Rusche briefly visits Hereford area

By JERI CURTIS
 Managing Editor

It is possible that 10 percent of the waste stored in the first nuclear waste repository could be military waste, according to Ben C. Rusche, undersecretary of the Department of Energy and director of the Office of Civilian Waste Management.

BEN RUSCHE

Military waste to be stored with civilian

Rusche arrived in Hereford late Tuesday afternoon to attend an invitation-only dinner given by the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce. Today he was scheduled to meet with landowners near the site in north Deaf Smith county which is being examined to be a nuclear waste repository, attend a reception in Vega, and be at a luncheon in Amarillo.

"The president has just made a determination as we had proposed last fall that there's no need to have a separate repository for defense waste, and therefore in the civil repository, or repositories, will be located the defense waste," Rusche said Tuesday in a brief meeting with The Hereford Brand and KPAN radio.

He reported that the status of the environmental assessment was that his department was shooting for a final release date in the late fall of this year. According to project manager Linda McClain, about 14,000 excerpted comments from the hearings held in Tulia and Hereford were being compiled.

Rusche said the formal comments from all the states and Indian tribes affected were in and a few more would be coming from Texas, although the comment period deadline had passed.

He said there were large numbers of comments, "perhaps more than we expected."

He noted that in Texas there are a few more local and state laws to pay attention to and that it would take a little longer to get ready for the salt project.

Rusche also noted that an announcement made in April concerning a monitored retrieval system, planned for one of three sites in Tennessee, is not a substitute for a repository. Rusche said the preliminary designs for the MRS are being made for formal introduction to Congress next January.

Rusche said he had not seen any reports on the Texas Department of Agriculture survey, and said one would have to be careful in making any comparisons to citizen responses in other states.

He said that he thought that during the characterization period, that people would be receiving information to make good judgement on the location of the site.

"I'm sure we'll have many opportunities for information meetings, both to tell folks what was there, why it was there," he said. The total of the public responses would be made available also, he said.

The assessment and comments will be used to provide a basis for the recommendation of a characterization site.

"I can't speak to any particular hearing as such, but I can assure you that the whole process is aimed at having full involvement of all the affected and interested people," Rusche said.

"If we are characterizing in Hereford, my nominal approach is going to try to be here at least once a quarter for the opportunity to review what's going on, and the opportunity to talk to the people," Rusche said.

"I've committed a fair fraction of my life to this task and I want to do it right."

Rain Reflections

Just over an inch of rainfall fell in the city during the night and the sunrise was greeted by reflections in puddles. It has been the rainy season for the Hereford area with the latest cloudbursts adding to the one to two inches which fell during the weekend.

Boardtoys with new ER construction

A new, larger emergency room may soon be constructed at Deaf Smith General Hospital, board members decided Tuesday.

The board met in regular session with Don Miller of Northline Construction of Amarillo, the company in charge of recent renovations to the hospital. Board members voted unanimously to let Miller provide them with "shop drawings" and a proposal for the work.

The project would include adding a roof and floor to a "patio" area, a space near the back of the main building now fenced by four outside walls.

The new area would also include a doctor's library, which would allow doctors easy access to both the emergency room and the surgical wing.

In other business, the board voted to revise employee insurance coverage and accept a proposal outlined by DSGH Business Manager Phillis Morrison.

Morrison told the board that the new plan would increase the premiums paid by the employees, but added that employee premium amounts have not increased in several years.

For the hospital's 129 employees covered under the plan, the hospital would pay $11,600 of the $18,881 total premiums per month. Employee contributions would amount to $7,271.

Currently, DSGH has a self-funding plan for employees who are treated at the hospital. Those sent to other facilities submit their claims to Blue Cross.

Under the new plan, all claims will be sent to Blue Cross. Morrison said the plan will allow the hospital to budget a set amount each month for hospital coverage and should end cash flow problems created by large claims against DSGH.

Board member Father Charles Threewit asked that a story appearing in the May 18 Brand be clarified. He said the board decided last week in special session to contract with Affiliated Pathologists of Denton for a fulltime pathologist and part-time anesthesiologist, but did not commit to the hiring of any particular doctor.

The Brand reported that the board's decision would also mean the Gentle rain falls in county

A slow, gentle rain in most parts of the county left moisture reports of 1 to 1.5 inches and a few measurements near 2 inches this morning.

KPAN Radio, the official Hereford weather station, reported 1.07 inches this morning. Two reports around the Simms community ranged from 1 to 1.5 inches; a report from Dawn indicated 1.08 inches; a lady near Walcott reported 1.8 inches, and a little over an inch was reported at Easter.

"It was a beautiful rain last night, and things are sure wet around here," reported Mrs. Eldred Brown in the Walcott area. "We'd better enjoy it because there are more dry days than wet," said Cal Mitts at Northwest Grain in the Simms area.

Weekend rainfalls had already left from 1 to 2 inches of moisture in most parts of Deaf Smith County. The rains should prove beneficial to most farmers.

Police willing to enforce trespassing offenses

Police Chief Caydon Brush said his department will enforce trespassing laws on parking lots posted by the owners.

The remains of weekend drinking parties on parking lots up and down Main Street were evident Monday morning, with the usual littering accompanied by vandalism and criminal mischief. City manager Dudley Bayne said the unusual amount of littering was about the worst he had seen.

A broken window was reported to Hereford Police by the Sears store, and Bluebonnets growing in a Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce flower bed were destroyed when someone tromped on the flowers.

According to Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul, the law provides protection for business owners who prefer their parking lots not be used after the close of business hours.

State law says trespassing has taken place if someone "enters or remains on property without the consent of the owner, and had notice that the entry was forbidden."

He said trespassing also occurs when a person is asked to leave someone else's property but does not do so.

"Notice", according to the law, means oral or written communication by the owner or someone with the apparent authority to act for the owner.

Saul said that signs posted in such a way that they are "reasonably likely to come to the attention of the intruder" would provide proper notice. He said a fence would also be an indication that visitors are not welcome.

Violation of the trespassing law is a Class B misdemeanor, with the offense upgraded to a Class A misdemeanor if a habitation is entered or a deadly weapon is carried onto the property.

Punishment is by fine not to exceed $1,000, jail not to exceed 180 days or both.

Brush said that even when property is not posted, there are other possibilities for enforcement. He said arrests for littering can be made if a law enforcement officer witness the act or someone willing to file a complaint sees littering takes place.

Public intoxication or other alcohol related charges can be filed if an officer has reasonable cause to believe a person is intoxicated or his driving impaired by alcohol, Brush said.

Vandalism, mischief reported

Hereford Police reports this morning included several complaints of vandalism and criminal mischief.

Two windows were discovered broken out at the high school cafeteria, and windows were broken and screens torn on a trailer in the 300 Block of Ave. F.

Windows were also discovered broken at a vacant rent house in the 800 Block of Union.

Roofers from Amarillo reported the apparent theft of a staple gun, valued at $270.

There were two minor traffic accidents Tuesday.

The theft of a horse trailer loaded with furniture was reported to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department. The furniture, part of it antique, was being stored in a barn and belonged to J.F. Miller of Rt. 5, Hereford.

Deputies made one arrest for driving while intoxicated.

Combest survey released

Agriculture biggest worry

Participants in a survey of the 19th Congressional District conducted recently by Congressman Larry Combest believe agriculture is the biggest problem facing West Texas today.

Of the more than 9,600 responses mailed to Combest's Washington, D.C. office, 44 percent said agriculture is the biggest problem. The water shortage was considered critical as well, with 35 percent listing that as the area's biggest problem.

Nine percent selected education, eight percent crime and four percent listed other problems.

Agriculture was not listed among the nation's biggest problems, however. Sixty percent of those who responded to the survey saw the federal deficit as the country's most critical problem. The threat of war came in at 13 percent, while nine percent named interest rates, four percent unemployment and one percent taxes. "Other problems" made up 13 percent of the answers.

When asked how to go about reducing the federal deficit, 43 percent suggested cutting social services. A cut in defense spending was the second most popular answer, with 38 percent selecting that method. Eight percent wanted to raise taxes and 11 percent had other suggestions.

Asked if they would favor a constitutional amendment requiring Congress to balance the federal budget each year, a whopping 76 percent of the participants answered yes. Twenty percent said no while four percent were undecided.

The president should be given line-item veto power to deal with specific spending items, 69 percent of those responding said. Eighteen percent said no and 13 percent were undecided.

Respondents agreed more on the voluntary prayer issue than on any other. Eighty-two percent favored a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayer in public schools. Combest also asked 19th District residents if they would favor decon-trols on the price of natural gas, with 56 percent responding affirmatively. Sixteen percent said no and 28 percent were undecided.

Forty-nine respondents were in favor of a flat-rate tax system with limited deductions, while 25 percent were against the idea and 26 percent undecided.

When asked how they wanted the federal government to spend their tax dollars in the coming year, 34 percent wanted more spent on farm programs. Forty-one percent favored spending less, while 25 percent were happy with the current farm budget.

The other categories were answered as shown below:

Spring Football

Running back Mark Artho (33) seems to be pointing his path between noseguard Michael Phibbs (89) and Casey Smith (71) during the traditional spring Maroon and White Game last night. An overcast sky and chilly, damp winds added to the aura of football as many fans wrapped themselves in jackets and hats to endure until the final play. For a complete story, see Page 6.

Justice approves Muse acquisition

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. Department of Transportation still must approve the merger of Southwest Airlines Co. and financially troubled Muse Air Corp., officials say.

But the Department of Justice said Tuesday it has given approval for the plan by Southwest to acquire Muse Air. Both carriers are based in Dallas.

Phoenix-based America West Airlines told the Transportation Department, in a protest received by the agency's Monday deadline for comments, that the merger would be anticompetitive.

Justice Department officials said they were approving the merger because of Muse's financial condition, leaving unresolved the question of whether the combination would have any anticompetitive effects. Muse lost $22.2 million in a recent 15-month period.

Under department guidelines, "an otherwise anti-competitive merger may be permitted if one of the merging companies is failing financially," said Charles F. Rule, acting assistant attorney general for the antitrust division.

Muse, without merging, probably would be unable to meet its financial obligations in the near future and might not successfully reorganize under bankruptcy laws, department officials said.

Men found dead in car trunk

LEAKEY, Texas (AP) — Three men believed to be illegal aliens have been found dead near Leakey in the trunk of a car that was washed into a creek by heavy rains.

Officials began a search for four other men who left the scene after they were rescued from a tree.

Leakey, a small Hill Country community between Junction and Uvalde, is the Real County seat. It is approximately 60 miles southwest of Kerrville.

The decomposed bodies of the unidentified men were found Monday after Real County authorities broke into the locked trunk of the car after a Leakey wrecking company retrieved the car from the creek, Real County Sheriff Buck B. Miller told the San Angelo Standard-Times on Tuesday.

The car was located hood-deep in the swirling water on May 17, but the vehicle could not be pulled out until Monday.

House flies power model plane

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — Don Emmick's tiny test pilots and their balsa and plastic crafts fly in the face of aerodynamics, leaving aeronautical engineers bug-eyed and mystified.

Emmick, 60, uses the common house fly to power a superlight model airplane. The aeronautical engineer said he got the idea from a 1940 trade journal.

"It's given me a great appreciation of flies," Emmick said. "I no longer say, 'What pests.' I say, 'What great engines.'"

But Emmick didn't attempt insect aviation until 1978, when fellow engineers bet $5 that a fly could not power an airplane.

Emmick, who occasionally lectures for the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, spent two months studying flies and building model planes.

His first successful flight required development of an ultra-thin plastic "about the same thickness as a wave of light" which he added with balsa wood to build a twin-winged plane.

Emmick also learned to glue the flies to the fuselage by their abdomens because "for some reason, they don't flap their wings when you glue their legs."

Emmick won his $5 bet and also made the Guinness Book of World Records in 1981 for building the world's smallest powered model airplane. One of his planes, weighing one-millionth of a pound, was sold to the Los Angeles County Fair for $140 in 1979.

Philadelphia official to resign

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — City managing director Leo A. Brooks, who directed the attempt to evict the radical group MOVE in which 11 died and 53 homes were destroyed, says he will resign, according to a published report.

Brooks, a former Army major general, said he made the decision four months ago, and told Mayor W. Wilson Goode of his plans to quit two weeks before the May 13 siege, the Philadelphia Inquirer reported Wednesday.

Brooks, 52, said he probably would delay his resignation until the summer while a mayoral commission investigates the confrontation, which also left 270 people homeless.

He also said in the Inquirer interview that he was out of town for the five days before the showdown, when plans to evict MOVE were worked out.

Goode's press secretary, Karen Warrington, said Brooks' decision "was not a surprise, since a number of his cabinet people had really only committed to staying about two years."

Brooks came under criticism from lawmakers, the media and community members for authorizing use of a bomb against the MOVE headquarters. The fire that engulfed the neighborhood began shortly after the explosive device was dropped on the roof of the MOVE compound.

Rooming house fire kills seven

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Fire swept through a three-story rooming house in a working class neighborhood early today, killing at least seven people as it reduced the structure to frame and ashes, police said.

Ten people were believed to have been living in the old, wood-frame building, said police Sgt. Arthur O'Keefe. He said two had escaped with injuries after the being forced onto an upstairs back porch by flames.

"I've been here 30 years and this is the worst fire I can remember," said city police Lt. Sal Marino. "The fire was emanating from the windows on the first and second floors."

The structure, which is about three blocks from a firehouse, was engulfed by flames by the time firefighters responding to 1:23 a.m. alarm arrived, said O'Keefe. The blaze was extinguished two hours later.

Moslems, Palestinians fight

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Battles between Palestinians and Shiite Moslems spilled over into high-rise buildings overlooking the Palestinians' besieged west Beirut refugee camps. Police said at least 121 people had been killed and 650 wounded.

The hard-pressed Palestinians managed to take control of four tall buildings near the Sabra and Chatilla camps Tuesday in hand-to-hand combat, witnesses said.

They used the vantage points to pour heavy fire down on Shiite militiamen who were pressuring the camps in their effort to prevent the Palestinians from re-establishing themselves in Beirut.

Other Palestinians recaptured the nine-story Gaza Hospital on the fringe of Sabra, which was overrun by Shiite militiamen Monday night, said witnesses and Palestinian sources.

At Chatilla, located next to Sabra, and Bourj el-Barajneh, located to the south near the former U.S. Marine base at Beirut airport, Palestinians fought desperately to keep the Shiites at bay.

Weekend After Math

City street sweepers usually face the task of cleaning up from weekend parties on Monday morning, but Monday's wet weather caused a delay of the cleanup. Members of the First United Methodist Church were greeted by this view of their parking lot across the street to the south, despite a sign on the Sears building asking that it be used by church or business customers only.

Ann Landers

Care was acceptable

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 30 years old, I decided I wanted a child. After 2½ years I finally became pregnant. I went to a highly recommended obstetrician and told him I was concerned about having a normal child at my age. He said I had nothing to worry about.

I asked him about amniocentesis and ultrasound — just to "make sure." He said I didn't need it. During each visit a urine sample was taken and he listened to the heartbeat. That's all the checking that was done until I went into my seventh month, when I finally talked him into the ultrasound. I had two of the tests.

When I asked about the results I was told everything was fine. I lived like a saint for nine months, touched no drugs or chemicals and ate only fresh, natural foods.

In November I gave birth to a beautiful baby boy. My husband and I were so happy. Twelve hours later, the pediatrician told me the child was mongoloid. What an ugly word for such a beautiful baby! We were crushed and looked for someone to blame.

Was anyone to blame? Did I receive the best care and treatment? I certainly paid enough for it. With all the technology we have today, why wasn't it made available to me?

Ann, I can't tell you how much we love this baby, but if we had known in the beginning, we would have terminated the pregnancy. Sign me — DOWN ABOUT DOWN'S

DEAR DOWN: According to Dr. John Sciarra, chairman of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Northwestern University, the care you received was acceptable for a 32-year-old patient.

A Down's Syndrome child can be born to a woman of any age, but the chances increase greatly after 35. Probably the reason your doctor did not use the amniocentesis is because the procedure is not without danger and he felt the risks outweighed the chances of finding something abnormal. Ultrasound cannot detect Down's Syndrome. It is used to learn if there are gross abnormalities in the bone or tissue structure.

So, my dear, it appears there is no one "to blame."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter will soon be 16. All her friends use their bedrooms to entertain. The majority do this while parents are not at home. Some of the kids smoke pot and drink beer or hard liquor. Nobody makes a big deal out of whether you do or you don't. She claims she doesn't indulge.

It seems that the bedrooms are the entertainment centers (weren't they always?), with TVs and stereos (and of course, beds): They have carpeting, easy chairs, coffee tables and plants. My daughter is doing her room over with the thought that she will be allowed to entertain her friends in her bedroom (with the door open).

Should I allow it? My better judgment says no, but I'd rather have her entertain her friends (without the booze and smokes) here at home when I am present than to go to someone else's house where no parents are around, which is usually the case. — UNIVERSAL WOE

DEAR UNIVERSAL: Your daughter sounds solid and straight. However, I suggest a compromise. Tell her she may entertain her friends in her bedroom with the door open, but only when you are at home.

Are drugs OK if you learn how to control them? Can they be of help? The answers are in Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." For each booklet ordered, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

In Maroon & White spring game

Herd offense defeats defense, 32-21

The Herd offense defeated the Herd defense 32-21 Tuesday night in the annual Maroon & White Spring Game.

At halftime, however, the defensive team held a 16 1/2-14 lead over the offense in the game that closes out spring training for Hereford High School football players.

The offense scored five touchdowns and a pair of point-after kicks in winning the spring game.

Defensive scoring was based on denying the offense a first down, recovering fumbles or intercepting passes, and several other defensive accomplishments.

For example, a turnover by the offense was two points for the defense, and the denial of a first down was half a point.

Other ways that the defense could score points were: blocked punt, three points; blocked extra point, one point; blocked punt returned for touchdown, six points; intercepted pass returned for touchdown, six points; goal line stand, inside the 10-yard line, three points; and turnover on a two-point conversion, one point.

The Herd football team will resume practice in August with the two-a-days. The 1985 season opens on Friday, Sept. 6 when Hereford plays on the road against San Angelo Central.

The 1985 season schedule is as follows:

Date	Opponent, Time
Sept. 6	at San Angelo Central, 8 p.m.
Sept. 13	at Palo Duro, 8 p.m.
Sept. 20	Lubbock, 8 p.m.

Oct. 4	Lubbock Coronado (Homecoming), 8 p.m.
Oct. 11	at Clovis, 8:30 p.m.
Oct. 17	at Caprock, 8 p.m.
Oct. 25	Plainview, 8 p.m.

Walter Payton rushed for 3,563 yards in 584 carries, 6.1 yards per carry, in his college football career at Jackson State University in Mississippi from 1971 to 1974.

Varsity Football Scrimmage

Stefan Hacker (25), quarterback for the Hereford High School football team, tries to avoid Ricky Trevino (33), a safety, during a play in the annual Maroon & White spring game Tuesday night at La Plata Field. The Herd offense defeated the Herd defense, 32-21. Fifty-eight players suited up for the Maroon & White game, 29 on offense and the other 29 on defense. The Herd opens the 1985 season at San Angelo Central on Friday, Sept. 6, in an 8 p.m. non-district game.

The first sudden-death game in National Football League history, with the exception of an exhibition game, was played on Dec. 28, 1958. Eight minutes and 15 seconds of overtime were played before the Baltimore Colts defeated the New York Giants 23-17 in the NFL championship game.

In series against Lakers

Nuggets battle for survival

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Denver Nuggets, who are ravaged by injuries, will battle for survival tonight when they challenge the healthy Los Angeles Lakers in Game 5 of the National Basketball Association's Western Conference finals.

Even under the most ideal conditions, beating the Lakers is not an easy task, especially at the Forum, where they have won 23 of their last 24 games. For the Nuggets, a victory at this point would be a major surprise.

The Nuggets will be without forward Alex English, who averaged 30.4 points in Denver's first 13 playoff games. English suffered a broken thumb on his shooting hand during Sunday's 120-116 Los Angeles victory at Denver.

English is only one of several injured Nuggets. Forward Calvin Natt and guards Lafayette Lever and Mike Evans are nursing knee injuries; center Wayne Cooper has a strained rib ligament; swingman Elston Turner has a sore hamstring and center Dan Issel has a deep thigh bruise.

Outside of English, all the wounded Nuggets are expected to play.

The Lakers are in good health going into the nationally televised game, which begins at 11:30 p.m. EDT.

A win by the Lakers, who are 10-2 in the playoffs and hold a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Western Conference finals, would earn them a berth in the NBA's Championship Series for the fifth time in the past six years.

The Lakers would meet Boston or Philadelphia — the defending NBA champion Celtics hold a 3-1 lead over the 76ers heading into Game 5 of their Eastern Conference final series at Boston tonight.

"It's tough enough to beat them (the Lakers) at full strength," Issel said. "It's nearly impossible under these circumstances. Unfortunately, we're playing what I think is the best team in the NBA."

English scored 28 points before being injured late in the third quarter of Sunday's game. He scored 40 points in Denver's lone win in the series, a 136-114 triumph at the Forum last week.

"Anytime you lose a guy that scores 30 points a game, it's going to hurt you," said Los Angeles center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar in assessing Denver's chances in Game 5.

"It was a heartbreak for them," said Earvin "Magic" Johnson of the Lakers. "They came this far and then the injuries started to happen. I've been there before. It's hard to beat a good team without your horses."

Tonight in Game 5

Celtics aim to eliminate 76ers

By HOWARD ULMAN AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Julius Erving was tired. Larry Bird was hurt. More than 72 hours of rest could help the two superstar forwards shake their shooting slumps at a critical time.

Bird and the Boston Celtics take a 3-1 lead into tonight's fifth game of their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series against Erving and the Philadelphia 76ers. A Celtics' victory would send them into the championship round against Los Angeles or Denver, who also play their fifth game tonight with the Lakers leading 3-1. A 76ers' victory would force a sixth game Friday night in Philadelphia.

Boston captured the first three games of the Eastern Conference final before Philadelphia stayed alive with a 115-104 triumph at home Sunday.

In that fourth game, Erving made four of 21 field goals attempts and scored 15 points, while Bird was four of 15 with 14 points. In the last two games Saturday and Sunday, Erving was five of 31 with 20 points.

"For the most part, the shots that he missed, especially in the last game, we want Doc (Erving) to take, the shots Doc has made throughout his career," Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham said. "He'll be able to get rolling again."

"My legs haven't had enough strength on my close-range shots," said the 35-year-old Erving. "There is no power in my jumps. The few days off should help. The way I shot the ball this weekend, if I was just a shooter and scorer I shouldn't play the next game. Hopefully, I can do other things."

He did other things Sunday when he pestered Bird with tight defense that kept Boston's star forward to his lowest playoff point total of the year.

"He's always got a hand in his face," Celtics Coach K.C. Jones said of Bird. "That's the idea, to make him put the ball on the floor."

Bird jammed his right index finger in the first half of Saturday's game. He played 38 minutes Sunday, even though the damaged finger on his shooting hand was swollen. Dr. Thomas Silva, Boston's team physician, said the time between games should "be very beneficial" in helping Bird get over his injury.

The 76ers have led each of the last three games after the first quarter. They have won only one of them. To avoid elimination, they must snap Boston's 10-game home playoff winning streak, then beat the Celtics Friday in Philadelphia and Sunday here.

For air conditioners Maintenance important Few things are worse than a broken air conditioner on a hot, humid day—except the bill to get it fixed.

Preventative maintenance can help avoid a possible break-down during the summer months and make an air conditioner run more efficiently, says housing specialist Dr. Peggy Owens.

"Since air conditioning is one of the largest single users of home energy, proper service and maintenance can help consumers hold down electric bills," remarks the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

Checking the system for warning signs is a simple matter, Owens maintains. Put your hand in front of the air supply vents. If the air feels lukewarm, it could indicate a problem with the ductwork, compressor, evaporator or refrigerator.

You should also feel air movement from the vent. If you don't, it may indicate a fan problem, a dirty filter, dirty evaporator coils or ductwork leaks.

Then check the condenser unit outside. It's normal for the air being discharged from the unit to be hot. If it isn't, there could be a problem with the compressor.

"Fixing or maintaining a central air conditioning unit is usually not a job for a do-it-yourselfer," Owens cautions. But because a service call can be costly, homeowners should know what to expect for their money," Owens advises.

The specialist suggests that a maintenance service call should include the following:

- Lubricate the condenser fan bearings, if not permanently sealed.
- Clean the air intake side of condenser coil.

- Tighten the electrical connections on the condenser, and check the operating current and supply voltage with volt amp meter.
- Check the refrigerant levels and pressures.

- Inspect the compressor start and run capacitors.

- Clean or replace the blower filter.
- Lubricate an unsealed blower fan motor and blower bearings. Check and adjust the belt tension and inspect the belt if the fan is belt-driven. Clean the blower wheel.

- Clean the evaporator coil and check the fan condition on blower unit.
- Clean and inspect the drain lines and pan in the blower unit.

- Check for excessive attic air leakage into the return air chamber of the blower unit.

Newspaper Bible
YOU'VE GOT TO GET TURNED AROUND

"So Jesus used this illustration: 'If you had a hundred sheep and one of them strayed away and was lost in the wilderness, wouldn't you leave the ninety-nine others to go and search for the lost one until you found it?' And then you would joyfully carry it home on your shoulders. When you arrived you would call together your friends and neighbors to rejoice with you because your lost sheep was found. Well, in the same way heaven will be happier over one lost sinner who returns to God than over ninety-nine others who haven't strayed away! Or take another illustration: A woman has ten valuable silver coins and loses one. Won't she light a lamp and look in every corner of the house and sweep every nook and cranny until she finds it? And then won't she call in her friends and neighbors to rejoice with her?' In the same way there is joy in the presence of the angels of God when one sinner repents." (Luke 15:3-10)

Now change your mind and attitude to God and turn to him so he can cleanse away your sins and send you wonderful times of refreshment from the presence of the Lord and send Jesus your Messiah back to you again. (Acts 3:19-20)

I have had one message for Jews and Gentiles alike - the necessity of turning from sin to God through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. (Acts 20:21)
