By O.C. DOELLING
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS (AP)
— Nicaraguan leftist junta leader Daniel Ortega says his government will immediately seek reconciliation with United States if the Reagan administration will "voice its commitment not to attack Nicaragua." Ortega made the offer

Thursday at a special session of the 15-nation U.N. Security Council. The meeting was convened at his government's request to hear charges that U.S.-backed forces are planning an imminent attack on Nicaragua. Ortega said Cuba and the leftist guerrillas fighting to topple the U.S.-backed junta in El Salvador also are willing to join in reconciliation talks "without preconditions."

U.S. officials have confirmed that former CIA Deputy Director Vernon Walters, now a key aide to Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., traveled to Havana last week for the first direct contact between a Reagan administration member and Cuban President Fidel Castro.

"We are willing to begin immediately direct and frank conversations with the government of the United States, even in a mutually agreeable third country, with the objective of reaching concrete results through such negotiations," Ortega said.

U.S. Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, president of the council for March, called Ortega's invasion charges "as extravagant as they are baseless." She told reporters later she did not want to comment on Ortega's proposal for talks until she had time to study it.

Nicaragua's leftist government frequently has accused the Reagan administration of backing plans for an invasion of the Central American nation. The White House in turn claims Nicaragua is funneling Cuban arms to the guerrillas fighting in neighboring El Salvador.

Ortega demanded a halt to what he said was the Reagan administration's policy of financing and arming Nicaraguan exiles based in neighboring Honduras.

The Nicaraguan leader requested an "explicit pronouncement" from the Security Council that would support peaceful resolution of the conflicts in Central America, as well as "repudiation of any direct, indirect or covert intervention in Central America."

Mrs. Kirkpatrick said the Reagan administration "would be very much opposed to any action by the Security Council on the Nicaraguan question," which should be taken up by the Organization of American States.

Most OAS member governments are pro-American, whereas most U.N. members are not.

Secretary of State Haig recently sent Nicaragua a peace plan via Mexican Foreign Minister Jorge Castaneda. It calls for an OAS commitment of non-aggression and non-intervention in Central America, a regional ban on importing heavy offensive weapons, a halt to the ac-

Brand, North Plains Printing Open House Scheduled Sunday

The Hereford Brand is having an "Open House" Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. to show off its new building and facilities to the general public.

Publisher O.G. (Speedy) Nieman extends an invitation to all interested persons to visit the newspaper offices and the North Plains Printing Co. plant.

Refreshments will be served and guests will have the opportunity to win one of 16 door prizes. The Brand will give away five subscriptions to the newspaper, five classified ads (one week each), three birthday ads, and three business ads.

The Hereford Hustlers, goodwill ambassadors of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, will conduct a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 1 p.m. Sunday to formally welcome the addition of the building to the business community.

Groundbreaking for the building was held in May, 1981 and the plant has been occupied since November. It houses both the Brand and North Plains Printing. The sister firms were in two locations before the new building was erected.

North Plains is a central printing plant, producing The Brand as well as area newspapers and other large commercial printing jobs. Nieman is president of both companies.

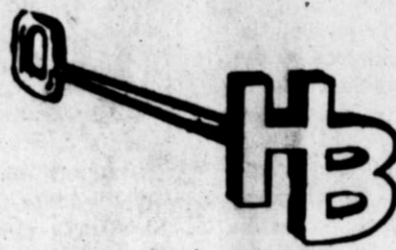

A special "souvenir section" will be included in Sunday's Brand, and it will detail the operation of the business and introduce the people who produce "your" newspaper five times a week!

Shuttle Engines Face Major Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Officials were checking a radio problem and watching the weather in the landing zone today as Columbia sped into the second half of its journey, facing a major test of how well its engines endure the bitter cold of space.

There was a chance the radio problem could cut the flight short, or that New Mexico sandstorms could keep the ship aloft an extra day. But Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said he expected neither to happen, that Columbia would come home on Monday as scheduled.

Early this morning, while astronauts Jack R. Lousma and C. Gordon Fullerton slept, they sailed through the midpoint of their planned seven-day voyage.

Hutchinson reported Thursday night that the low-power section of one of two S-band communications transponders had failed. If the high-power section also failed, he said, the ship would be left with one operating transponder, and Mission Control would consider terminating the flight early.

But Hutchinson said he felt optimistic the high-power side would be operating when checks were made today, which would leave the astronauts with the reserve or "redundancy" on which NASA insists in every aspect of the shuttle.

Even with both transponders out, Columbia could land safely, the flight director said. He reported several ground stations can communicate with the spacecraft through UHF channels and that much of the reentry and landing is conducted through UHF.

On the other hand, Hutchinson raised the possibility of an extended mission should high winds predicted at the White Sands Missile Range this weekend persist into Monday, blowing up the fine gypsum sand and reducing visibility drastically.

He said that by conserving fuel and power the next few days, NASA expected to save enough of both to operate Columbia an extra day in orbit.

"It doesn't mean we're going to do this," he stressed. "We're looking at the weather. It's going to be the middle or end of the weekend before we decide what we're going to do."

Otherwise, he said, the spaceship was in "super" shape, ready for more rigorous tests today.

For two days, the shuttle's nose has faced the sun, leaving the tail section and its engines and fuel tanks in freezing shadow, exposed to temperatures as low as 215 degrees below zero.

NASA engineers don't believe the cold will affect the ability of the fuels or engines to function. Lousma and Fullerton were to find out today by firing two of the powerplants in one of the major thermal tests of Columbia's third shakedown cruise.

Also on the astronauts' schedule today were additional grab-and-lift tests with the 50-foot robot arm and a 353-pound instrument package, a materials processing experiment and other scientific tests.

Israeli Armor Out In Force In West Bank Following Violence

RAMALLAH, Occupied West Bank (AP) — Israel rolled armored personnel carriers into the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River in its strongest show of force in more than a week of Palestinian protests that have left seven Arabs and one Israeli dead.

The armored vehicles, carrying heavy machine guns, appeared in Nablus and Ramallah Thursday, shortly after the mayors of both cities were fired by Israeli authorities. The dismissal of another West Bank mayor last week triggered the Palestinian demonstrations.

Masked attackers hurled grenades at an Israeli army vehicle in the occupied Gaza Strip Thursday, killing one soldier and wounding three others as well as three Arab bystanders. Sgt. Pinhas Grossmark, 30, was the first Israeli killed in the latest violence in the occupied territories. The military command said the ambushers escaped into a nearby orange grove.

In Beirut, the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine claimed responsibility for the attack. But the Palestine Liberation Organization, a grouping of eight separate guerrilla armies including the Democratic Front, denied the claim in a telephone call to The Associated Press.

The dismissals of Mayor Bassam Shakaa of Nablus and Kerim Khala of Ramallah came under sharp attack by Israel's opposition Labor Party which said the action was certain to worsen the Jewish state's relations with the Palestinians. The move also fueled one-hour sympathy strikes in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Dean Fischer expressed the Reagan administration's "profound concern" over the deteriorating situation in the

Leaders Ready To Re-Write Reagan's Red-Ink Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frustrated by President Reagan's intransigence on budget compromise, Republican leaders in Congress are telling him they're about ready to rewrite his red-ink budget with or without him. "I can't wait forever," said Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee.

"Maybe I have to move on the shoulder and get around this stalled caravan," said

House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois.

Reagan, speaking to a state dinner for Italian President Sandro Pertini, said he "just can't retreat on the fundamentals" of his proposed budget.

But, he said, "I think we will find there's some talking room." Asked whether he meant a compromise, the president replied: "Not in the sense of abandoning the fundamentals of our programs."

Baker said the Senate Budget Committee probably will begin work on a 1983 spending outline next week unless there are indications of compromise from Reagan.

A Senate GOP source who asked not to be quoted by name said Baker's remarks were "a signal to the White House that we're running out of time."

Michel, meanwhile, said he has found in talks with House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., and other

Leftists Threaten El Salvador Election

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Leftist guerrillas twice attacked El Salvador's election headquarters, and U.S. Ambassador Deane R. Hinton predicted the rebels would try "something spectacular" to disrupt Sunday's balloting.

Guerrillas raided the Central Elections Council building here for about 20 minutes Thursday afternoon until troops drove them off. A six-hour battle earlier in the day had brought the guerrillas to within a few hundred yards of the election headquarters.

Rebel bands also mounted sporadic attacks around the country, and continued to hold the town of Yoloaquin, the closest they have come to San Francisco Gotera, capital of Morazan province, army spokesmen said. The military said eight soldiers were killed when the town was overrun earlier this week.

Hinton claimed the leftists have received more arms in the past three months than ever before "and you will be seeing the result in the next

Watson Elected Lions' President

Charles Watson was elected president of the Hereford Lions Club for 1982-83 at the club's annual election party at the Community Center Thursday evening, but it took a second ballot for Watson to emerge as the winner.

After tabulating the votes, including absentee ballots by those members who could not attend the meeting, Watson and opponent J.O. Robinson were tied. Balloting was done again by those members present, and Watson emerged as the winner after the votes were carefully counted again by the club's past presidents.

A good crowd enjoyed the annual antics presented by various campaign chairmen at the meeting, which was attended by District 27-1 Governor Willy McAlpin of Canyon.

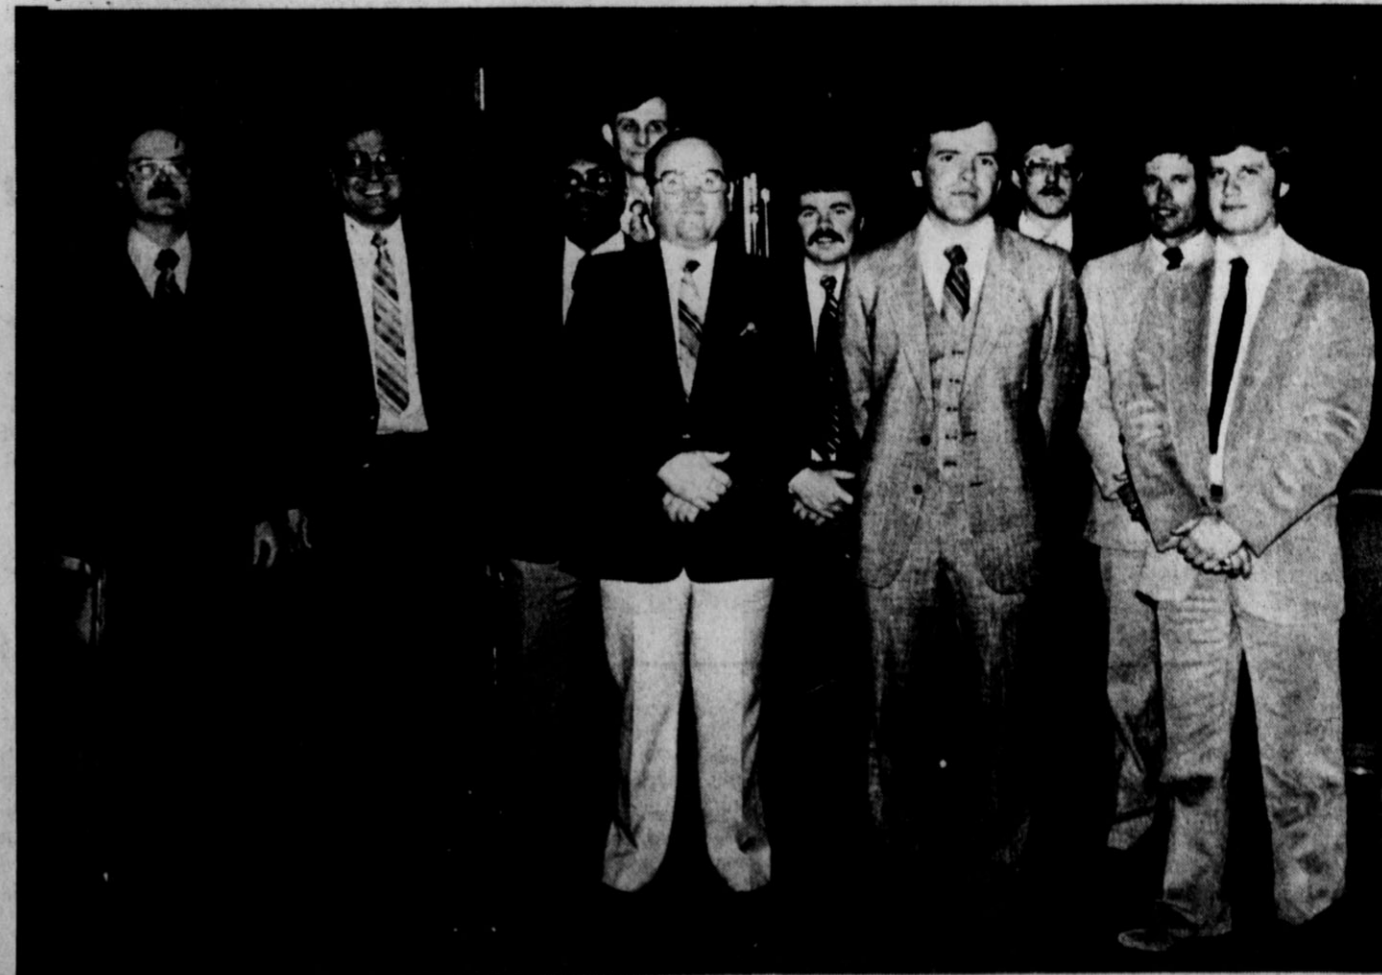

Cindy Vaughn provided piano music and former club sweetheart Donna Kendall sang to entertain the crowd as the votes were tabulated.

Other officers elected by the club included Cal Jones, secretary; Temple Abney, treasurer; Rob Marshall, first vice president; Troy Sublett, second vice president; and Carey Black, third vice president.

Also, Chris White and Robert Mercer, Lion Tamers; Rex Lee and Rick Sheppard, Tail Twisters; and Charles Kuntz and Jeryl Baker, Directors.

Watson will succeed current Boss Lion Charlie Bell at the helm of the club during an installation meeting later this year.

By virtue of their winning offices, Watson and Jones will represent the local club at the International Convention in Atlanta, Ga. this summer.

Woman Arrested In Strangulation Of Minnesota Girl

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A former Minnesota woman has been arrested in connection with the strangulation death of a 6-year-old girl in St. Paul, Minn., last November, police said.

The 24-year-old woman, formerly from Hopkins, Minn., was arrested Thursday for questioning in connection with the Nov. 10 killing of Cassandra Hansen.

Deputy Jack Cook of the Potter County sheriff's office in Amarillo said the arrest was made on the basis of information from the St. Paul Police Department.

He said the woman would be arraigned and given an extradition hearing Friday.

The woman's lawyer, Selden Hale, said his client has a "long history" of psychological problems and has made "five or six" suicide attempts.

He said police arrested the woman at her Amarillo residence and was interrogated "several hours" before she was allowed to call him. She had signed a statement concerning the girl's death, said Hale, but he could not say what information the statement contained.

She had only moved to Amarillo "a few weeks" ago, Hale said.

The child, known as Cassie, disappeared from a family night function at a church in St. Paul's Midway area the night of Nov. 10. Her body was found the next day in a trash container about two miles from the church.

Landing Brings Tourism Boom To New Mexico

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — The space shuttle isn't the only thing descending on New Mexico. So are thousands of people — bringing millions of dollars of revenues for local businesses.

Lucy Cacy, a clerk at the Alamogordo Holiday Inn, said all her rooms were reserved within 45 minutes after it was announced last week that Columbia would land at Northrup Strip instead of in California.

"It only took two hours to book the whole town," she said. "Can you imagine all those people in this little town?"

Alamogordo, a city of 24,000, is about 40 miles east of White Sands Missile Range, a sprawling, desolate, top-secret base where the landing runways are situated.

The military at first said the public would not be allowed on the range to view next Monday's touchdown, but on Wednesday that decision was reversed. Plans call for permitting 19,000 cars to drive onto the base for the landing.

Deborah Giampietro of the city's Chamber of Commerce said 150,000 to 200,000 people are expected to come to the area for the landing.

Arcy Horcasitas, marketing specialist for the Convention and Visitors Bureau in Las Cruces, said the shuttle was "having a spectacular impact. It's a great thing for the retailers and the businessmen."

She estimated the landing will pump $6 million and $10 million into the economy of the city, which is 25 miles west of White Sands, making it the city nearest the base.

83-year-old Man

Shoots Intruder

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — An 83-year-old man overpowered and threatened with a knife by an early-morning intruder, shot and wounded his assailant while the burglar searched his house for money, police said.

Police Sgt. Dean Kinney said the 18-year-old suspect was listed in stable condition at Good Shepard Medical Center Thursday with a gunshot wound in the shoulder.

Kinney said C.H. Meadows told police he was awakened about 2 a.m. Thursday by his wife's gasps for air while the intruder sat on her chest and choked her.

Meadows told police he jumped the intruder but was overpowered by the man who then held a butcher knife to Meadows' throat and demanded money.

Kinney said Meadows told police that when the burglar began to search the house for money, Meadows grabbed his .410-gauge shotgun and fired, hitting the intruder in the shoulder.

Police officer Louis Turner arrested an 18-year-old man who fled from the house wearing a shirt covered with blood.

Geology Student Finds Dinosaur Prints Near Lake Grapevine

DALLAS (AP) — Julie Tyler wouldn't listen when officials at the Dallas Museum of Natural History told her the tracks she found while walking her dog couldn't be dinosaur prints.

The 22-year-old college student watched with pride and satisfaction Thursday as teams of engineers and scientists drilled into soft sandstone and removed six dinosaur prints from a Lake Grapevine gorge.

Mrs. Tyler, a geology student at Brookhaven College in Framer's Branch, said she found the tracks while walking her Labrador retriever near the lake. As her dog drank from a stream, she looked down and was convinced she was standing on dinosaur prints.

A call to the museum proved fruitless.

"They told me that everyone who sees a bump in the rocks thinks they've found dinosaur tracks," she said.

Following her rebuff from the museum, she called several colleges and universities, finally managing to convince two Southern Methodist University professors to come out and take a look.

"It's a one in a million chance that something like this has ever been preserved, and chances are even smaller of it being discovered by someone who could tell what it is," said David Gillette of the Geological Sciences Department at SMU.

The six slight depressions Mrs. Tyler discovered are the marks left by a 4-ton, 25-foot long duck-billed dinosaur that roamed the area that now includes the Grapevine Municipal Golf Course, Gillette said.

The prints were probably left by a member of the hadrosaur family, vegetarians that looked like giant lizards with webbed feet and lived about 80 million years ago, Gillette said.

Ends Conservative Hammerlock

Jenkins Earns Shot At Ministry

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Roy Jenkins, co-leader of the fledgling Social Democratic Party, won a special parliamentary election and gained a shot at becoming Britain's next prime minister.

Jenkins, a former Labor Party chancellor of the exchequer, polled 2,038 more votes than his Conservative opponent in Thursday's balloting, ending a 63-year Conservative hammerlock on Glasgow's Hillhead district.

In a huge 16.7 percent swing against the Conservatives and a 13.6 percent shift against Labor, Hillhead sent Jenkins back to the House of Commons, where he sat for 28 years before resigning in 1977 to serve a four-year term as chief of the 10-nation European Commission in Brussels.

Jenkins, 61, ran as a joint candidate of the SDP and the tiny Liberal Party, the alliance that has now posted three straight victories over Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's Conservatives in six months.

"This election has shown we are seriously in the business of presenting a third alternative choice for the next government of this country," said Jenkins, who also beat a Labor Party candidate.

His SDP co-leader, Shirley Williams, 51, cast aside canes she has used since a Christmas tobogganing accident and declared: "I shall walk home on air. We've got back into Parliament the man who will lead the alliance and will be prime minister in waiting."

Jenkins desperately needed the Hillhead victory to become alliance leader in the fall and take the centrist movement into the next general election due in 1984. Hillhead was his last foreseeable chance of returning to the House of Commons before fall.

"No seat in the country is now safe from the challenge of the alliance," Liberal Party leader David Steele declared.

Jenkins' win came exactly a year after he and three other former Labor Cabinet ministers founded the SDP, vowing to break the political stranglehold of the increasingly right-wing Conservatives and the leftward lurching socialist Laborites.

Conservative runner Gerry Malone, 33, a local lawyer, ran second in Hillhead with 8,068 votes, just ahead of Labor's David Wiseman, 38, a leftist community worker, with 7,846. The separatist Scottish National Party's candidate got only 11.3 percent of the vote.

Police Checking For Arson

Hereford police are currently investigating a possible arson which occurred Thursday in the 100 block of Avenue E.

A dumpster there was set fire and an eyewitness has given police a description of the person, however, no arrest has been made.

Two women were arrested at Taylor and Sons grocery for theft of goods over $5 and under $10.

A resident in the 800 block of Miles reported that a prankster poured oil on her porch.

Police investigated a domestic quarrel and issued two traffic citations.

Obituaries

MRS. E.M. MALONE

Services for Mrs. E.M. (Tuney) Malone, 66, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow in First Baptist Church of Earth, with the Rev. Mike Stafford, pastor, and the Rev. Shane Kinnison, a Baptist ministerial student, officiating. Burial will be in Bailey County Memorial Park Cemetery in Mulshoe by Parsons-Ellis Funeral Home.

Mrs. Malone died at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock following injuries suffered Monday morning in a traffic accident in Earth.

A native of Roswell, N.M., Mrs. Malone was a former longtime resident of both Hereford and Mulshoe. While in Hereford, she and her husband owned Malone Creamery.

Mrs. Malone moved to Earth from Wilcox, Ariz., where she had lived for four years. She married Tuney Malone in 1934 in Clovis, N.M. She was a member of the Bonita Community Church in Bonita, Ariz.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Jerry Malone of Upland, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Gay Lewis of Mission, Tex.; a sister, Mrs. Alfred Stansberry of Wilcox, Ariz.; a half-sister, Mrs. Wanda Evans of Globe, Ariz.; seven grandchildren; and a great-grandchild.

Fire Ants Continue March West

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Vicious and sometimes deadly fire ants probably cannot be eradicated and will continue their steady march toward the rich agricultural fields of the Pacific Coast, experts say. Most insect specialists agree that eradicating fire ants is no longer possible," Dr. Richard Lipsey of the Kenco Chemical and Manufacturing Corp. of Jacksonville, Fla., told a fire ant conference Thursday. "Fire ants occupy over 230 million acres with no significant natural enemies to keep their populations in check," Lipsey said.

He said the ants, which have decimated corn and soybean crops in the Southeast, are as far west as Texas and are advancing on California's rich citrus fields at the rate of 35 miles a year.

"We must learn to live with fire ants, but at a distance," said Lipsey.

A physician told the conference a 34-year-old woman and a 43-year-old man allergic to the bite of the insects died recently in San Antonio after they were bitten on the feet by the ants.

"I have a feeling that there are more (deaths)," said Dr. Frank James Jr. of San Antonio.

occupied territories, captured by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war. He cited the "tragic and needless deaths and injuries" to both sides and said the administration regrets Israel's decision to remove the elected Palestinians from office.

The Israeli government said Shaka and Khalaf were fired for incitement, repeatedly disrupting public order and — alleged under PLO instructions — failing to cooperate with Israeli civilian authorities.

Their removal sparked a new round of demonstrations throughout the troubled West Bank. An Arab mob attacked an Israeli car in Adna, a village near Hebron, and set it ablaze when the passengers fled. One Israeli was hurt by a stone thrown by a protester, the military command said.

In Nablus, rocks and bot-les were thrown at soldiers who dispersed angry Arab crowds with tear gas grenades, Associated Press reporter Jonathan Immanuel said. Several demonstrators were arrested by troops using nightsticks to subdue at least one person.

Democrats, that "the hard positions on the Democratic side have been somewhat softened" regarding cuts in politically sensitive government benefit programs and other issues.

Michel said he hopes Reagan now will demonstrate flexibility of his own by the time Congress begins an Easter recess next week. "You've got to cross the Rubicon sometime," Michel said.

Majority Republicans in the Senate had hoped to delay work on drafting a budget outline until Reagan agreed to an alternative budget worked out in advance with Republicans and Democrats. But, so far, Reagan has made no specific concessions. A Senate source said chairmen of the Senate's budget and tax-writing committees "can't hold their committees off much longer."

Members of both political parties have virtually agreed that reducing deficits will require a mix involving:

—Changes in the tax reduction package Congress passed last year, including the possibility of tax increases.

—A modification or reduction in the president's recommended military buildup.

—Steps to restrain the growth of cost-of-living increases in Social Security and other government benefit programs.

Front, a coalition of Salvadoran leftist political parties, that rebels would not try to disrupt the elections, Hinton replied: "We're seeing it now. Those attacks in San Salvador. The attacks in Morazan. This little attack on the Central Electoral Commission (sic). Who the hell is he kidding?"

The ambassador also said that ultra-rightist candidate Roberto D'Aubuisson is the leading contender in Sunday's balloting for Constituent Assembly seats. D'Aubuisson, a retired army major reportedly described by Hinton's predecessor as a "pathological killer," heads the Republic Nationalist Alliance Party. Hinton called him a dynamic leader.

Scattered firefights between troops and guerrillas were reported Thursday at several points between the capital and Usulután, 70 miles east of here. Large numbers of troops were out along the road to Usulután and heavy firing was heard to the southeast near La Ceiba, journalists traveling there said.

At the United Nations,

Nicaraguan junta leader Daniel Ortega told the Security Council Thursday his country, Salvadoran guerrillas and Cuba were ready to begin talks immediately to resolve differences with the United States.

But U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Jeane J. Kirkpatrick said Washington was skeptical of the gesture, again alleging Nicaragua remained "an active conduit" for the flow of arms to the Salvadoran insurgents seeking to overthrow the U.S.-backed junta.

Red Cross Takes The Rap

(Editor's Note: Since World War II, some veterans of that conflict have complained about the nominal charge levied by the American Red Cross for coffee, doughnuts, other food, and lodging. Ann Landers has periodically run a column explaining how this situation came about. It is printed here in conjunction with Red Cross Month.)

DEAR ANN: I was irritated by your kind words for the American Red Cross. As a veteran of World War II who served overseas for three years, I'd like you to know that the organization you praised was no favorite of the men and women in uniform. We had to pay the Red Cross for coffee, doughnuts, meals, and overnight lodging. So please, Ann, don't be so generous with your bouquets. Toss them only to the worthy and preserve your credibility. - GI Joe of Long Ago

DEAR JOE: A blizzard of letters similar to yours hit my desk after that column appeared. I wrote to the top officials of the American Red Cross for an explanation and received an eye-popping response.

It was documented by a copy of a letter dated March 20, 1942, from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson to Norman H. Davis, Chairman of the American Red Cross. Here is the inside story - and pretty it isn't. All English and Australian men in uniform had to pay for off-base food and lodging because voluntary giving (which is characteristic of the United States) is not the pattern in other countries.

The Red Cross, which has never accepted a dime from the U.S. government (and to this day relies totally on voluntary contributions), was asked to establish club facilities for U.S. servicemen overseas where troops for Allied forces would be welcome. The Salvation Army did not have this responsibility.

The British high command then made an official request that U.S. servicemen be required to pay for whatever they received, just as the British had to pay. The Red Cross was adamantly opposed to this concept and protested vehemently. They lost the fight, however, when a "request" came from Secretary Stimson. His letter was tantamount to a command.

Allegations have persisted since World War II that the Red Cross made a profit overseas. Nothing could be further from the truth. The clubs operated at a loss and represented a heavy financial burden. Moreover, the public image of the Red Cross was badly tarnished when it was forced by Stimson to go along with the British high com-

New officers were elected by members of the Hereford Women's Bowling Association when the group met recently in the Community Center Banquet Room for their covered dish supper and annual meeting.

Officers elected for two-year terms were Charlene Sanders, vice-president; Janet L. Walser, secretary; Pat Fowler, sergeant-at-arms; Lois Jones, director; and Dolores Nichols, director.

Those officers who have another year to serve on their two-year term include Eleanor Hudspeth, president; Helen Arnt, treasurer; Alice Lueb, director; Joyce Walker, director; and Pat Stevens, director.

Elected to the Women's International Bowling Congress convention and annual meeting for 1983 in Las Vegas were Ruby Gallagher, delegate, and Eleanor Hudspeth, alternate.

Sheri Sharp and Glenda Hansen were elected as delegates to Texas Women's Bowling Association's convention which meets in San Angelo May of 1983. Alternates are Kay Ivins and Linda Block.

A ways and means committee volunteered to plan methods of raising money to finance H.W.B.A.'s part in the Pro-Am Tournament which is planned by Sunset Lanes in November. Members of the committee are Alice Lueb, chairman, and Helen Kleuskens, Dolores Nichols, Joyce Walker and Ruby Gallagher.

Money and trophies were awarded to the winners of H.W.B.A. City Tournament which was conducted this month.

The first place team, the American G.I. Forum, received trophies and a sponsor trophy. The members include Sofia Segura, Rose Lee Salinas, Rosa Garza and Jo Garcia.

Receiving trophies in the first place doubles division were Kari and Shari Sharp, Class A; Linda Wilcox and Audrie Howard, Class B; and Carol Moody and Brenda Pagett, Class C.

First place singles trophies were awarded to Alice Lueb, Class A; Debbie Baum, Class B; Susan Barrett, Class C.

In first place all-events champions were Gwen Scott; Class A: Rose Lee Salinas, Class B; Peggy Good, Class C.

Alice Lueb was awarded trophies for high series and high game.

Public Is Invited To Revival Services

Bob Miller of the First Baptist Church at Tucumcari will be in revival at the Temple Baptist Church Sunday evening through Friday evening.

BOB MILLER

This revival is in conjunction with the revivals being held in most of the northern region of the Southern Baptist Convention. Some other Baptist churches in Hereford are also having revivals. Miller's family consists of his wife Glenda and three children, Michelle, Hope and Michael. Miller has been in the ministry for the past 14 years serving the First Baptist Church at Happy, First Baptist Church at Tucumcari, First Baptist Church in Adrian and other churches in Amarillo and Colorado. Everyone is extended an invitation to come to the services.

Workshop Conducted

A blazer construction workshop was held this week at Bernina Sewing Center. Morning and afternoon classes, which are being sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Extension Service, began Monday and will end this after-

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

When will people ever wise up to the fact that getting up late in the morning is not an accident?

Don't press me for details, but it's definitely a conspiracy ... a plot against you to punish you for something you did, but you can't remember what it was.

Some fools think that by rushing, they can catch up to their life. Wrongo. For the rest of the day you're stuck! You're a catalyst for every rotten thing that can possibly happen to a person.

Buttons fall off shirts. Skin gets caught in zippers and must be removed surgically. Your neck expands and no longer fits into a shirt you've been wearing for five years. Hems unravel.

The shower will do one of two things. It will hit you like a spring-fed mountain stream or saute you standing up. There is no in-between.

The soap will fall to the drain and just as you reach it, will bubble down one of the holes and disappear. Your shower cap will spring a leak.

Aerosol cans will have a field day with you as you shave with tub and shower cleaner, hold your hair with deodorant that protects you for 18 hours, and spitz your pits with breath freshener.

The morning cup of coffee is an enigma. You know how on a normal day you pour a cup and three minutes later it's cold? Not on a day you're late. Hot steam rolls off it, causing small blisters down to your belt buckle, and it remains tepid until you spill it down the front of yourself when the car in front of you stops suddenly for a light.

Your favorite parking place will be closed for repairs, the elevator will stop at every floor and no one will be there. You will be halfway through lunch with your guest before you realize your billfold is at home on the bureau.

The day is unrelenting. The pantyhose on backwards are making you crabby. The hair that wouldn't curl keeps sticking in your coat collar. You get a flat tire at the drive-in window of the bank.

There are some people who still fight when they get up late in the mornings. Still cut corners. Still try to get back on the track again, but they're naive. There is nothing they can possibly do to save the day. The smart money stays in bed.

New Director Of NFWM In Middle Of Old Conflict

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The new director of the decade-old National Farm Worker Ministry finds himself at the center of criticism that has buffeted the militant religious organization since its inception.

But the Rev. Richard B. Cook, 36, insists the ministry will remain deeply involved in helping unionize farm laborers.

"You really can't distinguish clearly between the spiritual concerns of farm workers and their social needs, especially when their physical condition is sometimes so desperate," Cook says.

"To try to make that distinction is a false dichotomy."

Cook is a Southern Baptist minister from Salinas, Calif. He has been involved with the NFWM for 10 years and says he was most struck "by the isolation of those who go from field to field to work."

Almost from its formation in 1971 by the National Council of Churches, the ministry was accused of taking sides and fomenting conflict in the nation's agricultural fields - especially in California, where Cesar Chavez's young United Farm Workers union was waging pitched battles with growers.

Jack Angell, spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation, based in Park Ridge, Ill., is one of the ministry's most outspoken critics.

"The ministry is without question a full-time support group for the UFW, devoted to rallying church support for the Chavez movement," Angell insists.

He points out that the ministry's workers from the outset worked side by side with UFW organizers and helped arrange the UFW's grape and lettuce boycotts. In addition, he says, the ministry's founder and longtime director, the Rev. Chris Hartmire Jr., has for years been a Chavez confidant and recently took over the No. 2 position in the UFW.

Angell also notes the NFWM succeeded more docile statewide migrant ministries that were founded in the 1920s and limited their activities to what he termed "legitimate functions" such as finding housing, providing financial aid and health care and giving Christmas toys to farm workers.

"But the National Farm Worker Ministry is totally politicized and frequently misuses the church to supplant Christian activities with militant force on the picket line coercive secondary boycotts and telling lies about how farmers treat farm workers," Angell says.

Cook, a father of three whose wife is a doctor at the Monterey County Natividad Medical Center in Salinas, does not contest claims that the ministry works closely with the UFW. Rather, he says that is the most effective way the ministry can help farm workers "achieve social justice."

Drug Delaying Program

HOUSTON (AP) - Doctors say the fate of a University of Texas Medical School transplant program rests on the availability of a drug to prevent the body from rejecting the new organ.

Preliminary plans were announced Thursday to establish a heart transplant program to be headed by noted surgeon Dr. Denton Cooley, who performed 21 heart transplants in 1968 and 1969 and implanted artificial hearts in two men.

All patients died, with the longest survivor living 16 months.

Ernst Knobil, medical school dean, said the program's fate depends on the availability of the drug cyclosporin A, which has been used in kidney transplant.

Happy 1st Birthday, Dusty!

Today In History

Associated Press

Today is Friday, March 26, the 85th day of 1982. There are 280 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On March 26, 1979, the first Middle East peace treaty in modern history was signed in Washington between Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

On this date: In 1793, the Holy Roman Empire declared war on France.

In 1913, more than 1,400 people died in floods that swept through Ohio, Indiana and Texas.

In 1918, Marshal Ferdinand Foch of France was named Commander of the Allied Armies in World War I.

In 1980, India granted full recognition to the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Ten years ago: Britain and Malta signed an agreement keeping that Mediterranean fortress island within the Western defense system.

Five years ago: Communist China marked the 150th anniversary of Beethoven's death by lifting a ban on his music.

Longhorns Clip Herd, 10-3

The Hereford Whitefaces found the Caprock Longhorns too much to handle here Thursday as the 'Horns took a 10-3 non-district baseball win over the Herd at Whiteface Field.

And, to add insult to injury, HHS coach David Ashby and starting pitcher Matt Collier left the game early in the fourth inning after being ejected by the plate umpire. The incident was sparked by a questionable called third strike on Herd catcher Don Delozier on a 3-2 pitch in the fourth frame with the bases loaded and two men out. The Longhorns were leading 8-3 at the time, and the apparent walk would have made it 8-4 with third-sacker Mark Collier coming up. But, the plate ump hesitated before calling the apparently high pitch from CHS hurler Rick Sustaita a strike, retiring Delozier and the Herd. Ashby's immediate objections to the call resulted in his leaving the game, while Collier was tossed after he tossed his batting helmet to the dugout.

Caprock won the game in the second inning when they plated five runs on five hits, including one of three hits by shortstop Stephon Hodge.

The Whitefaces came back with three runs in the fourth before the Delozier strikeout halted the rally. Singles by Mark Collier, Mike Mason, Robert Martinez, and Ken Cosper's two-TBI safety plated three HHS runners, and the base on balls to Matt Collier filled the bases again, setting the stage for the incident which ended the inning.

The loss dropped the Herd to 8-3 in the year, while the Longhorns upped their mark to 7-5.

Hereford plays at Levelland Saturday, with the junior varsity team seeing its first action in a 1 p.m. contest against the Lobo JV.

Sugar Bowl Could Be Sweeter If Lewis Can Get By Tar Heels

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The last time the University of Houston's basketball team was in New Orleans, the Cougars won the Sugar Bowl tournament.

It could be even sweeter this time for Coach Guy Lewis — if his unranked Southwest Conference club can get by top-ranked North Carolina in Saturday's NCAA championship semifinals.

It will be the Cougars' biggest challenge of the season, according to Lewis.

"North Carolina has no weaknesses," Lewis said Thursday. "We've got teams in the Southwest Conference like North Carolina — but none as good. It'll take something special to beat North Carolina."

The Houston-North Carolina game will precede the Louisville-Georgetown game at the Superdome, which will be witnessed by a record crowd of some 61,000, plus a national television audience in the millions. The winners will play for the NCAA championship Monday night.

"North Carolina is as good as any team in the country," Lewis said. "They've got strength at every position — just a great, great ballclub."

The contest features two teams of contrasting styles and temperaments. Under Coach Dean Smith, a master of control, North Carolina exhibits a disciplined style of play that includes an intimidating offensive slowdown known as the "four corners."

Under Lewis, Houston is a run-and-shoot team spearheaded by guard Rob Williams, who at 22 points a game is the highest scorer in the Final Four.

Lewis appears to be more worried about North Carolina's style than Smith is about Houston's.

"You fall behind North Carolina and it's awfully tough to catch up," Lewis said. "Obviously, we can't afford to let that happen. We have to come right at them."

Houston, 25-7, and second in the Southwest Conference, has adjusted well to every other team thus far in this championship tournament. The Cougars beat Alcorn State, Tulsa, Missouri and Boston College en route to the regional championship in the Midwest.

The Cougars won the Sugar Bowl tourney last December by beating Louisiana State, and Lewis insists that Houston is playing even better now.

Jr. High Girls Track Meet Here

The Hereford Junior High Girls Track Meet will be held at Whiteface Stadium Saturday with 11 teams in both the 7th and 8th grade divisions and eight squads competing for 9th grade honors.

The Stanton Dogies and La Plata Mavericks will play host to Clovis Marshall, Gattis and Yucca and teams from Canyon, Plainview and Levelland in the freshman division.

Teams in the 7th and 8th grade divisions include La Plata, Stanton, Marshall, Gattis, Yucca, Pampa, Dimmitt, Canyon, Plainview, Borger, and Friona.

While the local track will be busy with the younger thinclads Saturday, the HHS track teams are also in action with the Herd boys at San Angelo and the Whiteface fens at the Lubbock meet.

The HHS tennis team is also on the road this weekend at the Ft. Stockton tournament, while the baseballers play at Levelland Saturday.

The Hereford golfers are hosting the third round of District 4-5A action today at the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course, while the loop fens are in action in Plainview.

Hereford's Tiffy Dirks holds a commanding lead in the girls' golf competition.

Jackson's Tie-Breaker Sends Angels 10-3 Win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The California Angels didn't bother sending Reggie Jackson to a doctor. They let him find his own cure for his latest batting slump and Mr. October enjoyed a lovely March afternoon.

Jackson had gone 0-for-14 since his first spring home run last Friday. But on Thursday, he slammed a tie-breaking three-run homer in the third inning, plus an RBI single in California's six-run seventh, as the Angels rolled to a 10-3 exhibition victory over the Oakland A's.

Jackson's homer off Brian Kingman followed singles by Joe Ferguson and Bobby Grich, a walk to Fred Lynn and Rod Carew's sacrifice fly. The uprising gave the Angels a 4-1 lead.

"I haven't been hitting the ball hard," said Jackson, who leads the Angels this spring with eight runs batted in. "It gets to the point where it bothers you. I'm happy for this day. I like to hit two or three homers in the spring just to let myself know I'm getting there."

Another new Angel, third baseman Doug DeCinces, highlighted the big seventh with a three-run double.

There was good news and bad news for Jackson's old team, the New York Yankees. First, they had to place right-hander Rick Reuschel on the 21-day disabled list with a sore shoulder. Then, they defeated the Baltimore Orioles 6-2 as Larry Milbourne collected five consecutive singles and Bucky Dent drove in three runs.

Reuschel, who came to the Yankees from the Chicago Cubs last June, has not pitched in a game this spring and will miss at least the first week of the season. But Reuschel disagreed with the decision to disable him.

"There's nothing drastically wrong with me," he said.

"This is stuff that any pitcher has who has thrown over 200 innings for 10 years. I've pitched with pain basically all my career. I think most pitchers do, and I think it should be my decision how much pain I can take."

Another veteran pitcher, Baltimore's Steve Stone, also went on the disabled list because of a sore elbow. The move was retroactive to March 21 and Stone will be eligible to pitch April 11.

"I threw the ball fairly well," Stone said after a workout Thursday. "but I haven't thrown any breaking pitches."

San Francisco's Greg Minton hasn't been throwing many of his noted sinkers this spring. The Giants' relief ace hasn't allowed a home run in 255 innings during the regular season — a major league record — but was tagged for one last Saturday by Jody Davis of the Chicago Cubs and surrendered another one Thursday to Milwaukee's Bob Skube.

Ted Simmons contributed three singles to a 17-hit attack and Randy Lerch and two rookie relievers combined on a two-hitter as the Brewers trounced the Giants 8-0. Gorman Thomas also homered for Milwaukee.

"I'll be throwing nothing but sinkers in the regular season," promised Minton, who threw his last regular-season home run pitch to Joe Ferguson of the Los Angeles Dodgers late in 1978. He allowed nine hits and five

Allin Wins SP-H Classic With Discount Irons

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Golf pros, especially the touring variety, are very, very particular about their clubs.

They tinker with them constantly. They beat on them with hammers, bend them in vises. They file them and add lead tape to them. They measure the loft with sophisticated machinery. They have them cast to precise, meticulous specifications.

Not Buddy Allin. He didn't bother.

He just walked into a discount house, a few hours before he was due to tee off in the first round of the $300,000 Sea Pines-Heritage Classic Thursday, pulled a set of irons off a shelf, decided they looked about right, paid the list price of $422 and walked out, his identity unknown to the shop's employees.

A few hours later, those clubs in his bag along with a new putter he was using in competition for the first time, the soft-spoken little veteran birdied the last five holes — that very difficult string of holes leading down to Calibogue Sound and the lighthouse that looms behind the 18th green — to finish off a 7-under-par 64 that tied him with longshot Mike Donald for the first round lead. It wasn't until later that Allin realized what he'd accomplished.

"I didn't know I'd birdied five in a row until I started checking my card," Allin said. "I was just playing it one shot at a time," he flashed that boyish grin, "and knocking in 10-footers."

Tom Watson and 1981 leading money-winner Tom Kite were in a large group at 69. Bill Rogers, who used a victory in this event last season as a stepping stone to Player of the Year honors, was at 72, and a Hale Irwin, a two-time U.S. Open winner and twice a champion of this prestigious event was another stroke back at 73.

Allin won five tournaments before he left the tour for a club job in 1978. After an absence of two seasons, he returned and has been fighting to regain his form since then.

"I just carry one set of clubs with me," he said. "I had them re-shafted Tuesday and didn't really like them. I looked around the pro shop and didn't see anything I liked, so I just drove down the road 'til I found this place, went in and bought a set of clubs."

He didn't have time to have them checked for loft and lie, but gave them an eyeball examination and decided "they looked about right," stuck them in his bag and went out to play one of the most demanding courses on the tour, the Harbour Town Golf Links.

"Just kind of experimenting," he said, he got it 2 under par through 13 holes.

Then came the birdie string, set up by five of those new irons he had in his bag. He used that gleaming new 6-iron and a 12-foot putt to birdie the 14th. A bright and shining 9-iron and a 15-footer handled the 15th.

NCAA Born, Lives in Crisis

Last of a Series By DOUG TUCKER AP Sports Writer

Even with popularity at an all-time high, scandal and controversy threatened to engulf college athletics.

Critics in academic, government and media circles demanded reform. At the White House, the president, a rugged individual who loved to go horseback riding out West, said if the schools didn't straighten out the mess, he would.

The year was 1906. The National Collegiate Athletic Association was born that year, conceived by a group of college administrators who met in New York to address problems that in many ways bother their successors three-quarters of a century later.

"The NCAA was born in crisis," says Walter Byers, its current executive director. "And it lives in crisis."

In 1906, the main concern was the alarming number of fatal injuries in football, and President Theodore Roosevelt threatened to ban the game unless immediate steps were taken. They were. Mandatory use of improved safety equipment was instituted and the "flying wedge" was outlawed.

But even then there were complaints of unethical conduct among coaches and demands for tighter guidelines in the delicate area of player acquisition — matters that bear a familiar ring 76 years later to a fourth generation of athletic administrators and fans.

Everyone agrees college athletics has entered another phase of rapid evolution. Changes are coming, but no one can say for certain what they will be.

Many of the complications today would have been familiar to those men in 1906: Economic conditions, the uneasy marriage of higher education and big business, the needs of the student-athletes themselves.

But there are other factors nobody in 1906 could have imagined: television, cablevision and a nationwide decline in college enrollment which is spawning competition for public acclaim and recognition through athletics.

Is the college game choking on its own popularity?

As public interest grows, so does the pressure to win. And so do the rates advertisers will pay to sponsor football and basketball telecasts. And big chunks of these riches are passed along to the schools with winning teams.

"Somehow, you have to break the cycle," says Byers, who has headed the NCAA since 1951. "The cycle is: Fire the coach. Raise more money to pay off his contract. Get the boosters to raise more money to pay the new coach. Fire him if he doesn't win. Raise more money. The cycle keeps going on and on and on."

Intertwined in it all is the question of whether college football and basketball players are amateur athletes.

A U.S. District Court judge in Minnesota ruled that a basketball player could not be declared academically eligible because he was recruited for athletics, not scholarship. A player who lost his academic eligibility at Seton Hall said the same thing.

The question may ultimately be answered by the Supreme Court.

For now, those in control maintain in unison that college players are amateurs, students first and athletes second. But there remains a growing feeling that more recognition will be given to the needs of the players themselves. The issue is complicated by the fact that many major universities run multimillion-dollar sports programs almost the equal of some professional teams.

Charles M. Neinas, who as executive director of the College Football Association has had many bitter battles with Byers, agrees with the NCAA chief that the biggest menace facing college athletics is the danger that schools will lose control over their programs. "We're all alarmed at the increasing influence of those outside the control of the university," Neinas said. "Because of the increased economic pressures, there is more emphasis on donations, with the result that many people who donate $500 to the athletic department feel they become part owner of the franchise."

"Walter has said we have to maintain institutional control, or intercollegiate athletics will buckle. I believe the point is well taken."

If booster groups gain control — or even appear to gain control — the not-for-profit status of the NCAA and the CFA, as well as various conferences, could be challenged by the Internal Revenue Service.

"You could run into a workmen's compensation situation and I also think that there is a possibility of exposing these programs to unionization," Byers said.

The pressure to win and the influence of boosters have given rise to what most people agree is the most distressing public image problem facing college sports: cheating in recruiting.

There is no agreement on how widespread it is, and the figures only show those who have been caught. There are 751 schools under the NCAA's jurisdiction, and there have been 254 probations since the NCAA launched an enforcement program in 1952.

Byers is urging tougher penalties and a retooling of the enforcement structure.

"The enforcement program has gotten a penalty pattern, become accustomed to it, a penalty pattern which has lost its bite," he said. "We need to rifle-shot, in my judgment. I think our procedures need to be more immediate."

Byers says present penalties, such as probation, public and private reprimands, are "essentially insignificant to the operating personnel. ... I've talked to a number of coaches who feel that a substantial fine would get attention."

The best deterrent, say Byers and Neinas, would be more direct penalties on cheating coaches.

"If a coach knows he can lose his job, and the athlete can't play anymore, then you're going to get to the heart of the matter," said Neinas. "I think we might get involved in certification of coaches in some manner, the way doctors and lawyers are certified. Unethical doctors and lawyers can lose their right to practice their profession, but not unethical coaches."

The Christian Science Church was first organized in 1878 and took its present form in 1892 with the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

AP Grants Miller Second Coach Honor

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ralph Miller, who led Oregon State to its third straight Pacific 10 Conference title this season, has been named The Associated Press' 1981 college coach of the year for the second consecutive season, the AP announced today.

Despite losing three of last season's starters, all of whom are playing in the National Basketball Association, Miller guided the Beavers to a 25-5 record this year. The Beavers made it to the championship game of the NCAA West Regional before losing to Georgetown, 69-45, last Saturday at Provo, Utah. In a closely contested race for the honor, Miller polled 16 of a possible 60 votes of a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Dean Smith of North Carolina was second with 12 votes, and DePaul's Ray Meyer took third with nine. John Thompson of Georgetown and Don Monson of Idaho had four votes apiece.

Oregon State, which was ranked fourth nationally in the final AP poll, lost starting guards Ray Blume and Mark Radford and center Steve Johnson to graduation after last season, when the Beavers went 26-2. Many regarded Oregon State lightly this year because of its heavy losses, but, under Miller's tutelage, the Beavers compiled their third straight 20-win season.

Miller has built his team around a passing game that he learned as a student-athlete at Kansas. The 63-year-old coach, who has spent 12 years at Oregon State, believes the theory of the game has changed little since then.

"Most of the ingredients — the offensive theories, the defensive theories — of playing basketball, and most of the methods for teaching ballplayers were invented before 1940," he has said. "The game is very simple. Of course, it has changed because the players are better physically — they are better able to execute — but they're still learning to play basketball the same way as

Julius Caesar conquered the Netherlands in 55 B.C., when it was inhabited by Celtic and Germanic tribes.

Virginia Center Receives Second Rupp Trophy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ralph Sampson, 7-foot-4 Virginia center, has been voted recipient of the Adolph F. Rupp Trophy as The Associated Press' college basketball player of the year for the second straight year, the AP announced today.

Sampson, a junior, received 39 of a possible 60 votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters nationwide in earning the honor, which is sponsored by the Commonwealth Athletic Club of Kentucky.

Presentation of the trophy was scheduled today.

Forward Terry Cummings of DePaul was second in balloting with 11 votes. James Worthy of North Carolina was third with nine votes and Paul Pressey of Tulsa received one vote.

Sampson, who beat out Mark Aguirre of DePaul and Danny Ainge of Brigham Young to win last year's award, has scored 1,599 points in his career. During his three seasons, the Cavaliers have posted an 83-18 record and have gone to the NCAA tournament the past two years.

Last year, Sampson led Virginia into the Final Four, where the Cavaliers lost to Atlantic Coast Conference rival North Carolina, 78-65, in the semifinals. The Cavaliers were upset by Alabama-Birmingham, 68-66, in the Mideast semifinals of this year's tournament but finished the season with a 30-4 record.

Sampson, a two-time All-American, averaged 15.8 points and 11.4 rebounds per game this season while blocking 99 shots and slamming home 67 dunks.

Sampson may be the best center in the college ranks since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Los Angeles Lakers was learning his trade at UCLA, and Abdul-Jabbar was a boyhood idol of Sampson.

If Lakers' owner Jerry Buss can get a lock on the first pick in the National Basketball Association draft before the May 15 hardship deadline, Sampson may turn pro this year. Buss has made it known he would offer Sampson anything it takes, but Sampson also has expressed a desire to finish his college education. Insiders believe Sampson is leaning toward one more year of college ball.

Virginia Coach Terry Holland believes Sampson could develop into one of the best big men ever to play the game.

"In this game, there are players who can play within a team concept but can't make it as individuals," Holland says. "Then, there are players who can make the individual plays but can't operate within a team concept. Ralph is one of those rare individuals who the talent to do both."

"If you look at each player in the country, you may be able to pick out those who do something better than Ralph," Holland says, "but he probably has more strong points than any of them."

Lady Seminoles Move Without Top Two

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Leading scorers Sue Galkantas and Lisa Foglio were sidelined with injuries but the Florida State Lady Seminoles still raced into the semifinals of the college basketball National Women's Invitational Tournament.

Galkantas was on crutches with a sprained ankle and Foglio has a broken arm, but teammates Glenda Stokes and LeeVayn Oliver took up the slack with 15 points each in Thursday's easy 76-63 quarterfinal win over Pepperdine.

"We shot really well," said

Seminole coach Janice Dykehouse. "I was a little concerned playing without our top two scorers but I was glad to see some of our other players scored a little more than they have in the past."

The Seminoles play Brigham Young, a 72-69 winner over DePaul, in tonight's late semifinal game.

"We'll have to play better than we did tonight (Thursday) to beat BYU," Dykehouse said. "We got a little sloppy in the second half and we can't do that against BYU because they are a well-disciplined team."

FAITH TEACHES RESPECT FOR A GRANDFATHER'S WISDOM

In this age of the ever-widening generation gap, in which youth is thoroughly convinced that it alone has all the answers to the world's ills and even a father often has trouble gaining the attention and respect of his children, a grandfather is that much farther removed from what they consider reality. However, we must realize that our grandparents could not possibly have lived long enough to be succeeded by two generations without accumulating a vast store of knowledge and gaining an enviable perspective on the mysteries of life itself. The faith you acquire at the Church of your choice will teach you to honor and respect your grandparents, because there is much of value that you can learn from them.

Age...carries in it an authority which makes it preferable to all the pleasures of youth.
—Sir Richard Steele

"Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: ask thy father and he will show thee; thy elders and they will tell thee."
—Deuteronomy 32:7
