

School Enrollment Figures Indicate Attendance Picture Stabilizing

Early enrollment figures for Hereford schools, indicative of things to come, show that school population may be leveling off in the City of Hereford. A "head count" made Thursday in pre-enrolling children for the coming term show totals falling short, far short, of last year's first enrollment figures.

Teachers signed in 3,093 young students in Hereford's five public elementary, two parochial, two junior high and one high schools. A staggering figure of 4,300 was on the books last year after pre-enrollment; even last year's beginning enrollment was under that of 1964, when the seams of classrooms were filled to bursting with 4,500 pupils on beginning day.

Administrators say that pre-enrollment figures indicate that all of the students did not register Thursday; many will probably trek into the city Monday morning as classes officially get underway at their regular times.

Class time is 8:35 a.m. for elementary students, 8:45 for junior high. Early class at the high school will begin at 7:45, followed by the regular class time of 8:45.

Over 5,000 students will have desks for them when they enter the five public elementarys: Shirley, Central, Aikman, Northwest and Bluebonnet. St. Joseph's, operated by the Diocese of Amarillo of the Roman Catholic Church, expects to have 200 youngsters arriving for classes Monday. St. Anthony's anticipates 260 in its eight grades.

Hereford High School had 631 crowd the lines Thursday as they rushed to pick up schedules in preparation for Monday classes. Robert Thompson, counselor at the high school, reported that 710 students pre-registered for the 1966-1967 school term last spring; 128 of those students did not appear Thursday.

In the senior class, as Thursday enrollment shows, are 164 students; junior, 243, and sophomore, 224. Forty-six of the youngsters enrolling are new to the school. Some 750 students are expected for the school term.

Stanton Junior High School, taking students from the central area of the city, had 491 enroll Thursday; LaPlata signed in 430.

Stanton registered 154 in the seventh grade, 162 in the eighth grade and 175 in the ninth grade. LaPlata will have 133 in the seventh, 140 in the eighth and 157 in the ninth.

Aikman Elementary pre-enrolled 371, Central 229, Bluebonnet 551, Shirley 471 and Northwest 405.

A Federal "hot lunch" program will begin at St. Joseph's School in the Labor Camp Oct. 1. That school is expecting 400 children for the 1966-1967 term.

Enrollment "brought home" to youngsters the idea that it's time to begin the trek back to school.

Tight Money Squeeze Felt Here

Hereford's money lenders are having to tighten their belts as "tight money" reaches down into all areas of the nation, curtailing lending, and hiking interest rates.

Small lenders in general in the Hereford area have not felt the squeeze as have the big businessmen, but anticipate the effects in the months to come. Hardest hit by the tight money situation is the building trade, with construction drastically cut off in the new home market.

Tightening up in the money markets begins in the "money centers" and then extends down through smaller networks until it has reached virtually every community. Banks here have had to change rates, mainly because they are being forced to pay higher rates for money they receive from big city money markets.

Although government checks to farmers are not behind schedule, bankers are counting on receiving that money to give "temporary relief" to the Hereford situation.

Agriculture is a major factor here, requiring large amounts of money which are not available in Hereford bank deposits alone. Tightness in the out-of-town sources has forced the interest rates up.

Potential borrowers may be discouraged by bankers when they approach them concerning loans; putting off expenditures for some time may be encouraged by some, who hope for the situation to cool when money invested in large capital loans over the nation begins to return to the banks.

With such a situation, marginal operators who haven't been steady customers with a lending institution are going to find doors closed to them as they begin their hunt for funds. Loans can now be "upgraded," with accounts carrying more risk being weeded out as months pass.

Only one small loan institution has been forced to curtail its lending, and there all customers are still being served. The change is, says the manager, in the amounts. Luxuries for the family can't be bought on its credit, and amounts for other items may have to be trimmed.

But in general, the small loan business is not having to turn away customers for lack of a money supply. "It's as easy for a working man to get a $500 loan now as it was a year and a half ago," one lender said.

Loan companies have tightened up on their own expenses, by not enlarging staff and cutting office expenses, however, since "cost of living" has also caught them in a bind. Some lenders, although they haven't had to raise rates at this point, fear the jump in interest may come during the tight-money squeeze. But most small lenders here aren't thinking in terms of interest hikes.

Caught in the tightest vise is the building trade, which has necessarily clamped down on its "speculative" construction ventures in Hereford because of the lack of supplemental financing.

Do YOU Drink More Than One Every Day?

NEW YORK — Residents of Deaf Smith County have developed a big thirst — for soda pop, that is. As a result, the fizz biz has become big biz locally.

More pop is being consumed and more money is being spent in that direction than ever before.

In the past year, according to the latest estimate, local residents put away soft drinks at the record rate of 317 bottles (8-ounce) per capita.

They went for the works — cola drinks, ginger ale, root beer, sparkling mixes and the wide variety of fruit pops and other beverages.

On an overall basis, some 4,945,000 bottles were consumed in the year by the local population. This was in addition to the unbottled drinks served in lunchrooms, at vending machines and the like.

By way of comparison, the figures show that total consumption locally in 1960 amounted to 3,172,000 bottles. The five-year increase was 56 percent.

It was a bigger rise than was recorded elsewhere in the United States: The average was 47 percent. In the State of Texas, it was 49 percent.

The details of the soft drink business and its operations are from the Department of Commerce and from industry reports. Data is given covering every state.

The tabulations reveal that it now takes more than 50 billion (yes, billion) bottles of soda pop per year to quench America's thirst for soft drinks.

This summer, the sizzling temperatures have increased calls for soda pop and other refreshments, such as beer and ice cream, to the extent that manufacturers are having difficulty keeping pace with the demand.

As to cost, the American public is spending close to $5 billion a year for soft drinks, the figures show.

Among residents of Deaf Smith County, the bill came to approximately $485,000 in the past year. It was well above the 1960 outlay of $301,000.

Which drink is the most popular? That depends upon what part of the country one is talking about. In the Southeast and South Central States, for instance, cola drinks are the big favorite. In some other areas it is lemon-lime or ginger ale or one of the many other flavors.

WANT AN EGG?

Anybody need an egg? How about donating one egg? Twirlers are knocking on doors selling eggs to make money for their costumes for this fall.

They actually don't HAVE any eggs—they have to borrow or beg an egg and then they sell it.

So far they have gotten from 5 cents to $15 for their eggs. Goal is $75 each for the various combinations of outfits they need. They are planning red metallic-eyelash suits, red corduroy, and red, white and blue velvet sailor suits.

Twirlers that will march with the high school band this year are: Alana Cromer, Tri-ha Hill, Debra Walden and Margaret Phipps.

If any of these girls try to sell you an egg—know that it is not hers—that she borrowed or begged it—but it is safe to buy it because the twirlers fund raising is on the up and up.

LANDSCAPE PAINTER

Mrs. Holt Uses Varied Media

By SHERRIN BETTS Staff Writer

Editor's Note: This is another in a series illustrating the involvement of Hereford residents in fine arts.

It seems as though all of the creative arts require unusual talent of the hands. Painting is definitely included in this observation. It also requires a certain amount of personal experience, believes one Hereford woman. And Mrs. Earl Holt has the right to make such a statement for she is well-known for her painting ability.

Mrs. Holt's talent is not confined to one type of painting.

She has used a variety of techniques and media. The painting technique is the method of application while the media is the type of color used. For instance, a palette knife, which is the technique, can be used with either oil or tempera, the type of color.

She often uses burlap for a canvas, as the weave of the material helps to create the design. Mrs. Holt prefers untreated burlap to that which can be bought, saying that brought product is less inspiring to a creative artist. She noted that using the palette knife is more practical when painting with oil than tempera, as the tempera has a tendency to crack or peel.

Mrs. Holt also likes the use of pastels the truest and most permanent color in art media. Her choice subject is nature featured in expansive landscapes. The Holt home is filled with forest scenes and a variety of other paintings which she has done. Much of her work has been given to family friends and relatives as gifts, though she does not like to sell her paintings. She believes that commercialism would tend to take much of the sentimentality and enjoyment out of creating.

Mrs. Holt, who graduated from Southwestern State University with a B. S. in art, has won awards with a number of her paintings. The most recent was the Top Of Texas contest, which she won at the district and state levels. Some of her paintings have been on exhibition at county and state fairs as well as her senior exhibition in college. She did her practice teaching at Southwestern State College and later went on to obtain a Master's degree in counseling and arts.

She taught art in an Oklahoma high school for two years and firmly believes that the fine arts program should be encouraged in our city. She believes that art should be offered through every grade as is music. Everyone should be able to express himself in some type of creative art, Mrs. Holt commented, for it provides them with a feeling of freedom and self acceptance. All creative arts—drama, painting, writing—need self expression and every individual has some ability to do this, unless

Founders' Day Dinner Benefits King's Manor

Monday, Sept. 19th, at 7:30 p. m., a Founders' Day Dinner is to be held in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church in Hereford. It was announced this week from Dr. Don R. Davidson, Executive Director of Methodist Homes for Older Adults, Inc., in the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference.

Purpose of the meeting is to organize a permanent association of people interested in improvements in the facilities at King's Manor. The annual occasion would include a dinner, a business session, and a feature address. Brief dedication ceremonies will be held in the program for new library furniture, a memorial case in the lounge of the Home, and the lighted fountain on the campus.

Tickets available to the public will be on sale after September 5th at $10.00 plus a gift to the home.

W. Walker Watkins, of Ralls, President of the Board of Trustees, and Rev. Abby J. Cockrell, of Brownfield, Vice President of the Board of Trustees, are directing the campaign to provide $20,000 in new capital money for the Home. Davidson reports that more than $40,000 was given in charity service at King's Manor in 1965. A home similar to King's Manor will be opened for residency in Abilene, in a few weeks. It is to be called Sears Memorial Methodist Center. King's Manor and Sears Memorial are the only two such homes in the Northwest Texas Conference.

Peppers Added To Salad Bowl

A new ingredient has been added to the "salad bowl" centered in Hereford.

Bell peppers are being processed for wholesale distribution by the Vege-Pak company, working out of the Trautmann sheds. Acreages are small in the county, but the price is high enough to make the growing of peppers interesting. Market is currently 5c a pound. Market is expected to be about 25 cents a pound. An average year will produce about four cuttings from each field with plenty left for the grower to use at home.

Good years like this one will produce about 24,000 pounds per acre. The first cutting is usually the heaviest and will more than pay costs of production.

Peppers are sized and sold by grades, as are potatoes. Vege-Pak has ordered an automatic grader. No. 1 peppers run a little higher, sometimes over 8 cents. Grades go by size, shape and color.

Shipping is done by boxes and each box holds about 28 pounds. They are dry packed. Shipments are made to Furr Food Stores and chains buying the Topco brands.

Besides peppers, the Vege-Pak company is shipping carrots and cabbage to these wholesale outlets.

An acre of peppers requires about 4 or 5 waterings in this area. They are planted with a small grass plants and are manually thinned and harvested.

Experienced harvesters were brought to the community by the vegetable packing shed. About 30 workers are in Hereford now for this crop.

About 35 acres are being harvested here now, with about 100 acres being harvested by this same company in Floydada.

A farmer usually has 5-10 acres. A 15 acre field is considered large.

Many of Hereford's peppers will be sent to San Antonio for distribution, according to Dell Smith and Robert Ruiz, Vege-Pak fieldmen.

Tight ...

Loans for home repairs and remodeling are on the increase, to be expected when money runs out for completely new housing, a lender explained.

Loans to the big businessman who is attempting to expand his business operations are being curtailed, a banker said. The big figures, which can't always be carried completely by banks here, are taking big interest rates since the money is hard to find in the first place. Larger loans tie up the dollars for a longer period of time, therefore are being discouraged.

Money was relatively tight (scarce) for a short period in 1959, but it was nothing compared to the current situation. Interest rates at the present are the highest and liquidity the lowest in about 36 years, says a Dallas economist who compares the situation to the years 1929-30.

For a year or more, the demand for funds has been increasing noticeably faster than the supply, pushing interest rates up in the age-old "supply and demand" economic rule.

A good part of the dwindling credit supplies have gone to none other than Uncle Sam, financiers say, explaining that increased government deficits are taking up more and more of available funds.

Increases in bond interest, guaranteed by the government, are taking in more funds now than would have been invested in other places.

Currently the annual rate of federal purchases of goods and services is some $9 to $10 billion ahead of a year ago, almost all of the increase coming since the third quarter of 1965.

Also figuring in the picture are state and local government expenditures, says Dr. Arthur Smith, economist for First National Bank in Dallas. They too operate on a deficit basis, Smith points out, taking up more and more of the credit supply.

Capital spending by private business, now at record levels, may set another new high this year. Again credit is involved, taking large sums out of pools formerly used for smaller lending.

Consumer expenditures, largest of the gross national product components, were up at an annual rate of $34.9 billion between the first quarter of 1966 and of 1965, continuing a gain trend that has been substantial all through the current 65-month-old expansion, Smith explains. Consumer spending has been accompanied by use of a relatively large amount of credit; total consumer credit outstanding increased an average of about $10 billion between the first quarter of 1965 and the first quarter of 1966.

Aggravating the situation, Smith lists, is competition among would-be borrowers, as well as debtors with maturing obligations preferring not to pay off obligations but rather refinance them. Involved in this situation is the Federal government, which has to roll over short-maturity obligations quite often. Most troublesome cases, says Smith, are those persons who have speculated on rising prices and capital-gain expectations in stocks and have done so with substantial sums of credit.

The Federal government is a top competitor for the country's money, paying rates high enough to attract investment that would normally have gone elsewhere in private business.

Smith asserts that perhaps the biggest worry confronting monetary and other authorities is how to halt the boom without contracting the economy excessively.

ly. Deflation is "the last thing in the world" that officials would want, he says, so the odds in the long run are on cheaper money and more inflation. If the present slowing down continues to the point where the Federal government is convinced that over-heating and inflation dangers are past, there will be no further tightening, Smith believes.

TEXAS FREEWAYS

'Red Means Wrong' On New Highway Signs

AUSTIN — "Red means wrong" and, if a person drives the wrong way on a Texas freeway he will soon see lots of red, because of Texas Highway Department's latest move to prevent accidents caused by wrong-way freeway traffic.

The department announced today it will begin installing red-traffic buttons and reflective pavement markers on Interstate and other controlled access highway in Texas.

"The thing for drivers to remember," a Department spokesman said, "is that red means wrong."
"If you see a red arrow pointing at you from the pavement as you start to enter a freeway ramp, you are entering the wrong way," he said.
"If you see a straight, red line pointing against you on the lane lines of a freeway, you are going in the wrong direction. Get off the freeway or get turned around fast."

Installation of the markers is the Highway Department's second major innovation this year to minimize wrong-way movements on freeways.

Earlier the Department began supplementing its "Do Not Enter" signs along freeways with "Do Not Enter Ramp" signs and "One Way" signs in the freeway median.

In an effort to cut wrong-way accidents even more, the Department then began experimenting with the reflective, red ramp arrows and freeway lane lines.

Both the arrows and the lane lines are made up of plastic markers which are highly reflective. They show white to Officials of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation report crowds have been so large at the musical extravaganza "TEXAS" that the amphitheater seating capacity has been increased by ten percent.

Mrs. Ples Harper, Foundation president, said "The excitement of Paul Green's show, the grandeur of its setting, the depth of its meaning and the smoothness of its production have enthralled guests from around the world."

A large map at the theater entrance where visitors stick pin showing their home towns bears notations ranging from South Africa to Alaska and from Europe to Indonesia. "This," said Mrs. Harper, "shows that the Canyon and the theater area focus near a crossroads for travelers."

Paul Green, famed author of "TEXAS", has written other massive musical dramas, "The Lost Colony", now in its 29th summer on an island of Manteo, North Carolina, closes August 28 in time for its staff and cast to visit the newest Green production.

"DANCE" PAINTINGS — Lewis Larymore classes in Hereford and Plainview, taking poses with a few of his unusual abstract paintings. He will soon be instructing dance for three years.

Dance Teacher Is Also Painter

Lewis Larymore, noted dancer who was once on the "Monitor" radio station for fifteen minutes, has announced his intention to begin giving dancing lessons in Hereford. He will take over the lessons taught by Keith Taylor, who taught here, in Hart and in Tullia for three years and is now modeling in California.

Larymore not only dances in the usual way; he also "dances" paintings. In order to "dance" a painting, Larymore dances on canvas with color on his shoes. The result is an abstract interpretation of the dance.

Larymore has appeared on the "Steve Allen Show" and "To Tell The Truth" with his "dance" paintings.

This is not the type of dance which will be taught to his students however. He will teach a more conventional type of dance. Larymore plans to teach in Hereford, Plainview, and possibly Friona during the coming year.

Registration for these lessons will begin Thursday, Sept. 1. Larymore will be registering dance students at the old VFW

Hall in Veteran's Park. He will give dance instruction for the Cotillion at the Country Club every other Saturday night, beginning Sept. 17.

Fund Committee Sees Requests

One request was approved Friday morning by the Solicitations Control Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and one was turned down.

The committee reviews requests for non-profit solicitations in the community but does not attempt to tell the public what donations should be made, Bill Thompson, chamber manager said. It does not attempt to serve in a policing capacity he said.

Approved was a request by the Christian Record Braille Foundation, Inc. Clarence Echols Canyon, will be directing the drive to secure funds for the placement of literature for the blind in various libraries.

Denied was a request by Waynes Memorial Children's Home located in central Oklahoma. The committee felt that the home, which only supports 11 negro children, could obtain funds from communities nearer its location.

ILLEGAL MOVE
NEW YORK — A pitcher is not supposed to put his hand in his back uniform pocket and that's what all the fuss was about in the Yankee Stadium opener against the Detroit Tigers.
After three pitches, Detroit Manager Charlie Dressen protested Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford's hip-pocket movement. Whitey had been using a hand warmer to assist circulation in his fingers.
"You can't tell what a pitcher has in his pocket," says umpire-in-chief Cal Hubbard, "and therefore you can't allow him to go to his pocket."

Accidents Small With No Injuries

U. S. Highway 60 was the scene of a collision Wednesday afternoon when Ricardo S. Deleon's air brakes failed to operate for the 1958 two-ton truck he was driving. Deleon was approaching a stop sign on Jackson Ave. and James Tillman Cleland, driving a 1965 sedan, going west on Hwy. 60, was unable to stop before the two collided. Cleland's vehicle received $125 damages and Deleon's vehicle incurred $75 damage. Norma B. Spaulding, 300 Western, and Catherine Russell R. 1 were involved in an accident Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Spaulding backed her 1965 sedan from a parking space. Mrs. Russell, driving her 1965 sedan south on Sampson, and the backing vehicle collided. Both vehicles incurred approximately $100 damage. The Russell car incurred damages amounting to $100 while the Spaulding vehicle suffered only $15 damage. A very similar accident occurred Thursday evening when a 1959 sedan driven by Vidal Lucero, Box 82, was backing from a curb. Tony Espenosa Pina, driving a 1964 sedan owned by Rose Marie Garza Valdez, collided with the backing vehicle as he drove south on Main.

Langley Speaks To New Teachers

Earnest Langley, local attorney, made about 200 Hereford residents aware of the advantages of living in this community Thursday night when he outlined in his inimitable way what new teachers could expect as residents.

Speaking at the annual new teachers welcoming dinner, Langley presented Hereford's vital statistics interspersed with typical Langley humor.

Sponsored by members of the business community of Hereford, the dinner is organized each year by the Chamber of Commerce.

Organist Don Baugous presented dinner music as guests and hosts were served at the Hereford Country Club.

Raymond White served as master of ceremonies and Albert Maxwell, mayor pro-tem and County Judge H. C. Williams welcomed the new-comers.

Response on behalf of the new teachers was given by Johnny Clark.

Special music for the evening was presented by vocalists Mrs. Dick Godwin and Mrs. Richard Jackson accompanied by Mrs. Joe Hacker, pianist.

Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of First Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

Municipal Pool To Close Sunday

City youngsters will have their chance for a summer dip today at the municipal pool as Manager Lloyd Payne closes down operations for the winter.

City Manager Dudley Bayne says that the pool will close at 6 p.m. Sunday, preceding the first regular day of classes in the Hereford schools.

The pool has been accommodating swimmers daily except Mondays throughout the summer.

For the past several years, receipts have not been enough to pay all expenses, Bayne pointed out. Revenue had amounted to some $2500 at the end of July, and figures for the entire season will not be available in city hall until about the first week in September. Almost $300 was brought in from receipts in 1965.

PRAIRIE DOGS

22 Farmers Attend Pest Eradication

Prairie dogs may be more a menace to farmers and ranchers in the Deaf Smith area than agriculturists figure; that was the indication Friday morning when some 22 showed up at the Hardy Benson farm 17 miles north of Hereford to see a demonstration showing how to eradicate the Western menace that will literally eat up profits.

Tom Sparks, representing the Rodent Control Division of the Wild Life Service, spoke to the gathered farmers and explained various aspects of the extermination problem.

Most popular method of extermination, he told the farmers, was the use of poisoned grain. Placed three to four feet from the hole (in the feeding area), the treated food should be used in winter when other plants are dormant for best results.

Hollowed-out gourds, packed with cotton and soaked in carbonic fluid, can be used in the killing process. The gourd is placed deep in the hole, then the hole's opening sealed with a clump of sod. Gas can also be used.

Major concern with the prairie dog problem, says J. Raymond Flores, farming the Hardy Benson place, is the economic loss they create because of their consumption of grass. In competition with livestock, prairie dogs can eat a rancher or farmer "out of house and home." Holes dug by the small animals also are another troublesome menace.

As other wild animals, the small prairie dog has been known to carry diseases such as bubonic plague and rabies. A recent plague in New Mexico was believed to be carried by prairie dogs.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ed Dziuk Sr., Mrs. Harold Kriegshauser, Mrs. Ed Bezner, Mrs. Frank Bezner.

FOALED IN MARYLAND
GLYNDON, Md. (AP) — Kaul King, son of famed Native Dancer and the first Maryland-bred to win the Kentucky Derby, was foaled here at Sagamore Farm.

COURSE REQUIRED — Hardy Benson, retired farmer, takes a bag of poison from Tom Sparks of the Rodent Control Division of the Texas Wild Life Department. Attendance at the demonstration, staged Friday on the Benson farm, is necessary before a farmer can use the poisons recommended by the state in eradication of prairie dogs. Hill Country In Best Dress,

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

A trip last week to San Antonio gave us a very delightful vacation. The hill country, as well as the rest of the country, was in its best dress after the recent rains. Always we enjoy the state shrines and recall with great admiration the bravery shown by the early Texas patriots. A trip through two of the Air Force Bases was unexpected for the visit. Bill Douglas, son-in-law of the Tom DeShazos, is a career air force officer. They showed us the new buildings and some of the exhibits and displays. It was exciting and very informative. The REC convention was very good with good speakers at every session. One speaker who especially appealed to me was Mrs. Norman Clapp, wife of the Director of Rural Electrification Administration. There were greetings from other organizations and as usual the youth make a big impression. The youth represented very large numbers of members: 4-H, 83,793 members; Texas Future Homemakers 73,000 members; Future Farmers of America, 50,000 members; Young Homemakers of Texas, 2700 members; and Young Farmers of Texas, 4500 members. Also, a report was made on Government in Action Youth Tour '66. I missed Joyce Bezner and wondered why we didn't think to take her with us. She is available to give programs on the tour to Washington. A set of very good slides are available for programs.

Six county 4-H members have records in State judging. These have won District and will be judged in State competition; Cynthia Hanna, Citizenship; Maura McAndrews, Danforth Leadership Camp; Cynthia Beene, Foods & Nutrition; Joyce Bezner, Santa Fe; Gerald Witkowski, National 4-H Conference and Joette Hanna, Clothing.

It is encouraging when we learned our city is still small enough for the personal touch. When I dialed Mrs. Dy Benson at Credit Union on Family Economic Committee business, I dialed the wrong number and got Mrs. Patsy Hampton at Bryant Bros. But, I needed to talk to Patsy anyway, about cactus. My business with Patsy was to give her this item from our landscape horticulturist. "In regard to the care of cactus plants many of the southern varieties of the cactus plants from south Texas and Mexico would probably freeze in your area unless given winter protection. Cactus respond to cultivation much the same as other plants. When provided with good well-drained soil and plenty of water and fertilizer they will grow very rapidly. The important thing to remember is that soil must have good drainage in order to get rid of the excess moisture. It is not necessary to grow them in dry sandy soil as many people seem to think."

Tuesday after office hours, we attended two birthday parties. One party was for Mrs. Emma Gunnels, age 90 and the other for Nina Beth Gilleland, age 8. Mrs. Gunnels is the mother of Mrs. Jim Hart and Cecil Hart's grandmother. Then on Wednesday night, a birthday party at Canyon for a friend who was 80.

FOR MEDICARE PATIENTS

State Social Security's Pay Scale For Aged Needs Change

AUSTIN—The Texas Nursing Home Association has warned the State's Congressional delegation that thousands of Medicare beneficiaries may be denied nursing home benefits unless the Social Security's pay formula which will force nursing homes to care for the patients at a loss.

Refusal of Social Security to provide for nursing home owners to be paid for use of their savings invested in nursing homes "is an unprecedented bureaucratic decision (in time of war or in time of peace, in this Nation which has grown and prospered under the free enterprise system," the Association said.

The Association said that this action to deny a return on investment to privately owned facilities may mean that there will not be an adequate supply of nursing home beds to meet the needs of the Medicare patients who have been promised nursing home care.

There are tens of thousands of patients already in nursing homes who anticipate receiving substantial aid from Medicare, but will be unable to do so if existing homes cannot afford to participate in the program because of the Social Security Administration's failure to provide for reimbursement of all costs," the Association said in its letter to Texas Congressmen and Senators.

The Association made it clear they felt that Social Security had misinterpreted the intent of Congress which, in providing for reasonable cost reimbursement, states that under no circumstances were costs of caring for Medicare beneficiaries to be shifted to private pay patients. Failure to provide nursing home owners with a return on their investments in their homes would mean that losses sustained by caring for Medicare patients would have to be subsidized by private pay patients if the nursing homes are to stay in business.

Eighty-seven per cent of the nursing homes in the Nation are proprietary homes and a part of the free enterprise system. In Texas 809 of the 894 homes and 37,980 of the 42,239 licensed beds are proprietary.

Reports Given To 4-H Council And Junior Leaders

In a meeting of the county 4-H Council and Junior Leaders Friday at the Caison House, reports were given on the bake sale, charm school, dress revue, record book workshop, and crop and vegetable show.

Plans were made for a picnic council meeting September 3 at Palo Duro Canyon State Park. The council members and Jr. leaders and their families will hold a council meeting, eat sack lunch suppers, and attend the showing of "Texas" at the amphitheatre.

Members were reminded of the Deaf Smith County 4-H crop vegetable and poster show to be held September 17 at the Sugarland Mall Shopping Center.

Club presidents were reminded by Mrs. Huckert of several topics to be discussed by executive committees before September 1.

Those present were: Dorothy Marnell, Joette Hanna, Kevin Stevin, Teresa McAndrews, Pam Winget, Charles Atchley, Joyce and Tommy Bezner, Cynthia Hanna, Mrs. Rita Huckert, and Diana Hickman.

Since 1961 every USGA Junior Amateur golf championship has been won by a Californian until 1965 when James Masserio of Pittsburgh, Pa., beat 14-year-old Lloyd Lieber of Portsmouth, Va., 3 and 2.

Carver Clinton led Penn State's basketball team in scoring last season with 453 points.

Easter Motivated By Community Enthusiasm

By ANN BROWN
Feature Writer

School and church have both fallen under the wheels of progress, and still Easter manages to be a very unified, progressive community.

In 1906, W. F. Easter purchased 1800 acres of land about 12 miles south of Hereford. He moved his wife and six children from the populous, tree-covered, central Texas hill country, out to West Texas' barren prairie. All of their few neighbors were miles away.

The kind of open grassland that Mr. Easter paid $4.50 an acre for, is now cut up into irrigated farms, dotted with spacious, brick homes. It is doubtful if any of Mr. Easter's original tract could be purchased currently for $450.00 an acre. Few and far between though they were, the hardy pioneers demanded a school for their children. In 1908, the first school opened with Miss Leta Satterwhite teaching the six pupils. Matt Johnson, a Baptist preacher who owned land in the community gave the building site for the school, but it was named for Mr. Easter in appreciation of his untiring efforts on its behalf.

With the opening of the school, a community church was organized. There was no regular pastor, but they had a union Sunday School that met every Sunday, and they had preaching services when a visiting Baptist or Methodist preacher was available.

Because of the lack of a pastor, the little church disbanded around 1925, but the Easter residents continued to be active in churches of the surrounding communities. The majority of the Baptists attend the Frio Baptist Church. The last school closed about 1938. The district consolidated with the Dimmitt Independent School District. The empty schoolhouse is currently used for a community center.

The sole surviving member of the W. F. Easter family is Walter S. Easter of Hereford. He and his wife of more than fifty years have two daughters, Mrs. Jim Hays of Dimmitt, and Mrs. J. William Witherspoon of Hereford. They also have nine grandchildren and seven great grandchildren, most of whom reside in this area. Two more of the Easter sons, Baxter and J. F. reared families in the community.

In addition to the Easters, other pioneer families included the: Carl Fryes, Joe Stagners, M. Slemmons, Alec Lowerys, D. C. Lairds, W. A. Hunters, D. W. Sullivans, L. R. Sollengers, W. S. Dixons, Vernon Chambliss Allen Hughes, L. M. Carters, Ernest Henrys, John Staneks, Community Grain of Easter.

E. M. Allens, J. S. Smiths, Matt Johnsons, and Fred Watson.

The current commercial district of Easter is composed of six business enterprises. The Community Grain, Inc. is owned by Bill Waldrep and Palmer Norton. Bill Waldrep is the manager. The elevator has a capacity of 2,000,000 bushels. Five men are employed in addition to Mr. Waldrep and Mr. Norton. They are: Gene King, Douglas Adams, Clyde Evans, Pedro Aranda, and Clemente Olvera.

The Easter Gin Co. is owned by Tom Davis, W. A. Epperson, and Melvin Barton. Tom Davis is the manager. The Easter Fertilizer Co. is owned by Spencer and Gulf Oil Corp., and is managed by Herman Paetzold. The Easter Grocery and Cafe is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Haislip. The Welding Shop is owned and operated by Ray Sandoval. The Hill & Hill commercial Feed Lot is operated by Bud Hill.

Easter boasts a very rare institution: a rural Lions Club. It was organized last fall, and already has around sixty members. The club is fast developing into the focal point of the community. It meets at the local cafe on the second and fourth Mondays a 8 p.m. The members enjoy a family-style meal followed by some kind of informative program.

The Lions are currently planning a new building for the Community Center. They sponsor an annual farm sale, and a Turkey Shoot in the fall. They are working very hard now, on a project they hope will materialize next spring. They are endeavoring to promote the migration of purple martins to this area by providing suitable housing for them now. The martins are members of the swallow family. And since they dine exclusively upon insects, and consume many times their own weight in the little winged pests, it does not take much imagination to conceive how extremely valuable the birds would be to the farmers in our area.

The thrifty swallows send out scouts, prior to their annual migration, to find suitable housing for their families. They will settle only where "approved" housing is available. When they like the accommodations, they return year after year. As a rule they raise two broods annually. The offspring average from four to six per brood.

So if you would like a family of purple martins in your yard, get in touch with the Easter Lions for information and housing. The very attractive houses are for sale at the Community Grain Inc.

Bill Struve is the Boss Lion. Lewis Block is secretary-treasurer. Gene King is the first vice president, Buster Thomason is the second, and Earl Harkins is the third. Alvis Jolly is the Tail Twister; Dwight Banks is the Lion Tamer. The directors are: Pat Thompson, David Hutchins, John Smith, J. H. Flood, and Roy Botkin.

The Easter Ladies Community Club meets in the community center. Mrs. Trent Downing is president. It is a social service club, and is always available for service in the community. They make doll clothes for the dolls that the local veterans mend. They also contribute clothing and toys for the Home for Retarded Children in Abilene.

There are many beautiful homes on the rich irrigated farms in the community. One of them is the Harland Fryes. In it they have some prized family heirlooms. A particularly fine piece is a victrola made around the turn of the century. It is in a perfect state of preservation. The rich mahogany cabinet looks like new, and the old wooden needles elicit unusually soft tones from the records.

The Fryes have another unusual rural attraction: a valuable collection of rare, well-preserved automobiles. They have around twenty usable vehicles. Among them are a 1935 Duesenberg boat-tailed speedster; a 1926 model T coupe; a 1934 4-dr. convertible Horsh; a 1934 2-dr. convertible Horsh; a 16 cylinder Marmon; a 1930 Cord; a 1934 12 cylinder Packard; a 1932 Pierce Arrow; a 1934 Lincoln; a 1918 Cadillac, and a 1952 Jaguar.

The Charles Fryes have a landing strip that they use for their own airplane, and also share with friends and neighbors. Charles has plenty of room for his wife and two children in the Stinson Voyager. The Fryes are still upholding the tradition of the old Frye homestead where they reside. It was for many years the stopping place for travelers between Hereford and the ranches to the south and west.

Easter is an ultra modern community, yet it still maintains the neighborly spirit typical of the pioneer days of yesterday.

Wilson Gives 4-H A Helping Hand

Sheep projects are one more area of livestock programs set up on a statewide and national scale for 4-H Club members. The state sponsorship was assumed this year by Wilson & Co., Inc., which previously had offered scholarships only on a national selection basis.

Announcement of the new state award for highest ranking sheep project member is an engraved wrist watch. The cooperative Extension Service, which sets up guidelines for the 4-H program, selects both state and national award winners.

The 4-H'er, in the course of working on the project, not only learns the responsibility of animal care, feeding and health, but also learns to appreciate the importance of lamb as a food and sheep products for human comfort such as wool.

Skill in readying the animal for the show ring is another challenge for the young sheep raisers. Breeding, marketing and management practices are part of the project. Local leaders and county extension agents work with the youngsters.

The six 1966 national winners will be announced during the National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago right after Thanksgiving. Each will receive a $500 scholarship.

PASS RECEIVER

All-American Potential Seen By West Texas Head Coach

CANYON—Dave Szymakowski is an artist and perhaps nobody appreciates his talents more than Joe Kerbel, head football coach here at West Texas State University.

Last season the Junior art major painted Kerbel a picture he hopes to see many times in 1966.

The picture has Szymakowski leaping high to snare a Hank Washington pass, then threading his way between defenders to add six points to the Buffaloes' score.

"He has 'All-American potential,'" says Kerbel flatly. "His speed and ability to get open make him extremely hard to cover. David is a dedicated athlete and I expect him to continue to improve."

It wasn't until the last game of the season, against Texas Western, that Szymakowski made his starting debut.

When the final gun sounded, Szymakowski had set two new school records for passes caught (8) and yards gained on passes (183). He also sewed up the split end assignment for 1966.

This season Kerbel believes he could better both these highs, plus set many more.

Ken McCullough, Buffalo assistant coach, shares Kerbel's high regard for the talented Pennsylvanian.

"He's the best receiver I've ever seen," says McCullough. "Dave's got great hands and good speed, but what impresses me most about him is his desire to improve. If he keeps this attitude there's no limit to his potential."

Complementing Szymakowski's deep scoring threat will be talented two-year letterman Ted Wheeler and Mike Bailey, a promising Junior flanker.

"Wheeler will line up at tight end in our pro split-T offense," says Kerbel. "This is his last season with the Buffaloes and he keeps telling me he's going to make it his finest."

Should Wheeler's forecast hold true he'll become the most prolific pass receiver in West Texas State's history. He needs just 14 receptions to break Jerry Richardson's four year mark of 54.

"If Ted plays this Fall like he did in Spring training he shouldn't have any trouble setting a new record," beams Kerbel. "He really came into his own. He's also a fine blocker."

Rounding out a receiving corps Kerbel calls "The strongest overall that we've seen at West Texas State," is Mike Bailey, a transfer from North Texas State.

Tall (6-3) and rangy, the Junior flanker caught 23 passes for 245 yards and three touchdowns as a North Texas State Sophomore. Four of these catches, including a touchdown pass, came against West Texas in a 1964 cliff-hanger won by the Buffs, 21-13.

Returning to insure space-age excitement in 1966 is Hank Washington, a field general Kerbel ranks second to none.

Washington, the Buffaloes' Missileman, broke four season and three single game records in directing the Buffs to a 6-4 season in 1965. This year Kerbel feels the big (6-3½ and 205 pound) quarterback could become an All-American.

His 1965 statistics support this prediction.

Last season Washington was the nation's 12th leading passer, hitting on 119 of 243 passes for 1,403 yards. He needs just 83 more completions and 1,023 yards to set West Texas career marks in those departments.

"We worked quite a bit on improving Washington's passing in Spring drills," says Kerbel. "Hank has no trouble hitting his targets. It's just that he fires such hard passes that our receivers have trouble catching them. He really smokes that thing."

With the tempering of Washington's mighty sword and the arrival of two precocious Sophomore running backs (Gene "Mercury" Morris and fullback Albie "Double-Oh" Owens) to go with 1965 returnees Ronnie Man-kin, James Cowell, Tom Moody and Brian Deady, the Buffaloes could fashion an awesome one-two punch.

Defensively the Buffs return nine starters from the stingy "Unfriendly Society" that set school records for fewest yards allowed rushing both for one game and season.

Kerbel's arsenal is well-

Refuge Manager Heads New Post

UMBARGER, TEXAS, Bob Brown, Refuge Manager at Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge, has recently been appointed to a new position in New Mexico.

Brown, who has been the manager at Buffalo Lake for the past four years will head up the newly established Las Vegas and Maxwell National Wildlife Refuge near Las Vegas, New Mexico. The new refuge, according to Brown, will provide both a nesting and migration area for both ducks and geese.

While at Buffalo Lake, Brown was instrumental in master planning the area for future development. This year the first stages of the plan were initiated with the development of roads and picnic facilities on the recreation areas.

Brown, a native of San Antonio, Texas, received his master degree from Oklahoma State University in 1958—since this time he has served as an Assistant Refuge Manager in Oklahoma and Colorado before becoming Manager at Buffalo Lake. The Brown family, Jan, David, Douglas, Donald, and Danny, have been active in civic and church affairs in Canyon.

stocked, the Missileman's ready to resume his assault on Buff passing records and the Unfriendly Society should continue to make life miserable on rival running backs and receivers. This all points to an interesting 1966 season, a sky full of footballs and space-age excitement at its finest.

Softball League Play Resumes

Hereford's men's and women's softball leagues will resume play this week, after rains kept players off the diamond for several days last week.

Dr. Noble Ballard, chairman of the league, said that play will begin with last week's schedule, and go on from there barring any rain.

Raceway Slates Full Schedule

Hereford Raceway has lined up a full schedule of events for the next two weekends, according to Bill Byers, Raceway promoter.
 This Sunday at the Hereford Raceway, the women will take to the track in a "Powder Puff" derby. The derby will be the third such race since the Raceway was organized.
 The Hereford Optimist Club is also going to take part in the activities. They will sponsor a money scramble for all children 12 years and under. A hat containing money and tokens for prizes will be tossed in the air, and the youngsters will have a chance to race for the cash. A drawing of gate ticket stubs for prizes will also be part of the Sunday afternoon races.
 Three sets of shaded bleachers add to the comfort of fans at the raceway.

Hereford bowling team captains will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in a final organization meeting as they lay plans for the coming bowling season.
 Fourteen teams have been organized, says Wendell Burdine; two more are needed to fill out the alleys available to the league. Players are available for the two extra teams, Burdine says, if sponsors can be located for the teams.
 First bowling will be Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Governor Names Highway Week

AUSTIN — Governor John Connally today designated September 18-24 as Highway Week in Texas. He asked Texans to give serious thought to "the blessings and benefits derived from good highways and a highway department with vision." The Governor called attention to the theme of Highway Week, "Better Highways Save Lives. Time. Money." He said the purpose of the observance was to remind the citizens of Texas of the value of highways today and the importance of even better highways in the future. "One of our state's most impressive achievements is the 67-

000-mile Texas highway system, a system second to none," Governor Connally said. He said history has shown that highways pump business, industry, tourism, jobs—and hence prosperity — into a community and, indeed, the whole state. "The need for good—and better—highways will increase in future decades of unprecedented growth and economic development," he said, adding that "if we are to have a system to catch that promise, we must plan now." Governor Connally said future demands on Texas' outstanding highway system will be enormous. "The task ahead is clear-cut. Destiny won't wait. We must meet the challenge of the future," he said.

In Texas, Highway Week is sponsored by the Texas Good Roads Association, a citizen movement dedicated to better highway transportation for all Texans. The observance will be marked with luncheons, dinner meetings, and ribbon-cutting ceremonies to focus public attention on present and future highway needs.

VOLUNTEERS — Gray Ladies held a formal capping service in the community room of the First National Bank Thursday evening. Honored were Mrs. Louie Olson, Mrs. Ernest Wade, Mrs. Marie Cline, Mrs. James Brogdon, Charlene Blair and Mrs. C. F. Davis. Mrs. Michael Hicks-Beach, far right, presided at the ceremony. She is a National Field Volunteer from Amarillo. Gray Ladies are Red Cross Volunteers and do various benevolent works such as assisting at Kings Manor, West Gate and the patterning program for brain damaged children. (Staff Photo)

WHITEFACES' FIRST Scrimmage Used For Evaluation

Although recent practice sessions have been interrupted by rain this past week, the Whiteface varsity had a good showing at the practice scrimmage in Clovis Friday night. Head coach Jack Meredith said the scrimmage gave the boys good practice and at the same time brought out some of the weak points in the defensive line.

Clovis got by the secondary defense, and completed several long passes during the scrimmage, but the Whiteface offense continued to move the ball consistently during the game. Practice for the Herd will continue on Monday at 3:30.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
As one Hereford taxpayer and mother of school children, I want to go on record as saying that I am not going to vote to approve a $450,000 school bond issue to build another elementary school in Hereford.

This is not because I am "Agin" schools or progress, but simply because I do not see how we can continue to build and pay additional taxes which necessarily follow. I think our new schools are wonderful, but I cannot see how I can continue to squeeze my fixed-income dollar to accommodate more and more taxes for more and more schools. Apparently I am not modern—because I try to figure our spending needs to fit my income, rather than thinking that more money will come from some source, some way.

Right now we have a total of five tax-supported elementary schools in Hereford: Shirley, Northwest, Alkman, Central and Bluebonnet; plus the St. Anthony school in town and the St. Joseph school at the Labor Camp. All optimistic forecasts to the contrary, Hereford is not growing by leaps and bounds—in fact, a survey of utility connections will reveal that the majority of new people coming in here now are teachers—and we are sending out of town about as many families as are coming in each week. In fact, if you take it as a "family" check, we would be on the minus side of the ledger, since quite a few of our newcomers are single people—who do not buy homes and help pay school taxes.

When you take the total population as compared to the number of elementary schools now available, we think Hereford is in a pretty favorable position. Overcrowded? Possibly during the year when the migrant families are in our vicinity, but personally, we are simply not convinced that we NEED or can AFFORD another school at the time.

The school taxing agency advised just a few weeks ago that taxes would be raised this year; the state announced that ad valorem taxes would be hiked. Right now, we put out close to $200 on taxes locally (on our ordinary 15-year-old house) in the period of one year.

If Hereford's population jumps to the point where more schools are a necessity, by the same token, there would be more people to assimilate the tax load. Right now, I say "NO" to the proposition.

Sincerely,
An Interested Taxpayer
Abie Crume

The federal government paid farmers $2.4 billion in July for participating in the farm programs. Total payments this election year are expected to reach $3.5 billion, $1 billion more than last year, and one fourth of this year's net farm income, reports the Arizona Farm Bureau Federation.

READY TO HELP — This long, tall, Texan stands 21 feet, weighs 390 pounds and looks ready to help with any job. The Phillips 66 cowboy will be on display at the Phillips 66 station, at the intersection of Harrison and 385 Highways until Saturday. (Staff Photo)

THE TRUTH ABOUT COLOR TELEVISION

NO OTHER TELEVISION MANUFACTURER CAN MATCH RCA VICTOR IN

RESEARCH MANUFACTURING EXPERIENCE CUSTOMER CONFIDENCE

The following is a letter from B. S. Durant, President of RCA Sales Corporation to all distributors and dealers of RCA Color Television equipment and should serve to dispel any rumor to the effect that you can get RCA quality in any other television set. If it isn't an RCA — it isn't manufactured by RCA.

RCA SALES CORPORATION
A RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA SUBSIDIARY
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA 46201

January 3, 1966

H. S. DURANT
PRESIDENT

TO ALL RCA VICTOR DISTRIBUTORS AND DEALERS

It has been brought to my attention that some television purchasers have received the erroneous impression that the sets or chassis of some other brands of color television are manufactured by RCA.

The truth of the matter is that RCA does not make color television receivers or chassis for any other manufacturer in the business.

While we did produce some receivers for certain other brand names in the earlier days of color television, those sales were discontinued in December 1963, and since that time we have concentrated exclusively on manufacturing RCA Victor sets.

Therefore, you can assure your customers that only by buying RCA Victor television can they get all of the benefits of RCA research, experience and manufacturing know-how.

Sincerely,

Second Sutter Son Awarded Four Year College Scholarship

The Education Department of the Northern Arapahoe Tribe of Fort Washakie, Wyoming, has notified Dennis D. Sutter, son of the D. A. Sutters, 419 Ave G, that he is a recipient of a $900 Tribal Scholarship. Dennis will receive the scholarship each year until he completes his college education.

Beginning in 1959 with the Northern Arapahoe business council setting aside a fund of $12,000 each year, a number of scholarships are given to deserving Indian students. This is the second time an Indian boy from a Southern school has received the scholarship. The first boy was Dennis' brother, Jimmy, who is now in training in the FBI in Washington while completing his education. Being selected through a business council, the recipient must be one-fourth Indian. The choice of recipients is based on character references from the school faculty, clergyman, citizen of the community, local law and order and a business firm; aptitude for the course he has selected; grade point average and scholastic standing; character; attendance record in school that is better than average; and family background.

Graduating from Hereford High School last May, Sutter plans to attend Texas Technological College in Lubbock. He has chosen history as a major. Before moving to Hereford in 1964, Dennis was active in football, basketball, and track and he played basketball for Hereford his senior year. He was a member of the student council in Lampasa High School.

He presently holds a summer job with Jones Construction Company in Hereford.

Dennis' mother, who is a nurse for Dr. Howard Johnson at the Hereford Clinic, took her nurses training under the same program that her sons are going to college on. She and her husband, who works with the Hortex Cattle Development Inc., are very pleased that their sons have managed to obtain these scholarships.

Need any dishes? You might check at the Community Center and see whether or not you have left some of yours there.

Mary Frances Lemons, the "gal Friday" at the Community Center called Saturday morning to say that she has quite a collection of dishes at the Center; all left there during the past few months. She thinks perhaps most of them belong to the parents of the band students who catered the recent bridge tournament. However she isn't positive.

Anyhow, if you're missing that favorite bowl, check in at the Community Center. You may find it.

With women's dresses as short as they are today, the miracle of this modern age may be the invention of non-shrink fabrics.

Monday marks the first day of school, and we're sure, will be a day of relief to many mothers who will welcome the opportunity to get junior out from underfoot. To the many teachers, however, it means going back to work. Summer vacations are over, and most of us are looking forward to a period of "settling".

Other businesses may have the same problems, but the vacation season gives us more troubles than any other time of the year. Not only is the place in a state of turmoil while key staff members are vacationing, but the summer period is also the time of the year when people change jobs. If an employee is considering leaving, he'll do it in the summer time—usually after his vacation. But that's just one of the problems of running a business, and we're sure that other businessmen could tell the same story.

We welcome the beginning of the school year.

AGE, a new monthly publication with headquarters in Hereford, came off the presses this week.

The new magazine type publication will serve the irrigation area. President and chairman of the board is C. Palmer Norton of Hereford, Editor and Publisher is Charles E. Briggs. The publication is printed by Southwest Offset, Inc.

Details of the new publication will be presented in a story on the BRAND'S agriculture page next Thursday.

When the gates to HemisFair 1968 open on April 6, 1968, the first of the Fair's millions of visitors will step into the New World—into a re-creation of the Western Hemisphere as it was when Cortez arrived, as it has developed since, and as rampant imagination sees it tomorrow. The first World's Fair ever scheduled in the southern half of the United States, HemisFair will be a six-month birthday party for San Antonio, the world's most fiesta-minded city, celebrating its 250th anniversary.

And then there's the story about the star of the state prison baseball team. He made the State All-Star Team.

Don't forget—first Whiteface Booster Club meeting of the year will be held Monday night at the Community Center. Parents and other interested sports fans are urged to be present.

VFW Presents American Flags

Hereford VFW will present flags to the new La Plata Jr. High school, at 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

The new flags will be presented by Harry Burke, commander and John Green, quartermaster of the local post.

Ag Department Features Mosaic

LUBBOCK—The Texas Department of Agriculture will feature a seed mosaic, depicting a typical farm scene, in a display at the 49th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here Sept. 28-Oct. 1.

The mosaic, presented by the Texas Seed and Plant Board to the TDA, is made entirely of Texas seeds. Twenty-eight of 22 varieties certified by the board in 1965 are used by the artist. It has been displayed at fairs in Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio and the Rio Grande Valley.

Because the availability of big quality seeds is vital to Texas agriculture and to the state's economy as a whole, seed quality improvement and control has become a prime function of TDA. The seed certification program is one of a wide range of research activities carried on by the TDA and thus far has been a highly successful and beneficial one.

B. R. Evans of Tullia is a member of the plant and seed board.

Seeds used on the large mosaic include ryegrass, Bahiagrass, barley, common Bermudagrass, buffelgrass, crimson clover, white clover, corn, cotton, cowpeas, flax, foxtail millet, guar, Johnson grass okra, pearl millet, alum striate lespedeza, squash sudangrass, tomato, vetch, watermelon, wheat and white sweet clover.

The booth is presented by TDA to acquaint consumers with state agriculture products and consumer services of the department.

Color slides of production areas and commodities will be shown and free recipes on several products growing in the state will be distributed free.

The 1966 fair will feature twice-daily performances by Tennessee Ernie Ford, appearing in Fair Park Coliseum at 3 and 7:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $2, $2.50, $3 and $3.50 and may be secured in advance by writing to the fair association at PO Box 208, Lubbock.

Tickets for children 12 years and under will be one-half price at all matinees. Advance tickets will be accompanied by free gate admission tickets.

Other attractions include the World's Our Little Miss preliminary pageant, 13th annual West Texas Twirling Festival, Parade of Bands, Texas State Jersey Show, industrial arts, hobby, creative arts and rabbit shows, National Wool Needlework Contest, military and space exhibits,

Quilting

Thimbles protect fingers in this tedious needle work. Shown working on a wedding ring quilt are Mrs. J. L. Shirley, Mrs. Haskell Benson, standing, Mrs. Annie Springer and Mrs. W. T. Gunstenson.

In order to reach the center portion of a large quilt, the edges have to be rolled on each side. Long wooden 'frames' are clamped at the corners and can be moved as the work progresses. Mrs. A. C. Flowers, Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr. and Mrs. H. E. Lindley roll one side — the rolling of a quilt requiring several hands to keep the body of quilt taut and even.

Party

Adeptness with a needle is not enough — Mrs. C. N. McClure illustrates the particular talent required for dainty, yet secure stitches necessary to hold a quilt. Notice the circular quilting that follows the lines of the 'pieced' design.

Several Hereford women have formed a club devoted to quilting. Almost a lost art, the making and quilting of bedcovers is being revived by the Mothers Needle Club. Mrs. C. N. McClure and Mrs. H. E. Lindley are credited with forming the club. During the first meeting, the group quilted two quilts. At first, only quilts belonging to members were quilted. Later, quilts were made for sale. Sometimes, they quilt for other people. They have made and quilted four quilts for Girlstown. Meeting once a month, the group usually works but sometimes they make ice cream and have a social. Husbands are invited to these occasions. Members not shown include: Meses. H. D. Robbins, Earl Cole, A. H. Cook, L. J. Jones, Arthur Blackburn, F. W. Green, E. T. Bush and Loyd Battey.

Mrs. Luther Ellis, Mrs. A. T. Jones and Mrs. Ralph Paul examine a bird applique quilt made by Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr. Multicolored appliques accent a white background.

Former Resident Teaches History In Fort Worth

A teaching position in the Fort Worth public school system has been accepted by Rudolph Eastman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Eastman of Hereford.

Eastman, who received his B. S. degree in social studies from Paul Quinn Methodist College in May, will be teaching history at Como Jr. and Sr. High School in Ft. Worth. He will begin his teaching duties August 29.

Eastman attended school in Hereford and graduated from a Tulsa, Okla., high school.

Another of the Eastman's sons will study pre-law at West Texas State University in the fall.

ELECTRIC POWER-

wherever it is needed!

Motivated only by the needs of the consumer, cooperative electric systems are proud of their efficiency and ingenuity. Recently a co-op hired a helicopter to do a five-week job in two days. Providing scattered consumer-members with electric power often requires extra effort, but we know from first-hand experience that bringing electricity to a new area benefits the entire community.

Pre-Nuptial Party Honors Miss Sara Gillentine

A shower-tea honoring Miss Sara Gillentine, who will be married to James David Durham Jr. on Oct. 22 was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ansel McDowell Sr., 207 Texas Street.

Mrs. McDowell greeted the guests at the door and presented them to Miss Gillentine, her mother, Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine; the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. James David Durham Sr. of Paris and his sister, Miss Barbara Durham.

Miss Gillentine chose a two piece slim cut dress of silk print for the tea.

Miss Jan Story provided organ music for the calling hours. The guests were served punch and dainty sandwiches from a table covered in an imported Maderian cutwork linen cloth. The table appointments were in silver and an arrangement of gold carnations and tallman roses brought out the bride's chosen colors of green and gold with a touch of bittersweet. Rust and gold mums were arranged throughout the house.

Members of the houseparty included the girls who have been chosen as bridesmaids for the fall wedding: Misses Kay Neill, Maribeth Gilliland, Brenda Beasley and Mrs. J. G. Wells of Canyon and Mrs. Jimmy Jones of Lubbock.

BIPPUS

Reunion Held In Rural Community

The Bippus Community House was the scene of a large community reunion Sunday, August 14. Friends and neighbors of past and present gathered to rehash the "good ole days."

Events of the day began with registration at 10:00. Sunday school and a preaching service were then held, with the Rev. Dennis Richardson in charge. A basket lunch was followed by a visitation period when old friends got reacquainted.

The afternoon program was begun with a welcome from master of ceremonies Clint Homfeld. A song was presented by a quartet including Mrs. Melvin Henderson, Mrs. G. O. Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Downing. A prayer and group singing followed.

Highlighting the program was a reading of "This is Your Life" to the J. E. Morrison family. An amusing account of the family life in the Bippus Community was given.

Prizes were given to several individuals and families. They were: Youngest member—Steve Richardson; oldest man—J. G. Fortenberry; Oldest woman—Mrs. J. G. Fortenberry; earliest settler—Mrs. E. Obrecht; furthest traveling—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dowd and family from Hamilton, Ohio.

Memorial services were held for Mary Ruth Weaver and Beverly Bradley and recognition was given to the two largest families, the J. D. Fortenberrys and the J. E. Morrisons.

New officers were elected. President is C. F. Homfeld and secretary is Mrs. Jim Bradley. Visitors from out of the community came from Perryton, Happy, Hereford, Canyon, Claud Friona, El Paso and Adrian, Texas. Also attending were residents from Gallup, Texico, and Broadview, New Mexico; Lakn, Kansas; and Hamilton, Ohio.

Counterfeiting Is Dubbed 'Legal' For Huntsville Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE—Officials of the Texas Department of Corrections have completed their investigation into what at first appeared to be a massive counterfeiting ring operating in the Walls Unit.

Peace Corps Test Set September 10

Hereford area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a.m. on Saturday, September 10, at an Amarillo, room 323, Post Office.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (If test scores indicate a limited language-learning ability, for example the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country.) The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive—an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corp Washington, D. C. 20525.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half.

tion into what at first appeared to be a massive counterfeiting ring operating in the Walls Unit. They're producing $7 bills in the print shop of the Department at Huntsville, and it's all legal. However, the money isn't the kind that can be used as cash. Instead, the bill is being used to promote the 35th Annual Texas Prison Rodeo.

Basically, the 7-Buck bill is a "Return Invitation Note" to The Prison Rodeo of Texas and is being distributed to persons who purchase tickets to the 1966 Prison Rodeo series held here each Sunday in October. Since the Prison Rodeo's 7-Buck bill is larger in size than Uncle Sam's official paper money, it is doubtful that anyone will try to cash it.

On the other hand, the clever slogans appearing on the bill will make it an interesting conversation piece.

As an invitation to the "Wild-est Show in Texas," there are two important signatures on the front of the bill: "U. R. Welcome" and "Will U. Joinus."

Prison Rodeo officials say that anyone who wants a supply of these 7-Buck bills will find them available at each performance of the Rodeo.

Iaac Murphy in 1890-91 and Jimmy Winkfield in 1901-02 were the only jockeys to win the Kentucky Derby twice in succession.

Cox-Garrett Say Vows In Amarillo

Miss Rena Kay Cox and Darrell Garrett of Amarillo exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening in the Trinity Baptist church of Amarillo before an altar sitting of baskets of white gladiolus and red carnations, backed by candlabra and greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Cox of Amarillo and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Garrett of Hereford.

Miss Dama Hammans of Colorado City, Texas was maid of honor and Miss Pam Bullock and Miss Barbara Lewis of Amarillo were attendants.

Groomsmen were Bill Miller of Friona, Jimmy Berry and Wink Clark of Amarillo. Bob Cox, Bill Cox, Wayne Cox and Dewane Cearley of Amarillo were ushers.

The bride wore a floor length gown of silk-organza and carried a cascade of white gardenias and red roses. Her veil of illusion fell from an organza rose. She was given in marriage by her father.

Floor length empire gowns of red velvet and white crepe accented in the back with bouquets of red velvet were chosen for the bridal attendants. They carried bouquets of white carnations accented with red velvet streamers and tufts of red net.

A reception was held at the church following the wedding.

Serving cake and punch from the table which carried out the bride's chosen colors of red and white in an arrangement of red and white feather flowers and white tapers were Penny Cox and Carlene Burk, cousins of the bride. Serving at the groom's table were Mrs. Jack Cox, Mrs. Leon Cox and Mrs. Ronald Cox, aunts of the bride.

After September 6 they will be at home at 2902 Third Place in Lubbock where the groom is attending Texas Tech.

The bride is a graduate of Tascosa High school and the groom is a graduate of Hereford High school and Amarillo college, where he was a member of Lambda Chi fraternity.

The groom's parents were hosts at a supper following the rehearsal at an Amarillo pancake house for members of the wedding party.

SHOWER COURTESY

The bride was honored with a shower courtesy last week in the home of Mrs. Ronald Cox of Amarillo with Pam Bullock, Penny Cox and Barbara Lewis assisting Mrs. Cox with the hostess duties.

Red rose corsages of ribbon and entwined rings were given the guests.

Dolls dressed like members of the bridal party adorned the center table also set in gold with red and white feather flowers.

Mrs. Garrett mother of the bridegroom and Mrs. C. A. Saulcy, a family friend of Hereford attended the shower.

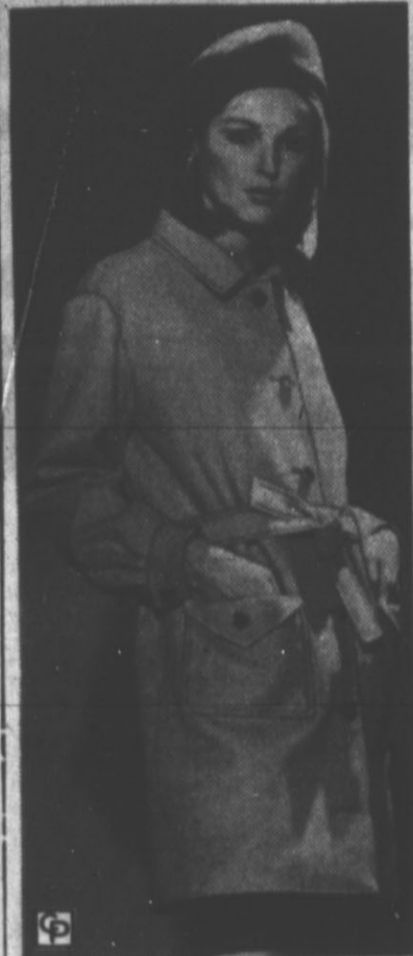

CRITICISM IN GAZETTE

LONDON (AP) - Roman Catholic marriage regulations are defeating all the expressions of brotherly love, states the (Anglican) Church of Ireland Gazette in a comment on the ecumenical movement. "This is one sphere in which Roman Catholic policy has not relaxed one iota," the Gazette said. "Nowhere in the world are the injustice and sheer cruelty of these regulations felt to a greater extent than in Ireland."

PRAYERS IN ENGLISH

LONDON (AP) - An English version of some prayers in the Mass has been agreed by the British Roman Catholic hierarchy and may be used by the end of the year, says Archbishop George Dwyer of Birmingham. But he added that a final universal English language text for the Mass was unlikely for at least three years.

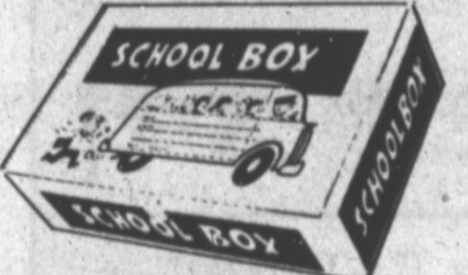

Until now English, Welsh, Scottish and Irish Catholic churches have been using slightly differing versions of certain prayers. A committee of the English National Liturgical Commission has been working for 18 months on a translation of the Missal.

Any preserved ginger in the house? It's a delicious surprise note when it's added to uncooked fresh tomato relish. To make the relish, combine diced tomatoes, onion, celery and green pepper and season with salt, pepper, sugar and vinegar.

Two Texans Hold Key Prison Posts

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON — Two former officials at the La Tuna Federal Prison near El Paso hold key posts in the Bureau of Prisons.

Charles Hagan, 53, was warden at La Tuna from 1960 until coming here in January as one of the three bureau assistant directors.

Ley Hayes, 45, a native of Honey Grove, Tex., was associate warden at La Tuna until taking over as a deputy assistant director in January.

The treatment and training of inmates throughout the federal prison system is the responsibility of Hagan, who for five years was at La Tuna.

Hagan, a 28-year veteran with the system, declares the long range solution to crime lies in the proper handling of youths in their first contact with the law.

History, he says, shows that severe penalties have not made great impact on the extent of crime. He favors greater attention to establishment of youth facilities and probationary services.

And, he adds, members of parole boards should be selected on the basis of their qualifications through training and experience in the social services.

A person appointed to a parole board on a political basis, he said, might be an intelligent, honest individual and qualified in his own line of work but totally unqualified for parole board responsibilities.

The 8-member Parole Board is composed of qualified personnel, who he said, act on the basis of records and not "eye-ball" confrontations with prisoners.

Hayes is second in command of the bureau's division which has to do with the day-to-day operations of the 30 federal prisons. Included are three in Texas-La Tuna with 525 inmates, Seagoville near Dallas with 450 and Texarkana, also with 450. There are 280 federal prisoners at the Public Health Service hospital for narcotic addicts at Fort Worth.

At Seagoville, incidentally, is a 90-year old prisoner, believed to be the oldest in the system.

Among Hayes' responsibilities is one to arrange for food. He said there is some farming, but none where extensive operations are carried on as in the Texas Prison at Huntsville.

FREEZER 9 HOURS—April Hill, 4, gives a warm hug to the coolest cat in Austin, Tex. The kitty, now called Frosty, hopped from the freezer when April's mother, Mrs. Jerry Hill, opened it nine hours after putting in some fish. Frostbitten tail was all.

GRANDCHILDREN VISIT

Delavae Ann and Michael, children of the Larry Todds of Amarillo, recently visited with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Brown, in Hereford. They were visiting while Larry and his wife Dolores prepared to move to Austin where Larry has accepted a position with the KHFI television station.

Todd, who recently resigned from the staff of KFDA, channel 10, Amarillo, began working in the television field when he was a junior in high school. His primary duties in Austin will include coverage of state capitol affairs and direct local news for KHFI.

Visitors Honored With Informal Afternoon Coffee

An informal coffee honoring a former Hereford resident, Mrs. Bill Kliensmith of West Point, Neb., was held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Norbert Skypala, a niece. Another niece, Mrs. Alfred Reinart served as co-hostess.

The afternoon was spent renewing old acquaintances and visiting.

Mrs. Kliensmith was in Hereford visiting with her sister, Mrs. Mary Weick, who is a patient in the hospital.

Three out of town guests attended: Mrs. Steve Liekues of Dodge, Neb., Mrs. Conrod Westhoff of Umbarger, Mrs. Teddy Fangman and Scot of Black.

Hereford friends present were: Mes. J. H. Reinart, William Wulf, Obe Wilson, W. W. Davison, Mary Skypala, and George W. Schulte.

Looking for Something Different

Upon recommendation by past librarian, Mrs. J. A. Boydston, now retired, we read The Gift of Prophecy several weeks ago but held our notes to see the public response to such a book.

Mrs. Newman, librarian, says it is in such great demand that it still carries the seven-day restriction of reading time and has a long waiting list of persons who wish to read it.

The book is written by a newspaperwoman, Ruth Montgomery, and is about the most famous person, concerned with prophecy today, Jean Dixon. She is noted not only in the United States but all over the world for her gift of extra sensory perception, ESP to many of the T. V. watchers. There is also a book of this title, ESP.

The author writes many case histories of Jean Dixon's predictions for both small and great people—a power she uses without taking remuneration, as she considers it a gift from God.

The cases given are numerous throughout the book. At times we grew tired of reading so many examples, but somehow were unable to lay aside the book as we marveled at such power. We had frequently read in newspapers and magazines about her, but always with skepticism.

She is the person referred to at the time of Kennedy's death, who tried to dissuade him through mutual friends not to make the trip to Texas at that time. She explains exactly what she saw that made her concerned, and warned Kennedy's friends a number of times. When Ted Kennedy took the plane trip in a near-fatal crash, she had warned him not to go.

In the past she has predicted results of presidential elections, expected and unexpected, as well as other political events. She even warned some of those in Washington who were leaders about being involved with a minor important man, which turned out to be Billy Sol Estes.

In one of her many interviews with Roosevelt, she suggested that he not give away something which was not his to give. (Valta Deal)

One of the predictions, yet to come which she has made is that we will form a partnership with Russia against Communist China and some African and other newly formed states which are influenced by China!

In every case she has known instantly when something unusual, such as deaths and tragedies occurred in her own family and of close friends. She receives these messages through various means of communications or feelings, often called omens. Sometimes she uses a ball-given her early in life by a gypsy, who recognized her strong powers in this medium.

It is claimed by those who know her best that she seldom failed in her predictions or prophecies. And then it was because she misread the signs sign which she had received.

We read the book out of curiosity and finished it with mixed feelings. All of us have had friends or relatives who seemed to have had such powers, precision and claims of having received messages of various sorts of events to come. Maybe they are right!

Confusion Over Inflation

Things are getting a bit confused in Washington these days, or so it appears to the average citizen. Like the government and the weather, however, there doesn't seem to be a lot that "John Doe" can do about it.

No. 1, of course, is the ever-present threat of inflation. This bugaboo is pretty well out of hand and, worse yet, the brain trusters are saying they do not know exactly what to do. To complicate things still further, Labor made a breakthrough on the President's formula to hold prices and wages in line when they settled the airline strike at such favorable odds. Worst of all, though, was the fact that they established a precedent for future strikes settlements, especially concerning public service industries; henceforth strikers will no doubt follow the formula of passing the settlement to the White House with fond hopes of also getting a 30 percent increase.

Without doubt, we are following the pattern established in Great Britain, which is also under a Labor government, and from this nation we picked up many of our reforms, including Social Security and Medicare. To predict that we can expect to reap pretty well the same harvest as Britain should not be too far amiss. The Soviet Union, meanwhile, seems to be veering away from some of its socialistic and communistic policies, especially as concern agriculture.

Meanwhile, the stock market has taken off on a downward trend not seen since in many a moon. We are said to be pretty well out of wheat and other grains, taken on a comparative basis with recent years, and traders are quite jittery on all fronts, due to uncertainty.

Riots, marching and lawlessness are the rule, rather than the exception, in most of our major cities, along with some of the smaller communities in the South. Like our economic picture, it seems that these circumstances are due to become a lot worse, before they get any better.

Meanwhile, the government is talking about doubling the Social Security bite in order to stabilize the welfare state which we are setting up in our Great Society, and we hear occasional threats of government established price and wage controls. Politicians are naturally wary about taking any specific action, especially against Labor, until after the fall elections. Just where the whole thing will lead is anybody's guess.

Without doubt, we are following the pattern established in Great Britain, which is also under a Labor government, and from this nation we picked up many of our reforms, including Social Security and Medicare. To predict that we can expect to reap pretty well the same harvest as Britain should not be too far amiss. The Soviet Union, meanwhile, seems to be veering away from some of its socialistic and communistic policies, especially as concern agriculture.

Higher taxes, once the election is over, seem to be inevitable in view of the fact that the government considers this the best available means to stem inflation, along with gaining more revenue.

It is far from conclusive that a change in administration would accomplish too much in behalf of the average citizen, especially in view of some points advocated by the liberal GOP leaders. These things do present some excellent questions which each of us may well ask of the people who are seeking office. In addition to establishing pronounced interest in behalf of the candidates, we will at least know where they stand and, consequently, where we stand and what we can expect in the future.

Advantages Lost To Space Age

Living in the so-called space age has its advantages, but at the same time it affords the loss of quite a few things which a few people miss.

Dish washing machines, garbage disposals, vacuum cleaners and the like are fine, for instance, but we'll bet that a lot of middle-age housewives would trade the lot of them for an efficient, friendly maid or "mommy" like her mother enjoyed.

Pre-fab biscuits, heat and serve rolls are good, but they will never hold a candle to the home-made rolls and bread that mother or grandmother used to make. Canning, although a big chore, also had its good points when we stacked the assembly line jams and jellies up against those which cooks of previous generations turned out.

Pretty well "gone but not forgotten" are such hobbies as making quilts and samplers, and while the new-fangled electric blanket serves its purpose well, many women are missing the enjoyment of attending those old time quilting bees.

Lack of exercise probably exerts the most telling effect on the human race in the space age. Many people who ride to work rush home so they can get out and walk each evening. Physical education is now required in most schools and universities, yet armed services tests indicate that we are running a poor second in the physical culture race. Heart attacks are more common to both sexes. We do have one redeeming feature along this line, though, in the form of the "Frog", "Watusi", "Twist" and other modern dances which seem to provide their share of physical effort.

As we study and learn more ways to keep out of work, we encounter more and more problems along the way. Nature has a habit of exacting her toll when natural laws are ignored and, sooner or later, we are bound to face a new series of man-made laws and social customs. The trouble is, by the time we have accounted for twentieth century achievements, most of these accomplishments will have become passe.

It is interesting, though, to speculate what life will be like 100 years from now.

The Good Old Summer Time

Years ago a popular song was "The Good Old Summer Time." Living was easy in the country. Farmers sweated, tilling and tending. But there were bountiful harvest dinners—fishfries, squirrel-hunting, bee trees in the forests, watermelons and cantaloupes in the garden, peaches and apples in the orchard, grapes in the arbor, berries growing wild along fence-rows and in the woodlands.

There was cider at the mill, horse-corn for roasting ears, and iced lemonade in a waterbucket with a dipper as a common drinking cup. And nobody contracted the hoof-and-mouth disease. Many families ate on screened porches and at sunset heard the tinkle of distant cowbells breaking the evening quiet.

In towns neighbors often gathered on front lawns to watch fireflies, stars, and heat lightning. They listened to the town band practicing for the county fair. They talked in hushed tones about portends of the end of time. They lived up the outdoors in summer, as they did spring and autumn. These seasons were preferred to toasted shins and chilled backs near a pot-bellied stove.

A friend confided to another that her neighborhood is lonesome compared to before TV and air conditioning. Most people remain indoors now.

We must produce food today and buy most vegetables and fruit. A few tomatoes cost a professional man $40 of back trouble. We must fight insects and other pests more with sprays that the population may expand and fight. "The Good Old Summer-time" seems outdated by modern standards. —Booneville (Mo.) Cooper County Record

Bad News For Speeders

Indiana state police are using a new device to nab speeding drivers which sounds like something out of Dick Tracy. The device is about the size and shape of a cigar box, can accurately measure the speed of an automobile coming toward it or moving away from it, from distances up to a mile away.

We hope it works, and that its evidence is acceptable in court. Just the threat of having it around could create a good many honest drivers in a hurry. —Minneapolis Star

Job Corps Future Hangs On Congress' Decision

BY Bert Mills

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congress must decide soon on the future of the Job Corps, one of the most maligned, expensive and controversial programs of the Great Society's war on poverty.

The Job Corps is the program for unemployed young men and women with poverty backgrounds. Most of those enlisted are school dropouts, untrained and unable or unwilling to find and hold a job. Uncle Sam has undertaken to prepare them to take their place in society.

There are 106 Job Corps centers in operation now, in all except 12 states. Nearly 30,000 youths between 16 and 22 are enrolled in this second year of the program. Millions of Americans have personal experience with the Job Corps because a center is located in their home community.

Generally speaking, the Job Corps has not enjoyed a good press. There are many critics in Congress, not all of them Republicans. There will be a hot debate before even an election-year Congress pours more millions into the program.

Possibly in anticipation of the fight for funds on Capitol Hill, poverty chieftain Sargent Shriver reported recently on the community relations aspect of the program. Naturally, he did not comment on the riots and other incidents which his critics have publicized.

Good Neighborliness Claimed

"The communities adjoining Job Corps centers by and large have wholeheartedly accepted the centers and their young men and women," Shriver said. "In the vast majority of cases, we find that the centers and communities have established a fine spirit of good neighborliness."

"Job Corps enrollees have been accepted by these communities," he insisted. "They are contributing their time and their skills to community efforts. In return, the communities have welcomed them into their homes, schools, churches and organizations. This spirit of good neighborliness is working to the benefit of the communities and the young men and women, most of whom have felt rejected by society."

These words by the Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity served as a preface to 15 pages of single-spaced quotes from what was called "a random sampling of the comments of community leaders about the neighboring Job Corps centers."

The quoted comments came from mayors, police chiefs, school superintendents, chamber of commerce managers, businessmen, sheriffs, service club leaders, and editors in 32 states.

One interesting comment, which faced up to the racial question often presented by a Job Corps center, came from Editor C. W. Hume of the McCreary County Record, Stearns, Ky., who said that "By and large our people were happy to have a center (Pine Knot) located here and relations between the center and the public have been good."

"Informed people really appreciate the economic lift it has given our country. They also appreciate the manner in which Job Corps has cooperated in community activities. McCreary County had not a single Negro until Job Corps arrived. We are learning to live together on satisfactory terms. We wanted a center in the beginning and now that we have a center we want to support it and keep it."

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm seems a little excited this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor:

I don't know any more about economics than the average economics professor faced with an overdraft at the bank, but a headline in a newspaper I found out here on this bindweed farm yesterday has left me further in the dark than ever.

It read: "President Urges Bankers To Say No." I stopped in my tracks and sat down and read the entire article, and sure enough, the President, having been told by his advisors that a danger signal was showing up in the increased demands for bank loans, which in turn was driving the interest rate higher and higher, was advising bankers to discourage borrowing.

This is the first time I ever heard of any bankers having trouble saying no and all I've got to say is, Where are they? How do you get in touch with them?

I've heard Washington accused of not putting out all the news, and here's an example I want those bankers named, with their address and phone number.

Actually, the whole thing has me confused. As I understand it, the country is more prosperous than it's ever been before, there are more people employed, the gross national product is soaring to new heights, the average income is the highest in history, and never before have so many people wanted to borrow so much money.

I intend to devote some time to figuring out the answer to all this, and believe maybe I could if the bill collectors would stop hounding me.

Meanwhile, if you find out where those bankers are who're having trouble saying no, let me know at once. Yours faithfully, J. A.

CONGRESS CANDIDATES AND PRESIDENT'S O. K. FOR SOME IT MAY BE A CASE OF "NO, THANKS!"

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Formal adjournment of this session of Congress has been pushed far into the dim future, a development that is causing mixed feelings among the legislators who must return to their districts to campaign for reelection.

Most of the senators and representatives whose terms expire this year would prefer to get back home and do some political fence mending, attending barbecues, clambakes and other euphemisms for political rallies. However, there are a small number who like the way things are going and would prefer to stay in Washington in this crisis period.

Among this latter group are a number of legislators who have cultivated the belief among their voters that Washington is the right place for a peoples' representative to be. To them, it is a lot easier to remain on the job than it is to answer voters' questions concerning the course of events at home and abroad.

The idea is to avoid answering charges of their opponents by saying a sense of responsibility to the electorate requires their presence in Washington looking out for the good of their constituencies and the country, instead of selfishly deserting their work to seek self-perpetuation in office. When said right—and fast—this line actually sounds good.

There is another factor that is never mentioned publicly, though, and which lies at the very root of election campaign avoidance. This concerns the very delicate matter of not having to appear on the same political platform with President Johnson who, in his usual ubiquitous way, is planning to "help" a number of Democrats get reelected around the country.

A few of the legislators are uncomfortably convinced that Johnson will cost them more votes by appearing in their districts than by being absent. A sad commentary on the sharp decline in the President's popularity.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—To the United States government, "Peiping" is the proper designation for the headquarters of the Red Chinese regime. This is so because "Peiping" means "Northern City," while "Peking," as the Reds call it, means "Northern Capital."

Obviously, to the U.S. the Chinese capital lies on Formosa, not on the Chinese mainland. But the U.S. No. 1 diplomat, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, keeps slipping. He has used both pronunciations in talking about the Red Chinese regime in recent months.

One day recently, State Department news correspondents thought they'd have a little fun and insisted that the press officer explain why Rusk was inadvertently extending official recognition to Mao Tse-tung. The reporters wanted to know which pronunciation was correct.

However, State Department press officers don't come by their jobs without a good deal of diplomatic expertise. This particular fellow answered the inquiries with a broad grin and a firm statement that Rusk's usage represents the "authoritative" State Department position.

Timm - Krueger Vows Are Read

At home at 111 B Ave. F are Jim W. Krueger and his bride, the former Miss Earlene Rose Timm, after their marriage at Kountze Memorial Lutheran Church in Omaha, Neb., last weekend. Dr. Paul DeFreese officiated at the candlelight ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Timm Jr. of Lyons, Neb. and Mrs. W. E.

Krueger of Olney and the late Mr. Krueger. Her father gave the bride in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory satin with Alencon lace applique on the fitted bodice. Soft pleats held the fullness of the skirt, which widened into a cathedral train. Two French bows finished the waistline at the back. Her four-tiered illusion veil fell waist length from a Swedish crown of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid with step-hanotis on a mother of pearl Bible, a memento of the Holy Land. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Loren E. Timm of Madrid, Spain, was her honor attendant and was dressed in Paris pink satin. The Empress Josephine bodice was accented with banded effect, the neckline was scooped and the sleeves long. A Dior bow at the back neckline had streamers which flowed into a trapeze skirt. She wore a bouffant veil attached to a pearlized comb, and carried a nosegay of pink carnations and roses. Misses Linda Paterson, Judy Williams and Deanna Donahoo, Mmes. Gerald Dyer of Austin, Louis Swaittek and Lawrence L'Heureux, the bridesmaids, were all attired like the matron of honor. Barbara Seefus, the flower girl, wore white silk organza trimmed with pink satin, made in similar style. David Timm was the ring bearer. Capt Loren E. Timm, brother of the bride, was best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Donald Timm, Larry Krueger, Gary Rohwer of Omaha, Don Capps, Luther King and Lorin Boswell of Ft. Worth, Harlan Custard of Elkhorn and Jerry Dyer of Austin. The bride's mother wore a suit with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother a powder blue shantung dress with lace bodice, and accessories in the same color. Both had white orchid corsages. After the wedding and a reception at the church, a buffet

The jury is still out on the Job Corps. It is a tremendously expensive program for such a small number of trainees, one-third of whom quit and go home. Sargent Shriver planned on 100,000 enrollees this year instead of the 30,000 now on the rolls. Even in the best run camps, the cost per man per year is $7,000 to $9,000—or about twice the annual cost of attending an expensive Ivy League college. Expenses were even higher in the first year, due to tool-up costs and lack of enrollees. The total cost to taxpayers last year was $310 million, although Sargent Shriver had talked on a $500 million program. There are over 3,000 "graduates" of the Job Corps program now, some trained for as little as three months. Information is sketchy on what happens to them. Officials claim two out of three get jobs but say that three years are needed to evaluate results. Government literature claims that the economic benefit to a community with a Job Corps center for only 100 men amounts to $180,000 per year in added sales by local merchants. That is fine for the 106 communities favored with a center but the important thing is whether the program is worth the price to the nation as a whole.

Pete Progress

speaking for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

From time to time the Chamber of Commerce must examine its role in the community; do some self analysis as to just what its function is. Pete did some of this for us here at the office the other day in relation to the Chamber's role in respect to government at all levels. We quote Pete here because we expect all of our members do not agree with Pete, and would be surprised if they did. We expect we will hear from both sides.

"The Chamber of Commerce in everything it does must represent its membership first, and always. First, though, it must be recognized that the Board of Directors is a neglected body, not of the general public, but of the Chamber membership. The Chamber membership is made up mostly of business and professional people and I include farmers and ranchers in the category of business people for they are.

"They represent a broad cross section of interests, of political ideologies and of personalities. To try to please all of them all of the time is as impossible in the Chamber as it is in any other field of public endeavor. The elected Directors do feel a responsibility for not only following the wishes of the membership but also for providing leadership in areas where the general membership may not be well informed. To keep them informed they appoint committees of members to study and recommend courses of action for the Chamber.

"Recently a member criticized the Chamber for 'getting into politics' because the Government Affairs Committee had recommended a position to the board relative to an issue of national interest (I never did find out just which issue he was concerned about). Another member expressed in committee meeting that the Government Affairs committee should not 'waste its members' time with national issues about which it could do little'.

"Well, what is our role in relation to government-the Chamber being a completely voluntary association, a non-profit corporation—whose stated objective is the economic and social development of the community? Should the chamber be concerned with any government?

"First it should be noted that by law and charter and by ruling of the Internal Revenue Service the Chamber cannot engage in partisan politics; that is the Chamber funds; nor can it support in any way a political party. The Chamber is not, through, enjoined from taking a stand on issues which affect its objectives, that is the economic and social growth and development of the community. To be specific, if the impact of the minimum wage legislation is such that it will have a serious and irreparable effect upon the farmers and other employers of this area then the Chamber not only can but has an obligation to voice its objection. And the Chamber's voice must not always be negative; it must look to suggesting positive programs for improving situations at the appropriate government level.

"The Chamber must not set itself up as a judge and second guess the actions of our elected officials. It should, instead, support and work with those officials, who, basically, have the same goals as does the Chamber. Again, though, no elected group of officials at any level of government can be omnipotent and all wise any more than can the Chamber board or its committees. The Chamber's role, then, should be to advise government of the chamber's point of view and point out relative and accurate facts to assist government to arrive at an informed decision with the point of view of the Chamber membership and with the point of view of other organizations or individuals considered.

"Again while action on national legislation may seem to be a whisper lost in a hurricane perhaps our whisper added to many more will offset the very effective legislative program of organized labor, for example, which has no hesitancy or even

with Mrs. Merlin Kaul

Mrs. Jean Ricketts, president of the local Classroom Teachers Association, and Paul Abalos, first Vice-president of the Hereford CTA, attended the State Convention. They then went on to Lake LBJ and stayed until Saturday. Abalos flew home from Austin but the Ricketts family visited Longhorn Caverns and on Monday went to San Antonio where she attended the Texas State Teachers Association Local Presidents Conference. Ray Todd, president of the local TSTA his wife and daughters and Regina Hampton were also present. While Todd and Mrs. Ricketts attended meetings their families and Mrs. Hampton visited the Alamo and other scenic places of interest in San Antonio. All visited Breckenridge Park and Zoo on Tuesday before starting the return trip to Hereford. The Todd family had been to Houston and while there had had a visit with Darrell Williams, former superintendent of schools here.

While in Austin at the TCTA meeting Mrs. Ricketts met Claude Northcutt, former teacher here as well as pastor of the Nazarene Church, who is now teaching and pastoring at Levelland. He sent greetings to L. C. Thomas, Mrs. Ruby Crawford, Roy Hartman, Mrs. Leta Kaul and others with whom he taught while here.

Mrs. Ricketts (Jean) also became acquainted with Mrs. Margaret Aven's sister from McKinney and Charles Graham of Andrews, brother of former school superintendent George Graham. George Graham is now associated with Hardin Simmons College, Abilene. Former Hereford residents Vivian and Chris Clark also live in Andrews where she is a teacher and he is manager of the radio station.

C. for several days reunion. The Skovs and Springers returned to Florida with the Swartzells and spent several days. They then drove to Giddings for a visit with Mrs. Springer's mother and sister. The Springers came on home and Mr. and Mrs. Skov went on to New Braunfels to visit his brother, from thence to come on to Hereford. They will visit a few days here before returning to their home in California where he will teach this fall and Mrs. Skov will attend College. Mr. Skov attended college this summer at Virginia State College, Petersburg, Virginia.

Mrs. Caudie Ola Brown and son Emmett returned home last week from a vacation trip. They visited Mr. and Ms. Al Kinsey (Colleen Brown) at Evanston, Wyo. and then went on to many scenic spots in Colorado and Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rudd were attending the Cheyenne Rodeo the day the event was televised and sat in the rain to watch it. They were most interested in watching Bussy Kaul try to win over the other "Bull doggers" and then retalliate on the Rodeo Clown by "ducking" him in a mud puddle.

Mrs. Rudd says the whole arena was "one big mud puddle." Several Hereford residents saw Bussy on "Wide World of Sports." His parents are the Merlin Kauls at Westway.

will appear a second time, not to deal with sin but to save those who are eagerly waiting for him." (Hebrews 9:27-28).

We need not look upon death with despair; but, if we have obeyed the Christ in whom we believe, we can look upon death with joy and hope. So, in spite of the certainty of death which we cannot escape, we can prepare for our departure from this earthly existence.

Writing "To the saints and faithful brethren in Christ at Colossae," (Colossians 1:2), Paul stated, "and you were buried with him (Christ) in baptism, in which you were also raised with him through faith in the working of God, who raised him from the dead." (Colossians 2:12). The Apostle continues in Colossians 3:1-4, "If then you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God. Set your minds on things that are above, not on things that are on earth. For you have died, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ who is our life appears, then you also will appear with him in glory."

Even before his own death and resurrection; Christ who came to help man prepare for death, encouraged man by saying, "Let not your hearts be troubled; believe also in me. In my Father's house are many rooms; if it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you? And when I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am, you may be also." (John 14:1-3).

Morning Classes Offered Area TV

Two Amarillo television stations will telecast early-morning college credit courses beginning September 19. This is the second year that the two stations have cooperated with Amarillo College in offering such courses.

The two courses are Personality Adjustment, to be presented on KGNC-TV, Channel 4, and Intermediate Algebra, on KFPA-TV, Channel 10. Both classes will be televised at 6:30 a.m. each day, Monday through Friday.

Dr. Roy Boger will teach the psychology course. Dr. Boger served for twenty years as Director of the Amarillo Center of West Texas State University; and as a teacher of psychology. He is a "Certified Psychologist" and holds degrees from Southwestern University and McMurry College. A charter member of the Texas Psychological Association, Dr. Boger now holds a life membership in that association.

The course in mathematics will be taught by J. C. Tru-week, Jr., a professor at Amarillo College for the past five years. Mr. Truweek's degrees include bachelor's degrees from Oklahoma Baptist University and Southwestern Baptist Seminary, and a master of education degree from Texas Christian University. He has done graduate study in mathematics at Southern Methodist University, North Texas State University, and Texas Technological College.

Hardy E. Stevens, Dean of Technical-Vocational Education, pointed out that "There are distinct advantages to officially enrolling in a course. The enrollees will attend group discussions and will be tested on the campus. In addition, special help and supplies will be available to them."

Registration for the courses will begin September 14; the closing date is October 4. Students may register by mail.

For further information and enrollment procedures, write: Television Classroom, Amarillo College, Amarillo, Texas.

Shrimp Piquant Recipe Has Sauce A Bit Chili

By ALICE DENHOFF

SHRIMP—a universal favorite—takes a bow today with an excellent and easy-to-do recipe.

We named it: SHRIMP PIQUANT
2 lb. raw shrimp
2 c. water
1/2 tsp. Tabasco
2 tsp. vinegar
1 onion sliced
1 bay leaf
2 tsp. salt
Sauce (Recipe follows)
Put shrimp in saucepan; add ingredients except sauce. Bring to a boil and simmer 3 to 5 min., depending on size. Drain; cool. Peel.

Serve with: SAUCE
1/2 c. catsup
1/2 c. chili sauce
1/2 tsp. Tabasco
2 tsp. each, lemon juice, horseradish, capers
Combine all ingredients. Add shrimp. Chill.
Serves 4-5.
For something deliciously different, try this new, nice: SINGAPORE SALAD
10 oz. raw spinach, washed and drained
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained

1 can (5 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and diced
4 oranges, peeled and diced
1/2 c. salad oil
2 tsp. each vinegar and orange juice
1 tsp. soy sauce
1/4 tsp. each salt and dry mustard
Dash pepper

Coarsely tear spinach, pile it into large salad bowl. Add mushrooms, water chestnuts and oranges. Mix remaining ingredients. Toss with spinach mixture.

This serves 6-8. Now for a dip that is always popular. GUACAMOLE
2 avocados
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
2 tsp. lime juice
1/2 tsp. each Tabasco and salt
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Cut avocados in lengthwise halves; remove pits. Peel skin from halves; mash pulp or put in blender on high speed with remaining ingredients.

Makes about 2 cups dip to be scooped up with crisp crackers or potato chips.
