Nancy Arellano and Lupe Mata Villarreal tediously helped paper flowers blossom Thursday night so the Bull Barn would be in full bloom for the Hereford High Senior Prom Saturday night. The Bull Barn has been converted to the French Quarter of New Orleans to fit the theme of "Mardi Gras." Guests are welcome to view the decorations from 10:30 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. on the night of the prom.

One brother indicted, investigation continues

One of two Hereford brothers accused of last week's shooting death of Henry Garcia was indicted on murder charges Thursday by a Deaf Smith County Grand jury. Benjamin Garcia, 21, was one of 12 men indicted during the May meeting of the jury. His brother, Anthony Garcia, 19, also charged in the death, was not indicted.

Martin Gonzales, was indicted for burglary of a motor vehicle and theft over $750 and under $20,000.

Ferman Olivarez, 17, and Israel Galan, 18, were indicted for burglary of a building, and Ismael Orta, 23, was indicted on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Indicted for theft over $750 and under $20,000 was James Frank Pannell, 66, and Walter Harvey Pinder, 27, was indicted for hindering a secured creditor.

Jesus Rivera, 39, was indicted for criminal non-support, and Deborah Weber, 20, was indicted for forgery and passing.

"He was neither indicted nor notified," explained Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul. "A complaint is still filed, and the investigation is continuing."

The brothers remain in the county jail on $100,000 bond each. They were arrested the day after the shooting outside an Amarillo attorney's office. The charges were based on the testimony of the victim's wife, who was seated beside him in the pickup the night he was shot.

Also indicted Thursday were Gary Don Brashears, 26, for possession of a controlled substance, phenmetrazine, and Guadalupe Elizondo Jr. on three counts of burglary of a building and one count of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Jesus Manuel Trevizo, 27, was indicted along with Elizondo, who is 19, on one of the burglary counts. Joe Gonzales, 21, also known as

Two bags of marijuana found

Hereford police confiscated two bags of what is believed to be marijuana in separate investigations Thursday.

The first "baggie" was found in a parked car which had earlier been seen speeding. Police impounded the car and are still looking for the owner. A convenience store clerk discovered the second bag while sweeping up Thursday, and turned it over to police.

Other investigations included reports of harrasment, shoplifting by an eight-year-old and the loss of $91.44 worth of bread when racks were overturned outside a local grocery store.

A school crossing guard reported that a man who lives on Cherokee Street had been seen trying to entice youngsters into his house as they walked home from school, and a junior high student was accused of tearing down part of a fence.

A juvenile was caught driving without a license and his father was issued a citation, police said. The father told police he intends to allow his son to continue driving to school.

There were two alcohol-related arrests and a third on a warrant for burglary of a motor vehicle.

Hospital hosting open house

As part of National Hospital Week observance, the Deaf Smith General Hospital will have an open house and conduct tours of the facility on Sunday afternoon.

From 1 until 5 p.m. tours will be led through all departments of the hospital to exhibit recent renovations which have been completed and familiarize the public with services available locally.

Administrator Jim Bullard encourages children to join in the tours.

Reception planned for Bayne

The public is invited to attend a reception Sunday honoring Dudley Bayne, the retiring city manager, and introducing the new manager Darwin McGill.

The reception will be held from 2 until 4 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Bayne was city manager for 29 years in Hereford and will hand over the job to Darwin McGill.

Drug sentence probated

A former Hereford man was given a ten-year probated prison sentence Thursday after pleading guilty to a drug sales charge in 222nd District Court.

Andrew Garcia, 23, pleaded guilty to a 1984 indictment for delivery of a controlled substance, marijuana. He was sentenced to 10 years deferred adjudication probation and fined $750 by 222nd District Judge David Wesley Gulley.

Garcia, who now lives in Stephenville, was still on parole for a 1980 conviction for felony theft.

State department, Jackson willing to rescue hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department's top counterterrorism official says the Reagan Administration stands "willing and happy to support any reasonable effort" by the Rev. Jesse Jackson to win the release of Americans held hostage in Lebanon by Islamic extremists.

Jackson said late Thursday that "if it is feasible and possible, I am willing to go to Kuwait and Lebanon, and if it would help, even Tehran (Iran)," in behalf of the hostages.

Jackson, relatives of the hostages and Ambassador Robert Oakley, director of the Office of Counterterrorism at the State Department, met Thursday evening at Jackson's "Rainbow Coalition" offices to discuss what the terrorists termed their "final warning" in messages published Wednesday in Beirut newspapers.

The administration has consistently taken the position that it will not negotiate with the terrorists, who have demanded that the United States pressure Kuwait into releasing several Islamic prisoners. Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said Thursday that "We will not allow ourselves to be intimidated by terrorist threats or permit such threats to compromise our fundamental policies and values."

Referring to Speakes' statement,

Jackson said "We need to make another approach to the White House — an appeal for mercy. I would hope no one would be so self-righteous as to hide behind iron-clad policies."

"Human lives are at stake," he said. "Our national security is not at stake."

Jackson and Oakley met with relatives of Terry Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press; the Rev. Benjamin Weir; and the Rev. Martin Lawrence Jenco.

The pictures of Anderson, Weir, Jenco, U.S. embassy official William Buckley and two Frenchmen were sent to a Lebanon newspaper Wednesday, accompanied by the "final warning" addressed to their families, the public and to Jackson. There was no picture and no mention of Peter Kilburn, 60, a librarian at the American University in Beirut who was in poor health when he was abducted on Dec. 3, 1984. All the men were kidnapped between March 16, 1984, and March 22 this year.

Two weeks ago, Jackson published, via Mideast newspaper ads, an "open letter to the Shiite Community in Lebanon" in which he said "the American hostages are an impediment to those of us in the West to argue our case for peace. We appeal to you on humanitarian grounds for their release."

Despite the dire tone of the terrorists' apparent reply, Jackson and several family members said they were somewhat heartened by the release of the pictures and the fact that the messages represented the first direct communication from the group to the outside world.

Demos save authority for making settlements

AUSTIN (AP) — House Democrats have saved Attorney General Jim Mattox's authority to negotiate out-of-court settlements like the ones that angered many Republicans.

A tie vote on Tuesday killed a GOP-backed effort to yank power from the Democratic attorney general.

Sponsor Bill Ceverha, R-Richardson, had won 74-66 preliminary approval for the bill he said was not meant as a personal affront to Mattox.

"I don't play political games. I don't call people names," he said.

After the Tuesday vote, Mattox said the bill was an unconstitutional effort to limit an elected official's power. He called Ceverha "the clown of the House."

After Thursday's 67-67 vote, Mattox said, "It was the first bit of excitement I think they've had all session."

Ceverha complained about Mattox's decision to accept settlements that forced Texas A&M to recognize campus homosexual groups and allow women in the Aggie band.

The Richardson Republican also did not like the out-of-court settlement in a lawsuit brought against the state by atheist leader Madalyn Murray O'Hair. As a result of that suit, state officials do not have to take an oath professing a faith in God.

Democrats scoured the floor for votes, asking House members to think about the office of attorney general — not the man now in it.

Rep. Mike McKinney, D-Centerville, said Ceverha's plan to put state agencies in charge of law suit settlements was a bad one.

"It's not the agencies' money. It's not the attorney general's money. It's the people's money," said McKinney.

And many House Democrats said the people can vote out their attorney general if they don't like the way he settles lawsuits.

"If you want to vote against Jim Mattox, pay the $1,500 (filing fee) hire a manager and run against him," said McKinney.

Thursday's first vote ended in a 69-68 victory for Ceverha. But after a roll call requested by Democrats, the vote was 67-67. Bills must receive a majority of votes to pass.

Mattox said any good lawyer would agree with the decisions he made in the cases complained about by Ceverha.

"There's just no way you can defend not having women in the band at Texas A&M. You just can't defend that," he said.

Money surge adding confusion for forecasters

By The Associated Press

An unexpected surge in the nation's basic money supply has added to confusion among interest rate forecasters.

The Federal Reserve Board said Thursday that the money supply, known as M1, shot up $2.1 billion in the first week of May, leaving it above the upper limits of the Fed's growth targets.

Early in the day, the government reported that housing construction in April climbed to its highest level in a year.

But on the downside, the Federal Reserve Board said the operating rate at the nation's factories, mines and utilities fell 0.5 percentage point in April to 80.6 percent.

The rise in the money supply was especially disappointing to financial economists because it reversed a slowdown in money supply growth that began in April.

Many analysts not only had been predicting a decline, but also were hoping that a slowing of growth in the money supply, combined with the sluggish performance of the economy, would persuade the Fed to push interest rates lower.

Now, the analysts say the Fed may take more time before deciding whether to adopt a more accommodative stance.

The Fed said M1 — funds readily available for spending — rose to a seasonally adjusted $577.6 billion in the week ended May 6 from a revised $575.5 billion the previous week. The previous week's figure originally was reported as $575.2 billion.

High school grads up against tight job market

WASHINGTON (AP) — A million high school seniors will hunt for permanent jobs in the next few months, and they will compete in a somewhat tight market run by employers who apply tough standards to the Class of '85, job market analysts say.

Graduates with extensive vocational education in fields ranging from construction to business office skills are paid about 50 cents an hour more and will work an extra two to three weeks a year compared with those who didn't take such instruction, says research scientist Morgan Lewis.

About half the seniors looking for permanent jobs enrolled in such courses and have a 50 percent chance of getting work for which they were trained, said Lewis, of the National Center for Research in Vocational Education at Ohio State University.

In Cleveland, qualified high school graduates with vocational training can expect to find jobs with smaller-size companies, says David A. Mikita, director of manpower for the Greater Cleveland Growth Association.

"The disadvantage comes to those who took college preparatory classes who didn't go to college" and now are unable to compete successfully with graduates with saleable skills, Mikita said of the Cleveland-area job market, where unemployment is 8.6 percent.

Even vocational education, which former Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz calls "the surest way to a first job," is no guarantee to future advancement.

"What more and more of them are going to have to do is a continuing liberal education at the college level," said Wirtz, labor secretary from 1962-69. "A kid coming out of high school faces pretty rough competition. They're playing hard odds."

Nationally, openings reflect the changing nature of the U.S. economy, where 70 percent of the jobs are in the service sector. A mere 20 percent of U.S. jobs are in manufacturing, marking a generally steady 35-year decline.

Work at fast-food chains and bottom-run work in retailing is available nationwide, and higher-paying, higher-skilled jobs are in plentiful supply across much of the South and the West.

But work much above the $3.35 an hour minimum wage may be hard to find in parts of the economically hard hit "rust belt" of industrial states and some of the farm states, job market analysts around the country say.

The jobless rate in Grand Island, Neb., is, for that area, an unusually high 7.4 percent and job prospects for high school graduates are "lousy; we're tied into agriculture pretty strongly," says John Lincoln, local manager of the state Job Service office.

In Pittsburgh, where steel industry employment has plummeted to 33,000 from 90,000 just five years ago, the outlook for high school seniors heading for the job market "is bleak and likely to worsen," said William Ceriani, regional labor market analyst for the Pennsylvania Office of Employment Security.

The U.S. military, which absorbs 300,000 people each year, is increasingly successful in getting better-qualified students who have graduated from high school. That trend suggests in part that high school graduates in rising numbers are having trouble getting a foot in the door in the civilian job market, and are opting for the military instead, says Sar Levitan, director for the Center for Social Policy Studies at George Washington University.

House debates indigent health

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas smokers would help pay for better health care for the poor under a plan tentatively approved by the House. The indigent health care package advanced Thursday would get about $100 million in 1986-87 from an 8-cent hike in the state cigarette tax.

It's an increase that would only take place if Congress carries through on its plan to cut the federal tax by 8 cents on Oct. 1.

Another $24 million would come from the increased state sales tax that would result from repeal of the Blue Law. The House has approved the repeal. Senators gave their preliminary approval Thursday.

House sponsor Jesse Oliver, D-Dallas, said the package could have a dramatic impact on health care for the poor, including 18 percent fewer infant deaths and an end to "patient dumping" by hospitals that don't want to treat the poor.

"I think we made some significant steps forward for the people of Texas," said Oliver, who was a member of a 71-member task force on indigent health care.

Failed bank open again

DALLAS (AP) — A newly chartered institution geared up today to welcome old customers of the Energy Bank N.A., which was declared insolvent by the Comptroller of the Currency, officials said.

The new Oaks Bank and Trust Co. of Dallas scheduled a 9 a.m. reopening today with $24.3 million in 2,500 accounts it assumed from the failed bank, said officials of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which was appointed the Energy Bank's receiver.

FDIC officials in Dallas and Washington said the Energy Bank failed because of heavy loan losses and dependence on so-called brokered deposits, usually placed by other institutions through brokers who know a troubled bank will pay higher-than-average interest rates for such funds.

"The Energy Bank had a substantial number of brokered deposits which, during the early part of this year, ran off," Ken Gorham, closing manager for the FDIC's Dallas regional office, said.

He said the bank lost about $12 million in brokered deposits early this year but that loan losses hurt the Energy Bank more.

"The Energy Bank had experienced a substantial amount of loan losses, enough to wipe out the capital accounts of the bank," Gorham said. "I don't know yet how much the loan losses were, but they were substantial."

White critical of Republicans

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says if Texas Republicans try to defeat the $225 million state fees increase bill it will hurt them more than it will hurt him.

Democrat White told a news conference Thursday he did not think a GOP threat in the House would be able to "scuttle" the bill which has passed both houses in different forms and is now in a conference committee.

"We are not going to come up short. We are not going to have any need for a tax bill," White said.

"There is a big difference between the fee bill and a tax bill, although the Republicans can't seem to understand it," he said.

Earlier this week, the Texas Conservative Coalition, made up of 77 Republicans and conservatives in the House, served notice to Speaker Gib Lewis they would oppose the increased fees, saying they considered them a form of new taxes.

"I don't have any information Republicans are trying to scuttle the fee bill but if they try to do that it would not be well received by the general public," White said.

United Airlines pilots on strike

Striking United Airlines pilots picketed in at least seven cities today as stranded passengers jammed ticket counters, while the nation's largest airline cut off service to 89 airports but vowed to continue flying with non-union pilots.

Talks between the company and the Air Line Pilots Association, meeting with federal mediators, had stalled over United's proposal to pay beginning pilots at a lower salary scale than the one currently in effect.

Negotiators met in Boston Thursday for a fifth straight day and continued until about 2:30 a.m. EDT today. No time was set for a resumption of talks.

After the midnight EDT deadline by United's 5,300 pilots passed, picket lines went up in Chicago, San Francisco, Denver, Portland, Ore., Honolulu, Los Angeles and Seattle. It is the airline's first pilot strike since 1951.

"Most of us have made preparations to stay out for a long time if necessary," said Douglas Nolker, a DC-10 pilot. "We're a united group of pilots like I have never seen in my 18 years at United."

Pope says women suffer

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Pope John Paul II acknowledged before about 2,000 church lay workers today that women suffer from paternalism and discrimination in the Roman Catholic church.

The pontiff made his comments in response to a statement by the head of an organization of lay workers, who said women eventually may turn away from the church if they are not given a bigger role.

John Paul, who has defended conservative church doctrines during his tour of the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Belgium, said that women "suffer from certain forms of paternalism and discrimination," but he did not give examples.

The pope termed the influence of women "essential" to the church.

Soviets tighten alcohol laws

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet authorities have announced plans to stamp out alcoholism by raising the drinking age from 18 to 21, making liquor harder to buy and increasing penalties for drunkenness.

The nation's Communist leadership has launched periodic, less vigorous campaigns against alcoholism for generations, with little success. Until a few years ago, throwaway caps were put on vodka bottles because it was assumed they would be emptied at one sitting.

Thursday's announcement was preceded by a growing campaign in the news media against absenteeism from the job. Statistics were published blaming drink for 75 percent of murders and rapes, 80 percent of robberies, 90 percent of general hooliganism and most divorces.

Japanese silent on missing plane

TOKYO (AP) — Both the Japanese and Soviet governments kept silent today about a report of a Soviet plane disappearing from Japanese military radar on Thursday.

Soviet officials in Tokyo, saying they had no information, refused to comment on the Japanese government's report that an aircraft of the Soviet airline Aeroflot disappeared over Soviet waters off the coast of Siberia.

An official of Japan's Foreign Ministry, who refused to be identified, said they had no new reports or comments on the plane.

In Japan's first official confirmation of the sighting, Defense Agency spokesman Shinji Yazaki said Thursday that the plane disappeared between 8 and 9 a.m.

Scientists monitor volcano activity from inside

IN THE CRATER OF MOUNT ST. HELENS (AP) — From a plywood-covered snow cave several hundred feet from the still-steaming lava dome over the throat of Mount St. Helens, scientists bounce infrared and laser beams off reflectors on the dome.

Inside the cave the almost constant rockfall off the steep walls of the crater can be heard. The rotten-egg smell of sulfur at times permeates the air.

Beneath the cave, which scientists call "The Sauna," a fumarole vents small amounts of carbon dioxide, sometimes making it difficult for the scientists to breathe.

The two-way radio slung on the hip of U.S. Geological Survey scientist Don Swanson crackles with static and then the voice of one of the two scientists working on the top of the 800-foot-high dome.

"We just felt an earthquake," the voice says with a certain calm that seems to infect those who work here.

Five years ago, this was the heart of one of the most beautiful of a string of volcanoes that stretch from British Columbia to Northern California. On May 18, 1980, Mount St. Helens tore itself apart in eruption that was 2,000 times more powerful than the atomic bombs dropped on Japan during World War II.

The blast blew 1,300 feet off the top of the volcano, leaving a gaping horseshoe-shaped crater. It is a place of haunting beauty and constant danger.

Soft snow 12 feet deep covers the crater floor. An occasional bee divebombs a bucket, attracted by its bright orange color. The colony of mice that lives near the Sauna is starting to stir; the hummingbirds, which were among the first animals to appear after the 1980 eruption, should return in a few weeks.

Towering above the crater floor is the lava dome, itself a small volcano.

The mound of loose rocks and house-sized boulders sits atop the main conduit from a shallow magma chamber, perhaps a mile or so under the crater floor. From the air, scientists working amid the 100-foot cliffs and deep cracks of the dome's top are almost impossible to spot.

Streaks and patches of snow cover much of the dome, except near 1,500-degree fumaroles from which steam and gases rise in mini-plumes.

The dome stretches 2,700 feet from crater wall to crater wall except on the open north side of the volcano's amphitheater, which overlooks Spirit Lake and the blast zone that stretches for 19 miles. Mount Rainier, another of the Cascade volcanoes, looms on the horizon.

Two earlier domes were blasted apart in the summer and fall of 1980. The top of the new dome is almost halfway up the crater walls. Its volume of 72 million cubic yards is enough to cover a four-lane freeway for 8,000 miles with six inches of lava.

"The dome has been moving a little the past couple of days," says Swanson, citing daily movement of three or four inches. Scientists use sophisticated equipment, such as the infrared and laser beams, to measure how much the volcano swells and spreads.

Team presents jackets

Team jackets and letters were presented to qualifying members of the Hereford High School rodeo team Thursday night at the group's annual banquet.

Outgoing president Lee Vanlandingham was presented a $250 scholarship by R.L. Bone of the Hereford Riders Club. Vanlandingham also received a gift in appreciation for his hard work in his office from vice president David Frische.

Athletes who participated in at least four Tri-State rodeos were given letters and several sponsors were honored. Recognized for outstanding support of the team were Carl and Johnnie Alford and Pat and Carolee Smith. Appreciation plaques were presented to sponsors Carlton and Gail Richardson, Mary Johnson, R.L. and Margie Bone, Gloria and Dale Mullins, and Cliff Johnson.

New officers for the 1985-86 year were announced. Frische will be the president and will serve with Jana Johnson as vice president; and Michelle McCormick as secretary. Johnson will also represent the club as queen.

HOSTAGES

The group, which calls itself the Islamic Jihad, said in an open letter to the hostages' families: "For the last time we wish to stress that all contact with your abducted relatives will be cut off and the consequences will be catastrophic if you do not act seriously and force your government to intervene for the release" of Islamic compatriots in Kuwait.

Oakley noted that Jackson "has had some success in the past," in the Mideast, winning the release from Syria of a captured Navy flier, Lt. Robert Goodman, in 1984. But he cautioned: "That doesn't mean he would have success now."

Jackson said as much himself, noting that in the Goodman case "We knew the man we had to talk to, President (Hafez) Assad. In this case, no one has surfaced and said, 'We are the men with whom you can deal.'"

Jackson made clear he has no immediate plans for a trip.

MONEY

M1 includes cash in circulation, deposits in checking accounts and non-bank travelers checks.

Fed policymakers are scheduled to consider strategy at a meeting Tuesday in Washington.

The Commerce Department said new housing was constructed at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.91 million units last month as a continued surge in apartment building offset a slight decline in single-family construction.

With one major bank on Wednesday cutting its prime lending rate to 10 percent, the lowest level in 6½ years, many analysts expect mortgage rates and other interest rates to head lower still.

County gets tax

The two-percent gross receipts tax on bingo netted a payment of $1,444.86 to the county, according to the state comptroller's office.

Friona Industries still negotiating

Friona Industries, Inc., announced today that CHS Holding, Inc. has notified Friona that CHS has waived the financing condition to its obligation to consummate the acquisition by CHS of Friona for $19 cash per share of Friona Common Stock. CHS has informed Friona that CHS has entered into definitive loan agreements with a group of financial institutions to provide the financing necessary for CHS to consummate its acquisition of Friona.

Friona also announced that CHS has purchased the assets of Friona's Hi-Pro Feeds division pursuant to the exercise of an option granted to CHS in February 1985. The purchase price was $9,000,000, payable in the form of a 10-year promissory note executed by CHS.

On May 9, 1985 Eller Enterprises, Inc. announced that it had increased its cash tender offer for all outstanding shares of Friona Common Stock to $19 per share conditioned, however, on the rescission and termination by Friona's Board of Directors of various contracts and agreements between Friona and CHS. Friona's Board of Directors has recommended that its shareholders not tender their shares to Eller since Eller's tender offer is subject to a condition that cannot be satisfied and the Friona Board continues to support, and its committed to proceed with, the acquisition of Friona by CHS.

Southwestern Bell Telephone introduces five new TELE-HELP booklets.

TELE-HELP is a special information program created by the employees at Southwestern Bell Telephone. We've designed it to provide answers to our customers' questions as well as reaffirm our company's commitment to the community.

Home security is something that concerns us all. But, in reality, many people don't know how to prepare for an emergency in advance. This booklet gives you tips on how to do just that.

Annoying phone calls can happen to anyone at anytime. But you don't always have to be a victim because there are a few steps you can take to deal with this nuisance. We developed this booklet to tell you about them:

Home wiring tells you how you can save money by installing new wiring or changing existing wiring in your own home. It also tells you about the options available if you would rather have someone else do the work.

A Guide to Establishing New Service tells you about all the steps involved, and what to expect, when setting up your new phone service.

Local Service Options tells you about the range of services that can enhance the value of your phone, including Custom Calling Services, Easy Access Dialing and Touch-tone service.

To order your free TELE-HELP booklets, send in this coupon or call TOLL-FREE 1-800-325-2686, extension 81, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Ann Landers

Husband is bisexual

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have never seen my problem addressed in your column or in any of the books I have read on this subject.

What happens emotionally to children who find out later in life that their father was a homosexual?

We have been married for 15 years. Four years ago I learned my husband was sexually attracted to men as well as to me. The shock that followed almost destroyed our marriage. My husband agreed to see a therapist. The new approach to treating this problem is to encourage the homosexual partner to accept the permanent inevitability of his homosexuality, try to relate to both sexes and then make an "enlightened choice."

My husband resisted this, told his therapist that he had seen enough and was no longer interested in that lifestyle. The therapist kept urging him to go with males "just to make sure." Finally my husband told the therapist we would work things out together without his help.

We have managed to keep the truth from family and friends, but I am deeply concerned about our two grade-school-age sons. What will happen to them if they learn the truth about their father in later years? I know how much parents suffer emotionally when they discover this about their children. Many are able to deal with and accept it. But what about the other way around?

Please, Ann, give me some guidance. The therapist had no answer and said he didn't deal with children's problems.—UPSET IN SAUSALITO

DEAR SAUSALITO: Actually your husband is bisexual, not homosexual; witness the fact that he fathered two sons.

If you and your husband work on improving your relationship and there are no single men hanging around the house I see no reason for your sons to have an inkling of the past.

Should someone mention it to them and they wish to discuss it, do so honestly. But be sure to explain it was a phase of immaturity which produced an identity crisis that long since has been resolved.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter in your column on eliminating the majority of junk mail and I would like to share my experience. Several years ago I placed my name with Mail Preference Service. It took nearly a year, but my junk mail eventually was greatly reduced, much to my delight.

However, I carried my program one step further. A large percentage of junk mail came with postage-paid return cards or envelopes included. Whatever piece of advertisement had my address printed on it, I returned at the advertiser's expense, after writing on it in bold bright pink felt pen, "Please Remove My Name From Your Mailing List."

That reduced the volume of junk mail to almost zero.

I strongly recommend this technique. If there's anything the advertisers hate, it's getting stuck for non-productive postage charges. At first I felt a little guilty, but when I learned how companies buy their lists I felt perfectly justified in protecting myself as best I could.—IMPOSED

Children who will be five as of Sept. 1, 1985, are urged to pre-register. Health records and a birth certificate, or baptismal certificate, are needed for proof of age.

Registration may be done from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Aikman, 900 Avenue K; Northwest, 400 Moreman, and Tierra Blanca, 615 Columbia.

Pitches 8 2-3 innings

Mike Scott leads Astros past Mets 1-0

By JONATHAN VITTI
Associated Press Writer
Mike Scott made sure that his former teammates lost more than their third base coach. The 30-year-old right-hander, with three career shutouts coming into Thursday night's game, still has three career shutouts. But his 8 2-3-inning, no-run, five-hit effort was good enough as the Houston Astros beat the New York Mets 1-0. Scott retired 15 Mets in a row between the fourth and ninth innings and ruined a combined two-hit performance by Mets starter Sid Fernandez and Tom Gorman. But Scott's only walk, to Gary Carter after Mookie Wilson's single in the ninth inning, knocked him out of the game. Dave Smith got the last out.

"Tonight was as good as I've thrown this year," said Scott, 2-1, whose last complete game and shutout came on June 21, 1983. His

BASKETBALL
NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Jordan, the flashy guard of the Chicago Bulls, was named the National Basketball Association Rookie of the Year.

Jordan, who was third in the NBA in scoring with a 28.2 average and fourth in steals with 2.39 per game, led the Bulls to the playoffs for the first time since 1981.

He outplayed Akeem Olajuwon of the Houston Rockets, 57½ votes to 20½, in the balloting conducted by 78 media members.

BASEBALL
NEW YORK (AP) — Major-league baseball club owners lost at least $36 million last year, and the total could go as high as $42 million, Lee MacPhail, their chief labor negotiator, said.

sharp control was especially helpful, given his new-for-1985 forkball.

"When the hitter is ahead in the count he is more selective with the pitches he swings at," Scott said. "I've got to get ahead of the hitters to make the forkball effective."

Reds 4, Expos 2
Tom Foley's triple broke a seventh-inning tie and gave Foley his first RBI of the season as Cincinnati dealt the Expos their fourth straight loss.

Trailing 2-0, the Reds had tied the game in the fourth on Dave Parker's two-run homer, his fifth of the year. Jay Tibbs, 3-5, went 6 2-3 innings to record the third victory in his last four decisions despite walking six and allowing six hits. Tom Hume retired all seven batters he faced for his first save.

Pete Rose went 1-for-3 to increase his career hit total to 4,124, 67 short of Ty Cobb's all-time record.

Braves 6, Phillies 3
Terry Harper and Rick Cerone batted in runs in a three-run seventh inning that was helped by a pair of errors as Atlanta handed the Phillies their ninth loss in 10 games.

With the game tied 3-3, Rafael Ramirez scored when Bob Horner's smash went past shortstop Derrel

Thomas for an error. Von Hayes misplayed Harper's single, putting a man on third for Cerone's sacrifice fly.

Philadelphia starter Shane Rawley had to leave the game with a 1-0 lead in the third because of a strained left groin. "I think he's going to miss some turns this time," Manager John Felske said of Rawley, who had a pulled right groin earlier this year. "I think he pulled it pretty good."

Bobby Valentine is named Rangers' manager

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — To Bobby Valentine, the suspense surrounding Doug Rader's leadership of the Texas Rangers is over and he can get on with the job of whipping the major leagues' cellar-dwelling team into shape as the youngest manager.

The Rangers, in an anticipated managerial shuffle, fired Rader and took the 35-year-old New York Mets third base coach the 13th heir to the Texas hot spot. The team released a statement Thursday night from its headquarters after the New York Yankees handed Texas its sixth straight loss, 6-5.

Valentine was in Houston, where the Mets fell to the Astros 1-0.

"It's official; I got the phone call from Tom (Grieve, Texas vice president and general manager) 12 minutes after 10 o'clock," said Valentine, who will take over tonight when the Rangers open a three-game series with the White Sox in Chicago.

"He informed me that it would be announced immediately so I guess I can stop walking around like I'm pregnant," Valentine said. "The baby has been delivered. Now I can just get excited."

Valentine scheduled a press conference at 3:30 p.m. today at Chicago's Comiskey Park.

Rangers vice president Tom

Grieve, in Chicago, said the agreement had been ironed out earlier in the day and that the official announcement awaited formal notification to Rader, whose team arrived from New York Thursday evening.

"I feel that the Rangers are extremely fortunate to obtain the services of Bobby Valentine to manage our ballclub," said Grieve. "Although he will be the youngest manager in the major leagues, he brings a wealth of baseball knowledge to our organization."

"He has gained valuable experience during the past three years as a key member of the New York Mets coaching staff," Grieve said. "Bobby's goal has always been to become a major league manager, and the Rangers are proud that he has accepted our offer to start his managerial career with us."

another challenge. I was almost getting bored with what I was doing."

Earlier this week, reports began circulating that the Texas management had decided to fire Rader. The Rangers, who were last in the American League West last season, fell to 9-23, worst in the major leagues, after the series in New York.

Rader's contract was extended through the 1987 season last September. Earlier this year, Rader reached the longest managerial tenure in the team's 13-year history, just 324 games over two years and two months.

The 40-year-old Rader took over the Rangers in 1983 and guided them to a third-place finish with a 77-85 record, an improvement of 13 games over the previous season. Texas slumped to a 69-92 mark last year.

Grieve, formerly the Rangers' farm team director, recommended Valentine to then-General Manager Joe Klein in 1982, after Don Zimmer was fired. Rader was later hired by Klein, who has since been fired and replaced by Grieve.

Zimmer was told of the decision to fire him on a Monday but was asked by Chiles to keep running the team until a successor was named. Darrell Johnson was hired to replace Zimmer two days later.

Valentine played nine years in the majors, ending in 1979, with the Los Angeles Dodgers, California Angels, San Diego Padres, Mets and Seattle Mariners. He has been a coach with the Mets since November of 1982.

Winfield RBI boosts Yankees past Rangers

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Dave Winfield, last year's runner-up in the American League batting race, can't remember the last time the opposition walked two batters to pitch to him. But in this case he thought it was justified.

"Normally, I wouldn't walk anybody to get to me — but I haven't driven in people like I should this season," the New York Yankee outfielder said Thursday.

Winfield rectified that a little when he finally got his first game-winning RBI of the year — a forfeit grounder in the ninth inning that gave the Yankees a 6-5 victory over the hapless Texas Rangers.

The Rangers' sixth straight loss was the last straw for Manager Doug Rader, who was fired after the game and replaced by Bobby Valentine, the third base coach of the New York Mets.

Winfield's groundout scored pinch-runner Rickey Henderson, who came into the game after pinch-hitter Ron Hassey opened the ninth with a single. Henderson moved up on a balk by Dave Stewart, 0-3, and a sacrifice bunt.

Dave Righetti, 3-2, the fourth New York pitcher, picked up the win.

In other American League action, the Minnesota Twins beat the Detroit Tigers 7-5; the Kansas City Royals whipped the Cleveland Indians 7-1; and the Baltimore Orioles stopped the Chicago White Sox 3-1 in a game called after six innings because of rain.

Orioles 3, White Sox 1
Cal Ripken and Eddie Murray hit successive doubles to trigger a two-run sixth inning, leading Baltimore over Chicago in a game called after six innings because of rain. The result snapped Baltimore's four-game losing streak and ended Chicago's five-game winning streak.

Mike Boddicker, 6-1, allowed only four hits in boosting his career record to 5-0 over the White Sox. Floyd Bannister, 2-4, took the loss although he struck out 10 in the 5-2-3 innings he worked.

Chicago Manager Tony LaRussa said he had "no complaints" about the game being called by umpire Larry Barnett.

"If anything, I'd have to pat him on the back," said LaRussa. "He waited almost two hours."

Twins 7, Tigers 5
Tom Brunansky hit a two-run homer in a four-run first inning and Kirby Puckett drove in three runs to lead Minnesota over Detroit.

Ken Schrom, 3-2, walked leadoff batter Lou Whitaker, then retired 11 Tigers in order before giving up Mike Laga's fourth-inning single. By that time, though, the Twins led 5-0.

Chet Lemon doubled in the seventh for Detroit's first run, then the Tigers erupted for four in the ninth, but it was too little, too late.

Detroit's Juan Berenguer, 1-3, victimized by Brunansky's 10th homer, lasted only one-third of an inning.

Puckett had RBI grounders in the second and fourth innings and a run-scoring single in the eighth.

Royals 7, Indians 1
Willie Wilson and George Brett hit solo home runs in the first inning and Bud Black pitched a six-hitter to give Kansas City its fifth straight victory. Brett also had an RBI single, one of three hits for him in the game, and Frank White an RBI double in a three-run ninth for the Royals.

Black, 3-3, allowed only six singles in hurling his first complete game of the season and dealing the Indians their fourth straight loss.

The quick Kansas City lead just about doomed the Indians, who have scored three runs or fewer in 20 of 33 games this year.

"We just got turned off by one of the better left-handers in the league," said Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales.

The Rangers' statement released from team headquarters said Valentine signed a contract that extends to the 1986 season and includes an option for 1987.

"The move was made at this time in an attempt to improve the performance of the ballclub, which we believe to be much better than its current record," club president Michael H. Stone said in the statement.

Valentine, in a Houston news conference, said he thanked the Rangers for "going out on a limb and hiring a guy who has never managed before."

"Baseball is a people business," said Valentine, former Mets' third base coach. "People think it's salaries are what baseball is about, but I believe it's people running around on that field, doing their best."

"I'm a good people person, as good as anyone around," he said. "And I'm ready to put that claim on the line and go out and deal with 25 people in Texas Ranger uniforms."

"This is the greatest challenge in my life and it came at a time when my life was most secure," he said. "The Mets are going great and I have the greatest rapport with Davey Johnson. But I needed
