

Mays Establishes Festival Record

Former Hereford Whiteface and Texas Tech Red Raider track standout James Mays set a meet record Sunday in winning the 800 meter run in a photo finish at the National Sports Festival in Indianapolis, Ind. Mays, a state 880-yard dash champion for the Herd, and a former three-time All-America for the Red Raiders, was clocked in 1:47.47 to win the event over the former Western Michigan star Jack McIntosh, who was second in a time of 1:47.48. Phillip Rolle, of Florida State, was third in 1:47.49, just ahead of fourth-place finisher Billy Martin, 1:48.0.

"It really hasn't sunk in yet," an elated Mays said in an interview following the race Monday. "It wasn't my best, but it was a meet record."

Hereford's most successful athlete ever said that he doesn't think he has reached his peak yet. "I don't like to set limits, but I want to run in the 1:45's by the end of the year," he said. "I really needed a big victory like this. It has to be the highlight of my career so far."

Mays has been running in Europe much of this year, and has been invited back in August, September, and October. He will also compete in Tokyo, Taiwan, and Cairo in the coming months.

"I've been on my own this year," Mays said. "That's one good thing about this year; I've proven I could do it on my own."

DOE to Drill Eighth Borehole Near Tulia

TULIA, Texas - The eighth in a series of boreholes in tests by the U.S. Department of Energy to determine the suitability of bedded salt in the Palo Duro Basin for a high-level radioactive waste repository will be drilled in Swisher County in July.

The Harman No. 1 borehole, eight miles north of here, will be drilled and tested in the next 90 days to a depth of 3,000 feet.

Characteristics of salt and rock and of shallow and deep ground-water systems will be obtained. General studies of the basin's surface environment were completed in 1979.

No radioactive material will be stored at any of the drill sites.

The drilling is part of the Department of Energy's national program for permanent isolation of commercial-

Bull Barn Re-Opened to Dances

By JERI CURTIS
Staff Writer

The fight is over between county officials who discontinued dancing at the Bull Barn about a year ago and citizens who petitioned in May to reverse the ruling.

Dancing won. But at a price. As part of a new policy drawn by the commissioners, a deposit of $1,500 plus a $200 users fee will be required.

But, it was indicated at the Deaf Smith County Commissioners' meeting Monday that there would be a rematch if, again, problems with drinking and vandalism arose.

Judge Glen Nelson, Commissioners Austin Rose and Bill Bradley voted yes to a motion allowing dances at the county facility provided a satisfactory contract and policy be drawn up. Commissioners James Voyles and Bruce Coleman voted no.

"My vote was 'no' because I think it is impossible to control drinking at the Bull Barn," Coleman told the court. Voyles voiced agreement to the statement.

Coleman had said earlier that if there was a practical way to control drinking he would be willing to change his mind on the issue. However, he noted that boozing at the Bull Barn had always accompanied dances and had not been controlled.

Deputy Dean Butcher said that about 99 percent of the problems at Bull Barn dances stemmed from drinking and from uninvited guests sneaking into the party making security a problem.

Joe Aguirre, a citizen advocating dances with stricter control, told commissioners that "90 percent of the people go out there just to have fun - it's the other 10 percent that cause problems."

Hope Herrera, another citizen, said the people she talked to suggested only allowing organizations to use the facility for dances in order to insure better volunteer control. She said private wedding dances and quincianeras were small enough to be held in other places.

Ms. Herrera, also suggested guards at each door restricting guests from going in and out of the dance since a lot of drinking is done on the parking lot.

Judge Nelson said he had received several suggestions from other citizens including raising the deposit, charging for utility use, an increase of security and restricting use for dances for civic, church and school organizations.

Changes in the dance policy are as follows:

- Charges of $200 a day for use.

- Placement of a $1,500 deposit, out of which will come any damage costs and janitorial fees.

- The group renting the Bull Barn must hire a minimum of four security officers for groups up to 400 and one officer for each 125 dancers over that number.

- Users will be recommended, though not required, to take out liability insurance for the event.

- Reservations must be finalized, including deposits and fees paid and security hired, a week in advance of the event.

- A committee of the county agent in charge of the barn and leasing parties will inspect the barn before and after dances to determine damages.

- Disputes over clean up and repair bills will be brought to the commissioners' court at the next regularly scheduled meeting. Commissioners were unanimous in accepting the policy.

One tangent of the dance policy centered on the county's liability for accidents at Bull Barn events. Bud Eades of Plain Insurance Agency was consulted and he advised the county bring limits up. The commissioners will discuss that issue later.

On Siberian Pipeline Sanctions

Europeans Unite Against U.S.

BONN, West Germany (AP) - The West German and British governments have joined France and Italy in a united front opposing President Reagan's ban on exports of U.S.-licensed equipment for the Siberian gas pipeline.

Manufacturers in the four nations hold the bulk of the $11 billion in European contracts for the pipeline, and their defiance represents a major setback to Reagan's effort to promote a European economic war against the Soviet Union.

West Germany's state secretary of economics, Otto Schlecht, said Monday that his government cannot order companies to honor their contracts for the pipeline, as the French and Italian governments did last week. But he said it will support any German businesses that violate the U.S. embargo and will protect them against American retaliation.

"The West German government welcomes any decisions by the firms that help fulfill the gas pipeline deal," he said in an interview with the newspaper Bild.

AEG-Telefunken, a giant electronics firm, has announced it will defy the U.S. sanctions imposed June 18 because of continuing martial law in Poland, which the Reagan administration blames on the Soviet Union.

AEG-Telefunken has a $225 million order for 47 turbines to power compressor stations along the pipeline. Heinz Duerr, the head of the company, said the loss of this business could put 2,000 people out of work. It would also hurt the company, which 10 days ago got a $250 million credit from the government to guarantee export contracts and persuade private banks to help restore the firm's financial health.

In London, Trade Secretary Lord Cockfield issued Britain's strongest denunciation of the embargo yet, saying it "is an attempt to interfere with existing contracts and represents an unacceptable extension of American extraterritorial sovereignty."

He told the House of Lords the government hopes the dispute can be solved in a "mutually acceptable way... But if this proves impossible, I do wish to make clear that we are determined to defend our national interests."

In Washington, State Department spokesman Dean Fischer said Monday the U.S. government regretted Italy's decision to ignore the sanctions, but added the United States wished "to remain in regular contact with the government of Italy and other governments involved."

The U.S. government has said it is studying the legal issues involved in rejection of the pipeline sanctions.

Reagan's action last month extended a ban on export of U.S. equipment to the Soviet Union to include goods manufactured by foreign firms using U.S. technology under American license.

In addition to the Polish situation, the U.S. government says it does not want Western Europe to become dependent on Soviet gas. It has said it also fears the Soviet military budget will benefit from the $10 billion a year natural gas sales are expected to bring in after the pipeline begins operating in 1984.

U.S. officials also see the pipeline project as a big help to the Soviet economy, which they believe is in deep trouble.

But Britain, France, Italy and West Germany consider the ban an illegal extension of American sovereignty. The contracts were signed before the imposition of martial law in Poland last Dec. 13.

They also argue that the United States has not come up with a practical alternative for them to Soviet gas supplies, that the pipeline means jobs and trade for Europeans during the worst economic crisis since the Great Depression of the 1930s, and that Reagan is in no position to ask Europe for sanctions as long as he lets U.S. farmers sell $1.8 billion or more worth of grain a year to the Soviet Union.

Senate Debates Balanced Budget Amendment; Vote Coming Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) - A proposed constitutional amendment to balance the federal budget went to the Senate for debate today, with leaders saying they hope to have the vote on the measure complete by the end of the week.

The amendment, as passed by the Senate Judiciary Committee, requires that Congress approve an annual federal budget that supplies a tax dollar for every dollar spent.

A change suggested by Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., to be debated in the full Senate, would also require that the president submit a balanced budget to the Congress.

Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said he hopes the Senate will finish with the measure by Thursday.

Critics, however, are hoping to defeat the legislation by slowing the drive toward the two-thirds vote needed for passage in both the House and Senate.

Meanwhile, in the House, supporters are close to attracting sufficient signatures on a petition which would send the proposal directly to debate on the floor.

Democratic House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill and other leaders oppose the amendment, so an effort has been under way for several weeks to make an end run around the traditional legislative committees which would normally vote on the measure.

If approved by Congress, the amendment would have to be ratified by three-fourths of the state legislatures before becoming part of the Constitution.

In other Congressional business, a House-Senate conference committee will work this week on labor legislation that provides guaranteed payments to furloughed pilots and other airline employees.

And, leaders of a House

Foreign Affairs subcommittee have asked Secretary of State George P. Shultz to follow up on the shipment of military hardware to Somalia with a more comprehensive U.S. policy toward the embattled Horn of Africa region.

Rep. Howard Wolpe, D-Mich., chairman of the Africa subcommittee, and William F. Goodling, R-Pa., the panel's ranking GOP member, said the United States should seek "a rapid, mutual withdrawal of forces and a cease-fire in the present conflict."

Southern Governors Briefed On Economy at Conference

By JONATHAN W. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) - Nearly a fourth of the nation's governors were briefed today on the economy, considered by some to be the key issue of the Southern Governors Association's annual meeting.

The governors of 11 states and Puerto Rico are meeting this week on this posh resort island.

The chief executives were scheduled to hear a presentation by Rita M. La Velle, assistant administrator for solid waste and emergency response of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Then the governors themselves were to present reports on education, human resources, agriculture, transportation, governmental management and economic development.

The keynote speaker for the economic session is Felix G. Rohatyn, chairman of the Municipal Assistance Corporation of New York and one of the architects of that city's fiscal recovery.

South Carolina Gov. Dick Riley, who chairs the association, has predicted the economy will be "the overriding issue" of the group's 48th yearly convocation.

The governors Monday focused on energy, education and nuclear waste storage.

A Southern energy expert repeated earlier warnings that nuclear power plants, particularly in the South, are running out of room to store highly radioactive spent fuel and are threatened with having to shut down.

"The continued operation of 13 Southern reactors is threatened," said Kenneth J. Nemeth, executive director of the Southern States Energy Board, based in Atlanta.

In statements echoed by Riley, Nemeth said he felt something should be done soon to permanently solve the nuclear waste problem, but without taking away the states' voice in the decision.

Riley said he was "strongly opposed to any temporary measures" and said he hoped Congress would act to solve the problem once and for all this year.

"I just think it would be a real mistake for us to get off the track on a so-called temporary solution," he told reporters.

Riley also said that South Carolina would be willing to accept low-level nuclear trash from other states in the Southeast Low-Level Nuclear Waste Compact, but only if the state has guarantees it would not get stuck with accepting it indefinitely.

South Carolina and six other states are negotiating the compact, an agreement aimed at keeping low-level waste from coming in from outside the Southeast.

Currently, the only site capable of handling the waste is the Chem-Nuclear Systems Inc. dump near Barnwell,

"Before we play the Barnwell card, we want assurances there will be a closeout date and that another site will open up," Riley said.

A draft agreement has been agreed on, but South Carolina has made changes that must be negotiated before state legislatures can approve the compact.

Louisiana Gov. David Treen repeated his call for accelerated natural gas price deregulation, saying the gas-producing states are facing shortages.

Besides Riley and Treen, the other governors attending the meeting are Bob Graham of Florida, William Winter of Mississippi, Jim Hunt of North Carolina, Bill Clements of Texas, Christopher S. "Kit" Bond of Missouri, Lamar Alexander of Tennessee, Charles S. Robb of Virginia, George Nigh of Oklahoma and Carlos Romero-Barcelo of Puerto Rico.

Settlement Pleases City

City of Hereford officials are "well pleased" with an out-of-court settlement reached last Friday with Motorola, Corp., officials concerning a $100,000 suit filed by the city against the Chicago, Ill. firm in 1980.

City Manager Dudley Bayne said that Motorola has agreed to pay the city the original cost of a siren system installed by the corporation in 1972. The city was suing for the alleged failure by Motorola to maintain the system, which was replaced by an $82,000 system last year. The total settlement amount was $39,953 according to Bayne, who said that he, Mayor Bartley Dowell, and City Attorney Earnest Langley acted on behalf of the city. "The commissioners have all been informed of the settlement, and they were all very happy with the result," Bayne said.

The settlement included the $31,563 cost of the system, plus maintenance costs incurred by the city, and eight percent interest Bayne said.

Bloodmobile Needs 313 Pints

The Coffee Memorial Bloodmobile will be at the Hereford Community Center from 4 to 6:30 p.m. tomorrow, according to Pat Clark, blood bank committee chairman for the Women's Division.

"The summer is normally a slack time," notes Mrs. Clark, "but the need for blood never lets up, so we will greatly appreciate everyone who takes the time to come out and give blood."

Approximately 313 pints are needed to replace the blood used in Deaf Smith County this month.

Breakdowns are as follows: Diane Perkins - 181 pints, Raul Lopez - 4; Antonio Lavario - 4; Virgil Slentz - 12; Allan Brockman - 8; Janie Pena - 12; Treva Hester - 8; Mary Caraway - 8; Ed Clark - 16; Trinidad Salazar - 12; Ann Fuentes - 8; Robert Murrello - 32; and George Llanes - 8.

Reagan Reportedly Favors One-Year Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year's extension of the existing agreement covering sales of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union reportedly has been agreed upon by President Reagan. The administration believes the year's extension would tell the Soviets that martial law was not being eased quickly enough in Poland. CBS News reported Monday, citing no sources. The agreement expires Sept. 30. A similar report was carried in today's editions of The New York Times, citing several unidentified administration sources. A consensus to renew the agreement for one year had been reached by officials of the White House and the State, Agriculture and Treasury departments. The Times quoted administration aides as saying. A one-year extension of the grain agreement is the minimum requested by Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, the Times said. Block has said that American farmers, facing huge surpluses, desperately need markets for their grain.

Infant With Heart Condition Reunited With Parents After Kidnapping

CALDWELL, Texas (AP) — A two-month old infant in need of daily medication for a heart ailment was back with her parents today after police arrested a man who allegedly kidnapped the girl. Burleson County Sheriff's officials said the infant would have died had she gone more than a day without medication. A trooper from the Texas Department of Public Safety arrested Jesse Nava, 19, of Mexico, about six hours after he allegedly kidnapped the girl from her home here Monday, a DPS spokesman in Bryan said. The girl was safely returned to her family Monday night, said Justice of the Peace Daniel Condon. Deputy Larry See said the parents alleged Nava abducted the child from their home at about 1 p.m. The couple had an argument with Nava Sunday, he said. "The family knows him. He at one time dated the mother," See said. "He has no right to the child."

Space Baby In Stable Condition

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The United States' first space baby, born to astronauts Dr. Rhea Seddon Gibson and Robert "Hoot" Gibson, was flown to a Houston hospital as a "precautionary measure" after developing a respiratory problem, a space agency spokesman says. Paul Seddon Gibson, weighing seven pounds, two ounces, was in stable condition Monday night in Hermann Hospital's neo-natal care unit. The baby was born about 4 a.m. Monday at Clear Lake Hospital near the Johnson Space Center. He began having difficulty breathing about 12 hours later and was flown by Life Flight helicopter to Hermann, about 20 miles away, said Steve Nesbitt of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "There's no real serious threat," Nesbitt said. "The hospital in Clear Lake really doesn't have the kind of facilities to handle cases that need more than the normal attention. That's why the baby was flown downtown." Mrs. Gibson, who is a physician, remained in Clear Lake recovering from the Caesarean section delivery, Nesbitt said. She was in good condition. NASA officials said Mrs. Gibson, a mission specialist, will return to her duties following a brief maternity leave.

Paul Harvey News When Government Meddles In The Marketplace

Uncle Sam means well when he tries to stabilize marketplace economics but, almost invariably, for every inequity he seeks to correct he creates two more. The farm price roller coaster is a wild ride, sometimes. But when Uncle Sam seeks to smooth out the dips... Well, let me tell you about dairy farming. City duds have the illusion that cows give milk. A cow does not GIVE milk. Somebody has to go out to the barn and TAKE it away from her — twice a day. And for three generations now those somebodies have been working dark - to - dark for less than the national minimum wage. Uncle Sam to the rescue! Uncle Sam decided to rescue dairy farmers with a price floor. Anytime farm milk was selling for less than a "fair price" Government would pay that much for it — and buy it — and store it. Sounds logical, reasonable. Over the years that price has escalated to match the higher costs of dairy farming. Right now Government pays the dairy farmer $13.10 a hundredweight for his surplus milk. And there is an increasing surplus. For one thing, this higher and higher "guaranteed price" has encouraged dairy farmers to feed more grain, produce more milk, even while per-capita consumption of milk has been going down. Now Uncle Sam has milk coming out of his ears — has piled up in storage 975 million pounds of dry milk, 365 million pounds of butter, 625 million pounds of cheese... And Uncle Sam is continuing — with your money — to spend $5 million a day buying up dairy products. Total cost to you — purchase price plus storage — was $46 million in 1979. It jumped to a billion dollars by 1980; this year it may top $2 billion! Agriculture Secretary Block is fearful that the entire dairy price support program might collapse unless something is done now to restore balance. give dairy farmers a few months to cull their herds, voluntarily reduce production. If they do not, next January 1, instead of another increase in milk price supports, he would authorize a decrease — to $12 a hundredweight. He would limit and FHA loans which encourage increased production. He would meanwhile do everything possible to increase domestic and foreign markets for our milk. It takes a courageous Agriculture secretary to recommend cutbacks. It will take gutsy lawmakers to acquiesce. But the Dairy Price Support Program has become similar to Social Security. The escalation of costs built into the program for years ahead are creating an overburden which treats the entire program with collapse. It will not be dairy farmers who resist; they understand the "why" of weaning.

Hawaiian Financial Executives Early Birds By Necessity

By LINDY WASHBURN
Associated Press Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — A gray car glides through the silent streets of downtown Honolulu, unimpeded by traffic in the pre-dawn darkness as stockbroker Jay Itagaki heads for work. It's 3 a.m. For the past decade, Itagaki has been on the job in time for the opening of New York financial markets, 5,000 miles and six time zones away. "There isn't much traffic, let me tell you," he said. "I see a few drunks going home from the bars, and there are some strange women who wave at me from the corner of Hotel Street" in Honolulu's red light district. Itagaki is one of a small number of Honolulu financial executives — bank presidents, currency traders, commodities dealers, and stockbrokers — who set their schedules by market hours a world away. He pulls into the parking garage at E.F. Hutton's corporate suite on Bishop Street. In his office, a teletype operator is ready to open the wires. On Wall Street, it's 9 a.m., the start of another business day. Itagaki scans the Reuters and Dow Jones financial wires in his office and checks the interest rates. He begins calling Chicago and New York for currency, stock and commodity transactions he'll discuss with his Honolulu clients over lunch nine hours later. A 40-cup coffee pot is "perking away in the back room," he said. "I live on that in the morning. I'm numb until my sixth cup." To compute Hawaii time, subtract six hours from Eastern Daylight Time and five hours from Eastern Standard Time. "You can work in one quadrant of the world in the morning and another quadrant in the afternoon," said Philip Norris, manager of E.F. Hutton here. "At 4:15 (a.m.) I can catch my Swiss and Italian clients. There's a 12-hour differential to the central part of Europe. And late in the afternoon, I'm getting in touch with clients in Singapore and Hong Kong. Of course, it's already the next day there. "You adjust to everything after 20 years," he added. But after just three weeks on the early-morning shift, international banker Gigi Davidson isn't sure she'll ever adjust. "Oh God," she said of her hours. "I usually come in at four — and I get up at 3:30, the last possible moment. I know I have to do it for a while, but I sure don't want to spend my life at it." Honolulu's Merrill Lynch office has enough brokers to spread the misery, said manager Eugene Banks. There are some benefits. Although none of the executives interviewed mentioned spending the afternoon at the beach, Norris goes out to a long lunch from 11:30 to 2.

Vehicle Burglaries Reported Monday

Two car dealerships had vehicle burglaries reported Monday according to Hereford police. Warren Brothers Motors, 1410 East Park, reported an AM-FM unit valued at $100 taken from a car during the weekend. Crown Auto Sales also reported a stereo theft. Value of that unit was set at $150. Ten-speed bikes were reported stolen from 609 Blevins and from Bluewater Gardens Apartments. A resident at Lynette Apartments told police a billfold containing important papers and $1 was taken from her apartment while she was gone a few minutes Monday. Officers issued 12 citations. During the weekend police investigated three criminal trespassing reports, one with criminal mischief; one harassing phone call report; a juvenile problem and a domestic problem. A pickup truck and a motorcycle collided one mile south on U.S. 385 Monday afternoon, however no injuries were reported. Authorities said the truck was turning as the cycle attempted to pass. Hereford firemen doused a grass fire 15 miles southeast of town Monday. Firemen went out at 5:07 p.m. and returned at 8:10 p.m. Saturday afternoon the crew hosed a fire on Domingo Street in the labor camp where someone had set fire to a mattress. Senate day endorsed a resolution introduced in Congress July 15 which supports equal reductions in the U.S. and Soviet nuclear arsenals instead of a freeze on current levels of nuclear weapons. Reagan said the resolution would show that the Congress and the American people were behind negotiations between the United States and the Soviets toward strategic arms reduction talks. The president took issue with another resolution that calls for a freeze on U.S. and Soviet nuclear weapons at current levels. That resolution was passed by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Reagan said it would "seriously undercut our negotiating position and reduce the chances" for achieving the reductions he has called for. He has maintained that a freeze at current levels would lock in a Soviet advantage and remove the incentive for the current negotiations.

communications system for the sheriff's department. The system, at a bid price of $9,591, will give more deputies pagers and have the option of two more frequencies later. A government grant of $5,682 will be used in the purchase. Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce exec Mike Carr brought the commission a resolution outlining the $3.2 million industrial revenue bonds developed by Swift Packing Co., which will open the old Armour plant Nov. 1. Commissioners adopted the plan. The county plans to sell surplus property at county barns including three rolls of barbed wire for $285; a hand pump pickup tank for $40; and a power pump for $625. A bid for some 2 1/2 inch pipe, some telephone poles and tires was rejected. Loretta Kindsfather, rising as county CETA director presented commissioners a proposal to operate the office on a half time basis. She also expressed thanks to the court for help during her tenure in office. George Louder, conducting an evaluation county employment, gave the court dates he needed to meet with them and employees to discuss his findings on the research. August

23 he will present the policies to the commission and during September have sessions with bosses and employees. The regular meeting, which started at 10:10 a.m. and broke an hour for lunch, ended at 2:45 p.m. A special meeting was called to order immediately for a two item agenda. Roland Saul, district attorney, had his request approved to obtain professional insurance for himself, his assistants and the investigator from his office. He told the court that the Civil Rights Act has opened the door to lawsuits against government entities which at one time were almost immune to being sued. The policy Saul found will cost approximately $1,800 for the first year and $900 a year thereafter. He also recommended that the commissioners consider such a policy. The second item concerned payment of a $1,500 hospital bill for a court ordered brain scan for a subject picked up by the county for mental observation. Saul said the county was liable for the cost if the exam was court ordered. The court adjourned at 3 p.m.

County Extension Agent
Nine 4-H champions from Deaf Smith County will model apparel they have created when the Panhandle Extension District holds its annual 4-H Fashion Show, Thursday, July 29, at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Amarillo.

Members from 4-H Clubs in 20 counties will compete for honors and the right to represent the district in state competition next September in Corpus Christi.

Representing Deaf Smith County will be Trisha Teel, Rebecca Solomon, Sandra Straffuss - Junior level; Leslie Conkwright, Heather Gee, Jodi McElhanev - Intermediate ages 12-13; and Kelly Stokesberry, Kathy Morrison, JoAnn Meiwes - Seniors age 14-19.

These entrants already have won in county competition. Contestants are judged on their sewing and construc-

They will model their creations in a public fashion revue at 7 p.m. July 29 in the auditorium of the Extension and Research Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West, Amarillo.

Each contestant will compete in one of four clothing categories: daytime tailored, daytime non-tailored, active sportswear, and evening and specialty wear. Special awards will be presented the senior exhibiting the best cotton garment or ensemble and the one modeling the best wool or mohair outfit.

Seniors, beginners and intermediate contestants will be judged in separate groups and compete for awards in their own skill classification. Only the senior winners advance to the state contest.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

For those of you who think pictures grow on postcards, I will explain that a tripod is a three-legged stand that supports a camera so it will remain perfectly still.

When fully extended a tripod will stand waist high and weigh in at five or six pounds.

Every year, five million amateur camera enthusiasts leave home WITHOUT one. My husband is not one of them.

For eight years, he has dragged that tripod along on our vacation. He has yet to use it. So what good is it, you ask? For starters, it smashes down my dresses so that whatever I wear to dinner, someone will look at the permanent indentation and remark, "Oh I see you own a tripod."

When you run your suitcase through security, bells will chime, buzzers will beep and you have to ask them when was the last time Great Britain was attacked by tripods.

It gives young cabbies and bellhops their first American hernia. Oh, and once when the towel bars were full of laundry, I hung a few socks on it to dry.

Mostly what it does is make my husband feel like Ansel Adams.

I know now I should never have married an amateur photographer, but when you're 36 and not moving, you panic. My life has been a series of, "Would you hold this lens?" "Stand still, I'm losing my light," and, "So the bus left without us. There's always another one."

Blessed are the women who marry a man who photographs the Grand Canyon from a moving car, through the windshield with an instamatic. They don't know how lucky they are.

My husband's version of the tripod is quite different than mine. He will tell you about the hummingbird he saw with crossed eyes, the sun setting over the Kremlin that looked like a hammer and sickle, and the dramatic picture of the men on Easter Island facing away from the sea. What he won't tell you is that his tripod was in the suitcase in the hotel room all the time.

We didn't take the tripod this year. I said it was either it or me. He thought about it a week before leaving it behind. The guide at Christ the Redeemer Statue in Rio said, "I assume all you serious photographers have a tripod."

I knew what I had to do. Drop to all fours, balance a camera on my head and remain still as long as it took.

Canadian Model Wins Miss Universe

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Miss Canada, a statuesque, auburn-haired model from Toronto, beat out 76 beauties from around the world to claim the crown as Miss Universe 1982.

"Tell me this is a dream," Karen Dianne Baldwin, a smiling, but tearful 18-year-old, said as she was being led off stage Monday night to a gala ball in her honor. "I can't believe it. I'm nervous...I'm very nervous."

Master of ceremonies Bob Barker assured Miss Baldwin that she had indeed been named Miss Universe as she received the crown from last year's winner, Irene Saez of Venezuela in a ceremony capping the annual pageant held this year in the Peruvian capital.

The five runners-up were in order, Miss Guam, Patty Chong Kerkos, 18, of Panmunjng; Miss Italy, Cinzia Flordeponi, 21, of Rome; Miss Greece, Tina Rossou, 19, of Athens and Miss U.S.A., Terri Utley, 20, Cabot, Ark.

A panel of 12 judges, including American actress Cicely Tyson, Broadway producer David Merrick, and magician David Copperfield, narrowed the field and made the final decision.

The contestants were judged in swimsuit and evening gown competition and personal interviews. Early in the evening, the field was narrowed to 12 semi-finalists, including contestants from Brazil, South Africa, Finland, Peru, Germany, England and Uruguay.

Miss Baldwin, the green-eyed, 5-foot, 10-inch first prize winner, said before the contest that she wanted to study at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York for a career in the beauty, fashion and modeling industry.

Along with the title, she gets $150,000 in cash and prizes and a one-year personal appearance contract.

The two-hour television show, beamed live by satellite to 50 countries, went smoothly despite concern by Peruvian police, who had increased security forces following scattered weekend bombings in Lima unrelated to the pageant.

Ann Landers

Only She Can End It

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our beautiful, intelligent, talented daughter (age 24) is becoming hopelessly involved with a married man. She sees him whenever she can. When she can't, she is at home, crying her eyes out.

The man has children and will not leave his wife. He has told "Mary Lou" she has no future with him, and he feels guilty about taking up her time. Still she hangs on, hoping for a miracle that will never happen.

I was in the same spot when I was her age and I know what it's like. If my mother had known she would have disowned me. Yet, I can't turn my back on my daughter. What can I say to make her send this heel back to his wife and children? She deserves a decent man who will give her marriage. Help me find the words. - Heartache in Cleveland

DEAF HEARTACHE: Nothing you say will make any difference. People who program themselves to self-destruct cannot be saved from the ultimate catastrophe.

Stop believing you could rescue her if you were wiser or stronger. She will end this back-street affair only when she is ready.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I had the bridge club at my home and worked for three hours preparing what I considered a gourmet lunch. Not one guest ate a thing. Mrs. A. accused me of trying to sabotage her diet. She said, "You know I'm struggling to lose weight - why do you serve SANDWICHES? Don't you realize how many calories there are in a slice of bread?"

Mrs. B. shoved everything aside and announced she was on a sodium-free, sugar-free, high-fiber diet, and there was absolutely nothing on the table she could eat.

Three From Hereford Participate In Tour

Elizabeth Wills and Robert and Alice Thompson, all of Hereford, were among 38 area residents who recently returned from a 23-day tour to Nova Scotia and points in between. The Thompsons were escorts on the tour, sponsored by Trailways Tours of Amarillo.

Billed as the Nova Scotia Historical East Coast Tour, the trip included a ten-hour ride across the Bay of Fundy from Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, to Portland Maine.

Five days were spent in Nova Scotia, Halifax and Peggy's Cove, and visitors toured the Amish farms and homes in the Lancaster, Penn., area, as well as the Gettysburg Battlefield, Saint John, New Brunswick, the Reversing Falls, restored Williamsburg and Jamestown in Virginia, Hyde Park, N.Y., the Franklin D.

Roosevelt and VanderBilt mansions, Plymouth Rock, and Mayflower II.

Guided city tours were made of New York City, Boston, and Washington D.C., including the changing of the guard at Arlington Cemetery and a visit to Mount Vernon.

Radio City Music Hall, Philadelphia, and Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, and the Betsy Ross Home were featured. Smokey Mountain National Park and the Grand Ole Opry were also stops on the tour.

More than 6400 miles by land and 200 miles by ship were covered as the tour group traveled through 23 states and the provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia in Canada.

A farewell banquet was held at the Sheraton Inn in Fort Smith, Ark., before the group returned to Amarillo.

Minor Stars Lose, Too

Graham Tops Hereford, 10-5

BROWNFIELD - Graham exploded for five runs in the fifth inning to defeat the Hereford 14-15 year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars 10-5 in first round action of the West Texas State Tournament here Monday.

The win put Graham into the second round against Pampa at 6 p.m. tonight, while Hereford will face Monday's Lamesa-Lubbock loser at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

With the score knotted at 1-1 after four innings, Graham plated a handful of runners with the big blast a three-run homer by second baseman Barry O'Dell. The eventual winners added another run in the sixth to make it 7-1 before Hereford scored twice in the bottom of the frame.

Gary Ruckman reached on an error, and George Bermudez walked before Hereford catcher Toby Torres doubled Ruckman home. Bermudez then scored on a late throw to home on a hit by Sammy Suarez.

Graham added three more runs in the top of the seventh, and had to squish a Hereford rally in the bottom half of the inning to gain the win.

A Mike Scott single opened the inning, and Chet Bunch reached on an error before Suarez consecutive singles by Curtis Cotten and Ruckman accounted for two Hereford runs.

Bermudez and Torres then each struck out before Suarez got a base on balls, loading the bags. With Rodney Torres at the plate, Ruckman was picked off second base by Graham hurler Jim Carter to end the threat and the game.

Hereford managed six hits off Carter, who finished with a dozen strikeouts in the game. Scott, who had nine strikeouts, was relieved in the seventh by Bunch for Hereford.

The tournament was originally to have been held in Lamesa, but construction on the park there was not completed in time for the tournament to be held.

In other playoff action involving Hereford teams, the Minor League Green All-Stars fell to Amarillo No. 2 by a 14-4 count in the opening round of the Mustang League Sectional Tournament in Amarillo. The Greens will play Dimmitt at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in a loser's bracket game.

Bench of Old Returns, Leads Cincinnati Past Chicago, 4-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds' No. 5 is looking more like the Johnny Bench of old than just an old Johnny Bench these days. The man who has hit more home runs than any catcher in baseball history showed during a four-game series with the Chicago Cubs that he hasn't lost his touch. Bench blasted a solo homer

Monday night and drove in a pair of runs to help the Reds beat the Cubs 4-2. It gave him eight homers for the season, three of them in the four-game series.

"Now, for one little series, it's felt awfully good," said Bench, who came into the game batting just .229.

The Reds had counted on the 34-year-old former catcher to supply power and run production when he moved to third base this season. Things haven't worked out as planned and Bench found himself in the middle of controversy just before Manager John McNamara was fired last week.

Reds President Dick Wagner told McNamara to play rookies Tom Lawless and Paul Householder. Bench wound up on the bench, although it's unclear who made the decision.

"That's behind me now. I don't know what the deal is," Bench said. "There were a lot of innuendos going around. I just can't let those things worry me."

In the only other National League game, the San Francisco Giants beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1.

Russ Nixon, who replaced McNamara as the Reds' manager, made getting Bench back in the lineup one of his priorities.

Bench said he has made some changes in his swing that have helped.

"Right now, I'm feeling a little more patient, plus I'm getting good pitches to hit," he said. "I'm pulling the ball and pulling it with authority."

Dan Driessen led off the Reds' fourth with a homer, his 11th, off Al Ripley and Bench followed with his homer. Bench and Driessen also had RBI singles.

Bob Shirley scattered seven hits over eight innings to break his personal five-game losing streak. Tom Hume came on to post his 17th save after Gary Woods homered to lead off the ninth.

Giants 6, Dodgers 11 Bill Laskey pitched a three-hitter and Tom O'Malley keyed a five-run third inning with a three-run double as the Giants defeated Los Angeles ace Fernando Valenzuela.

With one out in the third inning, Joe Morgan and Chili Davis walked. Reggie Smith singled to score Morgan and the runners moved up on the throw to the plate. Bob Brenly was walked intentionally to load the bases and O'Malley followed with his double. Johnnie LeMaster singled O'Malley home. O'Malley's sacrifice fly accounted for San Francisco's final run in the eighth.

Vida Blue, Royals Overpower Cleveland; Sox Edge Jays, 3-2

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

It was Blue Monday for the Cleveland Indians, but a terrific night for a couple of veterans with the Kansas City Royals.

"I'm not throwing as hard as I did 10 years ago on a consistent basis — but I still can get good pop on my fastball when I need a knockout," said Kansas City's Vida Blue after overpowering the Indians Monday night.

Blue gave up only four hits, struck out seven and walked four in four innings to lead the Royals to an 8-1 decision and improve his record to 8-7. Blue, who turns 33 on Wednesday, took the spotlight with another veteran who was in good form. Hal McRae, the 36-year-old resurrected slugger, singled twice, doubled and homered to drive in three runs and boost his American League-leading RBI total to 88.

He credits his stunning run production this season to the Royals' lineup.

Willie Wilson added two triples as the Royals collected 15 hits and made ground in the hot AL West race on the California Angels, who lost 11-8 to the Oakland A's. The Royals are now one game behind the division leaders.

Blue pitched no-hit ball through five innings before running into trouble in the sixth, when the Indians scored their only run on Andre Thornton's RBI single.

Blue, however, settled down to retire the next three hitters without further damage. Dan Quisenberry finished up with two scoreless innings of relief.

The Royals took a 3-0 lead against Tom Brennan, 0-2, with the help of two Cleveland errors in the third inning, and it proved to be all the runs they needed.

In other AL action, the Boston Red Sox edged the Toronto Blue Jays 3-2, the Texas Rangers downed the Milwaukee Brewers 3-1, the Detroit Tigers turned back the New York Yankees 5-3, the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Chicago White Sox 6-2 and the Minnesota Twins walloped the Seattle Mariners 10-4.

A's 11, Angels 8 Rickey Henderson, who earlier hit a home run, blasted an eighth-inning double and stole home as Oakland came back to beat California in a wild game after blowing a 7-0 lead.

Henderson's double drove in the go-ahead run as the A's scored four times to wipe out an 8-7 California advantage.

Dave Beard, the third Oakland pitcher, pitched the final 32-3 innings to gain his sixth win in 13 decisions.

Reggie Jackson's two-run homer in the sixth and RBI double in the seventh had brought the Angels into the lead from the seven-run deficit.

Red Sox 3, Blue Jays 2 Dwight Evans scored the tie-breaking run on a double-play grounder in the eighth inning as Boston rallied to beat Toronto. The victory, combined with Milwaukee's loss to Texas, moved Boston into the AL East lead, one-half game ahead of the Brewers.

Dennis Eckersley, 11-8, going the distance for the 11th time in 21 starts, pitched a seven-hitter. Eckersley outdueled rookie right-hander Jim Gott, 1-6.

Toronto took a 1-0 lead in the second on an RBI single by Al Woods and made it 2-0 in the fifth on Alfredo Griffin's home run. Boston tied the score in the fifth on Glenn Hoffman's two-run homer.

The Red Sox rallied to come from behind to win for the 29th time this year. Rangers 3, Brewers 1 Charlie Hough pitched a four-hitter to lead Texas over Milwaukee. Hough, 9-8, walked one and struck out four in hurling his seventh complete game of the year.

No Milwaukee runner got as far as second base until the seventh inning when Cecil Cooper singled and Ted Simmons doubled him home.

Mike Caldwell, 7-10, took the loss.

The Rangers got a run in the fourth on Lamar Johnson's RBI single and scored their eventual winning run in the fifth on Doug Flynn's two-strike suicide squeeze bunt.

Tigers 5, Yankees 3

Lance Parrish knocked in three runs with a homer, single and a triple and Tom Brookens hit a tie-breaking, two-run double in the fifth as Detroit defeated New York.

Winner Jerry Ujdr, 4-5, gave up five hits, walked two and struck out two before needing relief help. Dave Rucker gave up an RBI single to Lou Piniella in the eighth inning before Dave Gumpert came on in the ninth to get the last two outs for his first save.

Orioles 6, White Sox 2

Gary Roenicke homered and drove in four runs, leading Baltimore over Chicago. It was the fifth straight triumph for the Orioles, who posted a 5-1 record while Manager Earl Weaver sat out a seven-day suspension for striking umpire Terry Cooney. Weaver returns tonight.

Roenicke, homerless in his 19 previous games, hit his 16th with two runners aboard in the third inning. He also doubled home a run in the second and scored on a single by Rick Dempsey.

Twins 10, Mariners 4

Gary Gaetti's first-inning grand slam triggered Minnesota's home-run barrage as the Twins buried Seattle. Gaetti's 16th homer of the season, off Seattle left-hander Floyd Bannister, 9-6, staked Jack O'Connor, 4-3, to an early 4-0 lead.

Gaetti's homer was one of four for the Twins, who also got round-trippers from Lenny Faedo, Gary Ward and Tom Brunansky.

Festival Is A Time for Records

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —

This is a time of records for the National Sports Festival, of bigger crowds watching faster and stronger athletes.

Swimming proved to be no exception when it opened its Festival run Monday night.

An enthusiastic crowd of 4,450 fans, described by some of the competitors as the largest they had ever seen in the United States, cheered as nine meet records were broken in 11 races in the new Indiana University Natatorium.

"I never had such a good crowd," said Michele Richardson, 13, of Memphis, Tenn., who set a women's 800-meter freestyle mark of 8 minutes, 40.24 seconds in the night's very first race. "When I saw the crowd, I almost died...It was very embarrassing."

"It's a fast pool, really nice," added Jacqueline Komenij, a record-setter in the 100-meter breaststroke at 1:12.99. "I could tell as soon as I got in it was fast. I think it's the fastest in the country."

"There were some minor things that went wrong," said Fauver, who skates with Miller out of the Wilmington (Del.) Skate Club. "It was the kind of thing that happens when you're not 100-percent relaxed. The easiest performances are the best performances. Tonight was not easy."

Leonard Harvey Nitz, also had a performance Monday that was not easy, but for a dramatically different reason.

Nitz, a cyclist from New York, won a pair of gold medals — less than three days after his mother was killed and his father injured in an automobile wreck in Utah.

He would talk only of his racing, not of his family tragedy. But in discussing his victory over Dan Casebeer in the point race, Nitz provided a clue to how he was able to overcome the death he had learned of in a phone call Sunday.

"It's all mental," he said, referring to cyclists. "That's what puts him over everybody else, the mental part. For myself, the stronger rider hardly ever wins. It's the guy who wants it the baddest, as you saw in the points race here."

Nitz, 22, also led his bike group to victory in team pursuit.

Local organizers said that ticket sales through Sunday totaled $738,000, far more than the old mark of $450,000 for an entire Festival set last year in Syracuse, N.Y. This year's runs through Saturday.

America's best swimmers have skipped the Festival to prepare for the World Aquatic Championships, opening Thursday in Ecuador.

Ice hockey opened. Mike Krensing and Gregg Moore scored two goals apiece in the North's 6-3 decision over the East, and a goal by Rich Costello with nine seconds left provided the South with a 4-4 tie with the West.

Paul Koscielski, the No. 1 men's tennis seed from South Bend, Ind., was upset by Mike Velasquez of Albuquerque, N.M., 7-5, 7-6 and then Koscielski and doubles partner Steve Bickham of Edmond, Okla., fell to Charles Short of Tacoma Wash., and Jim McNamee of Edmonds, Wash., 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, also in the semifinals.

Nehemiah Adjusting To Pro Football

By ERIC PREWITT AP Sports Writer

ROCKLIN, Calif. (AP) — Track star Rinaldo Nehemiah found it slow going by his standards on the opening day of the San Francisco 49ers' preseason training camp.

"I'm still adjusting from the track to gridiron as far as my footing is concerned. I have to transfer my speed to the football field," said the 6-foot-1, 175-pound Nehemiah, who was among 55 players in uniform Monday with the National Football League champions.

"I wasn't running at full speed, but a lot of passes still were thrown behind me. The quarterbacks are not used to my speed," Nehemiah said.

"It's very hard for me to run, stop to catch the ball, and then turn," he added.

The world record-holder (12.9 seconds) in the high hurdles slipped and fell a few times and also had trouble catching the ball for a while Monday. He was in full uniform, with pads and helmet, for the first time since five years ago when he was a high school quarterback in New Jersey.

Nehemiah dropped the first three passes thrown to him in the morning practice. He did better after taking off rib pads, which he said were too big, and in the afternoon drills he made several difficult catches.

Nehemiah was signed in April to a four-year contract which could bring him over $500,000, and he is guaranteed a spot on the 45-man roster this season, even if it is as an apprentice wide receiver who sees very little game action.

"One year from now, we might be talking about a very talented young man who can become an outstanding player," Coach Bill Walsh said after practice. "He's certainly capable of making the big catch, and in time he should be capable of running very well with the ball after he catches it."

"Pretty soon, he'll be taking some solid hits. Until he experiences them, he won't know how they feel."

Nehemiah remembers football hitting, having suffered broken ribs five years ago, and he said Monday, "I'm not worried about the contact."

Although he knows the 49ers are not counting on him for major contributions this year, Nehemiah said, "They're pushing me, and putting it to me that it's up to me how far I go this season."

"I don't see how they would keep the fastest guy in football sitting on the bench if I'm ready to play."

Pirates Coming Out of 'Storm'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Eight weeks ago, the Pittsburgh Pirates looked like a baseball team — and maybe a franchise — coming apart at the seams.

They were in last in the National League East, they were locked in a dispute with the city over their stadium lease and they had the worst attendance in the majors.

"But it's like being in a rainstorm. You just keep driving until you see sunshine and blue sky," says Manager Chuck Tanner.

And the season has lightened up for the Pirates. They're back in the pennant race, they have a new stadium deal with the city and they are showing signs of life at the gate.

"All the elements are falling together," said Tanner.

It wasn't that way last May 31. The Pirates were at the bottom of the NL East with an 18-27 record, 11 games behind St. Louis.

That's when Tanner got his players together for a clubhouse meeting.

"He just more or less said, 'Relax, go out there, play ball and have fun,'" recalled first baseman Jason Thompson.

"I think that's where it started."

Going into tonight's game here with Philadelphia, the Pirates were 3½ games behind the Phillies and the Cardinals, who were in a virtual tie for the division lead.

The Pirates have won 32 of 49 games since that May 31 low point, rekindling memories of the "We Are Fam-a-lee" Pirates who won the 1979 World Series.

"I've never been on a team that's been in the race this late in the season. It's great. I love it," said Thompson, who has 18 homers, 61 RBI and a .296 batting average.

The Pirates lead the league with a .279 team average. Catcher Tony Pena (.313) and rookie second baseman Johnny Ray (.300) are among the league leaders.

Dave Parker is back in the lineup after missing about six weeks with a wrist injury. And shortstop Dale Berra, who was hitting .182 in early June, is up to .268.

But the major change has been the starting pitching, dealt a big blow when Jim Bibby underwent shoulder surgery early in the year.

Two big question marks — Don Robinson and John Candelaria — have come on strong after missing most of last season with injuries. Robinson is 10-5. Candelaria is 7-4 with four wins in a row.

Newcomer Larry McWilliams is 4-1 since being acquired from Aolanta. "Larry was a great acquisition," says old pro Willie Stargell, whose pinch homer gave McWilliams a recent win.

A key man the rest of the way could be Rick Rhoden, who pitched a shutout last weekend against Atlanta to raise his record to 6-8. "If I can have a good second half, I can help us a lot," said Rhoden.

The Pirates averaged about 10,000 customers a game the first three months, worst in the majors. But they've averaged 16,869 in 10 games in July, and they drew 76,077 fans for three games last weekend with Atlanta.

WHO AM I?

They say I'm low key. In my sport, I don't mind being known as a gentleman. Not everybody is. Even so, I like to play aggressively. Lately, I've been trying to improve my footwork. And to develop more all-around skills.

SPORTS TALK: Chet Simmons

Interviewed by Robert Patton

Chet Simmons, 53, is commissioner of the new United States Football League. A former president of NBC Sports, he resigned as head of cable TV's Entertainment & Sports Network (ESPN) to join the 12-team USFL.

The USFL will play from March to July with a theme of "The Other Season." Do you feel you'll be playing second fiddle to the NFL?

I think it's whatever the perception is both from the media and the public. We think that we're starting a new league that is going to play at a totally other time than the other professional football is playing in this country. I think people will have to make their own judgments once this league starts.

Were you involved in the USFL discussions as far as the formation of the league? Have you been involved since the beginning?

No, the league has been under negotiation — among the owners that have surfaced — for over a year and a half. My involvement and my conversations with them has just been about the past few months. So, it's been really long going.

How much have the USFL owners studied what happened to other expansion pro football ventures — the old AFL and the WFL?

These men have studied them very strongly. As I said, they've been at it for over a year and a half. The founder of the league, Dave Dixon, has been working on this idea for a number of years. A long time before they even started with this concept.

The USFL plans franchises for New York; Boston; Philadelphia; Washington; Detroit; Tampa, Fla.; Birmingham, Ala.; Chicago; Denver; Los Angeles; San Francisco; and San Diego. Why were these cities chosen?

I think it was a question of the owners who were instrumental in the founding of the league looking at the market-places that have the biggest population centers available, and stadiums that could be used.

It was major cities, major population centers, available stadiums and media centers, obviously.

Other upstart professional leagues do one of two things — they fold or they merge. Do you foresee a possible merger at some point?

I don't think that is the intent of the formation of this league.

Is the USFL working at all with the NFL? Has there been any contact by your owners?

No. I have not had any, and I don't know if they have had contact.

John Ralston, who is in an advisory capacity to the league, coached in the National Football League — and other people have had some involvement.

I don't know if there has been a direct conversation. I haven't had any.

I think these men are going into business for themselves and they'll run their business.

With three or more games a week slated for broadcast over ESPN and ABC, do you think the USFL is being forced upon the public?

I think that we will try to do a consumer awareness program that will make the country aware of the league. Obviously, in each individual franchise city there will be a campaign that will be mounted to make the public aware of the team and the players and the coaches.

We want the public to be able to come to the games and also to watch it on television. So I think you will have ABC, ESPN and each individual franchise out there advertising and promoting the league and the individual teams to the public.

There are only a few professional sports commissioners in the country. Do you feel qualified?

I feel qualified because of my managerial and administrative background. I'm not in awe of it at all.

It's hot seat, though...

Sure, it's a hot seat. But you have to be willing to take that kind of pressure, to do a job that you're interested in.

Key Bout Tops Festival Boxing

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Flyweights Jesse Benavides, National Golden Gloves champion, and Steve McCrory, U.S. Amateur and North American champion, meet tonight in a key bout on the National Sports Festival's 10-fight program.

Benavides, 18, of Corpus Christi, Texas, has a chance to become the only repeat winner in Festival boxing competition. He won the gold medal in the 106-pound competition at Syracuse, N.Y.

His opponent in the 112-pound final, the 18-year-old McCrory, from Detroit, is a brother of pro boxer Milt McCrory.

Each scored unanimous decisions last weekend in semifinal competition at the Indiana Convention Center.

McCrory, who passed up the box-off for the world amateur championships so he could graduate from high school in June, is confident he can avenge two losses to Benavides in the 106-pound class last year.

"I saw him Sunday and he looked a little weak fighting in this class," McCrory said after a workout Monday. "I'm stronger at 112. It's my best weight."

McCrory disposed of Fred Batiste of Kenner, La., Saturday, while Benavides on Sunday eliminated Fred Perkins, a soldier from Ft. Bragg, N.C., who was the 1981 Festival champion at 112 pounds.

World champion Floyd Favors of Capitol Heights, Md., faces Herb Bivalacqua of Marrero, La. for the 119-pound crown, and Bennie Heard, U.S. Amateur champion from Augusta, Ga., takes on Detroit's Keith Vining, a Golden Gloves champ, for the 178-pound title.

Other matches include:

—106, Joe King, Washington, D.C., vs. Bryan Jones, Philadelphia.

—125, Orlando Johnson, Chicago, vs. Bernard Gray, Boynton Beach, Fla.

—132, Pernell Whitaker, Norfolk, Va., vs. Joe Belinc, Marysville, Wash.

—139, Henry Hughes, Cleveland, vs. Jerry Page, Columbus, Ohio.

—147, Louis Howard, St. Louis, vs. Roman George, Lafayette, La.

—156, Dennis Milton, New York, vs. Roger McCane, Tacoma, Wash.

—165, Elton Singleton, Louisville, vs. Nathan Houser, Detroit.

The heavyweight crown was decided Sunday when Craig Payne of Detroit outpointed Al Evans of Chicago. A broken hand, suffered in the semifinals, cost Philadelphia's Tyrone Biggs, the world super heavyweight titleholder, a shot at the Festival heavyweight crown for the second straight year.

Texan Leading Bull Riding

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — The luck of the draw and the skill to stay aboard earned a 21-year-old New Waverly, Texas, cowboy a score of 82 and the lead in bull riding at the 86th Daddy of 'Em All Rodeo here.

"He sure was a handful," said Rickey Lindsey Jr. after the ride aboard a bull called Gen. Tom Corbin on Monday, the third day of the rodeo and the first go-round in bull riding.

When he drew the bull, Lindsey said, other cowboys told him, "He's the one you want." "He was spinning and backing up and wanting to flip me right over his head," said Lindsey, who had about $34,000 on the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association circuit going into the Cheyenne Frontier Days rodeo.

The ride put him six points ahead of the previous day's leader, Bruce Johanson of Strathmore, Alberta. And Gerry Strom of Laramie, Wyo., moved down to third with a 75.

Steer wrestler Ron Scott of Saskatchewan, Canada, had an arena record time of 6.4 seconds Monday, breaking the 6.8-second mark set in 1976.

Kyle Chapin of Twin Falls, Idaho, scored a 70 Monday to become the new leader in rookie bronc riding.

All events except steer roping were in the first go-rounds Monday. Finals are Sunday.

Don Gay, going for a record eighth world bull riding championship, had little success with his bull Monday, lasting little more than a second on Garry Gilbert.

"The bull turned around backwards and fouled me on the gate," he said afterward, but the judges weren't in a position to see it and he was out for the rest of the rodeo.

The veteran 28-year-old bull rider from Mesquite, Texas, said that happens to him only "once or twice every couple of years."

Gay said he never counts on a rodeo for money to help him toward the next bull riding championship but added, "It doesn't make it easy to take. This is the biggest damn rodeo in the world."

Rookie bronc rider Skeeter Thurston of Hyannis, Neb., moved down to second behind Chapin with a 69. And Andrew Crothers of Rapid City, S.D., scored a 65 Monday to take the third spot going into the final day of the first go-round today.

Scott's record-breaking steer wrestling performance bumped Larry Dawson of Arnett, Okla., to second with a time of 6.9 seconds. Two cowboys shared the third-best time Monday at 7.3 seconds — Bart Weaver of Rapid City, S.D., and Randy Weaver of Collbran, Colo.

Steer roper Dave P. Smith of Brewster, Wash., had an 11.9-second performance Monday to move into second place. Clark Hankins of Rocksprings, Texas, still had the best time of 1¼.4 seconds. And Barry Burk of Duncan, Okla., moved into third with 12.7.

None of the steer roping times Monday was good enough to beat the top three, led by H.L. Todd of Burlington, Colo., at 15.1 seconds.

Saddle bronc standings also stayed the same Monday with Buddy Reynolds of Slaton, Texas, in the lead with 83 points.

The shakeup in bareback riding Monday was the 75 scored by Monk Dishman of Kountze, Texas, which put him in second place, behind the 80 of Lewis Feild of Payson, Utah. Still in third was C.R. Kemp of Durango, Colo., with a 74.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Governor Bill Clements apparently has decided that Texas and the nation have waited long enough for present and past presidential administrations to come up with a national energy policy, so he has come up with one of his own.

Clements said last week that he will present his plan to the upcoming Southern Governors Association meeting at Hilton Head, S.C. Clements is slated to become chairman of the group at the close of that conference.

Clements said his proposal will properly represent the "Texas position" on a national energy policy. He expects the plan to gain the support of both the Southern Governors Association and the National Governors Conference, which meets next month.

Clements described the Reagan administration's energy policies as "in limbo." So far as an overall energy policy goes, "this administration does not have such a policy," he said, pointing out that Presidents Carter, Ford, Nixon, Johnson and Kennedy didn't either.

The Republican governor, who currently is facing Attorney General Mark White in the race for re-election, gave few details of the plan other than it addresses differences in the pricing of interstate and intrastate natural gas sales.

Senate Campaign The 1982 election campaigns are beginning to heat up again and one of the hottest statewide races at the moment is the contest for U.S. Senate.

Democratic incumbent Lloyd Bentsen and his Republican foe, Dallas congressman Jim Collins, traded barbs last week, with Collins charging that Bentsen improperly reported a $79,850 campaign contribution and Bentsen criticizing the GOP contender for voting against disaster aid for farmers.

Collins said the $79,000 from the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee properly should have appeared on the committee's financial report, not Bentsen's.

Bentsen said Collins' charge implied his campaign was "being too open" and was the "dumbest thing I've ever heard."

Bentsen's charge that Collins repeatedly voted against emergency disaster aid for farmers during the past 14 years came after Collins took credit for getting a U.S. Agriculture Department task force to survey severe crop damage recently suffered in the High Plains area.

Bentsen's campaign also has just released a poll showing that National Conservative Political Action Committee advertisements attacking Bentsen have done more harm to Collins in the Panhandle.

The poll, conducted by Shipley & Associates, Inc. of Austin, shows that the incumbent's lead in a 19-county area near Lubbock rose while the GOP challenger suffered an increase in "unfavorable impressions."

Airline Hearing Attorneys for the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission have recommended that Southwest Airlines lose its license to sell beer and liquor for five days for allegedly serving seven cans of beer to a 14-year-old boy on a flight from Lubbock to Austin.

The boy contended he drank three beers on the flight from Lubbock to Dallas and four more from Dallas to Austin. He claimed he was so drunk when he arrived in Austin that he needed assistance from airport police officers.

The flight attendants testified, however, that it would have been "impossible" to serve any passenger that many drinks, particularly because the plane was only in the air for 31 minutes on the Dallas-to-Austin leg of the flight.

A final decision on the matter is expected in a month or two.

two more highway contractors have been fined a total of more than $300,000 in the federal investigation into bid rigging on state highway construction contracts.

U.S. District Judge James Nowlin ordered Stafford Construction Co. of Lubbock to pay $100,000 on one count of conspiracy to restrain trade and $500 on one count of mail fraud.

Brannon Contractors Inc. of Victoria was fined $200,000 on a similar conspiracy charge.

Stafford pleaded no contest and Brannon pleaded guilty to charges they conspired with other contractors to fix bids on numerous highway projects during the last few years.

Both companies have agreed to cooperate with the ongoing investigation.

Boswell & Crafton Inc., also of Lubbock, previously was fined $200,000 on bid rigging charges.

Fuel Tax A task force appointed by Gov. Clements has made formal a recommendation that the state impose an aviation fuel tax to help support airport development.

The panel voted 15-3 to recommend a one-cent-per-gallon tax for airliner fuel and three cents per gallon for private aircraft.

That recommendation is not likely to please the airline industry, which is already faced with dire economic conditions that may force more than one company out of business. The airlines have been fighting an aviation fuel tax for years. Task force member G. W. Kyle, general manager of American Airlines in Austin, said the proposal could cost his company as much as $15 million annually, but other

DEAR POLLY - First my Pointer, then my Problem. I buy mozzarella cheese in blocks. Then I divide it in four sections, wrap each piece in plastic wrap individually, and put them all in one freezer bag for freezer storage. When needed, I take out as many pieces as I need. I let it sit out for a while or partially thaw in the microwave oven for a few seconds. While it is still partially frozen, you can just crumble it in your hand. I never have to shred mozzarella cheese, saving time. Also saves money, since I'm never tempted to buy the already shredded cheese. My husband just hates rice. So many recipes call for rice. Is there any substitute for it? - SUE DEAR SUE - My favorite is barley. It has a wonderful nutty flavor and a slightly chewy texture that I find much more appealing than rice. Does need a longer cooking period, though. If your husband likes pasta, you might try searching out orzo. This is a rice-shaped pasta from Greece, and it makes the most wonderful cold salads when combined with fresh vegetables and an oil and vinegar dressing. (You can use it in other dishes, too, of course.) If you can't find orzo, there are other tiny pasta shapes sold in most supermarkets (pastina, for example) which could also be used. AUSTIN—Every home budget should have an allotment for the payment of insurance premiums. Along with the insurance policy on the house, there should be coverage for the personal contents in that house. Most homeowners policies include coverage for personal property in the home.

Take an inventory of personal property, taking one room at a time and list every item with a brief description, its present condition, and value. Amend your list to reflect any replacements or additions. Make a second copy. Keep one in a safe place in your home and one where you work. The list will help you and your insurance agent determine the value of your personal property after a loss and will help you prove what you had in your home at the time of loss.

If you rent rather than own a home, obtain renter's insurance to cover personal property. Renter's insurance provides basically the same coverage as the personal contents clause in a homeowner's policy. The distinction be-

Right Wing Lobby Targets Texas Elections

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A national right-wing lobby afraid of major losses in its battle to defeat political liberals in other states is looking to Texas as the place to wield its financial clout and organizational muscle.

A private document sent to "strong and concerned free enterprise-oriented individuals" detailed the National Conservative Political Action Committee's aims in Texas this year.

"To me, Texas is the one bright star which can offset major losses that I fear can occur in other states," NCPAC chairman John T. "Terry" Dolan wrote in the paper sent to a wealthy businessman, who apparently was thought to be a potential contributor.

The Associated Press obtained a copy of NCPAC's "Project Bright Star" that included this warning on the first page:

"CAUTION: This material is sensitive. The contents of this paper will have a decisive effect on congressional campaigns in the state of Texas this year. Do not release. Do not publicize. Please respond; then destroy."

A spokesman at NCPAC headquarters in Arlington, Va., told the AP that Dolan does not grant interviews and would not comment on the project.

Since 1978, NCPAC has taken credit for defeating "powerful liberal" U.S.

Senators Dick Clark of Iowa, Thomas McIntyre of New Hampshire, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Frank Church of Idaho, John Culver of Iowa and George McGovern of South Dakota and "scores of liberal, once powerful" U.S. Representatives.

But Dolan expressed concern in the "Bright Star" paper about conservative fortunes in the upcoming election.

"I am very worried — extremely worried — that circumstances are developing that will lead conservatives toward a devastating defeat in the congressional elections this November all across this land," wrote Dolan.

The paper states NCPAC is "dedicating at least $250,000 to take its stand in Texas" and would "put every component" of the organization "at the disposal of all free enterprise conservatives running for Congress" in Texas this year.

"For an individual candidate, NCPAC is like a super campaign. It has the ability, when called upon, to completely organize and guide an entire campaign from beginning to end," wrote Dolan, who said he has set up a direct consultation line for candidates.

"Project Bright Star," says Dolan, is "my highest priority."

The proposed "Bright Star" budget, however, includes only $5,000 for the U.S. Senate race, which is far short of the $300,000 Dolan has said NCPAC will spend to campaign against Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

In fact, NCPAC already has run television commercials in Lubbock trying to portray Bentsen as a liberal in his race against Rep. Jim Collins, R-Texas. A poll commissioned by Bentsen's campaign maintains the ads may backfire and "actually hurt Collins."

Bentsen's campaign press secretary, Jack DeVore, says the ads were a "gimmick to gain publicity" for a direct-mail campaign to raise funds for NCPAC.

In the "Bright Star" paper Dolan sketched "seven deadly threats which could destroy Ronald Reagan," including the economy and the "liberal media."

But he said union power was the "greatest danger to our newly won strength."

The union movement has targeted Houston for 1982, said Dolan.

"Union PAC's (political action committees) are richer than ever. Union members are being brought together to re-form their rusty political machines. The union leadership is more active at the center of the Democratic Party than ever before," he added.

The proposed "Bright Star" budget includes $5,000 each for U.S. House members Sam Hall Jr. of Marshall, Bill Archer of Houston, Jack Fields of Humble, Marvin Leath of Marlin, Charles Stenholm of Avoca, Kent Hance of Lubbock, Tom Loeffler of Kerrville and Ron Paul of Lake Jackson.

A total of $10,000 will be offered to incumbent Ralph Hall of Rockwall, and although no specific figure is mentioned, incumbent Phil Gramm of College Station will be offered a "maximum cash contribution," the paper says.

Contributions of $10,000 each also are budgeted for the following contested races involving House incumbents, presumably for their opponents: Rep. Jack Brooks, Beaumont, vs. John Lewis, Friendswood; Rep. Jack Hightower, Vernon, vs. Ron Slover, Amarillo; Rep. Bill Patman, Ganado, vs. Joe Wyatt Jr., Victoria; Rep. Mickey Leland, Houston, vs. Leon Pickett, Houston; Rep. Abraham "Chick" Kazen, Laredo, vs. Jeff Wentworth, San Antonio; and Rep. Martin Frost, Dallas, vs. Lucy Patterson, Dallas.

Dolan said NCPAC would like to "target" Reps. Jim Wright, D-Fort Worth, and J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Austin, for defeat "if significant opposition develops." Wright's opponent is Republican Jim Ryan of Euless. Pickle has no opponent at this time.

In races for open House seats, $10,000 NCPAC contributions are budgeted for the following contests: John Bryant, Dallas, vs. Joe Devany, Dallas; Ronald Coleman, El Paso, vs. Pat Haggerty, El Paso; Michael Andrews, Houston, vs. Mike Faubion, Houston; Tom Vandergriff, Arlington, vs. Jim Bradshaw, Fort Worth; and Solomon Ortiz, Corpus Christi, vs. Jason Luby, Corpus Christi.

The NCPAC letter did not indicate which of the candidates in the open races would get the contributions. Devany, Haggerty, Faubion, Bradshaw and Luby are Republicans, the others Democrats.

NCPAC plans to put $5,000 each into the statewide races for governor, lieutenant governor and comptroller and has budgeted $30,000 for legislative support.

Future Of Funeral Home Price Proposal Cloudy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal requiring undertakers to provide customers with detailed funeral costs is coming before the Federal Trade Commission, its future in limbo after a decade of debate.

Two FTC officials on Monday recommended either dropping the rule or studying the issue further. Even if the rule is approved by the FTC, Congress could veto it.

The FTC staff that worked on the rule has called for approval, saying the evidence is "legally sufficient" for adoption.

The funeral home proposal has traveled a winding trail from the early 1970s, the heyday of the consumer movement, until now, when the trend is to curb regulatory agencies such as the FTC.

The FTC, which first raised the issue in 1972, has gathered more than 9,000 documents in the case and conducted hearings in six cities.

The proposal, tentatively adopted last year, comes before the commissioners Wednesday. It would require undertakers to draw up item-by-item price lists and answer questions about prices over the phone.

In addition, it would be illegal for them to misrepresent whether state laws require either caskets for cremation or embalming of corpses.

Proponents of the rule have argued that funeral homes take advantage of families at a difficult time by selling "package" funerals, with costly and unwanted items.

The funeral industry has opposed the rule, noting that Congress already put limitations on funeral homes in a 1980 law. An earlier version of the rule was rewritten following passage of that legislation.

The industry also contends that its voluntary program to handle complaints is sufficient.

On Monday, Timothy J. Muris, director of the FTC's consumer protection bureau, recommended further study before a rule is adopted and urged that the record in the case be reopened.

Muris said there are "some evidence of actual problems" in the industry, but added that in the 10 years the issue has been studied, "the commission did not ask relevant questions. We do not have good statistical evidence about the extent of the problems."

He said one study conducted after the record in the case was closed in 1976 found 94 percent of funeral directors were willing to discuss prices over the phone.

The study questioned 1,200 persons who had recently purchased funerals and found that 377 made the first approach to the undertaker by telephone. Of those, 74 asked about price and five were refused such information.

Robert Tollison, director of the FTC's bureau of economics, also cited that study in arguing the proposed rule should be dropped as unnecessary. He said the study showed most people make the choice of a funeral service on the basis of reputation for quality or some other factor, not on price.

Ulysses S. Grant, an unknown ex-soldier at the beginning of the Civil War, became the first of the nation's generals to wear four stars.

Getting Disney's Dream Ready

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Trucks plow through the mud roads. Construction cranes swing back and forth across the cloud-filled sky.

Thousands of hard-hatted workers swarm over a pitted, busy landscape dotted with huge structures ranging from the odd-shaped futuristic to European ancient. Oriental temples meld with American frontier architecture, William Shakespeare's birthplace and Paris' Eiffel Tower around a huge lagoon.

The "Imagineers" of Walt Disney's legacy are busy putting the final touches on their late master's dream: a showplace combining the past and the future, American technology with the flavor of foreign lands and cultures.

The $800 million Epcot Center is in the final stages of construction alongside central Florida's biggest tourist attraction — Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom.

The center's two theme areas — World Showcase, with pavilions representing nine nations, and Future World, featuring the marvels of American science, industry and imagination — will be ready Oct. 1 for the first of an expected 8 million visitors a year.

The new attraction, combined with the familiar amusement park next door, is projected to lure more than 20 million people a year to Florida.

For the visitor, the offerings of Disney's biggest and most expensive project are described this way: In Future World, you travel the corridors of time and discover what lies ahead. In World Showcase, you travel the countries of the world and discover the family of man.

Epcot Center was originally EPCOT — acronym for Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow, a futuristic concept some envisioned as a plastic-domed city where people would live and work in a controlled laboratory environment.

That idea eventually gave way to the more practical, permanent exposition of science, imagination and foreign cultures.

Disney officials defend it as much more than a giant theme park.

"Epcot will be as different from Disneyland as this was from Coney Island," says Disney World spokesman Bob Mervine, echoing a favorite company line. "It's a step toward getting entertainment from real things as opposed to fantasy."

Twice the size of the Magic Kingdom and linked to it by eight miles of monorail, Epcot Center still encourages debate about whether it's primarily educational or entertaining.

Even some of the top Disney officials aren't sure.

Dick Nunis, president of Walt Disney World, put it this way recently while conducting an impromptu tour. "I subscribe to what Walt always said — 'I would rather entertain and hope people learn than teach and hope they're entertained.'"

At a distance, Epcot Center's most striking feature is a silver-gleaming 180-foot geosphere, the Spaceship Earth globe, at the gateway to Future World.

From there, the visitor can wander through pavilions named Universe of Energy, Transportation, New Horizons, and Computer Central.

Adjacent to Future World and encircling the 40-acre lagoon, the visitor will walk or ride along village streets joining Aztec pyramids, a Japanese Shinto shrine, a broad piazza from Italy, Chinese pagodas, a Bavarian biergarten and other slices of life from eight foreign cultures.

"I'm as excited as a kid waiting for it to open," says Nunis, supervising the day-to-day construction of what he says may be the largest private building project in the country today.

There are 4,000 construction workers making the stretch drive to complete the 550-acre project, which is costing twice as much as the original Magic Kingdom did when it opened 10 years ago.

Some 1,800 full-time artists, designers and engineers are involved, plus another 1,000 in consulting firms across the country, the Disney organization says.

Epcot will more than double Disney's investment in the 27,400-acre "vacation kingdom" site southwest of Orlando.

Participating in the Future

World adventures Disney says are a preview of the 21st century are the Bell System, Exxon, General Motors, Kraft, Kodak, American Express, Coca-Cola, Sperry Univac and General Electric.

Everything is big. One single pavilion, The Land, covers more than six acres, as big as all of Tomorrowland in the Magic Kingdom.

The lagoon takes up an area equal to 85 football fields.
