Testimony concludes in Garcia murder trial

By SHAWN COCKRUM
Staff Writer

The State of Texas called 12 witnesses Wednesday in the murder trial of Benjamin Garcia Jr., 21, who has been charged with murder in the first degree in the shooting death of Henry Garcia on May 9, 1985.

District Attorney Roland Saul called as the first witness Sgt. Sammy Sanchez of the Hereford police department.

He testified that he was on duty rassing them and they wanted to file a complaint. Sanchez instructed them to go to the police station.

Thirty minutes later Sanchez was dispatched to a possible accident on Second street. There he found the pick-up that Henry Garcia had been driving earlier. The pick-up had hit a telephone pole, careened off and hit the side of Owens Electric at 809 East Second. When he got to the truck he found Henry Garcia lying across the seat of the pick-up with his head down and told them that Domingo was in the alley between Roosevelt and McKinley off Third. She also testified that Antonio then got out of the pick-up and stayed with the two men. She then stated that she and Henry decided not to get Domingo, but to go back home instead so Henry could get ready for work at Hereford Bi-Products.

She said that as they traveled east on Second Street, a red Corvette pulled along side of them at a stop sign. A man stuck a gun out the window, fired one shot and then the car quickly left the scene. After the shot was fired, Henry's body stiffened and his foot hit the accelerator, the truck then lit the telephone pole then ran into the side of the building. When the truck came to a complete stop she got out and ran west on Second to try to get help. After an ambulance was summoned by a nearby resident, Mrs. Garcia said she returned to the scene to find the police and ambulance already there.

Mrs. Garcia stated that there was no gun and that her husband had not threatened Ben Garcia Jr. in anyway.

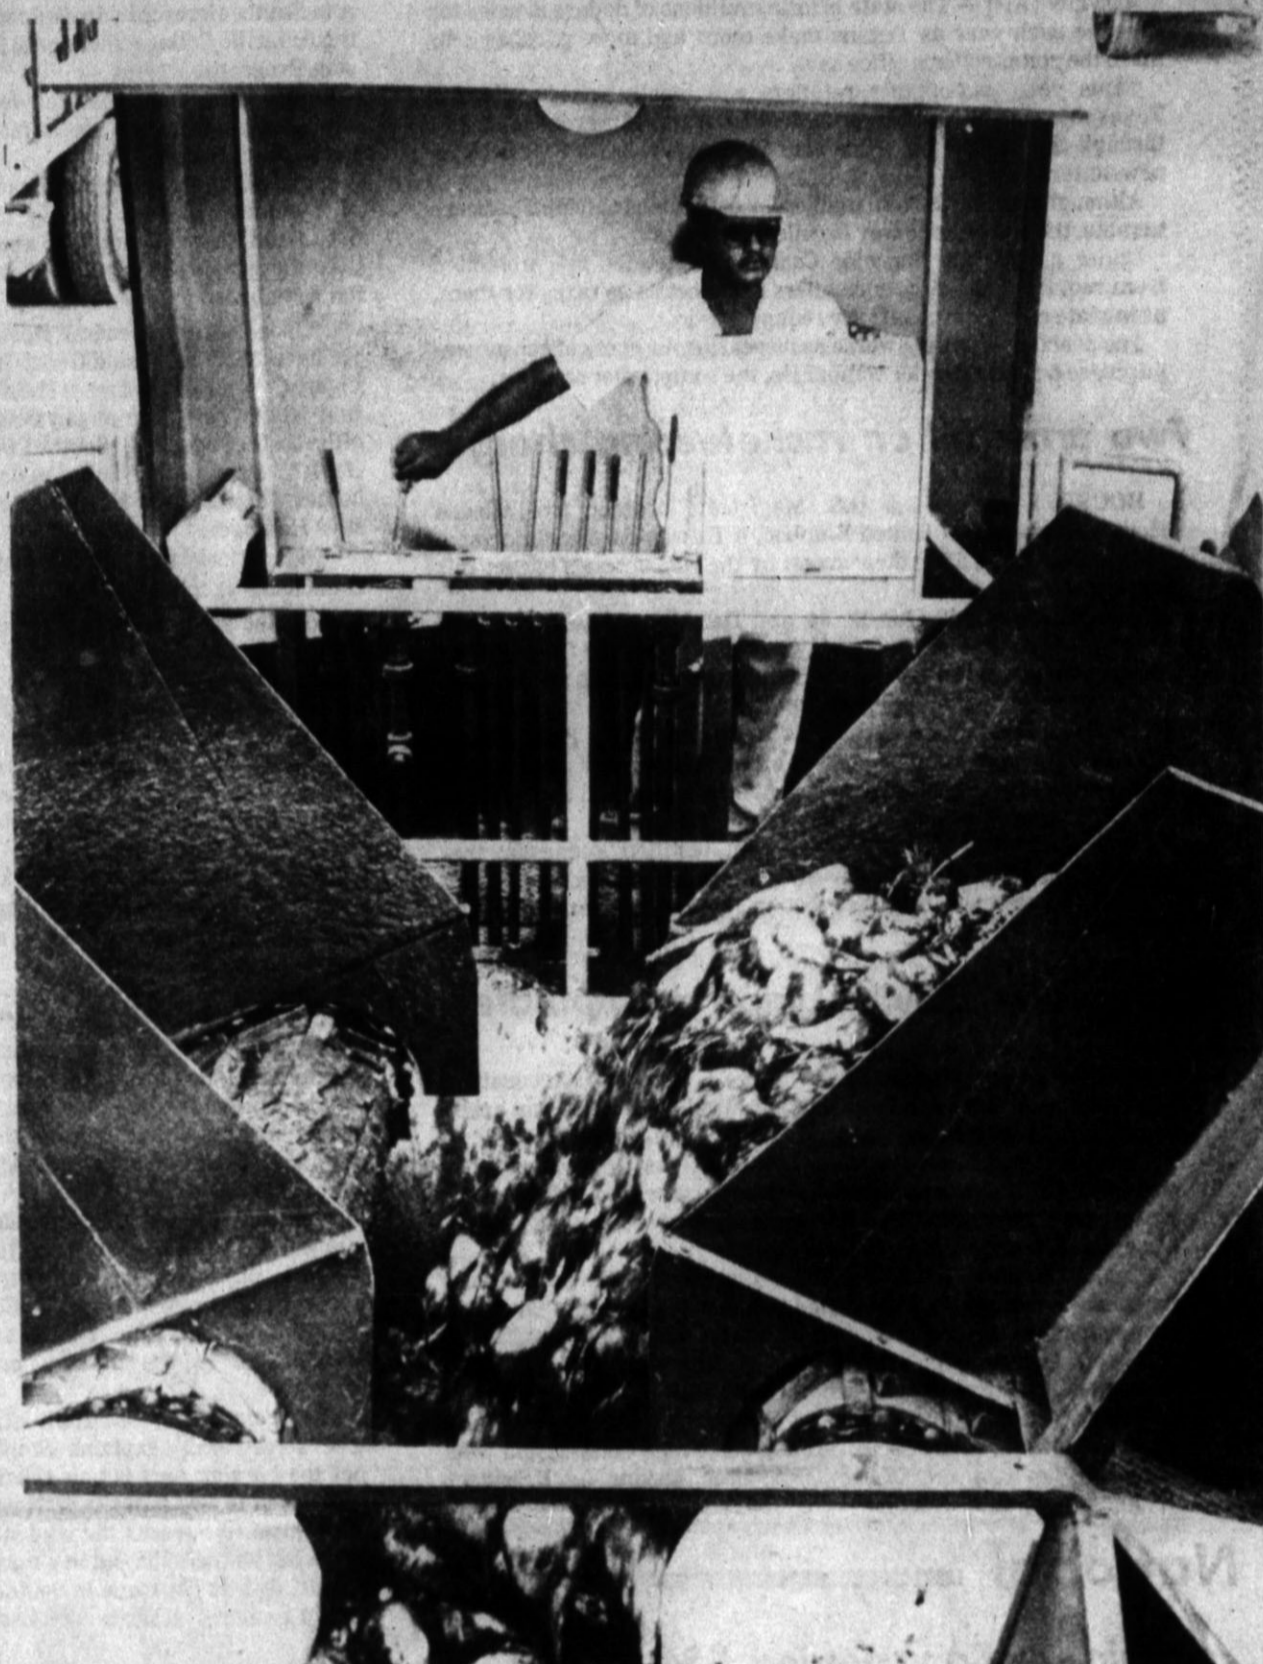

The state then called criminal pathologist Dr. Ralph Eardmann, from Amarillo. Dr. Eardmann's autopsy had determined that the sole cause of death was a gunshot wound to the face. Dr. Eardmann said the bullet hit Henry Garcia on the left side of his face 14 centimeters from the top of the head and one centimeter to the left of the midline. The bullet entered at a left to right angle with a slight upward trajectory, perforated the left side of the brain, and then lodged itself under the scalp on the back of the head, killing him instantly.

After defense attorney Jeff Blackburn made his opening statement, Benjamin Garcia Jr. then took the witness stand on his own behalf. Ben Garcia stated that he got off work at 7 p.m. on May 8 and went home. He was to go to a party as soon as he finished eating. Ben stayed at that party until around 2 a.m., then left the party to try to find a bootlegger who would sell them beer after hours. As he was leaving his residence, Domingo Garcia was arriving.

Ben said Domingo told him "This is the way I like to meet my enemies, face to face." Ben then stated that he decided not to say anything to Domingo. Ben pushed himself past Domingo and went to put his beer in the car, as he did, Domingo started to push him and two of Domingo's female companions started to hit him with their purses. Ben said he told them "There is no need for this 'Mingo, tell them to back off."

Ben said he soon found himself with nothing else to do but protect on the morning of the shooting. Sanchez went on the say that at about 2 a.m. he and his partner found Domingo Garcia lying in the street unconscious. When they could not arouse him they called for an ambulance, attendants soon revived him and took him to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Sgt. Sanchez returned to duties. Approximately an hour later, Sanchez noticed a car pulling up behind his patrol car. Benjamin Garcia Jr. and his brother Anthony Garcia got out of the car and told Sgt. Sanchez that Domingo Garcia had been harhanging out of the passenger side door.

"There was a lot of blood, I was not sure where it was coming from," Sanchez told the jury of 10 men and two women. At that time Henry Garcia's wife Odelia came running from the west shouting, "They shot him, they shot him!"

Sanchez stated that no weapons were at the scene.

The state's next witness was Mrs. Odelia Garcia. She testified that as she and her husband were driving around looking for Domingo Garcia, two "strange" men flagged them

Weir says terrorists may kidnap more

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Benjamin Weir said today that the terrorists who held him captive for 16 months are ready to kidnap other Americans and to execute their remaining six hostages if their sole demand is not met — freedom for 17 prisoners in Kuwait.

"They have released me as a sign of their good intentions," Weir said at a news conference five days after his release. "However, they are not willing to wait much longer."

Weir, a 61-year-old Presbyterian missionary, said his captors were prepared to release the other Americans if their demand for freedom for 17 accused truck bombers, who blew up parts of the U.S. Embassy and other facilities in Kuwait, is met.

Weir said he was released "just before midnight" on Saturday.

"I was suddenly released by my captors. I made contact with the American embassy, whose ambassador and officials promptly and efficiently arranged for me to be transported to the USA. Late Monday evening, I arrived by U.S. government airplane, landing near Norfolk, Va."

He said he agreed to remain secluded because of the possibility that "one or more" of those left behind might also be freed.

Weir, appearing fit, wore a yellow ribbon on his label. Yellow ribbons, a Vietnam War symbol of Americans held prisoner, adorned each pew of the National Presbyterian Center, where Weir spoke.

He said he believes his captors' appeals should be taken seriously. He refused to release details of several aspects of his captivity and release because "I do not want to put in jeopardy the safety and welfare of the remaining hostages."

Weir said he did not know why he had been released and had been told he would be freed only 60-90 minutes beforehand.

Weir said he had a "message from my captors" that he had conveyed to President Reagan when the two spoke Wednesday. He did not say what the message was, but added that he feels there remains only a small "window of opportunity" for gaining the release of the remaining six.

Thanksgiving adjournment may thwart tax plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision by leaders to try to adjourn Congress by Thanksgiving has all but dashed President Reagan's hope of seeing tax reform legislation on his desk by the end of the year.

"I don't think it has any chance of getting through Congress this year," House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said Wednesday. He made the comment following a private meeting with Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., and other top leaders from both sides of the Capitol to discuss the legislative agenda for the remainder of the year.

O'Neill emphasized that the House will pass a tax bill this year, but Dole and the speaker said it was unlikely both houses of Congress could complete action on the measure this year.

"We've agreed that we're going to be out of here before Thanksgiving" for the year, O'Neill said.

Earlier Wednesday, Dole repeated his view that "I don't see how we can finish it this year."

Congressional leaders discussed the calendar as the president was in the midst of another out-of-town stop in his sales campaign for his proposals to revise the federal tax code.

Reagan scoffed at suggestions there is little enthusiasm for the plan he has made one of his top domestic priorities for the fall.

"There are politicians in Washington — some of the same ones who constructed this tax code monstrosity — who say you, the American people, are not interested in tax reform," Reagan told a cheering crowd from the steps of the New Hampshire State House in Concord.

"The political establishment back in Washington says you don't care about these things," he said. "I say the Washington establishment is out of touch with the people."

But members of Congress say the calendar and more pressing business is pushing final action on a major tax bill into next year.

State is losing millions

AUSTIN (AP) — The state is losing millions of dollars in sales tax revenue each year as Texans make more and more purchases by mail, the comptroller's office says.

"This year, out-of-state retailers will legally avoid collecting Texas sales tax on as much as $3.3 billion worth of merchandise sent through the mail," the office said Wednesday in its Fiscal Notes newsletter.

Although purchases from mail order companies outside Texas are taxable, the state has no way to collect the taxes.

Under a 1967 U.S. Supreme Court ruling, states are prohibited from requiring out-of-state retailers to collect sales taxes for them, as in-state retail merchants are required to do.

The problem is getting worse as increasing numbers of consumers purchase from mail order companies, the comptroller says.

Two arrested on racketeering charges

HOUSTON (AP) — A U.S. Magistrate ordered two alleged Houston members of United Bamboo, a Taiwan-based crime gang, held without bond after their arrest by the FBI officials earlier this week.

Chen "Yellowbird" Chih-Yi, 34, and Tien Yun "Peter" Yang, 36, were ordered detained Wednesday by U.S. Magistrate George Kelt. The two men are charged in New York with conducting and conspiring to conduct a racketeering enterprise.

The Houston men were two of 10 men arrested by FBI officials Monday in a roundup of United Bamboo members in three states. Kelt said the two Houston men would be detained until their trial in New York, where the racketeering charges were filed.

David S. Edward, an FBI special agent, testified Wednesday that United Bamboo is a Taiwan-based crime gang involved in contract murder, large-scale drug distribution, kidnapping, extortion and gambling.

Casey says Soviet Union manipulates

DALLAS (AP) — CIA Director William J. Casey says accusations of CIA involvement in the assassination of Indira Gandhi is an example of how the Soviet Union manipulates the foreign press.

Charges that a Korean Air Lines jet was flying a spy mission for the United States when it was shot down also were fed to Western newspapers and spread to other parts of the world by the Soviets, Casey said Wednesday.

Speaking to about 300 people at a Dallas Council of World Affairs luncheon Wednesday, Casey called the foreign press an "unwitting propaganda machine" the Soviets use to change U.S. policies.

He said such manipulation is a "typical Soviet tactic" used in Nicaragua and, increasingly, in other countries.

Casey, a World War II Office of Strategic Services officer and former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, was appointed head of the CIA in 1980 after serving as President Reagan's campaign director.

Administration seeking $54 million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, citing leftist guerrilla attacks in El Salvador, will seek $54 million in counter-terrorism funds to arm and train soldiers and police in five Central American nations, according to a government document.

The administration detailed its plan in a 21-page briefing paper sent to Capitol Hill on Wednesday. Congressional sources, insisting on anonymity, said the formal legislation was expected by the end of the week.

The largest recipient would be El Salvador with $22 million for items ranging from sophisticated communications gear and helicopters to submachine guns and sniper rifles with night-vision scopes. Guatemala would receive $5 million for training in investigations, hostage rescue and riot control and for buying police vehicles and secure radios. Under the plan, Costa Rica would get $9 million, Honduras $11 million and Panama $6 million. The other $1 million would go for guarding witnesses.

Saudi Arabia cutting oil prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials, confirming reports that Saudi Arabia is cutting its oil prices, see the development as "good for this country" but are unwilling to say it will dramatically lower gasoline and hold heating bills.

"Certainly the action is significant, but I'm not sure that it's determinative yet," Energy Secretary John Herrington told reporters Wednesday. "I don't see anything precipitous ... at this point."

Herrington said contracts that Saudi Arabia has signed with three major oil companies — reportedly Exxon, Texaco and Mobil — in order to raise its production only bring the Saudi price down $2 or $3 per barrel in conformance with what other exporting countries already are charging.

Drug trafficking laws stiffen

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Miguel de la Madrid has proposed tough amendments to current drug-trafficking laws that would increase fines and prison terms.

The amendments, sent to the Senate on Tuesday, take special aim at drug traffickers who use children or mentally disabled people to peddle or smuggle drugs.

De la Madrid also proposed stricter controls on permits for building airstrips, and immediate seizure of any narcotics-related objects found in the possession of suspected drug traffickers.

Judges would be required to differentiate between illegal drug use and instances of narcotics prescribed by a doctor as part of a specific treatment. Prison officials would have to ensure continued treatment for convicts needing drugs therapeutically.

Foreign minister summoned

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The foreign minister says South Africa violated its 1984 peace agreement with Mozambique by helping rebels build an airstrip and maintain radio communications, according to a news agency report.

The South African Press Association said Wednesday that Foreign Minister R.F. Botha had been summoned to Mozambique and confronted with evidence from a rebel commander's diary, which was seized by Mozambican forces when they overran insurgent headquarters last week.

It said Botha revealed the violations at a news conference for South African journalists in Pretoria on Wednesday, the eve of talks between President Reagan and Mozambique's head of state, Samora Machel, in Washington.

Books not the only thing in nursing class

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

"The vocational nursing program through Amarillo College is a one year program that entitles the student, upon graduation, to take the state board exam to become a licensed vocational nurse," explains Rose Ann Smith, Hereford's instructor for the Amarillo College Vocational Nursing Program.

Smith also is a registered nurse who has certification as a family nurse practitioner.

Through Smith and A'llan Bradley of Dimmitt, persons in the Deaf Smith and Castro County are able to take the nursing classes to prepare for state board exams.

"At Deaf Smith General Hospital we have 18 LVN's," said Gerry Hollinger, director of nursing. "They can find jobs in this area at physician's offices, the hospital, South Plains Health Providers, both nursing homes, and Home Health Care," says Hollinger.

"The outlook for nursing physicians looks excellent," he added.

"Why the program is so beneficial to the Hereford-Dimmitt area is because the health care institutions in this area do help qualify local people to train to work at jobs in the Hereford-Dimmitt areas," said Smith. "The advantage to the student is not having to worry about commuting to Amarillo."

Smith said she has had to say "Sorry, you'll have to go to Amarillo to learn," when the class did not have enough students.

"The unique thing about this program is that the vocational nurse graduate has the option to continue practicing nursing as an L.V.N. or to use credit obtained in this course toward an advanced degree that would lead to her being a registered nurse," she added.

In the past, the vocational nursing curriculum included taking anatomy, physiology and nutrition, concurrently through Amarillo College. Now those same classes are prerequisites to the nursing program.

"The program is essentially still three semesters," explains Smith, "but the nursing part is now taught and learned in two semesters."

"The first five weeks the students are not out on the floor, out in a nursing unit, and do not come in contact with the patient," describes the head nurse.

That time is spent in a classroom atmosphere and in laboratory work learning basic nursing skills.

It is here that the student begins being indoctrinated into the world of nursing.

The soon-to-be nurses learn legal and ethical aspects of health care in addition to approaching the patient holistically, physically, spiritually, psychologically and sociologically," added Smith.

The student is required to spend three days in a clinic — either in a hospital environment, in a doctor's office, a pediatric clinic or home health agencies.

CONGRESS

Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois compared lists of "must" legislation Wednesday and generally agreed they must act first on:

- Deficit-reduction measures.
- Money bills to finance government operations.
- Renewal of expiring farm subsidy programs.
- An increase in the government's authority to borrow money.
- A renewal of the government's "Superfund" toxic waste cleanup program.
- Possibly trade legislation.

O'Neill, wary of Reagan blaming Democrats for foot-dragging on the tax legislation, always stresses that the House will act this year, but he said, "We didn't anticipate that the tax bill would be ready (for the Senate) until sometime at least the middle of October or late October."

The House Ways and Means Committee's first formal meeting to discuss the tax bill and alternatives to it is scheduled for Sept. 26. No votes are likely before Sept. 30.

Aikman PTA tonight

Aikman Primary School will be holding its first Parent Teachers Association meeting tonight at 7:30 in the school gymnasium.

An open house will also be on the agenda along with a program presented by the third grade.

All parents and students are encouraged to attend.

Two days are spent in class learning medical-surgical nursing, maternal-child health, and psychiatric health.

Class for the nurse begins at 8:30 a.m. and ends at 4:30 p.m.

"These students are really motivated, really work hard," Smith said. "Some of the students, after getting out of class at 4:30, go back to class at 5:30 and 6 p.m. and they really want to learn. They know what they want to do!"

"Nursing isn't just book work," stressed Smith. "It is a combination of theory with patient interaction based on scientific principle."

The students attend class Monday and Tuesday and spend Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in clinical rotation.

"What the community needs to be aware of," notes Smith, "is that through AC, the state board of examiners acknowledge these local facilities as acceptable for teaching purposes for this level of nursing."

Smith added that with all the nursing homes and doctors offices being built in the Hereford-Dimmitt areas, there will be a job demand in their field without having to move to the city.

For more information contact the Vocational Nursing Department or Education Department at Deaf Smith General Hospital in Hereford or Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt.

TRIAL

himself. Ben hit Domingo and knocked him to the ground, as Domingo started to get up, Ben kicked him in the face and retreated back to the car and left.

Ben then went home to tell his parents of what had happened and they advised him to report it to the police and file charges. Ben woke up his brother Anthony and asked him to give him a ride to the police station.

"On the way to the police station while we were stopped at a stop sign, Mingo came running at the car and was trying to pull me out," Ben stated. "We took a left and a few blocks later turned right, that's where we found Sgt. Sanchez. We told him what had happened and he told us to go to the police station to file a report. Then we went to the police station, when we got there, the two ladies that were with Domingo were there."

The women were Mariana Carbajal and Guadalupe Garcia.

"We got into an argument and I told them to tell Domingo that he better stay away from me or else I was going to kick his butt," Ben added.

"On the way home from the police station we decided to drive by Domingo's house to see if the police were going to do anything to him. There was nobody there, we decided to go home. About three blocks from Domingo's, we heard two loud booms, like a shotgun, we turned around to look and we saw a pick-up coming at us and Domingo was hanging out of the passenger side window yelling, 'this is it.' Anthony hit the brakes and the truck passed by and stopped.

Domingo got out of his side with a shotgun. I told Anthony to get the hell out of there. As we drove by, I remembered I had a gun in the car. I reached back, got the rifle, slumped down in the car and fired wildly out the window as they started to chase us. We just kept on going, we went home."

Ben went on to state that on the way home he was so afraid, he threw the rifle out the window.

"I told Mom and Dad that Mingo was after me with a gun. Dad called the police to try to get protection, but nobody came. Dad decided that the family should leave town. We know Mingo, we know how he is," Ben said.

Blackburn then asked Ben if he had aimed the gun at anybody. He responded "No sir, I did not."

"How did you feel when you found out that Henry Garcia was dead?" Blackburn asked.

"I felt bad, I felt bad because that man never did me anything wrong," Ben replied.

"How do you feel now, are you nervous?" Blackburn asked.

"Yes, I am nervous, I am nervous because I am on trial for my life," Ben said.

Blackburn asked him to continue with his account.

"The next day when I had found out that Henry was dead, I went to see a lawyer in Amarillo. We talked for awhile and he said I should turn myself in. We called District Attorney Roland Saul and then started to go to the courthouse in Amarillo, that is when they arrested me."

The state called nine more witnesses, the defense called only one.

Robert Ramos, 22, of Hereford, Rudy Gordeola and his wife Dianna Gordeola, also of Hereford testified that Domingo Garcia was in the Gordeola home during the shooting. All three testified that Domingo, whom none of them had ever met before, had come to their house looking for help. He had been beaten and he was drunk, he also had his three small children with him. After they had talked to him for about 30 minutes, he gave them the telephone number of his sister, Lydia DelToro. Ramos called and soon after that, Johnnie DelToro came and got Domingo and his children and left.

The state then called Antonio Garcia, brother to both Henry and Domingo Garcia. Antonio, 25, also stated that they had been out looking for Domingo when two guys and a lady flagged them down and told them that Domingo was in the alley. They instructed Henry to turn off his lights and pull into the alley so the police would not see them. That is when Antonio got out of the pick-up and went with the two men. He later found out that his brother Henry had been shot.

The state then called on five character witnesses to testify on the reputation of Ben Garcia Jr. All but one witness who did not know him stated that he could not be believed under oath.

The defense then called Florentino Carbajal. Carbajal stated that he had lived next door to Domingo Garcia at the time of the shooting. Carbajal went on to say that his shotgun was missing that night and that he felt his wife, Mariana, had taken it. Mariana was having an affair with Domingo Garcia at the time. Carbajal told his wife to return the shotgun. The shotgun was recovered the next day. Carbajal had no idea of its whereabouts.

After the state's cross-examination, both the state and defense closed.

Final arguments for both sides were scheduled to begin today at 10:30 a.m.

Ann Landers

Find a counselor

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I think I need professional help, but Lord knows I can't afford it. So before I sink $100 an hour into a fraud, I'll state the facts and let you judge:

At least once a month I hit a suicidal depression. The fact that I'm a Christian keeps me from quitting. God knows I hate life enough to quit. I don't hate it just when I'm depressed, I hate it most of the time. I've hated life for 18 years, and I'm only 22. When I'm normal life is joyless and bleak. When I'm depressed, it's agony.

You want to hear something ironic? I work for three professional counselors and I live next door to a psychiatrist. yet I can't bring myself to talk to them. The person inside of me is screaming and begging for help but I am unable to move. Right now I'm so mentally and physically exhausted I am struggling to finish this letter.

I'm a well-educated, highly intelligent person—the result of hiding in books for years. Once I managed to transport myself back to the time I was 7 years of age. (Please don't scoff, I actually did it). Do you know what I was doing? Hiding. I was in my playhouse, hands over my ears, hiding from all the fighting. My parents fought, my grandparents fought, my brothers and sisters always were battling and putting me down.

I went on one of those retreats where you are supposed to "get in touch with your feelings." The only thing I got in touch with was anxiety, humiliation and confusion. It was a religious retreat that promised peace of mind. All it did was dig up a lot of things I've been trying to forget.

I'm too tired to write anymore. I wish you would print this letter. But you'll probably think I am totally nuts and toss it aside. Too bad, because I have come to respect your opinion and would like to know what you think.—A ROUND PEG IN A SQUARE HOLE

DEAR PEG: I think you are a bright young woman who is tortured, miserable and, like that 7-year-old, still hiding from yourself.

There is no way you can conquer your mental illness without help. Forget about the people you work with or the psychiatrist next door. Hook up with a counselor with whom you have no social or business connection. Life can be beautiful but you have to give it a chance. Good luck and please write again in six months.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to say a word to "Fellow Traveler," who complained that young people never offer their bus seats to women and old folks.

I used to, but since I've received so many sarcastic responses, I've quit. One lady said, "Do I look like I'm too ancient to stand? Your offer is an insult." Another barked, "Don't be such a smart aleck. I'm in perfect health, thank you."

Like many of my friends, I am uncertain. How can one tell the offer will be appreciated?—WANT TO BE A GENTLEMAN

DEAR W.B.: There is no sure way, but I hope you won't let a few lemons sour you on the whole human race. Continue to be a gentleman. It's worth chancing an occasional rebuff. The elderly who need to sit will be grateful.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents and a long, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Nieman gives program on life insurance

Steve Nieman presented a program concerning life insurance when members of Toujours Amis Study Club met Tuesday evening for their first regular business meeting of the club year.

During the business session, the club discussed a project for the Satellite Work Training Center, "A Dollar A Door," for Sept. 29.

Also, reports from the Town 'n' Country Jubilee committees were heard and the club noted their appreciation to Hereford citizens for their support of their jubilee booth and the Hereford Brand and KPAN Radio Station for publicity.

of President Nena Veazey. The opening day meeting was held at the home of Melissa Richardson for a "Krazy Kids Carnival" complete with a bicycle parade and costumes.

Hostesses for the meeting were Camille Williamson, Becky Reinart and Rhonda Long. They served desserts to Cindy Black, Patti Brown, Kathy Carthel, Debbie Donaldson, Shannon Hagar, Lori Hall, Karen Keeling, Ange Lauderback, Elaine McNutt, Leisa Lewis, Rhonda Nieman, Laurie Owens, Donna Tidmore, Nena Veazey, Marsha Winget and Tricia Workman.

The next meeting was scheduled Oct. 1 at 7 p.m.

Scouting registration to begin with party

Registration for a Christian scouting program, open to all denominations, will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday with a kickoff party at the Church of the Nazarene.

The program, called Caravans, will be for children four years old through sixth grade, according to Jeff Love, children's minister at the church.

Weekly meetings for the groups will be on Wednesdays with group guides also helping the children with projects through the week. Most pro-

Herd aims to break losing streak in home opener Friday

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces play their 1985 football home opener Friday when they will aim to get a victory after two season-opening losses, and to do it, the Herd will battle a Lubbock High School team that is likely to invade Whiteface Stadium with enthusiasm and motivation.

Change made in Hereford High volleyball schedule

A change in the Hereford High School volleyball schedule has been made for matches originally scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 28, reports Martha Emerson, coordinator of girls' athletics.

The Sept. 28 matches against Tascosa have been changed to Friday, Sept. 27 at 6 p.m., to avoid a conflict with the high school football game between Hereford and Amarillo. That football contest scheduled for 2 p.m. Sept. 28 in Amarillo.

The Hereford-Tascosa volleyball matches will not be in conflict with the Tascosa football scheduled, since Tascosa plays on Thursday, Sept. 26 against Lubbock Monterey.

This Saturday, Hereford hosts Palo Duro in a District 3-5A match. The varsity match will be played after the junior varsity match, which starts at 2 p.m.

onado last week for the first time since 1970, 6-0. The Westerners scored the lone touchdown of the game when Michael Narvaiz threw a second half touchdown pass.

"Lubbock will come here on cloud nine after defeating Coronado," said Hereford head coach Jerry Taylor. "They're a good team and will come to play well against the Herd. They're going to be a double handful for the Herd."

Lubbock High School lost its season opener to Lubbock Dunbar, 28-6.

Hereford is ranked 130th in the state among class AAAAA schools this week in the Harris Rating System with a power rating of 160, after being ranked 85th before last Friday's 38-0 loss to Palo Duro.

Lubbock, ranked 214th with a power rating of 142 before its victory over Lubbock Coronado, has the same ranking and power rating this week. However, Lubbock Coronado dropped from a ranking of 154th, with a power rating of 156, to a ranking of 221st with 140 power rating points.

For the Whitefaces, they will aim at ridding themselves of fumbles and mistakes of last week's disaster. Palo Duro gained possession of the ball in great field position because of three fumbles that were lost by the Herd, and held a 31-0 halftime lead over Hereford.

"Our offense was extremely inept. We were plagued by fumbles and mistakes," Coach Taylor said.

"Palo Duro's noseguard was extremely effective. We didn't block him. He caused several fumbles and destroyed our execution. Hopefully we have removed all miscues from our system," Taylor continues.

"Seldom do you see as many fumbles in one game nor as many to be recovered by only one of the two teams," he adds.

About the Herd defense, Taylor said, "I was pleased with our defense even though we gave up 450 yards and 38 points. Palo Duro received the ball too many times with good field position.

"Palo Duro has a good football team, probably the best team in the Panhandle during my three years here. They were extremely opportunistic last Friday night.

"Their linebacker play was superb, but I doubt that they are 38 points better than the Herd. I still believe we can play with them."

Taylor said that Brett Clements, who could not play at the center position last week because of injuries in a hand, is not likely to start at center this week either.

Other than that, the Herd is a healthy team without injuries, with only one player out of action still—Curtis Cotten, who will be out of the lineup for at least two more games after having an operation for a neck infection.

Coach Taylor and his Herd team certainly would delight to repeat last year's defensive effort against the Lubbock High Westerners.

In a 24-13 victory over Lubbock in 1984, the Whiteface defense limited the Westerners to just 24 yards in 25 rushing attempts. Although Lubbock passed for 184 yards, just 17 completions in 43 attempts were allowed by the Herd defense.

Lubbock scored first in last season's game against Hereford for a 7-0 lead, but the Whitefaces led 13-7 at halftime and 24-7 at the end of three quarters of play.

Whitefaces Play At Home Friday

The Hereford High School varsity football team plays its home opener of the 1985 season Friday at 8 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium. The Whitefaces will work at winning their first game of the season when they battle the Lubbock High School Westerners.

Combination of volleyball and racquetball

'Wallyball' is new game introduced at YMCA

A new game in which volleyball is played on a racquetball court is being introduced at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA to sports and recreation buffs.

Weldon Knabe, YMCA director, notes that the game of "wallyball" is played very much like volleyball, but with a few changes in the rules.

Among the rules are that the ball may be served within three feet from the back right corner, and a side wall may be used in the serve.

The ball is out of bounds whenever it hits the ceiling or the back wall on the opponent's side, or if two or more walls are hit consecutively on a serve of volley.

The back wall is in play only on the side of the team that is returning the serve or volley, but only if the player on the team receiving the serve or volley touches the ball first.

When the ball is hit outside the court area, the ball is declared dead, the point replayed, and no loss of point or serve called. However, if the ball is hit into the spectator's gallery on a third hit or volley, a point or side out is called. If the ball hits the opponent's ceiling before leaving the court area, the ball is called out of bounds and a side out declared.

Two, three or four people may play on each team in wallyball.

The player in the back position of the court must put the ball in play by hitting it with one hand only, or with any part of his arm to get the ball over the net and into the opponent's court.

A serve is good if the ball passes over the net without touching a member of the serving team or the net. A served ball that hits a wall on either the serving team's side or the receiving side is good if the ball hit only one wall before landing in the opponent's court. The ball may hit two or more walls only if hit by the team in possession of the ball, and only if a player on that team touches the ball first. If the ball crosses the net after contacting two or more walls without making contact with a player, a side out or loss of serve is called.

A player may raise his hands above his shoulders close to the net in an attempt to intercept the ball from an opponent. A block does not count as one of the three successive contacts allowed for a team and may be attempted before the ball passes over the net, while the ball is still in the opponent's court or just as the ball crosses the net.

A block is good only if the ball is touched by the player attempting the block.

No climbing the wall is allowed to block a set or serve.

A player may hit the ball such that it deflects off the ball wall and goes over the net.

Any player may spike the ball in the two-player game, three-player game, or four-player game.

Dinks are not allowed with an open hand, but must be done with a closed fist or with the knuckles.

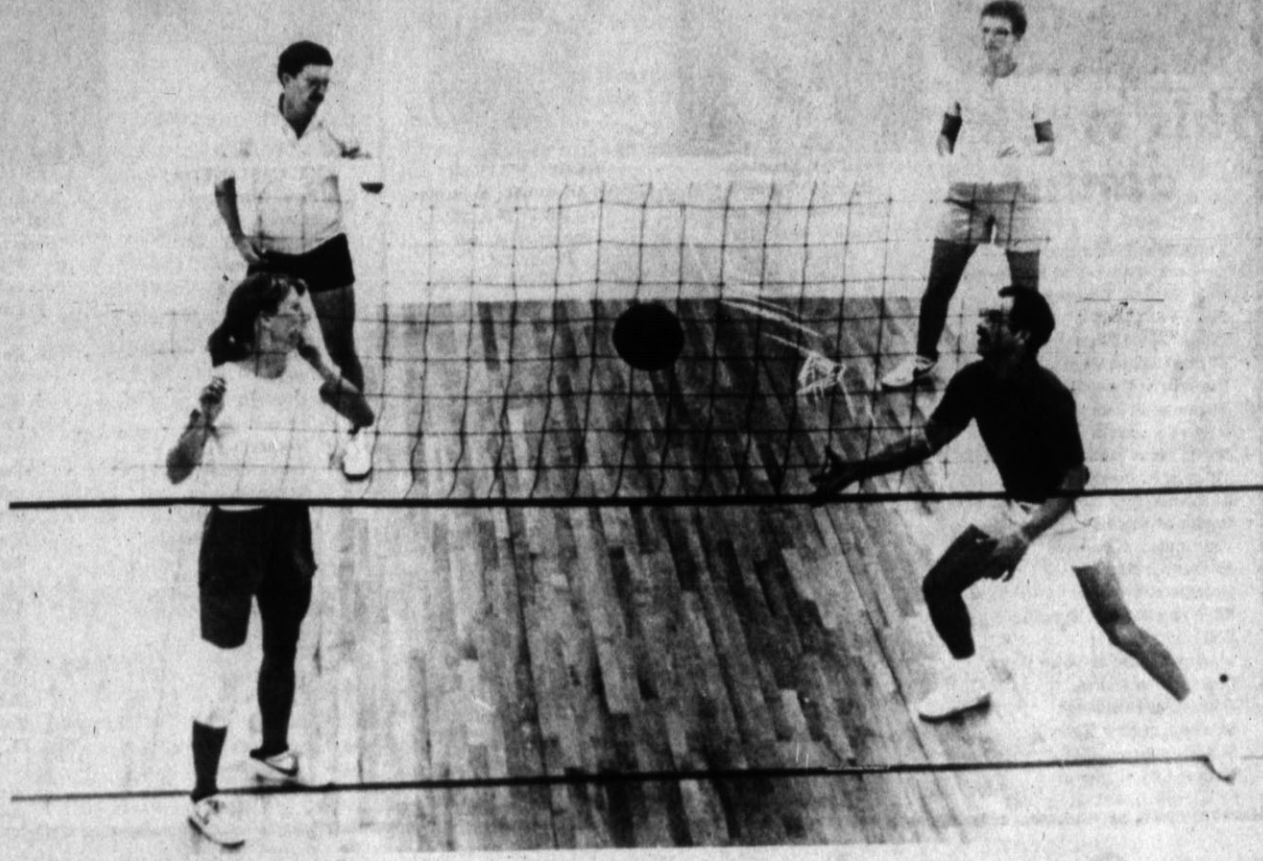

There are also some rules for games in which men and women are playing on the same team. These rules are exceptions to these other rules outlined above:

Men and women shall alternate service within a team.

A woman must make one contact with the ball if the ball is played more than once by a team.

A block does not count as one of the three contacts allowed for a team. If the ball is blocked by a man, another man may hit the ball back into the opponent's court.

Men are not allowed to spike the ball in games which have men and women on the same team.

Playing "Wallyball"

The game of "wallyball" is a new game being introduced at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA. The game is a combination of volleyball and racquetball, played on a racquetball court. Trying out the new

Hard Work

Our early settlers knew that, if they were going to survive in their new surroundings, they would have to work hard. Everyday there were many chores to be accomplished around the home. They could rely only on themselves to get the job done.

In 1900, the First National Bank of Hereford was founded. The folks who started our bank knew it would take a lot of hard work to make it successful.

As we look back over 85 years, we're glad we could lend a helping hand to a lot of people.

We're proud to be a part of Hereford and the Texas Panhandle.

But our hard work isn't finished yet. At First National Bank of Hereford, we're still pioneering new ways of service and security for you and your family.

Herd drops to 130th in Harris rankings

The Harris Rating System dropped Hereford from 85th to 130th in its rankings after the Whitefaces lost to Palo Duro 38-0, although the power rating for Hereford dropped just four points, from 164 to 160.

Hereford and Palo Duro went into last Friday's game as the top two rated teams from District 3-5A. The Dons, who were rated 29th before that game with a power rating of 173 points, are ranked 17th this week with a power rating of 177.

Plainview and Amarillo moved ahead of Hereford in this week's rankings. Last week, Plainview was ranked 99th and Amarillo was rated 111th. Plainview is ranked 45th this week and Amarillo is now 113th.

This week's top 10 in each class, plus West Texas teams, are as follows (last week's ranking and power rating in parenthesis):

BASKETBALL
NEW YORK (AP) — Center Patrick Ewing, the No. 1 draft choice in the National Basketball Association draft, has signed a multi-year contract with the New York Knicks, a team spokesman said.

Ewing, regarded as the best defensive center to come out of college since Bill Russell in the 1950s, reportedly will earn more than $16 million. The length of the contract was not known.

In his four years at Georgetown, the Hoyas went to the finals of the NCAA Championship Tournament three times, winning the title in 1984.

BASEBALL
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, mired in the basement of the National League West, fired general manager Tom Haller and field manager Jim Davenport and named Al Rosen the club's new president and GM, and Roger Craig as the manager who would "lead the Giants out of the wilderness."

Giants owner Bob Lurie also restated his position that this is his "year of decision" about whether to keep the club in much-criticized Candlestick Park, saying the issue of the team's long-term home will be decided in the coming weeks.

In a 1934 game against Washington, Lou Gehrig of the Yankees hit three triples that didn't count. The game was rained out before it went the necessary 4½ innings.

Joe McCarthy was the first man to manage a World Series team in each league. McCarthy was the pilot of the 1929 Chicago Cubs, who lost to the Philadelphia Athletics, and the 1932 Yankees, who swept the Cubs.

Pitcher Rick Rhoden has played his major league career for the Los Angeles Dodgers, who play their home games on grass, and for the Pittsburgh Pirates, who play their home games on artificial turf. About the differences between grass fields and artificial turf, Rhoden has said, "The biggest difference on AstroTurf is not the ball that get through the infield. It's the balls that get through the outfield. On hits down the line, they get to the wall for automatic doubles. On natural grass, you can cut them off."

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice that on August 20, 1985, the Company filed tariffs which propose revisions to the Joint User Tariffs and implementation of Shared Tenant Services Tariffs.

If the tariffs are approved by the Public Utility Commission, the Company will grandfather existing customers to the Joint User Tariffs and totally withdraw the Joint User Tariffs one year after the date of approval of the proposed tariff revisions, with one exception. Even after the one year period, existing single-line customers subscribing to Joint User Tariffs may continue their service under certain conditions.

Also, if the tariffs are approved, the provision of shared tenant services will require partitioned switching equipment.

No new rates are being proposed in the aforementioned tariffs. As a result of the partitioning of switching equipment, some existing customers may require additional PBX trunks. If so, the Company's revenues may increase. The Company is unable, at this time, to estimate the additional revenues, if any, which would result therefrom.

The Commission received these tariffs as Docket 6450 and a prehearing conference will be held at 10:00 A.M., Monday, September 23, 1985, at the Commission's offices at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, in Austin, Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. Motions to intervene should be filed with the Commission on or before 4:00 P.M., Friday, September 20, 1985. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Aviso Público

De conformidad con una orden de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company anuncia el registro de nuevas tarifas, las cuales proponen ciertas modificaciones de las Tarifas para Usuarios Mancomunados (Joint User Tariffs) y la implementación de Tarifas para Servicios Compartidos por Inquilinos (Shared Tenant Services Tariffs).

De aprobar la Comisión tales tarifas, la Compañía mantendrá vigentes los acuerdos con usuarios actuales en lo que respecta a Tarifas para Usuarios Mancomunados, pero discontinuará tales tarifas a partir del primer aniversario de la fecha en que se aprueben las nuevas tarifas. Sin embargo, existe una excepción; aún después de tal aniversario, los clientes con líneas sencillas que actualmente cuentan con el servicio para Usuarios Mancomunados podrán seguir con tal servicio sujeto a ciertas condiciones.

De aprobarse las nuevas tarifas, las disposiciones correspondientes a los Servicios Compartidos por Inquilinos requerirán el uso de conmutadores separados.

Las citadas tarifas no proponen nuevas cuotas. Sin embargo, es posible que debido a la separación de equipos de conmutación, algunos clientes actuales requerirán nuevos troncales PBX. De ser así, los ingresos de la Compañía podrían aumentar. En la actualidad, la Compañía no puede determinar el monto de ingresos adicionales que resultarían de tales tarifas.

La Comisión ha registrado este asunto bajo el Docket 6450. Se llevará a cabo una audiencia preliminar para discutir todo asunto relacionado con el Servicio Compartido por Inquilinos el lunes 23 de septiembre de 1985, a las 10:00 de la mañana, en las oficinas de la Comisión, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, en Austin, Texas.

Toda persona que desee intervenir o participar en el presente proceso debe notificar a la Comisión lo antes posible. Las solicitudes de intervención deberán presentarse ante la Comisión antes del viernes 20 de septiembre de 1985 a las 4:00 de la tarde. Las solicitudes de intervención, participación o información deben dirigirse a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Para obtener mayor información debe llamar a Public Utility Commission, Consumer Affairs Division, (512) 458-0223, o (512) 458-0227, o al (512) 458-0221 si requiere teletipo para personas con impedimentos de audición.

Scott hurls Astros to 7-2 win over Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Scott's hot and so are the Houston Astros. But it's too late, for 1985 at least.

"Hopefully we can keep it up and end up in second place," Scott said Wednesday night after he won his fifth straight decision, a 7-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, to run his record to 18-7.

"It's late, but better late than never."

The victory was the eighth in a row for the Astros, who also have won 19 of their last 22 outings.

"It's the best streak I've seen since I've been with the team," said Scott, who had a 29-44 career record with the Astros and New York Mets before this season.

While the Astros, currently 3½ games behind Cincinnati in the National League's Western Division, might be extremely pleased to finish second this season, the losing team Wednesday night wouldn't exactly be overjoyed to be the runnerup.

Los Angeles' loss, combined with Cincinnati's victory over Atlanta, sliced the Dodgers' division lead to 6½ games over the Reds heading into their final 17 games of the season.

Scott said he thinks the Dodgers, who've lost three of their last four games, sorely miss slugger Pedro Guerrero.

"The Dodgers are not the same club without Guerrero in there," he said. "They beat us badly early in the season, that's probably why we're out of it now."

Guerrero has missed 13 games with a sprained left wrist and his status remains on a day-to-day basis. He had hit eight homers, driven in 14 runs and had a .356 average against the Astros this season, as the Dodgers whipped them seven consecutive times.

Scott, who credits his success this season to a split-finger fastball he developed in the spring, gave up four hits over six innings, walking five and striking out two. Jeff Calhoun pitched three hitless innings to earn his fourth save.

With the score tied 2-2 in the seventh inning, pinch-hitter Burt Pena, batting for Scott, hit a sacrifice fly to right to ignite a four-run Houston rally.

Pena's sacrifice scored Mark Bailey, who had doubled to lead off the inning against reliever Ken Howell, 4-6. Dickie Thon's third hit of the game, an infield single, moved Bailey to third.

After Pena's sacrifice fly, Bill Doran was walked intentionally. Jim Pankovits singled to score Thon and Kevin Bass walked to load the bases. Then Dodgers first baseman Greg Brock let a grounder by Jose Cruz go under his glove for an error as two more runs scored.

An error by shortstop Mariano Duncan allowed the seventh Houston run in the ninth inning.

Houston took a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning against Los Angeles starter Rick Honeycutt on Cruz's sacrifice fly and Thon's RBI single.

The Dodgers tied the score in the fifth on pinch-hitter Terry Whitfield's bases-loaded walk and a run-scoring double play grounder by Mariano Duncan.

Twins edge Rangers 4-3 in battle of cellar dwellers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Tim Teufel, whose two-run double sparked the Minnesota Twins' 4-3 victory over the Texas Rangers on Wednesday, felt the series between the two cellar teams in the American League West had its advantages.

"We know we're not in contention here, so I think we were more relaxed," Teufel said. "Now, we've just got to carry that over on the road."

The Twins, in sixth place in the AL West, take a five-game winning streak into their final road trip, which includes a three-game series in Texas starting Tuesday. The Rangers, after losing six of their last seven, head home for all but three of their last 16 games.

Teufel took advantage of Rangers pitcher Charlie Hough, who suffered his fourth straight loss, with a sixth-inning double to left that scored Mark Salas and Roy Smalley. Both had singled to right before Hough walked Gary Gaetti to load the bases.

"I couldn't strike the guy out," Hough said of Gaetti, adding that his knuckleball was "so-so."

"It was a slow knuckleball. I just hit it right and he made a great pitch, down in," said Teufel of the double that broke a 1-1 tie. Greg Gagne followed with a sacrifice fly to drive home Gaetti and give the Twins a 4-1 lead.

Ken Schrom, 9-12, picked up the victory for the Twins to give himself a 3-0 season record against Hough, 14-16. Hough was making his 34th start, tops in the American League.

"We just happened to wind up in the same spot in the rotation," said Schrom. "He's been tough on us before, and I think anytime we face Charlie Hough, we know we're going to have to give a good effort."

John Butcher, in his first relief role as a Twin, took over for Schrom in the seventh after Schrom walked Gary Ward. Butcher struck out Duane Walker before Don Slaught blasted his seventh home run to left field to score Ward and pull the Rangers within 4-3. Ron Davis came on in the ninth to gain his 23rd save.

The Twins took a 1-0 lead in the first when Mike Stenhouse hit a sacrifice fly to score Kirby Puckett, who had singled and taken third when Hough overthrew first base in an attempted pick off.

Steve Buechele led off the third with a double for the Rangers, and George Wright and Curtis Wilkerson followed with singles, scoring Buechele for a 1-1 tie.

"Charlie had a bad inning, and it cost him and it cost us," Rangers Manager Bobby Valentine said. "But we had chances. ... We didn't play good enough to win. That's about all I can tell you."

Detroit defeats Yankees, 5-2

Niekro fails to win No. 300

By HARRY ATKINS

AP Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit slugger Darrell Evans suspended his friendship with Phil Niekro long enough to help deprive the 46-year-old knuckleballer of a 300th career pitching victory.

Evans, for years a teammate of Niekro when the two played for the Atlanta Braves, ripped one of Niekro's knuckleballs into the upper deck in right field for his 34th home run, sparking the Tigers to a 5-2 victory over the Yankees Wednesday night.

It was New York's sixth straight loss and left the Yankees five games behind Toronto in the American League East with only 17 games to play.

"I love the man and he's a great competitor, but when you get between the lines, it's all business out there," Evans said. "When you're on the field, you play hard. You've got to earn it. You can't lay down."

Niekro, twice beaten in attempts to win his 300th, agreed.

"Darrell's in a position where he's got a chance to lead this league in home runs," Niekro said. "Once the game starts, it's a whole different perspective. When I see him tomorrow, we'll go back to being the good friends we've always been."

Just as after his previous start, a 3-2 loss to Toronto that began the Yankee skid, Niekro played down his personal setback.

"I've won 299 and everybody's making a big deal out of one more ballgame," Niekro said. "We'd better put everything in perspective, especially this time of year when we're five behind Toronto."

Niekro was also sorry to disappoint friends and relatives who made the trip to see him pitch.

"I feel bad for everybody coming up here from Lansing, Ohio, and Columbus, and all my relatives in Dearborn," Niekro said. "I feel bad for

The record for most consecutive strikeouts recorded by a pitcher in a World Series game is six by Hod Eller of the Cincinnati Reds and Moe Drabowsky of the Baltimore Orioles.

Eller did it in the second and third innings of Game 5 in the 1919 World Series, and Drabowsky did it in the fourth and fifth innings of Game 1 of the 1966 World Series.

that. But, you know, the sun's going to come up tomorrow. I'll guarantee it."

Niekro figures to get three more starts this season in his bid to become only the 18th pitcher in major-league history to win 300. Should he get No. 300, it would mark the first time since 1890 that two pitchers reached the milestone in the same season. Chicago's Tom Seaver did it in August against the Yankees.

"You can knock me down, but I'm not going to lay there," Niekro said.

Krieg, Turner are AFC players of week in NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Dave Krieg, who threw five touchdown passes, and wide receiver Daryl Turner, who caught four of them as Seattle beat San Diego 49-35 in National Football League action last week, were named as the American Football Conference's offensive players of the week.

Kansas City linebacker Gary Spani, who registered nine tackles as the Chiefs limited the Raiders to 67 yards rushing in winning 36-20, was named the defensive player.

"I'm going to get back up and come back at it again. In the long run, I'm going to win somewhere along the line. I believe you've got to accept your losses without being defeated. I'm not defeated. No one on this ballclub is. We just lost and we've got to accept that."

COLOR

Color is a very important aspect of wine. It provides a great deal of information about the age and manner in which a wine has been matured and stored. All wines, whether red, rose or white, tend to turn brown as they mature. A properly matured red wine should have a deep ruby color, perhaps with tinges of brown on its edges. A sound white wine may have golden highlights but it will not exhibit any brown color. Obviously, a wine that has turned brown after only a few years in the bottle may have something wrong with it. It could have been improperly made or improperly stored.

At THE STORE we carry a marvelous selection of red and white wines, both imported and domestic. If you are planning a romantic dinner for two, let us suggest a wine that will best compliment your menu. If you are invited to friends this weekend, keep in mind that a bottle of wine makes a terrific hostess gift. You'll find us at 400 N. 25 Mile, 364-7802. Open: Mon.-Sat. 10-9 use our drive up door until midnight for beer and wine, on Sun. only beer and wine is available from 12-12.

Red table wines tend to change color less readily than whites.

Bluebird adoption story takes wing quickly

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — Since its publication last winter, Dr. Shiril Brunell's book, "I Hear Bluebirds," has not only become a best seller for inspirational books of the type, but is also being considered by Disney Studios for development as a motion picture.

Ms. Brunell is a clinical psychologist and naturalist who has both her office and her home on Tennessee Road just east of Texarkana. Her book essentially tells how she rescued two infant bluebirds after their nest was attacked by sparrows and how she raised them for two months until they were ready to be set free. She focuses on the most tender aspects of all nature in a deeply inspired work.

In the book, Ms. Brunell names her baby bluebirds "Samson" and "Baby Sister." She chronicles their growing up in human terms, presenting the message that life is meant to be lived and risk is part of living.

More than 6,000 copies of "I Hear Bluebirds" have been sold in the first few months it has been on the market.

Ms. Brunell started the book as a simple developmental history of the birds, to show the patients in her office. After the baby birds were orphaned, she started taking pictures of them every day and noting their developmental stages. During the first week she realized that not only was she writing a little note describing what each picture was about, but also writing about her own feelings and growing attachment for the tiny birds.

She had owned puppies, kittens and a horse when she was a child. But she had never dealt with birds before, and she didn't know they could be as responsive as her childhood pets had been. She discovered her bluebirds would climb on her shoulder and that Baby Sister would peck at her ear set up an incessant chatter and respond to her voice, while Samson would watch like a jealous child.

The first time she let the two bluebirds fly free, Baby Sister disappeared, never to be seen again. Samson pined away over the loss of his sister for a couple of days before adjusting.

Since the publication of her book, Ms. Brunell has received a great amount of fan mail. She reports that the individuals who have been the most responsive have been older women who relate to the human terms of the book and who have experienced the loss of a loved one and then have overcome the depression brought on by the loss.

Ms. Brunell said a screen-play for a film version of her book has been written by a Disney screenwriter and that the studio is considering using an animation process combined with live actors. If she had her own way, she said, she would like to see Katherine Hepburn play the lead role and to have to book reproduced as a Disney Classic.

Ms. Brunell was born and raised in Alamogordo, N.M., she remembers well when the first atomic bomb was exploded in the desert not far from her home in 1945.

"The bomb started right out there in the desert — also outside my window. The sky lit up and we all thought something had fallen from the sky. The sirens were set off.

"With my sensitivities toward nature and my concerns for humanity and with the amount of human wreckage that I have seen, and with the devastation of our wildlife and our earth, I feel that sort of started the mega-destruction. I could go on and on about this."

As a child, Ms. Brunell had a learning disability that she overcame so well she became a National Honor Student. She credits her mother with giving her the guidance she needed in overcoming her disability. She said her family encouraged her to take responsibilities, and she assumed the challenge of learning with enthusiasm.

In the 1950s she had a career as a beauty queen and a model and worked on network television as a "Queen For A Day" hostess. Her desire to work with emotionally disturbed adults and learning disabled children eventually led her to return to college in the mid-1960s, where she earned a doctorate in psychology.

Ms. Brunell moved to Texarkana in 1969 as juvenile services director (and later chief psychologist) of the Northeast Texas and Southwest Arkansas Mental Health Center (which has since been divided into two agencies). She went into private practice in 1972, specializing in general clinical psychology and in treating learning disabled children.

Ms. Brunell has written 10 chapters in a second book that is tentatively titled, "Conversations with J. Arthur Rufus Robin." The premise of the new book has Ms. Brunell confessing to a pet robin things she wouldn't confess to a human being. When the robin has been bad, she calls him "J. Arthur;" when he has been good, she calls him "Rufus."

The robin is a logical topic for Ms. Brunell, who has no shortage of exposure to animal life. As she sat in her office recently discussing her writing, the robin was perhaps just on the other side of her picture window — a view which also included doves, thrushes, at least 18 other birds and two rabbits.

Fish oil may be future lifesaver

The term "omega fatty acids" may become the buzzword of the 1980s. At last, scientists have defined a new family of polyunsaturates that shows enormous potential to retard arteriosclerosis.

The hottest member of this welcome family is called "omega-3." Remember the name. It may save your life. It is an active ingredient in fish oil.

Dietary fats can be classified into two broad categories: saturated and unsaturated. In general, the more saturated a fat, the more firm it is. As more carbon double bonds accept hydrogen, a stringy fat molecule becomes heavier and harder. Wax is fully saturated; so is the animal tallow we call lard.

Cholesterol is a form of saturated fat. When eaten in abundance, cholesterol tends to form slimy deposits within the linings of our blood vessels. With time, metabolic debris sticks to the cholesterol, causing progressive arterial obstruction until circulatory insufficiency develops. Heart attacks and strokes can result.

A few years ago, biochemists verified that unsaturated fats do not behave in quite the same way as their greasy saturated relatives. The more unsaturated a fat, the more double carbon bonds it has and the lighter it is. When humans were fed unsaturated fatty acids in place of saturated fats, blood cholesterol plummeted. Hence, there was an almost-unanimous consensus that the prudent consumer would do well to substitute more polyunsaturates for saturates in his diet.

Predictably, this led to a revolution in American eating habits. Gone were the dripping sirloins, the crisp pork roasts, the beef Wellington. Health-conscious citizens teetered, paused, and then ferociously committed themselves to products containing corn oil or safflower oil.

Polyunsaturated vegetable oils contain linoleic acid as a major constituent. This fat belongs to a class called omega-6 fatty acids. Although linoleic acid is an improvement over saturated fat in the diet, it is a poor cousin to the omega-3 clan.

Banker's wife shot to death in alleged extortion scheme

By SHEILA ALLEE, Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A neighbor said they were "Mr. and Mrs. Ideal Couple," a banker and his wife, living in an exclusive residential area.
But today, police were trying to find Rebecca Jo Patton's killer.
She was found shot to death Wednesday after her husband, Frank, received an extortion call at his office from a man who demanded money and threatened to harm his wife, the FBI said.
Police found Mrs. Patton, 42, lying face down in the hallway of the couple's home in Alamo Heights, only 20 minutes after her husband alerted authorities, FBI spokesman Patrick Cowley said.
Patton is president of Castle Hills National Bank. "They are Mr. and Mrs. Ideal couple," Bud Coffey, a next-door neighbor of the Pattons, told the San Antonio Express-News. "This incident is going to scare my wife to death. It is such a shame. I can't get over it. She was a lovely lady."

Patton received the anonymous call about 2:40 p.m. Wednesday. He immediately called the FBI and local police and told them about the man's threats.
"They did not ask for a particular dollar amount," Cowley said. "They told him that they wanted 'just as much as you could get your hands on.'"
The caller told Patton to go to an area shopping mall and wait by a pay telephone for a second call with further details, the agent said.
Cowley said the caller never identified himself nor gave any indication if he was working with others. He also said some money was put together at the bank for a ransom, but he declined to say how much or what happened to it.
FBI agents staked out the pay telephone at the mall, but the call never came. Police officers found Mrs. Patton's body about 3 p.m. in the couple's yellow and white frame house.
"They could see a woman through a window where she lay bleeding," Cowley said. Mrs. Patton suffered multiple gunshot wounds.
Two daughters, Amy, 14, and Kathleen, 10, were picked up by police at school and placed in protective custody, he said.
Investigators on Wednesday had been unable to find witnesses who had heard or seen anything unusual except for a white van in the area.

"There was one phone call. One person on the phone. The possibility exists there were accomplices," he said. "We haven't been able to develop any leads out of the neighborhood."
Coffey described the Patton family as "highly educated, well-traveled" and said, "They are very Christian people. They never bother you and they always help you."
Another neighbor, Judy Raines, said, "I think they pretty much kept to themselves. My daughter was telling me they never let anyone inside the house. (Mrs. Patton) was always at home, working in the yard or around the house."

tee member, complained of unfair coverage.
Wilber C. Fields, head of the Baptist Press, gave the panel a preliminary guideline draft, outlining operating policies the agency has followed for years.
The study group reviewed the draft and requested further study until a February meeting of the executive committee, which must give final approval of the proposal.
Jackson said some guidelines may be strengthened. "We live in a climate in our country now — not just in our denomination — where lawsuits and complaints, at industry and corporate levels and elsewhere, are common," he said.
"There are more and more reasons to spell out such guidelines and give the scheme of our thinking," he said.
In other action, the chairman of a panel appointed this year to help heal the rift between moderates and conser-

Press guidelines not aimed at restricting Baptist Agency

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Proposed guidelines for the Southern Baptist Convention's news agency are not intended to censor coverage, a church official says.
A panel was appointed to study guidelines for the Baptist Press, which publishes about 1,000 articles a year for 450 news outlets.
"Guidelines will help Baptist Press maintain a high level of responsibility to John Q. Baptist," said the Rev. Jimmy Jackson of Huntsville, Ala., a member of the convention's executive committee and chairman of the study group.
"We're not talking about a limitation of freedom. But we do want to assure that all individuals are given a fair shake in Baptist Press," he said as the executive committee ended a three-day meeting.
Guidelines were proposed this year after Judge Paul Pressler of Houston, a conservative executive commitvatives asked executive committee members "to pray daily for the peace committee and grow not weary in doing it."

"Respect the request of the convention to lower the profile and restrain unnecessary rhetoric regarding the controversies among us," the Rev. Charles Fuller, of Roanoke, Va., told the members.
The 14.4 million-member denomination has been split over biblical doctrine and church politics.
Conservatives claim moderates are sanctioning theological liberalism, while moderates counter that conservatives are trying take over the denomination by raising a false issue.
The executive committee also agreed to authorize a $10 million loan to the convention's Radio and TV Commission, which has incurred debts primarily from launching the cable network American Christian Television Service.

Donald W. Brown was shot in the back Tuesday night during a struggle with the officer, wogwas working as a grocery store security guard, police said.
Brown's parents, Emma Smith and Freddie Brown, said their son has lost the use of his legs.
"The doctor assured us that he is paralyzed and would be permanently," Freddie Brown said. "They left the bullet in, because they said right now it might cause more damage to remove it."
Brown, who was unarmed and who has not been charged, was listed in serious condition Wednesday at Brackenridge Hospital.
"I'm trying not to be bitter, because I don't want that in my heart," his mother said. "What I need to do right now is pray, and that's what I'm doing. But it's hard not to be bitter."
Assistant Police Chief George Phifer said Patrol Officer Ruth Ann Bullock, 29, has been placed on restricted duty while the department investigates the shooting.
"We tell our officers out there to only use deadly force to protect their life or someone else's," he said.
But Phifer said he wasn't sure if departmental policy on the use of deadly force would apply to the shooting since Ms. Bullock was off-duty.
"It is a gray area," he said. "It becomes difficult when a person is acting basically as a private employee."

Shoplifting suspect paralyzed

AUSTIN (AP) — A 25-year-old man suspected of shoplifting a package of pork chops lay paralyzed Wednesday with an off-duty police officer's bullet lodged near his spine.
Police said Ms. Bullock chased Brown and another man out of the store and down the street for about two blocks after she was alerted by a store employee.
The three struggled and Brown was shot once with a .38-caliber handgun, police said, adding that a package of pork chops was found on the street nearby.
The other man disappeared during the scuffle, police said.
Deputy Chief Don Doyle said investigators have not determined whether Ms. Bullock fired deliberately or whether the gun went off by accident.
Brown's parents said that even if their son was trying to steal the meat, he should not have been shot.
"I don't say shoplifting is right, but to shoot somebody for shoplifting?" Freddie Brown said.
Both said Brown had never been in trouble with the law and didn't need to steal food.
"There certainly was no reason for him to shoplift or to take anything like that," Ms. Smith said. "There's plenty of food in the box, and if he needed money, he could come to his father or me."
Ms. Bullock has been on the force about a year, Phifer said, and has not been involved in previous shootings.
He said the department routinely investigates any shooting by an officer and routinely places the officer on restricted duty during the investigation.

While Paul and Barnabas were at Lystra, they came upon a man with crippled feet who had been that way from birth, so he had never walked. He was listening as Paul preached, and Paul noticed him and realized he had faith to be healed! So Paul called to him, "Stand up!" and the man leaped to his feet and started walking!
When the listening crowd saw what Paul had done, they shouted (in their local dialect, of course), "These men are gods in human bodies!" They decided that Barnabas was the Greek god Jupiter, and that Paul, because he was the chief speaker, was Mercury!
The local priest of the Temple of Jupiter, located on the outskirts of the city, brought them cartloads of flowers and sacrificed oxen to them at the city gates before the crowds.
But when Barnabas and Paul saw what was happening they ripped at their clothing in dismay and ran out among the people, shouting, "Men! What are you doing? We are merely human beings like yourselves! We have come to bring you the Good News that you are invited to turn from the worship of these foolish things and to pray instead to the living God who made heaven and earth and the sea and everything in them. In bygone days He permitted the nations to go their own ways, but He never left Himself without a witness; there were always His reminders -- the kind things He did such as sending you rain and good crops and giving you food and gladness."
But even so, Paul and Barnabas could scarcely restrain the people from sacrificing to them!
