

Carter, Reagan Both Claiming Edge in Debate

CLEVELAND (AP) — President Carter and Ronald Reagan emerged upbeat from their dramatic debate and charged into the final six days of the 1980 presidential campaign, concentrating on the big-state prizes. Each claimed the edge from his performance in their head-on confrontation.

Reagan was heading for Texas and Carter for Pennsylvania, two of the major states still judged a tossup in most surveys.

With most public opinion polls saying the presidential race is too close to call, Tuesday night's debate was viewed as a potentially decisive event, and each candidate played what he believed were his strongest cards.

Carter lashed out at his Republican challenger as "dangerous and belligerent" on foreign policy. He described Reagan's positions on domestic issues "ridiculous" and "heartless."

Reagan — in quieter, but biting language of his own — blamed Carter for inflation and unemployment and said he couldn't describe his differences with the president on the uses of American military power "because I don't know what Mr. Carter's policies are."

Repeatedly, Reagan said his positions on issues were being distorted by the president.

After the 90-minute debate, the two men shook hands briefly and then joined their wives and supporters in pre-midnight rallies.

Carter said he "felt very good," but he cautioned supporters that "we've got another week to go. Next Tuesday the decision will be not in the hands of debate judges or the League of Women Voters or the press. The decision will be in the hands of millions of Americans like you."

At a similar rally a few blocks away, Reagan said, "I seemed to do all right. I've examined myself and I can't find any wounds...It gave me an opportunity to raise some issues about the failures of this administration."

"We had the offensive; Reagan was on the defensive," said Gerald Rafshoon, the advertising chief for the Carter campaign. It was a reversal of the usual relationship between incumbent and challenger.

The debate played to tens of millions of television viewers — pre-debate estimates ranged from 60 million to 85 million — and many others who tuned into radio broadcasts. The candidates answered questions from four journalists and had the opportunity for rebuttal and counter-rebuttal.

The moderator was commentator Howard K. Smith, who played the same part in the first televised presidential debate between Richard Nixon and John F. Kennedy in 1960. The forum was sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Moments after the debate began, Reagan moved to deal with the war and peace issue that has dogged his campaign.

"I believe with all my heart that our first priority must be world peace and that use of force is always and only a last resort when everything else has failed," said Reagan.

Voter concern that Reagan might get the nation involved in a war played a role in prompting the Republican nominee to change his position and agree to a one-on-one debate with Carter.

Before that shift, Reagan had insisted that independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson have a role in any debate format.

Anderson was out in the cold Tuesday night, participating only on the fringe of the main event. The Illinois congressman watched the Cleveland debate from a stage in Washington and responded to the same questions.

On the issue of nuclear war, Anderson said he saw no difference between Carter and Reagan.

"I have become convinced there really is no significant difference between them on whether we can fight a limited nuclear war," said Anderson. "There is no such thing as limited nuclear war."

Carter and Reagan started slowly like two boxers warily testing each other out in the opening round of a championship bout. But the action began to heat up when the second question from the four-person panel dealt with inflation.

Responding first, Carter blamed OPEC increases in oil prices which he called "oil shocks" for the high inflation rates, particularly during the first quarter of 1980, and said his policies for dealing with the economy are "very sound and very carefully considered."

By contrast he said that George Bush, now Reagan's running mate, once described the GOP nominee's proposal for a 30 percent cut in income tax rates to be phased in over a three-year period as "voodoo economics" that would boost the inflation rate to 30 percent.

Reagan retorted that Carter has broken many of the economic pledges of his 1976 campaign and has tried to place the blame for inflation on OPEC, the Federal Reserve Board and the American people.

"He has then accused the" (See DEBATE, Page 2)

Candidates and attendants for the title of 1980 Hereford High School Football Queen have been named, according to Robert Priest of HHS.

Three senior girls will be vying for the title with the crowning of the queen set for Friday night during pre-game ceremonies.

This year's candidates, nominated by members of the football team, include Karol Shook, Lindy Walterscheid and Kim West. Attendants chosen are Michelle Osborn and Rhonda Reinart.

According to Priest the crowning has been scheduled for 7:15 p.m. at the stadium before the football game between Hereford and Lubbock Coronado.

Miss Shook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Shook. She is active in the National Honor Society and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. She is a Drill Team captain, Leo Club vice president, senior class vice president and serves as the sweetheart for the Lions Club.

Miss Walterscheid is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Walterscheid. She is a member of Fellowship of Christian Athletes and a three-year member of varsity track. She is currently FFA Sweetheart and a member of the Leo Club.

Miss West is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph West. She is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Leo Club and is currently serving as a Lieutenant in the drill team. Miss Osborn, who will serve as the sophomore attendant, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Osborn. She is active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Campfire, band and track. She was also selected as sophomore Annual Queen candidate.

Miss Reinart, who will serve as the junior attendant, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reinart. She is active in the National Honor Society, Student Council, Leo Club, The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, drill team and serves as the junior class president.

TRLA Gets Case Moved

Friena Residents Injured In Collision at Summerfield

A near head-on collision west of Hereford on Highway 60 at Summerfield resulted in injuries to two Friena residents Tuesday afternoon and has left the Castro County Attorney's office considering charges in the accident.

An ambulance and the rescue unit from the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department were summoned shortly before 5 p.m. Tuesday following the collision, which occurred on the edge of Summerfield where Highway 60 narrows from a four lane to a two lane thoroughfare.

According to reports received by The Brand, an eastbound van driven by Steve Gregory, 29, of Friena collided with a westbound Mercury driven by Ruth Terry, 61, of Friena.

Both Mrs. Terry and Gregory were transported to Deaf Smith General Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Terry was admitted while Gregory was transferred to High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo where he remained in serious condition in the intensive care unit this morning.

Mrs. Terry was in critical condition at the local hospital.

Gregory's wife, Debra, 22, was treated and released at Deaf Smith General. Hereford firemen used their "jaws of life" tool to free Mrs. Terry from the wreckage of her vehicle.

An investigating DPS trooper reported that the Mercury was traveling in the wrong lane as the vehicles approached and the left front of the Mercury struck the center front of the van.

The Castro County attorney was reportedly considering charges related to driving while intoxicated in the wake of the accident.

Absentee Voting To Set New Mark

The deadline for absentee voting for the Nov. 4 presidential election is Friday at 5 p.m. at the county clerk's office on the second floor of the county courthouse.

Individuals may cast ballots in person or obtain mail-in ballots, and are reminded to bring their white voter registration card with them. Offices hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Approximately 312 people had voted absentee through Tuesday, which surpasses the old record of 306.

County Clerk B.F. Cain had projected that the number of absentee votes cast here would exceed the old record. With two more days of voting left, this year's record should increase.

The large number of absentee votes may indicate there will be a strong voter turnout here Nov. 4, according to Cain.

Major Downtown Burglary Reported

Police were investigating an apparent break-in at the Stairway to Fashion in downtown Hereford today where a number of items of clothing were reportedly taken.

That incident remained under investigation at Brand presstime.

A number of velvet dresses were reportedly taken in the break-in along with several items of jewelry, and loss in the burglary was expected to mount into the thousands of dollars.

Hereford police are again alerting parents to caution their children following another incident here Tuesday in which a white male, estimated to be about 35 years of age, attempted to pick up a seven year old girl walking home from school.

Police Sgt. David Wheeler reported that the youngster was walking home from Shirley Elementary when the man approached her in a black and tan vehicle and attempted to coax her inside.

The girl refused and proceeded toward her home, only to have the man intercept her again in an alley near her home, again attempting to coax her into the vehicle.

The same youngster had been approached by a man trying to coax her into his vehicle on a previous occasion. "We want to remind parents to caution their youngsters against getting into a vehicle with any stranger, and we would also ask parents to encourage their children to walk down main streets, rather than alleys, on their way home from school," stated Wheeler.

Did President Carter or Gov. Reagan score the most points in the Presidential debate last night? It probably depends on who you favored going into the discussions.

We thought President Carter was to solemn, and spent too much time trying to tell us what Reagan believed. Reagan did well in refuting those statements, but it seems he should have spent more time hammering at Carter's failure to handle the country's economic woes.

Generally, we thought both candidates handled themselves well and can understand why their supporters think their candidate won. Both men made a few statements that critics can distort and use as half-truths to cut down the candidates.

If you go strictly by what the candidates say about each other, it would be difficult to choose. According to Carter's statements, Ronald Reagan, if elected, would get us in an arms race with Russia, be too aggressive and get us in war, kill social security, dismantle the minimum wage, ruin Medicaid, and stop all social service programs.

Maybe anyone who could accomplish all that in four years deserves to be elected.

Reagan counters with statements that Carter has posted quite a record in four years. Since he's been in office, gasoline has gone up 97 percent, autos 35 percent, homes 70 percent, prime interest rates 194 percent, inflation 280 percent, and the national debt from $632 billion to $884 billion.

Incidentally, it doesn't make any difference in which party primary you voted this year, you can vote for any name in any column come Nov. 4. If you plan to vote a split ticket, do not mark the party boxes listed at the top of the ballot. Simply go across the columns and mark the boxes by the candidate's name for which you want to vote.

Bomb Doesn't Terrify Travel Agent

By ALLISON RYAN
Women's Editor

During the opening ceremonies Oct. 19 at the national convention of the American Society of Travel Agents in Manila, Philippine Islands, a bomb exploded injuring 13 people.

Joan Coupe, owner of the Hereford Travel Agency, was at Plenary Hall Convention Center and was within 15 feet of the explosion.

"We were watching a film about World War II in the Philippine Islands which included the explosion of bombs. So, the actual explosion in the convention center sounded like part of the film to many of the people," she explained.

"When I heard the explosion, I just turned around and looked at the flames shooting up in the air, but I really didn't panic because I wasn't hurt," Mrs. Coupe said.

"The bomb was really nothing big. Some small debris was pushed through the air and there was a lot of smoke billowing up. I really couldn't see anything, but I wear contacts and my eyes were watering so I knew there were a lot of particles in the air," she said.

According to Mrs. Coupe the bomb was planted in a briefcase like the ones provided by the Philippine tourist agency to all the representatives.

"Two Philippines who are involved with a small terrorist group and oppose President Marcos and his marshal law planted the bomb in protest. At least 100 countries were represented at the ASTA meeting and what better way would there have been to get publicity for the group," she said.

Mrs. Coupe said the 4,500 people attending the opening ceremonies did not panic, instead, the reaction was more of shock.

"There were a few hysterical women in the group, but because the bomb exploded during the film about the war, most people did not realize what had happened until it was all over. We had the convention center cleared in an orderly manner in about 10 minutes," she continued.

Following the evacuation, all activities planned for the convention were cancelled and police security was doubled in the city.

The government gave the convention a television channel to broadcast the rest of the convention. Representatives were able to view programs on television 6 hours for two days.

"It was really sad, because the Minister of Tourism had worked for six or seven years for this convention with the purpose of increasing tourism to his country and for this to happen is really awful," Mrs. Coupe continued.

The Filipinos were very apologetic. Because of what had happened they gave us all the tours we wanted of Manila which was great. The people there are so nice," she said.

About 100 representatives left the Philippines immediately after the incident in the convention center, afraid something else might happen.

"Few people were really scared. It (the bomb) really didn't bother me. You can't get scared of them (the terrorists). If you do, you end up staying in one place and never experiencing anything new," she stated.

There were several parties hosted for the remaining agents, but the government warned them they would be attending at their own risk. Security in the city also increased in that everyone entering a store or restaurant was searched. "I don't understand the terrorists objection to Marcos. People I talked to seemed very content with life. They (See BOMB, Page 2)

Jurors Selected

For Murder Trial

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — A jury must decide if Patricia Ann Frazier was mentally ill last February when she cut out her 4-year-old daughter's heart, a slaying the young mother's attorneys say took place during a brief period of insanity.

Mrs. Frazier has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity in the Feb. 22 death of her daughter, Khunji Wilson. Police found the toddler's body lying in a pool of blood in the front seat of a car. She had been stabbed several times and her heart had been removed and was wrapped in a bloodied wash cloth nearby.

Defense attorney Harold Lerew and Mrs. Frazier signed a consent document Tuesday, acknowledging that the child's death was caused "by blood loss due to the removal of the heart ..."

The document was signed after attorneys selected a five-woman, seven-man jury to hear the case. State District Judge Keith Nelson ordered testimony to begin at 9 a.m. CST today.

Rancher Baffled

By Mutilation

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Rancher Bill Heath says there is only one explanation for the recent bizarre mutilation and death of his Charolais bull — UFOs.

"That's what I believe," the South Texas cattle man said after finding the bull with its tongue and heart cut out. "Some people have said it was persons from the occult, devil worshippers, but they would have had to be using a helicopter to get around out here."

Heath said he is baffled by the desecration, which resembles a rash of similar mutilations two years ago in eastern Cameron County.

"It's very strange," he said Tuesday, after finding the body of his best bull Sunday afternoon. "There were no tracks around the animal. It was like he was hit and just fell over on his side."

"There was some blood coming out of its nose, but in the other carcasses, there was no blood at all."

The typical 1978 attacks involved clean incisions to remove some or all of the animals' tongue, lips, reproductive organs, heart and eyes.

Texas Ranger Bruce Casteel of Harlingen was one of several state and local officers who investigated the wave of mutilations in 1978.

"Most of the cattle I looked at I would say had been mutilated, if that's what you want to call it, by varmints, like coyotes," he said.

"I didn't go out and look at all of them. I didn't see the ones Heath is talking about," Casteel said.

Heath said he is convinced scavengers did not kill the animals.

"You don't walk up to a bull like that one. He was wild," he said of the 1,100-pound animal. "And there were no puncture marks where a tranquilizer gun had shot him," he said.

"This time, they cut a perfectly round hole above the left shoulder, cut through a muscle to get to the heart. I have a degree in animal science and I've had to do animal dissections. There's no way a person could do that with a scalpel," he insisted.

His theory is that the wound was burned with a laser-like instrument.

"Nothing would touch that carcass. Usually you know a dog will run up to anything and sniff it. The dogs ran up to this and just turned tail and ran in the other direction," he said.

Heath said he has dragged the carcass to the middle of the pasture to decompose.

"It's too muddy out there to do much else and it's too wet to burn it," he said.

Other ranchers might want to keep an eye on their herds to see if other deaths occur, he said.

"Somebody ought to call 'That's Incredible' or one of those shows because no one has been able to explain this thing," he said.

Men Illegally

Import Turtle Meat

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A defense attorney says two men charged with illegally selling and importing more than 17,000 pounds of Pacific Ridley turtle meat were within the "grace period" offered when a federal ban against the meat went into effect.

Ben Soloff, owner of Ben Soloff Seafood Distributors of Philadelphia, and Pat Pace, owner of Pace Fish Co., of Brownsville, are on trial in what has been called the largest turtle products case ever prosecuted.

They are accused of importing and selling more than 17,000 pounds of the turtle meat in September and October of 1978. Soloff's attorney, Juan Gavito, claimed Tuesday that the government gave importers a year to sell off their stocks of the meat after a federal ban took effect Sept. 6, 1978.

"The dates Mr. Soloff was alleged to have violated the law was well within the grace period," Gavito told a federal jury.

Government lawyer Jose Turo of Washington told jurors he will call sea turtle experts and federal agents as witnesses. An estimated 1,300 turtles were killed to obtain the 17,000 pounds of meat, he said.

Soloff and Pace were named in a 12-count federal grand jury indictment last July.

Weather

The blustery cold front that moved through the coastal plains brought brisk winds and cloudiness to the area, while the mercury plunged in the Panhandle.

It was just plain cold early Wednesday in Dalhart, which posted a 23 degree reading. Amarillo had a shivery 24, and it was 25 in Lubbock. Abilene and Wink were slightly warmer at 30 degrees.

The forecast calls for more cloudy skies in the east and south, but sun for the west and northwest.

AP Poll Rates Candidates Even in Debate Performance

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer

President Carter and Ronald Reagan made significant and roughly equal gains in the preferences of registered voters as a result of their campaign debate, an exclusive poll by The Associated Press says.

The poll found that, in a debate-watching audience that leaned to Republican presidential candidate Reagan in the first place, each man gained 6 percentage points, mostly from the ranks of the previously undecided.

The nationwide canvass surveyed 1,062 registered voters who watched the debate on television Tuesday night. It yielded results from which each side could claim "victory" in the long-awaited confrontation.

In addition to the 6-point gains, the chief findings of the poll, taken in the 80 minutes after the debate went off the air, were these:

—More Reagan supporters watched than did Carter supporters.

—In this Reagan-leaning audience, 46 percent said he did the better job while 34 percent said Democrat Carter did — a margin that roughly parallels the margin between them among the 1,062 both before and after the debate.

—Neither man made significant inroads into the other's camp. Both held on to virtually all of their supporters who watched the debate.

—Viewer reaction to the debate broke along partisan lines, with those who generally agreed with Reagan thinking he did the best job while Carter scored highest with those who found him well informed and/or in agreement with their views.

The poll was conducted in two stages. A scientifically selected nationwide sample of 1,488 registered voters was questioned by telephone Monday. These same people were called back after the debate and 1,062 said they had watched.

That the TV audience leaned more heavily to Reagan than the larger Monday sample is clear from these findings:

Among the group questioned Monday, Reagan got 39 percent, Carter 35 and Anderson 7 — figures roughly in line with the findings of major national polls taken during the last 10 days.

But among the 1,062 who watched, the standing as of Monday was Reagan 43, Carter 33, Anderson 8 and 15 percent undecided.

Among the 1,062 after the debate, the figures stood at 49 percent for Reagan, 39 for Carter, 6 for Anderson and 6 percent still undecided.

Thus both Reagan and Carter achieved identical 6-point gains after the debate. Reflecting the partisan interpretation of the debate, the registered voters who thought Reagan did the best job said they agreed with what Reagan said. People who liked Carter's performance said the incumbent seemed to know what he was talking about better than Reagan.

Forty percent of those who picked Reagan said they did so because he said things they agreed with. Twenty-four percent said he answered the questions well and 21 percent said he seemed to know what he was talking about. Seven percent said he looked and acted like a president and 5 percent said Carter did a poor job.

Thirty-four percent of those who thought Carter did better said he seemed to know what he was talking about.

Twenty-two percent said he answered the questions well and 18 percent said he looked and acted like a president should. Sixteen percent said

Carter said things they agreed with and 7 percent felt Reagan did a poor job.

The remainder in each case gave other reasons or were not sure.

The question used to measure debate performance was phrased this way: "Who, in your opinion, did the best job in the debate?"

The interviews were conducted by Chilton Research Services of Radnor, Pa., for The Associated Press.

The results measure not the opinions of all registered voters but only those of registered voters who watched the debate nationally.

As with every sample survey the results of the AP poll could vary from the opinions of all those who watched the debate because of chance variations in the sample.

For results based on interviews with more than 1,062 adults, the results are subject to an error margin of 4 percentage points.

Rider Returns Through Hereford

Thomas L. Gaddie passed through Hereford once again Tuesday on the homeward leg of a marathon horseback ride that has stretched over nine months and 9,500 miles thus far, as the 57-year-old Dallas fireplace repairman seeks to ride into a place in the world recordbooks for his feat.

Gaddie has his sights set on the 10,000 mile record established 54 years ago for the longest horseback ride.

He passed through Hereford last spring bound for the Arctic Circle with a goal of riding from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean.

That goal wasn't fully attained by Gaddie, who reported that he was hassled over riding across the Arctic tundra in Alaska and was forced to change his plans and ride into northern Canada instead.

Gaddie has used six horses, six support vehicles and a crew of eight in attempting to break the world record, and estimates that he has spent at least $150,000 on the venture, along with son, Rocky.

The expense was incurred through costs for feed, equipment, worker payrolls and other items.

The marathon ride started Feb. 29 of this year when Gaddie rode along South Padre Island.

He is now riding along the perimeter of Texas to make up for miles lost by not being allowed to ride across the Alaskan tundra.

At one point in his adventure, Gaddie was beset by horse rustlers who made off with three of his animals, but they were later recovered and the culprits jailed.

Gaddie is looking to amass 11,000 miles on horseback before he returns to his Dallas home.

His journey carried him through Hereford and westward toward Farwell yesterday, and he hopes to reach El Paso later this week.

people of living too well," said Reagan. "...We don't have inflation because the people are living too well. We have inflation because the government is living too well."

During rebuttal, Carter called the Reagan tax plan "this ridiculous proposal." He quoted Reagan as saying the minimum wage was a major cause of unemployment and said, "This is a heartless kind of approach to the working families of our country."

Carter said that when Reagan was governor of California "he had the three largest tax increases in the history of that state."

Reagan called that assertion "a distortion of the situation," and said the increase in the size of California's state government in relation to population was only one-sixth that of the Georgia state government, where Carter served as governor.

Carter jumped at the opportunity to attack Reagan's opposition to the SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union as "a very dangerous and disturbing thing."

Reagan retorted that one of those Republicans, Gerald R.

Ford, opposed the treaty finally signed by Carter. Despite his role in negotiating SALT II, Ford has disavowed the treaty, "citing changes drawn by the Carter administration." Reagan said he has not advocated scrapping the agreement, explaining, "I am talking about taking the treaty back and going back into negotiations."

During the time Mrs. Coupe spent touring the city on her own before the convention, she said no Marshall law was evident. She said people seemed happy with life and their president.

"President Marcos was at the opening ceremonies when the bomb exploded. The group was not after him, or they would have tried to harm him then. I think they were in protest and this was a way to gain world-wide attention," she said.

According to Manila newspapers Mrs. Coupe brought home with her, 11 people were injured and 2 people were taken to the hospital for treatment. Also, 30 warrants were issued to arrest those involved with the terrorist group.

"Several of the United States newspapers reported people had been killed during the explosion, which made the incident sound worse than it was in reality," she continued.

Concerning the 30 people who are wanted by the government in connection with the bombing, the majority of them live in the United States and one is a citizen of the U.S.

"The whole thing was so pointless. We were there to help the country further themselves. However, it won't stop me from attending other conventions or from visiting the Philippines. I won't let something like this scare me, she said.

Mrs. Coupe said one spokesman commented that the only one who gained from the incident was the telephone company when 5000 people called home after the explosion.

Whether you've been a regular at the Herd's football games or haven't made one this season, you ought to make plans to see the big game with Lubbock Coronado Friday night at Whiteface Stadium.

The Coronado Mustangs come into the game ranked No. 7 in the state, but the Herd thinks it can knock off the Lubbock team. Hereford still has a shot at the district crown, if it wins this game and the last game against Lubbock High.

There are a lot of "ifs" connected with Hereford going into the grid playoffs, but stranger things have happened. There's the possibility of a three-way tie with the district representative decided by a coin flip. And, there's the possibility of Hereford being a co-champ and representing the district.

You might help one of those "ifs" come true if you get out and support the Herd Friday night!

SWPS Hosts Austrian Visitors

W.R. "Bill" Esler, vice president of engineering and construction for Southwestern Public Service Company, has announced that the electric company hosted visitors from the Austria Power Authority last Thursday at the request of the White House and the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The visitors included an environmentalist and a planner, and the group toured Southwestern's Harrington Station, northeast of Amarillo. Austria, like many other countries, is in the process of switching from fuel oil and natural gas to coal as a fuel for the generation of electricity.

The visitors were especially interested in the fabric filter system or "baghouse" at Harrington. The system is used to control the fly ash that results from burning coal in boilers.

"Southwestern Public Service Company was selected by the EPA to measure and analyze the performance of a large fabric filter or low sulfur western coal, because of its progressive approach to environmental control. The information being collected under this agreement with EPA is being shared with other utilities in the United States as well as others around the world," Esler said.

Southwestern has had visitors from Japan, Australia, Israel, West Germany and the Netherlands who are all responding to the same need for change to the utility from burning petroleum fuels to coal. Most of the foreign visitors have similar environmental quality controls that make their interest in Southwestern's research on fabric filters a valuable asset to their engineering and design knowledge.

Besides these foreign visitors, Southwestern has shared through national conferences and correspondence baghouse characterization, operation and maintenance information with utilities in Canada and India.

HENRY BEHRENDTS

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church for Henry Behrendts, 92, who resided 10 miles southwest of Hereford. The Rev. George Belford, pastor, will officiate. Interment will be in Rest Lawn Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Behrendts died Monday afternoon at Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt after a short illness.

Born June 24, 1888 in Pomeroy, Iowa, Mr. Behrendts married Lena Botine, Aug. 18, 1915 in Pocahontas, Iowa. He moved to Deaf Smith and Castro Counties in 1918 from Kress. A retired farmer, Mr. Behrendts was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here.

He is survived by the widow; five daughters, Sylvia Duran of Wapato, Wash., Edna and Mable Ewing, both of Dimmitt, Agnes Pennington of Billings, Okla., and Ethel Lockridge of Phoenix, Ariz.; a son, Clarence Behrendts of Hereford; a brother, Andy Behrendts of Dimmitt; 28 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

Pall bearers will be Mr. Behrendts grandsons.

LEO PRICE

Services will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in Rix Chapel for Leo Price, 79, who died Monday at 2 p.m. at South Hills Manor in Dimmitt following a lengthy illness. The Rev. R.L. Stovall, pastor of First Baptist Church in Terre Haute, Ind., will officiate. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral Home.

Mr. Price was born Sept. 9, 1901 in Boatland, Tenn. He married Ica Walton, Aug. 4, 1922 in Clovis, N.M. She preceded him in death in 1977. Coming to Hereford 30 years ago from Bellview, N.M., Mr. Price was a retired cement contractor. He lived in Hereford until recently moving to Dimmitt. He was a member of the First Methodist Church in Bellview.

Survivors include four daughters, Avis Blakey and Janell Davison, both of Hereford, Leola Stovall of Terre Haute, Ind., and R.L. Campbell of Melrose, N.M.; a brother, Loyd Price of Clovis, N.M.; two sisters, Altie Smith of Roswell, N.M., and Audrey Moon of Ragland, N.M.; 18 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, the family request memorials be made to the American Heart Association.

Officers Elected For Lapidary Club

New officers were elected at the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club's regular meeting Monday night at the Pioneer Natural Gas Famel Room.

Ralph Packard will serve as the new president of the club this year with Joe Williams as vice president and Betty Henson and Pauline Lady as co-secretary-treasurer.

Dale Henson presided over the routine business meeting in which reports were heard concerning the last two field trips. The group traveled to Lake Meredith and Black Mesa Oklahoma and the trips were termed successful. Included in the report was the showing of various rocks collected on the trips. Henson displayed a necklace and earrings made from rose agate.

In other business, plans were discussed for the December Christmas supper for members.

The door prize, furnished by Tim Dawson, was won by Packard. Hosts for the meeting were Henry Wedel, Garth Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ruland.

The group will meet again Nov. 24 at the Flame Room at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Attended Choir Tryouts

Stanton Junior High choir students who participated in the tryouts were Amanda Almazan, Sandra Almazan, Buffy Huckert, Dawn Wright, Calvin Boston, Chris Crowley, Alan Morris, and Jody Padilla. Those students who made it were from left Alan Morris, Dawn Wright, and Chris Crowley. The choir clinic and concert will be held in Pampa Nov. 1 with Bill Cormack, executive secretary of Texas Music Educators Association will be the clinician. Stanton's choir is under the direction of Doug Morris.

Ann Landers A Grace of God

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Writing this letter is therapy for me. My stomach is so tied up in knots from the experience I decided it might help if I did something positive-like writing to Ann Landers. If just one person learns something from my letter, I will have performed a valuable service.

Our little girl is nearly two. She is every mother's dream. We are trying to raise her right and keep her from harm. Our home is just about as "child-proof" as it is humanly possible to make it. All potentially dangerous substances are kept locked up. I am training her now to keep hold of my hand when she crosses the street with me.

until now how deadly dangerous a gun can be. Please tell your readers again and again--Owe One To Him (Louisville)

DEAR OWE ONE: I have told them--again and again--and you should see the hostile, angry mail I get from the members of the National Rifle Assn. But I'll hang in there just the same. Thanks for the assist.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 16-year-old girl who wishes she was a contortionist so she could kick herself in the rear end.

I went steady with a neat guy for three months. He was terrific company, very intelligent and knew how to treat a lady. The break-up was all my fault. He was about two inches shorter than I, and a few of my friends made cracks about "the runt." Like a dummy, I let it get to me. I picked a fight and told that beautiful person I didn't think we were suited to each other. He asked me what I meant, and I told him I needed a taller guy.

Now he is dating another girl, and I'm heartsick. I hear via the grapevine that he still cares for me. Any suggestions? I'd give anything to get him back.--Peanut Brain In La Crosse, Wis.

DEAR PEANUT: Put on a pair of flat-heeled shoes and walk over to that neat guy and plead temporary insanity. There are an awful lot of short guys out there who people of all sizes look up to.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You were really asleep at your typewriter when that woman wrote about the newcomer who discouraged gossip by asking, "Did you see it yourself or did you hear it from someone?"

A perfect response would have been, "Intelligent people talk about ideas. Average people talk about things. Small people talk about other people." I read it somewhere and have never forgotten it.--Alpena, Mich., Reader

DEAR ALPENA: You read it in my column. Thanks for digging up that old nugget. It would have been a splendid put-down.

Halloween Carnival Planned for Tonight

The youth of the First Baptist Church are sponsoring a Halloween Carnival tonight at the church.

The carnival is for the entire family for "a night of fun, surprises and excitement."

All proceeds will go to the Youth Fund to help on the expense of a mission trip next summer.

Local Recipes Needed For Brand Publication

A tabloid of recipes submitted by local residents will be published with the Thanksgiving issue of The Brand on Nov. 26, it has been announced by Women's Editor Allison Ryan.

Recipes are now being accepted for the special section from Deaf Smith County cooks. Recipes will be published in the tabloid if they are received prior to Nov. 12. Emphasis will be placed on recipes for the holiday season.

All recipes are welcomed for the section, which is being compiled after the good response to The Brand's previous recipe tabloids. Contributed recipes should be legibly printed or typed on 8" by 10" paper. The name of the contributor should appear along with their address and phone number. Recipes should be mailed to The Hereford Brand, P.O. Box 673, Hereford, Tx. 79045, or brought to the newspaper office, 130 W. 4th St.

Any questions concerning the recipe tabloid should be directed to Ryan or Denise Smith, 364-2030.

Local cooks are urged to submit their recipes as soon as possible.

This morning was the only time I have ever failed to put the gun away. I went to the bathroom, and when I came back I almost died. There was my child on the floor, playing with the gun as if it were a toy. If not for God's grace, I'm sure she would be dead by now.

I am so filled with guilt my hand is trembling as I write this letter. I never realized

Study Reveals 'Basic Values'

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The old values, so often lamented as lost relics of a more stable, less cynical, more sensible and spiritual age, have surprisingly turned up in a study of future markets.

The study found the family, social responsibility and freedom from debt were among the values held most highly by the people interviewed, and that materialism and hedonism may be losing appeal.

That these should be found in an advertising agency's marketing study, whose goal is to help sellers "exploit opportunities and hedge their risks," makes the findings stand out in bold relief.

But they are there, says Ruth Ziff, senior vice president of Doyle Dane Bernbach Inc., who supervised 503 in-home interviews with a national cross-section of men and women between ages 25 and 49 years.

The findings were given to a business group, the Conference Board.

Nearly two-thirds of the interviewees rated their economic situation at least as good or better than it was five years ago. And an even greater number said they expected their futures to be still brighter.

These are among the "basic values" revealed by the study:

PRIMACY OF FAMILY. "With the divorce rate what it is, the numbers who are choosing to get married late or not at all, it came as somewhat of a surprise to us, and perhaps it will be to you, that at the top of the list is the primacy of the family," said Ms. Ziff.

"In fact," she commented, "almost everyone in our sample agreed that a happy family life is very important and that they would sacrifice personal needs for the family."

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY. "Contrary to those who are quick to point out that humanitarian values have faded, we find a strong sense of social responsibility, a concern about pollution and the destruction of the environment and a willingness to experience self-denial to help our country become less dependent on foreign oil."

FINANCIAL SECURITY. "With the fear that their standard of living will be eaten away by inflation over the next several years, high numbers say that financial security is of the highest economic priority, and a secure job is more important than a high salary."

FREEDOM FROM DEBT. "Among our sample, we found that almost three-fourths believe there is nothing worse than being in debt."

COUNTER-HEDONISM. "There is a strong counter-hedonistic thread to current values, with few rather than many asserting they believe in enjoying life now and not worrying about the future."

ANTI-MATERIALISM.

"There is a strong emphasis on anti-materialism — on leading a simple, modest way of life."

SELF-SUFFICIENCY. "There is a strong desire for self-sufficiency. Even under the most favorable conditions people state they plan to do more things for themselves and depend less on professional services."

Other studies may turn up different findings, even contradictory ones, but the mere appearance of such values in a marketing study is something to wonder about — and maybe to celebrate.

"The public is invited to come for the fun," said a spokesman for the organization.

The Newspaper Bible

SHALL I OBEY THE LAW OR NOT?

OBEY the government, for God is the one who has put it there. There is not government anywhere that God has not placed in power.

So those who refuse to obey the laws of the land are refusing to obey God, and punishment will follow.

For the policeman does not frighten people who are doing right; but those doing evil will always fear him. So if you don't want to be afraid, keep the laws and you will get along well.

The policeman is sent by God to help you. But if you are doing something wrong, of course you should be afraid, for he will have you punished. He is sent by God for that very purpose.

ObeY the laws, then, for two reasons; first, to keep from being punished, and second, just because you know you should.

Pay your taxes too, for these same two reasons. For government workers need to be paid so that they can keep on doing God's work, serving you.

Pay everyone whatever he ought to have: pay your taxes and import duties gladly, obey those over you, and give honor and respect to all those to whom it is due.

Pay all your debts except the debt of love for others - never finish paying that! For if you love them, you will be obeying all of God's laws, fulfilling all His requirements.

WTSU to Hold Workshop, Nov. 10

WTSU—a workshop focusing on the uses of reading and language to aid learning disabled children will be hosted by West Texas State University on Monday, Nov. 10.

Sponsored by the department of curriculum and instruction in the College of Education, the workshop will feature Sister Mary Consilia, an author, lecturer, teacher and educational consultant.

The workshop titled "Assessment in Programming for Successful Remediation" will begin at 9 a.m. in the WTSU Activities Center. The morning session will continue until noon and the afternoon session will resume at 1 p.m. and conclude at 3 p.m.

Sister Mary Consilia, of Newburgh, N.Y., has earned degrees in education, social philosophy, the sacred sciences and a doctorate in metaphysics. She has taught at each level of instruction from kindergarten through graduate study.

She left college teaching in 1954 to work with the learning disabled and noncoping children. She defines noncoping children as children who are learning disabled, perceptually impaired or behaviorally disordered.

For 18 years, Sister Mary Consilia founded and directed the Center for Developmental Learning and Reading in Newburgh.

She is the author of "Syllabus and Handbook in the Language Arts for Learning Disabled Children" and "The Noncoping Child: A Handbook for the Teacher of the Failing Child."

Dr. Wilma Jo Bush, WTSU professor of education, said persons interested in or involved with teaching reading, language or the learning disabled child, students majoring in education or special education, counselors and other educational personnel would be interested in attending the workshop.

No fee will be charged for the workshop. Additional information may be obtained from Dr. Bush.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Guests of Dorothy and Jim Mercer last week were Dorothy's sister and brother-in-law, the Arthur Housleys of Sonoma, Calif. Mrs. Housley is a Hereford native and her husband was stationed at the prisoner of war camp here during World War II, so they had a lot of friends to look up.

Another sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Caraway of Lubbock, came up, as did the Mercers' daughter and her family, Ann and Gil Sims Kellie and Charlie, also from Lubbock.

The California visitors were taken to Amarillo for a performance of the Country Squire Dinner Theatre, and they also enjoyed checking over past years in Hereford at the Deaf Smith County Museum and its adjunct, the E.B. Black House.

Joan Coupe and other travel agents from over the world had some excitement that wasn't on the program of a convention in Manila recently. A bomb placed by an extremist group protesting the Philippine government, exploded at the opening session.

It did little damage, Joan said, injuring 11 persons of whom only two had to remain in hospitals for more than emergency treatment, but some scare reports got into US newspapers, saying four were killed.

The device exploded only about 15 feet from where Joan was sitting, so she had a first-hand view of the damage and she wasn't hurt at all. She said the bomb did what the protesters no doubt wanted it to—got world-wide news coverage.

Joan manages Hereford Travel Center and is a member of the American Society of Travel Agents. There were about 1,500 travel agents at the convention, from dozens of countries.

Talking about a trip to Switzerland and other European countries that wanda and Charles Hoover took earlier this month, Wanda marveled, as most travelers do, at the pride in their land shown by the Swiss people in every part of their nation.

"It's unbelievable that towns can be kept so spotlessly clean with people living in them," the Hereford woman said.

Hoover was interested in the use made of the little bits of farm land available in that mountainous region, and both the Hoovers were surprised at the thorough defense preparations of the country that has not been involved in a war for generations.

With every citizen trained and armed, Switzerland can be in full military readiness in 20 minutes if the borders are threatened, the Americans were told, and mountain fastnesses conceal defensive armaments.

My own immediate family had a small reunion last week. My two brothers and the wife of one, Florence and Doyle Vinson of Fort Worth and Jim Vinson of Los Angeles, were here.

We all went to Childress, where Florence was born and we Vinsons did most of our growing up and graduated from high school, to spend a night and look over the old hometown.

The Brand still needs recipes from area cooks for their Thanksgiving tabloid. The deadline is Nov. 12, so don't waste any time getting those recipes into the office to Allison Ryan or Denise Smith.

'Art Show, Sale' Sponsored by Guild

The Hereford Art Guild has announced their annual "Art Show and Sale," beginning Saturday, Nov. 1 through Sunday at the Community Center.

The Art Show is to be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 1-6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Artist from all over the country are expected to show their crafts, oil paintings, acrylics, woodworking, etc. during the two-day event.

Booths for the annual show are available for $15 each. Reservations can be made by contacting any member of the Art Guild. Chairman of this year's event is Travis McPherson.

The public is encouraged to attend the annual event both Saturday and Sunday.

With the increase in the cost of gasoline, some banks are installing or considering the installation of automatic tellers in gas stations, says Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

Mrs. Piernot is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Treat Trick-or-Treaters to Burgers

Fun fare for a Halloween party includes Hobgoblin Burgers that hide a flavor surprise in every bite.

Everything about these open-faced burgers is different, starting with brown 'n serve French rolls, split, buttered and lightly toasted. Spread each toasted bun with mustard and catsup, then top with tomato slices, onion rings and a Cheddar cheese slice. Over that, place an oblong-shaped meat patty. The trick is to seal the ground beef to the edge of the roll so the luscious cheese doesn't run out as it melts.

Top off each Hobgoblin Burger with such Halloween designs as owls, cats or moons cut from cheese slices with cookie cutters.

Complete the Halloween menu with individual mugs of steaming hot Spice Cocoa with marshmallows floating on top.

HOBGOBLIN BURGERS

8 servings
4 brown 'n serve French rolls
Buttered, softened
4 teaspoons prepared mustard

8 teaspoons catsup
16 tomato slices
Onion rings
8 slices Cheddar cheese, 4x2 inches
2 pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
Sliced Cheddar cheese, for garnish

Split rolls in half, butter and lightly toast under broiler. Spread each half with ½ teaspoon mustard; then 1 teaspoon catsup. Top each half with 2 tomato slices and several onion rings; cover with slice of cheese. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Mix together beef, salt and pepper; divide into 8 parts. Shape into oblong patties; place on top of cheese, spreading and sealing to edge of roll (this prevents cheese from running out). Place on baking sheet; bake 25 minutes or until beef reaches desired degree of doneness.

When sandwiches are removed from oven, slices of Cheddar cheese may be placed on top as garnish. For special occasions use cookie cutters to make designs from Cheddar cheese slices.

SPICED COCA

Yield: 8 cups

½ cup sugar
½ cup cocoa
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup water

7 cups milk
Marshmallows, if desired
Combine sugar, cocoa, cinnamon, salt and nutmeg in a large saucepan; gradually add water. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, and boil 1 minute. Add milk and heat to serving temperature. (Do not boil.) Top with marshmallows.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 5, the 310th day of 1980. There are 56 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Nov. 5, 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected to an unprecedented third term.

On this date:
In 1605, conspirator Guy Fawkes was seized as he was about to blow up the British House of Lords.

Five years ago, Morocco's King Hassan ordered some 350,000 of his countrymen to move into the Spanish Sahara and claim it.

One year ago, militants in Iran seized the British embassy in Tehran as the U.S. hostages in the American compound began their second day of captivity.

Today's birthdays: Singer-songwriter Paul Simon is 38 years old. Former cowboy star Roy Rogers is 68.

Thought for today: Conformity is the jailer of freedom and the enemy of growth — John F. Kennedy, U.S. president (1917-1963).

HHS Cross-Country Teams Post High Marks

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor
After Hereford's head cross-country coach Martha Emerson witnessed her girl's team take the second place trophy (the first of its kind in Hereford High's history in long distance competition) during the Plainview Cross-Country Meet this past weekend, she was on the giddy side of tickled.
The HHS team not only set an extraordinary mark in the school's history books, but gave it's best showing of the year going into the district meet November 1 — an opportunity for a squad to run its limit in the league's course.

"It was by far the very best effort of the year by every member of the cross-country team, and both teams (boys and girls) are the best we've had yet to represent Hereford High School," the mentor said following pleasing efforts by both crews in the recent meet.

"This was a good meet to prepare for the district meet this Saturday and everybody showed a marked improvement which will no doubt help our efforts this weekend. Four of the eight girls ran their fastest time of the season while the other four were within a few seconds of their best time," she said.

"The boy's varsity ran a hard fought battle in attempting to win this meet, but fell a little short. Still, five of the eight runners we have clocked their fastest time so far this year, and the other three just barely missed hitting that mark."

Linda Serrino kept her consistent pace in the top three HHS runners bracket after finishing 16th with a time of 14:19. Olga Alanez came in one second shy of that mark with a 14:20 18th place while Patricia Salazar capped a time of 15:26 for 27th, Allyson Thomas cinched 28th with a pace of 15:27 and Michelle Osborn landed a 30th place niche after running a 15:30.

Jana Morgan shaved off a time of 16:19 for 30th in the junior varsity division.
The boy's team didn't fare as well as its sister squad, but still managed to fare in the top half of its competitive field.

Clasping a fourth place team finish with 88 points, the Hereford crew fell behind Floydada's winning tally of 68, Pampa's second place finish with 77, and Boy's Ranch sum of 85 for third. Plainview placed fifth with 99, Canyon had 100, Levelland compiled 133, Abernathy took 220 and Borger completed the spread with 230.
Rodolfo Carrasco maintained his bidding for better times as he led the boy's squad with a fourth place clocking of 15:53. Edward Flores capped a 17th finish with a 16:52, George Arroyos paced off a 16:54 for 18th, Chris Carter claimed 26th with a 17:13 time, Fernando Carrasco ran a 17:14 for 27th, Doug Schroeter had a 17:20 for 30th and Eric Alexander clipped a 46th place berth with a time of 18:06.

Girl's Squad Nets 2nd Place Trophy

Futile Dive

HHS netter Adolfo Garcia dives to meet a returned shot during Hereford's dual-match tournament play with top-ranked Lubbock Monterey and Coronado teams this past weekend. Garcia, in competition with No. 2 seeded Greg Conoway of Coronado, lost his first set 6-1 and then split the match in the second 3-6 before eventually dropping the match in the third set 6-0. The HHS netter's outcome set a tune for the day as the Whiteface boy's and girl's teams failed to cinch one victory over either of the two Lubbock powerhouses. (Brand photo by Mauri Montgomery)

Hereford Netters Fall In Final District Tourney

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

The end was truly the end here for the Hereford varsity tennis team Saturday as the beleaguered squad played host to 6th ranked Monterey, 11th ranked Coronado and unranked defeat in its last dual tournament of fall play.
After the day's competition came to a halt, the HHS netters had been left toting an empty bag — nine separate losses in both the boy's and girl's competition, and that 0-9 deficit came once with each of the Lubbock schools.

"Well, I was disappointed in the way we came out of the dual tournament, but everyone else in our league hasn't been able to do any better against them — they're such big powerhouses in the game of tennis that they overwhelm you if you're not careful," said head coach Robert Cox.

"Lubbock is becoming and is really growing into a tennis town. By that I mean it becoming tennis oriented in the junior highs and highschools and it's difficult to compete with that. It's not as big of a tennis town as perhaps Abilene, but it's definitely getting there," he said.

"It all boils down to fundamentals of the game," he added. "They are fundamentally better than we are and a big reason for that is their kids were introduced to a tennis program at a much younger age than ours were. The other thing benefiting their program is the generation of competitive situations coming in a larger city. During the summer they have countless tournaments to play in competitively."

In the boy's single match with Coronado, Trent Thomas fell to Peter Brown by an easy margin of 6-1, 5-3. Adolfo Garcia played one of the closest matches of the day in a split set duel with No. two seeded Greg Conoway, but later dropped the decision 6-1, 3-6, 6-0. Raymond Duncan was defeated by David Wright 6-0, 6-0, Robert Castro got clipped by Carroll Rojoas 6-0, 6-1, Danny Perez dropped his match to Greg Miller 6-2, 6-3 and Eddie Lineman slipped at the hands of Greg Johnson 6-1, 6-1.

Garcia were upended by Brown-Taylor 6-1, 6-0, CHS team Wright-Wyatt shaved Duncan-Castro 6-1, 6-4 and Lindeman-Perez dropped their game to Miller-Johnson 6-0, 6-3.

The HHS girl's team ground their way to a similar ending as Kims Sims met CHS's Christie Gruver (a state contender a year ago) 6-1, 6-3, Claire Montemayor got clipped by Brenda Bewley 6-5, 6-3, Carol Zinser was defeated by Rhonda Brandaman 6-0, 6-0, Lisa Snyder faced straight set losses to Cindy Ferguson 6-1, 6-1, Dolly Montemayor skinned to a 6-1, 6-0 defeat from Mary Sobosle and CHS's Linda Goldstien drilled Shelly Gentry 6-0, 6-0.

Lisa Snyder and Carol Zinser were outmatched by Gruver-McNamara 6-3, 6-3 in doubles competition while Montemayor-Montemayor and Sims-Gentry squads followed their footsteps with respective losses of 6-3, 6-0 and 6-1, 6-2.

"There's only one consolation you can pick out of a tournament like this and that's we played some top-notch people. Most of those kids from Lubbock have seen state rankings at one time or another," Cox said. "We came close in several of our matches, but failed to pull down the win."

"Garcia did well against Coronado's Greg Conoway, but he didn't get the win when it went into split sets. Claire Montemayor split sets in a

Seven Major Contenders Vie for This Year's Heisman

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Is this the year someone other than a quarterback or a running back wins the Heisman Trophy?

Probably not, but not since 1971, when Auburn quarterback Pat Sullivan won out over Cornell tailback Ed Marinaro, has the race been as wide-open as it seems to be this year. The candidates even include a defensive end and a freshman running back.

The selections of Nebraska's Johnny Rodgers in 1972, Penn State's John Cappelletti in 1973, Ohio State's Archie Griffin in 1974 and 1975, Pitt's Tony Dorsett in 1976, Texas' Earl Campbell in 1977, Oklahoma's Billy Sims in 1978 and Southern Cal's Charles White last year were pretty much cut and dried.

But this year's race appears to have seven major contenders — quarterbacks Art Schlichter of Ohio State and Mark Herrmann of Purdue; running backs George Rogers of South Carolina, Jarvis Redwine of Nebraska, Freeman McNeil of UCLA and Herschel Walker of Georgia, and defensive end Hugh Green of Pittsburgh.

The preseason contenders also included quarterback Rich Campbell of California and nose guard Ron Simmons of Florida State. But Campbell has the misfortune to play on a losing team, even though his statistics are impressive, while Simmons missed a couple of early games with an injury.

Alabama has never had a Heisman Trophy winner and this year is no exception, since the Crimson Tide runs in scores of players every week. UCLA considers All-American safety Kenny Easley a candidate, along with McNeil, which may split the West Coast vote. McNeil also sat out one game with an injury.

For a change, Notre Dame isn't pushing anyone, North Carolina's Amos Lawrence has had to share the tailback position with super soph Kelvin Bryant and Southern Cal tailback Marcus Allen hasn't made as much noise as some of his predecessors.

Nebraska's Redwine probably was the early-season leader when he paced the nation in rushing, but he missed two games with an injury and was forced out of last Saturday's contest with a recurrence of the ailment.

Schlichter hasn't piled up glowing statistics and Ohio State's 17-0 loss to UCLA probably hurt his chances. Herrmann missed Purdue's opening game with an injury and was almost benched a few games later, although he re-entered the picture by smashing the all-time NCAA pass yardage record last weekend.

Rogers, great as he is, has two strikes against him because South Carolina has virtually no football reputation to speak of, never having won more than eight games in a season. Walker was subpar in one game with a sore ankle and Green, after all, is a defensive lineman. Only two linemen have ever won the Heisman — two-way ends Larry Kelley of Yale in 1936 and Leon Hart of Notre Dame in 1949.

Baylor linebacker Mike Singletary gets little ink outside the Southwest and Brigham Young quarterback Jim McMahon suffers from much the same syndrome as South Carolina's Rogers. Saturday's TV battle between Rogers and Walker will have something to say in the Heisman voting.

Is there any such thing as an upset these days? For instance, how can Washington beat Air Force 50-7, Air Force beat Navy 21-20 and Navy beat Washington 24-10?

"I can't explain it," says Navy Coach George Welsh. "But every team has players who can beat you. That's one of the things that's changed in college football in the last 5-6 years. It's leveled out a little more. Teams are better balanced now and a couple of good skilled people who get hot can beat you. There are more good athletes in college football today than ever before."

In fact, Notre Dame's Dan Devine thinks that players may be getting too big and too fast for even the quick-paced modern game.

"Our trainer says we're the best conditioned team he's ever seen," Devine points out, "but we've lost 13 players for the season and six more are out this week."

"The game has reached the point where it's so fast and the teams we play are hitting so hard...well, every kid we've lost this year has been on a good, clean, legal play. We may have a game that puts such a strain on a player's body that he is unable to handle it. More kids are big, strong and fast and they get better coaching in high school."

Lil Twisters Beat Amarillo Whitecaps

The Hereford Lil' Twisters soccer team hosted the Amarillo Whitecaps this past weekend and overcame the Amarillo squad very handily by a margin of 10-1.

Manuel Mendiola came out front to lead the Hereford team in the scoring bracket after compiling five goals to his credit. Thomas Vargas netted two on the affair, Ramiro Palacios finished the day with one goal, Javier Mendiola added one and teammate Efen completed the team's sizeable tally with one.

All kids, 15-16 years of age are invited to come and try out for the Twisters. For more information on the Twister club's play, contact coach Julian Zamora at Dameron Park on either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday after 5 p.m.

Landry Remains Pleased

DALLAS (AP) — In Thousand Oaks, Calif., during the dog days of their July training camp, a 6-2 start for his Dallas Cowboys was more than Coach Tom Landry could wish.

Featuring a new starting quarterback and a green secondary, Landry could see some hard times until the two units jelled. He was so worried about his defense he spent most of training camp working with that side of the line of scrimmage.

"Our team is where I hoped it would be," said Landry. "I felt our offense could do a lot of things it has done."

"But our defense was almost an impossible question. But we kept working and hustling and doing the things we had to do."

Would he take another 6-2 down the National Football League's back stretch?

"I'd take another 6-2 and not suit up," Landry quickly answered.

He added "the toughest part of our schedule is coming up."

Landry refused to concede the National Conference East to the Philadelphia Eagles, who own a one game lead. He also pointed out the Cowboys and Eagles are in good shape for a wild card berth which goes to runner-up teams with superior records.

"We expect to win the east and won't give it up," said Landry. "Of course, if we're not the champions I'd like to be in the playoffs anyway we can get there."

Landry can even see a possible Super Bowl for his team.

"We have the ingredients...we have a chance to be in the Super."

morning match against Monterey's Brenda Bueller, but there again we didn't take the match."

"I don't know what else there is to say — we got beat, but we got beat by some good people," he added.

The HHS netters, although basically finishing play with this last dual tournament of the fall, will participate in the Lubbock Invitational Tournament Saturday in the squad's last regularly scheduled competition of first-half play. It will resume district competition again in the spring.

Bowl," said Landry. "We definitely have a chance for the East (division) and if we keep improving and playing at the level we have been we could get to the Super Bowl with a few breaks."

The Cowboys play in St. Louis Sunday, travel to the New York Giants, host St. Louis, Washington and Seattle, go to Oakland and Los Angeles, then entertain Philadelphia in the season, windup at Texas Stadium Dec. 21.

Landry announced Tuesday that tailback Tony Dorsett will return to the starting lineup against St. Louis and elevated the disgruntled Robert Newhouse to the No. 1 fullback spot, will wear a flak jacket against the

Griffith, Dantley Lead Utah to Win

By WILLIAM R. FARNARD
AP Sports Writer

Adrian Dantley was the whole show for the Utah Jazz last year when they had the worst team in the National Basketball Association. This season, they have Darrell Griffith to make it a two-man gang, so the Jazz shouldn't be singing the blues so often.

Griffith scored 33 points and Dantley 28 in Utah's 104-96 victory over the expansion Dallas Mavericks Tuesday night, raising the Jazz's early-season record to 4-5.

"Griffith and Dantley were a two-man team. They beat us. There was just no way to stop them," Dallas Coach Dick Motta said. "Dantley is the league's leading scorer, and after tonight he still is."

In other NBA games, the Philadelphia 76ers whipped the Cleveland Cavaliers 119-101, the San Antonio Spurs won their eighth straight game with a 120-112 decision over the Portland Trail Blazers, the Atlanta Hawks beat the Kansas City Kings 119-109, the Milwaukee Bucks won their seventh in a row by defeating the Chicago Bulls 106-99, the Los Angeles Lakers rolled to a 131-101 victory over the San Diego Clippers and the Seattle SuperSonics swamped the Golden State Warriors 119-102.

Griffith was the key player at the turning point of the game, when the Jazz tallied 16 straight points in a

Cardinals because of bruised ribs.

Newhouse, miffed because he was used Sunday behind rookie fullback Tim Newsome, will replace Ron Springs, who also will have on a flak jacket because of a similar injury.

"We expect Tony to open up at tailback and will start Newhouse because he is ready to do a good job...he always runs well against Cardinals," said Landry. "Springs has been having some difficulty making adjustments at fullback...he has not reached the consistency he will reach."

Springs played last week as the starting tailback against San Diego.

2 1/2-minute span of the third quarter. During that spurt, Griffith scored nine points as a 57-48 Dallas lead was turned into a 64-57 Utah advantage.

Geoff Huston was the Mavericks' leading scorer with 26 points.

Lakers 131, Clippers 101
Earvin "Magic" Johnson scored 21 of his game-high 29 points in the first half as Los Angeles coasted to victory after taking a 73-45 halftime lead.

Johnson also had eight rebounds and 10 assists in just 31 minutes of playing time. Rookie Michael Brooks made his first start for San Diego and scored 24 points to lead his team although he sat out the final quarter.

"PROSIT!" THE TRADITIONAL Oktoberfest toast to the enjoyment of life is no longer heard only in Bavaria, where the festival originated 170 years ago. This toasting couple is seated in front of an authentic "festhalle" imported from Hanover, Germany, by New Jersey's Six Flags Great Adventure.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Texas voters have been promised a lot of attention from candidates, and last week they received a big dose of it.

President Jimmy Carter last week made campaign stops in Beaumont, Texas, and Waco to appear with Texas Democrats and strengthen his program to capture this "must win" state on Nov. 4.

Meanwhile, GOP nominee Ronald Reagan met in Austin with Gov. Bill Clements and conservative leaders of several farm and ranch groups to discuss ways to promote his election.

Their endorsements, however, were clearly made by individuals and not rank-and-file group members.

Not to be overlooked was Massachusetts Sen. Ted Kennedy, who courted votes for Carter in blue collar areas of Beaumont and Hispanic areas in McAllen.

Rural Texas
As political polls continue to indicate a neck-and-neck horse race, rural Texans find themselves more and more the object of attention.

Clements said he is pushing Reagan to pick a new secretary of agriculture from Texas, an incentive which no doubt helped to fuse the above-mentioned endorsements.

China Grain Deal
And from Carter, Texas farmers gained assurances they will sell millions of tons of grain at market prices to China in a treaty signed Wednesday for more than $9 billion in trade.

Republicans have charged the grain deal signing near election day is a political ploy, but administration officials explained the signing was delayed by China's displeasure over U.S. news leaks and potential market fluctuations.

As if to underscore that point, last week a $10 million class action lawsuit was filed against the nation's largest grain company and a former Nixon agriculture official by 294 farmers in 35 Panhandle counties and two New Mexico counties.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Bed rest can be harmful

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am concerned about my mother. She is in a nursing home. She isn't sick but she can't stay alone and I have to work. When I go to see her she is always in bed. If she were sick I could understand that. But she is not. Isn't sitting around and being in bed a lot of the time really bad for older people? I'd feel better if she were up moving around or at least sitting up to read. Am I worrying needlessly?

DEAR DR. LAMB - My 39-year-old brother died due to pancreatic hemorrhage caused by acute alcoholism. I wish I could have taken just one alcoholic to the foot of his bed to see all the lifesaving machines, heart, kidney, oxygen, etc., and the many needles inserted throughout his body in an attempt to combat the ravages of alcohol. Those readers who protest your stand on alcohol would not be so bold about their accusations if they have to witness this kind of unnecessary death of a friend or loved one.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Thank you for your thoughtful letter. I'm sorry to hear about your brother's untimely death. It's always a heartache to lose a loved one and in many ways even worse to realize it's an unnecessary death, often accompanied with needless suffering.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-6. Effects of Inactivity, Including Bed Rest. It will tell you the large number of things that inactivity really does to your body. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

This can happen to young people, too. It is similar to the changes that occurred in the astronauts during space flight because of weightlessness.

I'm really concerned about the tendency of some older people to lie around. Sitting is better than being in bed but walking and mild activity helps maintain useful function and health.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Can you give me some information on the spleen? My doctor thought I had an enlarged spleen so he had X-rays taken. The results came back that the spleen was borderline. What is the function of the spleen and could a person live without a spleen?

DEAR DR. LAMB - After using those white fabric softener sheets in my dryer I find they make great dusting cloths for my copper and figurines. - MARY W.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I want to tell Mrs. J.M. that I restored my plastic knitting needles by sharpening them in a regular pencil sharpener. Be careful not to make them too pointed. - MRS. D.T.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Bed linens are so expensive (what isn't?) so I never throw away a fitted sheet that has holes or ears in it as they can be used as mattress covers. Certainly keeps the mattress cleaner.

I also keep empty compacts that have pretty cases and remove everything inside and then put a picture in each side. These make nice little frames to go on a night table or dresser. - MRS. H.T.

DEAR DR. LAMB - When I see an ad in the classified section of the paper (such as "housework wanted, cakes baked", etc.) that I might want at some later date I cut it out and tape to the inside back cover of my telephone book. - RUTH

DEAR DR. LAMB - I first want to tell you how much I enjoy the column. In this day of such high prices, it is nice to be able to mix up a home remedy to restore whatever needs it. I would like to pass on some of my own Pointers.

Lighter fluid does a wonderful job of cleaning tar off clothing and rugs. It also cleans sticky tape and price tags off mirrors, glass and appliances.

I find that if I salt the water that eggs are boiled in, they will peel better.

To fix those holes that so often appear in the pockets of men's pants, I use a patch of iron-on fabric rather than trying to sew them. To keep this sticky fabric from adhering to the wrong fabric if the hole is big, I put aluminum foil between the two when ironing.

Keep a list of everything you put in your freezer and how many packages of each item. Tape this list to the freezer so you can mark off what you use. This saves unpleasant surprises - such as when you are sure there must be one more box of strawberries in the freezer but after searching find there is not. - MRS. R.W.H.

DEAR DR. LAMB - To help a handicapped person who has trouble tying his shoes, replace the laces with very narrow elastic and attach a piece of that new sticky fastener. This can be loosened or tightened with a touch. - MRS. H.J.N.

DEAR POLLY - Once I read in the column a stain removal formula that used bleach and automatic dishwasher detergent. Would you please repeat this with the directions. - LYDIA

DEAR LYDIA - Several readers have asked for a repeat of this formula that was sent in by a reader several years ago and I have found it really whitens both the cottons and synthetics I have tested it on. Our reader said: "I do a great deal of laundry with white synthetics and have found a way to keep them white and free of stains. Rinse and soak articles in cold water. Make up the following solution in a plastic bucket: 2 to 2 1/2 gallons hot water, 1/2 cup liquid chlorine bleach and 1/2 cup automatic dishwasher granules. Mix thoroughly, let cool and then place articles in this so they are completely submerged. Soak 3 or 4 hours and then wash as usual and you will find the synthetic whites much whiter and free of most stains." Be sure to follow these directions explicitly; final washing, as usual, is most important. - POLLY

POLLY'S PROBLEM
DEAR POLLY - I find they make great dusting cloths for my copper and figurines. - MARY W.

DEAR POLLY - Bed linens are so expensive (what isn't?) so I never throw away a fitted sheet that has holes or ears in it as they can be used as mattress covers. Certainly keeps the mattress cleaner.

I also keep empty compacts that have pretty cases and remove everything inside and then put a picture in each side. These make nice little frames to go on a night table or dresser. - MRS. H.T.

DEAR POLLY - When I see an ad in the classified section of the paper (such as "housework wanted, cakes baked", etc.) that I might want at some later date I cut it out and tape to the inside back cover of my telephone book. - RUTH

DEAR POLLY - I first want to tell you how much I enjoy the column. In this day of such high prices, it is nice to be able to mix up a home remedy to restore whatever needs it. I would like to pass on some of my own Pointers.

Lighter fluid does a wonderful job of cleaning tar off clothing and rugs. It also cleans sticky tape and price tags off mirrors, glass and appliances.

I find that if I salt the water that eggs are boiled in, they will peel better.

To fix those holes that so often appear in the pockets of men's pants, I use a patch of iron-on fabric rather than trying to sew them. To keep this sticky fabric from adhering to the wrong fabric if the hole is big, I put aluminum foil between the two when ironing.

Keep a list of everything you put in your freezer and how many packages of each item. Tape this list to the freezer so you can mark off what you use. This saves unpleasant surprises - such as when you are sure there must be one more box of strawberries in the freezer but after searching find there is not. - MRS. R.W.H.

DEAR POLLY - After using those white fabric softener sheets in my dryer I find they make great dusting cloths for my copper and figurines. - MARY W.

DEAR POLLY - I want to tell Mrs. J.M. that I restored my plastic knitting needles by sharpening them in a regular pencil sharpener. Be careful not to make them too pointed. - MRS. D.T.

women of the same age group. About 60 percent of these deaths are caused by alcoholic cirrhosis of the liver.

The many different ways alcohol can damage your body are discussed in The Health Letter number 14-6, Alcohol Can Be Dangerous to Your Health which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Alcohol can cause pancreatic hemorrhage, it can damage the liver, the brain and even cause heart failure. Cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth most common cause of death in American men between the ages of 35 and 54 and it's the fifth most common cause in of course, people who are not alcoholics can have one or two drinks periodically without incurring any serious health damage. If they don't exercise care in relationship to driving, though, they can have a fatal accident. There are even studies that show individuals who drink two cocktails or less are less apt to have heart attacks. But there are much better and more effective ways of preventing heart disease than resorting to alcohol.

The danger with using a little bit of alcohol is that too many people who try this end up using too much alcohol. Even concerning the question of heart disease, while there is some evidence that a little alcohol is helpful, a little bit more is harmful. Then there are a large number of people who already have some heart disease. In these people even small amounts of alcohol decrease the efficiency of the heart muscle.

My objection to the excessive use of alcohol is not based on moral factors as some of my readers might think. It's based solely on the terrible effects that the excessive or unwise use of alcohol has on so many people's health. Your brother's case is merely one example of countless thousands. Alcohol remains one of the foremost medical problems in our society today.

Stockmen Advised: Use Top Replacement Heifers

COLLEGE STATION - To stay on top of beef production in today's fast-moving and complicated cattle industry, a cow-calf producer must maintain a top-notch cow herd.

Actually, he must start with a good cow herd, use proven sires and select high-performing replacement heifers to take the place of poorer producing cows culled from the herd each year, says Dr. Larry Boleman, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A producer can improve and upgrade his breeding herd through selection of heifers and selection of parents to be mated. The goal in beef production is to improve the average performance of the offspring through selection of economic traits such as calving interval, birth and weaning weights, cow mothering ability, feedlot and pasture gain, efficiency of gain, yearling weight (feedlot or pasture), weaning and yearling conformation scores, carcass grade, rib-eye area and outside carcass fat thickness.

To make rapid and accurate improvement, all information to make maximum selection response should be used. Performance pedigree, individual performance data and visual appraisal are generally used in selection of heifers, notes Boleman.

Pedigrees provide family information and generally tell you what an animal should do because of what is known about the parents and their performance. Pedigree information when used alone provides low accuracy in estimating the breeding value, and is of almost no consequence if we go beyond the parents for information, says Boleman.

Individual performance information is a requirement to effectively select beef cattle for genetic progress. No single selection plan fits all breeders and producers, but any profitable selection program must be based on the ability of an animal to perform in a given environment.

Properly measured performance is the best estimate of the animal's breeding value. It should include such traits as growth characteristics, reproductive ability, longevity and the ability to produce acceptable quality meat at a minimal unit cost, points out the livestock specialist.

Although objective information is most important in the overall selection process, visual appraisal also remains an important tool for selecting animals for many tun-ditional economic traits. The trained eye is still needed to assist in determining composition of gain, degree of or type of muscling, skeletal dimension, structural correctness, masculine (testical size and shape) and feminine (udder and external genitalia development) characteristics, believes Boleman.

The most economically important beef cattle production trait is that of reproduction. The young heifer has to sexually develop and calve as a two-year-old and continue to calve every year of her productive life to be considered a proficient breeder.

When selecting a heifer, ask for maternal information of the cow, suggests the specialist. An exceptional performance record in itself will not totally insure that the heifer in question will be a productive breeder, but it sure will go a long way to success. Also use visual appraisal and try to select those heifers that look feminine, with a more refined head and neck, properly developed udder with correct sized teats, and a well-developed vulva. Combine performance information and visual appraisal in selecting a reproductively sound heifer.

In a nutshell, then, Boleman offers these suggestions for selecting top replacement heifers:

--Study performance

pedigrees and individual performance information of the parents of heifers in question.

--Select only those heifers from cows with demonstrated reproductive ability, longevity, and proven milking and mothering ability.

--Select heifers that are over the 100 percent weaning weight ratio (above the average of the group).

--Select heifers on the basis of sound and functional conformation.

Cotton Producers Urged To Petition on NCA

MEMPHIS -- Cotton growers have a high stake in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's proposal to require growers to plant within their normal crop acreage (NCA) to be eligible for 1981 upland cotton program benefits.

USDA announced the proposal in the Federal Register Oct. 3.

National Cotton Council President Herman Propst, a grower of Anson, Texas, has asked producers and other industry members to petition USDA for re-consideration of the NCA proposal.

"USDA has already made NCA compliance a part of the wheat program announced in August, and there are indications it plans to do so for all the other program crops," Propst said.

"While not mentioned in the cotton proposal, we have determined that USDA will also demand cross-compliance among crops and compliance on all farms owned and/or operated by a grower on which a program crop is planted," he explained.

Propst said the NCA requirements discriminates against cotton producers because crop acreage is a much higher percentage of the NCA in the Cotton Belt than in most other regions. In most cotton states, present crop acreage exceeds the official NCA by a substantial amount. NCA is the total of all major non-allotment crops planted in 1977.

"Besides the obvious problem NCA compliance creates for a farmer who is cropping land that was not in crops in 1977, there is another problem that many producers may not be aware of," Propst said.

He referred to the customary USDA reduction of field acreage in measuring row crops to allow for turnrows and other service areas, but said no such allowance is given for close-planted crops such as small grains.

"Growers who plant wheat or barley behind row crops this fall to a greater extent than in 1977 may find themselves out of compliance with 1981 NCA unless the same amount of turnrow acreage is idled," Propst explained.

He added that Council delegates this year went on record opposed to letting the Secretary of Agriculture require farmers to plant within the NCA if there is no set-aside program, and USDA has indicated there is not likely to be a set-aside for 1981.

Until this year, farm law prohibited the NCA requirement in any year when set-aside was not in effect.

Propst said he is urging Council members with an interest in the acreage rules to write USDA-ASCS, Room 3630 South Building, Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Holly Reports Earnings Of $3.77 Per Common Share

COLORADO SPRINGS - Holly Sugar Corporation has reported earnings of $5,967,000, or $3.77 a common share, on revenues of $135,878,000 for the six months ended Sept. 30.

This compares with earnings of $101,000, or seven cents a common share, on revenues of $96,836,000 for the comparable period last year.

Provision for federal and state income taxes is $5,651,000 compared with $165,000 last year.

Scabies Cases Total 8

For the three months ended Sept. 30, 1980, Holly reported earnings of $3,928,000, or $2.48 a common share, on revenues of $77,102,000 compared with a loss of $545,000 or 34 cents a common share, on revenues of $46,715,000 for the comparable period last year.

Fiscal 1980 results had been restated at March 31, 1980 to reflect accounting changes implemented during the year.

President John B. Bunker attributed the improved financial results to strong refined sugar selling prices and a continued demand for co-products throughout Holly's market areas.

He again called for "a national sugar policy designed to permit the domestic industry to exert its competitive abilities against international cartels and social-political manipulations in sugar-exporting countries."

"The ups and downs of the refined sugar market in the U.S. during the past several years have become familiar testimonials to Washington's inability to chart a rational, consistent economic course for this vital segment of American agriculture in a politically volatile, protectionist-oriented international marketplace," Bunker said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Eight cases of sporadic cattle scabies were confirmed in Kansas and Texas last month, the Agriculture Department says.

The figure is double the number for September 1979.

The current outbreak includes five cases in Kansas, two in Clark County and one each in Osborne, Sheridan and Wichita counties; and three in Texas, two in Castro County and one in Roberts County.

The Agriculture Department said that state quarantines were placed on infected and exposed herds in Kansas and Texas until cattle were treated for scabies.

The disease is caused by tiny, parasitic mites that puncture the skin of cattle and feed on body fluids released from the wounds. The mites are killed by dipping the cattle in a federally approved pesticide.

Under the Homestead Act originally passed by Congress in 1862, more than a million families received title to over 248 million acres of public land in the western United States.
