

City, county give prison more backing

A community effort to attract a state prison received full support Monday of the Hereford City Commission and Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court.

County commissioners in a special meeting Monday morning adopted a resolution endorsing the proposal being assembled by a community-wide task force.

And, the Hereford City Commission pledged to provide water and sewer utility service to the prison if the site is approved by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Informally, Commissioners' Court discussed briefly the expense the county would incur in providing a road to the site, a 300-acre tract owned by the city and located about five miles east of Hereford.

Cost of building the road was estimated by Commissioner Johnny Latham at $40,000 to $50,000 per mile for a stretch of slightly less than two miles.

City Manager Chester Nolen advised the City Commission that cost of providing utilities is estimated at $1.5 million to $1.8 million. The project would be financed by revenue bonds which could be paid off from income derived from providing the service to the prison and an increase of $1 to city sewer rates.

The full task force, chaired by O.G. (Speedy) Nieman was scheduled to meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Hereford City Hall to hear reports on progress of the proposal.

The plan must be ready to be submitted by Jan. 15.

Doctors have difficulty getting away from their practices. Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, reports visiting with a local doctor who said he was cornered at a round of holiday parties and asked about a variety of physical ailments.

The doctor finally found a way to get even when a woman began describing all the aches and pains she had been experiencing. Pressed for a reply, the doc thought a moment and replied with a serious expression: "Well, this is just a guess, of course, but it sounds to me like you have a fairly serious case of middle age."

Before we commit the year of 1991 to the history books, you might be interested in some statistics for the old year.

For the record, the average price of a single-family home in Texas in 1991 was $89,500; regular unleaded gasoline averaged $1.16 for the year, and a pair of Levi 500 jeans, stone washed, was $38.

The average cost of one day in a semi-private room, including ancillary services but excluding private physician's fee, was $1,273, up from $960 in 1989.

The average cost for color TV repair was $65.96; the average to unclog a sink was $54.50; a tax preparation fee was $51.85; and a year in college was $7,932.

And it cost more to exit this world than to arrive. The average hospital cost of mother and child, excluding private physician's fee, was $3,877, the but the average cost for a funeral was $3,910.

And savings amounted to 5.2 percent of disposable income, while inflation averaged 4.2 percent.

A hamburger cost $1.80 on the average. For the record, we imported more than we exported, for a trade deficit of $77 billion. The gross national domestic product was $5.6 trillion; 116.8 million people were gainfully employed; 8.4 million were unemployed; 1 million new houses were started, and 8.4 million cars were produced in this country.

THE DANCING SUN

Sunday's sunset

High clouds obscure the sun near sunset on Sunday west of Hereford. Some residents have said they have seen The Dancing Sun despite a cloud cover.

Residents have seen unique disc over the sun in the Hereford area

On Dec. 28, 1991, Shirley Anderson's world changed.

Since then, the world has changed for a growing number of other Hereford residents.

They have seen what Mrs. Anderson calls "The Dancing Sun."

The Dancing Sun is a sign that usually accompanies sightings of, or messages from, Mary, the mother of Jesus. The events are usually associated with Roman Catholicism, but Mrs. Anderson said persons from other churches have also seen The Dancing Sun.

Some have seen even more. Jane Lozoya of Hereford said that not only has she seen The Dancing Sun, but she has seen the Virgin Mary in the sun and sky.

"She was tall," she said. "She is beautiful. The sun dances, goes down and comes back. The rays, the gold around the sun is beautiful."

The Dancing Sun is best seen late in the evening, said Mrs. Anderson. She usually has a group with her at 5:15 p.m. at the Anderson Building on the northeast corner of Second and Main.

Mrs. Anderson explained that the sun is covered with a white disc. The disc dims the brilliance of the sun so it may be seen. There is a corona around the sun of changing colors which have been seen to pulsate, rotate or spin. The colors change in size and hue, with varying shades of red, blue, green, pink, purple and gold.

Mrs. Anderson said the sun is covered with the disc much of the day, but is best seen late in the evening when the sun is low in the sky and its brightness is less intense.

She first saw the white disc covering the sun when she was driving home from Canyon on the afternoon of Dec. 28. She had been visiting her daughter, Kimberly Burk, a former staff writer for the Hereford Brand.

"I left Canyon about 4:30 p.m., and the sun was very bright and bothering my eyes as I drove west," said Mrs. Anderson. "When I was about eight miles outside Hereford with the sun directly in my eyes, it suddenly changed with the white disc appearing in front of it.

"The sky around the sun changed to red surrounded by deep blue, then to gold. The sun pulsed at first, like a beating heart, then alternately began spinning and rotating, as one would turn a steering wheel. The movement was much stronger that first day than I have seen it since, almost like it was going to jump out of the sky, although the colors were about the same as they are every day."

When she arrived at her home, she told her family and several friends about the phenomenon. Five families witnessed The Dancing Sun on Dec. 28. Through word-of-mouth communication, a growing number of residents are seeing the event.

Among them is Christina Lozoya, Jane Lozoya's daughter-in-law and an employee of Anderson.

"I see it every day at 5:15 p.m.," she said. She saw it the first time at the St. John Neumann Church in Lubbock in 1988. She said the sun is of varying colors, and the area around the sun is red.

Council hires Hatley, moves Johnson to post

A re-organization of City of Hereford staff was approved Monday night, including a new position of assistant city manager.

The City Commission, after a 30-minute executive session, also accepted the recommendation of City Manager Chester Nolen to employ Michael L. Hatley for the position.

In another personnel move, the commission approved the appointment of Terri Johnson, a 14-year city employee, as city secretary.

Changes come at this time, Nolen said, because of the announced retirement next month of Bonnie Duke, longtime city secretary and finance manager.

"We aren't adding any positions, we're just re-arranging," Nolen said.

As assistant city manager, Hatley, a graduate of Texas Tech University with bachelor's and master's degrees, will be responsible for financial matters as well as special projects.

A former employee of Frito-Lay, Hatley has lived in Hereford since July 1989.

The assistant city manager position is new to the City of Hereford.

Mrs. Johnson is a Texas Registered Municipal Clerk, having completed the certification through the University of North Texas in July 1991.

Currently employed as secretary to the city manager, Mrs. Johnson will be responsible for records management for the City of Hereford.

Nolen reported that salary for Hatley, who has worked in recent weeks on the proposal to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice to locate a state prison here, will be $39,000 per year. He is to begin city duties on Jan. 15, after completing his current assignment.

Mrs. Johnson's pay will be $23,000 per year, an increase to compensate for additional duties.

City denies, again, request for trailer

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

A series of zoning change requests came to naught before the Hereford City Commission Monday night. And, proposed condemnation proceedings on another piece of property was delayed to give owners time to comply with city ordinances.

A second trip to the commission by Oralia Guzman in search of a change from R-2, residential, to MH, mobile home, for property at 319 Avenue C, drew sympathy from several commissioners but not the vote required to overturn the planning and zoning board's action.

The zoning board and City Commission had turned down her plea a month ago.

City ordinances require three-fourths of commissioners to vote in favor of the waiver. With a seven-person commission, at least six members would have to approve the change.

A 4-2 vote was recorded on Mrs. Guzman's request. Mayor Tom LeGate was absent because of illness.

In a quirk of city ordinances, the commission first voted on a motion to uphold the P&Z recommendation not to allow the zoning change.

On motion of Emory Brownlow and second by Roger Eades, the vote was 2-4. Commissioners Wayne Winget, Irene Cantu, Silvana Juarez and James McDowell, who was presiding as mayor pro tem, voted against the motion. Brownlow and Eades were in favor of the motion to confirm the P&Z recommendation.

Then, a motion by Cantu with second by Juarez to approve the change failed to collect the required three-fourths vote. Brownlow and Eades opposed while the other four approved.

The property in question was the site of a trailer home owned by Mrs. Guzman's son. The mobile home was located there when city zoning ordinances were enacted. Ordinances specify that property reverts to R-2, if trailers are removed.

When the son, Gabriel Gamez, entered the U.S. Army, the trailer was moved to Killeen. He has been discharged from the Army and wants to move the mobile home back to its original site.

Brownlow pointed out that a designation of MH now could present problems in the future.

"We don't know what could happen in the future," he said. "Someone else could buy the property and move more than one trailer in there."

A request from Davis Ford to change zoning from R-1 to MH for six lots also was turned down as the commission agreed with the planning and zoning board's recommendation not to change the designation.

Condemnation proceedings against property at 209 Avenue H were delayed by the commission after hearing from Peter Pinon of Alvarado, son of the property owner.

In December, the commission authorized notification of the owner that a hearing would be held on condemnation during Monday night's commission meeting.

A building permit first was issued in 1986 and remodeling began. However, since the permit was renewed in 1988, work has not been finished.

The unfinished project constitutes "a dangerous building" under city statutes, said Terry Langenhennig, city attorney.

Pinon asked for time to remove framing on the house.

"It's not as simple as it sounds," he said.

Commissioners agreed to delay any further action on condemnation until their March 2 meeting and asked Pinon for a report then, if the work is not done.

GOP may filibuster redistricting bill

AUSTIN (AP) - Senate Republicans today prepared for their final onslaught against a Democratic-backed redistricting bill. The Senate gave tentative approval to the proposal Monday by an 18-12 margin.

Republicans say today's final vote could prompt a filibuster, which is a delay tactic where the opponent of a measure tries to stall legislative proceedings long enough to defeat the bill.

Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco, had earlier said that he was ready to talk as long as he could, but that Republicans had not determined what course to take for the final vote.

Lawmakers are meeting in a special legislative session to map House and Senate districts after earlier plans were struck down in state and federal courts.

But Republicans, and Democrats Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, and Eddie Lucio, D-Brownsville, allege the plan was a backroom deal that cut them out of the negotiations.

A federal three-judge panel, all Republican appointees, threw out the Senate plan and imposed its own. Democrats oppose this plan.

Despite the partisan harangues and delays, Gov. Ann Richards, a Democrat, said, "They're moving along as fast as they can."

At issue Monday was a proposal to re-draw the boundaries for the 31 senatorial districts.

The plan before the Senate was agreed to by 19 Democratic senators and minority plaintiffs who successfully sued the state to draw districts that would better reflect the minority population in Texas.

But Republicans, and Democrats Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, and Eddie Lucio, D-Brownsville, allege the plan was a backroom deal that cut them out of the negotiations.

A federal three-judge panel, all Republican appointees, threw out the Senate plan and imposed its own. Democrats oppose this plan.

With the state and federal struggle serving as a backdrop, the lengthy Senate debate touched on the Civil War, Sam Houston, and slavery. Each side accused the other of partisan politics in drawing up district lines.

Senators also voted 19-11 for a bill that could split the presidential primary from other federal, state and local primaries.

Sibley said the primary election bill "is adding mass confusion to a process that is already somewhat confused."

But Sen. Steve Carriker, D-Roby, said his bill would ensure that the primaries are held as scheduled on March 10 by emphasizing the need for quick federal approval of a Senate redistricting plan.

The bill says that if federal approval isn't given the Senate plan by Jan. 17, then the primaries will be delayed until April 11.

If federal approval isn't given by Feb. 18, then the presidential primary will be held on March 10 or April 11, while the other primaries could be delayed as late as Aug. 8.

That bill would result in the three-judge panel to taking effect for this year's election, but a settlement plan that was agreed to by minority plaintiffs would take effect for the 1994 elections.

House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, says he believes his chamber will be through with its business by Thursday.

In another development, the Senate, meeting as a committee, adopted the House redistricting bill that was passed by the House Saturday.

New SBI policy expected to help buyers, insurers

AUSTIN (AP) - Members of the State Board of Insurance said the new policy they ratified for automobile insurance rates should help both buyers and insurers.

"I see (Monday's) action as the first step toward better, more realistic automobile rate regulation," said Claire Koriath, the Insurance Board chair.

The board voted unanimously Monday to freeze current benchmark rates for automobile policyholders and allow insurers to charge within a range of 25 percent above or 30 percent below that standard.

Officials said that with the wide range of possible premiums, consumers should find out their rate classification and look for the best deal.

"We're going to be watching what's happening in the marketplace very closely," said board member Allene Evans. "If we have to move to protect the consumer, that's what we'll do."

Amy Johnson, head of the Office of Public Insurance Counsel, a consumer advocacy group, said the wide range of premiums should send a signal to policybuyers that they need to be "very aggressive shoppers."

The Insurance Board also set the same range for commercial rates, but raised the benchmark by 5 percent. Both standards go into effect March 1.

Benchmark rates are established for each policyholder depending on a number of criteria such as age, type of car and driving record. Companies can set their prices anywhere within the flex band by simply notifying the board.

"This action means we are moving to stabilize auto insurance for Texans and we have created a competitive environment for consumers," said Gov. Ann Richards, who has overhauled the board since taking office last January.

"Now it is up to the Office of Public Counsel to get the word out that Texans have the opportunity to shop around for the best rate in auto insurance," she said.

Two of the state's largest automobile insurers squared off against OPIC in presenting proposals to the board in a series of public hearings last month.

State Farm Insurance Cos., Texas' largest insurer, recommended a 6.6 percent increase for the benchmark rate and a 21.4 hike for commercial policies.

Farmer's Insurance Co., the state's third largest insurer, sought an 11.7 increase in the standard rate.

Both asked the board to set the range 30 percent above and below the benchmark.

"I think they (the board) took a good stand," said Charles Wirth, a State Farm. "We're certainly not unhappy at all that they set a flex band that wide."

OPIC, meanwhile, wanted current rates frozen and a range of 15 percent above and 30 percent below.

HJH cagers split with Valleyview

Hereford Junior High's basketball teams returned to action after the holidays and half of the eight teams won.

The boys hosted Valleyview, and the best game was the eighth grade Maroon's 41-39 overtime win. Hereford's Josh Bullard hit a free throw with 23 seconds left to knot the game at 37-37, then in overtime, Ronald Torres scored both of Hereford's baskets to give him a game-high 17 points.

"I think it's great," Coach John Nino said. "Those kids, they never gave up. They believed they were always in the game. I thought the kids did a good job, especially being off two weeks."

Also winning was the eighth grade White team. Hereford outscored VV 10-4 in the first quarter, then the teams played evenly in the next three quarters: scoring six in the second quarter, nine in the third and seven in the fourth.

"They were cold. They weren't hitting anything," Hereford coach Henry Perez explained Valleyview's problem in the first quarter. "I had a feeling that'd happen. We'd been out two weeks and they'd been out two weeks."

Todd Radford led Hereford with 12 points, including all six of Hereford's second-quarter points.

The seventh graders weren't so lucky. The Maroon team's game went down to the wire but Hereford lost it 45-41. The Maroon turned the ball over with a chance to tie, and VV hit a last second layup to make the score a little less close.

Dustin Hill led with 12 points and Isaac Walker had eight.

"We had some people in foul trouble, and that got us in trouble," Coach Rodney Allen said. "Walker fouled out early in the fourth quarter."

The other home game saw the seventh grade White fall 37-23. Hereford was outscored 13-0 in the third quarter.

"They just came out hot and we didn't," Coach Chris Christopher said.

The junior high girls' teams played at Valleyview, with both White teams winning.

The seventh grade White claimed a 25-22 win in overtime after coming back from deficits of 9-4 at the half and 18-12 after the third quarter.

"I just had to give them a good ol' pep talk at halftime," Coach Kathyna Hatla said. "They encouraged each other and decided to get in there and play ball. They started playing together as a team and stopped making individual mistakes like turnovers and things like that."

Cassie Abney led Hereford with eight points.

The eighth grade White won 30-23 on the strength of a 12-4 third quarter advantage. Monica Don Juan led Hereford with seven points.

"In the first half, they were kind of slow," Coach Maria Eck said. "They played more to their potential in the second half. In the third quarter, we played more as a team and worked the ball in."

The eighth grade Maroon suffered foul trouble to the extreme, ending the game with three players on the floor and losing 52-30.

Hereford trailed only 5-2 after the first quarter but lost it in the second as VV made a 17-2 run.

"We were awesome in the first quarter," Coach Jane Radford said. "We did everything right except score, but I could not have asked for anything more than the way they competed. But we just stopped executing and their lead got greater and greater."

Tarabeth Holmes scored 10 and Brittney Binder had eight.

The seventh grade Maroon fell 26-20 despite Danielle Cornelius' 12 points.

"We just couldn't buy a break," Coach Brenda Reeh said. "The ball was bouncing off feet, we were taking good shots and missing."

One game involving a Hereford team was played Saturday. The Hereford sophomores lost 90-76 to the Amarillo High sophs in Amarillo.

The Sandies took a 50-37 lead at halftime and held on as both teams just kept scoring.

Meet the Herd

A Meet the Herd night will be held for all Hereford basketball teams Wednesday starting at 5:30 p.m. "Everyone's invited," said Danny Haney, athletic director for Hereford schools.

"If we'd played a little better defensively we'd be right in the game because we were playing good offensively," Coach Key Harrison said. "That's just something we have to work on."

For Hereford, Josh Tice led the scoring with 22, Wade Johnson had 12 and Jason Cole added 11.

Seaver awaits call from Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) - Sometime tonight Tom Seaver will receive a phone call that will change his life. Just how much isn't quite certain.

Seaver is a sure thing for election when the results are announced at 10 p.m. EST. It's also possible he will approach a record percentage of the vote.

And, it's also possible a Pete Rose protest vote will keep Seaver's percentage down.

When the two superstars retired following the 1986 season, it promised to be one of the biggest days at Cooperstown, with Seaver and Rose walking in together. They even talked about the prospect as teammates with the Cincinnati Reds.

But all that was dashed when Rose was banned from baseball by then-commissioner Bart Giamatti on Aug. 24, 1989, for gambling. The board of directors of the Hall of Fame then decided to erase Rose's name from their ballot even though his uniform and bats still hang in their hall.

The Hall of Fame voting is conducted by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America, and several members were upset that Rose's name was taken off the ballot without their consent. They wanted the choice of whether he deserved to be in Cooperstown or not.

As a result of Rose's name being taken off the ballot by the board, some writers said they would make him a write-in vote or send in a blank ballot. According to Hall of Fame rules, however, write-in votes don't count. His vote total will be announced, however.

If there are several blank ballots, that could hurt Seaver's chances of reaching a record percentage of the vote. It could also hurt the chances of Rollie Fingers and Tony Perez, who figure to be close to the 75 percent needed for election.

Spurs whip Pistons with only 5 miscues

By The Associated Press

If the San Antonio Spurs could learn to protect the ball, they would be a dangerous team at playoff time. The Spurs, whose average of 18 turnovers per game ranks 25th in the 27-team NBA, set a franchise record for fewest turnovers Monday night when they had five in a 100-90 victory over the Detroit Pistons. "That is a pretty incredible stat," Spurs coach Larry Brown said. "That was the key to the game because we didn't shoot the ball real well."

Point guard Rod Strickland, harshly criticized in the past for his helter-skelter style, had one turnover in 40 minutes. Playing his seventh game of the season after a long holdout, Strickland also scored a season-high 19 points on 8-for-12 shooting.

"The turnovers for the Spurs were not a problem," Pistons guard Joe Dumars said. "Their guards did a good job and made the outside shots."

Guard Willie Anderson had 18 points and 11 rebounds and David Robinson had 20 points, five steals and four blocked shots.

Dennis Rodman had 24 rebounds, one under his career high, for Detroit and moved to the top of this season's NBA rebounding leaders with a 16.9 average, ahead of Atlanta's Kevin Willis with 16.8.

Dumars scored 24 points, while Isiah Thomas had 18 points and 13 assists for the Pistons.

Detroit trimmed an eight-point deficit to 82-79 on Mark Aguirre's jumper with 4:17 to play.

But San Antonio went on an 8-2 run, highlighted by an 18-footer from Anderson, to pull ahead 90-81 with 1:05 remaining.

Celtics 110, Kings 108

Sacramento has won only three road games the last two seasons, but took Boston to the wire as the Celtics played without Larry Bird and Kevin McHale because of injuries.

Kevin Gamble scored a career-high 34 points and Robert Parish had 22 points and 13 rebounds for Boston, which trailed 98-88 with eight minutes left.

Reggie Lewis, who scored 21 points, put the Celtics ahead 107-106 with a 10-foot shot with 37 seconds remaining and John Bagley added three free throws, nailing down Boston's 13th consecutive home victory over the Kings since Jan. 17, 1979.

Richmond led Sacramento with 23 points.

Jazz 124, Pacers 108

At Salt Lake City, Karl Malone had 34 points and 14 rebounds.

Blue Edwards scored 23 points, John Stockton had 22 points and 15 assists and Jeff Malone 20 points as the Jazz ended a four-game losing streak to the Pacers, who were led by Reggie Miller with 20 points.

Trailing by 10 points going into the fourth quarter, Indiana closed to 96-89, but an 11-4 run, capped by Karl Malone's drive with 4:48 to play, made it 116-101 and the Jazz coasted the rest of the way.

Nets 105, Clippers 90

At East Rutherford, N.J., Mookie Blaylock scored 20 points and Terry Mills had 17 points and 12 rebounds in relief of Derrick Coleman as New Jersey defeated Los Angeles.

The Nets took control in the third quarter with a 13-2 spurt for a 69-54 advantage.

The Clippers were led by Danny Manning with 21 points. Coleman reinjured his left ankle Saturday at Chicago.

Hawks 109, Rockets 97

Atlanta, weakened by injuries to point guards Rumeal Robinson and Maurice Cheeks, got 14 assists, five steals and no turnovers from Morlon Wiley to win at home against Houston.

Although Wiley didn't score, the Hawks got scoring help from Dominique Wilkins with 27 points and Kevin Willis with 20 points and 15 rebounds.

Duane Ferrell added 15 points, including 11 in a 24-13 second-half run that gave the Hawks a 15-point lead with 4:50 to play. Buck Johnson led the Rockets with 19 points.

Oklahoma St. blows out K-State

By The Associated Press

Oklahoma State is getting defensive about its perfect record.

The third-ranked Cowboys opened Big Eight Conference play Monday night with a 72-34 victory over Kansas State, the Wildcats' lowest point total since a 50-30 loss to Oklahoma in 1947.

Oklahoma State (13-0) led 32-11 at halftime, the fewest points it has allowed in a half since St. Louis had that many on Feb. 1, 1958, when the Cowboys had a starting guard named Eddie Sutton.

Sutton is the coach now and he was beaming about the defense.

"That was a marvelous exhibition of man-to-man defense," Sutton said. "The first half, especially the last 15 minutes, the defense was just outstanding."

In other games involving ranked teams on Monday, it was No. 1 Duke 86, Florida State 70; No. 19 Wake Forest 74, Samford 45; No. 22 North Carolina-Charlotte 99, North Carolina-Wilmington 89 in overtime; Notre Dame 64, No. 23 Southern Cal 58; and No. 24 Tulane 88, Penn 74.

Kansas State (6-4) was missing its top two point guards because of injuries, and the lack of floor leadership was evident as the Wildcats missed 14 of their first 16 shots.

"We got taken out of the game by some defensive pressure that at this time we are not capable of handling," Kansas State coach Dana Altman said. "Oklahoma State is a very good basketball team defensively. We haven't seen anything like that."

Oklahoma State was in foul trouble early as the three big men - Byron Houston, Bryant Reeves and Randy Davis - each had three fouls by halftime. But it mattered little except that Houston finished with seven points, breaking a streak of 32 consecutive games in double figures.

Sean Sutton had 16 points and Davis added 13 for Oklahoma State, which won its 23rd consecutive home game, while Askia Jones led the Wildcats with 11 points.

No. 1 Duke 86, Florida State 70

The Blue Devils (8-0, 2-0) led 13-4 3 minutes in and were never threatened as Grant Hill and Brian Davis had career-highs with 26 and 19 points, respectively.

The visiting Seminoles (7-4, 1-2) were led by Sam Cassell with 20 points.

No. 19 Wake Forest 74, Samford 45

The Demon Deacons (8-1) led 35-17 at halftime and led by as many as 34 points in winning their 13th straight home game. Rodney Rogers led Wake Forest with 15 points, while Bubba Sheafe's 13 points led the Bulldogs (2-6), who committed 21 turnovers and shot 38.3 percent.

No. 22 NC-Charlotte 99, North Carolina-Wilmington 89, OT

The 49ers (9-1) trailed by as many as eight points in the second half before Delano Johnson hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer to force the overtime. Neither team scored for the first two minutes of the extra period before the visiting 49ers pulled away for their ninth straight victory. The Seahawks (6-5), who trailed 43-34 at halftime, have never beaten a ranked team. James Terrell led the 49ers with 24 points, while Keith Adkins topped the Seahawks with 24.

Notre Dame 64, No. 23 Southern Cal 58

Daimon Sweet scored 23 points and LaPhonso Ellis had 21 points and 15 rebounds in Notre Dame's upset of Southern Cal.

Sweet had 15 points in the second half as the Irish (2-5) overcame a nine-point deficit. Harold Miner had 24 points for the Trojans (8-2).

No. 24 Tulane 88, Penn 74

The Green Wave (10-0) remained unbeaten and celebrated their first appearance in the rankings since 1949 with the home victory behind solid defense which forced 31 turnovers that were turned into 42 points. Kim Lewis had 17 points and seven steals for Tulane, while Jerome Allen led the Quakers (2-5) with 22 points, 12 from 3-point range.

Cowboys will draft defense

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys have the 13th and 24th picks in the first round of April's NFL draft. They're going to be downright defensive about it.

The Cowboys were reminded they need to spend most of their high draft choices on defensive backs and pass rushing defensive linemen after Detroit passed them dizzy 38-6 Sunday in the second round of the NFC playoffs.

Erik Kramer hit a career-high 29 of 38 passes for 341 yards and three touchdowns.

It wasn't the first time a run-and-shoot quarterback had toasted the Cowboys secondary.

Dallas also lost 34-10 to the Lions earlier in the season and were defeated 26-23 by run-and-shoot Houston when Warren Moon hit 41 of 56 passes for 432 yards.

The Cowboys couldn't stop Atlanta's "Red Gun" offense, allowing 325 passing yards and three touchdowns to Chris Miller, but outlasted the Falcons 31-27 in the final game of the regular season.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson plans on doing something about it after he takes a short vacation breather, but he said before he left that the Falcons had "exposed" the Cowboys weaknesses which Detroit exploited.

"Detroit was able to isolate us and get us into a lot of one-on-one coverages and our strength is stopping the run," Johnson said.

"Detroit studied the Atlanta and Houston films. They saw what the run-and-shoot could do to us."

Johnson gave his coaches a week off and took a few days himself while the players cleaned out their lockers Monday.

"You know Jimmy," said public relations director Rich Dalrymple. "He won't be able to stay away long."

Owner Jerry Jones said the Cowboys will make good use of their first-, second- and third-round picks. Dallas has two selections in each bracket.

"We have a lot of flexibility with our picks and we might trade up," Jones said. "We know we need help on defense. (Defensive coordinator) Dave Wannstedt did a good job of hiding our weaknesses all year. But we had to try to 'finesse' a team once too often. We could use some help on defense."

Wannstedt might not be around to reap the benefits of the rich Dallas draft harvest. He was expected to be interviewed by the Pittsburgh Steelers this week for their head coaching vacancy.

"We'd hate to lose Dave," Jones said. "But that's why we all get up in the morning, to improve ourselves. We could offer more money, but I'm not sure money would mean as much as the job."

Dallas, which had a 1-15 record in 1989 and 7-9 in 1990, had an 11-5 regular-season record and reached the playoffs for the first time in six years. The Cowboys defeated the Chicago Bears in the first round, their first playoff victory in 10 seasons.

"It was a wonderful feeling being in the playoffs," Jones said. "It makes us want to work that much harder. This organization has a lot of room to improve, a lot of growth potential."

The Dallas players were philosophical about the loss.

"Now we have a taste of the playoffs," said Dallas running back Emmitt Smith, the NFL rushing champion. "We know what it takes to get there."

"We were on a fine ride, a long ride," safety Bill Bates said. "We got hopes up in Dallas, got the fans fired up and the players had fun."

Quarterback Troy Aikman will at least be able to enjoy the off-season, knowing he has returned as the Cowboys leader.

Aikman had spent a frustrating five weeks on the sidelines while Steve Beuerlein got Dallas into the playoffs with what Aikman called "my team."

A rusty Aikman, who had been out of action five weeks with a knee injury, didn't give the Cowboys much of a lift when he replaced Beuerlein just before the half ended. Aikman hit 11 passes for 114 yards, but fumbled and lost two snaps from center.

"We were looking for a spark at that stage and we decided to stay with him in the second half," Johnson said of Aikman.

"I don't think I gave us much of a spark," Aikman said. "They're not the kind of defense that gives up a lot of points anyway. And when we got behind as much as we did, it took away our running game."

Rangers don't get Tartabull

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Texas Rangers general manager Tom Grieve expressed disappointment Monday that the club was unable to sign free agent outfielder Danny Tartabull.

"We made an effort to sign him. He would have been a significant addition to our lineup, and I'm sorry it didn't work out," Grieve said.

"It would have been a bonus; it's not something we had planned for the start. Now that it hasn't worked out the way we hoped it would, we'll turn back to business as usual."

Tartabull reached agreement Monday with the New York Yankees on a five-year free-agent contract worth $25.5 million. He had been scheduled to meet Monday with Rangers officials.

Tartabull said when the Yankees came into the picture, the prospects of playing with either the Texas Rangers or the California Angels became less appealing.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Three years ago you printed a letter about a woman who thought she had won $5,000 in a charity sweepstakes. She was asked to "donate" $5 to the Cancer Fund of America. You found out that this so-called charity was not reputable and said so.

After reading that column, I wrote to you and listed seven "not-for-profit" organizations that solicit people in this manner. All have contracts with Watson & Hughey, a direct-mail firm in Alexandria, Va., which handles their fund-raising.

I have since learned that the state of Illinois (and other states) has sued Watson & Hughey. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the First Amendment protects even fraudulent fund-raisers, however, so the upshot was that this direct-mail firm can continue to keep whatever percent of the money it raises as long as it declares somewhere in the solicitations precisely how the money is spent.

Just today I received a solicitation from the Walker Cancer Research Institute, another of these organizations. On the back of the letter, buried in the small print, was the information that 0.96 percent of the money raised goes to research. Ann, that's LESS THAN 1 PERCENT of the total! The remaining 99 percent goes for "administrative costs, fund-raising and education in conjunction with fund-raising appeals."

I work for a legitimate organization that has been supporting cancer research in Chicago medical centers for 44 years. Millions of dollars are diverted from charities like ours by Watson & Hughey and their ilk.

Here again are the names of seven organizations that solicit people through Watson & Hughey. Please warn your readers to be alert and beware!

A moral obligation bond is a government bond that has not had the formal approval of either the voters or their legislature. It is backed only by the government's "moral obligation" to repay the principal and interest on time.

Social Security Protection Bureau, also known as Foxhall Corp., of Washington, D.C.

Thank you again, Ann, for all your help.—Sharon Swanson, executive director, Cancer Research Foundation.

DEAR SHARON: I appreciate the opportunity to warn my readers once again about fund-raising letters which cleverly mask the fact that a huge percentage of the money donated does not go for the "cause."

If anyone out there is suspicious of a mailing, check with the Better Business Bureau. It will give you the straight story.

DEAR READERS: This made me laugh out loud. I hope you enjoy it, too.

A little 4-year-old girl and a 3-year-old boy walked hand in hand to a neighbor's house. The girl was barely able to reach the doorbell. When the lady of the house appeared, the little girl said, "We're playing house. This is my husband and I am his wife. May we come in?"

Enchanted by the scene, the woman said, "By all means." She then offered them lemonade and cookies, which they happily accepted. When a second tall glass of lemonade was offered, the little girl refused, saying, "No, thank you. We have to go now. My husband wet his pants."

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve our anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

What You Can't See
Can Hurt You.
What WE Can See
Could Save Your Life.

Breast Cancer often stays hidden for several years before it can be revealed through a conventional physical exam. A mammogram is the only way to discover breast cancer in its earliest stages. The test, conducted by a trained specialist, takes just a few minutes — a few minutes that could have life-saving results. One out of nine women will develop breast cancer. This year, 38,000 will die. Those who discover the disease early have a better chance of recovery. Call today: 364-2141, ext. 248.
