Chamber considering video to woo industry

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors are considering a project to have a company prepare a professional video presentation which would be used to "woo" industrial prospects to the community.

Directors discussed the idea during a regular monthly board meeting Thursday afternoon and voted approval on two other business items. One motion authorized executive vice-president Mike Carr to seek a response from Hereford School Board on its policy of employing teachers who reside out of the district. The other action was board approval to support the Crimestoppers program.

Directors also discussed sponsorship of a "memory" seminar and decided to study the proposal further, heard a report on the Hereford Partnership Power project, and heard a committee report on the recent Town & Country Jubilee.

The C of C board had sent a letter to the Hereford School Board several months ago requesting that they consider a policy of having all teachers reside within the school district. Director Terry Bromlow noted that no response had been given the chamber board by the school trustees.

Bromlow said 36 teachers, or about 10 percent of the faculty, resided outside the district last year. "Since they are being paid with local tax dollars, we think they should be a part of the community," said Bromlow. "And I sure believe the school board owes us the courtesy of a formal response to our letter." Directors voted unanimously to have Carr seek a response on the matter. The Crimestoppers organization had requested support of the chamber last month. After a short discussion, the board voted to pay for a mailout to chamber members urging their support of the program. Carr reported that Valley View Energy officials had solved some of their problems on contracts to move power from Hereford to Austin. The local manure-fired plant, Hereford Power Partnership, Ltd., is expected to start some construction this fall, reported Carr.

He told the board that the Deaf Smith County Industrial Development Corporation had approved the issuance of the remaining $26.6 million in bonds for the project this week. Hereford Power Partnership has secured a total of $98 million in the industrial bonds for construction of the project here. Bonds totalling

Hightower touts proposed farm bill

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said Thursday a farm bill has been proposed in Congress that would revitalize the agricultural economy and also cut $20 billion from the federal deficit.

"The economic depression that has gripped the agricultural economy for the past five years has not only driven more than 300,000 farmers from the land, it has also decimated the industries that serve farmers," Hightower said.

In a speech to the Agricultural Implement Workers Bargaining Council of the United Auto Workers, Hightower said that during the Great Depression, International Harvester lost money in only 1932 and 1933.

"This time around, Harvester started losing money in 1979 and hasn't stopped since, having lost more than $1.5 billion. As a result, International Harvester closed the Farm-all tractor plant in Rock Island, Ill., causing a loss of 2,600 jobs, and the Memphis plant, costing 1,425 jobs," Hightower said.

"The bad news is that this depression isn't over yet," he said. "Without improvements in real farm income, industry experts estimate that 43 percent of the farm implement dealerships in business today will have to close down before the decade is out, and that means more jobs lost."

Hightower said the proposed Farm Policy Reform Act would allow "for higher farm prices that add up to a 52 percent increase in net farm income and a 15 percent boost in farm export value while virtually eliminating direct federal farm subsidies."

Gramm sends aide team to Hereford

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm sent a team of his aides on a fact-finding trip to Amarillo and Hereford Thursday, where they visited with representatives of the Texas Corn Growers Association, the Texas Sugar Beet Growers, the Texas Cattle Feeders and the Texas Wheat Growers.

Dave Hill, a top administrative aide for Sen. Gramm and a specialist on agriculture, led the team. Jeb Hensarling, state director from Dallas, was also with the group. Several representatives from Rep. Beau Boulter's staff also came to Hereford.

Bill Cleavinger, president of the Sugar Beet Growers, and Carl King, president of the corn growers group, hosted a reception and dinner at Hereford Country Club Thursday night. Farm leaders and ASCS officials attended the meeting.

The group made stops at Hereford Grain Corporation and Holly Sugar during their visit in Hereford. A tour of several feed yards were included on the tours here and in Amarillo. Farm leaders from Nazareth, Dimmitt, Lubbock, Lamesa and several other communities were participating in the tour and visit with Sen. Gramm's staff.

Talking About Plans

Hereford Day Care Center director Bettie Dickson shows where the tile will end and the carpet will begin in the 1600 square foot addition to the Sixteenth Street facility. The $53,000 add-on will be ready for occupancy by Sept. 3. The non-profit agency's board is in the process of raising money to pay off the construction. An open house is being planned for the early fall.

Humanitarian concerns, not propaganda guided tracking powder accusation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration says it was guided by humanitarian concerns, not propaganda motives, when it accused the Soviet Union of using a chemical powder to track the activities of U.S. diplomats in Moscow. "There is absolutely no U.S. attempt in any way to sabotage prospects for a Geneva meeting," State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman said Thursday, referring to the Nov. 19-20 summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

"The timing of this whole issue was driven by the humanitarian health concerns for our personnel in Moscow," he said. "Our priority goal was to inform our employees. We did that as rapidly as possible."

At the same time, Redman brushed aside the Soviet denial that it has used a chemical agent to monitor contact between U.S. diplomats in Moscow and Soviet citizens, including dissidents.

"The evidence is there," Redman said. "We have absolutely no doubt in our mind that what we described as happening has been happening in the manner in which we described it as happening," he said.

"The Soviets have delivered a statement denying our accusations," Redman said. "The facts however, are clear and unambiguous. They are as we have stated. It is distressing that the Soviets are incapable of facing unpleasant facts in a forthright manner, and even more so that they attempted to cover the misdeeds of their officials with accusations against others."

"As we have stated, we expect the KGB practice of using chemical compounds against U.S. personnel to cease forthwith, and we will be taking whatever steps necessary to protect our citizens," Redman said.

Victor F. Isakov, the No. 3 person in the Soviet Embassy, went to the State Department on Thursday to deliver the Soviet's verbal and written objections to the U.S. accusations. He met with John Whitehead, acting secretary of state.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said Thursday the Kremlin "resolutely rejects the absurd inventions that some chemical substances are being used against personnel of U.S. establishments in the Soviet Union."

Tass asserted the U.S. claims that Moscow used NPPD, or nitrophenylpentadienal, were part of a "slandorous campaign against the Soviet Union, to poison the atmosphere in relations between our two countries and to fan hostility toward Soviet people."

Redman categorically rejected any suggestion of a relationship between the timing of the announcement and the propaganda war being waged by the United States and Soviet Union in advance of the summit.

Redman said Wednesday that the chemical had been found to cause mutations in tests performed last year, but he refused Thursday to say which government agency performed the tests or to make the test results public.

Subscribers get Sunday comics today

Regular Brand subscribers—home delivery and mail—will find their Sunday comics in today's issue of the newspaper. For newsstand buyers, the comics will be in the Sunday issue.

This change is being made this week only because of the large increase in circulation of The Brand's back-to-school edition Sunday. Sample copies of the Sunday paper, without comics, will be distributed to non-subscribers in town and mailed to non-subscribers in the county and area.

This special promotion provides advertisers with a larger reading audience and serves to introduce The Brand to non-subscribers. Both regular customers and non-subscribers will have an opportunity to subscribe or renew at current rates by Aug. 31. Rates will increase Sept. 1.

Where do leaders go in August?

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Your government is alive and well, but not necessarily present and accounted for.

It's on the beach. Or the mountains. Or abroad. Anywhere but Washington. It's August, you know.

President Reagan is on his mountain ranch in California, leaving the running of government to others.

Vice President Bush is in Kennebunkport, Maine, leaving the running of government to others.

White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan is taking time off, leaving the running of government to underlings, who are rotating the job so others can take time off.

The secretary of state, George Shultz, is somewhere in California.

The whereabouts of CIA Director William Casey are a state secret.

To get a decision from the secretary of defense, Caspar Weinberger, you'd have to go to Bar Harbor, Maine, or settle for No. 2, deputy secretary William Howard Taft IV, who is at his desk at the Pentagon.

Treasury Secretary James A. Baker III is visiting his mother in Houston. If you wanted to convince him of the need, say, to keep the deduction on your vacation house, you'd have to see Richard Darman, the deputy secretary.

Government checks are going out by the millions, uninterrupted, even though Treasurer Catherine Ortega is vacationing in Canada. At the same time, the Canadian ambassador to the United States, Allan Gottlieb, is vacationing in Europe.

Everybody's got to be somewhere. The chairman of the Federal Com-

Airline to begin surcharge in Boston

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — American Airlines announced Thursday that it will institute a $2.50 surcharge for passengers boarding at Boston's Logan International Airport.

The surcharge, which will be applied to tickets bought on or after Sept. 6, will cover a 5 cent-per-gallon fuel tax imposed by the city of Boston, said Thomas G. Plaskett, American's senior vice president for marketing.

He estimated that Boston's new tax will cost the airline about $1.2 million over the next 12 months.

"We must run our business on a full cost basis and cannot afford to absorb the additional financial burden brought about by this tax," Plaskett said.

"We regret that the city has looked to the traveling public for help in restoring its financial health," he said. "The monies collected from this tax go into the city's general fund and are not tied in any manner to airport operations or improvements."

Logan is the Boston area's only major civilian airport.

Nicholas Lamberti, spokesman for Massachusetts Port Authority, operator of Logan, said Thursday that American was the only airline he knew of that had instituted such a surcharge.

Judge orders review of jailed fathers

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Periodical reviews of cases involving fathers jailed indefinitely for failing to pay child support are necessary, two local judges say.

Juvenile Judge Tom Rickhoff said Wednesday he plans twice-monthly reviews of the status of such fathers.

And District Judge James Barlow has ordered the district clerk's office to send back to civil court nine cases in which fathers are serving what he calls "life sentences."

Barlow has revealed that 30 Bexar County jail prisoners are delinquent fathers who have completed jail time assessed. But they have not been released because they haven't paid back child support.

Barlow said there is little likelihood the prisoners will ever be able to raise the thousands of dollars they owe. In effect, he said, they have been dealt life sentences.

The judge said the situation probably is unconstitutional because the Supreme Court has ruled that people cannot be imprisoned simply because they are poor.

Barlow Wednesday ordered nine cases returned to civil court to determine whether the prisoners should be kept in jail.

Officers find body on charred briquettes

THREE RIVERS, Texas (AP) — An autopsy has been ordered on the body of an unidentified man found lying on a bed of flaming barbecue briquettes, authorities said.

A motorist on the way to work noticed the flames early Thursday and called the Live Oak County sheriff's office.

When authorities arrived at the scene eight miles north of Three Rivers, they tried to douse the flames with a fire extinguisher and then with water.

"He was laying on the briquettes like a pillow" in a bar ditch, Sheriff Larry Busby said.

The victim "had been placed in a bar ditch and his head, neck and shoulders had been laid on briquettes. He had been doused with some kind of flammable liquid and set on fire," Busby said.

"We are reasonably sure he was either unconscious or dead when the fire was set," the sheriff said.

No identification was found on the victim, who was about 5-10 and about 30 years old, Busby said.

The fire had burned an hour or two before officers arrived, he said.

Seat belt laws introduced in 47 states

ATLANTA (AP) — Health and safety researchers say mandatory seat belt laws have been introduced in 47 states and passed in 14, but it's uncertain how many meet the government's criteria for canceling air bag requirements.

Last year, the U.S. Department of Transportation said it may scrap the requirement that all new cars are to be equipped with automatic passenger protection systems, such as automatic seat belts or air bags, by 1989 if before then states representing two-thirds of the U.S. population adopt seat belt laws meeting certain requirements.

Those requirements include mandatory seat belt use for front-seat occupants and a minimum $25 fine for violators.

Fourteen states have now passed seat belt laws — New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Texas — but "it's difficult to say whether any of the laws passed to date actually meet the minimum DOT requirements," Centers for Disease Control researcher Ken Williams said Thursday.

For instance, many of those states have set their fines at $20 — not the department's minimum of $25, he said.

Two more kidnappings in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two Lebanese Christian employees of the kidnap-plagued American University of Beirut have been abducted, university spokesman Radwan Mawlawi said today.

He identified the pair as Semaan Gadda, who worked in the university hospital's admissions department, and Simon Skaff, a university librarian. Both are Christians aged in the mid-30s.

Mawlawi said Gadda was abducted Monday on his way home from Moslem West Beirut, where the university and hospital are located, to Christian East Beirut.

Mawlawi said Skaff was apparently kidnapped by gunmen last Sunday as he traveled from East Beirut to the Moslem sector. The spokesman said it was not known who grabbed Skaff.

Three American University officials have been kidnapped in recent months.

Investigation promised on airline fire

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher visited the scene of the British Airtours Boeing 737 disaster and promised a "rigorous inquiry" into the causes of the jet engine explosion and fire that destroyed the plane.

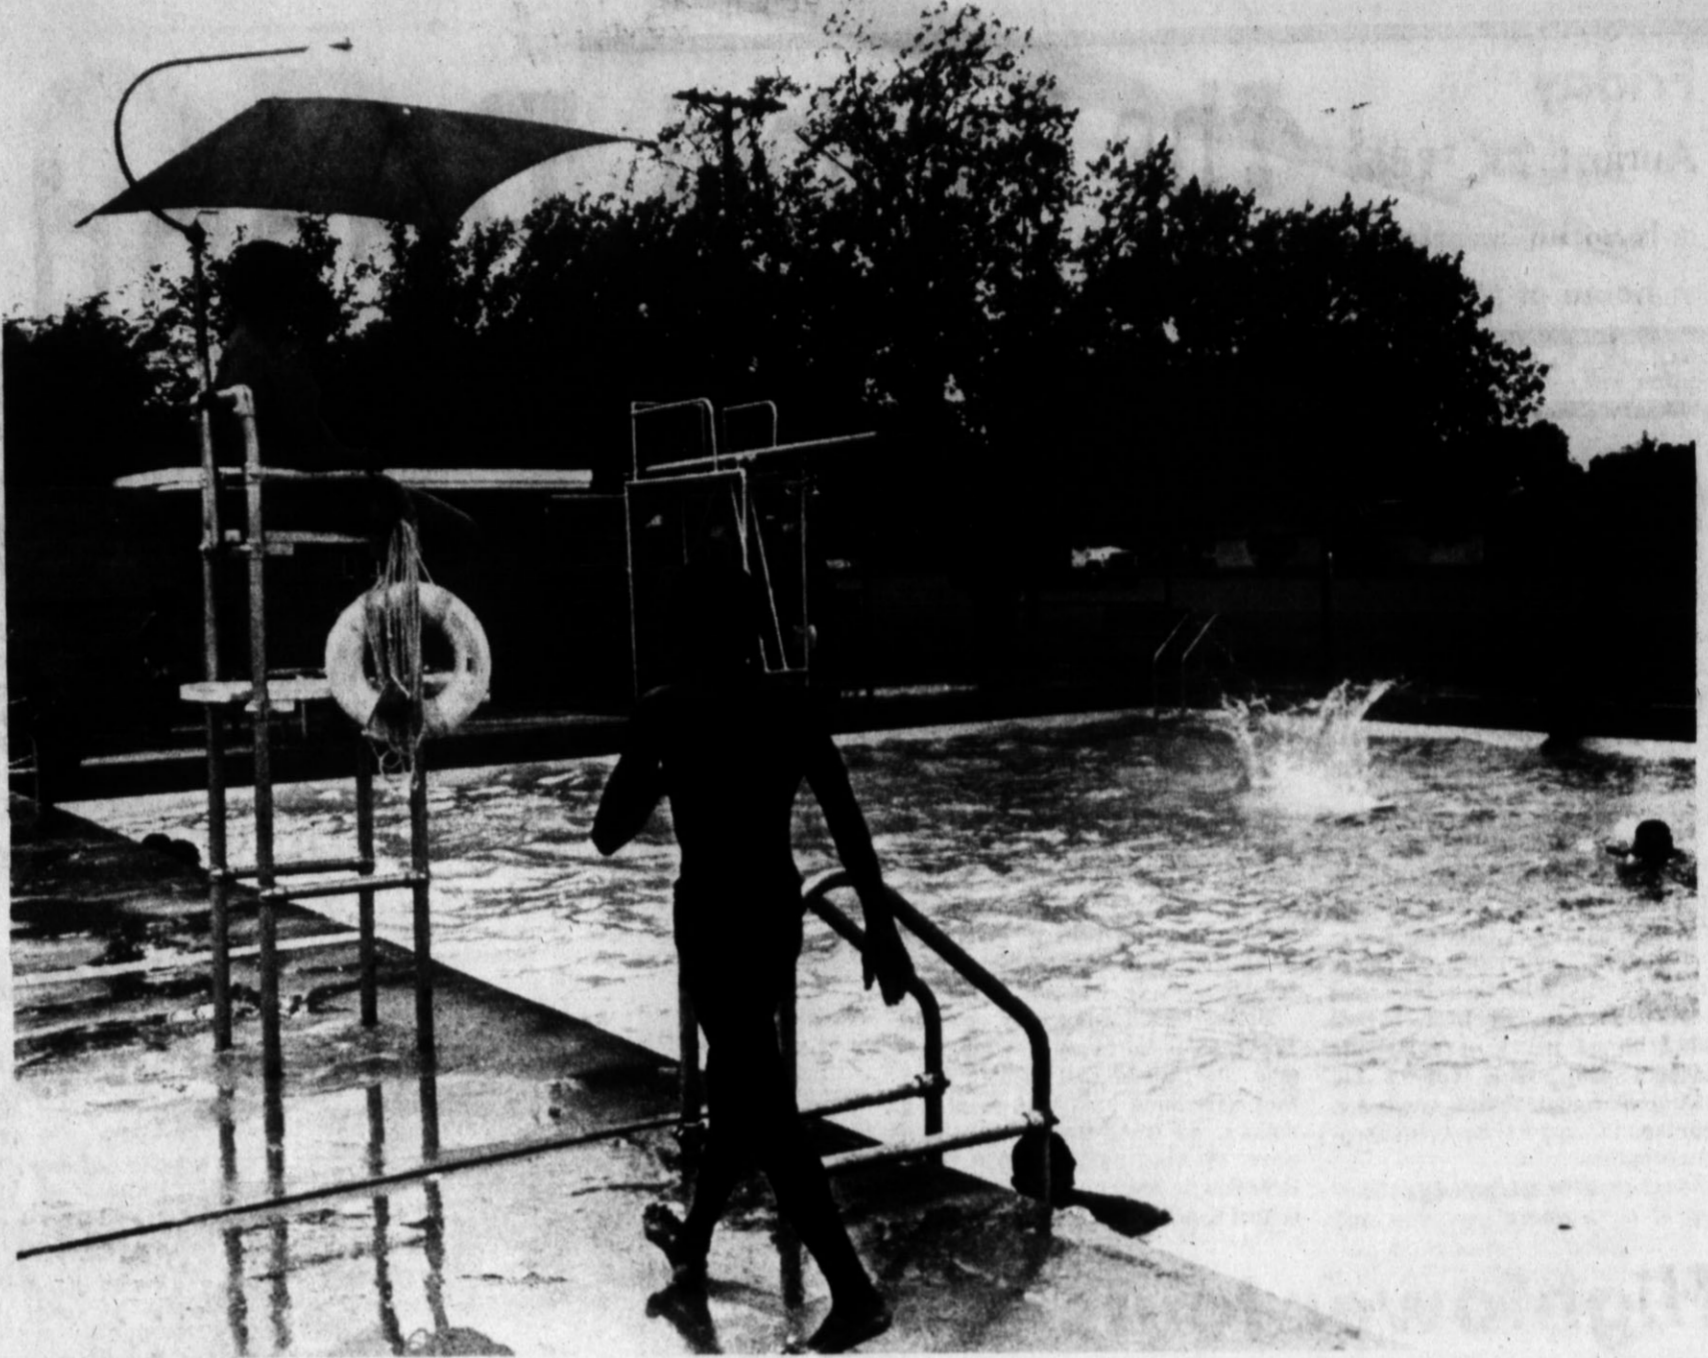

Air accident experts were expected today to remove the port engine, which exploded just before takeoff creating a huge fireball that engulfed the rear of the plane and killed 54 passengers.

Eighty-three people survived the inferno and the panic of the escape.

Mrs. Thatcher said the probe would be carried out by the Accident Investigation Branch of the government's Department of Transport.

AIB spokesman David Deas described the cause of the disaster as "uncontained engine failure." But he added that only detailed investigation will establish exactly what happened.

He said the intense heat of the fire melted the aluminum frame of the plane but would not comment further.

Local committee helps protect dignity

Karen Payne of Hereford serves as a member of the Public Responsibility Committee of the Texas Department of Mental Health/Mental Retardation, a mechanism chosen to implement a program to actively promote and monitor activities to protect the rights, worth and dignity of clients and residents served in state facilities and Community Centers.

Meeting as needed and then on a regular quarterly basis in Amarillo, members of the PRC are volunteers who are not in any way responsible to the administration of the center they serve and are appointed by authorities who are also independent of the administration, according to Barbara Hartman, Center Director of the Hereford Family Services Center, a direct care unit of the Amarillo MHMR Regional Center.

Problems addressed by this help group include receiving and investigating complaints and making recommendations for corrective action, investigating claims of denial of rights to clients in the 21 county (upper Panhandle) area served by the Amarillo MHMR and the reporting of instances of alleged abuse or denial of rights to appropriate authorities. Although the Family Services Center of Hereford has not to date had any such problems, it is important for clients and their families to know that they can contact Mrs. Payne as the Hereford representative on the PRC so that their grievances may be investigated, according to Director Hartman.

To insure complete confidentiality of communication, the PRC has a separate mailing address from the Center. Persons interested in contacting the PRC concerning the welfare of clients served by the Hereford Family Services Center or any unit of the Amarillo MHMR Regional Center may write to: Chairman, Public Responsibility Committee, P.O. Box 3303, Amarillo, Tx. 79116.

Members are appointed for two year terms and those currently serving are: Mrs. Payne, Hereford; Frank Smith, Borger; Sharon Ellzey, Perryton; Jerry Hollingsworth, Amarillo; Mattie Robinson, Canyon; Leonard Forsythe, Borger; Eureda Mays, Clarendon; Homer Johnson, Pampa.

The fields of mental health and mental retardation have experienced tremendous growth during the past 25 years in terms of the number, type and location of services for persons with mental impairments. "This growth has been accompanied by significant positive changes in public attitudes toward the individuals who are temporarily or permanently afflicted with mental impairments," according to Mrs. Hartman. She concludes, "Perhaps one of the most useful changes is one of increased consideration and respect for individual rights, worth and dignity."

$71.4 million were approved last year.

Director Doug Manning proposed the project to have a video presentation prepared for use in industrial development. He said he felt the project, if approved, should be completed as soon as possible. Directors will hear a presentation from an Amarillo firm which specializes in making the videos, possibly before the next monthly meeting.

Manning, noting that the site characterization by the Department of Energy on a nuclear waste repository appears "almost a certainty," said he felt the community needs to take advantage of the economic impact of such a study. "Whether a person is for or against the repository, the fact remains that DOE says $650 million will be spent on the site characterization and we need to be in a position to get as much of those funds as possible into our local economy.

Manning said the video presentation could be used to show any industrial prospect, as well as being used to show DOE and the Batelle Corporation people who will be moving to Hereford or the area.

Carr reported on the Town & Country Jubilee celebration last week, saying that "all those participating thought it was a big success." He praised Clovis Seago and other members of the steering committee for their work.

Attending the meeting were Bill Harris, who presided in place of the absent Rex Easterwood, Jim Arney, Steve Nieman, Rosie Griffin, John Hays, Charlie Bell, Doug Manning, Betty Drake and Carr. Directors absent were Easterwood, Gary Phipps, Mike Bowles, Joe Reinauer and Bobby Owen.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A 2-year-old girl suffering from cancer is recovering from a new type of bone marrow transplant at Brooke Army Medical Center.

Band to sell subscriptions

The annual fund-raising event to benefit the Hereford High School Whiteface Band will kick off Monday, August 26, with a two week campaign to sell and renew magazine subscriptions and RCA musical selections. The 200 band members will be offering more than 560 magazine titles and 320 musical tapes and records in Hereford and the surrounding area. The drive will be directed by QSP, Inc., a subsidiary of Reader's Digest. John Martinez directs the HHS band program and may be contacted at the high school for further information.

"It means the world to me," said the child's father, Staff Sgt. Dannie Stanley. "I just think it's great that the doctors were willing to do this."

His daughter, Ebony, underwent the bone marrow transplant Aug. 8.

She had contracted a tumor in her abdomen and another in her right thigh before the transplant.

"It's likely the tumor has been killed and that Ebony will be fine," said Lt. Col. Terry Pick, a children's cancer specialist.

Pick and Maj. Walter Harvey, also a cancer specialist, are using a bone marrow transplant procedure that differs markedly from the kind commonly used to battle leukemia. No donor is required for the marrow.

The Office of Management and Budget is being run by acting director Joseph Wright while the director-to-be, James C. Miller III, is on vacation.

Not everybody in government has fled Washington. It only seems like it.

There is a widely held view that people who work in Washington flee the city in August because of the oppressive heat. If that's the case, they fled for naught.

Except for two dreadful days, Washington's August temperatures so far have averaged five degrees below normal, mostly under dry, cool, Canadian air. It's beautiful in Lafayette Park and by the monuments and at the zoo. Daytime readings are in the upper 70s and the nights are 60s in the city and 50s in the suburbs.

Come home, government.

Problems only temporary

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you print this letter? It was written to the editor of the Minneapolis Tribune. I believe it could help a great many people.—BURNSVILLE, MINN.

DEAR BURNSVILLE: I shall indeed. The young man who wrote it has wisdom beyond his years. How much lighter life's burdens would be if we could all remember that problems are only temporary. My own motto in time of trouble has been "This, too, shall pass." Here's the letter:

To the editor: My name is Kris Penner. I am a senior at Burnsville Senior High School. I am writing to you in regard to the article written by Eva Michejda on teen suicide.

I feel this is an extremely important issue that needs great attention and serious thought. Already this year in our school, I know of two people who tried to commit suicide. I know of a third person who succeeded.

These aren't students who have bad grades, poor reputations and no friends. I'm talking about well-respected kids with high grade point averages who are admired greatly in our school.

I believe the pressures we teenagers go through seem unending, but as my soc and fam teacher once said, "Problems are only temporary." This is a motto I believe all students as well as adults should live by and remember.

Suicide is a permanent solution for what seems to be the answer to one's problems. I feel it is becoming necessary for the student body to recognize and acknowledge the problem is there.

When our close friends need help we must learn to recognize the signs and reach out to them. Life is too precious and valuable to waste. Remember... "Problems are only temporary."—Kris Penner, Burnsville

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I received a catalogue in the mail advertising sex gadgets and pornographic films.

Accompanying the junk was a letter saying, "We have not heard from you in a year." Actually they had NEVER heard from me. I have been happily married for 40 years, and my wife and I don't go in for that weirdo stuff.

Last year you printed an address people could write to and complain about unwanted mail. Will you repeat it, please? We'd die if the grandkids got hold of that mail.—READERS IN MADISON, WIS.

DEAR MADISON: I checked with J.T. Weeker, Manager/Postmaster of Madison, Wis. He said anyone wishing to stop this kind of mailing should go to the post office and ask for a 2201 form. (All post offices have them.) Fill it out and you will receive no sexually oriented mailings for five years after turning in the form.

National League roundup

Cardinals rally in 9th to defeat Astros 2-1

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog made several key ninth inning moves Thursday night and was rewarded with a 2-1 victory over Houston.

Houston Manager Bob Lillis also tinkered with his lineup card and heard boos in the Astrodome for his efforts.

Lillis lifted pitcher Joe Niekro, who had a four-hitter going and had retired 13 straight batters, in the ninth inning when Tom Herr's grounder shot untouched between first baseman Glenn Davis' legs into rightfield.

Lillis called in Dave Smith, who struck out Jack Clark and Lillis then sent Jeff Calhoun to the mound.

The Astros still led 1-0 but pinch-hitter Brian Harper drilled a single to left field off Calhoun for the tying run. Later in the inning, Bill Dawley, Calhoun's relief, walked pinchhitter Mike Jorgensen with the bases loaded to score Harper with the winning run.

"Clark and Pedro Guerrero (Los Angeles) are my two toughest outs in the league," Niekro said. "We talked about it in the dugout and if Herr got on base, I was out. I'm not mad about anything."

Lillis, tight-lipped following the frustrating loss, said "Joe's had problems with Clark. We played the percentages and it didn't work out tonight."

They did their job in the ninth inning and we didn't."

Niekro, 9-10, once again, saw an outstanding performance wasted.

"If you do your job and keep our team in the game, that's all you can ask," Niekro said. "I did my job tonight."

The Astros finally got a run off St. Louis starter John Tudor in the fifth inning when Phil Garner singled, went to second base, on a walk to Kevin Bass and scored on a ghrrowing error by third baseman Terry Pendleton's throwing error.

Tudor had won his last six decisions and 14 of his last 15 games.

"I've been a hot pitcher with a hot club," he said. "Not walking people has been a key to my success. I would have to be an idiot to walk people with the kind of defense I have behind me."

Dawley had a good view of his game-losing pitch ad he said if definitely was a walk. "The pitch was up and he (Jorgensen) knows he's not going to see anything but fast balls," Dawley said. "If you don't throw strikes, he doesn't have to swing."

Phillies 2, Dodgers 0
Two things bothered Shane Rawley about his six-year stay as an American League pitcher — not getting to bat and not getting to finish what he started.

Now that he's in the National League, he's getting to do both.

Rawley pitched a four-hitter and went 2-for-3, including his first career double, as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated Los Angeles 2-0 Thursday, one night after losing to the Dodgers 15-6.

"It means a lot to a pitcher to go nine strong innings," said Rawley, 10-6, after pitching his fourth complete game of the season and winning his fifth straight decision.

In his last six starts, he has pitched 49 of a possible 54 innings. In his six AL seasons, he completed only 16 of 65 starts.

Mets 7, Giants 0
Terry Leach, pressed into a rare start just 25 minutes before game time, responded with a three-hitter for New York against San Francisco.

The start was only the fourth of Leach's career, which has been spent mainly as a reliever. He also had a 10-inning one-hitter in 1982 and is 3-0 as a starter.

"They raced in and said, 'Hey, Terry, we're sorry to do this to you, but Sid isn't feeling good so you're going to pitch,'" Leach said of his late starting call, which came when scheduled pitcher Sid Fernandez suffered dizzy spells before the game.

Cardinals 2, Astros 1
Houston took a 1-0 lead and Joe Niekro took a four-hitter into the ninth inning, but St. Louis rallied for two runs with the help of two walks, an error and a balk to stay one-half game behind first-place New York in the East.

Niekro had retired 13 straight batters going into the ninth, but Tommy Herr opened the inning by reaching first on an error by first baseman Glenn Davis. With Jack Clark at bat, Niekro was replaced by reliever Dave Smith.

Smith, the second of four Houston pitchers in the inning, struck out Clark, but Herr went to second on a balk and pinch-hitter Tito Landrum walked against losing reliever Jeff Calhoun, 2-1.

Pirates 5, Reds 1
Pittsburgh, winning consecutive series for the first time this season, defeated Cincinnati as Rick Rhoden pitched eight innings of shutout ball and singled home a run.

Rhoden, 8-13, gave up only five hits for eight innings, but left the game when he gave up a single and two walks to start the ninth. Reliever Rod Scurry yielded a sacrifice fly to Tony Perez, but got the last three outs for his second save. One of the hits Rhoden allowed was a single to Pete Rose, leaving him 13 hits short of breaking Ty Cobb's career record of 4,191.

Padres 3, Expos 0
San Diego's Andy Hawkins handed Montreal its fourth straight loss, including three shutout defeats, with a four-hitter.

Hawkins, 16-4, retired 14 straight batters between the fourth and sixth innings to help San Diego cut Los Angeles' lead in the West to seven games.

Cubs 3, Braves 2
Chicago handed Atlanta its ninth loss in 10 games when Thad Bosley broke a 2-2 tie with a pinch-hit homer leading off the ninth inning against Rick Camp.

Bosley, who leads the league in pinch hits with 16, now has five homers this season, two in a pinch-hit role.

No combine can match the productive efficiency of a Titan II. And the superior seed/soil environment created by Max-Emerge™ planters is literally legendary. American League roundup

Red Sox double Rangers, 8-4

By DAVE O'HARA
AP Sports Writer

Last spring the Boston Red Sox had a tough decision to make: keep rookie Mike Trujillo on the 25-man roster or offer him back to the San Francisco Giants.

The Red Sox elected to keep Trujillo, picked in the minor league draft last December.

Trujillo has been used sparingly as the 10th pitcher on the squad, but the Red Sox' decision paid a big dividend Thursday night.

In his fourth major league start, and first in little Fenway Park, the 25-year-old right-hander became a "stopper" as the Red Sox snapped a six-game losing streak in an 8-4 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Trujillo, who spent most of 1984 with Glens Falls in the Class AA Eastern League before being traded by the Chicago White Sox to San Francisco, got a call from the end spot on the bullpen bench to start because of injuries.

He responded with his longest major league outing. He blanked Texas on five hits for seven innings, tired and gave up two runs on three hits in the eighth and then was replaced at the start of the ninth by Bob Stanley.

"My control was pretty good," Trujillo said in an understatement after walking none and throwing only 92 pitches. "I was happy with the way I was able to spot the ball. I moved my fast ball around and kept them off balance pretty much with my breaking balls. However, I got a little tired in the seventh and eighth innings and I didn't have quite as much on my fast ball."

Trujillo, 3-2, called this season "a learning year."

"I started out kind of shaky, but I settled down and I've been learning a lot. I've had to learn to be a pitcher here. And I think I'm making progress."

"Trujillo pitched a helluva fine game," Boston Manager John McNamara said. "He picked us up at the right time. He had no major league experience when we got him, but he's pitched better as he's gone along."

The Red Sox jumped on Texas starter Dickie Noles, 4-7, for four runs in the third inning and went on to just their second victory in the last 13 decisions.

"Dickie just couldn't make that one pitch he needed when they got three runs with two outs," Texas Manager Bobby Valentine said.

WTSU football

The football press and picture day at West Texas State University is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 24, starting at 9:30 a.m.

The event provides fans with an opportunity to meet the football players and coaches.

West Texas State football fans will have a chance to take pictures of Buff players, and also have pictures taken with the players.

DR. GOTT

Peter Gott, M.D.

Infection causes loss of taste

DEAR DR. GOTT — Three months ago I had laryngitis for a week. I had no fever so I didn't go to the doctor. Since then I've lost my sense of taste, except for vinegar. I'm well except for diverticulosis. What can I do to regain my ability to taste?

DEAR READER — Taste is experienced through special receptors on the tongue. This sense is not affected by laryngitis. However, we obtain much of our "taste" perception through the organs of smell, so upper respiratory infections and allergies often can cause food to taste "flat," even though the taste receptors themselves are not affected. Your nose, as well as your larynx, was probably infected three months ago, which is why you could not taste at that time. A continuing taste problem may indicate the presence of sinus infection. Although you successfully avoided your doctor for the laryngitis, I suggest you see your doctor — or an otolaryngologist — now, because you may have a chronic low-grade infection that will need treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What can I do for a kidney problem that bothers me only at night? It causes a great deal of burning and pain.

DEAR READER — First you have to find out whether you have a urinary infection. This can be accomplished by the use of a simple test called a "clean-catch urine culture." If no infection is present, see a urologist to determine if there is an anatomical reason for your discomfort.

You don't say whether you are male or female. Urinary discomfort is more common in women, but it can be more serious in men because male urinary burning usually indicates a more deep-seated infection or blockage.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What can be done for liver spots on my arms?

DEAR READER — "Liver spots" are actually areas of degeneration within the pigment layers of the skin. Some dermatologists use a chemical that destroys this pigment and renders the skin free of pigmentation. The process shows promise. Unfortunately, once depigmented, the affected portion of skin won't tan, so you may be trading in one problem for another.

Liver spots have nothing to do with the liver; they occur universally as we age. Although many people may find them cosmetically unpleasant, they do no harm. So many changes take place in our skins as we grow older that I wonder if trying to correct them all may be a fruitless exercise. You might do better to ignore pigmented skin areas, wrinkling and all the other superficial signs of aging. Accept the inevitable, accentuate the positive and acknowledge the natural process of aging.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A relative of mine had cancer, but stayed at home and could walk unassisted. A home health nurse attempted to pump fluid from his lungs. Thirty minutes later, he was dead. Should this procedure have been attempted at home?

DEAR READER — Of the two ways to extract fluid from the lungs, one is dangerous and the other is unpleasant but safe. I assume that the nurse did not put a tube between the ribs and into the chest cavity of your ill relative. This procedure should only be performed by a doctor.

The other method — suctioning out mucus from the trachea, using a small tube attached to a vacuum pump — is often performed by nurses. It can help a patient breathe easier by removing secretions that block the airway. It can appropriately be done at home. From the sound of your question, I assume that your relative had terminal cancer and that the suctioning was an emergency effort to keep him alive.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My job as a switchboard operator involves sitting eight hours every day, except for a seven-minute break morning and afternoon. What is the long-term health hazard of being so very inactive for most of the day?

DEAR READER — Your term "hazard" is probably misleading. Sitting on one's behind for seven hours and 46 minutes a day may be boring and cause stiffness, but it is not a potential problem for health. Most people who work in sedentary occupations function better if they are permitted — even encouraged — to get up periodically and move around. This activity breaks the routine and stretches tired muscles. Perhaps your supervisor would consider allowing all the operators a five-minute break every hour. If not, you might want to get regular exercise after work and on weekends.

You don't mention a lunch break. If such a time is not set aside for employees, complain to the boss. You're at least entitled to eat.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 28 and have had three operations for a curved spine. It's now 33 degrees on top and 27 degrees on the bottom. During my last operation, 10 years ago, the doctor said my curve was 25 degrees on top and zero degrees on the bottom. Why has the curve increased?

DEAR READER — I cannot diagnose your particular case but, in general, a curved spine is under tremendous forces exerted by the muscles supporting the spinal column. Special exercises to strengthen the weaker muscles in your back might be a simple and inexpensive way to help correct your progressive curvature. Ask your orthopedic surgeon what he thinks.

Prince Valiant

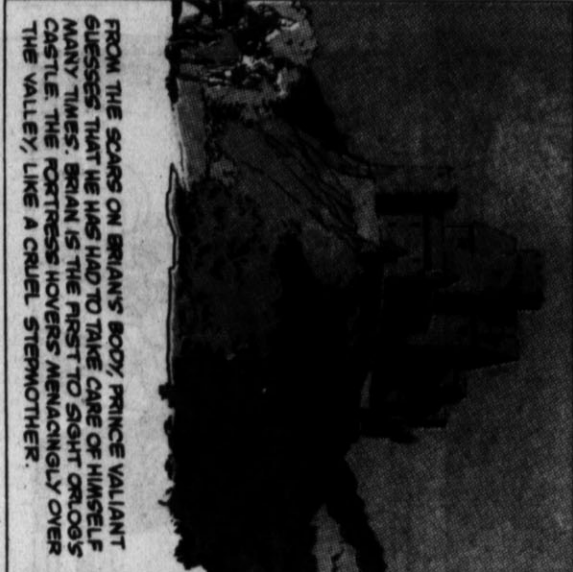

But Sports... together will and Brian rose off to race around the track... one of three tests posed by the Saxon's Pursuit of the Banquet Roll'd can wait. Brian proves a valiant ally in this strange country. He knows where the wild game waters and...

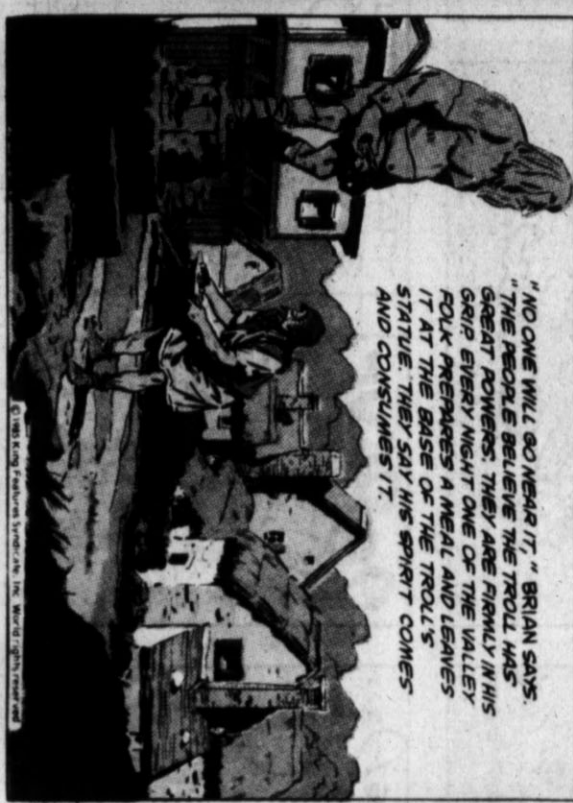

...he knows where the wild game waters and... his strength and sense his friends and he knows how to keep the august heat at bay.

"For a traveling merchant you know the area well," says Val to his companion. Brian laughs. "I have passed through this valley many times. We merchants quickly learn how to take care of ourselves."

FROM THE SCANS ON BRIAN'S BODY, PRINCE VALIANT GUESSES THAT HE HAS HAD TO TAKE CARE OF HIMSELF MANY TIMES. BRIAN IS THE FIRST TO SMILE ACROSS THE CASTLE. THE COURTESY HONORS MEMORABLY OTHER THE VALLEY, LIKE A CRUEL STEPMOTHER.

"NO ONE WILL GO NEAR IT," BRIAN SAYS. "THE PEOPLE BELIEVE THE TROLL HAS GREAT POWERS. THEY ARE THINLY IN HIS GRIP EVERY NIGHT ONE OF THE VALLEY FOLK PREPARES A MEAL AND LEAVES IT AT THE BASE OF THE TROLL'S STAIRS. THEY SAY IT AND CONSUMES IT."

"AND PERHAPS THEY ARE RIGHT FOR EVERY MORNING THE FOOD IS GONE. NEXT MORN: Smelling A Rat"

NAME CHAIN! Names of six animals form a continuous letter chain in the diagram at right, with the last letter of each name becoming the first of the next. These are the animals: Kangaroo, cockatoo, tiger, ratel, lemur, rabbit.

Letters link horizontally and vertically.

All are used. Can you complete the chain?

Do-it-Yourself! Bake a cake, pick a sock, cuss a bus, knock a crock, match a patch, strain a brush, hug a bug, tickle a nickel. Any to add?

HANDS ON MAGIC!

A coin is held in a performer's hand and displayed to the audience. The performer throws a handkerchief over the coin and invites individuals to confirm that the coin is in place (see inset above). All agree that the coin is present, but, alike-ly, when the handkerchief is removed, the coin is gone. What happened? A confederate served as the last to reach beneath the handkerchief. He or she picked up the coin and removed it.

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are at least six differences in drawing details between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you find them? Check answers with those below.

Differences: 1. Picture is missing. 2. Arm is moved. 3. Piano stool is different. 4. Chair is smaller. 5. Shoulders are narrower. 6. Feet are smaller.
