HOF Rodeo move could help CHOF

Members of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and the All Girl Rodeo boards held a news conference this week to further explain reasons why the annual rodeo is being moved from Hereford to Amarillo on a trial basis.

The board of directors of the Hall of Fame Rodeo Association recently voted unanimously to move the All Girl Rodeo to Amarillo after a 15-year run in Hereford. The rodeo will be held in conjunction with Amarillo's Old West Days celebration in August.

"The decision to move the rodeo did not come easy for the board," said Margaret Formby of the CHOF. "The board has always felt Hereford businesses and individuals have been great supporters of the rodeo, but it also felt the event has reached its peak in Hereford. The move is to try to further growth for the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and the rodeo."

Board members said several factors entered into the decision to move to Amarillo, including: chances for increased awareness of the CHOF; the ability to better serve rodeo sponsors through improved attendance, and attainment of future goals of the rodeo association.

The main factor in moving the rodeo, board members said, is to help promote the hall of fame. The All Girl Rodeo's distinction is support the CHOF, and the board feels the move to Amarillo will help increase awareness on a regional and national level.

Board members also said the desire to better serve rodeo sponsors through better attendance, and the assurance of a facility from year to year were also major factors.

Board members also feel the rodeo could grow nationally. Expanded publicity for the rodeo could result in increased popularity, board members said, and the association may be involved in promoting the event regionally and nationally, thus benefiting the CHOF.

Board members stressed they were approached by the Old West Days committee and the Amarillo group met many of the needs and concerns of the rodeo board. The board also pointed out the move is on a one-year trial basis and future plans would be made after this event.

Bivins will host town hall meeting

State Sen. Teel Bivins will host a town hall meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Bivins will hold the meeting to present an overview of the 72nd legislative session just completed in Austin and to get feedback on concerns of constituents. Bivins will discuss the new education bill, legislative and congressional redistricting, ethics reform and the state budget.

Bivins will be accompanied by staff members from his Amarillo and Austin offices, and all interested persons are urged to attend.

State audit finds $1.6 billion in waste

AUSTIN (AP) - Preliminary results of an audit of the Texas bureaucracy show the state can save at least $1.6 billion without cutting services, according to Comptroller John Sharp.

But he said Wednesday that it's going to mean tough choices for politicians - and agencies are getting nervous.

The preliminary estimate is a result of the Texas Performance Review, which the comptroller's office began in February at the request of Gov. Ann Richards and legislative leaders.

The mission of the review is to find ways to increase efficiency and minimize the state's projected budget shortfall of $4.7 billion.

Sharp characterized the decisions leaders will be forced to make in poring over the recommendations as "two weeks of misery with me, or two years of misery with the taxpayers."

He refused Wednesday to provide details about his findings, saying that some agencies already have hired lobbyists seeking to protect their operations.

"If we laid everything out as soon as we came across it, there'd be interests out there trying to kill it," he said. "That's the kind of things that legislators are going to be faced with, but we can show them that everything we're going to recommend makes sense."

Sharp would say that he'll suggest changing employee training methods in the comptroller's office, for a savings of several hundred thousand dollars. The agency also has requested an 8 percent budget cut, he said.

Sharp also said he will recommend initiating an "umbrella" approach for serving Texans with multiple needs.

The review's final recommendations will be released July 1, although Richards, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, House Speaker Gib Lewis and the Legislative Budget Board will receive their copies June 26.

Richards has said she will call a special session July 8 so the Legislature can write a state budget, a task lawmakers put off until completion of the review.

"If we laid everything out as soon as we came across it, there would be interests out there trying to kill it."

--State Comptroller John Sharp

Sharp said the across-the-board cost-cutting measures could mean laying off some middle managers. But that will involve "a very small percentage" of the state's 200,000 employees, and some service positions actually may be increased, he said.

"There is no significant reduction in services. Matter of fact, there's probably more enhancement of services than there is a reduction," Sharp said.

The savings methods will include consolidation and privatization of state services, liquidation of state assets, finding new methods of service delivery and maximization of federal funds, he said.

Sharp said he will recommend "weeding and cultivating" the Texas bureaucracy, rather than the "slash and burn" method.

"Some of the things that we're going to recommend will cost money in order to save money two years from now," he said.

About 25 percent of the savings will be one-time, Sharp said.

Audits and a series of public hearings around the state have identified more than 700 ideas for running state government more efficiently, he said. In addition, thousands of people also have called the agency's 1-800-BEAT-WASTE telephone line with suggestions.

"Most of the stuff ... comes from front line state employees who have been wanting somebody to ask them these things for years," Sharp said. "They're the ones that know how this stuff works, they're the ones that have always had suggestions on how to make things better."

The performance review itself will cost about $300,000, he said.

18 die in Mexico City fire

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Helicopters and firemen on extension ladders plucked dozens of people from a 17-story office building where a raging fire killed at least 18 people and injured more than 40, officials said.

The fire, which rose 10 stories from the fourth floor on Wednesday night, was still smoldering early today. Firemen wearing protective clothing braved intense heat to search the building for other victims of the blaze.

Officials at the scene said they were afraid the death toll would rise. More than 120 firefighters were sent to the scene after the fire broke out. They were hampered at first by lack of equipment, a shortage of water, and lack of electricity. The fire began shortly after 8 p.m., apparently set off by an electrical short circuit, said police spokesman Juan Magos.

A brisk evening breeze fanned the flames into an inferno, trapping dozens of people in the Miravalle Building, which houses offices of doctors, dentists, lawyers and other professionals.

Day camp set June 3-7

Camp Lani Wa is a camping experience offered to youths K-4 through third grade and fourth through sixth grade. Through continuous development the program has expanded to include preschoolers, ages four and five years of age. All youths pay a camp fee of $20 and a registration fee of $7 which registers them in the council and also includes insurance.

Anyone interested in registering may contact Brenda Pagett at the Hereford Camp Fire Lodge at 364-0395 or 364-4626.

The fourth through sixth grade Camp Fire youths will have the opportunity to work on outdoor progression ranks during Camp Lani Wa Day Camp set for June 3-7 at Veteran's Park. The program will give young people a chance to become actively involved with the environment while acquiring fundamental skills in outdoor living.

During the program campers will progress through four ranks; Fire Tender, High Adventure, Trail Maker and Gypsy.

The location of the day camp will be at the east end of the Hereford Golf Course and west of Veteran's Park. Parents are to deliver their children directly to Day Camp and pick them up there.

Pagett will be in charge of the day camp as camp director. Assisting her as outdoor coordinator will be Johnnie Messer. They will act as consultants and resource to the committees formed at Leaders Association and be responsible for the delivery of a valid well-planned camp program.

The campers are asked to wear play clothes each day. Please wear socks and shoes -- no sandals or shorts. On Friday the campers should wear blue pants (jeans) and a white shirt.

At least one night during the week Camp Fire youths will spend the night out. They will cook supper, breakfast and dinner. They will also help with the Starflight Day Camp Cookout, Friday afternoon.

The theme for Day Camp is "The Magic of Friendship." Youths will explore the outdoors and make friends while learning to work as groups and share the out-doors.

Outdoor progression will be held each day, Monday through Thursday, from 8:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m. and on Friday it will be from 8:30 a.m.-3 p.m. with the cookout and ceremonial scheduled from noon to 3 p.m.

Parents are invited to attend the closing ceremonial on Friday afternoon from 2-3 p.m. In case of rain the closing ceremonial will be held at the Bull Barn. Day Camp will not be canceled in case of rain but will be held at the Bull Barn.

James Earl Ray pleaded guilty in 1969 in Memphis, Tenn., to the assassination of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. (Ray later repudiated that plea.)

Hints from Heloise

Q. How do you keep the dust ruffle from sliding between the mattress and box spring? I've been abroad, and this dust ruffle has traveled more than I have. — K.L., Anaheim, Calif.

A. Dust ruffles really look pretty, but it can be a frustrating task keeping them in place.

Try sewing the dust ruffle onto an old fitted sheet or quilted mattress pad. You can use a sewing machine or just tack it on with needle and thread. The fitted sheet will help keep the ruffle in place. — Heloise

CRACKER CRUMBS

Dear Heloise: I was going to make some cracker crumbs and was looking for a less messy method when I noticed a zippered plastic bag on the counter.

I opened the bag, put in the crackers, expelled most of the air from the bag and rolled over the bag with my rolling pin.

FAST FACTS

- Other uses for sponges:
- Use as blackboard eraser.
- Put under soap in soap dish.
- Use in craft projects/fabric painting.
- Dampen to remove pet hair from furniture.
- Put in bottom of umbrella stand to absorb moisture.

LUNCH SURPRISE

Dear Heloise: I'd like to share an idea that I used when my three girls started school.

When I pack their lunches, I always put some kind of simple drawing, favorite saying or a reminder on their napkins with colorful marking pens.

That "special treat" in their lunch box lets them know I'm thinking of them during those long hours at school. — Margaret B., Lovelock, Nev.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: Klinefelter syndrome is a chromosomal condition that affects only boys. These male children are born with 47 chromosomes instead of 46. They are sterile and have enlarged breasts, trouble with speech and language, and many other problems. This condition affects one in 400 male infants.

The following letter arrived recently and it really made my day:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years have gone by since I wrote to you about my son who has Klinefelter syndrome. Your willingness to print my letter has brought about profound changes not only in my life but in the lives of those who responded.

The organization my husband and I founded has made an impact on many people and created a stir in the medical community. We are receiving referrals directly from doctors and genetic clinics in the United States, Canada and England.

We received over 1,000 responses to the initial letter printed in your column and we continue to receive letters from physicians, nurses, geneticists, psychologists and teachers who clipped your column and filed it away for reference. We now have a mailing list of more than 600 people who have Klinefelter syndrome or whose children have it.

Thanks to you, the help people can get today is infinitely better than what I was able to get from the medical community. I don't mean to downgrade the medical profession, Ann. They did what they could. But after the diagnosis has been made, there is a tremendous need for practical information that physicians cannot provide. Support groups help fill that void.

Since I started networking, I have been sought out by medical professionals in several cities. I spoke to medical students at UCLA last year and represented California at a national conference in Washington on peer support. What a rare opportunity to make a difference in the lives of people who have nowhere to go. All this came about because you chose to print my letter about a disease that most people had never heard of. I love you for that.

Our group addresses the special needs of all males with chromosomal abnormalities, not only those with Klinefelter syndrome. Because there are so many significant similarities between the chromosomal variations, we want to put as many families in touch with one another as we can.

Our new address is: Klinefelter Syndrome and Associates, P.O. Box 119, Roseville, Calif. 95661-0119. If your readers would like to write to us, please ask them to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Also, a small donation to help cover costs would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you again for all your support, Ann. The human language doesn't contain the words that I need to let you know how grateful I am. -- Mother of an X-tra Special Son

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back you printed a quote by the legendary President Calvin Coolidge, who was noted for his brevity of speech and sometimes his reluctance to say anything at all.

On this particular occasion, "Silent Cal" was seated next to a flirtatious socialite at a dinner party. She smiled at him sweetly and said, "I have made a rather substantial bet with a friend of mine that I could make you say more than two words."

Without even turning his head, Coolidge responded, "You lose." -- Moorefield, W.Va.

DEAR W.VA.: That's a Gem if I ever heard one. Thanks for sending it.

When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" has all the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Blazers need win at Forum

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - The Portland Trail Blazers, beaten soundly twice on the Los Angeles Lakers' home court last weekend, need a victory at the Forum tonight to extend the NBA Western Conference finals to seven games.

If the Trail Blazers win, they'll have the advantage of playing at home in the seventh and deciding game of the series on Saturday. If Portland loses, the Lakers will advance to the NBA Finals for the ninth time in 12 years.

The Blazers showed they could win at the Forum during the regular season, taking a pair of overtime games. Now they have to show they can win there in the playoffs.

"Hopefully, you'll see a different team come out at the Forum," Blazers coach Rick Adelman said. "We were a little embarrassed, especially by the second game."

"We have nothing to lose. We're just going to try and play a solid game and see what happens."

The Blazers had the best road record in the league in the regular season, but are 1-5 away from home in the playoffs.

The Blazers, attempting to become the fifth team in NBA history to rally from a 3-1 deficit and win a best-of-7 playoff series, took the first step in that direction Tuesday night, beating the Lakers 95-84 at Portland.

The Blazers fell into a must-win situation after losing at the Forum 106-92 last Friday night and 116-95 on Sunday.

A significant difference in Game 6 from those two games will be the physical condition of the Lakers' James Worthy, who was limited to 24 minutes in Game 5 because of a sprained left ankle.

Worthy arrived at the Forum early Wednesday to receive treatment on his ankle. He sprained it in the first quarter and was used sporadically after that. He finally sat down for good with 9:34 remaining, having scored 12 points.

Lakers trainer Gary Vitti issued a statement Wednesday calling Worthy's injury "a mild-to-moderate sprain."

Vitti said precautionary X-rays revealed no fracture.

"We feel comfortable about where he is right now," Vitti said. "A decision (on Worthy's availability tonight) will be made just before gametime. He will receive significant treatment before the game, two times today, two times tomorrow."

"We will use a number of electrical stimulants, one to control inflammation, one to control pain, and another to promote healing. Nature is going to take its course, we're just trying to speed up the healing process.

"James is a pretty tough guy. If there's any way he can play, he will play. We're not going to put him at risk. We've got our fingers crossed."

If Worthy can't go, A.C. Green would probably start in his place.

After playing only 13 minutes in the first two games of the series, Green had nine points and nine rebounds in Game 3, 16 points and seven rebounds in Game 4, and three points and nine rebounds in Game 5.

"It's gut-check time," said Lakers guard Magic Johnson, who had 29 points, eight rebounds and seven assists in a losing effort in Game 5. "If we rebound, we have a good chance to win the game."

Bulls watch, wait

CHICAGO (AP) - The NBA Finals still lie ahead, but for now life could hardly be sweeter for Chicago Bulls coach Phil Jackson.

"It's a treasure to have a basketball club to coach like the one they have provided me with," he said as the Bulls went into their first workout Wednesday as Eastern Division champions.

"This is a treat," Jackson said. "No one could expect that after being a coach in the NBA for two years that you'd get a chance to coach in the finals."

Not that it will do any good, but the Bulls also have a word of good luck from Detroit's Dennis Rodman, who was fined $5,000 Wednesday for shoving Chicago's Scottie Pippen to the floor in Monday's game.

Rodman sent a letter to Pippen, apologizing for the incident and adding: "Good luck in the NBA Finals - it's a tough road ahead of you."

Pippen said he was skeptical of Rodman's apology, suggesting someone else might have written it.

But the Rodman incident was quickly fading into the background as the Bulls shifted their focus to the West Coast, where Portland confronts the Lakers at the Forum tonight in Game 6 of the Western Conference finals.

Connors, Becker fight back to win

PARIS (AP) - Champions. Boris Becker and Jimmy Connors demonstrated the meaning of the word in French Open matches they so easily could have lost.

Connors, savoring an improbable comeback at age 38, jumped to a two-set lead over Ronald Agenor on center court Wednesday. "I can't play much better than that," he said.

Then things fell apart. Agenor evened the match at two sets each and seemed poised for victory when he won three of the first four games in the final set. Connors somehow shifted back into a gear few players have and won 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 0-6, 6-4.

"Once it got into the fifth, and it was a matter of who was going to get down and dig and grind and do whatever it takes to win the match, I'm pretty happy in that position," Connors said.

Becker, the No. 2 seed, dropped his first two sets to Todd Woodbridge and fell behind 1-3 in the third while hampered by a thigh injury.

Becker fought, and eventually won 5-7, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 in 4 hours, 25 minutes.

Becker's foremost rival, top-seeded Stefan Edberg, returns to action today. He has a career 5-0 record against his scheduled foe, Austrian Horst Skoff.

Monica Seles, seeking to defend her women's title and No. 1 ranking, was to face South Africa's Mariaan de Swardt, and third-seeded Gabriela Sabatini was matched against Emanuela Zardo of Switzerland in second-round play.

Petra Langrova 6-0, 6-1.

Fourth-seeded Mary Joe Fernandez defeated Germany's Sabine Hack 6-4, 6-0; No. 5 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario beat Australian Kristin Godridge 6-1, 6-2; No. 11 Katerina Maleeva beat Japan's Akiko Kijimuta 6-2, 6-3, and No. 13 Nathalie Tauziat beat fellow Frenchwoman Nathalie Guerree 6-2, 6-1.

But two seeded women lost in straight sets. Regina Rajchrtova of Czechoslovakia upset ninth-seeded Manuela Malceva-Fragniere of Switzerland and American Ann Grossman ousted No. 15 Natalia Zvereva of the Soviet Union.

Among the men, fourth-seeded Andre Agassi moved into the third round with a 6-1, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Petr Korda of Czechoslovakia.

"It was one of those days when everything falls into place," said Agassi, who next plays John McEnroe's younger brother, Patrick. Also advancing, after difficult matches, were 10th-seeded Michael Chang and France's best hope, No. 7 Guy Forget.

The No. 5 seed, Spain's Sergi Bruguera, withdrew with back problems while leading Italy's Omar Camporese. And 11th-seeded Emilio Sanchez, another Spaniard with success this year on clay, was ousted by Switzerland's Jakob Hlasek.

Chang, winner of the French Open in 1989, will meet Connors in the third round.

Twins score five times to spoil Ryan's return

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

While the return of Nolan Ryan from the disabled list was not an event worth remembering, baseball's no-hit king assessed his loss to the Minnesota Twins with mixed emotion.

"It felt fine physically," Ryan said after allowing five runs in four innings of the Texas Rangers' 9-1 loss Wednesday night. "I was pleased with the way my arm felt, but I was disappointed by the way I pitched.

Disappointed, but not surprised. "I figured I wouldn't have good command because of the layoff," Ryan said. "I showed that if you make bad pitches you are going to get hit hard.

"They were hitter's pitches, hanging curves and fastballs up in the zone. I don't expect any stiffness or discomfort."

A three-run homer by Greg Gagne, who had four RBIs to tie his career high, was the big hit off Ryan (3-4). Pitching for the first time since

"It's always something to get one off Ryan," said Gagne, who was given the ball after a fan threw it back on the field.

The night belonged to Gagne and Jack Morris, who pitched a four-hitter straining a shoulder muscle on May 13, Ryan allowed five hits, struck out four and walked one.

while striking out a season-high eight. Morris (5-5) has won five of his last six decisions after an 0-3 start.

The loss was the second straight for Texas, which had won 14 in a row prior to being shut out 3-0 Tuesday night.

from Scott Sanderson.

Barfield hit a three-run opposite-field homer off Tom Bolton (5-2) to cap a four-run first inning.

Kevin Maas and Steve Sax also homered to back the combined five-hit pitching of Sanderson and Steve Farr.

Streak over, Rangers move on

ARLINGTON (AP) - The "streak" is over, but somehow the Texas Rangers managed to win 14 straight games without Nolan Ryan.

"If I had to find a perfect time to be on the disabled list it was during the winning streak," Ryan said. "We were hitting the ball so good they didn't need me."

Ryan returned to the starting rotation Wednesday night against the Minnesota Twins after giving his shoulder plenty of rest. But the enforced sabbatical dulled Ryan's razor-sharp throws.

In four innings, Ryan allowed five runs on five hits, struck out four and walked one in the Twins' 9-1 victory.

Although Ryan missed out on the streak, he did start out the Rangers' "May miracle" with his seventh no-hitter May 1.

Scott Erickson will be remembered as the pitcher who stopped Texas' streak, the longest in the majors since Oakland won 14 in a row in 1988.

"They got me the first time and I got them this time," Erickson said. "I learned something the last time against them."

The Rangers fell to the Twins 3-0 as Erickson pitched eight shutout innings and gave up only seven singles.

"You've got to pitch good to beat this team," said Minnesota manager Tom Kelly. "You can't slide by with a half-baked effort."

Texas entered the game with the major league's top hitting percentage of .294 and the best slugging percentage at .447.

"They hit me pretty good the last time (10 hits in seven innings including two homers) and we had all week to talk about this start," Erickson said.

In each of the games during their winning streak, the Rangers had produced at least five runs and nine hits a game.

The Rangers hadn't been shutout since Baltimore's Jeff Robinson did it on April 19th in a 5-0 Orioles victory.

"It's not like we were going to win all the rest of them," said Texas manager Bobby Valentine. "What I hoped we learned was not to get caught up in all the garbage about the streak."

"It's a 162-game season and that was just a fanfare stretch."

The Rangers Ruben Sierra said the streak showed Texas' potential.

"Now it's over," he said. "What this shows is that we are capable of doing it, but we knew we couldn't win them all. Erickson pitched a great game."

It was Texas' first loss since May 11 at Boston.

The streak moved Texas from sixth place in the American League West into first with an .011 percentage point lead over Oakland before Wednesday night's game.

"The streak provided some hope for diehard Ranger fans that a pennant might finally come to Arlington Stadium," said owner George W. Bush. "But we still have a long, hot summer ahead."

It was the 19th time in AL history and the 38th time in major league history that a team had won at least 14 straight games.

"We'd just like to be a contender at the end of the season," Bush said.

Ryan's earned run average jumped from 2.94 to 3.56. The 44-year-old right-hander, who pitched his seventh no-hitter on May 1, missed two starts while on the DL. It was only the fourth time in 70 starts with Texas that Ryan hadn't lasted at least five innings.

After Texas took a 1-0 lead in the first on Brian Downing's double and Ruben Sierra's single, the Twins struck for four runs in the second.

After consecutive doubles by Kent Hrbek and Chili Davis, Ryan issued a walk and Gagne followed with his fifth homer.

Elsewhere, it was California 8, Chicago 4; New York 7, Boston 0; Toronto 8, Oakland 3; Baltimore 2, Cleveland 1; Seattle 8, Kansas City 0, and Milwaukee 6, Detroit 2.

Blue Jays 8, Athletics 3

Joe Carter hit a game-tying two-run homer and Devon White - who had three hits and three RBIs - a go-ahead single in the decisive sixth inning.

Jimmy Key (7-2) allowed three runs on eight hits in six innings. He struck out three and walked two. Tom Henke, the fourth Toronto pitcher, came on to retire Rickey Henderson with the bases loaded and the Blue Jays ahead 5-3 in the eighth.

Orioles 2, Indians 1

Bob Melvin drove in the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

Jeff Robinson, Todd Frohwrth and Gregg Olson combined to limit Cleveland to four hits. Robinson (3-4) gave up one run in 7 1-3 innings. Olson pitched the ninth for his seventh save.

Reliever Mike Walker (0-1) took the loss.

Mariners 8, Royals 0

Brian Holman pitched a four-hitter and Pete O'Brien homered as Seattle ended a seven-game losing streak.

Holman (5-5) got his second shutout of the season and fifth of his career. He gave up four singles, two to rookie Brent Mayne. Holman struck out six and walked four in beating Mike Boddicker (3-4).

Brewers 6, Tigers 2

B.J. Surhoff had three RBIs, including a two-run triple in a four-run fourth inning, and Jaime Navarro won his third straight game.

Navarro (5-2) allowed six hits, struck out six and walked one.

Hershiser positive about debut

By The Associated Press

Orel Hershiser came up a big winner even though he was the loser.

More than a year ago, Hershiser hurt his shoulder and some thought his career was in jeopardy. But the former Cy Young Award winner had revolutionary reconstructive surgery on his right shoulder and then went through months of rehabilitation.

He returned to the mound at Dodger Stadium Wednesday night and gave up four runs on six hits to Houston in the first inning. The Astros went on to beat Los Angeles 8-2 behind Pete Harnisch.

"I feel good about what happened out there tonight," Hershiser said. "I feel good about the way I threw the ball. If I don't give up a hit to the pitcher and I don't balk, they only get two runs. So I really buried myself."

In four innings, Hershiser gave up four runs and nine hits - all singles. He walked three and struck out four.

"I just hope everyone understands. What they are seeing, and what I am living, is a miracle," said Hershiser, who inspired the Dodgers to a World Series victory over Oakland in 1988.

The first four Houston hitters singled and scored - but in fairness to Hershiser, it wasn't like he was being bombed. The Astros entered the game averaging 3.5 runs a game.

"I think Orel pitched better than the box score is going to show," Dodgers catcher Mike Scioscia said. "I think he's back. I really expect Orel to be a big part of our staff this year."

The crowd cheered when his first pitch to leadoff hitter Steve Finley was called a strike, and groaned collectively as the next pitch was grounded to deep short for an infield hit by the speedy, left-handed hitting Finley.

Pirates 6, Cardinals 0

Zane Smith pitched Pittsburgh's second one-hitter in three days against St. Louis.

Smith's one-hitter came two days after Doug Drabek one-hit the Cardinals in an 8-0 victory. It was the second one-hitter of his career, and second in 20 starts with the Pirates. He held the Mets to one hit last Sept. 5.

Smith (7-2) won for the fifth time in six starts and lowered his ERA to 2.19.

Barry Bonds' RBI double in the fourth gave the Pirates the lead and they scored four more in the fifth off Bryn Smith (4-3).

Phillies 2, Expos 1

Charlie Hayes, who earlier snapped an 0-for-31 streak, led off the eighth inning with a home run.

Hayes' fifth homer came on a 1-0 pitch from Barry Jones (2-2), and made a winner of Terry Mulholland (6-3).

Mulholland, who has worked through at least eight innings in six of his last seven starts, gave up six hits in eight innings. Mitch Williams worked the ninth for his ninth save.

Mets 8, Cubs 1

Dave Magadan drove in three runs and David Cone pitched a seven-hitter.

Magadan singled home two runs during a five-run third off Bob Scanlan (2-1) and had an RBI single off Rick Sutcliffe during a three-run fourth.

Cone (5-3) wild-pitched Ryne Sandberg home with the bases loaded in the first inning, but struck out Andre Dawson and Chico Walker, stranding runners on second and third.

Giants 6, Reds 1

Matt Williams hit a wind-blown, opposite-field homer to key a four-run seventh inning off Chris Hammond (3-3).

Willie McGee drove in three runs with two hits.

Francisco Oliveras (1-1) was the winner with two innings of scoreless relief of John Burkett, who left the game after five innings after being hit with a line drive.

Braves 5, Padres 1

Tom Glavine pitched a seven-hitter for his sixth straight victory and took over the NL ERA lead at 1.99.

Glavine (8-2) threw his second straight complete game to extend his league-lead to five. He was two outs away from his second shutout when Shawn Abner, who was hitting .167, hit his first homer of the season.

Terry Pendleton went 3-for-5 to extend his hitting streak to 13 games and Dave Justice snapped out of a 2-for-18 slump with an RBI double and opposite-field homer off Andy Benes (2-6).

Angels 8, White Sox 4

Chuck Finley became the first American Leaguer to win eight games, and hot-hitting Dave Winfield led California's 15-hit attack.

Wally Joyner had the tie-breaking RBI in California's six-run sixth inning, during which the White Sox committed two of their four errors. Winfield was 3-for-5 with his eighth homer.

Finley (8-2) survived a four-run Chicago fourth to beat Greg Hibbard (3-3).

Yankees 7, Red Sox 0

Jesse Barfield continued his assault on Boston by hitting one of three New York homers, and the surging Yankees got strong pitching

from Scott Sanderson.

Barfield hit a three-run opposite-field homer off Tom Bolton (5-2) to cap a four-run first inning.

Kevin Maas and Steve Sax also homered to back the combined five-hit pitching of Sanderson and Steve Farr.

Fort Worth track opens

WILLOW PARK, Texas (AP) - The gates at Trinity Meadows Racetrack are ready to unleash quarter horses and thoroughbreds, ushering in a new era of pari-mutuel wagering in North Texas.

Post time for the first of 10 races at the new Class 2 track was scheduled for 4 p.m. today, with thousands expected to attend. The track will bring back horse racing to the area for the first time in nearly 54 years.

Fans had to wait almost one week longer than planned, as the Texas Racing Commission delayed the scheduled May 24 opening. The commission withheld its final approval when construction fell behind schedule.

"Now we're just putting the finishing touches on some painting and drainage and in the paddock area," Rick Callaway, Trinity Meadows general manager, said Wednesday.

He said construction crews used the six additional days to put the finishing touches on many areas of the state's newest track.

West Texas wine industry growing up

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK (AP) - Nicknames like Cactus Blanc, Chateau de Bubba and Cowboy Cabernet have all but disappeared.

Texas wines, for years a novelty product in a state better known for Texas tea, have grown up after 15 years on the vine.

The industry has earned a reputation nationally and even internationally among wine connoisseurs for pleasing the haughtiest of palates.

Soviet president Mikhail Gorbachev sampled Texas wine at Camp David. Foreign leaders attending the Economic Summit in Houston last summer drank the libation during formal dinners.

And Queen Elizabeth, who is completing a tour of the United States, will likely have a sip of the Lone Star State's finest as well.

"You can bet that when the queen is here she will be presented with some Texas wine to take back with her to spread across and enjoy in Great Britain," said Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry. "I'll give it to her myself."

In spite of the high-class clientele, the Texas wine industry is hardly resting. In fact, the winemakers are working overtime trying to impress its native consumers.

More than 90 percent of Texas table wines are sold in-state. But Texas wines comprise only 2 percent of the state's overall wines sales.

"We have to hook Texas first, and there is so much potential it's frightening," said John Fitzgerald, director of the Texas Wine Marketing Research Institute at Texas Tech.

"We are conducting studies to determine who our consumers are and how we can get them to try a Texas wine over, say, a California wine. We still have a lot of marketing to do."

With $249,000 allocated by the state over the past two years, the wine institute has compiled data on how best to bring chardonnays and sauvignons to dinner tables in Texas.

The institute, which focuses on promotion and leaves production to colleges, also is plotting an advertising campaign similar to those launched by the national orange growers and American beef and dairy producers.

"Texas has a definite mystique about it," said Rob Becker, general manager of Teysha Cellars in Lubbock. "If a wine says Texas on it, someone is willing to buy it. But over the past few years, the novelty has worn off. People now are buying the wine because of the taste."

"We are finally out of that Chateau Bubba classification," said John Lowey, president of Llano Estacado Winery in Lubbock, the state's largest wine producer.

Industry officials agree Texas wine has made great strides since the twist-off tops and peach desert vintages of the mid-1970s.

Indeed some of the early Texas wines were so bad that one winery hired a bulldozer to crush 1,500 cases of its early stock. Today, however, tasting rooms across the state display plenty of medals won at international

NEW YORK (AP) - John Guare's "Six Degrees of Separation" was named the best play of the 1990-91 theater season by the New York Drama Critics' Circle.

"Our Country's Good" by Timberlake Wertenbaker was picked as best foreign play, and "The Will Rogers Follies," a Ziegfeld-like song-and-dance extravaganza directed by Tommy Tune, won as best musical.

A special citation Monday went to Eileen Atkins for her portrayal of Virginia Woolf in the one-woman show "A Room of One's Own."

and national competitions. Industry officials are fighting for federal funds and using the 3-year-old Texas Wine Marketing Research Institute to help promote the award-winning vintages abroad.

Texas is the fifth largest consumer of table wines nationwide. But it still is way behind states such as California, New York and Massachusetts in per capita consumption.

A Texan consumes .86 gallons of table wine per year, while a Californian drinks 2.55 gallons per year, according to figures compiled by the wine institute.

"Flat out, not enough people know what a great thing we have going in the vineyards of Texas," Perry said.

Perry said the Texas Department of Agriculture is also planning to promote Texas wines in a campaign that could be launched as early as this fall.

"We consider wine grapes to be just as important as cotton, cattle and mohair, which are products we lead the nation in," Perry said. "Obviously, we don't lead the nation in wine production, but we're working on it."

Perry said the TDA would help wineries secure federal funds allocated each year for the promotion of "regional high-value products."

The California wine industry was awarded $15 million in export promotion funds from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in fiscal year 1991. The Texas wine industry did not receive a penny. "We need to demonstrate that we are credible contenders in the export market," said Lowey, whose wines are currently marketed in seven countries. "As Texas and other states develop their wine exports consistently, I would like to see some of those dollars come away from California."

The Texas wine industry has grown from one winery in 1976 to 26 today primarily because of the excellent grape growing conditions in three regions of the state.

The High Plains and Trans-Pecos area of West Texas produced 84 percent of the state's wine grapes in 1990, while the Hill Country and North Central Texas produced about 9 percent and 4 percent respectively.

Warm days in Texas cause the grape to build sugar and cool nights help the grape retain acid for a mix crucial to producing premium wines.

As recently as three years ago, some Texas wineries had to turn back business because they were short on supply. But hundreds of acres of grapes have completed their three-year maturing process, helping balance supply and demand.

The high cost of planting grapes, up to $8,000 an acre, initially kept many farmers from getting into the business. But those who persevered are being rewarded.

"We'll pay a high dollar for premium grapes," Lowey said.

Roy Renfro, president of the Texas Grape Growers Association, said quality, rather than quantity, has been stressed from the beginning.

"In growing grapes, the quality of the fruit is where the winery and other grape processors make the profit," Renfro said. "It's a very specialized type of agriculture that requires nurturing every day, unlike row crops such as cotton or grains."

As Texas wines become more familiar, the wineries will have a better focus on the ultimate goal: To make a dent in California's stranglehold on the U.S. wine market.

"This is Texas so we have to think big," Fitzgerald said. "Certainly California is way out in front and maybe always will be. But they are the competition and we are striving for market share."

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE PUBLIC BUDGET HEARING
The Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County will hold a public hearing on the budget for the period of October 1, 1991 through September 30, 1992 at 9 AM on June 10, 1991 in the Commissioners Courtroom located on the second floor of the Courthouse in Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. A copy of the proposed budget is on file and available for inspection in the County Clerk's Office in the Courthouse Monday through Friday from 8AM to 5PM. This notice published in the Hereford Brand and posted on the bulletin board in the Courthouse on the 23rd day of May, 1991 by Alex Schroeter, County Auditor.

"TEXAS" opens 26th season on June 12

Beginning the second century, the musical drama "TEXAS" opens its 26th season on June 12, as the sun lazily slips behind craggy peaks and the majestic Palo Duro Canyon walls dress for evening in brilliant shades of reds and golds.

During the next 64 performances 100,000 visitors will discover the serenity, pomp and pageantry of the nation's most attended outdoor drama that will play nightly except Sundays through Aug. 24 at 8:30 p.m. in the State park located near Amarillo and Canyon.

This season Director Neil Hess has incorporated the 25th anniversary additions with a new and dramatic patriotic theme.

Prior to the opening night performance on June 12, the non-profit producing organization, the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation will recognize the Spaniards and Mexicans. In honor of 450th anniversary of Coronado's crossing the area, the group will host a festive reception and entertainment from 6-6:30 p.m.

"Folklore Amarillo" will dance from 6:30-7 p.m.

Everyone who attends "TEXAS" in 1991 will have an opportunity to register for free airfare for two to Mexico. American Airlines will provide the air transportation. A drawing will be held at the final performance of "TEXAS" on Aug. 24.

Following the reception, members and officers of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., will be recognized during an opening ceremony on stage in the theater at 8:15 p.m.

The Don & Sybil Harrington Foundation with the Amarillo Area Foundation, The Meadows Foundation of Dallas, and the D.D. and Nonn Payne Foundation, all of which aided in the half million dollar renovation of the basic electrical system of "TEXAS," will also receive acknowledgment.

"TEXAS" begins at 8:30 p.m. as two horsemen ride the canyon rim, raising the American and Texas flags in salute to the sound of a lone bugle.

Some 600 feet below, the stage of the Pioneer Amphitheater fills with a cast of 80 actors, singers and dancers who "invite you all to come to "TEXAS.""

Written by the late Pulitzer Prize winning playwright Paul Green, "TEXAS" is just now able to fulfill much of the author's foresight. Although the script never changes, Green envisioned spectacular effects that have only become technically possible in recent years.

The 1991 cast and crew of "TEXAS" come from 14 states and two foreign countries (Thailand and Australia).

Over 2.3 million visitors have seen "TEXAS," and last year 110,621 visitors came from every state and 105 foreign countries.

For reservations to "TEXAS," write P.O. Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2181. Tickets are $12, $9, and $6 for adults, and $12, $4.50 and $3 for children.

An optional barbeque dinner is served by Stephen's of Amarillo for an additional $6 per person prior to every performance.

Wall coverings replace paint as decorator trend

The current decorator trend to treat walls like an artist's canvas has opened up a whole new spectrum of wall coverings, making the look available to those who can't afford the skills of a professional painter.

"Painterly effects are among the hottest looks in wallpaper," says Jeanne Byington, public relations director of the Wallcovering Manufacturers Association.

Reviewing the latest sample books, Byington finds a number of new patterns with small doodles and geometric figures. Others have spatter designs, as though an artist had taken a freshly dipped paintbrush and shaken it over a canvas.

Wall coverings that imitate brush strokes and reproduce effects such as marbling, glazing, rag-rolling and sponging also are on the increase. So are cubist patterns reminiscent of the canvases by Picasso and Braque. Trompe l'oeil - French for "fool the eye" - designs are among the most imaginative new wall coverings.

"Some recent trompe l'oeil patterns are of fabric tassels, intricate plaster moldings, decorative woodwork, a stone wall, book endpapers, a shelf of books, antique silk and a Harris tweed pattern so realistic you need to touch it to be sure it isn't wool," Byington says.

In the past, when the wall covering was to be a background for framed art, experts advocated a neutral color and quiet pattern such as a linen weave, delicate marbled pattern or thin stripe.

Now they take a more adventurous approach. Stanley Hura, a New York designer, says you can hang art against a livelier wall covering - even a bright plaid or vivid stripe - if you use a large mat around the artwork and choose a frame in keeping with the wall covering.

"I have seen a 20-by-20-inch mat on a 4-inch-square photograph," Hura says.

A less expensive option to tapestries and murals for centuries, wallpaper became fashionable in France in 1754 when Madame de Pompadour ordered paper for the walls of the chapel at Versailles. Ever since, it's been a creature of fad and fashion.

Other newsworthy patterns for wall coverings, according to Byington:

STRIPES range from pencil thin to the width of a man's tie. Those who prefer a softer, more informal look can choose from an assortment of freehand and ribbon stripes with soft edges. Some are tied in a bow.

The broadest stripe is 3 1/2 inches wide. Broken stripes and patterns with as many as six colors also look new. Some patterns alternate solid 1-inch stripes with stripes made up of a group of thin lines. Fresh color combinations are black and gray and tomato red and white. Byington has seen unusual colors such as mustard, mocha and chocolate in striped wallpaper.

BORDERS continue to be quite popular. New subjects include dolls in Victorian costume, antiques, baskets, skyscraper motifs, tassels, seascapes, mosaics, Palladian windows and cherries.

ANIMALS starring on wallpaper include oversized birds, coyotes, pheasants, fish, geese, horses and dogs in hunt scenes. There are also children's block prints that reproduce old-fashioned wood building blocks with animal images of horses and elephants.

SHINY wall coverings, such as a black and white style that looks like patent leather, may have polka dots and other geometric patterns. Shiny designs, reminiscent of 1950s styles, are getting a boost from the current fad for '50s furnishings.

FLOWERS, though always one of the most popular subjects for wallpaper, are turning up in greater variety and with more botanical accuracy.

"It's not just roses or stylized flowers," Byington says. "but botanically accurate pansies, lilies of the valley, anemones, daisies, tulips, peonies, geraniums and flowering topiaries."
