'Wild West' Dressup Set Tomorrow at HHS

By ALLISON RYAN
Women's Editor

The "Wild, Wild West" will be alive at Hereford High School Thursday as students dress in keeping with the theme for Homecoming '80.

Western Day is one of the many events for this year's homecoming. Other events include various school decoration contests, the Homecoming Queen contest, a Homecoming parade and the big game Friday night when the Herd faces the Tascosa Rebels.

Best-dressed boy and girl in the western dress day contest will be recognized at the Homecoming pep rally Friday afternoon.

However, floats will be available for public viewing on the east parking lot at the high school from 8:05 a.m. Friday until the parade begins that afternoon.

Each class will have a float entered in the parade in keeping with the western theme and Hereford's junior highs will also have parade entries.

High School entries will compete for top honors in the parade.

Additional parade entries will include the HHS "Big Red Band" plus the Stanton and La Plata junior high bands, HHS Drill Team, HHS cheerleaders and several small floats and cars entered by local clubs.

A portion of the Homecoming rituals which are traditionally conducted at halftime of the Friday night game will be held prior to the 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

According to Robert Priest of HHS, UIL regulations dictate that halftime festivities must be kept to 15 minutes.

Priest said the Homecoming Queen candidates will be wheeled around the stadium track in convertibles and presented to the public about 7:10 Friday evening.

The Herd will then take to the field against Tascosa's Rebels at 7:30 p.m.

The Homecoming Queen will be crowned during halftime activities.

Closing out Homecoming activities will be a get-together for ex-students Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Ex students, particularly the 1980 graduates who would like to have their yearbooks signed by their classmates, are invited to attend the function, which is sponsored jointly by the HHS Student Council and the annual staff.

McDonalds to Reward Clean Up Participants

McDonalds Restaurant of Hereford is offering a free order of french fries for each member of a group who participates in a clean-up activity for the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division Clean Up Week.

"We use more paper than any restaurant in the country, so a great deal of the trash people see in the streets is probably from our restaurant. We would like to get involved with the campaign to help clean up Hereford," said Gary Shaw, manager of McDonalds in Hereford.

McDonalds to Reward Clean Up Participants

The restaurant has also donated about 300 barrel trash bags to be used in the annual event.

According to Bunny Anderson, beautification chairman, both the coupons and trash bags are available at the Chamber Office.

"The best place to start in cleaning up the city is at each home in Hereford, and we would like to see everyone involved in the campaign," Mrs. Anderson said.

In addition to the incentives offered by McDonalds the Hereford High School Key Club will be available Saturday morning to help anyone in cleaning their yards.

"Anyone who needs help, possibly senior citizens, should call the Chamber at 364-3333 or call me at 364-4901," she said.

The committee and the Key Club cleared the Santa Fe Park of weeds and rubbish this past Saturday to begin the annual clean up campaign.

"We would like this to be the best clean up campaign ever, but we need the support of everyone in the city," Mrs. Anderson said.

Antique Car Show Set For Weekend

Special and antique cars from cities in Texas and New Mexico will highlight the Hereford Rotary Club car show Saturday and Sunday.

Rotarians are selling tickets for the show at $2.50 for adults and $1 for children. Tickets can be bought at the door.

Several door prizes will be given away including a trip to Dallas for two with tickets to a Dallas Cowboys football game at Texas Stadium.

Antique Car Show Set For Weekend

Trophies and dash plaques will be awarded as car owners show new and old model cars.

Classes of cars will include up to 1925, 1926-35, 1936-42, 1943-51, Model T Classic, American Sports, Model A, Model A (closed), special interest 1951-present, early pickups to 1941, foreign sports and 1955-57 Chevrolets.

NEA President McGuire To Address Educators

An educational "first" will take place in Hereford Monday night...a visit by the president of the National Education Association.

Willard McGuire, NEA president from Washington, D.C., will speak to educators at a barbecue supper in the high school cafeteria Monday at 6 p.m.

Interested citizens are invited, and urged, to attend the meeting, according to local leaders of the Deaf Smith County Texas State Teachers Association-NEA.

Tickets, at $4 each, can be purchased from Melissa Tubb at Northwest Elementary or Norma Gripp at La Plata.

McGuire, a native of Minnesota, is a strong advocate of professional growth for teachers and will address that topic, as well as improvements in the educational process.

An added incentive for local educators is a series of professional growth workshops to be conducted immediately following the dinner meeting. Three hours of inservice credit will be given to persons who attend. Topics of the workshops will include discipline, accreditation of teachers and tests and testing.

Other state and national officers of TSTA-NEA who will be honored at the Monday session include Mrs. Dora Scott of Houston, TSTA-NEA state president, Mrs. Vivian Bowser of Houston, NEA state director; and Gene Brock of Hereford, another NEA state director.

McGuire, 52, is a former Minnesota teacher of algebra and Spanish who now heads the national educator organization. He began his current two-year term Sept. 1, 1979, following his election at the NEA annual convention in Detroit.

The featured speaker serves as chief executive officer and policy leader of the 1.8 million-member teacher organization. McGuire began his teaching career in Clarkfield, Minn., and later taught in North St. Paul.

Maplewood schools.

He earned his BA and master's degrees at Macalester College in St. Paul. It was at Macalester that McGuire began a 34-year-old friendship with Walter Mondale, now the vice president of the United States.

McGuire completed his college work at the University of Colorado, Hamilton College, Clinton, N.Y., and Interamerican University, Saltillo, Mexico. He and his wife, Helen, live in Arlington, Va. They have three children and three grandchildren.

Also to be considered will be contracts with the various tax offices.

Possible locations for a central appraisal and collection office will also be discussed during the session.

Sarpalius Supper Is Thursday

A cornbread-and-bean supper for Bill Sarpalius, candidate for the state senate, is scheduled Thursday night in the high school cafeteria.

Special guest at the Hereford supper will be Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock. The event is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Special entertainment will be provided at the supper by the Hereford Chamber Singers. Tickets will be available at the door, at $5 each, or interested persons can call 364-8646.

Defense to Get Chance In Brilab Proceedings

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for House Speaker Billy Clayton and two other Brilab defendants have indicated they would ask today that several charges against their clients be dismissed for lack of evidence.

Prosecutors wrapped up their case Tuesday afternoon after presenting several witnesses whose testimony was friendly to the defense. Government attorneys also played reels of secret FBI tapes to federal jurors in the bribery-extortion trial of Clayton and Austin attorneys Donald Ray and Randall Wood.

Clayton, Wood, Ray and labor leader L.G. Moore were indicted June 12 by a federal grand jury for extortion, bribery, conspiracy and racketeering charges arising from an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

Moore, regional director of the International Operating Engineers Union, will be tried later.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ron Woods, the chief prosecutor in the case, concluded his testimony by reading a section of the Texas standard of conduct for legislators and officeholders to the five-man, seven-woman jury.

Woods told jurors the code says no legislator or public official should accept or solicit any gift that would influence his official conduct or interfere with his freedom of judgement on any issue.

A former state official testified Tuesday that he believed Clayton had been "boxed-in" when labor leader Moore offered a $5,000 campaign contribution.

Under cross-examination, Bob Johnson said that Moore had put Clayton in an impossible position because "he needed labor support and there is no way, knowing the speaker, that he was going to keep that money."

Johnson is a former legislator and during the Brilab investigation was a member of the Texas Employees Retirement Board, the agency that awards lucrative health insurance contract for state employees.

Johnson said if Clayton had wanted to influence the awarding of the multimillion dollar-a-year insurance policy, "he would have contacted other members of the retirement system board."

There are six members of the board, three elected by the various state agencies and three appointed. Johnson was named to the board by Clayton.

The government claims Clayton accepted a $5,000 bribe, with a promise of $500,000-a-year more, if the bids were reopened and the contract went to Prudential Insurance Co.

Joseph Hauser, an FBI informant, had posed during the Brilab investigation as a representative of Prudential

Iraqis Step Up Attacks

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi forces stepped up air and artillery attacks on Abadan and battled holdouts in the port of Khorramshahr, seeking to complete their conquest of the Iranian side of Iraq's waterway to the Persian Gulf.

Iran struck back with air attacks on Kirkuk, the headquarters of Iraq's oil industry.

On the diplomatic front, Jordanian King Hussein's declaration of support for Iraq prompted cautionary warnings to him from the United States and Britain. But U.S. officials reported East European, Indian and Lebanese ships were being diverted to the Jordanian port of Aqaba with supplies for Iraq, and the Jordanian government announced it was mobilizing fleets of trucks to ferry supplies to Baghdad.

The capture of Khorramshahr and Abadan would give Iraq full control of the Shatt al-Arab, the 120-mile waterway that forms the southern part of the boundary between Iraq and Iran and has been a major source of contention between the Arabs in what is now Iraq and the non-Arab Persians of Iran for much of the 20th century.

Control of the estuary is vital to both countries because it is the waterway to their chief ports, Iraqi Basra and Iranian Khorramshahr.

But although the Iraqis were in full control of the port area of Khorramshahr and the approach to it from Basra to the west, pockets of Iranian revolutionary guards were still fighting in parts of the city. Ulbrich reported occasional small arms fire could be heard Tuesday, and the Iraqis would not let visiting reporters cross the Karun River, which divides the city.

The official Iraqi news agency said the Iranian forces were concentrated in the middle of the city.

U.S. officials in Washington who reported the diversion of East European, Indian and Lebanese ships to the Jordanian port of Aqaba said the cargoes they carried included

Suspect Apprehended In Trooper's Slaying

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The day a slain state trooper was laid to rest here, the suspect who had eluded police throughout Texas was apprehended and arrested in a rural Kansas town.

Texas and Kansas authorities were negotiating Tuesday night to transport Billy Wayne Alexander Jr. back to Texas after he waived extradition.

The suspect, wanted in the shooting death of Jerry Don Davis, offered no resistance and was unarmed when he was arrested early Tuesday evening in Liberal, Kan., Department of Public Safety officials said.

Alexander, 21, had been named in a capital murder warrant issued Monday morning by a justice of the peace in Lubbock.

A couple from Lowell, Kan., was in the car with Alexander at the time of arrest, DPS officials said, but said the couple had not been charged. Police withheld all other information.

Davis, 25, was found slumped over the wheel of his squad car in Slaton, near here, Sunday night with a bullet wound in his head. His service revolver was still in his holster.

One of the two ministers delivering the eulogy in the small Lubbock church packed with hundreds of mourners quoted scriptures supporting capital punishment for the trooper's "assassin."

Law enforcement officers from Texas, Oklahoma and new Mexico attended the service. One-third of the seats were reserved for DPS officers.

Davis' mother was presented with the Unit-1 States flag that had been draped over her son's coffin. A seven-man honor guard fired a 21-gun salute and a lone trumpeter played taps.

Authorities had combed the state for two days and issued a tri-state bulletin looking for Alexander, whose drivers license was found in Davis' car, DPS officials said.

Davis had notified his dispatcher by radio that he had stopped a vehicle for speeding, and "that was the last contact," Todd said.

The trooper had radioed in the license plate of the stopped vehicle, a car with stolen plates later found abandoned by DPS officers.

Two witnesses to the shooting were located by other identification found in Davis' car, said a Lubbock County District Attorney's office spokesman. The two men were questioned and released on material witness bond, he said.

DPS Director James Adams traveled here from Austin Monday to coordinate the search.

Friends and relatives of Davis, who had never married, said he had been obsessed with becoming a highway patrolman, even as a 12-year-old boy.

Attorneys Claim

Mining A Danger

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Some uranium prospectors are "thumbing their nose at everybody" and endangering cattle and underground water in South Texas, the Texas Mining Council's attorney says.

The council voted Tuesday to recommend legislation giving a state agency — probably the Railroad Commission — power to regulate the drilling of uranium exploration holes.

David Calien of Houston, the council's lawyer, said uranium companies drilled 21,000 exploration holes in 1979.

He said it was "reasonable to assume" that most holes penetrated the water table and many hit salt water formations.

"Obviously, these circumstances can provide a significant threat to fresh groundwater resources," Calien reported.

In addition, he said, the holes are wide enough for cattle to step into, and "that's part of the problem that brought it to the attention of the council."

Fair to Create

Lots of Trash

DALLAS (AP) — Not everyone would want Steve Moore's job.

He and his crew of about 600 temporary workers clean the sprawling State Fair of Texas fairgrounds daily — after more than 250,000 people have trampled the midway from dawn to dusk.

If all the paper napkins, candy-apple cores, corn cobs, corn dog sticks and other trash discarded during the two-week fair were stacked on the floor of the Cotton Bowl, he says, it would make a pile 10 feet deep.

The man who deduced that somewhat unsavory statistic has contracted for the fair cleanup job for the past 19 years.

State Fair officials estimated they will spend about $300,000 this year paying Moore and his army to clean up after the three million litterbugs expected to stroll the grounds from now until Oct. 19.

Mexican-American

Fertility Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fertility rate for Mexican-American women decreases as educational levels increase, University of Texas researchers have told a federal commission.

The researchers reported to the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy. The commission is framing recommendations for a new immigration policy to be presented to the president next March.

Their study measured the fertility of descendants of Mexican immigrants according to the length of their exposure to American society. The study also measured the number of generations living here, the socio-economic status and the level of education.

"Among women with 16 years of education ... Mexican-American women show levels of both current and cumulative fertility that are indistinguishable from (or fall below) those of other whites," the researchers concluded. "Efforts directing at improving educational opportunities would therefore seem to offer the greatest promise for further reductions in the fertility of the Mexican-American population."

Search Continues

For Grizzly Bear

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Preliminary autopsy results on the carcass of a slain 370-pound male grizzly bear didn't "show much of anything," according to Glacier National Park superintendent Joe Shellenberger.

So, he said Park Service rangers on foot and in a helicopter would continue their search today for a bear that mauled a Texan to death.

Shellenberger said that final autopsy results on the bear would take some time, so he decided Tuesday that the upper portion of the Belly River drainage should be searched again for other grizzlies that may have attacked Laurence Gordon, 33, of Dallas.

The body of Gordon was found last Friday near the shore of Elizabeth Lake in the mountainous northeast corner of Glacier about 10 miles south of the Canadian border.

A search for the bear that killed him — possibly the same animal that treed three other hikers last week and broke into ranger facilities nearby — was launched on Saturday. The suspect bear was killed Sunday morning about six miles from where Gordon's badly mauled and partially eaten body was found.

schooling them about Islam and the Iranian side of the war.

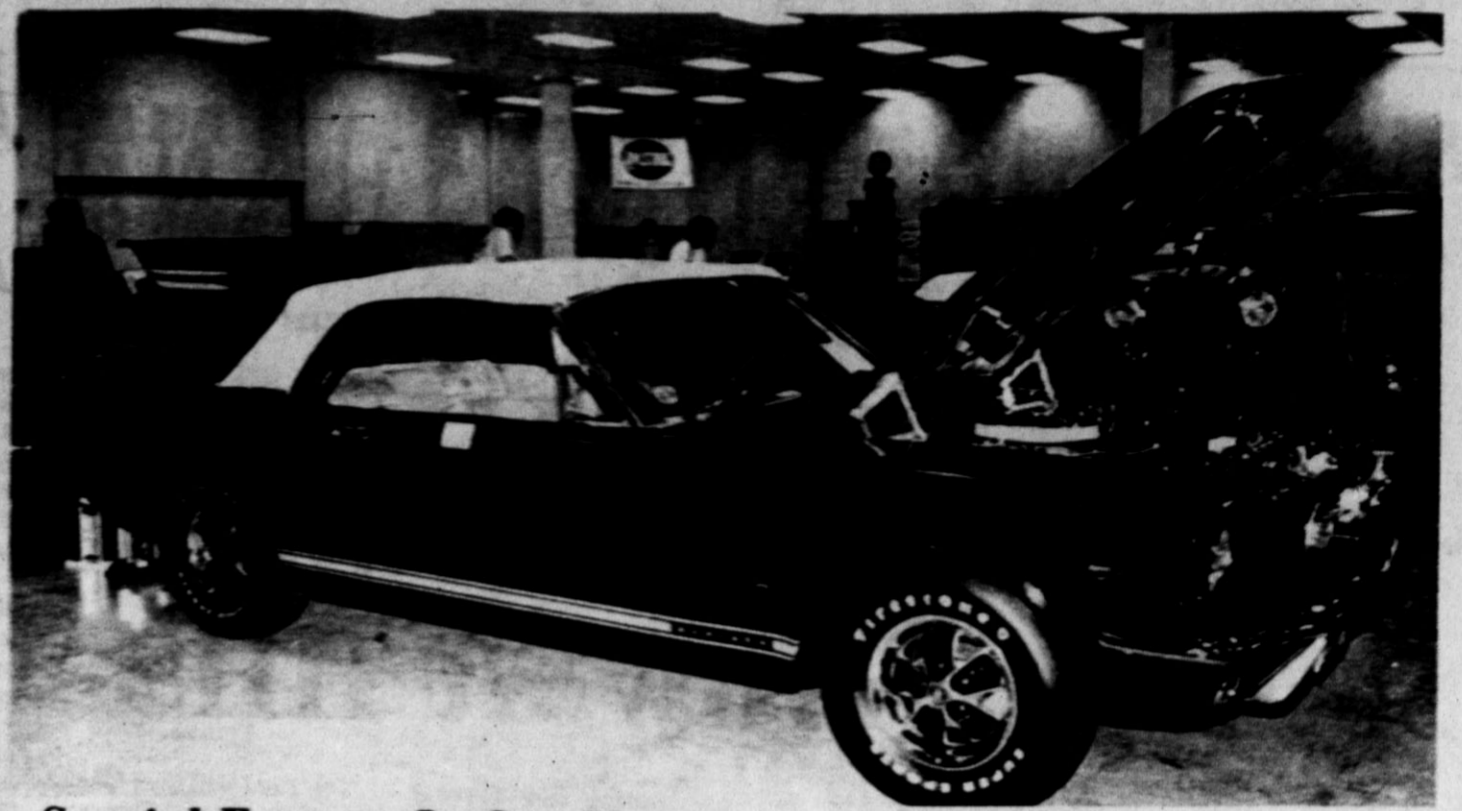

"They have become more comfortable since the war. We are trying to bring them closer to Islam," said the guard, who identified himself only as Sadeqi.

"A few of the Americans have turned sympathetic to Islam," he said.

Refusing to go into details, the guard spokesman said an Iranian victory over Iraq could mean leniency for the Americans.

"Their future depends on the outcome of the war. They have to be punished according to their crimes, but maybe if the war is good for us, we will be more lenient with them," he said.

He added, however, an Iranian victory would not necessarily mean speedy release. Pressed for what would happen if Iraq won, the guard said, "We cannot be lenient."

Special Feature In Car Show

Even in Hereford's horse country this is a Mustang that stands out. It's a 1966 Mustang GT convertible with custom-built pony tail-midnight blue and slick with 16 coats of applied lacquer. The car and trailer will be on display in the Hereford Bull Barn during the Hereford Rotary Club's Antique Car Show

Saturday and Sunday. The automobile, owned by Bryce S. Cockerham of Amarillo, is sponsored by Jack Frye Automotive Paint, Amarillo. The Mustang has captured all of the top show awards for a car in its class, and has been featured on television in such cities as Atlanta, Knoxville and Indianapolis.

Jordonian Involvement Grows

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Jordan's growing involvement in the Iraqi war effort against Iran appears rooted in economic necessity and King Hussein's belief that an Iraqi victory will have a stabilizing influence on the region, diplomats here say.

The 44-year-old Jordanian monarch is the only Arab leader to throw his support openly behind President Saddam Hussein of Iraq.

He has provided air bases to shelter Iraqi planes, mobilized trucks to carry supplies from the Jordanian port of Aqaba to Baghdad and offered any military assistance Iraq may need.

A Kuwaiti newspaper reported Tuesday that 40,000 Jordanian soldiers were poised on the Iraqi border awaiting orders to march to Baghdad's aid, if necessary.

Sources in London said the British and U.S. governments urged Hussein to stay out of the fight so that the conflict would not embroil the rest of the Middle East.

An Arab diplomat, who declined to be identified by name or nationality, suggested the king believes an Iraqi victory would be best for the vital Persian Gulf area — Jordan's main source of financial aid.

"The Iraqis are better businessmen and politicians than the Iranians," he said. "They honor their signature to anything. We have to take a stand, and a strong Iraq would do a lot to stabilize the whole region."

The diplomat also suggested that Hussein was able to declare his support openly while Persian Gulf states could not because Jordan is geographically removed from Iran and does not have a large Shiite Moslem community that could be influenced by the revolutionary doctrines of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Another factor in Hussein's decision, a Western diplomat said, was worsening relations between Jordan and Syria, which has been feuding for a long time with the rival Baath Socialist regime in Baghdad.

Good relations with Saudi Arabia and Iraq are therefore a counter-balance to the oil wealth and military power of Syria and Libya, whose radical positions on Middle East peace are opposed by the moderate monarch, the diplomat said.

The bottom line, however, appears to be economic necessity. The oil-poor desert kingdom needs massive infusions of aid to offset its balance of payments deficit — $300 million in exports versus an import bill of nearly $2 billion.

Iraq has been paying $186 million of a pan-Arab annual subsidy of $1.25 billion pledged to Jordan by a 1978 Baghdad summit of Arab leaders, in which Jordan joined in condemning the U.S.-mediated Palestinian autonomy talks between Egypt and Israel.

Govt. Blocking Iran Lawsuits

NEW YORK (AP) — With

supporting documentation from Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie, the federal government has launched legal action to block lawsuits by American banks and corporations seeking billions of dollars that Iran owes them.

The Carter administration also has appealed a federal judge's refusal to delay the suits, saying they could be a "serious risk" to negotiations for the safe return of the 52 Americans held hostage in Iran.

The administration filed its motions Tuesday in U.S. District Court before Judge Thomas Kevin Duffy.

The government said it wants to participate in the commercial litigation and asked the judge to certify his Sept. 26 order denying a State Department request for an indefinite delay in the 96 lawsuits.

Federal lawyers also asked Duffy to stay his denial of a delay until an appeals court has reviewed his decision.

"A stay of judgment proceedings would best serve the vital foreign policy interests of the United States in resolving the present crisis successfully," said Muskie in a statement accompanying the government's motions.

The bank and corporate suits were filed to recover losses on defaulted bank loans, business contracts and property losses resulting from nationalization in Iran.

The plaintiffs must win court attachments of Iranian assets, once the Carter Administration unfreezes them.

Last Jan. 4, Duffy granted a State Department request for a 60-day delay in proceedings because of delicate hostage negotiations.

Gas Theft Reported

Hereford police had a relatively quiet day and evening Tuesday after the wild events of the weekend and early Monday.

The theft of $10 worth of gas was reported by the 7-11 store at 13th and 385 about 5:30 this morning.

Dennis Edwards of 507 Willow Lane complained to police about harassing phone calls Tuesday.

Officers handled four non-offense reports and issued seven traffic citations Tuesday.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Margaret Bell
TSTA-NEA Vice-President for Deaf Smith County

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

A real growth process is for a professional person to leave his own work area and go forth to learn from others. Such was my privilege in June when I went as the elected delegate from the Deaf Smith County unit of Texas State Teachers Association-National Education Association to the national convention of NEA held in Los Angeles.

My attitude toward teachers and teaching will never be the same. I feel that I had a real look at the "big picture" of education today.

On Monday, Oct. 13, interested persons can receive a mini-look by coming to hear Willard McGuire, president of NEA, speak at the high school cafeteria.

The focus of his address will be professional growth for teachers as he seeks to inspire educators to be their very best in the classrooms of Hereford.

Mr. McGuire, a native Minnesotan, is a well-versed, dynamic leader and speaker who will appeal to everyone's deep desire to give the children of our town a well-founded, meaningful education.

I urge all teachers as well as patrons of our schools who want to improve the quality of education in Hereford to attend the supper meeting at 6 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 13, in the high school cafeteria.

Tickets for the barbecue meal are $4 each and school patrons may call me at 364-3215 after 5 p.m. if they would like to attend.

Hereford teachers enjoy a comparatively privileged status in this "big picture" of education today, but they can gain important and helpful insights by hearing someone's report of what is true elsewhere. I hope many will take advantage of this opportunity.

and offered kickbacks to various political and labor officials.

The speaker acknowledged he received $5,000 from Moore during a Nov. 8, 1979, meeting but thought it was a campaign contribution and planned to return it later.

Secret FBI tapes made during the meeting revealed that Hauser had counted out the money, given it to Moore, who passed it along to the speaker.

Johnson was asked, as a four-term member of the legislature, if he would have turned down the offer.

He answered, "No way, especially when you may need labor support. There was no way the speaker was going to keep that money. There is no way the speaker would accept any illegal money from anyone."

Much of the taped conversation among Moore, Ray, Wood and Hauser, said Johnson, "was puff, was bull."

He said Wood and Ray were trying to convince Hauser they had some inside influence in the state capitol and Moore was trying to convince Hauser he knew a lot of important people and Hauser "was a con man."

Hauser now is serving a 36-month federal prison term for an earlier insurance fraud conviction.

Johnson said he met with Clayton two or three times between November and food, cement, radio batteries and possibly military spare parts.

Sources in Beirut, Lebanon told The Associated Press that stockpiled Soviet military hardware also is being sent to Iraq from the pro-Marxist nations of Southern Yemen and Ethiopia by way of Aqaba, the Red Sea port at Jordan's southern tip.

State Department spokesman John H. Traitner said no Soviet ships have been sighted at the port, but another official reported that information reaching the State Department tends to support the idea that Soviet ships are involved.

"We have been in touch with a number of governments who are in the area in which the Iran-Iraq conflict is taking place — those governments include Jordan — about our hope that the conflict not be widened and that the hostilities there be brought to a quick end," Trait-ner said. "Jordan is certainly aware of our position on that," he said.

Western diplomats said the British government also warned Jordan that active military support for Iraq would invite Iranian reprisals and widen the war.

Iraq and Syria, long-time enemies ruled by rival factions of the Baath Socialist Party, swapped criticism of each other through their party newspapers Tuesday.

Syria's newspaper, Al Baath, accused Iraqi President Saddam Hussein of being an "imperialist agent out to play the role of the shah," meaning he seeks to become the major power in the Persian Gulf.

Al Baath said the United States pushed Iraq to invade Iran to "divert attention away from the Arabs' main struggle against Israel and provide the United States and Israel with an excuse to intervene in the gulf."

Iraq's party paper, Al Thawra, criticized Syrian President Hafez Assad for failing to support Iraq. "If Assad is such a liberation hero as he claims, why does he hide himself in his palace, too frightened to face the masses?" the paper asked.

It criticized Assad for complaining the war was wasting the military potential that could be used against Israel. "Those hypocrites who are now weeping for the battle of Palestine have closed the barrels of their guns long ago," Al Thawra said.

Meanwhile, an Iranian revolutionary guard spokesman and an official in the office of Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai, both reached by telephone from Beirut, said the 52 American hostages were safe from the war. Today was the Americans' 340th day in captivity.

The guard said militants holding the captives were

Bush Blasts Carter 'Rhetoric'

PLANO, Texas (AP) — Flashing anger and indignation as he skipped across Texas, Republican vice-presidential nominee George Bush denounced President Carter for what he called "irresponsible ... and overheated campaign rhetoric."

Bush opened his attack Tuesday in Midland, revised it in Plano and polished it up in his hometown of Houston, where spent the night.

Quoting Carter as saying "the election of Ronald Reagan would cause racial and religious alienations throughout the country," Bush declared:

"That is Carterism at its worst — rhetoric aimed for narrow political gain and insinuating hatred and division among Americans."

The former CIA director made those statements before a luncheon audience of 1,100 at Midland, where he was met by his son, George, and Texas Gov. Bill Clements.

Clements, the first Republican governor in Texas since Reconstruction, flew on to Dallas with Bush for the dedication of a municipal building in suburban Plano — a nucleus of Texas conservatism.

The younger Bush is an independent oil and gas operator in Midland, where his father launched his own business career 32 years ago.

Bush hammered at a more positive GOP theme of financial responsibility and competent leadership at the outdoor dedication ceremony, but continued to criticize Carter for what he called "disruptive and and devious rhetoric."

He said Carter's statements reflected a "certain desperation" and dismissed them as "scare" tactics.

In Houston, where he met with black community, business and church leaders, Bush accused Carter of "talking down" to minorities.

He said a Reagan presidency would "offer a real economic opportunity" to minorities with "more jobs, lower interest rates, a sounder economy, lower inflation ... tax credits and less regulation of business."

He said the minority vote in Texas would have a major effect on the Nov. 4 outcome, but admitted the Republicans "still have a lot of work to do."

Although Republicans do not expect to win even 50 percent of the black vote in Texas, Bush said Reagan would be sensitive to minorities "no matter what the percentage is."

Questioned in Dallas about the National Organization of Women's vow to dog the Republican campaign trail with pickets, Bush said: "Let them have their pickets. It's not going to deter us."

Delegates to the national NOW convention in San Antonio this weekend pledged to work against the Republican team because of Reagan's opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment.

"Gov. Reagan is opposed to that amendment," Bush said, "but is certainly in favor of equal rights for women."

One picketer appeared at the dedication here, bearing a placard that read: "ERA Yes. GOP No."

Bush said Carter's attacks on Reagan were "delivered by a candidate desperately trying to escape the consequences of his failure in office."

"Our president has said there is a malaise in this country," Bush continued. "There is no sickness in this country. What is missing is the confidence of leadership."

Ann Landers

Suffering Under Nutty Relatives

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read your column for at least 15 years. There have been times when I have wanted to shake your hand. Recently you gave an answer that made me want to give you a gold medal, the Nobel peace prize and a great big hug.

I refer to your answer to the 44-year-old woman who was kicked, beaten and denied all privileges by a cruel (probably psychotic) mother. She wrote, "In the heart of every abused child there is a flicker of hope that someday Mama or Papa will love me."

You replied, "I operate on the assumption that most people are sane, but perhaps I shouldn't be so generous. When you have suffered at the hands of nutty relatives, I see no reason for you to continue to allow them to make you sick. Just lop them off your dance card, honey."

I was reared by an aunt who used to beat me with a strap because I didn't scrub the floors to suit her. She would not allow me to use the telephone, and I couldn't attend any school functions. The day I became 18, I put my few belongings in a cardboard box and struck out on my own. The Salvation Army took me in--bless their generous hearts.

My aunt somehow learned where I was when I was 20. She telephoned to say she would like to see me again. The sound of her voice made me physically ill. I decided I would not allow her to re-enter my life and cause me grief, so I told her, "Sorry, no."

I had to go into therapy to rid myself of the guilt, but I finally got it all sorted out. It took dozens of sessions with a professional to learn what you said in one sentence: "Lop them off your dance card, honey."

Thanks a million for your common sense.—Fort Smith, Ark.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A newlywed couple moved into the apartment next to mine. I wanted to be a good neighbor, so I baked her a "welcome cake." That was three months ago. She has been over here every day since. Whenever "Jeanette" and her husband have a fight (which is often), she looks to me for advice. I am sick of being in the middle, not to mention the way she wastes my time. I have even suggested that she write to Ann Landers, but she thinks you are living in the "olden days"

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

October is a sort of traditional time for moving, and a lot of Hereford people are changing locations in this or adjoining months. Among them are the R.C. Hoelschers, who are getting ready to move into a newly-purchased home at 103 Pecan.

Dianne says she is very pleased about prospects of living in the new place, even though her birthday celebration was interrupted to close the deal for it. The family had planned to go up to the mountains over the weekend and join in one of the aspen tours, as her birthday present.

But the house, which they had hoped to buy, became available just then, so the trip was canceled. Dianne thinks the aspens will be yellow again next fall, and right now she's concentrating on getting things ready for a move early in November.

Hoelscher's parents are coming up this weekend to visit several days and will get to inspect the new house as a part of their entertainment. They live at Alice.

Gladys and Irving Willoughby have been living at 146 Hickory some time, after an interim stay in an apartment following sale of their house up on Moreman St.

But they are not quite through with fixing the new place to suit them exactly, Gladys says. She looks forward to having it all done by the time winter really gets here and says she plans to "sit and crochet" then, though that is hard to believe.

Their house has been repainted inside and out. The change of outside color is causing some surprised looks on the faces of passing motorists who take second looks at the building that has always been white before.

Visitors from the Denver area, Mr. and Mrs. Buren W. Carr, were expected by Cora Johnson who was busy Monday getting ready for them. Mrs. Carr is her daughter.

The Colorado couple planned to go on to other parts of Texas for visits with relatives after spending a few days with Mrs. Johnson, and then come back by Hereford for a top on their way home.

That curbside vegetable garden I mentioned last week is the production of Jerry Brown, I discovered when he identified himself in the nicest way by bringing in a sack of young green okra pods and a couple of fine tomatoes.

Very tasty, and I made cornbread to eat with the okra for one of my favorite Southern-style meals. Some people don't like okra, but I suspect they don't know how to cook it like my grandma, an Alabama native, did.

Lavon and Speedy Nieman were surprised and delighted this month when their daughter-in-law's picture appeared in Texas Sports magazine as being one of the college girls in volleyball to be watched this year.

Even though she and Craig Nieman were married this summer and live in Littlefield, Kim went back to University of Texas at Arlington to finish her volleyball commitment with the school. She is a senior and was named Most Valuable Player her sophomore year. Her team was eighth in the nation last year and most of the girls returned this year. Texas Sports magazine rated them third in the state.

The Newspaper Bible

THE HOLY SPIRIT; TEACHER IN RESIDENCE
So there is now no condemnation awaiting those who belong to Christ Jesus.

For the power of the life-giving Spirit-and this power is mine through Christ Jesus-has freed me from the vicious circle of sin and death.

We aren't saved from sin's grasp by knowing the commandments of God, because we can't and don't keep them, but God put into effect a different plan to save us. He sent His own Son in a human body like ours - except that ours are sinful - and destroyed sin's control over us by giving Himself as a sacrifice for our sins.

So now we can obey God's laws if we follow after the Holy Spirit and no longer obey the old evil nature within us.

Those who let themselves be controlled by their lower natures live only to please themselves, but those who follow after the Holy Spirit find themselves doing those things that please God.

Following after the Holy Spirit leads to life and peace, but following after the old nature leads to death.

Because the old sinful nature within us is against God. It never did obey God's laws and it never will.

That's why those who are still under the control of their old sinful selves, bent on following their old evil desires, can never please God.

But you are not like that. You are controlled by your new nature if you have the Spirit of God living in you. (And remember that if anyone doesn't have the Spirit of Christ living in him, he is not a Christian at all.)

Yet, even though Christ lives within you, your body will die because of sin; but your spirit will live, for Christ has pardoned it.

And if the Spirit of God, who raised up Jesus from the dead, lives in you, He will make your dying bodies live again after you die, by means of this same Holy Spirit living within you.

Is Discipline the Answer?

NEW YORK (AP) — When elected officials and aspirants to office talk about curbing inflation through traditional fiscal and monetary discipline a good many people yawn, disbelieve or even get angry. They say it cannot be done. Included is a range of people — from those who insist we should prepare for what they feel is the coming collapse into anarchy, to academics who claim to have studied the situation dispassionately. Some such thinking has made the bestseller lists.

Courtney Brown, former professor and dean of the Graduate School of Business, Columbia University, offers a less cataclysmic view, but he too feels inflation will be hard to overcome.

Brown's view seems likely to be interpreted as anti-labor, especially since he has long held corporate directorships. But he also points out that labor too has been hurt by inflation.

Inflation, he claims, arises from having issued more claims than can be redeemed. "The politicians for years have promised too much; the excess demand is expressed in inflation."

The result of such promises, he says, "is a built-in structural generator of continuous inflations that cannot be cured without repairing the structure."

As evidence, Brown refers to the record. From 1947 to 1965, he says, inflation averaged 2.5 percent a year; from 1965 to 1971 it averaged 4.5; and from 1972 to 1978 it reached 7.7 percent. Since then, double-digit inflation has become the norm.

The problem has deep roots, says Brown, tracing them to the 1930s and 1940s rather than merely to the Vietnam War, where many commentators begin their analyses.

"The human suffering associated with that punishing period focused public policy on measures to assist the disadvantaged: Farmers, unemployed youth, the elderly, and others," he says, adding that organized labor was also targeted for aid.

When the Sherman Act was passed in 1890, organized labor was as much subject to its antitrust provisions as were corporations, says Brown in a paper called "Inflation and the Pass-Through."

The Clayton Act tried to correct labor's relative weakness by exempting from the antitrust law the right to organize. The Wagner Act of 1935 provided the right to strike. The Full Employment Act of 1946 strengthened labor, until, he says, "there has been little more than the appearance of resistance to excessive wage settlements."

The result, he claims, is that for more than 30 years wage increases have been greater than increases in productivity. The shift to less manufacturing and more ser-

McQueen's Doctor Center of Speculation

DALLAS (AP) — His name surfaced last week, when publicists revealed he was treating superstar Steve McQueen for terminal cancer. But the questions persist:

Who is Dr. William D. Kelley and why do cancer patients seek the advice of this Texas orthodontist?

The answers are as varied and a controversial as some of Kelley's treatments.

To some, he is a medical con man, bamboozling distraught cancer victims with complicated computer readouts and diet recommendations.

To others, he is a dedicated, deeply religious man who firmly believes he has found a cure for cancer and wants to share his discovery.

An orthodontist who also holds a Ph.D. in education, Kelley said he discovered he had cancer of the liver and pancreas in the mid-1960s.

He gave himself coffee enemas, ate a variety of health foods and took vitamins to balance his metabolism and allow his body's natural immunity system to successfully fight the cancerous cells, he said.

And that method is what he recommends in a pamphlet "One Answer to Cancer."

But state officials were not impressed. Ten years ago, the state Board of Medical Examiners forced an injunction prohibiting Kelley from practicing medicine and publishing his pamphlet in the state. Kelley fought the injunction all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, where justices declined to hear his arguments.

The state Board of Dental Examiners jerked his dental license in 1974 and, according to Kelley, at least 15 other state and federal agencies have investigated him at one time or another.

"I used to be so traditional you wouldn't believe it,"

Kelley said. "But I changed when I saw that nutrition could do for me what medicine couldn't. I'm not doing anything illegal or immoral."

Kelley has built an empire of sorts around his method. He recently purchased a large computer system housed at the International Health Institute of Addison and used to analyze the 2,500-question surveys given to each patient.

In his pamphlet, Kelley strongly advocates pure living and exercise and says that 86 percent of all cancer can be treated by dietary control alone.

A Dallas Times Herald reporter who profiled Kelley said one patient was told to take 187 pills a day and drink pink carrot juice and licorice root tea. Kelley's pamphlets also recommend recipes that range from old-fashioned corn meal batter cakes to more exotic health foods.

In his pamphlet, he also recommends frequent coffee enemas, using regular grind percolated in an enamelware, glass or stainless steel pot.

A report in Friday's Journal of the American Medical Association said coffee enemas can be fatal. Dr. John W. Eisele of the Seattle medical examiners office said the enemas can cause an imbalance of body fluids and salts and he has reported two deaths from the coffee treatments.

"He's a very dedicated, very quiet, very spiritual man," said Rita Miller, a long-time friend of Kelley's daughter, Kim, and now an employee at Kelley's institute in Addison. "He believes that God has given him information he must share with the world. People had always thought of him as really crazy. I don't see what's so crazy about eating right."

Kelley's spokesman, Paul

Wetstone, repeatedly points out that Kelley acts only as a "consultant" and "gives advice" rather than prescribing treatment. He said Kelley is executive director of the institute in Addison, just north of Dallas, director of the Kelley Foundation in Winthrop, Wash., and associated with the Nutritional Academy of Chicago and the Plaza Santa Maria General Hospital, near Rosa Rita, Mexico.

"I wouldn't say it's a multi-million dollar empire, but it's quite large," Wetstone said. McQueen's publicist announced last week that Kelley's program has helped the actor overcome mesothelioma, a rare and often-fatal form of cancer that affects the lining of the lungs and abdomen.

McQueen now is under treatment at a hospital in Mexico that follows Kelley's program.

Wetstone said McQueen had improved "markedly" after 10 weeks under Kelley's program.

The American Cancer Society lists Kelley's program as one of the unproven methods of treating cancer. But those who know him say he either is a joke or a man ahead of his time.

"He was the laughing stock of town for quite a while," said Dr. Jerry Burgess, a Grapevine dentist who knew Kelley when they both practiced there. "People used to joke that he cured cancer with green onions."

But Grapevine jeweler Leroy Danielson says Kelley's methods seemed to work on his brother, who improved under Kelley's care, then died after he stopped treatment.

"I think some of his ideas are very beneficial. I haven't eaten beef since I met him," Danielson said.

Kelley left Grapevine in the mid-1970s for Winthrop,

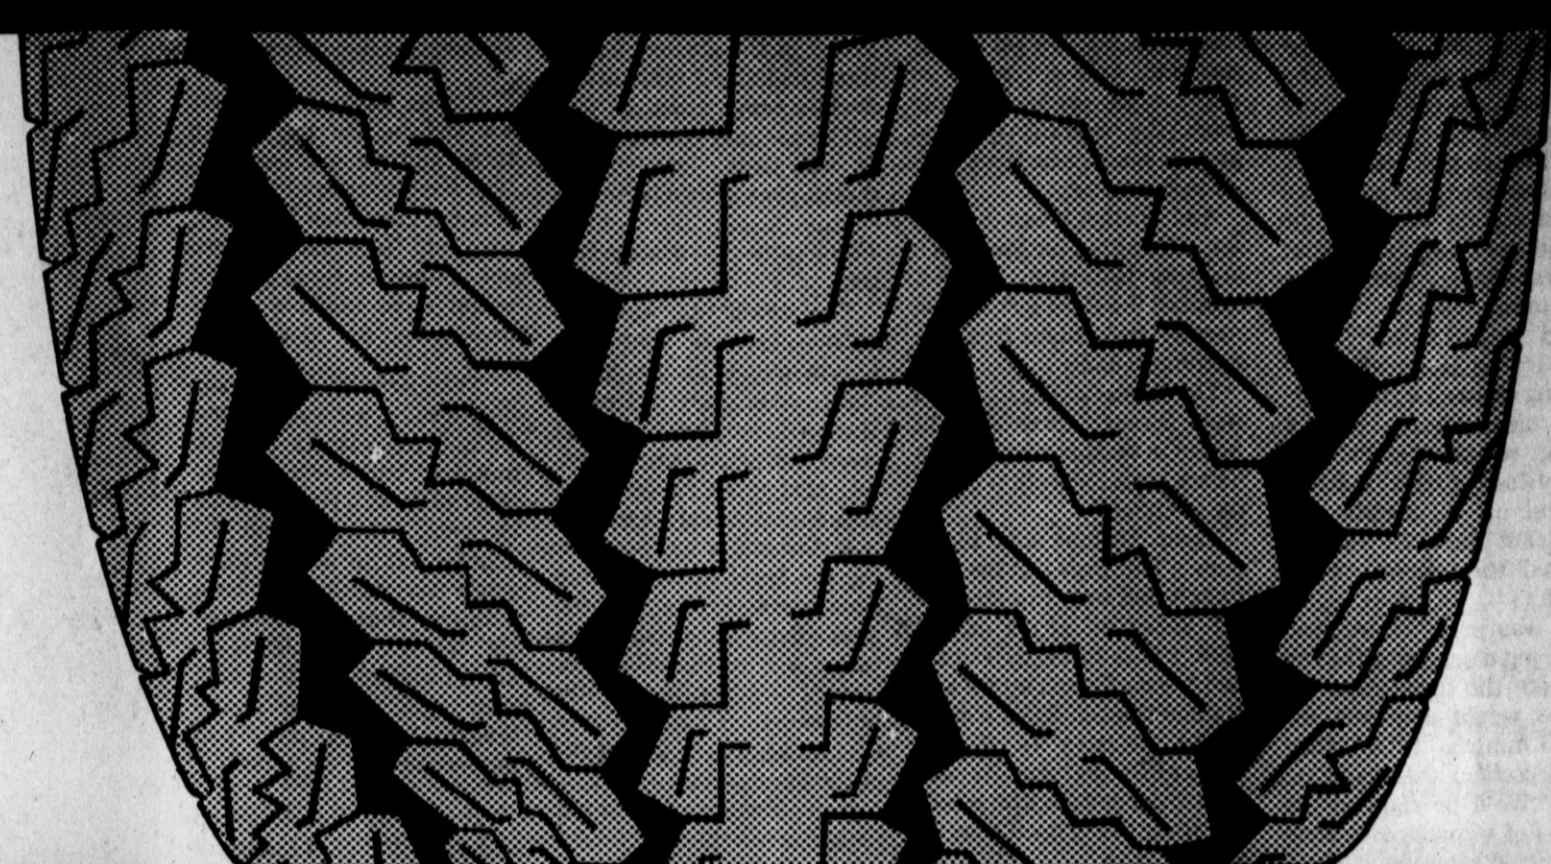

Wash., but returned to the Dallas area six months ago to open the Addison institute. He says he now commutes to Addison, Washington, Chicago, Mexico and other cities for lectures. "I could be making $500,000

straightening teeth," he said. "But that's not for me."

Numerous Congressmen Quitting Washington

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a $60,662 annual salary, no prior experience required and lots of fringe benefits, the job sounds like good work if you can get it. So why are more than 30 people giving it up?

"I want to find out if there's life after Congress," said Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the more senior members of the 1980 class of congressional dropouts.

Vanik, 25 of his House colleagues and five senators are sitting out the 1980 congressional elections — by choice.

They didn't quit to run for higher office as another eight House members are doing. And they haven't been forced to resign by voters, who have already "retired" nine members of Congress in primary elections.

"I found the lifestyle incompatible with the desire to spend more time with my family," said Rep. John Cavanaugh, R-Neb., who is quitting after just four years in Congress.

The 37-year-old father of four is going back to Omaha to practice law. "I want to feel the cool breezes blowing across the plains instead of the hot air that fills the halls of Congress," he said.

The dropouts continue a trend begun around the time of the Watergate scandals — a high, steady turnover of congressional seats, by resignation, by retirement and by voter action.

The result, especially in the House, has been a dramatic change in the chamber's makeup since the 1974 "Watergate election." By January 1981, well over a half of the 435-member House of Representatives will be members who weren't in Congress in 1974.

Ten years ago, 53 House members had served twelve terms — 24 years — or longer. But in 1981, even if all those seeking re-election win, there would only be 28 with this amount of seniority.

The changeover from a House dominated by old timers to one controlled by relatively junior members has taken its toll on committee chairmanships — traditionally the real source of power in the House.

In 1978, five committee chairmen stepped down or were defeated in their re-election bids. This year, another five House committee chairmen have already announced their retirement. Thus, of the House's 21 major committees, 10 have seen new chairmen in just four years.

"It's clear the House has changed in the past 10 years," said Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., who himself reportedly plans to retire after serving one more term.

Congress has become far more independent, seniority doesn't mean nearly as much as it once did and younger members have mastered new campaigning techniques, including the use of television, far better than the older members, O'Neill said.

Ehler Completes Management School

AMARILLO—Eugene A. Ehler, Hereford District Manager for Pioneer Natural Gas Co., has successfully completed an intensive 12-day middle management development program conducted by the Southern Gas Association's Educational Services Division on the Texas A&I University campus in Kingsville.

Ehler has been employed by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. since 1963. He was named Hereford District Manager in March.

Twenty-two firms sent representatives to the program which was offered for the 27th consecutive year by the SGA. The seminar is designed to develop leadership skills and a wider knowledge of gas utility operations. Subjects covered during the 12 days included organization, motivation, public relations, economics, accounting, personal development, leadership principles, effective writing and an overview of the natural gas industry.

Also included was a field trip to an Exxon USA Natural Gasoline Plant located on the King Ranch.

Ehler, 39, resides at 119 Oak in Hereford with his wife, Mary Etta, and their three children, Susie, Shelia and Lance. He is a native of Idalou and attended West Texas State University.

Whiteface Netters Lose District Opener to PHS

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW — Very few things worked for the Hereford tennis team here Tuesday — their game, like the flickering lights playing over the courts, came on and off during the course of the evening as the squad dropped its first district match of the year to the Bulldogs 5-4,7-2.

And head coach Robert Cox, trying to refrain from making excuses for Hereford's first disappointing district outing, related that the consistent loss of light bouncing on and off the courts was significant only in that it delayed the process of the match.

"It was pretty weird, you had to put a quarter in the box to make the lights come on and it would only last for seven minutes before they would go back out again," he said. "We'd be right in the middle of a match (someone serving or returning a shot) and then there would suddenly be total darkness. But that wasn't the reason we lost. We lost because we were just too keyed up by the time we finally got to Plainview."

"That's where a home team always has the edge, because they are able to get warm and loosen up mentally and physically before the match begins. We got off the bus and were too ready to play — we were suffering from the overkill syndrome and the bus ride had only added to the anxiety."

And whether it was the anxiety of waiting for the match or the faltering lighting system, the Herd quickly lost needed momentum from the opening rounds.

The Whiteface boy's squad went through three straight losses in singles competition before it placed its first win of the evening.

Trent Thomas met Plainview's Tim Brown in the first match and took two straight set losses of 6-0,6-2 on the chin. PHS's Bill Harris drubbed Adolfo Garcia 6-1,6-0 and Ramon Duncan fell in a close 7-5,6-4 decision to Richey Havenbill before Robert Castro capped the first win of the affair over Chuck Morgan 6-2,6-1.

Eddy Lindeman was beat out in a narrow match with PHS's Ricky Butler 6-4,7-6 and Hereford netter Danny Perez record the only other singles win for the Hereford team with a straight set 6-1,6-1 victory over Randy Sorter.

And the boy's squad, still suffering from that deluge of losses in the singles department had equal difficulty in doubles competition.

Thomas and Garcia failed to win their close doubles match over Brown-Havenbill — later losing the contest 7-6,7-5 in the first doubles contest.

The team managed to bounce back in continuing play however, as the duo of Castro-Duncan clipped Harris-Butler 7-6,6-4 and HHS team Lindeman-Perez downed Morgan-Brown with straight set win of 6-1,6-0.

And whatever had been ailing the boy's squad became even more prevalent in the girls division as the girl's team, led by the efforts of sisters Claire and Dolly Montemayor, capped only two victories over the length of the thoroughfare.

Claire Montemayor roused Judy Rice very easily 6-1,6-3 while Dolly Montemayor crippled Corene Ortiz by an exact margin.

Those HHS netters suffering losses during the singles segment of play on the evening included Kim Sim's 6-4,7-6 defeat to Richelle Morgan; PHS's Scarlet Landry's slim split set victory over Carol Zinser 6-7,6-3,6-4; Lisa Synder's 6-3,7-5 loss to Sheila Landry and Beth Frye's losing 6-0,6-3 decision to Ellen Gardner.

The girl's squad met a similar one-sided turn of events in doubles play after it failed to record a single win in the competition.

PHS's Morgan-Rice clipped Sims-Zinser 6-3,6-2 while Montemayor-Snyder and D. Montemayor-Shelly Gentry lost split set matches of (6-1,4-6,6-4) (6-3,2-6,9-7) to their respective opponents.

"In the boy's singles play we had to win the bottom three and we lost one. And that was important in our not winning the match because if we could have just won one out of the top three spots it would have taken a lot of pressure off us," Cox said.

"Then after the singles portion of play, we were behind 4-2 and in order to win the match we had to win all three of the doubles — I had planned on being able to win 2-3 doubles, but to win all three would have had to have been a super effort. As it turned out, the No. 1 doubles team almost won theirs — they took their first set into a tie-breaker and then lost 7-5 in the second set," he added.

"It was the same way up and down the girls ladder of play," he said. "We didn't pull down the close ones and that's what you have to do. This was only our first district tournament though so maybe we can make some improvements before the next one."

The HHS squad's next scheduled district match is slated to be here October 18 against the Lubbock High Westerners.

"Everytime we play somebody in our district we've got to get some matches off them in order to keep up our running in the district total — it's the total number of matches at the end of dual match play that adds up to your success," he said.

Follow Through

HHS netter Trent Thomas follows through with a return shot during a singles match with Borger this past weekend as one of the leading figures in the Hereford crew's win over the BHS team. However, Thomas didn't manage to fare as well in the team's first district outing on the year against host team Plainview Tuesday after he was defeated 6-0,6-2 by PHS's Tim Brown. The HHS boy's team dropped a close 5-4 match to Plainview to record its first 4-5A loss of the season. (Brand photo by Robert Cox)

Phillies Clip Houston Astros

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The first 64 years are always the toughest.

If you don't believe that axiom ask the Philadelphia Phillies.

Greg Luzinski's two-run homer in the sixth inning triggered the Phillies' first post-season victory at home since Grover Cleveland Alexander beat the Boston Red Sox in the 1915 World Series.

The Phillies beat the Houston Astros 3-1 Tuesday night in the first game of their best-of-five National League Championship series.

The Phillies had lost 10 straight post-season games at home, including two in that 1915 Series, two in the 1950 World Series to the New York Yankees and six in divisional playoffs in 1976, 1977 and 1978.

Steve Carlton, the Phillies'

24-game winner, was credited with the victory although he wasn't as overpowering as during the regular season.

Still, Carlton worked seven innings and allowed just one run.

Manager Dallas Green lifted Carlton for a pinch hitter in the seventh despite a 2-1 lead. The Phillies had a runner on third and two out.

The reliever was Tug McGraw, who had four wins and three saves in September and one victory and two saves this month in the Phillies' drive to the NL East title.

McGraw came in and retired six of seven batters to save the game for Philadelphia.

Luzinski's home run came on a 3-2 pitch and landed high in the first tier of seats in left field. It was the only hit of the game for the outfielder who has struggled most of the season.

The Astros took a 1-0 lead in the third inning on singles by Jose Cruz, Cesar Cedeno, and a two-out base hit under the glove of second baseman Manny Trillo by rookie Gary Woods.

Astros' pitcher Ken Forsch held onto the slim lead until the sixth when Pete Rose opened with an infield single. Bake McBride struck out and Mike Schmidt fled out.

Forsch then went to 3-2 on Luzinski and boom. The ball flew out of the ball park for a 2-1 Phillies' lead. The Phillies added an insurance run in the seventh on Garry Maddox' single, a sacrifice bunt from Larry Bowa, Maddox' steal of third and a slicing single to left by pinch hitter Greg Gross, who was batting for Carlton.

HHS Golfers Take Second

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

The HHS golf team was getting a little tired of second best and so was head coach Jerry Wilbourn following the squad's second place upheaval this past weekend during a dual-match tournament against Lubbock High and Lubbock Coronado at the Meadowbrook Municipal Golf Course.

"I was very pleased with the A team's 328, but at the same time I wish we could have gotten past second place," Wilbourn said after his squad drove in a second place finish for the third straight week. "The only thing I could have been disappointed with in their effort was the fact we didn't have anybody break under the 80 mark - if we had one or two low scores like that we might have won the thing."

The Whiteface linksters rounded out the Saturday tournament totting a team total of 328 behind the Coronado A team's tally of 324 and way ahead of Lubbock's 345.

And leading that field of HHS golfers was Greg Robinson who netted his second medalist berth since the season began after driving in Hereford's low-individual score of 41-39-80 on the day.

Tony Flores rounded out tournament play behind Robinson with a 42-40-82 behind Robinson's effort while Frankie Garcia and Scott Skinner each brought in scores of 83 following their respective rounds of 43-40, 42-41. Micheal Craig finished out the A team's field with the highest score of the day after bringing in a 48-45-93.

"That 328 isn't a bad score to come up with at Meadowbrook," Wilbourn said. "If we can continue to shoot a 328 average every time we play there we can keep up in the race, and if an average like that brings us down in the standings we can certainly make it up over the length of the season. We're still shooting pretty well, but we just need to knock our scores down a notch or two - I was pleased with their effort overall though."

But at the same time, one effort the Hereford crew presented which didn't please Wilbourn at all came in the form of the B team's 382 - a grand total that earned the squad a fourth place finish only to be outdistanced by the LHS B team's last place 386.

"I don't know what happened to the B team, but the mere fact we had three rounds of 100 strokes or more indicates we need the work."

David Dudding, as in the weeks past, continues to add a helping touch to the faltering team after he drove in the squad's lowest round of the day with a 47-40-87. Bob Foster followed Dudding's low tally with a 48-47-95 game as the only other member to fall under the 100 mark.

Brett Barrick posted a 101, Paul Jorde and Roger Hodges rounded out the affair with side-by-side 100's.

The Hereford team is slated to compete with Amarillo Caprock and Tascosa here this Saturday in its next scheduled outing.

Singletary, Ford Pit Talents in Big Tilt

By The Associated Press

Saturday's game between SMU and Baylor at Baylor Stadium will not only match undefeated teams but it will bring together two of the most talked-about players in recent Southwest Conference memory.

SMU quarterback Mike Ford, with two years remaining, could be the first player in NCAA history to pass for 10,000 yards. He had 5,288 in two years.

Mike Singletary is recognized as the best linebacker in Baylor history. He was elected to the Southwest Conference All-Decade team after only two seasons and was an All-America pick last year.

Q - What does SMU's offense have to do to shut down Baylor's defense?

Singletary - They would have to control our front seven people. After that, it would involve their passing game and our defensive backs are playing great.

Ford - The main thing SMU has to do is be consistent. We have to make first downs, control the ball and keep the ball away from their offense... and control Singletary.

Q - What will the Baylor defense have to do to shut down the SMU offense?

Singletary - Ford, Dickerson and James are very excellent skill people at their positions. We know that we have to contain those people. We have to establish ourselves early if we are going to be victorious.

Ford - They would have to shut down our running game. I would have hoped to be a little further along by now than I am with my throwing. I haven't had the good crisp throws and everything clicking like I know I can.

Q - How do you feel about this other guy?

Singletary - Ford throws the ball well. He gets the ball to the people he wants to go to. He's always catching the defense doing the wrong thing at the wrong time. He's a thinking football player.

Ford - Mike's a tremendous leader. Twice now I've been in games where I bend down over the center and I'm looking right in his face. In the kind of defense they run, the middle linebacker is the key and that's where Mike plays.

Landry Says Game to be Exciting

DALLAS (AP) - If you were bored watching last Sunday's dull New York Giant-Dallas game, then Cowboys Coach Tom Landry promises you plenty of thrills this weekend.

"It will be very exciting this Sunday," promised Landry. "I know we'll be excited."

The San Francisco 49ers and their control passing game will be on hand for the 1 p.m. kickoff.

"They use passes to their backs like we use running plays," said Landry. "It will be a big test for us. They'll probably throw the ball 40 to 45 times. Our young secondary will get a workout." Expected to be available for backup duty will be veteran Benny Barnes, making his first appearance since he underwent an emergency appendectomy five weeks ago before Dallas' opener against the Washington Redskins.

"We will work Benny back into the lineup slow," said Landry. "He will backup (strong safety) Charlie Waters and (cornerback) Steve Wilson. We also hope to work him on the kicking team.

"We might get Benny in there on passing downs. He could have a conditioning problem although he is in good shape. We'll just have to see what he does this week in workouts."

Landry also announced that Ron Springs, who missed a week with a sprained ankle and shared duty in Sunday's 24-3 victory over the New York Giants with Robert Newhouse, would start at fullback.

"We'll have to make three touchdowns or better to win," Landry predicted of the 49er game. "We've got have about 24 or 28 points to win."

San Francisco has averaged 270 yards per game passing while the porous Cowboys' secondary has yielded 178 overhead yards per game.

Hereford Cross-Country Teams Net 5th, 8th

The HHS boy's cross-country team, led by long-distance runner Rodolfo Carroco, nabbed a fifth place finish (129 points) over an 11-team field this past weekend in the Pampa Cross-Country Meet.

The girl's squad found the competition a little stiffer after placing 8th out of a nine-team field with 235 points racked up in the affair.

Carroco, churning out the fastest performance of the day for Hereford, clocked a 16:37 race to grasp a fourth place spot in the competition behind the first-place pace 15:29 set by Tascosa's David Williams.

The HHS runner's time, in conjunction with Fernando Carrasco's 22nd place 17:13, Chris Carter's 33rd place time of 17:58, a 34th place finish 17:58 finish by Edward Flores, George Arroyos 36th spot at 18:02 and Eric Alexander's 63rd place 19:35 advanced the squad past teams from Plainview, Pampa, Boys Ranch, Borger, Lubbock High, Dunbar and Palo Duro.

Monterey won the meet after accumulating only 70 points while Coronado posted 87 for second, Tascosa capped third with 100 and Amarillo High beat Hereford for fourth after adding up 112.

In the girl's segment of the meet, Tulla amassed a meager 46 points to win the affair following Sherrie Painter's first place clocking of 11:44, Coronado placed second with a total of 80 and Tascosa fell slightly behind CHS' tally for third after accumulating 83.

HHS runner Kellie Howell dominated Hereford's high listings for the second week in a row after grinding out a 38th place 14:05 time. Linda Sermino placed 44th with a 14:17, Olga Alaniz brought in a 14:47 for 49th, Kathy Morris paced out a 15:01 for 51st, Patricia Salazar netted 53rd with her clocking of 15:21, Allyson Thomas paced off a 15:35 race for 54th and Michelle Osborn rounded out the long-distance pack in 57th place after running a 15:49.

Junior varsity runners who turned in highlighting performances included Kevin Kelly who clocked a 21:47 in the boy's competition for 51st place, and teammates Holly McNeese who netted 33rd in the girl's thoroughfare with a 15:55 and Jana Morgan's 16:59 for 44th.

I was very pleased with these performances our runners turned in this week because everyone improved his or her times," said coach Martha Emerson. "District competition will be tough on November 1 in Lubbock, but hopefully we will continue to make improvements before then and make a good showing."

The HHS cross-country team will hit the track again this weekend as the crew travels to Amarillo in its next scheduled meet.

Switzer Feels UT Has Edge in Traditional Clash

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Although the oddsmakers have rated the game as a near tossup, Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer evidently feels his team will be a decided underdog when it faces Texas in the Cotton Bowl Saturday.

Switzer began his weekly press luncheon Tuesday by tagging the Longhorns as the No. 1 team in the country at this point in the season.

"I think Texas is the best football team in the United States today," the Sooners coach said at the risk of disgruntling fans at Alabama and Southern Cal, ranked No. 1 and No. 2 in this week's Associated Press poll.

He said the third-ranked Longhorns "are in great position to win them all if they beat us."

Switzer ticked off several reasons for his appraisal of the Longhorns, including improvement at running back with A. J. Jones and Rodney Tate, the maturing of quarterback Donnie Little and improvement in what already was a formidable offensive and defensive line of a year ago.

He pointed to the breakaway threat of receiver Lawrence Sampleton, saying it was "ridiculous" for the smallish players in the Sooners secondary to have to go one-on-one with the 6-foot-6 tight end.

The only area where the Longhorns are not improved, he said, is in the secondary. There are talented young athletes there, Switzer said, but "you can't be as good when you lose Johnnie Johnson and Derrick Hat-chett, who are both playing professional football."

Oklahoma is fresh from an 82-42 win at Colorado in a record-shattering offensive show that Switzer said was deceiving.

"Our football team was not fooled by that," he said. "I don't know if our fans and the press was fooled by that."

"I think if we hold on to the football, we're a good offensive football team," he said. But he added that thus far "we have self-destructed" with 23 fumbles in just three games.

He said the Sooners don't have the super athletes it has had in the past to overcome mistakes. "We need to play an effort-free game to beat teams like Texas, Nebraska and Missouri...to beat anybody, really."

Switzer was asked if the Sooners are likely to pass more against Texas than they have in recent years, with fine-throwing senior quarterback J.C. Watts at the wishbone controls.

"I don't think we ever go in to a football game saying how much we'll throw," he said. "A lot of things might have to be done differently...to move the football."

With all of the offensive talent on the field of the Cotton Bowl, Switzer implied that the defense would be the determining factor again.

"Good offenses don't beat good defenses. They never have and they never will," he said. Switzer said Oklahoma has a good defense, when healthy, but has been hurt by injuries to such players as down linemen Keith Gary and Johnny Lewis, cornerback Jay Jimerson and safety Ken Sitton. "We're not the defensive team we thought we would be."

A Salute To
National 4-H Week Oct. 5-11

Nine Clubs, 300 Youngsters Bolster County's Status in Nation-Wide 4-H Learning Program

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor

A total of nine Deaf Smith County 4-H clubs which include a membership of some 300 local youngsters are joining in the observance of National 4-H Week here. Observance of the week began Sunday and continues through Oct. 11. The theme for this year's observance is "Expanding Horizons" and extends a challenge to all youth to seek new knowledge and skills to become better citizens and leaders. The 300 local youth join more than five million youth between the ages of nine and 19 who are currently enrolled in 4-H throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam and Virgin Islands.

Local membership helps boost the Texas enrollment in the program to a total of 140,000 boys and girls. According to Dr. John T. Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, parent organization of 4-H in Texas, 4-H is the nation's largest out-of-school educational youth organization. "The 4-H program continues to offer unique learning experiences for youth through its time-tested 'learning by doing' approach," stated Pelham. "Members of 4-H become involved in a variety of practical, real-life activities that range from agriculture and clothing to health and wood science. Programs vary ac-ording to youth needs and community resources," Pelham added. Deaf Smith County 4-H clubs cover a wide variety of interests, ranging from livestock exhibiting through cooking, sewing, photography and other pursuits. Local 4-H groups include the Llano Estacado Horse Club, Joyce Shipp 4-H Club, Ford 4-H Club and the Showmanship 4-H Club. Also, the Argen Draper 4-H Club, Timber Wolves 4-H Club, Dynamite Doers 4-H Club and the Walcott 4-H Club. "The 4-H program involves youth from all social and economic backgrounds and gives them an opportunity to key in on such vital issues as energy conservation, better human nutrition, wise use of natural resources and combating inflation. In addition, 4-H helps youth gain knowledge and skills for their future use," stated Pelham. A legion of volunteer leaders help the 4-H program garner much of its support by giving unselfishly of their time and resources to help youth grow and develop. A total of 36 adults currently serve as 4-H leaders in Deaf Smith County. They include Karen Arnold, Lavel Bronniman, Eva Casarez, Charles Cobb, Janice Conkright, Romilda Friemel and Ruth Fritz. Also, Billie Jo Gee, Marci Hughes, Dr. Aaron Hutto, Betty Lady, Rene Mason, Betty and Buel Monroe, Kay

with rural youth, participation of urban youth has tripled in the past 10 years. Today, 23 percent of all 4-H members nationwide live in suburbs or cities of more than 50,000 population. Nineteen percent live on farms, 40 percent live in small towns, and 18 percent live in towns and cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population. Texas boasts a total of 1,973 organized 4-H clubs and 886 special interest clubs. The largest group of Texas 4-H'ers live in towns under 10,000 population—43,244. The next largest group is in cities over 50,000 population—39,104 — while 29,018 live on farms and ranches and 21,866 live in towns and cities between 10,000 and 50,000 population. Organized television groups include 7,459 members. What are the most popular project areas among Texas 4-H members? Foods and nutrition leads the top 10 by a large margin with an enrollment of 37,860. Second is electric with 13,017, followed by clothing, 10,390; horse, 9,751; creative arts, 9,442; safety, 8,422; swine, 8,083; beef 7,914; and sheep, 7,626. The theme, "Expanding Horizons," challenges all 4-H members to seek new knowledge, acquire life skills and build on personal strengths. Members are encouraged to strengthen their citizenship and leadership abilities and to assume positive roles in a free democratic society, notes Pelham. "The 4-H program involves youth from all social and economic backgrounds and gives them an opportunity to key in on such vital issues as energy conservation, better human nutrition, wise use of natural resources and combating inflation. In addition, 4-H helps youth gain knowledge and skills for their future careers," adds Pelham.

Vogel, Cobb Win Stock Show Honors

Deaf Smith County 4-H members Randy Vogel and Casey Cobb recently took honors at a prospect steer show and the Tri-State Fair respectively. Vogel exhibited the Reserve Champion Chianina steer at the Texas Club Calf Association Prospect Steer Show in Arcadia. Cobb exhibited the second place light heavyweight and second place medium weight in the medium wool division, and also had the third place finewool lamb at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. Both are members of the Showmanship 4-H Club here. There are five counties connected with the Llano Estacado 4-H Horse Association including Deaf Smith, Castro, Bailey, Lamb and Oldham. These counties all form the association.

During the months of May-August, each county hosts one horse show. These shows are open for anyone to participate in.

Classes in these shows include halter, Western Pleasure, Western Horsemanship, reining, pole bending, showmanship, barrel racing, and flag race. Points for each 4-H'er in the Llano Estacado Association are accumulated at each horse show and at the end of each summer, an awards banquet is held to present these 4-H'ers with trophies and two all-around saddles.

The Llano Estacado Association has an annual trail ride every August, in which all five counties participate.

In Deaf Smith County a horse judging project in which junior and senior members participate in judging contests all over the area is held. The District Judging Contest is held at the WTSU Horse Center. Those senior members placing at the top in the district go on to state competition at State 4-H Roundup.

This club is designed to help beginners with horses as well as the more experienced riders. Films and educational material is obtained from the American Quarter Horse Association and through the Extension service.

Soviets Buy More U.S. Grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has bought additional U.S. grain for delivery in 1980-81, says the Agriculture Department.

Officials said Monday the latest sale involved 150,000 metric tons of wheat. That raised to more than 7.7 million metric tons — 2.88 million of wheat and 4.82 million of corn — the total that Russia has bought for delivery in the year that began Oct. 1.

Under terms of a five-year agreement, now in its final year, Russia can buy up to eight million metric tons of U.S. wheat and corn annually. President Carter exempted that provision when he embargoed further grain sales to the Soviet Union last Jan. 4 in response to its invasion of Afghanistan.

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds.

TV, Classrooms Will Team Up For 4-H Message

AMARILLO - Television and classrooms will team up again in the Texas Panhandle during October and November, providing youths in fourth through sixth grades a two-pronged program to help them learn about nutrition while having fun.

For six weeks, the fast-paced color television production of "Mulligan Stew," produced by 4-H, will be forecast each Saturday afternoon on KAMR-TV, Channel 4. Classroom projects the following week will emphasize key points about nutrition which were presented during that week's entertaining broadcast.

The program will be seen on Channel 4 at 12:30 p.m. each Saturday on Oct. 25, Nov. 1, Nov. 8, Nov. 15, Nov. 22 and Nov. 29, said Dr. Martha Couch, area 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Four-H is the youth program of the Extension Service.

Participating school districts will use supportive materials which are part of the program package to involve students in classroom discussions, reading and other projects to teach nutritional needs, food selection, menu planning, shopping, preparation and supply. Special workshops have been held for teachers to help them coordinate the broadcasts into classroom learning activities.

"This is a cooperative effort between the school districts, the television station which is providing air time, and the 4-H and Extension programs," Dr. Couch said. "Although the programs are especially designed for youngsters in fourth through sixth grades, everyone is welcome to watch and I think all ages will find the television programs entertaining and educational."

"Mulligan Stew," in addition to being the name of the TV show, also is the name of a five-piece kids' rock band which is the principal cast of the series. Another regular on the show is the band's zanny friend, Wilbur Doorright. He brings a nutrition assignment from "upstairs" as the group does a takeoff on the old "Mission Impossible" TV secret agent series.

In addition to the escapades of the young actors, each 30-minute segment utilizes puppets in a "Sesame Street" atmosphere, original music and lyrics, and interviews with astronauts, scientists and food authorities.

Students who participate will receive a guide, in comic book form, which provides numerous activities to reinforce and extend the educational value of the series. At the conclusion of the series, participants will be eligible for a certificate and membership in the "Mulligan Stew 4-H Club." They also will receive a colorful poster for their home.

The series deals mainly with good nutrition and eating habits. A constant theme is 4-4-2, which refers to the number of servings from various food groups to be eaten daily for proper nutrition. They include four servings of fruit or vegetable, four servings of bread or cereal, three servings of milk, and two servings of meat.

Vegetable Meet Continues

An educational program will mark the second day of the annual meeting of the Texas Vegetable Association tomorrow at the Villa Inn in Amarillo.

The meeting got underway this afternoon with a display of vegetable equipment followed by a reception, and resumes at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

A panel of vegetable industry leaders will offer growers advice on successful methods they use in managing farm labor. That panel presentation will highlight Thursday's educational program.

Making up the panel will be Wes Fisher, onion and potato grower of Hereford, Mike Yurosek, California's largest carrot grower, and Bill Weeks, executive vice president of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association.

Dr. Robert Branson of the Texas Agricultural Market Research and Development Center will present an analysis of market potential for vegetable and field crops for the Texas High Plains.

Onion growers will see how antitranspirants were used to increase onion yield and conserve water, and alternative planting methods for onions which can be adapted to mechanization.

Cucumber growers will see the cultural practices for producing high yields with the new Chemset variety.

Potato growers will profit from seeing the methods used to produce quality potatoes under high temperature conditions. The newly published Potato Production Handbook For North America will be introduced.

Pepper growers can see the best yielding varieties, learn the best spacing pattern for each and see mechanized harvesting and trimming machines which can be adapted to their operations.

There will be a lively demonstration of preparing vegetables for the table by the winning 4-H demonstration from statewide competition.

Many vegetable industry representatives from the Rio Grande Valley and Winter Garden vegetable industry will be on hand.

Fertilizer Usage Plummet

WASHINGTON (AP) - The fertilizer industry says the summer drought and a "wait-and-see attitude" among farmers and retailers have contributed to a sharp decline in fertilizer use from a year ago.

According to The Fertilizer Institute, which represents the industry, fertilizer "disappearance" in July and August - the first two months of the fertilizer marketing year - was down by 6 percent from a year earlier.

Edwin M. Wheeler, president of the institute, said, "Uneasiness among farmers over delayed wheat planting operations and dry weather that has singed summer crops definitely have affected early fall fertilizer demand."

However, Wheeler added he was optimistic that rising commodity prices and rain in September will help make up the deficit and result in "a strong increase" in fertilizer use over the entire 1980-81 year.

Still, The Governor

They're assuming that the governor, whoever it is at the time, will rubber stamp the Legislature's early action. If the governor chose to veto part of it, the bill could still find itself locked in debate on the last day of the session.

That's not an unlikely scenario with the present Governor Bill Clements, especially if the bill contained a pay raise for teachers which is higher than he wants.

If fact, last week Clements suggested that teachers ought to be more concerned with increasing effectiveness in the classroom instead of holding their hands out for a raise.

Clements couldn't care less if his remark angered the teachers, a group which supported his 1978 opponent, former Atty. General John Hill.

The Republican governor's opposition to a pay raise for educators has been labeled his personal vendetta on their past support for Hill.

The Other Side

Even if that is true to some extent, Clements definitely has his own point of view about the work ethic.

As a young man he moved his feet and worked to become a millionaire several times over.

He slugged it out financially in the oil and gas fields and built one of the world's largest oil well drilling firms.

He took over administration of the Pentagon at a

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Tax reform is hot in Texas, but there will be days in the next session of the Texas Legislature when the issue will have to take a back seat to public education.

Although Texas ranks low among other states in funding for public education, the state has its fair share of parents and teachers.

Both groups are concerned with quality education, but right now the teachers are more concerned with making what they call a decent wage.

The teacher pay raise issue may well be the fulcrum upon which other legislation may rise or fall.

In the past, the public education bill has been one of the last to be passed in each session. Some critics argue that it is held hostage until the last hour... and that's why Texas funding is low.

By the time it comes for a vote, the bill is pocketed with the sniper shots from every feud in both chambers. Some legislators have asserted publicly that the public education bill, like the women and children on a sinking ship, should be saved first by an early passage in the Legislature. Then the other issues can fight for passage like a seat in a lifeboat.

Teachers Clout

Around the State Capitol, when someone asks if teachers have much political clout, one ironic reply is: "did John Hill win the Democratic nomination without a runoff?" Because of teacher support Hill won on the first primary ballot over then-incumbent Dolph Briscoe. Teachers may have slacked up a bit, because Hill lost to Clements in the general election.

Whether that's true or not; it brings to mind a political adage recently spoken by a legislator: "if they organize, the teachers can get you defeated, but you can't count on them to get you elected."

Clements may have that in mind when he stands up to them, or he may simply be wondering where the funds for the pay raise are going to come from.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently in one of your columns you stated that there had been some results in stopping hair loss in women who have hereditary baldness of the type that's related to the hormone production by the hair follicle itself.

Can you tell me about these new developments and how I and other women in my family might get some help? The last time I visited a dermatologist he knew nothing about this type of hair loss.

DEAR READER — You're referring to my discussion about male pattern baldness observed in women. It's common for men to have a receding hairline and eventually develop a bald pate. Some women have a comparable situation which results in marked thinning of the hair over the front and top region.

The reason this type of baldness occurs in both men and women is because each hair follicle produces its own particular type of sex hormone. This is genetically determined before birth, just as the color of your eyes and the character of your skin is determined.

The hair follicle that's destined to produce a rudimentary shaft or peach fuzz and results in baldness forms dihydrotestosterone. In men these are usually the follicles along the hairline and the top of the head. The hair follicle that will produce a normal large shaft produces androstenedione. These are the ones

POLLY'S POINTERS
Polly Cramer

—Cleaning vinyl siding—

DEAR POLLY — My house is covered with vinyl siding that needs to be cleaned. A professional cleaning is too expensive and plain water does not seem to do the job, and I am afraid of using something that might harm the siding. Can anyone suggest a handy home potion that might work? — J.W.

DEAR J.W. — Information I have gotten says that often hard rains will do a fairly decent job of cleaning VINYL siding. It could also be washed down with the hose, but if this is not sufficient due to air pollution, etc., wash with a soft cloth and mild detergent and then hose off. When washing with detergent suds I would start at the bottom and go just as one does on interior walls. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — After washing my crocheted doilies I dip them in liquid starch (full strength), squeeze out the excess and then lay them on top of my clothes dryer, where I shape them and then leave to dry. They hold their shape until the next washing. — LEONA

DEAR POLLY — Buy bright colored plastic laundry baskets to use as toy boxes. This saves a lot of money when compared to buying toy chests, and the children care more about the toys than what they are stored in.

Sprinkle baking soda in children's sneakers to remove any odor. Scented sachets are nice to put in a girl's gym locker at school or closet at home for a nice fresh smell.

To make an inexpensive overnight bag for a child, use a printed pillowcase with a drawstring put through the hem.

A lazy Susan (turn table) makes a great makeup tray, as it will hold most everything.

Empty round oatmeal boxes make great children's banks. Cut a slit in top for the coins to go through, and the lid is easy to get off when they need to get to their money. Such a box can be covered with fabric, pretty paper or painted. Let each child do his or her own, but be sure they put their names on the bottom.

Those plastic lids off potato chip cans make good coasters to set cold drinks on, as the rim holds excess moisture. — ANN M.

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Edith that I have kept my good-sized milk stole in the bottom drawer of my frost-free refrigerator for 13 years. I slip it in a regular pillow case before putting in the drawer and the stole looks good as new.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Baldness in women

DEAR DR. LAMB — There are a lot of ads about methods that supposedly work to correct baldness. Most of these are misleading. There are some forms of baldness associated with medical problems that can be cured if the underlying medical problem is corrected. A good common example is hair loss because of a dietary deficiency. If that form of hair loss is usually temporary as are some of the others discussed in The Health Letter I'm sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 26-year-old male who believes in being physically fit. I have a weekly exercise program that I try to follow effectively. My problem is that I start out great and soon become disinterested. I know being physically fit has numerous benefits but I can't seem to get it together.

As I get older I want to keep my body as fit as possible. I weigh 141 and am 5 feet 11. I notice that when I'm exercising my weight begins to drop. Could calorie intake have anything to do with my weight? My doctor says my health is good. Please give me your opinion.

DEAR READER — Congratulations on staying slim and trim. I won't need to emphasize the importance of physical fitness to you. You are absolutely correct. There are many benefits in staying physically fit.

I'm sending you my new issue of The Health Letter number 15-12, Exercise Wise. It will include a lot of the myths that people have about exercise. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now about your weight drop with exercising. Any form of physical activity involves calories. Body fat stores are stored energy and you can either diminish them by not taking in enough calories or by spending more calories than you take in. I wouldn't know without examining you before and afterwards what your loss of body weight involves. If it's loss of fat stores, that's all to the good.

When you're growing new muscles and developing their strength you have two requirements. One is an adequate amount of protein (that does not mean an excess amount or the necessity to take protein powders) and the other is an adequate calorie intake. If you don't have enough calories, you'll use the protein for calorie energy rather than for building body tissues. One of the common fallacies discussed in the Health Letter I'm sending you is that a person needs a high-protein diet for extra energy or stamina.

Some people are more successful in maintaining a regular fitness program if they develop physical activities that they do with other people. They may jog with a friend or develop tennis skills and play regularly with friends. It's the personal involvement that seems to keep a lot of people going and that might solve your problem.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What hot or warm drink do you recommend? You repeatedly mention that coffee, tea and cocoa are not the best for us for a number of health reasons.

DEAR READER — Do you really need a hot drink? People who do not have digestive complaints can use a decaffeinated brand of coffee. If you want something hot for breakfast such as oatmeal? For children a cup of hot milk is not bad, particularly if flavored with vanilla and sweetened if they insist on a sweet drink. A cup of hot bouillon is great. If you need to restrict salt intake, though, you need to avoid commercially produced bouillon cubes.

The clear stock from boiling vegetables and meat is a good hot drink for many. For something hot for lunch and dinner don't neglect a hot soup. A big bowl of low-calorie soup before a meal helps to prevent overeating and may help in weight control as a consequence.

You might try hot lemonade.
