

PLO Stronghold Under Siege Again

By The Associated Press

Israeli tanks and armored troops rolled into west Beirut today, other units battled toward the PLO stronghold from the north and south, and artillery and gunboats hammered Yasser Arafat's guerrilla enclave from all sides in furious barrages that continued after 15 hours.

At least 50 people were killed and 730 wounded in the attack and the toll was expected to rise sharply, initial police reports cited by Lebanon's state radio said. The broadcast said most of the victims were civilians.

Israel said its forces suffered 20 soldiers wounded, two seriously, before the attack, and that as a result of the assault its armor captured a strip 60 yards deep and 600 yards long on a north-south axis along the Green Line dividing guerrilla-held west Beirut from Christian-controlled east Beirut.

Arafat called on every able Palestinian to take up arms and defend west Beirut, and President Elias Sarkis appealed to President Reagan to stop the fighting and protested "what is happening in Beirut where innocent civilians are being subjected to mass killing and destruction."

Reagan's top advisers met in Washington to discuss the assault, which White House spokesman Larry Speakes said "makes virtually impossible the conduct of diplomatic efforts. We have expressed our profound concern to the government of Israel."

The Israeli military command said it had not launched "an all-out attempt at conquering the city" and the attacks were to show Israel "will not play the game by PLO-set rules."

It appeared the Israeli thrust was concentrated on the no man's land between the city's Moslem and Christian sectors, the seaport on the northern edge of the Palestine Liberation Organization redoubt in west Beirut, and PLO entrenchments southwest of the city.

The Israeli attack, which began about midnight (6 p.m. EDT) and shattered the ninth cease-fire in two months of fighting, was covered by intense shelling.

"Hundreds of shells burst within yards of each other and within seconds, the entire southern belt of west Beirut was shrouded in smoke and flames," Associated Press correspondent Terry Anderson said of one 10-second Israeli barrage.

Israeli guns were firing heavily into the crowded civilian district around Hamra Street, the commercial heart of the Moslem sector, for the first time since the siege began, correspondents reported.

PLO gunners and rocket teams fired back into Christian neighborhoods in east Beirut and into the hillside suburbs where Israeli forces are concentrated, witnesses said. An Israeli officer, who was authorized to speak to reporters in east Beirut, said at midday that no air strikes had been called in for fear of hitting Israeli soldiers. Twenty Israelis were (See SIEGE, Page 2)

Individuals, Groups Complain About Nuclear Waste Storage

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Three Houston residents who live near a site that is used to process radioactive waste have asked the Texas Department of Health to investigate what they claim are new instances of nuclear waste being brought into Texas.

The complaint states that Nuclear Sources and Services Inc. is handling out-of-state low level radioactive waste at its Houston facility and is considering opening a site in Leon County.

David Rossi, Vinci Greco and Anthony Mann were joined in their request by two Leon County citizen groups — the Center for Safe Energy and Concerned Citizens for Sound Development of Leon County.

A letter from two lawyers to Dr. Robert Bernstein, state health commissioner, states that processing the out-of-state waste violates state law.

Bernstein responded that he "had no quarrel" with asking Attorney General Mark White to interpret the law.

As the health department interprets the law, Bernstein said, the state cannot regulate privately owned processing facilities by interfering in interstate commerce.

The letter from Austin lawyer Richard Lowerre and Houston lawyer James Blackburn states that the 1981 Legislature amended the Radioactive Materials Control Act to prohibit the processing of out-of-state nuclear waste in Texas.

It is our position that the language (in the law) clearly applies to any private or publicly owned disposal or processing facility," the letter said.

"If the health department won't help us, we will ask Gov. (Bill) Clements. If he won't help, we'll ask Attorney General (Mark) White. If he won't help, we'll ask the courts," said Rossi.

Workmen are busy constructing the building to house McLain's Garden Center on west Park Ave. The structure accounted for most of the building permit total for the city for July with a $50,000 permit issued. Otherwise, construction remains at a low in the city, continuing a trend which has dominated this year. (Brand Photo).

British Prince William Christened into Church

LONDON (AP) — With champagne toasts and cake saved from his parents' wedding, the 44-day-old son of Prince Charles and Princess Diana was christened today into the Church of England.

In an exclusive family affair at Buckingham Palace, Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie held the infant Prince William of Wales and baptized him with water from the silver-gilt Lily Font, used for all royal christenings since 1840.

As his parents, grandmother Queen Elizabeth II and about 60 other guests looked on, the blue-eyed prince was officially named William Arthur Philip Louis. He is second in line to the throne after his 33-year-old father and will head the Church of England if he becomes king.

Police ringed Buckingham Palace for the double celebration of Prince William's christening and the 82nd birthday of Queen Mother Elizabeth, his great-grandmother.

Before the christening, the queen mother, wearing a pale blue dress and matching hat, appeared on the balcony of her London home, Clarence House and waved cheerily to some 500 admirers gathered in the street.

A Grenadier Guards band marched by playing "Happy Birthday," and the crowd joined in the tribute to the beloved "Queen Mum."

The simple 20-minute christening was attended by most of the royal family, the prince's six godparents and the four doctors who attended his birth on June 21 at St. Mary's Hospital.

There were two notable royal absences — Prince Andrew, 22, the baby's uncle, who was a helicopter pilot in the 74-day Falklands conflict with Argentina and is still on duty in the frigid South Atlantic, and his great-aunt, Princess Margaret who is vacationing in Tuscany, Italy. "She went to Venice on a longstanding official engagement on behalf of the Royal Ballet Company," a spokesman for Princess Margaret said. "She had made plans to go on vacation long before she knew of any date for the christening."

Buckingham Palace strongly denied a report in the Daily Express that Prince Andrew asked for emergency leave to attend the christening and was turned down by military authorities.

"The prince had no intention of coming home in advance of the rest of the crew" (See PRINCE, Page 2)

Senate Wants Restrictions

Budget Vote Expected

WASHINGTON AP - A proposed constitutional amendment requiring the government to live within its means is being jeopardized by the Senate's decision to tack on new restrictions on the national debt.

The Senate was expected to take a final vote today on the balanced budget amendment sought by President Reagan.

But those on both sides of the issue said its fate was thrown in doubt by the Senate's unexpected 51-45 vote Tuesday adding a provision to make it harder for Congress to raise the national debt ceiling.

The debt provision, sponsored by Sen. William L. Armstrong, R-Colo., would require a three-fifths majority vote by both chambers to raise the national debt ceiling once the balanced amendment was part of the constitution.

Armstrong's move prevailed after balanced budget opponents joined forces with Senate conservatives who are philosophically opposed to any further increases in the $1 trillion-plus national debt.

Even if the measure passes the Senate today, the modification could assure a house defeat by scaring off uncommitted members whose support for the constitutional amendment is needed, sponsors said. "It will substantially detract, from prospects that this will become the law of the land" said Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn. Baker had fended off other efforts to modify the proposal warning senators that any changes could be fatal to the proposed amendment.

The vote caught both backers and opponents of the amendment by surprise. Baker immediately sought a second vote to try to overturn the action, but his effort failed, 56-40.

"It's a major setback, there's no question" said Sen.

Trapeze Artist Injured

DALLAS (AP) — Circus spokesmen say the stunt is one of the most dangerous in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey show — trapeze artist Gino Farfan flies through the air, somersaults 3½ times and grabs his father's legs.

But the athletic display of skill and timing turned into an accident Tuesday night before 15,000 people. Farfan slipped, collided with his father Armando Farfan, fell into a net and lay unconscious for several minutes.

"He fell head first into the net," said Tim Holst, performance director for the circus. "There was blood. There were some lacerations on the back of his neck."

Farfan, who has been with the circus for nine years, was rushed to the Baylor University Medical Center. A paramedic at the scene said he had a head injury, possibly a fracture of his skull or some bones.

Doctors at Baylor were examining Farfan late Tuesday night to determine the extent of his injuries, said hospital night administrator Wilbur Smith.

Clowns, fellow trapeze artists and other performers huddled in the hospital emergency room to comfort the members of the "Flying Farfans" family and check on one of their own.

Holst said the 3½-revolution trick is one of the most difficult for trapeze artists.

"When you swing on the trapeze, you hang on by your hands, go down and build up momentum and as he was doing that, it appeared that one arm slipped off the bar. He may not have had a good grip or whatever... It's a very difficult trick and anything could have happened," Holst said.

Against Nuclear Freeze

Reagan Rallies Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary Larry Speakes, aboard Air Force One as the president returned to Washington from a two-day trip to Iowa and Connecticut.

While the president was on his way home, the White House made public a letter he wrote to Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

He said that the proposal advanced by Rep. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, "will undermine our negotiating position with the Soviets" during the strategic arms reduction talks under way in Geneva by "placing the United States in a dangerous position of disadvantage and removing the incentive for serious negotiation with the Soviets."

"I hope you will urge your colleagues to reject this proposal," Reagan said to Price, urging support for a competing Republican plan that he said would "show the Soviet Union that the Congress supports our effort to accomplish meaningful arms reductions."

The Democratic bill, which has the backing of House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., is expected to go to the House floor later this week. It calls in effect for an immediate freeze of all nuclear weapons systems as well as for formal approval of the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty negotiated by the Carter administration but never ratified by the Senate.

Reagan has rejected that SALT II treaty but has said he would abide by its terms as long as the Soviets do.

The Republican plan endorses the so-called START talks, rejecting an immediate

Nothing New In Survey of Aliens

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A consultant called it a milestone, but an ambitious survey of illegal aliens in Texas, commissioned by the Governor's Task Force on Immigration, has turned up no real surprises.

Frank Newport of V. Lance Tarrance & Associates in Houston, who conducted the survey, told the task force Tuesday that 1,526 illegal aliens were questioned, the great majority having just been picked up by immigration authorities.

The interviews showed that most illegal aliens want to work in this country legally but not become citizens, and most came here originally to make more money, Newport said.

Newport said the study represents "the largest number of undocumented workers ever interviewed in a face-to-face setting." But he added that the survey relied on a random sample and on truthful answers by sometimes frightened people just apprehended by Immigration and Naturalization Service agents.

The ages of those surveyed ranged from 12 to 69 with a median age of 23, Newport said.

Task force members planned to pass along the information to Gov. Bill Clements without adding any policy recommendations.

Besides the survey "profile" of the illegal aliens, Clements will get a head count released in April that said between 600,000 and 900,000 people are in Texas illegally.

Many of the questioners were former census takers, Newport said, and rode INS buses and interviewed detainees as they were picked up.

Ann Landers Need Volunteer Researchers

DEAR READERS: Almost every day we read about yet another substance that may cause cancer. The media have played up stories about cranberries, saccharin, hair dye and coffee - both with caffeine and decaffeinated. After millions of people were scared witless, we read among the truss ads and pimple creams that most of the results of the earlier claims were unsubstantiated or faulty research.

Confusion persists. In fact, many scientists estimate that 80 percent of all cancers may be caused by our lifestyles - what we eat, whether or not we smoke, dip snuff, chew tobacco, the quality of the air we breathe, where we work, and yes, even the amount of stress in our lives.

The American Cancer Society is trying to find answers and they need our help. In September the ACS is launching a gigantic project. It will ask more than a million people to answer a four-page confidential questionnaire about their eating, smoking and drinking habits, their exposure to chemicals and dusts and their use of consumer products and medications. By studying such a large group, American Cancer Society scientists hope to find out exactly what in our lifestyle and environment increases the risk of developing cancer and what might help prevent it.

The American Cancer Society needs volunteers to act as "researchers." They will contact about 10 families in which one person is 45 or older. These families - friends, neighbors, relatives - will be asked to fill out the questionnaires. The only other thing volunteers need to do is contact these families once every two years for the next six and report back to the American Cancer Society on their health status.

If you want to help (and are 35 or older), write to Ann Landers, American Cancer Society, GPO Box 1400, New York, N.Y. 10116. And thank you in advance for volunteering to be part of the colossal effort to crack the code of the most feared disease known to mankind.

The following letter is just one of hundreds I receive on this subject every week.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please check with your medical experts and tell me if chewing tobacco is hazardous to one's health. My husband chews between one and two pouches of tobacco a day, and I am concerned about the long-term use. He insists that chewing tobacco is safer than smoking. Is this true?

I love my husband and want him to be around to enjoy our grandchildren. Please print my letter and keep me - Anonymous.

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I contacted Dr. James B. Wyngaarden, the recently appointed director of the National Institute of Health and a brilliant professor from Duke Medical School, an excellent choice.

Dr. Wyngaarden sent me the results of recent studies. And here are the facts gleaned from those studies and a consultation with a physician at the Portes Cancer Prevention Center in Chicago.

Tobacco that is smoked is the main cause of cancer deaths in America. While chewing tobacco is somewhat less lethal than smoking it, it is far from harmless. It is, in fact, one of the major factors in cancer of the tongue, gum and cheeks.

If your husband wants to enjoy his grandchildren, I hope he will put an end to his love affair with tobacco in any form.

Attorney Convicted In Poison Plot

HOUSTON (AP) — A prominent lawyer could be imprisoned up to 20 years for plotting to poison his crippled wife, who said she "begged and pleaded" with him to help her commit suicide.

William A. Chanslor Jr., 50, and his partly paralyzed wife, Sue, 42, hugged Tuesday after he was found guilty of conspiracy to murder and solicitation to murder. She wept during the embrace. He then wheeled her from the courtroom.

Chanslor had claimed he tried to obtain a lethal, almost untraceable poison because his wife, confined to a wheelchair since suffering a stroke in 1979, begged him to help her kill herself.

Prosecutors claimed in closing arguments that Mrs. Chanslor wanted to die because her husband showed no love for her, not because of physical pain.

"She had become a yoke and a burden on him," Assistant District Attorney Jim Lavine. "It was a mission of mercy — not for his wife, but for himself."

A state district court jury of seven men and five women deliberated for 2½ hours Tuesday and found Chanslor guilty. Before delivering the verdict, the jurors listened twice again to tapes on which Chanslor told the man he seeking poison from that his wife would never commit suicide.

Chanslor, past president of the Houston Trial Lawyers Association, could be sentenced to 20 years in prison and fined $10,000. State District Judge Michael T. McSpadden scheduled the punishment phase of the trial to begin today.

After polling the jurors on their verdict, McSpadden allowed the Chanslor to enter the spectator area of the courtroom and hug his wife. Chanslor, a founder and deacon of the Westbury Christian Church, refused to comment on the verdict as he and his wife left.

"Mrs. Chanslor is very upset and since the trial is still in progress, I have advised them not to make any statement," said defense attorney Robert C. Bennett.

"We are very upset and we don't agree with it," Bennett said about the verdict, "but that is something you learn to live with."

Defense lawyers admitted Chanslor solicited and bought two capsules he believed contained the deadly poison, but said he did so only because his wife wanted to commit suicide.

"Bill Chanslor never intended to murder his wife," Bennett had said in summation.

In testimony, Mrs. Chanslor acknowledged she said shortly after her husband's arrest that she had not asked him to help her kill herself. But she said she had made that statement because she did not believe authorities when they told her Chanslor was in jail.

Lavine, the prosecutor, said the "turning point" of the trial was Chanslor's own "unbelievable and inconsistent" testimony.

"I don't think his story was believable. He admitted to giving false statements to police and then was actually caught in a false statement to the jury. Once that was brought home to them in final arguments, I think that may have turned the tide," said

Lavine.

Prosecutors said that Chanslor, using the alias John G. Thompson, met with John Minnery, the author of a series of books entitled, "How To Kill," to obtain ricin, a deadly, hard-to-trace derivative of the castor bean.

Minnery, who Chanslor said referred to himself as "Dr. Death," reported the request to police, who assigned an undercover detective to the case.

Chanslor was arrested April 21 outside a Houston hotel, carrying two marked capsules of what he believed to be ricin three times stronger than needed to kill a 200-pound cow. The pills actually were Vitamin C.

Before returning the verdict, jurors twice listened to secretly taped conversations between Chanslor, Minnery and undercover agent Keith Symons at a Toronto restaurant.

On the tape, Chanslor said to the two men that his wife would never commit suicide and told them, "The bitch is really getting to me."

Chanslor testified that he had talked that way because he thought the people he was meeting with were hardened killers and he wanted them to think he was like them.

Defense Seeks To Suppress Eavesdropping Information

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—Government lawyers are trying to prove FBI agents complied with wiretap laws in court-approved electronic eavesdropping in the investigation of the 1979 murder of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

Defense attorneys have moved to bar from evidence tape recordings and transcripts of jailhouse conversations involving Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra, 39; his wife, Elizabeth, 29; his brother, El Paso attorney Joseph Chagra, 35; and Charles V. Harrelson, 43, the man charged with shooting Wood on May 29, 1979.

The electronic eavesdropping, which defense attorneys said was illegal, took place in late 1980 and early 1981 during a massive investigation that resulted in the indictment of six people on April 15.

More testimony was expected today from organized crime expert Michael Defeo of the Justice Department. Defeo presided over the bugging of Jimmy Chagra's conversations with relatives and others at the Leavenworth federal penitentiary in Kansas and of Harrelson at the Harris County Jail in Houston.

Chief U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions is to rule on the admissibility of the tapes at the end of the pre-trial hearing, which began Monday.

Among 45 issues Sessions is to decide are defense motions to disqualify him from presiding at the Sept. 28 trial because Wood was his colleague, for changes of venue for all six defendants, and for severing the cases and trying them separately.

Jimmy Chagra is charged with paying Harrelson $250,000 to shoot Wood because Chagra feared Wood would sentence him to life imprisonment on a 1979 narcotics charge. After Wood was killed, Sessions tried the case and sentenced Chagra to 30 years without parole.

Jimmy Chagra and Harrelson, serving 40 years on separate state offenses, are charged with murder of a federal judge, punishable by mandatory life prison terms. Harrelson served a 15-year sentence for the 1968 kill-for-hire slaying of Texas grain dealer Sam Degelia Jr.

The pair, Joe Chagra and Elizabeth Chagra are accused of conspiracy to murder Wood and to obstruct justice.

Harrelson's wife, Jo Ann, 41, was indicted on charges of perjury and conspiracy to obstruct justice. Elizabeth Chagra's father, Leon Nichols, 51, is accused of income tax evasion in the investigation.

Defeo testified Tuesday that FBI agents bugging the visiting room at Leavenworth were careful to excise from the tape recordings any conversations involving attorney-client or husband-wife privilege.

The Justice Department attorney said the precautions were relaxed only one time, and that was after agents recorded a Nov. 8, 1980, conversation between the Chagra brothers in which Wood's killing allegedly was discussed.

The Chagras talked about "Joe's effort to retrieve the weapon used to kill Judge Wood" and the conversation promptly was reported to FBI agents investigating Wood's murder, Defeo testified.

Also Tuesday, Sessions warned the dozen attorneys representing the six defendants not to talk to news reporters. He reminded them a letter he sent them at the outset imposing a gag rule.

Sessions introduced into evidence recent news articles from The Dallas Morning News and Dallas Times Herald and scolded Harrelson's lawyer, Tom Sharpe Jr., for remarks attributed to him.

The judge noted all six defendants were requesting a change of venue because of pre-trial publicity.

"At the same time you are adding fuel to the fire, if not gasoline, and providing the match" by talking to reporters, Sessions said.

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Ron Reeves is a little faster afoot now than when he had to be pushed down the aisle in a wheelchair to get married.

But if he makes it as a longshot with the Houston Oilers, who picked him in the 10th round of the National Football League draft, it will be because of his rifle-arm and not his scrambling ability.

"They aren't that worried about speed here," said Reeves, who suffered through a series of frustrating injuries that hampered his collegiate career at Texas Tech. "If you are mobile enough to get out of the way of the rush, you'll be all right."

Reeves will be joining a youth movement at quarterback where five-year veteran Gifford Nielsen is the starter and second round draft choice Oliver Luck and Reeves are the backups.

Reeves unquestionably has the strongest arm in camp. "I was a pitcher in high school (posting a 15-1 record his senior year) and that helped me with a quick release," he said. "I guess you're born with a strong arm. You either have it or you don't."

Reeves' chances of making the Oilers team increased when Coach Ed Biles waived veteran quarterback Ken Stabler. It also eliminated Reeves' chances of learning from a master. "I know I have a better chance with him gone, but I wish I could have worked with Stabler," Reeves said. "From what I could tell, he could still throw and he was the type that would take a young quarterback under his wing and teach him a few tricks. I missed that chance." Reeves had to conform to the veer offense alignment at Texas Tech and did not get to fully display his passing skills.

"I don't regret going to Texas Tech, I just wish we'd had a more wide open offense," Reeves said.

Reeves actually didn't think about the Raider offense when he agreed to move across town from Lubbock Monterey High School to the Tech campus.

"I didn't think about if I was going to a passing offense or not," Reeves said. "I thought I was a good runner. I rushed over 1,000 yards two years in high school."

Reeves suffered a shoulder separation his sophomore season and underwent knee surgery following an injury suffered in his final collegiate game. But he recovered to get a chance to play pro football — and to get married.

Johnson Going On Television

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Controversy should be Butch Johnson's last name.

He perhaps is the most expressive of the Dallas Cowboys, either howling against his lack of first string status or making one of his patented "California Quake" dances after scoring a touchdown.

This year Johnson has added "the eye of the tiger," which is what the mercurial wide receiver calls a television camera. He's going to be on TV locally in Dallas doing sports spots during the season for KDFW.

He was hired after another Dallas receiver, Drew Pearson, was fired from the same job.

"There's no hard feelings between me and Drew," said Johnson. "The decision was made and that was it ... it was just like one of Coach (Tom) Landry's decisions to start Drew instead of me."

As might be expected, Johnson has some bizarre ideas of what he is going to do.

"I thought I'd start off by interviewing myself on a split screen," said Johnson. "Then I thought I'd do a long piece on what we go through in camp."

"Most people don't realize the torture out here ... what happens on a day to day basis ... I'd like to start with the first knock on the door at 7 o'clock in the morning and close with the final meeting at 10 p.m."

Johnson is already predicting some heat from the coaching staff over being on television.

"I imagine it will happen ... I'll probably come up with something and it will make them restrict me one way or the other," Johnson said.

Johnson defends his flamboyant style such as his shimmering touchdown dance.

"The crowd enjoys it," said Johnson. "We're not clones out there."

Steinbrenner Axes Michael, King Elevated

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The managerial merry-go-round in the three-ring circus which passes for the New York Yankees shows no sign of slowing down.

George Steinbrenner, the impatient owner who discards managers the way Elizabeth Taylor goes through husbands, struck again following Tuesday night's embarrassing 1-0, 14-2 doubleheader loss to the Chicago White Sox which dropped the Yankees into a fifth-place tie with Detroit in the American League East, eight games from the top with a 50-50 record.

Gene Michael's second term as manager came to a sudden end, the ninth managerial change — involving six people, three of them two-time losers — since Steinbrenner purchased the club in 1973.

The new man on the hot seat — the Yankees' third manager this season — is Clyde King, former pilot of the San Francisco Giants and Atlanta Braves and one of five pitching coaches Steinbrenner has gone through this year in his madcap efforts to right what appears to be a sinking ship.

According to Steinbrenner, the 57-year-old King is taking over "reluctantly, but willingly" on an interim basis as a favor to the owner.

King will be at the helm for tonight's two-nighter against the White Sox. If it follows the same script as Tuesday night's debacle, he may not last long, even though Steinbrenner said King would be the "interim manager for the balance of the season."

At the end of the season, he said, "we will talk further about what we plan to do."

Since he put together the group which purchased the Yankees from CBS in 1973 — and inherited Ralph Houk as manager — Steinbrenner has gone through Bill Virdon, Billy Martin (twice), Bob Lemon (twice), Dick Howser, Michael (twice) and now

King. Houk was the only one who left more or less voluntarily.

In the game of musical chairs, Virdon replaced Houk, Martin replaced Virdon, Lemon replaced Martin, Martin replaced Lemon, Howser replaced Martin, Michael replaced Howser, Lemon replaced Michael and Michael replaced Lemon. Now it's King's turn.

How long he will last is anybody's guess. After all, Steinbrenner promised Lemon a full season following last year's World Series loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers, only to fire him April 25, just 14 games into the 1982 campaign. He brought back Michael, who had been announced as the manager for 1983.

The 44-year-old Michael lasted 86 games, leaving with a 44-42 record after Lemon's 6-8 mark.

Besides the managerial change, Steinbrenner also unleashed another blast at some of his high-priced players. Without naming names, he hinted that some of them had better produce...or else.

The owner's surprise sacking of Michael came on the heels of an announcement over the public address system during Tuesday night's second game that fans could exchange their tickets for any of six selected games later in the season.

"During the game," Steinbrenner explained, "the fans sitting under me were chanting, 'Refund! Refund!' and it occurred to me it might be a good idea from a public relations standpoint. It wasn't meant to embarrass the team. That had already been done. But the scoreboard wasn't working, and with thousands of people leaving (the Yankees were losing 9-1 at the time), we had to announce it."

But catcher Rick Cerone, one of Steinbrenner's most vocal sparring partners, called it "bad timing right in the middle of a ballgame when we're on the field."

And relief ace Rich Gossage added: "You're asking me what goes on in that man's head? I can't tell you that. But that's not the embarrassing part; what's embarrassing is the way we played. Maybe it doesn't show, but we've got a lot of proud guys on this club."

"Sometimes you wish you could let go a lot of your players, but that's not the way this game is structured and instead you have to let go your manager," Steinbrenner said. "Some players on this team think they're a lot better than they are, and it's hurt us.

"Not everybody. We've got some guys who are as good as they think they are. But a number of them think they're an awful lot better baseball players than they are. Some of those players would be well advised to start playing as good as they think they are."

Neither King nor Michael was available for comment after Steinbrenner's announcement. King was scheduled to hold a news conference prior to tonight's doubleheader.

King, who has been a member of the Yankee organization since 1976, began the season as an advance scout and was named pitching coach June 11.

White Hits Cycle

By The Associated Press

Frank White celebrated one of baseball's rarities, hitting for the cycle. Gene Michael on the other completed another of baseball's cycles that is neither rare nor something to celebrate — the end of a ride on the New York Yankees managerial merry-go-round.

White tripled home the winning run in the ninth inning Tuesday night, giving Kansas City a 6-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers and becoming the first Royal player to perform the feat more than once. "I didn't think about it (hitting for the cycle) at all," said White after hitting for a single, double, triple and home run and knocking in four runs as the Royals won their sixth straight game. He last accomplished the feat on Sept. 26, 1979.

White's two-out triple scored Onix Concepcion from first base and finished off a 4-for-5 night that saw his batting average jump from .318 to .325, fourth highest in the league.

Michael joined Billy Martin and Bob Lemon as two-time losers on owner George Steinbrenner's list of former managers when he was fired after the Yankees dropped a doubleheader to Chicago 1-0 and 14-2.

"Sometimes you wish you could let go a lot of your players, but instead you have to let go your manager," said Steinbrenner, who named Clyde King interim manager for the rest of the season. "But that's not the way this game is structured. Some players on this team think they're a lot better than they are, and it's hurt us."

King, who becomes the Yankees' third manager this season following Lemon and Michael, is the ninth skipper to run the club — only the sixth man — since Steinbrenner took over franchise in 1973.

In other AL action, Baltimore and Boston split a doubleheader, the Orioles winning the first game 7-2 and the Red Sox taking the nightcap 7-6. Cleveland won the opener of its twinbill with Texas 2-0 while the Rangers rebounded to win the second game 5-4 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee downed Toronto 7-4, Minnesota edged California 5-4 and Seattle nipped Oakland 3-2.

Bronco Stars Stay Alive

The Hereford Bronco League All-Stars remained alive in the Regional Tournament in Everman Tuesday evening with a 6-5 win over Mansfield in a loser's bracket contest.

Hereford is now slated to play the Southeastern Oklahoma All-Stars at 7 p.m. tonight in the 6-team, double-elimination event.

Mansfield was the first team to be eliminated from the tourney with their loss to Hereford Tuesday.

Suicidal Cards Bump Off Bucs

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinal Manager Whitey Herzog admits that when the suicide-squeeze backfires, "it looks like the dumbest play in the world."

But Tuesday night, it made him look like a genius.

Herzog ordered Ozzie Smith to lay down a bunt with the bases loaded in the fifth inning and the play worked perfectly to help the Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2.

"I'd rather have had that one last night," Herzog said, referring to the previous night's 4-2 loss in 17 innings in which the Cardinals left 24 runners stranded.

Smith's key play scored Dane Iorg from third base and capped a three-run rally.

"I just wanted to get another run at the time," said Herzog with respect to Smith's bunt. "If Ozzie hit into a double play, we don't get anything."

The successful bunt represented the 10th time this year that the Cardinals have squeezed a runner home from third base.

"If we were hitting the cover off the ball, we wouldn't do that," said Herzog. "We should have done it last night in the seventh inning when we were leading 1-0."

Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner could only throw his hands up.

"If you get it down as it's supposed to be put down, it's very difficult to stop," said Tanner of the squeeze play. "You can't pitch out four times with the bases loaded."

The victory was only the second in six games for the Cardinals, who remained two games back in the National League East.

Keith Hernandez's sacrifice fly, Willie McGee's RBI double and Smith's suicide squeeze in the fifth were the Cardinals' key blows off Don Robinson, 11-6.

Right-hander Bob Forsch, 11-5, scattered eight hits over 71-3 innings before giving way to Bruce Sutter, who earned his 22nd save.

In other NL action, it was Philadelphia 3, Montreal 2; Chicago 5, New York 0; Houston 7, San Diego 6; Los Angeles 4, Cincinnati 0 and San Francisco 6, Atlanta 3. Phillies 3, Expos 2

An error by newly acquired second baseman Doug Flynn and Bo Diaz's two-RBI high bouncer to third triggered a three-run sixth inning that carried Philadelphia over Montreal. The three unearned runs against the frustrated David Palmer, 3-4, dropped the defending NL East champion Expos six games behind the first-place Phillies.

Mike Krukow, with relief help from Sid Monge and Ron Reed, earned his 11th victory in 17 decisions, a career high for the right-hander obtained last winter from the Chicago Cubs. It was Reed's sixth save.

Leon Durham's two-run homer and the three-hit pitching of Doug Bird carried Chicago over New York. Durham's 15th homer came in the first inning after Ryne Sandberg had singled. The Cubs added two more runs in the fourth on a squeeze bunt by Larry Bowa and a run-scoring single by Bird.

Bird, 7-10, hurled his second complete game of the season and his first shutout despite near 90-degree weather and a 14-mph wind blowing out at Wrigley Field. He walked two and struck out five. Astros 7, Padres 6

Tony Scott's two-out, bases-loaded single in the 11th inning lifted Houston over San Diego.

Terry Puhl led off the 11th with a double off reliever Luis DeLeon, 4-4. Art Howe was walked intentionally and Luis Pujols bunted the runners along before DeLeon gave an intentional pass to pinch-hitter Alan Ashby. One out later, Scott ended the game with a line drive single, his third of the game.

Randy Moffitt, 2-3, pitched 22-3 innings of tough relief for the win. The Padres had tied the score at 6-6 on Joe Lefebvre's home run leading off the ninth, his first of the year. Dodgers 4, Reds 0

Bob Welch and Steve Howe stopped Cincinnati on six hits and Ken Landreaux belted a two-run homer, leading Los Angeles over the Reds.

Welch, 12-7, gave up all five Reds' hits over seven innings, striking out seven to earn his third straight victory. Howe came in after Larry Biittner led off the Reds' eighth with a double and finished up to earn his 12th save.

Ron Cey had a pair of hits for Los Angeles, including an RBI single in the fifth for the Dodgers' first run off Frank Pastore, 5-8.

Giants 6, Braves 3
Tom O'Malley's two-run homer in the ninth inning ignited a four-run rally to carry San Francisco over Atlanta. Milt May opened the inning off reliever Gene Garber, 6-5, with a single and was lifted for pinch runner Max Venable. O'Malley then drilled a 2-2 pitch off Terry Harper's glove and over the right-field fence at Atlanta Stadium for his second homer of the season.

Ask Kate

'Fever' rages on

By Kate Woods

I'll sorely miss Dr. Johnny Fever now that "WKRP in Cincinnati" has been canceled. Has Howard Hesseman received any new acting jobs?

Don't worry, H.H. hasn't hit the unemployment line yet. He'll join Robert Mitchum and Angie Dickinson in "So Little Cause for Caroline," a murder mystery set for a late fall airing on CBS.

DEBBIE'S KIN — Please settle an argument. Who is Debbie Boone's husband and who are his famous parents?

Gabriel Ferrer is Debbie's hubby; his folks are actor Jose Ferrer (who's also in the above-mentioned "So Little Cause for Caroline") and singer Rosemary Clooney. Clooney, by the way, will be the subject of another made-for-TV movie from CBS. She'll be played by Sondra Locke.

REDFORD'S DEBUT — What was Robert Redford's first movie? Was it "Barefoot in the Park"?

Redford starred in five films before scoring big in the Neil Simon comedy. His first was 1961's "War Hunt," in which he played a nervous G.I., opposite John Saxton. Others were "Situation Hopeless But Not Serious," "Inside Daisy Clover," as Natalie Wood's one-night homosexual husband, "The Chase" and "This Property Is Condemned," also with Miss Wood.

HINES-SIGHT — I enjoyed seeing Gregory Hines with Shirley MacLaine on her recent special. Can you tell me if Hines once did an act with his father and brother? If so, what's his brother's name?

Gregory was one-third of Hines, Hines and Dad. Dad played the drums while the two boys tapped their toes off. Maurice is the quieter brother.

Corn Harvest May Be 'Whopper'

FB Supports Grain Move

WACO -- Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka has expressed satisfaction with President Reagan's intention to extend the Russian grain agreement on a one-year basis because of its favorable economic impact upon American agriculture.

Chaloupka viewed Reagan's announcement as a major step in resolving the "serious economic problems in agriculture" by permitting the U.S. to export "more grain than we have in the past."

Grain prices have been generally depressed due to an oversupply.

Wheat stocks on hand have increased by 506 million bushels in the past year. That represents a one-year increase of 15.4 percent. The price for wheat took a significant drop. Whereas the average price for wheat in June 1982 was $3.70 a bushel, the price dipped to $3.41 per bushel this past June.

The total supply of wheat as of June was 3 billion, 784 million bushels. According to the USDA projections, the American need for wheat this year will be 872 million bushels. That means the U.S. has more than a four-year supply on hand to meet its domestic needs, which points up Chaloupka's contention that it is "necessary" for the U.S. to export more wheat.

Wheat export projections for this year are one billion, 850 million bushels.

The average prices for corn and grain sorghum, likewise, have plummeted during the past year.

The American Farm Bureau Federation contends that long-term agreements tend to limit sales.

Chaloupka observed that the Russians have historically been a "large purchaser" of American grain and that a continuation of that relation is "necessary to our economic area of agriculture."

WASHINGTON (AP) — By most indications, this year's corn harvest may be another whopper, indicating a further buildup in U.S. grain supplies and more downward pressure on prices paid to farmers.

The Agriculture Department is scheduled to release its first official corn production estimate a week from today. The Aug. 11 report also will include USDA's first season estimates for soybeans, cotton and total wheat.

Procedures call for the department's Crop Reporting Board to issue production figures based on field conditions the first of the month. Thus, the production estimate of 1982 output of corn and the other crops will reflect the situation on Aug. 1.

A weekly report issued Tuesday by the government's Joint Agricultural Weather Facility, operated by the departments of Agriculture and Commerce, provided a rough idea of what to expect. It was for the period July 26 through Aug. 1.

The facility's weekly report, however, does not attempt to forecast actual production or crop yields — only the general condition of the crop.

"Rainfall in eastern areas benefitted crops and pastures, but more is needed," it said. "Soil moisture supplies were mostly adequate even though some shortages appeared in the northern plains, parts of the Corn Belt and Southeast."

One of the characteristics of this year's spring-planted crops — which includes virtually everything except winter wheat planted last fall — is that excess rain delayed planting in many areas, resulting in behind-normal development.

But generally, the report said, corn was in "good to excellent condition in parts of the Corn Belt and Southeast, and fair to good condition" in the rest of the country.

Soybeans were reported in "mostly good" condition as July drew to a close; and sorghum was in "fair to good" shape. Much cotton was lost to bad weather this season in large areas of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The winter wheat harvest was 84 percent completed in the major states, only one percentage point behind a year ago. Spring wheat was reported headed on 98 percent of the acreage, also one point behind year-ago development.

Corn development "was ahead of average in the eastern Corn Belt, while in the western Corn Belt it was slower than normal," the report said.

For example, corn in Ohio was reported 95 percent silked, compared to 55 percent a year ago and the normal rate of 75 percent for this time of season.

But in Iowa, where farmers struggled for weeks in rain and mud last spring, only 65 percent of the corn was in the silking stage of development, compared to 96 percent a year ago and the normal pace of 88 percent.

In Illinois, corn was 97 percent silked, compared to 91 percent a year ago.

Wisconsin, Nebraska, South Dakota, Kansas and Colorado also showed much slower corn development rates.

Waits for measures

The United States first committed itself to the metric system at an international convention in 1875. Although American fundamental weights and measures standards have been metric since 1893, this country is the only major industrial nation that still has not brought the metric system into its everyday life.

USDA Cutting Paperwork

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has adopted several changes in federal regulations aimed at reducing "the regulatory burden for those involved in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat."

B.H. Jones, administrator of the department's Packers and Stockyards Administration, said Tuesday the changes "will reduce paperwork and other costs of doing business for those in the regulated industries without harming producers and consignors."

The changes, which were proposed last February, will go into effect on Aug. 28.

However, one proposal which would have exempted small-volume livestock dealers and order buyers from having to file a minimum $10,000 bond was not adopted.

"A significant number of those submitting comments said the small-volume operators pose the greatest threat of financial loss to the industry and should not be exempted from the bonding requirement," the agency said.

One of the changes will eliminate a "sales promotion policy statement" which advocates contended served as a standard of ethics for large meat packers and helped discourage organized crime from entering the meat marketing system.

Jones said his agency will continue to "proceed against promotion programs which adversely affect competition" on a case-by-case basis.

Little Change In Compliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says there has been little change in the rate of compliance by farmers in the government's 1982 acreage reduction programs for key crops.

About 23.7 percent of the base acreage in 23 states was certified in compliance in the corn program, officials said Friday. That is some 9.9 million acres out of a total base in those states of 41.9 million acres, they said.

The new certifications included the major corn states of: Colorado, 681,874 acres certified or 40.9 percent of the state's base of 762,251 acres; Kentucky, 166,097 or 10.9 percent of the base of 1.52 million; and Wisconsin, 1.08 million or 27.4 percent of the base of 3.95 million acres.

There was little change in the wheat program figures as of July 30. About 44.8 million acres were certified in compliance, representing 49.5 percent of a base of 90.7 million acres in 42 states now certified.

The only new major wheat state reported was Colorado, with 1.92 million acres certified or 52 percent of the state's base of 3.7 million acres.

Cotton certifications so far show about 1.37 million acres or 71.6 percent of a base of 1.9 million acres in four states are in compliance.
