It has been decided by the committee in charge that the regular "Dollar Wednesday" sale by the merchants of Hereford next week will be postponed one week until July 11 on account of the fact that the first Wednesday falls on the Fourth of July. Every merchant in town has signed an agreement to close his place of business on the Fourth and allow themselves and their employees to enjoy a day of rest and recreation, and for that reason the Dollar Wednesday sales will not be held. They will be resumed on July 11.

Dow Mercer's Trap Gun Is Lost and Recovered

There seems to be a thorn in every rose and Dow Mercer's famous trap gun, while giving its owner a thrill in its ownership has also caused him a deal of anxiety. Dow took the specially-made shooting iron to the State Shoot at Amarillo and it mysteriously disappeared from Otis Williams' room one evening after the day's sport was over. Dow has loved heaven and earth in an effort to get trace of the prize weapon but at first without a sign of a clue. The gun is back in Dow's possession now, however, and all's well and the goose hangs high in the Mercer household.

It appears that instead of being put in Mr. Williams' room as thought at first the gun was laid down on the running board of a car, during a conversation, from which it was shaken off in the street and was found by a little girl, who turned it in to Amarillo gun club officials.

shines and everybody and his dog is working hard following the recent heavy rains. The W. S. Mr. Williams believes his Auction will be a hit under normal conditions and will continue it each month for the present at least.

Telephone Work Here Will Soon Be All Finished

The company is also issuing a new directory, which will be ready for distribution before long. The work is being in The Brand's job department.

Marlin Gililand Pitched on Head From Horseback

Marlin Gililand, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gililand of Hereford, received a nasty spill and a slight concussion of the brain when thrown from a horse at Black, Texas, early Wednesday morning. He was immediately brought to the Hereford Sanitarium for medical treatment and at noon Friday was reported as being semi-conscious and slowly regaining his equilibrium after the terrible fall he received.

Marlin was on the E. B. Black farm and had been in the habit of riding a gentle old horse without a bridle, merely guiding him with a rope halter. While rounding up the work stock Wednesday morning the horse took a notion of his own and started for the house. Being without a bridle his rider was unable to handle him. He first walked, then trotted, then broke into a run. He approached a board gate with such speed that he could not stop and crashed over, throwing Marlin off on his head. He was brought to town by Obe Roberson and received treatment at the earliest possible moment.

Small Boy Slightly Hurt By Auto Last Wednesday

Little Duane Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Morgan, was knocked over by an automobile Wednesday afternoon on Main street in Hereford just after the Dollar Wednesday drawing took place. ## Jim Cloyd Dropped Dead Early Friday Morning

James Cloyd, past sixty years of age, brother of George and Henry Cloyd of the Cloyd Bros. Meat Market, dropped unaccountably early Friday morning while dressing beefs at the slaughter house and expired in a few moments. The body was brought to Hereford soon afterwards but up to the time of going to press Friday afternoon details of the funeral arrangements had not been decided upon. Mr. Cloyd leaves a wife and several grown children, none of whom reside here.

Mr. Cloyd and his brother, George, were attending to their usual morning slaughtering for the market when George noticed his brother fall. The unfortunate man was unconscious when he reached him, however, and expired soon afterwards. He had been a sufferer from Bright's disease and heart trouble for a long time.

E. J. Newell Has Cotton Knee High With Squares

E. J. Newell has what is probably the earliest cotton in this section, just two rows planted in his back yard. Mr. Newell, who is an old time cotton farmer, planted the seed on April 4 and the plants are now about knee high and several of them have well developed squares on them. One row will be irrigated and the other left to nature's watering, as an experiment. Mr. Newell says that while he has not yet definitely made up his mind about it, he is inclined to believe that it may be better to thin out the plants and allow a sturdy stalk to develop in preference to the generally accepted theory hereabouts that thick planted cotton does better.

BRIDGE RECONSTRUCTION WILL CAUSE NO INCONVENIENCE TO THE WHEAT MEN

COMMISSIONERS COURT BUSY ARRANGING TO HANDLE TRAFFIC WITHOUT INTERRUPTION OR ANY HEAVY PULLING

THREE CROSSINGS ARE AVAILABLE

Temporary Bridge East of Main Street Will be Ample to Handle Farm Products While Two Other Crossings are Being Repaired and Made Ready for any Emergency

Farmers hauling in their wheat and small grain to Hereford buyers will suffer no inconvenience or unnecessarily heavy pull because of the fact that the Tierra Blanco bridge at the foot of Main street is torn up, according to the commissioners court. A good temporary bridge has been erected about a hundred yards east of the main bridge, with a gradual descent from the south side, the new road passing through the gap in the old railroad dump, and the approach on the north side to the tracks being no steeper than the regular road. The court has had trouble in securing teams and graders, owing to the harvest demand, but at least two, and at times three, slips have been steadily at work on the new crossing and commissioner Paddock said Wednesday that the road into town will be smooth and in excellent shape in a day or so.

The bridge on 25 Mile Avenue has also been repaired and the grader crew is working as fast as possible to get the bad place near the Gatlin farm in traveling shape. This road, also, will be ready by the end of the week. The third crossing, at the Stockyards, is being worked and is passable.

The members of the court expressed

Who Claims Championship For Early Roasting Ears?

The Rev. Paul J. Merrill having claimed the city garden championship for early Irish potatoes, now comes Mrs. C. R. Tubb and states that she is eating roasting ears from the patch in her back yard. Anybody beat that? There may be some lucky folks who have been buttered on before this, but if so the information has not been spread abroad to any extent.

their regret that the work on the Main street bridge happened to fall at this particular time of the year, but said they would see to it that the temporary crossing is good and is maintained in nice shape. In addition, E. W. Harrison stated Thursday that, if the approach were a bit soft he will maintain a team and a man there to "make up the difference." Wheat has begun to more in this territory and some farmers to the south are reported to have received the impression that it will be difficult to get into Hereford on account of the bridge, but this understanding is unfounded and every facility for the grain farmers will be afforded by the court and the business interest of the town.

Foreman Chapman was tearing up the timbers and span of the old bridge Wednesday and Thursday and said it would be about sixty days until the new structure will be available for the use of the public.

The county officers were elected, with Mrs. J. C. Tate president, Mrs. Maud Rippey vice president, and Mrs. J. F. Easter, Sec'y. The publicity committee was ordered to send a copy of the plans decided upon to a representative of each community so they might organize and elect officers so as to be ready to begin work when their time comes for Mrs. Carroll (the Home Demonstrator) to be in their community. It is hoped that each community will take advantage of this work. The remains of Russel and Mark Reeve were buried in the Friona cemetery on Thursday afternoon of last week. The funeral services were held in the Congregational church and conducted by Rev. Peyton. The past two weeks of almost continuous rains have put the farmers so far behind with their work that it seems like an almost impossible task for them ever to catch up with the rank growth of weeds with which their fields are now covered. In many instances the lister furrows are so nearly filled that it is practically out of the question to use the go-devils to any advantage and it seems that they will have to resort to other methods of killing the weeds.

They expected to reach their home in Canadian by late afternoon Friday. Miss Elizabeth is a graduate with honors of Canadian High School and expects to attend Waland College this winter.

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs".

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs". Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines, has been refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use. In biliousness, constipation, headache and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the safest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs. (Adv.)

John, the Baptist, Luke 3

John, like Elijah of old, expounded alike to the high and lowly the piercing Word of God.

Born of priestly parents, a messenger of promise, it behooved him ever to abstain from all form of intoxicants. Educated in the Law and the Prophets, reared in simplicity, hardened in the wilderness, he became the powerful preacher he was. Greatest of all the prophets, first to hail the new dispensation, he prepared the way for the coming of the Messiah.

Boldness characterized his sermons and finally cost him his liberty and death. On reproving Herod and Herodias, his wife, for so much evil doing he was cast into prison. Hearing of Jesus's great ministry, John requested two of his disciples to interview him. It is here our text is introduced, which also contains a tribute to John—the greatest tribute ever paid to any man.

Preparation for the Kingdom
Jesus speaks now and takes for his theme, John's Work.

Traveling up and down the Jordan, over vast plains and rugged hills, John preached baptism of repentance for the remission of sins to enormous crowds, to all classes of people.

He it was of whom Isaiah spoke: "The voice of one crying in the wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his path straight." His work was to lift up the lowly, to bring down the haughty, to make straight the path of the crooked, to set aright the hypocrite. Possibly the last named was the most difficult task of all—clearing the path of gross hypocrisy so universally practiced by so called religious leaders.

As John prepared the way for Christ's coming, so the apostles prepared the way for the coming of the Holy Spirit.

way for early Christians. They in turn prepared the way for our Day. We, likewise, prepare or obstruct the way for future generations.

New Life—Penitence
"O generations of vipers," thus John addresses his audience, the vast multitudes that are flocking from villages to hear this great and wonderful and, in modern language, popular preacher.

"Who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?" Sin they would, why flee? Only drastic measures awaited such. For penitent sinners he called, yes, but their penitence must be left behind. Fruit worthy of repentance brought forth, a change of heart and a desire to reform. Even as members of a great family, or as members of a great organization would not save them, for as it was possible for the Creator to raise up children from the dust in the past, so he is able to again raise up children from the stones so plentiful about them.

Faithful Worth Recognized
And when the messengers of John departed Jesus began to speak to the concerning John—of his greatness—a prisoner, but great. He gives three reasons why John achieved such wonderful success. 1. "What went ye out into the wilderness for to see? A reed shaken in the wind?" The strong, firm resolute John could certainly not be compared with the slender, easily crushed reed, neither could he be shaken by popular opinion. He could be called a rock-man. "To every rock-man there are usually ten reed-men."

2. "But what went ye out for to see? A man clothed in soft raiment?" His was of camel's hair. "Behold, they which are gorgeously appareled and live delicately are in the kings' courts." A plain man living on plain food, clothed in plain raiment were John's inherent qualities. Royal robes and delicate court manners might tend to weaken this profound messenger who knew no luxury.

3. "What went ye out for to see? A prophet?" Not a reed, nor a man in fine clothing called them to travel many miles but—a prophet. A zealous expounder of the truth, a man of conviction, a man of intelligence whose message grips his hearers and arouses their enthusiasm. "A prophet? Yes, I say to you and much more than a prophet. Among those that are born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist;" but herein his inspiration to the earnest follower of Christ: "He that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he." "The green blade is greater than the seed from which it sprang."

Death of John the Baptist
Imprisoned in the dark fortress of Machabens, he remained there until a convenient day, Herod's birthday, when a great supper was made to his lords, captains and chief estates of Galilee.

An when the daughter of Herodias came in and danced to the great pleasure of the king, he said to her: "Ask of me whatsoever thou wilt, and I will give it thee." After consulting her mother, she answered: "The head of John the Baptist." This request made the king, who respected John, exceedingly sorry. His imprisonment was due only to Herodias, who in her anger when John reproved her for her sins, would have killed him if she could have had her way. So Herod, for his oath's sake and for the sake of his guests, immediately had John beheaded by his executioners. His head was presented on a charger to the damsel, who in turn gave it to her mother.

When his disciples heard of it, they came and took up his corpse and laid it in a tomb. C. C. B.
