

Banquet Highlights

Highlight of the annual installation banquet of the Deaf Smith County Classroom Teachers Association and Texas State Teachers Association chapter Monday night at the high school cafeteria was the naming of the "Teacher of the Year". New officers for each organization were also installed. Tommy

Ms. Szydoski Named Local Teacher Of Year

The annual installation banquet of Deaf Smith County Classroom Teachers Association and Texas State Teachers Association was held Monday evening in the high school cafeteria.

Following a meal, special guests were recognized and entertainment was provided by "The Country Four."

A teacher at La Plata Junior High School from 1973-81, Dorothy Szydoski was honored as the 1980-81 teacher-of-the-year. Receiving her master's degree from West Texas State University in 1973, Ms. Szydoski currently teaches physical science. She has taught health and driver's education at the junior high school.

Her sponsorships include pep squad, cheerleader, science team and freshman assembly. She sponsored a science program for elementary school students from alcoholism, drugs and smoking.

Eloise McDougal, due to her long history with both CTA and TSTA, was chosen to install the 1981-82 officers. Those installed to serve TSTA were President Carol McGilvary; President-Elect Margaret Bell; Vice-President Teddie Poindexter; Secretary Ann Cummings; and Treasurer Pat Hagar.

Officers elected to serve CTA were President Nancy Priest; Vice-President Teddie Poindexter; Secretary Nina Vera; and Treasurer Augusta McCauley.

Special service awards were presented followed by the highlight of the evening. Tommy Rosson, outgoing president of CTA, introduced the Administrator of the Year, Charles Duvall.

Duvall began his teaching in Oklahoma in Washita County in 1949-50. He taught one year in Quail and three years at Whiteface. Duvall came to Hereford in 1954 to teach but later became principal of Northwest Elementary School in 1961.

Before adjourning, the nine nominees for the Teacher of the Year award were introduced. Nominees included Dottie Darden, Aikman; Dolores Foster, Bluebonnet; Billie Birdwell, Northwest; Mary Robinson, West Central; Dorothy Brownlow, Tierra Blanca; Reece Whittington, Shirley; Dorothy Szydoski, La Plata; Joe D. Rogers, Stanton; and Barbara Dickerson, High School.

Of these nine nominees, one teacher was chosen to represent all the local schools as Teacher of the Year. The special presentation was made by La Plata Junior High School Principal Allen Brown.

Ms. Szydoski served a two year term on the PESO Teacher Center Policy (See TEACHERS, Page 2)

County Fathers Purchase Mower

Deaf Smith County Commissioners met in an abbreviated session Monday, approving a bid for a mower for precinct 4, accepting modifications to the county's contract with West Texas Rural Telephone, and accepting a scrubber for the Bull Barn on a trial basis from an Amarillo janitor supply firm.

All four commissioners as well as County Judge Glen Nelson were in attendance Monday.

The county fathers approved the low bid submitted by White Implement for a mower for precinct 4. The John Deere dealer's bid for a 15-foot machine was $5,156.39. That included a discount of $1,250 for a used mower the county will trade in on the new one.

The only other bid received by the commissioners' court was a $7,250 bid by Davis Implement Company for a Bush Hog brand mower.

The commissioners also opened bids on a floor scrubber for the Bull Barn. Two bids were also received for that item, with Hereford Janitor Supply and Time

Reagan To Address Congress On Economic Program Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, capitalizing on rising popularity since last month's assassination attempt, reassumes public command of his budget battle tonight with an appeal to Congress to stop talking and start acting.

Aides said Reagan will tell a joint session in the nationally televised, 9 p.m. EDT speech that Congress must shed the "old and comfortable way" because "a day of decision is near" for his tax and spending cut proposals.

"High taxes and excess spending growth created our economic mess," one source said Reagan will say. "To fail to act will delay — even longer and more painfully — the cure that must come."

The speech, expected to last about 15 minutes, comes as the administration program is picking up speed with Congress nearing key votes this week. Conservative Republicans on the Senate Budget Committee neared agreement on a revised budget blueprint, and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said enough Democrats may cross over to give the president a victory in the House.

The address is Reagan's third on the economy but his first public appearance since he was shot March 30.

It comes on the eve of his 100th day in office, and the selection of the well of the House is intended to focus the drama of Reagan's re-emergence on the forefront of the fight for his economic program.

One White House official, who asked not to be identified, said the president's attitude is: "Look, we've talked about the economy. We've analyzed it. Now it's time to do something. Now it's time to take the courageous measures to get the economy back on the path."

The president, who is not yet working full time in the Oval Office again, was putting the final touches on the speech today.

He worked on the message at his Camp David, Md., retreat over the weekend and met with his speechwriter, his congressional lobbyist and the deputy chief of staff when he returned to the White House on Monday.

The speechwriter, Ken Khachigian, took the notes

Reagan had made on a draft and was preparing a clean copy for the president's final approval today, according to deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes.

Speakes said the president also planned to make a personal reference to the assassination attempt, although that will be "something he writes out himself ... straight from his own hand."

The full House is likely to take up the budget by the end of the week. The House Budget Committee approved a $714.5 billion budget, and Rep. Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio, and Rep. Phil Gramm, a conservative Texas Democrat, have proposed a $689 billion alternative that Reagan is expected to formally endorse in tonight's speech.

Speakes said Reagan, who outlined his economic program in an address to the nation on Feb. 5 and also delivered a state of the economy address to Congress on Feb. 18, feels "it is important to go again to emphasize" his views on the economic legislation. The administration seems to have regained momentum lost when Reagan was sidelined with a gunshot wound in the lung a month ago, and tonight's speech might be just icing.

"The president feels the day of decision is near and it is appropriate that Congress act as quickly as possible," Speakes said.

"The thrust is that we were elected in November to do something about the

Statewide Sales Up

Local Auto Dealer Sales Contrast State

By BOB NIGH
Managing Editor

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has reported in his latest news release that collections of motor vehicle sales tax in March revealed a surge in car buying in Texas.

"From the figures, I'd say that the love affair with the automobile in Texas not only isn't dead, but it looks like isn't even sick," Bullock said.

But, representatives of three new car dealerships in Hereford were unable to match Bullock's enthusiasm, saying that while March went out like a lion in car sales over the state, it slipped meekly by like a lamb locally.

Bullock reported March was a second month for collection of motor vehicle sales taxes with the amount reaching more than $51.2 million for the period, showing an increase of 28 percent over March of 1980.

But the local dealers' reports of March sales weren't as bright.

"I'd say we had just an average month," George Pratt of Pratt Chevrolet-Oldsmobile said. "It wasn't a prime selling month, and we're looking forward to the summer months which are basically the best."

Earl Stagner of Stagner-Orsborn Buick-Pontiac-GMC, echoed Pratt's assessment. "We were off by 25 percent in car sales, with our commercial sales off 70 percent," he said.

And, Bob Sheffy, sales manager at Orval Watson Ford Sales said "we didn't have an outstanding month, and we haven't had one in over a year."

Both Stagner and Sheffy named the local economy as a main reason for a down in sales. "The local and grain markets went down, and we kind as the farming comes," Stagner said.

local economy, along with the announcement of a closing haven't been good," Sheffy said. "Our commercial sales are down 50 percent over 1979."

Bullock said in his release that seasonal new-car buying peaks, manufacturer rebates, and higher vehicle costs all contributed to the increased tax collections, making March, 1981 the highest single month ever, topping May of 1978 by more than $8.6 million.

The three local dealers weren't as sure the manufacturer's rebate programs were effective, however.

"The rebates helped a little in March, but probably have hurt us in April," Pratt said. "Because we sold some units in March when the rebate was in effect. But we just sold

Klein Wins Runoff For Mayor's Job

AMARILLO — Rick Klein, businessman and rancher, won a mayoral runoff election Monday over W.W. "Wendy" Nicklaus to replace incumbent Bill Hodge, who decided not to seek reelection.

Klein polled 6,780 votes to Nicklaus' 3,646 in an election that saw only 15 percent of this city's registered voters turn out. The new mayor will be sworn into office next Monday.

Both men were forced into the runoff following the April 4 election after finishing one-two in a four-man race. Klein won every precinct in both elections, and had 7,669 votes in the April 14 polling.

"I loved it," said Klein, "the whole thing. The election, the hard work, the talking with people everywhere." He said he felt he won because he managed to talk with people. "press the flesh," he said, in all parts of the city.

Klein will be 38 Monday, the day commissioners and the mayor have the official swearing-in at a prayer breakfast at the Amarillo Civic Center.

Nine Persons Honored At YF, YH Banquet

The annual Awards Banquet of the Young Homemakers and Young Farmers of Texas chapters was held here Saturday night in the Community Center with nine persons receiving special recognition.

Gerald Marnell, a young farmer in the Westway area, was selected as the Outstanding Young Farmer for the year, while Gail Blain was named as the 1980-81 Young Homemaker of the Year. Karen Smith was presented with the Distinguished Service Award for the homemakers.

Since the banquet was moved to the spring, two homemakers also received plaques for the 1979-80 years. Brenda Campbell was presented the Outstanding Young Homemaker award, and Marilyn Culpepper was recipient of the Distinguished Service Award for 79-80.

The two organizations also presented special awards to people who have given support to the chapters. The Young Farmers presented special plaques to Jess Robinson, Jack Andrews and George Muse.

Robinson was honored for many years of service as advisor to the club, while Andrews and Muse were cited for their help and support with the junior livestock show each year.

The Young Homemakers presented a special award to Janice Kelley, a former member who has continued to support the organization. She was presented with an Honorary Membership.

Bob Jett, a consumer communications specialist with Lone Star Gas Co., Dallas, was guest speaker for the banquet. Jim Campbell and Mrs. Blain were emcees for the event.

Jett presented a message on the energy crisis, bringing his own special touch of

Cablevision Plans Cable Repairs

Hereford Cablevision manager Lloyd Ames has announced that some areas of town will be removed from service for a short time Wednesday as the company makes repairs to cables.

"We will be replacing bad cable as well as water-contaminated power coupler," Ames said. "Both of these jobs will require us to temporarily terminate service to a large area for about 20 to 30 minutes." Ames said the areas to be affected by the work include the following:

AREA I—The area east of Highway 385 north of 14th Street to Windsor. Also included in this area west of Highway 385 is all of west 15th Street, Willow and Sycamore Lanes, the 200 and 300 blocks of Centre and Douglas Streets, and the 400 block of Centre.

AREA II—The area west of Beach Street to Redwood Street, north of Park Avenue to 15th Street.

Error Prompts Death Sentence Reversal

DALLAS (AP) — An error in jury selection prompted a federal judge to overturn the death sentence imposed in 1974 against a Dallas man who came within two days of dying in the state's electric chair.

U.S. District Judge Robert Hill ruled Monday that the error in Mark Milton Moore's capital murder trial required reversal of the death sentence.

Moore was convicted in May 1974 of the shotgun slaying of a 22-year-old Dallas secretary.

He was scheduled for electrocution twice, but stays were granted both times, first by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell in January 1977, then by Hill on August 17, 1977, after Moore's attorneys filed a petition that led to Monday's hearing.

In his decision Monday, Hill upheld the conclusions of U.S. Magistrate William F. Sanderson, who reviewed Moore's case in light of recent decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court and the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Sanderson said recent appellate decisions left no alternative to overturning the sentence, but added the facts of the case had no bearing on his recommendation the death sentence be lifted.

Bilingual Training

Expansion Sought

TYLER, Texas (AP) — U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice has been asked to extend his order requiring bilingual education for non-English speaking students to include a temporary program of tutors, teachers' aides and audi-visual equipment.

The request was filed Monday in federal court by attorneys for the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund and also asks that one teacher be allocated for every five non-English speaking students.

Justice earlier this year ordered Texas to provide such education in grades 1-5 for the 1981-82 school year and phase in grades 6-12 in the next seven years.

Peter D. Roos, a MALDEF attorney in San Francisco, suggested in the motion that students in grades 6-12 who will be phased in over the next seven years be given temporary instruction while awaiting full time classroom instruction.

There are about 64,000 Mexican-American pupils in Texas public schools.

Businesses May Finance

College Construction

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Businesses that sell merchandise on credit — such as Sears, Montgomery Ward and Penney's — would find themselves financing state college construction under a bill introduced in the House on Monday.

Rep. Wayne Paveto, D-Orange, said the measure was his and Speaker Bill Clayton's answer to the college construction problem.

The state would collect from retailers the interest on the sales tax portion of their customers' unpaid bills.

The estimated at $40 million a year in revenue would go into a special fund for construction and building repairs at state colleges outside the Texas A&M and University of Texas systems.

UT and A&M schools would get their building money from the Permanent University Fund, which receives the oil and gas income from land dedicated to the two universities.

When a store sells a customer an item on credit, the sales tax is part of the total charge upon which the customer pays interest each month. But the store does not remit the sales tax to the state until the last installment is paid. Paveto's bill would obligate the store to send the state the interest paid by the customer on the sales tax portion of the bill.

Schools Win Black

Disciplinary Dispute

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — More blacks than whites may run into disciplinary problems in Dallas public schools but that is not a civil rights issue, a federal appeals court said Monday.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling upheld U.S. District Judge William M. Taylor of Dallas, who had ruled that the complaints were not supported by evidence.

Eddie Mitchell and other plaintiffs had contended that the student disciplinary policies and practices of the Dallas Independent School District discriminate against black students and violate due process of law.

Most of the case rested in statistical data. Citing the numbers, the suit sought to prove that black students were disciplined more frequently than white and Mexican-American students and drew heavier punishment.

"Black and white students in the (schools) may not commit disciplinary infractions at the same rate or of the same seriousness, and this differential may be accounted for in non-racial terms," the 5th circuit said.

As to complaints that the disciplinary process violated civil rights because it affected more blacks than any other race, the ruling said: "Official conduct is not unconstitutional merely because it produces a disproportionately adverse effect upon a racial minority."

The suit had sought a court order appointing a special master to set up a new disciplinary system, and an injunction forbidding the suspension of black students at a rate exceeding the suspension of white students.

Shuttle on Final Leg of Trip

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The space shuttle Columbia, perched atop a Boeing 747 jumbo jet, left here early today on the final leg of its long trip home to Florida.

The spacecraft took off from Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma City at 8:01 a.m. EDT.

The shuttle arrived here Monday afternoon to a cheering crowd of about 200,000 Oklahomans. The sightseers backed up traffic about two miles on Interstate 40, which runs by the sprawling military base in southeast Oklahoma City.

The overnight stopover was intended as a refueling stop for the shuttle's carrier.

The final leg of the piggy-back flight was to take the jet and its precious cargo over Little Rock, Ark., Higbee, Miss., Montgomery, Ala., and Tallahassee and Orlando, Fla., to Cape Canaveral, said Capt. Bev Garrett, of the base's public affairs office.

The shuttle rocketed into space on April 12 and made a perfect landing on a dry lake bed in California two days later.

Its takeoff from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., was delayed some three hours, to 1:15 p.m. EDT, while technicians installed a strut to secure a 17-piece aluminum tail cone to the shuttle. The white cone fits over the shuttle's rocket engines and reduces drag.

The departure from Edwards had been delayed six days as ground crews encountered minor but time-consuming problems with the complex servicing procedure.

The Grain Chain Letter

Chain letters are illegal, but let me remind you how they work.

You receive in the mail a letter with a list of 10 names on it.

You are invited to send $1 to the person named at the top of the list — then add your name at the bottom of the list. Then send copies of the letter to 10 other people.

"Don't break the chain," you are warned, "and when your name comes to the top you will receive a jillion dollars!"

That's the way a chain letter works.

Chain letters are illegal. That is also the way Social Security works.

Social Security has been described as "a time bomb slowly ticking away within the American society."

However, Social Security is a major source — and often the only source — of income for millions of retired and disabled Americans.

Spanned in the Great Depression of the '30s, Social Security has grown enormously — both its benefits and the taxes required to pay those benefits.

It has become the second largest item in our federal budget, transferring $100 billion a year from younger Americans to older ones — with the promise that when the younger get older it will be their turn to collect.

The Great Chain Letter. The problem — as with most chain letters — is that the pay-in never keeps up with the promised pay-out.

Three things have happened to snafu the system: More Americans are living longer. Inflation has driven higher and higher both the income from Social Security and the taxes required to keep up with it.

And even more significantly, the original purposes of Social Security have been expanded, broadened, increased — with generous politicians figuring they could pass along the bill to youngsters still too young to vote.

There are indications the present Congress recognizes the economic reality of what we face — but will need the understanding support of constituents.

The National Federation of Independent Business affirms that the increasing tax burden is as great on small businesses as it is on taxpayers; and it urges that Social Security be restored to what it was in the beginning: to replace income lost at retirement and to provide minimum income for the aged.

That means eliminate payments to students.

Eliminate payments to government workers who have worked only briefly in private industry and are otherwise pensioned.

Eliminate Social Security payments to emigrants and convicted criminals in prison.

Eliminate abuses of survivor benefits. Eliminate medical treatment. And gradually over the coming years extend retirement age to 68.

The alternative is a 70 percent increase in the ratio of retirees to workers; an overload which can bankrupt the system NEXT YEAR.

5th Body Pulled from River

ATLANTA (AP) — Just as police were deciding not to add Jimmy Ray Payne's name to a list of 25 slain and missing young blacks, the body of the 21-year-old was found floating in a river — the fifth body to be dumped in an area river in less than a month, police say.

A few hours later, Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown said that the death of the 5-foot-7, 130-pound man will be investigated by the task force probing the 25 deaths and disappearances, which began 21 months ago.

The cause of Payne's death was not determined immediately and medical officials said his body, found Monday, bore no obvious injuries. An autopsy was to be performed today, Brown said at a news conference. Police are worried a change in pattern, Brown said, because "we now have four adult victims of homicides. Previous to that, all the victims were under 16, the youngest being 7."

All the adult cases have similarities, including the fact that the bodies were found in rivers, he said. "Our people have been meeting all evening to determine what this means," he said late Monday.

Payne was last seen April 22 as he headed for the Omni sporting and entertainment complex in hopes of selling some old coins, according to his sister, Evelyn.

He lived about a block from the home of Patrick Baltazar, who was last seen alive at the Omni. Baltazar's body was found Feb. 13 in a DeKalb County office park.

Like 13 of the other victims, Baltazar had been asphyxiated. Six of the last seven victims were asphyxiated or probably asphyxiated, authorities said. The cause of one victim's death was unknown.

Payne's body was found in the Chattahoochee River, just north of Bankhead Highway, which runs northwest out of Atlanta. Four of the other victims lived or were staying in residential areas north of that highway, in an area a mile or two closer to the inner city.

They were Milton Harvey, found Nov. 5, 1979; Curtis Walker, March 6; Clifford Jones, August 21, 1980; and Terry Poe, Jan. 13.

Payne's body, tangled face-down in a fallen tree, was spotted by two fishermen, about the time police were deciding not to put his name on the list of cases being investigated by the special task force.

Brown said police had been given information that Payne had been seen alive.

The sighting reports on Payne were similar to those that trickled into the Missing Persons Bureau after Timothy Hill disappeared March 13. Hill's case was not added to the task force list until after his body was pulled from the Chattahoochee on March 30, about 15 miles downstream from where Payne's body was spotted.

4th Annual Funfest Marathon Scheduled in Amarillo May 23

Amarillo's fourth annual Funfest Marathon and Half Marathon will be held on Saturday, May 23 at 7 a.m. Both races are sponsored by The Junior League of Amarillo and Parks and Recreation Department in cooperation with Natural Light Beer, distributed by Budco Inc. of Amarillo.

The Funfest Marathon will start on Wallace Boulevard in the Medical Center, directly in front of the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center. The Half Marathon will start simultaneously, at the same point. The race course will be the same one employed in 1980, following I-40 to Bushland and returning via I-40, U.S. 66 and Amarillo Boulevard to a Thompson Park finish line. The Half Marathon will be run on the first and last parts of the Marathon course, i.e. turning back onto U.S. 66 near Helium Road.

Over 100 awards will be presented to winners in the two races including an expense paid trip to the 1982 Boston Marathon for the overall winner in the full marathon. The men's division is divided into five classes: 19 and under, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49 and 50 and over. The women's categories include three age groupings: 19 and under, 20-34 and 35 and over.

The top five overall finishers in each race will receive special pewter mugs. Additionally, the first five finishers in each class will receive hand cast bronze medallions, except in the men's 20-29 and 30-39, which will receive 10 medals per class.

The 1981 field is expected to include several nationally ranked performers, among them: Dallas', Tom Marino and Pat Tyson of Seattle, Washington. The women's division in the half and full events will see participation by Albuquerque's, Kathy Samet, a fifth place finisher in the 1980 Boston Marathon and Houston's, Donna Burge, a nationally ranked marathoner. Many other outstanding runners are expected to enter the field prior to May 23.

In 1981, the Funfest Marathon will include a Marathon Seminar on Friday evening at the Inn of Amarillo. A number of outstanding speakers will participate in the symposium, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. Topics to be covered will include: training and physiology, injuries and their prevention, running equipment design and racing. All runners, their friends and family are invited to participate, at no cost, in these informative discussions.

In 1981, it is anticipated that the field will equal or surpass 1980's record of 500 entrants. Early response to race announcements has been exceptional with application requests outstripping the preliminary write-ins of 1980. Judging from these early requests, large numbers of runners will enter the race(s) from such areas as New Mexico and Oklahoma, as well as the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex. Additionally however, interest from other Texas areas such as Austin, San Antonio, El Paso and Houston has been strong and entries are beginning to arrive from states outside the Southwest Region.

Race organizers believe that much of the early 1981 interest in the Funfest Marathon is attributable to its unusual timing within the traditional marathon calendar. That is, Amarillo's cool nights and low humidity are ideal for mid-year long distance competition and the race's first years have produced near-perfect conditions on race day. Moreover, the Funfest weekend itself is a superb drawing card since runners can compete and then enjoy the many festivities with friends and family. Last year, the three days of Funfest drew an estimated 75,000 people to Thompson Park.

Individuals may enter the Funfest events by completing applications which may be obtained by writing Funfest Marathon, 1700 Polk, Amarillo, Texas 79102. Entry fees will be $6.00 prior to May 21st and $8.00 thereafter.

Diet, Fitness Camp For Women Scheduled at WT

WTSU - A Diet and Fitness Camp for Women will be hosted by West Texas State University May 17-23 and May 31-June 6.

Registration deadline for the first session is Monday, May 4, and registration deadline for the second session is Monday, May 11.

The camp is designed to help develop an individualized diet and fitness prescription to fit each person's needs.

The program will include the "hows" and "whys" of diet and nutrition and behavioral modification techniques in regard to weight management.

Special sessions will be offered on individual food preparation for special needs including cardiovascular or diabetic diets.

Exercises will be conducted in four main groups, which are flexibility, endurance, strength and relaxation.

Activities for the week include dance with aerobics, racquetball lessons, tennis lessons, swimming, pool exercises, flexibility exercises and relaxation exercises.

Additional activities are crafts, walking, jogging, riding, archery, bowling and golf.

The daily routine will include opportunities for two or three activity periods and a lecture each morning and afternoon, with lectures and recreational activities scheduled at night.

Dr. Rose Ann L. Shorey, associate professor of nutrition at the University of Texas at Austin, is the nutrition specialist for the first session.

Shorey is a member of the American Institute of Nutrition and the American Diabetes Association. She is the author of several articles on nutrition and is a private consultant for medical doctors in Austin.

Julie Williams, registered dietician and assistant instructor of nutrition at the University of Texas at Austin, is the nutrition specialist for the second session.

She is a member of the American Institute of Nutrition and the American Diabetes Association.

Fitness specialists for both sessions are Mary Hill, WTSU assistant professor of physical education; Debbie Bray, WTSU instructor of physical education and dance; and Lana Stokes, tennis coach, all from WTSU.

Hill has been a physical education instructor for 17 years and a camp director for 13 years. She directed the Fitness and Diet Camp of 1980 and is this year's director.

She has participated in research and has several publications on physical fitness and self concept. Hill developed and taught courses on diet and fitness at WTSU this year.

Bray has designed and taught dance movement with aerobics courses at WTSU.

Additional staff will include professional instructors of racquetball, swimming, pool exercises and crafts.

The cost per person per session is $250, which includes room, board and materials.

A $50 advance fee is required, with the balance due upon arrival at WTSU.

Enrollment is limited. Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis.

A recent medical examination should be completed before enrolling in the camp.

For more information, contact Mary Hill at WTSU.

Engagement Announced

Dr. and Mrs. H.A. Cavness of 129 North Texas announce the engagement of their daughter, Cindy to Howard Andrew Vick of Houston. He is the son of Mrs. G.T. Johnson and the late Mr. Marion Vick. The couple plan to be married June 27 in Houston, where the couple plan to reside. The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School. She attended Trinity University in San Antonio and is attached to the Dean's Office at the Conrad N. Hilton College of Hotel and Restaurant Management at the University of Houston. The prospective bridegroom attended the University of Texas and is the vice-president of KVM Engineering, a bio-medical electronics engineering firm, and the president of Petroleum Gauging and Appliance Company, manufacturing gauges which measure the fluid cargo level on ocean-going tankers.

The cost per person per session is $250, which includes room, board and materials.

A $50 advance fee is required, with the balance due upon arrival at WTSU.

Enrollment is limited. Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis.

A recent medical examination should be completed before enrolling in the camp.

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

My husband was unusually quiet at dinner the other night and when I asked why he said, "I knew you wouldn't notice."

"Notice what?"

"It's not important," he said.

"Then why did you bring it up?"

"If you really LOOKED at me once in a while, you'd know."

"Know what?"

"I went to a barber today instead of my hair stylist. It's cheaper and besides I'm ready to look my age." He spun around. "Whattya thing?"

"It looks like you just got a haircut."

"Are you serious?" he said, slamming down his cup. "I don't want to walk around looking like I've just gotten my hair cut."

"You didn't mind it when you got it styled and it looked freshly blown."

"That's different," he said. "Men like hair that looks like it's just been blown and mussed, but no one wants a haircut that looks like you've just had a haircut."

He wasn't always this temperamental. I knew him before he was a "standing"...in the days when he thought herbal was a tea. Before he had his own hair dryer and wrote to Sweden demanding they give the Nobel Prize for science to the inventor of Grecian Formula.

I couldn't help but think what I had been through with him: the enlistment crew cut, the sheep dog shag, the Doris Day bangs, the Dorothy Hamill swirl, the Hamlet helmet, the Prince Valiant number and his fur-face experience.

I once watched him nurture three strands of hair until they measured 13 inches long. Then he teased them, braided them, and coiled them carefully over a barren patch of scalp to make it look like top-of-the-line-plush carpet.

I watched him part his hair from ear to ear, brush it forward and live a tortured existence in fear of drafts.

I told him yesterday, "Stop stewing around about your hair. I find you devilishly attractive. Your hair has an Alexander Haig quality...a no-nonsense high over the ears, stubby at the scalp, revealing bald spots of age which I respect."

This morning he was on the phone with his hair stylist. "Could you work me in for a tousled Donahue blow dry today? You don't understand. Two men approached me yesterday and surrendered. This is an emergency!"

County Extension Council Hears Delegate Reports

Deaf Smith County Extension Council met in the Heritage Room of the Library Monday at noon for a luncheon. The luncheon was given to provide time for the delegates that attended the District meeting recently.

Delegates were Kate Bradley of Bippus Club and T.E.H.A. chairman; Louise Packard of Wyche Club and council chairman; and Becky Caraway of Dawn, council reporter.

The three delegates divided the district meeting report into morning activities, business and the workshop.

Mrs. Parkard called the regular council meeting to order. Sherri Blackwell from Draper E.H. Club read an article by Erma Bombeck titled "Why we need children." Roll call was answered with the names of the club nominee to the state meeting in Austin. There were 11 clubs represented with eight having a 100 percent attendance.

Louise Walker, county extension agent, gave the agents report. She encouraged each member to attend the Health Fair today.

Another upcoming event was announced. "Homemakers College-A new day, A new year," to be held Thursday. Kenneth White of Tulia will be the speaker. On May 6 Joy Gibson of Energas will give a program on "Nutrition and the Basic Diet."

Penny Cribbs, 4-H agent, gave her report and announced that Becky Hughes is scheduled to give the next council program. Ms. Cribbs also announced that county method demonstrations were in progress.

Ms. Cribbs asked for more sewing mothers. "These women will help first year members," stated Ms. Cribbs.

Jewell Hargrave brought forms for the recipes to be in the Council Cook Book. Each person submitting a recipe must have them turned in by May 18 or turn them into Louise Walker.

Grace Covington made a motion to set a price for the Tasting Bee Cook, Anna Messer second, and the motion carried. Cindy Norvell made a motion to sell the cook books at $4 each. The motion carried.

Members voted to have a luncheon at noon May 18 at which time Becky Hughes will give a program on the National 4-H Conference.

ANDREW WILKS
...local sculpture displays bronze sculpture

Local Artist Andrew Wilks To Participate in Art Show

Local artist Andrew Wilks has been chosen to participate in the 10th anniversary edition of the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair, to be held on Saturday and Sunday, the 23, 24, and 30, 31 of May. Theme of the two weekends in Kerrville is "Two Magic Weekends." The event, sponsored by the Texas Arts and Crafts Foundation, annually showcases over 200 Texas' finest artists and craftspeople.

Wilks specializes in bronze sculptures of limited editions with major pieces in editions of 15 to 25. He prefers the realistic style for his work, and his most recent subjects include a bust of the disciple Thomas and a wildlife piece of a whitetail deer entitled "Intrusion." Most of Andrew's work originally is done in wax, although he has also worked with clay and wood. His sculpture has been exhibited in many shows across Texas and he was the feature artist for the Top O' Texas Festival in 1980. Wilks received the Award of Excellence twice at the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair. He has a Master of Arts degree from West Texas State University. He taught art in the public schools for seven years, and was head of the Art Department for two years. Andrew, his wife Jan, and their two daughters, Rachel and Miriam, reside in Hereford and are active members of the Wesley United Methodist Church.

The Fair offers many new features this year. A special Fine Arts Area has been designed for the stone pavilion on the 16 acre campus of Schreiner College. Many well recognized painters and sculptors will exhibit and sell their work in this area. Here, too Israeli craftspeople participating in the new cultural exchange program of the Texas Arts and Crafts Educational Foundation, called "Artists As Ambassadors," will demonstrate their special skills. A limited number of Israeli arts and crafts will be for sale.

Musical entertainment, on both stages, will be at a new high. A magician, mime, children's vaudeville troupe, clowns and more, will be performing for the children. The country fair atmosphere, Children's petting Zoo, and Pioneer Village add to family enjoyment.

The Fair is famous for its delicious and varied food and drinks, and this year is no exception. Many old favorites and new, including beer, will be available on the grounds.

Parking is free on an attended lot, with air conditioned buses, also free, to shuttle visitors to the gate. Advance tickets and special group rates are available and will help eliminate standing in line. For more information or a color brochure, contact: TACF, P.O. Box 1527, Kerrville, Texas.

50-Year Membership

Pet Ott, left, was recognized Monday afternoon during the annual Extension council meeting held in the Heritage Room of the Library. Mrs. Ott was honored for her 50-year membership in the extension clubs. Mrs. Ott is a member of Wyche Extension Homemakers Club. Making the presentation is Clara Trowbridge, president of Wyche Club.

Council Delegates

Council delegates to the recent District I Texas Extension Homemakers meeting in Amarillo, gave reports on the meeting to members of local extension clubs Monday afternoon during a luncheon in the Heritage Room of the Library for EH Council. Those delegates giving reports were Becky Caraway, left, and Louise Packard. Not pictured is Kate Bradley.

C of C Poster Contest Winners Announced by Women's Division

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division recently released winners of its poster contest held in conjunction with Beautification Week (May 1-9).

First, second and third place winners in the three divisions are as follows:

Sixth Grade: Jay Newton, first place; Katie Ramey, second place; and Melissa Badilla, third place.

Fifth Grade: Mindy Rowton, first place; Jo Ann Sernino, second place; and Mari Frausto, third place.

Fourth Grade: Travis Vaughn, first place; Melanie Tieman, second place; and Jennifer Jackson, third place.

First place winners received $5; second place received $4; and third place winners received $3.

Judges for the poster contest were Georgia Sparks and Jessie Ann Davis.

There were a total of 47 entrants in the poster contest. All of the posters are to be displayed in local businesses both downtown and at Sugarland Mall.

DEAR NEW LIFE: Thanks for the testimonial. Your letter is one of many I have received from men (and women) in praise of this surgical procedure. For those who want details, please consult a urologist—preferably one connected with a university medical center.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A bucket of sour grapes to you for your answer to "Cowed in Raleigh." You gave her a brass ring but called her a bit of a slob. Have you ever done any cooking or housework in your life? I doubt it.

You don't realize how difficult it is to keep a house in order—especially when there are several children in the family. Life is so much easier when they all pitch in. This is the letter that should have been written to the mother who was so good to the kids in the neighborhood:

"DEAR LADY: Thanks for letting us come to your house when our own moms were too busy worrying about things being messed up. You were the mother who would let us bake cookies, make paper cut-outs and use scissors and glue as we sat on your kitchen floor. When we arrived at the door with our muddy feet, you

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back I read in your column about a couple that was having problems because the husband couldn't perform sexually. I believe he had prostate surgery and was left impotent.

You told him about the penile implant operation that has helped thousands of men regain their sexual abilities. I was very pleased to see this mentioned in your column. So many people avoid delicate topics because they are embarrassed by them.

I had the operation a few years ago and can truthfully say my sex life is better now than ever, and I was no piker before.

I hope you will encourage any man who has lost the ability to have an erection because of a medical problem to ask a doctor about the penile implant. After taking a simple and painless test, his doctor will tell him whether or not the operation will help. Too many men are so caught up with the macho image these days that they are ashamed to admit they can't perform. What a pity, especially now that there is help available.—A New Life For Me in Albany, N.Y.

smiled and said, "Hi, nice to see you. Take off your shoes and come on in."

"We were too young to say thank you then, but now that we are older we want to let you know we think you are terrific."—The Kids On The Block (10 Years Ago)

DEAR KIDS: What a great letter! I hope hundreds of moms all over the continent will think you are referring to them...and thousands more will be encouraged to earn such a letter 10 years from now. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a middle-aged woman who met a wonderful, kind man at "Parents Without Partners." The problem: I love to dance, and Herman leaps around like a kangaroo. He thinks he's a good dancer, and I don't have the nerve to tell him he wears me out. Would lessons help? I'm sure he'd go if I suggested it.—New Interest

DEAR NEW: Lessons won't give Herman rhythm, but a little professional instruction might keep him off your feet. Suggest it.

May Fellowship Day Celebration Slated

"The Spirit of the Lord Frees...and Unites" is the theme for May Fellowship Day which will be celebrated on Friday, May 1, by the Church Women United in Hereford.

A worship service and program in the First Baptist Fellowship Hall will be held in conjunction with the celebration on May 1.

A covered dish luncheon at 12 noon Friday will precede the celebration. A free nursery will be provided and mothers are asked to bring sack lunches for their children.

The history of Church Women United will be reviewed by Mrs. Mary Fraser on the local level and by Mrs. Eloise McDougal on the national movement.

1981 marks the 40th birthday of Church Women United.

Texas Population Increase Called 'Mixed Blessing' at Seminar

COLLEGE STATION -- Rapid population gains in Texas during the past decade--about three million people or a 27 percent increase--has been a "mixed blessing," two key speakers told people taking part in the 9th Annual County Treasurers' Seminar here Wednesday (April 22).

State Attorney General Mark White said that while Texas has experienced rapid population growth, particularly around urban centers, there has been tremendous growth in criminal activity as well.

As a result, the Texas prison system has had to deal with a growing prison population, White said. Of the approximately 30,000 people now in the state penitentiary, 72 percent of them are there because of such crimes as forgery, larceny, armed robbery and burglary. In other words, this element of the population would rather steal than work," White said.

White took issue with U.S. District Judge William Justice of Tyler, who on Monday of this week rejected the attorney general's request for delay and issued a sweeping final order in the nine-year-old Texas prison reform case requiring the state prison system to double its ratio of guards to inmates and give many prisoners separate cells.

Earlier, the federal judge had found the Texas Department of Corrections guilty of massive violations of inmate rights, and ordered the TDC to reorganize its 17 prisons into administrative units of no more than 500 inmates each; to build no new prisons more than 50 miles from cities of at least 200,000 without proof of an area work force sufficient to supply one guard for every six inmates; to expand proceedings to protect rights of inmates, and to comply with all safety, health and state fire codes.

The state, pointed out White, had already agreed to improve health care and to make numerous other changes prior to the Monday order.

White blasted Justice's order as "an unwarranted expansion of constitutional requirements that would cost the state billions of dollars."

He said he has filed an emergency appeal with the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

White pointed out that "the court didn't appropriate any money with its order, and the cost for prison construction would be 'several billion' dollars."

White said that prisoners have an opportunity to help themselves through study and rehabilitation, besides undergoing discipline. Those able to do so are required to work, but they have a wide choice that ranges from work or training to become keypunch operators for computer technology to agricultural pursuits. As a result of these work-training opportunities, the daily cost per prisoner has been reduced to $8 for taxpayers, he added.

"The state has a lot of work to do yet in regard to the prison system, but I for one don't believe the decisions should be decreed by courts in regard to sites and policy. Let's try to use logic and sense in solving our problems," he stressed.

White added that "the nature of the government in Texas--and the growth environment--is why people are leaving New York City and other areas to locate in our state."

Another state official, Warren G. Hardin, state treasurer, agreed that it is more than the "sun belt theory" that is bringing massive population gains to Texas.

"It's been warm here for years, and the population shift has begun only recently. People and industry are coming to Texas for a different 'climate,' the business climate. Our location and size make us a prime site for distribution of products all over the world. We have become a high-technology center as well, with growth in computers, communication equipment and atomic energy fields," Hardin said.

He pointed out that unemployment is low, and that wages are up and well ahead of the U.S. norm.

"More people, more industry and more technology all call for increasingly intelligent leadership and positive thinking, and each of you--as a county official--has an important role in meeting these challenges," Hardin, a former county treasurer for many years, said.

He announced that in October of this year, he will be sending more than $23 million to the 254 Texas counties from the lateral road fund.

"This distribution will represent three years' accumulation of funds for fiscal years 1980, 1981 and 1982. The reason for the larger distribution is to make up for the previously vetoed increment that would have been made in September of last year, plus a new provision in the law to make the entire funds available at the beginning of a new fiscal year, which is Sept. 1 in Texas," Hardin explained.

"These funds," Hardin added, "are to be used for construction and improvement of the counties' lateral roads. The pro rata amount to be sent to each county is based on a formula that encompasses the area in square miles, the rural population of the 1980 census, and the most recent lateral road mileage."

Harding told the county treasurers that "each of you should be recommended for your dedication and faithful handling of funds for the counties. You are the unsung heroes of county government. Texas is moving forward, not resting, from the surge of the 70s to the impact of the 80s. The frame work and opportunities are here for us to take advantage of, and I challenge you to do so for a greater Texas."

The seminar was convened by Richard Kirkpatrick of Galveston, president of the County Treasurers' Association. The session continues Thursday at Ramada Inn, said John A. Gilmartin, county officials program leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The seminar is sponsored as a program of the V.G. Young Institute of County Government of the Extension Service, in cooperation with the County Treasurers' Association of Texas.

Decline in Domestic Crude Oil Production Moderating

HOUSTON (AP) -- The American Petroleum Institute reports there is continuing indication the rate of decline in domestic crude oil production is moderating.

The trade group estimates that January-March first quarter production was about 119,000 barrels a day below the comparable 1980 period. Alaskan output was down 25,000 barrels a day and production in the lower 48 states was down 94,000.

The decline for the lower 48 states, the API added, is about one-third of the decline rate that existed in the 1970s.

"This indicates that efforts to increase production, such as higher levels of drilling and stepped-up enhanced recovery efforts, are gradually paying off," the API report said.

Wells drilled were 25 percent higher during the first two months of 1981 than in the corresponding period last year. The number of seismic crews was 28 percent higher in February than a year ago and almost two-thirds higher than in early 1979 before the onset of phased (price) decontrol.

In January, the API had said 1980 production indicated the decline rate was moderating and attributed the trend, in part, to higher crude prices making it feasible to produce some oil resources that previously had been uneconomic.

First quarter crude production, including Alaska, was estimated at 8,566,000 barrels a day, compared with 8,685,000 a year earlier.

Domestic output peaked at 9,637,000 barrels a day in 1970 and then plunged to only 8,016,000 a day in May, 1977, the month before production began from Alaska's prolific Prudhoe Bay area.

API's monthly statistical report first included Prudhoe Bay output in overall domestic production in June 1977. The initial entry was accompanied by a note saying the 1968 oil discovery on Alaska's North Slope as the largest field ever found in North America.

Prudhoe Bay now is sending about 1.5 million barrels of crude a day to markets but nearly two-thirds of that has been offset by the continuing decline since 1977 in production in the lower 48 states.

The March edition of the API report also shows that unleaded gasoline continues to boost its now dominant position for fueling the nation's motor vehicles.

Unleaded deliveries accounted for 55.6 percent of all March gasoline deliveries, about nine percentage points above the year earlier rate.

March gasoline deliveries averaged 6,039,000 barrels a day, including 3,358,000 unleaded. First quarter deliveries averaging 6,104,000 barrels a day included 3,270,000 unleaded.

Unleaded gasoline first exceeded 50 percent of the market last December. It had claimed only 20 percent of the market in 1976 when total gasoline deliveries averaged 6,780,000 barrels a day.

Unleaded held a 36 percent claim in 1978 when gasoline deliveries peaked at 7,392,000 barrels a day.

Higher prices dropped total deliveries to 7,030,000 barrels a day in 1979 and 6,585,000 in 1980.

The API said it was surprising that the March gasoline deliveries averaging 6,039,000 barrels a day were below both January and February.

Avoid losing your cool. And your cooler.

When you buy an evaporative cooler for your home, get it installed by a professional.

You choose an evaporative cooler because it costs less to buy and up to 75% less to operate than refrigeration. So don't risk those savings by trying to cut corners on installation. Why take chances with water damage and electrical hazards? Why worry about losing your cooler every time there's a high wind or a summer storm?

Professional installation will help you keep your cool. And your cooler.

Senator Bill Sarpalius

Reports

AUSTIN - We need strong action to stop the flow of illegal drugs in this state. We need laws that will pass, that will be effective and that are constitutional.

Many of the Governor's "war on drugs" bills meet these qualifications. Many do not.

For example, one bill would require that persons over 21 who were convicted of selling drugs to children under 17 be imprisoned for at least five years. This bill is a proper exercise of the state's police power, and should go a long way toward keeping drugs away from our young people. It is a very good bill that we support.

Another good bill we voted for is SB 396. This bill suspends the license of doctors and pharmacists convicted of drug crimes. This bill strikes at the problem we want to solve, and does so in a way that should work.

But the Governor's program does not go far enough in some ways. One example is the manpower we need to fight this war. We need 40 new Department of Public Safety agents, some of whom would work undercover, to fight the drug trade. The Governor did not request any new undercover agents, but they are an effective weapon to stop drug traffic and we need them.

Fighting this war on drugs is one of the most dangerous assignments in law enforcement. The Department of Public Safety is losing some of its best people to private industry every year. If we are to stop the drug trade, we must have the officers to do it. The Governor's proposals ignore this problem, and we cannot afford this.

These are just a few of the things we want to accomplish to close down the drug market. These projects need the support of all Texans, not just Republicans and not just Democrats. Saving our young people from the drug merchants goes beyond politics.

We know we can count on the people in our District to help fight this war on drugs. We still want to hear what you have to say on this subject. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

The Newspaper BIBLE

THEY ALSO SERVE WHO ONLY SIT AND LISTEN!

As Jesus and the disciples continued on their way to Jerusalem they came to a village where a woman named Martha welcomed them into her home.

Her sister Mary sat on the floor, listening to Jesus as He talked. But Martha was the jittery type, and was worrying over the big dinner she was preparing. She came to Jesus and said, "Sir, doesn't it seem unfair to You that my sister just sits here while I do all the work? Tell her to come and help me."

But the Lord said to her, "Martha, dear friend, you are so upset over all these details! There is really only one thing worth being concerned about. Mary has discovered it--and I won't take it away from her!"

Once when Jesus had been out praying, one of His disciples came to Him as He finished and said, "Lord, teach us a prayer to recite just as John taught one to his disciples."

And this is the prayer He taught them: "Father, may Your name be honored for its holiness; send Your Kingdom soon. Give us our food day by day. And forgive our sins--for we have forgiven those who sinned against us. And don't allow us to be tempted."

Book Donation

Panhandle Planned Parenthood in conjunction with the North Plains Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, Junior League of Amarillo, Amarillo Child Care '76, Golden Spread Association for Education of Young Children, and Region XVI Education Service Center have decided to utilize the proceeds from Dr. Lendon Smith's lecture to purchase books for county libraries. The books are being donated for use in Public Libraries in an effort to better inform parents about the needs of young children. Above Susie Gutierrez, left, out-reach worker for Planned Parenthood, hands a couple of books to Diane Pierson, county librarian. Among the books are "My Mom Is Having A Baby," based on Emmy-Award-Winning "ABC Afterschool Specials" program. The book is illustrated with drawings and photographs from the teleplay.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - The higher interest rate ceiling finally passed the Legislature overwhelmingly and will go into effect as soon as it is signed by Gov. Bill Clements.

The bill raises the maximum interest rate on almost all consumer loans to 24 percent, on commercial loans of over $250,000 to 28 percent, and on small loans as much as 157 percent.

The floating ceiling is tied to the rate on a six-month Treasury bill and is determined by multiplying the current Treasury bill rate by two.

Of interest to most consumers is how the new law would affect rates on credit cards. It works this way: the credit card holder will have the option to either accept the new rate or pay off his balance under the old rate. However, he won't be able to make any purchases on that card until the old balance is paid.

Judge, Governor and A.G.

Usually the Legislature puts on quite a show since it only gets one chance every two years, but this session its thunder is being stolen by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice.

Justice made state-wide headlines again last week by ordering school districts to begin expanding bilingual education to all 12 grades of public schools by next fall.

His court order was a rejection of a plan submitted one week earlier by Clements and a denial of a state request to wait until the end of the current legislative session.

Most Texans are now used to news of a federal judge who outrages the citizenry, but the political maneuvering between Justice, Clements and Texas Atty. Gen. Mark White is one of the most interesting plays around.

White said last week he will appeal the federal court order and is deliberating whether to seek a stay of ruling until that appeal.

'Taxpayers Burden'

The current program requires bilingual education from kindergarten to third grade, with fourth and fifth grade instruction optional.

White said the state would be safe constitutionally by requiring bilingual education up to fifth grade, but that a sweeping reform order would be a tremendous burden to the taxpayers.

The Texas Education Agency has not yet released an estimate of the cost of the court order.

The U.S. House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Fort Worth, addressed a joint session of the Legislature last week, and criticized President Ronald Reagan's proposed budget cuts as "too much cure."

Reagan wants to keep a campaign pledge of a 30 percent federal tax cutback, and opponents argue such over-reaction would prove harmful.

Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton reportedly outlined to Wright at a private luncheon a plan to reduce the federal deficit by selling off public lands.

Clayton proposed the federal government relinquish two-thirds of its holdings of public lands not now included in national forests or parks, with one-third being given to the states and the other third put on the auction for sale to private enterprise.

"You would generate one heck of a lot of money (to pay off the deficit) and put the lands on local tax rolls," Clayton said. "It'd be the biggest boom (in Western states) you ever saw, bigger than the gold rush."

Texas Supreme Court

More than a few high school athletes, parents and coaches will be pleased with a recent Texas Supreme Court ruling as unconstitutional the University Interscholastic League's controversial one-year transfer rule.

That rule violates the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution, the High Court agreed.

The rule forces high school football and basketball players to sit out a year when transferring to a different school and was adopted in 1933 to curb recruitment of high school athletes.

The UIL members had already voted to suspend the rule for a two-year trial period, but the court's decision pleased many nevertheless.

Battling Senator

Tales of courage in the Texas Legislature will get another chapter, following the recent actions of State Senator John Wilson.

Wilson is fighting a rare form of lung cancer and receives treatments periodically. Some three weeks ago, Wilson reportedly almost died during treatment.

But soon after lying semi-conscious in critical condition for three days in a hospital, Wilson returned to the Senate against doctor's orders to guide his "right to farm" bill to passage.

He does not smoke and never has.

Sample Textbooks To Be Available

AUSTIN - Copies of every textbook submitted to the Texas Education Agency for possible adoption in the 1981 cycle will be available to citizens for review at the 20 regional education service centers beginning May 1.

Sample books will be on file in each regional center library during regular business hours, according to J. Henry Perry, Texas Education Agency textbook division director.

However, proposed kindergarten systems--which may include audio-visual and manipulative materials--will have a more restricted review schedule, Perry points out.

The kindergarten systems will be on display at 10 regional education service centers May 1 through May 27: Region 16, Amarillo; Region 19, El Paso; Region 14, Abilene; Region 20, San Antonio; Region 2, Corpus Christi; Region 5, Beaumont; Region 13, Austin; Region 10, Richardson; Region 11, Fort Worth, and Region 7, Kilgore.

The kindergarten packages will then move to the remaining 10 regional education service centers beginning June 1 and continuing through June 26; Region 17, Lubbock; Region 18, Midland; Region 15, San Angelo; Region 3, Victoria; Region 1, Edinburg; Region 4, Houston; Region 6, Huntsville; Region 12, Waco; Region 9, Wichita Falls, and Region 8, Mount Pleasant.

All proposed textbooks and kindergarten systems will be studied in detail by members of the State Textbook Committee and their school district advisors throughout the summer.

This committee, which will be appointed by the State Board of Education at its May 9 meeting in Austin, will include 15 active public school teachers and administrators. Each committee member may then select local advisors, usually teachers who are specialists in the particular curriculum areas under adoption. These advisors may total 400 or more teachers throughout the state.

A series of public hearings will begin in Austin on August 10 to gather citizen viewpoints and opinion before the State Board of Education adopts textbooks on November 14. The new materials will be made available to Texas students beginning September 1, 1982.

The 1981 textbook proclamation approved March 14 by the Board will carry a price tag of approximately $36 million.

Elementary subjects scheduled for the new materials include: kindergarten, both English and Spanish; social studies grades 4-6; and art teacher's materials for grades 1-3 and 4-6.

High school subjects included in the proclamation are: speech-grade 8, oral interpretation, public speaking, debate, radio and television; English-dictionaries; Spanish-levels I, II, III, and advanced; mathematics--analytic geometry, calculus, elementary analysis, independent study, probability and statistics; physical science; theatre arts I and II; geology; economics; industrial arts--electrical systems, power systems, architectural and technical drafting, general drafting and engineering studies, and woodworking; and homemaking.

Unlike many of its consins who live solitary lives, the vespaula pensylvanica wasp is a social insect that thrives in colonies. It is one of the paper-building family of wasps and hornets, who build communal nests from chewed wood pulp mixed with saliva.

Be Foxy... Advertise now!

1. New customers move into Hereford daily. The smart advertiser attracts this new business into his store. If the newcomer shops with you first, chances are he'll be back again and again.
2. People stop trading with your competitors for one reason or another, and the smart advertiser attracts this business with effective advertising.
3. Advertising is designed to build business and one of its strongest effects is familiarity or repetition; consistent advertising pays. The smart advertiser never lets the buying public forget he is still in business.

The smart advertiser always thinks of his advertising dollar as an investment in greater sales volume, never as an expense of doing business.

Think this is the wrong time of year to advertise? Sure, business is slow, but the smart advertiser makes his advertising dollar work even harder during this time of year:

Sediments in iron

DEAR POLLY - Will you please print again the way to clean the sediment out of an electric steam iron? - LEONA
DEAR LEONA - I use a strong solution of white vinegar and water to clean mine. Pour it in the iron, plug the iron in. When water is hot, pull out the plug. By the time the water and vinegar cools, the sediment should be loosened. Turn iron upside down over the sink drain and shake out. Rinse, drain and plug in long enough to dry the inside. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - After trying bleach many times to get my rubber bath mat clean, I remembered a time when I dropped a rubber band in some cooking oil. When I finally got around to getting the band out of the oil, I noticed how elastic it was. I tried using some cooking oil on my bath mat. It worked! I used about a tablespoon to really scrub it, and then wiped the dirt off with a paper towel. Aside from cleaning the rubber, it made the mat so nice and soft again. It was not stiff as it was after using bleach. - DALE

DEAR POLLY - If you are getting ready to start a garden, instead of using paper to make collars to keep the cut worms away from the plants, use cottage cheese cartons with the bottoms cut out. Of course, any similar container can be used, too. I have used the same one over and over for years. When I open a can of soup, I remove it from the can, add one cup of milk or water and shake vigorously in a jar or container. I save all that stirring to remove the lumps. - MRS. D.C.

DEAR POLLY - I buy cheap toothbrushes and cut the bristles slanted toward the handle. This works wonders for brushing the back teeth, and I save money. - MRS. P.G.

HEALTH

Needs a new routine

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 35-year-old male. I've been plagued with weakness, dizziness, feeling tired and sleepy. I've been this way for about three years now and it has almost destroyed my career and my family life. I stay so tired I can hardly concentrate or walk at times. People just don't understand that I never feel like doing anything. When I lie down I cannot sleep.

I started with my family doctor, then saw three other specialists. They all tell me it is low sugar and put me on high protein, high fat, low sugar, balanced diets, none of which seemed to help. I do not know how much longer I can continue. Can you please offer any help at all?

DEAR READER - Your story suggests that you have been very well studied with good agreement on what the main problem is. But evidently the routine you follow is not just right for you. Assuming you have reactive hypoglycemia (judging from your diet prescription), you might try a different approach. Avoid the concentrated sweets and starches found in bread or potatoes, but increase your carbohydrates by eating raw apples, raw pears, raw peaches and raw nectarines. Why? If you get enough fiber with the raw fruit it will be digested and absorbed slowly, never significantly raising your blood sugar phase.

Also, spread the food out. Use raw apples between meals as a snack. Start a regular exercise program. Walk a small amount two or three times a day and increase it. As you improve your fitness level you may feel better. Your inactivity may be part of your fatigue problem. Don't overdo it; that can lower your glucose level.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have read that taking Premarin prevents loss of calcium in post-menopausal women. After removal of the uterus, cervix, ovaries and tubes is not the risk from this hormone greatly reduced? Won't its benefits in preventing calcium loss outweigh these slight risks?

DEAR READER - There are many good studies that do show that when needed, estrogen hormones help to prevent loss of bone calcium. Of course, if a woman has enough estrogen from her adrenal gland after such surgery she won't need it. It is certain that you can't get cancer of the uterus if you don't have one, so those risks are nonexistent in the situation you describe - unless the uterus was removed because of suspected or actual cancer.

The remaining question is about the breasts. If there are no lumps and no lumps develop that should not be a problem. In that situation, I would be inclined to agree that proper amounts of estrogen, if a woman is really low on estrogen, may be more beneficial than harmful.

Angels Stop Oakland, 3-2; Rangers Rip Red Sox, 10-0

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The way April has been going for Don Baylor, he'll take any kind of a hard-hit ball — even if it does result in a triple play.

Of course, he felt much better after hitting a home run as well Monday night.

"I've just been playing to get in a frame of mind where I could hit the ball good," he said after leading his California Angels to a 3-2 victory over the red-hot Oakland A's.

"I haven't been able to do it all spring, but tonight I've had four good at-bats."

One of Baylor's four hard-hit balls was turned into a triple play in the sixth inning by the A's, thrilling a half-price night crowd of 41,760 at the Oakland Coliseum. But earlier, Baylor — who went into the game batting a paltry .058 — also had a sacrifice fly for his first RBI of the season and a tie-breaking home run.

Incidentally, it was only the second loss in 19 games this season for the West Division-leading A's.

In other AL action, it was Baltimore 5, Chicago 2; Seattle 8, Minnesota 3 in 10 innings; Texas 10, Boston 0; New York 3, Detroit 1 and Milwaukee 4, Toronto 3 in 12 innings.

Right-hander Ken Forsch, 3-0, pitched a three-hitter to stop a six-game Oakland winning streak. At 17-2, the A's are one victory short of the major league record for most victories in April.

Steve McCatty, 3-1, was the loser, but pitched his fourth complete game and the 16th of the year for the A's staff.

Rangers 10, Red Sox 0
Buddy Bell smacked a two-run homer in the first inning and Texas added four more runs in a sixth-inning outburst highlighted by a three-run Boston throwing error as the Rangers defeated Boston.

Doc Medich, 2-1, shut out the Red Sox on eight hits and helped his own cause on a fifth-inning double play, snaring a line drive from Gary Allenson and doubling Carney Lansford off first.

Medich walked only one batter and struck out three during his route-going performance.

Orioles 5, White Sox 2
Red-hot Ken Singleton rapped four hits and drove in the winning run as Baltimore beat Chicago and snapped a six-game winning streak for the White Sox.

Scott McGregor, 1-1, a 20-game winner last season, scattered 11 hits, struck out six and walked two before needing relief help from Tippy Martinez in the ninth.

Singleton's four hits gave him eight hits in eight consecutive at-bats over two games. He had two singles and two doubles and raised his batting average to .512 with 21 hits in 41 at-bats.

Singleton's fourth hit of the game, a single in the seventh, chased Chicago starter Francisco Barrios, 1-1.

Mariners 8, Twins 3
Lenny Randle capped a five-run 10th inning with a grand slam home run to lift Seattle over Minnesota.

Earlier in the inning, Dan Meyer had delivered the tie-breaking run with a single.

Reliever Larry Andersen pitched the final three innings for the Mariners to even his record at 1-1.

Earlier in the game, Richie Zisk hit a solo home run — his sixth of the season — for the Mariners.

Yankees 3, Tigers 1
Bucky Dent hit a two-run homer and Ron Guidry scattered five hits in eight innings, as New York defeated Detroit to extend the Tigers' losing streak to eight games.

Guidry, 2-1, and Detroit rookie left-hander Howard Bailey were locked in a pitcher's duel until the seventh inning when the Yankees scored all their runs. Two of them scored on Dent's homer into the left field seats at Tiger Stadium.

Brewers 4, Blue Jays 3
Larry Hise's single scored Cecil Cooper from second base with two out in the 12th inning, lifting Milwaukee over Toronto.

Reggie Cleveland, 1-0, the fourth Milwaukee pitcher, earned the victory with two perfect innings of relief.

The Blue Jays had tied the game 3-3 with a run in the seventh on Lloyd Moseby's RBI single.

Phillies 3, Expos 1
Pete Rose tripled home one run and scored himself in the first inning to pace Philadelphia over Montreal and snap the Expos' six-game winning streak.

Right-hander Dick Ruthven pitched a four-hitter for his third victory in four decisions as the Phillies extended their winning streak to four. Bill Gullickson, 1-1, who pitched six innings and allowed just five hits, was the loser.

Lonnie Smith started the Phillies' first with a walk and scored as Rose tripled past a diving Andre Dawson in center field. Mike Schmidt struck out and then Rose scored on Gary Matthews' infield out.

Montreal had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the first on a sacrifice fly by Jerry Manuel.

The Phillies added an insurance run in the fourth on a walk to Schmidt, a hit batter and Larry Bowa's RBI single.

But No State Qualifiers

HHS Fems Break 7 School Records in '81

HHS Rodeo Team First At Claud

The boys' team of the Hereford High School Rodeo Club took first place in the Tri-State Rodeo at Claude this past weekend.

Brent Self tied for first place in bull riding, and Steve McConnell placed second in steer wrestling. Lee Washington was third in calf roping and third in steer wrestling.

Mike Butcher tied for third in bareback bronc riding, and Tony Wilcox placed fifth in bull riding to account for the other Hereford points.

In the girls' events, Hereford's Rita Ward placed sixth in pole bending.

The local club will be riding in the Ralls-Slaton Tri-State Rodeo this weekend.

Boit Wins At Drake; Mays Third

Kenyan Mike Boit won the featured 800-meter race at the Drake Relays Saturday, edging Wayland Baptist's Joel Ngetich and Texas Tech's James Mays.

The victory in the invitational 800 meters made Boit a four-time winner in the relays. Boit was timed in 1:46.97; Ngetich followed at 1:47.76 and Mays was third at 1:48.24.

Mays, a former Hereford High standout track and basketball star, has already qualified for the NCA meet.

His best time in the 800 meters this season was 1:48 flat.

Whiteface track girls competing in the Region I meet Saturday recorded their best times of the season, but it wasn't good enough for a trip to the state meet.

Hereford's Louise Mays, bidding for a trip to Austin in the 800 meters, finished third. She and teammate Deborah Rogers both broke the school record in the race.

Mays was clocked in 2:18.33 after two El Paso feds took the first two places. Rogers was fifth in 2:21.83. Both times broke the school record and were personal bests. The old Hereford record was set by Velma Arroyos in 1978 (2:22.1.)

Hereford's only other points in the region competition came from sixth-place finishes by the 800-meter and 1600-meter relay teams.

The 800-meter team ran a 1:44.3, which also broke the school record. Members of that team were Dede Dobbins, Angela White, Lori Albracht and Lindy Walterscheid.

The 1600-meter team had its best time of the year with a 4:02.6. The team included Allyson Thomas, Michelle Osborn, Louise Mays and Deborah Rogers.

Coach Martha Emerson reports the girls' track team broke seven school records this year and set two others.

Amarillo Tascosa won the team title in the regional meet with 73 points, while Plainview was runner-up with 53. Hereford had 12 points, two behind Lubbock Monterey.

Houston Hoping To Erase Kings

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Kings are one loss away from elimination in the National Basketball Association playoffs, and rapidly running out of options on Moses Malone.

The Kings held Houston's dominating center to just 12 points Friday night, but still lost 92-88. In Houston Sunday, Malone unleashed 42 points and 23 rebounds to lead the Rockets to a 100-89 triumph.

And those two victories in Houston put the Rockets on top 3-1 in their best-of-seven Western Conference series heading into Game 5 here Wednesday night.

"I just want to win this series," says Malone. "I got 12 Friday night and we still win. It doesn't make any difference if I get 12 or 42, as long as we win."

Nevertheless, Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons has vowed the teams will return to Houston for Game 6 Friday night.

"We've survived two tough series," he said, "and we're not out of it yet. They may beat us, but if they do, they'll have earned it. Can we win three straight? Can we? That's the question I'm asking myself. I think we can. This thing is going to be interesting before it's over with, though, I can assure you of that."

The Kings and Rockets finished with identical 40-42 regular season records. As the only sub-.500 teams in the playoffs, they were expected to retire quickly to the off-season.

But the injury-riddled Kings patched together a lineup to beat Portland and Phoenix, with star Phil Ford out for both series and Otis Birdsong lost at Phoenix.

Fitzsimmons elected for a slowdown offense with the the 800 meters, finished third. She and teammate Deborah Rogers both broke the school record in the race.

76ers One Game Away from Title

BOSTON (AP) — It was the kind of play by which champions are crowned, the kind basketball purists savor — and the kind Bobby Jones makes as a matter of course.

And in a playoff series between two teams like the Philadelphia 76ers and Boston Celtics, who hounded each other throughout the National Basketball Association's regular season only to finish with identical 62-20 records, it was the kind of play that can make all the difference in the world.

Nate Archibald, Boston's veteran point guard, appreciated the play even though he was victimized by it. As he sat in front of his locker and replayed it in his mind, Archibald said, "The only thing between us and overtime was Bobby Jones — and he made a great play."

What Jones did was anticipate Archibald's half-court lead pass, step in front of intended receiver Larry Bird and, with the form of an all-pro free safety, pick off the ball with two seconds left to preserve the 76ers' 107-105 victory Sunday in Philadelphia.

That gave the 76ers a 3-1 lead in the series and a chance to wrap up the best-of-seven Eastern Conference final here Wednesday night.

Bill Fitch, the Celtics' coach who watched his team lose its 11th straight game in Philadelphia, refused to blame Archibald for the defeat.

"The game wasn't lost on 'hat play at the end,'" he said. "The game was lost in the first half. We were miserable in the first half. If we had done things right in the first half, we might have been looking at a Boston blowout."

But instead it's the Celtics who are in danger of being blown out of the conference finals by Philadelphia for the second straight spring.

"I certainly didn't want to be down 3-1 in this series, but I don't think by any means that it's over," said Fitch. "We're going to win the next one. This club is capable of winning three games in a row from the 76ers."

Dodger Sensation Wins Again; Phils Top Expos

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was a World Series atmosphere that gripped Dodger Stadium. Fans were arriving as early as three hours before the game and more than 100 members of the media were on hand to witness the latest performance of the remarkable Fernando Valenzuela.

So where was Valenzuela, the rookie Los Angeles left-hander, while all this was going on Monday night?

"He's getting up for the game, all right," said Dodger shortstop Bill Russell. "He's in there on the trainer's table, sound asleep."

The 20-year-old Valenzuela was wide awake a little later as he continued his incredible performance on the mound and at the plate. Valenzuela shut out the San Francisco Giants 5-0, allowing seven hits.

Philadelphia trimmed Montreal 3-1 in the only other National League game Monday night.

Valenzuela has started five games in his brief major league career and won them all, four via shutout, and in 45 innings this year, he has allowed only one earned run.

Monday night's performance lowered his earned run average to 0.20. With his third straight shutout, he has a string of 28 1-3 scoreless innings.

"Webster has no words to define him," said Los Angeles second baseman Dave Lopes, who helped the preserve Valenzuela's latest shutout with a running, over-the-shoulder catch of a fly ball in the second inning when the Giants had runners at first and third and nobody out.

The crowd of 49,478 accorded Valenzuela numerous standing ovations, on the mound as he strung out one shutout inning after another, and at the plate, where he collected three of the Dodgers' 11 hits and also knocked in the game's first run.

"He's entitled to all that acclaim," said Lopes. "He's done things no one else has done. He's a star. He owns the city right now. He's a super kid and a great pitcher."

San Francisco Manager Frank Robinson, referring to Valenzuela's darting screwball, said, "He throws a pitch you don't see too often, and when you do see it, you don't know what to do with it."

San Francisco outfielder Jerry Martin, who had two of the Giants' seven hits, said, "He has more poise than any 20-year-old I've ever seen — that is, if he really is 20."

In the fourth, the Dodgers finally got to loser Tom Griffin, 1-2, after the San Francisco right-hander had retired the first two batters in the inning. Mike Scioscia and Bill Russell singled, and Valenzuela promptly shot a base hit to right to drive in the first run, the second game in a row in which he has provided the game-winning RBI.

Lopes followed with a run-scoring single and Landreaux singled home two more runs.

Valenzuela left two Giants on base in each of the first two innings, two more in the fourth and it wasn't until the seventh before he retired the side in order. He struck out seven to improve his National League-leading strikeout total to 43.

Phillies 3, Expos 1
Pete Rose tripled home one run and scored himself in the first inning to pace Philadelphia over Montreal and snap the Expos' six-game winning streak.

Right-hander Dick Ruthven pitched a four-hitter for his third victory in four decisions as the Phillies extended their winning streak to four. Bill Gullickson, 1-1, who pitched six innings and allowed just five hits, was the loser.

Lonnie Smith started the Phillies' first with a walk and scored as Rose tripled past a diving Andre Dawson in center field. Mike Schmidt struck out and then Rose scored on Gary Matthews' infield out.

Montreal had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the first on a sacrifice fly by Jerry Manuel.

The Phillies added an insurance run in the fourth on a walk to Schmidt, a hit batter and Larry Bowa's RBI single.

Sugar Ray Eyes Bout with Kalule

HOUSTON (AP) — World Boxing Council welterweight champion Sugar Ray Leonard, who dined his way to the 1976 Olympic junior welterweight title many experts thought should have gone to Uganda's Ayub Kalule, finally will get to settle the argument in the Astrodome.

But the popular Leonard, who will try to take Kalule's World Boxing Association junior middleweight title June 25, isn't making brash predictions.

"When I see him fight, it makes me wonder why I ever picked boxing as a profession, the man is awesome," Leonard said. "I'm in excellent shape and I'm going to stay that way because this will be a tough fight."

Kalule was considered a favorite for the Olympic Gold Medal in 1976 but he was not allowed to compete because of the African boycott of the Olympics and languished at home while Leonard became the darling of the boxing competition.

"Everybody has always talked about him being the favorite so I guess that's why we're here to find out," Leonard said.

World Boxing Association welterweight champion Thomas Hearns, another Leonard protagonist, will fight on the June 25 card, which is co-promoted by Astrodome Championship Enterprises and Top Rank, Inc.

Hearns, who defeated Randy Shields Saturday to retain his crown, will fight Pablo Baez, an unranked native of the Dominican Republic currently training in California.

Leonard sees Hearns as a future project. After he takes Kalule's title, Leonard plans to go after Hearns for his title to unify the welterweight division.

"My theory is that you shouldn't have one goal," Leonard said. "That's why I am trying to move to a stronger category. People say I'm going to the next division to avoid Hearns, but that's not true."

Leonard said he would try to fight at about 151 or 152 pounds for his shot at the junior middleweight crown.

Pipino Cuevas, the former WBA welterweight champion from Mexico, will fight Jordan Hansen, the No. 3 WBA and No. 5 ranked WBC welterweight contender on the six-fight card. Hearns knocked out Cuevas in the second round last Aug. 2 to win the title.

YOU AUTO KNOW
By Don

d. While doing easy repairs on my car I've "played dumb" everytime my repair manuals tell me to use a torque wrench along with how much torque to apply. Is torquing all that essential? A. Considering how relatively inexpensive a torque wrench is and some of the problems you may be headed for by "playing dumb", the wrench is a good investment. When using a standard wrench for tightening areas which call for specific torques (which is basically the amount of twisting action at a given point), you have no way of knowing how much pressure you're applying. Too little torque can cause liquid or gas leaks. Too much torque — which is usually the case without the proper tools — can cause leaks too, but these leaks are the result of much wider spread and more serious structural damage to the part which, almost invariably, will end up in replacement.
