

On Tax Increase Bill

Reagan Likely to Make Television Address

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is likely to make a televised address to the nation, perhaps before a House-Senate session on Capitol Hill, seeking support for passage of a $98.9 billion tax increase bill. White House spokesman Larry Speakes said there is a good possibility — but no final decision — that Reagan will speak to Americans about the tax hike late this week or early next. Meanwhile, Reagan was resuming his arm-twisting sessions with congressmen today as he lobbies for passage of the tax bill he says is vital to his economic recovery program.

Reagan set aside time to see congressmen during three White House meetings. For days, Reagan has been working to convince rebellious House conservatives to support the tax bill. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., has invited Reagan to use Capitol Hill as his forum in making an appeal to the public on behalf of tax increase bill. White House aides say, however, there is a far better chance that Reagan will address the nation about the legislation from the Oval Office, rather than from Capitol

Hill. Administration sources told the Washington Post Reagan has reached a definite decision to make the public appeal and will probably deliver it during prime time Monday from the Oval Office. Speaking anonymously, administration officials expressed fears that O'Neill was trying to trap the president politically and pin sole responsibility for an election-year tax hike on Republicans.

Reagan twitted O'Neill during a trip Wednesday to Billings, Mont., saying Republicans were leading the fight for budget cuts. "Imagine if we had two Tip O'Neills" Reagan told a fundraising luncheon for GOP Senate candidate Larry Williams.

At a celebration of Billings' 100th birthday, Reagan said he would have to be a magician to fix the economy quickly after "40 years of fiscal irresponsibility."

"You know," he ad-libbed, "That might be more fun: pulling rabbits out of a hat instead of jackasses out of the way in Washington."

For his part, O'Neill said there was no public clamor for the tax bill and that Reagan should address Congress if he really wants the legislation.

WELCOME TOWN & COUNTRY JUBILEE AUG 14-22

In Case You
Hadn't Heard...

If you've been out of the country or asleep for the past six months you might not have heard that the Town & Country Jubilee is set for Aug. 14-22 here in Hustlin' Hereford. The Jubilee committee got the ball rolling this week with this banner stretched across Main Street near the intersection of Fourth St. The Miss Hereford Pageant and the Hereford & Vicinity YMCA-Deaf Smith General Hospital 10 K and 2-mile Fun Runs get the Jubilee going this Saturday.

Amarillo Boy Loses Arm in Accident

An Amarillo youth is listed in critical condition today at St. Anthony's hospital in that city after a freak accident at a local produce shed Wednesday afternoon.

Rudolfo Arando, 9, of Amarillo, had his left arm torn off after getting the limb caught in a conveyor belt at the De Bruyn Produce facility on Dairy Road around 4:15 p.m. Wednesday.

According to Hereford Police spokesman Joe Brown the boy had accompanied his father and an uncle to the shed, and apparently wandered off from them. "We aren't sure why he was there, but he wasn't working," Brown said.

The youth was rushed to Deaf Smith General Hospital, and then transferred to St. Anthony's where doctors began an attempt to re-attach the arm. Due to the type of injury, however, the physicians decided that the arm could not be saved.

In other police calls Wednesday, Roberts Appliance reported an unsuccessful attempt to gain entry into the business after a door knob was broken on the back door, while three other burglary attempts proved fruitful for thieves.

Thomas Lopez, 228 Ave. C, reported that thieves had

Miss Hereford 1981

Dana Ulibarri
Miss Hereford
Pageant Saturday

Miss Hereford Dana Ulibarri will see her year-long reign come to an end Saturday as 17 other coeds set their sights on succeeding Miss Ulibarri during the 1982 Miss Hereford pageant at the high school auditorium. The pageant, sponsored by the Women's Division of the chamber of commerce, will conclude with the finals beginning at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The day will begin for the contestants at the E.B. Black House, where they will be interviewed Saturday morning. Talent presentations will begin at 2 p.m., with eight girls selected to compete in the pageant finals that evening.

Tickets for the talent presentation are priced at $2 for adults, and $1 for children. Tickets for the pageant finals are $2.50, and are available at the chamber of commerce office, both banks, and Etcetera, The Pants Cage, Helen's Youth Shop, Louise's, Boots & Saddle, and at the door Saturday night.

This year's contestants, and their sponsors include Sheri Blevins, Casey's Books & Records; D'Nan Brannon, Frosty's Meat Market; Dana Cabbiness, National Cowgirl Hall of Fame; Gina Griffin, Griffin and Brand; Angie McClain, Etcetera; Teresa Phibbs, Plains Insurance; Amy Quillen, The Pants Cage; Wendy Reid, Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union, Elaine Reinart, Gaston's; Stacie Rhodes, Kester's Jewelry; Tonya Savage, Helen's Youth Shop; Jenness Self, J.J.'s Hair Fashions; Tori Self, J.C. Penney Co.; Kim Sims, Park Ave. Florist; Lisa Snyder, Edward's Pharmacy; Cathie Weldon, The Brass Spike and Carol Zinser, A Touch of Class.

The pageant's theme this year is "The Rainbow Connection." John Dawson will serve as master of ceremonies, while Keith Ann Gearn is pageant director. Judges include Cheri Turner Sparks, and Bill and Carol Ellis.

The young lady selected to be the new Miss Hereford will receive a silver platter and a $600 award. She will reign as queen over the Town & Country Jubilee, and ride in the Jubilee parade Aug. 1.

First runner-up will receive a $300 cash award, with the second runner-up receiving $200. Both the runners-up as well as the winners of the Talent Award and Miss Congeniality, will receive silver platters.

'Reign of Terror' Shocks State

By PHIL BRASHER
Associated Press Writer

A sudden outbreak of mass murder and the grisly discovery of victims of crimes in the past months has left Texas in the grip of what the state's chief law enforcement officer calls "a reign of terror."

The death count reached 36 in five days.

The victims include bodies of persons killed earlier and discovered hidden in a well in North Central Texas and in shallow graves in the Houston area as well as mass murder incidents at Fort Worth and Grand Prairie.

The death count began late Saturday when Hill County officers began digging into an abandoned water well near the small North Texas town of Blum.

There were four mass murders by Tuesday, including one with as many as 22 victims — and by Wednesday morning police had arrested four men and killed one. The outbreak of killings are "shocking" and "frustrating," according to Col. James Adams, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety. "We're fairly effective," Adams said of the state's law enforcement, "but when you see where one man allegedly murdered 22 people you just have to recognize that police are unable to protect the public to the extent the public is entitled. It is frustrating." "Crime is creating a reign of terror in our cities,"

Adams said, quoting Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren Burger.

On Monday morning, the bloody trail moved north from Blum. As the workweek was beginning in the Dallas suburb of Grand Prairie, an enraged 49-year-old truck driver gunned down six people at three places where he worked, police said.

Police said John Parish, who died in a hail of police bullets, carefully planned his attacks. Friends of Parish said he believed he was mistreated at work — that he was "tired of being pushed around," they said.

Parish's boss died as he sat at his desk.

"The man obviously had an agenda," Police Chief David Kunkle said of Parish. "He had a mission to accomplish."

Houston police said, however, a bus mechanic suspected of 22 murders in Texas, Michigan and Canada picked his victims at random, over a 10-year period.

Officers found the remains of a 25-year-old woman clad in a bra and one stocking and a second woman's body clad in panties and a bra this week. The victims were among nine women Coral Eugene Watts, 28, has admitted having strangled over the past year and a half, police said.

State District Judge Doug Shaver said Watts also is suspected of stalking and killing women in Austin and Galveston, Texas; Detroit, Ann Arbor and Kalamazoo, Mich.; and Windsor, Ontario — all because "he believes women are evil."

Ann Arbor police say they asked Houston authorities to watch Watts after he moved to Houston from Michigan in April, 1981.

"What happens here is that he goes out looking for people to stamp out evil, and the evil always to him appears in women," according to Jerome N. Sherman, a clinical psychologist who interviewed Watts in jail last month.

"He said he has been trying to help the world since he was very young, trying to stamp out evil."

Headlines shifted back to North Texas Tuesday where a mother found her son's decapitated and sexually mutilated body at Fort Worth. Police responding to her call found four more bodies next door.

Junett Bryant told police she found her 31-year-old son, Ricky Lee, with his severed head tucked under an arm. His penis and testicles were found elsewhere in the house.

The assailant stabbed the victims repeatedly and may have shot and strangled them as well, police said.

Police in Wichita, Kan., arrested Larry Keith Robison, 25, of Fort Worth Wednesday morning while he was sleeping in a car behind a church. Fort Worth police were called after identification papers belonging to some of the five victims were found on him.

Israel Suspends Talks About PLO Evacuation

By The Associated Press

Israeli jets attacked west Beirut today in the heaviest strikes of the 9-week-old war, and Lebanese Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan suspended talks with U.S. presidential envoy Philip C. Habib on evacuating the PLO, charging Israel was determined to "wipe out the Lebanese capital anyway."

"I have told Philip Habib that I cannot carry on in these talks while these thousands of tons of explosives are wreaking mass destruction in my city, my capital. I did not break up the talks. But I have told him I cannot carry on and hold him as well as the United States responsible for the consequences."

Prime Minister Menachem Begin told his Parliament in Jerusalem although "a great deal of progress" had been made in talks to get the Palestine Liberation Organization out of Lebanon that U.N. and French participation in a proposed peacekeeping force remained the main obstacle to a final settlement.

Textbook Panel Takes Hard Line

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — After three days of hearings, State Textbook Committee members have been putting a little more bite in their questioning of protesters who want to eliminate schoolbooks from public school shopping lists for various partisan reasons.

The hearings continue today, the fourth of five days of testimony.

At Wednesday's hearing, the committee was told by the Texas Daughters of the American Revolution that some of the schoolbooks promote violence and teach "socialist" beliefs.

Mrs. Billy C. Hutcheson of Fort Worth also complained that one civics book put too much emphasis on rights instead of duties.

"Where in the text do you find that people should obey the laws?" she asked. "Always, what are your rights?"

One member of the committee, which hands anonymous, written questions to a hearing examiner, asked Mrs. Hutcheson, "Are you saying that students are not American citizens?"

Another committee member insisted Mrs. Hutcheson document her claim that yoga, suggested as an activity by one health book, is a religious practice.

Mrs. Hutcheson said her group found one civics book to "promote violence" because it included as an example of authority, "Speeches designed to get people to destroy property may not be given on school grounds."

"Why bring it up?" Mrs. Hutcheson asked the committee. "If you tell a child not to put a bean up his nose, the first thing he'll do is put a bean up his nose, and it'll swell and then you'll have problems," Mrs. Hutcheson said.

Mrs. Hutcheson found a health book objectionable because it told junior high students, "As a resident of this planet, you have a part to play in keeping its resources safe for yourself and others."

AT&T, Justice Dept. To Modify Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the Justice Department say they will hold talks to adjust the proposed break-up of the Bell System to meet the demands of a federal judge.

If the two sides can modify their agreement, U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene said he will proceed with the antitrust settlement. The proposed corporate reorganization is the largest in history.

But Greene, who described the overall AT&T divestiture plan as "plainly in the public interest," said he would resume the company's antitrust trial promptly if the two parties don't make the changes he wants within 15 days.

The trial in the 1974 antitrust suit was suspended in January when AT&T and federal prosecutors announced they had reached a settlement in which AT&T would give up ownership of its 22 wholly owned Bell System companies.

In exchange the telecommunications giant would be given the right to enter new, unregulated businesses like data processing and the government would drop its suit against the company.

While the Bell companies represent about two-thirds of AT&T's assets — or more than $80 billion — the settlement would leave the company its lucrative long-distance, equipment, manufacturing and research operations.

Greene said he approved of the settlement, but would insist on major changes to bolster the Bell System companies to help them avoid major rate increases.

"This opinion reflects clear concern for consumers; for the health of the local operating companies, and for the First Amendment," said Rep. Timothy E. Wirth, D-Colo., who tried unsuccessfully to get Congress to enact some of the same restrictions set out by Greene.

Both AT&T Chairman Charles L. Brown and the Justice Department said they would discuss the modifications.

The modifications include

Insurance Industry Asks for 33.2 Percent Auto Rates Jump

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Board of Insurance today planned to listen to conflicting testimony on how much to increase automobile insurance rates.

The board staff has proposed a 17.3 percent average statewide increase, adding up to $306 million in additional revenues.

However, the insurance industry announced Wednesday it wants a 33.2 percent increase.

A Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office release said the big increase is justified by a "marked increase in both the number of claims and the average costs of those claims."

TAISO said accidents jumped 6.2 percent in 1981 up to a total of 792,763. The organization also reported 10.8 percent increase in the number of traffic injuries and a 6.3 percent hike in traffic deaths.

"These statistics mirror the dismal picture for both insureds and insurers alike," the release said.

Holocaust Won't Stop Mail Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neither nuclear blast, nor fallout, nor mass panic and destruction will stay the Postal Service from completing its annual rounds in case of atomic attack, a government contingency plan promises.

The Postal Service is prepared to discuss the plan at a House Post Office subcommittee hearing today.

Retired Rear Admiral Gene LaRocque and other critics of President Reagan's civil defense plans are expected to say that the United States can forget about getting the mail if nuclear war breaks out.

The contingency plan, several hundred pages thick, was given to the subcommittee before the hearing and shown to a reporter.

In the deadpan style of military plans, it lists what forces could be used to carry out what tasks in case of either nuclear or conventional war.

11-year Old Twins Terrorize Pre-school Set With BB Guns

ORANGE, Texas (AP) — Two brothers forced their way into a home and held residents there at gun point while they rifled through the house, police said Wednesday.

The brothers were 11-year-old twins. Their weapons were BB gun pistols. And their victims were aged 2 and 6.

Police said the twins held John Tims, 2, and Joshua Tims, 6, at BB gunpoint Tuesday while they searched through a purse belonging to the youngsters' mother. They found nothing and left.

Police officer Charles Materne said he checked out complaints that the twins had been seen carrying the BB pistols around the neighborhood. When he confronted the twins, he said, he found that the pistols were unloaded. The officer said there is no law prohibiting carrying BB pistols.

Officials said the twins, whose mother is in a hospital, were being cared for by an aunt. The youngsters are to appear in Orange County Court for a detention hearing when their mother is released from the hospital.

Paul Harvey News Reaganomics So Far

The headlines cannot agree as to whether the recession is worsening, bottoming-out or behind us. What do the numbers say?

The numbers say: Before Reagan, our dollar was shrinking 13 cents a year; today it's shrinking at an annual rate of less than 6 cents.

Gasoline is selling for 7 cents less than a year ago.

Interest rates were more than 21 percent, today 15.

A year ago Americans were saving less than 5 percent of their earnings; today more than 6 percent.

A year ago federal spending was increasing 14 percent a year; today less than half that.

Waste and fraud in government is $2 billion less than a year ago and 8,500 dead people are no longer collecting Social Security.

The pessimists are wearing red faces. Unemployment did not worsen last month; held steady at 9 1/2 percent.

And our country's total employment is near or at an all-time record high. Besides, we can hardly blame Reaganomics for something that is worse most everywhere. In Italy unemployment is 9.9 percent, in Britain 11.8, in Ireland 12 percent, in Belgium more than 13 percent.

Partisan politicians have been helping you forget that auto workers were 20 percent unemployed before Reagan; unemployment in construction was more than 14 percent before Reagan.

Car companies are profitable again; Ford especially. And housing starts are inching up as interest rates moderate.

Our nations GNP, total output of goods and services, increased the second quarter a respectable 1.7 percent.

Our economy is growing again for the first time in a year.

Our index of leading indicators held steadily last month.

Indeed, were it not for the roller-coaster stock market, that index would have increased.

Both hourly earnings and spendable income are up from a year ago. White collar pay for the first time since 1979 in increasing faster than the cost of living.

And while Americans are depicted by some headline writers as hungry and deprived, Americans this year are spending $262 billion on recreation; that's more than our government spends on national defense. Just video products alone this year are a $9.2 billion business.

And Illinois state lottery sales are running 55 percent ahead of a year ago.

Again, as Mark Twain is said to have said about Richard Wagner's music, "It's not nearly as bad as it sounds."

Getting An Education

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — With a dozen students and a couple of donated airplanes, the University of North Dakota aviation department got off the ground 13 years ago by offering students the chance to combine love of flying with down-to-earth business savvy.

Today, the university's aviation students number 750 and its fleet includes 60 airplanes. And this fall, it will become the first school in the country to offer a four-year airway science program developed by the Federal Aviation Administration to upgrade the aviation industry.

"In the future, a pilot per se will be a dime a dozen. What you've got to do is fly an airplane and have other skills," says John Odegard, former crop duster, former certified public accountant and now chairman of the school's aviation department.

Odegard chaired a special FAA task force that developed the curriculum, a major goal of FAA Administrator J. Lynn Helms.

"General aviation aircraft and hours flown will nearly double in the next two decades," Helms said in a recent letter to the national Higher Education Commission. "There will be significant changes in the technology which will require a very sophisticated broad-based technical and managerial work force that can meet the new and changing demands of the system."

FAA officials say that except for some engineering schools, there are few places where a person can learn about aviation as a career. Flying was viewed by some educators as too glamorous and too expensive to be a part of a college atmosphere.

Odegard disagreed. Today, the department has a $6 million budget and some 200 employees, including 90 flight instructors. The bulk of that budget comes from student fees and research contracts, and students go on to everything from airport management, airline marketing and weather research.

When President Reagan fired striking air traffic controllers last year, the university was the only four-year school with a curriculum designed to train 30 to 50 new controllers each year. That curriculum helped it win a $4 million federal grant for a three-story aerospace and atmospheric studies center, to be finished late next year.

The university had been planning the aviation building for some time, but didn't have funding for it.

"The strike gave us an opportunity to get it," Odegard said. "When opportunity knocks, you'd better open the door."

That philosophy has guided the 40-year-old Odegard throughout his career.

Born in Minot, Odegard came to the University of North Dakota after serving as a crop duster, a corporate pilot, a certified public accountant and a financial representative for Boeing. While working on his advanced degree, he helped rejuvenate the school's flying club and offered to teach a course in aviation.

Odegard had the support of Tom Clifford, former dean of the business college and now the school's president.

A department won state approval with the condition that it be self-supporting, and in 1969 UND became the first school in the country to offer a college business degree in aviation administration.

The following year, Odegard talked the city of Grand Forks into buying a portable air traffic control tower and won FAA approval to train students there. He also lured people from the airplane industry into the classroom.

"It sounds like a mutual admiration society, but the people we've attracted got caught up in his drive," said Don Smith, a former plant manager for Lockheed who is now director of academic programs for the department.

"Traditionally, an accountant is a person who sits in a corner with a calculator," Smith said. "John has that background, but he has the personality of an entrepreneur and a salesperson."

UND students are offered four-year majors in aviation administration, airport administration, aeronautical studies and meteorology. Students take basic business management or liberal arts courses along with aviation, and work toward double majors.

The 60 planes, most of which are leased, include a specially equipped Cessna Citation jet now being used in a cloud seeding study of the Colorado River Basin.

LIMITED EQUALITY
(by)
Bob Wear

WE ARE EQUAL, but we are not equal, not in the sense of absolute and total equality. Efforts to bring about total equality are futile, and serve to emphasize our natural inequality. The more we try to work with the premise of absolute equality, the more frustration and unrest we create.

WHAT IS WRONG with being unequal? There is nothing, unless we make something wrong; because inequality is a fact of life with which we must live. Pretending that it doesn't exist throws everything out of balance.

"SO FAR IS IT from being true that people are naturally equal, that no two people can be half an hour together but one shall acquire an evident superiority over the other." - Johnson. If "superior" and "inferior" bother us, let us use the word different.

WE ARE EQUAL in some ways, but there are more ways in which we are unequal; and we are going to remain unequal. If we fight it, we are defeated before we start. We must accept it, and proceed accordingly. With this done, many present-day troubles will disappear. Trying to force equality where inequality is the fact of life is one of the most unwise actions of which we are capable.

THE AFFIRMATION of Independence — "We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men (people) are created equal:..." is true. We know, however, that this was never understood to mean absolute equality in the living experience, but that it is a limited equality which we cherish.

"THEY WHO SAY all men (people) are equal speak an undoubted truth, if they mean all have an equal right to liberty, in their property, and to their protection of the law. - But they are mistaken if they think people are in their station and employment, since they are not so by their talents." - Voltaire.

LET US BE EQUAL in the ways we are equal, and unequal in the ways we are unequal; and without mistreating each other. Let this be one without envy, hostility, contempt and all other destructive feelings. Let it be done with mutual respect; with a proper sense of interdependence; and with wise regard for the common good. In this way, there is hope for us.

Carmichael Awaits The Revolution

CONAKRY, Guinea (AP) — There are flecks of gray in his hair, and the Trinidadian lilt in his voice is more pronounced than it was when his call for "Black Power" made America sit up and listen in the 1960s.

The telephone in his modest house by the sea is out of order, so he can no longer answer it, saying: "Ready for the Revolution."

At 41, slapping mosquitoes on his front porch, scanning the evening sky for rain, Kwame Toure, the man they called Stokely Carmichael, is still waiting for the revolution, the one that will put the pieces and people of Africa back together again.

Toure lived in this West African nation since 1969, an official guest of President Sekou Toure, whose name he has adopted.

Kwame is from Kwame Nkrumah, the first president of Ghana who was also Sekou Toure's guest and Guinea's co-president from his overthrow in 1966 until his death ten years ago.

Toure was born in Trinidad and moved to the United States with his family at age 11. In the early 1960s, while in his 20s, he worked as a field organizer for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and in 1966 became its national chairman.

As head of SNCC, Carmichael became a strident advocate of black militancy, and eventually was forced out as chairman in 1969. He has said he was "stupid and arrogant" in his methods during that period, especially in thinking that change could come overnight.

Toure said he left the United States because of police harassment. He chose Guinea so that he could spend time with Nkrumah and live in a country that was working for the cause of pan-Africanism.

Kwame Toure has two passports, Guinean and American. His former wife, the South African singer Miriam Makeba, has 21, he said. Miss Makeba maintains a residence in Conakry where she recently opened a disco called the "Zambezi."

"We have finished a very intensive buildup in and around Beirut as part of a large operation...if and when we have to attack," he said in response to questions from reporters about the meaning of Israel's movement of troops and armor north of Beirut into Lebanon's Christian heartland.

Meanwhile, Lebanese press reports said the Israelis and Syrians have reinforced their positions in the eastern where it said no Palestinians live. PLO spokesman Bassam Abu Sharif said at least 250 people were killed or wounded in Verdun and Aish Bakkar alone.

Lebanese police said Israeli jets divebombed areas surrounding the Soviet Embassy compound and ocean-side residential neighborhoods.

Police had no precise figures but reported "dozens upon dozens of casualties." Col. Yehiel Ben-Zvi, chief spokesman for the Israeli command in suburban Baabda reported one Israeli killed Gunships, tanks and artillery joined in the jet strikes, which continued without letup after more than eight hours, and the chief spokesman for the invasion command said all preparations have been completed for a final assault into the PLO enclave if one is ordered.

There were also mounting fears that Israeli and Syrian forces would clash anew to the north and east of the Lebanese capital.

The PLO said the warplanes dropped 2,000-pound bombs on Palestinian camps and divebombed densely populated districts, changes designed to guarantee the financial health of the Bell System companies after they lose Ma Bell's umbrella. For example, Greene said he could not accept the idea of transferring the printed Yellow Pages operation to AT&T. Those advertising directories, with their roughly $2 billion in annual revenues, should remain with the local companies to help hold down local rates, Greene wrote.

The judge also said he saw no reason to prohibit the Bell companies from marketing telephone equipment to consumers.

Another modification is aimed at preventing AT&T from entering a new business that it has been eyeing — electronic publishing.

The judge accepted the arguments of newspaper publishers and cable TV operators that AT&T should not be allowed to develop its own electronic information service, since it also controls transmission facilities that may be needed by competitors.

entered his residence and stolen a television and a stereo, while Michael Espinoza of Country Side Park, reported the theft of a 20-gauge automatic shotgun valued at $400 from his vehicle Tuesday, and Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. reported the theft of some small tools from a truck behind that business.

A man was arrested on the McDonald's Restaurant parking lot at 1:38 a.m. today and charged with being drunk and in control of a motor vehicle, and L.W. Norvell, 203 Elm, reported $15 damage to a window pane in a garage door after someone shot holes in it with a BB gun.

Police issued nine citations Wednesday.

Architect Plans Price Cuts

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Donald Mow, an architect, has a system he claims can cut 25 percent or more from the price of the house his client builds.

Even in this affluent community and others in Westchester County, roughly 15 to 45 miles north of midtown Manhattan, Mow says tremendous savings are possible.

For $75,000, that is, clients can own a house that might have cost their neighbor $100,000. To say it another way, for $75,000 clients can build a house that might have a market value of $100,000 or so.

The house might also be better suited to their tastes and needs than any they might purchase. Better fitted to the lot also. And, since they will have built it, they need never wonder what went into it.

The implications would seem to be huge. As now offered, the system generally requires Mow's periodic assistance, but he has written and is perfecting a manual that should permit use in any other area.

His records show he built his own house for $76,200 a year ago in nearby Briarcliff Manor, one of at least 80 he has put up and more than 100 he has designed. He paid retail prices for materials. The house and lot appear to have a market value of about $180,000.

Nothing unusual about that, says Mow, a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and, at age 48, the recent recipient of a master's degree in business administration from Pace University.

His technique would seem to be an important development in the battle against rising housing costs, which already have priced millions of people out of the market.

But it requires effort on the client's part.

Mow makes his clients the general contractor.

Mow maintains you needn't know how wood is jointed or pipes fitted. "But it is necessary to know the function of various components of a house, and how each subcontractor is fitted into the whole system."

And so, in words and schematic drawings, he takes clients through the financing, blueprints, land search, feasibility analysis, insurance, excavation, framing, finished carpentry, plumbing, heating, electricity, drywall, insulation, exterior walls and landscaping.

Where do clients find subcontractors? For his 5 percent fee, Mow finds them for local clients — and provides architectural-construction plans, inspections and management aid. Clients can also choose a 2 percent plan if they provide their own architectural plans.

The Living Water Gospel Band

Entertainers To Appear In Jubilee

"The Living Water Gospel Band," lead by David Nall of Pampa, will be performing during the YMCA Gospel Jubilee scheduled at 8 p.m. Sunday at Whiteface Stadium. In the event of bad weather, the jubilee will be held at the Hereford High School auditorium.

The event is being held in conjunction with the Town and Country Jubilee, slated Aug. 20-22.

Advance tickets may be purchased for $3 at the YMCA or from several youth groups. Gate tickets will be $4.

Other entertainers scheduled to appear include Mary Crist and Johnny Ray Watson, both of Hereford; Jim Fullingim of Petersburg; and Zelda Ellison of Dimmitt. Each performer will have records on sale at the concession stand. All proceeds for the event will be used for YMCA operating expenses.

"The Living Water Gospel Band" is composed of four members, all residing in Pampa. The group performs strictly religious music for churches and religious-oriented functions.

Most of the music they perform is written by group members. They include Richard Hill, vocal and guitar; Wanetta Hill, vocal and piano; Keith Stowers, vocal and bass; and David Nall, vocal and guitar.

REGISTRATION BEGINS

All senior high school students may begin picking up their schedules in the counselor's office. These schedules should be picked up before Aug. 18.

Pictures will be taken at a later date.

A sophomore orientation has been set for 1 p.m. Aug. 20. All sophomores should attend this meeting and bring their schedules with them.

New Comedy Opens

"Early to Bed," a comedy that brings a wealth of healthy "early-to-rise" laughter to audiences, opens Wednesday, Aug. 18, at Amaillo's Country Squire Dinner Theatre.

Star of the show is Peter Lupus, who for seven seasons played the brawny Will Armitage in the television series "Mission: Impossible." The series is being shown at present in 88 countries around the world.

A body-building enthusiast, Mr. Lupus is a former "Mr. Indiana," "Mr. Hercules" and "Mr. International Health." In 1974 he was honored by Sigma Chi Fraternity as "A Significant Sig." Playgirl Magazine voted him "Man of the Year," and he was also voted Best Built Actor by the World Body Building Guild.

Lupus recently completed taping 130 half-hour TV shows called "Peter Lupus' Body Shop," and is the author of a book, "Peter Lupus' Guide to Radiant Health and Beauty."

"Early to Bed," starring Peter Lupus, will be on stage at Country Squire, 1-40 and Grand in Amarillo, through Sept. 12. Performances are Tuesday through Sunday evening each week, with buffet food service beginning at 6:30 p.m. followed by a musical revue by the Country Rogues. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

The headquarters of Beer Can Collectors of America is located in St. Louis.

Delta Xi Chapter Members To Participate In Area Seminar

Some 200 members of Area XI, Alpha State of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, will participate in a biennial training session workshop to be hosted by Iota Eta chapter, Parmer County, Saturday, Aug. 28, at Friona High School.

Delta XI chapter of Hereford will host a salad supper the evening of Aug. 27 in honor of the state president, Mrs. Ruth Williams.

Registration for the workshop is scheduled at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 28. Lynn Roberts of Farwell, president, will conduct the business session beginning at 9 a.m.

Highlight of the day will be the luncheon, with Mrs.

Williams of Austin, Alpha State president, as keynote speaker. Luncheon reservations must be received prior to registration by Faye Reeve, 1606 West 10th, Friona.

Mrs. Williams, retired school principal, is the author of "Proudly She Serves." A graduate of Texas S&I in Kingsville, she has a master's from the University of Texas and has done work on her Ph.D.

She will be assisted by Area XI Coordinator Peggy Tooker of Aberrathy, Circulation Librarian at Texas Tech University.

Morning training sessions will be conducted to prepare officers and chairmen for their responsibilities during the next two years. Margaret Bell, one of the members of Delta XI chapter, Hereford, will be in charge of the session on achievement awards.

Other group leaders are Mrs. Williams, Austin, presidents; Edyth Jackson, Pampa, programs; Dorothy Roden, Spearman, research; Christine Gitson, Amarillo, professional affairs; Jane Westberry, Canyon, personal growth and services; Hazel Brown, Crosbyton, membership; Joyce Tyer, Hale Center, finance and treasurers; Lucy Fay Smith, Muleshoe, ceremonies; Mary Bavousett, Friona, communications; and Jo Anne Jollet, Amarillo, world fellowship and scholarships.

A second session will be offered by the group Sept. 18 in Childress.

Delta Kappa Gamma Society International is a society that honors key women teachers. Membership is gained by invitation.

One of the purposes of the Society is to endow scholarships. Fifty-two were granted in the past year in the amount of $49,000. Twelve of the 52 were for work toward completion of doctoral studies.

The monies are obtained from 24 different foundations and are available yearly. Fifteen foreign fellowships were granted by Delta Kappa Gamma International.

Another purpose is to inform members of current economic, social, political and educational issues so they may become intelligent functioning members.

Clemson Coach Ford Knows It's Hard To Defend Title

ATLANTA (AP) — Coach Danny Ford of Clemson knows it's difficult to successfully defend college football's national championship. "It took us from the time this program was born until 1961 to win it, but, I can't say it is impossible," said Ford. "Everyone thought it was impossible for us to win it a first time, but we did."

Repeating as national champs has been done only eight times in 46 years, and few expect the Tigers to turn the trick. But the Atlantic Coast Conference will offer a legitimate contender — Coach Dick Crum's North Carolina Tar Heels, featuring one of the nation's top running backs, Kelvin Bryant.

North Carolina and Clemson are solidly entrenched as the top two teams in the ACC, and loom as the league's only threats to crack the Top 20 rankings.

The Southeastern Conference, which claimed three national titles in succession before Clemson rose to the top, may be geared for another Alabama-Georgia title fight, but several others loom as challengers — primarily Florida, and possibly Auburn and Mississippi State.

The battle for supremacy among the South's 10 Division I-A independents should feature Miami of Florida, which faces a tough schedule, and Southern Mississippi, led by Reggie Collier, the only quarterback in NCAA history to gain 1,000 yards both rushing and passing in the same season.

The most decorated individuals in southern football return to build on impressive records — two-time All-America running back Herschel Walker of Georgia and Alabama's Paul "Bear" Bryant, who completed the 1981 season at the top of the all-time list of coaching victories, 315, one more than Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Walker, the 222-pound junior, already holds the NCAA rushing records for a freshman and a sophomore, having amassed 3,507 yards in two seasons. He holds 15 school, eight SEC and six NCAA records. Walker finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting after his freshman season and second last year.

Since going to the wishbone offense, Bryant has steered Alabama to eight SEC titles in the last 11 years, tying Georgia for the title last year. The Crimson Tide will add a new wrinkle to the offense this year, going to the I and double wing to take advantage of quarterback Walter Lewis' passing to wide receivers Jesse Bendross and Joey Jones. The move also is expected to help running back Linnie Patrick.

leave the state only twice.

Most of the other teams in the SEC expect to show some improvement, especially Louisiana State, but don't figure to challenge for an upper first-division berth. Jerry Claiborne is the only new coach in the SEC, taking over at Kentucky.

Despite a knee injury that forced him to miss four games, North Carolina's Bryant scored 18 touchdowns and rushed for 1,015 yards. The Tar Heels also have an excellent quarterback in Rod Elkins, who passed for 994 yards last year, most of that before being slowed by a mid-season ankle injury.

Ford must make wholesale changes in a depleted offensive line, but the Clemson defense should be strong again and Homer Jordan gives stability at quarterback, returning for his third season as a starter.

Bobby Ross replaced Claiborne as the coach at Maryland, which is expected to battle North Carolina State for third in the ACC. Another new coach in the ACC is George Welsh, who left Navy for the struggling program at Virginia.

Miami must replace 13 starters, but Jim Kelly is back to direct the offense after passing for 2,403 yards and 14 touchdowns. Collier triggers Southern Mississippi's offense and nose guard Jerald Baylis and linebacker Greg Kelley head the defense under new coach Jim Carmody, who assumed command in January when Bobby Collins move to Southern Methodist.

Bobby Bowden must find a new quarterback as Florida State rebuilds. South Carolina expects some improvement under new Coach Richard Bell and Virginia Tech, led by tailback Cyrus Lawrence, could fashion an impressive record.

After winning six of its last seven games last year, Tulane looks for carryover momentum. Southwestern Louisiana dropped out of the Division I-AA Southland Conference to remain in the top category as an independent.

Texas Relying On Newcomers

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas, which followed cool and calm seniors to a No. 2 ranking last year, now must rely upon "fiery" newcomers to remain among the nation's major college football powers.

"It's a fiery bunch. I think they can be awfully exciting," says Coach Fred Akers. "I don't think I've had a more enthusiastic, aggressive group in the spring than this one."

Akers said goodbye to 15 senior starters, 12 of whom were drafted by the pros, including top choice Kenneth Sims, a two-time All-America defensive tackle.

Although Akers does not argue with forecasters who pick Arkansas, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M and Houston as probably the top four teams in the Southwest Conference, he said "We might surprise some people."

"We like to think we've got the kind of guys that believe they're better than that any year. We expect to be more competitive than that," he said in a recent interview.

Texas finished second nationally after rallying to nip Alabama, 14-12, in the Cotton Bowl for a 10-1 record.

Akers said four defensive ends — "our strongest position" — and 6-6, 253-pound tackle John Haines are set on defense, but added, "We have question marks at the other places."

Akers acknowledges, however, that outside linebacker Jeff Leiding, who is shifting to the middle, should put Texas "in good shape there." Leiding, a 240-pound junior, was fourth on the team in tackles last year with 107. He also recovered two fumbles and had two pass interceptions even though he often was replaced on third down by a fifth defensive back.

End Kiki DeAyala was fifth with 91 tackles and had 14 quarterback sacks and pressured the passer 47 times, both tops on the team.

The secondary will be new, but should feature good athletes in Mossy Cade, Craig Curry, Jerry Gran and possibly Robert Smothers.

Offensively, senior quarterback Robert Brewer, a former walk-on who was the star of the Cotton Bowl, will operate behind a line that lost four 4-year lettermen, including All-America tackle Terry Tausch.

Akers said guard Doug Dawson and tackle Bryan Millard will start, but the other positions are unsettled.

The key to the offense could be the health of tailback John Walker, 6-1 and 200, who was Texas' third-leading rusher as a sophomore with 714 yards and a 4.6-yard average.

Walker injured his right knee in spring training, and Akers said, "I feel pretty good about it. But it will be close as to whether he will be ready or not."

Walker's absence would take away Texas' backfield speed and would probably force the Longhorns to pass more. There seems to be no shortage of receivers. Akers named six who looked good in the spring.

"We certainly can't afford any injuries, and I don't know of anyone that can, really," Akers said.

He also said placekicker Raul Allegre, another former walk-on who booted 15 field goals and 25 of 26 extra points last year, "will be, and deservedly so, among the top kickers in the country."

"I know that it sounds a little crazy to abandon something that has been as good to us as the wishbone has, but that's not really the case," Bryant said. "What we're doing is adding the I, not abandoning the wishbone."

At Georgia, Walker will be operating behind a veteran line, but the question for the Bulldogs is how gifted but inexperienced quarterback John Lastering performs.

Florida, which has never won the SEC title, returns 20 starters from last year's team, including quarterback Wayne Peace working behind an intact starting line.

Mississippi State, an awesome defensive machine last year, will have to rely more on its offense after losing All-America linebacker Johnie Cooks and All-SEC tackle Glen Collins. Junior John Bond will start at quarterback for the third year, and split end Glen Young and tailback Michael Haddix give the Bulldogs two solid threats.

Coach Pat Dye begins his second season at Auburn, expecting another strong defensive team and facing a schedule in which the Tigers

Oilers Kick Off Exhibition Games

By The Associated Press
The National Football League's first full weekend of exhibition play kicks starts tonight with the New Orleans Saints meeting the Oilers in Houston and with the Raiders looking to finally settle down in Los Angeles.

Second-year Saints coach Bum Phillips — who became a folk hero in Houston during his years as the Oilers' head man — will try to continue the youth movement he started last year, when 15 rookies made the Saints' final 45-man roster.

Phillips said, "We've got good battles going on at several positions and it's important to give these kids an opportunity to show what they can do in game conditions."

Oiler coach Ed Biles, whose club finished at 7-9 last season, will start Gifford Nielsen at quarterback, but also will want to look at second-round draft choice Oliver Luck of West Virginia.

"We need to find out how far along we are with our offense and defense, too," said Biles. "I think you'll see a change in our offense this year."

There will be two games Friday night — Cincinnati will be at Kansas City, while St. Louis visits Seattle. There are 10 more games on Saturday, and a Chicago-at-San Diego matchup Monday night rounds out the schedule.

On Saturday, the Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers will host the Raiders, who finally seem able to replace "Oakland" with "Los Angeles" in front of their nickname.

"The game contract we signed is with the Los Angeles Raiders. The tickets just say 'Raiders,' but the media credentials say Oakland Raiders. The flip cards (rosters) in the press box will say Los Angeles Raiders," said 49ers spokesman George Heddeleston.

Heddeleston's lament came one day after the Raiders got an apparent green light to move to Los Angeles, as the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday rejected the league's request to delay the club's move from Oakland to Los Angeles.

It was a decision that didn't sit too well with the NFL.

"As of now, we're referring to them as the Raiders," said NFL Public Relations Director Jim Heffernan, who stressed that the league still plans to pursue the matter in the courts.

But the Raiders' cause got another lift Wednesday when legislation that would prevent the city of Oakland from using the power of eminent domain to take over the team was approved by a Senate committee.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, would reverse a recent state Supreme Court ruling and forbid the use of eminent domain to acquire a sports franchise.

ment manager for the Chargers.

"I told him to write us in January and we'd put his application on file," said Brooks.

Come spring, Weaver landed his first big job, immediately becoming a celebrity at his school.

Deaf since birth, football became his passion at an early age.

A starting running back for the deaf school's varsity football team, one of his favorite athletes is Detroit running back Billy Sims.

His favorites on the Chargers are Fouts, the NFL's record-breaking passing king, and All-Pro tight end Kellen Winslow, one of the most popular players in camp.

Unable to speak, Matt gets his work instructions by sign language from Brooks, who learned to sign after hiring the stocky blond teen-ager.

Deaf Boy Lands Job With Chargers

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Matt Weaver, starry-eyed, silent and deaf, has a summer job that most 16-year-old boys only dream about.

He shags footballs for Dan Fouts, jokes with Goliath-sized National Football League linemen and applies lightning bolt decals on the San Diego Chargers' helmets.

One of 10 camp boys hired for the Chargers' six-week training camp, his hours are long, the work steady and the pay unimportant.

For Matt, a 5-foot-5, 160-pound junior-to-be at the California School for Deaf at Riverside, this is heaven on turf.

"I'm glad when I come here," he wrote in a handwritten question and-answer interview conducted Wednesday.

He landed the job after visiting the San Diego camp a year ago and demonstrated a willingness to work.

"He saw the other kids working and started helping them with their chores," said Sid Brooks, longtime equiping the other day," said Brooks.

"He was in a shell when he first got here. But his uncle, Larry Weaver (the Chargers' offensive coordinator) says he's really opened up a lot," added Brooks.

During the interview, Matt was asked to identify his proudest achievement in life.

Without any hesitation, he furiously scribbled an unexpected answer.

"I know the news in the world and all the country," he wrote, then leaned back in his chair and flashed a proud smile.

"If you put a paper down, he'll read it inside out, especially the sports page," said Brooks.

Sensitive, but resilient, Matt has mastered his moods.

"He shows his feelings in his eyes," said Brooks.

As the interview came to an end, Weaver motioned for the pen and penned a request.

"Deaf people want captions on TV football games," he wrote.

It's Getting-Even Time For Reggie Smith

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

It's getting-even time for Reggie Smith. "The Giants will not be intimidated by anyone," said the San Francisco outfielder on the eve of an important four-game series with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Smith, of course, was a member of the Dodgers for many years and remembers that the Giants used to be virtual pushovers for them.

"When I first came here, it was a matter of the Dodgers knowing they could beat the Giants," Smith said. "But there's been an attitude change."

A big part of that has been helped by the Giants' recent play, which is the hottest in baseball. The Giants have posted the major league's best record since June 27, 28-13.

Counting Wednesday's 8-6,

12-inning victory over Atlanta, the Giants have won 10 straight and moved right into the thick of the National League West battle.

The surge has left the fourth-place Giants four games behind division-leading Los Angeles and they hope to make up more ground as they started their big series today with the Dodgers, who lost 2-1 to Cincinnati Wednesday night. The Braves, meanwhile, remained a half-game behind the Dodgers in second place.

The Giants' victory, by the way, gave them their longest winning streak since they reeled off 12 in a row April 30-May 13, 1966.

Smith, one of the hottest hitters in the Giants' hot streak, came through with a two-run homer in the 12th inning to win Wednesday's game. Smith's game-winning blast was his 12th homer of the year, and his eighth game-winning RBI. He has hit safely in 13 of his last 14 games with five homers and 11 RBI over that span.

The loss was the ninth straight for the Braves, who had dropped out of first place Tuesday night after spending virtually all season on top.

In other NL action, it was Philadelphia 4, Pittsburgh 1; Montreal 3, Chicago 0 and Houston 3, San Diego 0. Rain washed out the St. Louis-New York game.

Reds 2, Dodgers 1

Cesar Cedeno doubled home two runs in the first inning and Bob Shirley and Brad Lesley made them stand up with a combined seven-hitter as Cincinnati edged Los Angeles to snap the Dodgers' eight-game winning streak.

Shirley, 4-9, worked into the eighth inning, scattering six hits, one of which was Ron Cey's 16th home run with one out in the second, while walking three and striking out two.

Shirley also benefited from the Reds' defense that cut down two Dodgers at the plate. Lesley pitched the final 11-3 innings for his second save.

Phillies 4, Pirates 1

Garry Maddox drove in three runs with a pair of singles to lead Philadelphia over Pittsburgh for the Phillies' third victory in their four-game series with the Pirates.

The Phillies scored the winning runs in a three-run eighth inning. Bo Diaz's groundout got one run home before Maddox capped the rally with a two-run single off Kent Tekulve, who relieved Pirate starter Rick Rhoden.

Sid Monge pitched the eighth inning and picked up his fifth victory without a loss. Ron Reed finished up for the Phillies, gaining his seventh save.

Expos 3, Cubs 0

Gary Carter hit a solo home run and Charlie Lea and two relievers combined on a four-hitter as Montreal stopped Chicago's six-game winning streak.

Lea, 9-6, allowed only three hits before getting relief help one out in the eighth from Woodie Fryman. Jeff Reardon bailed Fryman out of a jam in the ninth, posting his 17th save. Lea walked three and struck out six while improving his lifetime record against Chicago to 4-0.

The Expos scored their first run in the second off Chicago starter Alan Ripley, 4-5, on Carter's 22nd homer of the season and first since July 27.

Montreal made it 2-0 in the fourth on Doug Flynn's RBI single and added another run in the eighth on a run-scoring base hit by Al Oliver.

Astros 3, Padres 0 Nolan Ryan fired the eighth one-hitter of his career and singled in a run, and Dickie Thon extended his hitting streak to 20 games as Houston blanked San Diego to complete a three-game sweep.

Ryan retired the first 13 Padres before Terry Kennedy grounded a clean single to center with one out in the fifth inning. The Padres managed only five other baserunners, three of them on walks.

Ryan, 12-9, struck out six in boosting his season total to 172. The victory total is his highest in three seasons as an Astro and the shutout was the 49th of his career.

Eric Show, 9-4, allowed all three Astro runs on eight hits over six innings, including Thon's leadoff double that led to the Astros' first run in the opening inning. Ryan aided his own cause with an RBI single in the second.

Angels Love The Batter's Box

By BOB GREENE AP Sports Writer

When a key hit is needed, the California Angels almost fall over themselves to get into the batter's box.

It was two outs, bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh when Don Baylor got his turn.

"If you take that situation," said Baylor, "Reggie Jackson would love to be up there. Everyone in our lineup who can drive the ball would love to be up there."

"I love to be up there, too. You do it or you don't. Plus, Davis doesn't trick you," Baylor said of the predominantly fastball-pitching Ron Davis, the Minnesota Twins' right-handed reliever.

Baylor got his fastball on a 3-2 pitch and drove it into the left field stands for his sixth career grand slam and 18th homer of the year, powering the Angels to a 6-3 victory Wednesday night over the Twins.

In other AL games, Texas defeated Milwaukee 6-3, Toronto edged Boston 4-3, Detroit outlasted New York 3-2 in 12 innings, Chicago stopped Baltimore 4-1, Kansas City blanked Cleveland 8-0 and Seattle toppled Oakland 7-4. Mariners 7, A's 4

Left-hander Floyd Banister scattered five hits to lead Seattle past Oakland. Bannister, 11-7, raised his American League-leading strikeout total to 141 by fanning six and walking four before Bill Caudill came on in the ninth to get his 20th save.

Oakland's Rickey Henderson, who walked in the fifth inning, swiped second and third to bring his stolen base total to 107, 11 shy of Lou Brock's record of 118.

Blue Jays 4, Red Sox 3 Reliever Mark Clear walked pinch-hitter Hosken Powell with the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh inning to force in the winning run as Toronto edged Boston. The Red Sox had taken a 3-2 lead in the top of the seventh the same way — on a bases-loaded walk.

It was the Blue Jays' sixth straight victory, tying a club record.

Rangers 6, Brewers 3 Buddy Bell singled home what proved to be the winning run in Texas' victory over Milwaukee as the Rangers erupted for four runs in the seventh inning.

The loss was only the third by the Brewers in their last 10 games.

Tigers 3, Yankees 2

Jerry Turner's sacrifice fly to left field scored Lou Whitaker from third base in the 12th inning and gave Detroit its victory over New York.

Whitaker got a second chance when Yankee shortstop Roy Smalley dropped his foul pop for an error. He then singled to center off reliever George Frazier, 4-3, the fourth Yankee pitcher, and, after the bases were loaded, Turner lofted a fly to left field and Dave Winfield's throw to the plate was too late to nail the sliding Whitaker.

Oscar Gamble's 14th homer tied the game 2-2 for the Yankees in the ninth.

Oilers, Saints Meet In 'Dome'

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oiler quarterback Gifford Nielsen hopes to begin proving tonight that he can make it through a season with consistency and without injury.

New Orleans Saints veteran quarterback Archie Manning will just be trying to hold onto his job when the two teams meet in the Astrodome in the opening National Football League exhibition game for both teams.

"I suppose everyone has to have a rap and I guess that one is mine," said Nielsen, who has had a history of injuries since joining the Oilers. "I don't think I'm injury-prone. I just worry about what I'm supposed to be doing on the field."

Nielsen, starting his fifth pro season, went to camp a year ago as the starter, but suffered a shoulder separation during preseason and did not return until late in the season to complete 60 of 93 passes for 709 yards and five touchdowns.

Manning, a 12-year veteran, is getting a strong challenge from second-year quarterback David Wilson, who started several games last season.

"What I want to do Thursday is get both quarterbacks in the game with the same kind of supporting cast," Saints Coach Bum Phillips said. "I still don't know how I'll play the quarterbacks. I may wind up playing them by series, not quarters."

Coach Ed Biles said Nielsen's playing time in the opener would depend on how well he plays.

"We'll probably do it in reverse. The better Gifford plays, the less time he'll be on the field," Biles said. "We want to see what (Oliver) Luck can do too."

Luck, the leading candidate for the backup quarterback's job, is a second-round draft choice from West Virginia.

Houston's Earl Campbell and New Orleans' George Rogers, the two primary running threats, aren't expected to play extensively.

Rogers won the NFL rushing title last year, ending Campbell's three-year hold on the honor.

The Oilers are trying to expand their offensive scheme to include more passing and more variety in the running attack.

"We need to find out how far along we are with our offense and defense too," Biles said. "I think you'll see a change in our offense this year. We never really got it off the ground last year."

The Oilers ranked 27th among 28 NFL teams last season in total offense.

Saints wide receivers Guido Merkens and Jeff Groth will get challenges from No. 1 draft choice Lindsay Scott of Georgia and No. 3 pick Ken Duckett of Wake Forest.

"I do think we'll be throwing the ball more than usual, because we have plenty of receivers and I want to get a look at as many as I can," Phillips said.

Kickoff is set for 7 p.m. CDT.

WITCHY-WASHY — CBS programming execs have had second thoughts after getting a lukewarm reaction from its affiliated stations to the pilot episode of the new series "The Good Witch of Laurel Canyon." Producers Len Hill and Phil Mandelker made several changes in the cast. Kim Catrall and Art Hindle, who starred in the pilot are out. Tim Matheson ("Animal House") has been inked to take over the male lead, while a replacement for Miss Catrall should be named soon.

CBS has also taken out an extra insurance policy on its fall slate by ordering extra scripts from Universal TV for a pilot that didn't make the schedule... Put into pre-production is "Now We're Cooking," a sitcom starring Cleavon Little... NBC has also ordered a backup series from Universal starring Martin Mull.

"I've always wanted to teach and I'm really excited at the prospect of beginning a teaching career here in Hereford," states Jan Petree.

Jan just received her bachelor of science degree from West Texas State University and will participate in graduation ceremonies Saturday. She will begin teaching fourth through sixth grade physical education at Shirley Elementary School this fall.

"I attended WT before Lenney and I were married and continued my education until the birth of my daughters. It's difficult starting back to college when you have a family," says Jan.

"I had to leave Friona by 7 a.m. each morning and wouldn't get home until around 5 p.m. Besides finding time for my studies, I had to keep my household running smoothly."

The couple lived in Hereford for two years following their marriage and Lenney was rearer here; Jan says she wants to become actively involved in the community and become acquainted with more people.

"We haven't lived in Hereford for nine years and when we were residing here, I was very busy with the care of twin daughters," explains Jan. "Now that our youngest child Brandon is older and will be attending school, I have more time to pursue a career and meet people."

The family moved to their home on Elm July 3. Jan, who believes in organization, immediately began remodeling their home. Her natural flair for decorating is depicted throughout the house.

Rooms are painted with coordinating colors to match the wallpaper and her combination of modern and antique furniture and accessories blends well.

"I love to go antique hunting. I've purchased many of my antiques at Clovis, Lubbock and the area around Abilene. If I hear of an auction, I go and look," says Jan.

All of the antique furniture she has acquired is made of oak. She has an ice box and wardrobe closed in the dining room of her home and a kitchen cupboard is located in a kitchen nook.

Other items she has bought on her hunting jaunts include an oak pew, an old weighing scale and bed.

A variety of hobbies interest this vivacious homemaker. They include making all sorts of art and craft items, cooking, baking, fishing and just enjoying her family.

"Lenney likes to go arrowhead hunting and we all enjoy going with him. We also love to water and snow ski," continues Jan.

While living in Friona, Jan, following the tradition of her mother and grandmother, was a Girl Scout leader. "My mother was a leader and my grandmother has been actively involved with the organization for over 50 years," explains Jan.

"Every summer, the three of us would schedule a Girl Scout camp from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. for three days at the Spohn Ranch located by my grandparents' home."

"Both my daughters were Girl Scout members and we really had a lot of fun. We planned cookouts, picnics, nature hikes, worked on various arts and craft projects and held sing-songs."

"I come from a very close knit family and being involved with my family and its heritage is very important to me," says Jan. "Approximately every two years, we schedule a large family reunion in Albuquerque, N.M. This is held with my mother's parents family."

"Then once or twice a year the Welch side of the family gets together for a week or so at the family's cabin in Cowles, N.M. It's just a very relaxing time spent visiting, eating, jeep riding, hiking and exploring," continues Jan.

Jan served as president of the Young Homemakers of Texas organization while living in Friona and she and her husband coached a Little Dribblers team for two years. They were members of Sixth Street Church of Christ.

The couple have three children: 10-year-old twin daughters, Mende and Melanie, who will be attending West Central Elementary School; and six-year-old Brandon, who will be a student at Northwest.

Jan graduated from Friona High School in 1968 and her husband, who operates a farm and sells oil and gas investments, graduated from Hereford High School that same year. Lenney attended Sisco Junior College and WT.

Jan, who loves to cook, submitted three of her favorite recipes. "Mostly I like to prepare meals that are fast but if time allows, I do enjoy taking extra time for a meal," states Jan.

THREE DAY BAKED BRISKET

(Obtained from a Friend)
1 4-6 lb. brisket
3 T. liquid smoke (1/2 bottle)
1 tsp. onion salt
1 1/2 T. brown sugar
1 tsp. garlic salt
1 1/2 T. brown sugar
1/2 cup catsup
1/4 cup water
1 tsp. celery seed
3 T. butter
2 T. Worcestershire sauce
1 1/2 tsp. dry mustard
dash of pepper

Baste unbaked brisket well with liquid smoke and 1 tsp. salt. Wrap in foil and refrigerate overnight.

Before baking, cover brisket with garlic and onion salt. Rewrap in foil and bake at 300 degrees for five hours.

Once again place in refrigerator and chill overnight. Combine remaining ingredients and cook until well blended; cool.

One hour prior to serving, slice brisket; cover with sauce, wrap in foil and place in 325 degree oven until heated. Serves 8-10 people. (Jan usually doubles the sauce recipe)

POTATO CASSEROLE

8 med. potatoes
1 bay leaf
4 tbsp. butter
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 1/2 cups sour cream
1/4 tsp. salt
3 green onions, chopped
2 cups grated cheddar cheese

Put unpeeled potatoes in boiling water with bay leaf and boil until barely tender. Cool. Peel and coarsely grate.

Stir melted butter into soup. Add sour cream and stir until smooth. Stir in green onions, 1 1/2 cups grated cheese and salt. Pour over potatoes and mix gently.

Spoon into buttered 2 1/2 quart casserole or pan. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Sprinkle top with remaining cheese and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer. Serves 10-12.

SOUR CREAM ENCHILADAS

1 pkg. flour tortillas
2 cans of cream of chicken soup
1 carton sour cream (8 oz)
1 small can chopped green chilies
1 med onion (chopped)
cheddar and Monterey cheese

Grate cheddar cheese and add chopped onion. Roll cheese and onion mixture in flour tortillas. Lay side by side in a 9x13" pan.

Mix soup, sour cream and green chilies in bowl until smooth and pour over top of tortillas. Top with cheese and bake in 350 degree until bubbly.

Note: Do not overcook or tortillas will become hard

Local Families Attend Reunion In Amarillo

One hundred fifty relatives and guests attended the 14th annual Urbanczyk reunion in Thompson Park in Amarillo on Sunday. It is held each year on the second Sunday in August.

Guests came from White Deer, Pampa, Panhandle, Groom, Amarillo, Hereford, Wildorado, Vega, Littlefield, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, and Oklahoma City.

First member of the family in America was Anton Urbanczyk, who came with his parents and 100 other families in 1854. After a 9-week voyage, they reached Galveston on Dec. 3 and a few days later those physically able went by boat to Indianola farther down the Texas coast, and walked 200 miles along the Ox Cart Road toward San Antonio. Many died on the way from exposure and rattlesnake bites.

They were met by Father Leopold Moczygemba, who led them to a spot he had selected 50 miles southeast of San Antonio. It was Christmas Eve and all gathered under an oak tree for a mass of Thanksgiving. The new settlement was named Panna Maria.

Because their language, customs and culture were strange to the other people living in the area, they were not completely accepted. Only Father Leopold could speak the English language and he stayed only a short time with the immigrants.

Early in the 20th century, Anton moved his family to Rhineland, Texas. Three sons moved to White Deer: John in 1910, and Ben and Felix, in 1911. Felix moved his family to Hereford in 1937.

Hereford residents attending were Irene and Ed Dziuk; Edna and Arhart Reinart; Rosalie and A.C. Stengel; Leona and Sam Mazurek and their children, Lesa, Sammee, Tori and Mandy; Tony and Loretta Urbanczyk and their children, Chris, Greg, and Lori Ann; Aurelia Urbanczyk; Al Dziuk; Mrs. Ella Dupnik; and Chad Straffuss.

Before you were married, you thought she had everything. After the divorce you find she's added most of your stuff to it, as well.

We always get someone ahead of us with a three-indication turn signal: Left, right, and cross fingers.

Here's A Unique Opportunity

MONTGOMERY WARD

WILL BE CONVERTING THE PRESENT COMPANY OWNED OPERATION TO A LOCALLY OWNED AND OPERATED BUSINESS IN HEREFORD, TEXAS

We're looking for Sales Agents with an urge to break out on their own. And, we may have just what you're looking for in our established business.

Our unique Sales Agency Store program offers an exciting opportunity to operate a business of your own with a moderate investment, and also gives you the opportunity to take advantage of the investment we've already made, as well as over a century of Catalog business experience. Once you become a Sales Agent, you can use Wards name, catalogs and credit. Sell our branded merchandise with over 100,000 items, and have access to the same systems, concepts and materials we use to operate our company-owned stores. Best of all, your investment will probably be considerably less than would be required for a regular retail business with similar sales volume.

If you are willing to accept responsibility in return for a future in your own business, we'd like to talk about your personal qualifications, and give you more details about our plan. Write or phone today:

Ann Landers Disgusted With Cats

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is a very delicate subject, but I must have your opinion. Make as many changes in my letter as you need to, but please print it.

Yesterday I went to play cards at the home of a longtime friend. I left my fur-trimmed jacket on the bed, along with some packages. The hostess has four or five cats that roam all over the place. I have always hated cats and make no bones about it. Every time I go over there I pray the cats will be locked in a room away from the guests, but they never are.

When the card game was over, I went to get my jacket and was horrified to discover that a cat had urinated all over it. The hostess saw what had happened, and all she said was, "I wonder which one of those naughty rascals did that?" She then added, "I am sorry."

The jacket was nearly new, and I know I'll never wear it again. Should I send her the bill for a new one? - Mad And Disgusted

DEAR MAD: If the woman had any class, she would have offered to buy you a new jacket on the spot. Send her a bill if you are so inclined, but don't be surprised if she doesn't pay it. (P.S. Legally, people are responsible for the damage done by their minor children and pets, but I hope you won't go that far.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is it that whenever a man or woman lets it be known that he or she does not choose to have children, it is immediately assumed they are abnormal or that they hate kids?

I am a single woman of 27. At age 13 I decided I didn't want ever to be a mother. Of course, no one took me seriously. My mother and my aunts said, "Oh, you'll change your mind." My girlfriends thought I was strange.

At 21 I started to have sex and went on the Pill. Three years later I began to look for a doctor who would perform a tubal ligation. No doctor would do it. They all insisted I didn't know my own mind. I finally found a kindly, understanding doctor who performed the surgery without hesitation.

When the neighbor's kids come over I enjoy them for awhile and am glad when they leave. Is this awful? Must I apologize? Am I mean? Am I selfish?

Please print my letter along with a plea for acceptance of "peculiar" people like me who would - Rather Have Cats

DEAR RATHER: You are entitled to live your life as you choose. It's different strokes for different folks. Get off the defensive. You don't belong there.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Not a serious problem, but it's different. At a new restaurant in our town, which is obviously hoping to cater to the elite, we found "potatoe" on the menu. My friend informed the waiter that "potato" had been misspelled. The waiter bowed from the waist and informed her smoothly that the word was spelled correctly and that she was mistaken. Can he be right? And by what authority? - Retired English Teacher In Bellingham, Wash.

DEAR TEACHER: Now and then a potato may have an eye but not an "ee." Forgive me. I couldn't resist it.

Good Timers Host Area Clubs

Area square dancers enjoyed dancing to well-known caller Vern Weese, of Houston, Monday night at the Community Center. He called tips for approximately eight squares, playing and singing a number of his own arrangements, as well as arrangements of other callers.

Weese was in Hereford enroute to Red River, N.M., where he and his family are spending the week. Weese is calling tips for square dancing festivities there.

Several square dance clubs were represented in addition to the Good Timers, who sponsored the dance. These included the Merry Mixers and Country Singles from Hereford; Saints and Spinners, Tangle S's, Curlie Q's, Circle S's, and Levis and Lace from Amarillo; Denim 'n' Diamonds from Canyon; and the Dimmitt Promenaders.

Door prizes and a $25 grand prize were awarded during the evening of dancing.

The Good Timers will be dancing Friday, Aug. 20, in the fellowship hall of the United Methodist Church. James Pettus of Portales will be the caller.

Rettman, Curtsinger To Attend School

Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 met in regular session Tuesday evening at Odd Fellow Hall. It was announced that Karroll Rettman and Susie Curtsinger plan to attend State Secretaries and Scribes School Saturday and Sunday in Midland.

Rebekahs were invited to a covered dish supper and game night by Hereford Canton and L.A.P.M. No. 36 at their next meeting night Sept. 3.

Noble Grand Sadie Shaw presided as reports were made on sick members and friends. Thirteen visits and 21 cheer cards were reported. Lydia Hopson served as hostess to Kee Ruland, Beth Hall, Nellie Beauford, Edna Mathes, Laveta Fitzgerald, Ruth Rogers, Verna Sowell, Irene Merritt, Mary Belle Manning, Fred Ruland, David Rettman, Faye Brownlow, Bessie Saulty, Dorothy Lundry, Ursalee Jacobsen, and Mmes. Shaw, Curtsinger, and Rettman.

THOUGHTS

In the Bible a "field" means an uncultivated ground of any size. The "lilies of the field" to which Jesus refers might be growing anywhere.

"Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: And yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." - Matt. 6:28-29

The expression "the king's friend" appears among the names of Solomon's officers. He was probably the king's confidential adviser.

"And Azariah the son of Nathan was over the officers; and Zabud the son of Nathan was principal officer, and the king's friend." - I Kings 4:5

Paul did not depend on his converts to support him. He earned his own living. He was a tentmaker.

"Neither did we ask any man's bread for naught; but wrought with labour and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you: Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an example unto you to follow us." - II Thess. 3:8-9
