A General Accounting Office report reveals that Texas Rural Legal Aid has kept more than $500,000 in unspent federal funds in a "mirror" corporation it created, it was announced Tuesday by U.S. Rep. Larry Combest of Lubbock. "The GAO report I'm releasing today further demonstrates that substantive corrective measures are necessary to thwart activities by TRLA," Combest told The Brand Tuesday.

"This report reveals yet another example of the Legal Service Corporation's inability to properly control the activities of its subsidiaries, such as TRLA. The people deserve to have tax dollars used responsibly and efficiently and the misuses of taxpayer dollars by LSC is intolerable," the congressman added. The investigation by GAO was separate from other TRLA investigations. Combest said he had just received the initial draft of the LSC investigation and that "continuing complaints throughout Texas into TRLA activities have resulted in an ongoing investigation." The GAO investigation was prompted by a joint request from Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) and Sen. Jeremiah

Denton (R-Ala.), who were interested in "alternative corporations" formed by LSC grant recipients in Texas, Connecticut and Maine, according to an Associated Press report. Combest said Tuesday that "TRLA's counter-productive actions must stop and this critical situation must be resolved." Hereford TRLA attorney Randall Marshall said he was not familiar with the report, which was released in Washington, and could not comment.

Legal Services Corporation is a quasi-governmental agency funneling federal funds to independent local agencies that provide free legal services to the poor.

Texas Rural Legal Aid's practices were criticized in a Legal Service Corporation report earlier this year and another report is due soon, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported.

The accounting office report concluded that there was nothing wrong with the establishment of the alternative corporations, but "in Texas the establishment of the alternative corporation enabled the grant reci-ipient to retain unspent grant funds in excess of levels permitted under LSC's policy."

In December 1981, rural aid formed the Texas Rural Legal Foundation Inc. and transferred more than $700,000 to it.

Rural aid's intention was to "insure the fund balance remained in Texas and would not be subject to recapture by LSC or result in future reductions in LSC funds provided to TRLA," the Avalanche-Journal quoted the report as saying.

TRLA attorneys were also concerned that Congress might try to eliminate LSC and the funds transferred to the foundation would allow TRLA to complete its casework.

Media pro hiring pleases school patrons

By JERI CURTIS
Managing Editor

If the job description fills three typewritten pages, how can one person do that job at two schools?

And why would Aikman and Northwest Elementaries have to share a media specialist while four other elementary schools have their own?

If the school board's concern is really the children, why isn't the priority on educational personnel instead of buildings?

Couldn't essential elements be better reinforced if each school had intensive media resources for the children?

Those are a few of the questions, initiated by Kathy Moore during a public comment period, which prompted the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees Tuesday night to approve the hiring of another media specialist. The vote, with Marilyn Culpepper the only nay, brought long applause from the teachers and parents attending the meeting.

Bud Patterson made the motion with John Fuston seconding. Patterson noted that the district had received over $31,000 in bank stock taxes which was not expected and suggested that the money be used for the specialist.

Dr. Harrell Holder, superintendent, said he was aware that another media specialist would be beneficial and was not against hiring another, but using figures on what is financially ahead due to state mandate cautioned the board to look hard at adding personnel which would be a permanent expense. The previous plan was to have one media specialist and one aide run the two media centers.

Holder reported that the new media center at Bluebonnet was functional and that Northwest Elementary was completed and on its way to becoming functional. Holder had authorized those two schools to hire clerical assistance for setting up the media centers. Four to six more weeks of construction are needed at Aikman.

Another personnel request — for counselors at the elementary level — was made by Susan Robbins. She told the board that she knew of a number of children who needed counseling but were being put off because the two elementary counselors were busy testing.

Marc Williamson, assistant superintendent for instruction, said the district is attempting to hire another counselor and that testing will slack off sometime next week. (See SCHOOL, Page 2)

Local cattle breeder to market 'lite' beef products

American consumers are familiar with lite beer, diet colas and other low-cal foods, but Chianina Lite Beef, Inc., of Hereford has now kicked off a campaign to market cuts of beef that contain less fat and fewer calories than beef currently available in most restaurants and supermarkets.

J.W. McMorris Sr. of Hereford, president of the company, held a press conference in Albuquerque, N.M., last week to launch the campaign. McMorris is also president of one of the leading tax appraisal firms in the state.

A study by Texas Tech University showed, at the carcass level of production, the Chianina crossbred has 25 percent less total fat content and as much as 36 percent fewer calories than other, typical beef cattle breeds. The Texas Tech findings were accepted in August by the Standards and Labeling division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture for certification of the low fat beef carcass as "lite"—meaning it contains at least 25 percent less fat or calories than typical beef carcasses.

Dr. Gordon W. Davis of Tech, the principal investigator in the research study, said the results could herald important changes for the beef industry and could lead Americans to reconsider beef as a basic component in their diets. The study was performed during a 12-month period from September 1984 to August 1985.

The study included a group of 70 animals—34 fullblood Chianina cattle, nine crossbred Chianina and 27 British (Hereford-Angus) crossbreds. The cattle were fed at the XIT Feedyard in Dalhart and slaughtered at the Excel Co. plant in Plainview. The sides of beef were then purchased by Texas Tech from the packing plant and shipped to the university for testing. The study was funded by a grant from a group of 31 Chianina cattle breeders from throughout the United States.

"In our research, we found that in comparing typical beef, such as the British crossbreds, with the Chianina lite beef, there was approximately 40 percent less intramuscular fat in the consumer size Chianina cuts. In a typical piece of beef, the intramuscular fat represents about 5 percent of the total weight. But in the Chianina, it's only about 3 percent of the total," Dr. Davis reported.

Growers win Senate victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Growers of perishable crops have won a major lobbying victory, convincing the Senate that 350,000 temporary foreign farmhands should be admitted to the country under an immigration control bill.

The Senate's 51-44 vote in favor of the growers' amendment Tuesday reversed a defeat of last week, and nearly cleared the path for a final vote today.

The growers had to overcome a formidable alliance of the AFL-CIO and Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., sponsor of the immigration bill.

"I think we have grappled with the tough issues," Simpson said in pronouncing the Senate nearly ready to vote on the amended bill. But the timing was threatened by a proposal of Sen. John Heinz, R-Pa., to attach an unrelated Social Security amendment to the measure.

The overall bill would try to slow illegal immigration by providing $16.7 million over two years to improve border enforcement, and impose severe fines against employers knowingly hiring undocumented workers.

Within three years of enactment, the bill also would grant amnesty to thousands of illegal immigrants who arrived in the United States before Jan. 1, 1980. States would be reimbursed up to $3 billion over six years for the cost of providing social services after legalization.

Only last week, the Senate had voted 50-48 to table — in effect kill — a seasonal farmworkers provision that lacked a limitation on the number of foreigners who could be

Garcia trial begins

Jury selection concluded Tuesday and the trial for Ben Garcia Jr. began this morning in 222nd District Court for the shooting death last May of Henry Garcia.

Today's first witness was Sgt. Sammy Sanchez of the Hereford Police Department. Sanchez was the first patrolman to arrive at the scene of Garcia's death at around 2 a.m. on May 9.

Subject arrested for burglary

City police arrested one man on five different charges of burglary Tuesday.

The subject admitted to stealing nine tires, two jacks, carpenter supplies, booster cables, a tool cabinet, two tool boxes, assorted tools, a set of bolt cutters, and a flash light. He is being held pending other charges, also.

Police also were called to the 800 block of South Texas to investigate possible gun shots.

Valley View manure plant delayed year by utilities

AUSTIN (AP) — A project designed to generate electricity for Austin by burning cattle manure in the Texas Panhandle has been delayed about a year, officials say.

The delay has occurred because the Valley View Energy Corp., which is building the $160 million project, has had difficulty in getting agreements with utility companies to transmit the power from the Panhandle to Austin, officials said.

Valley View, based in Dallas, hopes to have the agreements signed by November, with construction of the first unit to begin early next year, said Don Lieb, company president.

"We have made a lot of progress in the past two months on the ... agreements. The schedule is still ambitious, but we hope there will be no further delays," Lieb told the Austin American-Statesman.

The contract between Valley View and Austin calls for the city to be paid a penalty of $1,000 a day beginning Oct. 1, 1986, for each day each plant is late.

Initial plans called for construction to begin last March on the first of two generating units fueled by manure. Although the company has arranged financing, it cannot spend the money until the power agreements are signed, Lieb said.

Both units are to be built near cattle feedlots in the Panhandle. Each is to have a generating capacity of 50,000 kilowatts of electricity. The first unit, to be built near Hereford,

Acid spill affects 10 river miles

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Texas Water Commission officials say they hope fall rains will flush out the Medina River and help return it to normal after a train derailment spewed 50,000 gallons of sulfuric acid into the waters.

Fish and plant life for at least six miles were killed and about a 10-mile stretch of the river was directly affected by the spill late Saturday, officials said.

Six monitoring stations were set up at different locations on the river to check the waters, which were neutralized with tons of lime, said Henry Karnei of the TWC.

Texas Department of Health officials warned against irrigation and cattle watering downstream for at least three weeks.

The agency also dispatched two men to monitor area wells, which so far have shown no evidence of contamination, Karnei said.

The derailment of the Southern Pacific train late Saturday sent 21 tankers loaded with the highly corrosive acid onto the banks of the river below.

At least 300 residents in a 1-mile radius were evacuated until early Monday.

Amendment might cut violence

AUSTIN (AP) — Voters on Nov. 5 will decide on a constitutional amendment that a state senator says could help curb the gang violence now plaguing Texas prisons.

The amendment would allow authorities to transfer troublesome inmates from Texas prisons to institutions in other states.

"Present law does not allow us to deal with prison violence by simply ridding ourselves of those causing it. The adoption of Proposition Six on Nov. 5 will allow us to do so," Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said Tuesday.

So far this year, 26 inmates have been killed behind the walls of Texas prisons. Authorities estimate that at least half those were victims of gang violence. A total of 207 inmates have been stabbed.

MADD driver convicted 6th time

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The man credited with triggering the formation of Mothers Against Drunk Driving by killing a teen-ager has been convicted of his sixth drunken driving charge.

Clarence Busch, 52, was found guilty Tuesday in Sacramento County Superior Court of two counts of drunken driving with bodily injury.

Because of the injuries, the convictions are felonies and Busch could get up to four years in prison. His sentencing was delayed for about 30 days to allow for the review of a probation report.

In 1980, Busch was convicted of vehicular manslaughter in the death of Cari Lightner, 13, whose mother, Candy, then founded MADD.

Senator's wife to protest lyrics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beryl "B.A." Bentsen, wife of Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, says she is not expecting "moon in June," but has joined a group of congressional wives campaigning for warning labels on rock records that contain sexually graphic lyrics.

"Rock music, I think, has a wonderful beat," she said. "It makes you feel good, and you want to dance. I just wasn't listening to the lyrics."

Mrs. Bentsen said she got involved when Treasury Secretary James Baker's wife, Susan, asked her to sign a letter for Parents' Music Resource Center, a group of congressional wives seeking a rating system for record albums.

Objectionable lyrics, the group says, are written by artists ranging from obscure "heavy-metal" groups to top-selling hit-makers like Prince. They argue that most parents are not aware of what their children are hearing.

The Senate Commerce Committee has scheduled a hearing Thursday on the issue of rating record albums with music stars John Denver, Frank Zappa and Twisted Sister slated to be among the witnesses.

Layman may challenge Baptists

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Southern Baptist layman says he has not yet decided whether to pursue a court challenge of key committee appointments made last June at the denomination's annual meeting in Dallas.

Robert S. Crowder of Birmingham, Ala., has said he would file a lawsuit if the Southern Baptist Convention's executive committee did not act on his complaints.

Crowder contends that several rulings by convention president Charles Stanley of Atlanta and parliamentarian Wayne Allen of Memphis violated the 14.4 million-member denomination's bylaws.

After hearing Crowder's complaints, the executive board decided Tuesday to affirm the rulings, but appoint a group to study the matter further.

Leaders appear for questioning

AGUA PRIETA, Mexico (AP) — Five officials of Mexico's main opposition party appeared for questioning by authorities in connection with protests that left city hall in ruins.

Riot police Tuesday patrolled the streets of this city along the Arizona border to maintain calm one day after rioters set the city hall ablaze and burned more than a dozen cars.

The protests broke out late Sunday when Bernardino Meza Ortiz of the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party arrived at city hall to assume the mayor's office in a midnight ceremony. Protesters rocked his car and he was forced to leave, witnesses said.

He later was sworn in at another municipal building, officials said.

Following the protests, outgoing mayor Leonardo Yanez Varga and defeated mayoral candidate Carlos Munguia, both of the opposition National Action Party, were called by authorities for questioning. Associated Press photographer Jeff Robbins reported the men were among five National Action officials who drove to the police station Tuesday.

Britain calls a truce

LONDON (AP) — Britain called a truce in its war of expulsions from the Soviet Union today, saying it would not deport any Soviets in retaliation for the latest ouster of six Britons from Moscow.

"We wish to draw a line under this affair," said Christopher Meyer, head of the Foreign Office news department. "We have no plans at present for further expulsions from London."

The British have expelled 31 Soviets from Britain and the Soviet Union has matched that figure.

Robbins also asked that something be done to alleviate teachers at the junior high level who have up to 160 students per day.

State mandates directly called for two agenda items during the 3½-hour meeting. Holder asked the board to allow him to request waivers for several grade levels in which classes were over the mandated 22 to one pupil-teacher ratio.

Holder said some of the problem could be solved by relocating children, but with classes so tight that could mean some children may be bumped in and out of classes if new students move into the schools. He added that attendance usually drops after October and if a waiver is granted the problem should solve itself by next semester. If not, Holder said the district could apply for another waiver.

He said K-5 at Northwest would need to add a teacher. At the Shirley campus kindergarten parents will be given an option to transfer children to a Bluebonnet campus before a waiver is requested.

State rules also limit districts to six days for abbreviated class schedules. However, if all six days are scheduled, the district would have to have no early dismissals. The HISD board approved one Hereford High day which had already passed and the homecoming pep rally day for the high school and junior highs to dismiss early. Two other dates for La Plata and Stanton were approved for pep rallies.

Also on the calendar revision, the first semester was changed to have one more day than the second semester to allow for a teacher work day which must be directly after a semester ending date.

In other business: The board approved for policy to designate principals as disciplinarians for suspension purposes on each campus.

Payroll deduction for insurance was postponed until the new teacher committee could review the policy.

Holder was given approval to seek bids for the district's group health insurance plan. Bids will be received Oct. 15.

It was reported that some vandalism to school buses at the bus barn is becoming a chronic problem and that the administration and local police are on the lookout for the subjects.

Tax collections were reported at 94.37 percent.

Enrollment was about 140 behind last year with district totals at 4,778.

Hereford Educators Association reminded the board to attend the meeting next Monday at the Hereford High School auditorium here Dr. William Kirby, state education commissioner, would speak. Also Dr. Paul Dunn, the western Texas representative to the state school board, would be in Hereford on Oct. 1 for a public meeting at HHS.

Williamson gave a review of policy for second observations for teacher evaluations.

Carolyn Robbins presented the curriculum report on her eighth grade remedial reading program.

DOE slide show presented to Realtors

A slide presentation on the study and research into nuclear waste repositories was presented Tuesday by Effie Harle, DOE's Vega office manager, at the monthly meeting of the Hereford Board of Realtors.

Ms. Harle, who has been stationed at the Hereford DOE office until a building is available in Vega announced that Linda McLain, Texas manager of the salt repository project, will speak to the Realtor board here in November and answer questions.

In other business Tuesday during the luncheon meeting at Hereford Country Club, three new members were introduced into the board. They were Jay West, Marn Tyler Realtors; Mike Paschel, Don Tardy Real Estate; and Hortencia Estrada, Top Properties.

The new members were introduced by Marilyn Culepper. Board president Betty Gilbert introduced the program.

KATHERINE RULAND
Katherine Ruland, 83, died Saturday.

Services will be at 10 a.m. today in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home with Dr. Weldon Butler, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial will be in West Lawn Memorial Park Cemetery.

Ruland was born in Caddo, Okla. She was married to Gus Ruland in 1918 at Pottsboro. They moved to Hereford in 1942 from Pottsboro. She was a homemaker and a Methodist.

Survivors include her husband; three sons, Fred, Delbert, and Kenneth, all of Hereford; a daughter, Mary Lue McFarling of Redding, Calif.; a brother, Fritz Cristman of Hereford; two sisters, Emma Rogers of Waco and Lizzie McKee of Dennison; 13 grandchildren, and 15 great-grandchildren.

GLENN NORWOOD GREEN
Glenn Norwood Green, 54, died Tuesday.

Services are pending with Rix Funeral Home.

Green was born in Wheeler and moved to Amarillo approximately three years ago from Hereford.

Survivors include a daughter, Michelle Green of Amarillo; his father, Walter Green of Ore City; five brothers, Charles of Fort Worth, W.R. of Phoenix, Ariz., David of Ore City, James of Amarillo and Aubrey of Abilene; two sisters, Mrs. C.B. Lord of Texas City and Mrs. Maurice Ray Sr. of Amarillo; and several nieces and nephews.

The family requests memorials be sent to a favorite charity.

direct marketing have not yet been finalized.

It could be some time before local butchers stock lite steaks and burgers, however, since Chianina full bloods and crossbreeds currently comprise less than two percent of the U.S. cattle population.

Low-cal cattle came about by crossing traditional U.S. cattle breeds with an exceptionally lean breed from Italy. The Chianina breed isn't new in Italy, however, it was around when gladiators fought in Rome's coliseum. The cattle weren't brought to the U.S. until the past decade.

Dr. Davis said the taste tests at Tech revealed that Chianina fullbloods produce steaks for the consumer which are acceptable in juiciness, flavor and tenderness, and similar in taste to cuts from the more typical British crossbreeds.

"To the best of our knowledge, this is the first effort to develop a lower fat program based on the breed of the animal," said Margaret Glavin, USDA director of Standards and Labeling.

"According to USDA, the per capita consumption of beef has leveled off in the past six years to a level about nine pounds less than the levels consumed in the 1970s," Dr. Davis stated.

"The beef industry has to change if it is to maintain its current position with consumers who are frequent users of beef, as well as those who might use more beef in their diets if it contained less fat," he added.

GROWERS

admitted to pick perishable fruits and vegetables.

Both measures were offered by Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif. on behalf of growers in California, Washington state, Arizona, Idaho and Oregon.

The growers were not even organized in 1963, the last time the Senate passed an immigration bill. Yet, on Tuesday, they were able to defeat a powerful coalition that argued that foreigners would take jobs that could go to Americans.

The victory was won at the very time members of Congress are demanding trade sanctions to prevent the loss of American jobs.

Asked how the reversal happened, Wilson said some senators who opposed him last week "had no clear understanding" of the proposal at the time. They believed the amendment would have replaced an existing seasonal workers program, which in fact would remain as an alternative, he said.

Wilson also contended he won support by inserting the 350,000 "cap" on the number of workers to negate arguments that growers sought an open-ended program.

The growers told senators that Americans didn't want the back-breaking harvesting jobs, and that a large force of workers must be available in the country when weather conditions determine that crops should be picked.

"I say nonsense," said Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, who contended Americans would take the jobs. He accused the growers of seeking cheap labor to replace the undocumented workers they currently use.

was initially scheduled to be operating by October 1986.

The current schedule calls for completion in late 1987. The second unit, which is to be built near Gruver, was to begin operation in April 1987. Under the current schedule, the second unit now is to be completed four to six months after the first, Lieb said.

The delay won't have an immediate impact on the ability of Austin to supply power to electricity customers, said John Moore, city electric director.

"We will have adequate capacity, but will have to begin figuring the delay in our generating plans," he said.

"We understand the reasons for delay, and it is beyond Valley View's control. This is not a technical problem but an institutional one," Moore said.

One of the problems has been that no precedent exists in Texas for this kind of project, in which the power has to be transmitted long distances using the transmission lines of other entities, Lieb said.

Bride-Elect Honored

Bridal shower held Saturday afternoon

Sarah Beth Brecht, bride-elect of Dirk VanderZee, was honored Saturday afternoon with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. James Hull, 620 Westhaven.

VanderZee is a former Hereford resident and he and his fiance now reside in San Antonio.

The couple plan to exchange nuptials Oct. 26 at Tapatio Country Club in Boerne, Tx. Doug Manning of Hereford will officiate at the ceremony.

Receiving guests at the entry of the home were Mrs. Hull; Mrs. Harlan VanderZee, mother of the prospective bridegroom; Mrs. Walter Brecht of Sapulpa, Ok., mother of the bride-elect; and the honoree.

As guests stepped on the porch, they were welcomed with a custom made large brim straw hat decorated in the bride-elect's chosen colors hanging on the wall. Attached to the hat, which was designed by Ruth Black, was the shower invitation.

Special guests at the shower included the prospective bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Dick O'Daniel of Tulia. Other out of town guests were Joyce Ann McKinney of Clovis, N.M., Paula McKinney and Angela Cavnar of Amarillo, Helen Simpson and Marilyn O'Daniel of Tulia and Algene Barker of Lockney.

Registering guests was Ann Reiter.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth trimmed in lace. A silk floral arrangement in contrasting shades of burgundy decorated the table along with three corn husk dolls and a miniature hat which matched the one of the porch.

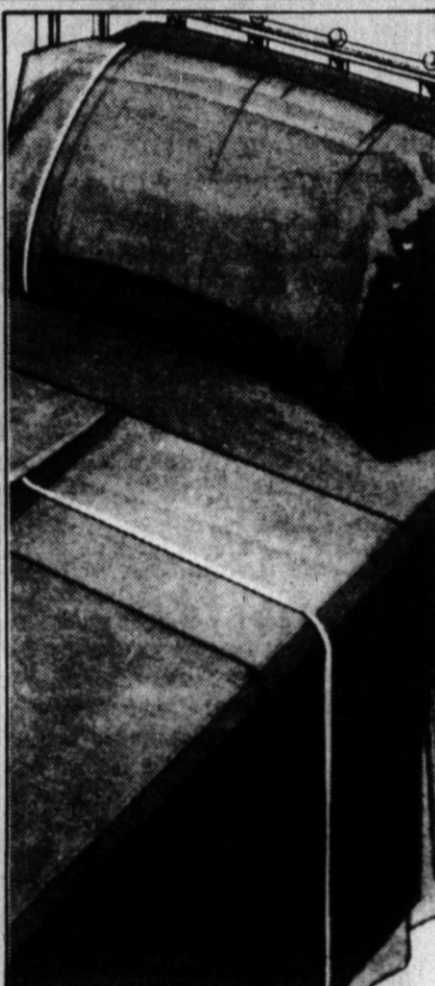

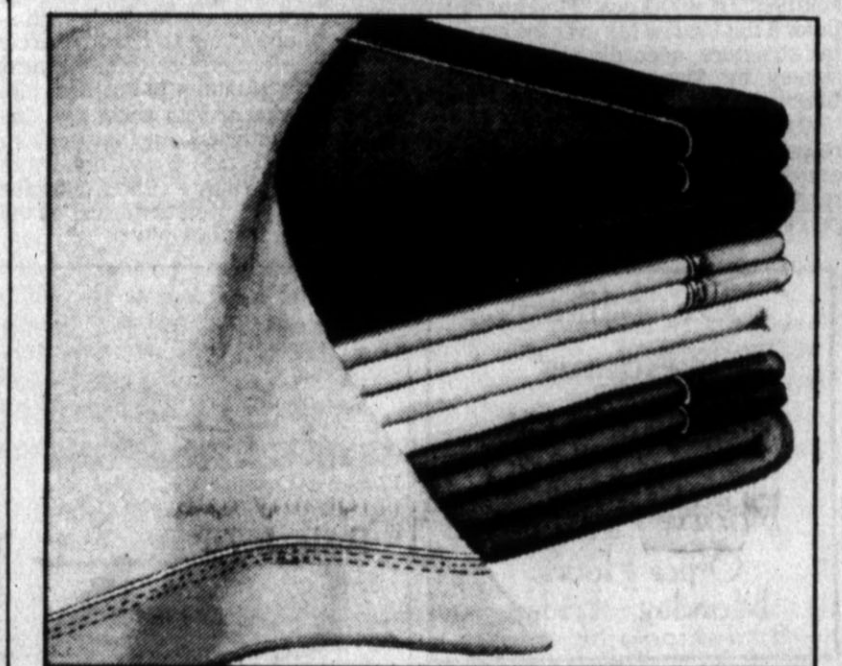

Serving fresh fruit, cookies and punch were Janet White of Amarillo and Shawn McNutt. The napkins were in shades of burgundy with "Dirk and Sara Beth" engraved on each. Crystal and silver appointments further enhanced the table setting.

Serving as hostesses were Carolyn Baxter, Ruth Black, Ann Combs, Frances Crume, Margaret Formby, Mary Frye, Ouida Halbert, Wanda Hoover, Mary Sue Hull, Helen Lee, Irene McKinster, Mary Kay McQuigg, Pat Montgomery, Lavon Nieman, Ruth Robinson of Clarendon, Mysedia Smith, Marie Stringer, Elizabeth Talley of Lubbock, Marlene Watson and Mary Beth White.

Gardening tips given at first club meeting

Mrs. Ken McLain from McLain Garden Center gave helpful gardening hints when members of Hereford Garden Club met, recently for their first meeting of the new club year in the home of Mrs. Edgar Lemons. Serving as co-hostess was Mrs. H.R. Cocanougher.

bare root plants should be planted in the spring and now was not the time to fertilize unless to set lawn roots for the winter.

She also suggested to put iron on trees in the early spring before leaves put on and that plant bulbs and pansies maybe planted now.

Carmen Angel was recognized as a new member and welcomed as guests were the speaker, George Ritter and Margruete Perez.

Cultural Extension Club meets for luncheon Friday

Mary Lou Spinhirne presented a program on microwave accessories when members of Cultural Extension Club met Friday for lunch and a business meeting in the Golden K Room at Senior Citizens Center.

Betty Brooks and S.T. Walden were welcomed as new members by those present. They included Dettmann, Carrie Mae Doak, Gandy, Goetsch, Jewel Hargrave, Hunter, Vernis Parsons, Nell Pope, Jewell Rogers, Spinhirne, Marie Thames, Winnie Wiseman and Bertie Fellers.

Edith Hunter presided in absence of the club president and the opening exercise was given by Ruth Gandy using the subject "What is a fireman?"

The roll call was answered with "When do you start Christmas shopping?"

Several committee reports were given and correspondence was read from Joyce Lyons at King's Manor, Big Brothers/Big Sisters Organization and the Problem Pregnancy Center.

Also, a thank you note was read from Susan Raney, former assistant county extension agent.

Jewel Hargrave gave the council report. The meeting was attended by 11 members Aug. 26.

It was announced that Bertha Dettmann and Wilma Goetsch will attend the training meeting set for 1:30 p.m. Oct. 1. The topic will be "Women and Credit."

Club members volunteered to assist at the Farm Bureau Banquet.

WOMEN DISTORT BODY IMAGE

NEW YORK (AP) — That women tend to have a distorted body image was one of the conclusions reached in a study by April Fallon, an assistant professor at the Medical College of Pennsylvania, reports Feeling Great magazine.

Such women describe themselves as fat, chubby or plump, even if they are quite slim. Men, on the other hand, tend to see and accept themselves for what they are. Women believe men like them thinner than men actually do, whereas women like men thinner than men realize.

4 Around the County

By DAVY VESTAL
County Extension Agent
Seventeen 4-H'ers participated Monday at the 1985 Tri-State Fair livestock exhibition with Rickie Vogel and Chris Connally were the big winners in the steer show competition. Vogel exhibited his prospect steer to champion exotic and over all Grand Champion prospect steer while Connally exhibited the Grand Champion Market steer of the show.

Other participants in the steer division from Deaf Smith County 4-H were Donna Grotegut, third place light weight English cross prospect; Chris Urbanczyk, third and fifth place medium weight exotic prospect; Jeremy Myers, twelfth place market.
Vogel and Connally also showed a fourth place market steer and seventh place heavy weight exotic prospect steer respectively. There were around 12 steers per class. Twelve 4-H'ers from this county exhibited 20 lambs Monday evening at the Tri-State Fair. John David Rickman placed his medium wool lambs at fifth and 16th. Cheryl Schlabs placed sixth with her medium wool lamb while Susan Rickman had a sixth and 17th place exhibit. Donna Grotegut placed eighth in med. wool and Monica Grotegut placed 13th. Patrick

Newton exhibited his medium wools to 20th and 28th, while brother Cory Newton placed 16th med. wool and eighth finewool class. Kristi Milton exhibited a finewool cross to 15th and med. wool to 21st. Trisha Teel had a placing of 17th in finewool and 24th in medium wool. Sheila Teel placed 24 and 25 in a med. wool class. Jim Brett Campbell exhibited his lambs to 20th and 23rd med. wool while his sister Kinann Campbell placed a 25th in the medium wool. There were eight classes all together and each class averaged around 35 lambs. The show lambs and their feeders are presently preparing for the South Plains Fair Exhibit to be held Saturday, Sept. 28, with 24 entries from this county.

Lori Urbanczyk was the "big winner" in the District 1 4-H Bake Show held in conjunction with the Tri-State Fair. Lori won first prize with her baked products in the competition with 20 counties participating in the District 1 event.

Ann Landers

Men hate to lose

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your recent letter and advice to "Reluctant Champ" interested me. The age of the strong woman is affecting male-female relationships dramatically, perhaps as much as the sexual revolution of the '60s. Most men today are not ready, willing or able to deal with a female who is physically more powerful than he. If he finds the woman is also sexy and physically attractive it becomes even more complicated.

I am a young, good-looking exercise instructor who is experiencing this problem. As "The Champ" told you, beating a man in any test of strength cools a relationship very quickly. I dated a man for several months. "Bob" was fascinated by my interest in pumping iron. For awhile we enjoyed each other enormously and shared many common interests, including our strong bodies. On several occasions he saw me beat men at the club in arm wrestling and it never seemed to bother him. I weigh 120 pounds. Bob weighs 190. He always assumed he could beat me.

One night a male instructor at the club watched as I arm wrestled two husky men and beat both. He challenged me to a match. The instructor is Bob's size and poor Bob was horrified when I won. I then made the mistake of challenging Bob. He was too proud to refuse. I won the match easily.

For two weeks Bob challenged me nightly. I was annoyed that he was so insistent but I refused to let him win. That ended our relationship. Bob could not deal with the fact that he was bested by a woman in a man's sport. I will never make the same mistake again. I doubt that "The Champ" will take your advice and refuse to wrestle her husband. Her best hope is that he gets stronger and emerges the victor or she may end up like me.—A WINNER WHO LOST IN FLORIDA

DEAR WINNER WHO LOST: Thanks for providing evidence to substantiate my position. The man doesn't live who can accept defeat by a woman in a test of physical strength and not feel resentful and humiliated. Most men hate to lose to a female in a game of gin rummy, for heaven's sake. It's the nature of the beast.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope you will publish this letter and put an end to an ongoing battle between my husband and me.

My husband is a very strict disciplinarian. I know it is vital to the healthy development of children that they be raised with firm guidelines, but his idea of discipline is to give them a punch in the mouth, a whack on the back of the head or a wallop across the face.

I become very upset when he does this and have told him that what he is doing is child abuse. He calls me "nuts" and brags that he and his brothers were brought up that way and they all turned out just great.

I have argued that when the children misbehave he can give them a good crack across the bottom and I would not object, but he insists that his way is more effective. Please settle it.—EAST COAST TROUBLE

DEAR EAST COAST: No man who wallops his kids across the face and punches them in the mouth has "turned out great." Your husband is a child abuser. He needs help in eliminating whatever is causing excessive stress in his life so he can stop taking out his frustration on the youngsters.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting - What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DR. GOTT

Peter Gott, M.D.

Diuretics can produce gout

DEAR DR. GOTT — My cousin tells me she has gout. I thought this disease went out with the Dark Ages.

DEAR READER — Plague was more characteristic of the Dark Ages; gout is still very much with us, for an interesting reason I'll describe in a minute.

When human bodies metabolize protein, they produce a chemical called uric acid. Uric acid remains dissolved in slightly acid fluid and is normally excreted by the kidneys. Some people however, have a genetic tendency to manufacture more uric acid than normal. (I'm simplifying the description to make a point.) Under certain circumstances, when body fluids become less acid, uric acid leaves the solution and crystallizes in the form of tiny barbs. This crystallization process tends to take place in joint fluids and in parts of the kidneys. The crystals of uric acid are then free to puncture, lacerate and irritate joint linings and kidney tissues. Although the joints are very sensitive to this injury — and produce pain — the kidneys do not. So when we think of gout, we usually think of acute and very painful arthritis. People have been developing gouty arthritis for millennia.

Here's the hitch: Many people today have high blood pressure. One of the most common treatments for hypertension is a class of compounds called diuretics, which are kidney stimulants. Diuretics have a tendency to produce gouty arthritis in people who are susceptible. Therefore, more people today have gout that is due, in part, to modern treatment of a separate disease.

Gout is entirely controllable by the use of a drug that blocks the formation of uric acid. Although humans have suffered gout for centuries, they no longer have to put up with the symptoms.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I read that microbiologists at Tulane University have had success in treating common warts with daily applications of Vitamin C-enriched cod liver oil. They disappear in four to 12 weeks. Would ordinary cod liver oil do the same thing?

DEAR READER — Many so-called "folk remedies" are safe and may produce results. Cod-liver-oil treatment for warts is such a remedy. Boosting the oil with vitamin C may or may not enhance its activity. To the extent that cod-liver oil cures warts, the addition of the vitamin is probably superfluous. The approach you describe will require quite a bit more confirmation before its usefulness can be assessed.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A friend was recently told he had to have a hernia operation. Then he was told that his medical insurance would only cover the operation if it was done on an outpatient basis. Wouldn't it be dangerous to send him home the same day he had abdominal surgery?

DEAR READER — I find it a little bizarre that an insurance company would reimburse a subscriber for hernia surgery done only on an outpatient basis. This coverage is certainly not common.

From a medical standpoint, hernia patients could go home to a restful situation, after the effects of anesthesia have worn off, on the day of the surgery. But I've never met a patient who was the slightest bit interested in leaving the hospital that soon. Hernia repair is just too painful. Most post-op patients need a day or two of observation to make sure, at least, that their bladders are emptying properly and they can attend to themselves.

In my opinion, insisting on same-day discharge following hernia surgery is a barbaric practice that reflects badly on the insurance company and on any authority that mandates such a proposal. Perhaps your friend should scream bloody murder or look for other, more civilized insurance coverage.

HHS tennis teams defeat Palo Duro, 15-3

Hereford High School opened the 1985 fall tennis season with a 15-3 dual match win over Palo Duro Tuesday at the Hereford High School tennis courts.

Hereford's only losses to Palo Duro were a boys' singles match, a boys' doubles match, and a girls' singles match. Hereford won seven of nine boys' matches and eight of nine girls' matches.

A dual match at Levelland was cancelled last Saturday. The next match for the HHS tennis teams will be Saturday, when both Hereford and Lubbock play at Plainview, starting at 8 a.m.

Next Tuesday, Hereford hosts Caprock at 4 p.m. at the high school courts.

Riders Club members ride in United Range Playday

Twenty-one members of the Hereford Riders Club participated in the United Range Playday finals at Rolling Hills in Amarillo Saturday and Sunday.

The Hereford Riders Club members qualified for the playday through their competition once a month in the summer at Range I Playday in Canyon.

Nine events were part of the playday, including barrel racing, pole bending, ring stabbing, golfette, flags, and pylons, all individual events, and rescue race, passoff, and ribbon race, all events for two entrants.

Most of the Hereford Riders Club members competed in all nine events, and all came home from the playday with some trophies.

One of them, Carey Smith of Hereford, was high point in the competition for girls ages eight to 12.

Other Hereford Riders Club members who participated were: Justin Wright, Chris Burrus, Cameron Burrus, Jeff Kingston, Linda Kingston, Michelle Meyer, Misty Meyer, Melissa Meyer, Cree Futrell, Cheyane Futrell, Laura Futrell, Marvin Finley, Sander Finley, Crystal Filey, Travis Shields, Wade Johnson and Jill Johnson, all of Hereford; Cody Gable and Lee Gable, both of Vega; and Jennifer Batenhorst of Umbarger.

In 1951-52, the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team won 333 games and lost only eight.

The players did not share in the receipts of the second game of the 1922 World Series between the Yankees and Giants. The game was called because of darkness after 10 innings and Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis ordered the receipts donated to military hospitals.

HHS volleyball

teams fall to Caprock Tuesday

The District 3-5A volleyball season opened Tuesday night. Hereford High School's varsity lost at Caprock High School, 15-2, 15-4.

Hereford plays at home Saturday against Palo Duro, with the junior varsity match starting at 2 p.m. and the varsity match scheduled 20 minutes after the junior varsity match ends.

In junior varsity action Tuesday, Hereford fell to Caprock, 15-3, 15-13.

Next Tuesday, Hereford plays at Lubbock Coronado at 7 p.m., and on Saturday, Sept. 28, Hereford hosts Tascosa at 2 p.m.

Backhanded Hit By Hansen

Kevin Hansen shows the Hustlin' Herd style as he backhands the ball in a high school tennis boys' singles match against Binh Nguyen of Palo Duro Thursday. Hansen defeated Nguyen 6-1, 6-1 for one of Hereford High School's 15 wins in 18 singles and doubles matches.

The first career strikeout in pitcher Nolan Ryan's career came when he was 19 years old—when he struck out Pat Jarvis of Atlanta on Sept. 11, 1966. On April 27, 1983, Ryan struck out Brad Mills of Montreal, the 3,509th strikeout for Ryan which broke a record held 56 years by Walter Johnson. The 3,000th strikeout victim was Cesar Geronimo of Cincinnati.

Team reminds Landry of "To Tell the Truth"

Who are the real Dallas Cowboys?

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry says this season's Cowboys remind him of the television show "To Tell The Truth," where the question is asked "Will the real one please stand up."

"I think that's the point our team has reached right now. You know, will the real Dallas Cowboys stand up?" Landry said Tuesday, contrasting the performances of his team in a 44-14 rout of the Washington Redskins and an embarrassing 27-21 loss to the Detroit Lions.

The play of reserve quarterback Gary Hogeboom off the bench in the fourth quarter, when the Cowboys scored all three of their touchdowns against Detroit, prompted questions concerning Danny White's status as the starting quarterback.

Landry said at his weekly luncheon with sports writers that he plans no changes in the starting lineup for Sunday, provided White's sprained thumb is okay. White is listed as "questionable," and Landry said a decision on whether he can play

CBS violates NFL

TV ad guidelines

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

Despite off-season attempts by the National Football League to streamline commercial breaks, the networks still seem to do what they please.

The most recent example came in Sunday's contest between the Green Bay Packers and New York Giants.

Midway through the second quarter, the Giants' Ali Haji-Sheikh kicked a field goal and CBS broke for a commercial. Then the Giants kicked off, Green Bay fumbled on the runback and New York recovered on the Packers' 25.

Again a commercial break, and a triple violation by CBS.

Under the new NFL television guidelines, promulgated in part to help increase television ratings, there are supposed to be four commercial breaks per quarter. None are allowed after turnovers so as not to hurt a team's momentum, none are allowed when a team has the ball inside its opponent's 40, and none are allowed after kickoffs — the type of score-commercial-kickoff-commercial sequence most annoying to fans.

All three factors were present Sunday.

According to Joe Rhein, the league's director of administration and the official NFL observer at the game, the timeout was called because the Giants-Packers game was the second half of a CBS doubleheader. Since the Dallas-Detroit game ran well past 4 p.m. EDT, the network ran only two breaks during the first quarter so latecomers wouldn't miss too many commercials.

"It shouldn't have happened," Rhein said.

Sports briefs

BASEBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — The Toronto Blue Jays and Kansas City Royals, leaders of the American League East and West divisions, respectively, won coin tosses to determine home sites for possible division-tie playoffs.

American League President Bobby Brown first flipped a coin for the Eastern Division. Pat Gillick, the Blue Jays' executive vice president, called "heads" and won the home-park advantage in a possible playoff with the New York Yankees. A similar ceremony was conducted by conference phone calls with the Royals and California Angels, running one-two in the AL West.

Before the Blue Jays could meet the Yankees in a divisional playoff, they would have to play a strike-caused makeup game with Baltimore on Oct. 7, the day after the close of the regular season.

FOOTBALL

DALLAS (AP) — The head of the National Football League's competition committee says that the use of videotaped replays to review officials' calls will be considered at the owner's meeting next month in New York.

Tex Schramm, president of Dallas Cowboys, said that the system, which was tried on an experimental basis during the 1985 preseason, could be in use for the NFL playoffs.

NEW YORK (AP) — San Francisco 49ers running back Roger Craig, who rushed for a career-high 107 yards and scored two touchdowns against Atlanta, is the National Football Conference's Offensive Player of the Week for the second weekend of the season.

Chicago Bears linebacker Mike Singletary was designated as the week's top defensive player following three sacks and a 23-yard interception in the Bears' 20-7 victory over New England.

GENERAL

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A University of Michigan student who sought a $1,000 reward for returning a lost Wolverine football playbook was questioned and released but could be charged with extortion, Ann Arbor police Detective Larry Drew said.

The student, who was not identified, reportedly obtained the playbook after her boyfriend found it on the ground. When her request for the money was denied, she changed her request to season tickets.

The student was apprehended by detectives when after meeting a Michigan coach and accepting four tickets for each of the Wolverine's six home games.

 Classified advertising rates are based on a minimum of 20 words. One day is 12 cents per word or $2.00 minimum. Rates below are for consecutive issues, no copy change, and apply to solid ad lines only.

TIMES	RATES	MIN.
1 day per word:	.13	2.00
2 days per word:	.22	4.00
3 days per word:	.31	6.00
4 days per word:	.40	8.00
5th day FREE

Add 9 cents per word for additional days: 10 days (2 free) is 15.20; 15 days (3 free) is 22.40; month 78.00.

Classified display rates apply for special captions, paragraphing, bold type or larger type, and ad not set with full lines. $2.00 per column inch, $2 a column inch for additional insertions, or $1.75 a column inch per month.

LEGALIS
 Advertising rates for legal notices are $3.50 per column inch for the first insertion and $3 per column inch for consecutive insertions.

Deadlines for classified ads are 3 p.m. daily for the next day's edition; 3 p.m. Friday for Sunday's edition.

Cash is required on advertisements under $10.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in Classified Ads and legal notices. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. In case of errors not the fault of the advertiser, an additional insertion will be given.
