Voting lines thrown out by Justice Department

County accepts plat, bids

All bids for chemicals used along Deaf Smith County roadways were passed Monday since identical prices were quoted by three companies.

Other agenda items included insurance, a subdivision plan, courthouse space utilization, approval of grant proposals, employment of summer personnel and purchase of a pickup.

Commissioners' Court turned down the chemical bids from Terra International, Wilbur Ellis Company and Tri-State Chemical. Each asked $161 per gallon for Arsenal and $40.88 per gallon for Roundup.

Although increases in premiums for public officials liability and law enforcement insurance were reported, commissioners voted to renew the policies. Public officials liability will cost $6,682, an increase from $6,361, and law enforcement insurance rises from $18,583 to $20,655.

Approval of an 80-acre subdivision on the west side of Progressive Road, about a half-mile north of 15th Street was approved by commissioners.

The developer, represented by Charlie Bell, also must submit the plat to the City of Hereford which exercises extra-territorial rights within a specified distance of city limits.

The plat calls for sites of 2.5 acres in the development.

Feds protest fragmentation, lack of registered Hispanics

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

A plan for realignment of commissioner precinct boundaries in Deaf Smith County has been struck down by the U.S. Attorney General.

At issue is the percentage of Hispanic population in Precincts 1 and 4 in the plan submitted for new lines as required by law after the U.S. Census of 1990.

The Department of Justice action also calls into question the validity of primary elections held in March for representation in Precincts 1 and 3.

In that election, Commissioner John Stribling of Precinct 1 defeated Tony Castillo by a count of 329 to 288, and Troy Don Moore won over two other candidates, collecting 602 votes to Paul Hamilton's 224 and Roy Dale Messer's 95.

The notice from the federal government observed that Precinct 1, with a 60.5 percent Hispanic population, and Precinct 4, with 49 percent, would not have a registration majority of Hispanics, based on the county's registration data.

"It appears that the Hispanic population percentage in District 1 could have been increased (by several percentage points) to allow Hispanic voters the opportunity to elect a candidate of their choice in this district by reducing the fragmentation of the Hispanic population in north Hereford between Districts 1, 2, and 4," stated the notice from the Department of Justice.

Precinct 2, with an Hispanic majority of approximately 70 percent, and Precinct 3 which is 15 percent Hispanic, were not singled out for criticism.

However, the letter sent to the Austin law firm, Allison and Associates, which was hired by the county to prepare the plan, accuses the county of being "fully aware of the fragmentation occasioned by the proposed plan," and "failed adequately to justify its districting decisions in this regard."

Word of the denial arrived by fax from Bob Bass, attorney with the Austin firm, during the regular meeting Monday morning of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court.

A workshop on the county's next budget was interrupted and not resumed as commissioners studied the Justice Department letter before adjourning.

Later in the day, County Judge Tom Simons said that Bass will be in Hereford next week for a special meeting Tuesday at 9 a.m. Options for the county will be explored at that time, said Simons.

Apparently, though, the county may pursue any of three approaches to deal with the problem:

- Prepare a new plan, which could take an extended period.
- Seek relief through a declaratory judgment in the U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C., which has jurisdiction on voting issues.
- Meet with Justice Department authorities to determine if the objection to the plan can be reconsidered.

County officials have been advised that an objection to the plan was lodged some months ago, but the Justice Department has refused to release the name of the objecting individuals or groups.

The letter from Assistant Attorney General John R. Dunne stated that under the Voting Rights Act, "the submitting authority has the burden of showing that a submitted change has neither a discriminatory purpose nor a discriminatory effect."

Continuing, the letter says, "In light of the considerations discussed, I cannot conclude, as I must under the Voting Rights Act, that the county's burden has been sustained in this instance with respect to the commissioners court redistricting plan."

Location of voting boxes within the precincts was not addressed because "the realignment and renumbering... are directly related to the objected-to redistricting plan."

Suit filed by Gamez

A lawsuit, naming the Deaf Smith County judge and commissioners as defendants, was filed Tuesday in federal court challenging the legality of the March 10 primary elections.

Plaintiff in the suit filed in the U.S. District Court in Amarillo is listed as Trini Gamez, represented by San Antonio attorney Rolando L. Rios.

The suit claims that the election was invalid because the U.S. Justice Department has denied preclearance of the realignment of commissioner precincts in the county.

Word of the denial reached county officials Monday.

A press release announcing the lawsuit arrived Tuesday morning at the Brand office. County Judge Tom Simons learned about the lawsuit from the newspaper. He said he had not received any information.

"I'm real disappointed," said Simons, who had hoped the county would have time to try to work out the boundary problem.

In the Democratic primary elections on March 10, Commissioner John Stribling of Precinct 1 won a close count over an opponent Tony Castillo. Troy Don Moore, Precinct 3 incumbent, was the winner over two challengers, Paul Hamilton and Roy Dale Messer.

The lawsuit claims the effect of the Justice Department "decision is that the March 10 primaries are invalid."

The press release quotes Trini Gamez, "We want to make sure that the county complies with the law and that the rights of our community are protected. After all, what makes this country great is our democratic principles."

The release claims that the reapportionment plan "splits the minority community so that minorities could not elect officials of their choice. Minorities make up over 50 percent of the population in Deaf Smith County and two commissioner precincts for the minority community could have been easily drawn, but the commissioners refused to adopt such a plan."

The attorney who filed the lawsuit is in private practice and not associated with any organization, a spokesman in his office said.

Rios calls for the county to try to "work this out with us instead of spending lots of taxpayer money on protracted litigation."

In his news release, Rios said, "The law is quite clear, you cannot conduct elections under a reapportionment plan that has not been precleared."

Deaf Smith County officials learned only Monday that the U.S. Attorney General had denied preclearance on the plan. Since submission of the proposal last October, county officials and the Austin law office retained for the project have provided the Justice Department with additional materials on several occasions.

Drug raid protested

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A misunderstanding over a drug raid on April 7 led to a small group picketing the Deaf Smith County Courthouse on Monday.

The half-dozen picketers claimed officers used unfair and brutal tactics when they raided the home of Lorenzo Contreras. The home was raided by members of the Sheriff's Narcotics Attack Group (SNAG).

"An undercover officer bought a controlled substance at the home," said Sheriff Joe Brown. "We went about getting a search warrant after the buy was made." SNAG took the search warrant and raided the home, at 205 Ave. A, about 10:30 p.m. on April 7.

According to reports provided by the sheriff's office, three persons were at the home when it was raided: Contreras, 78; his wife; and a woman identified as Linda Contreras.

The SNAG group did not find drugs at the house, but did find drug paraphernalia. One of the protesters, in an interview played Monday on KPAN Radio, said that officers raided "the wrong house."

"That is wrong," Brown said. "No one from the radio station ever came to me for the other side of the story."

Brown said he had no problems with the raid.

"There were no problems other than we didn't find any stuff," Brown said.

The warrant was the 13th executed by SNAG. The force was formed about nine months ago when the sheriff's department was approved for a grant. The grant pays for a full-time narcotics officer. The officer still works undercover on cases in the county and was wearing a balaclava during the raid to conceal his identity.

"I have to do that to protect myself and what we're doing," said the officer. "I would bet that if I walked out there right now, those people would not recognize me." A few minutes later, the man did walk by the protesters; there was no evidence of recognition by the protesters as they circled the courthouse.

"Unmask Justice" read one of the signs carried by the protesters. Joe Garza, who videotaped the protesters, said the Contreras family was "intimidated" by the mask. Garza also said several of the officers who raided the house wore masks; officers involved in the raid said the narcotics officer was the only person wearing a mask.

The picketers were adamant in claiming that excessive force was used in the raid.

"They broke down the storm door and the inside door," said Trini Gamez, one of the picketers. "These people were asleep in bed. It was 10 o'clock at night. I think they used excessive force. I believe in law and order, but not in the abuse of power."

The narcotics officer said that officers on a drug raid do not knock or otherwise tell of their presence.

"If we knocked and hollered, 'Police,' that would give someone a chance to flush the drugs down the toilet," the officer said.

The officer said Mr. Contreras became belligerent and was handcuffed. He began displaying symptoms of a heart attack and officers released the handcuffs, according to persons taking part in the raid. When the handcuffs were removed, Mr. Contreras is alleged to have struck Deputy Jerry D. Hodges in the face. Hodges had a black eye on Monday.

Hodges said officers called on Hereford Emergency Medical Service to give the man medical attention. Hodges said the man refused to sign a consent form for treatment and refused to be taken to the hospital.

After circling the courthouse for an hour Monday, the protesters went to Brown's office. Gamez said she was still concerned that power may have been abused.

"This is the way things are done in the big city, not in Hereford," she said. "We want justice, but we don't want undue intimidation. I know it is more than four years until the next election, but maybe we can have someone to run as a candidate next time to take care of things like this."

Services held for Sears, 54

James Henry (Jim) Sears, 54, past president of First National Bank of Hereford and a four-term mayor of the city, died Sunday at Deaf Smith General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Memorial services were to be held at 2:30 p.m. today in First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Joe Wood, pastor, officiating. Private interment was to be conducted by Rix Funeral Directors.

Mr. Sears was born in Monahans on March 8, 1938. He moved to Hereford with his parents, the late Henry and Sara Sears, the next year. Henry had purchased the Case dealership, then founded Sears Grain Co. in 1941. He later sold the grain business and purchased controlling interest in the First National Bank. Henry, who died in 1971, was cited as Man of the Decade in 1970 for his contributions to Hereford's growth.

Jim served in the U.S. Army and was president of First National Bank from 1970 to 1987, when he retired. He served four terms as mayor of the City of Hereford, from 1969 to 1978. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his stepmother, Ruby Kendrick Sears of Canyon; one brother, Wheeler M. Sears of Dallas; and one sister, Helen Burton of Sea Brook.

The family suggests memorials to the Deaf Smith County Historical Society or a favorite charity.

Regional spelling bee runnerup

Bao Nguyen, 13, of Hereford finished second in the Region Spelling Bee at West Texas State University Saturday. Bao stands beside the 32-volume set of the New Encyclopedia Britannica which he was awarded. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Day Nguyen, owners and operators of Hunan Chinese Restaurant.

Nguyen second at regional bee

Bao Nguyen, an 8th grader at Hereford Junior High, captured runnerup honors at the Regional Spelling Bee held Saturday at West Texas State University. It was one of the highest finishes ever for a Deaf Smith County bee champion.

David Urban won the bee and a trip to the National Bee in Washington, D.C. by correctly spelling "pleurisy," which Bao missed, and then spelled "tallowly" to take the title. Urban, representing Potter County, is a sixth grader at Crockett Middle School. He placed second last year.

Bao, 13, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Day Nguyen of 106 Northwest Drive. The Nguyens own and operate Hunan Restaurant.

Thirty-two county champs started the contest and the bee lasted for more than 60 rounds. Bao and David went 42 rounds against each other. Beside the airfare to Washington, provided by American Airlines, Urban receives travel expenses from the Amarillo Globe-News, as well as a plaque, an engraved copy of the 1992 World Almanac, a watch and his name engraved on a traveling trophy which will hang at his school.

Nguyen received a 32-volume set of the New Encyclopedia Britannica. Each county champ also received a bee medallion and a dictionary. Special prizes went to the top eight finalists.

Michael Bell of Castro County was third, followed by Jessica Higdon of Moore County, Julia Pickering of Hall County, Byron Slaton of Carson County, and Myranda Cole of Sherman County.

The region bee is sponsored by The Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University. The county competition is sponsored by The Hereford Brand, while other businesses participate in the awarding of prizes.

TEA meeting is Wednesday night

An accreditation team from the Texas Education Agency will be working on a pilot project in Hereford this week.

The team will hold a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium. The hearing will be an opportunity for the public to learn about the new accreditation process planned by TEA, and to give input about student performance.

During the week, the team will focus on student performance and planning at the campus and district levels. The accreditation team will not make any specific official findings, but will help the district with its site-based management plan and other new campus programs.

Sheriff not sponsoring drug book

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Joe Brown said his office is not currently sponsoring any type of drug prevention magazine or brochure. Brown said today at least two businesses in Hereford have been approached about sponsorship of a drug prevention magazine. The magazine was represented as being sponsored by Brown and his office.

"If anyone is approached about sponsoring something like this, they should contact our office," said Brown.

Procrastination appears in tales related at income tax filing time

WASHINGTON (AP) - April 15, 1991, 6 p.m., six hours to deadline. It was a good time to file tax returns for the last eight years.

Or so the woman said when she walked into a tax-preparation service with eight years of check stubs and receipts.

"She said the IRS was breathing down her neck like a dragon," recalled Betty Hackworth, who manages a Jackson Hewitt Tax Service office in Virginia Beach, Va. "It took four tax preparers the rest of the night, but we got the returns in the mail before midnight."

Then there was the guy who pedaled his bicycle up to the tax office a half-hour before the filing deadline, looking for a quick refund. "We couldn't help because he didn't have any money and he didn't qualify for a refund loan," Ms. Hackworth said.

Such procrastinators will have lots of company trying to beat this year's Wednesday midnight filing deadline. As many as 20 million have waited to the last minute to file, and thousands of professional tax-preparation shops and Internal Revenue Service offices are likely to get a little hectic about sundown.

Five million taxpayers are expected to extend the procrastination - mailing a Form 4868 and getting until Aug. 17 to file. But they will have to estimate how much tax they owe and send a check with Form 4868.

Stiff penalties await those who owe the IRS and fail to file by the deadline.

But lost in the fuss every year is the simple fact that there is no late-filing penalty for those due refunds. That means 80 percent of taxpayers could wait weeks to file and lose nothing but the use of their refunds.

As April 15 nears every year, "There's always panic," said Donna Halligan, boss of seven Jackson Hewitt offices in Syracuse, N.Y. "They expect us to pull off miracles at the last minute."

"We've seen a little bit of everything," added Harry Buckley, president of tax operations at H&R Block, Inc., headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. "We've had spouses fighting, people crying, people afraid the IRS is going to take their house tomorrow because they can't pay." Tax professionals say this year has been different in two ways:

-Many people are filing new W-4 forms to keep withholding at 1991 levels so they will get big refunds a year from now. Otherwise, withholding for most will drop as part of President Bush's efforts to stimulate the economy.

"They know the government is not paying them interest on their money, but they like the idea of getting a refund they can use for a vacation or a big purchase," says Ray Hite, who manages H&R Block offices in the Washington, D.C. area. "Five or 10 bucks a week is not going to do anything for them."

"The sluggish economy caused more people to file returns early - in January and February - in order to get their refunds."

For its part, the government seems considerably more interested this year in accommodating those who are willing to pay but are short on cash.

"Taxpayers who are unable to pay the tax on returns they file often attach notes suggesting a payment schedule," IRS Commissioner Shirley D. Peterson told Congress recently. "We are giving this correspondence priority processing and entering into installment agreements if appropriate before the accounts are assessed."

Sharp: agencies must cut spending

AUSTIN (AP) - Too few state government agencies are trying to make spending reductions required for next year's budget, Comptroller John Sharp says.

But for agencies that think they can escape, Sharp had a simple warning Monday: "They (cuts) are going to have to happen. They're going to have to happen to balance the budget."

Sharp reported that only about half the agencies have submitted required plans to trim spending by $300 million - and those cuts total only about $25 million.

"As of today, the response from state agencies with the exception of very few has been rather pitiful," he said.

The full reduction amounts to just 1 percent of the $30.1 billion in total state spending for 1993. But Sharp said too many agencies aren't even trying.

"Some agencies are viewing this as a crisis when they ought to be looking at it as an opportunity" to become more efficient, Sharp said.

In writing the budget, the Legislature included a provision requiring the agencies to trim about $300 million as they see fit or have the comptroller make across-the-board cuts for them. Much of the total spending - including employee benefits, mental health, welfare services, higher education and building leases - was declared off limits to cuts.

And Sharp said his office has made two recommendations - cutting spending on equipment leases and bonded debt - that could save about $115 million.

Still, he said, only 91 of 180 agencies have made any effort to write spending cut plans. Total savings from those is about $25 million, and 53 percent of that came from just two departments: the comptroller's office and the criminal justice system.

Sharp and Deputy Comptroller Billy Hamilton said the agencies were supposed to have submitted budget cutting plans by Dec. 1. If voluntary cuts aren't made, the across-the-board cuts will be implemented, Sharp said.

"There have been some smaller agencies that have met their quotas," he said.

The comptroller said he has heard reports that some agencies may try to eliminate vital services, hoping to spark public complaints to lawmakers and reverse the cuts.

TEA grant provides student calculators

Hereford Junior High School will provide calculators to all eighth graders this week as part of a program by Texas Education Agency and Texas Instruments.

Hereford Independent School District applied for a TEA grant for the calculators, which will be checked out by students as a textbook. The students will be given training on how to use the Texas Instruments Math Explorer calculators. The calculators must be returned at the end of each school year, and will be used by HISD for five years.

Calculators will be used at the teacher's discretion in classes and may be used at home.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor,

Forty students from Hereford Junior High participated in the UIL Academic Meet at Valleyview Junior High School on April 11.

The students represented Hereford well, not only in their academic skills but also in their actions and behavior. As teachers who sponsored the group, we would like the community to know how proud we are to be part of Hereford Junior High.

Dear Editor:

A great big "Sincere Thanks" to Hereford citizens from the Deaf

Smith unit of the American Cancer Society for your generous and wonderful response to the Walk-A-Block Residential Crusade held Sunday.

The group leaders, volunteer walkers, contributors, and news media are sincerely appreciated. With everyone's team effort, the 1992 crusade was successful in furthering the mission of the American Cancer Society dedicated to controlling cancer through research, education and service.

With appreciation to each participant, we thank you!

Hereford Board, American Cancer Society

Recycling discussed at meeting

Jo Lee presented a program on the importance of recycling and its impact on the environment when members of Cultural Extension Homemakers Club met April 10 at Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Edith Hunter voiced a prayer and Naomi Hare led the pledges to the flags. Vernis Parsons read the opening exercise entitled "The Basic Food Groups." Roll call was answered with "what I recycle the most."

During the business session with Jewel Hargrave presiding, the financial report was given by Edna Marnell who also read correspondence. A report on exhibits at the district meeting was given by Perry Keyes and Hargrave.

Members of the telephone committee announced that club members had been contacted before the meeting. It was also announced that Evelyn Crawford will make the birthday cake for residents of Golden Plains Care Center. Members of the club will serve as hosts for the party.

A committee was appointed to plan a party for Winnie Wiseman who is moving to Amarillo. Those serving on the committee are Wilma Goettsch, Virginia Sumner and Marnell.

Sumner gave a report on the Gandys and Hargrave reported on George Pope.

Members present were Marnell, Parsons, S.T. Walton, Keyes, Hargrave, Goettsch, Hare and Sumner. Guests were Connie Channer and Jo Lee.

Planning Little Miss Pageant

All young girls planning to enter the annual Little Miss Hereford Pageant must have entry forms turned in to the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main St., by 5 p.m. Friday. The pageant is planned Saturday, April 25, at the Hereford High School auditorium. Planning the event, which is sponsored by the Women's Division, are, from left, Kim Rogers, Charlotte Collier and Emily Christie. This year's pageant co-chairmen are Rogers and Jan Page.

Deadline Friday to signup for Little Miss

"Spring Fever" is the theme for the 1992 Little Miss Hereford Pageant scheduled Saturday, March 25, in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Girls wishing to signup for the event, which is sponsored by the Women's Division, may obtain entry forms from the Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main St. Registration fee is $5 per contestant. The forms must be turned in at the Chamber office by 5 p.m. Friday, April 17.

The pageant, which is being co-chaired by Jan Page and Kim Rogers, is open to all girls from ages four through ninth grade. Other committee members include Jackie Murphey, Janice Carr, Sue Malamen, Leslie Easley, Charlotte Collier, Emily Christie and Peggie Fox.

The pageant is divided into four divisions: Cutest Miss, preschool and kindergarten; Miss Petite, first through third grades; Little Princess, fourth through sixth grades; and Miss Junior High, seventh through ninth grades.

Due to the increasing number of pageant contestants, the event will be staged in two parts. All Cutest Miss division contestants will be presented at 5 p.m. April 25 and the remaining division contestants will compete beginning at 7 p.m.

Tickets to the event are priced at $2 per person and may be purchased at the door the night of the pageant.

Pageant rehearsals will be held Friday, April 24, at the HHS auditorium. All contestants must be present unless they have a written excuse from a doctor. Rules and regulations, including rehearsal times, are attached to entry forms.

New arrivals

Doug and Marlene Carberry are the parents of a daughter, Alexandra Page, born Feb. 28 in Harris Methodist Hospital in Fort Worth. She weighed 8 lbs. 2 oz.

Grandparents are Leroy and Rose Carlton of Hereford and Gail and Marilyn Carberry of Council Bluff, Iowa.

J. Frank Duryea won the first auto race in 1895 with an average speed of 7.5 mph.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old daughter told us she was spending the night of the Valentine Ball at her girlfriend's house, but we have since learned she and two of her girlfriends spent the night with three boys at a motel. I was disappointed but not surprised.

I have read that producers of prime-time TV have chosen to portray their teen-age role models as having sex when they turn 18. One show featured a high school girl losing her virginity on prom night. No wonder one of my daughter's friends said, "What do you think prom night is for, anyway?"

The message our kids get from TV is that teens feel there is something wrong with them if they haven't had sex by the time they're 18. What if the producers decide next year that sex at 16 is OK? Maybe the next year it will be 12.

I'm tired of television being a co-conspirator in lowering the code of ethics in this country.

When my kids were little, I didn't like the violence on cartoons so I made sure they had more worthwhile things to do on Saturday mornings. Most kids did watch that stuff, and I'm sure it is no coincidence that drive-by shootings are nothing unusual these days.

The only suggestion I've ever seen for influencing TV programming is to write the shows' sponsors. But few parents have the time to monitor all the shows on TV, even if they could stand the steady diet of garbage. Is there any way to get a list of offending shows and their sponsors, so parents who care can make their feelings known?—Fighting Mad in Iowa.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Eric Douglas, the 33-year-old son of actor Kirk Douglas, drew five days in jail and an $810 fine for allegedly kicking a police officer.

Douglas, who pleaded no contest to resisting arrest, was sentenced Monday.

The officer had been called to stop an argument between Douglas and his former attorney in August. The officer wasn't seriously hurt.

In December, Douglas was ordered to perform community service at a women's shelter after he pleaded no contest to assaulting two women.

DEAR IOWA: Action for Children's Television and the National Coalition Against TV Violence used to have such a list, but it no longer exists. The suggestion you mention is still the best: Parents who wish to register complaints about the TV-fare that is offered should write to the producers and sponsors of the shows they find offensive.

What can be seen on daytime TV is embarrassingly provocative these days, and the stuff on at night is shocking. Your best bet is Public Broadcasting. It's clean, educational and constructive.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently we went to our granddaughter's wedding. After the dinner, the guests took turns dancing with the bride and groom. While they danced, each guest slipped money into the groom's coat pocket or shoved some bills down the front of the bride's dress.

My husband and I watched with astonishment but we said nothing, as good grandparents should. I hadn't thought much more about this vulgar spectacle until I saw one of those reality-based courtroom TV shows. A pair of newlyweds sued a caterer for ruining their reception by removing the food too soon, which caused the guests to leave prematurely. The couple filed the suit because the early departure of the guests, they said, deprived them of some serious loot.

The newlyweds on TV attempted to justify their disappointment by bemoaning the loss of a "tradition." What tradition? Whose tradition? In a pig's eye! Does a mountain of beautiful gifts no longer suffice? Is this yet another manifestation of the unabashed, shameless greed that seems endemic with the current generation? Or am I—Really Out Of It In Little Rock

DEAR LITTLE ROCK: There are a variety of ethnic customs involving collecting money at weddings. It has to do with tradition, not greed. If the guests want to do this, I see no reason to object.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Reeh picked as girls' AD

Brenda Reeh, the head volleyball coach at Hereford High School for the past seven seasons, was announced Monday as the new girls' athletic director for the Hereford Independent School District.

Reeh will continue as volleyball coach, where she has had success. She has taken the team to the regional finals in each of the last two seasons. She will continue teaching at Hereford Junior High through the end of the school year, and will not teach next year.

Reeh will work under a 12-month contract, HISD Superintendent Charles Greenawalt said at a press conference Monday. No salary had been discussed, Greenawalt said, adding that the decision was made late Sunday.

Reeh will be in charge of all girls' sports on the high school and junior high level, with power extending to boys' and girls' tennis and cross country.

"She'll be doing everything Danny Haney does, except with girls," Greenawalt said.

Among Reeh's first duties will be to hire a girls' basketball coach to replace Dickie Faught, who resigned March 23. Other than hiring a new coach, Reeh didn't expect to make any major moves.

"I don't foresee any changes," she said. "We've got a relatively strong reputation in the girls' sports. We've got quality coaches."

Herd miscues, Harvester homer launch 12-8 loss

Hereford opened its game in Pampa with three fielding errors, then the Harvesters really starting hitting the ball.

Pampa put three of its first four batters on base thanks to Herd errors. Herd starting pitcher Sammy Casarez then gave up an RBI single, followed by a two-run home run by Brad Smillie. Greg Moore then tripled, but was stranded when Casarez whiffed the ninth batter of the inning.

The five-run first inning led to a 12-8 win for the Harvesters, their first in district play after two losses. Hereford is now 1-2 in district and 4-13-2 overall.

"We were a little shaky defensively, and it hurt us in both of their big innings," Herd coach T.R. Sartor said. "We had our chances to win it, but when they scored those five runs (in the fifth inning) it took the wind out of our sails."

The opening errors in the first and in the five-run fifth meant that only one of the ten runs Casarez allowed was earned. He gave up eight hits in four and two-thirds innings, striking out two and walking one.

Hereford opened with a run in the top of the first. Rene Cano singled and went to second when the left fielder bobbled the ball. After two fly-outs to right field, Hereford caught a break when Jake Head reached on the Pampa shortstop's error, and Cano scored on the play.

Hereford kept the scoring up with four in the second. Kyle Hansen started it with walk, and Fonzie Enriquez, Michael Campos and Cano followed with singles, the last two of which drove in runs. Head drove home Chris Brummett, who ran for Campos, and Russ Watts singled to bring home Cano. That tied the game at 5-5.

Hereford gave up a single run in the fourth on a single and a double, then in the fifth they virtually repeated the first inning, without the homer. Two Harvesters reached on errors wrapped around a single, and Pampa followed that start with a couple of walks and a two-run single. That gave Pampa an 11-5 lead and they added one in the sixth.

Hereford rallied for three in the sixth. Campos reached on an error by the left fielder, then with two outs, Ruben Ramos reached on an error by the shortstop. Head walked, then Watts nailed a two-run double. Andy Kalka followed with a single that plated Head, but Watts was thrown out at the plate.

Watts went 3-for-4 with three RBI. Cano and Campos both were 2-for-4 with an RBI. Cano scored twice, while Brummett scored twice as a courtesy runner for Campos.

Hereford hosts Caprock today at 4:30 p.m. at Whiteface Field.

In other action Saturday, Hereford's junior varsity beat Pampa's JV 7-6 as the second game of a double-header in Pampa. Hereford took the lead with three runs in the top of the seventh and hung on as Pampa scored once in the bottom of the inning.

Hereford's freshman team played a double-header in Amarillo with the Amarillo High freshmen. They lost the first game 11-1, and the second game 19-2, giving up 11 runs in the fourth inning of the second game.

"Up and down the line on the Amarillo High team there wasn't a kid who couldn't hit the ball," Hereford coach Curtis Cotten said.

Frank Crosetti set a record by playing 17 straight years on Yankee teams that had winning percentages.

Robin Yount is the club leader on the Milwaukee Brewers in singles, doubles, triples and homers.

Girls' track team 2nd at XIT Relays

Hereford's girls' track team tuned up for district with a second-place finish in the XIT Relays Saturday in Dalhart.

"As a team, we competed well," Coach Martha Emerson said. "There is always room for improvement, and we want more improvement at district. We don't have much workout time this week because the district meet will be Thursday and Friday at Randall. Monday and Tuesday will be very busy days for us."

They'll be especially busy for hurdler Jeannie Barrientez, who is coming back from a foot injury in time to run at district. Emerson not only expects Barrientez to be back, but to be back in shape to challenge in both hurdle races.

"Jeannie'll challenge. There's no doubt about it. She's been there before and she knows what it takes," Emerson said.

Hereford earned 101 points at the XIT, second only to Borger's 135. Stratford was third with 94, followed by Dalhart with 82; Spearman, 58; Sanford-Fritch, 51; West Texas High, 39; River Road, 15; Dumas, 10; and Sunray, 4.

Hereford got first-place finishes from Brandy Dunn in the long jump and Shantel Cornelius in the high jump. Cornelius went 5-2, and Dunn's jump was 15-11 1/4. Dunn's triple jump was 31-11 1/2, good for sixth.

Minerva Salazar was second in the 400 run with a personal-best 62.22--of several personal bests for Lady Whitefaces in the meet. Another personal best was turned in by Ricka Williams in the 3,200 run: 12:40.66. Williams also was third in the 1,600 with a 6:04.27.

April Roddy was second in the discus with a personal-best throw of 113-1/2, and Cornelius was third at an even 107. Cornelius was third in shot with a put of 36-4, and Roddy was fourth at 36-1. Both puts were personal bests.

Krista West recorded a personal-best 27.45 in the 200-meter dash, good for third. Angie Jowell's 50.17 in the 300 hurdles for fourth place was also a personal best. Jowell also got fourth in the long jump with a leap of 15-1 1/2.

The 1,600 relay team of Jowell, Salazar, Laura Rangel and Beth Weatherly was third in 4:26.72. The 400 team of Jowell, Salazar, West and Rangel was fourth in 53.25.

The junior varsity team took the week off.

Boys' track team 3rd without Brown

The Hereford boys' track team showed it could compete pretty well without its best performer Saturday at the Bulldog Relay in Plainview.

The team finished third despite the fact that Leo Brown was taking the ACT test Saturday and was only able to compete in two relay races. Brown may have been worth as many as 30 points in the 110-meter high hurdles, the long jump and the triple jump. Cody High, who was also taking the test, probably would have earned points.

"We did pretty good considering we didn't have those two," Coach Ron Young said. "We improved on all our times and throws--which is why we went there. We're primed and ready for the district meet."

The District 1-4A meet is Thursday and Friday at Randall High School.

Amarillo High easily won the meet with 199 points. Plainview was second with 122, followed by Hereford with 73; Clovis, N.M., 67;

Randall, 63; and Palo Duro, 26.

Brown and High helped both the 400- and 1,600-meter relay teams to second place finishes. The duo joined with Shawn Fogo and Petey Colvin to run the 400 in 42.84 seconds. Brown, High, Fogo and Michael Ramirez ran the 1,600 in 3:26.59.

Colvin and Fogo came in 1-2 in the 200-meter dash; Colvin in 22.06 and Fogo in 22.42. Colvin was third in the 100 in 10.89.

The throwers got some points, too. Stephen Blea was third in the shot with a put of 52-5 3/4, and Monroe Timberlake was fourth in the discus with a toss of 138-10.

In the 800 run, Ramirez was fourth with a time of 2:05.11, and Dale Walker was sixth in 2:09.32. Walker also placed sixth in the 1,600 run in 4:56.08.

Finally, Mark Kuper finished fifth in the 110 hurdles with a time of 16.10.

The junior varsity team came in fourth with 55 points. The JV trailed Plainview with 144 points, Amarillo High with 140 and Palo Duro with 110. Clovis with 53 and Randall with 29 brought up the rear.

The JV 1,600 relay team of Chad Carlile, Nathan Betzen, Leonard Martinez and Michael Brown finished second in 3:44.23.

Brown was second in the triple jump with an effort of 37-11. Richard Hicks was second in the high jump at 5-6.

Carlile finished third in the 400 run in 54.86. Also third was Ben Celaya with a discus throw of 115 feet. Ramiro Garza was sixth in the shot with a 39-7.

In the 300 hurdles, Lupe Mendez was fifth in 46.08, and Betzen was sixth in 46.29. Mendez added a sixth-place finish in the 110 hurdles in 18.83.

The 400 relay team was fifth. Mendez, Carlile, Martinez and Michael Brown ran it in 46.81.

Golfing girls third in Amarillo Relays

Amarillo High dominated the Amarillo Relays girls' golf tournament, but District 1-4A's top three led the rest of the field.

Hereford finished third, between district rivals Borger and Pampa. Hereford shot a 370 Saturday at Ross Rogers Golf Course to go with its 376 on Friday, for a total of 746. Borger, second after the first day with a 368, shot a 376 Saturday to total 744 and almost give up second to Hereford. Pampa took fourth with a 383-374--757.

Amarillo High went 323-349--672 to make the 1-4A teams battle for second place. In fifth was Plainview, which shot 390 both days for a 780 total. Tascosa was a distant sixth at 447-469--916.

Hereford's Paula Britten finished third in medalist competition, shooting an 83 Saturday to pass Borger's Rebecca Holcomb and three AHS girls. The 83 gave her a total of 173, behind only AHS' Aimee Maurer at 160 and AHS' Courtney Shankle at 170.

Both the girls' and boys' team will wrap up their district rounds Saturday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford.

Below are the girls' scores for the weekend:
Paula Britten: 90-83--173
Jennifer Prater: 93-92--185
Cecelia Albracht: 99-94--193
Kelly Kelso: 95-100--195
Dusty Saul: 99-100--199

Herd tennis 5th in top division of Amarillo Relays

The Hereford team finished fifth in the competitive Gold Division of the Amarillo Relays Tennis Tournament.

Hereford was fifth, but was within a few points of third. Hereford had 68 points and was behind a tight bunch in places 2-4. Winner Tascosa was way ahead with 102 points, but Amarillo High with 79, Borger with 78 and with Canyon with 73 were all within reach.

"That was as strong competition as we've had all season," assistant Rex Burke said. "Anytime you get in with Tascosa and Amarillo High, it's tough."

With the district tournament coming up Thursday and Friday in Borger, Hereford needed the competition. District 1-4A rival Borger finished just ahead of Hereford.

Pampa opted for the less competitive Silver Division and came in second to Coronado's junior varsity. Randall was eighth in that division. Caprock won the Bronze Division, while Dumas finished sixth.

Hereford's top players got third in boys' and girls' doubles and fourth in boys' and girls' singles. Torey

Sellers and Jamie Kapka lost a boys' doubles tournament match for the first time this year when they fell to Coby Hyman and Chris Miller of Amarillo High. Hyman and Miller went on to lose in the finals to Canyon brothers Satyen and Preteah Patel.

In girls' doubles, Bri Reinauer and Robyn Sublett fell to Tascosa's Wilson Pate and Katharine O'Brien in the third round. Pate and O'Brien ended up winning girls' doubles.

Bobby Perales won two matches in boys' singles before falling to Tascosa freshman Jave Jush. Rush lost to Borger's Barry Thrutchley in the finals.

Teresa Baker lost in the third round to eventual champ Justine Baker of Amarillo High.

Hereford did find glory in the open division. Kara Sandoval and Gabriela Gamez met in the finals of the very large girls' singles open bracket. It included 52 girls—mostly junior varsity—and Sandoval and Gamez each had to beat five opponents before facing each other.

Sandoval won the all-Hereford finals, 6-1, 6-2. She lost only 13 games in her six matches.

Melissa Berend and Brooke Weishaar finished third in the open girls' doubles, but no scores were available.

Below are match-by-match results for each Hereford tennis player, starting with the open bracket finalists' paths.

HJH netters kill Friona

The Hereford Junior High tennis pulled off a near sweep of Friona Junior High Monday at Whiteface Courts.

Hereford won 22 of the 25 matches, including all 14 boys' matches. All matches were completed in pro sets.

Friona's Julie Goddard accounted for two of Friona's victories, beating Julie Cole 8-0 and Kari Barrett 8-3. Friona's Alicia Baker and Amber Martin teamed to edge Rachel Bezner and Lauren Caviness 8-6 in the closest girls match of the day.

The rest were wins for Hereford: Girls' singles: Barrett def. Chrissy Medrano, 8-3; Shawna Lindsey def. Heather Martin, 8-1; Annie Hoffman def. Diandra Layfuentec, 8-5; Jennifer Jones def. Blaire Jones, 8-0; Jennifer Jones def. Jenny Hamilton, 8-2; and Lindsey def. Layfuentec, 8-1.

Girls' doubles: Paige Robbins/Natalie McWhorter def. Hamilton/Katie Weather, 8-0; Hoffman/Jones def. Amy Renner/Abbey Johnson, 8-0; and Bezner/Caviness def. Jenny Aharhair/Kim Collier, 8-0.

Jazz humble about thrashing Warriors

By The Associated Press

The Utah Jazz and Karl Malone were careful not to say anything inflammatory after dominating the Golden State Warriors again.

The Jazz routed the Warriors 138-99 Monday night, the third time this season that Utah beat Golden State by more than 20 points. Malone had 42 points and 12 rebounds, giving him an average of 37.8 points and 11.5 rebounds in four games between the two teams this season.

"I'm not going to say they can't stop me. In this business, it's a matter of getting on a roll," Malone said. "If we meet them in the playoffs, it's going to be a war."

Utah coach Jerry Sloan was just as conciliatory to the Warriors.

"They are a good team," Sloan said. "They shot 36 percent and they aren't going to do that again."

For the game, Utah hit 52 percent from the floor to Golden State's 36 percent. The Jazz also outrebounded the Warriors 56-41.

The two teams are likely to meet in the second round of the Western Conference playoffs, with the homecourt advantage going to the team with the best record. The victory by the Jazz gave both teams a 52-27 record, with Utah's 3-1 advantage in the season series giving it a tiebreaker edge.

Blue Edwards scored 19 points, John Stockton had 16 points and 14 assists, and David Benoit scored a career-high 15 points on 7-for-7 shooting for the Jazz.

Lakers 100, Nuggets 93
Los Angeles, hoping to continue its streak of 15 consecutive years in the playoffs, pulled into a tie with Houston for the last postseason berth in Western Conference behind Terry Teagle's 27 points.

The Nuggets, who have lost a team-record 11 straight, started the game with a 13-4 run before the Lakers recovered for a 50-30 lead in the second quarter. Denver trailed by two points with 7:17 left before a 9-0 run put Los Angeles ahead 94-83 with 4:28 remaining.

Bulls 100, Hawks 93

Chicago won its 65th game and knocked visiting Atlanta into an eighth-place tie with Miami in the Eastern Conference, although no Bulls starter played more than 29 minutes.

Stacey Augmon scored 10 of his 27 points in the third quarter when the Hawks, who trailed by 12 points in the second period, tied the score 58-58 with 4:36 left.

The Bulls then went on a 22-9 run for an 80-67 lead early in the final quarter, capped by Craig Hodges' 3-pointer and two baskets by Armstrong to open the period. Chicago went on to lead 98-78 late in the game.

Nets 110, Magic 104

Drazen Petrovic scored eight of his 29 points in the final three minutes as New Jersey got closer to its first NBA playoff berth since 1986 by winning at Orlando.

Petrovic hit a short inside jumper with 7:44 left to give New Jersey its first lead in the second half, 89-88. After that, the lead changed six times and there were three ties before Petrovic hit two free throws and added a field goal in a 26-second span to give the Nets a 100-99 lead.

Yanks remain perfect

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees aren't about to ignore their 6-0 start. They're not about to get carried away with it, either.

The Yankees continued their finest opening to a season since 1933 with a three-run ninth inning that carried them past the Toronto Blue Jays 5-2 Monday night. New York's sixth straight victory leaves it one short of a 7-0 start back when Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were in the middle of the lineup.

"We're happy about the way we're playing," said manager Buck Showalter. "But it's the early part of the season and there's a lot ahead to deal with."

Like being in first place, perhaps?

"There's still a long way to go," Mel Hall added.

Hall doubled just inside the third-base bag to score Roberto Kelly from first in the ninth, breaking a 2-2 tie.

Also Monday, it was California 3, Texas 0; Oakland 6, Kansas City 1; Detroit 7, Cleveland 5; Chicago 1, Seattle 0; and Baltimore 8, Boston 6.

Angels 3, Rangers 0

The Rangers had scored 53 runs on 75 hits, including 35 for extra bases, in a club record-tying 6-1 start. Then they met Jim Abbott in their home opener.

Y starts soccer league

The Hereford and Vicinity YMCA is starting a youth soccer league to begin play May 2. The league is for YMCA members only.

The rules of the league are set up so that every child plays in every game. There will be two divisions--both co-ed--one for first, second and third grades, and one for fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Games will be played on Saturdays. The season will run six weeks plus playoffs.

Registration is open through April 23. The fee is $10. After April 23, registration is open only to fill up teams where vacancies exist. Teams will be drawn by coaches and the YMCA staff. Players must be officially registered and paid before a team assignment is made.

Carnesecca quits St. John

NEW YORK (AP) - Lou Carnesecca's smile was widest and most sincere. It was also contagious.

He announced Monday that he would retire as coach of the St. John's Redmen. After 24 seasons on the collegiate sidelines, each ending in postseason play, the 67-year-old Carnesecca said he was ready to move on. And when he smiled and said he was glad about it, you believed him.

"I think you heard me say many times it would be tough to put the ball down, but the time has come," he told a packed on-campus news conference. "You know why? Two very simple reasons. I still have half my marbles and No. 2. I still have a wonderful taste in my mouth about basketball.

"This was not an easy decision, but the decision has been all mine."

The decision, which Carnesecca said he arrived at over the past two weeks, did surprise many in college basketball. It was assumed by many that Carnesecca would be back for a 25th season next year, especially when he didn't dwell on the subject of retirement after the Redmen lost to Tulane in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Homeland drug posters judged

Mike Carr, left, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, and Pat Michael, captain of the Hereford Police Department, look over finalists in the Homeland Drug Awareness Poster Contest on Saturday. Carr, Michael and other judges selected the top three posters in each grade from kindergarten through junior high. The first place posters will go to the final judging in Oklahoma City. All posters have been on display at Homeland in Hereford.

The six foot kangaroo has a less than 1 gram baby; the blue whale a nearly 10 ton one.

Baseball uniforms were first donned on June 3, 1851, by the New York Knickerbockers. The outfits consisted of straw hats, white shirts and blue full-length trousers.

Poems read to club by Jackson, Cummings

Two members of the Hereford High School Orators Club, Connie Jackson and Chelli Cummings, presented the program to La Madre Mia Study Club recently in the home of Mysedia Smith.

Jackson, a junior at HHS, read the poem, "The Blue Rose" by Gada Wiseman Klein. The poem depicted the uniqueness of being special (handicapped) to the uniqueness of the beauty of a blue rose. The special child is thought to be different but upon closer examination, the child is outstanding in her own world.

A senior HHS student, Cummings read "Say Good Night, Gracie" by Julia Reese Dever. The poem is about a girl whose close friend is killed by a drunk driver. It explains how she deals with her feelings about the death.

The Orators is sponsored by Lana Hall and consists of debate, orators class, dramatic presentation, humorous presentation, prose and poetry. In the poetry category, the speaker must memorize the introduction including the name of the poem and its author. The poem must be read with feeling using limited body movement and gestures.

During the business session, Nancy Paetzold read a thank you letter from Big Brothers/Big Sisters expressing gratitude to the club for a recent contribution. Also, Carolyn Baxter announced that the club would donate to the Hereford division's Opportunity Plan. She will be making the presentation at the annual HHS Awards Assembly.

Plans for the club's annual Ruidosa Retreat June 7 were discussed.

Tricia Sims, Georgia Sparks, Janet Schroeder and Baxter were appointed to the nominating committee. The election party will be held April 23.

Smith and Francyn Bromlow served chocolate cake and ice cream to those present. They included Gladys Merritt, Judy Williams, Merle Clark, Linda Cumpton, Ruth Black, Mary Beth White, Baxter, Betty Taylor, Bettye Owen, Barbara Manning, Marline Watson and Paetzold.

Hints from Heloise

Q. I heard that a letter would arrive quicker if the address was typed instead of handwritten. Is this a fact? — Bill, Monticello, N.Y.

A. I checked with the post office and was told it would make little difference if the address was typed, unless the writing was totally unreadable.

However, for quicker delivery (sometimes by as much as two days), you should always include the ZIP plus four digit code. The extra four digits enable the automatic scanning machine to pinpoint your street and house, making delivery quicker.

If you don't know your four-digit code, check with the local post office. Every major post office has a ZIP-plus-four book in the lobby for your use. — Heloise

LETTER OF WARNING

Dear Heloise: I thought I had every potentially dangerous or poisonous substance locked up in my house. But while raising my five children I have discovered a few "new" items that I feel every mother should be warned about.

First, sewing machine oil. Imagine my surprise when my 2-year-old tried to drink clear oil out of a small, semi-opaque white plastic bottle that strongly resembled a baby-doll bottle.

Second, did you realize those new fabric-softener containers strongly resemble milk cartons? My little 13-month-old was savvy enough to try to drink out of one. Now I store it up high.

I hope this information helps other mothers. — A faithful reader, Des Moines, Iowa

I hope it does too! I'm glad your children are all right. Hugs. — Heloise

GENTLE REMINDER

Dear Heloise: I love to read, but when I have a chance to go to the book store, I draw a blank as to which books I have read reviews on or have been recommended to me.

Now I keep a small notebook in my wallet on which I record titles that interest me and a brief note on what they are about. My time in the book store is worthwhile and I do not buy books that turn out to be a mistake. — Leigh Tomforde, Houston, Texas

Fifth grade fair winners

The Nazarene Christian Academy Science Fair, sponsored by Garth Merrick of Beef and More Dog Food, was held March 30 at the school. Fifth grade students who placed first at the fair included, from left, Brynne Bryant, experiment; Kasey Torres, apparatus; Lyndi Carlile, research; and Rachel Chavez, model/demonstration.

Brushing, flossing still way to have healthy smile

Brush your teeth twice a day and don't forget to floss! "Believe it or not, your mother's advice still holds true," says Robert Ibsen, D.D.S. "Although dental technology has advanced tremendously in recent years, there's no replacement for basic dental hygiene to maintain a beautiful and healthy smile."

Keeping your pearly whites in great shape has many benefits. You'll look better because smiles do make people appear more attractive and approachable. And you'll feel better because the tension in facial muscles can be released through smiling. The best part? Not only will good dental habits keep bills low, but maintaining your sparkling, beautiful smile need not cost a fortune.

Romanian prime minister Ion Antonescu was overthrown in 1944, paving the way for the country to abandon the Axis in favor of the Allies.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 × 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

What they're saying about "The Roads of Texas"

"When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS... you'll wonder how you ever travelled the state without it!"
Texas Highways Magazine
October, 1988

"For details of Texas terrain, oil company maps and the State's Official Highway Map can't match THE ROADS OF TEXAS."

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	28	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have a question about the colon. If you have your colon removed, how do you digest your food? I know that the stomach and small intestine digest food, but if you lose your colon, won't a lot of your food go undigested and you will lose weight? Is that the reason why people who have cancer of the colon and have their colon removed lose weight?

DEAR READER: In terms of digesting your food to get the calories out of it, the colon has no real role at all. Its main function is to regulate your water and mineral balance. Considering the secretions, beginning with saliva, added to those from the stomach, the small intestine, the pancreas and the liver, plus the normal ingestion of fluid, about 9 liters (9.5 quarts) of fluid reach the colon each day. Imagine the watery diarrhea you would have if this was not absorbed.

Saliva starts digestion with the initial phase of breaking down starch. The stomach is largely a storage pouch, but it does start the breakdown of protein. The acid contents of the stomach then arrive in the small intestine where most of the action and absorption occurs—most of it in a short distance.

In the small intestine, pancreatic juices act to continue the digestion of proteins into amino acids and break down carbohydrates and fat. Bile emulsifies fat so it can be more readily absorbed. Enzymes produced by the lining of the small intestine finish the job. Eventually, despite the different variety of food and beverage you consume, only three single sugars (glucose, fructose and galactose) and 20 amino acids from protein and fatty acids from fat are absorbed through the intestinal wall into your circulation. The action is all over by the time your food residue leaves the small intestine.

Food that is not digested in the small intestine is attacked by bacteria when it reaches the colon. The fermentation process produces gas, distention and often diarrhea. For more information about how digestion really works, read my new Special Report 124, About Your Digestion. I'm sending you a free copy. Others who want this special report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it.

to THE HEALTH LETTER/124, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

It follows that although there is much to be done in managing the problem of not having a colon, mostly because of its important role in balancing water and minerals, removing it will not decrease a person's ability to digest food.

DEAR READER: My 7-year-old daughter weighed only 2 pounds 11 ounces at birth because I was only 6 1/2 months along in my pregnancy. I became pregnant again in 1988. The physician found out from previous records that I have an incompetent cervix. I miscarried this baby at 4 1/2 months along because my water broke. A stitch was put in my cervix in my third month. Why does this happen to me, and should I ever try to become pregnant again?

DEAR READER: An incompetent cervix is not strong enough to keep the uterus closed as the pregnancy progresses and the fetus enlarges. This can be from a congenital lack of fibrous tissue in the cervix or more often from injury from a previous birth, such as delivering a large baby. A miscarriage in the second trimester of pregnancy is common.

The treatment is surgical and consists of suturing the cervix to provide the needed strength to keep it closed. There are various methods, but sutures around the cervix may be successful in 90 percent of cases. So the odds are in your favor if you decide to try again.

PLEASE DO FOLD SPINDLE & MUTILATE THIS PAGE

Print is the only medium of communication designed to accommodate humankind.

You can fold it to fit in a crowded briefcase, your wallet, or a recipe file.

You can spindle it to remind you of the latest shows you want to see, tonight's TV schedule, information of interest to a co-worker, schedule of sports events.

You can mutilate it for cents-off coupons, telephone numbers, sales hours, store addresses, political cartoons.

You can even line the bird cage with it or wrap fish in it.

Try that with your radio or television.

Conference for Educators planned at WT

Mathematics teachers are invited to attend the panhandle Area Mathematics Conference, "Moving Mathematics Education Into the 21st Century -- Together We Can Make a Difference," from 8 a.m. - 3:50 p.m. Saturday, April 25. Participants will meet in two adjacent and connecting buildings, the Jack B. Kelley Student Center and the Classroom Center, on the West Texas State University campus.

The conference consists of five one-hour instructional periods with multiple sessions scheduled each hour. A sampling of the topics, presented by teachers from the Panhandle and across the state, includes "Integrating Math and Literature," "Blastoff to Mathematics Via Aerospace," "Introduction to the TI-81 Graphing Calculator," "Fractal Geometry," "Million-Dollar Math," "Fold It, Flex It, Mix and Match It," "Problem Solving with Base Ten Blocks," "Projects for Middle School Math," "Hands-on Geometry," "Family Math," "Hooked on Math," "Integrating Mathematics and Science with IBM's Personal Science Lab" and "Mad About Math."

"This is a great opportunity, and we can guarantee that not a moment will be wasted," Judy Keiley, WTSU mathematics instructor and conference coordinator, said. "There is something for everyone every minute of the conference."

Each hour, at least two sessions will be offered that apply to each of the following levels: kindergarten through second grade, third through fifth grade, sixth through eighth grade, and ninth through twelfth grade.

Lunch will be provided at 12:30 p.m. and will be followed by the keynote address, presented by Bill Hopkins, mathematics specialist for the Texas Education Agency (TEA).

Vendors, promoting textbooks, teaching supplies and computers, will staff exhibit booths from 8 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. at the student center.

Interested individuals are encouraged to preregister by April 10. Registration forms are available from Judy Keiley, WTSU-TEES WTSU Box 217, Canyon, Texas 79016. Cost is $10, including lunch. WTSU students will be admitted for $6. After April 10, cost is $15.

WTSU Dance Camp set

West Texas State University's Department of Music and Dance is now taking applications for its second annual summer dance workshop directed by Neil Hess. The dates are July 26 - Aug. 9 and will feature professional faculty and cast members from "TEXAS."

The camp is a two-week program but can be divided into on week sessions if so desired. Tuition and fees for the camp are 4475 for room, board, classes and activities for the entire two week session, and $250 for either of the one week sessions. A special commuter free of $250 for two weeks and $125 for one week will be offered for those not wishing to live on campus. This fee will cover all but room and board.

The camp is open for ages 10 and over for all levels of training and there is a special commuter class made especially for 5-9 year olds, however these students will not be permitted to live on campus.

The camp is an intensive dance training program that is designed to better the rising student for performance skills in the dance field. There will also be recreational activities and some special field trips for the students.

For more information contact Michael L. Everett at 656-2820, or write to: WTSU Dance Camp '92, P.O. Box 879 W.T., Canyon, TX 79016.

Wandling welcomed at luncheon

Mindy Wandling was recognized as a special guest when members of the Nouvelle Ami Study Club met recently for a lunch at K-Bob's.

Those present were Tonya Setliff, Leah Lee, Laurie Paetzold, Charlotte Collier, Emily Christie, Emily Knight, Lauri Paetzold, Wendy Roberts, Jan Reeve, Kim Rogers and Krista Farrell.

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) - NBC and its affiliates gave Johnny Carson an $80,000 retirement present, and the talk show host gave it away.

The network had asked that Carson donate the money to charity.

He chose the radiation center at Lutheran Community Hospital in his hometown of Norfolk, the hospital said Monday.
