Brand To Run Series On Potato Growing

"Potato Joe Ballinger, one of the pioneers of Deaf Smith County potato growing, has prepared a series of articles on the various phases of potato growing—the problems likely to be encountered and the methods which he himself has found most effective in meeting these problems.

Because there are many new potato growers in the territory this year, and because of the many questions which they have asked "Potato Joe," he has prepared these articles to give the new potato farmers the benefit of his experience.

The Brand offers this series, which will include such subjects as "Irrigation," "Insects," and "Potato Diseases," in the hope that readers will find it helpful and suggests that interested farmers keep the entire series. As the actual planting and preliminary are already done, the articles on "Preparing the Soil," "Varieties," and "Planting" will be run last.

CULTIVATION

By Joe Ballinger
Cultivation is one of those potato growing practices for which no definite rules can be made. If the seed has been properly prepared, 90 percent of the cultivating job is finished. The primary object of cultivation thereafter is weed-control and hilling. Root damage from excessive cultivation will materially reduce yields; however, growers will find it profitable to harrow (using a spike tooth harrow with the teeth laid back to about 45 degrees) two or three times between the time the crop is planted and when the plants reach a height of from two to three inches. This harrowing will destroy early weeds.

In case the soil is drying out, a furrow should be dug between the rows and light irrigation done. If the potatoes have been planted shallow, precaution should be taken not to harrow out the seed pieces.

Number of Cultivations
The number of cultivations through the growing season varies, the important point being to cultivate deeply, five or six inches, close to the plants while they are small. A long, narrow bull tongue shovel should be used for this, and care should be taken to work farther away from the plants as they become larger and their root systems expand.

If a tractor is used in cultivation, two sets of shovels should be used on each side of the row; the shovel close to the row should be a narrow, bull tongue shovel; and the next should be four or five inches wide and as much as nine inches long. On the rear of the cultivator should be the hillers, and at each successive cultivation, the hillers should be set deeper. After the first cultivation, the bull tongue shovels should be taken off, leaving the two large shovels and the hillers. The large shovel should not go too close to the row; and, after the second cultivation, the large shovels should be taken off and all further cultivation done with the hillers. It has been found by this writer that the speed of the tractor regulated the amount of soil to be thrown around the vine to cover the weeds and not the vine.

Ridges

During all cultivating operations, the grower should keep in mind the ideal type of ridge, which is as broad at the top as possible. There must be enough soil on top of the ridge to cover all the tubers which will be developed later. The size and shape of this ridge is of vital importance in preventing sunburn.

Fire Demon Takes Heavy Toll in East

Damage estimated at about $2,000,000 was caused in the Ocean Bluffs, Mass., area as the result of a fire that destroyed a church and leveled more than 450 cottages. Only a timely shift in wind saved hundreds of other houses. The above photo shows a row of cottages burning fiercely when the fire was at its height.

Tubers not only come to the surface of the ground, but quite often protrude from the sides of the ridge. This protrusion can be kept at a minimum only when the ridge is broad at the top.

When to Stop

As soon as the plants begin to interfere with cultivation, the plants should be "laid by." It is necessary to have the furrows which carry the water between the ridges deep enough that water will not come into contact with the plants. If the soil is loose, and there are no weeds, there is no advantage to further cultivation.

Lyndon Johnson Opens Campaign At San Marcos

AUSTIN—With a rousing campaign opening speech behind him, energetic, fast-moving Con. Lyndon Johnson, this week had hit the campaign trail full blast with a whirlwind tour of the state to meet supporters and campaign workers.

Johnson opened his campaign Saturday night at San Marcos before a crowd of several thousand. Among the crowd at the opening speech were Federal Judge James V. Allred, former governor and old friend of Johnson, and Mrs. Allred, once his classmate.

Speakers from the five major sections of Texas bespoke the support of their areas for Johnson and their faith that his experience and dependability in the National congress would carry him to victory.

They were Dr. J. T. Harrington of Waco, chairman of the board of Baylor University and noted Texas physician; Mike Anglin of Longview, East Texas attorney; Frank Wilson of Dallas; Lloyd Croslin of Lubbock, and County Judge Roy Hofheinz of Harris County, who also acted as master of ceremonies.

From the piles of telegrams pledging Johnson support were ones from Clara Driscoll, national democratic committeewoman, and Myron G. Blaylock, national democratic committeeman from Texas.

Johnson, who announced his candidacy from the White House steps with the endorsement of President Roosevelt as an "old and close friend," pitched the theme of his opening address upon the vital necessity of an oil out effort by Americans for national defense, and democracy and upon unified support of the President and his country's foreign policies.

Johnson has been a staunch backer in congress of President Roosevelt and his domestic and foreign policies, paid tribute to the late senator and recounted how he, as a member of the naval affairs committee in the house, has had experience comparable to that of Sheppard as chairman of the military affairs committee in the Senate.

"Texans must determine," he declared, "whether their new voice will join the voice of Taft and Vandenberg or ring out with Morris Sheppard's in support of Roosevelt, against appeasement and in defiance of dictators and everything for which they stand."

The rising young statesman made completely plain his stand upon both the capital and la-three percent. An agricultural and industrial Texas must prosper because we have rid ourselves of discriminatory freight rates, rates strangling our Southland. I want full parity price for our farmers.

"Old pioneer Texans built this state. They gave their lives, their sweat, their tears—even their blood—to make it the greatest state in the Union. I am in favor of a nation-wide old-age pension system, beginning at sixty instead of sixty-five, paying enough so our senior citizens can live decently, by American standards."

Johnson strongly opposed socialized medicine, and favored opportunity for every Texas boy and girl, rich or poor, to go to school, to work for an education. I want jobs for them when they are ready for them." He told, too, of his work in handling veterans cases.

Johnson struck hard at subversive influences. Best of management brains in defense positions was strongly urged by Johnson in recommending they be drafted by the nation.

He also urged that the distribution of defense work to a few firms be stopped and that it be spread into firms all over the country to make surer and faster.

Johnson, who has carried to success, the LCRA program of developing the Colorado River in Texas pledged his aid to helping other water conservation projects in the state in a like manner.

He likewise declared his promise to stand for retention of the community property laws.

Pointing to the importance of religious freedom, Johnson pledged his efforts against any undermining of religion or of persecution of any creed.

Likewise, he recognized the problems of the young men of the state drafted into army service, pledging that they should have the best of equipment and of war materials and that the problem of getting them jobs on their return to private life would be met.

Pledging for all out support of the President in Texas, Johnson urged his listeners to join him in his battle for the senate and for unity of the country behind Roosevelt's leadership.

BULL

By Jimmie Gillentine

Tuesday was one of the prettiest days we have had in a long, long time. However, Homer Fox had to pop off and tell a story about the 12-inch snow which fell here on May 6, 1917. Jack Gilliland began kidding him, and he finally reduced it to an 11-inch snow. About that time Mrs. W. C. Russell came along and Homer proved it by her. She remembered it well, because L. B. was just a baby at the time. After Mrs. Russell left, Homer proceeded to tell how the cherries were as big as the end of your thumb when the snow came. He said they weren't damaged at all.

Definite proof that Spring is here came this week when Charles Skelton and Jimmie Easley sauntered down Main street, armed with fishing poles and a can of worms.

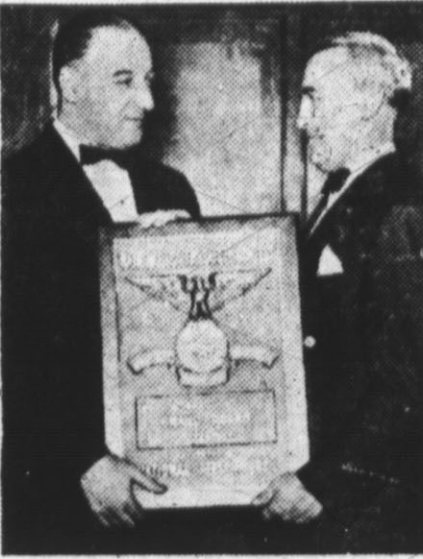

Snooks Bailey believes that fishing will be better in this area than has been seen in a long, long time. He has a reputation for catching fish when a lot of other folks fail, and he keeps pretty well up with conditions. He says most of the moss has been washed out of the creek with recent rains and it looks like a good year. Frank Bezner says the Sulphur Park section also bids to be good. He says the creek ran from bank to bank, but never did get out of bounds; that was just beyond the point where Frio dumped into Tierra Blanca. There should be some nice perch this year because they have been protected by two and three feet of moss during the past two years—and many of them will be caught in 1941.

Another proof of Spring was some turnip greens, rhubarb and fresh onions which Mrs. O. E. Sherman sent in the other day. Harry Rice also brought some home-grown asparagus. All of this, plus cornbread and buttermilk composed one of the most enjoyable meals yet.

Last week I mentioned tulips as having an unusual history, and a lot of folks have been arguing with me. The fact is that the little nation of Holland was almost bankrupt as a result of tulips during the first half of the Seventeenth Century. Interest in the bulbs became so paramount that much speculation resulted. Bulbs, which were then indeed rare, soared to such fabulous price that they sold as high as $5,000 each, which is a lot of "florins" in Holland. Due to the exceedingly high prices very few individuals could afford a bulb, so ownership was divided into shares, being similar to our present day stock market. The craze spread so rapidly that the stock was sold in "future" bulbs—and sometimes by men who possessed none at all; stock was even sold in some varieties to such an extent that there were not enough bulbs in existence to cover the sales.

This craze was short-lived and when the bubble burst it left many well-to-do families in bankruptcy, even affecting the royalty of the nation. As a result, however, Holland secured stock for tulip bulbs and propagated them until today the country is recognized as foremost in tulip culture. With this in mind, it is logical to believe that Nazi acquisition of Holland will result in a tulip shortage in America.

We have a lot of information in this paper regarding Mother's Day. Every year it is an occasion upon which Mrs. McLean, society editor, works up some pictures and a feature. All in all, Mrs. McLean is doing an excellent job with her society page. I hear lots and lots of compliments for her regarding the society coverage. Maybe I appreciate this more than the average person because I know how hard it is to write society—and at the same time please people. When I first started working on a weekly newspaper, the boss' wife wrote the society news and they gave me the job for a month while she was away having a baby.

The women frankly said they didn't like my style of society notes and they did not have a thing on me, because I sure didn't like to write the stuff. Anyway, we think Mrs. McLean is doing a swell job and next time you call in a story, tell her some of the nice things I hear. I'm sure she will appreciate it.

Back to Mother's Day, May 11. Reams and reams of material have been written on the subject—and nothing has ever expressed the fullness of "mother love." No one lives, I am sure, who doesn't love his or her mother, but sometimes we are a little bit careless—and that's something our mothers never were when we needed them most. Make it a point to send your mother a gift, or to write her a letter, or better still, go and see her if she happens to live away from you. Nothing will cheer her like a telephone call, a telegram or a message on Mother's Day. Somehow, some way, remember your Mother next Sunday. It will mean all the world to her.

This community extends its sympathy to the Ricketts family in the death of W. A. Ricketts. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Russell of Westway, visited his brother, Clyde W. Russell, and family Friday night. They planned to move to Hereford Monday, where Edgar will be employed. Miss Juretta Bird and Roy D. Baker were united in marriage Friday night, May 2, at Hereford, by Rev. H. P. Cooper of the Church of Christ. They will make their home at V. E. Dodson's until school is dismissed. Mrs. Baker came here from Allison, Texas, to teach the community school for this school term. She has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Dodson. Mr. Baker is of Tipton, Okla., and has driven the school bus for this school term. He has been staying at A. S. Higgins.

The community extends its congratulations and wishes for the young couple the best of happiness.
Miss Wilma Higgins has been staying with Mrs. J. C. Lance in Hereford, while the roads have been so bad. The bus was unable to make its route Friday and Monday.

The recent marriage in the community is rather unusual in that it makes the third time for this community that the bus driver and school teacher have married. The last three bus drivers and teachers have been married.

Miss Wilma Higgins and Glen Ricketts attended the Alumni Banquet in Hereford, Friday night.

Calls For Cancer Control Workers To Turn In Reports

The end of April brought to a close the "enlistment drive" sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Women's Field Army for Cancer Control. Mrs. Bob Wilson, county chairman, urges all lieutenants to complete their club surveys and turn in all the funds collected to Mrs. Dorothy Ross, county treasurer of the Women's Field Army.
The quota for Deaf Smith County has not been reached, and until all reports are in an accurate estimate cannot be made.
A surprising amount of interest has been shown in this nation-wide movement and leaders of the movement here feel encouraged by the number of persons contacted and by the hearty co-operation of workers. In making this call for reports, Mrs. Wilson said that club lieutenants had worked diligently and that in the near future a detailed report showing the scope and results of the work would be made.

Insurance Pays Texas Policy Holders

Texas life insurance policyholders and their families received an aggregate of $6,657,000 in death benefits from Life insurance companies in the first quarter of this year, the Institute of Life Insurance announced today. These payments were made on 5,580 policies.

Of these benefit payments, the bulk of which went to workers and their families, $5,375,000 was in settlement of ordinary policies, $715,000 in payments on group insurance certificates and $567,000 in claims on industrial policies.

"The influence of these payments goes beyond the immediate families who receive them," Hoigar J. Johnson, president of the Institute, stated, "For a large part of these funds eventually find their way into channels of local trade and business. The flow of such funds thus is a stabilizing influence in the business life of every community, as well as a financial support to the direct recipients of the benefits."

For the nation as a whole, death benefit payments during the first three months of this year amounted to $266,393,000. In addition, living policyholders received $402,380,000 from matured endowments, disability payments, annuity payments, surrender values, and policy dividends.

Payments on matured endowments, marking the successful completion of savings-protection plans over periods in the majority of cases of from 10 to 25 years, amounted to $50,272,000 on ordinary policies and $22,150,000 on industrial policies, a total of $72,422,000.

Indicating that continued improvement in family finances nationwide, the emergency use of cash surrender values showed a decline of approximately 12 per cent from the 1940 rate, the March total being considerably lower than in February.

Farmers, Ranchers Can Help Defense

COLLEGE STATION—Texas farm and ranch families can profit materially and also contribute to national defense by cooperating in several movements announced recently by the Department of Agriculture. Says Director H. H. Williamson of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, who advises farmers to keep posted on fast-moving plans for converting ever-normal granary supplies into ever-normal food supplies.

Among the defense programs announced recently by the Secretary of Agriculture are: A plan for making purchases in the open market to support long-term prices of hogs, dairy products, chickens, and eggs, a program to expand the production of tomatoes for canning, and a nation-wide drive to increase egg production this spring and summer from present laying flocks.

Director Williamson points out that the ever-normal food supply program is intended to stimulate sufficient increases in production to insure food supplies adequate to all needs here and abroad. Should unwarranted speculation drive prices up to unduly high levels at any time, the supplies in the hands of the government will be released to stabilize prices and maintain them at reasonable levels. This means consumers will be protected and farmers will benefit by selling more products at fairer prices than those which have prevailed in the past few years.

meet demands for canned tomatoes under the Lease-Lend Act and for distribution for the American Red Cross. Additional supplies will be used for school lunch programs, relief distribution, and other public assistance purposes. The Director explains. To make it possible for canners to take immediate steps to insure an increase in tomato acreage, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation will ask canners to submit offers at once to deliver canned tomatoes after the new pack has been completed. In considering bids the FSCC will make allowances for increases of from $2.75 to $3.00 per ton over the 1940 contract prices to growers.

The new drive for increase in poultry products is expected to increase the nation's egg production by about six per cent in the next 15 months, Director Williamson says. This means eggs produced will be increased by about 10 million cases of 30 dozen eggs each.

Extension Service poultrymen George P. McCarthy and H. H. Weatherby say the goal can be achieved by ample feeding beginning immediately, by filling up the nation's poultry houses to capacity with laying birds this fall, and by an increase of around 15 per cent in the number of chicks raised. The specialists emphasize that expansion of permanent new poultry housing at this time is probably not justified.

Miss Neville Wrenn, formerly of Hereford and now teaching in Lubbock, spent last week end visiting Miss Sadye Rigler and other Hereford friends.

Mrs. Parker presided at the meeting which was opened by a prayer led by Mrs. Owen Stagner. Mrs. M. Woolsey gave the devotional. Mrs. M. Woolsey read an article on standards for the class. Seniors of Hereford High School were entertained by the First Baptist Church last week, with Baptist students of the high school and members of the young people's department of the church as added guests.

The affair took the form of a circus banquet and A. O. Thompson presided as "ringmaster." Steve Milner, teacher, gave the welcome address and Nell Spradley, class president, gave the appreciation response. During the evening the proverbial circus clown entertained in traditional clown manner. The Wayland College Trio of Plainview, sang two selections and Dr. John Cobb, dean of Wayland College, told of the history and development of the Plainview school.

TRY A WANT AD

Streets should be "residential" in character to best preserve a residential neighborhood, according to Federal Housing Administration land planning officials. Neither too wide nor too narrow to accommodate local traffic, the roadway should be paved in a permanent manner and provided with a low curb and gutter for neatness and low-cost maintenance. Well-placed large trees do much to create a desirable environment. "Street trees" are not always essential.

Hereford Club Women Talk Recreation Needs

Hereford probably will have organized recreation for children and young people this summer, according to plans discussed at the board meeting held by directors of the County Federation of Women's Clubs at the court house Saturday afternoon. So far no definite plan has been worked out but a well-balanced recreation program is being talked about by interested club women who feel that before long at least a tentative plan will be mapped out which will meet the need on a small scale. Mrs. Urlin Streu, county federation president, has called a meeting of the directors for the second week in June, at which time a recreation project for the summer may get under way.

Presbyterian Women Meet

Groups of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church met for programs yesterday afternoon.

Williams.

BROADWAY & HOLLYWOOD

By Lee O. Lyon

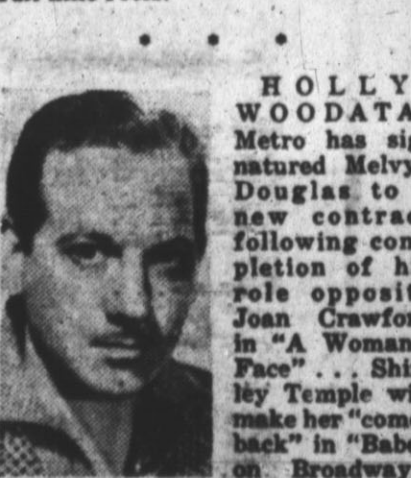

If you want to see the movie stars, you can do almost as well in Manhattan these days as you can in Hollywood. Ann Sothern, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Director Norman Taurog are current visitors. Ensuing days will bring Spencer Tracy to Gotham prior to his Southern journey where he'll begin work in "The Yearling." Robert Taylor has just wound up his adventures in "Billy The Kid" and Metro promised him a two-month vacation. New York is on Bob's must visiting list. Irma Wilson, president of the Ziegfeld Girls Club, and Virginia Cruzon and Myrna Dell, who appear in "Ziegfeld Girl," are more bright light visitors.

TOPS! Joan Crawford's newest drama, "A Woman's Face," was sneak previewed on the coast this week and the theatre manager, who ran this film, exclaimed, "Never have I seen such a grand acting job by Joan!" We've heard from several sources that not alone is "A Woman's Face" the finest of all Joan Crawford characterizations but that Director George Cukor has exceeded his magnificent work in "The Philadelphia Story." Guess you'd better put this Metro movie on your cinema-shopping list.

An Arkansas theatre advertised that it would exhibit "Gone With the Wind" (Remember?) for three days. A country boy walked up to the cashier and asked if he'd have to come on all three days so that he could see that there picture he'd a-heard so much about!

Remember the name—Tom Conway. We predict this handsome newcomer will become a popular favorite before many miles of film have filtered through the cameras of your favorite movie house. He's a brother of George Sanders, who is invariably the menace in all of his screen appearances. Brother Tom wanted to make good on his own, and thus chose a different name. Ironically enough, he's killed in each of his first three movies. He first appeared in "Sky Murder," in which he suffered early death. Then he was murdered in "The Trial of Mary Dugan." In "Bad Man," with Wallace Beery, he again gets an early dose of rigor mortis. You'll see him next in "The People vs. Dr. Kildare." We haven't yet learned if they're going to let this very capable personality live through the full nine reels.

HOLLYWOOD DATA: Metro has signed Melvyn Douglas to a new contract following completion of his role opposite Joan Crawford in "A Woman's Face" . . . Shirley Temple will make her "comeback" in "Babes on Broadway," with Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland and not with Wallace Beery . . . Tony Martin was born in Oakland, California, on a Christmas day . . . and Diana Lewis, who is expected to accompany hubby William Powell East when he completes "Love Crazy," was born in Asbury Park, N. J. Her father was the famous "SI" Plunkett, and her mother was a noted soubrette . . . M-G-M studios, we hear, plan another Western for Robert Taylor, so pleased are they with his performance in "Billy the Kid." N

Eight towns have served as the capital of Texas since its declaration of independence in 1836, University of Texas records show. They are San-Felipe, Washington on the Brazos, Harrisburg, Galveston, Velasco, Columbia, Houston and Austin.

1940's figure, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Poultry shipments declined 33 per cent this March from that of a year ago, totaling 42 cars of chickens and 6 cars of turkeys.

Texas hens were on the job during March, as chicken ranches shipped 171 carloads of eggs—half again as large as March

Amarillo visitors Monday were Mrs. W. H. Russell, Mrs. A. G. Bell, Mrs. Artis Russell, Mrs. Harry Seed and Clyde Gregg,

Former Hereford Girl And New Mexico Man Wed

The Roswell, N. M., Morning Dispatch carried the following account of the wedding, Saturday, of Miss Minnie Dea Smith, formerly of Hereford.

Miss Minnie Dea Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith of Ruidoso, formerly of Hereford, and Mr. Howard Turner of Roswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Turner of Decatur, Alabama, were married Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the First Methodist Church with some fifty relatives and close friends attending. The double ring ceremony was read by Dr. Thomas W. Brabham, pastor of the church, before an altar banked with baskets of pink and white snapdragons and stock, and lighted by numerous white candles held in branch candelabra.

Preceding the rites Mrs. W. Finch White, Jr., played soft pre-nuptial music and also played the wedding marches.

The bride was attractive in a three-quarter length cape suit of navy blue Alpaca crepe, worn with white accessories. Her "something old" was a necklace worn by her paternal grandmother at her wedding. A white prayer book belonging to a close friend was her "something borrowed." She wore a corsage of white gardenias.

Miss Ona Faye Smith of Hereford was maid of honor. She wore a powder blue suit with silver fox trim. Her accessories were navy and her flowers were talisman roses.

Warren Baker of Roswell served as best man.

A wedding dinner was served to the bridal party at Ye Olde Pyne Tavern at Ruidoso on Sunday. The couple will be at home at 208 North Kentucky Avenue in Roswell.

The bride has made her home in Ruidoso with her parents for the past seven months. She is a 1940 graduate of Hereford High School. The bridegroom was educated in Decatur, Alabama, and for the past eight years he has been employed with the Purity Baking Company in Roswell.

Among the out-of-town guests from Hereford at the wedding were Mr. Clarence Smith, grandfather of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, Bill Smith, Jr., Miss Helen Danforth and Miss Ona Faye Smith.

Alyne McLain Will Give Voice Recital on Friday

Miss Mattie Mae Swisher is presenting Miss Alyne McLain in a voice recital Friday night at 8 o'clock at Miss Swisher's Studio of Music. Miss McLain will be assisted by Patsy Sanders, who will also sing a group of numbers. The program is open to the public and is a studio contribution to National Music Week which has been observed all over the nation this week. Selections from the classics, modern and sacred numbers will be given.

National Music Week Climax Tonight

National Music Week has taken on a wider scope of interest this year than ever before, according to reports from the National Headquarters for the Music Federation in New York. Instead of National Music Week it is now Inter-American and National Music Week and the slogan adopted for the coming year is "Make Good Music Familiar Music in 1941."

A Capella Choir The Amarillo Junior College Capella Choir, which will be presented tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the high school auditorium, is a National Music Week contribution sponsored by the Music Study Club. There will be no admission fee and all music lovers are invited to attend the concert, an hour of good entertainment.

For years the Music Study Club members have given their time and talent for the entertainment and betterment of this community, and it is in the interest of the highest and best type of music for Hereford that the Amarillo College singers are presented.

Well Owners Not Required To File Annual Report

In a ruling from the attorney general's office last week it was explained that the state board of water engineers is without authority to compel owners of ordinary water wells to file annual reports similar to those required by law from artesian well owners.

This was the revised opinion which changed the earlier ruling that all well owners may be required to file annual reports. The present ruling points out that the law does not set standards to guide the board in making rules for all water wells.

The requiring of a report from all well owners was a ruling which had generally been opposed in the Hereford irrigation district.

Mann States Accord With Roosevelt In Senate Campaign

Repledging his complete support of President Roosevelt's program in our national crisis, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann this week continued his campaign for the United States Senate.

Opening his Central Texas campaign in Waco, Mann stated, "I subscribe to the foreign policy of the Roosevelt administration completely and without reservation."

"I believe that during the past three years I have shown my willingness and ability to cooperate completely with all men and all public officials with whom I have worked," he asserted, "and shall continue to work in harmony with all officials when I go to Washington as your United States Senator."

Mann called attention to a message broadcast by President Roosevelt urging that the people subscribe to the Defense Savings Bonds to finance the preparedness program as he said, "just as there must be no bottlenecks in industry to delay preparedness, so must there be no bottleneck of funds to pay the bill for defending our country."

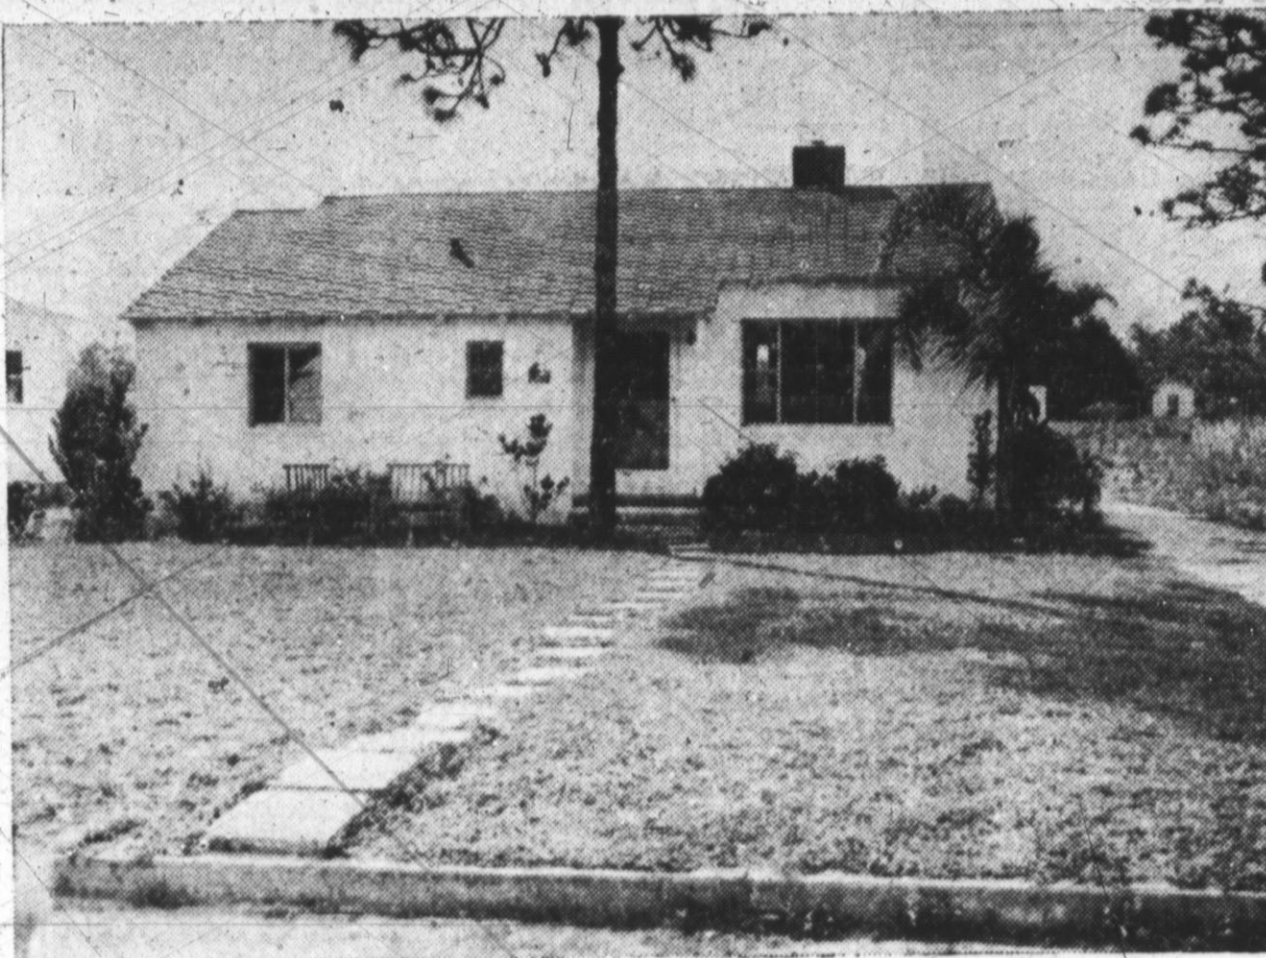

"I take this opportunity to again call your attention to the President's remarks and the necessity of purchasing these securities for our national defense."

"The president is entitled to our full fledged support. Our defense program must go forward. Young men are giving themselves to the service. We must give our money."

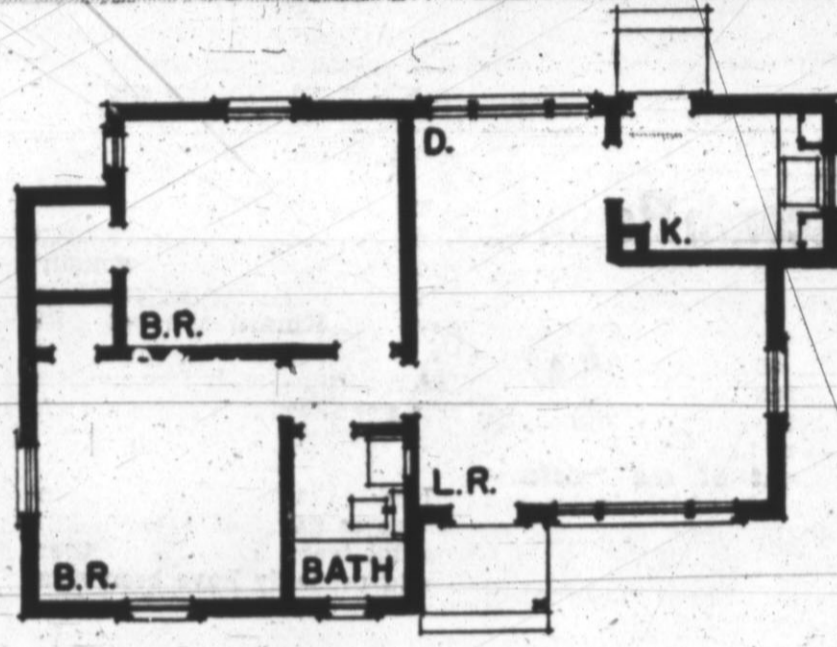

Attorney General Mann said that in order to be prepared to defend ourselves, "we must have by the end of 1942, according to figures fixed by President Roosevelt through his Office of Production Management, 50,000 airplanes, 130,000 airplane engines, 17,000 heavy guns, 9,200 tanks, 1,300,000 rifles, 380 navy ships, 200 mercantile ships" and other war materials.

"There must be no idle labor, there must be no idle machinery. The present crisis is a call to arms to every resource of every kind and character that America has at her command," he added.

"The aged and the needy must be cared for. Their human needs must be met and supplied."

This small home has an interesting design and is well adapted to the moderate climate in which it is located. The large front window not only provides abundant sunlight for the living room but also helps improve the appearance of the house. This property was financed with a mortgage of $2,300 insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Exclusive of local taxes and hazard insurance, monthly payments on a 25-year mortgage of this amount total less than $14.

FLOOR PLAN

"Agriculture must receive an equal opportunity to profit as profits in other businesses increase," Mann stated in discussing the farm problem.

"Prices of other products both raw and refined have advanced. Wages have increased. The cost of living and of making a crop are higher.

"If the Federal government is to accord agriculture an equal opportunity with other industries then the Government should continue to make every effort to stabilize the market for farm products.

"There should be no let-up in government aid to the farmer."

IN SPRINGTIME OF 1941
By J. D. Thomas
Attorney
Farwell, Texas
From the President of the United States down through the Congressional Record to our most humble citizen I have been informed that our country is now enveloped in her most beautiful springtime dress. If I understood the President correctly last night over the radio he said that fair America is in bloom with the most glorious springtime known to the history of the country. A few of our citizens around Texico-Farwell have just returned from their respective tours down State and into the Rio Grande Valley of "beautiful Texas where the bluebonnets grow" and they say that words are poverty stricken to describe the beauty and the grandeur that is presented to road guests who travel the highways of Texas. To those of the Panhandle area who live on these cold bleak plains and have not had opportunity to behold the great blue banks of bluebonnets interspersed and intermingled with other foliage of beautiful Texas along the highways of down State have missed one of the greatest spectacles that it is possible to behold. Those United States Senators who accompanied the body of the late Senator Morris Shepherd to its last resting place at Texarkana went back to the halls of Congress and in the eloquence as only a United States Senator can command pictured the glorious beauty of Texas in the springtime.

family and fill up my old car with gasoline and then I would point her in the direction of Fort Worth, Austin and the Rio Grande Valley and then double back through Houston and into the State of Louisiana and then through the old South and head for the beautiful city of Washington, D. C., and see this fair land of ours in the springtime of 1941 when she is upon dress parade as she never was before and afterwards in futures years I might be able to say to my grandchildren that the opportunity was mine to have seen the beautiful springtime of 1941.

Sincerely yours,
J. D. Thomas

Poppy Sales Proceeds Help Disabled Vets

In planning sale of poppies on Poppy Day, May 24, Mrs. Glenn Weir, chairman of the Hereford sales committee, this week explained the work which is done with the proceeds of Poppy sales.

The flowers are made by disabled veterans at veterans' hospitals throughout the nation; all poppy day workers are volunteers, and money contributed to them for the flowers will go into the welfare funds of the Legion Auxiliary to carry on the auxiliary's work for the disabled and their families, and the families of the dead.

"Wearing of poppies on Poppy Day serves to remind us that our democracy has the strength to repel any dangers," says a circular put out by official legion publications.

Canyon Boosters In Town Monday

Fifty-one cars and 199 persons were in Hereford Monday as representatives of the City of Canyon, on a goodwill trip designed to advertise Canyon's advantages as an educational and recreational center.

With the Canyon boosters were the Buffalo Band of West Texas State College and the Canyon High School Band and the Girls' Drum Corps.

A special edition of the Canyon News, distributed by the boosters, described the educational advantages of West Texas State College and also told of the recreational facilities offered by Canyon at the Palo Duro Park and Buffalo Lake.

"WHEREAS, The United States of America is faced with a grave emergency, in the light of international developments; and

"WHEREAS, It is of the utmost importance to the preservation of our system of government and to the protection of the very lives of our people that we strengthen this 'citadel of democracy' and be prepared to meet any challenge which the future may bring; and

"WHEREAS, Such security cannot be provided nor maintained except by the loyal and sacrificial service of every man, woman, and child in our great Nation; and

"WHEREAS, Our government has found it desirable and necessary to issue defense bonds and savings stamps for the purpose of financing this National effort, such securities to be offered to the people for investments, backed by the faith and the strength of the entire United States; thing of our own in later years—a sure savings account that pays interest."

Bankers all over the nation have been unanimous in their endorsement of the defense savings plan, which is an entirely non-profit deal as far as they are concerned.

Mr. R. R. Gilbert, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, summarizes the advantages of defense savings as follows:

First, the bonds are safe. Second, the bonds are redeemable in cash by the government and therefore are free from market risks.

Third, the bonds are available in convenient denominations, and they provide a convenient means for steady saving.

Fourth, the purchase of bonds offers an opportunity for everyone to have a definite part in financing the defense program.

Fifth, funds invested in these securities will lessen the demand for non-defense goods, thus releasing goods and labor for use in defense production.

Sixth, the funds saved may be used to satisfy deferred wants after the government expenditures cease, thus helping to cushion the inevitable post-war re-action.

make deliveries.

Things we didn't know 'till now: Up until May 5, it was illegal to drive a locomotive through Hereford faster than eight miles an hour. Making concessions to this age of speed in which we live, the city commission has upped the limit to thirty miles an hour.

If all his pupils felt as strongly on the matter as Knox Kinard does, there probably wouldn't have been any school on Tuesday. Mr. Kinard can get positively poetic on the charms of perch fishing, and the weather this week seems to bring out the poet in him.

Iced tea is not a beverage conducive to the shedding of sentimental tears. If it were, there would probably have been some tears shed at the Alumni Banquet last week as old grads got a chance to remember "the good old days", and the class of 1941 would probably have cried in chorus if they thought they would ever get to look like the ex-students.

Nice thing about alumni banquets, it's a good place to check up on doubtful ages of persons who purposely keep them doubtful. Figuring from the date of graduation, it's practically impossible to miss the date more than two or three years.

Grover Hill, of Amarillo, assistant secretary of agriculture, will speak to all farmers of the Panhandle at 10 o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 10, at the city auditorium in Amarillo. Mr. Hill will discuss the wheat marketing situation with particular reference to marketing quotas.

Mr. Hill also will speak over Station KGNC from 1:15 to 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon discussing the marketing situation for the benefit of the farmers who will not be able to hear his address at the city auditorium.

alcove are surrounded by kids finding out the latest events in the action-packed lives of Superman and Dick Tracy. When the new funnies come out, there are always children waiting to take home the dog-eared copies of last week's edition.

Perhaps corresponding to the younger generation's assiduously cultivated taste for the funny papers is the way their mothers and dads and older brothers and sisters read detective stories and westerns. In fact, the popularity of these books has caused the library to make separate shelves for them—away from all other fiction. There are at present about 300 volumes in the cases for "whodunits" and "shoot-'em ups"—and the list grows every month. Mrs. McLean does not hesitate in saying that the books have by far the largest circulation of any group in the library; and their popularity is convincing evidence that the Deaf Smith County Library is really used by its patrons.

Of course, more serious books do circulate—but just at present books on foreign affairs are being strictly avoided—perhaps on the theory that the war is too much with us on the radio and in the newspapers.

Library for Use
A library for use was the idea of founders of the Deaf Smith County Library and a library which is used is the result of following that idea. Of the 2,200 borrowers who regularly make use of their library privileges, a large part are from the rural communities. And to make books more accessible to the country people, the library keeps book stocks rotating in the country schools, where not only the students but the older citizens as well can check them out. During the summer, the books are sent to some home in the community; and when a group is read, the books are returned to town and a new stock checked out.

To Miss Lillie Hostetter, who was librarian from the time of the founding of the Deaf Smith County Library in 1931 until 1939, goes a great deal of credit for making it one of the most successful community projects in the Panhandle. Because she did not believe in dosing the public with what was good for them, she achieved a more truly educational purpose by buying the things they like to read and providing other books which they learned to like. Mrs. Clara McLean, librarian since 1938, through her knowledge of local conditions, has ably carried out the work started by Miss Hostetter and is making the Hereford library one of which its citizens can be really proud.

She spent a year in language school at Peking, then became a teacher in the Christian Girls' School at Nanking. In 1937, when the fall of Nanking to the Japanese invaders became inevitable, Miss Schutze, under the instruction of the American Embassy, withdrew to Hankow, where she taught until that city also was about to be invaded. At Honkong and later at Shanghai Miss Schutze taught the children of stranded Americans, until she was able to return to Nanking. She is now at home on a furlough. "Because of her varied experience and her unusually rich background for the mission work, Miss Schutze will be able to give us an interesting report of the turbulent present-day mission field," said Mr. Redford, Sunday evening service, in inviting the public to the

Next Sunday is MOTHER'S DAY

MOTHER'S DAY — A day set apart for the recognition of mothers of the world. Young and old, modern and old-fashioned, rich or poor — it makes no difference; the same tokens of love and affection will greet them all as many fond and happy memories are recalled.

SUNDAY, MAY 11, public and private affairs all over the nation will be given in honor of mothers. In Hereford "Her Day" will be marked by special services in churches. Tangible gifts, love, remembrances will be given and thoughtful words will be spoken. It's the American way to show gratitude, love and loyalty; and the American mother stands forever enshrined in the hearts of sons and daughters as an influence held dear throughout the years.

Dinner Party Given To Close Club Season

Parties, luncheons and teas are making May's calendar of social events as clubs and various organizations close the study season and prepare for well-earned vacations.

Among such affairs last week was the dinner party given at the Rose Room by members of the Calloplan Club, Thursday evening.

Lovely and appropriate were the decorations. A May-pole fashioned of rainbow hued ribbons centered the table with a wreath of bright tulips at its base. The table was lighted by two tall tapers in pastel pink. Place cards featured a spring floral design and favors of sweet pea corsages marked each guest's place.

At the close of the dinner Miss Eloyse Pitman, retiring president, was presented with an appreciation gift.

Arrangements for the dinner were made by Miss Nancy Conkright, Mrs. W. L. Davis and Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine.

Attending were Misses Lois McCaslin, Eloyse Pitman, Decinae Ramey, Nancy Conkright, Ruth Conkright, Edna Daughette, Robbie Foster and Katherine Kirby, and Mesdames W. L. Davis, J. T. Gilbreath, Jr., Jimmie Gillentine, J. E. Kirby, Kellar Muse, W. C. Pitman, John Sims, Jack Wayland, Elizabeth Womble and David Rodgers.

Mother Is Honored On Birthday

One of the oldest mothers of Hereford was honored on May 29, on her 83rd birthday. She is Mrs. Mattie Vanderburg, one of Hereford's pioneers.

Last week Mrs. Vanderburg's daughter, Mrs. C. R. Smith, complimented her with a birthday party at the home of Mrs. S. E. Askren.

Old-time friends and acquaintances gathered with gifts and flowers to celebrate the occasion with the honoree, who has been confined to her home for many months.

Those registering at the party were Mesdames Minnie L. Walker, A. O. Thompson, Jennie Thompson, J. C. Lance, G. R. Jowell, Mary Palmer, J. E. Gyles, J. B. Hammer, W. J. Wilson, A. H. Elliston, John Cunningham, A. H. Streu, J. J. Clark, George Muse, E. B. Black, W. H. Russell, A. G. Bell, W. A. Hunter, W. B. Dameron, F. H. Oberthier, Al Werner, S. E. Askren, C. R. Smith, Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Redford, Tonnie Wilson, a great grandson, C. R. Smith, W. J. Wilson, Miss Adda Lee Ramsey, Miss Edna Daughette, Nancy and Geraldine Patterson.

The above picture of Mrs. Robert Veigel and her children, Dorothy and Don, ages 5 and 6, and the baby, age 2, is an example of modern motherhood; and is used, as are the other "mother" pictures in today's society page, in recognition of Mother's Day. Just such happy little faces as these are making mothers happy today all over the world.

Miss Fangman Becomes Bride Of Joe Marnell At Catholic Church

Miss Pauline Fangman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fangman of Friona, became the bride of Mr. Joe Marnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Marnell on Tuesday morning at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, after which a breakfast was given by the Marnells at their country home and a dinner at the home of the bride's parents was held.

The nuptial mass was read by Rev. Bonaventure Koelzer of New York, schoolmate of both the bride and groom, with Miss Edna Urbanczyk, organist, playing the wedding marches and accompanying Miss Adeline Koelzer, who sang Ave Maria. Gene Albacht directed the choir which sang the nuptial mass. The chancel rail of the church was entwined with greenery and white bridal wreath and on the main altar white tapers burned. Miss Dorothy Fangman, sister of the bride, and Miss Edna Ortho were the bridesmaids and groomsmen were Sylvester Fangman, brother of the bride, and Forrest Marnell, brother of the groom.

Miss Fangman wore a shell pink marquisette frock trimmed with blue and Miss Ortho's frock was of blue trimmed in pink. The frocks were made with puffed sleeves and long full skirts banded with lace. They carried pink and blue bouquets.

The bride wore a white satin gown made with a fitted bodice, buttoned down the back, long sleeves and a full skirt, slightly longer in the back. The gown was made with a Chantilly lace yoke and the bridal veil of illusion fell from a halo of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book and her flowers were white carnations tied with white satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a gold cross, an old heirloom belonging to a friend.

The couple will live on a farm north of Hereford.

Annual Alumni Banquet Compliments 1941 Hereford High School Seniors

Looked forward to each year by Hereford High School graduates, is the annual alumni banquet given by ex-students, members of the Hereford High School Alumni Association, complimenting the seniors who are soon to join their ranks.

1941's complimentary event was held at the Christian Church Friday night with approximately 115 guests gathered in the friendly understanding around tables decorated to bring back memories of "The Little Red School House Days" of long ago. Little red school houses, with groups of miniature high school graduates loitering near, marked the tables. Old fashioned slates, with the menu and program printed on the back, were at each guest's place.

Just before the program was presented, off-the-record fun was provided by Reavis Kerr (1931 graduate) who demonstrated an old-time bashful boy and Billy Phillips (1932) who gave a demonstration of some nose-in-the-ring punishment. G. M. Hudson, high school principal, was chosen by the group to wear the dunce cap for the evening.

W. J. Stanford acted as master of ceremonies and Rev. H. M. Redford gave the invocation followed by group singing of "School Days" led by J. R. Strobbe with piano accompaniment by Mrs. T. W. Roberson.

The welcome to the 1941 seniors was given by Miss Mary Kate Brotherton of the class of 1934. Betty Jane Robinson responded. A vocal solo "Long, Long Ago" was sung by Donald Hens-lee with Miss Thelma McMinn accompanying at the piano.

The main address was given by Mrs. Price Bruce Reed of Amarillo, a member of the 1910 graduating class. She spoke on "The Spirits of the Little Red School House, leaving uppermost in the minds of listeners the thought that, while the four walls of the little red school house would seem bare today, the spirit of achievement that filled it to overflowing, made today's accomplishments possible. Miss Dorothy Nelle Trimble of the Little Red School House," accompanied by Mrs. H. D. Reed; Miss Bernadine Phillips, also a last year graduate, read "To an Old Teacher" and the program came to an end on the proper sentimental note, the entire assemblage singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Arrangements for the banquet were made by Mrs. H. D. Reed, program chairman, and outgoing officials who included Mrs. Troys Carmichael, president; Mrs. Art Manjot, vice-president; and Mrs. Arnold Steizer, secretary-treasurer.

New officers of the association elected were Miss Mary Tiefert, president; Mrs. H. D. Reed, vice-president and Mrs. Arnold Steizer, secretary-treasurer.

Preceding the banquet Miss Eunice Caldwell entertained the guests by playing old-time hymns with the entire group singing in unison.

Special music was furnished by Mrs. Billie Roberson and her violin, with accordion accompaniment by Mrs. Claude Longbottom. The history of Mother's Day was given by Miss Eunice Caldwell, followed by an appropriate poem read by Earline Kemp; vocal music was presented by a chorus composed of Molly Jo Roberson, Earline Kemp, Glennis Cockrell, Dorothy Nell Adams, Eunice Caldwell and Mrs. Billie Roberson; Miss Kitty Kloe Harlin entertained with a musical reading, and Glennis Cockrell concluded the program with a prayer.

Worker Can Find Status of Social Security Payment

The Amarillo Social Security Board field office has on hand a supply of post cards, already addressed to the Social Security Board, bearing a printed request on the opposite side with space provided for the sender's signature, his social security account number, and postoffice address. This card, when signed and mailed will return a statement of all wages credited to the individual's old-age and survivors insurance account, Dewey Reed, manager, said today.

"Every worker should be interested in knowing the status of his old-age and survivors insurance account since the total amount of his insurance benefits are based on wages credited to his number. To obtain a statement as to his wage credits, a wage earner must only secure one of these post cards, fill in the blanks as indicated, attach a one-cent stamp, and place it in a mail box. Within the time necessary for the card to go to Baltimore and come back to his mailing address, he will be in possession of the information requested."

Reed emphasized the importance of securing wage statements in cases where workers have been or expect to be inducted into the military service and persons change from covered to non-covered employment. "It's just like a savings account," he said, "and anyone possessing a savings account wants to know how much he has put away for a rainy day."

The Amarillo Social Security Board field office will be glad to furnish these cards to individuals or employee groups in such quantities as desired, upon request by mail or in person.

SOCIETY

MRS. JOHN McLEAN, Society Editor. Phone 181

Haven't you often heard the man of the house remark that if he only knew what kind of pie was going to appear, he would eat accordingly—that is, consume smaller portions of the dishes in the earlier part of the meal? Prepare your family in advance for this Strawberry Chiffon Pie. It's just about perfect and it just fits in with the season. Mrs. Sylvester Slagle has achieved distinction with the recipe and it's usually requested when her club meets. Try it before strawberry time is over.

More than one top-flight recipe has been evolved through the inventive genius of a woman faced with the problem of an unexpected company. That's the history of this recipe. With unexpected guests in the house, when Mrs. Slagle began to prepare the meal, all she could find with the makings for dessert were two baked pie shells, a box of strawberry jello and a quart of fresh strawberries. What she did about it turned out to be an all-time favorite and here it is:

Let's Cook Something

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE

- 1 box of strawberry jello
- 1 pint of whipping cream
- 1-2 cup sugar
- 1 quart fresh strawberries or 1 lb. frozen berries.

Dissolve 1 package of strawberry jello in 1 cup of hot water. Let cool until it begins to congeal then whip with rotary beater until it is thick and foamy. Whip cream (stiff) and add sugar. Combine jello and cream, beating well, and add sweetened (to taste) and mashed strawberries. Pour in 2 seven-inch pie shells and chill. Top each serving with a fluff of whipped cream centered with one red strawberry.

SEEDS of ADVICE

from The Garden Club

Mrs. F. M. Kester prepared the material for this timely advice on "What Will Grow in the Shade"

What will grow in the shade is a subject of universal interest. Every gardener faces that problem and unless definite plans for shade growing flowers are followed there is apt to be some disappointment. Many gardens do not have sun all day and while most flowers must have some sun and hardly any will thrive in dense shade, there are many varieties that do well in locations which get only a very little sun. Among these are asters, forget-me-nots, godetias, monkey-flowers, pansies, snapdragons, sweet alyssums, nasturtiums, annual stock, lobelia half shade and petunia half shade.

Among the perennials the Wonder of Staffa Aster challenges all other flowers for persistent and long-time blooming. Beautiful large blue flowers bloom from July until late Autumn frosts. It does well in light shade.

Red flowers are scarce in perennials and the cardinal flower (Lobelia-Cardinals) is one of the finest. It has from 6 to 12 spikes of crimson blossoms in August and September and thrives best in a damp shady location.

Krimson King carnation has large, scarlet blooms in a continuous mass all summer long. It is a favorite for its fragrance and thrives in partial shade.

Day Lily, which blooms in July and August, Orangeman's Lily, which is a mass of scarlet blooms in June and July, and the Regal Lily, an outstanding favorite because of its large white blooms lightly tinged with pink and with golden yellow centers, are all completely hardy in semi-shade.

White Snowberry has rose-pink flowers on a medium low plant, followed by clusters of porcelain-white berries. It is fine for shady places as a filler or border.

Common Snowball, that splendid old-time plant handed down from our grandmother's garden, with a profusion of large, ball like blooms in May thrives well in the shade and is splendid for cemetery plantings.

Vines are nature's draperies. They supply alluring touches of color and decoration to the house. Hallima Honeysuckle is a long-time favorite, with its lovely fragrant flowers of white and yellow, and does well in either the sun or shade. Engelmann's Ivy is a handsome five-leaved ivy that grows with unusual speed and is hardy everywhere. It readily climbs rough walls, fences and trellises; gives a quick shade and does well in sun or shadow.

shown to have had rabies since the first of the year, out of 474 examinations. During 1940, 1,488 examinations were made, revealing 394 positive cases of rabies in animals and 1,094 negative. This was a decrease from 1939's cumulative 1,975 cases of which 583 were found to be positive and 1,392 negative.

Rabies in man is rare but highly fatal unless Pasteur treatment is promptly instituted. It is significant that one death in 1939 and one death in 1940 were reported from rabies in Texas, so successful was the Pasteur treatment in the cases of persons bitten by the rabid animals.

Rabies in man usually results from the bite of infected dogs, though rabies may be spread by calves, sheep, squirrels, skunks and horses. As a precaution against the spread of rabies, Dr. Cox advises penning up all dogs suspected of having rabies and keeping the animals under observation for at least ten days, but not destroying the animal. This holds true for other animals similarly suspected of rabies.

If a dog dies within the observation period, arrangements should be made to send the head of the animal to the Pasteur Institute, Austin, Texas, for rabies examination. The family physician or local health officer can make the arrangements for shipping the head of the animal.

Promptly after rabies has been established in animals, persons who have been bitten should begin treatment to prevent development of symptoms. Treatment should be begun before laboratory examination has been made in case a person has been bitten in the face or on the hands, or has received extensive wounds," Dr. Cox advises.

Our bravest and best lessons are not learned through success, but through misadventure. — A. Bronson Alcott.

Mighty Master of All Crops The HARVESTOR

NOW IN 4 POPULAR SIZES CHAMPION GRAIN SAVER AGAINST ODDS

In 1934 when Minneapolis-Moline introduced the HARVESTOR, the original light-weight high capacity combine weighing nearly a ton less than previous combines of its size, we said this:

"About once a decade a really sensational farm machine is produced that sets a new standard for years, both in performance and economical operation."

Since then MM HARVESTORS have been setting a new high standard in harvesting efficiency. Since then almost everyone has made a lighter weight combine, indicating that Minneapolis-Moline's prediction in 1934 has come true. But more important is the record of the original MM HARVESTOR itself. The sell-out record year after year is proof that MM HARVESTORS definitely set a new standard.

The 12 ft. Harvester has been and still is the biggest seller in its size since its introduction, and farmer demand indicates it will continue to lead the parade. The 8 ft. and 6 ft. Harvestors, too, have experienced sell-outs year after year.

AND NOW.....

The Harvester '69'

Now Minneapolis-Moline introduces THE HARVESTOR '69'—again after years of field testing and research. We say THE HARVESTOR '69' is the new "Mighty Master" of all crops and that it TOO sets a new standard in light weight, high capacity combines that will be hard to match even years from now. We believe that THE HARVESTOR '69' will prove to be the best performer under all combining conditions of any combine anywhere near its size. Two of the big reasons are the large 48-inch steel cylinder with forged steel rasps and steel welded concave similar to those used on the original MM HARVESTOR. A look at the HARVESTOR sell-out record year after year is sufficient proof that this MM type of threshing mechanism does a superior job under all conditions year-in, year-out—and is one outstanding reason for MM HARVESTOR success everywhere.

THE NEW HARVESTOR '69' has many exclusive features that have been proved in the field to provide better all around performance, and to justify its title as the "Mighty Master of All Crops."

Small Home Design
Improved By Desire or Bargains

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The natural desire of people to get the most for their money is having a beneficial and perhaps far-reaching effect on the design of small houses. Federal Housing Administration officials stated today in announcing publication of a revised edition of FHA Technical Bulletin No. 2, "Modern Design."

In recent years, they stated, it has become necessary to lower construction costs and still produce dwellings that meet family requirements, maintain the standards of living, and add any comforts and conveniences not demanded some years ago. To accomplish these objectives, designers are striving to eliminate non-essentials from plans, to increase conveniences and utility by skillful arrangement of functional elements, and to simplify exterior design details.

The practical necessity of obtaining greatest usefulness with economy is stimulating marked changes in today's houses. In plan, they tend to become more compact and easier to maintain than a housekeeping standard, and to contain some rooms designed for dual purposes. Incorporated with the plan are highly developed plumbing, heating and electrical systems and equipment.

As an illustration of the trend, the detached stable of yesterday has become the attached garage today.

The exterior of the modern house is largely dictated by the plan. No attempt is made to force a symmetrical composition which does not result naturally from the plan. Since the basis of a good house is its plan, there is no attempt to adapt a plan to a predetermined structural shell that can be immediately identified as English, French, Spanish, or Early American.

Architectural studies indicate that lasting changes in exterior design usually have been brought about by radical changes in construction methods or the availability of materials.

Types of architecture adopted as a result of a fad or passing fancy, or used for the sake of novelty have been of a temporary nature, it was pointed out.

Slavish copying of traditional architectural compositions and details and conscious effort to make them fit new living and economic conditions bring neither satisfaction nor progress. The logical answer to an enduring type of architecture appears to be found in continued development of generally accepted forms. It is an evolutionary step which does not discard the good of the past but adds new vitality by meeting modern needs.

Signs of evolutionary change, it was said in conclusion, are seen in our present small houses as a result of the demand for dwellings built economically and planned efficiently.

Technical Bulletin No. 2 may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., at five cents a copy.

Texas Industry And Trade Up From 1940 Index

AUSTIN—Texas industry and trade in March piled up almost a 7-point lead over the corresponding 30-day period last year, University of Texas business statisticians reported last week.

The Bureau's composite index of business conditions—standing at 107.6 for March—was made up of the following factors:

- Employment—up 4.2 points over March, 1940.
- Payrolls—up 8.1 points.
- Freight carloadings—up 12.2 points.
- Runs of crude oil to stills—up 1.1 points.
- Department store sales—down 8.6 points, a result of the fact that Easter came in March last year and April this year. Retail sales for the first three months of 1941 are 12 per cent higher than for the same period of 1940. If this margin of gain holds through the year, 1941's retail sales in Texas will exceed $2,100,000,000—the greatest in the history of the state, bureau officials said.
- Consumption of electric power—up 6.7 points.
- Other business factors tabulated by the Bureau substantiated this general picture:
- Automobile sales—up 25 per cent over March 1940.
- Southern lumber—production up 7.3 per cent; shipments, down 1.8 per cent; unfilled orders, up 84.2 per cent.
- Building permits—up 7.6 points.
- Postal receipts—up 8.3 per cent.
- Cement production—up 26 per cent.
- Three factors—charters granted to new business firms, commercial failures, and savings bonds purchases—sounded an unfavorable note. New charters fell off from 149 in March 1940, to 109 in March 1941, with capitalization dropping 26.5 per cent. Commercial failures increased from 19 to 24, with liabilities averaging $32,000 per failure compared to the March 1940 average of $11,000. Purchases of savings bonds declined 38.3 per cent.

A couple of bad eggs... but why blame the hen?

A bad egg does turn up once in a while... but that's not a sensible reason for destroying all the good eggs... or for taking it out on the hen.

Beer retailing in America is something like that. The vast majority of beer retail establishments are clean, law-abiding, wholesome places. And still there may be a few "bad egg" retailers who violate the law or permit anti-social conditions.

The brewing industry wants these undesirables eliminated entirely... to protect your right to drink good beer... and our right to make it.

And also to protect the many benefits brought by the beer industry to Texas... such as the 31,165 jobs created... and beer's $22,076,182 annual payroll. Beer contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in taxes to help pay the cost of government in this state.

You can help us in our program of law enforcement, if you will, by (1) patronizing only the legal and reputable places that sell beer and (2) by reporting any abuses to the proper law enforcement authorities.

MONEY in the ground

Billions of barrels of Texas oil reserves mean money in the bank for you as a Texan.

On constant deposit in underground vaults, they assure continued wages for Texas workers, lease and royalty payments for Texas farmers and ranchers, and tax revenues for our State and local governments.

Nearly 11 billion barrels of known oil reserves are on tap in 161 counties of our State. Texas oil men are now searching for new fields in 90 additional counties. They discovered last year almost three times as much oil as they produced.

These oil reserves can be cashed only through their production and processing by Texas workers.

As a means of safeguarding this backlog of economic security, you as a Texas citizen can and should expect:

(a) Sound conservation practices, (b) A reasonable taxing policy by State and local governments to permit healthy development without loss of employment through abandonment of properties, (c) Increased use of this great fuel source through creation of new Texas utilities.

These oil reserves provide security for you and every other Texan

State University Finds Need For Better Broadcast

AUSTIN—Sixty-five per cent of Texas farm homes have radios, but only 8 per cent of the farm boys and girls use them to tune in on educational broadcasts, a University of Texas Radio Research expert claims.

Instilling "dial-consciousness" into Texas school boys and girls will be one of the future school teacher's most important functions, Dr. A. L. Chapman, director of the University's Bureau of Research in Education by Radio, declared.

"One of the most important needs today of most listening communities—big or small—is an awareness of where the better programs can be found," he said. "Newspaper radio logs are not sufficient."

With recent surveys revealing that Texas 'teen-age farm youth prefer hill-billy music to all other forms of radio entertainment combined, Dr. Chapman placed the responsibility on the schools of calling youth's attention to good programs available.

"It has been proved by one of our bureau's recent campaigns that school children will listen—and will even be stimulated to read—more widely, for example—specified programs of value are pointed out to them," he added.

School children must also be made propaganda-conscious, he explained. They must be taught to be able to detect propaganda, to discriminate between good and bad sources of information, and to draw their own conclusions from what they hear.

1000 EXTRA MILES OF TRAVEL PER TIRE

Too good to be true? Not at all. In the famous 5-million mile Florida Road Test, first-line Lee Deluxe Tires, pitted against other leading brands, showed 6 per cent slower tread-wear than the average.

Think of it... 106 miles for Lee, for every 100 miles averaged by the other tires. This means you ought to get at least 1000 extra miles out of top quality, guaranteed Lee Tires... even though they cost no more than other leading makes. Actually, they cost less than you guess!

Besides, the test proved Lee's extra cord-strength, and greater resistance to bruises and to ply-separation.

New Records Hit Home Mortgages

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Home mortgage insurance operations of the Federal Housing Administration, now approaching their seasonal peak, established new records in the week ended April 26, Administrator Abner H. Ferguson announced today.

During the week, mortgage insurance applications involving new homes to be built under FHA inspection and financed under Title II of the National Housing Act numbered 6,211, a gain of 22 percent over the corresponding week of 1940. It was the first time that applications covering new homes have exceeded 6,000.

New homes started during the week numbered 4,563 under Title II and 257 under Title I. The previous record was 4,433 under Title II and 271 under Title I in the week ended April 12. The gain over last year was 15 per cent.

Total mortgages selected for appraisal during the week also established a new peak at 7,827 in the amount of $6, 153,875, Mr. Ferguson said. He stated that figures for the full month of April would exceed March, the previous high month.

Applications received under Title VI, Defense Housing Insurance, numbered 1,814 for $6, 483,600, approximately the same as in the preceding week when applications were first received.

Mr. Ferguson stressed the fact that regular operations under Title II are continuing at peak levels and that housing being generated under Title VI insurance is supplementing the normal program rather than replacing it.
