

Parents say teachers intimidated

By JERI CURTIS
Managing Editor

Disputes over the parent and teacher right to override test scores for first grade reading placement dominated Tuesday night's meeting of the Hereford Independent School District board.

Parents at the meeting claimed that teachers have been too intimidated to place children other than how tests indicate, although board policy allows parents to override testing placement with teacher recommendation that the child may actually be ready for reading despite test scores.

What parents felt intimidating was a form sent home for them to sign to give consent to override the test. The form letter also required signatures of the teacher and the campus principal.

Superintendent Harrell Holder said the other signatures were to protect the school from liability in the case that the child did not learn to read. He said liability is only applicable for government entities in the case of negligence and added that failure to execute to the best of professional abilities may be considered negligent.

Several parents said they felt teachers were afraid to consider overriding the test scores for fear of their jobs and what might be put into their personnel records, even though the teacher may feel he or she is using the best professional judgment.

Board member Bud Patterson said 56 percent of the first graders in the district were not being taught reading because test scores indicated they were not developmentally ready.

Questions were also asked about the rights parents have in knowing when children are being tested with exams that can be used to compute IQ, although the two exams being used are not being used for IQ. Controversy over the appropriateness of the Raven and the Peabody tests used to place for reading has been stirring since last year.

One parent noted that her child was placed in a non-reading first grade class for the first six weeks of this school year although the child had learned to read at a private kindergarten the year before. A teacher explained that the child was held out of reading because of not passing the oral language portions of the test. The child is now being placed in reading after testing out in the oral language portion, the teacher said.

One teacher expressed her frustrations with discipline which she related to the reading system. She said she had second graders who could not be really at second grade level if they only had reading during the last semester of their first year of school last year. She said the children essentially did not learn basic first grade discipline habits, so she is faced with teaching second who expressed any pleasure with the current system and said that the board would be doing a railroad job if it had voted to scrap the testing system altogether last night as some parents and teachers wanted.

John Fuston, board vice president, said, "I can't believe we are going graders who may be about a half year behind in learning plus having to teach discipline which comes with learning to read - such as sitting still.

A junior high reading teacher said something has been wrong somewhere in the past since 46 percent of the seventh graders were below the appropriate reading level. She said the median reading level was at about fourth grade.

Parents and some teachers asked that the board merely enforce what is current board policy on the over-riding issue.

The board's Policy-Personnel and Curriculum Committees will address the issue.

Danny Haney was the only parent strictly by test grades. It blows my mind."

After the motion was made to refer the matter to committee, board president Marilyn Culpepper told the departing parents that she was sorry they came just for this one part of the meeting.

In other action: -It was announced that the teacher competency test would be given in Hereford on March 10, however, assignments of who would take the test here would be given by the Texas Education Agency.

-Holder announced plans for forming a discipline plan needed for submission to the TEA by February.

-It was reported that the search for

Decomposed body confirmed to be that of Klinghoffer

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A decomposed body that washed ashore near the Syrian port of Tartus is that of Leon Klinghoffer, the American passenger who died on the hijacked Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro, the U.S. Embassy said today.

"We have confirmed that the body is that of Leon Klinghoffer," spokesman John Burgess told reporters, confirming a previous report from a State Department spokesman in Washington.

"There apparently were two gunshot wounds in the corpse," Burgess said, but he did not specify where the bullet wounds were. Published reports have said medical examiners found a bullet wound in Klinghoffer's head.

The four Palestinians who hijacked the Achille Lauro last week have been charged by Italian officials with murdering the 69-year-old Klinghoffer, but judicial sources have quoted them as denying the charge.

Burgess stressed that "there still has been no autopsy to determine the cause of death," noting that Klinghoffer could have died before he was shot.

The Palestinian Liberation Front, to which the hijackers claimed to belong, has said Klinghoffer, who was confined to a wheelchair, could have died of a heart attack.

The body was brought to Damascus from Tartus on Tuesday and Western diplomatic sources and a physician said it appeared to have been in the sea for at least a week before washing ashore Monday. They said it had been ravaged by fish and the effects of the Mediterranean salt water.

In other developments Tuesday: — President Reagan speaking in Boise, Idaho, said the United States had nothing to apologize for in its interception of the Egyptian jetliner carrying the terrorists who hijacked the Italian cruise ship. Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak had demanded an apology to the Egyptian people.

— Investigators in Genoa, Italy, issued arrest warrants for two more Palestinians, bringing to seven the number of people charged in the Oct. 7 hijacking.

— Mohammed Abbas, the Palestinian guerrilla leader whom the United States says masterminded the hijacking, but who was released by Italy, said in an interview broadcast in Italy that he had nothing to do with the hijacking.

The Achille Lauro, which was expected to return to Genoa late today, set sail from the Italian port Oct. 3. It was hijacked by four Palestinians who held more than 500 people hostage for two days before surrendering in Egypt Oct. 9 to Palestine Liberation Organization officials.

The Washington Post in today's edition quoted unidentified U.S. officials as saying the body that washed ashore in Syria had a bullet hole in its head and was missing both legs and an arm.

The body was expected to be vital evidence for Italian authorities who have the four hijackers in custody. Beside the murder charge, the four have been accused of kidnapping, hijacking and possessing arms and explosives.

Supreme Court to review malpractice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court apparently is signaling states they may deal with a spreading insurance "malpractice crisis" by placing limits on amounts victims of medical negligence can recover.

But at least one justice — objecting to the court's silence in a case from California — said the court should review the issue thoroughly and give the states explicit guidance.

By an 8-1 vote Tuesday, the justices let stand a ruling that allows California to continue to place a $250,000 ceiling on the amount medical malpractice victims can receive for non-economic losses, such as pain and suffering.

The court refused to hear an appeal by Lawrence Fein, a lawyer employed by the California Legislature who said his life expecttancy was shortened drastically because doctors failed initially to diagnose his heart attack.

Citing the lack of "a substantial federal question," the court turned away the case without further explanation. Some regard such action as an indication of the justices' position on the merits of the case.

But in a lone dissent, Justice Byron R. White said the court should have agreed to hear arguments in the case and issued a definitive ruling.

Because of "continued national concern over the 'malpractice crisis,'" White said, "the issue is important and is deserving of this court's review."

In other developments, the court: —Said it will decide in a California case whether the public and news media have a constitutional right to attend pretrial hearings, the decisive stage in nine out of 10 criminal prosecutions.

—Agreed to take a new look at state laws that set time limits on when the mother of an illegitimate child may sue the alleged father for support payments.

—Heard arguments in a church-state case from Pennsylvania over whether public high schools may permit student religious groups to meet during school hours.

Speech freedoms cut in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The leftist government suspended the right to free expression, public assembly, strikes, and the privacy of the home because of what it called "brutal aggression" by the United States and the government's opponents.

President Daniel Ortega read a decree suspending the rights Tuesday night over national radio and television.

"The brutal aggression by North America and its internal allies has created an extraordinary situation," said Ortega, who also cited the "terrorist politics of the United States."

The United States backs Nicaraguan rebels, known as Contras, who are based in neighboring Honduras and Costa Rica in their battle against the left-wing Sandinistas.

Most of the rights and guarantees had been suspended when a state of emergency was declared in March 1982, but they were restored shortly before the national elections last November.

The government decree also increased news censorship, with all sections of the media required to submit their material to the Interior Ministry's director of communications prior to publication or broadcast.

La Prensa, the main opposition newspaper, had previously been required to submit to censors material dealing with "military affairs and the nation's economic relations."

Justice Minister Rodrigo Reyes said that with the new decree censorship "will be total." However, there was no word on whether the decree would cover foreign journalists as well as domestic reporters.

There was no immediate reaction from La Prensa editors, who have canceled the publication of scores of editions in recent years because of censors' orders that certain articles be deleted.

Reyes said the new decree, which also suspends privacy of mail, "preserves the intrinsic rights of the people, such as the right to life and physical integrity."

Subject arrested on 8 charges

City police arrested one man Tuesday on charges of public intoxication, assault on a peace officer, two counts of disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, terroristic threats, simple assault, and criminal mischief.

Police also arrested two juveniles Tuesday, one for a theft at Bag-N-Save and another for public intoxication.

Talks stop, Chrysler hit by strike

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — Eighty thousand U.S. and Canadian autoworkers went on strike today at Chrysler Corp. plants and parts depots after the collapse of the first labor talks in a decade with a healthy Chrysler.

The separate negotiations ended just before the midnight Tuesday expiration of contracts in both countries and after thousands of workers at three U.S. Chrysler plants already had walked off the job.

The autoworkers, many of whom once granted substantial wage and benefit concessions during Chrysler's struggle to avoid bankruptcy, prepared for picket duty today against their recovered employer.

Analysts have said a strike could cost Chrysler $15 million a day.

Negotiations were to resume today in Toronto and at Chrysler world headquarters here, and the company and union said they would try to make it a short strike.

United Auto Workers President Owen Bieber, leading the bargaining for 70,000 U.S. workers, said two months of talks failed to produce agreement on major non-economic issues, such as job security and curbs on the subcontracting of work outside the company at the expense of union jobs.

The UAW and the newly formed United Auto Workers of Canada also sought wage and benefit parity with their counterparts at General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co.

"The gulf separating us on key issues is simply too great for us to bridge at this point," Bieber told a news conference minutes after the strike officially began at 12:01 a.m.

Thomas Miner, the chief Chrysler negotiator, called it "a strike that should not have happened as we're climbing our way back to prosperity out of where we've been over these tough years."

Five years ago, Chrysler received $1.2 billion in federally guaranteed loans and workers eventually contributed an estimated $1 billion in contract concessions to the rescue effort.

August sales net $40,727

The City of Hereford's one-percent sales tax netted a check of $40,727 this week from the state comptroller's office for taxes collected on sales made in August.

The total was slightly below the check for the same month a year ago ($42,519), but the year's total is now $493,833—an increase of 10.3 percent over the year-to-date figure of a year ago.

'Texas' hottest item in bookstore

AUSTIN (AP) — Bookstores in Austin, where James Michener wrote his new novel, "Texas," report some customers are buying up to 10 copies of the book, which has soared to the top of best-seller lists.

"In the more than two years I've worked here, it's created the most interest I've seen in one particular book," said Frank Mesko, assistant sales manager for a B. Dalton store in Austin.

The store has received three shipments of the book already and sold about 900 copies in seven working days, Mesko said.

Apparently, booksellers predict, "Texas" is going to be a popular Christmas item.

"A lot of people are buying them for Christmas gifts," said Marilyn Brueck, an employee of Waldenbooks in Austin.

"We think we will be getting some back after Christmas," Mesko added. "We hope there won't be too many."

Michener, who wrote the book at the University of Texas after being invited to Texas by then-Gov. Bill Clements, decided to remain in Austin after finishing the novel.

Two weeks ago, "Texas" wasn't on the New York Times list of best sellers. But Sunday, the book emerged No. 1.

"There was none of this moving up. It just shot to No. 1," said Noel Robertson, manager of a Waldenbooks store.

Mary Ann Rennie, a news assistant for the Times' best-seller staff, said it isn't unique, although it is somewhat unusual for a book to come from nowhere to the top of the list.

The book has a list price of $21.95. But some retailers have been discounting it up to 45 percent.

At least $4 million seized in heroin

DALLAS (AP) — Three people were arrested and more than 30 ounces of Mexican heroin with an estimated street value of $4 million were seized Tuesday in a major attack on drug trafficking in the city, police said.

The arrests and heroin seizures Tuesday were the result of a four-month investigation by city and federal officials, police Capt. George Parker said.

"We figure they're responsible for 50 percent of the heroin that comes into Dallas," Parker said. "I would say it's the largest (seizure of heroin) we've had."

Parker said police were looking for two others in addition to the three arrested during the seizures of the heroin and four vehicles at nine locations in Dallas.

Arrested Tuesday were Karen Greene Jaramillo, 37, Richard Anthony Jaramillo, 38, and Paula Moya Aguilar, 38, all of Dallas, Parker said.

All three remained in the Lew Sterrett Center early this morning, authorities said.

Six warrants had been issued for Ms. Jaramillo charging her with felony delivery of a controlled substance, said police Sgt. W.F. Turage. She was booked in the county jail Tuesday in lieu of $50,000 bond, he said.

Commercialization of space essential

HOUSTON (AP) — If U.S. industry fails to establish a commercial foothold in space, other nations will harvest profits from technology developed by American tax dollars, a series of speakers said Tuesday at hearings before a presidential commission.

Speakers from the Houston area told the National Commission on Space that economic leadership in the coming decades will go to the nation that holds the technological lead in the commercialization of outer space.

Bill Urban, a Houston developer and a leader of a citizens space group, said that the world's economy "has crossed a threshold into a new era," in which technology from space will become a key element.

He said studies have shown that by the 21st century, the space markets could be worth $50 billion in manufacturing, $30 billion in pharmaceuticals, $10 billion in communications and $15 billion in microelectronics.

Urban said the U.S. has a lead in these areas now, but is facing a dramatic and increasingly tough competition from other nations. He warned "we need to decide if we should be pulled by opportunity or pushed because we fall behind."

Art Dula, a Houston consultant on space technology, said the U.S. is in a dramatic competition now for harvesting commercial profits from near Earth orbit.

"Europeans are beating the pants off of us in commercializing space," Dula said.

Mayor claims he wasn't told of plans

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor W. Wilson Goode says he did not approve the aerial attack that destroyed the MOVE house last May, and that the commanders of the assault disobeyed his orders.

Goode, testifying Tuesday before a special investigating commission he appointed, also denied knowing beforehand of police plans to blow holes in the walls of the rowhouse so that tear gas could be pumped in.

Goode said there was a "difference of opinion" over whether he was told that a last-ditch plan to force MOVE members out of their west Philadelphia rowhouse was to drop a bomb from a helicopter.

Goode said he understood an explosive device would somehow be placed on the roof. He also said he was unaware that police would be armed with automatic weapons.

Police bombed the rowhouse from a helicopter on May 13 after failing in other efforts to evict the cultists. The bombing was followed by a quick-spreading fire that killed 11 MOVE members, including four children, and destroyed 58 other homes.

Goode said he ordered Police Commissioner Gregore Sambor in early May to draw up a plan to evict the radicals, and to tell him or Managing Director Leo A. Brooks about it.

Brooks resigned six weeks after the confrontation. He and Sambor are scheduled to testify after the mayor.

Fifteen killed in helicopter crash

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A team of divers hovering overhead was able to "immediately" reach a helicopter that crashed into the ocean after taking off from a ship, but 15 Marines, including two from Texas, died in the corps' second-worst aircraft accident, officials say.

The Texans were identified as Marine Staff Sgt. David Jones of Beaumont and Marine Sgt. Dirk A. Witcher of Bel Air.

Four others were rescued Tuesday when their twin-rotor, Marine CH-46D "Sea Knight" helicopter, with 19 people aboard, crashed and sank on takeoff from the USS Guadalcanal.

"This the second-worst aircraft accident in Marine Corps history," said Gunnery Sgt. John Simmons. "The worst was a CH-53D crash in the Sea of Japan" in May, in which all 17 people aboard were killed, he said.

Bookie computer program available

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — While others target their computer software to schools or corporations, Robert Bentsen is tailoring his first offering toward a shadowy and untapped market — the nation's bookies.

Bentsen hopes to bring illegal bookmakers into the computer age with a $5,000 program that can keep a bookmaker's accounts and alert him when he has taken too much action on either side of a game.

But the former corporate computer programmer is finding the market an elusive one at best. This is one clientele you won't find in the Yellow Pages and he has yet to discover any "National Association of Bookies."

"We're counting on a word-of-mouth kind of thing," Bentsen said. "It's not an easy market to reach as we've found out so far."

Bentsen and his partner, Martin Mendelsohn, have already sold four of the programs, which operate on IBM personal computers, to people they believe to be bookies. The transactions aren't exactly handled in posh boardrooms, and business cards aren't exchanged.

"We get a call, the guy's name is John and he's heard about the program and wants to see it," Bentsen said. "We met one guy in front of Caesars Palace and he even told us that wasn't his real name. We brought him to the house, showed him the program and he bought it right away."

Bentsen guesses there are some 50,000 illegal bookmakers spread across the country. He hopes he can entice bookies to throw away ledgers and slips of betting paper in favor of computer terminals.

Mental Attitudes

Joel Combs, president of Development Training Services, was the speaker at the Customer Development Seminar held last night for local merchants and employees. The seminar stressed mental attitudes for people in sales and in everyday life. Memory and customer relations skills were taught. He urged people in Hereford to play the game, not just be a spectator.

Twenty-one illegals found in filthy truck

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — U.S. Border Patrol agents were due here today to question, then deport 21 illegal Mexican aliens found in a filthy rental trailer at the Louisiana truck scales near the Texas border, Louisiana State Police said.

The driver of the truck pulling the big rig also was arrested Tuesday after an off-duty Texas state trooper tipped Louisiana authorities that the tractor-trailer was heading toward Shreveport on Interstate 20.

The truck driver, James R. Pruitt, 31, of Bastrop, was being held in the Caddo Parish Jail here on a charge of smuggling illegal aliens, state police said.

Thirteen of the aliens were being held at the Shreveport City Jail, Matthews said, and eight were sent to the Bossier City Jail to await Border Patrol agents.

"About the back third of the truck was filled with empty fruit crates and the rest was taken up by the illegal aliens," Matthews said. "I don't know how long they were in there, but you can imagine the unsanitary conditions."

He said the off-duty Texas state trooper had stopped at a Texas rest area, near the Louisiana line, and saw the illegal aliens emerge from the trailer.

"Evidently, they had stopped to rest because the driver had let the aliens out to stretch their legs," Matthews said. "He called us and said they would be heading in our direction."

Once the truck arrived at the weigh station, Matthews said, the operators stalled the driver until state police arrived by telling him there may have been a problem with the truck's papers.

Matthews said state police didn't know where the truck was from or where it was going.

"We're not sure right now, we're not getting much cooperation from the driver, and none of the illegals will admit to speaking any English," he said. "All we know is that they were being smuggled either into or through Louisiana to somewhere where they could go to work."

Bill Preston, head of the Border Patrol's office at Lake Charles, said his agents think the group is part of a ring operating between Houston, Texas, and Bastrop, La.

"But we don't know for sure yet where the load originated," he said. "It could have come from Dallas or from the border."

Two Border Patrol anti-smuggling agents are due here today to question the aliens, he said, and two others from Baton Rouge and Lake Charles will come to transport the aliens back.

The state comptroller's office sent out checks totaling $56.6 million to the 1,010 cities that levy the one-percent tax. Houston's check was the largest—$9.1 million—bringing total payments in 1985 to $123.4 million and a 4-percent increase. Dallas was next at $6.9 million and a year-to-date total of $91.2 million—an increase of 13 percent.

Amarillo received $735,516 for a 1985 total of $9.5 million, and Lubbock got $896,329 and a total of $10.8 million. Amarillo's year-to-date total is up 3.5 percent, and Lubbock's has increased by 6 percent.

Checks received by other area cities and (year-to-date totals): Plainview $77,813 ($906,351); Pampa $98,041 ($1,314,535); Perryton $47,065 ($590,024); Dumas $46,080 ($527,453); Dalhart $21,526 ($253,483); Canyon $20,355 ($263,178); Littlefield $17,476 ($217,710); Dimmitt $12,765 ($129,890); Friona $6,688 ($92,230).

WASTED ENERGY

NEW YORK (AP) — The energy wasted by not recycling an empty aluminum can is equal to filling the same can half full of gasoline and pouring it out on the ground, according to a recent conservation study.

Recycling, the study said, saves 90 percent of the energy required to make aluminum from bauxite; more than half needed to make steel from iron ore, and a third of the energy needed to make paper from wood.

Transvestite babysits while child gets burned

DALLAS (AP) — An infant has died of severe burns he suffered while in the care of a transvestite baby sitter, police say.

Five-month-old Arthur Baker, son of Andrew and Vera Baker of University Park, died Monday night at Parkland Hospital's burn unit, police said.

A field agent with the Dallas County Medical Examiner's office said an autopsy showed the infant died of second- and third-degree burns over 38 percent of his body.

Richard Arthur Gilbert, 29, was being held in lieu of $100,000 bond in the Lew Sterrett Justice Center here after he was charged with injury to a child in the Sept. 26 incident, police said.

An additional charge of aggravated sexual assault was filed Tuesday against Gilbert in connection with the alleged molestation of a two-year-old Dallas boy last summer, according to Dallas police investigator Paul Ronyak.

Ronyak said Gilbert is accused of sexual abuse on two occasions when he changed the child's diaper last May.

Gilbert had been babysitting for several weeks for the Bakers before the child was burned, police said.

The baby sitter claimed the Baker child was accidentally scalded, according to University Park Public Safety Director Robert Dixon.

Authorities may not seek additional charges against Gilbert in the infant's death because both injury to a child and murder are both first-degree felonies that carry a maximum punishment of life in prison, authorities say.

Gilbert, who goes by the name of Jean Gilbert, has declined requests for interviews.

Officers say Gilbert has posed as a woman baby sitter for at least a year by answering newspaper advertisements seeking a nanny or baby sitter.

Police in both Dallas and University Park say Gilbert provided families with false references, including one for a pediatrician.

"When they called, he put on his male voice all the way and acted like a doctor," Ronyak said.

Officers did not know Gilbert was a man until he was being booked into jail last month, according to University Park investigator John B. McDonnell.

"He was dressed up as a woman when University Park (police) arrested him," Ronyak said. "He's big, six feet tall and weighs 190 pounds, but with a wig on and makeup, he looks like a nice woman."

Elections put on hold

HOUSTON (AP) — Polls for absentee balloting for Houston's Nov. 5 city elections were supposed to open today but won't after a federal judge ruled that such voting would violate the Voting Rights Act.

The City Council voted Sept. 24 to shift the boundaries on the nine council districts to account for recent population shifts. That plan is at the brunt of the delayed voting.

U.S. District Judge Gabrielle McDonald ruled Tuesday that starting absentee voting would violate the federal Voting Rights Act because the U.S. Justice Department has not yet approved the redistricting plan.

The Voting Rights Act requires several states, including Texas, to get "preclearance" from the Justice Department on any changes they make in election procedures. The act gives the Justice Department 60 days to review proposed changes, but the city of Houston only gave them 39 days.

State law requires absentee voting for 20 days before election day, the judge's order appeared to wipe out chances to hold the vote Nov. 5. But lawyers in the hastily arranged legal battle said Tuesday night they do not know if the result is unavoidable because a federal judge's power may override state election laws.

"It'll be up to the judge to decide how to handle it," City Attorney Jerry Smith said.

Ms. McDonald said it was "terribly unfortunate" that she had to throw a wrench into the election machinery so close to the city elections, but said federal law required it.

Now You're Cookin'

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

"I don't want to leave Hereford..." says Boun Hom Phommachanh, minister of Laotian Mission of Avenue Baptist Church. "I don't want to move," he says, but the preacher must go where the people go.

Boun Hom feels that God wants him to go to San Antonio where there are over a hundred families of Laos people.

"Those people need worship," says Boun, "but it's going to be hard to give up Hereford."

"My family has grown to like it here, my wife likes the people, and my kids like school here, too."

Boun has a good reason to like it here in Hereford. He and his family are from Laos, located in the middle of Endochina where the country was formerly practicing a Southern Baptist religion.

The country is now under communism.

"It is really hard over there," reflects Boun Hom, shaking his head from one side to the other. "Laos is now under the Vietnam communists and has been since 1975."

"I tried two years to escape from Lao to Thailand," said Boun. He knew if he made it to Thailand, or the free country as they call it, he could live in a refugee camp, "but we have freedom in the camp only, not the country Thailand," explained Boun.

"When the communists took over our country, the Laotians escaped and somebody communist took them to re-education," described Boun sorrowfully.

"They (the Vietnamese Communists) took only the highly-educated people, the doctors, professors, lawyers, generals, colonels, and even the King of Laos, Sisavangvong."

Speaking of the King, Boun said "He is already dead and we (the Laotians) are very, very sorry-but the communists- they are very happy."

About 30,000 Laotians populate Napho Camp which covers six square miles. United Nations rents the land for the refugees. United Nations takes care of everything financially which includes food, water, utilities, and electricity.

Back in Communist Laos, Boun remembered, "If we worked on the farm, the government took all the harvest," he was saying.

"If the communist suspected anyone of leaving, without proof, the communist would kill you."

"Everyday I saw dead people who had tried to escape, floating on the MeKong River (which separates Thai from Laos)," thought Boun sadly.

If the communists took a husband to re-education, the wife and children were taken to work by hand in the fields. "Hard, hard labour..." commented Boun.

Boun Hom lost his house, his land, even his motorcycle to the communists. "They took all of my belongings, and it didn't even matter what I left, I was going to be free!" said Boun Hom excitedly.

At the thought of being free, Boun Hom described a movie entitled 'Killing Field'.

The movie depicts Cambodia where communism took over and in the end over three million people were killed.

"The communists buried from 500 to 1000 of my people in one grave," said Boun Hom sadly. He also said the movie is very celebrated in America.

Boun Hom had lived under communism from 1975 until 1981, when he escaped.

Boun Hom's nephew, Boun My escaped by swimming across the river.

"The MeKong is two miles wide which equals two hours of swimming, hoping you wouldn't be noticed for fear you would be shot to death," said Boun My.

Boun My is another person that left a lot to come here, to come the 'free land'. He left his wife and two daughters in Laos to live here.

"She was scared to swim across the river because we didn't have money to pay for the boat ride once ashore," explained Boun My.

"Sometimes when you got on the boat, after you had already paid, the boat rider would throw you overboard anyway," said Boun My, remembering his own escape and what he had left behind.

"Once overboard, you would be shot to death," chimed in Boun Hom, "No law in Laos... they kill what they want to."

Since the Swift Plant closed, Laos families have moved off to find other work. Boun Hom says he will have to close down his mission, "no people, no mission," said Boun Hom. There are only two Laotian families in Hereford now; Boun Hom and his nephew.

Boun My plans to go to California to visit his father-in-law who is 85 and can't work.

Boun Hom plans to go to San Antonio and open a new Laotian mission there.

"There are about 100 families of Laotian people in San Antonio," said Boun Hom, "and the preacher must go where the people are."

Boun Hom and his family share some of their ethnic cooking in the recipes that follow. He suggests that the cultural ingredients be bought at Laos Grocery, Thai Grocery or Vietnam Grocery in Amarillo.

"We like the soups best," explains Boun Hom. "Unlike Americans, we don't drink during the meal, the soup is our drink; we only drink after the meal and then, only one time."

FISH SOUP

2 big fish (any kind) cut pieces of ginger
sugar
radish leaves

De-bone fish, wash all remains. Cut fish into four pieces. Boil water. Add fish. Add a pinch of salt to liking, sugar, and aji-no-moto (a native seasoning). Cut pieces of ginger and radish leaves and add to soup. Ready to eat.

SOUP OF THAIWAN

½ of chicken
2 ounces shrimp
3 ounces of pork
giblets of chicken
mushrooms
ginger
corn meal
4 mustard green leaves
black pepper
aji-no-moto
salt
7 garlic pieces

Wash chicken and giblets. Cut shrimp and pork into small chunks. Put mushrooms in cold water. Cut ginger and mustard greens, mash with black pepper. Sautee ingredients in large pan.

Add garlic, ½ of chicken (without being separated), and shrimp. Stir in salt, aji-no-moto, and vinegar.

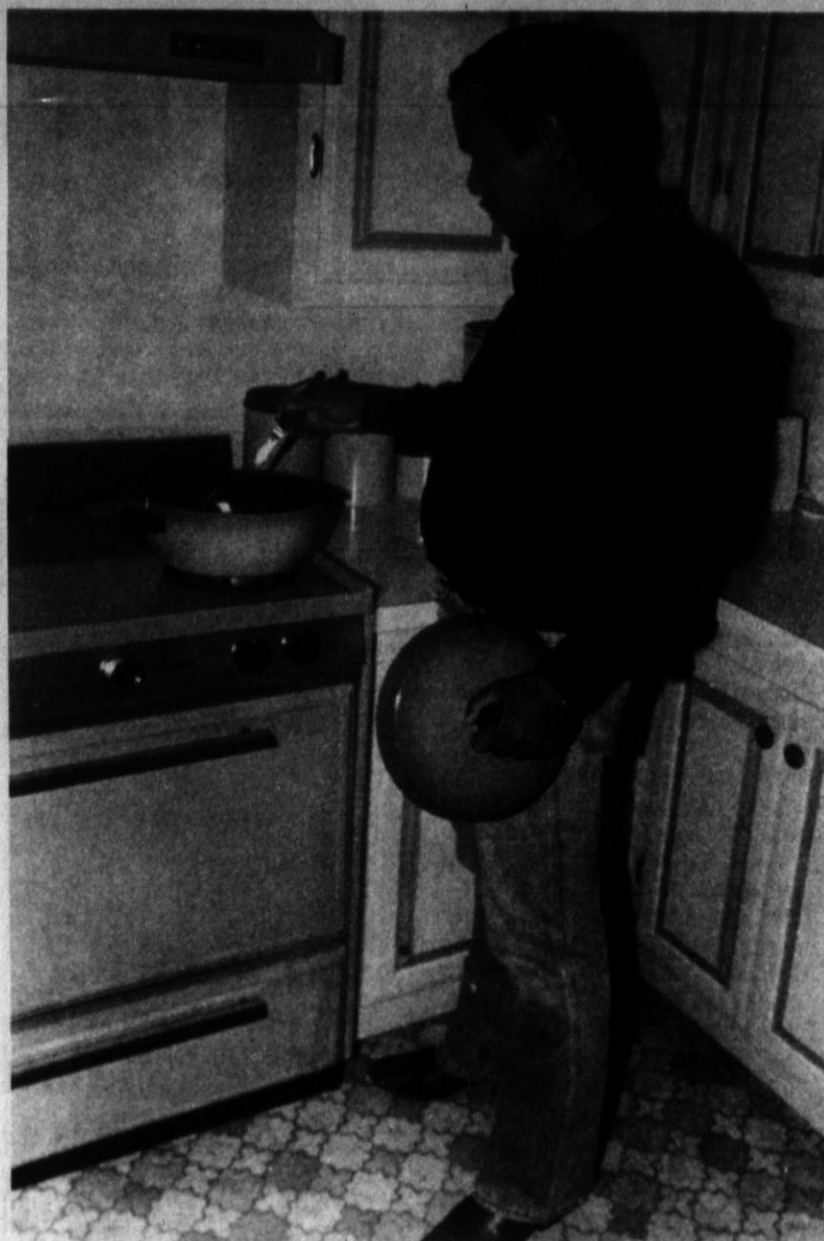

Taste it. If it tastes good, add mushroom, ginger, and mustard green leaves, and then fill with water while stirring. Ready to eat.

KHNOM (desert)

2 cups corn meal
½ cup sugar
3 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
¾ cup of milk
1 egg
¼ cup of vegetable oil

Combine corn meal, salt, baking powder, vegetable oil, milk, and egg. Stir until smooth.

In a frying pan, heat oil adding 2 tsp. of mixture. After browning take out of frying pan and dip in sugar. Ready to eat.

Military Muster

Pvt. Jose C. Castro, son of Julia R. Rocha of 829 Blevins, has completed the basic field artillery cannoner course under the one station unit training (OSUT) program at Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course, students were taught the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman. They also received instruction in communications, maintenance and the handling of ammunition and explosives.

OSUT is a program that combines basic training with advanced individual training.

He is a 1985 graduate of Hereford High School.

WORKING WOMEN ARE HEALTHIER

NEW YORK (AP) — Women who are employed are healthier than those who aren't, according to Dr. Lois Verbrugge of the Institute of Gerontology at the University of Michigan.

She reached that conclusion after analyzing National Health Interview Surveys conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics, reports Feeling Great Magazine.

Employed married women are the healthiest, followed by employed married women without children. Exceptions are employed mothers with preschoolers, or three or more children at home.

Get zinc from food rather than pills

Zinc - the same mineral used for covering pipes and galvanizing buckets-is an essential element in the diet, but not necessarily one you need to get from a pill.

Zinc is available in a wide variety of foods including red meat, liver, poultry, eggs and seafood, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Dr. Alice Hunt.

She says zinc is also found in whole grain products like whole wheat or rye bread, oatmeal and whole corn, although it's in a form that is less available to the body than the zinc contained in meat.

For example, two 3 1/2 ounce servings of red meat, 2 slices of whole wheat bread and an egg would meet an adult's daily requirement for zinc.

"Most people will not need more zinc than they can get from eating a balanced diet, and in fact, can create a mineral imbalance in their bodies by consuming zinc supplements," she says.

The Recommended Dietary Allowance for adults is 15 milligrams of zinc per day, with an additional five milligrams during pregnancy and an extra 10 milligrams during lactation, Hunt notes.

According to the nutritionist, the most prominent signs of a zinc deficiency are loss of appetite, failure to grow, skin changes, impaired wound healing and decreased taste acuity.

"If you think you have a zinc deficiency, it's important to consult with a doctor before taking supplements because too much zinc will interfere with other vital body functions," Hunt cautions.

The nutritionist adds that taking large amounts of zinc in some forms can cause vomiting and gastrointestinal irritation, and may also interfere with other essential minerals in the diet.

The average person can distinguish about 150 different colors. An expert eye can pick out more than 100,000 hues.

Workers could lose pension plan benefits

Pension plan provisions may be keeping some older, laid off workers from seeking new employment, according to a Texas Tech University economist.

Older workers - those 58 to 69 - who get laid off may remain unemployed too long hoping for unlikely reinstatements, said Dr. Thomas L. Steinmeier. In taking new jobs, those workers would lose pension plan benefits for which they worked a lifetime.

Most pension plans in the private sector have provisions which allow a rapid escalation of benefits in the years just preceding normal retirement age, he said. Long-time employees who are laid off during and prior to that time stand to lose a large share of the value of their pension benefits.

Those workers have a tendency to stay unemployed despite the consequences, said Steinmeier, who is studying the effects of pension plans and Social Security on older workers.

"The individuals in these industries who are laid off know that if they pick up stakes and move where job prospects are better, they are most likely not going to be able to go back and they would give up a large amount of benefits," Steinmeier said. "For that reason they hang around. The basic issue is the extent that these pension plans impede the willingness of people to seek jobs in more promising industries."

Those individuals contribute to unemployment figures, a concern to the United States Department of Labor which is funding Steinmeier's research.

"One interesting question we're asking is why pension plans have the rapid escalation of the value of promised benefits in the years just before normal retirement age and why there is a drop in the value of pensions for people who work beyond normal retirement age," said Steinmeier.

Steinmeier and Alan L. Gustman of Dartmouth College are studying the effects of pension plans and Social Security on retirement behavior. They seek to develop models to predict the effects of governmental action and private industry on older workers. The study involves the employment records of 11,000 older workers from 1969 to 1979.

"What we want to know is the range of preferences among older workers," he said. "Most people want to retire at 65—normal retirement age in the Social Security system and in many pension plans—but some want to continue working. How strong are those preferences and how do pension plans modify retirement decisions?"

There are two types of pension-defined contribution plans and defined benefit plans. Steinmeier said defined contributions plans, in which the employer sets aside a certain percentage of a person's salary each year, are fairly neutral in regard to employment and retirement decisions because the contributions determine later benefits.

But, many defined benefit plans involve a large build-up in the value of the pension in the years immediately preceding retirement.

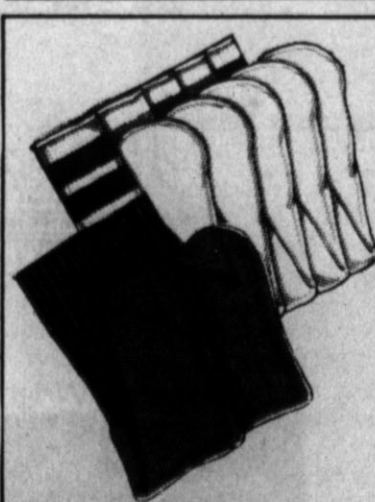

"Most defined benefit pension amounts are largely fixed in dollar terms at the time the employee leaves the company," Steinmeier said, "and those dollar amounts are subject to erosion by inflation if the individual leaves the company before beginning to collect the pension."

The model will allow the government as well as industry to predict the way people will react in relation to income opportunities and policy changes.

BY HOOK OR CROOK

PROSPERITY, S.C. (AP) — The familiar old phrase "by hook or crook" originated in feudal times when peasants weren't allowed to cut trees for firewood.

According to Georgia-Pacific Corp., a forest products company, all forests belonged to the lord of the manor and peasants were allowed only to gather twigs, fallen limbs and other wood that they could cut with a pruning hook or snare with a shepherd's crook. In this way, they kept the lord's forests clear of underbrush and dead branches.

Hereford Music Study Club meets Monday

Mrs. Brent Caviness introduced guest, Mrs. Johnny Trotter, when members of Hereford Study Club met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Joe Reinauer, Jr.

President, Mrs. Allen Cansler, called the meeting to order and led the group in reciting the club collect. Mrs. Frances Parker directed members in singing the hymn of the month, "O Spondor of God's Glory Bright" composed by Michael Praetorius, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Thomas Betzen.

An announcement was made by Mrs. Joe Reinauer, Sr., District I president, that Borger Music Club is hosting the TFMC District I Fall Convention Saturday, Nov. 9, at the Borger Country Club. Luncheon reservations should be sent by Nov. 1 to Mrs. Ed Brown, 206 W. First St., Borger, Tx. 79007. Price of tickets is $8 per person.

Parker was elected to serve as the club's voting delegate.

District I treasurer, Mrs. W.T. Carmichael, received an invitation to all TFMC members to attend the dedication of the new Steinway grand piano which the National Federation of Music Clubs is giving to the United Nations as a 40th birthday present and expressing thanks for their contribution.

This event will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the Dag Hammarskjold auditorium in New York City, N.Y. After remarks by United Nation dignitaries, a program of musical entertainment is planned. The National Federation of Music Clubs is the only non-political organization to have a representative in the U.N.

The members expressed thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Joe Reinauer, Jr. and Mrs. Donald Meyer for their service to the community in co-chairing the Junior Music Festival this year in which 96 students participated.

After the business session, the program was presented by Meyer who gave excerpts from the book, "The World of Musical Comedy" by Stanley Greer, concerning the life of George Gershwin. This was interspersed with several musical numbers.

They included "Summertime" performed by Caviness playing the flute and Cansler on the piano; "An American in Paris", piano duet by Mrs. Bill Bradley and Margaret Schroeter; "I Got Rhythm", Meyer, voice, and Mrs. Joe Hacker, piano; and "Rhapsody in Blue", Cansler and Mrs. Ken Walser, piano duet.

Nineteen members and a guest were served refreshments of chocolate-cherry cake, topped with whipped cream, and coffee by the hostesses.

The next meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 11 in the home of Cansler with co-hostesses Mrs. Wes Fisher and Betzen.

TERESA CARR AND TIM CARROLL

Engagement announced

Wedding vows will be exchanged by Teresa Carr of Amarillo and Tim Carroll of Hereford Nov. 16 in Avenue Baptist Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Lee and Shirley Carr of 714 Blevins and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Derrill and Natha Carroll of 217 Ave. B.

Kathy Milton honored during bridal shower

Kathy Jane Milton, Nov. 8 bride-elect of Kreig Gallagher, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday in the E.B. Black House.

Hostesses presented white daisy corsages to Mrs. Vincent Gallagher, the prospective bridegroom's mother; Mrs. Harvey Milton, the honoree's mother; and the honoree.

The bride-elect's sister, Kristi Milton, invited guests to register.

Refreshments of assorted cookies, fruits, pink punch and coffee were served from a table covered with a white lace cloth. Centering the table was an arrangement of dusty rose silk flowers with greenery in a glass globe accented by candles in the same color.

Special guests included Hattie Gallagher and Dorothy Noland, grandmothers of the prospective bridegroom.

Serving as hostesses were Rita Reinart, Ellen Thames, Sammy Lance, Carol Gerck, Elizabeth Jesko, Meredith Wilcox, Brenda Thomas, June Rudd, Nita Lea, Erma Rickman, Sheila Thames, Delores Foster, Paula Price, Oleta Tisdale, Louise Streun, Sharon Cramer and Mary Hamby.

DENTAL CARE MAY SUFFER

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Future dental care may suffer because fewer and fewer dental school graduates go into research and teaching in dental science, says Dr. William H. Bowen.

Bowen is chairman of dental research at the University of Rochester Medical Center.

An effort to counter this trend, funded by the National Institute of Dental Research, is beginning in the university's Department of Dental Research, where dentists will be trained for five years for certification in dental specialties and Ph.D.'s in basic sciences. The program should help replenish the thinning ranks of teachers and researchers, Bowen says.

Wyoming is known as the Equality State.

SALES FORCE DEMAND UP

CLEVELAND (AP) — Twenty percent of the sales force sells 80 percent of the products and services in America today, according to Sales Consultants International.

The firm, a searcher for sales personnel, says that the overall sales employment picture is continuing to grow and increasing the need for qualified sales people.

Royals beat Toronto, even series at 3-3

TORONTO (AP) — The Kansas City Royals will learn tonight just how far they can go on the brawny shoulders of one man — George Brett.

Playing with a rare intensity, Brett almost single-handedly has brought the Royals back into contention in the American League playoffs. Trailing three games to one, Kansas City rallied to deadlock the series at three games apiece entering tonight's climactic showdown with the Toronto Blue Jays.

And it was Brett who led the way again in Game 6 Tuesday night, hitting his third homer of the series to lift the Royals to a 5-3 victory.

Mark Gubicza, making his first start of the series, checked the Blue Jays on four hits over the 5 1-3 innings he worked to pick up the victory.

Following his "Hall of Fame" performance in Game 3 on Friday night — he was 4-for-4, including two homers, drove in three runs and scored four times, including the game-winner — Brett said it "would be the all-time choke" if the Blue Jays folded after winning three of the first four games.

Brett tempered those remarks Tuesday, however.

"We're having fun right now, but I'm sure they're not having too much fun 100 yards down the hall (in the Blue Jays clubhouse)," Brett said. "They're not choking though. They played a good game tonight. They didn't give us the game. We had to earn it."

The solo homer, which put Kansas City ahead 3-2 in the fifth, was Brett's ninth in playoff action — a major-league record.

Both teams scored in the first and third innings Tuesday night.

Toronto starter and loser Doyle Alexander walked Wilson and Brett, then gave up an RBI single to Hal McRae in the bottom of the first.

"I have one statement," Alexander said as reporters approached him. "I just didn't get the job done."

Alexander gave up seven hits and all five Royals runs in the 5 1-3 innings he worked.

Damaso Garcia doubled in the Toronto first, went to third on Lloyd Moseby's single and scored on a double-play ball by Rance Mulliniks.

In the Royals third, Brett was safe on a fielder's choice and scored on McRae's double.

Tony Fernandez tied it 2-2 in the Toronto third when he doubled, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Moseby's groundout.

After Brett's homer in the fifth, the Royals went ahead 5-2 in the sixth on RBI doubles by light-hitting Buddy Biancalana and Lonnie Smith.

Moseby scored Toronto's last run in the sixth when he singled and later scored on a pinch-single by Cliff Johnson.

Against Caprock Thursday in Amarillo

Whitefaces resume district grid action

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

Even though the playoff hopes may be slim for the Hereford Whiteface football team, the varsity athletes and their coaches will work for a 6-4 season, which would mean a 6-2 district season.

The Whitefaces battle Caprock Thursday night at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo, with the kickoff set for 8 p.m.

"What we have left to do is to do the best we can do, and try to win four games in a row and end up 6-4. We have played some very good football teams," head Coach Jerry Taylor said.

"We are beginning to play better, especially on offense. Hopefully, we can play better on defense to stay with the remaining four teams," he adds.

Hereford enters Thursday's game with a District 3-5A record of 2-2 and a season record of 2-4. The Caprock Longhorns are 2-3 in the district and 3-3 for the season.

Two district teams are still undefeated—Palo Duro at 5-0 and Amarillo High at 4-0—making the playoffs hopes slim for the rest of the district teams. Plainview is in third place with a 3-2 record.

Caprock's district wins have been 7-0 over Tascosa and 14-7 over Lubbock Coronado. Caprock has suffered district losses to Palo Duro, 14-6; to Lubbock High, 24-21; and to Amarillo High 21-0. Caprock beat Dumas 35-6 in a non-district contest.

Monty Buchanan leads the Caprock offense with 585 yards rushing this season in 109 carries, averaging 5.4 yards per carry.

Longhorn quarterback Matt Martinez has completed 41 of 95 passes for 630 yards, three touchdowns and six interceptions.

The Caprock defense has been limiting its opponents to an average of 236 yards per game.

About Hereford's 30-21 loss at Clovis, N.M., last Friday, Coach Taylor said, "Defensively, we allowed Clovis to make two or three big plays. The halfback pass was a back-breaker."

"We slowed their tailback Darren Kelley down considerably but their fullback Anthony Hall did some damage."

"Curtis Cotten made several tackles from his linebacker position, and Adam Olivarez continues to play consistently at defensive tackle."

Taylor said the Whiteface offense

"moved the ball fairly well."

"Our running game still is lacking. We need to break some inside runs for 15 or more yards. Stefan Hacker had an excellent night throwing the football. Pass protection by the linemen is improving," Taylor said.

"Danny Del Toro is blocking well at guard. Bobby Baker caught four passes, two for touchdowns. Seven different young men caught a pass or passes during the game," Taylor continues.

"We came from behind to go ahead on two occasions. Clovis did the same. We should have scored late in the fourth quarter to pull within two points."

"The players continue to have the desire and effort to turn this season around. They are good people. They want to win."

"We must play well to stay with Caprock. They are about our size. It could be a good game," Taylor declares.

HHS netters close out 1985 fall season

The Hereford High School varsity tennis teams closed out the fall season Tuesday in non-district matches against Canyon.

Canyon prevailed in both matches, winning the boys' dual match 5-4 and taking the girls' dual match 8-1.

Kevin Hansen and Brad Allred of Hereford each won boys' singles matches. Nathan Flood and Conrad Rodriguez won a doubles match, as did Jason Bodner and Brad Barrett.

The lone winner in the girls' dual match for Hereford was Lana Kosub in a singles match.

Several singles matches were played in addition to those in the dual events.

The scores from Tuesday's match are as follows:

BOYS' SINGLES: Michael King, Canyon, def. Chuck Garcia, Hereford, 6-1, 6-1; Kevin Hansen, Hereford, def. Jay Swan, Canyon, 6-2, 6-0; Chris Roach, Canyon, def. Conrad Rodriguez, Hereford, 4-6, 6-2, 7-6; Mitch Parker, Canyon, def. Jason Bodner, Hereford, 6-3, 1-6, 6-2; Randy Lamb, Canyon, def. Brad Barrett, Hereford, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4; Brad Allred, Hereford, def. Steve Morgan, Canyon, 6-3, 6-3.

BOYS' DOUBLES: Michael King & Chris Roach, Canyon, def. Chuck Garcia & Kevin

Hansen, Hereford, 6-7, 6-1, 6-3; Nathan Flood & Conrad Rodriguez, Hereford, def. Mitch Parker & Randy Lamb, Canyon, 6-4, 6-1; Jason Bodner & Brad Barrett, Hereford, def. Steve Morgan & Jay Swan, Canyon, 6-1, 7-5.

GIRLS' SINGLES: Cindy Trekkell, Canyon, def. Natalie Sims, Hereford, 6-2, 6-4; D'Layne Peoples, Canyon, def. Kristen Cassels, Hereford, 6-0, 6-0; Lana Kosub, Hereford, def. ## N.L. title series continues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Soured on St. Louis, the Los Angeles Dodgers were hoping that Dodger Stadium would prove once again to be home sweet home.

"I think we'll win the last two games and go to the World Series," said Los Angeles second baseman Steve Sax.

For the Dodgers to win the National League playoffs in seven games, they first had to win today's sixth game, which matched right-handers Joaquin Andujar of the Cardinals against Orel Hershiser of Los Angeles.

After whipping the Cardinals in the first two games at Dodger Stadium, the Dodgers lost the next three in St. Louis' Busch Stadium.

But although his team was one loss away from elimination, Los Angeles outfielder Pedro Guerrero posed a seemingly logical premise: "If we beat them the first two, why can't we beat them the last two?"

Although the Cardinals appeared to have the momentum after bouncing back to win three straight at home, other factors tended to tip the scale in the Dodgers' favor for Game 6.

One such factor was that the home team had won the last 13 NL playoff games. And Dodger Stadium's grass field is better suited to the power-and-pitching-rich Dodgers than to the speed-rich Cardinals, who seem at their best on their own artificial turf.

Another plus for the Dodgers was that they were starting Hershiser, who was 12-0 at home during 1985 and an 8-2 winner over Andujar in Game 2.

"I think it's very fortunate that we're returning home for me to pitch, but I don't think it was entirely by accident. I think it was by plan," Hershiser said.

"I really feel Game 6 will be extra special," said the Dodger pitcher, who was 19-3 during the regular season. "But I also feel like I've got the abilities and the talents to pitch a good game in those circumstances."

Baseball drops NBC to second behind CBS

NEW YORK (AP) — Two years ago, in the throes of a decade-long prime-time slump, NBC welcomed the baseball playoffs as a respite from its failing entertainment shows. Now, broadcasting prime-time baseball means a one-week slowdown on the NBC Express.

With the American League and National League championship series pre-empting nearly all NBC's entertainment series, the red-hot network finished a respectable second to CBS in the third week of the 1985-86 TV season. According to figures released Tuesday by the A.C. Nielsen Co., CBS won the week of Oct. 7-13 with a 17.7 rating to NBC's 17.3 and ABC's 15.6.

No wonder NBC lobbied hard, but unsuccessfully, against baseball adding two more playoff games this season.

"Relatively speaking, baseball hurt us," said Gerald Jaffe, NBC's vice president for research projects.

Two years ago, the baseball playoffs didn't pull NBC out of the ratings cellar, but the network's 16.0 average was better than Week One's 14.5 and Week Three's 15.3. In winning the first two weeks of the current prime-time season, NBC averaged a 19.3 for Premiere Week and an 18.0 for Week Two.

With "Murder, She Wrote," "Dallas" and "60 Minutes" in the Top 10, CBS was able to halt NBC's winning streak that also included every summer week except one. NBC could be the only network not to gain improved ratings from baseball. CBS and ABC benefited last week, and ABC will significantly raise its ratings next week — and hurt NBC and CBS in the process — when it broadcasts the always-dominant World Series.

"The World Series is not a baseball game," said Jaffe. "It's a national event."

Top ten prime-time television ratings compiled by Nielsen

NEW YORK (AP) — Here are the Top Ten prime-time television ratings as compiled by the A.C. Nielsen Co. for the week of Oct. 7-13. Listings include the week's ranking, with season-to-date ranking in parentheses, rating for the week, and total homes.

- (1) "The Cosby Show," NBC, 30.7 rating, 26.3 million homes.
- (5) "Murder, She Wrote," CBS, 24.9, 21.3 million homes.
- (9) "Who's the Boss?," ABC, 24.8, 21.3 million homes.
- (7) "The Long Hot Summer," Part 2 — "NBC Monday Night Movie," 23.8, 20.4 million homes.
- (3) "Dynasty," ABC, 22.5, 19.3 million homes.
- (6) "Dallas," CBS, 21.8, 18.7 million homes.
- (10) "60 Minutes," CBS, 21.8, 18.7 million homes.
- (18) "Growing Pains," ABC, 21.5, 18.5 million homes.
- (34) "Love, Mary" — "CBS Tuesday Night Movie," 21.5, 18.5 million homes.
- (27) "Toughlove" — "ABC Sunday Night Movie," 20.6, 17.7 million homes.

NIX HOME WORK
CLEVELAND (AP) — Given a choice of working from home two or three days a week using a computer would you do so?

That question was put to Americans by Sales Consultants International, a sales recruiter, and it brought a negative response from many of those polled.

Of those interviewed, 44.9 percent said they would prefer not to work from home, 31.6 percent said they would, and 23.5 percent were undecided.

Head injury foundation to meet Saturday in Amarillo

The Panhandle Chapter of the Texas Head Injury Foundation monthly meeting will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center, 1300 Wallace Boulevard, Amarillo, Texas.

The program "Practical Behavior Management" will be presented by William F. Blackerby, Ph.D., CRC, Neuropsychologist at Timber Ridge Ranch, a part of the New Mexico head injury rehabilitation system in Benton, Arkansas.

Dr. Blackerby received his Ph.D. in rehabilitation psychology from the University of Arizona. Previously, Dr. Blackerby had worked as a social worker, state vocational counselor, vocational evaluator and assistant professor of rehabilitation at the University of Arizona. He was instrumental in the development of the head injury day treatment program at Good Samaritan Hospital in Phoenix, Arizona. In addition to his responsibilities in neuropsychological testing and cognitive retraining, he has developed programs at Timber Ridge Ranch which deal with sexuality, stress management and personal adjustment to disability.

The Texas Head Injury Foundation is a non-profit organization devoted to the quality of life of head injured survivors and their families. For further information on THIF or your local chapter or family support group, please call (806) 359-6652.

SHIRLEY JONES

Jones to perform with symphony

America's Ultimate Lady, Shirley Jones, will entertain thousands of area "pops" enthusiasts when she appears in concert with the Amarillo Symphony at the Amarillo Civic Center on Saturday, October 19, and on Sunday, October 20.

The evening performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Saturday, and the Sunday afternoon matinee will begin at 3 p.m. Tickets are still available for both performances.

Jones has captured the hearts of music and theatre goers for over three decades. Her Cinderella story began at age 17 when Jones charmed the state of Pennsylvania as their 1952 Crown Princess.

An electrifying voice combined with a captivating personality and a budding talent as an actress led Jones to New York, where incredibly she was immediately discovered by musical giants, Rogers and Hammerstein, and cast in the Broadway hit "South Pacific."

After this first stage appearance in "South Pacific", Rogers & Hammerstein graduated their fresh discovery to a role in "Me & Juliet". These stage appearances fared so well, that after a successful screen test Jones was given the coveted leading role in the movie version of "Oklahoma."

Although she won an Academy Award in 1961 for an untypical Jones role of the prostitute Lulu Baines in "Elmer Gantry," she is best remembered for her musical comedy successes in "Carousel" and "The Music Man" as well as "April Love."

Jones also took audiences by storm in the five-year television hit series "Partridge Family," followed by a variety of significant TV specials that continued to demonstrate Jones' limitless capabilities.

It is not surprising that after overwhelmingly proficient film and television careers, that Jones should be now launched as a premiere soloist with symphonies throughout the United States in highly successful "Pops" concerts.

"A well earned standing ovation," "How can you remain seated?" "Vibrant, electric and perfect," are accolades topped by Bob Hope when he introduced Jones on his last year's Christmas show as, "The First Lady of American Song." First Lady, Nancy Reagan called her "One of our country's musical treasures."

From Broadway to the cinema to television to the concert circuit, Shirley Jones is truly a most gifted performer.

The Amarillo Symphony is pleased to present such a talent. Under the direction of that new and energetic conductor, Robert Bernhardt, both performances should be the best yet.

Tickets for Shirley Jones can be purchased at the door at 7 p.m. on Saturday evening and at 2 p.m. on Sunday prior to the performances. Ticket prices for this special concert range from $10 to $20 on Saturday and from $8 to $12 on Sunday. For more information, please contact the Amarillo Symphony at 376-8782.

CANCER TREATMENT

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) - The People's Republic of China is seeking help in the United States for treating cancer.

China has embarked on a program to modernize its hospitals, and is placing special emphasis on cancer treatment, according to Varian Associates. The firm says it has sold China several medical linear accelerators that use X-rays and electrons to treat malignant tumors.

It says one accelerator already installed is treating some 120 persons a day in Shanghai.

Girl Scout News

Hereford's Cadette Girl Scouts have held several troop meetings since the group began meeting for the new fall season.

Past events have included a planning session, a slumber party and a trip to the fire station during Fire Prevention Week.

Currently the girls are actively involved in obtaining their atomic energy merit badge. Seminars to earn the badges are offered bi-annually by the Pantex Plant in Amarillo.

To participate in the seminars, the girls must be at Amarillo High School every Saturday morning during October. They must complete their handbook and all home projects.

The Cadette program is for junior high school age girls (12-15). All girls interested in attending the meetings may do so from 4:30-5:30 p.m. each Tuesday at the Community Center.

Shopping guides listed for buying manufactured homes

The first stop in shopping for a single-wide or double-wide manufactured home shouldn't be a sales lot, but the land you intend to put it on, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist.

"Don't put money down or sign an agreement on a manufactured home before you have a contract with a park or subdivision, or you have purchased your own land," cautions Dr. Jane Berry.

"Otherwise you run the risk of having a house that doesn't fit the lot, or being unable to put the house where you want to live."

Since a manufactured home can be the most expensive consumer product you buy, next to a conventional home, the specialist recommends careful comparison shopping.

"First check out the reputation of the dealer," says Berry. "The dealer's assistance, service and care - or lack of it - will have a great affect on your satisfaction with the manufactured home."

She suggests checking the dealer's reputation with a local credit bureau, Better Business Bureau, or bank.

As you look at manufactured homes, consider both price and financing, says the specialist.

"Dealer financing is often the quickest and easiest, but comparison shopping among the dealer, your bank, savings and loan association or credit union for the best financing option can save you money in the long run," remarks Berry.

Also determine the services you will receive, says the specialist.

"Find out what type of delivery, setup and leveling services are offered by the dealer," advises Berry. "Ask who will make needed repairs during the warranty period and check to see if the home can be re-leveled after six months if this is necessary."

Ann Landers Feeling guilty

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Some neighbors moved away recently and the woman of the house sent me a beautiful letter and a lovely bouquet of flowers. Our children had played together for many years and she wanted to express her appreciation for my kindness and hospitality to her family.

I never knew the woman well, nor did I want to. She was a fat slob who did not look as if she belonged in our neighborhood. Her children, however, were always beautifully dressed, well-behaved and a pleasure to have around.

Her letter stunned me. It was written in her own hand, as fine an example of penmanship as I have ever seen. Her personalized engraved stationery was in excellent taste. Her choice of words was exquisite. That letter was a masterpiece of literary construction, filled with praise for the manner in which I utilized my talents. There was even a line about how she always had admired my physical beauty and my taste in clothes.

The problem: I have become obsessed with that fat slob's letter. I read it over and over and over and cannot bring myself to throw it away. I am not a woman who has never received a compliment in my life, but I'm beginning to wonder about myself. Am I sick? Why do I hang on to a letter from a fat cow I barely knew?

Please help me figure this out. I am -- PUZZLED IN GRAND RAPIDS

DEAR PUZZLED: I suspect you feel guilty and ashamed. Obviously you have always disliked fat people. Twice in your letter you mention the "fat slob" and once you call her a "fat cow."

Your discovery that the woman is sensitive, cultivated and kind has thrown you for a loss. You probably regret that you were so judgmental, and realize you missed something by not getting to know her.

Let this be a lesson to you. "Fat" and "slob" are not one word. Many overweight people are bright, kind, loving and wonderful company. When you look them out of your life because of an irrational prejudice, you are the one who loses.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please consult your experts and satisfy my curiosity. Every time I read the newspaper I get an urge to tear off a piece and chew on it.

I am aware that pregnant women sometimes have a craving for pickles and ice cream, or expensive out-of-season fruit. But I am not pregnant.

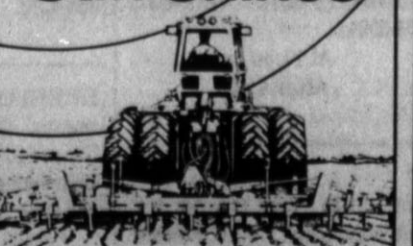

We get three newspapers, but I feel the urge to chew only one. This leads me to believe it isn't the paper I like it's the ink.

I am normal in ever other respect. Please investigate this odd behavior and let me know what you find out.--UPPER MICHIGAN READER

DEAR UPPER MICH: You may have a condition called pica--a craving for unnatural articles.

Generally, pica strikes hysterical or pregnant women and undernourished children. See your doctor to make sure you are eating a balanced diet. P.S. And please don't eat my column before the other members of the family have read it.

EMERGENCY! THE DEVIL IS IN TROUBLE!

Paul felt impelled by the Holy Spirit to go across to Greece before returning to Jerusalem. "And after that," he said, "I must go on to Rome!" He sent his two assistants, Timothy and Erastus, on ahead to Greece while he stayed awhile longer in Turkey.

But about that time, a big blowup developed in Ephesus concerning the Christians. It began with Demetrius, a silversmith who employed many craftsmen to manufacture silver shrines of the Greek goddess Diana. He called a meeting of his men, together with others employed in related trades, and addressed them as follows:

"Gentlemen, this business is our income. As you know so well from what you've seen and heard, this man Paul has persuaded many, many people that handmade gods aren't gods at all. As a result, our sales volume is going down! And this trend is evident not only here in Ephesus, but throughout the entire province! Of course, I am not only talking about the business aspects of this situation and our loss of income, but also of the possibility that the temple of the great goddess Diana will lose its influence, and that Diana -- this magnificent goddess-worshipped not only throughout this part of Turkey but all around the world -- will be forgotten!"

At this their anger boiled and they began shouting, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" A crowd began to gather and soon the city was filled with confusion. Everyone rushed to the amphitheater, dragging along Gaius and Aristarchus, Paul's traveling companions, for trial.

Paul wanted to go in, but the disciples wouldn't let him. Some of the Roman officers of the province, friends of Paul, also sent a message to him, begging him not to risk his life by entering.

Acts 19:21-31

Plan approved by chambers

AUSTIN (AP) — The statewide water plan on the Nov. 5 ballot has been endorsed by Texas' four regional chambers of commerce, which represent 250,000 business firms and individuals.

"This is the first time we have ever got together on a water plan," said Tom Champion of Brownsville, head of the Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Texas State Chambers of Commerce that includes all four.

"The water issue has often divided us but it brings us together this time," said Nancy Speck of Nacogdoches, president-elect of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, at a Tuesday news conference.

"This is the first time we have ever agreed on a water plan," said Steve Stevens of San Angelo, president-elect of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. "This is representative of the broad areas of the state."

"We feel that South Texas and all of Texas is very dependent on having water," said E.W. "Bubba" Wehman, Jr. of Pleasanton, president of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Wehman said he believed the four chambers "finally realized this is a statewide program, not a regional one."

"We also feel that we are much closer to a real water emergency this time," said Ms. Speck.

The Boating Trades Association of Texas also announced Tuesday that it would support the statewide water plan.

"We are very much in favor of the water quality, conservation and flood control provisions of this plan," said Pat Helton, president.

"Our 15-member board of directors from North, South, East and West Texas is in unanimous agreement this plan deserves our endorsement and active support."

America loses Egyptian friends

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — "No to America," screamed the red banner headline in an opposition newspaper. "No to Piracy, No to Hegemony, No to U.S. State Terrorism."

The headline in the Socialist Labor Party newspaper al-Shaab stood above a cartoon showing President Reagan, dressed as a pirate, standing on a flight of jet fighters lassoing a dove of peace.

The U.S. interception of an Egyptian plane with four Palestinian hijackers on board, hailed in America as a victory over terrorism, has evoked bitterness and hostility in a country Washington values as an ally.

In the four days since U.S. F-14 jets forced the Egyptian plane to land in Sicily, militant students, mostly leftists and Moslem zealots, have burned U.S. and Israeli flags at Cairo University.

The downtown office of the Lawyers Syndicate, Egypt's bar association, is draped in banners denouncing the United States and Israel. The Journalist Syndicate, which represents the country's editors and reporters, has urged that U.S.-Egyptian military maneuvers be canceled and that the nation take other measures toward "self-reliance."

Egypt's state-controlled newspapers have featured the strongest anti-American cartoons and commentaries since the two nations restored diplomatic relations in 1974.

The headline in Tuesday's al-Ahram, the semi-official daily, demands a public apology from the United States for the aircraft's takeover last Thursday night.

Owen said. Criminologists are getting more sophisticated weaponry than law enforcement officers, thanks to special kits on the market for building silencers or converting guns from semi-automatic to automatic, a federal expert says.

Edward Owen Jr., chief of the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms' division of firearms technology, said the kits are frequently found at gun shows and flea markets.

Despite efforts by manufacturers to make it difficult to convert a weapon from semi-automatic to automatic, people have found ways to change the weapons,

Kits giving criminals sophisticated weapons

Owen discussed weapons trends among violent criminals on Tuesday at the International Association of Chiefs of Police conference in Houston.

"The scary thing is, police are being outgunned by the criminals," he said. "We think it (the weapons problem) is about at its zenith."

ATF agents in recent raids have seized such sophisticated weapons as machine guns, hand grenades, land mines and anti-aircraft rockets, Owen said.
