

FBI Uncovers Scheme To Swipe Sub, Fire at City

ST. LOUIS (AP) - It reads like the script for a best-selling spy thriller: Board a U.S. nuclear submarine, kill the crew, head for the high seas after firing a nuclear-tipped missile at an East Coast city and then turn the sub over to a buyer.

But the FBI says the plot was real. It arrested two men Wednesday in St. Louis and a third early today in New York State.

Edward J. Mendenhall, 24, of Rochester, N.Y., and Kurtis J. Schmidt, 22, of Kansas City, Mo., were to be arraigned this morning before a federal magistrate in St. Louis on charges of conspiring to steal the U.S.S. Trepan, based in New London, Conn. They were being held in lieu of $50,000 bond each.

The FBI said James W. Cosgrove, 26, of Ovid, N.Y., was arrested in upstate New York and will also be arraigned today on similar charges.

The FBI described Mendenhall as a married insurance company employee and Schmidt as an unmarried carpet cleaner. There was no background on Cosgrove.

Roy B. Klager Jr., special agent in charge of the FBI's St. Louis office, said the alleged plot came to light last month when Mendenhall and Cosgrove attempted to recruit an undercover agent into a 12-man crew that was to take the Trepan into the Atlantic Ocean, where they would rendezvous with an unidentified buyer.

Klager said the two men showed the agent written plans for stealing the sub.

After the killing of the sub's crew of about 100, the men allegedly planned to blow up a submarine tender moored alongside the Trepan to create a diversion and to block pursuit by other naval ships at the New London base.

If needed to cover the sub's getaway, the plan called for firing a nuclear missile at the base or a major East Coast city, Klager said.

The FBI did not say if any city had been singled out. It said other details of the case could not be released pending further investigation.

A Navy spokesman, Rear Adm. David Cooney, said in Washington, D.C., that such a plot could not have been carried out.

"No 12 people off the street are ever going to operate a submarine like this," Cooney said.

He said the Trepan would require a "crew of about 100 officers and men" who require special training.

Neither Cooney nor Assistant Defense Secretary Thomas Ross, the Pentagon's chief spokesman, said he had heard of the FBI's investigation.

According to Jane's Fighting Ships, the Trepan, a Sturgeon-class submarine, carries an anti-submarine weapon, called a SUBROC, with a nuclear warhead. The SUBROC is fired from the torpedo tubes, angles out of the water and after a brief flight, drops near an enemy submarine and launches a torpedo. The weapon is not for use against land targets.

Senate To Extend Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate signaled Wednesday it will extend the ratification deadline for the Equal Rights Amendment and decided that states cannot use the additional time to take back their approval of the ERA.

By a 55-44 margin, the Senate rejected a proposal by Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, to couple an additional 39-month ratification period with an opportunity for ratifying states to rescind their actions.

The vote cleared a major congressional obstacle facing ERA advocated while dealing a severe blow to its opponents.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., principal Senate sponsor of the extension, predicted the Senate would approve the ERA extension by a healthy margin when the issue comes to a final vote set for Friday.

Garn conceded that the vote was a major setback for those fighting addition to the U.S. Constitution of the ERA, which would specifically bar discrimination on the basis of sex.

In August, the House passed a measure moving the ERA ratification deadline from March 1979 to June 30, 1982.

The measure does not require the signature of President Carter, who has been a staunch supporter of the ERA.

Sarah Weddington, special assistant to the president for women's issues, said Carter was "gratified" by the Senate's action.

She said the president personally had called five senators Wednesday morning to lobby them, and that Vice President Walter Mondale had called three.

The ERA was initially approved by Congress in 1972. It needs ratification by 38 states to become part of the Constitution.

Thirty-five legislatures have ratified the ERA, but those of Idaho, Kentucky, Nebraska and Tennessee have voted to reverse their stands. The Kentucky decision vote was subsequently vetoed by that state's acting governor.

Garn's amendment would have applied only to reversal votes taken after the extension period begins on March 23, 1979. It would not have validated the ones already taken, although those states would have been free to vote again.

Bayh told the Senate it is up to Congress to determine, after all states have voted to ratify, whether to permit the reversal votes.

In a statement after the vote, Bayh said passage of Garn's proposal "would have effectively killed any chance for final ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment."

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., who sponsored the extension in the House, commented, "I believe that the Senate action today means the ERA, a declaration of fundamental human rights for American women, will soon become part of our Constitution."

Not once since Congress began set a seven-year ratification deadline for constitutional amendments in 1917 has it extended the deadline.

Wholesale Prices Of Food Soar Again

WASHINGTON (AP) - Wholesale food prices turned upward again last month, signaling a possible new round of increases at the grocery store, government figures indicated today.

The Labor Department said wholesale food prices jumped 1.7 percent in September after two months of declines. It was the largest monthly increase since the 1.8 percent gain in April, when food prices were spiraling.

Over-all wholesale prices of finished goods rose 0.9 percent, also the biggest gain since April. Non-food items rose 0.6 percent.

The biggest increases were in wholesale prices for beef and veal. The higher costs of producing food are usually passed on to grocery shoppers eventually.

So far this year, prices have been rising at an rate of about 10 percent, but the Carter administration has expected inflation to slow to 8 percent for the entire year.

The administration has been counting on lower food prices to help slow the inflation rate, which was 6.8 percent in 1977.

Only Wednesday, the administration's Council on Wage and Price Stability said in a report that "pressures on food prices have eased in recent weeks, bringing some relief to consumers."

"However," it added, "the inflation rate for the year as a whole will show a clear acceleration from the rate of the past two years."

It takes more than one month to establish a trend, but prices were rising rapidly at all stages of food production.

Grocery store prices had remained steady in July and August, but the new report indicated more pressure on grocers to raise prices.

Prices turned up after decreasing in August for processed poultry, vegetable oil and black pepper. Prices also went up, but less than in August, for pork, fish, dairy products, processed fruit and vegetables and flour-base mixes. Wholesale prices declined for fresh and dried fruits and vegetables, eggs and milled rice. Roasted coffee prices were unchanged.

Among other items: Wholesale prices turned upward for rubber shoes, home heating oil, home furnishings, soft drinks and prescription drugs.

Larger increases for gasoline, over-the-counter drugs and paper plates were reported than in August.

Prices dropped for motor oil and tires.

Construction Permits Dive In September

City building permits sunk to a low this year in September when only 14 permits were issued with a total value of $262,400.

The dismal building month came on the heels of a productive August when 35 permits were issued for new buildings worth $659,500.

The yearly total now stands at $4,313,580, slightly behind last year's building pace. Value of permits for the year in 1977 was $5,789,180, the second most productive year ever.

Single-family residences, made up nearly all of the total in September, with eight houses constructed at a total value of $250,500.

Marie Griffin purchased five permits for new residences valued at $160,000.

September building permits were issued to:

Marvin Sinclair, two residences, $29,000 each; Mrs. Griffin, five residences, $32,000 each; Jim Scott, residence, $22,500; Frank Chavez, carport, $100; Richard Zinser, storage, $500; J.B. Tenby and Jerome Kenby, alter and repair store, $1,800; W.A. Lamm, addition to residence, $9,000; and Aubrey Sims, enclosure garage, $500.

United Way Slates Fund-Raising Talk In Meeting Tonight

Gary Baker, professional fund-raiser for United Way of Amarillo, will give a motivational and tactical talk to Deaf Smith County United Way captains and workers at 7 p.m. today in the Medallion Room of Deaf Smith Electric Co-Op.

The public is invited to hear Baker. "We also would like to invite anybody who wants to work in the United Way that hasn't been contacted yet. We still need a lot more workers to make the campaign a success," UW president Paul Sims said.

"Hopefully, everyone who has been involved in the United Way up to this point will attend the meeting," Sims added.

The drive officially will kick off on Oct. 18. The kickoff was postponed from Oct. 11 by campaign steering committee members Lynton Allred, Raymond White, Bob Gentry and Sims.

The goal for this fall's campaign is $199,815.

Carter To Veto Public Works Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter prepared today to risk congressional wrath with a veto of the $10.2 billion energy and water development bill. The House and Senate got ready for quick attempts to override.

The anticipated showdown followed a day of furious lobbying by administration officials and emotional arguing by both sides in the quest for public support.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., told the Senate he expected Carter to veto the bill before noon today with override attempts from both houses within hours.

He said he believed the Senate would succeed in its attempt, but House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, said he wasn't sure the two-thirds vote could be mustered among House members.

"I think we had them today," he said Wednesday night, "but the White House is really putting on a full-court press."

He said House members told him Vice President Walter Mondale and cabinet members were pressing them to support the veto.

Both Byrd and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., took issue with the veto, which Carter promised Tuesday, and warned it could lead to a backlash against the president's top-priority energy package.

"I don't like to see this brewing," said

O'Neill, who predicted the House would override the veto. "There's going to be some rancor."

The bill contains $6.1 billion for the Department of Energy, but that's not at issue. Most of the rest would go for dams and other water-resource projects, and Carter has complained that the 53 starts on water projects - 27 more than he wanted - are "pork-barrel" goodies that are inflationary, wasteful, and absolutely unacceptable.

He was unhappy, too, that Congress restored six water projects he thought had been scuttled last year in a compromise on similar legislation.

White House press secretary Jody Powell declared that even if Carter loses a veto fight, "The people will believe the president has done the right thing."

But Gov. Richard Lamm of Colorado and several other Western officials called it "an act of war on the West" where more than half the projects are slated for construction.

Lamm appeared at a briefing session for congressmen by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus, Budget Director James T. McIntyre and others, exclaiming, "This administration has recommended no new water project starts in Colorado ... with the result that California takes a bigger drink from the Colorado River than we do. We have a claim to some of those resources ... It's our life blood."

Rep. Gunn McKay, D-Utah, bellowed at Andrus, "Talk about pork barrel! But you can't name a single other project where the government gets its money back from the users."

Andrus agreed the costs are recovered

USDA To Hire More Women

which approximately 24 percent are women, compared with a total federal work force of 30 percent women.

Bergland said that the lag is far greater in the higher paying jobs.

For example, he said, in the federal pay categories GS-9 through GS-12 - salaries of $15,090 to $21,883 a year - women comprise 7.2 percent of the workers against 22.5 percent in the government overall.

Bergland said that in categories GS-13 through GS-16 women have 3.7 percent of the jobs against 5.9 percent for the entire U.S. government. Those jobs pay $26,022 to $42,423 a year.

The job figures pertain to career Civil Service employees and do not include women serving in politically appointed jobs in the department, such as Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman and a number of others.

Bergland said that President Carter in a memo almost a year ago directed that progress reports on women in federal jobs be submitted by each department or agency.

"He expects to see significant improvement," Bergland said. "I intend to see that USDA makes that improvement."

Bergland said that "new and innovative initiatives and programs" must be used to provide greater opportunity for women already working in USDA and "to recruit more women."

Freak Accident Injures Woman In Parking Lot

A flatter in the parking lot of the New Mexico Transportation Co. 923 E. 1st, Wednesday morning resulted in a freak accident and the hospitalization of a 32-year-old Hereford woman.

Gloria McQuigg, 715 Ave. G, was treated for bruises and abrasions at Deaf Smith General Hospital after being struck by her own parked car.

According to police reports, Ms. McQuigg had parked her car at the bus depot and had gotten out when a 1972 Chevrolet Impala driven east on E. 1st by Helen Hicks Miller, 74, of 116 Beach, turned left towards the depot parking lot.

Police said Ms. Miller's car struck the curb, causing the right rear tire to go flat. The blowout reportedly caused Ms. Miller to lose control of the vehicle, which struck Ms. McQuigg's car.

The parked car was knocked 10 feet into Ms. McQuigg. She was taken to the hospital emergency room for treatment.

Tammy Wynette Abducted, Released

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Bruised, battered and choking from pantyhose tied tightly around her neck, country music singer Tammy Wynette was found staggering up a rural driveway after her release by a masked gunman she says tried to kill her.

State investigators said the blonde, 36-year-old singer told them she was abducted at gunpoint from a Nashville shopping center Wednesday night and driven about 80 miles in her yellow Cadillac before being set free.

Miss Wynette said the gunman made no threats or demands for money and, after leaving her with her car, walked away and fled in another vehicle, officials said.

She was released in Giles County near the home of Junette Young, who said she cut a pair of pantyhose from around Miss Wynette's neck.

"She couldn't breathe. It was real tight, in fact I had to cut it off," said Mrs. Young. "She just said, 'He had tried to kill me. He tried to kill me. He tried to kill me.'"

Mrs. Young said the entertainer's neck was swollen but not cut.

"Her neck hurt real bad and her mouth hurt her where he had slapped her in the mouth," Mrs. Young said.

Nobel Prize Given To Jewish Writer

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - The 1978 Nobel Prize for Literature was awarded today to Isaac Bashevis Singer, a Polish Jewish writer residing in the United States.

Singer, who lives in New York and writes in Yiddish, was cited by the Swedish Academy of Letters for "his impassioned narrative art which, with roots in a Polish-Jewish cultural tradition, brings universal human conditions to life."

The 74-year-old Singer emigrated to the United States in 1935 and became a naturalized citizen in 1943.

Last year the winner was Spanish poet Vicente Aleixandre, 78, little known outside the Spanish-speaking world.

This year English novelist Graham

Greene and Turkish writer Yasar Kemal had been considered probable choices after many years as top contenders.

The Nobel prize this year is worth about $165,000.

Singer has written a dozen novels, collections of short stories, memoirs and children's books. Many of his best-known works depict Jewish life in Poland between the world wars.

The family-chronicle trilogy of novels, "The Family Moskat" 1950, "The Manor" 1967 and "The Estate" 1969, have been compared favorably with Thomas Mann's great novel "Buddenbrooks."

San Antonio Council Member Refuse Tickets

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Two city council members here have refused to accept free season tickets from the National Basketball Association's San Antonio Spurs, saying they believe the practice is unethical.

Councilman John Steen said Wednesday that the free tickets were "a clear conflict of interest" because the council has direct control over the rental rates paid by the Spurs at the city-owned HemisFair Arena. The council also sets the concession prices charged by the team.

Councilman Henry Cisneros sent a letter Tuesday to Spurs President Angelo Drossos, saying that he was refusing the tickets because he has reservations about the ethics of the practice.

Drossos, Mayor Lila Cockrell, City Manager Tom Huebner and City Attorney Jane Macon, however, have defended the longtime custom of giving two season tickets, worth a total of $670.80, to each of the 11 city council members and some city officials.

"There is nothing secret or under the table about this," said Drossos. "I don't think it is any kind of big deal whatsoever."

Drossos said the custom, which has been in effect since the team moved here in 1973, did not affect the concession or rental rates.

Dangerous Toys

About To Be Banned

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government is getting ready to ban the sale of babies' toys with small parts that can be choked or swallowed.

Staffers of the Consumer Product Safety Commission adopted a plan to protect children less than 3 years old. The commission was expected to adopt it today.

The new rule will not become law soon enough to apply to toys this Christmas, most of which already have been manufactured.

It affects 18 categories of toys and other articles intended for very young children. These include such children's items as blocks, jack-in-the-boxes and stuffed toys.

The rule prohibits the sale of any item that would fit into a cone 1 1/4 inches by 2 1/4 inches.

It also bans any part, such as a button off a teddy bear, that could come off after it was given rough treatment.

The commission staff said only a small portion of toys and other children's items are involved because the industry has set voluntary standards similar to the CPSC regulation.

Beth Blossom, spokeswoman for the Toy Manufacturers of America, said the industry group is in favor of the regulation. She said the test involving the cone device "already is part of our voluntary standards. Most of our members have been following this for years."

Police Report

A 12-year-old Mexican-American female remains in the custody of her mother today after her arrest Monday in connection with the theft of $749 from Atex Oil Co. service station No. 507, W. Highway 60.

According to police, the juvenile was charged with the Saturday night theft of a money bag inside a drawer at the station. An attendant told police he had turned his back on a girl when the money disappeared.

Police said charges also were filed on the girl for the Sept. 10 theft of $38 from Cantu's Mobile Service, 143 E. 1st. Money was taken from a drawer in that incident also.

H.C. Hester, 337 Ave. K, told police Wednesday that someone burned a hole in the carpet of the house he had been renting at 333 Ave. J.

Hester said he had recently moved from 333 Ave. J. He stated that someone had broken into his old house after he had moved and set a fire.

Police are investigating.

Selena Burnett, Route 3, reported Wednesday that someone stole a purse from her car between 4:55 - 6 p.m. Wednesday while it was parked at the Bluewater Garden Apartments office.

Police said the car was not locked when the theft occurred.

Center Activities Outlined

Eyeglasses for Needy

Hereford Lions Club contributed a box of used eyeglasses to the Hi-Plains Eye Bank here during a regular club meeting Wednesday. Mark Andrews, right, Hereford Lion and a director of the eye bank, made the presentation of the eyeglasses to James Dobbs of Easter, a director and past president of the eye bank.

The center here is a branch of the Amarillo State Center for Human Development. Salaries, equipment and supplies are provided by the state center, while building facilities are furnished by the local community.

Ms. Stockstill reported the Hereford center currently has 15 clients who are assigned contract work for which they are paid according to their individual productivity. Some of the skills involved in the work include sorting, packaging, labeling, assembly and collating. The center has local contracts as well as some from the Amarillo office.

The sheltered workshop also offers a program designed to assist the individual acquire personal habits, improve attitudes and values, and improve social interaction skills. The local budget is $5,000 per year and a number of clubs and groups contribute to the center. An advisory board of 15 local citizens helps with the center's program.

Ms. Stockstill urged Lions to support the center by spreading the word of its program, helping secure work contracts, and through financial contributions. In other business Wednesday, Lions donated a box of used eyeglasses to the Hi Plains Eye Bank. The eyeglasses were collected by the club, many of them by Lion Milton Adams. Mark Andrews, Hereford Lion and director of the Eye Bank, made the presentation to James Dobbs, director and past president of the Eye Bank from Easter.

The club also introduced a new member--Jim Bullard, administrator at Deaf Smith General Hospital. Leo Club sponsor Sid Shaw reported the Leo Club Golf Tournament has been re-scheduled for Oct. 21.

Trial Act Criticized

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Assistant District Attorney Bill White of Travis County said Wednesday if the July 1 "speedy trial" law is applied to cases pending on that date, offenders all over the state will escape prosecution.

White and defense lawyer Dain Whitworth argued the first test case of the new law before three judges on the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Whitworth's client, Linzy Wade, was arrested here Feb. 5 and charged with driving while intoxicated, second offense. On July 7 State District Judge Tom Blackwell found Wade guilty and assessed a three-year probation sentence.

Whitworth appealed, contending that the "speedy trial" act guaranteed his client a trial within 120 days of his arrest. He said the state waited 30 days too long and "gave no explanation for the delay."

The 1977 Legislature enacted the law but set the effective date as July 1, 1978.

White argued that the law does not apply to cases pending on July 1 but only those that occurred after that date.

Additionally, the Texas District and County Attorneys Association has urged the appeals court to hold the law unconstitutional. The association says the law is an "unwarranted intrusion of the Legislature upon the judicial branch of our state government."

Whitworth said the law is procedural and remedial and should apply to offenses that occurred before July 1. The law, he said, merely "set some frames so there can be uniform application throughout the state of Texas."

He said the law was in response to the public's desire to try cases promptly.

White said the end results of applying the law to offenses prior to July 1 would be that "offenders all over the state would be banned from prosecution."

He said defendants have always had a constitutional right to a "speedy trial" so "no rights of the accused are going to be violated" if the appeals court rules against Wade. "Obviously," he added, "all defendants do not want a speedy trial."

Both sides agreed under questioning by the judges that it was not clear what the Legislature intended by setting the effective date nearly a year after the bill became law.

"The Legislature didn't tell us anything at all," said White.

He cited two major criminal laws, however, in which the Legislature has specifically noted that it wanted laws to apply retroactively. On the "speedy trial" law, it did not do so.

"If there had been some expression of intent, we wouldn't be here today - at least on this issue," said Whitworth.

Appeal Dismissed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals dismissed an appeal today of a convicted murderer who wants to wipe his record clean.

"We find neither constitutional nor statutory authority which would confer jurisdiction on this court to entertain a direct appeal" from a Tarrant county court order, the opinion said.

"This cause is dismissed for lack of jurisdiction."

The court action left standing the 1977 Fort Worth district court order that said Michael J. Papskar could not have 37 prior arrests expunged from county, state and federal records.

District Judge Gordon Gray said the new state law allowing expunction of records was unconstitutional because of its vagueness.

Papskar, who is serving two 20-year sentences for a double homicide in 1970, then appealed to the Court of Criminal Appeals through a habeas corpus application.

particularly in non-traditional areas."

Telling agency heads that he expects "full and active cooperation of all managers" in promoting opportunities for women, Bergland also directed them to set up specific goals and timetables to accomplish the task.

"We must also provide experiential and training opportunities to enable them (women) to achieve satisfying and rewarding careers and to work up to their potential," he said.

Additionally, Bergland said he expected agencies to keep in mind the president's "concern with reference to older women and minority women" in federal jobs.

Prices rose 0.4 percent, a smaller increase than in August, for long-lasting consumer goods, called durable goods. Prices declined for luggage, household appliances. Furniture rose slightly, but prices for home electronic equipment, cars and lawnmowers rose sharply.

After sudden swings in food and energy prices are removed, "the underlying rate of inflation has moved up from a rate of 6 percent in 1976-77 to an annual rate of over 7 percent this year," the wage and price council said in Wednesday's report.

Large increases in money wages have not resulted in substantial real income gains," the report said. "They have been eroded by the even greater escalation of consumer price inflation."

The report said the average worker's purchasing power is declining this year by 2 1/2 percent. That means if the worker gets a $10 per week pay raise, it is surpassed by $10.25 in higher prices. Workers' buying power increased by 4 percent in 1977, the report said.

The council noted that farm prices declined 3 percent in August and predicted "the decline should be more fully reflected at the retail level."

Since then, however, farm prices rose 2 percent in September. A private report by economists at Georgia State University said food prices appear to be on the way back up.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday that brisk consumer demand for cheese and other dairy products was helping push up milk prices.

Another factor in the price rise, the department said, was that the full impact of recent gains in wholesale dairy products had not been felt in grocery stores.

President Carter is considering a new program to fight inflation with voluntary wage and price standards. He is also considering further budget restraints and other government policies affecting inflation.

over periods of up to 50 years from farmers and other users of such benefits as crop irrigation. But meanwhile, he said, "the American taxpayer is going to have to pick up the deficit."

And Howard Jarvis, a force behind California's tax-cutting Proposition 13, also backed Carter, calling the measure "the big-tax, big-government, big-spending, big-waste bill of the year."

Actually, the money is $537 million under the President's own water-resource budget. But instead of fully financing the 26 water projects he wanted, it makes down payments on a list more than twice that size.

Krueger Says Tower Spending Contradicts Senator's Rhetoric

By The Associated Press

Democrat Bob Krueger has been named a "Watchdog of the Treasury" and used the occasion to point an accusing finger at his Republican opponent John Tower.

"John Tower for many years has claimed to oppose big spending, has claimed to be effective at curtailing the size of the federal government," Krueger said Wednesday, shortly after being named by National Associated Businessmen Inc. to receive the award.

Tower's record does not match his rhetoric on curtailment of big government spending, Krueger charged in a statement released by his Austin campaign office.

"The NAB finds that John Tower did not vote against wasteful spending enough times to even qualify for consideration," Krueger said.

Tower was in Washington Wednesday with plans to fly back for a tour Thursday including stops in Beaumont, Port Arthur and Houston.

Both Krueger and Tower were to appear today in Beaumont at a human rights conference sponsored by the Economic Opportunities Commission of Southeast Texas.

Political waters remain near the boiling point in the governors race where Republican Bill Clements continues to fan flames of controversy surrounding published reports Hill dragged his feet in investigating alleged corruption among Webb County officials.

Clements wants Hill to submit to a lie detector test.

"Political dirty tricks," Hill said of the reports and denied any hesitation in providing requested help for Laredo officials.

Republican Jim Baker told a Houston news conference that his latest poll showed him within a few points of pulling even with Democrat Mark White. "These results have definitely exceeded my expectations for this point in our campaign," he said.

White announced a 24-member steering committee for Corpus Christi and Nueces County which he said represented "a wide geographic and political cross section of Corpus Christi and are well-respected in the community."

Paul Harvey News Teamsters and Police Strange Bedfellows

Police don't want the Teamsters Union representing them.

The Teamsters don't particularly want to represent policemen.

Then why is it happening? There are—in round numbers—half a million police department employees in the United States. More than half of them are represented by a union or by a local "association."

Their most audible national voice is the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police.

With voters everywhere in revolt against escalating taxes; with politicians threatening to slash police and fire department budgets in retaliation, and with police officers not legally permitted to strike, the policeman's lot is not a happy one.

Lacking any other influential ally, some police officers have been accepting help from the Teamsters Union. Teamsters are presently representing some 15,000 police in 225 municipalities. The Teamsters have become a power in police unionism.

These are strange bedfellows. For decades the Teamsters have created problems for police.

Corruption, alliance with gangsters and strong-arm tactics caused the Teamsters to be expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1958.

It was at that time that then-president of the Teamsters, Jimmy Hoffa, announced his intention to launch a national organizing campaign among policemen.

The resultant uproar was such—including threats of renewed congressional investigation of the Teamsters—that by 1959 the plan to organize police was abandoned.

Nonetheless, today, 20 years later, with little public notice, policemen around the country—frustrated in their attempts to improve pay and benefits—have invited the Teamsters in.

In St. Petersburg, Fla., last year just that threat was enough to convince the city's formerly rigid negotiators to soften their position. They promptly increased their salary offer by $1,000 a year.

In many places just the mention of the Teamsters strikes fear into the hearts of municipal officials.

The executive directors of the Michigan Police Officers Assn., arch rival of the Teamsters in the efforts to organize Michigan police, is Carl Parsell. He believes that the Teamsters are "not interested in policemen whatsoever; they are merely using policemen as a means to get what they really want—to organize public employees."

It is small potatoes for Teamsters to represent a police local of 15 men—unless that results in signing on 100 sanitation workers. All told, there are 14 million people employed in federal, state, county and city governments.

That is the prize the Teamsters are after.

In Alaska, the Teamsters Union represents so many workers and wields so much power that it has been accused of running the state government.

With a comparable enlistment of civil servants nationwide the potential is too obvious to require elaboration.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I found out about the current pop phenomenon that is taking college campuses by storm quite by accident.

I was vacuuming the family room last summer when my sweeper refused to pick up an object. It was one of my children sprawled in front of the TV set like a piece of sculpture.

"What are you watching?" I asked.

"Shhh! It's All My Children."

"You're kidding."

"The guys at school wouldn't miss it. We schedule our classes around it. If we need the credit to graduate we run in and out of the lounge. After all, it's family."

I leaned on the sweeper and tried to relate to Erica receiving a call from Nick just before she married Tom and went off to St. Croix for her honeymoon. When Chuck left Donna at the reception in order to rendezvous with Tara, Chris and Jeff were headed for Tara for a surprise visit. Edna made inroads with Benny when Phil learned that Chuck and Tara were together when Charlie nearly drowned. Devon dropped hints to Wally they might marry but when Donna was injured in an accident Phoebe convinced Charles to escort her to the wedding.

"That's family?" I asked incredulously.

"It's home away from home," he explained. "All the guys follow at least one soap opera. We look at those families and their problems and suddenly we're not lonely anymore."

I began to watch the soaps after that and decided to give my son the soap opera home he had never had. When he dropped by a couple of days later and asked why he had no clean socks, I smiled and said, "Have you ever seen Erica on her knees shaking the static electricity out of two mismatched socks? I also don't cook, make beds, take out garbage, sew or shop. I just touch up my wet lipstick and look worried."

"Where's the car?"

"Have you ever seen a car on a soap opera? Or a TV set? Or a roach? A washer repairman? A teacher? Or a child with lines?"

He sighed. "Okay, you've made your point. Now how about writing me a check for my housing and tuition next year?"

"Your father and I have been talking about that," I said, "and frankly you haven't been carrying your share of problems recently, so we're writing you out of the series."

"That sounds like something Tara would do," he said and stomped out of the room.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with Major Hoople

THEIR SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS WENT BANKRUPT.

COMMENTARY Efficiency by the numbers

Donald F. Graff

Five is going to get us nine. Numbers on our zip codes, that is. The Postal Service is embarking on a five-year program to expand by four the present five-digit codes in order, it says, to improve efficiency and spare the public frequent rate increases.

This is to be accomplished through accelerated mechanization and automation of mail sorting.

The plan calls for the longer zip to be phased in during the next several years. Meanwhile, the Postal Service will be installing at its facilities a new generation of sorting machines designed to handle the nine digit codes.

When the changeover is complete, the new codes and equipment should enable eight clerks to sort the volume of mail now requiring 20. The savings on labor, which now accounts for seven of every eight dollars spent in mail operations, should be considerable, or so the Postal Service is predicting.

This, theoretically, will be passed on to the public through holding the line on postage rate increases.

The Postal Service acknowledges that there might be some resentment of the change, particularly in that segment of the public inclined to view more numbers in their lives as increasing not so much the efficiency of service as the impersonalization.

But this, it is argued, is a small price to pay for an innovation which will speed mail delivery by giving every block in the country its own zip code.

Monetary savings aside, that alone would be quite an accomplishment for a service which at present frequently gives evidence of being unable to locate entire cities.

Hazardous lifestyles

Lifestyle, as defined in practice by most Americans, should be considered a deadly word. It's not the leading killer diseases themselves that are the nation's primary health problem, according to a Connecticut physician, but the habits of millions of individuals which are responsible for the prevalence of these diseases.

Many cases of the top three killers — heart disease, cancer and cirrhosis — can be traced directly to the victims' lifestyles, notes Dr. Joseph Kristan, spokesman for the Lifestyle Council of Connecticut which is promoting improved health habits during a September "Lifestyle Awareness Month."

Curative medicine has proved "One big flop" in meeting the challenge of the killers, according to Kristan. Instead, the public should be healing itself by altering its lifestyles, which means, naturally, cutting back on consumption of such accessories to the high life as tobacco, liquor, sugar and caffeine and even on such a diet basic as meat.

In other words, it's a simple case of living, American-style, being hazardous to our health.

Unpatriotic poundage

There's one way in which Americans could improve their health and ease the national energy bind at the same time. Collectively, we are lugging around 3 billion pounds of excess body weight, University of Illinois professors Bruce Hannon and Tim Loman estimate in the "American Journal of Public Health." This is the equivalent of the energy used by four major cities in an entire year.

If all the surplus fat were shed, they calculate, the energy conserved in food transportation and storage, refrigerating and cooking and the production of agricultural fertilizer would meet the needs of Boston, Chicago, San Francisco and Washington.

If personal health isn't a sufficiently persuasive argument for getting rid of the national flab, it is suggested, patriotism might be. Well, maybe. At least for dieters, it would give new meaning to an old slogan: We gave.

La Plata Women Study Cosmetics

Dalene Springer, owner of The Face Place, presented a program on facial make-up to 19 members of La Plata Study Club Tuesday evening when the club met in the home of Ruby Boston.

She was introduced by Sue Sims, program chairman, and Mrs. Sims served as her model. The aesthetician reported to the club that she will be going to Europe soon to attend a 9-day course to further her knowledge in her profession.

Sherry Hoover, president, conducted the business meeting. Elizabeth McDowell gave a report from the finance committee, on the proposed budget for the year and it was approved by the club. Included in the contributions for the year will be donations to United Way, Campfire Girls, Cancer Fund, Heart Fund, March of Dimes, Friends of the Library and Wycliff Bible.

Other business included members volunteering to provide transportation on Tuesdays for residents of Kings Manor for the month of October.

Mrs. Boston served a salad and dessert plate to the club. Attending were Clara Brown, Audine Dettman, Ruth Fariss, Roland Hairgrove, Susie Mannschreck, Mozelle Neill, Lavon Nieman, Dorothy Prowell, Lucy Rogers, Rosemary Shook, Betty Taylor, Donna VanderZee, Avis White, Virginia Woodford, Hoover, McDowell, Sims and Boston.

The club was reminded that its next meeting will be a Thanksgiving dinner on November 21 at 7 p.m. at Hereford State Bank Community Room with husbands as guests.

CATHY HOLMES ...adds finishing touches to cake

Mrs. Cathy Holmes will be presenting a cake decoration demonstration Wednesday, October 11 at 1 p.m. at the Community Center, for Women's Emphasis Days. The demonstration will be free of charge, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Holmes was taught cake decorating by her sister in 1975. Since then she has developed the talent further. She is president of Sweet n' Fancy club and states "I enjoy it thoroughly."

Mrs. Holmes and her family moved to Hereford in 1975 from Amarillo. Her husband is presently employed by REC a lineman. Mrs. Holmes is a housewife and enjoys macrame, sewing, gardening, and a little athletic sport of bowling.

The Holmes have two children, Michael, 9, who attends 4th grade at West Central, and Tammy, 4, who is in kindergarten at West Central.

Miss Stokesberry Feted at Shower

A bridal shower honoring Miss Cindy Stokesberry, bride-elect of Audie Freeman, was held Tuesday evening in the recently-restored E.B. Black house.

Miss Stokesberry and Freeman plan to be married October 14 in Frio Baptist Church.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. Chuck Stokesberry and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Everett "Red" Stuck received guests during the recent shower. Special guests in attendance were the future bridegroom's step-mother and grandmother, including Mrs. Kelly Freeman and Mrs. Hugh Freeman of Lubbock, as well as the bride-elect's grandmother, Opal Jackson.

Miss Kelly Stokesberry, sister of the honoree, invited guests to sign the registry.

The honoree's chosen colors of sky blue and lemon yellow were conveyed in corsages and in the epergne flower arrangement on the serving table. Petits-fours, fruit punch, coffee and mints were served from silver and crystal appointments in the elegant dining room.

Miss Deanna Stokesberry, another of the honoree's sisters, assisted as gifts were registered.

Approximately 45 guests attended the shower. Hostesses were Mmes. Bill West, Jim West, Arliss Edwards, Larry Glover, Jerome Friemel, Warren Gee, Jim Conkwright and John Smith.

Sorority Chapter Introduces Guest

Barbara Kendall presided Tuesday evening during a meeting of Xi Epsilon Alpha, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, in the Community Room, First National Bank.

Jeanie Tucker was introduced as a guest.

In a routine business session, it was announced that Marshall Cooper from Girlstown, USA, will be presenting a program and film at the next meeting, Oct. 17. All local sorority chapters will be welcome to attend the program.

As a service project, each sorority member brought a pillowcase to be donated to King's Manor Methodist Home.

Pam Fogo introduced the evening's program by discussing "Heritage for the Future." Concluding the program was Jean Holbert, who spoke about culture.

Cheryl Bullard and Debra Cook served homemade ice cream and cake during the social hour.

Others present were Ailene Tindal, Opal Glenn, Barbara Burkhalter, Joanne Richburg, Ilajean Brinkman, Betty Davies, Bonnie Decker, Toni Jones, Phyllis Neill, Sandy Owsley, Karren Ruland, Lillie Shipman, Pam Stephens and Dixie Williamson.

WD Dinner to Launch Women's Emphasis Days

"Charm after Forty" will be the program topic discussed Tuesday night by April Lawrence from St. John's Modeling School in Amarillo during the quarterly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

The evening will begin at 7 p.m. with dinner, which will cost $5.50. Persons planning to attend are requested to make reservations by contacting the Chamber office, 364-3333, before 5 p.m. Monday.

The upcoming meeting will kick-off Women's Emphasis Days, Oct. 10-12, encompassing a series of informative programs and demonstrations, which will be presented free to the public. All citizens are welcome to attend Women's Emphasis Day programs.

On the business agenda for Tuesday night will be the election of four new board members. Nominated for the board posts are Frances Berry, LaJean Henry, Marcia Snyder and Olivia Denning. They will be filling positions vacated by Donna VanderZee, Carrell Ann Simmons, Sharon Davis and Janet Welty.

Members of the nominating committee are Mrs. VanderZee, chairman, Mrs. Simmons, Pauline Howard, Sherry Hoover, and Amy Gilliland.

Also, it will be announced that the Chamber Women's fine arts committee will be presenting "Gypsy" and in art show Oct. 21 in the new wing of the Community Center. Proceeds of ticket sales will be used expressly for the purchase of a living Christmas tree to be planted on the grounds of the Courthouse. The tree will be decorated each December by the Women's Division.

Good Cut, Permanent Make Self-Styled Hair Possible

Admiring Natural Style

Peggy Ferguson compliments Brenda Thomas on her natural-dry hairstyle, one of several haircuts which can be fixed at home. Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Thomas, both local beauticians, will be presenting a program on self-styled hair at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Community Center as part of Women's Emphasis Days, Oct. 10-12, being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. The public is invited, free of charge, to attend. (Brand photo by Denise Smith)

A quality precision haircut and a first-rate permanent wave form the support system necessary for a woman to be able to style her own hair, according to Peggy Ferguson, owner, and Brenda Thomas, manager of Touch of Class Hair Salon.

Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Thomas will be demonstrating self-care hair styles free for the public at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 11, as part of Women's Emphasis Days at the Community Center. During the 45-minute program, the two hair stylists will refer to several live models who have self-care coifs.

Because more women are now working outside the home, they have less time to spend on their hair. Suited to this new lifestyle is the natural-dry haircut which can simply be towel dried after washing and "pulled into shape" with the fingers. But, again, the natural-dry depends entirely on the cut and permanent.

"Permanents are not nearly as hazardous to your hair as they were 15 or 20 years ago," Mrs. Ferguson said. "And we've discovered that fewer women are giving themselves home permanents now. They're going to beauty salons instead."

Haircuts and permanents are the mainstay of salon life now with fewer women having their hair styled on a weekly basis. "Women are discovering that if they have a good haircut and a permanent, they can fix their hair themselves," Mrs. Ferguson added.

For the first time in a long time, there is no particular trend in hair styling, according to the two beauticians. "It's whatever looks best on the individual client," asserted Mrs. Thomas. "The trends haven't been catching on."

In most instances, a client (a category including men) can ask for suggestions from the beautician for his or her type of hair style. Often, a cosmetologist can conduct a hair analysis test, determining the texture and condition of the hair. If hair analysis proves that the individual's hair is in poor health, the beautician can sometimes recommend changes in diet or hair care.

The feminine look in fashion, currently in vogue, has had its effect on hairstyles, as well as cosmetics. "Hairstyles change when fashion changes. Right now, the soft fabrics and pretty prints are in style, so the hairstyles have to look more feminine than in recent years," Mrs. Ferguson explained.

permanents are also a popular choice with hair being worn shorter than it was during the first part of the 1970's. Mrs. Thomas guessed that approximately 1/5 of her salon's clients are men.

Royals Power Game Over Yankees, 10-4

Larry Gura, who wasn't supposed to be in the game, proved to be the hero for the New York Yankees, proving to be the hero for them in the hour of Kansas City's greatest need.

"The revenge factor's not there anymore," Gura said after hurling six strong innings in a 10-4 Royals triumph that capped the best-of-five American League championship playoff series 1-1 Wednesday. "I just wanted to settle us down and help us win because we was a number one." Traded by the Yankees to the Royals two years ago for now-retired catcher Fran Healy, Gura gave up eight hits and two runs.

The Royals got started in the same sloppy, mistake-prone fashion that dogged them in the opener Tuesday night when the Yankees breezed to a 7-1 triumph. With one out, Fred Patek made a throwing error on Thurman Munson's grounder, and Reggie Jackson, reaching base for the 12th consecutive time in postseason action, walked.

But Gura got Graig Nettles to ground out, ending the threat and leadoff batter George Brett quickly smacked what was to be the first of 16 Royals' hits.

Amos Otis singled Brett to third, then Darrell Porter hit a long sacrifice fly, putting the Royals ahead 1-0.

The Yankees threatened in the second on the first of Chris Chambless' four singles, Roy White's fielder's choice and a single by Mickey Stanley. Then Patek made a backhanded stop of Bucky Dent's grounder behind second and started a deceptively easy double play.

The Royals chased started Ed Figueroa with a four-run burst in the second that started with consecutive singles by Clint Hurdle and Al Gowens and kept rolling when shortstop Dent made a bad throw to Nettles at third on Patek's grounder.

A run scored on the play and the runners wound up at second and third, then Frank White hit a chopper through the middle for two more runs.

A one-out double by Pete LaCock and Hurdle's triple off the right field fence gave the Royals a 6-2 lead and rookie Willie Wilson, possibly the fastest man in the major leagues, ran for Hurdle. Cowens grounded to Nettles at third and Wilson broke toward the plate, where he collided violently with Order restored, Patek leaned his 150 pounds into a high fastball and popped it into the left field bleachers for a two-run homer.

Sparky Lyle then came in and retired White on a ground ball, but in all the confusion nobody remembered that was the third out. The Yankee fielders held their position and Brett, the next hitter, came to the plate. But before a pitch could be thrown plate umpire Rich Garcia, raising his hands as if to say, "Nobody's perfect," signaled the end of the inning.

Andretti Enjoying Auto Racing More

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - New world driving champion Mario Andretti says that he is getting what he wants out of auto racing and is not about to give it up.

Only a few short years ago, Andretti was frustrated, unable to win on the U.S. Auto Club circuit and practically an unknown in European Formula One racing despite having won the 1969 Indianapolis 500.

Now the handsome 38-year-old from Nazareth, Pa., has clinched the Formula One driving title for 1978. Those days of frustration were only an unhappy memory as Andretti spent Wednesday at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. complex taking care of some corporate public relations.

"I've been blessed with enough luck on my side to realize my goals in the sport," he said. "I go for whatever goal I set out for and work hard to get it.

"That was a frustrating time for me," he said. "After winning at Indianapolis, I went with the Vels-Parnelli team, which was the winningest team in American auto racing at that time. But things happened. They just got too big and things didn't work right anymore. The team just went through a heck of a period and there I was. Somehow, we just didn't finish races.

"The thing that always kept me going in a positive way during that time was that I kept myself diversified," Andretti continued. "I wasn't able to win the USAC races, but I was winning somewhere else - on Formula One, occasionally, and in other types of racing.

"Deep down, it was frustrating not to win regularly in USAC as I had before. You want to get to the bottom of it and you worry about it, but the years go by. You've just got to keep setting goals. "I kept my hand in Formula One all those years for specific reasons," he explained. "I wanted to know my way around everywhere. Everything finally fell into a pattern - a lot of it by accident and some of it by design."

Andretti, 38, started in Formula One with the Lotus team in 1968, then went with the March, Ferrari and Parnelli teams before going back to Lotus last year. He was second to Niki Lauda of Austria in the world standings in 1977, then won six races and the world title this year.

A victory Sunday in the Canadian Grand Prix, the last race of the year, would equal the mark for one season set by the late Jim Clark of Scotland. And there is no thought of retirement in Andretti's mind.

"I still enjoy what I do to much to think about getting out," he said. "I'm tired right now. You need to catch your breath now and then." "And Formula One takes the most effort to do. The travel involved and the time can be a problem.

Sandies, Herd Seeking Win

Coach Don Cumpton's Hereford Whitefaces will be attempting to get untracked here Friday when they face the Amarillo High Sandies.

Cumpton told Hereford Boosters here this week the Sandies probably have the third best defense the Herd faces this year.

And although the Amarillo team is 1-3 for the year, the same as Hereford, Cumpton said they probably have one of the best offenses in the area.

The Sandies, said Cumpton, have met some formidable opponents so far this year including Odessa, Odessa Permian, Lubbock and Plainview.

Amarillo lost to Plainview 34-6 last week in Bulldog Country in their 57th meeting. Plainview outgained the Sandies 342-162 in total offense and 333 to 94 on the ground.

The Sandies lost 39-0 to Odessa, 43-6 Odessa Permian, and beat Lubbock two weeks ago 26-7. In the Harris Rating System, Hereford is rated 173 with a power rating of 132.6 while Amarillo is 177 with a power structure of 131.5, giving the Herd about a one point advantage.

Cumpton said the Sandies will use two quarterbacks, Russell Allen and Mike Munkres, but apparently have no set procedures when they are used.

The Sandies have running back Mark Isaacson, who rushed for 544 yard a year ago.

Basically, they use a similar type offense and defense, according to coach Gary Goodin in a scouting report.

Goodin said Amarillo is a fairly heavy team and may do some stunting on defense. Offensively, they like running preferably to passing, but Goodin said they do have a passing play.

Cory Springer, out last week with an injury, will be back in the lineup on defense for the Herd. Cumpton said Monty Cockran was injured last week, but should see action. Overall Cumpton was pleased with the Herd's effort last week, saying a 4.7 yard average is good on offense.

Kickoff time tomorrow night is 7:30 p.m.

The annual Punt, Pass and Kick Contest, sponsored locally by Orval Watson Ford Sale, was held here recently and results announced. Winners included Wade Brorman, Ross Torres, Chad Redwine, Jason Bodner, Chris Johnson, Darrel Page, Rodney Torres, Mark Artho and Kevin Pope. Also Mathew Albracht, Lee Brockman, Keith Allen Kalka, Robbie Snyder, Eric Walterscheid, Stacy Evans, Ricky McCracken, Melvin Kalka, Jr., and Micky Stingel.

Garvey Leads LA For 9-5 Victory Wednesday

By GARY MIHOCES
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies' third baseman Mike Schmidt predicted an "Offensive explosion" and Manager Danny Ozark foretold a three-game sweep.

Yet it was Los Angeles that did the exploding, led by Steve Garvey, and it's the Dodgers who may do the sweeping after their 9-5 victory Wednesday night in the first game of the National League championship playoffs.

"I hit a curveball up, a fastball and a screwball down," said Garvey, who rapped two homers and a triple in a Dodger assault that set a NL playoff record with 30 total bases.

"We are extremely high and we are going to be extremely difficult to beat," said Dodger sparkplug Dave Lopes, who along with Steve Yeager also homered for Los Angeles to hush 63,460 Phillies Phanatics.

Yet the Dodger romp, secured by the poised relief pitching of baby-faced rookie Bob Welch, left Ozark outwardly undaunted.

Schumacher Top Defender

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. — Fullback David Kannerberg, who rushed for 89 yards in Tarleton State's 17-2 win over Trinity Saturday night, has been named Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association offensive player of the week.

The 6-0, 210-pound senior from Irving carried 21 times in the Texans' ground oriented attack, and had a long-gainer of 16 yards. He now has 244 yards for the season and is averaging 3.8 yards a carry with one touchdown.

"David is our wild man on the field," said TSU coach Buddy Fornes, who saw his NAIA Division II fifth-ranked squad lift its record to 4-0 Saturday.

In addition to his TIAA honor, the TSU coaches named Kannerberg the offensive Fighting Texan of the Week. Outside linebacker Wayne Schumacher was the defensive Fighting Texan.

The 6-0, 190-pound senior from Hereford stymied Trinity with six tackles, three assists and two stops behind the line. For the season, he has 30 total tackles, six for minus yardage and two interceptions.

Lopes made it 6-1 with his two-run homer in the fourth, and he circled, the bases with more than playoff pressure on his mind.

Lopes revealed that the Dodgers dedicated their play to coach Jim Gilliam, hospitalized in a coma since sustaining a brain hemorrhage.

His play has been one of the big factors in TSU's No. 1 ranking in the NAIA for total defense (102.3 yards a game) and No. 2 in rushing defense (22.0).

P,P & K Results Told

Results of the annual Punt, Pass, and Kick competition which was held here recently were announced this week.

The competition was held annually and sponsored by the Ford Sales and National Football League. Locally, the event was sponsored by the Orval Watson Ford Co.

Winners in the 8th grade competition included 1st Wade Brorman, 2nd Ross Torres and 3rd Chad Redwine.

Gymnastic Classes To Be Offered

Garagiola Signal Caller At 75th World Series

Joe Garagiola will be calling the shots - for NBC Tuesday night as the 75th World Series gets under way and he'll be a lot better prepared for it than he was 32 years ago.

Garagiola made his first Series appearance in 1946 as a 20-year-old rookie catcher with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I didn't know what was happening. I was just over-awed by it," he recalls. "My biggest concern at that time was concentrating on not missing the bus to the ballpark."

"I'll tell you, the easiest thing about the Series for a player is playing the game. The rest of it is tough. You have to worry about getting tickets for all your friends. You come out to take batting practice and feel just fine. Then so many people start asking you how you feel, you begin to wonder. You have to go back in the clubhouse and look in the mirror to see if you're okay."

"I remember the '46 Series. Man, I heard from everyone I was in the army with except Eisenhower and MacArthur. Everybody I ever played ball with called. You hear from all your relatives. One year Eddie Sawyer was managing the Phillies in the Series and he had so many relatives staying with him he had to sleep on the floor."

This time around Garagiola will be better prepared. He will be working his fourth Series as a play-by-play man for NBC and has done several others on radio or with his late, lamented pre-game show, "The Baseball World of Joe Garagiola."

"I just make up my mind that nothing is going to distract me from my job," he says.

"I'm not going to make any appearances. I'm not going to get involved with any meetings. I don't care who calls. I'm going to get to the ballpark early, talk to the trainers, talk to the guys during batting practice, get up to the broadcast booth 45 minutes before the game starts and make sure my pencils are sharpened.

"That's it. Nothing else. Just concentrate on my job."

Garagiola's job will be slightly different this time around. NBC has signed Cincinnati pitcher Tom Sever to a contract and he will join Garagiola and Tony Kubek on the Series telecasts. It can get pretty crowded with three men and one microphone.

"No problem," says Garagiola. "I'm looking forward to working with Sever. He will add a lot. Tony and I know the players, of course, but we don't know what it's like to pitch against Steve Garvey or Mike Schmidt."

"And we won't all talk at the same time. If we do, our producer may have to ride us a little bit, says something like, 'hey, let the other guy talk.'"

In addition to the Garagiola-Kubek-Seaver trio, Curt Gowdy will be on hand to act as "host"

Legitimate Giants Looking for 'Pokes

The Hereford Brand Sports

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - New York Giants Coach John McVay was a surprised man Monday night when the Dallas Cowboys and Washington Redskins failed to score a touchdown in the Skins' 9-5 victory.

"It's unbelievable that two teams like Washington and Dallas can play without a touchdown being scored," McVay said. "It was a hell of a defensive game. Anyone who likes offense was unhappy."

The Giants, still smarting from last week's disturbing loss to the Atlanta Falcons, face the Super Bowl champion Cowboys Sunday for the second time this season. Dallas prevailed, 34-24, at Giants Stadium in the second week of the season.

"We're in the frame of mind that we have to win and I'm sure they look at the game the same way," McVay said.

"There are three teams in the division on the same rung," New York, Dallas and Philadelphia share second place in the National Conference East Division with 3-2 records, two games behind the undefeated Redskins.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry is concerned with the way his team is playing.

"We haven't yet performed at the level of last year," Landry said Wednesday by telephone from Dallas. "We're losing games that we won last year. We're just not as good. I've got to be concerned. I'd be crazy if I wasn't."

McVay was extremely impressed by the Washington defense, citing it as the key to the game.

"They executed very well, very aggressively," he said. "Washington and Dallas always play pretty well against each other. Washington showed nothing really new, they were just super aggressive. It was unbelievable that with those two teams, no touchdowns were scored."

'Big Delirium' About To Start

This is "Big D" weekend for Big D Dallas - "D" standing for delirium. When Oklahoma and Texas meet in football - this is edition No. 73 - people forget the Alamo. It's the Super Bowl, Mardi Gras and World War III rolled into one neat package. Fans go berserk.

This is a game that needs no embellishments but they are there this year - in clusters. Both teams are unbeaten - Oklahoma No. 1 and Texas No. 6 in the rankings. The Sooners have one of the nation's most potent offenses, averaging close to a point a minute. The Longhorns are a rock on defense.

The Sooners fooled us last week. We thought they would drop their guard for Missouri.

Score: 40-17, .702. Season: 117-41, .740.

Oklahoma 20, Texas 13; The Longhorns can't stop the Sooners' runaway wishbone speed. Uwe von Schamann wins the kicking duel.

Michigan 35, Arizona 14; The Wolverines feast on foreign meat before tackling Big Ten hard tack.

Arkansas 37, Texas Christian 7; "We will move the football, and I hope to God it is forward." Forker coach Lou Holtz.

Penn State 28, Kentucky 6; Scott Fitzkee is a split end - he splits his chores between pass-catching and punting.

Texas A&M 30, Texas Tech 13; The Aggies have a bull of a runner named Adger Armstrong. When you call him

"Adger," smile.

Alabama 27, Washington 17; A meeting of two major bowl winners. The Tide, remembering USC, has a score to settle with the West.

Pittsburgh 22, Boston College 7; Hey, Pitt, be wary. Don't start thinking about Notre Dame.

Nebraska 36, Iowa State 21; Haul out those red handkerchiefs - there'll be plenty of reason to wave 'em.

Louisiana State 22, Florida 17; The Gators are beginning to show teeth. May be tough in their own waters.

North Carolina State 19, Maryland 14; The Terps keep harpooning our average. If they win this one, we'll fire our Southern spy, X-9.

You Auto Know
Jack Conrad By Victor Cantu

How should I select my auto's mechanic? There are as you know in any town many good mechanics. In this day and time with prices as they are of course you want a mechanic with integrity or one who will do the job without overdoing it so to speak. Of course any mechanic you choose should be very familiar with your model and make of car. Your dealer of the particular make you own has of course the best trained mechanics for your car. His mechanics have usually been to factory schools which teach nothing but the cars they sell. Also you need to select a mechanic who will use good quality parts as the parts themselves make a difference in the cost of maintenance plus the performance of your car. It is always a good practice to be acquainted with your mechanic before you have to take your car in for repair.

Extension Involved With Texas Agriculture Boom

COLLEGE STATION — Agricultural production in Texas has come a long way since 1906, when the first county agent was hired in Smith County, and headquartered at Tyler.

He was W.C. Stallings, who was employed by far-sighted leaders enthused over the success of Walter C. Porter's farm demonstration near Terrell in cotton and other crops and new farm practices. The work at the Porter Farm had started only three years earlier.

Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act in 1914, paving the way for Cooperative Extension Services in each state of the nation. The Extension Service was to disseminate research findings from Land-Grant Colleges and State Experiment Stations to the people.

Through the years, the Extension Service has earned a reputation of dealing with major issues and concerns of the people, and in being in the forefront during times of emergencies.

A big challenge for the Extension Service in Texas came during World War I, when county agents were called upon to help with an all-out agricultural production effort to feed and clothe needy people throughout the world.

During the "Great Depression" of the 1930's, agents worked with farm and rural people to help them produce and conserve most of their family food needs.

Extension, through its county network of agents, has been deeply involved in assisting with many other national emergency programs, such as those resulting from hurricanes and floods, and in animal health problems, such as the outbreak of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) in 1971.

Today, interest in home gardening and food preservation has brought many new urban and rural residents to the County Extension offices seeking information.

Many new agricultural frontiers have emerged in recent years: Extension county marine agents now serve in a number of the Texas Coastal counties and assist commercial fishermen and shrimpers. Integrated pest management programs are moving ahead. Livestock programs are designed to improve overall reproductive efficiency and increase the calf crop percentage. Improved crop varieties are among other new thrusts. Agriculture today represents a whole new-but sophisticated—ballgame!

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is observing the Diamond Anniversary of Farm Demonstration Work this October. Many special activities of a historic nature are planned to call attention to some of the highlights of the past 75 years and to recognize leading area and county result demonstrators.

Extension District I, which encompasses 22 Panhandle counties, include Deaf Smith, will join in the diamond anniversary celebration with a demonstrator recognition program, to be held Tuesday, Oct. 31 at the Texas Research and Demonstration Center.

The top demonstrator from each of the 22 counties will be presented with a plaque during a special program.

probably not be able to pass excessive dust control costs forward but apparently could pass the cost burden backward to the cotton farmer.

On the contrary, Dunklin said farmers would be forced to cut back cotton production in an effort to maintain price and this would reduce the number of businesses and jobs throughout all sectors of the fiber and by-product industries.

He cited an industry study that indicated the standards would force 62 of the nation's 83 active cottonseed oil mills to cease operation.

"These plant closings would result in the loss of 52 percent of our industry's production capacity and put about one-half of our employees out of work," Dunklin said.

Council Leaders Ask Stay In Cotton Dust Enforcement

WASHINGTON, D.C. — National Cotton Council leaders Tuesday asked a Senate subcommittee's aid in staying enforcement of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's sweeping new cotton dust standards pending a full assessment of their cost implications and impact on the cotton industry.

The request came during oversight hearings on OSHA being conducted by the Human Resources Labor Subcommittee.

Council President Lon Mann, Marianna, Ark., cotton producer, said OSHA had "grossly understated" the standards' costs in seeking to win White House approval for issuing the new rules.

While OSHA estimated compliance with the new standards would cost the industry $625 million in capital investments, Mann said the standards' real capital cost is $1.8 billion to $2.6 billion — three to four times greater.

"We are confident that these understated cost estimates were a major factor in White House approval for issuance of the standards," he said.

Mann said the annualized costs of compliance would run from $550-800 million and add 17-24 cents a pound to the cost of producing cotton.

"Even then, all work areas would not be in compliance because compliance technology for some work areas does not exist," he added.

"The American cotton industry is paying the price for OSHA's reckless, irresponsible handling of the record which was compiled during the lengthy hearings on the standards," he said. "The textile industry is already making decisions that will result in irreparable harm for the American cotton industry."

The council president warned that the "inevitable result" of the standards will be a reduction in the cotton industry's output, a significant increase in imports of cotton products, and a serious loss of U.S. jobs.

George H. Dunklin, Pine Bluff, Ark., pointed out that OSHA included cottonseed oil mills and other non-textile processing sectors in the standards despite a lack of evidence that employees in these areas have any greater pulmonary problems than the general population.

He noted that the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health—OSHA's sister agency—now is conducting research to find if a cotton dust problem exists in these sectors.

Farm Exports To Europe to Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Large exports of U.S. farm commodities to Eastern Europe are likely to continue through 1980 because agricultural output in that region has fallen short of goals, says the Agriculture Department.

The shortfalls include crops of grain, oilseeds and sugarbeets, the department said in a report by its Economics Statistics and Cooperatives Service.

Thus, Eastern Europe "will likely maintain current agricultural import levels despite recent balance of payments deficits," the report said.

The region includes: East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Projections for East Germany and Poland "indicate continued large imports of grain and increased imports of protein feed such as soybean meal" in the next few years, the report said.

TDA Proposes Quarantine Due to European Borer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Department of Agriculture proposes that 15 Panhandle counties be quarantined because of the European corn borer.

Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said the details of the proposed quarantine would be published Oct. 13 but it would not be made final until after public hearings.

"Quarantine should eliminate the southward movement of the pest," Brown said. "If we don't enforce a quarantine in this area we can expect states free of the pest to require treatment and certification of all shipments of corn and grain sorghum originating anywhere in Texas."

The quarantine lines were drawn up after a 30-county survey last month showed the corn borer in Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Liscomb, Hartley, Hutchinson, Roberts, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Deaf Smith and Randall counties.

The borer does its damage in the larval stage by burrowing into plant stalks. It has been a problem in states to the north and east of Texas but it was discovered in Texas in Moore County in late August.

A quarantine would require screening the grain by passing it through a half-inch mesh screen to remove trash or debris large enough to contain larvae, Brown said. Grain also could be fumigated.

Butter Production Down 18%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Butter production in August dropped 18 percent from a year ago to about 64.2 million pounds, according to the Agriculture Department.

However, cheese output, at 285 million pounds, was up 3 percent from August of last year, the department said in a monthly report. Production of nonfat dry milk in August totaled 78.6 million pounds, a drop of 26 percent from last year.

John Paul Wiped Kingly Embellishments From Papal Coronation With Wit, Charm

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
Even in so brief a time, Pope John Paul left a legacy. It was not formed by edicts, pronouncements or programs. Rather, it took shape in personal acts and manners.

before his death were unprecedented, and they seem bound to have a lasting impact. Among them:

-He wiped out the embellishments of kingly coronation from the inauguration of his pontificate, specifying the occasion simply as the "beginning of his ministry as supreme pastor." There seemed little likelihood that a successor would presume to revive the abolished tiara and ostrich feathers of monarchical "reign" - even though some headlines still stuck with the term.

-John Paul also, through a fluke of circumstances and his spontaneous way, set some ecumenical landmarks after the death in a private audience with him or Russian Orthodox Archbishop Nikodim.

The pope not only administered absolution and a final blessing to the non-Roman Catholic churchman, but sent an extraordinarily fraternal message of condolences to the head of Russian Orthodoxy, Patriarch Pimen of Moscow, addressing him as "your holiness" and expressing shared grief with the "holy Russian Church."

Observers saw the tone and phrasing as the warmest brotherly note yet from a pope to the Russian Orthodox leadership.

-In his quick, soon-ended days as pope, John Paul also broke with the tradition of using the pontifical "we" except in the most formal instances, referring to himself simply in the first-person singular, often abandoning his text to chat away ad lib.

Because the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, sometimes ignored his off-the-cuff remarks, he already had become known as the "censored pope," says the independent U.S. weekly, the National Catholic Reporter.

-He also offered what scholars saw as the clearest papal affirmation ever of separation of church and state, doing so in his address to diplomatic delegations from 100 nations.

He described the roles of government and church as being of "two orders," each with its distinctive "mission and competence" which the other was not to interfere with or infringe on.

Mainly, however, the soon gone John Paul brought a zestful, simply, almost breezy style to the papacy, an open-hearted warmth that immediately had captivated Catholics and others around the world.

"The ready smile, the unruly tuft of hair, the skullcap always slightly askew, had made him a familiar and popular figure," says the National Catholic Reporter, published in Kansas City.

"His unassuming, throwaway style revealed a gift for popular communication. He always was prepared to be himself, whether speaking to cardinals, diplomats, journalists or the crowd of St. Peter's."

Some 8.9 million gallons of wine worth more than $6.4 million was exported from Argentina during the first half of 1978, with 36.6 percent of the table wines going to the United States.

Roundup for Kids Has Record Auction

ABILENE - The 19th annual Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children--beset by drought, smaller herds, floods, and inflation--has already set an all-time record of gift income to benefit the handicapped served by the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

The Abilene cattle sale produced $116,444 from the 305 head of livestock donated and this, combined with $37,000 in cash donations, brought the gross income to a record $153,444--topping last year's record cattle sale of $127,530.

"And with more sales to come, we're assured of a tremendously successful event, a fitting tribute to the late C.A. 'Charlie' Morris," according to Shelley V. Smith, executive director of WTRC.

Morris served as chairman of the CRCC for 16 of its 19 years, until his death in June of this year.

The next event in this year's sale will be a special livestock annual horse sale will be at Abilene Auction on Saturday, October 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. R.W. McDonnell of Abilene paid the highest price in the nation Monday for heavy-fed beef at the Abilene Auction. Five heifers donated by Mr. and Mrs. J. Willard Vinson, Rt. 5, Abilene, brought $1.25 per lb. (for a total of $3,874).

Schackelford County ranchers, hard-hit this past summer by floods, brought in 54 head of cattle for the sale.

Although all the folks who helped with the sale would be impossible to "round-up" and name, Smith praised them all and was "elated" with the record sale results pledging "continuance and dedication to improvement of the Rehab's services to the handicapped."

In addition to recently added Snyder and San Angelo branches of the Rehab Center, the Rehab folks added a 2,500 square foot brace shop in July. It employs two certified orthotists (one with prosthetic certification), a leather worker, shop worker, bench man and combination bookkeeper-secretary. The Rehab had to borrow $50,000 to construct the building which added to its huge deficit.

Ann Landers

Floundering Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our town is another Mayberry, USA. When my husband admitted in court that he was the father of a baby I didn't mother, the whole town knew about it instantly.

Now that baby is two years old. She could be a twin sister to our four-year-old daughter. We have two sons who will soon be teenagers and this is the problem.

I know my husband is financially responsible for his out-of-wedlock child until she is 21. But what else? Is she a half sister to our kids? What do I tell them before they hear it on the streets? This child will be entitled to her share of my husband's estate when the time comes so our own kids will have to know sooner or later.

How do I help minimize the hurt and hate? -- Floundering In Oshkosh

DEAR FLOURDERING: Biologically the little girl is half sister to your children because they have the same father, but according to Barnabas Sears, a distinguished Chicago attorney, they are not related legally.

Since your husband was a principal in a paternity suit, the proceedings are a matter of public record. I believe you should tell your children (in a non-judgmental way) immediately -- but don't be surprised if they already know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Who is right, my husband or me? Our son, 21, has been in college for three years but his credits add up to two years' work.

The boy receives an inheritance of $145 a month because his mother was killed four years ago. Last year his father bought him a new car for his birthday. He charges gas, clothes -- anything he wants -- to his father's account. In addition to all these privileges he gets an allowance for doing absolutely nothing.

Last week the boy asked for extra money to spend the weekend in a motel with a girl. His father said, "OK."

This young man has never worked. He doesn't even pick up his own clothes. I disapprove strongly of the way he is being raised and have told his father so many times. He claims the young man is a normal kid, has never been in any serious trouble and that he wants him to have "a happy childhood."

What do you have to say on the subject, Ann Landers? -- Plymouth, N.C.

DEAR PLYMOUTH: Do you think it will make any difference? I don't know. Your husband has already spoiled this kid rotten and nothing is going to change.

Obviously you are a second wife who came into the picture too late to make a difference in the boy's upbringing. So stop arguing about who is right and who is wrong. The best you can get out of it will be a damaged (or broken) marriage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I want to say thank you for your answer to "Embarrassed in the Bronx." Her son was born in 1954, six months after the wedding. He and his wife just found out about it and were asking a lot of questions.

You told her to say, "I was a darn good mother, what more do you want?" And then you suggested that she ask him if he'd rather she had an abortion.

I am three months pregnant and am getting married next month. We love each other very much and got a little careless.

Your answer has given me peace and strength. In fact, it made my whole day! -- Happy In Utah

DEAR HAPPY: You and dozens of others. My warm thanks to all who wrote. You made mine!

LEAVING TOWN?

Whether it's for a few days or a few weeks, Hereford Home-watcher Service will take care of your home. This service is similar to services in Lubbock, Dallas, Houston and other large cities. HHS will check your house at least twice daily while you are away.

Services include:
--Installation of electric timing switch to turn a light on and off.

--Personal inspection of interior and exterior of the home and surrounding grounds.

--Indoor plants watered.

--Pets fed.

--Mail and newspapers brought into your house each day of vacation.

All this--for a low daily fee.

We are insured and promise to please you because we are a new, local business and wish to establish references. For more information, Call 364-8082 or write Denise Sims, 701 Grand, Hereford, TX 79045.

OUR FASCINATING EARTH
BY PHILIP SEFF Ph.D. & DAVID BAER II

LEGEND OF THE MAN-EATING TREE!

FROM TIME TO TIME TRAVELERS HEAR OF A MAN-EATING TREE ON MADAGASCAR. BUT WHEN INVESTIGATED THE TREE CAN NEVER BE FOUND. THE AMERICAN WEEKLY, IN 1920 PUBLISHED AN EYE-WITNESS SUPPOSED ACCOUNT OF A HUMAN SACRIFICE TO SUCH A TREE. WIDELY RECEIVED AS AUTHENTIC, THE LEGEND REFUSED TO DIE. PROBABLY, MAN-EATING TREES SIMPLY DON'T EXIST!

A new course is being taught this fall at New York's Manhattan Community College - how to cope with simple legal problems.

Nearly 50,000 square feet of space have been added to Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry to accommodate a dozen new exhibits in what is considered the city's leading tourist attraction.

W.A. Swanberg's "Norman Thomas: The Last Idealist" won the 1977 National Book Award for biography.

Friends Praise Bergen

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) - About 300 mourners heard Edgar Bergen praised as a gentle man, whose puckish, pixielike humor was a source of inspiration to many of today's top comedians.

Some of the biggest names in the entertainment industry attended a memorial service Tuesday for Bergen, who died of a heart attack in his sleep Saturday at age 75.

Bergen, who became one of the country's best-loved comedians as the voice of mischievous Charlie McCarthy, died in Las Vegas, Nev., where he was scheduled to give a series of farewell performances prior to his retirement next March.

Both Carson and Jim Henson, who was accompanied by his creation, Kermit the Frog, credited Bergen as an inspiration to their careers.

Cancer rare in childhood

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB - I don't really have a problem but it would set my mind at ease if you would give me some information. I'm talking about cancer in young children. In all the articles I've read they never tell about the symptoms. If more people were aware maybe it could slow the death rate. I sure hope so. Please help me and others learn about cancer in young people.

DEAR READER - Despite the publicity that cancer in children gets, I think you ought to know that the leading cause of death below the age of 15 is accidents. They cause 46 percent of all deaths below 15. Cancer is a poor second. There are four times as many deaths from accidents in children than there are from cancer.

Anti-Hill Book Nixed

DALLAS (AP) - Houston businessmen claiming to be supporters of Gov. Dolph Briscoe attempted to have a book prepared before last spring's Democratic primary outlining charges that his opponent, Attorney General John Hill, balked at pursuing a Webb County investigation for political purposes.

The prospective writers said the plans for the book were dropped after they were asked to have at least one chapter containing the charges detrimental to Hill printed before the primary. The Dallas Times Herald reported Wednesday.
