Do You Wanna Dance?

County Hears Bull Barn Task Force Report

BY BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR

If the opinions gathered by the special task force assigned to study the question of dancing at the Bull Barn are a true indication of how the rest of the county feels, then the county-owned facility may soon be re-opened to that popular activity.

The task force, appointed by County Judge Glen Nelson, made a report of their findings gathered in a survey of local citizens to the county commission Monday. Chairman Sam Morgan presented the results to the county fathers. Morgan was joined at the meeting by fellow task force members Cal Goodin, Lester Wagner, and Jim Arney. Other members of the task force include David Alvarado, Arthur Gonzales, Joe Garcia, and Lester Rape.

The task force gathered opinions on the controversial subject from 264 local citizens, and 200, or approximately 77 percent of those interviewed, felt that dancing should be allowed at the Bull Barn. Only 64, or roughly 23 percent felt that the court's decision to ban dancing should stand.

Morgan, himself a former County Judge, cautioned the court that "Almost every opinion expressed was done so with qualifications." That meant that the sources felt this way or that, provided certain criteria were met.

Morgan presented some of the suggestions gathered by the task force. They included having a person responsible for going with the individual or group representative leasing the Bull Barn before and after the specific event, making sure that the building's condition was satisfactory in both instances.

Another suggestion was to have the county to make sure that sufficient liability insurance was provided for the structure, and to ban further use of it by organizations which abuse it.

Morgan said that several methods and amounts of deposits had been suggested, all the way up to a $500 figure. That deposit would be returned to the lessee, provided that all conditions of the lease were met and no damage was done to the building.

Arney commented that one person he visited with suggested that only two doors to the Bull Barn be allowed open, and that a police officer be stationed at both entrances to help curb the use of alcohol at dances, a major problem in the past.

Goodin said that he felt that the county commission "can not be faulted" for imposing the dancing ban at the Bull Barn. "There are many sides of the problem that the general public doesn't know about," he added. "Basically, almost everyone we talked to felt that the county had to be protected, and that since the Bull Barn is publicly owned it should be used for what the majority of the citizens want it to be used for," Morgan concluded.

After placing a decision on the policy for the Bull Barn on the July 12 agenda, the court discussed the distribution of federal surplus cheese in the county. Welfare worker Earlene Cook told the court that she felt there was a definite need for the distribution in the county, but that she also felt that it should be limited to citizens of the county.

Ms. Cook said that a problem in earlier distributions has been policing it, with many people picking up cheese in several counties due to ambiguities in the qualification process.

The court agreed to allow Ms. Cook to handle the distribution of the cheese, but to sufficiently warn those signing applications that they will be prosecuted if they file

Texan of Year Award

Larry Gatlin was presented the Texas Press Association's "Texan of the Year" award by TPA President Speedy Nieman Saturday at the organization's convention in San Antonio. Lavon Nieman, left, joined the audience in a standing ovation for the popular country-western singer and songwriter. The award goes to native Texans who carry the fame of Texas outside the state.

Nieman Ends Term; Gatlin 'Texan of Year'

Larry Gatlin, country-western singer and songwriter, and Mike Lounge, NASA astronaut, were in the spotlight Saturday when Texas Press association ended its annual state convention in San Antonio.

Gatlin was presented the "Texan of the Year" award from TPA, and Lounge was the guest speaker for the closing luncheon meeting.

TPA President Speedy Nieman of Hereford noted that Gatlin is only the 13th Texas native to receive the unique award, which is presented to Texans who earn fame for themselves and their state while pursuing careers outside Texas.

Lounge has been employed at the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center since July, 1978, and is eligible for assignment as a mission specialist on future space shuttle flight crews. He was a member of the launch support team for the first two Columbia missions.

The astronaut showed films of the third mission and talked of the final preparations and countdown for the mission which was launched Sunday morning.

Another special guest at the meeting was George Measer of Buffalo, N.Y., president of the National Newspaper Association. The NNA board held a director's meeting at the convention.

Annual newspaper contest awards were presented; new officers elected, and various programs and panels were conducted for the newspaper members attending the convention.

Nieman ended his term as president and was named chairman of the board for 1982-83. Succeeding Nieman as president was Hal Cunningham of the Llano News. The vice presidents are John Crawford, Denison Herald, and Frank Baker, Fort Stockton Pioneer. Norris Monroe of Lampasas was re-elected as treasurer.

The Brand picked up second-place awards in news writing and advertising among small dailies. The local paper ranked fourth in the sweepstakes point total, which was won by the San Marcos Record.

Reagan to Sign Voting Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has invited some of the nation's best-known civil rights leaders to a ceremony today at which President Reagan is going to sign into law a bill renewing the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The bill, designed to guarantee free access to the polls for millions of minority voters, most directly affects nine states and portions of 13 others which are required to obtain federal approval when changing election laws.

Besides civil rights leaders, key members of Congress have also been asked to the signing ceremony.

Among those expected to attend is Benjamin L. Hooks, executive director of the NAACP, who said as recently as Sunday that he hopes to return Reagan to "the purple hills of California."

A White House spokeswoman said National Urban League President

Nuclear Arms Talks Begin in Geneva

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — U.S. and Soviet officials begin a fresh attempt today to check the nuclear arms race by reducing the number of warheads that can span continents and oceans.

A senior U.S. official said the American goal in the new talks is to diminish both the number and destructive power of nuclear weapons. This goes beyond the objective President Reagan outlined in May — a reduction in the number of nuclear warheads carried by American and Soviet missiles.

The official said Monday that the Soviets have built up a 5-to-2 edge in missile payload.

In what Reagan called an "opportunity for real progress in our quest for peace," veteran American and Soviet negotiators have scheduled a meeting today at the Soviet diplomatic mission here to set ground rules for the long-awaited talks.

Shuttlenauts Face Busy Day

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia's tired astronauts began a third demanding day in space this morning, preparing to give the shuttle's weightless arm its stiffest test yet after exploring Mission Control not to bother troubleshooting "all the little problems."

Ken Mattingly and Henry Hartsfield went to bed tired and Hartsfield suffered slight motion sickness on Monday. Today, Hartsfield's voice was booming at wake-up.

Mission Control beamed up "Hold that Tiger," an Auburn University pep song, and the pilot responded in rhyme: "Good afternoon, we love that tune." He added, "Found out something up here though, you can't stomp your feet to it." Both astronauts are graduates of Auburn University in Alabama.

Before hitting the sack, Mattingly had told ground controller, "Our strategy should be to take the big items," and he suggested, "Leave out the little things."

The goal for Flight 4 is to certify Columbia as a commercial and military cargo carrier starting on its next trip, Nov. 11. But NASA officials said that flight might be delayed while officials try to correct the design of the shuttle's booster rockets. The rockets, which helped hurl the ship into space Sunday, sank in the Atlantic Ocean when their parachute systems failed.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the impact on Flight 5, if any, must await an investigation into the failure, the first of its kind in the shuttle program.

Sarpalius Back From Washington

AUSTIN — State Senator Bill Sarpalius recently returned from Washington after a round of talks with Senator Lloyd Bentsen, several Texas Congressmen and Department of Agriculture division heads.

Sarpalius, Chairman of the Texas Senate Agriculture Subcommittee, said the purpose of his trip was to establish communication and to inform key people of the work that is being done by the Texas Agriculture Subcommittee Interim Study.

"We have done a study on the use of oil treatment on grain to prevent elevator explosions. This was one of the topics for discussion with several members of staff in the Department of Agriculture."

"The subcommittee has also been studying the possibility of establishing more trade of agriculture commodities in foreign countries," Sarpalius said. This was one of several topics Sarpalius discussed with Vern Highley, Administrator of Agriculture Marketing Service, Frank Naylor, Under Secretary of Agriculture and Walter Bunch, Assistant Under Secretary of Agriculture.

Sarpalius also met and discussed these topics with C.W. McMillan, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture in Marketing and Inspection Service and Bob Svec, Deputy Director of Grain Division, Foreign Agriculture Service. "Water for livestock and crops, soil and water conservation today and in the future were also important topics of discussion," Sarpalius said. He visited with Everett "Bud" Rank, Administrator of ASCS, Mr. Peter Meyer, Chief of Soil Conservation, and James Johnson, Assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Sarpalius used this opportunity to talk with Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Panhandle Congressman Jack Hightower, Kent Hance and Charles Stenholm. He also met with Congressman Kika de la Garza, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Youths Discover Treasure in Can

PORT ARANSAS, Texas (AP) — Alona Gilbert feared she would never find the $10,000 in jewelry hidden in a fake beer can and mistakenly left on a Gulf Coast beach.

Two 10-year-old Dallas boys never dreamed about the treasure they would find stuffed in the beer can they so casually tossed into the surf.

J.J. Huff and Matt Franklin found the tiny safe Saturday as they frolicked on the beach.

The tossed it around and threw it into the surf over and over again and watched it float back to shore. They threw it in the air and then saw it hit the beach, break open and reveal the concealed riches — about $10,000 in jewelry and three $20 bills.

Mrs. Gilbert and her husband, Grover, thought the camouflaged safe was a defective beer can when the pop top broke off Friday night. She didn't know her husband had inadvertently included it with the beer he took from the refrigerator — the place she thought a clever repository for her jewelry.

By the time she discovered the mistake at her Austin home Monday, she was convinced it was too late.

However, by then the boys had turned the treasure over to their parents, who, in turn, gave it to police, said detective Sgt. Charles Titus.

Mrs. Gilbert called the Port Aransas police Monday, looking for the place where the city dump discarded beer cans.

She was willing, she told the police dispatcher, to search the whole stretch of beach for the beer-can safe.

"I wanted to go down there and pick through every beer can at the place," she said.

But Titus overheard her conversation with the dispatcher and got on the phone.

He didn't tell her, he said, that police already had the can because he wanted to make sure she could identify the jewelry. She mentioned every piece but didn't mention the cash.

"You forgot about the three $20 bills," he told her. "She didn't catch on at first."

He then told her the jewelry was safe, thanks to J.J. and Matt, who were staying at the same condominium.

"I'm certainly going to reward them," said Mrs. Gilbert, but so far she has had less luck finding the boys than they did finding her jewels.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says the trouble with experience is that it usually teaches you something you really didn't want to know.

If you don't have anyone to lobby for you in Washington, chances are you're a decent, hard-working, tax-paying, law-abiding American citizen.

This writer had the privilege this past year to serve as president of the Texas Press Association, and he ended that term Saturday at the annual TPA convention in San Antonio.

It was a real pleasure to present Larry Gatlin with the "Texan of the Year" award at the convention Saturday. Gatlin comes across as a good old West Texas boy who has not forgot his beginnings. In his response, he pointed out that things he has bought as a result of his fame are "just trinkets."

"Every now and then, when I get to thinking 'ain't I something,' I have to pull over to the side of the road and thank God for my ability and my friends," said Gatlin.

Gatlin asked about Steve Hodges of Hereford. "We became friends at the University of Houston. Is he still as crazy as he was in college?" asked Gatlin.

Another big hit with the convention audience was Mike Lounge, one of our U.S. astronauts, who was the headline speaker at the closing luncheon. With a large number of space shuttle programs scheduled, Lounge urged newspapers to "not let the public get bored."

It was hot and humid in San Antonio. It's a nice place to visit, but we wouldn't want to live there!

It was an enjoyable years for the Nieman. We made a number of meetings around the state, and in Boston and Washington, D.C., where we learned more about the newspaper industry and its people.

For us, people is what it's all about. We renewed friendships; we met a lot of new friends, and we found that friends in Hereford were very supportive of our efforts. Helping make it possible was our staff at The Brand... we appreciate them for allowing us to take time off for the TPA duties!

GM Admits Faulty Catalytic Converters, No Recall Planned

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. says it has no plans to tell up to 735,000 car owners that 1981 GM models they bought may have a faulty pollution control system that can cause loss of power and problems with starting.

GM publicly acknowledged the catalytic converter problem late Monday and said it had notified car dealers, but added it would wait for vehicle owners who have problems to bring their cars in for repairs.

GM says the repairs are made under warranty and notification is not necessary, a federal Environmental Protection Agency official said.

But Bill Sessa, press secretary for the seven-member California Air Resources Board in Sacramento, said "our concern is that people need to know in advance they have warranty protection for this kind of thing."

The nation's No. 1 automaker said it would replace the faulty devices at no charge. GM denied the problem could cause "sudden loss of power," as reported in Automotive News, an industry journal.

GM has told the EPA it replaced 600 converters in June last year, 7,500 last December, and expected to replace 11,000 in January, the last month for which figures were available. The cost was $200 each.

"We have no indication that all (785,000) cars will suffer from this problem," GM spokesman Harold Jackson said Monday night.

Earlier Monday, Charles Freed, director of the EPA's mobile source enforcement in Washington, said GM had alerted the agency to the problem and would not notify car owners.

The automaker said the affected vehicles included certain 1981 passenger vehicles with 3.8-liter V6, and 4.4-liter, 5-liter and 5.7-liter V8 engines made by GM's Chevrolet Division.

GM has known of the problem since at least December, when it filed a request with the EPA for a waiver on emissions of carbon monoxide on the cars, Freed said.

Nigerian Indicted For Gun Smuggling

HOUSTON (AP) — A Nigerian who allegedly tried to ship firearms to his homeland has been indicted and jailed in lieu of $200,000 bond, the U.S. attorney's office says.

Kristian Chima, who lives here, was arrested May 28 after U.S. Customs agents at Houston Intercontinental Airport found 35 handguns, more than a thousand rounds of ammunition and 18 cases of film in a container addressed to Chima in Lagos, Nigeria, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl Shamwell.

More indictments could be returned in Wichita, Kan., where the 22-caliber pistols apparently were purchased, Shamwell said.

The indictment, which was returned Monday, charges Chima failed to disclose that he was shipping firearms and gave a false statement to Customs officials on a shippers declaration.

"He claimed on these forms that (the box's contents) were just household goods," Shamwell said.

David Benton, agent with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in Wichita, said Chima is being investigated in a scheme involving more than 100 small-caliber handguns purchased in the Kansas town within the last year.

Shamwell said the scheme apparently was strictly for profit.

"Lagos, Nigeria, has a very serious crime problem," he said, adding that gun ownership is strictly regulated. "These could go for as much as $500 — as much as $800 with ammo."

He said the pistols, made by the Raven Manufacturing Co., sell for about $70 in this country.

Scale Loaned To Zoo To Weigh Elephant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Zoo officials, who have been expecting a baby from their Asian elephant, Bomba, for the last year, hope a set of scales will warn them when the blessed event is coming.

"I'll weigh her every three days. Then I'll know if something is in there. I have to do something," said Zoo Director Jack Hanna.

A birth by the 5,500-pound Bomba has been predicted periodically for more than a year. But such predictions have proven risky.

A Columbus company will loan the zoo a sensitive digital scale that records weights of up to 10,000 pounds. Hanna plans to put Bomba on the 5-by-7-foot scale every three days. He believes rapid weight gain would prove that delivery is approaching.

Zoo officials say part of the problem in predicting the delivery date is the length of the elephant's gestation period, which Hanna said animal experts estimate at 22 months to 26 months.

"We thought she was ready a year ago," he said.

Three months ago, an obstetrician was called in to administer an ultrasound test. He estimated the delivery date at one to two months.

Flying Eye Hospital Back Home in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Lynn Stark spent three months working as a nurse aboard Project Orbis, a flying eye hospital to teach Third World doctors new operating techniques.

Project Orbis, a DC-8 carrying the "finest equipment available," recently returned to its home here after its maiden tour — a seven-city, five-nation mission to Latin America and the Caribbean.

The idea behind the project is simple, Ms. Stark explained Monday. It is a classroom that goes to the students, who are practicing ophthalmologists.

But she said Orbis had an impact beyond its instructional value, noting that legislation was passed in Lima, Peru, after the plane's visit to allow people to donate corneas for transplant operations.

She said instructors, who volunteer their time to the project, are careful to teach students surgical methods that can be performed with the technology available in the country.

The crew leaves on its second mission July 14 for Europe, China, the Philippines and the Middle East.

Paul Harvey News

We Know Better Than We Do

Pollster George Gallup was telling the American Bible Society that there is a great and increasing spiritual hunger in our nation — but that only 12 percent of us allow our faith to influence the way we behave.

In other words, we know so much better than we do.

Coincidentally, his speech was the same day evangelist Oral Roberts' son, Ronald, with a record of drug misuse, shot himself to death.

Roberts' other son, Richard, also had some problems when he was younger.

Billy Graham's children all turned out fine but their youthful years were not without turbulence.

The preacher's kid seems frequently to epitomize the ailment common to the 88 percent of Americans who know so much better than they do.

Chicago's Reverend Donald Gerig is a son of a preacher, himself a pastor, also a father.

I asked him if there are problems peculiar to growing up in the home of a clergyman.

He sees three:

Work gets in the way of the father-child closeness, and the more prominent the preacher, the greater the preoccupations.

Conversely, if the child matures feeling that the ministry helped pull the family together, his reaction will be quite different. In Gerig's family, all four children are now in the ministry.

"But," he explains, "our parents made much extra effort to accomplish that filiality."

Second, says Gerig, there is such a thing as an "overdose of legislated righteousness."

This is where family "image" becomes the criterion for behavior, rather than rightness and wrongness.

A preacher's kid required to measure up just because he is the preacher's kid at some point will likely challenge that edict.

Third: The preacher's child is likely to see inconsistencies in his parents or in parishioners. While the minister's public image is flawless, his child knows better.

Thus, ironically, the preacher's kid who sense hypocrisy may react negatively, while the child of a chronic wife-beating drunk may react affirmatively.

But Dr. John Haggai, the world evangelist, himself son of a minister, suggests we not allow isolated aberrant behavior to cloud our perspective. In Who's Who in America — there are more sons and daughters of missionaries and pastors — more by twice — than any other professional category.

DPS Estimates Holiday Traffic Deaths

AUSTIN — The Department of Public Safety today estimated that as many as 47 persons could die in traffic accidents during this July 4th weekend unless drivers are exceptionally careful.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, said the risk of traffic accidents will increase during the 78-hour holiday period as more drivers take to the streets and highways for the holiday.

"As in many weekend traffic accidents, alcohol, excessive speed, and failure to use seat belts are the major contributing factors in the traffic deaths," he said.

DPS statistics show that 63 persons were killed during the last 4th of July holiday and 25 of those fatalities resulted from accidents in which driving while intoxicated was a factor.

"We know that drinking may have been involved in more of the traffic deaths, but since state law does not require blood alcohol samples from traffic victims, we are uncertain how many more of the deaths may have involved drivers impaired by alcohol," Adams noted. "Additionally, 59 persons were seriously injured during the last holiday in traffic accidents."

The DPS director said additional troopers would be assigned to areas where heavy volumes of traffic are expected.

"Our troopers are working during this holiday period to assist travelers and to watch closely for drivers who may have had too much to drink or who insist upon exceeding the speed limits," he said.

Busy

Mattingly and Henry Hartsfield told a flight surgeon during a private radio conversation Monday night they both were tired and Hartsfield reported he had a slight headache and occasional queasiness.

Dr. E.L. Schulman attributed the troubles to a longer-and-busier-than-planned first day in space and directed Hartsfield to take two aspirin and a motion sickness pill and for both to get a full eight hours' sleep. They each logged only five hours Sunday night.

Later, talking with the control center, Mattingly said: "It's going to be a busy day tomorrow. Right now we're in condition to handle it. I have no qualms about doing the big things but I think we ought not to do all the little things — troubleshoot all the little problems."

In Houston later, Flight Director Chuck Lewis

The DPS says many municipal police and county sheriffs' officers will also work local traffic safety programs during the holiday period.

The DPS Operation Motorcade counting period begins at 6 p.m. Friday, July 2 and continues through midnight Monday, July 5. The Department will tabulate city and highway traffic fatalities and release totals three times daily at 10 a.m., 3 p.m. and 8 p.m.

described Day 3 of Columbia's week-long final run as "a very tight timeline, which requires a lot of detail and attention to it."

The spacemen blocked out most of the day to flex the metallic muscles of the mechanical arm being developed to park satellites in orbit and to pick up others for servicing and repair. Hartsfield does most of the work.

Almost forgotten for the day will be the scientific experiments and the top secret payload of military sensors in the cargo bay.

The arm, too frail to support its own weight in Earth's gravity, was tested very successfully on Columbia's last two trips but not as extensively as today's flight plan called for.

Standing at a remote station in the cabin, Hartsfield was to guide the arm to grapple and lift an 800-pound package the size of a desk, moving it about the cargo bay to make contamination measurements important to future satellite designs.

Later, Hartsfield was to wave the package about as Mattingly triggers steering jets to evaluate how arm-carried satellites are affected by the firings.

While the astronauts worked hard in orbit, NASA officials on the ground were trying to determine precisely what went wrong with the parachutes that caused the rocket boosters to hit the water so hard they sank. The boosters used on the first three missions worked perfectly, bobbing in the water until recovery ships could pick them up.

The 91-ton canisters are on the ocean floor 3,500 feet under water, and will have to be written off as a $36 million loss. What worries NASA is the prospect that the same fate could befall other boosters in future.

Talks

The two sides are to begin detailed presentations of their bargaining positions on Wednesday at the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency offices overlooking tranquil Lake Geneva.

John Jacob, the Rev. Jesse Jackson and several other prominent civil rights activists — many of whom have been critical of Reagan's policies — also had indicated they would accept their invitations.

Reagan's record on the voting rights extension was unclear for much of the year-long battle that culminated in passage of a compromise extending key provisions of the law, viewed at the most successful civil rights measure of the 1960s.

Early on, the president said he would sign whatever bill the Congress sent to him. But as conservatives inside and outside the administration expressed their opposition, Reagan threw his support to an alternative proposal without the enforcement clause that gave the old law its teeth.

Later, after the House had passed one version and it became clear a big majority in the Senate favored for a similar bill, Reagan endorsed the Senate compromise. Final passage, which came on an 85-8 vote in the Republican-controlled Senate, was delayed by a week-long filibuster staged by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

Reagan has termed the negotiations START, for Strategic Arms Reduction Talks, and has made a two-phased offer.

First, under the American plan, the two nations would trim intercontinental ballistic warheads from about 7,500 to 5,000. The next phase would reduce each side's total missile destructive power to equal levels.

Soviet intercontinental missiles can launch a combined weight of 5 million kilograms, compared with less than 2 million for America's smaller rockets, according to the official, who asked not to be identified.

Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev has urged a freeze in nuclear weapons "as soon as the talks begin."

But Reagan has rejected the proposal, saying it would put the West at the mercy of Soviet superiority. Until a treaty is agreed to, the Reagan administration is determined to go ahead with its $1.5 trillion, five-year defense program.

The second strategic arms limitation treaty that emerged from those talks was withdrawn from U.S. Senate consideration by then-

President Jimmy Carter following the Soviets' incursion into Afghanistan.

Reagan scrapped the SALT II treaty, saying it was "fatally flawed" in the Soviets' favor.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said in a commentary Monday that the Kremlin "sincerely wishes attainment of an accord with the United States."

Services for pioneer resident, C'ora "Robbie" Cockrell, 88, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in First Christian Church with the Rev. Mack McCarter, pastor, officiating. Burial will be at West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cockrell died Sunday in Woodward, Okla., where she had been visiting her daughter. She was born seventh of eight children in Cleburne, Texas, on March 10, 1894. She attended college in Canyon, and taught school in Johnson County and near Dimmitt before coming to Hereford in 1916.

She taught fifth and sixth graders for three years at Central School. She married Carl Cockrell, of Hereford, on July 10, 1919, and he preceded her in death on July 9, 1942. The Cockrell home was at Lee and Fourth Streets, however, Mrs. Cockrell later made her home on Star Street before moving to King's Manor in 1981.

She was active in civic groups and clubs such as the Business and Professional Women's Organization and Pioneer Study Club, and a volunteer until very recently with the American Red Cross.

At the time of her death, she had been a member of the First Christian Church here for 66 years, where she had served as Sunday school teacher, youth sponsor, a member of the Church Board, and had held various positions in the Christian Women's Fellowship.

In addition to being a homemaker and busy volunteer, she worked in the Hereford Community as Head of the Welfare Department during the depression years and as bookkeeper at Consumer's Co-op for 17 years. Following her retirement from Consumer's, she worked as bookkeeper on a part-time basis for 14 years at Troy Moore's Shamrock Oil Company.

Mrs. Cockrell was named Hereford Pioneer of the Year in 1980, an honor which she enjoyed enormously as through the years she had only missed one Pioneer Celebration, when she and her family were living in Spearman operating the Cockrell Dry Good Store.

Because of her interest in the pioneers of Hereford and the growth of the community, she was a strong supporter of the Deaf Smith County Pioneer Museum.

Mrs. Cockrell was preceded in death by a grandson, and her brothers and sisters, including Mrs. Maud France of Hereford. A nephew, Jack France of Hereford, died recently.

Her surviving family includes her two daughters, Mrs. Carl (Betty) Oldham of Woodward, Okla., and Mrs. Gene (Ann) Osburn of Colorado Springs, Colo.; five grandsons; one granddaughter; eight great-grandchildren; and numerous nephews and nieces, including Jeannie Caison of Hereford.

The family has suggested that those desiring to make donations in the memory may contribute to the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church or the Pioneer Museum of Deaf Smith County.

Ann Landers Distressed Over Gossip

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 50, having a difficult time with family problems. The menopause has hit me very hard, and I never know how I am going to feel from one day to the next. I went to my doctor and told him how miserable I felt. He is more than a physician, he's a compassionate person - someone I can talk to. He gave me some medication that seems to be helping, and the chat we had did me a lot of good. I really unburdened myself.

reported to the doctor at once.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a cleaning woman who works in a very high-class office building downtown. The offices are plush and the people who work here consider themselves fancy. Well, let me tell you they are a bunch of slob.

They dump ashtrays in the wastebaskets, and when I empty them I get ashes in my eyes. The half-filled coffee cups in the wastebaskets leak through - which means I have to clean up all that slime.

And may I say one more word? If you place something in the trash baskets, it will be thrown out. I am no mindreader and can't tell if you put your shoes, trousers, bra and torn hose in there for safekeeping or what. So please don't accuse me of stealing when your personal belongings are not there in the morning. Thank you. - Windy City Gripe

DEAR W.C. GRIPE: Thousands of people who clean offices at night are going to bless you when they read your letter. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is extremely overweight. I have urged therapy, pleaded with her, yelled at her, tried bribery - nothing worked.

On the hunch that she might be eating to spite me (and other members of the family), I decided to stay off the subject completely and not say one word to her about her weight. She keeps on eating.

I am concerned about her health. She has high blood pressure, does absolutely no exercise and weighs at 100 pounds more than she should. If she becomes violently ill, I will feel guilty for having nagged her for so long - and for NOT nagging her these past several months.

Any ideas? Her doctor is no help. He just shrugs his shoulders and says, "It's up to her." - J.D.W. in Bethesda

DEAR J.D.W.: Get it through your head that you are not responsible for what your wife eats.

She obviously has a psychological problem and needs to find out why she is a compulsive eater. That's the first step.

If she refuses to seek help for herself, she will suffer the consequences. My advice is to say nothing, ever again, about her weight. Nagging didn't help (it rarely does), and life is more pleasant when you don't.

Parents, know more about accident-prevention to protect your children from mishaps, advises Diane Welch, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

At breakfast the other morning all I said was, "How come you don't know our college school song?"

My husband put down the paper and said, "What school song?"

"The one you never sing when we go back for reunions. I think it's disgusting that a man with three college degrees sits there and moves his lips like a chimpanzee."

"I get so few request for it anymore," he said, going back to his paper.

"What's so hard about: 'Through mountains and through hillsides, 'In busy marts and hamlets, 'Where songs their stories tell?'"

He said, "The words aren't relevant. Who ever heard of meadows, dells, marts and hamlets?"

"Those are romantic words," I snapped. "Be honest, what do you think of when you think of meadows, dells, marts and hamlets?"

He thought a minute. "Jayne, Icatessen, Fed and Hamburger."

"You're pretty cute, aren't you?" I said. "Someone went to a lot of trouble to give you a class song that painted a musical picture of tranquility and you can't even relate to it. I suppose you'd like a few 'whoa, whoas, and 'baby, baby, babys.'"

"Look, I don't like to sing. I don't even sing 'The Star-Spangled Banner' when it's played."

"And why not, Mr. American."

"Every time I get to the rockets' red glare, I get a pain shooting down the inside of my left leg."

"And to think men have died for that flag and you complain about a little pain on the inside of your left leg. But then, what do you expect from a man who refuses to sing in church?"

"Beverly Sills couldn't sing those songs."

"Beverly Sills would certainly try!"

He put down the paper again. "Let my guess. You're in a rotten mood. You're picking arguments out of thin air. You have a dental appointment, right?"

"You got it."

"What about the dog?" he said tiredly.

"I kicked him already."

What is Charm?

BY: PENNY REINART Assistant County Extension Agent

Here is a poem we found that we thought you might enjoy.

Charm is the measure of the attraction's power To chain the fleeting fancy of an hour

And rival all the spell of Beauty's dower.

A subtle grace of heart and mind that flows

With tactful sympathy; the sweetest rose,

If not the fairest, that the garden knows.

A quick responsiveness in word and deed,

A dignity and stateliness at need,

The will to follow or the art to lead.

She to whom this most gracious gift is known

Has life's great potent factor for her own,

And rules alike the cottage and the throne.

B.J.'s 50 Today Happy Birthday

Examine Microwave Ovens Before Shelling Out Bucks

COLLEGE STATION - Examine the many aspects of today's new microwave-convection oven combinations on the market before making a buying decision, says Beverly Rhoades, a consumer information specialist.

Microwave-convection ovens are getting a lot of attention right now, as ideally, they combine the speed and efficiency of microwave cooking with the browning and crisping qualities of the convection oven, she says.

Rhoades is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

How Oven Works - Microwave-convection ovens allow you to cook with microwaves OR convection (Circulating hot air) OR a combination of both methods, Rhoades says.

These ovens have both power levels and temperature settings.

Some will heat up to 450 degrees F., while others will heat no higher than 300 degrees F.

Check For Roominess-Combination ovens look very much like microwave ovens, except they're larger and they must be vented for release of hot air. This requires substantial counter space, Rhoades points out.

Check the inside cavity in each case to see that it's large enough to cook your largest items, such as large roasts, turkeys and other bulky items.

Compare Costs- Most combination ovens cost more than microwaves and may cost as much as BOTH a microwave and a convection oven, so be sure to compare costs among different models and then weigh the choices carefully, the specialist advises.

Consider your needs versus the cost, too.

How 'Combo's' Cook- Today's new combination ovens cook by alternating back and forth between microwave cooking and convection cooking during the cooking process, or they cook first with one mode and then with the other.

Each oven's operating instructions and recipe booklet will explain how the appliance works and which cooking method or combination is recommended.

Features to Compare- Some brands of combination ovens have temperature problems which allow you to check the internal temperature of foods, and they may even cut the oven off when the desired temperature is reached.

Compare end Product of Each- When possible, attend a cooking demonstration of the brands you're considering. As with microwave ovens, some brands cook better than others, Rhoades says.

Check to see that foods cook uniformly. A turntable that rotates food helps distribute microwaves more evenly.

Also, check to see if foods on all shelves cook evenly - as well as bulky foods. Food near the hot-air source may brown faster than the other foods.

Speed depends on the quantity and density (bulk) of the foods.

American Playhouse Focuses on Manhunt

NEW YORK (AP) — The final "American Playhouse" of the season offers something fairly foreign for today's television, but still vintage American. It's a western. Well, more accurately a southwestern, since it's about a 1901 manhunt along the Texas-Mexico border. And it's just as unusual by today's TV policy of underexposing minorities, since "The Ballad of Gregorio Cortez" on public television tonight focuses on a Mexican who doesn't utter a single word of English. The two-hour teleplay comes from a popular Mexican-American ballad called "El Corrido de Gregorio Cortez," which embellished a well-reported, statewide fugitive chase in an adolescent Texas wrestling with racial tensions and frontier justice. Cortez is being hunted because he killed two Texas sheriffs. For 11 days and over nearly 500 miles, the wily far-

Facts Given About Skin

Surprising to many Americans is the fact that skin is the largest organ in their body. If it were spread out flat, the skin of an adult would cover about eighteen feet. It's weighty, too; about six pounds. But is it intricate? Consider this: A piece of skin the size of a quarter contains a yard of blood vessels, four yards of nerves, 25 nerve ends, 100 sweat glands, and more than three million cells. Encouraging to many Americans with a skin ailment called psoriasis is that they may soon be helped by a new home/office phototherapy unit. It is designed to meet the needs of an improved regimen of treatment developed at Harvard Medical School. The low-cost unit, a foldable phototherapy booth designed for full-body self-treatment in the home or dermatologist's office, has achieved 90 to 95 percent remission of severe psoriasis. Called Foldalite-B, the unit was introduced by its developer, National Biological Corporation (NBC) of Cleveland, Ohio, a manufacturer of phototherapy systems, supplies and pharmaceuticals. It is designed to be folded down to 19 inches wide, can be stored in half the space required for other full-sized units, yet it can be opened and ready for treatment in seconds. According to an NBC spokesman, its foldable feature and its under-$3,000 cost make the unit useful for self-use in the home (at the doctor's recommendation) by patients who live far away from the doctor or need frequent treatment.

Boyd Holds Office

Bethany Jane Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Boyd, was elected Freedom County Justice of the Peace, Place 2, at Bluebonnet Girls State held recently at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin. Miss Boyd, who will be a senior at Hereford High School in the fall, represented American Legion Auxiliary Unit 192 at the event. Girls State was organized as a national Americanism activity in 1937 by the American Legion Auxiliary. Non-partisan and non-political, the purpose of the Girls State program is to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age; to afford them an opportunity to live together as a self-governing group; and to inform them of the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities which they will assume when they become adults. They learn the problems of government by assuming the duties of city, county, and state officials as stipulated by the Texas Legislature. Each year citizens are selected at local levels from students who have just completed their junior year in high school. The selection is based principally on leadership, character, and scholarship. The 1982 session of the American Legion Auxiliary Texas Bluebonnet Girls State has grown from an experimental conference of 94 girls, held at Baylor University in 1941, to become the largest single extracurricular educational program for high school girls in Texas.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues. A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación. Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intrastatales de la compañía. Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de esta unión se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas también afectaría a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

Phillies Take Over First

By DENNIS D'AGOSTINO Associated Press Writer

For Philadelphia first baseman Pete Rose, long hitting streaks were nothing new. But being in first place was something his Phillie teammates had not experienced in 1982.

Rose knew which was more important.

"I'll get another one," Rose said. "The important thing is we get first place."

After once trailing the leaders by as many as nine games, the Phillies moved to the head of the National League East for the first time Monday as Steve Carlton bled the St. Louis Cardinals on six hits, 1-0. The Phillies, owners of an eight-game winning streak, took a lead of .005 over St. Louis and a half game over idle Montreal.

In other NL games Monday, Los Angeles defeated San Diego 6-4, Houston topped Atlanta 6-2, San Francisco bombed Cincinnati 7-1, and Chicago beat Pittsburgh 6-4.

The night belonged to the Phillies and Carlton, who became the NL's first 10-game winner, although he would be joined later in the evening by Los Angeles' Fernando Valenzuela. Carlton, 10-7, picked up the 48th shutout of his career.

The Phillies picked up the game's only run in the fifth off loser Steve Mura, 5-7, when Bob Dernier singled, stole second, and scored on Gary Matthews' single.

Dodgers 6, Padres 4

Steve Yeager knocked in three runs with a two-run homer and a single and Pedro Guerrero added a two-run homer to lead Valenzuela to his 10th victory of the season.

Valenzuela, 10-6, had relief help from Steve Howe, who took over in the eighth inning and earned his eighth save.

Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey, who has played in 1,020 consecutive games, had to leave because of a pulled right hamstring and his status was termed "on a day-to-day basis" by the Dodgers.

Hey, I Won!

A hybrid look of disbelief and relief came on Shelly Sampson's face as she crossed the line winning the midget girls' division 100 meter dash. The Perryton athlete was first with a run of 14.28. (Brand Photo by Jeri Curtis)

Poland Surprise Contender

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Poland has emerged as a surprise contender for soccer's 1982 World Cup.

The Poles, who opened their finals campaign with a brace of goalless draws against Italy and Cameroon, clinched a second-round berth with a 5-1 triumph over Peru last week.

They proved that was no fluke with a stunning 3-0 triumph over Belgium Monday and moved to within one victory of a semifinal spot.

France also boosted its chances of reaching the Final Four by defeating Austria 1-0 in a second-round game in Madrid.

The top teams in each of four three-team groups advance to the semis. Two second-round games were played today — England took a nine-game winning streak into its match with West Germany in Madrid and defending cham-

Champion Argentina played Italy in Barcelona. In Poland's victory, Zbigniew Boniek, the attacking midfielder, scored all three goals as Poland ripped to shreds a Belgian defense that had allowed only one goal in three opening round matches.

He was assisted on two of the three goals by Grzegorz Lato, the 32-year-old veteran, who Monday became only the 10th player in history to start in 100 internationals matches. Poland now needs only to defeat the Soviet Union on July 4, also in Barcelona, to advance to the semis for the first time since 1974.

In NBA Draft Today

Lakers to Tab Worthy

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers will choose James Worthy of North Carolina with the first pick in the National Basketball Association draft, NBA chief scout Marty Blake predicts.

"I think it's a matter of personal preference," Blake said on the eve of today's draft, which started at noon EDT at Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum. "I really don't know, for example, if the roles were reversed and Utah had the first pick, if they would take Worthy, but I think for the particular needs of the Los Angeles Lakers, that Worthy fills the bill."

The Lakers didn't announce, as they did two years ago when they made Earvin "Magic" Johnson the first pick, whether they would select Worthy, DePaul's All-American Terry Cummings or Dominique Wilkins of Georgia. But it was a foregone conclusion that Los Angeles, San Diego and Utah would make those three juniors the first to be drafted.

All three teams say they would be happy with any of the three, but most observers have predicted a Worthy-Cummings-Wilkins selection order for the Lakers, Clippers and Jazz.

Blake, who does initial scouting reports for all 23 NBA teams, called Worthy, Cummings and Wilkins "three great superstars. I don't think you could go wrong taking any of them."

He said his prediction that the Lakers would take Worthy "doesn't mean that Terry Cummings or Dominique Wilkins may not in the future be classified as better all-around players than Worthy."

Although Blake called the senior class "a good crop, with as many as 20 big guards that could go in the first two rounds," the 1982 draft could be remembered as the "Year of the Underclassman."

Dallas, which picks fourth, traded its starting center of last year, Wayne Cooper, and a future draft choice to Portland Monday for guard Kelvin Ransey. This apparently opened the way for the Mavericks to take still another junior, Texas center LaSalle Thompson.

Dallas reportedly also was considering Bill Garnett, a 6-9 senior from Wyoming; and Trent Tucker, a 6-5 senior guard from Minnesota.

Other underclassmen expected to be drafted by one of the first 12 teams are 6-7 forward Clark Kellogg of Ohio State, 6-8 forward Cliff Livingston of Wichita State and 6-3 All-American guard Quintin Dailey of San Francisco.

Two other juniors who probably will go in the first two rounds are guards Rob Williams of Houston and John Bagley of Boston College.

Other top seniors are centers Wallace Bryant of San Francisco and Mark McNamara of California, forwards Scott Hastings of Arkansas, All-American Kevin Magee of California-Irvine, Mitchell Anderson and David Thirskill of Bradley, Eddie Phillips of Alabama, Ricky Frazier of Missouri and Terry Teagle of Baylor and guards Paul Pressey of Tulsa, Lester Conner of Oregon State, Lafayette Lever of Arizona State, All-American Eric Floyd of Georgetown and Ricky Pierce of Rice.

Los Angeles got the No.1 choice by trading for Cleveland's pick and then winning a coin flip with San Diego. The Clippers and Cavaliers had the worst records in the two NBA conferences.

Amritraj Fits Mold Of Gentlemen's Singles

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The gentleman at the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club still refer to the bracket as "The Gentleman's Singles." They must have Vijay Amritraj in mind.

Ranked 35th in the world on the Association of Tennis Professionals computer, Amritraj chose not to meet the full Volvo Grand Prix commitment this year and so came to Wimbledon through the qualifying tournament at Roehampton, a cut-throat route that five-time champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden declined to drive.

Then Amritraj sat patiently through four days of rain to gain a five-set decision against American Jeff Borowiak in what one commentator characterized as the "most sophisticated" match of the day.

Finally comfortable on the grass surface, Amritraj steps to the baseline and the ball explodes off the end of his fluid serving motion. Polite applause follows — the crowds here remember him for all the right reasons: his conduct, his past heroics — and all is suddenly right with the gentlemen of the All-England Club and the tennis world in general.

"Everything revolved around my service," Amritraj said Monday after running down Pascal Portes 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, marking the first time he's bested the Frenchman in four outings. "There was too much pressure on his own service because if he didn't get the first one in, he knew I was likely to win."

Today, Amritraj took on 14th-seeded Roscoe Tanner. In other matches, third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis opposed unseeded Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia, sixth-seeded Gene Mayer played Larry Stefanki and No.7 Mats Wilander of Sweden met Staislov Birner of Czechoslovakia.

On the women's side, top-seeded Martina Navratilova squared off against 18-year-old Zina Garrison; No.2 Chris Evert Lloyd, the defending champion, met 15th-seeded Virginia Ruzici of Romania and 12th-seeded Billie Jean King battled No.6 Wendy Turnbull of Australia.

Top-seeded John McEnroe, the defending champion, and No.2 Jimmy Connors, seeded to meet in the finals of the men's singles, both advanced the fourth round of the rain-plagued event Monday with victories.

Australian Paul McNamee also reached the fourth round with a 7-6, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1 victory over South African Kevin Curran.

McEnroe comfortably sent compatriot Lloyd Bourne packing 6-2, 6-2, 6-0, but Connors ran into trouble against another qualifier, Drew Gitlin of Encino, Calif., who took a set from the left-hander before grudgingly surrendering 6-2, 6-7, 7-5, 7-5.

Asked if he'd ever seen Gitlin, ranked 185th in the world, play before, Connors replied: "No, and it was not the time for introductions."

"But if you're a little off, like I was after not having played for a couple of days, it's a great equalizer to have someone who hangs in there."

Asked if he was worried at any juncture of the three-hour match, the former Wimbledon champion added: "I don't get worried. That's probably the best thing about my game. I don't play with fear."

Advancing into the third round Monday alongside Amritraj, a stalwart of the Indian Davis Cup squad, were sixth-seeded Gene Mayer, who outlasted Australian Brad Drewett 6-7, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1 in a match begun Saturday; No.11 Brian Teacher, who beat Australian Rod Frawley 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, and No.14 Roscoe Tanner, who throttled fellow American Fritz Buehning, 6-3, 6-3, 6-7, 6-4 with a serve that knocked down the net at one point.

Also gaining the third round were American Nick Saviano, who came from two sets down and fought off two match points before ambushing No.9 Brian Gottfried 6-7, 6-7, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1; and New Zealander Russell Simpson, who staged a blazing service duel against American Chip Hooper and emerged a 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, 6-7, 11-9 winner in the longest match of this year's tournament.

The 11-9 final set came because Wimbledon, like the French Open, does not use the tiebreaker to decide the final set of a match. For that same reason, No.16 Steve Denton of the United States was locked in a 10-10 fifth-set battle with Schalk van der Merwe when play was suspended Monday night.

On the women's side, defending champion Lloyd Hammered fellow American Kate Latham 6-1, 6-1.

Third-seeded Tracy Austin overcame a lapse of concentration caused by the rain delay to beat Kathy Jordan 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Andrea Jaeger, seeded fourth, overcame a limping Ros Fairbank of South Africa 6-3, 7-5; ninth-seeded Sylvia Hanika of West Germany stopped Andrea Temesvari of Hungary 6-2, 6-2; No.10 Barbara Potter ousted fellow American Jane Preyer 6-4, 6-4, and No.11 Anne Smith of Dallas eliminated Corinne Vanier of France 6-3, 6-2.

In other matches, JoAnne Russell downed fellow American Pam Casale 1-6, 7-6, 6-4 and Claudia Kohde of West Germany advanced with a 4-6, 6-0, 9-7 victory over South African Yvonne Vermaak.

Remy Lifts Bosox to Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

One of baseball's adages says a walk is as good as a hit, but Boston's Jerry Remy proved otherwise.

With a 3-2 count, the score tied and the bases loaded with two out in the seventh inning Monday night, Remy fouled off two pitches.

"I wasn't going to take a third strike," he said. "I possibly should have walked when I fouled off those pitches, but I wasn't going to take any chances. I was going to swing at anything near the strike zone. In that situation, you just want something good to happen, to hit the ball hard and hope it falls in."

Remy hit the next pitch from Milwaukee ace Pete Vuckovich hard. It fell in left-center field for a three-run double and the Red Sox went on to snap a three-game losing streak by defeating the Brewers 9-7.

In the only other American League games, Oakland downed Kansas City 8-4 and Chicago edged Minnesota 8-7.

Remy's bases-clearing double and a two-run triple by Jim Rice two batters later helped the Red Sox salvage the finale of a four-game series with Milwaukee and regain a three-game lead over the Brewers in the AL East.

Remy said the victory was important as the Red Sox set out on an 11-game road trip. Catcher Rich Gedman agreed.

"This was one of those knock-down, drag-out affairs," said Gedman, who drove in one run and scored two. "The Brewers are playing well, but we stayed with them. We finally got some balls to drop in for us. It's a good way to start an important road trip."

Remy also drove in a run with a double in the fourth inning and set up the tying tally with a single in the sixth after Roy Howell's two-run homer had given the Brewers a 4-3 lead in the top of the sixth. Gorman Thomas also homered for the Brewers, his 18th.

A's 8, Royals 4

Rickey Henderson drove in four runs and Dwayne Murphy clubbed a three-run homer as Oakland handed Kansas City its third consecutive setback. Henderson, who has stolen 71 bases, tagged loser Larry Gura for a bases-loaded single that gave the A's a 2-0 lead in the second inning and doubled home two more runs in the sixth off Grant Jackson.

"Nothing Rickey does surprises me," said winning pitcher Rick Langford, who allowed 10 hits in 72-3 innings and was chased in Kansas City's three-run eighth. "He's one of the really great players. He can beat you in so many different ways."

White Sox 8, Twins 7

Rudy Law hit a three-run double and Steve Kemp rapped a two-run homer as the Chicago White Sox pounded Al Williams and Paul Boris for seven runs in the fourth inning. Dennis Lamp was the winner, although he was knocked out by Gary Ward's three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth. The Twins added a fourth run Ron Washington's grounder and Kent Hrbek hit his 16th home in the bottom of the ninth before Salome Barojas recorded his 13th save. The victory lifted the White Sox into a second-place tie with Kansas City in the AL West, three games behind idle California.

Richard Loses In Comeback

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — J.R. Richard wasn't the pitcher he was two years ago before a near-fatal stroke felled him at the peak of his major league career.

The velocity that made his fastball one of the most awesome in baseball was not there. And, as doctors had feared, he was slow in responding to situations requiring him to field his position.

But still, Richard's long-awaited return to the mound — a trip many felt he would never be able to make — drew rave reviews Monday night from Houston Astros General Manager Al Roser and opposing players who said they admired the 32-year-old pitcher's courage.

Richard, hoping to regain the form that helped him fashion a 107-71 career record with Houston, hurled four innings for the Daytona Beach Astros of the Florida State League in his first start since suffering the stroke July 30, 1980.

He threw 64 pitches, four more than team officials had determined he should, and said he felt strong enough to go another two innings. He left the game trailing the St. Petersburg Cardinals 3-1 and took the loss in an 8-4 decision.

"I felt fine," Richard said, adding that he was not concerned that he hadn't overpowered the Class A opposition.

Settin' Up

Hereford Amateur Radio Emergency Service (HARES) members spent the weekend participating in Field Day, winding up the 27-hour event by making some 1,300 contacts with other Hams in the U.S. Here, the locals work to get the beam antenna in place with help of winch truck. Stormy weather and droves of mosquitoes did little to dampen the enthusiasm of the group, which had its most successful Field Day ever. (Brand Photo by Bob Nigh).

In Beer Permit Battle

The Flodines vs. Gilligan's Island

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Flodines of Comal County hope to leave David Simon stranded on Gilligan's Island without a beer permit.

Simon wants the state to let him sell beer at his business on the Guadalupe River. Norris and Jean Flodine say there's already too much drinking and carousing on the river that flows by their home.

Mrs. Flodine, 66, said the drinking is out of hand on the river. Recently, about 10:30 at night, she heard someone yell from the river. "If you want to see sex on the river, turn on the light."

"They do it in the daytime, too," she said.

Simon's application for a beer permit for his Gilligan's Island business came before an Alcoholic Beverage Commission hearing examiner on Monday. The hearing will be continued in coming weeks. Everyone involved in the battle says it's a friendly fight.

The Flodines say there already are about nine places to buy beer along the river. The tubers and canoeists who come downriver by the thousands have shown great thirst and little concern about litter, they said.

"I've seen all kinds of debris — broken ice chests, beer cans, beer bottles and those plastic things that six-packs come in," Mrs. Flodine testified. "I even picked up a man's swimming suit. I don't know where the man was."

Norris Flodine, 66, is a retired government architect. He said his Monday appearance at the ABC marked the first time he has played lawyer. It did not go too well. Simon has hired an aggressive, young lawyer, Barbara Barron, who knew her timely objections could frustrate Flodine's attempts to get evidence and testimony on the record.

In questioning his wife, Flodine opened by trying to establish that she lives near the Guadalupe.

"Where do you live," he asked his wife.

"I live with you," she replied.

The Flodines and neighbor Joe Davis said the tubers pull an extra tube with them to carry an ice chest full of beer.

"By the time they get to where they're going the cases are empty," said Flodine. "What happened to the cans? They went in the river."

When nature calls, the floaters head to the nearest riverbank, regardless of who owns the property, they said. Simon, 25, did not testify Monday. He told a reporter his business — named for the 1960s television comedy — could help relieve littering and trespassing by providing trash cans and bathrooms.

There is an island in the river near the spot where Simon now rents tubes. But Simon said the beer sales will not be on the island, which was created when he cleared debris that had connected the island to the river bank.

"I'll get it sooner or later," he said of the ABC permit.

"It's a four-hour trip down the river," he said. "That's why they're throwing beer cans out and (urinating) on (river-bank residents')

Donovan Now Awaits Congressional Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan, free of the threat of federal criminal prosecution, still awaits judgment in Congress and the White House on whether he can politically survive the unproven allegations linking him with the underworld.

Donovan flashed the thumbs-up sign for victory after special prosecutor Leon Silverman announced Monday there wasn't enough evidence to indict the Reagan administration Cabinet officer.

Despite Silverman's remark that there was "a disturbing number" of charges tying Donovan to mobsters, Donovan declared the "matter settled once and for all."

Administration officials and a key Senator reacted more cautiously, but were pleased with the special prosecutor's report.

Senate Labor Committee Chairman Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, backed away from a 2-week-old prediction that Donovan appeared to face insurmountable political opposition.

Based on his partial reading of the report, Hatch said he still had his doubts laws."

"I see myself in a position to help. They could use my facilities so they won't have to use Mrs. Flodine's property," he said.

Deely Bobbers Next Fad?

BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) — Those strange-looking head straps sprouting antenna-like springs tipped by balls, hearts and pin-wheels are called "Deely Bobbers," and in the tradition of the hula hoop, pet rock and yo-yo, they're sweeping the nation.

But the fads that never make it are stranger still, says John Minkove, vice president of Ace Novelty Co., which makes Deely Bobbers. There was the man who tried to sell Minkove a "brick" paperweight made of wood.

"It was a piece of wood painted like a brick," he said. "A brick paperweight. If you're going to make a brick paperweight, why not use a real brick?"

Another entrepreneur tried to sell Minkove something called the "Mount St. Helens fly-fishing rod."

"It was supposed to be a fishing pole that caught flies," he said.

"I didn't understand what the connection was with Mount St. Helens. I didn't understand how it was supposed to work. I didn't understand any of it."

Another gimmick that failed was a cigarette pack that coughed when it was removed from a pocket, Minkove said. It did that so a smoker would think twice before lighting up.

Minkove said Deely Bobbers were invented by a sales representative in San Francisco, and Ace Novelty, which is based in Bellevue, hopes to make millions before the Deely Bobber bubble bursts.

"It's still in its infancy," he said. "We don't expect it to peak this year, and we hope it'll last for another year."

The company is best known for fireworks, but neither the company nor Minkove is a stranger to selling oddball items.

Ace distributed troll dolls — little figurines with long, brightly dyed hair that for unknown reasons became indispensable to the well-dressed, pre-teen-aged set of the mid-1960s. It also marketed K-Bongers, two balls attached to a string that a person theoretically tried to smack against each other.

"Nobody could work it," Minkove said. "But it was

Peanut King Toppled By Undercover Agents

By MARTIN STEINBERG Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The small glassine bags were stamped "Pac-Man," "Snow," "The Whiz" and "Show Down," with seasonal "brand names" like "Super Bowl" available in January and "Valentine" in February.

They were on sale at snow cone stands, ghetto storefronts and from teenagers on mopeds, part of a delivery fleet that covered the city's poor east side and made a fortune, police say, for Maurice "Peanut" King.

The 28-year-old King, a former longshoreman, never finished the seventh grade but for two years managed to direct what authorities estimate was a $75 million a year heroin ring that employed over 100 people.

"Peanut just had the opportunity and ability and he took off like a rocket," said Sgt. Gary Childs, who oversaw a nine-month undercover investigation that finally broke up the ring early this month. "It was just a good business thing...If you had $70, you'd buy his dope because it was the best value."

Authorities dubbed it the "Peanut King Organization" and say its members were responsible for the murders of at least four people, including a teen-age mother caught in the middle of a gun battle.

The profits provided King with expensive clothing, jewelry, trips to gambling casinos in Atlantic City and a stainless steel DeLorean purchased for $25,000 cash.

It all came to an end during a series of raids June 4, when police seized $6.5 million worth of heroin, more than $300,000 in cash, $300,000 in jewelry, six fur coats and a cache of high-powered handguns and rifles. King was arrested three days later on a charge of distributing heroin.

In a recent interview at the Baltimore City Jail, the soft-spoken King, clad in an expensive athletic suit, new running shoes, solid gold watch and gold necklace, denied making money from selling heroin.

He said "the bulk" of the $53,000 he amassed to open two grocery stores were from gambling winnings. He said he would go to Atlantic City "just about every other week," sitting for long hours at the baccarat and blackjack tables.

"When I was small, we played a lot of games to pass time," he said. "Basically I learned how to gamble."

King formed two legal corporations with two other men to operate the two small supermarkets. The recently renovated stores stand in marked contrast to their surrounding neighborhoods.

Above one of the stores, police said, was the ring's headquarters, containing a board room, separate offices for each of the three corporation officials and a room housing a computer for records. It was protected by electronic locks, bullet-proof glass and closed circuit cameras.

Above the other was a mirrored gymnasium containing weightlifting equipment, a sauna and a whirlpool bath.

King was a product of east Baltimore, among the city's roughest black neighborhoods. He grew up in a small, two-story row house, the fourth of five children. His father left home when Maurice was 5 years old.

His first encounter with the law was at age 12 when he was arrested on an assault charge. Since then, he has been arrested at least 24 times, on charges ranging from driving on a revoked license to shoplifting to homicide.

The first time King was charged with possession of heroin was in 1979. He was acquitted, but found guilty of violating probation in the same case and ordered to pay a $100 fine and court costs, according to the court papers.

At that time, King and Clarence Meredith, one of those indicted and still at large, opened a snow cone stand on an east Baltimore street corner, said assistant state's attorney Mark Cohen. Not only was fruit-flavored crushed ice sold over the counter. So was heroin, supplied by one of the city's major dealers who was later killed.

Police believe King established his heroin connection as a result of that still unsolved murder.

Gradually, police say, King took over heroin distribution points in his old neighborhood and amassed enough capital to establish his elaborate organization.

According to authorities, the organization employed youngsters between ages 15 and 18 as heroin delivery boys. The youths were paid as much as $500 a week and made their deliveries on mopeds to elude police down back alleys.

The ring owned between 20 and 25 mopeds, each purchased for about $950, police say.

"They always used kids, that was Peanut's trick," said Childs. He let them hold the dope "to insulate the leaders and because if arrested, high bails are seldom set for juveniles."

King still insists he is innocent.

"I think I was set up," King said. "It's election time. They're just trying to put it on somebody."

Lt. Joseph Newman of the police narcotics squad says "the effects (of the busts) on the drug traffic have been dramatic."

"It's the first time we were able to take out an entire organization and have an effect on the supply of heroin."
