No silent moments if prayer is suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) - Public reaffirmation of the court's 1962 decischools may not set aside daily moments of silence if students are told that "prayer" is one possible activity during the silence, the Supreme Court ruled today.

furni

By a 6-3 vote, the justices ruled that an Alabama law allowing such periods for "meditation or voluntary prayer" by public school students violated the constitutionally required separation of church and state.

The ruling represents a strong sion banning organized prayer sessions as part of the public school day.

But it does not mean that public schools cannot provide for a daily moment of silence, during which students may pray if they so desire.

"The legislative intent to return prayer to the public schools is, of course, quite different from merely protecting every student's right to engage in voluntary prayer during an appropriate moment of silence Ruled today for public schools during the school day," Justice John complete neutrality toward Paul Stevens wrote for the court.

"The addition of 'or voluntary prayer' indicates that the state intended to characterize prayer as a favored practice. Such an endorsement is not consistent with the established principle that the government must pursue a course of religion," Stevens said.

The moment-of-silence case was as politically charged as any on the high court's docket this year. Numerous political candidates in 1984 — including President Reagan — called for a return of organized prayer in public schools.

The Reagan administration, entering the Alabama case as a "friend of the court," told the justices that such state laws "enhance the opportunity for students to include silent prayer as part of their activities at school."

President Reagan favors a constitutional amendment that would, in effect, overturn the Supreme Court's 1962 decision.

The 1962 ruling, despite numerous assertions to the contrary, did not outlaw "voluntary prayers" in public schools. As Forest Montgomery, a Washington lawyer for the National Association of Evangelicals, said in a recent interview, "You can hardly engage in thought control."

The decision 23 years ago drew the line at official sponsorship of prayer sessions. Even without moment-ofsilence laws, no state or court can prevent any student from engaging in silent prayer. At least 22 other states have moment-of-silence laws, but not all of them mention prayer.

For example, Arizona and Connecticut laws provide for "silent meditation" without mentioning prayer. A Louisiana law states that the "brief time of silent meditation shall not be intended or identified as a religious Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee and Virginia.

The 1981 Alabama law was challenged by Ishmael Jaffree, an agnostic whose three children attend public schools in Mobile.

A lawyer, Jaffree initially sued the Mobile school board because his children's teachers were not barred from leading their classes in prayer. He later amended the lawsuit to challenge the 1981 moment-of-silence

Jaffree also challenged a law, enacted at the urging of then Gov. Fob James, that authorized the state's public school teachers to lead "willing students" in daily prayer sessions, and even supplied a recom-

rigure now tax overnaui will change '85 return

WASHINGTON (AP) - If you want an idea of how you would fare under President Reagan's plan for overhauling the income tax, figure it out for yourself.

You can make a fairly good estimate, if you have typical income and deductions, by looking at your 1984 tax return and changing some of the calculations to account for Reagan's proposal. That will show approximately what you would have paid had that plan been in effect last

To your 1984 income, add $240 for a family ($120 for a single person) for your employer-paid health insurance (if you received at least that much). From your itemized deductions, throw away the writeoff for state and local taxes. Interest on your principal home would remain deductible, but other deductible interest credit cards, auto loans, second homes - would be limied to $5,000 plus an amount equal to your investment income.

Two-earner couples would lose the special deduction designed to offset part of the "marriage penalty." A couple with a spouse who did not work outside the home would be permitted a maximum $4,000 deduction to Individual Retirement Accounts, up from $2,250.

If you deducted union dues, employee job expenses or other miscellaneous expenses (such as work clothes or professional journals), combine them and then deduct only the portion that exceeds 1 percent of your adjusted gross income. (That is what is left after subtracting any moving expenses and contributions to your IRA).

The 1 percent deduction may be taken whether or not you itemize.

If you don't itemize and you claimed the special deduction for charitable contributions, you'll have to eliminate it.

For each personal exemption, subtract $2,000 from income. Nonitemizers then need only look at the tax rates below to figure what they would owe. Itemizers must subtract the new standard deduction - $2,900 for single returns and $4,000 for joint returns - from total itemized deductions and subtract the balance from income to determine taxable income. Tax rates for couples: the first $4,000 of taxable income would be tax-free. The next $25,000 would be taxed at 15 percent; the next $41,000 at 25 percent and everything above $70,000 would be taxed at 35 percent.

If you are a single taxpayer, here's what your tax rates would look like: No tax on the first $2,900 of taxable income. Income between $2,900 and $18,000 would be taxed at 15 percent; between $18,000 and $42,000, at 25 percent, and everything above $42,000, at a 35 percent rate.

For example, a single person with $44,000 taxable income after deductions and exemptions would pay zero tax on the first $2,900; 15 percent ($2,265) on the next $15,100; 25 percent ($6,000) on the next $24,000, and 35 percent on the last $2,000 ($700). The total tax bill: $8,965.

It appears that all of the local organizations requesting revenue sharing funds will be awarded an allocation from the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court.

County fathers met in special session Monday for a proposed use hearing on the estimated $244,000 in revenue sharing funds the county expects to receive in fiscal year 1985-86. Representatives of the county's museum and the the Hereford Senior Citizens Center made personal pleas for funds, and a letter from Hereford Family Services Center was distributed to the court.

Johnnie Turrentine and Ruby Kendrick Sears appeared on behalf of the Deaf Smith County Historical Society asking that the county grant money for the E.B. Black House and the Deaf Smith County Museum. Sears said the Black House needs new screens, a cellar door, and concrete work in the parking area.

HSC director Margie Daniels and Homer Garrison, president of the senior citizens organization, thanked the commissioners for their help in the past and said the support "has been a vital part of our program.

Daniels said the center, with increased utility and maintenance costs, will need to raise $30,000 this year from meal donations and other sources to balance its projected budget. Commissioners later tentatively agreed to contribute $10,000.

Garrison told commissioners that revenue sharing funds had "helped get us going and keep us going." He said "not all courts are as good to their counties as you are to us."

The court decided to give the Family Services Center $6,000, up $1,000 from last year's allocation. Commissioners had high praise for director Mike Moon and said the money is "well spent."

Other tentative allocations included $4,000 to expand the law library; $10,000 for the county library; $5,000 to the museum board; $1,500 for the Hereford Satellite Center and $100,000 for the county's transportation costs. The court also moved $107,000 into the county's general

"The difference could be about $70,000," Mason told commissioners. "I can help you determine what you can get by with, which in the end is what I think you'll want to do."

Software needs should be determined first, Mason said, and then the hardware to go with it should be considered. He suggested that the court look into obtaining software from other counties with needs similar to Deaf Smith.

Officers filed a big stack of incident reports, including one from a woman who said a man knocked her down with his pickup truck as she walked across a parking lot. She said the man laughed as he drove away.

There were also numerous reports of family fighting, three prowler reports and a broken window at a local food store.

One lady was bothered by doorbell ringers while another was the victim of heavy breathing over the telephone. There were also several reports of people driving across lawns during the night hours.

A woman reported that three rings valued at a total of $2,000 were lost or possibly stolen while she worked in her yard, and Arrow Sales reported the theft of a $547 shredder.

Hereford volunteer firefighters made four runs, all on Saturday. Fire Marshall Jay Spain said a storage building at 419 Ave. F was destroyed by fire; he is not sure how the blaze began. Firemen also responded to an injury accident two miles west of Hereford, a grass fire one mile west and a fire scare which turned out to be a shorted-out electric cookstove.

Sheriff's deputies made two arrests for public intoxication, broke up three civil disputes and answered two harassment complaints. They also investigated three burglaries, one each of a car, residence and building.

HOUSTON (AP) - A challenge claiming Vice President George Bush violated the state's election laws by voting in Texas while not maintaining a home in the state has been rebuffed by Harris County election officials.

Carl Smith, county assessor and tax collector and the official in charge of voter registration, Monday allowed Bush's vote in November's general election to stand.

Smith cited a Texas constitutional provision that says a voter can continue to claim state residency if he is serving the federal govern-

"I'm convinced that it's OK," Smith said of Bush's vote. Bush's voting eligibility came under fire just before the election last fall when state Rep. Clint Hackney, D-Houston, challenged the vice president's right to vote in Texas.

Hackney's attorney, Edward Hubbard, said Bush had violated the law because he sold his Houston home in 1981 and then purchased one in Kennebunkport, Maine. Bush used his Maine address on his income tax return to not pay taxes on the profit he made off the sale of his $792,000 Houston home, he said.

Jury deliberates libel lawsuit

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Jury deliberations were to resume today in the trial of a $24 million libel lawsuit against The El Paso Times and former Mayor Tom Westfall.

The seven-man, five-woman state district court jury discussed the case for 30 minutes Monday before retiring for the night.

The panel began deliberations Monday afternoon after hearing nearly five hours of attorneys' closing arguments, in which one lawyer asked the panel to clear a "cloud of suspicion" said to be hanging over the plaintiffs' heads.

"These men have lived for five years under the cloud of suspicion that they may have done something totally corrupt," said Austin attorney Paul Knisely, referring to his clients, former Mayor Ray Salazar and real estate developer Joe Foster, who brought the lawsuit in April 1980.

Knisely told the jury, "You have the opportunity to right a terrible wrong and to undo a terrible injustice."

But Times attorney Richard Munzinger said that "if there's a cloud of suspicion," Foster and Salazar brought it upon themselves. "This case ought not to be in court," Munzinger argued. "There is no libel in this case."

Search for child proves fruitless

FAIRVIEW, Mont. (AP) - A fruitless search for a Texas toddler who wandered away from his farm-worker mother east of here last week has officially ended, authorities said Monday.

"We feel we've done everything we can do," said Detective Earl Jacobson of the McKenzie County, N.D., sheriff's office. "He's officially listed as missing."

The search began last Wednesday for 21/2-year-old Lorenzo Ganza of Sweetwater, Texas, involving hundreds of volunteers, law enforcement officers and military personnel, Jacobson said.

The boy's mother, Antonia Ganza, was picking sugar beets in a field about two miles east of Fairview when the boy wandered off, he said. The farmland, which is just east of the Montana-North Dakota border, runs along the west bank of the Yellowstone River.

Some friends of the family and other volunteers were still searching Monday, Jacobson said.

Four die in explosion

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - A man sought in the slayings of five members of his girlfriend's family fired a machine gun at police before he apparently blew up his van, killing himself, the woman and her two children, authorities say.

Three police officers, including two from Kentucky, were injured. Frederick Klenner, wanted for the murders of two women in Kentucky and three people in Winston-Salem, "opened fire with an automatic weapon" Monday as officers tried to arrest him, said police spokeswoman Joanna Colodin.

Klenner then drove off in a van with Susie Newsom Lynch, 39, and her children, John, 10, and Jim, 9, before the vehicle exploded, said Oldham County police Sgt. Dennis Clark in Kentucky. Clark said Klenner apparently detonated the blast, but Greensboro police Chief, Conrad Wade said that wasn't clear.

Clark said police were trying to arrest Klenner in connection with the May 19 deaths of Mrs. Lynch's parents, Robert Newsom Jr., 65, and Florence Newsom, 63, and her grandmother, Hattie Newsom, 84, in the elder woman's home.

In teen cruising case

Indictments handed down

DALLAS (AP) - A Dallas County grand jury has indicted 28 people on misdemeanor trespassing charges stemming from a crackdown on loitering and teen-age cruising in DeSoto.

High school honor students, girls softball team members and a fundamentalist preacher were included in Monday's indictments. They were among about 50 young people arrested May 3-4 in an attempt to combat littering and vandalism in parking lots on North Hampton Road.

The grand jury charged the 28 with ignoring signs posted in the parking lots of a Baptist church and two shopping centers that said the property was private and trespassers would be prosecuted.

Assistant District Attorney Hugh Lcas said the alleged violations were 'pretty clear cut" because of the large number of easily visible warning signs in the parking lots.

"We've got these kids that are guilty, and the law is clear," Lucas told The Dallas Morning News. "The notice (about trespassing) was clear, and they were clearly there."

Lucas said the defendants were charged with criminal trespass, a Class B misdemeanor punishable by up to six months in jail, because DeSoto police thought a loitering charge would not stand up in court.

But he said that "I certainly don't expect anybody to go to jail. I expect ing lots.

they'll just have to pay some fines."

Sue Joslin of DeSoto, whose 19-year-old son Larry was one of those indicted, said she thinks police overreacted. She said all her son did was stop his car in a parking lot to talk with his girlfriend.

"If my son was someone who picked fights or caused trouble, I'd say he had it coming," she said. "But he's a good kid, and this whole ordeal has torn him to pieces."

Seven of those indicted were from DeSoto. The rest were from Cedar Hill, Duncanville, Grand Prairie, Lancaster, Arlington and Dallas.

Twenty-one of those indicted are between 17 and 19 years old. The only three people older than 26 are the pastor of a Waxahachie church, Nathan Dean Bickerstaff: his associate pastor, Mike Theriault; and the associate's wife, Susan Theriault. The three were arrested as they passed out religious pamphlets.

Bickerstaff, pastor of Four Square Gospel Church in Waxahachie, said he was never told he was on private property before he was arrested.

The crackdown prompted a storm of protest from the parents of many of those arrested and resulted in an angry confrontation last month between the parents and members of the DeSoto City Council, which authorized the police sweep of park-

While at State Round-Up, these 4-H'ers will not only compete in contests, but will also attend social events, scholarship awards assemblies, and other cultural activities. This is an education as well as competitive event sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A prestigious honor, going to State Round-Up is one of the best trips a 4-H'er can win. 4-H'ers from Deaf Smith County are really treated special as the 4-H Parent Leaders Association pays for the entire trip including meals and registrations. Then the members are treated to a day in Arlington to visit Six Flags, White Water, Wet'N Wild or other visitor attractions of their choice.

The week long trip will end this Friday as the members will return home; their heads full of memories of new friends, cultural experiences and the fun of statewide competition and hopefully with an idea of what they'll participate in next year.

The summer cookout season has arrived and will soon be in full swing. Foods cooked outside always seem to taste better. Most foods are easily adapted to outdoor cooking.

Whatever your menu choice, choose meat first. Steak is a popular choice, but not always the one of choice because of price. Know your cuts of meat to make the wise choice for cooking. Steak buying can be expensive if a mistake is made. Thickness of the meat determines if it is labeled as steak and tenderness has nothing to do with it.

It's important to read labels, but labels do not always tell us all the information that we need to know to cook the meat properly. Knowing that meat cuts from the most used muscle of the animal are going to be less tender and require special treatment does not come from the label information. Cuts from the shoulder, chuck or round will need marinating or tenderizing when cooked with dry heat as in grilling.

Cuts that are from the less used muscles such as the rib and loin sections may be grilled to a very tender, juicy, delicious steak without special attention first to tenderize. Shoulder, chuck and round may be cooked with moist heat on the grill for delicious rhe tenderloin is the most expensive tender cut of all for the grill and next will be the loin eye and rib eye. The tenderloin will be the most expensive. Beef loins such as porterhouses or T-bone are less tender than the tenderloin, but each contains some of the tenderloin muscle. The porterhouse will contain more of the tenderloin muscle than the T-bone. Beef sirloin steaks are large steaks. This makes them the most economical choices for two or three people if they are cut thick.

Sometimes the sirloin steak prices vary with the shape of the bone. Most of the time the better buy will be the wedge shaped bone—if it is priced lower. But if sirloins are all priced the same, those that have a flat or pinbone are better values because they will contain larger tenderloin muscles.

Other meat choices that are excellent for the grill ar fryers, turkey parts, pork butt roasts or chops, ham and the ever popular hamburger.

Quartered or halves of chicken are a real treat and an economical choice. Use slow cooking and baste with an oil and vinegar sauce. You may baste with your favorite barbecue sauce during the last 15 or 20 minutes of cooking to avoid burning.

Any pork cut is tender enough to grill. Be certain the steak or chop is at least % to 1-inch thick. It takes much longer grill cooking time, but a roast, shoulder or ham will also go on the grill for some real good eating.

Bird named MVP 2nd straight year in NBA

sistency and hard work have made Boston's Larry Bird the National Basketball Association Most Valuable Player for the second straight year.

"A lot of guys had great games but he was the most consistent MVP I've ever seen," Celtics President Red Auerbach said after Bird was named a near-unanimous winner of the award Monday. "To win the MVP from the forward position is a great deal harder than to win it as a center or guard. To do it from a corner position is difficult."

Bird, who received 73 first-place votes from a panel of 78 members of the media on a nationwide panel, said he tries to make his game consistent at the 25-point, 10-rebound level, rather than trying to have 40-point games.

"Once you start to score a bunch of points, it puts a lot of pressure on you because people expect it from you," he said. "I'd rather be consistent and reach a level where my teammates will know what to expect of me night in and night out."

"He's the kind of guy that companies try to use as a motivational example," Celtics Coach K.C. Jones said. "Larry has the talent shooting, passing and rebounding but what I look at is that he has the work ethic to work hard at practice, dive after loose balls and play hard defense.'

The 6-foot-9 Bird was second in the Steel

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - Con- league in scoring with a 28.7 average and was eighth in rebounding with 10.5 per game. He also averaged 6.6 assists, led the Celtics in steals and shot 88.2 percent from the free-throw line while leading the Celtics to a 63-19 regular-season record, best in the NBA, and the finals of the championship series.

"The past few years, I've played more basketball in the summertime and I think it's helped my game," he said. "I've worked a lot in different areas. I've taken a lot of time in the offseason to develop my game and by the time the season starts, I'm in mid-season form."

Bird totaled 763 points, while Earvin "Magic" Johnson of Los Angeles was far behind in second with 264, followed by Moses Malone of Philadelphia with 218, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Los Angeles with 206, Terry Cummings of Milwaukee at 138 and rookie Michael Jordan of Chicago with 134. Jordan and Cummings had two first-place votes apiece, while Johnson got one.

Parrish homers, Rangers beat Chicago

By The Associated Press Larry Parrish knew that sooner or later he would come out of his hitting slump. He started believing the slump was behind him after he slugged two homers Sunday.

Then Parrish had a three-run homer to key a five-run eighth inning outburst by the Texas Rangers Monday night in a 7-3 victory over American League West division opponent Chicago.

With one out, Toby Harrah and Buddy Bell singled before Parrish connected off Britt Burns, 6-5. Gary Ward followed with a single, and Cliff Johnson greeted reliever Dan Spilner with a triple. A sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Pete O'Brien capped the five-run uprising.

The loss snapped a five-game winning streak for the White Sox.

The Rangers have lacked consistency in both hitting and pitching this season. They got both Monday night as pitchers Burt Hooten and Greg Harris combined to hold the White Sox to just four hits and one Parrish had not hit a homer for 25 games until his two homers against the Boston Red Sox in a losing cause Sunday. Those two started Parrish on the road back from his slump.

"A slump is not easy because you know you are stinking up there (at the plate)," Parrish said.

Orioles 7, Angels 5 What a wonderful time for Lee Lacy to hit his first home run as an American Leaguer

"You could feel the momentum building," Lacy said after hitting a two-run homer that climaxed a fourrun rally in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night and gave the Baltimore Orioles a 7-5 triumph over the California Angels.

Mariners 9, Tigers 8

Jim Presley had a pair of two-run singles to help Seattle offset a pair of home runs by Detroit's Darrell

The Mariners, who trailed 5-0 after two innings, rallied for four runs in the sixth to take a 7-5 lead. Presley singled home two of the runs as Seattle roughed up reliever Aurelio Lopez, 0-3.

Yankees 5, A's 2

Phil Niekro gave up five hits over the first eight innings to win the 291st game of his career. But when the 46-year-old Niekro, 7-3, left the game, Oakland made things interesting against reliever Dave

Dave Kingman, who had struck out three times against Niekro, hit his 12th homer to lead off the ninth against Righetti. The visiting A's went on to load the bases on a one-out single by Dwayne Murphy, a pinchhit double by Steve Henderson with two outs and walk to pinch-hitter Dusty Baker before Dave Collins flied out to deep center field to end

Rickey Henderson hit a two-run homer and Dave Winfield went 4-for-4 for New York.

Red Sox 6, Indians 5

The game at Fenway Park started off like a slugfest. It was 4-4 after two innings, but Boston starter Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd settled down and won with his AL-leading seventh complete game. Boyd, 6-4, gave up five hits in the first two innings but only four more the rest of the way

NATIONAL LEAGUE Steve Howe feels as if he's aged 10 years in the last 12 months.

"I'm making it tough on myself," said the left-handed reliever of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who earned his first victory since 1983 Monday night. "I feel like I'm 37, not 27."

When the Dodgers scored an unearned run on Mets shortstop Rafael Santana's throwing error in the 12th inning for a 5-4 victory over New York, Howe could celebrate. He hasn't had many good moments in a

"I'm excited about the three days in a row," said Howe, who threw the 11th and 12th innings and fanned George Foster with the go-ahead run on third base in the top of the 11th. He last won on July 23, 1983.

Cardinals 9, Astros 5

Andy Van Slyke and Tommy Herr doubled and singled home two runs apiece and Jack Clark belted a tworun homer for the St. Louis Cardinals. Van Slyke and Willie McGee contributed three hits for St. Louis, while Herr — the top hitter in the majors — improved his mark five points to .377 with two hits in three at-bats.

Ann Landers

Continue getting help

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me if my reactions are the same as those of most people or if I tend to go overboard.

When I am rejected by someone I am of fond of it affects every move I make. For instance, recently I attempted to buy a gentleman lunch (non-romantic.) He said, "No, please let's go Dutch," but I insisted and paid the check. The next day he gave my sister money to cover his lunch and asked her to give it to me.

Since then, I have wanted nothing to do with Christmas, Easter, Valentine's Day, my birthday, that gentleman or my sister.

I am furious that he humiliated me by returning the money. I also think it was rotten of my sister to serve as a go-between.

I now feel funny buying myself lunch because I keep thinking, "What a loser you are! Nobody likes you well enough to treat you to a

The shaggy komondor breed of guard dog, used to herd sheep, has practically wiped out wolves in Hungary.

Is this normal? I am seeing a psychologist - so please, leave me alone. - BOSTON

Dear Boston: OK, I'll leave you alone, but please don't leave yourself alone. Continue to see that psychologist. Your level of selfesteem is zero minus 109. Consequently you tend to feel exploited and persecuted when actually no harm was intended.

Dear Ann Landers: I read the letters from both mothers who discovered their daughters were taking birth control pills. I would like to tell you how I handled the same situation because it worked out beautifully and brought my daughter and me closer together.

When I discovered she was on the Pill, I was shocked, hurt, and kept asking myself, "Where di I fail?" I decided to keep quiet for a few weeks, figuring it would take that long to calm down - and it did. Meanwhile, my daughter's personality changed. She became high-strung, angry, hostile and uncommunicative. I started by telling her I loved her a great deal, that I wasn't going to jude her, that I knew she as on the Pill and that I did not think she was a tramp. I told her I did not condone her sexual activity, but I was powerless to do anything about it.

We discussed how the Pill protects against pregnancy but not against VD or the emotional turmoil that usually goes along with high school

That conversation opened many doors and changed our relationship. She now knows she can come to me with anything and I will not judge her. Her sullenness and hostility are gone. She is once more a bright, cheerful, loving daughter. This approach mey not work for other mothers, but it certainly worked for me. I am now - A MOM AT PEACE IN SAN JOSE.

Dear Mom: Beatiful! You are to be commended for reversing a situation that was going from bad to worse. Listen up, mothers. There's a lot of wisdom in that woman's story.

CONFIDENTIAL to Do They or Don't They?: Some waiters and captains split their tips with each other and include busboy and dishwasher. Each restaurant has its own policy.

Ann Landers' booklet "Sex and the Teenager" explains every aspect of sexual behavior - where to draw the line, how to say no, the various methods of contraception, the dangers of VD, the symptoms and where to get help. #### Too-snug shoes can cause corns

DEAR DR. GOTT: The summer months are approaching and I'd like to get rid of the corns on my toes. Do you have any suggestions as to how I can get rid of them?

DEAR READER: Corns and calluses are built-up layers of dead skin. These layers frequently occur on the foot where an unresilient shoe rubs against a bony prominence. Corns can be avoided by going barefoot or wearing soft, well-fitting shoes which are Once formed, corns can be easily removed by sanding with an emery board or fine sandpaper. But they will readily reoccur at pressure points with a shoe that fits too snugly. Try 57 Meteorological Remember that your dominant foot may be slightly larger than the other anyway. In the winter, use heavy socks; in the summer, sandals or sneakers. If all else fails, see an orthopedic surgeon or a podiatrist on the chance that there is an abnormality of one of the foot bones.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am prone to boils. I've taken urine and blood tests, but to no avail. Is my body trying to tell me something?

DEAR READER: Most boils are due to staphyloccal infections which begin deep in the pores of the skin. Staph germs exist everywhere on our bodies and usually cause no harm. However, people with diabetes and immune deficiencies are more susceptible to boils. If your doctor is satisfied that you have no underlying disease to explain your tendency to skin infections, try washing with soap that contains antibacterial compounds. If you continue to be plagued by these infections, your doctor might be encouraged to give you a course of antibiotics to eradicate staph. Some patients with resistant boils are helped by long-term, low-dose antibiotic therapy, much like that used to

DEAR DR. GOTT: I just got over a bad bout with sinus. I think I remember reading that sinus is more common with women. Is that true? Is it hereditary?

DEAR READER: Sinus infections are caused by viruses or bacteria. Some people seem to be more prone to sinus congestion and infection because of air pollution, in the form of smoke or vapors or dust. Others may tend to develop sinus infection because of allergies.

If you work in a situation where there is smoke or fumes, you can help your sinuses by using exhaust fans or structuring your environment so that you avoid air pollution. If you smoke, stop or reduce. If your fellow workers smoke, try to find a workplace away from them.

In the event you are an allergic person, you may need to take special pains to avoid contact with compounds to which you are sensitive, like animals, pollens and certain foods. You may require desensitiza-tion shots from an allergist. Although sinus infection is not hereditary in most cases, a tendency to allergy can be. Often the use of antihistamines can help an allergic person avoid sinus infection if the medicines most of which are available without a prescription - are taken during the time of greatest congestion. I am not aware that sinus infection itself is either hereditary or more common in

Polly Fisher Fresh eggs

DEAR POLLY - Why are my fresh bantam eggs hard to peel for boiled or deviled eggs? Also, how long will eggs keep in the refrigerator? -

DEAR K.E.N. - Very fresh eggs are always hard to peel when they've been hard-cooked. Since yours are obviously about as fresh as can be, I'd refrigerate them for at least four to five days before boiling them.

You should be able to store your eggs for about three weeks in the refrigerator. To determine whether the egg is past its prime and should be discarded, cover the egg with cold water. If it floats, toss it out. - POL-

DEAR POLLY - I've found many uses for the 5-quart plastic ice cream pails. One use is in my daughter's playpen. She has so many small toys. The pails filled with toys keep the playpen neat and she loves to empty them and use them as drums. You can easily remove the handle so there's nothing to harm the child.

Another use is as a clothespin holder. If you set it on the ground, you'll have to bend down to get the pins, but just think of what the exercise will do for you! — ANN

DEAR POLLY — If the eraser on a pencil gets black and hard, use an emery board on it. It will become like new again. - MRS. M.S.

"HAVEN'T YOU HAD ENOUGH?"

Listen, O heaven and earth, to what the lord is saying: The children I raised and cared for so long and tenderly have turned against me. Even the animals - the donkey and the ox - know their owner and appreciate his care for them, but not my people Israel. No matter what I do for them, they still don't care. Oh, what a sinful nation they are! They walk bent-backed beneath their load of guilt. Their fathers before them were evil too. Born to be bad, they have turned their backs upon the Lord, and have despised the Holy One of Israel. They have cut themselves off from my help. Oh, my people, haven't you had enough of punishment? Will you force me to whip you again and again? Must you forever rebel? From head to foot you are sick and weak and faint, covered with bruises and welts and infected wounds, unanointed and unbound. Your country lies in ruins; your cities are burned; while you watch, foreigners are destroying and plundering everything they see. You stand there helpless and abandoned like a watchman's shanty in the field when the harvest time is over - or when the crop is stripped and robbed. (Isaiah 1:16-17)
