Homemaking Girls Will Give Reports

THE 86 GIRLS enrolled in the summer project program at Hereford High School's homemaking department will report on what they've done at the halfway mark at a progress report luncheon Friday in the gymnasium, according to homemaking teacher Mrs. Joel Hodges. Reports will begin at 10 a.m. with lunch at 12. Each girl and her mother will bring a covered dish.

The summer program began May 24 with a coffee and planning session by Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Jimmy Durham, the girls and their mothers.

Projects being studied by the girls include feeding the family, health, home care of the sick, child development, clothing, personal grooming and appearance, personal and home finance, home improvement, consumer buying, laundering, family relations and home management.

Mrs. Durham and Mrs. Hodges visited each girl at the beginning of her project and will make another visit after it is completed. The summer projects offer a half credit.

Included under feeding the family are cooking, marketing, gardening and freezing vegetables and fruits. The girls who chose home improvement are painting, rearranging their rooms and refinishing furniture.

SEVERAL girls are making first aid kits in the health project. Betty Jean Noland has made a kit for her home, and another for her father to carry in his truck. Donna Sue Guseman included a treatment for snake bites in her kit.

In connection with the child development area, there will be a play school at the homemaking laboratory June 17-21 from 9 to 10:45 a.m. Participants will be Margaret Boomer, Sandra Childers, Doris Willoughby, Dorsey Mutter, Glenda Allison, Carole Ford, Virginia Isbell, Shirleye Shelton, Jane Pool, Lois Christman, Sandra Moore and Sandra Roberson. Each girl has chosen a child of pre-school age to work with.

Achievement Day for the summer projects will be Wednesday, June 26, at 9:30 a.m., in the form of a coffee and Coke party at the high school. The girls and their mothers will come back at that time with their projects completed.

The FHA officers will plan their duties and special activities at the FHA Officers Training School Monday afternoon, June 24. They will make plans for next year's yearbook June 25.

Mrs. Hodges and Miss Ada Beth Sanders, apprentice homemaking teacher from Texas Tech, will work with children and adults at the Labor Camp the afternoons of June 18 and 25, in cooperation with the two young workers sponsored by the Hereford United Council of Churches.

Around Town

Mayor Ray Godwin has been right popular in baseball circles this season. He threw out the first ball for the Little League last month and did the same for the Pony League Monday night. He also passed the hat for donations Monday. Friday night he will make a speech as the Little League observes National Little League Foundation Day.

Out at the Bull Barn, accommodations for visitors and participants are due to get better and better, as the county commissioners continue to implement improvement plans. Dave Alexander this week began work on expansion of rest room facilities and construction of a concession stand. The Lions Club is continuing to cooperate in paying for a share of the work accomplished. And the parking lot around the building is to be paved to permit all weather use; advertisements for bids on the job are expected to be published next week.

Timothy Hoffman, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hoffman, nine miles east of Hereford, won the Shetland pony given away by Cooper's Super Market Saturday night. Timothy also got a saddle and bridle with the pony.

Hereford school district trustees began budget studies for the coming school year on Tuesday night and okayed a motion to employ an accounting firm to conduct a routine audit of expenditures and re-

A FEW FARMERS DECIDE

WHEAT QUOTAS, PRICE ARE SUBJECT TO VOTE

A few of the nation's — and Deaf Smith County's — wheat farmers are expected on June 20 to decide by referendum whether or not all wheat growers are to continue to produce under marketing quotas on the 1958 wheat crop. If they vote "yes," supports will be at 75 per cent of parity. If "no," supports will be at 50 per cent.

While a two-thirds majority of the producers voting must favor the quotas for them to become effective, the outcome of the voting will decide the level of the available price support for next year's crop. Hereford has never drawn a large majority of the voters to the polls, and in several years the quotas have narrowly gained approval.

Last year in Deaf Smith, only 286 persons voted. But at least 1,200 farmers and probably as many of their wives were eligible to vote, according to Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization office figures.

Of the 286 votes cast here, 275 were for quotas, 11 were against.

THERE WILL be five polling places in the county again this year. Set up for individual communities, any voting place is nevertheless open to voters from other communities if they find it more convenient to vote there. A wheat grower who votes outside his community casts a "challenged" ballot, but the ballot is counted after ASC committee members determine that the voter is a bona fide wheat grower.

All wheat growers are eligible to vote in the June 20 referendum who will share in the 1958 wheat crop from a farm in the commercial wheat area on which the wheat acreage to be harvested, plus any acreage to be placed in the soil bank's wheat acreage reserve will be more than 15 acres. Wives of eligible wheat growers may also vote.

County ASC committeemen have suggested that if a farmer is unable to get to the polls "he should send his wife. And if he goes, he should take her."

POLLING places for the referendum will be the courthouse for "a" and "b" communities, Walcott School for "c" community, and the Sims and Ford Community Houses for "d" community.

A polling place for "d" community in previous years was

HYBRID GRAIN SORGHUM PLANTING—N. G. Elliston, who farms east of Hereford on Austin Rd., was checking his four-row planter's performance carefully Tuesday afternoon at his son, Pat, began reseeding a field to Texas Certified 611 hybrid grain sorghum. Recent rains, which brought weeds galore to the surface, brought about the replanting. The scene, above, was duplicated on farms throughout the area this week as farmers rushed to complete planting about 200,000 acres to grain sorghum "while the moisture is right." (Staff Photo)

Beauty Contest Is Scheduled by REA

The Deaf Smith County Electric Co-op will choose Miss Rural Electrification in a beauty contest on Cotton John's TV program at 3 p.m. Saturday, June 20. The winner will represent the cooperative in the state contest, which will be held in San Antonio Aug. 29 and 30.

Closing date for entering the local contest is July 1. Contestants may enter by contacting the office of the Deaf Smith County Electric Co-op in Hereford before that date. Requirements for girls entering the contest are as follows:

1. Contestants must have established permanent residence in homes served by rural electric systems financed by loans from REA. (Students at colleges, universities, business schools, etc., temporarily residing away from home will be considered for these purposes as living at home.)
2. No contestant shall be under 16 years of age nor over 22 years of age as of the last day of the spring 1958 NRECA annual meeting.
3. No contestant shall be eligible who is married as of the last day of the 1958 NRECA annual meeting.

The point system to be used in judging candidates will include beauty - figure, 25; face, 25; poise - posture, 10; grace, 5; personality - charm, 15; grooming, 10; ability - past achievement, 5; talent or domestic ability, 5.

$210,000 To Be Paid by Soil Bank

Payment of $210,000 to 104 landowners participating in the 1957 acreage reserve portion of the soil bank is expected to begin here within the next few days and to be completed by June 30, reports Faust Collier, county manager of the Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization office.

The $210,000 represents payment for withdrawing 25,000 acres of wheat allotment acreage from cultivation during the current year, Collier said. April 15 was the cutoff date for "banking" land under the one year soil bank program for wheat acreage.

Crummy Jail Is Still Crumbling

The proposal to issue revenue bonds for a new county jail may be dead, but the "jail problem" is still with us. The old "coop" leaked badly at the seams, windows and elsewhere — during recent rains, and members of the county commission on Monday visited the crumbling facility to inspect damage.

A bit of plaster, no more than 100 square inches, actually fell off the wall above the door to the main cell block shortly after they entered. Deputy Sheriff Charles Skelton made a neat catch of the falling debris.

Sheriff Lowell Sharp pointed to a steel beam, the major roof support on the second floor, which has recently begun to settle through the wall as evidence that the jail's gradual deterioration is apt someday to become sudden.

Commissioners J. T. Guinn, Otto Massie, Don Hicks and Charles Sowell trooped down to their meeting room in the courthouse after the visit. "That place is not worth repairing again. And again," crumbled one commissioner. That concluded the action for the time being.

Graveside Rites for Frost Infant

Graveside rites were held Monday afternoon in West Park Cemetery for Stella Ann Frost, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Frost, 232 Ave. D.

The infant was born Sunday in Deaf Smith County Hospital and died the same day at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Howard Scott, First Baptist Church pastor, officiated. Gilliland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Surviving other than the parents are two sisters, Bevey and Rita and two brothers, Charles and James, all of the home.

'Go Slow' Policy for Tax Problem Finds New Favor

Tax Talk by Commissioners Reveals Two Do Not Agree

A distance of at least "three wagon greasings" separates County Commissioners Don Hicks and Otto Massie when rural and city property valuations for tax purposes are considered. The distance became apparent and was perhaps widened when the two officials aired their opinions Monday afternoon during the regular session of the county board.

Discussion of the use of a professional appraiser to "equalize" valuations prompted the discussion. Neither of the principals lost his temper or, apparently, changed his mind.

Hicks' opinion, while stated at some length, might be summarized in one of his statements, "Why spend $20,000 for something we don't need. I think as the equalization board we should do it." He suggested employing a full time appraiser to work through the county tax office as a more economical means of accomplishing and maintaining "equalization."

Massie, who asserted he is certain there will be legal action by individual citizens to force tax equalization unless the county acts on the problem soon, does not share Hicks' estimation of the commissioner's ability to appraise property, judging by his statement, "If we do it, we'll have everyone mad at us and the tax rolls still won't be right."

Hicks declared, "This is an agricultural community. If we tax the farmers for every cent they're

Appraisal Price Jolts Trustees

Dissension among members of the county commissioners and a decision to go "go slow" by school trustees this week darkened hopes for tax equalization in the immediate or foreseeable future between city and rural properties within Deaf Smith County and the Hereford school district.

Only two members of the county commissioners court attended the third joint session to discuss tax problems Tuesday night with Hereford Rural School District officials. Bill McMorries of McMorries & Associates, engineers - appraisers, presented an estimate of the cost to appraise rural properties within a million acre area to be affected by the equalization proceedings.

McMorries said "$29,700." Shortly afterward, he went home to Amarillo.

The price of appraising properties over the 1,570 square mile area appeared to be the burr in the blanket as far as school trustees were concerned. School financial secretary Fred Baird revealed that a Lubbock appraiser earlier in the week had offered to do the job for $32,000.

BAIRD SAID, "I've been for an appraisal all the time, but it's going to cost more than I figure. To make the project worthwhile, we need to have the city, county and school together in this. But if the city is not interested, I think we should go slow."

Mayor Ray Godwin and City Manager Dudley Bayne previously had informed members of the two other local governing bodies that they are satisfied with the present tax appraisals and tax rolls for city property. The city recently employed Henry Benson as tax assessor-collector with instructions to update the two-year-old appraisal records now being used by Hereford.

The city tax records are available to both the school and county tax assessors. Their use by those two officials has led to much of the hue and cry - including recommendations by the school tax equalization board - for "equalization."

BAIRD, who recently noted that rural and city tax evaluations are generally "50 per cent" different, said Tuesday night that he is not satisfied with the city's tax rolls and feels that re-evaluation is needed in Hereford. He cited a case in which three 50-foot front lots are carried on the city's rolls at a valuation of just $200, while the property in question recently sold for $3,000 and is now carried on the school's tax roll at a valuation of $980.

Baird suggested that as an alternative to employing a professional appraisal firm to do the job of reappraising all property within the county and school district, "Bank (Bank Ramey - county tax assessor - collector) and I could get out of our offices and correct all property valuations on the rolls."

He estimated that they might be able to do the work within a year. One board member estimated it would take the two men 18 months or longer.

County Judge Homer Henslee and Commissioner Otto Massie left the meeting after assuring the trustees that the county board will continue to consider the problem. They were accompanied by Ramey.

Tom Robinson, board of trustees president, appointed a committee

Pony League Play Draws 300 Fans

Pony League baseball play opened Monday night in Hereford with the Indians defeating the Red Sox, 13-9 at Veterans Park baseball field.

In Tuesday night's game, the Tigers outslug the White Sox 16-13.

Mayor Ray Godwin tossed out the first ball Monday night after making a speech urging support of the Pony League to the 300 fans present.

This is the first time Pony League baseball has been played in Hereford. The league is for boys 13-14 years old. A 36-game schedule will be played by the four teams.

THE INDIANS jumped off to a four-run lead in the first inning and were never behind, although the Red Sox scored three times in their half of the first frame.

Edward Thomas hit a three-run home run in the sixth inning to stretch the Indians' lead. They held a 6-4 edge before Thomas homered. Thomas had a perfect night at the plate, getting four hits in four times at bat and scoring four runs. He had three singles and a walk in addition to his homer.

Lynton Allred was the winning pitcher and Clyde Whitaker Jr. the loser. The Red Sox outhit the Indians 13-9.

IN TUESDAY night's contest, the Tigers rallied for nine runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to take the lead. They had trailed 4-2 going into the fifth.

Free Golf Lessons To Start Tuesday at City Course

A series of seven free golf lessons will begin Tuesday at the municipal course. Professional Bud Posey will be the instructor.

Instructions will be given each Tuesday for seven weeks. Posey said. Two sessions will be held each day, one at 4 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m.

Interested persons can register at either time Tuesday, Posey added.

NATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE DAY TO BE OBSERVED HERE FRIDAY

Hereford's Little League will join more than 4,500 other such leagues across the United States and Canada Friday in support of the first annual National Little League Foundation Day.

Mayor Ray Godwin has officially proclaimed the day, which is also Flag Day, in Hereford, and Gov. Price Daniel has made a state-wide proclamation.

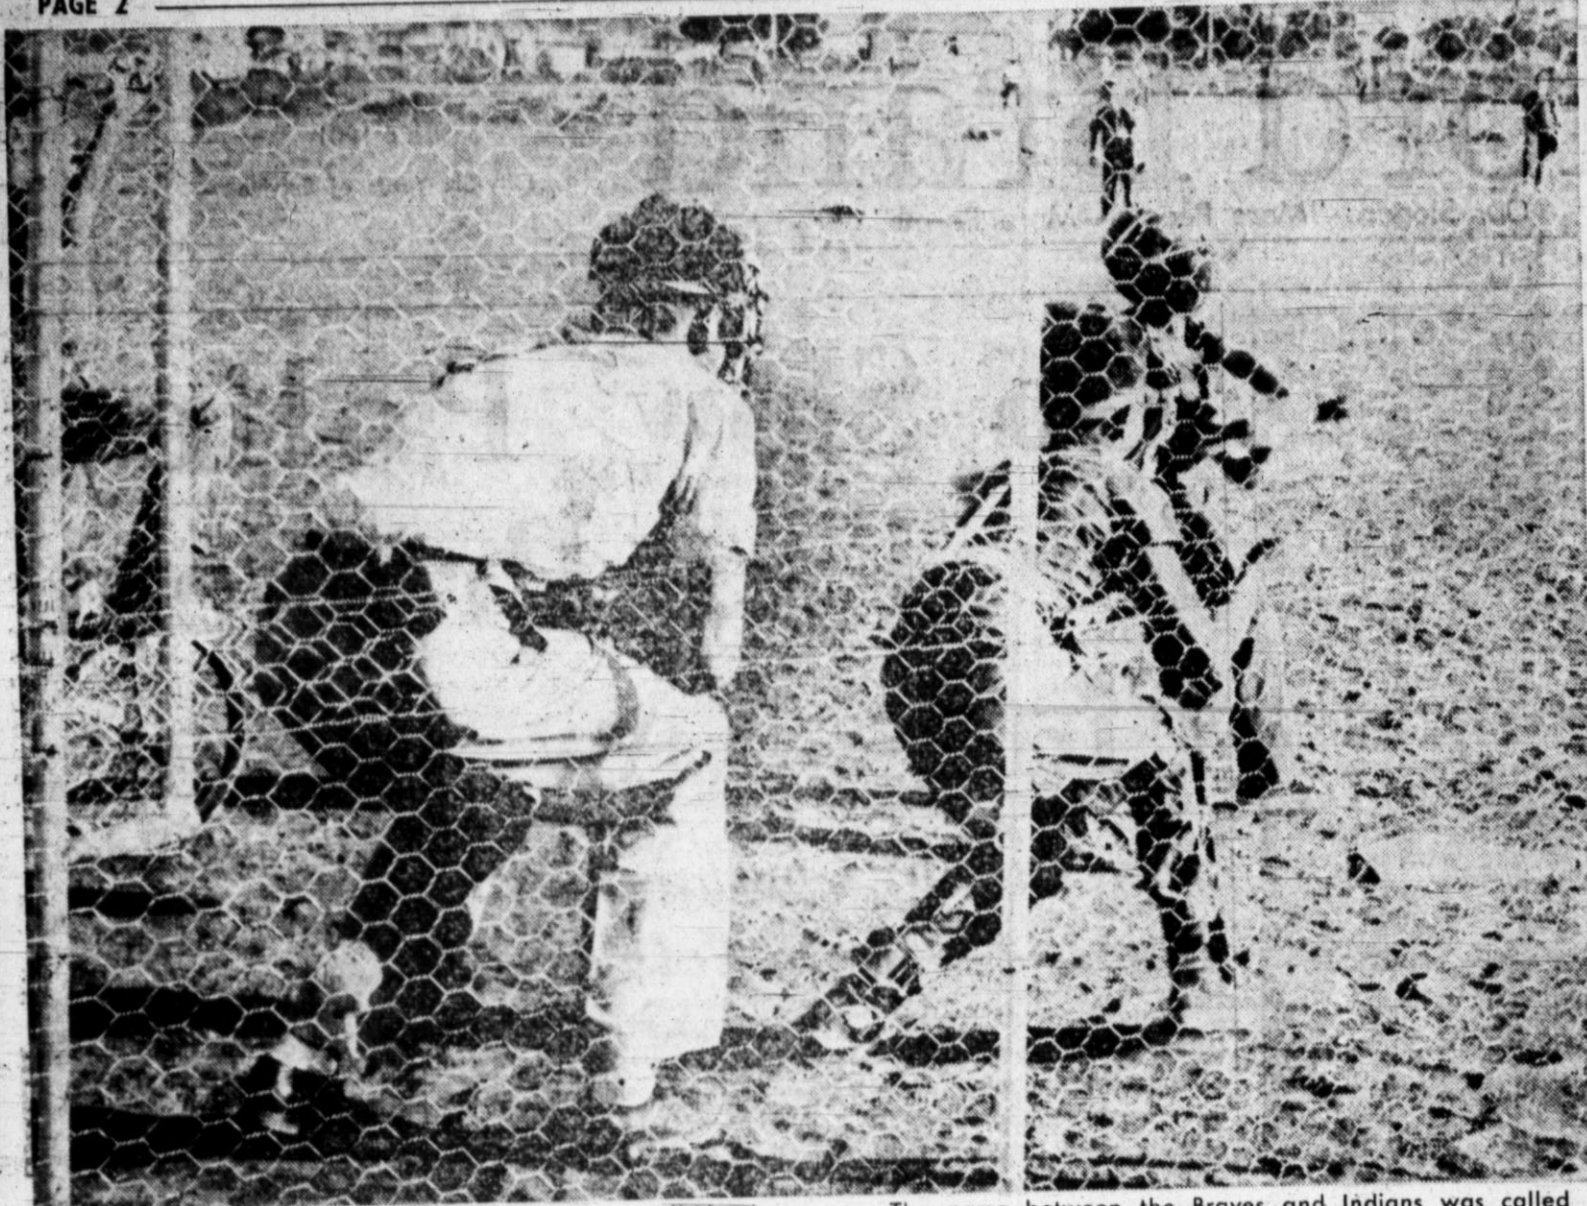

Godwin will make an address during ceremonies before the Yankees and Cardinals regularly scheduled game at 8 p.m.

All donations taken at Friday's game will go to the National Little League Foundation.

Foundation Day was approved recently at a meeting of the National Congress of Little League Baseball. Each Little League will conduct special ceremonies Friday and send its donations to the Foundation.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Dodgers Topple Cardinals, 6-5

Barry Gabbert, Dodger Catcher, hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning to give his team a 6-5 win over the Cardinals in Little League play Tuesday night.

GABBERT

It was the first win of the season for the Dodgers. Gabbert homered with Jim Hanev on base and one out.

The Cards had scored four runs in the top of the sixth to go ahead 5-4. David McNelly's triple was the big blow in the Cards' big inning.

The Yankees continued unbeaten as they blanked the Giants 8-0 Monday night. The Giants managed only one hit, a single by Ronnie Duncan in the fifth inning. The Yanks got seven safeties, all singles. They now have six wins.

In minor league play, the Giants pounded the Yankees, 17-8 and the small Dodgers matched their elders by getting their first win, downing the Cardinals 17-6.

Advertising for purchase of a 75 kilowatt auxiliary power plant to be installed at Deaf Smith County Hospital was approved Monday by the county commissioners. T. E. Seigler, hospital manager, said that the present auxiliary unit, a 10 kw generator, has proven inadequate and is no longer connected to the facility's electrical system. The new unit is expected to cost about $6,000, plus several hundred dollars more for installation. Costs will be split between the county and the hospital.

Man Treated Here for Electric Shock

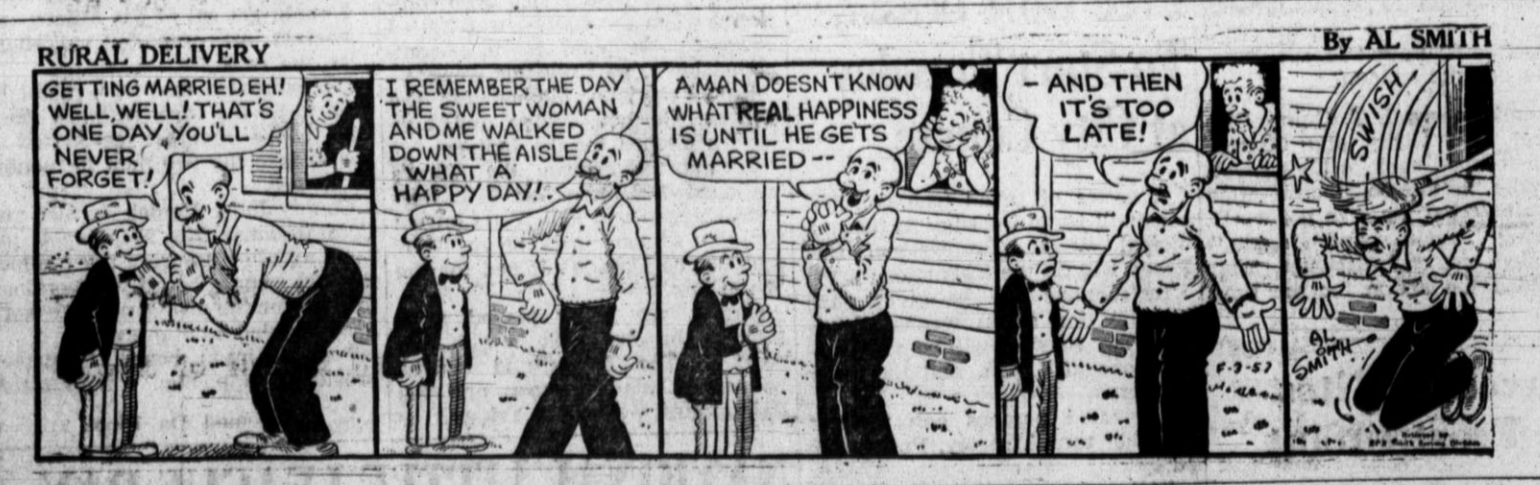

Steve Roberts of the Laredo Hotel was released from Deaf Smith County Hospital Wednesday morning after treatment for electrical shock. Roberts was shocked Tuesday afternoon when the electrical equipment he was handling came in contact with high voltage wires. The accident occurred at a train barn owned by Taft McGee on Highway 60. Roberts was held overnight at the hospital for observation. Hospital officials said Roberts was stunned by the shock but not seriously injured.

Beans 'n Franks Fine for 4th

FOR AN OLD FASHIONED FOURTH try picnicking at home with a big casserole of baked beans topped off with onion rings and franks.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you're picnicking at home on Independence Day you may want to serve some traditional American foods.

How about a big casserole of baked beans topped with onion rings and franks? Or crumb gingerbread with lemon sauce?

This gingerbread is offered at a well-known chain of restaurants that specializes in American dishes. You can try our version of it:

or if you are short on time, you can bake gingerbread from a mix and serve it with vanilla ice cream and fudge sauce.

CRUMB GINGERBREAD

D. W. Allmon's Mother Succumbs

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Henrietta Allmon of Brownfield in the Crescent Hill Church of Christ there with John McCoy, evangelist, officiating. Burial was in Brownfield Cemetery.

Mrs. Allmon, who lived in Brownfield since 1902, was the mother of D. W. Allmon, 514 Blevins.

Board Approves New Posts for 2

Changes of duties for two members of the Hereford Rural High School staff were approved Tuesday night by the board of trustees.

Former Head Coach L. B. Russell was appointed assistant principal and athletic director for Shirley Elementary School, and assistant high school principal Bill Phillips was named coordinator of education for the top six grades in the system. Phillips will also serve as counselor. Both of his positions are new.

Burdine Scores a Hole-in-One

Wendell Burdine scored a hole-in-one shot Sunday at the municipal golf course. It was the second ace of the current year at the course.

Burdine one-stroked No. 6 with a No. 7 iron. On May 31, Harry McCauley also scored a hole-in-one on No. 6. He also used a No. 7 iron.

Burdine was playing with Doc Cowan, Dean Herring and Charles Duval.

Both McCauley and Burdine will receive several prizes from sporting goods firms.

Household Scrapbook

Sharpening Scissors

To sharpen the scissors or shears, place the neck of a glass bottle between the blades and close them briskly upon it as if trying to cut it off. The smooth glass will glide the full length of the blades, from base to point, and fifteen or twenty repetitions will produce a good cutting edge.

Removing Transfers

To remove decalcomania transfers from painted surfaces, without damaging the paint, douse them with hot vinegar. Allow this to soak in a few minutes, and the decals can be wiped off with no damage done.

Brown Sugar

If the brown sugar is hard and lumpy, place it in a shallow pan and put in a warm oven for a few minutes. The lumps will disappear.

To Stiffen Veils

If your veil is too limp, try putting it between two pieces of waxed paper and running a moderately warm iron over it. Still another remedy is to dip the veil into some beer, shake it vigorously, and then lay out on a towel to dry.

Feather Pillows

Do not hang feather pillows on the clothes line for airing on a warm, sunny day. The heat of the sun will bring out the oil in the feathers.

Patent Leather Heels

You can prevent the patent-leather covering on the heels of women's shoes from cracking by coating them with some colorless nail polish.

Recipe File

Instead of having the ordinary scrapbook, buy a quantity of small 3 x 5 cards at any stationery store. Each recipe or household suggestion can be pasted on a card and then filed alphabetically.

White Braid

White braid can be cleaned by wetting an old toothbrush, rubbing it across a cake of mild soap, and scrubbing the braid with it. The lather can be removed with a damp cloth.

Parsley

Wash the parsley with hot water and see how much better it retains its flavor and how much easier it is to chop.

China Cement

To make china cement stir some freshly slaked lime into the white of an egg until it becomes the consistency of paste. Apply this to the broken edges of the china to be mended; then let dry for three or four days. This cement may also be used on glass and marble.

RAIN BRINGS DROUTH

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP) - When week-long rains hit Simpson County, they left Noble Lanier's livestock faced with a long dry spell.

His 1 1/2 acre pond sprang a leak during the downpour and disappeared, the result of a cave-in deep in the soggy underground. All that had remained in the pond, where water had been available for more than 50 years, was 15 feet of mud.

Lanier later plugged the leak in hopes future rains might create a new pond - if the bottom doesn't drop out again.

SAVE THAT CUP

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) - An American institution of long and cherished standing has been dealt a terrible blow here. Because of public complaints, Safety Director Charles Ruddle has told his six-man street department:

1. No more coffee breaks until they've been on the job at least two hours. 2. If they take any coffee breaks at all, it'll have to be in the city garage.

And to put teeth in his order, Ruddle laid down these penalties: A week's suspension for the first offense; permanent dismissal for the second.

GOOD QUESTION

MILWAUKEE (AP) - After two days of testimony, Civil Judge Robert C. Cannon informed the jury that attorneys had reached a settlement in the damage suit.

One juror raised his hand and inquired if it would be all right to ask a question.

"Certainly," replied Judge Cannon.

"Can you tell us who won, Judge?" asked the juror.

LIVE PIGSKIN

TRENTON, Ill. (AP) - This pigskin was alive when it scored a trip to the hospital.

Farmer Karl Kapp was kicked on the knee by a pig when he tried to put a ring in its nose and required treatment in St. Joseph's Hospital.

MEMORIAL SOUGHT

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) - A $2,000 fund raising drive is being conducted here to erect a shelter over the long cabin that served Gen. Phillips Sheridan as a headquarters when he was commandant of Ft. Reno in 1874. After the Civil War, the general was sent to Oklahoma to head the cavalry's forces in Indian Territory.

PLEASE BE PATIENT

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) - The Norfolk Virginian - Pilot reports this sign on a rural gasoline station, observed by Preston Charles:

"Buz twice for night service; then keep your shirt on while I get my pants on."

TO YOU, AND YOU, AND YOU

A Sincere

Thank You

from the bottom of our hearts

Over a year ago we conceived the idea of building the most modern Super Market of the area right here in Hereford. We were beset by many problems of course, and many delays, but last Thursday, we opened the all new 12,000 Sq. Ft. Super Market at McKinley and Park Ave.

But a Super Market is just another store without the acceptance of you, the customer. We believed that the new store would receive that acceptance . . . and it was with deep humility that we received the crowds from opening time Thursday morning until closing time Saturday night. . . undoubtedly the most wonderful turn-out for any such event in the history of Hereford. We deeply appreciated your presence.

But most of all, we appreciated the many kind remarks, the many words of encouragement, the beautiful flowers, and the other little things that mean so much to all of us.

May we again express our sincere heartfelt Thanks to each of you, and may we have the pleasure of serving you again, and again in the years to come.

All the folks at Cooper's Super Market.

Sao Paulo: Fast Growing South American Chicago

By JULIUS GOLDEN
SAO PAULO, Brazil, (AP) — The New World's new melting pot — Sao Paulo — today is Brazil's cradle of industrialization.

Paulistas, the proud and diverse people who inhabit this city, call it "the fastest growing city in the world; the Chicago of South America."

The city is dramatic evidence that a community, left far behind by the industrial revolution of the last century, can overcome the handicap in a rush toward the future.

Paulistas, referring to the state as well as the city, say "Sao Paulo is a locomotive pulling 20 empty cars (the other Brazilian states)."

Built over rolling hills and shallow valleys, Sao Paulo is a melting pot of three million. On its wide modern boulevards walk Germans, Japanese, Italians, Hungarians and even descendants of proud Confederates who left the United States after the Civil War.

AND THE immigrants keep coming. Some bring money, others technical know-how. Still others come with empty pockets and big dreams. But all add to Sao Paulo's dynamic personality.

In this nation of vast lands and untapped resources, Sao Paulo has a niche of its own. It has taken long strides ahead of the rest of Brazil.

From its soaring skyscrapers, its modern factories, come more than half of the country's textile products, chemicals and medicines. It produces 80 per cent of all Brazilian electrical materials 78 per cent of manufactured rubber goods and 86 per cent of the machinery and finished metal.

Sao Paulo's industrial growth far outshadows its population increase, which in itself is amazing. This city has grown by one million in six years and last year became Brazil's most populous city.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH in Sao Paulo, best shown by the increase in value of basic industries, borders on the fantastic. The value of metallurgical industries has grown from less than one million dollars in 1940 to eight million in 1950 to 18 million in 1955. The automotive industry was valued at two million dollars in 1950 and five million in 1955. The value of the chemical industry grew from eight million dollars in 1950 to 21 million in 1955.

There is an estimated one billion dollars invested in and around Sao Paulo by U. S. companies. General Motors has announced a 10 million dollar expansion plan here. Ford Motor Co. is expected to follow suit. In the chemical field, money has been invested by W. R. Grace and Co., Celanese, Union Carbide and others. Union Carbide invested five million in a plastics plant. Borden Chemical is making formaldehyde and other chemicals in a four million dollar plant.

ALTHOUGH U. S. investments make up about 60 per cent of the total foreign investments in Sao Paulo, other nations are moving in rapidly. Germany has invested 72 million dollars in Brazil since 1952 — more than any other nation — and 85 per cent of this money is in Sao Paulo.

The heavy immigration to Sao Paulo has solved one major problem of industrialization that the rest of Brazil faces. In Sao Paulo, there is no lack of technicians for the factories.

"We have our own technical schools now," said one industrialist. "Actually, Sao Paulo needs agricultural experts for the fields. But for the factories, we're training our own."

Fragile Apron Is Memento of Redskins Friendship

PARRIS (AP) — A "friendship apron" which the family of the late Texas pioneer Albert Latimer traces back to Indian days, hangs in a frame on a wall of Mrs. Walter Thompson's home.

The fragile dress apron was given to Mrs. Thompson's grandmother soon after her great uncle, Latimer, rode muleback from Washington-on-the-Brazos after signing the Declaration of Independence on March 2, 1836.

The story as told by the family is this:

IT WAS on his return from the political mission that events developed leading to the apron incident.

Heading across the expanse of unsettled territory to Clarksville, a trading post near the Red River, Latimer rode through a dense growth of trees. When he emerged, he spotted an Indian village.

Before he could turn back into the thicket, Indian's dogs began howling and alerted the tribe. Several young bucks sprang out with bows and arrows ready for attack. Albert made signs indicating his peaceful intent. The young warriors ignored him. Not a moment too soon an old Indian chief stepped from his tent and halted his tribesmen.

After saving Albert, the old chief led him to his tent.

"You not remember Big Foot?" he asked.

The chief then related an incident when Albert had saved Big Foot's life.

BIG FOOT and some of his tribe had gone to Clarksville trading post to swap furs.

While there, Big Foot was approached by two drunken white men who began to hurl insults at the stately chief. Big Foot looked past them.

His dignified air provoked their wrath, and as their abuses became more insulting, one of the ruffians struck Big Foot on the head with his pistol. Big Foot fell to the floor.

As he started to rise, the second drunk came forward with his raised pistol. He was about to loose another blow when, suddenly, he felt a strong grip on his shoulder. Albert Latimer had walked in in time to see the first blow and in time to avert the second.

He disarmed the bullies, warned them to leave the post and never return — and kicked them out.

Then Latimer invited the chief and his tribe to camp on the creek bank near his-house that night.

TO SEAL the friendship between the white man and himself, Big Foot had a squaw of his village make an apron for Latimer's sister — Mrs. Thompson's grandmother.

JAN BEAN

Miss Bean Will Wed Jas. Parker

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Bean are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jan, to James Kyle Parker of Roswell, N. M. The future bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Parker of Clovis, N. M.

The apron is of sheer black silk, lined with green silk, on a velvet belt. Pinpoint size beads in brilliant colors form a floral pattern around the border.

The material, Mrs. Thompson was told, was bought at a trading post. The beads, however, are the craft of the Indians — dyed, moided, buffed and kim-fired.

Vivid hues of the flowers are garnet, gold, aqua, blue, green, pink, white and an off yellow. The beaded flowers are reinforced on the back with soft chambray.

Mrs. Thompson framed the apron 27 years ago to preserve it.

Mrs. Thompson has not decided how she will dispose of the family mementoes.

"Goodness knows, there are plenty of descendants," she said. "Uncle Albert married three times and had 21 children and Uncle Rullell had 15."

The wedding is scheduled to take place in Roswell on Thursday June 20.

Miss Bean is a student in Hereford High School. Parker is a graduate of Belin N. M. High School and attended Eastern New Mexico University at Portales. He is presently employed as a fireman with the Sante Fe Railway Co., residing in Roswell where the couple will make their home.

Orr, 21-year-old resident of Paola, Kan., went target shooting at a range near here. As he reached to pull his revolver from a holster, he shot himself in the leg. He was not hurt seriously.

Clever Trick for Summer Cooks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Your family like plenty of gravy with their fried chicken? Then this recipe is one you may want to try. For not only is there gravy in abundance, but it's special with strips of ham and slices of mushroom added.

The chicken pieces are rolled in flour seasoned with salt, pepper, paprika and monosodium glutamate before being put into the skillet and fried in a small amount of butter or margarine. Then the chicken is removed and kept warm while the gravy is made in the same skillet. This rangtop one-utensil poultry-dish is just right for summer cooks.

FRIED CHICKEN WITH HAM AND MUSHROOM GRAVY

Ingredients: 1 broiler-fryer chicken (2 to 2½ pounds ready-to-cook weight), 1/4 cup flour, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup julienne strips cooked ham, 1 can (6 ounces) broiled sliced mushrooms, 1 can (14½ ounces) clear chicken broth, 1/4 cup heavy cream, 1/4 teaspoon sugar.

Method: Have chicken cut up — 2 pieces of breast, 2 wings, 2 drumsticks, 2 second joints, 4 pieces of bony back. Wash chicken and drain well. On a piece of waxed paper mix together the flour, salt, pepper, paprika and monosodium glutamate. Rub flour mixture into chicken pieces. Heat butter in a 12-inch skillet; add chicken pieces and fry rapidly, turning as necessary, until golden brown. Cover skillet tightly and cook until tender over low heat; browning and cooking will take 30 to 40 minutes. Remove chicken and keep warm. Add ham to drippings in skillet; cook and stir for several minutes over low heat. Stir in flour thoroughly. Add mushrooms, including liquid in can and undiluted chicken broth. Cook and stir constantly over low heat with wooden spoon, scraping up particles adhering to bottom of skillet, until thickened and bubbly. Stir in cream and sugar. Serve gravy separately with fried chicken. Or carefully place chicken pieces, skin side up, back in skillet and reheat over low heat. Before serving fried chicken or replacing in skillet, the two pieces of breast meat may be cut in half to make four. Serve with steamed rice and chutney or cranberry-nut and marmalade.

STOP THAT ITCH!
IN JUST 15 MINUTES!
If not pleased, your 40c back at any drug store. Try instant-drying ITCH-ME-NOT for itch of eczema, ringworm, insect bites, foot itch or other surface itch. Easy to use day or night. Now at Rogers Drug.

Wheelchair Crusader Stays Cheerful Despite a Succession of Bad Breaks

By GENE HANDSHAKER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A spunky little woman and her campaign in behalf of other handicapped have been temporarily sidetracked. But Gertrude Smith has so much cheerfulness and drive, you decide after meeting her, nothing can keep her down very long. Now a divorcee of 50, she used to be, she says, "high-powered Girl Friday type."

Then, at her office job nine years ago, her right leg started to drag. The impalment gradually grew worse; she began tripping and stumbling over things. Finally she could lift neither leg. Doctors said she had multiple sclerosis, a disease that causes degeneration of nerve tissue and brings paralysis. She took to a wheelchair and got along on county aid.

It wasn't a very cheerful existence for a woman who had been active. She joined the Rebounders, a club of 120 handicapped who help other afflicted, and found a need. SOME MEMBERS said they liked to go hunting, fishing and traveling but had found that many motel doors weren't wide enough for their wheelchairs.

Mrs. Smith launched a solitary campaign. She wrote to a motel magazine suggesting that doors, to spare the knuckles of wheelchair occupants, should be at least 30 inches wide. Her letter, published, brought replies of commendation. Some motels wrote her that they could accommodate wheelchairs, others said they'd revise building plans to do so. Then she thought of a bigger idea:

Why couldn't there be wheelchair ramps up library entrances? The branch library nearest her had two steep, concrete flights. And Mrs. Smith — like many wheelchair occupants, she says — loves to read. And how about ramps into university buildings so afflicted could take night courses?

COULDN'T supermarkets have railings that would lift to admit wheelchairs? And wide, uncluttered aisles so wheeled shoppers could pick out their own groceries? "And why couldn't theaters pull out the back row of seats for wheelchairs?" she asked.

She wrote to legislative bodies, building authorities and others, suggesting her ideas. "It all could be done easily," she smilingly told a reporter. "It's simply in the why-haven't-we-ever-thought-of-it realm."

She was interviewed in the small, drab cottage she rented out of her $75 a month county assistance. Mrs. Smith had improved to the point where she had discarded her wheelchair and could get hesitantly about her house. She was full of eager plans for her campaign.

A FEW DAYS later she got a new blow.

"The doctors say I have tuberculosis," she said. "I've got to go to a sanitarium for six months or so. Another of those milestones in my life! Doggone it, the hard part will be to keep idle!"

Meanwhile, she said, she's turning over campaign to others in the Rebounders. She still sounded very cheerful.

STRANGE BUT TRUE — Junior Samuel F. Adam, of New Canaan, Conn., doubted a statement in his political science class at Temple University that some persons of voting age in Philadelphia didn't know the names of important political leaders.

Adam was assigned to research the statement as a term project and found:

Only 60 per cent could name the mayor as Richardson Dilworth; only 39 per cent could name the junior senator from Pennsylvania as Joseph Clark, although Clark had just completed a four-year term as mayor; seven per cent didn't know the President's name. One person guessed the President was "Ike Hoover."

"Veto" comes from the Latin meaning "I forbid."

To protect the life of the President and to suppress counterfeiters are the two statutory duties of the U. S. Secret Service.

NEEDLESS OBSTACLE—Gertrude Smith, who started a campaign for making things easier on persons in wheelchairs, surveys the steps which prevent her from entering a public library unassisted. Why not install a ramp, she asks?

Young Set in Swim

PINT-SIZE SWANK—Junior's swim trunks are stretch nylon, while Sis wears gay tarran suit in color-sealed acetate.

AP Newsfeatures
Chemistry brightens the sun-and-surf fashions of small fry as well as their elders these days. New miracle fibers make swim suits and sun styles that dry in a wink, keep their bright colors, don't shrink and can be washed out at home as easily as a pair of nylons. Beach styles for the younger set are both colorful and practical this summer. Little girls' swim suits are available in new color-sealed acetates, in nylon, orlon and dacron blends. Boys' swim trunks are likely to be stretch nylon or a blend of dacron and cotton or wool. The stretch suits always fit and usually can be worn for several years, always stay on, are easy to launder and quick to dry.

Dress Revue Set June 17

By ARGEN DRAPER

The women who have completed garments during the clothing demonstration lessons are holding a Dress Revue June 17 at 3 P.M. in the Rock Clubhouse. All interested persons are invited to attend. Also children's garments and shirts will be modeled if the club women have made them. Re-modeled garments can also be worn. A person who has taken the dress making course can model more than one garment if she wishes to do so.

Two 4-H club leaders are beginning the dress making course. They are Glenda Tooley and Genevieve Miller. They will make their dresses along with the 4-H club. While visiting in the Miller home last week I was glad to learn that Herb is making satisfactory progress. He has been outside a few times.

4-H clothing workshops begin this week. These are three-day workshops in which Dorothy Prowell teaches the sewing lessons and all the girls work on garments. This is one of the best programs that we have in 4-H club work. A large per cent of the girls take part and the leaders make dresses along with the girls. Mrs. Prowell is doing an outstanding job with the 4-H club girls. The date for the 4-H Dress Revue has been set and an announcement will be made later.

Thanks to the Lions Club from the 4-H girls! The 4-H'ers had the concession stand at the wrestling matches Saturday night. They report that they made enough money to send the delegates to Round-Up.

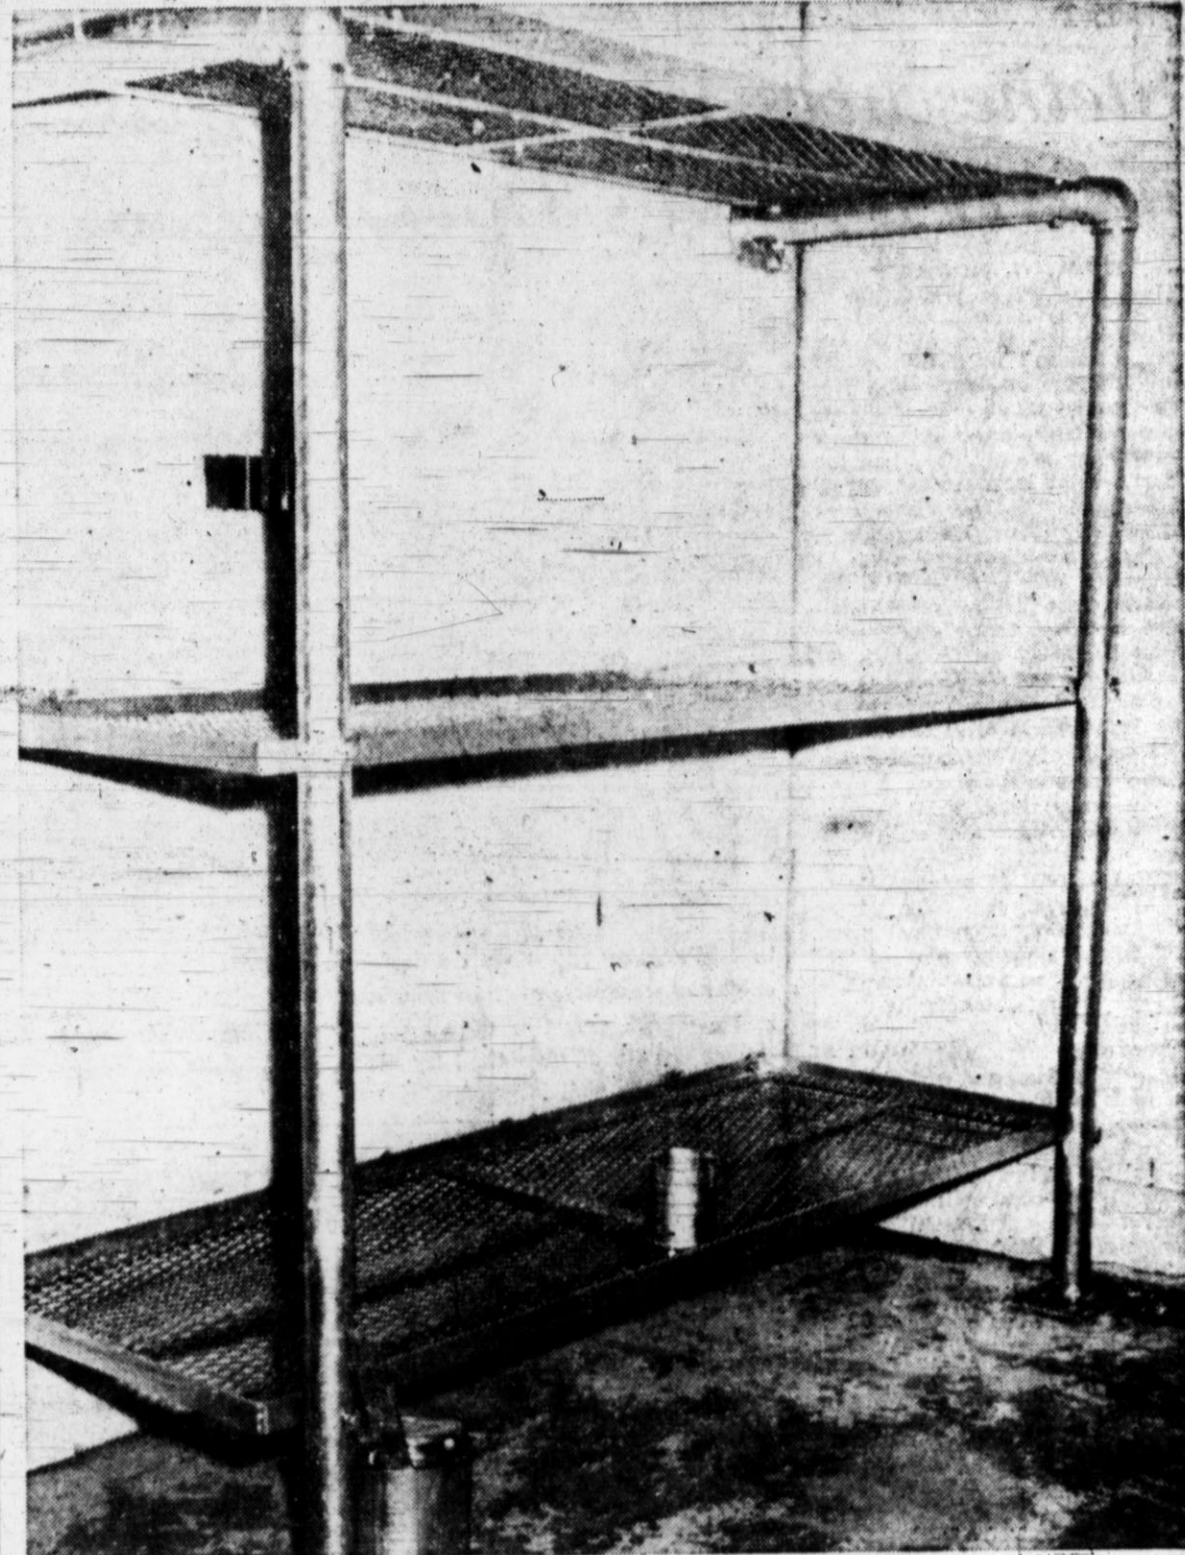

Merry Kay and Royce Lee Pruitt along with Mrs. Roy Pruitt left Monday for 4-H Round-Up at College Station helping make plans for the program. Earlene Plank, who will assume her duties as Assistant-In-Training in Moore County, is also attending Round-Up. Her first day to work was June 10th and her first assignment was to attend Round-Up with the delegation from the Panhandle.

The club programs on mosquito and fly control have been very informative. The first step in control of flies and mosquitoes is to destroy their breeding places. The St. Luis type mosquito which causes encephalitis prefers poultry blood. Therefore, it is very necessary that poultry houses be treated for mosquitoes often. Other suggestions have been to cut both ends out of tin cans and to be suspicious of air conditioners for places of breeding.

Mrs. W. E. Holcomb will give "Safe Water Supply" at the meeting of the Cultural Club Friday. The club programs for Cultural have been changed to accommodate the 4-H girls who will present the program June 28. I was glad to cooperate in this change as I will get to visit when the 4-H'ers present the program. This will be the only time during the month that I can attend club and hear the girls program.

Have just had a call from Mrs. C. C. Ferguson, who lives at 514 Union Ave. and whose phone number is 495. She was inquiring about a club woman who would make some slip covers. If some of you are interested, why don't you call Mrs. Ferguson?

West Texas State Music Camp Offers Saving on Tuition

CANYON, (Special) — Area music students planning to attend West Texas State College's fifth annual Music Camp can save $5 on the tuition fee if they act before Saturday, June 15.

Tuition for the music festival, scheduled August 4-16 on the West Texas campus, normally is $20 but students who enroll before June 15 can do so for $15, according to camp director M. J. Newman. All correspondence should be mailed to Box 425, WT Station, Canyon. Students must enclose a $10 enrollment deposit and pay remaining costs on registration day.

In the past four camps, enrollment has been at capacity and a number of late arrivals have had to be rejected. Size of the camp is determined by the number of dormitory rooms available. Despite the constant increase in dormitory facilities, it has failed to keep up with the demand for accommodations.

Visiting instructors at this year's camp will include Harold Bachman, director of bands at University of Florida; Jack Lee, director of bands at University of Arizona; Miss Sonie Rogers, Western Michigan College and a former national twirling champion; L. N. "Cy" Perkins, professor of music and choral director at Oklahoma A & M; Dr. Joe Haddon, director of bands at Midland High School, and Miss Ann Dorris, Dumas High School, and former chief majorette at West Texas State.

West Texas State's own staff of Dr. Houston Bright, W. O. Larson, David Kaplan and Newman also will instruct.

Stethoscopes Favorite Subjects in Art Show by Doctors' Kids

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK, (AP) — Maybe because it doesn't hurt, maybe because it's seen oftenest in the doctor's hand, maybe because its swoop and curve are easier to draw — whatever the reason, when the doctor's child looks at the doctor on the job, what he remembers most clearly is the stethoscope.

Nearly 3,000 youngsters up to 12 years old from across the country sent pictures on the subject of "My doctor daddy and what he does" to a contest. Of these about 100 were selected for exhibit at the annual meeting of the American Medical Assn. here this month.

There were stethoscopes all over the walls. Next most prominent object was the surgeon's mask.

"MY DOCTOR is not a Daddy, he's a Mommy," one child explained. Another one whose notion of "art" in the announcement of the "art contest" was music, sent in a tape recording of a song he composed and sang.

The other boys and girls did pictures in black and white, crayon and paint, and in collage of the scenes impressed most vividly on their young minds.

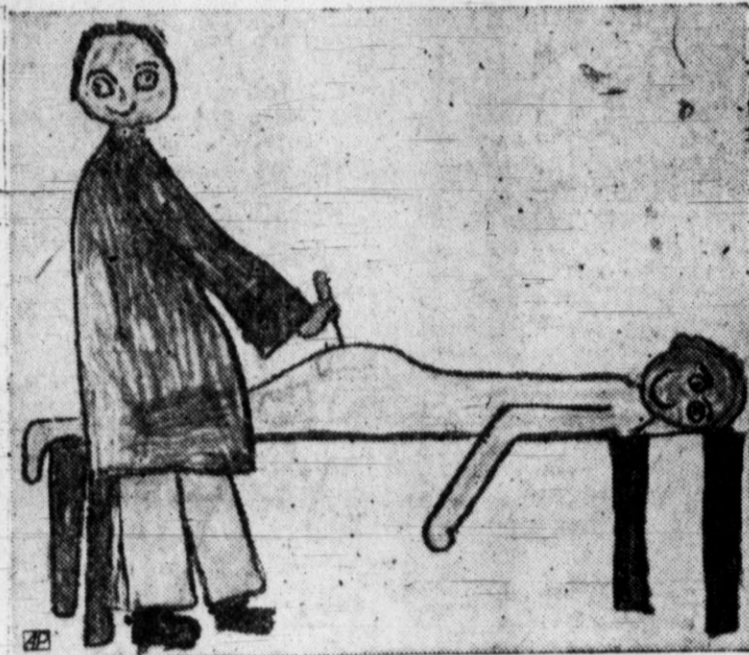

"This won't hurt you" and "My Doctor Daddy coming home from delivering a baby at Two AM" were a couple of the titles.

"Waa Waa" cries an infant waded in the air by one foot while the new mother lies on the operating table.

"When I was a baby I was sick" is the account of an experience in an oxygen tent. The surgeon is armed with shears and knife, and masked, and looks pretty deadly. Another view shows a worried member of the family silhouetted in the open door, the car parked under the streetlight, and the doctor hurrying up the walk. One child opens wide.

STILL ANOTHER, by Madeline Montello, 4, daughter of Dr. Samuel A. Montello of Kansas City, Mo., was a nude flat on her (or maybe his?) stomach while the doctor drives a wicked hypodermic needle straight and deep.

There were first prizes in the different age groups, each earning a $500 bond for the talented youngster, and $1,500 in awards for others.

In the 8 to 12 age group, a picture of doctor at the phone won first prize for Elizabeth Ann Manhardt, daughter of Dr. H. W. Manhardt of Bowling Green, Ohio. In the 6-to-7-year-olds, Jean Assad, daughter of Dr. Frederick C. Assad of Boston, led with a picture of patients lined up for polio shots. For the entrants 5 and under, there was a boy winner: Frederick Fisher Phillips, son of Dr. W. A. Phillips of St. David's, Pa., who used crayon and collage to show a patient on a couch.

Judges were artist Doris Lee, Dr. Milton I. Levine and S. A. Calisen.

Beauty At Home

Q. What can I do about facial wrinkles?

A. First check your frowning habits, which are the prime causes of these wrinkles. Then you can buy in drugstore some court-plaster "wrinkle plasters," which you stick over the wrinkles to help flatten or smooth them out. You can make these at home, too, from gummed brown paper of the type used for sealing cartons for mailing.

Q. What is a quick and easy way to add loveliness to the eyelashes?

A. Try using a little colorless petroleum jelly on them, on top of which add a little mascara. Remove any excess that might gather.

Q. How can I give my facial pores a real good cleansing?

A. Use a complexion brush and soap lather, giving the skin a hard, but gentle and firm, rotary movement. Concentrate on the areas where fat glands are most active. Make a mask of the soap lather and let it stay on your face a few minutes. Then rinse off with warm water, then with cold water.

Q. My hair seems excessively sticky and oily. How should it be shampooed?

A. Apply the beaten whites of two eggs with a toothbrush to your hair and scalp, and let dry. Then brush this out with a stiff-bristled brush, and your hair should then be clean, fluffy, and glossy.

Q. How can I exercise to help develop my shoulders, arms, and bust?

A. Stand erect, feet together, hands locked on top of head. Bring elbows together, until they touch in front of your face. Then force them back vigorously as though attempting to touch them in the back of your head. Keep head and chin up and back straight throughout the exercise. Do this 10 times, rapidly.

Q. Is it true that excessively hot and dry climate will induce large pores in the skin?

A. Quite often. In such instances, correct cleansing should be combined with lubrication. The skin should have all-day protection through the use of a foundation cream. Following nightly cleansing a good emollient should be applied to face and neck.

Q. How can I bring back gloss to my rather dull-looking hair?

A. You can work wonders just by giving your hair a brisk towel rubbing after your shampoo, and following this with 10 minutes of good, vigorous brushing.

Q. Outside of getting more sleep, what can be done to help reduce puffs under the eyes?

A. Make an eye compress of a strip of absorbent cotton, dipped into cold water, pressed almost dry, iced, and then sprinkled with eye lotion or very mild skin freshener. Press this gently over the closed eyes and puffs, lie down, and relax.

Q. What can I do about perspiration stains on one of my unwashable dresses?

A. Sometimes these will yield only to dry cleaning. But first try sprinkling some cornstarch on the affected area, then brushing it off after it has dried.

of tartar in a recipe for mixing cake?

A. Use buttermilk in place of the cream of tartar. If the buttermilk is not sour enough, add a little vinegar.

Q. What is an effective solution for removing paint spots from garments?

A. Use equal parts of turpentine and ammonia.

Q. How can I make dishes of food look more attractive?

A. Colors make food attractive to the eye. An ordinary dish can be made to look more appetizing by garnishing with fancy slices of pimento, watercress, parsley, or green peppers.

Q. How can I clean a slender vase?

A. Fasten a piece of an old sponge on a stick and push this down into the vase. This method is also very useful for cleaning decanters and water bottles.

Q. How can I remove perspiration stains?

A. Mix one part of oxalic acid to 20 parts of water. Apply with a small brush.

Q. How can I make a cleaner for wall paper?

A. By mixing two cups of flour and one tablespoonful of kerosene, with enough water to make a stiff

Q. How can I make a good cheese relish?

A. Mix cream cheese with chili sauce and serve on a lettuce leaf for a relish. It is delicious.

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATION.

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment — on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars.

This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

How To Alienate a Husband

FRIGHT-WIG—This little woman could easily scare a husband back into single blessedness, says Kaye Ballard, TV actress, demonstrating how not to look.

MISPLACED GLAMOR—Of course, says Kaye, it isn't necessary to go to extremes in getting dressed up to do housework. The sight of his bride vacuuming the living room while dressed up to go dancing also may unnerve a husband. He'll get the idea right away that he's going to have to take her out to dinner, after her hard day in the home.

AP Newsfeatures

You don't have to look like a refugee from the ashcan just because you're cleaning house, say experts who make surveys of women's house-keeping habits.

Many women make the mistake of over-dramatizing the hard work of housecleaning, to the point that they greet their husbands of an evening with tousled hair, smudged face, dirty blue jeans, torn shirt and an expression of intense martyrdom. These are the women who are likely to moan:

"You'll have to get your own dinner tonight, dear. I'm bushed from working all day scrubbing and cleaning and waxing and polishing and I just couldn't face a session slaving over a hot stove."

Many American housewives are far different from the popular conception as pictured in magazine ads, says Madge Lewyt, who meets thousands of homemakers every year in gathering data for the home service department of a vacuum cleaner company. In the glossy magazine pictures the housewife is a model of cleanliness and charm, clad in a crisp and flattering house dress or immaculate slacks, every hair in place, she breezes through her chores. But—

"In real life, too many wives should clean themselves up along with their homes," says this authority. "A little makeup, a few passes with the hair brush and a clean dress or shirt, and slacks can make any housework seem easier — and also make the home scene pleasanter for the husband when he comes home from work."

On the other hand, she adds hastily, it isn't necessary to overdo the household glamor, and get dressed up in a party dress to clean the living room — although with today's labor saving devices it could be done.

Lots of people have great aims in life, but never pull the trigger.

TOOLS OF CRABGRASS HATER ARE LEGION; NONE WORK

By DALE BURGESS
INDIANAPOLIS — This is the season over much of the United States when crabgrass (Digitaria sanguinalis) takes over lawns and waves its spiky seed heads contemptuously at eradication attempts. It can be eliminated. There are poisons which will kill it if applied and in a vacuum where no seed hops over from the neighbor's untreated yard.

Crabgrass also can be controlled by shooting off the decumbent root-at-every-node stems with broad-head arrows, by dynamiting, or by paving the yard with asphalt.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Parris spent Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robbins, Carol, Stevie, Genie and Jerry visited Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Robbins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Y. Moreman in Hereford.

Walker Parris visited recently in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Parris, in Tahoka. Jerry Robbins has been on the sick list recently.

Richard Price and Mrs. Bob Doughman were baptized in the Sunday evening services at the Frio Baptist Church.

After fighting a 10-year losing battle with this crab-legged weed, I sat down last week and applied to the problem the full power of a brain that invented the unlosable golf ball (it emits puffs of smoke).

Now, there undoubtedly are people who are color blind, monotonous or mathematical morons. But every man is a potential inventor. It's just a matter of organization — deciding exactly what needs inventing.

IN THIS CASE, a natural enemy of crabgrass obviously was needed.

There are thick-growing lawn grasses which will choke it out but they're expensive and a longtime cure. Taking work to establish, too.

Flooding? Won't work. Crabgrass thrives so well on heavy watering that it's called water-grass in some localities.

Dehydration? Crabgrass sometimes is the only greenery on a drought-hit golf course or pasture. Well, doesn't anything ever put crabgrass out of business?

YES! CRABGRASS gets a late start every spring — behind bluegrass and other perennial herbage — and it vanishes every fall after seeding the ground thoroughly for next year's crop.

And why does it live its life cycle in the hot months? Because it can't stand freezing!

Here you have followed the authentic golden thread of invention. THE NEXT STEP was obvious.

I made a box with a flooring of coarse wire netting and a tight cover. I filled the box with dry ice and dragged it slowly over my acreage of crabgrass.

In the true scientific method, I let the box set in some spots for 5 seconds, in others for 10, 20 and 30 seconds.

Every crabgrass leaf sparkled with frost. Some of the tips quickly took on the appearance of wilted lettuce.

It was another triumph of mind over matter; thought over brute energy.

Unfortunately, three days later, the crabgrass was growing as luxuriantly as ever.

Anybody who wants to borrow the screen-bottom box is welcome to experiment with dry ice applications for 40, 60, 100 and 200 seconds.

The going price here is 10 cents a pound.

Chart for Shrimp Seen Replacing Old Weight Scale

GALVESTON, (AP) — Mother has a chart to determine if Johnnie is growing properly. Now a chart for shrimp has been devised.

Until recently science did not have a growth chart to determine if the shrimp consumed all over the world had a certain length, weight or volume at a specific age of life.

But the Marine Laboratory of Texas A&M College here has worked out mathematical equations setting up the first known growth chart for shrimp.

Jerome E. Stein, director of the laboratory, assisted by Frederick R. Doggett, marine technologist, obtained live shrimp from the Galveston Bay area to work out the equations.

The importance and necessity for a growth chart of shrimp are just as vital as growth charts for humans, Stein said.

Of major importance, Stein said, is that the equations will indicate to the industry and to scientists the rate of growth in the field, and possible reasons for changes in the shrimp population.

By knowing how to measure the shrimp from an established chart, industry and scientists will be able to determine while still at the fishing or landing site how many pounds are in a catch. Now the catch is weighed at port.

The growth chart would aid workers in the processing assembly lines in packaging shrimp of a predetermined size, weight and volume. They would be able to count off how many shrimp make up a pound to the box - instead of taking time to weigh boxes as they do now.

Still another aspect of the importance of a growth chart is the fact a fisherman would know what size net to dip into waters to pick a certain size shrimp.

To attack the problem, Stein and his associate reasoned that if a person uses an established chart to determine whether a child or an adult weighs the proper amount for size and age, the same should apply to shrimp.

Previously shrimp had been measured only in length. As with people, many are the same height, but due to muscle development or other reasons, their weight and volume differs.

So, in the study, shrimp were not only measured in length but also in weight and volume.

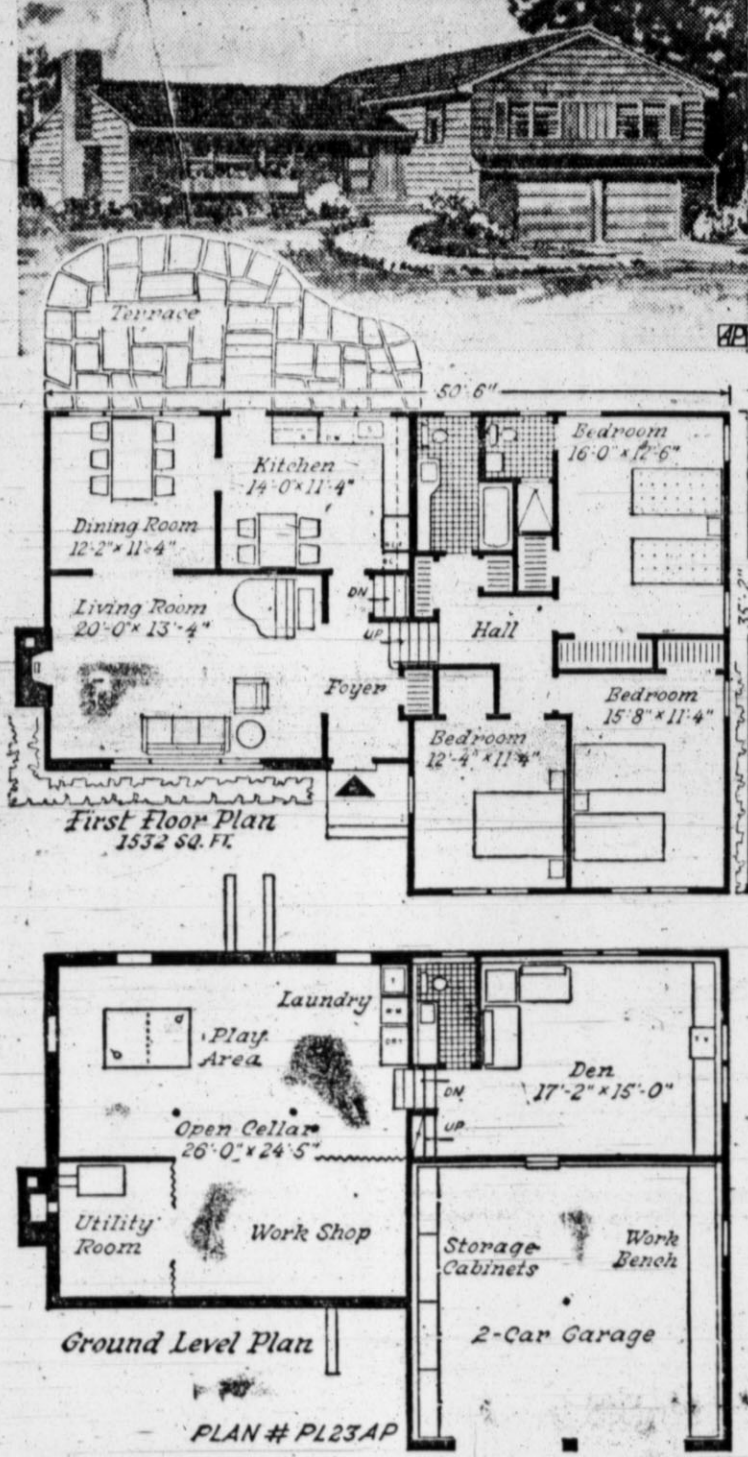

The live shrimp, taken from bay waters from March through June 1956, were weighed by placing them in a preweighed vessel containing sea water.

Volume was determined by the Archimedes theory that an object placed in water will displace its own volume. A measuring board was used to determine length.

With the data assembled, mathematical equations were devised describing the relationships of differential growth.

Like the charts for little Johnnie, these equations show that if a shrimp is 14 centimeters long (or four feet tall as in the case of Johnnie); the shrimp should weigh 21 grams (or 75 pounds for Johnnie); and have a volume of 21 cubic centimeters (the equivalent of which is not known for Johnnie since even science hasn't gotten around to dunking people to determine human volume).

Girls Imitate Pilots

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Administration employs an unusual group of 20 or more imitation airplane pilots as its Technical Development Center here.

All the make - believe pilots are women. And they work at the modest rate of $1.64 an hour.

The CAA recruits for this work the wives, sweethearts and acquaintances of the men employed at the center. With their help the CAA is able to simulate air traffic conditions at any airport, adjust procedures, move airway aids and try out new methods to improve safety.

The women have charge of 18 projectors which throw blips of light on a screen. The moving dots of light represent airplanes approaching or leaving. Also on that screen is a map of the airport area being studied. Both the map and the moving light spots are televised onto radar screens in an adjoining room which represents an airport "control tower," with its air traffic control experts.

CAA technicians have developed the projectors so that they can simulate the performance of any kind of airplane, from a Cub to a jet fighter. The system has built-in "wind drift." The climbing and descending rates, turning radius, CAA does it in Indianapolis without ever flying a real plane," a CAA spokesman explained.

"It would also be expensive to have full time employees sitting around waiting to 'make like pilots' while the engineers cut and try new ideas in traffic control.

"So the CAA recruited the women. They spend a few or many hours at the center, as circumstances may require, and go home when their flying is done."

Like real-life pilots, the CAA airwomen have a ready room. There they catch up on their sock-darning, knitting and reading when they are not "in the air."

Skirts and Shirts Take Style Cake

SUMMER CLASSICS—The world is her oyster, says this fashionable young woman, wearing a blue-and-white pin-striped doekskin skirt and pale blue silk shirt, destined to see her through a country club summer. Skirt is slim and straight, shirt is loose and casual, as decreed by designers Evans and Picone.

By DOROTHY ROE
ASSOCIATED PRESS WOMEN'S EDITOR

Any woman looks her best in simple, understated clothes, in the opinion of Charles and Robert Evans, two brothers well qualified as critics of feminine glamor. "If a girl is beautiful she doesn't need fussy clothes," says Charles. "And if she's not beautiful too many frills and furbelows only make her look ill at ease," says Robert.

The brothers, with a third member of their team, Joseph Picone, a famous tailor, have cashed in on turning out classically simple slacks, shorts, skirts and shirts that depend for their effectiveness on perfect cut and fine fabrics.

"A woman can feel well-dressed at any resort or country club in a well-cut skirt and plain shirt, if it fits right," says Charles. "This outfit is a standby of smart women all over the world, who know that the best clothes are the simplest."

The Evans brothers seldom are panicked by reports of rising or falling hemlines, changes in silhouette and other fashion flashes that periodically upset the garment industry.

"Well-dressed women always choose the skirt length most becoming to themselves," they comment. "This usually is midcalf length, and of course the distance from the floor varies with tall and short girls. It's all a matter of proportion."

For summer the Evans brothers like pale doekskin skirts and classic silk shirts in harmonizing tones, as a prescription for the knowing vacationer.

HOW HIGH THE FI?

Fidelity Systems Can Be Costly

By AL THIEN
AP Newsfeatures

The starting point in assembling a high-fidelity system is to determine what your needs are, the available space and the amount of money you're willing to spend. Once you've done that the rest is easy.

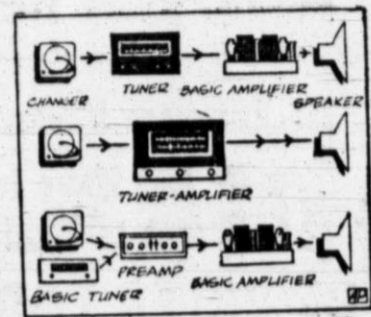

In choosing the components see that turntable, amplifier and speaker are all of comparable quality. If you have a friend who has assembled a system get his view and ask him to go along with you when you're ready to buy the components.

Many stores have "package" hi-fi systems available. These consist of pre-selected components that are known to perform well together and are chosen for their easy installation qualities. The connections are green wire into the green socket, the red into the red and so on.

By buying the articles one at a time you can relieve the initial strain on your pocketbook.

Don't forget to consider the ultimate degree of flexibility you may want later on. It can become quite expensive if you have to make changes in the entire system every time you get the urge to make an improvement.

Bills To Boost Farm Income, Open Markets, Get Backing

LUBBOCK. — Four bills pertaining to increased farm income and expanded markets for cotton have been introduced recently in Congress. Of primary interest to High Plains cotton producers is the bill introduced by Cong. Paul C. Jones (D. Mo.).

It is the bill that the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. was instrumental in developing at meetings held last month in Memphis with other groups of the American Cotton Producers Associates.

Cong. Thomas Abernathy, (D. Miss.) co-authored the bill in the House and Sen. Stuart Symington, (D. Mo.) is to introduce the bill in the Senate.

HEARINGS on the bill are to begin June 14 in the House. Geo. W. Pfeiffenberger Lubbock, executive vice-president; Wilmer Smith, New Home, vice-president; and W. L. Edelman, Friona, member, will represent the Plains Cotton Growers at these hearings.

The PCG backed bill calls for five main points:

1. Establishment of national marketing quota of not less than estimated consumption, plus exports.
2. A "domestic percentage" shall be determined by dividing the domestic consumption and exports into the domestic consumption. This percentage shall be applied to each farm to obtain the domestic allotment.
3. Level of price support at 95 per cent of average world price as estimated by Secretary of Agriculture.
4. Equalization payments on domestic portion of crop to be made by the first buyer (who would be reimbursed by CC) in amount equal to difference between average spot market price or support level, whichever is higher, and 90 per cent of parity, but, if funds are not available for carrying out this provision, price support would be set in accordance with present variable formula.

5. Producer would be eligible for participation in the soil bank only if he reduced acreage below 1957 allotment.

PFEIFFENBERGER, in explaining the bill, said that is the general consensus that the national marketing quota would be estimated approximately 9 million bales domestic and 5 million bales export.

Littlefield Man Joins in Research

Douglas Owen, Littlefield, is a new member of the staff at the High Plains Station at Halfway with the title of Assistant Agronomist. Owen will assist with the entire research program during 1957 but will be assigned the responsibility for a part of the soils and crops research in 1958.

Owen graduated from Olton High School in 1947 and received his bachelor of science in agricultural education at Texas Technological College in 1951. He was cashier for the Western Cotton Oil Company, Littlefield, prior to entering Army service. His Army assignment was with the Counter Intelligence Corps serving the full two years at the Army Intelligence Center in Baltimore, Md.

Owen's farm experience was with Euel C. Jones, Olton. He worked most of his way thru Texas Tech as a dormitory counselor and was active in Future Farmer and Alpha Zeta organizations at Tech.

In point two, the domestic percentage is figured by assuming the domestic estimate to be 9 million bales and the export to be 5 million, total 14 million. The domestic percentage would then be 9/14. Each farmer's allotment would be divided into the domestic allotment of 9/14 of his total and the export allotment would be the remainder. For example if a farm had 140 acres total allotment, there would be 90 acres for domestic and 50 acres for export, he explained.

"Point three mentions the level of price support. This would be 5 per cent below the world estimated price which is believed to be about 27 or 27 1/2 per pound. This would make the loan at about 26 cents. It is believed this loan will help hold up the world price and also put a floor under the cost to the government," Pfeiffenberger said.

Point four concerning equalization payments was explained: "In the original bill it was proposed that the government make direct subsidy payments to the farmer. This was not satisfactory to all groups working on the bill and it was decided that in order to avoid limitations as much as possible the subsidy payments would be made to the buyer, who will in turn make them to the farmer-or producer."

Pfeiffenberger said the PCG does not agree with the wording of the bill that adjustments in the subsidy itself are necessary for various qualities and locations, because this would be taken care of by the differences in the market price. He added representatives will oppose this item in preliminary meetings in Washington.

The last point of the bill concerning the soil bank was included to take care of commitments of the government on the soil bank. It means that anyone participating in increase of acreage would not be permitted to enter the soil bank. On the other hand if he so elected farmers could go into the soil bank but would not participate in additional acreage through this plan, Pfeiffenberger concluded.

LICENSE FEE DOWN
DALLAS. — The dog license fee in Dallas has been reduced from $2 to 75 cents a year in an effort to boost registration.

Officials estimate only about 40,000 of the estimated 100,000 dogs in the county have been vaccinated and registered. Dallas has been the scene of the nation's worst rabies epidemic in 1956.

NICE CATCH
OKLAHOMA CITY. — Four-year-old Marilyn Lago is happy she wore her hair in a pony tail when she went fishing with her grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Albright.

The child fell into the water but grandma was able to save Marilyn by grabbing the pony tail. "All I caught that day was Marilyn," Mrs. Albright laughed after it was all over.

FRONT DOOR SERVICE

Summertime Reading Satisfies Yearning for Faraway Places

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK. — Your ticket to travel is the fiction shelf in your library.

Of all reasons for reading novels, perhaps the best, with summertime and vacationtime so near, is that they take you around the world, to the great monuments, the exciting capital cities, the exotic countries, up byways and alleys, into homes you might never enter by yourselves.

There was a time when descriptions of far places helped importantly to interest readers in a novel, as Chateaubriand's "Atala" informed his fellow Frenchmen, a bit luridly, about early America.

Who ever described the Alhambra better than Washington Irving, unless it was Chateaubriand? Stendhal pictured Italy, Melville the South Pacific isles, Hardy wrote of what we call Wessex, Charlotte Bronte brings us Harrogate in Yorkshire.

Thomas Wolfe takes us by train, Joseph Conrad by sea.

NOVELISTS or not, writers all have the itch to travel, and they report on their tours in non-fiction, too. Gilbert Highet has served as a knowing and sensitive guide to the haunts of Catullus, Vergil, Horace, Ovid and other poets in "Poets in a Landscape" — the title is a pleasant reminder of William Gaunt's "Bandits in a Landscape." In "The Dog" at Clambercrown," Jocelyn Brooks, still in non-fiction, flies from London to Nice to Rome and goes on to Sicily.

But if you stick to novels alone, you travel far, and some of them, published this spring just in time for this summer, would by themselves satisfy all but the most extreme wanderlust.

A couple of titles shamelessly proclaim the content and the goal: "Berlin" is by Theodor Pillevier, who had previously written "Stalingrad" and "Moscow," "Sitka," by Louis L'Amour, takes you to Alaska and, if you wish to follow the hero on to the end, to the court of the czars.

"See Rome and Die" is a better title for a mystery than an invitation to a voyage; according to the jacket, however, this story by Louisa Revell "gives you all the guidebooks do and more." "Along the Arno," by Brian Glanville, is mostly about love though the setting is glamorously Florence. "The Towers of Trebizond" also betrays its locale: Rose Macaulay is the guide on a visit, often by camel back, to Troy, Istanbul, Trebizond, Antioch and Jerusalem.

You get almost as far away in the company of Gerald Durrell, author of "My Family and Other Animals," biographical to be sure but with an agreeable fictional air; it's the account of five years spent on the Greek island of Corfu.

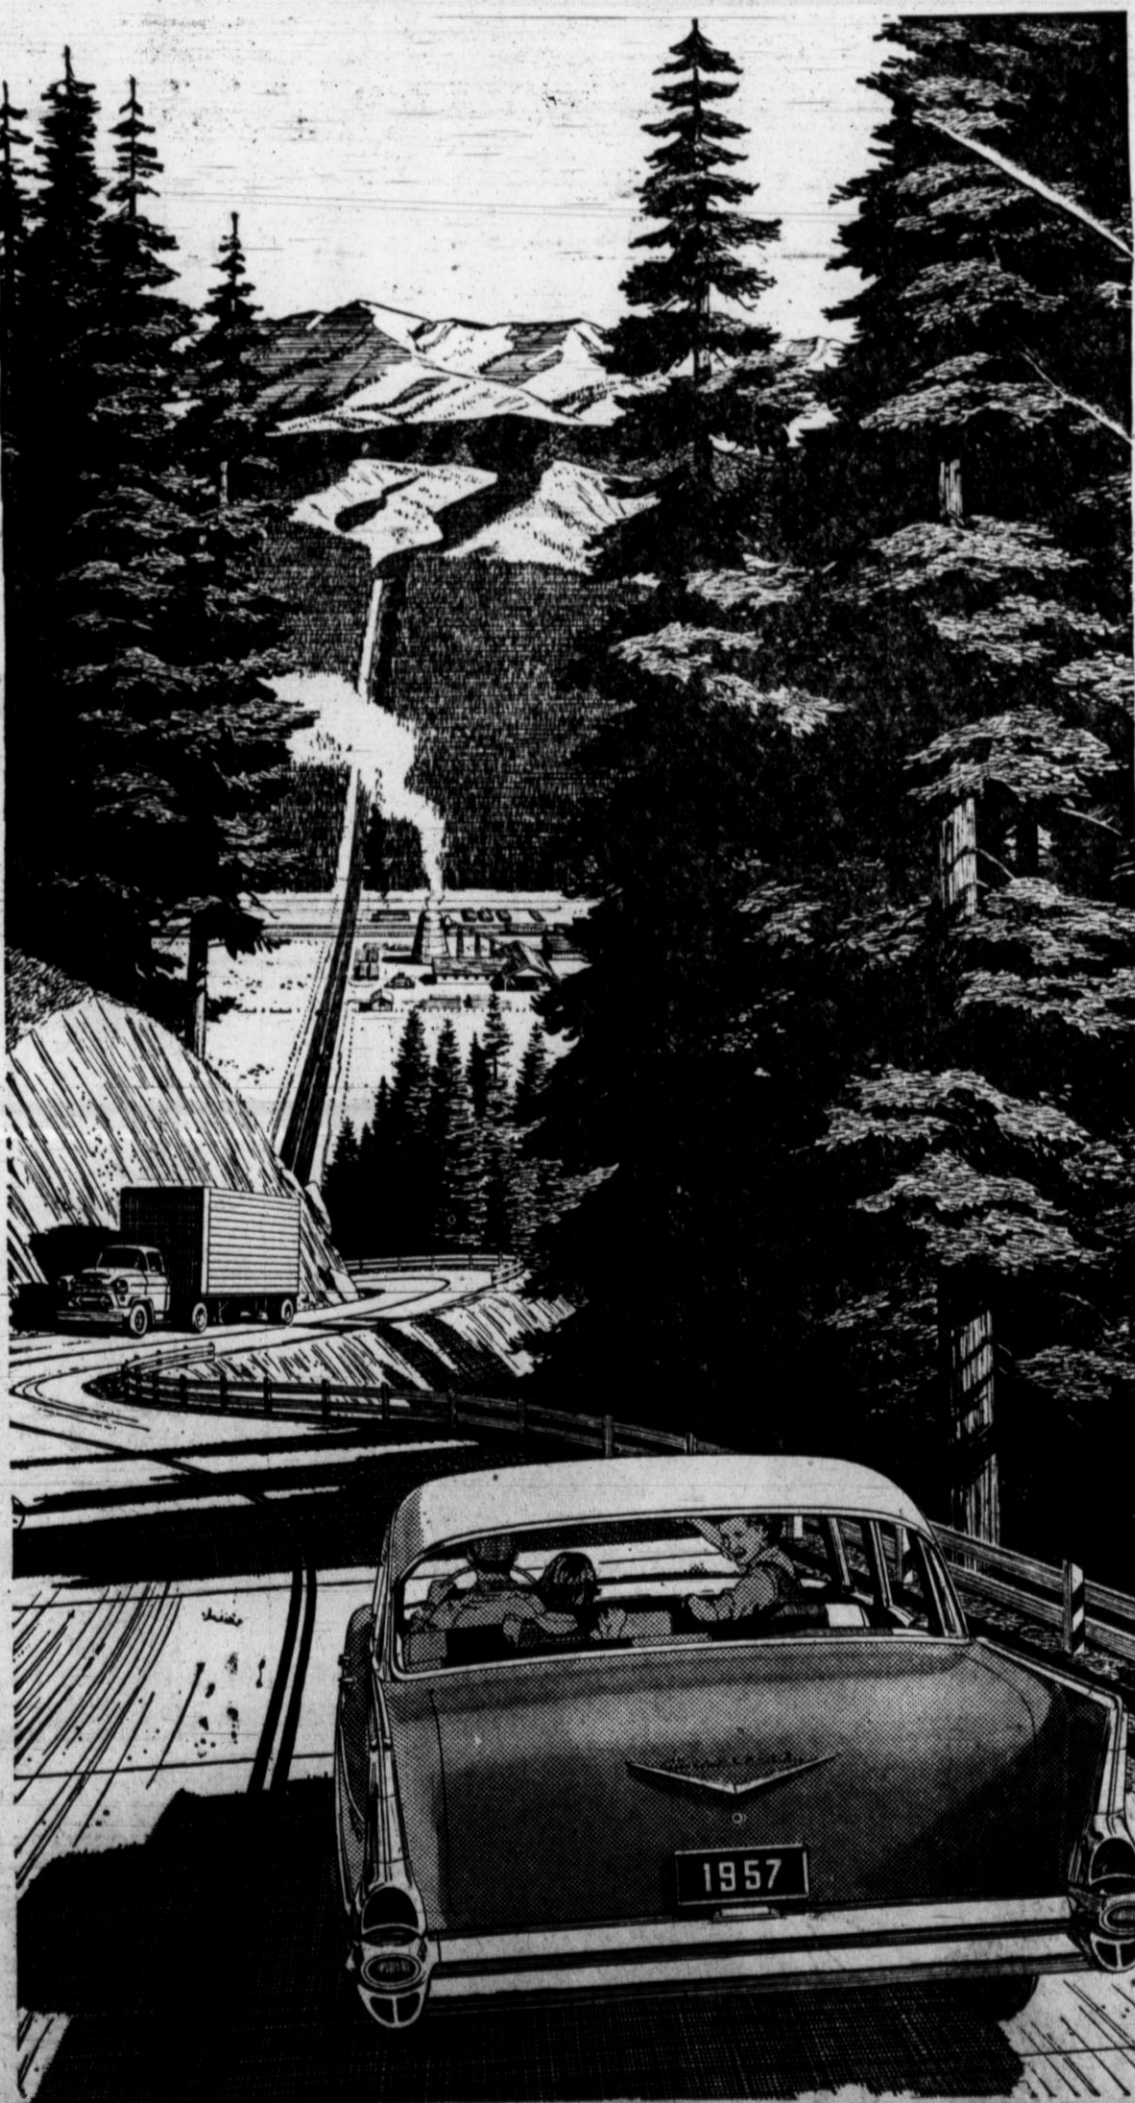

IF IT'S THE other side of the world that interests you, there are always novels about India. "Sushija" is by Graham McInnes, related to a couple of authors who have been guides in their own right, for he is the son of Angela Thirkell and cousin of Rudyard Kipling. He takes you into the streets of the cities, the homes, the doctor's office and the studio. R. Praver Jhabvala, in "The Nature of Passion," shows you the contrasting appeals of old and new ways of life, with New Delhi as the particular setting. John Masters, that old India hand, switches you from Cambridge, Eng., to Wales, to India, the Punjab, and the Austrian-Italian front in World War I in his new novel, "Far, Far the Mountain Peak."

Writers serve, as we have noted, as able guides in our Americas, too. Warren Eyster introduces you to a colorful, picturesque western Mexico in "The Goblins of Eros." Farther south, Beatriz Guido tells us about a girl in her midteens and, incidentally, about Buenos Aires, in her novel, "The House of the Angel."

Canada, which has never been a novelistic favorite, figures unexpectedly in two novels. Joyce Marshall sets her story of a husband and wife, "Lovers and Strangers," in Toronto. "A Lucky Number," by Vera Henry, though it is about a folksy character, named Mother Tippet who lives across the border from Detroit, switches you back into this country for occasional harmless smuggling trips by the matronly heroine.

Every Dad Needs a Handsome Sweater

SPORTSMAN'S CHOICE — New blue and black check woolknit sweater vest.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Maybe that man in your life pretends to care nothing about fashion, but expose him to some of the new and strictly he-man sweaters available this summer and watch him beam.

There are a few sure-fire gifts for Father's Day, and a good sweater or woolknit sweater vest heads the list. No matter what his taste or hobby, there's a sweater to suit him.

If he's a golfer he'll go for a handsome sleeveless knit vest or pullover that he can wear to ward off the chill as he plods toward the clubhouse after the 18th hole.

If he's a tennis fan, nothing could be more to his taste than a husky white cable-knit pullover to wear between sets. If he's a fisherman or a weekend sailor, he'll welcome a bulky rib-knit pullover for chilly mornings and evenings. And if he's only a porch-sitter he'll sport a new sweater with pride on breezy evenings.

Every man respects the qualities of good old all-American wool, which is nature's best insulator outdoors or in. He likes its lightness, its warmth and its comfortable feel.

If he goes for bold color and design, get him a fireman-red sweater embroidered with black dots, or perhaps a paisley jacquard knit in bright hues. If he's the conservative type, get him a discreet pullover or vest in black, brown, gray or beige. Black is one of the most popular sweater colors of the year.

Caring for the new woolknits is no problem, what with shrink-resistant finishes and the new cold-water shampoos that protect against shrinking and fading. All Mom has to do is squeeze the sweater gently in the suds, rinse, blot between towels and lay out to dry—no blocking necessary.

Returning from vacation, Ebert found the squirrel had entered the house and caused considerable damage trying to get out again. Fact is, he died trying.

Refugee Student Named Good Will Ambassador

FREDERICK, Md. — A success story of our times is that of Mara Eksteins, Latvian refugee and Hood College senior, who has been chosen to return to her native Europe as an American student ambassador of good will.

Mara, who became an American citizen only a year ago, has won a Fulbright scholarship for study of French at the University of Paris.

Now looking like a typical American college girl, pretty Mara has packed a great deal of drama into her short life. It began 13 years ago, in 1944, when her family fled their native Latvia during the Russian invasion of the little Baltic country. With her parents and her brother Juris, little Mara made a frenzied flight to freedom via the Baltic Sea, settling near Leipzig, Germany. Here Mara and her brother attended a German school, subjected to the Nazi regimentation, while their father worked as a farmer.

When the war was over, the Eksteins were moved to another international camp nearby, and once again found themselves in Russian territory. Once again they fled the Iron Curtain and spent four years in a Latvian colony established by the American occupation forces.

Mara was ready to enter high school when the family, sponsored by the World Lutheran Federation, boarded a crowded refugee ship for New York. They spoke little English and at first found the New World frightening.

Now the Eksteins live in Clear Spring, Md.; where Mara was graduated from high school and won a four-year scholarship to Hood College.

An honor student, prominent in extra-curricular activities, pretty and popular, Mara now is going back to Europe as a proud representative of her new country.

It's a dear bargain to buy insurance from the "sell 'em and forget 'em" agent who doesn't bother keeping a professional eye on your constantly changing insurance requirements.

We have a hunch you'd rather BUY FROM AN AGENT who takes a personal interest in you and your family, who takes the time to review your needs periodically so that you never have too little—or too much—insurance.

That's how this Agency conducts its business.

STEWARDSHIP OF THE SOIL

Conserve the soil! It's an urgent national call! How are you treating Mother Earth? How are you treating God? Make no mistake, they have been good to you... always warm and kind... always ready to give you their best. Have you been taking from Mother Earth all these years without putting anything back? Have you been guilty of sapping to death God's soil? Then stop! Consider! "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof." You should be a trustworthy steward of God's earth. That's why He put you here... to help Him take care of things. Accept the great trust He has placed in you. Prove yourself a good partner of the Almighty. Go to church Sunday and renew your faith in the God of Heaven and the good Earth.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that the young and old alike are showered with benedictions of stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial and molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we on Sunday, "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

NO PLACE LIKE INDIANAPOLIS — Manuel Bond walked to his home after 48 days in jail to spend a few restful hours in his favorite easy chair. But there was no chair. In fact there was no home. All Bond could find was an empty lot. Seems as if the Indianapolis Redevelopment Commission couldn't find Bond so they had to go ahead and tear his house down for a slum clearance project. Bond never did find out what happened to his easy chair.

HELP FOR THE BLIND — Blind persons in this area are receiving weekly news records of local happenings thanks to a resident photographer.

Jacques Saphier, the photographer, cuts the records with the help of bedridden patients at Bergen Pines Hospital. Then they are distributed to the blind.

The records are regulation size and play on any phonograph. Because of its success the program is being expanded by northern New Jersey Rotary clubs.

STEADY CUSTOMER

DAYTON, Ohio — Mrs. James T. Parker is official hostess at Miami Valley Hospital. It's getting so she greets her son more often than any other patient.

David, 10, her son, is the victim of a rare disease called osteogenesis imperfecta. It's more commonly called "brittle bones." Ever since the boy was four days old, he has been in and out of casts and tractions as the result of 20 fractures.

HANDY KNOWLEDGE

DUNCAN, Okla. — When the mother of the household gets sick, things usually stop — but not at the Andrews home.

David Andrews, 13, baked a chocolate birthday cake for a surprise party for his mother, who had to go to the hospital. He also has been cooking all three meals a day for both his father and himself and does all the housework.

The youngster credits his house-keeping knowledge to his Boy Scout work.

The Republic of Panama is 33,667 square miles — about the size of Indiana or South Carolina.

MAIN ST. CHANGE—Main St. in Hereford has a new profile since wreckers, including the bulldozer above, finished tearing down the old Chocolate Shop building, at Main and Third. The 100-foot gap left by the demolition job is to be filled by a new home for the First National Bank. Officials of the bank expect construction work to begin about Aug. 1. (Staff Photo)

BOLD SPOKESMAN FOR BALD DEFENDS BAREHEADED HONOR

By F. H. BORDSEN

MILWAUKEE — Comes now that time of year in northern climes when we men with bald heads, the badge of intelligence and wisdom, are confronted with a problem:

Should we walk bravely in the sun without head covering, as do the more hirsute, or should we avoid the pangs of high-level sunburn?

A man with a red noggin is subjected to taunts from those of low degree and little wit. But a healthily tanned head of skin bespeaks an authentic lover of the outdoors, who pretends to have hair.

Heroic baldies, the brave spirits who scorn the subterfuge of concealment, take the pangs of early sunburn in the same spirit as a sailor being tattooed.

They smile mirthlessly at the japes of so-called friends who bestow a tap on an already pained head and cry heartily: "Better watch out, Curly; your brains will get cooked."

These slings and arrows decrease as the lobster red of spring is replaced by the healthy brown gained through endurance.

Therefore, let us go forth openly. We know that our kind have been among the great statesmen, warriors, writers, and scientists. And lovers, too.

SHAKESPEARE, another genius with a high forehead, said that what we lack in hair we make up in wit.

Besides, who needs hair? I keep asking that question over and over again and always get the same answer.

I do, darn it!

By JIMMIE GILLENTE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7 — Or you might call it "Hereford Bull at the 'Cow Palace'." Anyway, we are seeing lots of sights and having quite a good time as the 72nd annual meeting of the National Editorial Association gets underway.

Yesterday we went through the Bethlehem Steel Pacific Coast plant, through the San Francisco shipyard, then the Bethlehem ship building plant in Alameda, all as guests of United States Steel. They said it was the first time they ever drove tour buses inside the plant — and everyone was happy to miss the long walk past the hot furnaces.

If I remember correctly, the Lions or some other group had the idea of calling the new Bull Barn the "Deaf Smith County Pavilion" — but folks kept right on saying "Bull Barn", which was later officially adopted by the Commissioners Court.

Traffic out in this country is terrific. It would be bad enough without all of the hills. There is no question but that the background of the San Francisco "Line-Up" on TV is authentic. The houses look very old and generally old-fashioned, which I am sure they are.

The trip out was more or less routine, we came up Highway 66, which we found unusually good in spots and, in others it was extremely poor. Several bad wrecks along the way but, so far, we have been getting by in nice shape. Not even getting by in nice shape. Not even a close shave. We did blowout a tire near Fresno. Fortunately, though, my wife was driving at the time — and I could give her all of the blame.

Folks out in this country often talk different from the way we talk in Texas. For instance, in Arizona and Nevada they were always talking about "Hoover Dam". Back in Texas, I always heard the phrase used exactly in reverse.

We were pleasantly surprised with the food and accommodations. In fact, we are wondering if we have not been getting in on the off-season rates at motels, where we consistently found excellent accommodations in nice motels (swimming pools, of course) for $11.

THE FOOD HAS been unusually good all along the way and, cost-wise, about the same you would pay around Hereford. Gasoline jumped up to 39 9/10 cents in Arizona and Nevada, but is 29 to 32 cents here in California on standard brands — and we see it advertised as low as 24 cents by some independents.

I had no idea so many Californians had been to Texas. We have these National Editorial Association badges — and people invariably spot the "Texas." Likewise, they consider "Hereford" an unusual name for a town — and "The Brand" a still more unusual name for a newspaper. All of the way from newsboys to Gov. Goodwin Knight, who gave NEA official personal welcome, they are asking about the Texas floods and tornadoes.

I finally found out why women invariably carry those big, luggage-size purses. Last night the official NEA dinner was held in the Tao Tao and Kue Wah restaurants in Chinatown. Buz and Sara wound up with 14 complete sets of chop sticks, which mama carried home in her purse. Since then, we have been calling it her "chop stick bag". Even she admits that she can't find anything in it since the trip started.

If you don't think theft can be habit forming, you are wrong. Buz started saving up for this trip several months back and left home with $24.40. So far, he is still saying! I think he has $25.60 after one week on the road. To top it all off, he asked me yesterday: "What is a miser?" Without hesitation, I answered: "A kid who has $25.60 in his pocket — and asks his dad for a dime to buy a Coke."

THE SEQUOIA trees have been a trip highlight — so far. The kids paced around "General Grant" and said it was 39 long steps — 117 feet — around the base. From the high Sierras we went to Sacramento, then came down to Frisco through Ukiah and the Upper Lake country, which is beautiful. Most of the towns have Russian, French and Swedish names. Why the cosmopolitan atmosphere, I don't know.

Chinatown, as you might expect, is full of Chinese: 24,000, they say, within an area of 20 blocks. We went into a Chinese language newspaper, where they still set all of the type characters by hand. The way the type setters race between the cases, which are widely separated, you would think they need roller skates. We also went into headquarters of the "Sixth Company" and into the headquarters of a Family Association. This was not a regular tour, but was arranged by a Chinese member of National Editorial Association, who assured us that entering these sanctuaries was most unusual. Some of the furniture, vases, and art were more than 2,000 years old — and our friend (Masters degree from Stanford) went to great, extreme to point out the schools, churches and playgrounds, along with a $6 million federal housing project, which now serve the district.

These "companies" are an outgrowth of the old Tong, which attempt to solve all of the Chinese problems, even to passing on divorces, helping juvenile delinquents, and securing entry into the U. S. for other family members. The Tong wars, they told us, have been replaced by an effort of the individual Tong to outdo all other Tong in the success of welfare drives, United Fund, and similar philanthropies.

FLOWER STALLS are proving of tremendous interest to the 150-odd women at the NEA meeting. For 35 cents one can buy a beautiful corsage. I didn't recognize any of the flowers except roses, but all are indeed beautiful and they smell wonderful.

Another interesting thing about this meeting is the unusual number of cameras. Out of the 300 people you will see maybe 450 cameras. All types. All makes. Quite a few movie cameras, but mostly 35 mm slide cameras and still cameras. I would guess there is a minimum of $100,000 in camera equipment in use when one of the NEA tours gets on the road.

SPORT CARS provide another interesting phase for a country boy from Texas. You never saw so many midget jobs in your life with the German Volkswagen leading the parade. Thirty gallon mileage, long life and maneuverability, folks say, account for their popularity. I believe 15 percent of the cars are of the smaller variety; they have special small car lots, special garages and special service centers everywhere you go. Many people are buying them for "second" cars. Trade-in prices are unusually high ($1800 new — $1400 used), and they say most people drive them 150,000 miles before trading cars. It is quite a deal and the cars are, apparently, well adapted to this particular country.

A note to Helen and Harry McCauley and the Carl McCaslin family: Special greetings from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Claybaugh of Brigham City, Utah. We ate at the table with the Claybaughs at noon today and enjoyed the visit. They hope to get back toward Perryton for a visit sometime this fall, but probably won't.

Saturday, June 9, we leave for L.A. and San Diego, where the NEA will operate a six-day tour, including Disneyland, the naval base and a movie studio. Everyone is looking forward to the trip except me — and I am worrying about the traffic. However, I got into Frisco OK. The man stopped me and collected 25 cents for crossing the Golden Gate bridge, so I asked him the way to our hotel. He gave good directions and I came in right on the beam. I sure don't want to see the car again until we pull out — and I am not looking forward to that at all.

TYPICAL TEXAS weather seems to prevail. You burn up in a short-sleeve sports shirt around noon, but need an overcoat at night. Few, if any, of the hotels appear to be air conditioned. We had lunch at Bermuda Palms in San Rafael yesterday. It was quite swanky and has been the training place for Rocky Marciano and other fight champs — but no air conditioning; the food was good, but it was really hot. Next came Muir Woods, and everyone broke out with goose-bumps. The guide wanted to know if we had anything like the big Redwood trees in Texas. Sara told him "No, but we have some winds that could blow them down". I don't think he believed her, but it really was the truth. When these folks start talking about floods and tornadoes, we shift the subject to earthquakes — and they start explaining how very little damage ever occurs from the occasional "tremors".

In fact, I honestly believe most Californians are really Texans at heart. They just happen to have been unfortunate enough to have been born out here, instead of in the Lone Star State. They sure do like to brag. We were looking at a bunch of kangaroos and a friendly Minnesota delegate asked 11-year old Buz how he liked them.

"Swell," said Buz. "They are twice as big as the grasshoppers BARE LESSONS KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—Miss Rose Chan, Malaya's best known strip-teaser, will soon be going to Japan to make a film on strip shows. She said negotiations are now under way for making of the film in which she will appear with three other girls of her striptease troupe. "I have trained all these girls in the art of undressing in public," she said pointing to them. "Before they came to me they did not even know how to move gracefully." PROLIFIC BEEF PIKEVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A cow owned by R. C.
