BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) -Israeli jets blasted Palestinian strongholds south of Beirut today, ending the ninemonth-old truce in a hail of bombs and rockets after an Israeli soldier was killed by a land mine in southern Lebanon.

Israel confirmed the raid. and the Lebanese government and the Palestine Liberation Organization said the jets set off fires and drew heavy anti-aircraft fire.

There were no immediate reports of casualties from the Israeli strikes, and no indication that Israeli ground troops were involved.

An Israeli communique said "the targets that were bombed were used as active bases for terrorist actions against Israel" and were used to store military equip-

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said: "We are monitoring the situation and looking at it closely." He said the United States had received "conflicting reports as to the extent of what's being done there," but did not elaborate.

F-15 and F-16 warplanes pounded the Damour, Douha and Naameh townships south of Beirut in a "criminal raid." Lebanon's state radio and television said the jets flew in four formations, and that thick palls of black smoke billowed from the bombed areas.

The attack began at 2:30 p.m. - 7:30 a.m. EST - and continued for more than 90 minutes. Lebanon's army commander, Gen. Victor Khoury, and the PLO said in separate statements Israeli helicopters patrolled a southern Lebanese coast from Beirut to Tyre as the jets went to action.

Government sources, who declined to be identified, said Syrian and Palestinian radar stations on the hills of the Douha neighborhood on Beirut's southern flank were devastated by Israeli jets.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv confirmed its jet fighters struck deep into Lebanon on bombing runs against Palestinian guerrilla targets.

It also said an Israeli soldier was killed and another was seriously wounded today when their jeep hit a land mine in the Israelisupported Christian enclave in southern Lebanon. Israeli sources said the land mine blast was the most serious violation of the PLO-Israeli truce, which also prohibited hostile action in Christian enclave.

The cease-fire was mediated by the United States in July to end weeks of cross-border fighting. Israel has been contemplating a strike into Lebanon for weeks

But, Hopeful Signs Seen

Economy Still Declining

By ROBERT FURLOW Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) -The recession continued with little let-up in the first quarter of this year as the economy declined nearly as fast as it had in the final three months of 1981, the government said today.

But the Commerce Department report also contained hopeful signs for officials who are optimistic that the January-March period will prove to have been the last quarter of decline in the recession of 1981-82. The report said inflationadjusted gross national proof U.S. economic activity - declined at a 3.9 percent annual rate in the first quarter. That was almost as steep as the 4.5 percent rate of decline in the final three months of last year.

However, the report also indicated that most of the firstquarter drop was due to the fact that businesses were no longer pushing to produce goods that had only been ending up in inventory stockpiles.

Inventories decreased sharply in the first quarter, after continuing to rise earlier in the recession.

Inflation-adjusted final sales actually increased 1.9 duct - the broadest measure percent in the first quarter after declining 1.8 percent in

Elderly Hearing Scheduled May 13

Staff members of the Panhandle Area Agency on Aging (PAAA) will conduct a hearing concerning the eneds of the elderly in Hereford on Thursday, May 13. The hearing will be conducted in the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 406 West 4th from 1-4

PAAA staff member Perna Strickland said her agency 'wants to hear from anyone who has an opinion about the needs and problems of elderly citizens. Of course, that means we want to hear from senior citizens, too." She commented that "in years past, we've used a variety of methods to get data on the needs of older citizens, but this is the first time for public hearings.'

The staff members will be accepting both written and oral testimony from the general public, service pro-

"This will be a very important week for us. We're looking forward to a big turnout," Ms. Strickland said. "It's a chance for those who are concerned about the elderly to have direct influence on planning in this region."

No 'Give' Found In Reagan Stance

By CLIFF HAAS Associated budget compromise: Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) -Despite President Reagan's declaration that he will "go the extra mile" to reach a budget compromise with Congress, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. says he has yet to find "any give" in Reagan's position.

"The president certainly has an idea that we're a lot closer than I believe we are," O'Neill, D-Mass., said Tuesday after a flurry of apparently non-productive budget activity on Capitol Hill and at the White House.

"It's apparent to me that he (Reagan) thinks the give is only on our side, he doesn't see the give on his own side," O'Neill said

Reagan met at the White House with Republican congressional leaders Tuesday and then telephoned O'Neill to say he hoped administration and congressional negotiators could reach a 1983 "It's my fervent plea and

Sales Tax Rebates Up

AUSTIN - State Comptroller Bob Bullock last week sent checks totaling $31.8 million to 962 cities as their share of the one-percent city sales tax for April.

"Total payments we have sent to these cities so far this year are running more than 19 percent ahead of last year, which means sales of taxable merchandise in these cities are running that much more than 1981," Bullock said.

Houston received the biggest check, $7 million, up 27.9 percent from the April 1981 check.

The city of Hereford's share of the "golden egg" amounted to $16,545.23, bringing the year-to-date total to $143,455.09. The monthly payment was some $1,400 up from the $15,152.79 the city received for April, 1981, and the year's total is some 1.83 percent higher than the $140.871.90 received for the same period a year ago. To the west, the city of Friona has enjoyed a jump in sales for 1982 with the city's rebates for the year up a whopping 28.19 percent over 1981. Friona's check for April was $3,315.48, down from the $3,725.39 for the same month a year ago, but their 1982 total of-$31,975.24 is far ahead of the $24,944,59 received for the same period in 1981.

Dimmitt has seen a 3.42 percent increase overall in rebates for 1982 over 1981 with a total of $44,704,43 as compared to $43,227.76 during 1981. That city received $6,414.87 for april, almost the

Repairs Slated For Park Avenue

Drivers on Park Ave. will have to keep an eye out for flagmen and construction workers soon when Jake Diel Dirt & Paving Contractors begins an overseal project on the street.

According to local highway department supervisor J.R. Blackwell, the contractor will begin the project to upgrade the street's surface Monday. The $240,000 project is contracted for 50 work days, but Blackwell expects the job to be completed much sooner than that.

The work will re-surface Park Ave. from its intersection with Hwy 60 to where the road narrows near Live Oak Street in the westen section of Hereford.

Involved in the project is an

Blackwell said that U.S. Hwy 385 will also be resurfaced to a point 800 feet north and south of Park Ave. He said that traffic will be closed to only one lane at a time, using cones, flagmen and barricades to re-route traffic on a two-way basis.

Blackwell said that good weather will shorten the time needed for the project to be completed, adding that temperatures under 55 degrees, much like those which have prevailed in the area the past few days, would prevent the application of the Hospital Rejects Medicaid Request

The Deaf Smith General Hospital Board rejected Tuesday a Medicaid request to ask that agency's permission to conduct surgery on elderly patients and opted for submission of more patient notes after surgery is done. Jim Bullard, hospital administrator, said that the primary request would mean that after a patient is diagnosed at the hospital for surgery, Medicaid would require submission criteria for surgery and then grant the hospital permission to perform it, if the patient needed funds.

Bullard said he guessed that the minimum time for an approval for surgery would be about 10 days with an average of two to three weeks.

Dealer Indicted For Possessing Antique Whale Teeth

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - A federal grand jury has indicted a local arts and antiques dealer on charges he received and offered to sell the teeth of sperm whales, an endangered species.

Charged with nine separate counts in the indictment returned Tuesday was L. Robert Gordon, 58, who was freed on a personal recognizance bond after appearing before U.S.

Bush Accuses Soviets Of Spurning Attempts To End Weapons Race in his frustration," Bush said

WASHINGTON (AP) -Vice President George Bush today accused the Soviet Union of spurning repeated attempts to end the atomic weapons race and insisted the United States "has nothing to apologize for in its efforts to bring this nuclear madness under control."

Trying to put Moscow on the defensive in the propaganda battle over nuclear weapons, Bush said the Kremlin has a "historic record of poor cooperation in reducing the nuclear threat," beginning with its rejection of a plan presented at the United Nations in 1946 for international control of atomic bombs.

In the 1950s, Bush said, Dwight President Eisenhower unsuccessfully tried to sell Russia numerous proposals to control nuclear weapons and divert atomic use to peaceful purposes. "Eisenhower was not alone

County History Book To Increase In Value

County History book, "The Land And Its People," will increase after its publication if the experience of nearby counties is an indication, Don Hicks suggests. Hicks is president of Deaf Smith County Historical Society, sponsor of the book.

Orders for the new history are being taken now, and must be received before publication since only the number of copies ordered and paid for will be printed. The Historical Society will not

Value of the Deaf Smith order extra copies to be sold after the book is issued.

Some extra copies have been made available in other counties, to be sold at a premium price for benefit of historical associations, Hicks said, but this will not be the case in Hereford. In those counties a ready sale has been found for the extra volumes, at the increased

The Oldham County history was issued only a few months ago, and already any copy available for sale will bring $10 to $20 above the original price, Hicks said, and an owner of a Curry County, N.M. history who will part with his book may get as much as 100 percent profit.

Price of the Deaf Smith County book is $36.75, including tax. If the book is to be mailed, $2.75 is added for packaging and postage for a total of $39.50. Orders, with checks, should be sent to Project County History, P.O. Drawer 2297, before May 1.

Office of the project is in the E.B. Black Historical House, open from 1 to 5 p.m. each weekday. The telephone number is 364-8371.

Families which have ordered only one copy of the book are reminded that each child will want his own copy in future years, if not now, Hicks said.

In addition to family histories, most of them with photographs, the book will contain stories on various segments of the county history including agriculture, industry, pioneer life, dust bowl years, schools, wartimes, service clubs, social and cultural life and others.

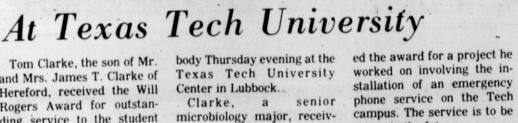

There are also histories of each community and speical pages with histories of businesses, churches, organizations and tributes to residents living and dead.

I don't know of anyone who is more concerned with their image than bankers.

For years, they were paragons of conservatism in threepiece suits and metal-rimmed glasses who were tucked away in rooms behind a desk with nothing on it.

You got the feeling they had steamed creases in their underwear and were married to women who did not wear lipstick.

Now, all of them want to be my friend.

They invite you to drop by and have coffee with them, call them by their first name, and tell them when their pens are Somehow I never considered being a friend a criterion for letting someone hold my money. I've got friends I wouldn't a trust with my home phone number.

As a professional new checking account customer (I open a new account at a new bank every time my checkbook doesn't balance). I was cheered recently to see an ad for a bank in New Jersey that shows three "portly" men in bathing suits standing in the surf. The ad was inspired.

It said, "Instead of a friendly banker, personal banker or hungry banker, maybe you just need a 'chubby' banker."

It continued, "Here at First National State, we really know how to throw our weight around New Jersey's banking community. Pound for pound, we've got more experience under (and over) our belts than anybody.

"Sure, our competitors claim to be hungry, but we prove it every day over lunch. And while some banks say they offer men of broad experience, we can offer broad men of ex-

Chubby is an image I relate to and like. A chubby banker isn't out jogging, he's watching my Christmas savings account. A chubby banker takes time for lunch and is in a happy mood to consider my personal loan. A chubby banker is worrying where his next Danish is coming from and doesn't have time to worry about my mortgage payment.

I'm going to write down their slogan, "OUR FIRST CONCERN IS LUNCH!" Now, there are three men who can truly laugh at themselves..all the way to the bank.

Al-Anon Helps Woman Cope

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I really don't care if this letter makes the paper or not. I just want you to know your column can change lives. It did mine.

Last week I attended my second Al-Anon meeting, and I feel as if I have been reborn. If I sound nutty, forgive me, but it's the best way I know to My husband is an alcoholic.

I tried everything to get him to stop drinking. I begged, pleaded, cried, nagged, sulked, insulted him and made myself sick. Almost every day I had a headache or a stomach ache. When I realized my job was in jeopardy I decided to take the advice I had read so often in your column-for others, not me: "Go to Al-Anon. It's in the phone book and it's free."

After two meetings I became convinced that nobody can stop anyone else from drinking. Since I couldn't change my husband, I must change myself. Last night Mike and I had our first real conversation in years. The barrier has been broken. I feel strong, confident and at peace. My change in behavior toward Mike is beginning to change his behavior toward me. Eventually it may change other things. Now I have hope for the future. One thing is certain: If I can't save Mike, I'm going to save myself. Thanks million .-- Hope In New

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to share a hilarious experience about a person with a speech habit referred to recently in your column.

My friend and I pulled into a gas station in need of specific directions for an address in the Boston area. The lad was cooperative and eager to help. But he was one of those characters who tags "right?" on the end of every sentence.

were as follows: "Pull out of here, right? At the first set of double lights turn right, right? Then right after the underpass, turn left. Right? After three more lights, turn right. Right? Then right after the last right, make a sharp left. Right?"

The directions he gave

Every time the fellow said "right?" we nearly cracked up. We did manage to keep ourselves under control, however, thanked him profusely and proceeded to the next gas station for a less confusing set of instructions.

Please print this letter so those who have the habit of tacking "right?" onto every sentence will see that it can create serious problems in communication. Sign me-Schenectady, Right?

DEAR SCHENECTADY: Right. Here's your letter. Let's hope it helps.

Texas is, indeed, "booming." It holds first place in such industries as cattle, sheep, cotton, marble, zinc and production. Many manufacturers of electrical power, food processing, transportation equipment, hardwood floors and machinery are centered in Texas.

APPROVING WORDS

By Bob Wear

Approving words have been called "magic words," and this is a good description. These words should be sincere and based upon honest evaluations. They are not to be used for ulterior motives, but for wholesome purposes, for encouragement, for upbuilding and for strengthening others. There will be many good consequences.

proval of the people with whom we are associated and we do not speak the "approving words," we have denied ourselves and these people some of the very best of the good things in human behavior. Such failure is a great loss.

"Honest praise is a tonic and a stimulant. It is both food and drink to the mind and to the spirit. Keeping silent when there are nice things that could be said, or holding back that word of encouragement, may be just as harmful as the unkind words spoken by others."-C.

We must be alert to see the good in others, and seek opportunities to speak the "ap-

Texans are a people "on the go" and there's always plenty for them to do. Sports fans can cheer on two major league basebell teams, two football clubs, the San Antonio Spurs basketball team and one soccer club. Patrons of the arts can enjoy nine symphony orchestras, five major opera companies and the world-renowned Houston Ballet. There are also two major theatre repertories, three nationally famous museums and dozens of smaller ones!

If the moon's disk were drawn atop the United States, Las Vegas would peer around one edge and Philadelphia around the proving words." It is not enough that we see the good, we must be sure to express the justified commendation. To fail to do so, is to waste one of life's most worthwhile opportunities to help others and bring blessing to ourselves.

Critical words seem to come easy, and many of us are too quick to criticize. Even when criticism seems appropriate, we must try to find some basis for some "approving words," too.

Many deserving people of all ages suffer from feelings of discouragement and despair, because they seldom, if ever, receive any "approving words." This is unfortunate, because of the great loss in human satisfaction and improved performance. This lack of "approving words" is inexcusable, and the reasons for such lack are sad commentaries on human attitudes.

"A slowness to applaud (approve) betrays a cold temper or an envious spirit."-H. More.

In all areas of human experience, the home; the market place; the school; in friendships; and in all other special and general human associations; the worthwhile and needful life elements are preserved and expanded by approving words.'

Repeat Offenders Face Harsher Sentences

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) -Jackson Monroe Martin slumped in his chair and stared at the floor. He couldn't believe he had been sentenced to 99 years in jail for indecent exposure.

"I don't think it's right for me to get that much time for that kind of crime," said Martin, whose 11 prior convictions for burglary enabled the prosecutor to ask for the long sentence.

"Maybe a fine and 30 days, or even a year in the county jail. But not 99 years!" the 42-year-old man complained at his sentencing hearing.

"People are just tired of crime," said Ron Stubblefield, the district attorney in Bryan County, Okla., where Martin received his long sentence. "And they want the repeat offenders off the streets.'

Throughout the country, prosecutors are increasingly using habitual criminal codes to seek longer terms.

The stiffer punishment depends on the crime, but can range from the sentence for the next higher class offense - in South Dakota - to life without parole - in Louisiana and Arkansas.

Maine and Pennsylvania are the only states without laws or pending legislation for habitual or repeat offenders, according to a recent Justice Department study Association. done at American University in Washington. In Ohio, a measure by state Rep. Edward J. Orlett of Dayton calling for mandatory sentencing for some felonies unanimously cleared the state House earlier this

The proposed law would require 'judges to impose an "actual incarceration" period ranging from three to nine years on career criminals.

'Society has a right to protect itself against criminals for a specified period of time," said Orlett, who noted the bill is "the first major change in a decade in the state's criminal sentencing law.'

Some law enforcement officials contend early releases by parole boards take themuscle out of prison sentences.

"One reason for the increase in the use of the habitual criminal statute is that there was a realization that a 20-year sentence didn't mean 20 years," said Pete Adams, president of the Louisiana District Attorneys

"It's a better bet to put them away, these people who are constantly costing the taxpayers money. People are realizing rehabilitation is not working. The answer is long sentences."

In 29 states, the habitual criminal charge can be considered on the second felony, according to a study by the Rand Corp. Nineteen states consider the charge upon a third offense, two states consider it on the fourth and three states have increased penalties for the fifth convictional Council on Crime and Delinquency indicates that at least 17 states have enacted or have introduced within the past five years legislation directed toward getting career criminals off the

Another study by the Na-

U.S. Sen. Arlen Specter, who was a district attorney in Philadelphia for eight years. has sponsored a bill that would make a third armed robbery or armed burglary conviction a federal offense punishable by at least 15 years in prison.

A study by the senator's staff revealed that robbers serve an average of three years behind bars, and a robber with prior convictions serves an average of only 312

Research based on interviews after arrest revealed professional lawbreakers individually commit 50-100 robberies or 200-400 burglaries a vear, said Paul Michele, a spokesman for the Pennsylvania Republican.

Furthermore, 6 percent of those arrested for robbery and burglary commit 60 percent of those crimes, Michele added.

"These people are one-man crime waves," he said. Oklahoma,

Legislature this month approved a bill requiring a three-time armed robber be sentenced to a mandatory 10 years imprisonment.

Other approaches to putting away the career criminal also are being considered. David Armstrong, president of the National Association of District Attorneys, advocates truth in sentencing, in which 20 years means 20 years.

"The sentencing phase of a criminal trial has become a charade," Armstrong said from his Louisville, Ky., of-

"The habitual criminal law is a fair concept," Adams said from Baton Rouge, La. "Judges and district attorneys still maintain a fair amount of discretion in deciding whether or not there is any chance to rehabilitate this man or if the smartest thing to do is to put him away.

However, the prosecutors disagree on whether stiffer sentences actually prevent

"I can't say it's a deterrent because we're trying to take these people off the streets," Adams said. "Instead, we should say with these people off the streets, more people are not encouraged to commit crimes."

Others say it's too early to make conclusions about the effect of the law. "It's an evolutionary process," said Tony Burns, district attorney in Duncan, Okla., where a jury last year handed down the county's first death sentence in half a century for a triple murder conviction. "It'll be years before they'll think twice about committing a crime. "But criminals are coming to understand that they have a better chance with appeals courts and parole boards than in state courts," he said.

Networks Lose A Million Viewers As CBS Wins Race

NEW YORK (AP) - The CBS: "Three's Company," three major TV networks lost nearly a million prime-time viewers in the 28-week season that ended April 18 with CBS the No. 1 network for the third straight year, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. show.

Average ratings for all three networks declined in the season that began Oct. 5, although ABC actually added about 210,000 viewers to its average prime-time audience, a result of the increasing size of the TV universe as a whole.

CBS, in the period, lost about 330,000 viewers, and NBC an estimated 870,000.

CBS' rating for the season was eight-tenths of a point below the network's mark for the 1980-81 TV year ABC finished off a tenth of a point and NBC was 1.4 points from the previous season.

Analysts, attribute the declining network audience to increased cable and pay TV activity, as well as heightened competition from independent stations.

While CBS maintained its grip on first place in the networks' competition for the TV season, with an average rating of 19 to 18.1 for ABC and 15.2 for NBC, two of the network's most consistent hits, "Dallas" and "60 Minutes," remained the dominant programs.

'Dallas' was No. 1 in prime time last season, and '60 Minutes" the year before. They finished one-two for the 1981-82 TV year. The networks CBS' rating for the season means in an average minute of primetime, 19 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were tuned to the leading network. CBS finished first in the three-way race 19 times this season, ABC eight, and the two networks tied for first on one occasion.

CBS' rating for the last week of the 1981-82 season was 16.8 to 15.5 for ABC and 13.2 for NBC. The networks say that means in an average minute of prime time during the period, 16.8 percent of the country's homes with television were watching CBS.

CBS had six of the week Top 10 shows, with "M-A-S-H" in first place, "60 Minutes" tied for second and "Dallas" sixth. It was the first time a show from a series, other than "Dallas" or "60 Minutes," was first in the weekly competition. Here are the 10 highestrated shows in the week en-

Campaign Donors Make Up 'Who's Who'

WASHINGTON (AP) - A 'Who's Who" list of big money in the Dallas-Fort Worth area could be compiled from the donors to the reelection campaign of Rep. Phil Gramm.

The latest campaign contributions report, which had to be on file with the Federal Elections Committee by April 15, shows the College Station Democrat is among the largest fund-raisers in Con-

In both contributions and expenditures, Gramm has far outdistanced John Olin Teague of Bryan, his major rival for the May 1 Democratic nomination for the 6th Congressional District, which stretches from Dallas-Fort Worth to Houston.

Eddie Chiles of Fort Worth, owner of the Western Company and the Texas Rangers baseball club, gave $1,000 last year, and a political action committee of the Western Company gave Gramm $5,000 this year. That was one of three $5,000 contributions Gramm has received. The others came from Dart-Kraft PAC of Los Angeles and American Medical PAC of Washington.

Among other well-known $1,000 contributors to Gramm are H. Ross Perot, chairman of the board of Electronic Data Systems; Gill Clements, president of Sedco and son of Texas' Republican Gov. Bill Clements; and J. Fred Bucy Jr., president of Texas Instruments.

Gramm's popularity with big-money contributors in Texas came despite his unpopularity with many of his Democratic colleagues because of the leading role he played for President Reagan's economic recovery legislation.

From January through March of this year, Gramm raised almost $200,000 to go with the more than $250,000 he received in contributions last year. He has spent almost $270,000 on his campaign in the past three mon-

Teague - son of the late Olin Teague, who served the district before Gramm reported contributions of $15,835 and expenditures of $38,454 since entering the race in mid-February.

Teague received $1,000 contributions from his mother and from Guy R. Odom of Austin and $5,000 from the AFL-CIO political action committee in Washington.

The reports of two other Democratic candidates in the race had not arrived by Tues-Gramm took a balance of $409,745 into Jan. 1 and had tributors on Gramm's list in 1981 and 1982, he got $1,000 or more from 110 individuals and 37 political action committees.

Six members of the Moncrief family in Fort Worth gave $1,000 each to Gramm's campaign. Four officials of the The Pickens Co. in Dallas and five officials of J. Stiles, Inc., of Dallas gave $1,000.

The chief executive officers of numerous Dallas-area banks and businesses, particularly those related to the oil and gas industry, also gave the maximum $1,000.

Gramm got heavy support from special-interest groups. Texas Power and Light PAC gave $2,500. Contributions of $2,000 came from Republic of Texas PAC of Dallas, Greater Houston Home Builders, and First City National Bank of Bryan.

Among the $1,000 political action group donors are Burger King, the National Federation of Independent Businessmen, Federation of American Hospitals, the Coastal Employees Action Fund of Houston, Texas Oil and Gas, Union Oil PAC of Los Angeles, First City Bankcorp of Houston, UER-PAC of Washington.

Also, Ensearch of Dallas, Houston Industries PAC, Steak and Ale, American Medical PAC, U.S. Telephone PAC of Dallas, Southwestern

Bell Employees PAC of St. Louis, Diamond Shamrock, Republic National Bank, Schepps Committee for Preservation of Free Enterprise, and First International Bancshares Good Government Fund.

Of Teague's reported $38,454 in expenses thus far, $27,000 of it was to Swan Advertising of Dallas for advertising, $250 for a band for a Washington fundraiser last month, $1,600 for newspaper advertising in two Bryan-College Station newspapers, and $3,100 in telephone expense, including a WATS line.

Gramm's biggest expense this year was $116,500 to a New York City firm for "polling service and media buy"; $2,169 to an Austin firm for "political tapes"; $53,800 to General Telephone for telephone expense; $45,000 to a Washington firm for

"media"; and $14,509 to the Internal Revenue Service for

"income tax."

A spokesman for Gramm said the income tax was on interest and dividends earned during 1981 on campaign funds placed in savings accounts.

Gramm's expenditures last year included more than $17,000 to retire a debt from his unsuccessful 1966 race against Sen. Lloyd Bentsen: He paid $15,276 and $10,586 for catering at two fund-raising dinners in Dallas, and about $3,000 for printing of campaign material.

Braves Win 12th Straight

ATLANTA (AP) - The Atlanta Braves aren't satisfied with forging their way into major league baseball's record book - but it will have to do for now.

'We're after more things than a record," Manager Joe Torre said Tuesday night after his Braves trimmed Cincinnati 4-2 for their record-setting 12th consecutive victory.

"We want to play in October," he said, alluding to the month of the World

Oakland set the modern record for consecutive triumphs at the start of a season last year when the A's reeled off 11 in a row, a mark the Braves tied with a 6-5 triumph Sunday at Houston.

Only one other National League team, the 1884 New York Giants, ever won 12 coming out of the blocks. St. Louis reeled off 20 in a row in the old Union Association. also in 1884.

"It's nice to break the record, but we're not about to relax now," said Torre, in his first season with a team that has been mired in the second division the last seven years.

A partisan crowd of 37,268 roared its approval throughout as the Braves overcame an early 2-0 deficit and some fans poured onto the field after reliever Gene Garber claimed his third save by getting Dan Driessen on a long fly to end the game.

Atlanta started the comeback in the second when Chris Chambliss belted his second homer of the year over the right field fence and then wrapped up the scoring with a three-run third.

Rafael Ramirez started that rally with a home run down the left field line, his first of the year. Glenn Hubbard walked later in the inning and scored when Claudell Washington lashed a triple off the center field fence. Washington scooted home when Pastore uncorked a wild pitch.

Borg Controversy Has Tennis World In Uproar

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

Is Bjorn Borg an arrogant, spoiled, insufferable brat?

Or is he an unshakeable, independent-minded Swede who is willing to fight for his personal rights at the expense of his wallet?

Few matters in recent years have so aroused the tennis community as the decision by the All-England Croquet and Tennis Club to force its five-time men's champion to qualify for the 1982 Wimbledon and the young Viking's refusal to accede.

"Who does Borg think he is?" fumes a Mexican journalist, who has covered the international tennis scene for some 40 years. "Everybody else has to qualify. So should

"I think he is a whining cry baby."

Others wonder why Borg is so special. If he's the world's best, what is he afraid of?

For Borg and his longtime adviser, Lennart Bergelin, it is more than that. Principle is involved, and independence. Borg's stand is supported by a majority of his contemporaries, with Arthur Ashe, captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team, John McEnroe and Ivan Lendl speaking out publicly in his behalf.

While Wimbledon, as the austere 105-year-old great grandpappy of the game, may consider itself inviolate and beyond any insubordination, the last of the grass court classics may discover that the tournament suffers more than the man.

The blond, implacable Swede has been a Center Court hero for most of the last decade, a model champion, circumspect in behavior, exciting the staid, normally reserved ticket holders as never before and turning the moss-backed arena into a deafening din of school-age teeny-boppers.

Borg's absence would be keenly felt. But, with the British-Argentine emotions heating up to wartime pitch over the Falkland Islands, chances are two other of the world's top players, Guillermo Vilas and Jose-Luis Clerc of Argentina, will decide discreetly to sit this one out. On top of this, the season's hottest Czechoslovakia's Lendl, winner of 10 of his last 15 tournaments, has hinted he may bypass Wimbledon to concentrate on the Davis Cup. Like Vilas and Clerc, Lendl isn't too happy playing on archaic Regardless, without the

Ponies Clip Herd Twice

The Coronado Mustangs used five-run outbursts in both games of a District 4-5A baseball twinbill at Whiteface Field Tuesday to score 11-3 and 8-2 decisions over the Hereford Whitefaces.

The double wins gave the Ponies a 6-2 first-half district record, while the Herd fell to 1-7. Coronado also upped its season mark to 18-6, while the Whitefaces fell below the .500 mark at 10-12.

In the opener the Whitefaces kept the game close until the sixth frame, when the Mustangs rolled to five runs on six hits and a Herd error. After taking a 5-0 bulge through four innings, the Ponies saw the 'Faces score twice in the fourth as Mason drove in two runs with a single up the middle off CHS hurler Doug Beard. Each team came up with a solo tally in the fifth before Coronado put the game away in the sixth. In the nightcap the Mustangs took a 2-0 lead in the first frame off HHS hurler Matt Collier, and extended the lead to 3-0 in the fourth.

Collier closed the gap with his fifth homerun of the season in the bottom of the sixth, but again the Ponies got the hot hand late in the game, scoring five runs in the top of the seventh. Mike Hill's RBI double in the bottom of the inning scored Ronnie Collier, but it was too little, too late for the Hill finished with four hits in the twinbill, while Mason closed out the two-game stand with three safeties. The Whitefaces open the se-

Yanks Evaporate White Sox Cloud In 11-2 Rout

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

After flying high over the American League West, the Chicago White Sox finally came down to earth. It was quite a thud, too.

Record Set, Braves Aiming at Division

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves broke a major league record with 12 victories to start the 1982 baseball season and immediately leveled their sights at a goal they haven't reached in more than two decades.

'This doesn't mean anything if we don't go all the way," Braves right fielder Claudell Washington said.

The Braves have won their division only once, in 1969, since abandoning the city of Milwaukee 16 years ago. In fact, the Braves have not won an NL pennant since 1958, the year after Lew Burdette hurled a string of 24 scoreless innings in Milwaukee's sevengame World Series triumph over the New York Yankees.

"I'm pleased. I just hope it doesn't end here," Washington said after driving in the tie-breaking run with a triple and scoring on a wild pitch in Atlanta's 4-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night.

The victory broke the modern major league record of 11 victories to open a season set by the 1981 Oakland A's. The Braves eclipsed the old National League mark of 10 in a row by the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers and 1962 Pittsburgh Pirates on Sunday when they beat the second inning, giving the highly vocal crowd of 37,268 in Atlanta a brief scare. Reds pitcher Frank Pastore and Eddie Milner drove in the runs in the third inning to behind. Rafael Ramirez started the rally with a homer, and, one out later, Glenn Hubbard walked. Hubbard scored on Washington's triple off the top of the center field fence, and Washington scored when Pastore threw a wild pitch.

Steve Bedrosian got the victory with 41-3 innings in relief of Tommy Boggs, and Gene Garber pitched the final three innings for his third save.

In the rest of the league, St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-4, the New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2, San Diego pummeled San Francisco 8-4 and Los Angeles clobbered Houston 10-2. Philadelphia at Montreal was postponed by rain.

Bullets Rip Nets, 96-83

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

The Washington Bullets, who made the playoffs 12 years in a row with name players like Wes Unseld and Elvin Hayes, are starting a new era with a relatively unknown crew of broadshouldered frontliners.

The Bullets, who didn't make the playoffs last year for the first time since 1968, returned to postseason action Tuesday night and whipped the New Jersey Nets 96-83 in the opener of their best-of-3 mini-series.

The heroes were 6-foot-11 rookie Jeff Ruland and 6-10 second-year man Rick Mahorn, unheralded compared to the experienced players the Bullets relied on for many years

Ruland, who doesn't start although he was the Bullets' top rebounder and secondleading scorer in the regular season, scored a team-high 18 points and pulled down 20 rebounds against the Nets.

Mahorn added 16 points, all in the second half, sparking the Bullets , back from a 10-point third quarter deficit.

Farmers Embrace Acreage Reduction Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) -Farmers have signed up to reduce 1982 crop plantings on about twice as much acreage as Agriculture Secretary John R. Block predicted when he announced the program last winter.

According to preliminary final figures, farmers have enrolled 179.4 million acres in the acreage-reduction program, which is 79.3 percent of the nation's base acreage of feed grain, rice, upland cotton and rice, he said Tuesday. That compared with 130 million acres enrolled in the program last week. The latest figures were as of April 16, the final day of the signup. However, Block said many farmers waited until the last minute to sign up, making it impossible to process all forms by the deadline. Block said those late-this week and next, which will according to current USDA affect the final enrollment figures.

"I'm very pleased with these signup figures," Block said. "This voluntary action by our nation's farmers should illustrate that they are not willing to remain victims of our current economic situation. Instead, they are moving forward on their own. to turn the situation around." Although Block referred to the "voluntary action" by farmers in signing up in the programs, in effect they were required to do so in order to be eligible for price supports and related benefits on 1982 crops of feed grain, rice, upland cotton and wheat.

Block's announcement also skirted what he meant by "the current economic situation" for farmers, namely the third year in row that net farm income has declined, assessments.

Final-signup figures will be announced in about two weeks.

Farmers who enroll in the acreage program agree to reduce plantings of feed grains - corn, barley, oats and sorghum - by 10 percent and the other crops by 15 per-

However, signing up does not bind farmers to the acreage-reduction program. They still have some time depending on the crop and the region - before certifying compliance.

The compliance in the acreage program, when available, will be a more accurate indicator of how many acres farmers will have for the 1982 harvest.

Later, in a meeting with reporters, Block said final compliance in the program will be dictated by weather and market prices in the next month or so.

"If prices are not wildly bullish, I look for strong compliance," Block said.

Last winter, when the acreage program was announced, Block predicted farmers would sign up around 40 percent of their base acreage. As it turned out, they signed up about 80 percent of the national base.

Asked to predict a final compliance figure, Block said that could be "in excess of 50 percent" of the total base acreage for the 1982 crops, with compliance higher for rice and cotton than for wheat and feed grains.

Several months ago, Block said he thought a 40 percent signup would mean farmers' grain prices might be 10 to 20 cents a bushel higher than they otherwise would be. He declined to make a new prediction until final compliance figures are ready.

Preliminary signup figures as of April 16 included:

-Corn and grain sorghum, 72.5 million acres enrolled or 74.4 percent if the base of 97.5

million acres. -Barley and oats, 14.5 million acres of 71.5 percent of the base of 20.4 million

-Wheat, 74.9 million acres or 84 percent of the base of

89.2 million acres. -Upland cotton, 13.9 million acres or 91.3 percent of the base of 15.2 million

Sales Up; Net Profits Still Down

COLLEGE STATION -1981 sales from Texas agricultural products are estimated at $9.5 billion, up about a half billion dollars from the previous year.
However, net profits of farmers and ranchers continued a downward trend.

"Farmers and ranchers had a lot to sell in 1981 but they had less income due to low farm prices and rising production costs," points out Dr. Carl Anderson, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Yet the total impact of agricultural sales bolstered the Texas economy to the tune of some $35 billion. Farm and ranch assets stood at some $80 billion, or an average investment of $430,000 per farm (based on some 186,000 farms in Texas). Of course, many Texas farmers and ranchers have more than a million dollars invested in their operations, says Anderson.

As far as last year's agricultural sales are concerned, the economist points out that the livestock sector, including dairy and poultry production, contributed about $4.9 billion to the ledger. Crop sales added another $4 billion while sales from agriculturally related sources such as timber, horses, fish farming and hunting leases added another $600 million.

another $600 million.

Low Sugar Prices Boosting US Fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sagging world sugar prices continue to trigger automatic boosts in U.S. import fees, says the Agriculture Department.

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block said import fees for both raw and refined sugar will be increased one cent a pound, effective April 21, because of recent sharp declines in world sugar prices.

The import fee increase is

Texas farmers face low grain prices because of a record U.S. crop last year and good crops throughout the world. The market concern now is how fast corn and grain sorghum supplies can be used before the '82 harvest season, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas

prescribed under a formula aimed at protecting domestic sugar producers from pricedepressing imports of cheap foreign sugar.

Block said Tuesday the new fees are 4.0703 cents a pound for raw sugar and 5.1782 cents for refined sugar.

"World sugar prices have been sliding since late March," Block said. "Essentially, this is a continuing market reaction to a heavy supply situation."

A&M University System. The fact that feedgrain exports are off to a slow start this year and that forward sales are considerably behind last year add to the bleak picture for grains. However, increased livestock feeding due to low grain prices could improve the situation some.

totaled about $3.5 billion to lead all commodities, notes Anderson. Cotton sales topped all crops at $1.3 billion even with the depressed prices.

Poultry and dairy product sales were about even at $565 million and $570 million, respectively, while sheep and goats broughts in $146 million and swine, $116 million.

Following cotton in crop receipts were wheat, $517 million; grain sorghum, $410 million; other feedgrains, $367 million; vegetables, $298 million; rice, $290 million; and nursery plnts, $225 million. Peanut sales totaled $115 million while forage sales stood at $114 million. Other crop sales included soybeans, $70 million; citrus, $65 million; pecans, $45 million; and peaches, plums and other fruit, $19 million.

Texas continues to rank third in total cash receipts from agricultural products behind California and Iowa, says Anderson. However, Texas leads the nation in sales of cattle and calves, cotton, grain sorghum, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cabbage and spinach.

As far as the total agricultural industry in Texas is concerned, about 20 percent of the state's population is involved in agriculture in some way, from production to marketing and retailing of food and fiber products. Thus agriculture continues to have a strong base in Texas even though less than 3 percent of the people actually live on farms and ranches, notes the economist.

HOUSTON (AP) Witnesses who refused to testify "severely hampered" the case against 13 police officers who were fired or suspended without pay for allegedly harassing black hotel guests during a November raid, prosecutors

The Harris County grand jury did not find sufficient evidence of any criminal wrongdoing and took no action Tuesday against the seven fired and six suspended officers.

The panel's decision came less than a week after John Bales, on his last day as acting police chief, took the disciplinary action against the officers.

No witnesses testified before the panel during Tuesday's brief session. Several hotel guests testified in previous sessions, claiming they were harassed and beaten in the Nov. 4 election night raid on the Della Arpartment Hotel in the city's predominantly-black Fifth Ward. Assistant District Attorney Terry Wilson said the witnesses' refusal to testify "severely hampered" the case. He declined further comment, saying he did not want to interfere with any appeals of the disciplinary action the officers may file with the City Civil Service Commission.

The officers have until Monday to appeal Bales' action.

Richard Cobb, the officers' attorney, said the grand jury's decision showed the police department's internal affairs division investigation was "a deliberate attempt ... to get back at these 13 because they were members of the Houston Police Patrolmen's Union and eveyone know the union was a thorn in his (Bales) side." Cobb also accused Bales of launching the investigation "to get back at the mayor and as a slap in the face" to Lee P. Brown, who took command of the city's 3;000-member force on Monday.

Policedepartment spokesman Larry Troutt said that both Brown and Bales had discussed the matter and that "both concur with the decision to render disciplinary action."

Troutt denied that Bales' action had any influence on the grand jury's decision. Several guests claimed they were harassed by the 13 officers, who drove through the hotel parking lot waving Confederate and skull-andcrossbones flags. The officers roused several guests from their beds, shouted racial slurs and beat some of them with flashlights, the victims claims. Saying the department's investigation "sustained the allegations that were brought against the officers," Bales on Friday fired seven officers, suspended without pay four officers for 60 days and two others for 15 days.

However, Cobb said, during earlier sessions before the grand jury several alleged victims were unable to attribute their beatings to individual officers.

Cobb said one woman who claimed two officers were at the hotel during the incident, when the two men actually were at home.

The FBI is investigating the case in behalf of the U.S. attorney's civil rights division.

Jury Clears 13 Officers In Raid

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -Tuition at state universities would jump 300 percent if a tuition hike proposed by the governor's task force on higher education is adopted, a state legislator complained.

Democratic Rep. Arnold Gonzales of Corpus Christi planned a Capitol rally today to protest Tuesday's task force recommendation.

Beside tuition hikes, the task force also recommended doubling state appropriations for teacher salaries to $10 billion and reorganizing the state university system.

However, Jim Kaster, Gov. Bill Clements' legislative aide, said the proposed teacher pay hike is unrealistic and predicted the proposed realignment could not win legislative approval.

"For that kind of money you are talking about a state income tax, which the Legislature won't pass," said Kaster.

The task force said the 1983 Legislature should raise tuition to cover 8 percent of the actual cost of an education at a state university, and increase the amount by 2 percent a year until it reaches 16 percent of the cost.

Currently, the task force said the tuition paid by Texans covers just 4 percent of the actual cost of education.

Gonzales said that proposal means a 100 percent increase in 1983 and a 50 percent increase every year for the next four. "Higher tuition will mean fewer students in the state can afford a college education;" he said.

Texas residents now pay a mimimum of $50 a semester for a full course load. The task force did not offer any specifics on how much the tuition would increase. Students also pay fees, which often are much higher than tuition.

Non-Texans should pay sufficient tuition to cover 75 percent of the acutal cost, instead of the current 44 percent, the task force said.

The proposed realignment of state universities would maintain the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems but place all other univerisities into one of four regional systems, referred to as "West Texas, south of San Antonio, the upper Gulf Coast region, and North and East Texas."

Universities outside the UT and Texas A&M systems now are divided among 13 systems.

Task force member Bernard Johnson of Houston said the proposal would result in 'parochialism."

"This will encourage power struggles between the regions because each region will want to offer all programs," he said.

Norman Hackerman, task force member and Rice University president, said the realignment would "set off region against region" and spark "rather high frequency, noisy confrontation.'

The task force report said realignment is needed for effective coordination of higher education.

But Kaster said legislators won't go for the proposed change.

"There are no more sacred cows in the world than institutions of higher learning," he Kaster predicted the 1983 Legislature would approve a tuition increase of some amount.

The report, to be presented to Clements on May 6, will be scrutinized by the governor in preparing his 1983 legislative priorities.

The United States, with 6 percent of the world's population, consumes about one-third of the world's energy.

CARD OF THANKS The family of Offos Vick sends thanks and appreciation to all their friends and neighbors who were such a blessing to us by bringing food, sending flowers, and serving in so many wonderful ways to make the departure of our loved one easier to bear.

CARD OF THANKS We would like to take this opportunity to thank our dear friends and neighbors for the prayers, food, and flowers given us during our time of sorrow. To the Westway Baptist Church a special thank you for the lovely meal. With grateful hearts, we acknowledge the kindness of Dr. Johnson and the nurses of Deaf Smith Gen. It has been some years since the youth wave and an American population half of which was under 25. Currently, it's about 40 percent according to a recently released Census Bureau study. There are other interesting changes in the latest younger generation. Smaller percentages of the men and women are married than was the case in a comparison year, 1960, when the figures were 72 percent of under-25 women and 47 percent of men. That means fewer children and a slowing of population growth. Under-25 Americans are less involved politically than their predecessors. In 1972, 50 percent voted.

Brushing up carpet pile

DEAR POLLY - My rug is matted down near the sofa and chairs where we always sit. Is there any way to bring the pile back up? - MRS. S.C.

DEAR MRS. S.C. - If the matted spots are small, you might try brushing them up with the edge of a plastic credit card or other stiff piece of plastic. If that doesn't seem to work, try steaming the fibers before brushing them up. Hold steam from a few inches above the carpet and allow the steam to moisten (not soak) the fibers. DON'T allow the iron to actually touch the carpet fibers. For extra protection, you might put a thin cotton towel on top of the carpet and allow the steam to penetrate through the towel to the carpet. Then when the fibers are moist and hot, brush with the credit card to bring them up. Cleaning the carpet with a rental steam carpet cleaner might do the job, if all else fails. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY - When I send a get-well card to someone in the hospital, I'm not always sure that they'll still be there when the card arrives. To keep my message from going astray, I put the patient's home address on the envelope where the return address should go. That way, the card will not be returned to me, but sent to the recipient at home. -

DEAR LOLA — Such a simple idea, but such a thoughtful and clever one. It's these "why didn't I think of that" Pointers that make writing this column so much fun. Thank you, Lola, for your Pointer of the Week, for which I'll be sending you an autographed copy of Polly's Pointers: 1081 Helpful Household Hints for Making Everything Last Long-

DEAR POLLY - A good way to warm a plastic baby bottle without overheating it is to put the bottle into a thermal-lined tumbler which has been filled with hot water.

To cut down on paper product costs, I keep a roll of the best quality sturdy paper toweling in the kitchen dispenser, and a roll of cheaper toweling under a cabinet. Each clean-Also, a seam ripper doubles as a newspaper coupon clipper, if you are not lucky enough to have one of Polly's!—MRS. M.K.

Too young to be so tired Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 17-year-old girl but I feel all drawn out. I always feel like I worked a 24-hour shift. I'm never lively like a person should be at my age. Every time I start a job at home I just don't feel like doing it. I know it isn't sugar diabetes. I've had that checked. I'm always sleeping, more than my quota Sometimes I sleep 12 to 15 hours and still feel tired. Whether I go to bed early or late doesn't make any differ-

I do exercise. Also I ride my bike. I do housework and take walks. I take vitamins. B-6, B-12, bran, calcium, plenty of salads, vegetable soups and still feel the same. hope you have some suggestions for me.

DEAR READER — There are quite a few more medical problems other than diabetes that can cause a person to be fatigued. Anemia is often mentioned but it usually is not a problem if it is mild. More severe anemias will cause fatigue. At your age you may be losing enough blood with your monthly periods to require more iron. A simple blood test will settle that.

About 20 percent of people who have fatigue do have a medical problem. You could include poor nutrition in that group. I don't know if you are eating enough and if you are getting a balanced diet or not. You need a reasonable amount of complete protein. I'm glad to see you are eat-ing salads but complete proteins are mostly of animal origin. If you don't use animal protein you need to take real care in balancing food intake to be sure you get enough good quality

Too much sleep can make you tired. And both sleeping too much and feeling tired can be signs of escape from boredom or life situations. ment or joy in your life. Learn to do something with people. That could be learning to play tennis or some other activity that involves you with people in a fun situation. I realize some people have to learn to enjoy them-

DEAR DR. LAMB Would you please say somthing about strep throat? I have had a strep throat about six times already. I have had throat cultures to prove it. I had my tonsils out when I was 7 years old. I had tonsilitis from age six months until I had my tonsils removed and I still have problems. I lose my voice when I have strep throat. What can I do so I don't get them? And what causes them anyway?

DEAR READER strep throat is an infection with the streptococcus with the streptococcus bacteria. There are some viral infections that resemble a strep throat but they will not provide a positive culture which you say you have had.

And if you are susceptible to streptococcal infections and are exposed, whether you have tonsils or not, you are likely to get it.

The only way to avoid them is to take prophylactic antibiotics, such as penicillin. Otherwise each infection has to be treated, and should be. Incidentally, patients who have rheumatic heart disease normally take pro-phylactic antibiotics to prevent recurrent streptococcal infections. People living in some geographic areas are particularly prone to such infections. infections.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am worried about my 21-yearold daughter's future health. She is obese and seems to resist a proper diet. Instead she eats popcorn with butter and salt, Kool Aid with sugar, salted peanuts, pista-chios, pretzels, ice cream with syrup on a regular basis. When she eats food it is starch — corn on the cob with lots of butter and salt, Kentucky Fried Chicken with more salt, pizza and macaroni and Velveeta cheese and salt and homemade chicken soup broth with homemade dumplings made with flour, eggs and milk. She drinks about a quart of milk a day and about six glasses of water.

You'll notice no fruits, vegetables or meat other than chicken. She takes vitamins daily and says she is in good health and is simply going to be a "big person." Is she headed for trouble or am I better advised to let it be? DEAR READER - She is right about one thing - she is going to be a big person. A person could eat any one ofthose things once in a while but a steady diet of a lot of: those items means a largecalorie intake - which in turn means body fat storage.

She will get along all right in her younger years if she. doesn't have to have surgery for some unexpected reason or develop high blood pressure. But as the years go by being overweight will contribute to arthritis; and as a group, obese people have high blood pressure and high cholesterol levels which lead to heart disease, strokes and the other complications of fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries. I am not sure what you can do that will help your daughter. A person does have to help herself and really want to do something about her or his lifestyle. If you could get her to study nutrition it might help her.

She might be able to switch to fortified skim milk and cut out the extra fat sources. She might even develop a taste for fruit and salads. Perhaps a desire to improve her physical appearance may motivate
