

Ceremony is Saturday for soldiers

A welcome home ceremony for six Hereford soldiers who served in Operation Desert Storm will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Sugarland Mall in Hereford.

Jimmy Curtis, Alfredo Arras, Raul Dominguez, Abel Rodriguez, Armando Tijerina and Feris Zepeda will be honored at the event. The program will include special music, a presentation from Terry and Diane Beavers representing Operation Heartshield and from the Sugarland Mall Association, and a presentation to Rodriguez from the Chosro Camp Fire group, which "adopted" him.

The program will include songs by Vanessa Gonzalez, Raul Guerrero, Mary Varner and Clarissa Zepeda, who will dedicate "Wind Beneath My Wings" to her father, Feris. Sarah Griffin will read a short poem, and there will be a short speech by John Brooks, managing editor of the Brand.

Donations needed for paper study

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Hereford-area residents have two weeks to come up with $14,000 to match a grant for a study on whether paper and other products can be feasibly made from milo stubble.

The seed money raised locally would match a grant made by the Texas Department of Agriculture to determine the payoff of a project here (or anywhere else) and the impact such a project would have on a community. The study will be done by Baylor University.

Project organizers told a crowd of about 50 persons Thursday at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn that there is no doubt paper can be made from milo stubble or other crop residues. Dr. Pat O'Dell of Baylor passed out samples of the paper, including some made from johnsongrass and others manufactured from milo stubble.

What must be determined is whether it would be feasible to make the pulp or paper on a large scale. A pulp plant, with the pulp marketed to paper manufacturers, would cost about $10 million to build. Organizers hope such a plant could be built on a co-op basis.

A paper mill would cost about $1 million for each ton per day the plant produced. A plant that produced 200 tons per day would cost $200 million to build, and would likely require partnership with a paper manufacturer.

No matter which course is decided best in the proposed study, money is needed as soon as possible to match the grant, said John Sherrod, president of the Economic Development committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Sherrod accepted a $1,000 check from Tom LeGate, president of the Hereford Industrial Foundation, at Thursday's meeting.

"The Hereford Industrial Foundation is very interested in this project," said LeGate. Other persons and businesses indicated Thursday they will also be helping pay for the study. Rocky Lee, past Chamber president, urged those at the meeting to give seed money to the project and to encourage others to participate.

"Our economy depends on farming and cattle," said Lee. "We have to help ourselves... We have to make a commitment to match the TDA grant. I think it's time we talk to our neighbors about this." Lee said the deadline would be May 10, and persons wishing to help with the project may take their contributions to the chamber office at Seventh and Main in Hereford.

Ken Rogers, who has been working on the project for much of the last two years, said a pulp or paper plant would not be built for profit for himself but as "a real benefit for the entire area. Everyone in the community stands to benefit from this. There is still a lot of research to be done and a lot of questions to be answered." Rogers said the study should answer questions about the product's feasibility.

While the study will focus on milo stubble, other crop residues can be used. Paper is being manufactured in other countries from milo stubble, corn stalks and wheat straw. Since the paper would be made from non-wood products, the environmental impacts would be positive, combating concerns about clearing trees and other negative impacts from making paper from wood pulp. Rogers said about 93 percent of all paper products are made from wood pulp. While the plant would use a considerable amount of water (the output of two irrigation wells a day), the water could be recycled and used for irrigation.

Another environmental impact would be that the stubble would be harvested, recycling what is "wasted" on the farm and usually burned away following harvest and cattle grazing seasons. The harvest of the stubble would also allow better application of minimum tillage farming, Rogers said, and harvest time for the stubble is not critical. Rogers also said the stubble could be stored for up to three years before being used, with no loss of paper quality.

Rogers said a plant could create from 250 to 500 new jobs in the area, including some high-tech jobs, and would create more jobs in trucking and harvesting.

O'Dell, who became interested in the paper-making process several years ago, said other products could also be made from the grain sorghum stubble. Furfural, a chemical resin that is used in many plastics (the biggest use today is in the high-impact plastic bumper on new cars) is derived from milo stubble, and studies are underway on deriving industrial wax, sweeteners and other products from the stubble.

"Our study will also help find out what's in this stuff and how fast a plant will be economically feasible," O'Dell said. O'Dell hopes to get 40 tons of pulp for the study. "We need that much to get into a paper plant to make the paper."

O'Dell said the paper from the study will be made into all types of products,

KEN ROGERS
... A prime force behind the project including paper for printers, tissue and sacks. The paper holds color very well, O'Dell said, showing a sample of yellow-colored paper. "We will make all kinds of products so people can see it and feel it," O'Dell said. "We will make the paper and chemicals and decide the economic feasibilities. We hope to have all of the questions answered by the end of the year."

Beautification at Azteca

Tenants and volunteers work on yard areas at the Azteca complex in southwest Hereford this week. Using grass seed donated by Richardson Seed and trees purchased by tenants and others, workers are trying to improve the already-nice appearance of the new development by doing landscaping. The project is one of several going on in the city during Clean Up-fix Up time in the city.

City trucks will run Saturday

City trucks will be going down alleys Saturday to help Hereford residents clean up as part of a city-wide clean up campaign underway through May 4.

The trucks will be picking up items in alleys to help the city get a "fresh start" before a new ordinance goes into effect on May 1 which will prohibit pick up of many items. Prohibited items beginning May 1 will include tires, building materials, furniture, bedding, appliances, automotive engines, parts, wheels and other items. The city is also encouraging residents to take those items to the city landfill.

City manager Darwin McGill said the trucks will attempt to cover the entire city on the two Saturdays, but may not go down all alleys twice.

Persons with items they want the city to pick up should have them in the alley this Saturday or take to the landfill before Wednesday.

Candidates forum is Tuesday

A candidates' forum featuring all candidates in contested races in the May 4 city, school and hospital board races will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center ballroom.

The forum is being sponsored by the Brand, KPAN and Hereford Cablevision. The forum will be videotaped and rebroadcast on Hereford Cablevision next Wednesday and Thursday.

All candidates in contested races have been invited to participate in the forum. Each candidate will be given three minutes for an opening statement to cover qualifications, reasons for running, issues involved in the race and other topics they wish to cover during the allotted time. Each candidate will be asked two questions, and the same questions will be asked of all candidates in a specific race.

Questions are being solicited from the general public, and may be submitted to the Brand or KPAN by noon Tuesday.

The forum is open to the public.

Deposits rise at local banks

Deposits at Hereford's two banks totaled $141.68 million at the close of business March 31, 1991, according to statements published by the financial institutions.

First National Bank reported deposits of $79,257,000--an increase of almost $5.5 million over the same time a year ago. Hereford State Bank had deposits of $62,424,000. This was down $684,000 over the report a year ago.

Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union's quarter-ending statement showed deposits of $26.4 million and this represented an increase of $3.1 million from a year ago.

Deposits for the three financial institutions were $168,113,000 compared to $160,197,000 a year ago. No reports were issued by the two savings and loan institutions here.

Compared to totals a year ago, loans were up at First National by about $2.5 million to $40 million. HTFCU showed loans increasing by $1.68 million to $16 million. Loans were down at HSB by about $500,000.

Assets listed for the three financial institutions were $90.6 million for First National, $69.9 million for HSB, and $27.8 million for HTFCU.

Chamber board studies reports

Directors of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce heard updates on committee activities and projects and discussed plans for a July 4th celebration and a special Chamber of Commerce Week during a regular board meeting Thursday.

Topping the reports on chamber projects was the current community-wide Clean-Up Campaign which continues through May 4. The City of Hereford is helping with the campaign by picking up debris from alleys.

The board has designated the week of May 5-11 as Chamber of Commerce Week. An emphasis will be placed on the chamber's involvement in the community, and the observance will serve as a preliminary program to the annual membership drive, according to Pat Robbins, president. Scott Keeling, membership chairman, said C of C workers will hold a "blitz" campaign May 13-17.

Tentative plans for the July 4th celebration, focusing on welcoming home service personnel from the Gulf War, were discussed. Chairman Wes Klett announced the planning committee will meet again Tuesday at 4 p.m. Interested persons are invited to attend the meeting in the chamber conference room.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, announced the chamber will host a reception for Bill Helton, new chief executive officer for Southwestern Public Service Co. The reception will be held May 8 in the C of C conference room.

Carr also announced that the recent chamber-sponsored tennis tourney was a success, and the committee expressed appreciation to athletic director Danny Haney and tennis coach Ed Copeland for their support. Carr said the recent retail seminar drew 30 people and was "very successful."

Ruth Newsom, president of the Women's Division, reported on new members and current activities of the organization. She said the division is currently preparing for the Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant, scheduled for June 8.

Robbins and Carr presented general information on the proposed paper project which uses grain stubble. A public meeting was held Thursday night.

Beware of phony phone schemes

AUSTIN (AP) - State securities regulators say Texans should beware of phony telephone investment schemes, particularly those offering shares in oil and gas ventures.

"These individuals are opportunists. Today's oil and gas promoter may have been yesterday's penny stock broker, bogus gold mine operator or pyramid scheme promoter," said a statement issued by the State Securities Board.

Thursday's warning came at the same time authorities in Los Angeles announced raids on 32 businesses that sold bogus oil and gas investments with a promise of big profits from the Persian Gulf War.

More than 3,500 people may have invested $50 million in programs sold through the "boiler room" sales firms in Los Angeles, Dallas and Salt Lake City, said the North American Securities Administrators Association, a watchdog group of state regulators.

Officials reported 10 arrests in 16 states, including Texas, over the last 10 days. They said they expect another 20 arrests as the investigation continues.

The State Securities Board issued a bulletin warning Texas consumers of illicit phone promotions of horizontal oil and gas drilling programs, pyramid sales schemes, loan brokers, the wireless cable television lottery and international investments.

"The rise of new technology and the recent recession have spurred the activities of phone swindlers to new heights," the board said.

The board said it has identified 42 Texas-based "boiler room" operations that are marketing interests in horizontal drilling ventures to consumers in Texas and across the country.

"Many are controlled by repeat securities law violators who know little or nothing about oil and gas in general or horizontal drilling in particular," the bulletin said.

Horizontal drilling is a recent innovation in which wells first are drilled down, then horizontally in search of vertical fractures of oil. The securities board said legitimate companies' success in that field mean "con men and unscrupulous promoters have sought to cash in on the publicity."

John Morgan, the Texas securities board's enforcement director, said it is difficult to know how many unregistered firms are making telephone sales pitches.

But consumers should be wary, he said.

"What we're talking about are companies that are unregistered, using unlicensed sales people, using high-pressure sales tactics to pressure people into making investments," Morgan said.

He said the companies purchase lists of phone numbers to find potential customers. The lists include doctors, dentists, subscribers to certain magazines, and the elderly, he said.

"Believe it or not, they target elderly people because they're more likely to be home during the day," he said.

Such scams have been tried before, Morgan said, but the problem is increasing because of the amount of the offerings, with some horizontal drilling programs ranging from $500,000 to $1.5 million.

"It's been around for a long, long time. But from our perspective, it's a growing problem because of the size of the offers," Morgan said.

Almost all investments must be registered with the State Securities Board. Officials said consumers with questions should contact the agency. Such inquiries often help warn authorities of fraudulent operators, they said.

Connally to serve on tax task force

AUSTIN (AP) - Former Gov. John Connally, who now chairs a task force studying Texas' tax system, said a proposed state income tax will not cure the state's projected $4.6 billion budget deficit.

"It will not solve our problems," Connally said Thursday of a state income tax. He pointed to New York and California that have such levies and still face enormous budget problems.

"I'm not persuaded we need more revenue ... government at any level has an insatiable appetite," he said.

Connally was chosen to head the 16-member task force by Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who has pushed for a state income tax.

Bullock says the levy is needed to fund essential human services, pay for an education reform bill, and reduce sales and property taxes. Texas is one of seven states without a personal state income tax.

The task force is charged with recommending changes in the state's tax system by July 1. Gov. Ann Richards has said she will call a special session then to tackle the state budget.

Connally said he was concerned that Texas' tax structure places too heavy a burden on business. "We certainly hear business and rich escape taxes, but that isn't so," he said.

Former Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said capital-intensive businesses are hit hardest with taxes, while people in the service industry, such as lawyers, "walk away scot-free."

Tom Plaut, the state's chief revenue expert, told the task force that Texas' tax system is "seriously flawed but not broken."

Plaut said Texas ranks low in total tax burden on its citizens, but because of the relatively high sales tax, poor people are paying a larger share of their income in taxes than rich people.

Plus, he said, poor people are hurt the most by high business taxes because these costs are passed through to consumers.

Karnival Krazy items

Alice Hund and Wade McNutt display arms-full of goods available at the country store, one of the features of Carnival Krazy, Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. at St. Anthony's School. The carnival will feature games, food, an auction and homemade crafts at the store.

Wipers make it big time

DALLAS (AP) - Lifetime Products Inc., maker of a quirky windshield wiper and other automotive accessories, hits the big time today when its 4.03 million shares begin trading on the American Stock Exchange.

"We think it's a significant step for the company," said Jennifer Runyeon, president and chief executive officer.

The three-year-old company's stock had been trading on the over-the-counter market, where it closed Thursday at $12.75 per share.

Its trading symbol, LFTI, will change to LPI on the American Stock Exchange, which requires companies to have pre-tax income of more than $750,000 and tangible assets of more than $4 million.

Lifetime's revenues were about $20 million last year. Profits from the subsidiary that makes the triple-edge wiper were about $6 million but the company posted a loss of $186,000 because of losses suffered by a subsidiary it has since sold.

Paul Montle, who leads the company's investor relations department, said Lifetime contacted the exchange in December about the prospect of a listing.

"They're very careful about who they list," Montle said.

The listing should end calls from brokers who are trying to find the stock, Ms. Runyeon said. "Stocks on the Amex are more visible and brokers can track them more easily," she said.

Amex spokeswoman Lisa Kravitz said Ms. Runyeon, 30, is the youngest of six women who lead companies listed on the exchange, where about 900 stocks are traded.

She was a commodities broker when she and some friends spent about $500,000 in 1988 to buy New Jersey-based Tripleledge Products Inc., which was reorganizing in bankruptcy court.

Tripleledge developed the three-edged wipers from a synthetic compound that prevents cracking but sales flopped despite a lifetime guarantee. The $19.95 blades couldn't compete with less expensive brands at automotive stores.

Lifetime retained the wiper's name but turned to direct marketing - credit card bill inserts, magazine ads and low-cost cable television - and sales took off.

The company is now placing the wiper in mass market stores like Wal-Mart, Target and K-Mart, Ms. Runyeon said.

New products, including wiper blades that apply silicone to repel debris, will be sold through direct marketing at first and later sent to retailers, she said.

In 1989, Lifetime abandoned a manufacturing plant in the Far East and built a 12,000-square-foot facility in Hugo, Okla. With 200 workers, Lifetime is the small town's largest employer and ships 10,000 wipers daily.

The move cut manufacturing and shipping costs and eliminated the currency risk associated with overseas production.

Sexual abuser sentenced

PORTALES, N.M. (AP) - A Roswell physician has been sentenced to 18 years in prison on multiple counts of sexually abusing a 13-year-old boy.

Dr. David Sylvester LaMure, 56, also was given five years probation and ordered to make unspecified monetary restitution to the victim.

State District Judge Steve Quinn remanded LaMure to the Roosevelt County Corrections Facility to await transfer to the Department of Corrections.

LaMure of Dexter was convicted Jan. 25 by a jury in Roosevelt County on eight of 18 counts of sexually abusing the boy, a volunteer at Roosevelt General Hospital in Portales, in 1987 and 1988.

LaMure, a pathologist, was associated with a Roswell medical laboratory and was a consultant at the Portales hospital at the time of the assaults.

The victim's family has filed a $30 million civil lawsuit against the doctor.

LaMure's attorney Ray Twohig of Albuquerque said his client plans to appeal.

LaMure faces similar charges in Chaves County stemming from an alleged incident three years ago in the bathroom of a Roswell discount store involving a 15-year-old boy. He was arraigned in magistrate court on those charges in October 1990.

The worship service this Sunday will be conducted by the laymen of the church in the absence of the Rev. Don Kirklen. Special emphasis will be given to soil conservation.

Sunday morning's sermon is entitled "The Vital Vine" and will be based on a text from John 1:1-8.

Wednesday evening Bible classes begin at 7 and are very informal. For additional information or if you are in need of transportation, call 364-1668.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Members of the church will observe Heritage Sunday during the morning worship service at 10:55. Following the service, the youth will sponsor a Mexican stack luncheon in the fellowship hall for all church members and their guests. Cost will be $4 for adults and $1 for children 12 years and under.

The morning worship service will be opened with the introit, "Shout and Sing," an early American hymn arrangement for choir, organ and instrumentation. The Sanctuary Choir and Wind Ensemble will perform "Jesus United By Thy Grace" for the anthem. The Children's Carol Sunshine and Cherub Choirs will also perform, as well as the Carol Bell Choir.

Dr. Steve McElroy, pastor, will continue the Wesleyan theme with a look at the man, John Wesley, and his beliefs and importance in Methodism. UMW will meet May 1 in Ward Parlor for its general meeting at 10 a.m. UMW Mission Team will meet previous to the general meeting at 9:30 a.m. in the church library. The general session will be followed by a covered dish luncheon, hosted by the Naomi Hare Circle.

Northwest Texas church camps are filling up fast, so those parents who want to register their children for camp are encouraged to hurry and do so. Information about the camps may be obtained from Jo Ochs at the church office.

SAN PABLO UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend all services at the Hispanic Methodist church. Sunday school for all ages begins at 11 a.m.

Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. and the Wednesday evening prayer service starts at 7.

For more information, call Minister Hilda Cavazos.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

Doug Manning is the worship leader for the Fellowship of Believers which meets at its temporary location in the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 426 Ranger.

Sunday school for youth kindergarten through 12 grade is held from 9:15-10 a.m. Beginning Sunday, Manning will be studying the Ten Commandments during the worship service held from 10-11:30 a.m.

Anyone needing transportation for any reason is asked to call 364-0359 or 364-3869. There is no cost for this service offered by the congregation.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school for all age groups begins at 9:45 a.m. The Sunday morning worship service starts at 11.

Vacation Bible School workers are needed for the event planned June 3-8 at the church. Anyone interested in assisting, is asked to contact Susan Sublett at 364-8849 or 364-6542.

A youth lock-in is planned from 6 p.m. May 10 until 6 a.m. May 11 at the church. The activities will include a scavenger hunt, hot dog dinner, Christ concert, games, movies, breakfast, a commitment time and the feature movie, "Without Reservation." The cost will be $10 per youth to cover the cost of a T-shirt.

Graduating seniors and currently enrolled college students may apply for scholarships that are now available from the Church Scholarship Fund and the W.M.U. Fund. Applications forms may be picked up the church office and must be submitted by May 5.

The Curriculum Workshop is planned at 7 p.m. Monday, April 29, at the Temple Baptist Church in Amarillo. If you plan to attend and ride the church van, please contact the church office as soon as possible.

The BYW meeting is planned at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 30, in Kinsey Parlor. Please bring baby items for the mission action project.

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

The public is invited to attend Karnival Krazy from noon until 5 p.m. at St. Anthony's School, located at 120 W. Park Ave. There will be games and food for everyone and The Country Store will feature a variety of unique arts and crafts. At 6 p.m. that day Holy Hour will be observed at the church and a prayer group will assemble in the library at 7 p.m.

A new paschal candle will be needed for next year. If there is a family who would like to furnish one, please contact the office.

From 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. Saturday, Life Chain will be presented at the Lutheran Social Services in Lubbock at 2615 University. Call Shelly Diller at 258-7392 to carpool.

St. Anthony's School office is currently taking applications for teaching positions for the 1991-92 school year. Apply at the school office.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

The public is invited to attend Sunday worship services at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. Andy Edington will be the centennial speaker for the 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service. He will speak on lessons to Peter. A reception for Dr. Edington will follow the service.

Dr. Edington will teach the Adult Sunday School Class at 9:30 a.m. and will also speak to the Youth Fellowship Groups at 6 p.m.

Dr. Edington is president emeritus of Schreiner College where he served for 21 years in Kerrville, Texas. He is a much sought after speaker and Bible teacher.

On Monday, April 29, there will be a centennial worship service at 7:30 p.m. A reception will follow the service given by Dr. Edington.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

"Interns of Jesus" is the title of Pastor Jim Hickman's message for the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service. The sermon will consider the ways that Jesus is a model for Christians in ministering to others.

The study course "Christian Perspectives on Stress Management" is offered at 6 p.m.

During the 7 p.m. worship and Bible study, Pastor Hickman will continue with the study of the life of David. The title for Sunday night's study is "Scandal in the Palace."

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

There will be a Brotherhood Breakfast at 7:30 a.m. at the church. Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:45 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

A church-wide fellowship is planned Sunday following the evening worship service. Everyone is invited to attend.

A farewell fellowship is going to be held for David and Micki Baulch Sunday evening. David has served as minister of music and is resigning due to health reasons.

Sims feted with shower

Vanessa Sims of Hereford, bride-elect of Barry John Ward of Armidale NSW, Australia, was honored with a recipe and kitchen shower Thursday, April 25, at the Hereford Country Club.

The honoree, her mother, Sue Sims; her grandmother, Olith Hess of Amarillo; Janice Carr of Hereford; and the Thursday bridge club members were entertained with a luncheon hosted by Ruth Newsom.

Australian motifs were used on the place cards and the table was centered with spring blossoms. Members of the bridge club are Zula Arney, Betty Barrett, Margaret Bell, Pat Fisher, Nancy Josseland, Helen Langley, Newsom, Lois Scott, Sims and Florence Traweck of Canyon.

The couple plans to exchange nuptials at the E.B. Black House in Hereford June 1.

A heated knife blade will cut through fresh bread more easily.

Ways to alleviate dreadful morning sickness

If you've always considered yourself a "morning person," your enthusiasm for the early hours may diminish when you become pregnant. Many women who are used to waking up refreshed and energetic find they feel nauseous and groggy the first few months they are pregnant. This common complaint of pregnancy is known as morning sickness.

At least half of all pregnant women experience nausea and vomiting during the early months of pregnancy. Although these systems most often occur in the morning, they may continue throughout the day. Such symptoms should not be cause for alarm. They are usually a sign that the pregnancy is progressing normally.

No one knows for sure what causes morning sickness, but many experts think that it is related to changes in hormone levels, along with relaxation of the smooth muscles of the stomach. Certain odors and an empty stomach can trigger nausea and vomiting. Although the symptoms may be quite distressing, morning sickness rarely leads to any serious problems, such as weight loss or nutritional deficiencies.

Unfortunately, doctors can't offer women a simple cure for morning sickness. But we can recommend some ways of alleviating its symptoms and reducing the unpleasantness and discomfort.

* Eat frequent, small meals each day and try not to let your stomach become empty.

* Arise slowly in the morning, sitting on the side of the bed for a few minutes before getting up.

* Snack on crackers or dry toast throughout the day and avoid citrus juices, milk, coffee, and tea when you feel nauseous.

* Avoid unpleasant odors whenever possible.

* Get some extra sleep and relaxation.

If your symptoms become severe, notify your doctor. Sometimes a more serious condition may be causing the problem.

Just when you think you can't stand another day of feeling ill, your morning sickness will pass. Symptoms typically don't last past the third month of pregnancy. You should be able to spend the next six months getting up on the right side of the bed.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Grammy-winning singer Lionel Richie and his wife of 16 years, Linda, will divorce, the musician's publicist says.

"Our decision is very painful for us, but we both wish to find happiness in the years ahead," Richie said in a statement released by his publicist, Lee Solters, on Wednesday.

The couple has one child, 9-year-old Nicole.

Among Richie's hits are "Say You, Say Me," "All Night Long," and "Endless Love."

Maroon JV turns back Dumas for 15-13 win

Hereford's Maroon junior varsity baseball team held on in a wild game Thursday for a 15-13 triumph over Dumas' JV.

The Herd scored two runs in each of the first three innings, then scored seven runs in the fourth. Coach Bill Bridge said his players got only two hits in the big inning. The seven runs were due mostly to walks and errors on the Demons part.

That put the Herd up 13-3 through half the game, but the Demons came back. They scored twice in the bottom of the fourth, then got seven in the fifth. Bridge sent Ralph Holguin to the mound to relieve starter Ray Hastings during the fifth, and Holguin stopped the bleeding in time to preserve the Herd's lead at 13-12.

Neither team scored in the sixth, but both teams did in the seventh, providing an interesting finish.

The Demon pitcher who had shut Hereford out in the fifth and sixth innings suddenly walked the first six batters he faced in the seventh, Bridge said, giving the Herd two runs and a 15-12 lead going into the bottom of the last inning.

The Demons loaded the bases with no outs but got only one run out of it. When Holguin, still pitching, coaxed a grounder, Hereford tried for a force at the plate. They couldn't get it, Bridge said, and Dumas scored. Holguin got another grounder, and this time they got the force at the plate. Then, the next batter hit a line drive at Holguin. He caught it and threw to first, completing the double play and the game.

The Maroon team's record stands at 10-6-2 going into its last game of the season. The team plays Caprock's JV Saturday following the varsity game at Whiteface Field. The varsity game, against Caprock, starts at 1 p.m. After that, the varsity has one more game: at Randall at 4:30 Tuesday.

The White JV, which is scheduled to play in Borger today, has its final game at 4:30 p.m. Monday at Whiteface Field. They take on Randall's JV.

Austin bound, indeed

Members of the Hereford High School girls' golf team hold a banner which a group of parents made to show support for the team. The girls finished second at Tuesday's Region 1-4A tournament, earning a trip to Austin May 10 and 11 for the state golf tournament. The team consists of, from left, Paula Britten, Stephanie Walls, Kelly Kelso, JoJo Lytal, Brook Weatherly, Cecelia Albracht, Janelle Stevenson and Dusty Saul. Wolcott leads Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - It's not that Bob Wolcott and Chris Perry don't like where they are at the Greater Greensboro Open. They're just thinking about where they could be.

Wolcott shot a 67 to start atop the leaderboard today. Perry and Mark O'Meara are tied for second place at 4-under-par 68. But for the two of them, being at or near the top has whet a long unsatisfied appetite.

"I've made nine cuts this year, which is more than I made my first year and about half of what I made last year," Wolcott said. "My trouble's kind of been putting four rounds together this year."

Specifically, Wolcott blames his poor performance on his iron play, but that aspect of his game was the highlight of his round. A 6-iron shot to within 60 feet of the hole on the opening hole led to a long birdie putt that set the stage Thursday.

Payne Stewart and Lanny Wadkins are in a crowd starting today at 69. In all, 100 players shot par or better on the Forest Oaks Country Club course, but defending champion Steve Elkington was not among them after his 1-over-par 73.

EMS tourney starts at 9 a.m.

The golf tournament benefiting Hereford Emergency Medical Services, which will be played Saturday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course, will start at 9 a.m., said Brent Warner, golf pro at Pitman.

The entry deadline for the four-man scramble passed last week.

Bulls gore Knicks, Jazz embarrass Suns

The New York Knicks appeared to corner the market on embarrassing losses. Until the Phoenix Suns took the court a few minutes later.

The Chicago Bulls, top-seeded in the Eastern Conference, outscored the eighth-seeded Knicks 61-26 after falling behind 10-4 in the first half, then handed New York a 126-85 defeat in their playoff opener Thursday night.

The Utah Jazz-Suns game, matching the fifth and fourth seeds in the West, was supposed to be closer, and it was - barely. But considering that the game was in Phoenix and the Suns were 55-27 in the regular season, Utah's 129-90 rout was a far bigger surprise.

In both games, it was the winner's most-lopsided playoff victory ever and the loser's worst postseason loss. The Bulls and Jazz both had enough points after three quarters to win the game. "It's a sad commentary," Phoenix coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said. "But let me make it very clear - it's just one game. Someone still needs to win three to win the series. I'm very confident our club will bounce back. I have no explanation on why we looked so poor."

The worst previous playoff loss in the Suns' 23-year NBA history was a 129-94 defeat to the Los Angeles Lakers on April 9, 1970. Utah's previous most-lopsided victory in the postseason was 108-80 over the Lakers on May 19, 1988.

Karl Malone scored 12 of his 27 points in Utah's 44-point third period, sealing the Jazz' fifth victory in 48 games at Phoenix.

Jeff Malone scored 21 points and John Stockton had 18 points and 15 assists for Utah, which built a 33-point third-quarter lead by outscoring the Suns 44-26 in the period.

Rookie Negele Knight paced Phoenix with 18 points. Kevin Johnson had 14, but only three in the second half.

Bulls 126, Knicks 85

Chicago got 28 points from Michael Jordan and 25 from Scottie Pippen while Patrick Ewing scored six points, his first game in 228 outings with less than double figures.

Kiki Vandeweghe led the Knicks with 19 points, 11 in the third quarter. Chicago led 65-36 at halftime after putting together spurts of 8-0, 9-0, 10-4, 9-0 and 14-2.

Lakers 94, Rockets 92

At Inglewood, Calif., Byron Scott hit a disputed jumper with 3 1/2 seconds remaining for Los Angeles against Houston.

Scott's jumper, which gave the Lakers a 93-90 lead, first was waved off by referee Jack Madden, who thought Scott didn't get the shot off until after the 24-second clock ran out. But, after conferring with the other officials, Madden changed his call and the basket counted.

Hakeem Olajuwon scored 22 points for the Rockets. Scott led the Lakers with 20.

Spurs 130, Warriors 121

San Antonio's backcourt of Willie Anderson and Rod Strickland had career highs while David Robinson had 30 points, 13 rebounds and eight blocked shots at home against Golden State.

The Spurs, with Anderson scoring 38 points and Strickland 30, led by as many as 19 points in the fourth quarter before the Warriors closed within six twice in the last four minutes. But consecutive dunks by Robinson in the final two minutes put the game out of reach.

Mitch Richmond and Chris Mullin led the Warriors with 29 points each, and Tim Hardaway had 19.

76ers 99, Bucks 90

Hersey Hawkins scored 25 points and Philadelphia used an 11-0 third-quarter run to win at Milwaukee.

The 76ers, who led by 12 at halftime and never trailed in the second half, got 19 points from Charles Barkley, playing with a big knee brace to protect a sprained ligament.

Frank Brickowski led the Bucks with 22 points, but had only six in the second half.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

It's strange how pollution reaches us in the most unexpected and frightening places. History teaches us that water is the key ingredient for survival in this part of the world, yet the protests at the death of Buffalo Lake in the '60s were barely audible. Is history repeating on the Canadian River?

Information on eating fish from Ute Lake is available from the Game and Fish Department, and it contains some frightening reading for all residents of this area. It describes how many fish may be caught and eaten before risking health problems such as kidney disease or eye, respiratory tract or brain damage due to mercury poisoning.

Brain damage is something I am definitely not willing to risk, so all my fish from Ute Lake can count on being released.

After spending several days on the phone with "experts," it is clear that officials in both Texas and New Mexico are surprised at the sudden high levels of mercury found in the fish. The impact of this 'warning' on the terrific people doing business near Ute Lake remains to be seen, but health warnings seldom improve business.

The quality of New Mexico water directly affects everyone down stream. Where does the water from Ute Lake go? Directly into the Canadian River, and after picking up a load of salt, it ends up in Lake Meredith and the drinking water of 14 West Texas communities. All government experts agree that no health risk from mercury in drinking water has been proven. Logic dictates that we keep a close eye on this situation.

Congratulations to brothers Larry and Dean Logan of north Randall County on their sweep of first and second place in the walleye category of the first 1991 Lake Meredith Fun Tournament. Melvin Kaylor of Borger may have lost the lake record for black bass last year, but he pocketed more than $500 by winning the tournament's bass category.

The fishing will get better as the water warms up. You are invited to try a Fun Tournament at Lake Meredith on the first and third Thursday evening each month. Fun Tournaments are scheduled at White River for the second Thursday evening of each month. Mark your calendar and we will see you on May 9 at the White River Marina. Registration begins at 3 p.m. and fishing goes from 6-9. All Fun Tournaments cost only $20, and if 100 anglers enter, the winner takes home $750.

The West Texas Sportsman Show in Lubbock May 10-12 will have Dr. Loren Hill of the Oklahoma University Research Station at Lake Texoma sharing some striper and bass secrets. He'll join former Dallas Cowboy Randy White, B.A.S.S. champion Ted Miller and trout expert Ti Piper as they reveal secrets of the great outdoors.

Cigarette consumption to decline in future

Americans will continue to cut down on their cigarette smoking over the next 10 years, the only question is by how much.

A Texas A&M consumer economist said the price of a pack of cigarettes may determine how deeply smokers cut back on their habit.

Dr. Thomas W. Blaine, an assistant professor in the university's department of recreation, park and tourism sciences, projects that average consumption will drop from 2,800 cigarettes per adult in 1990 to some 2,100 cigarettes in the year 2000.

Among smokers, now about 30 percent of the U.S. population, those consumption figures translate as some 9,300 cigarettes smoked annually, or almost nine packs per week. Blaine did not project what the percentage of smokers would be by 2000, but noted that it has dropped steadily since the early 1960s, from more than half of the adult population to its current level.

A specialist in leisure-related consumer spending and expert in international tobacco consumption, Blaine thinks either of two scenarios is most likely for consumption in the next decade: less smoking or drastically less smoking.

Only unexpectedly low prices, prices that increase at less than the expected inflation rate, will cause consumption to be stable or rise, he said.

"That's not very likely," Blaine said, adding that price will be the "wild card" in American cigarette use over the next decade.

If recent trends of six percent annual price rises continue, per capita consumption could fall below 1,000 cigarettes annually, and the United States would "be upon the verge of becoming a smokeless society," Blaine said.

However, those price increases have been caused primarily by greater state and federal excise taxes, and Blaine said continued rapid price rise was unlikely. Given the current climate of increases anti-smoking sentiment, he said, some price rise is probably, but not at the six percent rate.

That rate would make the per pack price $4 by 2000. If prices rose only at the expected annual inflation rate of our percent a year during that period, the price would be closer to $2.40 a pack, compared to $1.60 a pack in 1990.

Anti-smoking sentiment is likely to cause price increases slightly above the annual inflation rate, he predicted, and might lower consumption to the 2,000-cigarette annual per capita rate, but unless taxes continue to rise disproportionately, consumption will not fall dramatically.

Blaine said health concerns alone would cause a drop in per capita consumption of 39 percent, or 1,110 cigarettes per year, in the next decade.

He projected however, that this decline would be partially offset by two factors that would increase consumption. A two percent increase in average real income over the next decade would increase per capita consumption by 336 cigarettes.

He expected an increase in the peak smoking-age group of 35 to 44-year-olds, from 20.5 percent to 23.0 percent of the population, to cause an annual smoking increase of 100 cigarettes per person.

Taken together, the income demographic and health factors would cause a net consumption drop of 664 cigarettes, or 24 percent. That would leave per capita U.S. adult consumption at 2,136 cigarettes in 2000, an annual total of 440 billion cigarettes.

A fourth factor Blaine examined was the impact of filter tips and low-tar and low-nicotine products. He predicted no substantial impact on consumption because filter-tipped cigarettes, a major factor in consumption growth in the past, so dominate the market now that their impact has leveled off.

Low-tar and nicotine products have not succeeded in increasing consumption yet, he said.

Blaine noted that per capita consumption has declined by about three percent per year over the past three decades. He hypothesized that the decrease has continued because health risks of tobacco use, well-publicized for the entire period, have spawned legal mandates reducing smokers' right relative to those of non-smokers.

"I would have thought the rate of decline would ease up," he said. He added that he anticipates continued pressure by opponents of smoking to make it more difficult to smoke.

Per capita consumption hit a peak of some 4,200 cigarettes per adult in 1963, but then began its long decline. Some years did have slight overall consumption increases, especially when prices remained stable and income rose.

Relatively low cigarette prices makes consumption declines because of health concerns in those years, Blaine said.

However, because American tobacco and tobacco blends are internationally prized for their smoothness and flavor, recent trends toward open trading practice bode well for American producers, Blaine said.

Cigarette exports have risen sharply, from less than 65 billion cigarettes in 1986 to an estimated 160 billion in 1990, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"If American leaf and cigarettes are allowed to compete, they will be more popular than any other leaf or brand. They will dominate the market," said Blaine.

If regulatory conditions help increase international tobacco demand, Blaine said, farmers probably shouldn't suffer.

"I think the outlook for tobacco growers is very good, he said.

Caulking gives neat appearance

There is nothing like the charm of an older home. But, older homes need remodeling or upgrading.

One of the primary tasks is to insure all gaps and cracks are adequately sealed. A homeowner usually caulks some part of the home each year, employing a caulking gun and the tube that is time consuming, difficult to use and often messy. Recently, however, preformed caulking strips have gained popularity, saving time and eliminating the gooey mess.

A poor caulking job always is noticeable, and a messy appearance, especially in the bathroom, is not what a homeowner wants.

Many people believe that filling the joint between the bathtub and wall tiles with plaster or grout is easier than caulking. But the constant weight change from repeatedly filling and emptying the tub eventually splits a material that isn't waterproof and flexible.

When caulking, first prepare the surface according to directions on caulking tube. Then, cut caulk to required lengths. Beginning at one corner, peel back the protective liner, position caulk and press into place along the gap.

Russia is the world's largest oil producer, followed by the United States and Saudi Arabia.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been dating a man (I will call him Earl) for almost a year. He is 40 and has always lived with his mother.

Ten months before I met Earl, he and his mother bought a house. She does not work and depends on him for support. I have never met the woman nor have I been to their home, but she telephones me periodically for no good reason and gets extremely nasty. I have asked Earl to please tell her to stop bothering me, but he becomes defensive and says I am trying to drive a wedge between him and his mother. Believe me, Ann, that is not true.

Earl wants me to marry him. I know it would be difficult for him to contribute to two households because he never has any money as it is. Earl says he would like to move in with me but wouldn't be able to help much with the bills at first. He offered to look for a job that pays more. Earl admits that his mother bosses him around and he says he hates it, but claims it's too late to change that now.

I feel sad because I don't see any future with Earl until he realizes that he must get out from under his mother's thumb. Do you have any suggestions as to how I can help him so we can be happy together and make his mother happy, too? Or am

I fooling myself? -- Unsure in Newark

DEAR NEWARK: You don't say how old you are, if you've been married before, or why you would consider marrying this man who is so dependent on his mother. There is no hint of love in your letter. It's mostly about finances and Earl's domineering mother.

Unless you are really crazy about this man and are willing to put up with a lot of garbage, I'd say forget about Earl. Sorry to be so hard-boiled, but somehow your letter did not read like the greatest love story I've ever heard.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the woman who wrote about her panic attacks. Having suffered panic and anxiety attacks for years, I am very sympathetic.

There is a lot of information out there on this subject and I want to plead with her to educate herself. Relaxation techniques and breathing exercises alone helped me enormously. She CAN get over this hellish problem.

It bothers me that this woman hasn't told anyone, including her husband. I want to stress how important it is for recovery to verbalize your feelings and thoughts.

Half the battle was won when I could talk openly about my feelings to my husband and counselor.

I learned that people do not reject you when they find out you have an emotional problem. I'm not alone by a long shot. Most important, when I did start to feel panicky and anxious, my anxiety was intensified when I tried to hide it from my husband.

I know what a terrible burden it is to live life always afraid. I want people to know there is help but they must seek it. I feel like a different person now and want to share my good fortune with the world. The key words are seek help. -- Grass Valley, Calif.

DEAR G.V.: Thanks for saying it for me. There will be more on this subject soon. The important thing to remember is that you are not alone and you can be helped, but you must make the effort.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Hints from Heloise

Q. I noticed at the supermarket that there are several types of vinegar. Could you explain the uses of the different kinds? I thought vinegar was vinegar!
— Mavis, New Orleans, La.
A. Be glad to!
• The most common is white distilled vinegar. It's especially good for pickling and is frequently used for household cleaning.
• Wine and herb vinegars are used in salads, dressings and sauces.
• Apple cider vinegar can be used in cooking and pickling.
• For more uses for vinegar, order my pamphlet, Heloise's Versatile Vinegar Hints. Send $2 with a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, legal-sized envelope to: Heloise/Vinegar, P.O. Box

COOKIE DOUGH

Dear Heloise: I make my cookie dough in advance, roll it into cylinders, place in wax paper and freeze.

When I'm ready to use it, I simply slice the frozen cookies and bake according to the oven temperature and time written on the freezer bag. The fuss and mur's is already taken care of! — Terri Tessier, Norwich, Conn.

I wish I'd had a roll of those the last time I had a cookie attack in the middle of the night. — Heloise

DISH PANS

Dear Heloise: I use plastic dish pans (the rectangular ones) as drawers on bath and kitchen shelves. I clean old ones I would otherwise have thrown out and use them.

This has more than doubled my shelf capacity. I keep an inventory taped on the outside or you can print right on them (I hate to do this because I switch mine around).

I think they're wonderful. I have the seldom-used items in the pans up high all marked and tidy. They are easy to remove and clean too! — Mrs. L.G. Singleton, Dallas, Texas

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: I read your column in the paper when it's there and just wanted to say I have figured out a formula to keep your stove clean: Just don't use it! — Alberta Beaty, Salem, Ore.

ATLANTA (AP) — Former President Jimmy Carter says his Carter Center has named a fellowship program to help the Third World after Mickey Leland, the congressman who died on a humanitarian mission to Ethiopia in 1989.

Carter, who announced the fellowship Tuesday, said Leland had dedicated his life to trying to bridge the gap between the United States and the Third World.

"These particular fellowships ... will make a quantum leap into the future, in trying to bridge that gap," he said.

Leland, a Texas Democrat, was on his way to a famine relief camp in Ethiopia when his plane crashed. He had made the fight against world hunger one of his top legislative priorities.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

FOOD, SHELTER, AND CLOTHING—ALL FROM THE GOAT!

IN BIBLICAL TIMES, THE GOAT WAS PROBABLY THE MOST PRIZED ANIMAL OF ALL CATTLE, ESPECIALLY IN THE ROCKY HILLS OF JUDEA, WHERE VEGETATION WAS SCARCE—THE GOAT COULD THRIVE IN SPARSE AREAS LIKE THIS, WHERE OTHER ANIMALS WOULD FAIL! AS A VERY IMPORTANT ITEM IN THE PEOPLE'S ECONOMY, THE GOATS HAIR WAS SPUN INTO FABRICS FOR CLOTHING AND WOVEN INTO STURDY STRIPS TO MAKE TENTS IN WHICH THEY LIVED. THE DURABLE GOATSKIN MADE A FINE LEATHER. INDEED, THE FAMED LEATHER OF MOROCCO, TO THIS DAY, IS MADE FROM GOATSKIN! AND FOR FOOD—GOAT'S MILK, SOURED AND COOL, WAS ALWAYS THE KIND OF LUXURY ONE OFFERED TO HONORED GUESTS, IN FACT, IT STILL IS! MILKING A GOAT WAS ALWAYS DONE DIRECTLY FROM THE REAR AND THIS METHOD IS STILL USED IN ASIA, MINOR AND NORTH AFRICA TODAY.....

..... WHEN THE PATRIARCHS, SUCH AS ABRAHAM AND JACOB, SPOKE OF THE FATNESS OF THEIR HERDS, ALTHOUGH THEY ALSO HAD SHEEP, CAMELS AND ASSES, YOU CAN BE SURE THEIR HERDS NUMBERED MANY MORE GOATS THAN ANY OTHER ANIMAL!
