Second Salon Burns

Twentieth Century Beauty Salon suffered extensive fire losses Thursday night — just eleven days following a fire which destroyed another beauty shop. Although an exact estimate had not been made, the owner of the shop said damage would be in the thousands of dollars concerning the blaze which was reported at the shop about 8:35 p. m. Thursday.

EXACT CAUSE of the blaze had not been determined, according to Mrs. Hazel Carter, owner of the shop, although firemen theorized flames may have resulted from a cigaret discarded in a waste basket.

When firemen arrived at the scene, they found water covering the floor of the salon — heat from the fire had been sufficient to melt solder on copper plumbing, flooding the building.

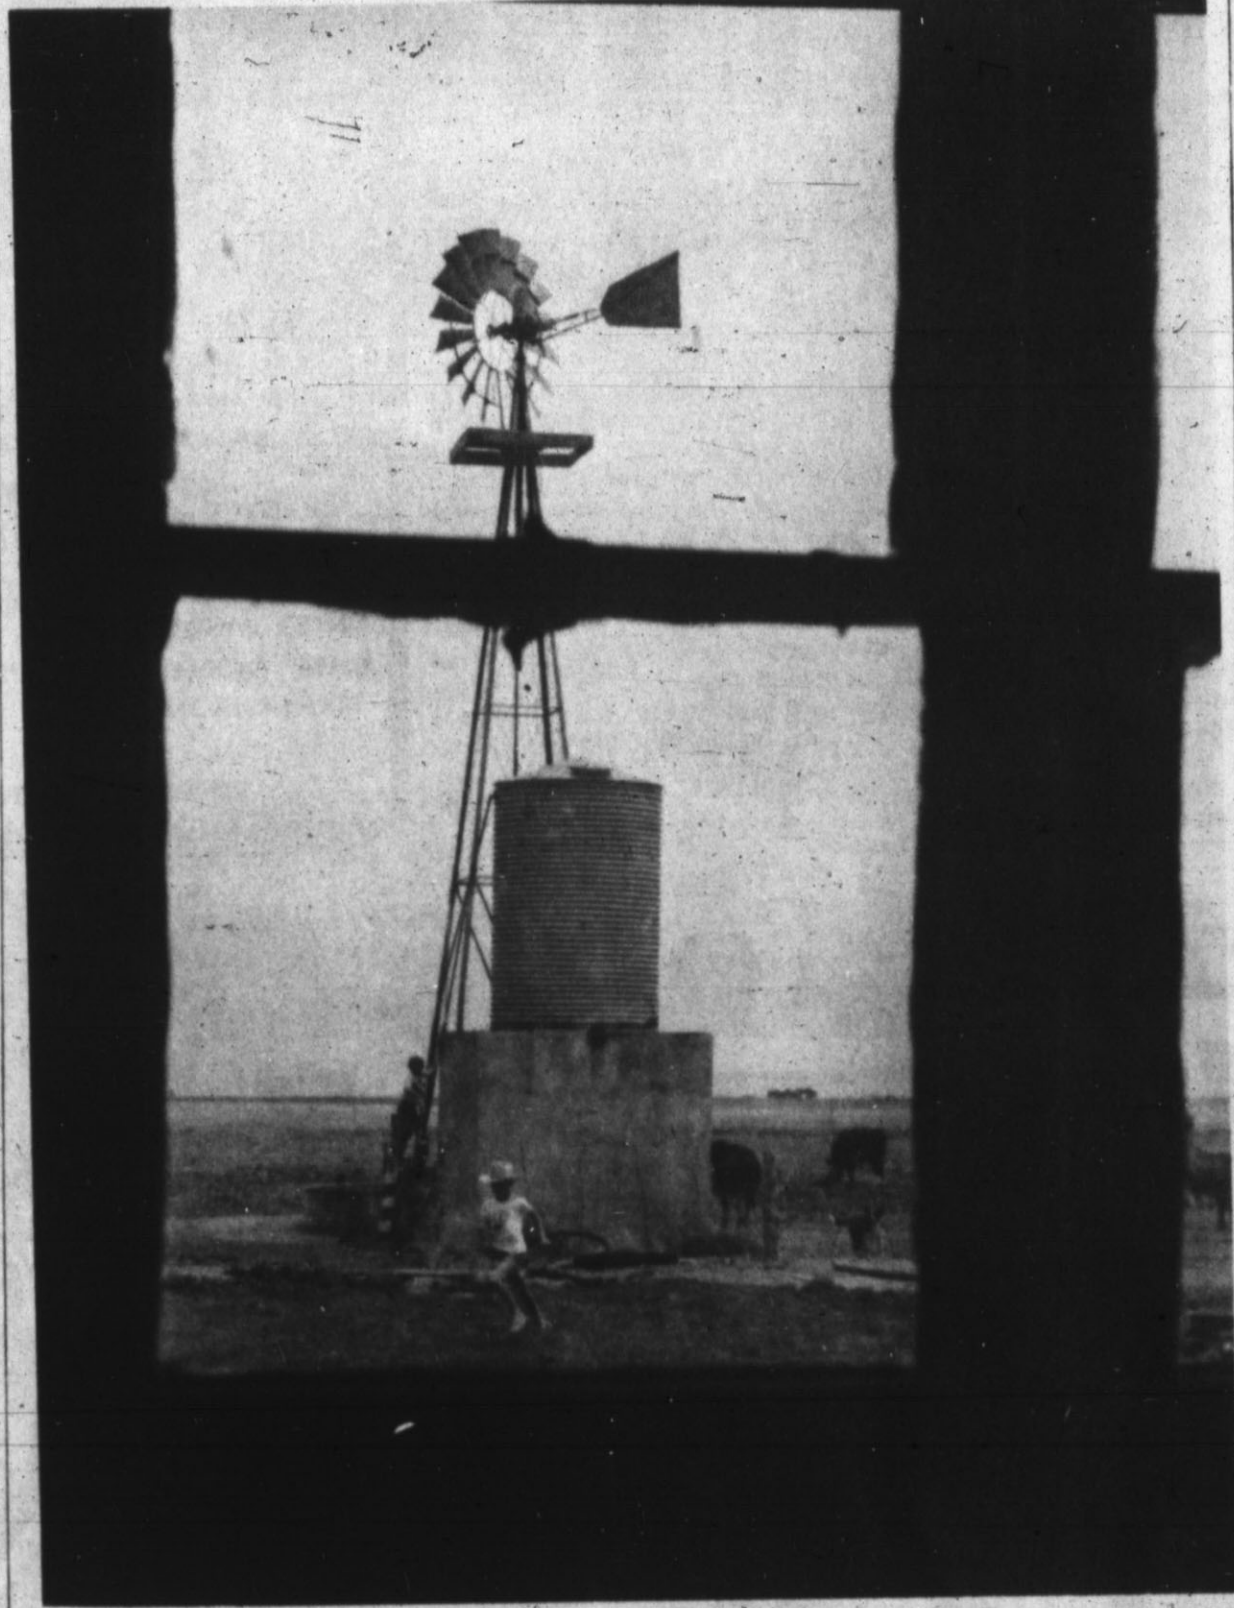

The fire was reported by an employe at City Barber Shop, next door, who said he heard what he thought to be an explosion and went outside to investigate and saw smoke coming from the building.

THE FIRE was quickly extinguished when firemen arrived.

Heat melted most plastic materials and equipment in the shop and exploded chemicals in spray cans. The rear storeroom of the salon was gutted, but fire damage elsewhere was light.

Much of the damage resulted from the water from the leaky pipes.

On May 29, Le Coiffeur Beauty Salon in the Jim Hill Hotel was destroyed by fire, where losses were estimated at $9,500. Other recent major fires in Hereford included a $40,000 blaze at Hacker and Jesko Meat Plant, and separate blazes on March 17 and 19 causing total losses of $28,000.

Water sometimes has to be rationed.

Dryland Years Balance Acreages Large; Costs Small Each Season

One facet of the agricultural community served by Hereford in its trade territory are the dryland farmers, who contribute much to the area's economy and who farm a good deal of the land in West Texas. Not nearly as diversified as the irrigation farmers, the man in the country where water doesn't run beneath the ground usually relies on wheat and grain sorghum to make his living; he depends on a good crop every few years to make up for the bad ones and to keep him in business.

In the local soil conservation district, there are some 325 farms devoted to dryland operation, compared to about 570 which use irrigation facilities. Average size of an irrigated farm is about 486 acres, compared to dryland farms averaging some 1200 acres.

Although the dryland farmer doesn't produce quite as much yield-wise, he does contribute much to this area's economy because of the financial structure associated with dryland farming. He takes a big chance when he puts his crop in the ground, but realizes that his chances for survival in this West Texas area are good. Water is a prized resource on a dryland farm, a resource that comes just by chance.

STUDY CO-OP

Group Arrives For Week Of Intensive Work

Seven South and Central American businessmen are in Hereford for a week's study of the operation of electrical cooperatives.

The men arrived in Amarillo by plane yesterday. They were met by Leo Forrest, manager of Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative. Forrest has just returned from a month's stay in Chile where he served as technical advisor to personnel planning electric cooperatives in that country. He had previously served in the same capacity on a three month's assignment.

COMING TO WORK for a week with the cooperative in Hereford are Miguel A. Sandoval, Rural Electrification Extension Specialist of Buenos Aires, Argentina; Raul Sanchez, Chief, Technical Section, Puerto Varas, Chile; Jose A. Sotos, manager, Paillico, Chile; Danilo Vega, manager, Ciudad Quesada, Alajuela, Costa Rica; Richard Ronquillo, head of office, Daule, Ecuador; Miguel Becerra, design engineer of the Rural Electrification Division, Santa Beatriz, Peru; and Misael Monge, manager, San Marcos de Tarrazu, Costa Rica. Accompanying the group is an interpreter, Mr. Guerrara.

FORREST EXPLAINED that to familiarize the Latin American representatives with the organization and operational procedures of rural electric cooperatives.

By observing electric cooperatives in operation and participating in the on the job training, the rural electric leaders from Latin America will be better equipped to know what they need to be able to handle rural electrification projects in their home countries.

Technical assistance in management will be given these groups for three years by National Rural Electric Cooperative Association under a non-profit contract with the Agency for International Development.

Several co-ops are being constructed in Nicaragua, Columbia and Ecuador. Co-ops are in the planning stages in other Latin American countries.

The visitors will be guests with Forrest at Monday's regular Rotary luncheon meeting.

Voters OK Bonds 2-1

Some Boxes Reject Issue

A small sampling of Deaf Smith County citizens registered approval of issuing $450,000 in county tax bonds for construction of some 30 miles of new Farm-to-Market highways in the county during balloting Saturday.

By a margin of two-to-one, the proposal carried — although voters in one area voiced majority dislike for the proposal which will build new highways in four precincts in the county.

The election carried by a vote of 255 to 116.

Some 3,500 persons were qualified to vote in the election, but only 361 ballots were cast.

THE PROPOSAL, which had been sought for at least a decade by many county residents, drew majority favor in all but three voting boxes.

Voters in precinct three opposed the issue by 14-7 in voting at Walcott and the Westway area, however. In balloting at Bippus, the five ballots cast were unanimously opposed to the proposal. Absentee polling brought 29 for and three against.

In precinct one, where exact route of proposed paving has yet to be determined, votes granted a narrow 37-34 majority for the paving program in balloting at the courthouse.

ELSEWHERE in precinct one, however, the favoritism for the $450,000 in bonds was more in evidence. In balloting at the Hereford Community Center, the question carried by 34-11, and at Dawn the margin in favor was 18-6.

COMBINED EFFORTS

Jaycees Put Finishing Touches On Museum For Wed. Opening

Jaycees are working nights to complete painting of the building to house the Deaf Smith County Museum.

Plans call for the historical committee to begin receiving articles for the museum beginning Wednesday, according to Mrs. J. H. Sears, vice-president of the historical society.

LOCATED NEAR downtown Hereford just north of the Courthouse, the structure had to undergo minor renovation before it could house items the committee hopes to collect from Deaf Smith County individuals.

Windows and doors are being replaced by the County and Jaycees have been using paint furnished by the County Commissioners.

"These repairs were necessary to make the building suitable for a museum," Mrs. George Turrentine, secretary of the historical society said. She pointed out that people donating items could feel confident that their articles would be cared for properly.

ARTICLES MAY be donated on any Wednesday. Mrs. Turrentine and Mrs. Sears will be on hand at the museum to accept articles but displays will not be ready for visitors for several weeks.

Donors will be secured by a contract stating that they may retrieve their articles at any time they desire to do so. Mrs. Sears pointed out. These contracts will be available at the museum.

THE BUILDING and contents will be covered by insurance as purchased by the County Mrs. Sears said. An appraiser will establish values of articles donated.

Emphasized was the fact that the museum is designed to be a permanent part of the community. Committee members feel that by opening the museum now, that donors will begin to take a more active interest in its growth.

Joe Smith has been delegated as historian to help the committee determine the historical value of some items.

Storms At Easter Cause Crop Losses

Small but plentiful hail on top of winds estimated at 70 miles per hour beat a path of destruction along the southern border of Deaf Smith County Friday afternoon while clouds dumped up to four inches of rainfall there and much lesser amounts elsewhere in the county.

Wheat and other crops in an area centered two to three miles west of Easter bore total losses in a 30-minute storm beginning at 5:30 p. m. from one of numerous thunderstorm cells which crossed the area.

Rainfall in Hereford was just a quarter-inch and small hail in portions of the city lasted only a minute or two.

Elsewhere in the county, downpours were spotty, with Dawn receiving a three-quarter inch spill while the western edge of the county saw only sprinkles.

The hail near Easter caused some crop loss to as many as a hundred sections — but centralized its destruction in an area around the J. F. Marin, Ivan Block, Earl Harkins, and Buster Thomason farms.

All four reported total losses to crops on portions of their farms with damage apparently slacking off according to the distance from the farms.

Martin, who farms four miles west of Easter, said four inches of rain fell in an hour after hail and high winds ruined wheat and other crops.

"The hail was soft and about the size of marbles, but there was enough of it to do the job," Martin said.

"What the wind didn't blow down, the hail threshed," he commented.

"The wind blew so hard it was raining sideways," he quipped.

Earl Harkins, whose farm is two miles west of Easter, said that wind there was sufficient "to move around some equipment in the yard... a spray rig and some other stuff, and it took the top off a well-house."

Hail a half-inch in diameter blanketed the ground following a 15-minute pounding, Harkins said and a few minutes later heavy rains filled ditches to cover a road for about a mile for a half hour.

Colors Celebrate 189th

In the Continental Congress, Philadelphia, June 14, 1777, "That the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

Tuesday, June 14th, will be the 189th anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the official emblem of the United States of America.

Its red, white and blue career began when a committee reported to the Congress,

"The stars of the flag represent a new constellation rising in the West. The idea is taken from the great constellation Lyra, which in the hands of Orpheus, signifies harmony. The blue in the field is taken from the edge of the 'Covenanters Banner' of Scotland, significant of the covenant of the United States against oppression.

The stars are disposed in a circle, symbolizing the perpetuity of the Union, the ring signifying eternity. The thirteen stars show the number of the united colonies and denote subordination of the States of the Union as well as equality among themselves. The red, the color which in the Roman days was a symbol of defiance, denotes daring, and the white purity."

Although it is not a national holiday, Flag Day's popularity as an official observance has been increasing ever since the first Flag Day was proclaimed in 1895, mainly through the efforts of the American Flag Day Association and its first secretary, Dr. B. J. Cigrant of Batavia, Ill.

New York City led in the adoption of the custom of paying special homage to the flag and patriotism on June 14, as a kindergarten principal raised the flag above the school on that day. Other schools followed suit, and the board of education of that city made it official policy for special activities on Flag Day. Business also began to take part in the observance and the flag day ceremonies thus spread across the country.

The first flag which was distinctly American made its appearance in 1686 in the United Colonies of New England. The white flag featured the cross of St. George, with a crown emblazoned in the center above the letters J R (Jacobus, Rex — Jacobus, King).

During the early part of the revolution, each colony used its own emblem, usually the colonial coat of arms with the addition of some motto. Soon after hostilities began, rattlesnakes, all with 13 rattles, became very popular. The slogans "Unite or Die" (1775) and "Don't Tread on Me" (1776) are the familiar examples of this early flag.

Although many of the conservative element were still hopeful of renewing good relations with Great Britain, there was a strong urge among the See COLORS Page 2

Summer school for non-English-speaking six-year-olds begins Monday at Central, Shirley, and St. Joseph's Mission schools with classes designed to teach youngsters basic English vocabulary.

The summer school is for youngsters who are six years old on or before Sept. 1, 1966, and who will be enrolling in school for the first time this year.

CLASSES WILL continue for eight weeks, meeting from 8:30 a. m. until 11:30 a. m. Monday through Friday. Bus transportation to and from school will be provided students living near the city.

Sponsored by the Hereford school district, arrangements have been made to conduct the summer school in the mission school at the Labor Camp as well as at the two Hereford elementary schools.

Officials said classes attempt to teach non-English-speaking youngsters some 500 words of the English language, as well as introducing students to normal school classroom routine.

Monday morning, beginning at 8 a. m., two buses will pick up students who flag them down as they pass through the Labor Camp, the Griffin & Brand camp, Buena Vista and along South Main, Austin Road, Dairy Road, Irving and Mable streets, and Grand Avenue. Buses will pick up students in these areas throughout the summer school session.

TEACHERS for the summer school, directed by Tom Harkins of Central School, will be Mrs. Augusta McCarley, Mrs. Dottie Darden, Mrs. Alene Garlitz, and Mrs. Mary Carter.

The Hereford school district has sponsored the summer school program for non-English-speaking in the past. Officials said students who attend the summer school apparently have a better start than other non-English-speaking students enrolling in the first grade in the fall.

The Hereford school district summer school for non-English-speaking is separate from the "Project Head-Start" classes which will be conducted by local Catholic parochial schools.

Hereford Marine Injured In South Viet Nam

A Hereford man has been injured in an accidental discharge at Da Nang, South Viet Nam. Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Caldwell have been notified that their son 2-Cpl. Tommie Lee Caldwell, serving with a helicopter crew was injured June 2.

Early this week, they were notified that his condition was considered serious.

Through friends and relatives, Mrs. Caldwell was able to locate the hospital where her son is being treated. She has talked by telephone with the doctor treating the corporal on two occasions.

The doctor stated that though the Marine's condition was still serious, some improvement had been noted.

Caldwell, 24 years old, attended Hereford schools and has been in the Marine Corps for six years. He has been stationed in Viet Nam since September.

Area Harvest Due During This Week

Area wheat harvest should get into full swing during the last of this week, if warm weather holds according to area grainment.

Some of the area elevator operators said that they expected the harvest to begin during the weekend, but Friday's showers postponed any harvesting for a few days.

NO WHEAT has been reported harvested in Deaf Smith County this summer.

Some barley has been brought in to local elevators in the area and showed good yields.

Farmers in some parts of the county are not going to get as good a yield as they expected, according to elevator managers, but others are expecting a "good" crop.

THE FIRST load of wheat came into Adrian last week, but the Hereford area elevators.

Officials at Adrian Wheat Growers elevator said that they expected the wheat harvest in that area to begin this week with farmers averaging some 50 bushels per acre.

The harvest there is not as good as last year due to the heads on the wheat being shorter and not having filled out citizensry for the adoption of a flag of their own. George Washington, believing that things with England could be patched up, was not in favor of the new flag as it was hoisted. Known as the Grand Union flag, it was raised on Jan. 2, 1776, before the Declaration of Independence was even being written. The flag symbolized both the colonies' bond to England plus their revolutionary spirit. In the upper left corner was the Union Jack, with stripes representative of the 13 colonies making up the remainder of the flag just as they do today.

The new flag, which was probably first carried at the Battle of Brandywine on Sept. 11, 1777, was planned so that one star and one stripe could be added to the emblem for each new state as the Union grew. With the addition of five new states, however, the flag became cumbersome and Congress then restricted the flag to only 13 stripes in 1818. Latest change in the flag came in 1860, when Hawaii was admitted to the Union as the 50th state.

as much as they should.

GENE KING of Community Grain said that farmers are expecting fair yields — about the same as last year — in that area. Some hail damage totaled wheat crops near there Friday evening.

Joe Artho, manager at Hereford Grain Corporation, said that the irrigated wheat around Hereford should net some 40-55 bushels per acre while the dryland would not bring in much more than seven.

Harry McCauley at Pitman Grain in Hereford said that officials there expected the first load Saturday, but the showers Friday evening washed out any hopes of harvesting Saturday.

HE SAID that it would be later this week before any wheat would be brought in. Co-Op said that there had been no wheat harvested there Saturday, but he expected it to begin coming in early this week.

Some barley had been brought in to the elevator last week and was showing good yields. The moisture content was about 15 per cent.

HE ALSO added that the wheat in that area looked heavy, but it would be hard to tell how it would thrash out.

Many dryland farmers have plowed up their wheat crops due to the long dry winter. Until recently less than one inch of moisture had been received in parts of the county.

But the rains during the past two weeks have given the farmers hopes for a better grain sorghum crop on the dry land.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Selling a home has become a common thing. Many taxpayers own several homes during their life. You must report the sale of your home on your income tax return and pay taxes on any profit that you may have on the sale. When you buy a home you should keep a record of the cost. When you make improvements including adding shrubs and trees or a new room — this adds to your cost (or basis). It pays to keep a permanent record to help you solve your tax problems when you sell.

Jurors Bill 18 In Session Here

Deaf Smith County Grand Jurors returned 18 indictments — including two for possession of narcotics and another for assault with intent to murder — in session here Wednesday and Thursday.

Also indicted were five persons for forgery, six for second offense driving while intoxicated, one for burglary, and three for theft.

INDICTED FOR possession of narcotics were two Lubbock men arrested May 23 by a Highway Patrolmen who were stopped for a DWI check and found to be in possession of some $600 worth of marijuana.

Indicted on the possession of narcotics charges were Julian Lucero Rubio, 34, and Jose Ramirez, 24, both of Lubbock. Rubio also was indicted on a charge of second offense DWI.

True-billed on a charge of assault with intent to murder was William Bond Clifford, 33, of Canyon, who also faces a murder charge in Randall county in connection with the death of his wife and the shooting of a Hereford man on April 8.

Indicted on charges of forgery were James C. Carter and Sheddret D. Wilson, who are currently in custody elsewhere; Thomas Wayne Ball, 45, of 132 Curry Court; Joe C. Dixon, 38, of the Laredo Hotel; and Frank Robledo, 29, of Dimmitt.

True-billed for a burglary charge was Eddie B. Collins, 17, of Mona Lisa Trailer Court. Indicted for theft were Alvin Eugene Oakley, 24, of Ft. 4, Hereford; Guy Louis Buck, 20, of 209 Avenue C; and Robert Treadway, 19, of 609 East

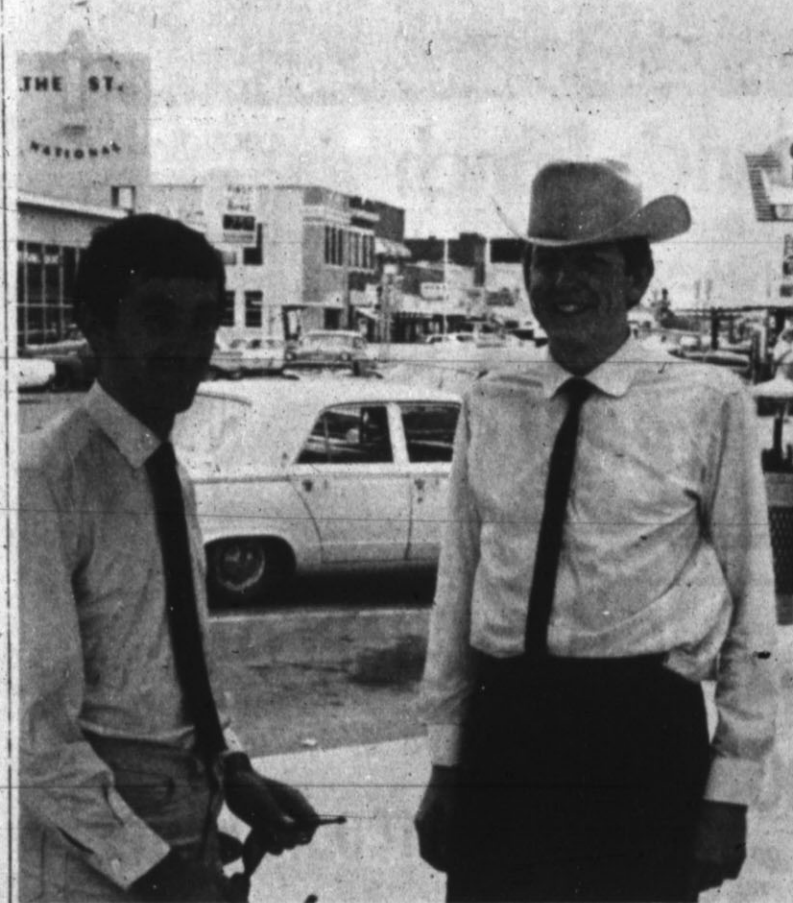

Bid For Freedom Ends In Minutes For Prisoner

A 21-year-old prisoner slipped out of District Court Friday afternoon in a bid for freedom which lasted only 16 minutes. He was corralled again moments after his 'escape' when police nabbed him beneath the underpass on U. S. Hwy. 385 just south of the city.

The would-be escapee is George E. Pittman, who was being held on a charge of parole violation for Indiana authorities. He had been taken to the courtroom for an extradition procedure.

Pittman, described by city police as a transient, had been arrested June 2 in the 100 block of East First following a stabbing incident and had been charged with assault with intent to murder.

However, the slightly injured victim of the stabbing had refused to press charges and the Grand Jury had recently nobilled Pittman on the assault charge.

Herefordites (From England) See Sister City Of Their Home Town

Two young men from Hereford, England, came to Hereford, Texas, Friday afternoon to get a first-hand look at their hometown's 'sister city' during a 14-month tour of North America.

David Edmunds, 22, and Brian Scott, 21, said they detoured off route 66 on their way from Michigan to California "because we wanted to see the town we had heard so much about" back in Hereford, England.

ALTHOUGH THE NAMES of the two 'Herefords' stem from different origins, residents of the Texas city and the city of 40,000 located some 35 miles from Birmingham, England, have exchanged greetings, and visits frequently during the past.

Brian, a refrigeration and heating technician, and David, an electrician, boarded the Queen Mary for the U. S. eight months ago, but before leaving had made up their mind to visit Hereford, Texas, after a friend had told them of his visit here some five years ago.

THEY HAD saved money for the ticket on the Queen Mary for several months.

After arriving in New York, they went to Windsor, Ontario, Canada, where they worked for about six months in a Ford Motor Co. factory to earn the money to continue their North American tour.

Traveling by auto, they returned to the U. S. to visit friends in Michigan and Virginia before heading for the West Coast, where they hope to see other acquaintances in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

THEY CALL THEIR trip a "vacation," but admit that they had not planned to be gone so long. "There's a lot more to see than we had thought there would be," David explained.

passed the issue by 53-22, and by 38-8 at Central School. In precinct four, only Bippus Community voters opposed the issue. The proposal carried by 5-3 at Simms, 16-9 at Ford, and 27-1 at Palo Duro Church.

ISSUANCE OF the bonds will not effect county tax rates, the county commission has assured voters.

The projects to be undertaken mark the first major rural paving program in the county since 1949, when voters allocated $500,000 in bonds for construction of FM 1412.

That road passes through the northern and western portions of the county.

Firemen Called To Trash Fire

Hereford firemen answered a call to Hereford Butane about 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon, where trash was burning near a storage building. Firemen quickly extinguished flames and no damage resulted.

"This is quite a vast country," Brian agreed. "We've been pretty lucky and found a good job in Canada so I think we've got enough money to get us to California and back to New York along the northern route," Brian commented.

ARRIVING IN Hereford, their first stop was "that big building made out of Georgia marble," referring to the courthouse.

They noted that the two Hereford's are much alike "in the respect that they both depend on agriculture and industry. I think we have more industry back home... but we don't have a feedlot or a sugar mill," David said.

Asked about their impression of America after eight months in Canada and the U. S., Brian replied "We see so much of the U. S. on TV that it's about like we expected."

"BUT THE ONLY cowboys we've seen are in the cafes," chimed in David.

"It's difficult to get used to and in the big cities, everybody seems to be in too big a hurry," David said.

Brian continued, "We like to visit the small towns... like Hereford. Everybody seems more friendly in places like this."

Local Doctor's Hobby Provides Pleasure As Well As Learning

By DAVID BUTLER
Sports Editor

Nearly everyone has a hobby — something that is constructive as well as satisfying to the hobbyist, such is the one of Dr. Noble Ballard of Hereford.

DR. BALLARD has begun raising game birds. At the present time he is raising mostly Northern Bob White Quail, but he hopes to raise some pheasants.

"There's a lot more to raising these birds than one might think," the doctor said, "I have read everything I could get my hands on and I still don't feel like I know it all."

Dr. Ballard, at the present, has eight adult hens which are producing eggs for his incubator and he has a number of other birds coming along that will be laying soon.

UNDER NORMAL conditions the birds will lay four or five eggs a week. Weather as well as environment will affect the number of eggs laid by the hens.

The eggs are then put into the incubator and the date is marked on each egg with a grease pencil. The incubation time on the eggs is about 22-23 days.

Eggs must be kept at a constant temperature and must be kept in the incubator with the tip down. There is an air space in the large end of the egg for the small embryo and if the egg is not in the proper position the embryo will die.

A SMALL amount of water is also kept in the incubator at all times to maintain a humid atmosphere for the eggs.

As the new birds hatch, they are kept in a brooder where they are kept warm until they are old enough to be put outside.

At 14-16 weeks the hens begin laying and the birds are considered full-grown and have all their plumage and color.

The Northern Bob White Quail, which Dr. Ballard is raising, is not common in this area, but have more meat than most quail and are a good bird for eating.

DR. BALLARD'S interest in raising the birds stems from a long-time interest in hunting.

"In Oklahoma where I was raised there was a large number of these birds and I used to hunt them every year," the doctor said.

At the present time Dr. Ballard has no definite plans for See LOCAL Page 6

HUNTER'S HOBBY — Dr. Noble Ballard, of Hereford, shows the process of raising birds from the beginning. In the top picture Dr. Ballard gathers the eggs from his pen and takes them to the incubator. In the second picture he holds a full grown bird — the small one in the right hand corner is an eight-week old bird which is beginning to get most of its plumage. The third picture is the covey of adult quail which provide the eggs for Dr. Ballard's operation. In the last picture Dr. Ballard takes time to play with his four hunting dogs. Two of them are just pups which the local doctor intends to train this fall. (Staff Photos by David Butler)

Retail Merchants Establish Rules For Proposed City 'Swap Shopping'

Final plans are being laid by the Retailers Steering Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for the "swap shopping" which will be conducted between Hereford and Dumas, probably in July. Chamber manager Bill Thompson told Hereford retailers and service business managers that 23 participating firms would be necessary for an effective survey.

Copies of agreements to participate were distributed to some 23 merchants attending a meeting of the committee at a noon luncheon Friday at the Hotel Jim Hill. Merchants here will agree to accept all merchandise returned to them by shoppers taking part in the evaluation program, with the same courtesy being extended to Hereford shoppers who will travel to Dumas as part of the cooperative effort with the Retail Division of the Dumas Chamber of Commerce.

THOMPSON EXPLAINED to the group attending the luncheon that the shoppers would probably be more effective than professional evaluators in the retail business since their identification would not be apparent to the employees of the businesses. Wives of businessmen will probably constitute the majority of the shoppers who will visit stores here; the survey will probably be conducted some time in July, with other follow-up projects planned for the fall, Thompson said.

Customers' evaluations of shopping conditions in Hereford will be kept confidential with copies of the reports going to the store owner or manager only. The purpose of the survey will be to help businessmen gain ideas towards how they can better please their customers.

Paisano Lions Rebel Squad On Road Today

Members of the Hereford Rebel baseball squad, sponsored by the Paisano Lions Club will travel to Amarillo this afternoon for their ninth game of the season. The men on the team will clash with the Amarillo City Slickers at 2 p. m. Last week the local team downed Tulla, giving them their first loss in eight games.

Exposure Charge Gets $100 Fine

A 23-year-old Hereford Latin American was ordered to pay the maximum fine allowed — $100 — on a charge of indecent exposure Friday. Fined and ordered to pay court cost of $29 was Jimmy Arizona of 321 Avenue I. He was charged after admitting he exposed himself to a Hereford woman earlier this week. Arrest was made by a sheriff's deputy and the man was fined in county court.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ford Jr., Wes Fisher and Jo Ellen Jorde attended a GOP fund raising dinner Saturday evening in Amarillo. Featured speaker for the evening was Sen. John Tower who is running for the Senate seat in this fall's election.

the birds, but he has a game raising license and is able to sell the birds to farmers to stock their farms.

Recently in Georgia game birds become almost extinct and the farmers of that area decided to take some positive action.

THEY BEGAN stocking their farms by putting the birds out and leaving them shelter along fence rows and providing food for them.

After the population of birds was back up, they began charging hunters for shooting the birds and the money is turned back to raising more birds.

As a result of this effort this part of Georgia is one of the best game bird hunting paradises in the country.

Before raising the birds one must have a game raising license or they can be fined as much as $100.

THE NORTHERN Bob White Quail are not a beautiful bird, but are colored so that they match the brush which grows close to the ground.

Male birds are somewhat more colorful than the female — they have a brilliant white design on both sides of their head.

The female has a brownish orange design which is more drab than the male.

"I have done some looking for pheasant nests in fields around Hereford, but haven't had any luck at all," Dr. Ballard said, "the female birds leave no scent when they are laying so it is impossible for the dogs to find the nests."

DR. BALLARD did have three pheasant eggs in his incubator which were found by a local farmer when plowing and he is in hopes that the eggs will hatch.

"This is about the only way one will discover a nest, when he is plowing," he said.

The Hereford doctor has many plans for additional cages and hopes to expand his operation and try to get a number of the Northern Bob White Quail stocked in the area in the next few years.

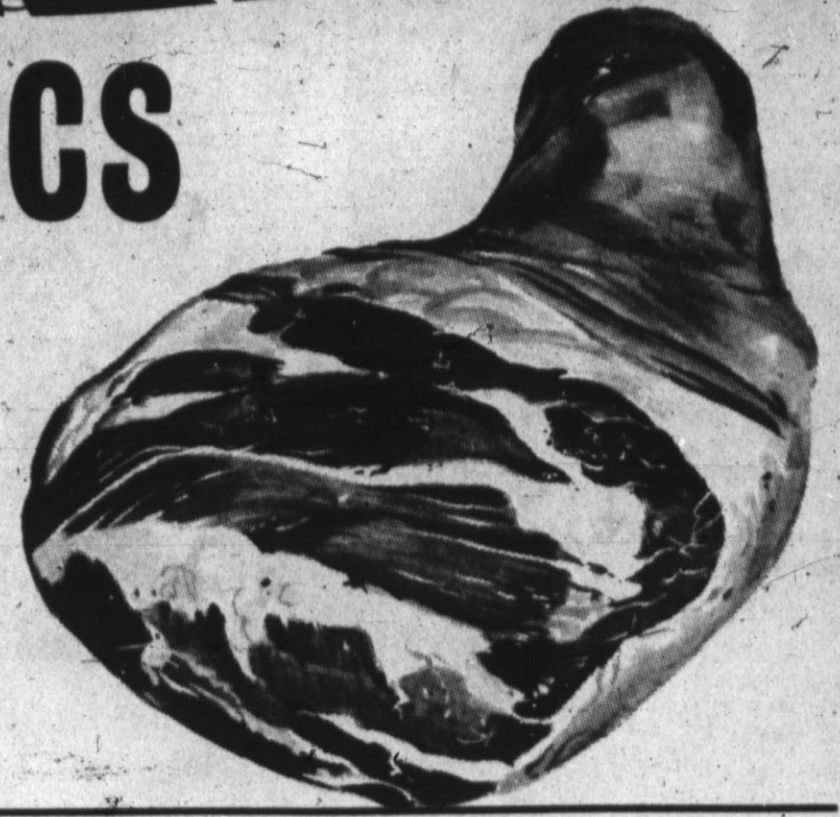

"I HAVE learned a lot by just watching the quail in my pens," he said, so that if they are scared they can all fly away without running into each other."

Dr. Ballard has four bird dogs, two of which are seasoned hunters. The other two are new hunting dogs and he hopes to train them to hunt this fall.

Party Planned For Anniversary

Married 50 years June 20, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Baird will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary one day early, holding open house for their friends from over this area next Sunday afternoon in their home at 111 Douglas.

A Colorado honeymoon in a Model '64 Ford, brand new, followed their 1916 marriage at Dimmitt in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. W. Alexander. Mrs. Baird is the former Miss Mary Hill of Dimmitt. The couple went to a home on Baird's farm 10 miles southeast of Hereford, where they lived until they moved to Hereford in July 1959.

Their children, Mrs. John D. King of Corpus Christi and J. R. Baird of Seattle, Wash., with their families will be here to serve as hosts. No individual invitations are being issued; Mr. and Mrs. Baird hope all the friends made during their 50-year residence in Deaf-Smith and Castro Counties will call between 3 and 5 p. m. They request no gifts.

Eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild are included in their family. Their daughter has five children and their son three, each with a son in military service who will not be able to come for the anniversary party.

The great-granddaughter, Shara Marie, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Baird of Tacoma, Wash., is expected to be here with her parents.

Other relatives who will assist at the reception include Mrs. Baird's sister, Mrs. D. C. Laird, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Cash of Canyon; Mrs. Charles Flesher, Miss Billie Flesher, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Russell, Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Galloway of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cowart of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dodgen and daughter, Candice, of Shamrock.

Although their farm home was in Castro County, the Bairds have had close associations with Hereford for many years. He is in the Masonic Lodge, a past master, and both are members of the Order of Eastern Star, past worthy matron and worthy patron of the local lodge.

Their home was in the Jumbo community, where they supported the community church in which Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian ministers conducted services in turn, and the school which their children attended until they were ready for high school.

Mrs. Baird was a Sunday school teacher and an officer in the Parent-Teacher Association,

Auxiliary Holds Flag Set Sale

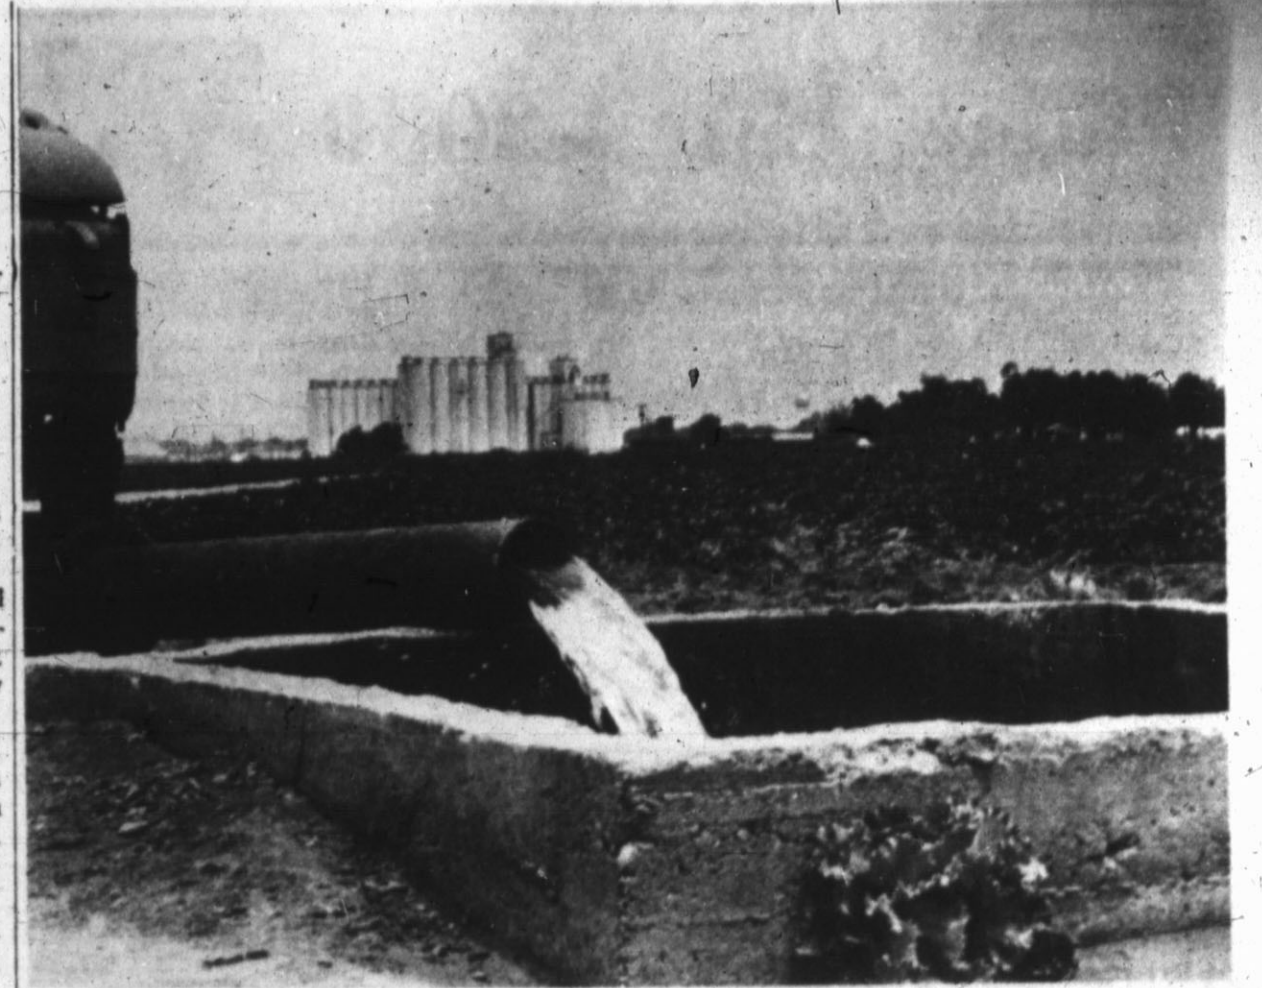

For display on Flag Day and July Fourth, the Hereford American Legion Auxiliary is selling U. S. flag sets, and members urge all families of the city to be prepared to fly the flag on the two patriotic holidays. Flag Day is June 14, next Tuesday.

"Too few American families own or fly a flag," says Mrs. Hazel Sparks, Americanism chairman who is in charge of the sale project. "We hope that every home in Hereford will have a flag to show this summer and on future holidays. That is the purpose of this 'Show Your Colors' project."

The flag sets are priced at $3.75 and may be obtained from any member of the American Legion Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Bill Gilleland is president.

The National Marbles Tournament was inaugurated in 1924.

while Baird served on the school board a number of years.

BUSY WELLS — Light rains recently have been little if any help to vegetable farms. Irrigation wells hold promise for area fields. (Staff Photo)

By MELVIN YOUNG
Leo Forrest, general manager of the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, has just returned from a month-long jaunt to South America where he has been acting in an advisory capacity helping the people in certain areas of Chile to establish and operate their own electric cooperatives.

Four years ago Leo traveled to Columbia and neighboring Venezuela on a similar tour of duty, lasting more than three months. The trips were in cooperation with the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association which has a non-profit contract with the Agency for International Development.

Yesterday, seven South and Central Americans who have been training under this program, converged on Hereford to begin a week of training and study with the local cooperative — probably one of the best in the state.

They will also visit other co-ops throughout the nation before returning to their homeland to help bring electric power to the under developed rural areas.

These men, and many others like them, will be schooled in all phases of "rural electrification," and will be instrumental in establishing, maintaining and operating the rural electric associations in these South American countries when they return home.

Forrest, and others who have worked with this program, should be commended for their efforts in bringing "light and power" to the rural areas of South America. This is undoubtedly the finest program ever undertaken by this nation in an effort to help our neighbors. It is the type of program — the people to people kind — that will do the most good towards building prosperous, democratic nations on the South American continent. All the money in the world, without the benefit of technical know-how, will not do one iota of good.

We thoroughly believe in the principal of "helping them help themselves," and in helping these nations to come to the forefront, we are also supplying the weapons with which to turn back communism, for this atheistic movement can develop best where poverty and unemployment abound.

And speaking of communism, it is rather ironic that the communists are now trying to infiltrate the labor union movement in South America — a movement not even allowed in countries where they have complete control.

We've heard it said: This is the only country in the world where as soon as a man can afford a Ford, he buys a Cadillac.

A public forum to discuss the new school vocational teaching program will be held Friday night, at the High School Cafeteria. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

There's a silver lining to everything — even the new coins.

Farmers out in the dryland areas of Deaf Smith County are busy getting their grain sorghum seed in the ground, and with the generous rains of the past two weeks, they at least have a fighting chance of making a good yield this fall. Most of them grazed what little wheat survived earlier this year, but things are looking up for the fall crops. In the irrigated areas, wheat has never looked better. Some of it, by the way, should be ready for the combines within a week or so. Potatoes too, will soon be ready for harvest and Hereford should be a busy place by the 1st of July.

Meanwhile everyone who can appears to be vacationing, taking advantage of the early summer months to get in a few days of fishing or just "taking-it-easy." On the other hand, perhaps these people prefer to be out of the state during the tornado season. Could be.

Success has been defined as the art of making mistakes when no one is around to notice them.

And a good salesman, we learn, is a fellow who can convince his wife that she looks fat in a fur coat.

Seen a few new faces around the Hereford Brand lately? Perhaps we had better report. Mrs. Naomi Hopson has joined our staff, permanently we hope, resigning her teaching position at Bluebonnet School at the end of the school year. Mrs. Hopson has a background in newspaper work and should be an asset to our news department. She will fill the News Editor position and direct the affairs of the news department.

Larry Fuhrmann and Linda Loerwald, both former employees of the Brand during their high school days, are now home from college and will be working with the news and advertising staffs this summer. It's always a pleasure to have our college students return to help out during the summer months. Larry is a sophomore student at the University of Texas and Linda is a sophomore at West Texas State.

Two of the finest young people we know.

Area Dryland Farm Offers Challenges And Rewards

By LARRY FUHRMANN
Staff Writer

Scanning over rows upon rows of tall, irrigated wheat yellowing in the fields as harvest approaches, a person sizing up this part of the country would probably think "well done" as he sees the tremendous bounty of harvest despite the fact that 1966 has been one of the driest years on record here. This is the country where "O beautiful for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain..." really has a meaning this time of year.

To a certain degree, this area observes Thanksgiving long before the calendar is turned to November.

But perhaps a person sizing up the farming situation in this area would be acting a mite hasty if he looks at the irrigation wells and crops and thinks all is very well. There's another side to this country, too, one that doesn't consume nearly as much water but contributes to the prosperity and economy of the entire area.

Dryland farming embraces a lot of acres in this area, acres where there is really no alternative farm dryland or not at all. Irrigation water, considered by many to be the lifeblood of this country, just can't be found out in the far reaches of the county and beyond.

PERHAPS DRYLAND farming is one of the true tests of a farmer, who sometimes has to patiently wait year after year for a good crop to make up for the others.

For the Jacobson family of the north Deaf Smith-Oldham County area, this spacious country with almost no water beneath the ground is "home." The Jacobsons certainly aren't newcomers to the area; the first came into the Texas Panhandle some 56 years ago, in November of 1909.

FROM A SAILOR to a dryland farmer must have been quite a change for Jacob E. Jacobson, who sailed with the Norwegian Merchant Marine before making his home in Iowa in 1882. Excursions by the American-Canadian Land Co. attracted the Jacobson family to this wide open land, and almost all the family — which includes six children — have been in the area ever since.

A grandchild of Jacob, Robert is putting down deep roots in the Texas soil, where he and his wife are not in the process of completing their home, just down the road from the home of his parents. Robert and his father, Norman, make up a father-son partnership on some 2800 acres devoted now to wheat and pasture.

Robert, who attended the Adrian school, graduated from Texas Tech and did a stint in the Air Force before returning to the same land where he had been brought up. The opportunity to form the partnership with his father is what brought Robert back to this country, and when he returned he brought his pretty wife, formerly Priscilla Baumgardner, herself a girl right off the farm near Wellington. Mrs. Jacobson was the youngest of eight children, all of whom graduated from Texas Tech.

SINCE SHE had been on a farm, the environs surrounding her when she arrived in Adrian with her husband were not completely surprising to her, but she insists, "I just can't get used to this soil." That plus the fact that their "spread" in the far reaches of the country doesn't put them any too close to what some people would term civilization — namely, any town large enough to supply all the needs of a growing farm family.

Four children keep their mom busy all day right at home; oldest is Paul, a lively 8-year-old who will be entering the third grade in the same school his father attended. Three daughters, Jo Ellen, 5, Diana, 3, and rhg Jo Ellen, 5, Diana, 3, and Janet Carol 19 months, keep this household noisy every waking day.

The little hamlet of Adrian, just a few miles to the north of the Jacobson establishment, is the center of social activities for the residents of this area; Robert Jacobson is probably considered a most valuable citizen in the life of the younger set there, where he is occupied as a scoutmaster for the local Boy Scout troop.

A HOBBY he began some five years ago has kept Robert in close contact with the school crowd; in his own darkroom, a cubbyhole created in the remodeling scheme of the Jacobson home, Robert has turned out work for the high school annuals. His photography, which takes a good part of his free time, has won several contests sponsored in this area.

HOME LIFE is really being carried out in a constructive manner now as Robert and a hired hand work together renovating a barracks into the scheme of their modern home.

Driving into the far reaches of the county, the stalks of wheat suddenly look stunted to the untrained eye; this is not

RURAL TOGETHERNESS

This part of the country may be a little lonesome, but it can certainly keep a family together. Norman Jacobson and his son, Robert, farm 2800 acres as a partnership near Adrian. The Jacobson family has been in the area since 1910, and grandson Robert shows every indication of staying here for some time to come.

Priscilla and Robert Jacobson, now busily engaged in remodeling their home, have four young children, Paul, 8, Jo Ellen, 5, Diana, 3, and Janet Carol, 19 months, who can keep both Mom and Dad busy while the whole family is at home during the day. The northern parts of Deaf Smith County are unlike the area surrounding Hereford in that irrigation water simply doesn't exist; wells sometimes can just pump enough to quench the thirst of the livestock and the few inhabitants of the countryside.

Tour Of Garden Ends Club Year

A visit to the garden and Hereford Garden Club Friday afternoon, following a luncheon at the Caison House.

The blossom-filled garden of the Munoz home is planned in the style of Mrs. Munoz' native Mexico and includes plants not often seen in this area. A magnolia tree blooms each year, and rhododendrons add their color.

An enclosed space has tropical plants and birds. Just now, 300 rose bushes are in bloom to take the starring role. Mrs. Munoz and her mother tend the garden which presents a beautiful picture from the house.

Garden Club members were invited to see the interior of the home also, with its authentic furnishings imported from Mexico as were many of the materials which went into the building. Mrs. Munoz showed the visitors some of the fiesta gowns and jewels which she brought from Mexico City.

Since she speaks little English, the clubwomen had the Rev. Herman Martinez with them as an interpreter.

Final business of a club year was transacted at the luncheon, with Mrs. Ray L. Johnson presiding. Mrs. E. C. Brooks was elected secretary to fill an office vacancy for next season, in which other officers will be serving the second year of a two-year term.

Chairmen of committees made their annual reports and the 17 members present suggested and discussed projects and programs for the coming year.

Dimmitt Garden Tour Announced

A placement show and garden tour, with the public invited, is announced for next Saturday afternoon by Dimmitt Garden Club. Starting at the Ivor Bagwell home, 723 Cleveland, the tour will be held from 3 to 6 p. m. and admission price is a dollar.

It will include the Cecil Dennis home, 736 Oak; the Jay Lee Touchstone and Bob McLean homes a mile west on the Clovis Highway; the Charles Armstrong garden, 609 W. Stinson and the Park Sadler yard, 400 W. Jones, ending at the Methodist fellowship hall with a horticulture display. Coffee will be served at the church hall.

going to be a good year for the wheat crop, with the expected yield about 5 or 6 bushels to the acre. Average — or "good" — yield would be about 10 bushels, Jacobson said. But, dryland farmers are prepared for good years, bad years. A fair crop every four years is enough to keep a farmer in business, Robert says.

TO THOSE WHO believe the days of the rattlesnake are long gone, the folks who really live in the country can tell another tale, one that probably can make someone's blood curdle. Last year, the Jacobsons killed 38 — that's right, 38 — of the critters there on their own land, some, in fact, pretty close to the house. Mom and Dad agree they can get pretty nervous about letting the kids loose outside without some adult chaperoning.

No sir, irrigation isn't the only answer to making a living on the West Texas soil, and farmers in the area are living proof of the fact. Water is really appreciated on a dryland farm — where drinking and stock water is sometimes at a premium.

Ann Gentry Bride

Miss Ann Gentry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gentry, 400 Sunset, exchanged marriage vows with Ken Smelley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Smelley of Pleasanton, in an afternoon ceremony Saturday at First Baptist Church.

The Rev. B. L. Davis, pastor, officiated at the double ring service as the couple stood before a heart of greenery flanked by baskets of white gladiolas set on columns and lighted by white tapers in a pair of candelabra. Gold rope connected all units of the setting.

Clusters of white rosebuds marked pew ends down the aisle where Miss Gentry was escorted to the altar by her father.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Gentry, was her matron of honor and a cousin, Miss Jeannie Lechner of Greenville, the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Lemons and two friends who had been Miss Gentry's roommates at Baylor University, Miss Lois Fanette of Great Falls, Mont., and Miss Lynnda Harrison of Fort Worth.

Ronald Royal of Pleasanton was Smelley's best man, with James Gentry, Bob Gentry, Ron Ferguson of Fort Worth and Keith Blair of Poteet as groomsmen.

The bridegroom's sister, Cheryl Gay Smelley of Pleasanton, and the bride's cousin, Marvin Sorrells of Dallas, lighted the candles. A small cousin, Kim Rutledge of Athens, was the flower girl and a nephew, Scott Gentry, the ring bearer.

As a prelude to the ceremony, Ben Gollehon sang O Promise Me, with Mrs. Sam Long, organist, as accompanist. A vocal selection during the ceremony was Whither Thou Goest, and in benediction, Wedding Prayer. Mrs. Long played traditional marches.

The slender blue-eyed bride was gowned in peau de sole with lace sleeves and a yoke which shaped from the wide scalloped neckline to a point at the waist. The same lace overlaid the skirt in pannier style and followed the hemline as it widened to a circular chapel train.

Tiers of illusion, held to her hair by a scalloped gem-studded headpiece, floated over her shoulders. She carried a bouquet of gardenias with cascade of feathered mums and a bridal Bible, the gift of Miss Lemons. Her white lace handkerchief belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Smelley of Charlotte.

Blue lace of the attendants' dresses introduced the wedding color note. Bridesmaids wore street length frocks cut on slim lines, with bracelet sleeves and rounded neckline. Hats were of the same material and shoes dyed to match. They carried cascades of blue pom-pom mums. Cheryl Gay Smelley and the flower girl also had blue lace dresses, full-skirted and puff-sleeved.

With their parents, the couple received the good wishes of guests at a reception in the Conkright Building of the church as Mr. and Mrs. Gentry were hosts after the wedding. Mrs. P. W. Tullis of Dallas headed the house party.

Misses Lynna Wilson of Amarillo and Linda Lee Jackson of Las Cruces, former college roommates of the bride, served the cake and punch at opposite ends of a table covered with a white lace cloth, hand-made by the bride's maternal grandmother. The center bouquet was of pom-pom mums.

The cake, decorated with sugar flowers in blue, had a triple base with a colonade holding a smaller cake topped with wedding bells. Miss Linda Poston of Dallas, invited guests to register. Piano music during the reception was by Mrs. Carl Wimberley of Dawn.

Leaving for a wedding trip westward to California, Mrs. Smelley wore a blue knit suit accessorized in white, and the gardenia corsage from her bouquet. The couple will be at home at Pleasanton after June 30.

Both holding degrees from Baylor University, the couple plans to begin graduate study this summer. The bride received her BA degree in elementary education and Spanish at 1966 commencement exercises.

She previously attended Wayland College, Plainview, and West Texas State University, after graduation from Hereford High School in 1963.

The bridegroom is a 1965 graduate of Baylor with a BA in economics. He was a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonio, music fraternity. Now teaching science in Pleasanton Junior High School, he is also director of music and youth at the First Baptist Church of that city.

For the wedding and reception Mrs. Gentry wore a forget-me-not blue knit suit with embroidery motifs on the front. The senior Mrs. Smelley chose a two-piece turquoise knit. Both wore beige accessories and their corsages were gardenias.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Caison House, for the wedding party and out-of-city guests. Blue and white flowers were arranged for the tables by a family friend, Mrs. R. L. Ethridge.

Visitors here for the wedding included Mrs. Mary Poston; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Poston, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Williams, Mrs. Wayne Sorrells, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sorrells and families and P. W. Tullis, all of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Poston and children of Athens, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lechner and family of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. James Poston and daughter, Patty, of Arlington.

Rhodes-Ranspot

The marriage of Miss Barbara Lynn Rhodes and James Michael Ranspot was conducted by the Rev. B. L. Davis, pastor, in First Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon and the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Ruidoso and other New Mexico resort spots.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Dean Rhodes, Harrison Highway, are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Henry Ranspot, Harrison Highway.

Green foliage covered an arch at the church altar with white gladiolas and mums arranged on either side, backing a white prie dieu where the couple knelt for the benediction. Wedding colors of white and gold repeated the colors of the church interior, with its white walls, gold curtains and paneling.

Miss Sheila Rhodes was her sister's maid of honor, and a younger sister, Melinda, her train bearer. Miss Rita Ranspot, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid.

Acting as best man was the bridegroom's brother, Henry Virgil Ranspot, and the groomsmen was Lynn Brisendine. Otis Cook, cousin of the bride, carried the rings for the ceremony in which Mr. Rhodes gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Mary Lynn Gibson, vocal soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Sam Long, who also played organ processional music. Songs were Whither Thou Goest, Wedding Prayer, and Twelfth of Never.

A gown of bridal white textured silk, embroidered in pearl and crystal beads, was worn by brunette Miss Rhodes. The long-sleeved bodice was cut with bateau neckline and the spreading skirt widened into a full train. Back pleats at the waistline were centered with a double Dior bow.

Her silk net veil, poufed above a circlet of pearl beads, fell just to her shoulders. She carried a bouquet of white roses and Frenched mums and wore as an heirloom piece a blue teardrop necklace which belonged to her great-grandmother.

The bridesmaids were dressed alike in gold satin street-length frocks with white lace jackets styled with bracelet sleeves. Their flowers were gold mums and white carnations and their headpieces white veils held by gold bands.

The train bearer's dress was of the lace, in Empire style with a gold satin bow on the bodice.

Hosts for the wedding reception in their home, the bride's parents received guests with the newly married couple and his parents. Misses Randy Hopson, Jo Ann Ferguson and Carmen Betzen served refreshments and Mrs. Patricia Vinton was at the guest registry.

A gold cloth on the table was overlaid with white lace and centered with a bouquet of white roses. Punch was served with the wedding cake.

For traveling Mrs. Ranspot changed to a three-piece costume of beige imported linen with brocade jacket in orange and gold. Accessories were in beige and her corsage was of roses from her bridal bouquet.

After June 15 the couple will be at home at 130 Emma, where the bride is putting her hobby of interior decoration to use. She is a 1966 graduate of Hereford High School, and has been a cheerleader.

Ranspot attended Amarillo College last year and plans to return there in the fall after farming this summer. He completed high school studies here.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook, Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stone, Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Caruna, Mr. and Mrs. Don Lively, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Rhodes and Mrs. D. E. Rhodes, Shallowater; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Johnson, Friona; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Garret, Amarillo; Mrs. W. A. Hardt, Tahoka.

H.D. CHATTER Clothes Talk For Everyone

By Mrs. Argen Draper Home Demonstration Agent

"We develop poise by being well-dressed" is the slogan the clothing committee chose for the clothing shortcourse. The newest thing in the clothing field is the psychological effect of clothing and it is the hope of those who have worked so diligently that people realize this and by developing poise will help every member of the family reach his potential. Psychology affects the mind and behavior.

There are 115 persons registered who are attending regularly; all persons are invited to the program Monday at 2 p. m. in the Bull Barn for Using Sewing Machine Attachments and Putting In a Zipper. Those attending Monday do not need to register nor call, simply attend; the committee tried to make this a bonus for everyone.

Mrs. Dorotha Prowell emphasized the study of one's own figure, so an honest analysis of the best features can be accentuated and the less attractive features can be minimized. Is this deceit or not? At least, it's the practice that is favored by all persons but the ones who are accentuating the positive and eliminating the negative.

Mrs. Prowell discussed six figure types and gave examples of the lines and designs that are the most becoming. The figure types are short, full, full-average, thin, top-heavy and hip heavy. There are no hard and fast rules; it's an individual affair.

The session on color by Mrs. D'Lyle Blackmon was quite interesting. She says we should strive to feel like we look well; persons look best when they can forget themselves; and people look pretty when they feel pretty.

All these are physiological effects of color on the personality. Also, she states that any colors can be combined, if done well.

The entire crowd was in agreement with Mrs. Barbara Truitt when she said that a good fit is essential to the quality look in clothes. Many teachers of clothing are not recommending the muslin pattern or the trial garment in getting a pattern to fit, but many of us still contend this is the best way to get the pattern fitted.

When the pattern fits, sewing is so easy, a garment looks better if it is not handled so much during construction. And who likes to rip out seams? Many garments are ruined by so much ripping. It is one goal of the course this month is to get a pattern that fits perfectly and can be used for more than one garment.

"In the beginning, there were fabrics. The use of fabrics is older than recorded history," this is the opening statement on the Fabric program. Much of this program is in Clothing Action — Fabrics, L-652. The leaflet is available at the Extension Office and is yours for the requesting.

Fiber properties are important in purchasing all articles of fabric because they give valuable clues to performance and care. This handy "purse-size" reference tells what can be expected from fiber families or generic groups of fibers. The generic (or family) name is required by law to appear on the label.

FABRIC FINISHES sometimes alter fiber properties. Read labels for guarantees in performance. Look at the label; it contains valuable information. Also, file the labels for quick reference. Fiber content is often obscured to the extent that only chemical analysis will reveal all of the fibers used in one fabric.

DON'T WE MEET THE nicest people? Lilly Tomasi is a home economist who received training and worked in New Mexico. She is teaching a 4-H Clothing Group. In fact, several 4-H subject matter group leaders are registered for the clothing shortcourse. There are also a number of other home economists in the course.

GRAINLINE IS so important in all areas where fabrics are used. Keeping the grain straight takes much effort in sewing. Another time that grain is important is in hanging clothes on the line.

Put the weight of the garment on the strongest grain, example, in hanging blankets on the line for drying or airing, place the blanket across two lines hanging the blanket with the ends on the line rather than the sides of the blanket.

The lengthwise grain is the stronger and the weight of the blanket is pulling on the threads that will not damage as easily as the crosswise threads.

CONTRAST AND combination highlight the summer season's fashion fabrics. Texture in varied surface interests are the main features. You'll find both the firm, crisply defined textures and the fragile, gracefully flowing fabrics as you shop for ready-made garments and for material by the yard.

Fragile, gauzy chiffon and georgette, breezy bastiste and lawn, dimity, dotted Swiss and chambray are some of the sheer summer fabrics for the feminine look.

Crepes and jerseys are popular for garments designed to fit the body. Pebbly, printed crepes, rayon and silk plisse crepe, and other crinkled crepes capture much attention. Jerseys, in silks, synthetics and weightless wools, travel lightly and comfortably for summer months.

Novelty knits are on the successful list. Most are tricot backed for stability and include such variations as shaker, ribbed "poor boy," lacy crochet, and Italian hand-knitted designs with Jacquard pattern and ribbon detail.

SUMMER SEWING for home makers is well underway. Many new fabrics are available and some of the more familiar ones are back with new finishes and characteristics. Bonded fabrics are plentiful in the form of laces, knits, or woven fabrics with a tricot or taffeta type backing. This backing is attached with a heat locking process and makes underlining a garment unnecessary.

Since the backing makes the straightening of the fabric difficult, check the fabric before purchasing it to see that it is not off-grain. It has usually been preshrunk, so shrinking is not necessary.

Choose a pattern with few seams and without intricate details. Lay the pattern on the right side of the fabric, following a lengthwise rib. It is easier to handle if only one layer is cut at a time. To eliminate bulkiness on bodice fronts, bodice backs or jacket fronts, cut facings as part of the main garment, rather than a separate piece.

For ease in sewing, use a thread suitable for the outer fabric, a medium to light tension and pressure, a medium to long stitch and fine to medium needles.

Since ripped machine stitching may show, hand baste and fit the garment before permanently stitching the seams. If the fabric is extremely bulky, use a matching lining fabric for facings. Understitch collars facings and pocket edges where an underseam might show.

JULY BRIDE-ELECT — Miss Peggy Jean Lemons and John Louis Sooter are to be married July 11 in the Dawn Baptist Church, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lemons, 501 Lee, announce. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Sooter of Dawn. The couple plans to reside in Hereford. Both are graduates of the high school here. (Bradly photo)

Press darts, using a pressing ham to give shape to the garment. Press them toward the center of the garment. Bulky darts can be split and trimmed slightly. Press seams open. If they do not lie flat, top stitching can be added close to the seamline.

When pressing the garment, either a steam iron or a dry iron with damp press cloth can be used. Use a temperature suitable for the outer fabric.

To prevent the hemline from showing on the right side of the garment, attach the hem only to the bonded lining.

BEDBUGS CAN BE controlled by spraying the bed thoroughly, together with the spring and mattress, with a 5 percent DDT household spray. The cracks and crevices of woodwork also should be treated with 5 percent DDT, 2 percent chlordane, or 0.5 percent dieldrin household sprays.

Crickets evidently are moving around as there have been calls about the control. Crickets destroy plants, eat holes in paper, rubber and garments made of cotton, linen, wool or fur. And they might change their diet and eat other things.

They can be controlled by using household spray containing 3 percent chlordane or 0.5 percent dieldrin inside the house. If dusts are preferred, use 6 percent chlordane or 2 percent dieldrin. DDT can be used, but it is thought that crickets have built a tolerance to it.

Letter To The Editor

Many know that there is a Communist league in this country whose loyalty is to Moscow. Many know that among us are leftists; concealed Communists by design and purpose.

Amongst us are atheists, and individuals bent upon the destruction of a government by the people and of the people and for the people. These elements of subversion and destruction are but a tiny minority in the vast number of our population.

Yet, and sadly we point that millions of our citizenry do not know the manner and methods groups can inflict upon this American Republic.

Who knows, perhaps it was a dedicated communist that shot James Meredith so that his action is intended to produce strife and turmoil?

Perhaps and for the same purpose that Lee Harvey Oswald shot but missed Gen. Walker who spoke at the University of Mississippi campus in favor of segregation.

The rioting by students in San Francisco a few years ago against the committee investigating unAmerican activities was discovered to be communist inspired.

It is time for millions of Americans to begin to learn how the communist operate. A book "Masters of Deceit" by J. Edgar Hoover is the best book to recommend for a worthy cause in defense of freedom.

BY WORLD WIDE TRAVELER

Rules Laid Out For Good Tourist

Mrs. Ruth McNeil, manager of World Wide travel department of the Panhandle Plains Auto Club, presented the program in the Thursday meeting of the Hereford Kiwanis Club. SHE SAID that "World Respect can be improved through world travel."

During her talk to the club she suggested a number of ways to improve relations while a tourist abroad.

An interesting sidelight in her talk was that Tokyo, Japan, a city of 10.5 million people, had no street signs at all until 1960 when the Olympics were held there and then the city erected 150 signs, but most of them were in English and the Japanese could not read them at all.

MRS. McNEIL said that it is very important to read about a place before going there and to talk to someone who has been there, otherwise one might miss some of the more important sights.

"As one travels he should see himself as he is and look at others through the same light," she continued, "this will promote a much better understanding."

She said that a person should leave his problems at home while traveling abroad — he should approach adventure with an open mind.

"DON'T BE afraid to be a tourist — always remember that you are the guest and a visitor to these people," she said.

"One should show proper respect for shrines. In many oriental show places one is asked to remove his shoes and he should do it without question," she continued.

A tourist should make or buy pictures while traveling. People are happy that the tourist is enjoying the trip enough to want pictures.

MRS. McNEIL told of another experience she had when she was in a group of tourist on a guided tour in Japan.

One of the group blurted out to the guide, "What do you think of the atomic bomb?"

The guide tried to ignore the tourist, but he blurted out again, "I'll bet you don't like Americans very much after what they did to your country with the atomic bomb."

"I AM too young to remember the atomic blast in World War II; as for my feelings for Americans, I judge them by the tourists from there that I meet," the guide replied.

Mrs. McNeil said that if one will follow these simple rules that they will gain more respect for the world's peoples and they will have more respect for our country.

Conservation Of Natural Beauty Is Responsibility Of Campers

COLLEGE STATION — This is the season for outdoor living. Are you and your family enjoying the wonders of nature by picnicking, camping or motoring?

If we act like responsible Texans, all of us will be able to enjoy the natural beauty of our state, says Mis Lucille Moore, the Extension recreation specialist at Texas A&M University. Our parks, forests and roadsides are our vacation outdoor living rooms. If some of us are careless, all vacationers will suffer, adds the specialist.

Careless vacationers destroy our forests by fires and pollute streams and campsites with discarded rubbish. Plants and animals may be killed by this careless disregard by vacationers. Careless campers may start and erosion by driving off the roads provided for their use.

You will be a good citizen if you follow good outdoor manners when vacationing.

- 1) Keep a trash bag in the car, and use it.
- 2) Carve a stick, not a tree.
- 3) Leave the flowers and plants for others to enjoy. They will die if you pick them, anyway.
- 4) Keep a safe distance from wild animals.
- 5) Be careful with fires. Douse the campfire an extra time.
- 6) Drive on roads.
- 7) Curb the urge to throw things into the water or off high places.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank the nurses of the Deaf-Smith county hospital for their patience and the many nice things they did for me while I was a patient there. Also Dr. Rush and Dr. Mims.

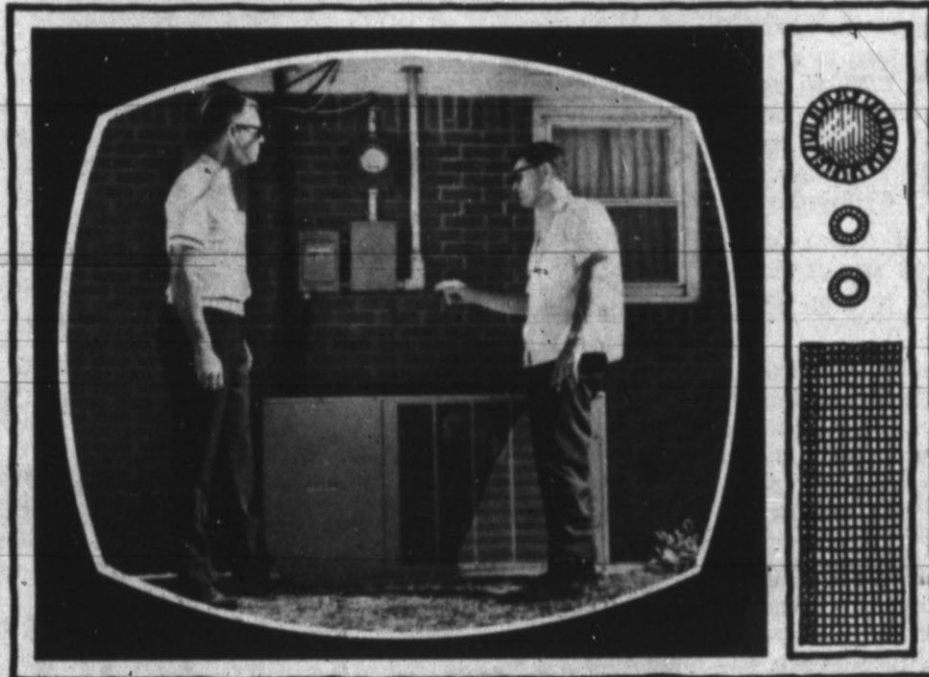

I want to thank the many friends I received cards, letters and flowers from.
May God bless each and every one of you.

Hi Neighbor! What you got there?

How are you Joe? That's my new air conditioner... cools the entire house.

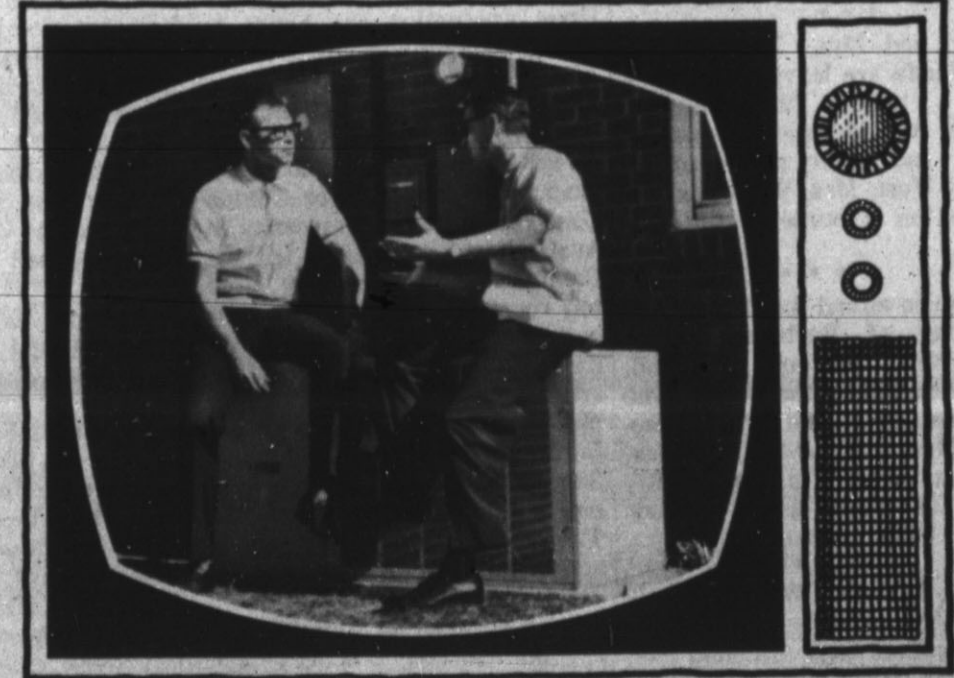

How does it work?

It works great! We've never had it so comfortable... sure can notice the difference when you go in the house. We sleep better at night, too.

Doesn't take up much space does it?

That's one of the things I like about it... not any bigger than a living room chair, see you can sit on it, just about the right height.

Where's the water connection?

That's another thing I like... doesn't use any water, just low cost, dependable electricity and free air. See, just one connection like your refrigerator.

I'll have to admit you're right there. We've had our electric refrigerator for over 15 years and she's still perking right along.

Well, you've got the same dependability in an electric air conditioning unit. There's just no question about it working right.

Be cool with an electric air conditioner. For more information, call your Southwestern Public Service Company manager.

Dixons To Mark Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Dixon, who have lived for practically all the 50 years of their married life in Castro and Deaf Smith Counties, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with open house June 19 at the family home on Ave. K, approximately two miles northeast of Hereford. Their children will be hosts for the afternoon reception from 2 to 4 o'clock, and invite friends of the couple to call. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon request that gifts be omitted. Married at Quanah June 18, 1916, the Dixons made their first home at Plainview, where he was completing studies. After a few months they went to Castro County, which had been his boyhood home. Mrs. Dixon was Miss Beulah Lamberson before her marriage. Their children are Bill Dixon of Springfield, Mo., and Wilbur Dixon of Dallas. Their sons' wives and other members of the family will assist as hosts during the open house hours.

LOMBARDO AND LOUIS NEW YORK KOP — Two orchestras of high contrast, those of Guy Lombardo and "Satchmo" Armstrong, are to take part in "Mardi Gras" the musical booked for display next summer at Long Island's Jones Beach Amphitheater. Lombardo has for several years been producer of the Jones Beach presentations. The 1966 show is to be an extensive revision of the "Mardi Gras" displayed last summer, with a jamboree finale in which both orchestras will participate.

Community Growth Linked With Industry Foundation

Possibly one of the most important developments in this area in 1966 was introduced last week when a C-C study group reported on and recommended an industrial foundation.

These foundations invariably appear in communities which are moving out ahead in the attracting of industry. Their inception came shortly after World War II, when numerous communities suddenly became faced with the moving of military camps and installations, which left the towns high and dry. Marshall, for instance, found the plan so successful that it is now far ahead of the days when its economy depended largely upon government installations; the plan has also achieved surprising results in Longview and in San Angelo.

Details of various plans will emerge when the committee makes its full report, along with specific recommendations for Hereford and Deaf Smith County. Our observations, in a nutshell, are that the community acts through the foundation to encourage and attract industry, even to the point of helping provide locations, plants and other facilities. However, it is not based on a "give-away" theory; instead, it is based on good, sound business through which the foundation actually grows and strengthens as a result of interested collected and capital growth from other holdings.

This approach, we feel, is a plan which Deaf Smith folks will appreciate, because this is the way most of our citizens operate their own businesses. To say the least, the foundation is something which merits a thorough and unbiased investigation. In addition to cooperation from businessmen, especially banks, it demands cooperation from other people all over the community. Its greatest asset lies in the fact that it does work, which has been proven time and again in various towns and cities over Texas and, for that matter, over the entire Southwest.

Meanwhile, Hereford is already a leader in Panhandle industry. We are recognized as the vegetable processing center of West Texas, and the giant Holly plant is one of the major industries which dot the Panhandle empire. In addition, Hereford boasts some 15 to 20 smaller industries which add much to the community in the form of pay rolls, services and goods.

All of these things indicate that the time is ripe for an industrial foundation. Without doubt, its successful operation could make more difference to us than any other development in 1966.

Two Views Of Mergers Posed

Here is a quiz for businessmen whose companies are considering mergers or acquisitions. Which statement below better describes the Government's attitude?

The merger won't be allowed, under antitrust laws, if it is a part of a trend toward concentration, even if your company and its partner together have as little as 7.5% of the market in their area, and no harm to competition is proved.

Or, the merger will be allowed, despite its being part of a trend, if an examination of your individual situation shows no reason to believe competition will be impaired.

As you probably suspected, this is a trick question: Both answers are correct. Or at least both were supported last week, the first in a Supreme Court decision and the second in a Federal Trade Commission examiner's findings. The FTC official's decision is subject to review by the whole commission. It would be too bad if the panel reversed him, because his is by far the more sensible conclusion.

For the Supreme Court, in a decision that staggeringly increases the Justice Department's power under the Clayton Antitrust Act, held illegal a merger of two Los Angeles-area supermarket chains simply on grounds that each was a "highly successful, expanding and aggressive" company and that mergers in the area had presented "exactly the threatening trend toward concentration" that Congress intended the act and its amendments to halt.

The majority opinion, written by Justice Black, seemed to stress particularly the decline in the number of grocery-store owners and the fear that small businesses were being driven out by the giants.

Yet, Justice Stewart observed in a dissent, the Court appears to have turned its back on the two basic principles that have long guided antitrust decisions:

First, that a merger be judged "in light of the contemporary economic context of its industry," and, second, that the purpose of the law is "to protect competition not to protect competitors."

The fact, as anyone familiar with food marketing in Southern California could testify (and several did), is that competition there is, in Mr. Stewart's word, "pugnacious." The industry has been characterized by a sharp growth in chain stores, and by such symptoms of turbulence as frequent price wars.

Furthermore, there have been no indications at all that competition has decreased since the ill-fated merger was accomplished in 1960.

As for the charge that small businessmen are being gobbled up by the chains, Mr. Stewart puts that one to rest also. Noting that "the most aggressive competitors against the larger retail chains are frequently the operators of single stores," he cites testimony from several such small businessmen.

Said one of them: "Any aggressive and able operator like myself can out-compete the store of any of the chains because of personalized service, better labor relations, and being in personal charge of the store and seeing that it is run properly." Another commented that he would actually rather operate near a chain than near an other independent.

Most significantly, and again a point made in the dissent, the antitrust laws were not intended and should not be used to prevent the growth of supermarkets at the expense of small, specialized "Mom and Pop" stores, such as meat markets or bakery shops. That growth reflects consumer demand for the convenience of one-stop shopping and has nothing to do with monopolies and trusts. Testimony before the Court suggests Southern California is still a fertile place for a single owner to establish a supermarket-type grocery store.

In contrast to the Court majority's thinking, FTC examiner John Lewis evidently took into consideration just such changing market patterns in recommending dismissal of antitrust charges against two cement companies that acquired local New York ready-mixed-concrete concerns.

For years businesses dealing in concrete and its chief ingredient, cement, were separate in New York. In 1958, however, the biggest concrete firm in the area built its own cement plant, starting the trend toward integration. Through the mergers, the two other concrete companies in question acquired comparable capability, so the effect was to increase competition, not to lessen it. To the FTC examiner, if not the Supreme Court, it was the end result that mattered.

That, of course, should be all that matters to anyone. Whatever the Justice Department and the High Court may think, the antitrust laws were supposed to promote a healthy, vigorous economy, not to preserve old and outmoded patterns of business.

Who Do We Heed?

The U. S. government is probably the biggest business in the history of mankind, and we grant that it is entitled to make plenty of mistakes. It is not surprising, in fact, that administration takes sometimes more than half of our tax dollar. These things most of us accept and pretty well take for granted, but we do get upset occasionally when one bureau recommends things which are outlawed and illegal.

What we have in mind is the all-out drive to employ youth during the vacation period. We read appeals, even get letters, from one department to hire these youngsters, and we would like nothing better. It is a wonderful idea, and most of the kids really want to work. However, if we heed these pleas, we violate the child labor laws which means "fine, imprisonment, or both."

The guy who said people are getting smarter was right. These days you have to have the knowledge of the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer to legally operate a hamburger stand.

Washington, D. C. — Taxpayers, here are some examples of what your government has been doing with your money lately.

Item: The Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) News reported on May 22 that 16 boys at Dos Palos Union High School there will be able to attend their Junior Prom, at your expense. Poverty funds are being used to rent their tuxedos and to pay their dinner bill, including tips. Cost to you was only $290, but who knows how many other poverty fighters decided to use your money in similar fashion?

Item: On December 1, 1965, President Johnson announced he was reducing Federal employment of civilians. On May 30, 1965, Sen. John J. Williams (R., Del.) reported that records of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures show that new Federal employees are being added at the rate of 675 per day.

Item: Forty House Republicans joined in sending a $32 telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, protesting his administration of farm subsidy programs. Freeman answered by wire with a 730-word message to each signer, costing an estimated $2,400.

Item: In Wolfe County, Kentucky, $8 out of every $9 of income stems from the Federal government.

Item: A critic of the poverty program, Rep. Thomas M. Pelly (R., Wash.), claims that the Office of Economic Opportunity has spent almost $2 billion, mainly to attack the school dropout problem. During the same period, 680,000 boys and girls left high school before graduation, an increase of 75,000 over the previous year.

Item: $140,000 in poverty funds was spent in cities this spring in a doorbell-ringing campaign to find and persuade those eligible for Medicare to sign up to qualify for benefits.

Item: Starting salary for policemen in the District of Columbia is $6,010 a year, or $115.58 per week. There is a constant shortage and newspaper advertising is purchased in out-of-town newspapers to attract candidates.

Item: Washington's Dulles International Airport is operating at only about 20 percent of capacity and lost $7.3 million last year. Main problem is its location 27 miles out in the Virginia suburbs, a 40-minute, $13 cab ride from the White House.

Item: The last 11 Budgets submitted by the President to Congress have predicted an aggregate deficit of $13.2 billion. But the actual total deficit in that period was $29.9 billion higher than the estimates, or $43.1 billion.

Item: Rep. Edith Green (D., Ore.) reported that in fiscal 1965, the U. S. spent $5.28 million to improve tobacco farming and marketing techniques, plus subsidies to tobacco growers of over $1.3 million. In the same period, the U. S. spent $3 1/3 million on researching-tobacco health hazards to link smoking and cancer.

Item: Senator Frank Lausche (D., Ohio) noted that a Stanford University researcher received $1.1 million in Federal funds to study alcoholism. After five years, the Senator said, the researcher recommended that parents of teen-agers should begin serving them alcohol, that taboos against liquor advertising on radio and television be eliminated, and that family drinking scenes be depicted on TV.

Government Wheat Loan Set At $2 Per Bushel

The government loan rate for 1956 wheat has been set at $2 per bushel for Deaf Smith County reports Faust Collier.

New members of the school tax equalization board were appointed Tuesday night during the regular meeting of the school board.

At least 650 of the required 816 signatures had been turned in by qualified voters on the local option election petition by press time Wednesday.

Twenty-two Hereford businessmen Tuesday pondered what action should follow the allocation of $139,500 in federal funds for construction of an airport here.

Housewives who wait that the new synthetic fibers are more than they are worth, will get a break this week at a laundry demonstration.

W. L. Leavy, manager of the Hereford office of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company told a Brand reporter this week that architectural designs for construction of the new two-story telephone building were still being processed.

The Bull Barn is about as easy to peddle to Deaf Smith County folks as would be a white elephant. County commissioners Monday began anew discussions on disposing of the fire-damaged structure after no "buying" bids were received in answer to their advertisement.

An 18,000 acre slash in the county's wheat acreage allotment for the coming year was scheduled this week by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Hereford schools' growing pains were examined at length Tuesday night by members of the school board and staff.

An ambush is the coward's way. It does not take any guts to waylay an unarmed man. The attack upon James Meredith is a travesty upon the American sense of fair play, but then the South has a peculiar sense of fair play when it comes to the Negro.

However one feels about the Negro struggle for civil rights, however one feels about the wisdom of Meredith's march, no one can justify armed attacks upon unarmed and often innocent persons. Even in the law of the old West a man was given a fighting chance, unless the gunman was an unscrupulous renegade.

The senseless killings on both sides is a resort to a primitive instinct in man. But it does not solve the issue. Killing an "uppity nigger" or getting back at the whites by mobbing an innocent bystander only fans the flames of bitterness and suspension.

Grasshopper numbers have reached a moderate level in many Collingsworth County pastures, County Agent Sam Helmers said Monday, June 6. This means that counts made recently average 8 to 14 grasshoppers per square yard.

"Areas to the west of us in Floyd, Briscoe and Armstrong Counties have reached an abundant count which is based on more than 38 grasshoppers per square yard," he said.

Actually, no one ever believed they would be a success and displace the horse as a means of transportation. In 1906, when I was a matter of seven years old, a real estate agent who had just bought an automobile asked my father to go for a ride with him. When they got out to where there was a big cleared space, he whipped the machine up to twenty miles an hour and they both said they had never expected to travel that fast in their lifetime. And as they discussed the matter they decided the thing was dangerous and both made the statement that the automobile was just a fad and would pass as other fads had passed. My father passed away in 1922 and even to his dying day he never trusted an automobile although he did ride in them.

Bailey county cotton farmers are not interested in selling their cotton acreages to cotton farmers in other counties.

This was evident this past week after cotton farmers in this county voted down the proposal 395 to 316. This means 711 cast votes in the referendum.

A "yes" vote by a two-third majority would have been necessary to permit transfer of acreages to other counties in Texas.

This past year, a number of cotton farmers bought allotments from farmers in other parts of the state which had voted to permit sale of allotments. This county, incidentally, probably will "buy acreage again since this year's allotment totals only some 63,000 acres.

A wheat crop which suffered both from late freezes and too late moisture should begin to be harvested sometime within a week, depending on the weather in the next few days. Grain men anticipate some cutting by mid-week, or possibly earlier.

By the following week beginning Monday, June 13, full scale harvest should be underway in this area, provided that additional rains do not fall to slow the ripening process.

The stalks were still green enough in the recent high winds to escape any serious damage, at least in the majority of fields, but as the grain gets riper a recurrence could reap heavy damage.

Elevator men generally view the drought as the most serious deterrent to a good crop, despite other factors which could have adversely affected the grain production.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has heard of the latest educational proposal, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: According to an article I read in a newspaper which a bunch of high school kids threw out of a car as they drove by my bindweed farm the other day whooping and hollering over the start of their summer vacation, a special committee sponsored by the National Education Association has come out with the proposal that all children ought to start school at age 4.

The committee reported that there are over 8 million four-and-five-year-olds in this country, they're capable of being taught, and they ought to be in school. Add two grades below what's now the first grade and get these kids off the streets or out of their backyards or play-pens or wherever they are and into school, although the committee didn't use exactly that language.

While I hadn't known before we had a problem of 4-year-olds ripping around on their tricycles, still it's a fact that they do get under foot, and if you can turn them over to somebody else at 4 instead of 6, that's two years gained. Vacations are not just for children.

I have not heard it proposed yet that when the starting age is lowered to 4, the draft age will automatically drop to 16, but I suppose it will follow, if some way can be worked out to give a boy of that age a license to drive a tank. Naturally the retirement age also will drop a corresponding amount, which I'm sure in favor of as I'm always thought it was ridiculous to wait till you're too old to enjoy it to retire.

After we get the 4-year-olds in school and eliminate the 3-months summer vacation, with night classes for all pupils at least four nights a week, plus some school-sponsored activities on the weekends, raising kids will be a snap. Nearly anybody ought to be able to stand his own kids the first three years of their lives.

Yours faithfully,
I A

RURAL ELECTRICITY helps America grow...

Placing power lines where they are needed is fun for a child, but it is a big job for the nation's power industry.

Today, consumer-owned electric systems such as ours serve 54% of the rural population, and the demand doubles every seven years.

Meeting the rising power needs and preparing for tomorrow takes the best efforts of the entire power industry. In our area we are proud to be carrying our share of the load.

Beef Quality Shifts Evident With Emphasis On Cutability

COLLEGE STATION — Noteworthy shifts are taking place in the beef market, according to a recent talk here by Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist at Texas A&M University.

Uvacek was speaking to the National Advisory Commission on Food and Fiber.

For years cattlemen have aimed at producing Prime grade carcasses to get greatest profit. But today, with increased emphasis on cutability, the lower grades of Choice and Good may be worth more, said Uvacek.

In the Southwest there is a noticeable shift toward a heavier weight slaughter calf, he said. At the same time, in the North and East, the shift is toward a lighter weight heavy beef carcass. But, he said, both of these trends are for Good and Choice grade carcasses. The beef carcass of the future may be somewhere in between — about a low Choice quality.

There is a strong demand for low Choice carcasses already, he said. The word "Choice" itself has some merchandising ability, and of course, the grade designation has a value, too.

In the past, he said, feed grains have been in surplus, so the trend was to feed as much of the grain through an animal as possible. The picture now, however, has almost reversed itself, and we can possibly even see some feed grain shortages developing.

This means the emphasis will shift from marketing grain through the animal to feeding the most efficient animal possible.

The type of animal that is efficient in the feedlot, and produces a desirable type of carcass at the least cost, will be the animal of the future. This will be a meat type steer, the A&M specialist said.

The industry trend toward the goal of this light weight low Choice carcass also conforms with the standards required to get the federal grade, he concluded.

Pilot Play Program Pays Youths As Junior Opportunity Counselors

Washington, D. C. — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Stan Musial, head of the President's Commission on Physical Fitness, announced a contract signing for an Operation Champ program in Houston, Texas. This is one of 10 such programs to be operated across the country.

The second of the pilot recreational and physical fitness programs for youngsters 6-16 years old will involve 250 enrollees of the Neighborhood Youth Corps in Houston, Texas. The first such program, for youngsters in Washington, D. C., was announced May 16 by Vice President Humphrey.

The NYC enrollees — 150 boys and 100 girls — will work as recreation aides in the 12-week, city-wide Operation Champ program in Houston. The project begins early this month.

NYC ENROLLEES will earn $1.25 an hour.

The Labor Department, which administers the NYC, is providing $138,280 for the Texas program. Administrator Jack Howard of the NYC signed the contract.

The recreational aides will be supervised by 25 junior counselors, all graduates of the NYC program and school dropouts, and 8 adult supervisors.

Junior counselors will earn $80 a week and the adult supervisors will be paid $125 a week for the 12-week demonstration project.

Sponsor of the Houston program is V. W. Miller, superintendent of the Harris County Department of Education.

OTHER CITIES selected for this summer's $2.5 million Operation Champ program are: Washington, D. C., Los Angeles, New York City, Baltimore, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, San Antonio, Texas.

The Labor Department will provide $1.5 million and the Office of Economic Opportunity's Community Action Program $1 million for the pilot 10 projects.

Operation Champ was launched this year by the National Youth Opportunity Committee chaired by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Youngsters learn sports skills and body coordination.

Former Resident Given Farming Award In N.M.

A former Hereford resident, Bill Reinauer, was among three farmers named Outstanding Young Farmers of New Mexico, recently.

Reinauer farms near Estancia, N. M. The Estancia Jaycees chose him and entered him in the state contest this last spring.

He attended Hereford schools and studied agriculture at Texas Technological College before moving to New Mexico. He, his wife, Teena, and their three children have lived at Estancia two years where he operates a vegetable farm.

Reinauer's parents are the E. C. Reinauers of Dawn. Mrs. Reinauer's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Witherspoon of Hereford.

Dairy Prospects Good For June

COLLEGE STATION — Dairy men are going into June Dairy Month in a strong position relative to future prices, says A. M. Meekman, Extension dairy specialist at Texas A&M University.

The continuing decline in the number of dairy cows, it was 5.6 percent from January 1, 1965 to January 1, 1966, and a slow down in the increase of milk production per cow make the future price situation good, he says.

Last year, total U. S. milk production declined 1.5 billion pounds below the record of 126.6 billion pounds the previous year. In Texas, Meekman says, milk production increased by 27 million pounds over a year ago.

The virtual elimination of any surplus of manufactured milk products has added further strength to the dairy market, notes the specialist. This was probably a factor in the decision to raise the support price of manufacturing milk to $3.50 per hundred.

THE CHURCH I LOVE LOVES ONE ANOTHER

(40th in a series)

Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God, and he who loves is born of God and knows God. He who does not love does not know God; for God is love. (1 John 4:7,8)

GENE BOOKS

Often times there is a wide gap between what the world calls love and true love Christians should have for one another. Hollywood love is often nothing more than lustful appetite of the flesh craving to be satisfied. While the love we should have for one another is patient and kind; love is not jealous or boastful; it is not arrogant or rude. Love does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice at wrong, but rejoices in the right. Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. (1 Corinthians 13:4-7)

"Love does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." (Romans 13:10)

In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only Son into the world, so that we might live through him. In this is love, not that we loved God but that he loved us and sent his son to be the expiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we also ought to love one another. No man has ever seen God; if we love one another, God abides in us and his love is perfected in us. (1 John 4:9-11)

"If any one says, 'I love God,' and hates his brother, he is a liar; for he who does not love his brother whom he has seen, cannot love God whom he has not seen. And this commandment we have from him, that he who loves God should love his brother also." (1 John 4:20-21)

RECITAL SET TODAY—Jerry McCathern will be presented in recital, playing both piano and trumpet selections, by Mrs. Ellis Coombes and David Ritter, his instructors for the respective instruments, at 3 p.m. today in the high school auditorium. The public is invited for the program in which McCathern will be assisted by Nicky Osborn, pianist, Jim Gardner of Amarillo, trumpeter, and the Hereford High School Wind Ensemble directed by Ben Gollehon. Music Study Club members will be hostesses afterward at a reception in Community Center for the young music student who has won numerous honors and a music scholarship to the University of Houston.

Live Longer; Be On Defensive

COLLEGE STATION, June — Be a defensive driver whether you are on a vacation trip or just performing routine daily driving tasks, suggests Mrs. Elsie Short, home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Traffic fatality reports show that driver error contributes to four out of five fatal accidents. "This fact should make each of us aware of our responsibility as an operator of an automobile," Mrs. Short adds.

Seat belts have saved lives and reduced injuries when accidents occur, but they don't in themselves prevent accidents, she emphasizes.

"Watch out for the other driver" means to be a defensive driver. You must assume responsibilities for errors that might be made by another motorist and take positive action to prevent them, says the specialist.

You can assume the responsibility of helping other drivers to become aware of the importance of being a defensive driver, too. Help others to recognize the need for raising the level of their driving skills high enough to survive in a complex transportation system, Mrs. Short says.

You might even stimulate enrollment in the National Safety Council's Driver Improvement Program, or in a safe-driving program sponsored by a local club or civic organization.

Safety in your automobile and at home can be planned in all of your home projects with members of your family, the specialist suggests.

Hereford Men Enter State Rifle Shoot

Joe Lyons, Ruben Knox and Jim Cramer traveled to Amarillo Thursday to enter the state rifle association meet.

KNOX AND Cramer were eliminated in early rounds and Lyons was eliminated in a shoot off.

Lyons broke 50 straight targets at the 16-foot yard line.

Only four shooters of 82 were successful at breaking this many consecutive targets.

Lyons lost in a shoot off with Leon Blakely of Kermit.

ALL OF these men are members of the Hereford Gun Club which holds practice shoots each Sunday at the club's range at the city air port.

The club also sponsors a registered shoot at the local range on the last Sunday of each month during the season.

CHURCH PROTEST THE CHRISTIAN MASK
NEW YORK (AP) — Since man does not really know who he is, he must assume a mask in order "to affirm his existence as an individual," the Rev. Martin C. D'Arcy, a Roman Catholic philosopher, writes in a new book, "Dialogue with Myself," published by Trident Press.

He adds that in Christianity, this masquerade takes on a deep spiritual nature in which a man takes on the mask of Christ, and by doing so becomes more Christ-like.

Halfway Names New Farm Head

HALFWAY — Howard Malstrom, B. S., M. S., Associate Soil Scientist at the High Plains Research Foundation was awarded a fellowship grant at the University of California at Davis where he received his Masters degree in 1964. He accepted the appointment to pursue higher education and achieve his Doctor of Philosophy degree in mineral nutrition.

Malstrom's assignments at the Foundation were research in trace elements, tissue testing, fertilizer research and crop variety studies with Dr. Arthur F. Gohlke, Principal Soil Scientist. Malstrom resigned his position at the Foundation on June 1st to accept the new appointment.

REUBEN CORGILL was appointed Farm Manager at the High Plains Research Foundation June 1st succeeding Ed Dudley who resigned to accept the management of a large farm. Corgill was on the staff at the Foundation when it was organized in 1957. He returned to the Foundation in February of 1966 as a Technician in soybean production. He had left the Foundation in early 1964 on account of illness and was manager of the Holiday House Motel in Childress until his return.

DR. EARL H. COLLISTER, Executive Vice-President of the Foundation in announcing Corgill's promotion said, "We are happy to have Corgill rejoin our staff. He deserved the promotion because of his devotion to the Foundation and pride in its achievements along with his knowledge of the intricate methods of operating a scientific research farm."

Timbuktu, the fabled Sahara city once jealously guarded against Europeans, still sharpens its daggers for infidels, but only to sell as souvenirs. The most romantic town in the African republic of Mali, Timbuktu has dwindled into a minor trading center, but spruced-up hotel facilities refresh visitors delighting in its mud houses, minarets and camel caravans.

How To Measure Borrowing I. Q.

COLLEGE STATION—How's your I. Q. when it comes to borrowing money?

Here are ten money tips which help you become more adept. They're suggested by Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension-home management specialist at Texas A&M University. The tips are from the National Association of Credit Unions.

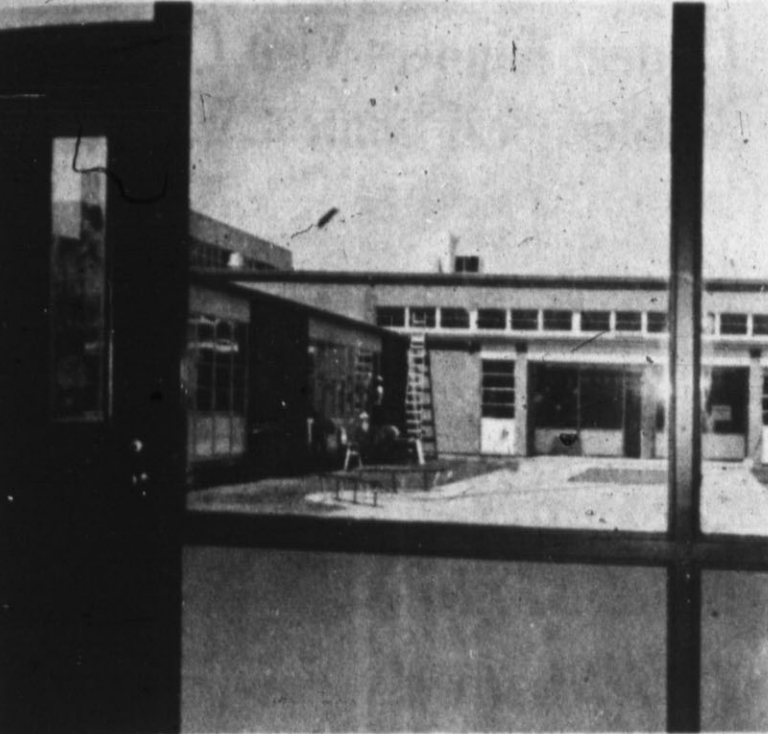

- 1) First, no matter how good the interest rate sounds, find out what the credit or loan will actually cost you in money.
- 2) Before you sign any papers, make sure all the figures are entered correctly. Never leave any blank spaces to be filled in later.
- 3) Question all insurance charges. Find out what kind of insurance you are buying, and exactly what it covers. Many different insurance "load" practices have been reported.
- 4) On installment-purchases you may owe the payments to some other firm, not the dealer. Find out who it is, and if it is a reputable firm. If you have any doubts, check.
- 5) Read the note or contract to see what penalties are imposed for late payments. Some penalties are exorbitant.
- 6) See if there are any other extra charges specified in the note or contract. Don't skip the fine print or you may be sorry.
- 7) Read what is said about repossession? What repossession charges can be levied against you? This is important.
- 8) Understand clearly what security you are giving. On a purchase, find out if it includes other merchandise you have bought previously. Above all, look to see if the note or contract gives your creditor the right to collect your salary.
- 9) Make sure you do not sign away any of your legal rights or guarantees, such as the right to refuse merchandise that is not as promised.
- 10) See if there is a provision for a refund of interest or carrying charges if you complete the payments ahead of schedule.

New Soybean Seed Substitute Crop For Early Summer Planting

HALFWAY — A number of calls have been received at the High Plains Research Foundation inquiring about the availability of Foundation seed of the new PATTERSON soybean. When asked about the supply of seed, Al Schrandt, Business Manager, said, "The Foundation seed are still available at the Foundation's research farm at Halfway."

Many farmers are raising the PATTERSON soybean for registration and certification in 1966. Foundation seed were released for the first time this year.

Dr. Earl Collister, Executive Vice-President of the Foundation, said in response to inquiry, "The new short season PATTERSON soybean matures in about 105 days under normal growing conditions."

IT WAS DEVELOPED especially for the farmer who might have the misfortune to lose a cotton crop through adverse weather conditions when too late to replant. The new PATTERSON soybean is also being planted this year following wheat. The PATTERSON variety can be harvested in time to permit the planting of winter wheat this fall. Many farmers are planning to use this system of double cropping this year.

More information about the PATTERSON soybean variety can be obtained from the High Plains Research Foundation, P. O. Drawer 1870, Plainview, Texas.

REAL SLOW STARTER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Dick Stuart, new first baseman for the New York Mets, missed a low throw and when the ball skipped past him he never chased it.

Stuart had been telling people he was a slow starter each spring. Manager Wes Westrum, however, plans to fine a player "for something like that during the season."

The new skipper of the Mets will treat Stuart with kid gloves but he also expects Stuart to use his oar in a while — and also his legs.

This is the open season for summer visiting, and somebody from clear across the country may drop in on you just any day — unless you have already left on your way to drop in on somebody. It's an old American custom, set off every year by the close of school.

Family reunions flourish; conventions lure members of this or that to far corners of the state; old home towns hold homecoming days to bring back former residents who want to meet other former residents. Not to mention vacation trips that put the whole country on the move.

If you don't have road maps scattered around the living room, or aren't on your way somewhere, you just aren't normal right now.

MR. AND MRS. COY Phillips came home Wednesday after a visit with their daughter and her husband, Linda and Terry Higgins, and the six-year-old Higgins daughter at Dallas.

They traveled farther than that, over into southwestern Arkansas to enjoy views of the wooded hills and visit friends, also down into the Texas hill country and the state capital.

THE J. B. ELLISTONS have had visitors this week, their son Francis, better remembered hereabouts as Scoop, and his wife, Sue, who traveled some 1600 miles from Wallace, Idaho, over near the Washington border.

They had been requested to bring the two great-granddaughters whom Mr. and Mrs. Elliston have not seen, but considering the difficulties of a long trip with two youngsters, they decided not to. In Elliston's words, they plain "chickened out."

MAJ. AND MRS. JOHN A. Newsom and their daughters, Vickie and Deborah, arrived Saturday from Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., for a vacation visit with his parents, the G. W. Newsoms, other relatives and friends.

His brother and sister-in-law, Wayne and Pat Newsom, were hosts at their home Saturday evening with a steak fry at which members of the family gathered to welcome the visitors.

The Floridians are visiting also in the home of her sister, Mrs. Harvey Hammett, and will go to Cotton Center to see her parents, the J. W. Barretts, and other kin.

ANN SHUVALL left Thursday for a summer in the New England states. She will study in a writers' colony in New Hampshire, and plans to spend the month of July at Bridgeport, Conn., where husband Andy will join her for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Helene Schouvaloff.

They are looking forward to visiting and sightseeing over that part of the nation, and Ann hopes for some interesting finds in antique shops.

Can't think of anything that looks more crisp, fresh and summery than striped seersucker with bright and white colors. Mrs. Dexter Lillie looked serenely cool on one of our recent sizzling days in cucumber green stripes.

Joyce Bezner of Hereford and Jerry Aberant of Nazareth are among more than eighty young people visiting Washington, D. C. this week on the Government in Action Youth Tour sponsored by the rural electric systems of Texas.

The three-bus caravan left Dallas June 14th, via Knoxville, Memphis, and Texarkana. Four participants, winners of oratorical contests sponsored by local electric cooperatives, will have a set of colored slides of their trip for showing to any interested group.

Messenger Club Trip Is Planned

A club trip to Clovis, N. M. June 24 was planned by Messenger Home Demonstration Club members at a meeting Friday afternoon in Mrs. Loyd Sevier's home. The group will meet at 10 a. m. in the home of Mrs. Elmer Northcutt and go to Clovis for lunch and a visit to a youth center to which the club will contribute this year as a service project.

Mrs. H. D. Buse presented the program Friday, a study of economical shopping practices titled The Market Basket. Mrs. John Jones received a prize in a game played during the recreation period, and Mrs. G. E. Pinkerton held the floating prize.

Guests were Mrs. Phillip Miller and Mrs. John Hill. Other members attending were Mmes. Bill Page, S. N. Thweatt and J. E. Sorrells. Club members entertained ear lier in the week at a Layette shower in the Sorrells home for Mrs. Page's three-week-old daughter, Lisa Anne. Cookies, punch and coffee were served after games and opening of the gift packages.

Present with the small honorée and her mother were Mmes. Eldred Brown, Ernest Brown, Jerry Northcutt, George Bumpass of Hereford, Buse, Elmer Northcutt and Jones.

CADDIE FOR MAYS PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Willie Mays, who has played more than 150 games, a season with the Giants since 1964, is looking for more rest during the coming National League season. He has a caddie.

Don Landrum, obtained in a deal with the Chicago Cubs last December, will play center field often in the late innings when the San Francisco Giants have a lead.

"Landrum is a fine center fielder," says Mays. "If he could hit a little better he would be a regular on most teams." Landrum, a .239 career hitter, has played with the Phils, Cardinals and Cubs.

Mrs. Joe Shollenbarger and son, Randall
... with souvenirs of Holland

ARMY OFFICER'S DAUGHTER

Changes Were Normal Part Of Girl's Life

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Growing up in an army officer's family with frequent moves taken as a matter of course, Mrs. Joe Shollenbarger spent her schooldays in homes from coast to coast with one interval overseas. In her home at 243 Beach the attractive brunette housewife has souvenirs of them all.

THE SHOLLENBARGERS are relative newcomers to Hereford. An accountant, Shollenbarger came here from Dallas to be associated with his cousin, Edwin Axe, in an accounting firm. The couple married while both were students in Abilene Christian College, the end of a varied scholastic career for Mrs. Shollenbarger.

Her father is Maj. Randall Biles, retired, now of St. James, Mo. The family was in St. Louis when she was born, then when her father was assigned to combat service during World War II she went with her mother and brother to Milan, Tenn., home of her mother's family.

They lived there while Major Biles was on duty in North Africa and Italy, and there Mrs. Shollenbarger started school. During the campaign in Italy her father was wounded by a shot in the knee, and returned to assignments in the U. S.

TWO INTERVALS at Camp Campbell, Ky., and one at Yuma Ariz. followed before he was sent overseas in the late 1950's and the family went with him to live three years in Trieste, at that time a free territory.

The children attended a school for dependents of American military personnel, but Mrs. Shollenbarger received a wider education during those grade-school years as the family took advantage of every opportunity to travel over Europe.

Vacations and shorter trips took them as far as Denmark, into Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Italy and on a memorable tour of Holland which greatly impressed the schoolgirl. She likes to recall the clean towns, trim fields and the windmills of that country, especially one village where residents still wore the traditional dress and wooden shoes of old Holland.

SHE LIKED ITALY, with its splendid buildings and art works the hotels where they stayed, each room with its balconied window; the markets with only one type of food for sale in each; and as the high point, a visit to the Vatican for an audience with Pope Pius.

In Germany the family saw the beautiful Black Forest country, Hitler's hideaway at Berchtesgarden, and extensive salt mines where they walked, through sparkling underground corridors.

Much war damage remained in the places where World War II battles had been fought, and the Biles family went to the sites of battles in which Major Biles had taken part. The visitors saw buildings, highways and bridges under repair, and some of the Nazi concentration camps.

In Trieste they lived in a large villa on the slope of a mountain overlooking the Adriatic Sea. The grounds were divided into three gardens, each on a different level, and they walked up 72 steps from the lower garden to the house. Rooms were huge; Mrs. Shollenbarger had a baby grand piano in her bedroom "and it wasn't crowded," she adds.

BACK IN THE STATES the family was in Ft. Lewis, Wash. until Major Biles was sent to Korea after the end of hostilities there. His wife accompanied him to the Orient but the children spent this interval back in Tennessee. Mrs. Shollenbarger entered high school there.

She had two years in Fort Knox, Ky., and completed her senior year in San Francisco. A student in the City College of San Francisco a year, she decided to go to ACC because friends were going to that church school. So began her residence in Texas. She met her husband at ACC and they were married at the beginning of their senior year. After graduation he did work on a master's degree at Texas A & M and she enjoyed travel over southeast Texas, another section of the nation. Living in Dallas was a happy experience for the well-traveled young wife, and she also likes this different part of Texas.

SHE TREASURES numerous articles collected during her residence in Europe, and by her mother in the Orient. There are demi-tasse spoons from many cities, all kept in a special case except one that her small son, Randall, likes to eat with.

Bavarian china, antique silverware, a table service of bronze and wood from Bangkok, a ring set with numerous different stones in the "queen's design" from Thailand, all are among her belongings, and she looks forward to a future larger home where they can be properly displayed.

Her parents are visiting the Shollenbargers this weekend and she prepared some of her father's favorite dishes to serve Saturday in a family celebration of his birthday.

IN RADIO MONTH' EVENT

Radio Managers For Day End Up Snowed, Cajoled, Pigeon-Holed

Radio station KPAN broadcast what it termed "a world first" Thursday as winners of its "Manager for a Day" contest took over controls to offer listeners a change of pace in programming.

The change of context during the station's broadcast day developed into unusual — but interesting for the KPAN audience as the temporary managers promoted a vacation contest, attempted to end the career Clyde — the stupidest dog in the west — and even got the true-life station manager to work at the hour of 6 (yawn) a. m. RESPONSIBLE for all the goings-on were Dr. H. A. Cavness, contest winner, and assistant managers for a day, John Gilliland and the Rev. Eugene Brink.

It all started when the managers for a day ordered station owner Clint Formby to "sign-on" at 6 a. m. — to the delight of regular station employees.

Not long thereafter came the sound of gunshots over the airways as the infamous rabbit dog Clyde apparently met his match at the hands of Doc Cavness' shotgun however, station employees had the hound around again Friday).

To win a vacation contest, entrants were to guess how much snow the city would receive during the day — with the contest being abandoned in the case of a tie.

About all that resulted, however, was that the managers for the day bore the blunt end of a "snow job" by one of the listeners, resulting in laughs aplenty.

THE MANAGER for a day shenanigans were staged by the station in connection with its observance of National Radio Month.

Cavness, a dentist, pulled up his sleeves and sunk his teeth into the programming promotion during the day, while the Rev. Brink kept things under control and Gilliland, of Gilliland Funeral Home, was prepared for any emergency.

Actually, the fill-in managers did so well, station officials said, that some measures had to be taken to control quality — such as providing temporary announcers with hand-written announcements to read over the air instead of the usual neatly typed copy. The purpose was accomplished and just a few slips resulted.

At the close of the broadcast day, the managers for a day ended their radio careers — at least temporarily — and station officials declined to comment regarding the chances for an encore.

NO SNOW! — Dr. H. A. Cavness, left, winner of the radio station KPAN "Manager for a Day" contest, and KPAN announcer Don Cheney search the skies Thursday afternoon in search of snow which had been predicted by entrants in a contest who guessed how much snow the city would receive during the day. Visitors Return To Ethiopian Job And Home

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald V. Machan and children left Wednesday for their home in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, after a month's visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wade.

Machen, an employe of TWA, is director of production for the Ethiopian Airlines which has flights to Madrid, Cairo, Nairobi and Athens. The family flew to the United States by way of Madrid.

The Machens say life is pleasant in Addis Ababa, describing the country as beautiful and climate in the high elevation as much like that of Colorado in the summer. The city they find very modern in some respects and very primitive in others, but farming is still in the wooden plow and oxen stage although much is being done to develop the nation.

A Christian nation, Ethiopia depends on church schools chiefly to educate its children.

Announcement has been received by relatives here of the marriage of Miss Denise Malmberg of Los Altos, Calif., to David Elliott Larsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Larsen of Hereford.

The former Hereford man and his bride are both students at Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, and will attend summer school in which he expects to complete work for a bachelor's degree. He plans to continue study toward a master's degree in preparation for a teaching career.

He is a graduate of Hereford High School, where he was prominent in student activities, and returned last year from a two year mission in Argentina for his church, the Latter-Day Saints. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil A. Malmberg of Los Altos. The marriage was solemnized in the Oakland Temple of the LDS Church with a reception afterward in Los Altos Ward Chapel.
