempt for refusing to testify before a grand jury.

Bernard and Odette Port, jailed briefly June 27 for the same refusal, repeated their determination not to testify about the killing. They appeared before grand jurors twice Tuesday but gave essentially the same answer to all questions, court reporters Sheri Okladek and Michael Klepper testified.

Each contended answering the questions about the June 7 shooting death of Debra Sue Schatz, a 23-year-old mail carrier, might tend to incriminate them and was "beyond the scope of a legitimate grand jury investigation."

The Ports' 17-year-old son, David, is charged in the killing. He is free on $20,000 bond.

State District Judge I.D. McMaster answered that he found the questions "proper in every respect." Prosecutors have offered to grant "use immunity" to the Ports for their testimony, meaning it could not be used to bring criminal charges other than perjury against them.

Food prices surge upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices rose at the fastest pace in five months during July and housing costs also surged upward, pushing overall consumer prices 0.3 percent higher despite declining gasoline and fuel oil costs, the government said today.

Still, the July increase in the Consumer Price Index was only slightly higher than the 0.2 percent gains of May and June, and it left inflation running at an annual rate of 4 percent for the first seven months of the year.

That compares favorably with a rate of 3.8 percent for all of last year — the best performance since 1972.

So today's news was likely to be welcomed in Dallas, where the Republicans are meeting to renominate President Reagan to run for a second term amid continuing indications the economy is still growing briskly while inflation remains relatively low.

In its new report, the Labor Department said higher prices for poultry, fish, fruits and vegetables helped boost food costs by 0.3 percent, the biggest increase since the 0.6 percent of February.

Food prices had inched upward 0.1 percent the previous month.

Man arrested at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man armed with a handgun was arrested today inside the White House grounds which he had entered along with tourists planning to visit the residence, the Secret Service said.

The suspect, identified as Victor Rupert Yingst, 41, of Broken Arrow, Okla., was taken into custody after officers found the .22-caliber automatic pistol in a bag, Sgt. Doug Adkins of the Secret Service said.

"He was arrested as he entered the tour line...He was going in on a tour," Adkins said. "He was inside the complex."

President Reagan, who was in the White House today before his departure to Dallas for the Republican National Convention, was not in danger, Adkins said.

The suspect was in a line of tourists as they entered through the White House gates from the East Executive Avenue entrance about 8 a.m. EDT, Adkins said.

Just after entering through the gates, all tourists must go into a building and file through X-ray machines similar to those in airports.

People postponing marriage

WASHINGTON (AP) — More and more young Americans are putting off marriage, possibly to begin careers, as three quarters of the men and more than half the women under 25 are still single, the Census Bureau reports.

"Many of these young adults may have postponed their entry into marriage in order to further their formal education, establish careers or pursue other goals that might conflict with assuming family responsibilities," said the bureau's study of households, families, marital status and living arrangements.

The report released Tuesday also showed Americans are once again forming new households at high rates following a dropoff in that trend last year.

The study also noted a slight increase in the number of unmarried couples living together, totaling 1,988,000 as of March. That's up from 1,891,000 a year earlier, but still represents only about 4 percent of the couples counted.

Tripoli cease-fire collapses

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (AP) — Artillery duels between rival Moslem militias rocked residential neighborhoods in this Syrian-controlled city today as a cease-fire collapsed and police raised the three-day casualty toll to at least 79 dead and 230 wounded.

The state radio said a 19-hour cease-fire between pro-Syrian and anti-Syrian militias broke down late in the morning, and "almost all residential neighborhoods in the city are under random bombardment."

The broadcast said Dr. Samir Kabbara, chief of north Lebanon's medical department, ordered all hospitals to brace for an influx of casualties and issued appeals for blood donations of all types.

In announcing the latest casualty figures in Tripoli, police said the toll was expected to climb when civil defense and Red Cross teams finished a check of bombed-out buildings. The Beirut newspaper An-Nahar said the toll in the port city of a half-million people had already surpassed 90 dead and 300 wounded.

Secretary hands Ferraro new headache

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hours after her commanding, marathon performance fielding questions about family finances, Geraldine A. Ferraro returns to the campaign trail only to face a new headache — the surprise resignation of press secretary Patricia Bario.

Near the end of her nearly two-hour news conference on finances, Ms. Ferraro, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, looked out at the 38 television cameras and more than 150 reporters and expressed the hope Tuesday that "Gerry will be off the grill."

"We'll get this all out and then we'll move out" to talk about issues rather than finances in new campaign stops beginning with a speech to a teachers union here today, she said.

But Tuesday night, her spokeswoman, Ms. Bario, 52, told The Associated Press: "I quit this evening."

She said she quit in a dispute with campaign manager John Sasso over delays in hiring assistants to help her and because of the confusion that resulted from a lack of staff help.

"I'm going out in sorrow, not in anger," she emphasized. "I have tremendous regard for Ms. Ferraro. I think she's a tremendous candidate and I'd like to be part of the team, but I just wasn't able to operate at the level that I wanted to."

She told Sasso of her decision Tuesday night and planned to advise Ms. Ferraro by note today.

Bob Beckel, campaign manager for Democratic standard-bearer Walter Mondale, minimized the impact of Ms. Bario's move. "Pat's decision to leave the campaign is a personal one. This campaign is not going to rise or fall on any one person...It's going to rise or fall on the

Richards says

Opponents spent more

Don Richards, Democratic nominee for U.S. Representative, 19th District, announced this week that he was one of the lowest money spenders in the nation in his race for the U.S. Congress.

According to the latest financial disclosure reports filed with the Federal Election Commission, Richards spent a total of $72,000 through the Demo primary and runoff elections. Based on votes received, it was the equivalent of $1.67 per vote.

Richards, a former aide to Kent Hance, pointed out that his primary opponents spent considerably more, with two of them averaging $8 to $10 per vote. He said the Republican nominee, Larry Combest, spent a total of $120,000 or the equivalent of $12.02 per vote.

issues and that's where I think Geraldine Ferraro took this race today," Beckel told ABC-TV's "Nightline."

At a Queens, N.Y., news conference, Ms. Ferraro had pointed to her release of "more financial disclosures than you received from any candidate in the history of the United States and from any other spouse" and argued they dispel any notion her family had "something to hide."

Indeed, Ms. Ferraro had some reason to hope that her calm and assured responses to pointed and sometimes hostile questions might have finally put to rest many of the financial questions that have shadowed her for two weeks.

She never flinched, and, having promised to take all questions, outlasted two television networks which decided they had seen enough and stopped broadcasting the event before she left.

Her performance provoked an unusual response from the reporters present: they booed or hooted down two of their colleagues who they felt were rudely interrupting Ms. Ferraro's answers. At the end, some television cameramen dropped their normal noncommittal posture to applaud her. And the early reviews from some political commentators were favorable.

But Democratic campaign sources, who would not allow use of their names, said Bario's departure reflected a wider problem in Ferraro's campaign staff.

These sources said the newly hired staff was plagued by more than one internal dispute and by considerable confusion, which one source attributed to Sasso's "overmanaging and failure to delegate duties."

Reagan assumes convention spotlight

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG AP
Political Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Ronald Reagan, dominating the opening scenes of the Republican National Convention from far offstage, moves into the spotlight today as the leading man of the conservative revolution he wrought in 1980 and is determined to preserve for four more years.

In a single uncontested call of the roll of the states tonight, Reagan and his vice president, George Bush, will be renominated for a second four-year term by delegates who heard him acclaimed Tuesday night as "a president who doesn't apologize for America."

A 10-story high American flag and thousands of red, white and blue balloons were in place for a rally to greet the president and Bush at their hotel late in the afternoon after the president arrives from Washington.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan had no plans to appear at the convention hall before his acceptance speech Thursday night. But Nancy Reagan was on tonight's program, scheduled to address the delegates after a filmed tribute to her.

NBC announced that it will broadcast a filmed tribute to the president that will introduce him Thursday night. CBS and ABC have not said whether they will air the film.

"The decision to show the Reagan film was not made because there was news in it, but rather because of the popular interest that has built up during the past week," said Tom Brokaw, NBC anchorman for the convention. The networks didn't broadcast a film about Walter F. Mondale at the Democratic National Convention last month, and Democratic leaders have asked the networks to pass up the Reagan film.

Other speakers tonight included Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, and Sen. John Tower of Texas. But the principal address was reserved for the man once known as Mr. Conservative, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, whose presidential campaign in 1964 gave Reagan his first national exposure in a political role.

support that many people.

Since the Soviet invasion in 1979, three million Afghans have escaped to Pakistan, another one-and-a-half million to Iran. Gul said about 500,000 are now living in various other countries, including the United States and Western European countries. Another million, he sadly noted, have been killed in the ongoing battles with Russian soldiers.

The Gul family members were classified as refugees for one year after arriving in the United States. Last Thursday, they became permanent residents, a landmark that Gul said was celebrated by the family. In another four years they will qualify for citizenship.

Gul, who is 50, has never been at loss for a job since migrating to the U.S. Midwest. At the University of Nebraska in Lincoln he worked as a technician at the UNL wheat greenhouse. An expert on wheat breeding, he is now concentrating his efforts on triticale research.

"It's been a blast having him here," said Bernard Hartman of ARCO Seed. Hartman who is operations manager for triticale operations for

Prison guard fired

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A prison guard has been fired after officials found he left a cellblock unlocked and unattended when a white supremacist prisoner slipped into a 24-year-old black inmate's cell and stabbed him to death.

James Thomas, 21, was fired last week after a four-member panel of fellow officers found he had failed to perform his duties, Richard Pustka, assistant warden of the Ellis II Unit, confirmed Tuesday.

Thomas, who had worked for eight months for the TDC, was assigned to watch an open door leading to a cellblock and was supposed to search prisoners for weapons as they returned from breakfast.

While Thomas left his post to unlock a door in another cellblock last Thursday, an inmate slipped through without being searched and stabbed Melvin Douglas, who was asleep in his bunk.

The suspect remained in isolation pending charges, Pustka said.

The pressure to streamline the convention program led to the unprecedented step of recording the votes for the presidential and vice presidential nominees in a single call of the roll of the states.

To coincide with the arrival in town of the president, a star-studded convention program also included actor Charlton Heston to lead the Pledge of Allegiance and Wayne Newton to sing the National Anthem. The Rev. Jerry Falwell, head of the Moral Majority, will deliver the benediction.

While the party awaited its leader, convention speakers trumpeted their vision of a nation grown confident and prosperous during the Reagan years.

As for the Democrats and Mondale, former President Gerald R. Ford, his voice dripping with scorn, recalled the "disastrous economic policies" of Jimmy Carter, the Democrat who beat Ford in 1976.

Ford said the theme of the Democratic convention last month in San Francisco "seemed to be that America's future belongs to the wishers, the wasters, the wanters, the whiners and the weak."

For the second day in a row, the attention of many of the delegates was split between convention activities and the disclosures 1,500 miles away about the finances of Democratic vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro and her husband, John Zaccaro.

During one session of the convention Tuesday, most television sets in the complex were tuned to the news conference at which Ms. Ferraro said the voluminous documents she and her husband had made public should dispel the notion they "had something to hide."

Pointing to Mondale's troubles and their own polls, Reagan campaign aides were bullish about the prospects for a Nov. 6 landslide. Their biggest concern seemed to be overconfidence.

"We're not going to get apathetic," said Lee Atwater, deputy director of the Reagan-Bush campaign. "We understand the twin demons of apathy and complacency."

the company, said Gul has a great sense of humor. "He's a happy man despite all he has been through," he commented.

Hartman said the local office had hoped to keep Gul in Hereford for awhile, but the company decided to open a triticale research plant in Rochester. "He will be in charge of the triticale spring research station there," Hartman explained.

Gul said his wife and children have concentrated mostly on learning English since their arrival in the U.S., with the children working to catch up on studies missed during the time of the escape.

The three older children will all attend the University of Nebraska this year, with two of them majoring in computer science and another in engineering.

Gul's mother remains in Afghanistan, and the family is able to correspond with her indirectly through friends of the children. Gul said he would like someday to bring her to America as well.

Microwave pork flavorful, safe

COLLEGE STATION — Pork prepared in a microwave is tender, juicy flavorful—and safe, according to a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Many people have been legitimately concerned about cooking pork in their microwave, Dr. Dymple Cooksey said. The problem is that heat distribution patterns vary in meat cuts cooked by microwave, she explained.

In the case of pork, thorough cooking is necessary to insure that microorganisms such as trichinella do not survive, the nutritionist said. Since evaporative cooking occurs when meats are cooked in a microwave oven, the internal temperature of a pork roast might reach the recommended 170 degrees F., while the surface temperature would be only 120 F.

However, through research for the Pork Industry Group of the National Livestock and Meat Board, conducted at Iowa State University and private laboratories, recommendations for proper and safe microwave cooking methods of pork have been developed, Cooksey said.

In order to create an environment in which pork can be prepared safely, the researchers used a "cooking bag" to produce a vaporous atmosphere while the pork cooks. The procedure has been tested extensively using meat from hogs infected with trichinella, Cooksey said, and no organisms were found to survive.

Here are the resulting recommendations for microwave fresh boneless pork roasts:

-Choose evenly shaped boneless roasts weighing no more than 3 to 2½ pounds and having a diameter of no more than 4 inches.

-Please roast into a 10-by 16-inch oven cooking bag and place in microwave-safe baking dish or place on a microwave-safe rack with sides.

-Evenly sprinkle roast with a package (24 grams) of pork or brown gravy mix.

-Close bag loosely with string or a ½ inch strip cut from open end of bag.

PREDICTED FUTURE

ATLANTA (AP) — Glenn Rivers, guard for the Atlanta Hawks, recalls that when he was in the second grade his teacher asked the class to write down what each student wanted to be when he or she grew up.

"I wrote down a pro basketball player," Rivers said. "The teacher was unimpressed and told me either to be realistic or to go home. So I went home."

At home, Rivers found his parents were on his side. And after that his determination never flagged.

Hereford will again be one of over 30 cities taking part in the Panhandle segment of the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon with a special Pledge Center located at Plains Insurance. Janice Holmes is serving as coordinator for the pledge center, which will be open throughout the telethon from 8 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 2, until 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 3, Labor Day weekend. A special phone number, 364-2232, has been assigned for use by the people of Hereford to phone in their pledges.

Originating from Las Vegas, the 22½ hour TV marathon is held to benefit the medical services and research programs of the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). Telephone pledges and donations made through the Hereford Pledge Center, to be manned around the clock by Elks Lodge No. 2269, will be credited to the citizens throughout the telethon.

The Panhandle show will again be broadcast by KFDD-TV 10 in Amarillo and will feature Mark Robertson-Baker as host and Bob Arnold and Patricia Logan as co-hosts. They will interview patients from pledge center towns, and will recognize various fund-raisers throughout the Panhandle, in addition to first-hand reports of pledge center activities.

This year, for the first time, "the" telethon will be aired live from the newly remodeled Western Plaza Mall. The new location should generate a lot of excitement, as well as increased dollars for the fight against muscular dystrophy, according to Holmes. A variety of special events will take place in the mall in conjunction with the marathon show, including various radio station promotions, clowns and a carnival.

Children wishing to collect door to door for "Jerry's Kids" are asked to come by the pledge center location no later than noon on Labor Day to pick up an official badge and canister. Other activities planned for the Hereford area on Labor Day weekend include a dunking board, clowns, carnival and action fishbowl. Anyone wishing to volunteer to answer phones or help at the pledge center in any other way should call Holmes as soon as possible at 364-7140.

Funds raised through the telethon by Hereford citizens will be spent in the Panhandle area to assist patients with muscular dystrophy and to advance MDA's worldwide research program.

This Saturday at 9 p.m. Cattlemen's plans to sponsor a dance to benefit MDA. Music is to be provided by the band, "Free Whiskey," and a dance contest is scheduled. Coors and Miller are helping to sponsor the dance.

Ann Landers Sample enough

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 years old, not beautiful, but no dog either. I have a peppy personality and am fun to be with.

Three weeks ago I came to work at this place as a waitress. My boss's son (I'll call him Rick) took an interest in me the third day on the job. He asked if he could take me home after work. I said yes. There was electricity between us the minute we met. He kissed me good night at the door and it was so wonderful I damn near fainted.

The next night Rick asked again if he could take me home. This time he wanted to stay and visit a little while. We ended up sleeping together.

For one solid week he never came near the restaurant. When he finally showed up he acted as if I were a stranger. I'm sure Rick likes me because we had such a great time together. I can't figure this whole thing out. Any ideas, Ann?—It's Cold In Columbus

DEAR COLUMBUS: It sounds as if the sample was ample.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this for "Red Eyes in Erie," whose wife was snoring up a storm. He was right when he said the one who does the snoring is getting plenty of rest while the other party walks the floor, night after night, heading for a breakdown.

My husband can make one devil of a lot of noise when he sleeps—sitting up, lying down, it doesn't matter. There were times when I slept in the bathtub at the other end of the house to get away from the racket.

But, Ann, I got the solution from you several years ago. I wrote and you suggested earplugs. I paid $1.99 for the set and it changed my life.

DENVER (AP) — America's 235 million people consume 176 million gallons of water each day, according to the American Water Works Association.

Medical experts say a daily replenishment of from two to three quarts of water is needed through food and drink to maintain a person's health. While a human can live for up to two months without solid food, to go without water for one week can be fatal.

Cubs squash Astros relying on Davis' bat

By MIKE CLARK
AP Sports Writer

The iron man of the Chicago Cubs is beginning to show a little wear around the edges, but he wouldn't have it any other way.

"There are some days when I am tired," admits catcher Jody Davis, "but the excitement of winning and being in the pennant race has everybody up. Every day we are playing before thirty-thousand people."

The Cubs, again playing well before their adoring daytime crowd, ripped Houston 11-5 on Tuesday, with Davis supplying four of the runs with a bases-loaded single and a two-run home run, his 18th.

Padres 7, Mets 4

Graig Nettles stroked three hits, including his 18th homer, and Tony Gwynn raised his league-leading batting average to .361 with three hits and two RBIs for San Diego.

Pirates 5, Braves 4

Marvell Wynne slapped a bases-loaded single with one out in the ninth inning to cap Pittsburgh's comeback. The Braves led 4-3 after Dale Murphy hit his league-leading 28th homer, a three-run shot off Pittsburgh starter John Tudor in the sixth. The Pirates tied the game in the seventh on a two-out single by Lee Lacy against Braves reliever Jeff Dedmon, 3-2.

Reds 4, Cardinals 1

Wayne Krenchicki singled home Ron Oester with the go-ahead run in the bottom of the seventh and Eddie Milner followed with a two-run homer as Cincinnati snapped a three-game losing streak behind Joe Price, 6-9. Ted Power pitched the final two innings for his fifth save. Kurt Kershaw, 3-3, took the loss.

Dodgers 4, Expos 3

Candy Maldonado drove in two runs, including the deciding tally in the third, to give left-hander Fernando Valenzuela, 10-14, his first victory since July 25. Maldonado capped a three-run Dodger first against Dan Schatzeder, 6-4, with a double, then drove in Mike Marshall with a single in the third.

Phillies 12, Giants 5

Pinch-hitter Sixto Lezcano delivered a pair of run-scoring singles during a 10-run, eighth-inning rally that allowed Philadelphia to overcome a 3-2 Giant lead and extend its winning streak to four games. The Phils lashed out 10 hits off relievers

Frank Williams, 6-2, Gary Lavelle and Greg Minton.

Every so often, a major-league pitcher who has just struck out a bunch of batters is asked whether he was trying to strike out people.

And most of the time, the pitcher says he wasn't worried about strikeouts and wasn't thinking about them.

Introducing Roger Clemens, a hard-throwing rookie for the Boston Red Sox.

Watson on World Series

Tourney not lucrative

By GEORGE STRODE AP Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Watson says the World Series of Golf has grown too big.

"It's not as special as it used to be under the old four-man format. It was very special. I like it that way," this year's leading PGA Tour money-winner said Tuesday of the $700,000 NEC World Series which begins Thursday.

The Series began in 1962 with a four-man, 36-hole format matching the winners of the annual four majors. It was expanded in 1976.

This year's tournament had 43 invitees, but not that many actually will play the par-70, 7,173-yard Firestone South monster.

For instance, Fuzzy Zoeller, the U.S. Open champion, has been hospitalized in Birmingham, Ala., with a nagging back injury.

Jay Sigel, the U.S. Amateur champion, is skipping this event to concentrate on a bid for a third successive Amateur crown next week.

Bernhard Langer of West Germany, a qualifier as the winner of the Irish Open and the Caslo World Open, is playing in the West German Open.

Jose-Maria Olazabal, the British

"I like to strike people out. I like to do that. It's not going to happen all the time, but if I'm going good and there are real free swingers, I'll go after them," Clemens said after striking out 15 as Boston routed the Kansas City Royals 11-1 Tuesday night.

Rangers 4, White Sox 3

Alan Bannister, who played parts of five seasons with Chicago, continued to haunt his former teammates.

Amateur victor, never responded to his Series invitation.

Watson takes exception to invitations going to 13 players who have won foreign tournaments in the last year.

"They should give exemptions to players over here," he said, "like the PGA and the Open does. All former champions should be in the field."

Meanwhile, newly anointed PGA champion Lee Trevino criticized the condition of Firestone after his pro-amateur prelude round.

"I've been coming here 17 years and it's worst I've seen these greens," Trevino said. "And the rough. The grass is big enough to stop a jet. They ought to put some of that grass on the greens."

Jim Cook, the tournament director, apologized for the condition of the greens, spotty and bumpy. Cook said layers of ice on the greens during the winter hurt their condition.

The field this year includes defending champion Nick Price of South Africa, five-time Series winner Jack Nicklaus, Masters champion Ben Crenshaw, British Open king Seve Ballesteros of Spain, Greg Norman of Australia, Tom Kite and Isao Aoki of Japan.

Indians 3, Blue Jays 1

Cleveland ran its winning streak to seven games, its longest victory string in two years, thanks to Jerry Willard.

Willard belted a two-out, two-run homer in the top of the ninth in Toronto. The homer came off Dave Stieb, 12-5, who has not won since July 29.

Yankees 8, Angels 2

Phil Niekro won the 283rd game of his career and raised his record this season to 15-7 by going seven innings and yielding five hits in sending California to its seventh straight loss.

Mariners 4, Orioles 3

Jack Perconte entered the game with three hits in his last 30 at-bats.

That quickly changed in Baltimore.

Perconte had three doubles and drove in two runs to lead Seattle's 13-hit attack. Loser Storm Davis, 12-7, allowed 12 of those hits.

Tigers 12, A's 6

At Tiger Stadium, Lance Parrish crashed a grand-slam homer in the first inning and Darrell Evans hit a three-run blast followed by Larry Herndon's solo shot during a six-run sixth.

Parrish's fourth career slam and 29th homer of the season came after Howard Johnson opened the Detroit first with a walk and Alan Trammell and Kirk Gibson singled.

Milt Wilcox upped his record to 14-7, his career-high in victories. Rickey Henderson led off the game with his 13th homer for Oakland. Carney Lansford of the A's extended his hitting streak to 24 games, tying Hubie Brooks of the New York Mets for the longest string in the majors.

Hereford football players continued to work on kicking today during two-a-day workouts. Some athletes took turns at field-goal practice while others had to shag balls.

Cosell to vacate broadcast booth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC sportscaster Howard Cosell has said again that he's getting out of Monday Night Football's broadcasting booth after 14 years to assume other network sports assignments.

"It's the end of the chapter," Cosell told the Los Angeles Times from his summer home in Westhampton, N.Y., where he has been vacationing since the Olympic Games.

The controversial Cosell, who became a celebrated television personality on the strength of Monday Night Football's popularity, had hinted earlier that he was unhappy with the long-running format.

The Miami Herald quoted Irv Brodsky, an ABC spokesman, as saying that Cosell one month ago asked Jim Spence, vice president for sports, to be relieved of his football duties.

Cosell was described as being "bored" with the football assignment, tired of traveling and unhappy with the elevation of former sports stars into the broadcast booth without benefit of prior experience.

He criticized television football broadcasting as a "jockocracy" dominated by ex-athletes.

Cosell said he will cut his schedule down this fall to hosting ABC's "SportsBeat" and handling some baseball and horse racing while doing his national radio show.

Eastern countries emerge

Records fall in Friendship Games

MOSCOW (AP) — After five days of competition at the Friendship '84 Games in Moscow, Eastern bloc nations have established seven world records and posted 35 performances that would have won medals at the Olympic Games.

And there are surely more to come.

Vladimir Salnikov, the world's best middle and long distance swimmer who would have been one of the Soviet Union's surest bets for Olympi pic gold at Los Angeles, does not take to the pool until Thursday.

The triple freestyle world-record holder is said to be at peak form after months of preparation for the Olympics, which he didn't attend because of the Soviet boycott.

But his fans will have to wait a little longer to see whether the 24-year-old master of sport from Leningrad can add to his country's tally of world marks.

Tuesday's cycling highlights were world indoor records set by the Soviet Union in the 4,000-meter team pursuit race with a time of 4 minutes, 14.26 seconds and Nadezhda Kibardina, also of the host nation, in the 3,000 meters for women in 3:58.025.

Bandits turn tables to win bowling

The Bandits, of Tuesday Night Hotdogs Bowling League, Tuesday finally put an end to all of the flip-flopping back and forth in team standings.

Trailing by one game heading into play, The Bandits took three of four games to finish at 36-16 and win the championship. Second place went to TNT's, who were leading through Aug. 14.

TNT's wound up one game out at 35-17.

The Bandits took the first two games Tuesday night, the second on total pins. The Bandits won that game 766 to 747.

The two victories forced the TNT's to win, or take second place without a fight.

Ellen Hrabal, of the Bandits, was absent from play. Her 142 average was computed into the team score.

In a losing effort, Robert Nichols marked in 18 of 30 total frames for the TNT's. Linda Wilcox marked 23 times for TNT's, including six strikes. She paced the second-place team with a three-game total of 508.

Jimmie Bridges furnished 466 total pins for The Bandits, and Jim Hrabal added 434. Avalon Bridges turned in 398.

Complete standings and teams' total pins are to be listed at a later date.

Six Point Plan for Fair and Effective Farm Policy
 Part 2

When farm group representatives from six states met with Ag Secretary Block last month, each of us told the Secretary of the concerns of our group or region. In my speech I presented six specific proposals based on my talks with farmers throughout the 19th Congressional District. Last week's column included the first three of these proposals; this week I'll discuss the remaining points.

The fourth point is that Federal Crop Insurance must provide fair yield coverage at a reasonable premium. Our farmers' extreme vulnerability to weather makes low coverage and high premiums impractical. The FCIC has begun to address this problem, but it must consider new procedures to lessen the penalty now placed on farmers when they can least afford it—after they have suffered several losses in a row caused by weather or other factors outside their control. Fifth, the Maximum Payment Limitation should be increased. Much has changed since the $50,000 limitation was introduced several years ago. The current limitation forces too many producers to go off the program. This not only deprives these farmers of the benefits of the program, it also encourages production undermining the purpose of the program.

The regulation allowing farmers to "get back" a percentage of the ACR acres over the limit is not a fair substitute for the dollars lost. The limitation should be raised to a level that protects the family farm concept and encourages greater program participation. And sixth, increasing exports must be a top priority for future farm policy. To attain a market price necessary for a reasonable profit, farmers have two options: Produce less or sell more. Federal policy can help increase foreign sales by providing education and training to farmers and farm groups on the techniques of selling our products, at a profit, on the world market. This training could more than pay for itself by reducing the burden on other farm bill programs.

Although each representative had specific concerns, there was a common goal expressed throughout the meeting with Secretary Block: We need a farm policy that realizes farmers must make a profit to survive, a policy that gives every farmer a fair shake on government programs. I believe that we must work together, in meetings like the one in Dallas, to achieve that goal with new farm legislation in 1985.

I'd like to hear your comments on these and other proposals for fair and effective farm policy. Write to me at 1606 Avenue X, Lubbock, 79401.

Landry hesitant to start Hogeboom

DALLAS (AP) — With injured recovery, Dallas Coach Tom Landry is still evasive about his starting Gary Hogeboom making a rapid quarterback for the season opener against the Los Angeles Rams.

Hogeboom has recovered enough from a hyperextended elbow to throw in practice this week.

Landry expects to use him for two quarters Saturday night in a National Football League preseason finale against the Houston Oilers.

"Danny White is our starting quarterback and it will be that way until something happens to move Gary in," said Landry.

Asked if that meant White was the starter against the Rams, Landry said "I'm not sure he will start...it is a good indicator with no more playing time than Gary has had."

The Dallas Cowboys moved

holdout defensive tackle Randy White off their active roster but the All-Pro could still play Sept. 3 if he comes back.

White, who is unhappy with his $350,000 contract this season, could be activated immediately because he never reported to training camp.

"We could bring him back," Landry said. "If he reported Monday I'm sure he would play (against the Los Angeles Rams). He probably wouldn't play very well but you have to start someone."

The Cowboys also waived second-year punter John Warren, placed offensive lineman Chris Schultz on injured reserve, and put running back James Jones on the physically unable to perform list.

They cut rookies quarterback

Mark McKay of San Diego State, cornerback Fred Nichols, SMU, wide receiver Mike Tolliver, Stanford, defensive back James Newton, San Jose State, running back Mike Revell of Bethune-Cookman, and offensive lineman Vince Rafferty of Colorado.

Landry also said that starting offensive guard Herb Scott and defensive back Bill Bates may not be ready for the season opener because of injuries.

"Herb probably is out and it could be three to six weeks before Bates can play," Landry said. "To lose Bates is very disappointing because he is important to us as a specialty team's man."

On another topic, Landry said he was surprised that the Oilers traded wide receiver Butch Johnson, who had been unhappy with his lack of playing time at Dallas, to Denver.

"I didn't know about the trade until I read it in the paper," said Landry. "I'd like to see Butch do well. I would have thought he would do well with the Oilers."

Some 10,000 tickets remained on sale for the game. It is likely to be blacked out in the Dallas-Fort Worth area although CBS will televise the game nationally.

On the Ball

By DENNIS BALL
Sports Editor

Some football teams start their seasons the hard way.

The Houston Oilers, the Texas Longhorns, the Baylor Bears, to name a few. The Hereford High School Whitefaces don't begin 1984 on an easy note, either.

All four of the teams face top competitors in their respective levels of play. Houston opens at home, but against last year's Super Bowl champions, the Los Angeles Raiders.

Texas plays a team that last year finished as the nation's second-ranked team: Auburn. Auburn's only defeat last year was against UT, finishing 1983 at 11-1 by beating Michigan 9-7 in the Sugar Bowl. Also from the SWC, Baylor must go to Utah to tangle with Brigham Young University, a top contender, before meeting always powerful Oklahoma in Norman.

On the high school level, Hereford fights with top-rated San Angelo Central.

But there's always next week, right?

Hold on a minute. Let's not get too far ahead of ourselves. No one is conceding the game or games just yet.

The Houston Oilers have a new coach and a new quarterback. Fans shouldn't expect too much from Hugh Campbell, as he takes over the reins of an Ed Biles disaster. Maybe he'll have a surprise or two this season.

Quarterback Warren Moon with his Canadian Football League-styled moves should boost the Oilers' club. Just how much, no one knows. But maybe more than anyone thinks.

The Longhorns haven't thrown in the towel for the first game by any means. Neither have the Bears. Both teams are from the Southwest Conference, you know, a conference from which gamblers would be well advised to stay away because of its unpredictable nature.

The Hereford Whitefaces were co-champs of District 3-5A last year when most pollsters predicted little success for the Herd. With the district Coach of the Year and Player of the Year returning, a person can't rule out the Herd from taking the first ballgame from Central.

Long shots? Maybe, maybe not. But win or lose, the underdogs will be better teams from playing quality opponents.

"Regardless of whether we win or lose our first game, we think we will be a better football team from playing some tough competition," Herd coach Jerry Taylor has said. "It may not look good on the record, but it will help us down the line."

No sense in winning games only to inflate the ego if the games don't really count anyway. The teams can't afford to have an expanded ego, at least not for long.

In Week Two, the Oilers have to

FRIENDSHIP

A total of nine swimmers posted times Tuesday that would have won medals at Los Angeles as the East-bloc sports powers enjoyed their most successful day in the pool as well as at the Krylatskoye Cycling Oval.

Sergei Zabolotnov snatched the 200-meter backstroke world mark from American Olympic champion Rick Carey, clocking 1:58.41. Carey's previous record was 1:58.86.

FFA show team has busy summer

The Hereford Future Farmers of America show team has had a busy and successful summer, according to FFA Advisor Marcus Phillips.

Jill Dutton, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dutton, exhibited the reserve grand champion barrow at the Yamaha Summer National held recently in Oklahoma City. She received a belt buckle and a large portable generator.

Other local youngsters placing at the show in Oklahoma City were Robby Wells, fifth place crossbred barrow, and Chet Bunch, who exhibited the ninth place Chester White hog. Robbie Phillips received five top places in the barrow show and placed second and fourth in the lamb show.

Phillips and Bunch also did well at the Pauls Valley, Okla., barrow and gilt show earlier in the month. Bunch showed the eighth place Chester White while Phillips had the third place gilt, fourth place Chester White, fifth place crossbred and tenth place Duroc.

Jeff Hicks and Phillips traveled to Kerrville for the Hill Country Extravaganza lamb and steer jackpot, with several of their lambs placing in the top ten.

Hicks showed the fourth place fine wool, sixth place crossbred and eighth place medium wool, while Phillips placed third and sixth in medium wool and fifth and seventh in crossbred.

The show team members next head for the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo and the South Plains Fair in Lubbock.

Russians buying record amount of wheat, corn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since late June, the Soviet Union has bought more than 8.5 million metric tons of U.S. wheat and corn, making it "one of the most active buying periods on record," says the Agriculture Department.

A weekly report on production and trade also noted in a brief item on Wednesday that corn has accounted for about 70 percent of the purchases and that most of the shipments have been scheduled for delivery in the 1984-85 year that begins on Oct. 1.

"Prospects for another reduced grain crop, low stock levels and strong demand for grain for feed in the Soviet livestock industry, along with some weakening in world grain prices, likely contributed to this flurry of buying activity," the report said.

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat.

The sales to the Soviet Union have been announced by the department after being reported to the agency by private grain exporters. The announcements have been made several times a week, for the most part, since the current flurry began on June 29.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of farm-grown catfish continues to rise from year-earlier levels, says the Agriculture Department.

In July, output was 11.3 million pounds, up 9 percent from July 1983.

Beef is top meat for Texans

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Texans rank beef as the most heavily consumed meat, over poultry, fish, or pork according to a recent survey of eating habits by the Department of Rural Sociology, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University System.

In examining recent consumption trends for six commodities, the state-wide survey indicated that close to half of adult Texans were eating about the same way as they had last year, according to Drs. Patricia Guseman and Wm. Alex McIntosh.

However, where changes had occurred, respondents tended to be consuming less beef and pork but were eating more fish, poultry, fruit and vegetables than they were last year.

Although a majority suggested they would not be revising eating patterns over the coming year, those that indicated a change in intake suggested they would be consuming less red meat and more poultry, fish, fruit and vegetables.

Since the production of meat animals in Texas has consistently provided almost half of the agriculturally-based cash receipts for the State, such trends are of vital importance to agricultural producers. In 1982, cattle and calves comprised 41% of all Texas commodity receipts.

Nationwide, individual consumers spend more for beef than any other single food. Over one-fourth of adult Texans now eat beef five times or more a week and two-thirds have beef during any 24-hour period.

Cuts in beef consumption were noted by some females although again, almost half felt their intake had remained the same over the last year.

A drop in consumption by women could cause a trickle effect that would lead to reduced consumption for all household members, Guseman noted.

On the other hand, young adults, more than any other group, suggested they would be eating more beef, as well as other meats.

"Dieting was related to reduced consumption of beef and pork," Guseman noted, "and increased intakes of poultry and fish. Concerns for health and nutrition were associated with increased consumption of vegetables and fruit, but had no consistent relationship with consumption of red meat."

Exports rise in '84, may decline again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The value of U.S. farm exports, which are rising this year after two annual declines, are expected to slip downward again in the new fiscal year that will begin on Oct. 1, according to new projections by the Agriculture Department.

After rising to record levels for 12 consecutive years — reaching $43.8 billion in 1980-81 — the value of exported commodities declined to $39.1 billion and $34.8 billion the following two years.

The total in 1983-84 is expected to rise to about $38 billion, the same as forecast in May, the department said

Monday in its latest report.

But the actual volume of exports, which rose to nearly 164 million metric tons in the late 1970s, is down again this year to an estimated 141 million tons.

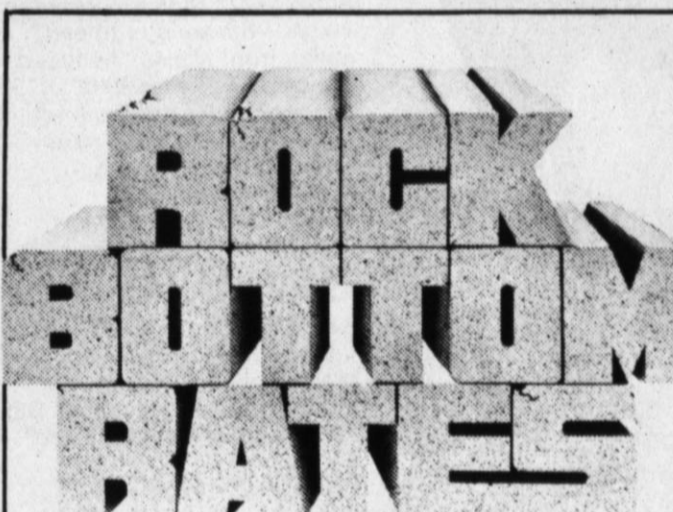

"For fiscal 1985, U.S. agricultural exports may increase modestly in volume, but could decrease slightly in value," the report said. "The continued strengthening of some foreign economies could translate into a modest expansion of import demand for some agricultural products."

Although the report did not include figures for 1984-85, officials said next year's export value could be in the range of $35 billion to $38 billion. The volume of shipments could be in the range of 142 million to 147 million tons.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of U.S. horticultural products generally "are being bruised and weakened by the strength of the dollar" but are still gaining in the Japanese market, says the Agriculture Department.

Shipments of those commodities — which include citrus and other products — rose 6 percent last year to about $472 million.

New MUSTANG

Outstanding semi-dwarf. Early maturity plus breakaway yield potential.

Here's our spirited, new semi-dwarf variety that's destined to be one of the most popular wheats. And for several good reasons.

Mustang hard red winter wheat is good for grazing and is a very high grain yielder, too.

Mustang's combination of heading and maturity dates is unique. This variety has a medium heading date, yet is a fast finisher with early maturity (between Triumph and Vona). Mustang gives you a better chance to escape a late spring frost and still get an early harvest.

Mustang is bred for excellent protection from several yield-robbing diseases. Soil borne mosaic. Stem rust. Wheat streak mosaic and Hessian Fly.

But that's not all. Mustang's high protein and good test weight provides excellent milling and baking characteristics, better than other semi-dwarfs such as Newton and TAM 105.

Plant certified Mustang. You'll see how Agripro's research gives you a real genetic-edge.

Geraldine Ferraro uses refrigerator defense

DALLAS (AP) — Once upon a time, a beleaguered vice presidential nominee made his family dog a household word in a legendary defense of his personal finances.

Geraldine A. Ferraro went with the refrigerator. She never mentioned Missy, the family German shepherd.

Rep. Ferraro's icebox may not match Richard M. Nixon's cocker spaniel, Checkers, for durability as a political symbol. But her mission on Tuesday and Nixon's 32 years ago were the same — to put to rest a nagging, distracting controversy about personal financial matters.

It will take time to determine whether the Democratic vice presidential nominee succeeded at a New York news conference she intentionally made into a marathon. She said she would answer every question raised about her finances, those of her husband, and the tax returns and disclosure statements made public on Monday.

She did, for an hour and forty minutes, at a session so long the national television networks tuned in for a time but decided against gavel-to-gavel coverage. It was the prime show at the Republican National Convention hall in Dallas, where GOP delegates were approving a party platform with a mini-plank designed to take advantage of the topic. Ms. Ferraro said her mission was to settle the subject and get on to the issues in the campaign ahead.

In the convention hours that followed, Republicans were publicly silent on the subject. Vice President George Bush held a news conference but it was restricted to foreign policy, and he turned aside attempts to get him into the Ferraro controversy.

Dallas conventioners had been speculating that Ms. Ferraro's financial disclosure problems might even force her from the Democratic ticket. "That's wishful thinking on the part of Republicans," she said at her New York news conference.

In fact, it would have taken a smoking machine gun to raise any real prospect that the Democrats might change nominees. Having installed the first woman ever on a national ticket, Walter F. Mondale wasn't about to turn away from her in a flap over finances, absent evidence of real wrongdoing.

Mondale, who had been silent on the Ferraro controversy pending release of her financial disclosure statement, said Tuesday that she had passed "a test of leadership and strength that will be reassuring to the American people."

The financial records released by Ms. Ferraro and her husband, John A. Zaccaro, showed they pay more taxes than most Americans of their income levels. And Ms. Ferraro insisted that she had openly and properly claimed exemption from disclosing her husband's finances in her filings as a member of Congress for the past six years.

The exemption is supposed to apply only in cases in which the member has neither knowledge of nor benefit from the income of the spouse. Ms. Ferraro said she and her husband purposely kept their finances separate from the time she went to Congress — and paid extra taxes to do it.

That's where the refrigerator came in, several times. Carried to the extreme, she said, in order to claim the exemption "we should have had separate refrigerators, we should have paid separate phone bills." She said if that were the case, the filing exemption would be meaningless because married officials would never be able to claim it.

Ironically, more than a few politicians, in both parties, agree that disclosure has gone so far as to become a burden and a barrier to public service, although it is not politic to say so just now.

The Republican platform is hardly a model of consistency on the question. On one hand, to take advantage of the Ferraro controversy, the GOP demands full disclosure by all officials and candidates — to include the holdings of spouses "of which the official has knowledge, financial interest or benefit."

On the other, the platform suggests elimination of the federal watchdog agency to which Ms. Ferraro reported on Monday. "In the light of the inhibiting role federal election laws and regulations have had, Congress should consider abolishing the Federal Election Commission," the platform declares.

Mondale and Ms. Ferraro surely will face more questions about her finances, and they surely will answer that she already has dealt with all questions from all comers. The persistence of the topic will depend on voter reaction to her disclosures Monday and her non-stop news conference Tuesday.

Public response made Nixon's "Checkers speech" a success at the time and a political legend ever after. It was Sept. 23, 1952, and Nixon had been accused of improperly accepting $18,235 from well-heeled supporters. His vice presidential spot on Dwight D. Eisenhower's ticket was in jeopardy.

He said he had done nothing wrong, given no favors in return, and had used the money only for political expenses. He listed what he owned and what he owed, and admitted to one personal gift, a cocker spaniel, "black and white, spotted, and our little girl Tricia, the 6-year-old, named it Checkers."

Ms. Ferraro went with the numbers, accountants and lawyers at hand for advice on technical questions.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Betts

William Baffin, an English navigator, explored Greenland and Baffin Bay in 1616, while searching for the Northwest Passage to Asia.

Couple honored with reception

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Betts were honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of Community Church Sunday afternoon. Assisting with the 50th anniversary celebration were their grandchildren, Katie Smith and Don Betts and Mr. and Mrs. Woody Smith.

Hosting the event were Mrs. Dorman Duggan, Frank Ford, Raul Valdez, Leta Kaul, Mike Brumley and Garland Solomon. Mrs. Linda

Smith was in charge of the gift table and registration.

Betts and his wife, Vera, were married Aug. 28, 1934, in Atlantic, Iowa. They moved to Hereford in 1978 and reside at 129 Avenue H. They have three children, Violet Reichardt of Garner, Iowa and Clarence and Gary Betts, both of Madison Lake, Minn.; seven grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Health Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. Hemorrhoids

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 35-year-old male, slender and in good health. About a dozen times a year I am plagued with hemorrhoids. These painful attacks are brought on by irregularity, which I believe is due to the stressful nature of my job as a teacher. Extended wilderness outings and occasional changes in my diet also cause them. Except for moderate use of dairy products, I eat a lot of fiber foods and exercise religiously. My problem was made worse because I underwent open-heart surgery five months ago for a valve replacement. Should I have this problem corrected surgically? Frankly, I am tired of sitz baths, ointments and pain.

DEAR READER — You might find that one of the bulk-formers, such as Metamucil, will help with your bowel function to the point that you have less strain and fewer symptoms. Also, keeping the anal area very clean, to the point of washing after each bowel movement, may help. After washing you can apply petroleum jelly, which helps protect from itching.

If your program is not successful, then you need to consider doing something about your hemorrhoids. If they are external, you would need to have surgery to correct them. If they are internal, you might be able to have them injected. And, of course, you could have the combination of both internal and external hemorrhoids, which would still require surgery.

Internal hemorrhoids usually bleed and may not cause other symptoms. The burning and itching are more often associated with external hemorrhoids.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The capital's already crowded Benito Juarez International Airport will gradually be expanded with new runways, taxiways and other installations to handle 46 million passengers annually by the year 2000, authorities here say.

The plan was announced at a news conference Monday by Communications and Transportation Secretary Rodolfo Felix Valdes, who said the airport is already saturated handling 10 million passengers a year and clearing an average of 55 flights an hour, with only two main runways.

Valdes said that by the year 2000, experts estimate the airport will be handling 120 flights an hour and 46 million passengers a year. "Obviously, present facilities will not be able to handle that kind of traffic," he said.

Aeronautics officials studied eight different sites in towns near the capital, but all of them proved either too costly or too complicated. "We believe the present solution is the best," he said.

The plan calls for extending the present airport on adjacent lands that once formed the nearby Texcoco Lake bed, but were drained dry. To begin with, a third runway 2.5 miles long will be built at a cost of $119.8 million.

This will enable the airport to handle 70 flights an hour and 14 million passengers annually by 1988.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Miguel de la Madrid urged a greater effort by the rich industrialized nations to help solve the world economic crisis, which he said is hitting the poorer agricultural and mining nations hardest.

"The world crisis can be solved only at the international level and with the cooperation of all nations," de la Madrid said. "I harbor the deepest conviction, however, that social compression by the majorities can lead to an economic policy for overcoming the crisis at a domestic level."

De la Madrid spoke Monday at the inauguration of a conference of labor leaders representing 40 million workers in Latin America and the Caribbean, many of whom were critical of the International Monetary Fund's policies.

The region, whose countries are mostly poor, has a $270 (b) billion foreign debt which it has trouble meeting payments on. The labor leaders claim the austerity measures, which the IMF is imposing on countries as a condition for rescheduling these debts, are too harsh and causing huge recessions and unemployment.

The conference was inaugurated in the Mexican capital, but has moved to Cuernavaca, 47 miles south.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Miguel de la Madrid has launched a four-year plan to boost productivity by providing on the job training for an estimated 11 million workers.

A press release from the president's office said the program has the full cooperation of both business and labor leaders, who with an inter-ministerial task force will set up 170,000 training centers throughout the country to train about three million workers a year.

Of these, about one million will be government workers. The rest are employed by private enterprise.

Government economists have long complained that one of the major problems afflicting Mexico's economy for many years has been low productivity due to lack of adequate training.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Former presidents Luis Echeverria and Jose Lopez Portillo, both unpopular when they ended their respective six-year terms, have not been invited to their Institutional Revolutionary Party's annual assembly this year.

Sen. Genaro Borrego Estrada, the spokesman for the party, known by its Spanish initials as the PRI, said in response to reporters' questions: "They have not been invited because there has always been only one First Prista, and we already have him."

The party leader is the current president, Miguel de la Madrid.

The PRI, which has been in power for half a century, is holding its 12th annual assembly Thursday through Saturday in Mexico City.

Echeverria was accused by his critics of being "too leftist" and fueling inflation in the country. He was succeeded in 1976 by Lopez Portillo, whose term ended in the worst economic crisis this century, which de la Madrid inherited when he took office in December 1982.

By law, Mexican presidents cannot be reelected when they complete their six-year term. By tradition, they also keep a low profile after leaving office.

John F. Kennedy and William Howard Taft are the only presidents buried in the Arlington National Cemetery.

GOP conventions: The weird, wonderful

DALLAS (AP) — The folks who contend Republican conventions are mostly big bucks and big bores are probably half right. This one is madness. It's champagne and caviar, beer and barbecue. Longnecks, Longhorns and long lines. Cops and crazies. Flags and flakes. Elephants and enchiladas. Reagan, Bush and Billy Bob. It's ABC, NBC, CBS, CNN and HOT. It's Rather, Jennings, Brokaw, Brinkley and a media cast of thousands. It's the Ladies Against Women, the Pagan Gays and the Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence. Like the group at the campsite that left its morning wake-up call with the ever-present cops, who dutifully responded at 8:30 a.m. Like the guys who spent $6,000 to stage a gay-oriented rally at the Hilton Hotel and nobody showed up but five speakers from the East and West coasts. Said organizer John Eaton of Los Angeles: "I knew the Dallas gay community was more conservative, but I never expected anything like this." There's more. Baby elephants are renting for up to $1,200 an hour and the demand by well-heeled party hosts exceeds the supply. The musical arm of the Yippies staged a Rock Against Reagan rally at the same time as a demonstration by Concerned Christians for Reagan. That was no worse really than the two Iranian protest groups who got in a shoving match and had to be separated by police. The cops herded reporters in the middle and one unidentified officer said: "As long as we keep the Americans between them, we're all right." There was a semi-sour note among the supremely confident Republicans. Former Ohio Gov. James Rhodes warned his GOP colleagues not to assume President Reagan will be re-elected.

who emerged from his cave beneath the Commerce St. bridge to discover his dwelling surrounded by Tent City. "This is where I live," he grumbled. "I don't get visitors very often" Like the group at the campsite that left its morning wake-up call with the ever-present cops, who dutifully responded at 8:30 a.m. Like the guys who spent $6,000 to stage a gay-oriented rally at the Hilton Hotel and nobody showed up but five speakers from the East and West coasts. Said organizer John Eaton of Los Angeles: "I knew the Dallas gay community was more conservative, but I never expected anything like this." There's more. There was a semi-sour note among the supremely confident Republicans. Former Ohio Gov. James Rhodes warned his GOP colleagues not to assume President Reagan will be re-elected.

Said he: "There is nothing so uncertain as a sure thing in politics." With $1,000 and an invitation, the party faithful could party at billionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt's Circle T Ranch on Tuesday night or attend a luncheon today honoring Reagan and Vice President George Bush. For $1,500, they can attend a "breakfast ball" Thursday night that originally honored James Stewart and Helen Hayes. When it appeared neither would attend, the honorees were switched to Wayne Newton and Charlton Heston. West Virginia delegate Ted Barr of Huntington celebrated his 58th birthday Monday. Asked his choice of a gift, he said: "I want a Dallas Cowboy cheerleader for my present." His wife, Juanita, probably was not amused. As political comedian Mark Russell tumbled off an elephant during an assignment for "Good Morning America," he pronounced the beast the "perfect political symbol, with the speed of Congress and the waistline of the budget."

Heat makes convention police work easier

DALLAS (AP) — Temperatures in Dallas were heading for the triple digits again today, keeping the heat on those attending the Republican National Convention but cooling any massive outdoor demonstrations against President Reagan. "We're smiling through the sweat, we really are. It couldn't have been better," Dallas Police spokesman Bob Shaw said Tuesday. "One of the reasons it's going so smoothly is that it's so hot." Shaw noted that while officers are equipped with umbrellas, ice jugs and get refrigerated frequently, "protesters don't have it nearly so good. "When we knew it (the convention) was going to take place in August, a lot of people said maybe we'll have the hottest weather we've had in years. And sure enough, we are," he said. "It takes some passion out of the protests. We were hoping for that. It makes our job easier." The temperature hit 101 degrees Tuesday, although National Weather Service meteorologist Joe Kopecek said it was "not really that unusual of an event." The mercury peaked at 107 on Sunday and "we're just getting back to near normal," he said. "But I really don't see any great cooling." Today's forecast called for highs of 100. Despite the heat, officials at Dallas' Parkland Memorial Hospital reported no instances of people brought in for weather-related problems. "Surprising isn't it?" spokesman Bob Resnick said. "We have not had anything. I don't believe it." But the American Red Cross was doing a booming business at three watering stations in areas outside the convention center. Spokesman Morris Owens said people drank 270 gallons on Monday, and he expected to top that figure Tuesday. "We had started planning about a year ago this," Owens said. "August is traditionally one of Texas' hottest months, but nobody could anticipate this kind of weather." Red Cross volunteers were shuttling water in multi-gallon containers to the stations, he said. "All our people are trained in CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) but so far there have been no problems. We've been handing out a lot of water." Owens said Red Cross nurses at the stations are trained to recognize symptoms of heat problems, but so far have detected none.

Democrats honor Reagan

DALLAS (AP) — When a young Nancy Davis, now Nancy Reagan, asked her co-star, Ronald Reagan, "What are you going to do after the war, Casey?", the audience howled. And when Reagan, then playing Capt. Casey Abbott in "Hellcats of the Navy," responded, "Go into the surplus business," the small group of Democrats roared its approval. The occasion Tuesday night was what the organizer called "the first and hopefully the last" Ronald Reagan Film Festival, and the reason was the Republican National Convention. Reagan will be renominated for a second term as president Thursday at the convention. The Oaklawn Democrats club, seeking to counteract attention focused on the GOP gathering, served beer and popcorn to a group of 50 rowdy, usually disrespectful people and showed Reagan in "Hellcats" and "Bedtime For Bonzo." "We wanted to have some fun while the Republicans are in town. Most people realize it's all tongue-in-cheek. But I'm sure we're offending someone," said Don Davison, president of the political club and organizer of the film festival. The group hurled popcorn and insults at the screen showing the black and white films, jeering when Reagan said in "Hellcats," "I had to rely on instinct and experience," and cheering when the submarine commander peering through a periscope and firing torpedoes, yelled, "Got 'em!" "This is just good amusement and I'm sure that's what he had in mind when he made these films," said Bud Melton. "It's nice to see the man in action." Davison said the Reagans were invited but did not respond. The group saved two front-row seats for the couple. Reporters from Los Angeles, Denver, Cleveland and Dallas also attended the film festival as a sidelight to convention coverage. "I think the Republican convention has been pretty boring and this lends some excitement," said Davison. Mixed in with the catcalls were jokes about Reagan's winning the presidency but not an Oscar, and howls for Mrs. Reagan. "The rumor," Davison said in introducing the film, "is that 'Hellcats of the Navy' was shown 13 times to the Joint Chiefs of Staff before the Grenada invasion."
