If you have a dog, especially one that you love almost as part of the family, it would be a good dea to keep him up. Last week W. L. Ayers' big gray dog was i, and Monday someone poisoned Corky, a screwtail bulldog belonging to Mrs. Florence McClellan. Mr. Ayers has offered a $10 reward to learn who poisoned his dog. Both owners are very much upset.

Corky ran and jumped toward Mrs. McLellan's lap, but never reached his goal. He died at her feet on the front porch. She says she wakes up at night and can still hear him turn over in his little box. Then with a pang of remorse remembers that he is gone.

F. M. Kester was this week extolling the prompt service which the sheriff's department gave him in apprehending a man who stole a watch from him. "Less than two hours," he said, "and they had

COMMENCEMENT MARK CLOSE OF SCHOOL TERM

Forty-six Seniors-26 girls and 20 boys will Friday night walk across the stage in the high school auditorium and receive diplomas. The annual commencement exercises are this year scheduled to begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock, and the public is invited to attend.

In marking the graduation of 46 young men and women, the exercises will also complete the 1936-37 school year. Seniors have been out of school for the past week, having taken their examinations earlier, and will Thursday night present their annual Class Night program. The Baccalaureate Sermon was delivered at the high school auditorium Sunday night, May 16, by Minister H. M. Redford.

Members of the senior class this year voted to fiold the Commencement exercises without an out-oftown speaker, and the program includes musical numbers, talks, and poems to be given by individual members of the class. The commencement program follows:

did the real work.

It was Warren Lovett, junior partner in the firm, who first had seen the unique opportunity that Dynamite Bay offered. Old Jasper Wellington, founder and head of the house, was getting slow to grasp new situations; Russell Parkes, who had gone in for diplomacy and had been minister at an European capital for several years, was out of touch with things and living in New York; and so it was Lovett, young and alert and brainy, who had planned the whole venture and had set the stage for his company to make a thunderous coup in the Canadian

One July morning Patricia Wellington, old Jasper's eldest daughter, unexpectedly appeared at the La Salle street headquarters of the firm. The previous midnight, while on the family yacht up near Mackinac, she had made a sudden bold decision; and in her impetuous way she had whipped back to Chicago by plane to carry out her

"Where the devil did you come from?" old Wellington demanded. "And don't you see we're busy "."

Her father's tone warned Patri cia that he was having a crabbed morning and that she had better broach her wish carefully. In a good many respects he was a tyrnnical old Roman with her and ber sister, Frances, and their mother, and he could say "No!" like a person driving a rivet.

Lovett got up courteously and came across the big room. Only thirty-three, nine years older than Patricia, he was a quiet pokerfaced man, handsome in a way, well groomed in a gray business suit. Outwardly he had nothing remarkable about him, except perhaps his poker face, to explain why it was that he, who had come to Wellington & Parkes twelve years ago as an obscure assistant attorney, now was a partner and a millionaire, climbing swiftly on to complete mastery of the powerful house.

In Patricia's affection for Warren there was little romance and no passion. A succession of heetic love affairs had made her cynical about the love relationship in general. But she did like Warren the most able man she had ever met. And all that is necessary to get motoring's. newest thrill is to lift your foot momentarily from the accelerator as your Chrysler reaches a speed of about 35 miles an hour. Chrysler automatic overdrive is actually an ingenious device that automatically changes the gear ratio in the transmission enabling the Chrysler to continue an attained speed with less power and fuel than was required to reach that speed. With Chryslers in overdrive the engine turns over onethird fewer times per mile . . . cylinders are filled with gas one-third fewer times. In a mile this amounts to a saving of nearly a thousand revolutions.

COMMENCEMENT DAYS

Friday night 46 students will be graduated from the Hereord High School. To the community in general, Commenceent Night marks the close of another school year; the comdention of a high school career for two score and ten youths. The community is looking forward to the event with enthus-

To those 46 boys and girls, the occasion should hold even greater significance. Each has passed a mile-stone in life. Unknowingly, they have also terminated one of the happiest and moce carefree periods of their lives. Talent displayed through plays, musical presentations, and other forms of public appearance is evidence that the graduates are thinkers—even more, they accomplish things.

Today most of them stand prepared to enter a new phase of life. They must either prepare to enter college, or plan to compete with the world in a struggle for existence, achievement and success. Located in a section and state served by meritorous colleges and universities, those who desire can work out some plan for continuing their education. Those who do not desire continued learning will naturally seek positions along lines of their chosen profession or vocation.

To the Graduates, Commencement means the end of eleven years of study, work and play. The occasion demands the support of the community; it furthermore presents every person in the community with a serious problem. Those who wish jobs, either for the summer months or permanent employment, probably lack in experience and understanding. At first their work may not come exactly up to par. They have to ington. compete with learning which comes only through experience. Furthermore, they will likely expect higher pay than they will

Times were different when most of the successful business men of today finished high school. Employees were then in constant demand. Today, employees are still in demand, provided they are not afraid to work and provided they can deliver the goods.

In a few short years more, many of the present graduating class will take their place in the business, social and professional world—and more of them, we hope, will remain in this section. We feel that they are our own. Therefore, every business man in Hereford and every producer in his territory should make a sincere effort to find a place in his organization for at least one of the graduates of 1937. It is our duty to encourage these boys and girls, and to help them on toward their goal.

Kick In Pants Due Local Jail Inmate

DECLARES HE WILL STEAL MORE

An unusual fellow, indeed, is this Charles Smith, guest of the county in the big boarding house In Canyon at Second Street and Schley Avenue. In fact, Mr. Smith, as he registers his name, has Sheriff J. O. Newell and Deputy Mike Baird scratching their heads.

Mr. Smith made his appearance in Hereford Saturday afternoon, when he got off the bus and carried a clock to F. M. Kester for repairs. Mr. Kester quickly noted that the stem had been pulled from the clock and set about repairing it. Some hours later he discovered that a $60 watch, left for repairs by C. C. Danforth, was missing. He then got busy and notified the sheriff.

records and fingerprints. The thing that worries local officers most, however, is that he claims to be a thief by profession. "Stealing is my business," he said. "While you have me locked up I won't get anything, of course, but as soon as I get out, I will steal a lot more things."

Smith said he made from $3.00 to $5.00 a day, and that he always got out of jail sooner or later. He even confided some of his obctions to his business.

"Them clerks give me a lot of trouble," he declared with a y always try to show me some-

JUNIOR BAND MOTHERS ENTERTAIN BAND

All the glamour of the circus was combined in decorations when Junior Band Mothers entertained members of the Central School Band and Orchestra with a banquet at the school cafeteria Friday night.

The affair was in the form of a musical jamboree, all decorations and appointments carried out the band's chosen colors of maroon and white. Flower decorations were red roses and white spirea. Red shaded lights furnished an appropriate atmosphere for a night carnival. The U shaped table was marked by a wide maroon path dotted with white musical notes, down which an array of animals paraded to the rhythmic beat of big bass drums in the hands of gay musical clowns. The clowns served as place cards and favors. The animals, much to the delight of the guests, had the appearance of wearing the junior band's own uniform as they sedately paraded the length of the table. Musical clowns decorated Miss Mary Virginia Eberle read, White, Baker Womble, Johnnie the programs, Jimmy Gammill,

JUNIOR BAY VIEW CLUB CLOSES SEASON'S ACTIVITIES

The country home of Mr. and

Mrs. Colhy Conkwright furnished an ideal background for the final meeting of the Junior Bay View club for this season, Saturday night. Spring blossoms decorated the house, and a western theme was featured in the appointments and decorations for the lovely dinner. Ranch scenes were depicted at quartet tables where the guests were seated. A picture story of the West was told on clever place cards while miniature burros marked each guest's place forming an appropriate and colorful pack train in authentic western style. A service of Fiesta pottery in harmonizing colors were used and the menu repeated the western theme. High score was won by Miss Rhita

Carrying out an annual class custom, members of the senior class of Hereford High School entertained members of the junior class at the football field Friday night. The affair was in the form of a Farmers Fair, and the boys came dressed as proverbial farmers, while the girls represented farmettes.

Scheduled first on the evening's program of entertainment were the soft ball games between the junior boys and senior girls, and the senior boys and junior girls. James Wilson was umpire but in the general mix-up and good time the score was lost and the outcome of the games undecided.

In the calf riding contest Gertrude Wilson won for the girls and R. C. Ashlock scored the victory for the boys. A double contest was featured when the girls threw rolling pins and the boys made a bare-footed dash of 50 yards, man. Nedra Clayton actually won the rolling pin event, but Bill Smith really got away faster than any of the girls could throw. We were suprised with the large number of subscriptions which we took in on Pioneer Day. It proved to us that many of you want The Brand, and just now cannot afford to pay the regular $1.50 subscription price. The cost of paper and other materials is rising rapidly, but so many people have told us that they forgot to subscribe due to the rush of Pioneer Day activities that we have decided to continue the offer until Saturday, June 12. If you like The Brand; if you like its news coverage; its policy of service, and its reliability for 37 years—then we invite you to subscribe.
