Bush begins visit; Gulf moves afoot

By BRIAN MURPHY
Associated Press Writer

U.S. and Saudi troops backed by hundreds of planes staged maneuvers near the Kuwaiti border today, and Secretary of State James A. Baker III was in Europe for talks to include the Persian Gulf crisis.

President Bush was to leave Washington this evening to join Baker for further discussions with allies, then spend Thanksgiving with U.S. soliders in Saudi Arabia in the first presidential visit to front-line troops since Vietnam.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein suggested a peaceful solution is still possible and indicated he could release foreign hostages if Bush promised not to attack Iraq.

But U.S. officials are gauging international reaction to a possible Security Council resolution to authorize U.N. force to drive Iraq from Kuwait. Some diplomats say the resolution could come by the end of the month.

The Soviet Union's top Middle East envoy, Yevgeny Primakov, said talks on a "face-saving" Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait could include discussions on the Palestinian question.

About 1,000 U.S. troops and an unknown number of Saudi soliders are taking part in the six-day "Imminent Thunder" maneuvers, which began Thursday about 100 miles south of the Kuwaiti border.

Also involved are about 1,100 aircraft and 16 ships, including the aircraft carrier USS Midway.

The exercises have been denounced by the Iraqis as "a clear act of provocation," but U.S. Navy spokesman Cmdr. J.D. Van Sickle said it was purely for training and the "Imminent Thunder" code name had no particular significance.

The U.S. military gave no location for an amphibious landing expected Sunday. Conflicting media reports said it would be anywhere from 10 miles to 75 miles south of the Kuwaiti border. No live ammunition is to be used.

Bush last week ordered an additional 200,000 troops to the gulf to join the nearly 230,000 already there. More than 300,000 soldiers from 26 nations are presently in the gulf.

Saddam, who seized Kuwait in a dispute over oil, land and money, said Iraq still seeks a peaceful solution.

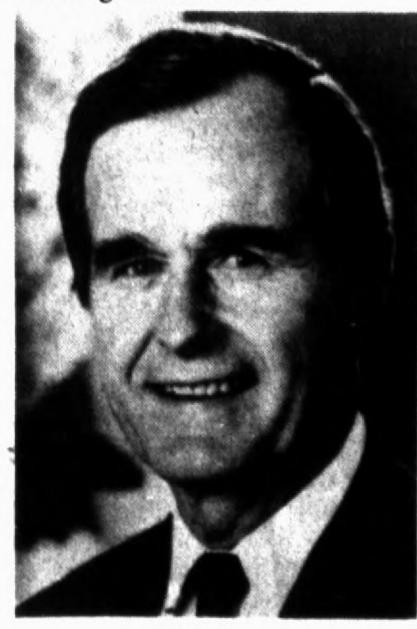

"Iraq, for its part, sees that the right way to go is the course for peace, and that peace should be comprehensive, complete and final," Saddam said in an ABC-TV interview broadcast Thursday.

But Saddam did not elaborate on the framework of a possible peaceful settlement and noted that "whoever hits us, we shall hit them back." Saddam has earlier stressed linking talks on Kuwait to the question of Israel's occupation of lands claimed by Palestinians.

Primakov, in a speech Thursday in New York, said that the world should do "everything possible" to encourage Iraq to leave Kuwait, including holding an international conference that would address the Palestinian question.

He said Saddam should be given the opportunity for a "face-saving" withdrawal from Kuwait.

A proposal by King Hassan of Morocco for an Arab summit on the gulf crisis collapsed Thursday when it was rejected by presidents Hosni Mubarak of Egypt and Hafez Assad of Syria, who said Iraq insisted on holding onto Kuwait.

BUSH

Bush pledges no unwinnable wars

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush, leaving tonight on an eight-day trip to the Middle East and Europe, vows he will not plunge the United States into a Vietnam-like war "that we cannot win" in the Persian Gulf.

"There's not going to be any long drawn-out agony of Vietnam," Bush said Thursday in an interview on Cable News Network. He said the reason he is sending 200,000 more troops to Saudi Arabia was to demonstrate to Iraq's Saddam Hussein that "we are deadly serious" about demanding that he withdraw his troops from Kuwait and free all hostages.

Bush also cautioned that Saddam is "trying hard to get an atomic weapon." And he said the world will have to insist on international guarantees against further aggression by Iraq even if it pulls out of Kuwait. The president's hard-line remarks signaled anew that he is not in the mood to compromise with Baghdad over its invasion of Kuwait.

Bush said he was not interested in arranging a face-saving gesture for Saddam to sound a retreat.

"When you rape, pillage and plunder a neighbor, should you then ask the world, 'Hey, give me a little face, give me a little face-saving so I can do what I should have done months ago?'" Bush said.

The Persian Gulf crisis was at the top of the president's agenda as he prepared to depart tonight for Czechoslovakia, the first stop on a journey that also will take him to Germany, France, Saudi Arabia and Egypt.

The emotional high point will be a Thanksgiving Day visit with U.S. forces in the desert sands of Saudi Arabia.

There also will be news on other fronts. He will be the first U.S. president ever to visit Czechoslovakia.

And, during a three-day summit in Paris, Bush will join Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev on Monday in signing a historic East-West treaty sharply reducing non-nuclear forces that both NATO and the Warsaw Pact maintain in central and eastern Europe.

Bush and Gorbachev are to meet privately and are expected to discuss the deterioration of the Soviet economy. The administration is developing contingency plans to provide emergency food and medicine to the Soviet Union

State defends school finance system

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas' revamped school finance system is "a good faith effort by the 71st Legislature" and should be declared constitutional, state lawyers said in a brief filed with the Texas Supreme Court.

Attorney General Jim Mattox's office said in the brief filed Thursday that State District Judge Scott McCown was wrong to rule the system unconstitutional before it had a chance to work.

"In the end, the trial court's judgment was based upon the fact that it did not trust the various elected officials involved in the process to make the right decisions," the state said.

It cited such phrases by McCown as "the Legislature has given itself plenty of room to do nothing" in future years under the new law.

The Supreme Court has scheduled arguments in the case for Nov. 28. Poor school districts are asking the court to again declare the state's public education finance system unconstitutional.

McCown ruled the system unconstitutional in September, after lawmakers passed a law meant to reform it this summer.

The law, Senate Bill 1, gave an additional $528 million to schools for 1990-91 in what was called the first step to an equitable system. SB 1 was passed in response to a 9-0 Supreme Court decision scrapping the school finance system.

The Texas Constitution requires courts to give deference to co-equal branches of government, the state said in its brief.

"The district court erred in failing to give deference to the Legislature's assumptions and in setting SB 1 aside before implementation," it said. The state said McCown substituted his assumptions for those of lawmakers.

The Supreme Court is hearing the case after a group of poor school districts appealed McCown's decision not to put an immediate stop to the current school finance system.

The state said the system should be allowed to continue, and asked the Supreme Court to reverse McCown's ruling.

It said if the court decides it was not wrong for McCown to rely on his own assumptions about the case, the Supreme Court should allow the lower 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin to review disputed facts in the case before acting.

In his ruling, McCown said the $14 billion-a-year system is unconstitutional because it doesn't give all schools "substantially equal" access to funds for a similar tax effort.

He gave lawmakers until next September to change the system, which relies on state aid, local property taxes and some federal money.

3 of Keating 5 had large role

WASHINGTON (AP) - Three of the "Keating Five" senators were deeply involved in helping financier Charles H. Keating Jr. strong-arm federal banking regulators, and in some cases discussed money and favors at the same time, the Senate ethics counsel says.

Democratic Sens. Alan Cranston, Dennis DeConcini and Donald Riegle played the largest roles in helping Charles H. Keating Jr. seek waivers of federal rules limiting risky savings and loan investments, the Senate Ethics Committee's lawyer said as the panel opened hearings Thursday.

Special counsel Robert S. Bennett - who concludes his summation of evidence today - assigned lesser roles to Sens. John McCain, R-Ariz., and John Glenn, D-Ohio.

"While Senator Cranston and DeConcini were by far the most active on Mr. Keating's behalf, the evidence shows Senator Riegle played an important role in the early stages," Bennett said.

"On the other hand, it is to be said for Senator Riegle that like Senators Glenn and McCain, his efforts on behalf of Lincoln appear to have ended as of April 9, 1987."

On that date, the five lawmakers were told by federal officials that criminal referrals involving Keating's Lincoln Savings and Loan Association would be made to the Justice Department.

Cranston, of California, was the only one of the five senators who did not attend Thursday. He begins radiation treatment for prostate cancer next week and, after today's session, may miss much of the proceedings.

The five senators are accused of improperly intervening with federal banking regulators on Keating's behalf. Riegle, of Michigan, is chairman of the Senate Banking Committee. DeConcini is from Arizona.

Keating and his associates contributed more than $1.3 million to the senators' campaigns or favored causes. His California-based S&L's collapse may cost taxpayers as much as $2 billion. Keating is free on bail while facing fraud charges in California.

Bennett said Cranston continued contacting federal regulators on Keating's behalf after being told that criminal complaints about Lincoln would be referred to the Justice Department.

Cranston received the most money from Keating, including $850,000 to three voter registration projects he backed. Bennett said Cranston, a liberal Democrat, should have questioned why a conservative such as Keating would give money to causes that probably would lead to more black and Hispanic voters.

"I will give you many instances where acts and money were discussed at the same time and hundreds of thousands of dollars, in the case of Senator Cranston, passed in an office in this building," Bennett said.

Evidence shows DeConcini offered a deal on Keating's behalf to top thrift regulator Edwin Gray, Bennett said. DeConcini has denied such a quid pro quo was offered.

City gets airport grant

The Federal Aviation Administration has awarded a $900,000 grant to the City of Hereford for the Hereford Municipal Airport, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm announced Thursday.

The funding is for expansion and reconstruction of the main runway at the airport.

"I believe in assuring that Texans get a fair return on the tax dollars we send to Washington," said Gramm.

"So I am pleased that the federal government is sending this money in order to make permanent air safety improvements which will benefit Texans."

The FAA administers the grant program under its mandate of assuring safety at public-use airports and assisting in the development of airports to meet current and future demand for public service.

Patients' heart risk possible false scare

DALLAS (AP) - Doctors may be giving bad advice about the dangers of heart disease by not considering the interaction of risk factors such as high blood pressure, high cholesterol and smoking, a doctor said Thursday.

"Based on single factor determinations, they may be needlessly alarming or falsely reassuring patients," said Dr. William B. Kannel of Boston University.

Kannel is one of the principal investigators with the Framingham Heart Study, a 40-year-long study of 5,209 people in Framingham, Mass., 25 miles west of Boston.

The study has provided the information researchers use to determine how much an elevated cholesterol level, for example, or hypertension, increases a person's risk of heart disease.

Kannel and the American Heart Association announced the development of a "risk factor prediction kit" that will enable doctors to better estimate patients' heart disease risks.

The kit, based on the Framingham data, allows doctors to calculate the heart disease or stroke risk associated with a given combination of risk factors, Kannel said.

"We need a more efficient profile to pick out the ones who are truly in jeopardy," Kannel said at the heart association's annual meeting.

He said 30 percent to 40 percent of Americans, for example, have cholesterol levels high enough to require treatment.

Many of those might not have substantially increased heart-disease risks, however, Kannel said.

A patient with mildly high cholesterol and no other risk factors may have only one-tenth the increased risk of a patient with the same cholesterol level who also has high blood pressure, is overweight and smokes, Kannel said.

"The problem everybody hasn't fully appreciated is that the risk varies over a 10-fold range" for each single risk factor, depending upon what other risk factors are found in combination with it, he said.

The major controllable risk factors for heart disease are cigarette smoking, high blood pressure and high cholesterol, the heart association says.

Other risk factors can't be changed. Increasing age raises the risk as does a family history of heart disease. And men have substantially higher risks than women.

The risk factor prediction kit takes into account age, sex, cholesterol, blood pressure, smoking and the level of high-density lipoproteins, the so-called good cholesterol.

Dazzling night launch sends Atlantis on Iraqi spy mission

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Atlantis settled into orbit under a communications blackout after a dazzling nighttime launch of the Pentagon's last secret shuttle mission. The ship reportedly carried a spy satellite aimed at Iraq.

Riding a 700-foot column of yellow flame, the shuttle lifted from its seaside launch pad at 6:48 p.m. Thursday, climbed smoothly into darkness, slowly dimmed to a speeding star and then winked from view more than 350 miles downrange.

Atlantis' five-member, all-military crew reportedly planned to release a satellite that will focus cameras or electronic signal detectors on the Middle East, where American troops stand poised against Iraq.

A news blackout has been imposed on the mission, cutting off public release of communications between the crew and Mission Control. Only bare status reports will be issued during the four-day flight.

It was the first flight in eight months for Atlantis, one of two shuttles grounded during the summer because of hydrogen fuel leaks.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration chief Richard Truly said it was "just about as smooth a countdown and liftoff" as he has ever seen. "We've got a good bird, a healthy crew and a good mission on the way," he said.

The mission is the seventh and final secret military flight planned for a shuttle. The Air Force has said that unmanned rockets, principally the Titan 4, will be used in the future to launch secret spy and communications satellites.

Col. Frank Stirling, who heads the Titan 4 program, said unmanned rockets offer greater reliability than NASA's fleet of three and ultimately four shuttles.

"With Titan we have a continuing production line with many Titans available, so that if we should ever have a problem or an outage with the vehicle, we would still be able to recover and continue operations," he said.

The Pentagon will use the shuttle twice in 1991, but both missions are unclassified.

Atlantis' crew consists of Air Force Col. Richard Covey, mission commander; Navy Cmdr. Frank Culbertson Jr., pilot; and Army Capt. Charles Gemar, Air Force Lt. Col. Carl Meade and Marine Col. Robert Springer, all mission specialists.

Although details of Atlantis' mission are military secrets, published reports have identified the cargo as a satellite that will conduct either electronic eavesdropping or photo surveys of the Persian Gulf area, including Iraq. The reports said that while Atlantis was grounded because of the fuel leaks, the Air Force satellite was modified for Middle East surveillance.

Atlantis was the fifth of 37 shuttle flights to be launched in darkness and the fifth shuttle mission of 1990, a year in which NASA was plagued with shuttle problems.

Atlantis and Columbia were grounded after dangerous hydrogen leaks developed during launch attempts. In trying to solve the problem, NASA replaced Atlantis' external fuel tank, some plumbing and valve seals.

Atlantis and Columbia were cleared for flight last month.

NASA officials were clearly relieved Thursday night.

"It puts Atlantis back into flying status again," said launch director Bob Sieck. "In a few weeks, we expect to have Columbia there too. So we'll have all three shuttles flying again."

The third shuttle, Discovery, flew last month. Columbia is being prepared for launch in December.

Gorbachev promises to shakeup military and save economy

MOSCOW (AP) - President Mikhail S. Gorbachev today promised a shakeup in the military leadership and defended his plan to rescue the collapsing economy and prevent rebellious republics from breaking away.

It was not immediately clear why Gorbachev was calling for the shakeup and he did not elaborate in his speech to lawmakers in the Supreme Soviet legislature.

He denied he had lost the support of the army, as one legislator implied after a meeting between the Soviet president and deputies serving in the military.

The official Tass news agency said Gorbachev told legislators that there would be personnel changes in the higher commanding echelons of the armed forces and documents were being prepared for submission to the legislature.

Gorbachev also said that in the near future, he would nullify decisions by union republics and local governments that denied soldiers and their families civil rights, particularly in the independence-minded Baltic republics.

He was responding to legislatures in several republics that deny some civil rights to members of the Soviet military and curtailed the draft in regions seeking independence.

The Soviet leader denounced what he called "vile rumors" that the country would suffer from cold and starvation during the upcoming winter and rejected the idea of a coalition government with the Russian Federation.

"No more defensive action; it is high time to launch an offensive," Gorbachev said, delivering a report to the Supreme Soviet at the demand of rebellious deputies.

Gorbachev's report came as he was losing support from former loyalists. The current Moscow News, a weekly that has been a supporter of his reforms, urged him "to either prove your ability to take decisive actions or resign."

"At your demand, you were given additional powers," the publication's founders said in an open letter to Gorbachev. "Today, you can either use them for establishment of a dictatorship or for deepening democratic perestroika. A dictatorship will lead you and the whole country to ruin."

Gorbachev rejected accusations that the central government had no plans to combat the deteriorating economic and political situation and ethnic strife. "We have a concrete program, and it must be fulfilled."

Although the economic picture was bleak, Gorbachev rejected "vile rumors that the country will be hungry and cold." He explained that the problem lay in the delivery system and that there was ample food in the country to meet reasonable demands.

His speech came a day after Leningrad's City Council voted to join a growing list of Soviet cities rationing food.

Bowing to demands by legislators for a report on his meeting with Russian Federation President Boris N. Yeltsin last weekend, Gorbachev said their discussions were routine.

He said sharing power with only the Russian Federation would be unfair to the other republics. "In a coalition government, if Russian leaders take over, it will mean discrimination against the other republics," Gorbachev said.

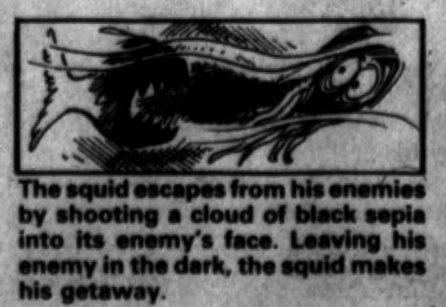

Instead, he repeated his call for a country unified by a new union treaty spelling out the relationship between the central government and the republics.

"We don't need political leaders who stimulate separatism and nationalism, we need help to consolidate the country," Gorbachev said.

All but one of the republics have declared some sort of sovereignty from the Kremlin and Gorbachev's plans for developing a market economy hinge on the republics staying in the union.

The Supreme Soviet session today was attended by most leaders of the 15 republics, union leaders and members of Gorbachev's advisory council.

There was no live television or radio coverage of Gorbachev's report.

Settlement benefits customers

AUSTIN (AP) - Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has stepped up its campaign to get the Public Utility Commission to approve a proposed rate settlement which is worth $1.2 billion in customer benefits.

"This is the best deal for the state of Texas and for our customers, as well as for our company," Bill Free, Southwestern Bell vice president, said Thursday.

But two PUC administrative law judges have recommended that the settlement be rejected because it would give customers a much smaller benefit than touted by Southwestern Bell. They also said the telephone company failed to show why its rates shouldn't be lowered further.

The settlement, which is opposed by private consumer groups and the state's utility consumer protection office, would freeze basic service rates.

The three-member PUC will consider Bell's rates Nov. 28.

Free blasted the PUC administrative law judges' recommendation that the commission throw out the proposed settlement. He said that recommendation was "illogical, wrong, a monumental waste of time and contrary to all credible evidence."

The proposal is worth $1.2 billion in customer benefits, including rate cuts, service improvements and investment in the network, he said.

There would also be $87.5 million in immediate customer credits if the settlement is approved by the PUC.

If you've ever felt "All work and no play made Jack a dull boy," welcome to the club!

While more and more individuals are personally crusading for world problems such as waste management, conservation of resources and other environmental issues, they are balancing these serious ventures with an insatiable preoccupation with childhood play.

This recent phenomenon has given rise to clubs-book, cooking and entertainment clubs-similar to the kids' club of bygone years.

Cooking clubs, for instance, offer recipes, preparation tips and special coupons to members. Other entertainment clubs appeal to on-the-go types who welcome theater, movies, sports and other leisure information and opportunities.

These new grown-up clubs perpetuate the excitement of receiving surprise packages, exclusive invitations, "inside" tips and personal correspondence via mail.

According to Nancy Albert, Communications Director for Kamora coffee liqueur and director of an ambitious new club, "Adult clubs aren't as different from kids' clubs as they may seem. Both serve the same purpose: to create a feeling of belonging and to fill the childlike need for excitement and surprise."

"A club must fulfill its promise to deliver interesting, continuous benefits to members in order to be recognized as fun, cutting-edge organization," said Albert.

The "Kamora Culinary Club," combines cooking, entertainment and trend information. It offers members travel, food and spirits discounts; recipes; time-saving ideas; entertainment tips; gift offers; trend information and more at a nominal membership cost.

"Kamora is America's fastest-growing imported coffee liqueur," said Albert. "The Kamora Culinary Club is just one way we can offer fabulous opportunities to long standing and new Kamora fans."

As adults try to recapture the mystique and nostalgia of comic book characters from decades past and as they strive to find that fun, "cool" sense of belonging, clubs are rapidly emerging as the perfect tonic. New adult clubs refresh, enliven, inform and unite a burgeoning class of grown-ups still seeking childhood entertainment.

Womble speaks to club

Bennie Womble presented a program on early day Hereford and Deaf Smith County, concentrating on the Womble family, to members of La Plata Study Club Tuesday evening.

Womble showed family pictures depicting life on the Plains where there were no hills, no trees, or rocks and things the family were accustomed to in their native Tennessee. Much of his discussion came from a book that is being written about the family by an aunt.

He presented historic events and amusing stories of the early years. His discussion was supplemented by historical and amusing facts presented by others in the audience who represented pioneer families.

The programs for the club have centered around the 100th anniversary of Deaf Smith County.

Thanksgiving dinner was served in the home of Mary and Dean Herring. Members were served from a table centered with a Thanksgiving theme and guests were seated at tables depicting the theme of the season.

Following the dinner, a brief business session was conducted by President Mildred Fuhrmann.

Those attending were Mozelle Neill, Betty Mercer, Margaret Schroeter, Dorothy Ott, Mary Fraser, Ronald Fuhrmann, Don Mitchell, Doug Bartlett, Jim Mercer, Eldon Fortenberry, Don Taylor, Philip Shook, Frank Prowell, Raymond White, Fred Fox, Womble, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Helms.

Give my sight to the man who has never seen a sunrise, a baby's face or love in the eyes of a woman. Give my heart to a person whose own heart has caused nothing but endless days of pain. Give my blood to a teen-ager who was pulled from the wreckage of his car, so that he might live to see his grandchildren play. Give my kidneys to one who depends on a machine to exist. Take my bones, every nerve and muscle in my body and find a way to make a crippled child walk.

Explore every corner of my brain. Take my cells, if necessary, and let them grow so that, someday, a speechless boy will shout at the crack of a bat and a deaf girl will hear the sound of rain against her window.

Burn what is left and scatter my ashes to the winds to help the flowers grow.

If you must bury something, let it be my faults, my weaknesses and all prejudice against my fellow man.

Give my sins to the devil; give my soul to God.

If, by chance, you wish to remember me, do it with a kind deed or word to someone who needs you. If you do all I have asked, I will live forever.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a problem that is not life threatening nor does it involve counseling, but it has been bothering me for some time.

I often hear the expression "I couldn't care less!" I also hear people say, "I couldn't care less!" Why are these two totally different phrases used with the same connotation?

"Couldn't care less" means one cares as little as possible and does not show any hint of concern. On the other hand, "could care less" means one cares somewhat now but could show less concern at another time. "Couldn't care less" shows the lesser concern of the two, but these seemingly opposite expressions are often used interchangeably. The both can't apply to the same degree of concern, so only one can be right. Which one is it? -- Someone Who Couldn't Care More in Pewee Valley, Ky.

DEAR PEWEE: I have responded to this question before but I continue to get it from time, so I'll answer again. I go with "couldn't care less" since it seems to make more sense.

Herd hopes to 'floor Mats

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces will be in for a real head-knocker when they host Lubbock Estacado at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Whiteface Stadium in a Class 4A Bi-District playoff, according to head coach Don Cumpton.

"We played the district for four years," Cumpton said, "and every one of our games went down to the wire. They have always been a good, clean hard-hitting bunch. I think this one could go down to the last play of the game."

Cumpton said a major key for the Herd (the number one seed out of District 1-4A at 5-4-1) will be executing and cutting down on mistakes.

"If we can go in there offensively," he said, "and execute - not make any mistakes, not give them anything cheap, not turn the ball over - we've got a chance to beat them. And you're going to do those things your team does best."

Cumpton said staying with what the Herd knows best is the only way to approach the game.

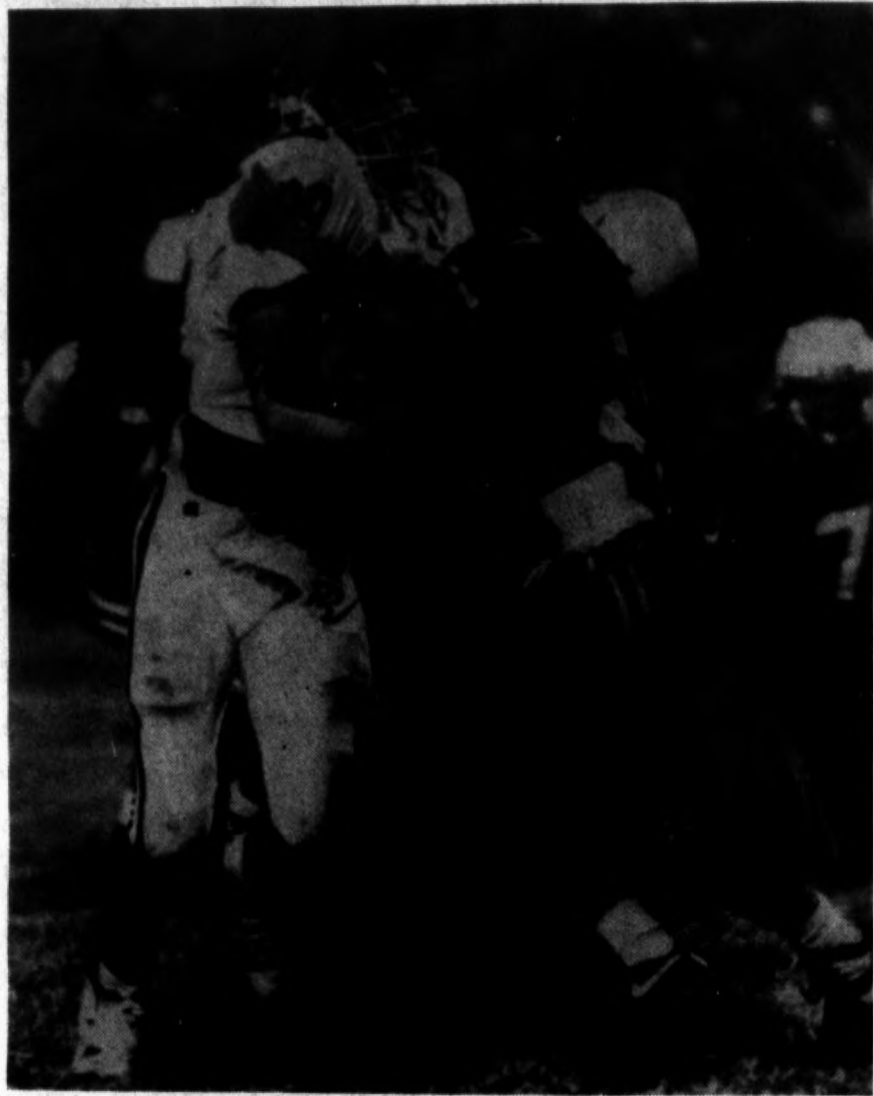

"When you get into a big game like this," he said, "you're going to do what your team can do best and execute because that's the key to the game, how well you execute."

"We're going to do what we've been doing; what's been good to us. We're not going to change anything. You can't afford to at this time of year."

Standing in the way of the Herd will be a Matador defense that allowed less than 20 points per game during the regular season.

"Our evaluation is their defense the strength of their ball club," Cumpton said. "They've got good size and good range. They're not bad on defense. They haven't given up a lot of points."

"The real key for us is, number one, we've got to match them on defense. We've got to play great defense. And number two is when we've got the football we've got to move the chains. We don't have to

Hard to hold

Hereford Whiteface tailback Matt Bromlow (39) attempts to break a tackle during last week's 35-10 win at Berger. Bromlow, who finished the regular season as the 10th-best rusher in the state in class 4A with 1,249 yards, will lead the Herd into the Bi-District playoff with Lubbock Estacado at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Whiteface Stadium.

score every time, but we've got to keep some form of a ball-control attack. I think we can do it. That's going to be our biggest challenge."

"They haven't really done anything fancy on defense. They stunk some, but they're pretty standard. They just line up there and play, and they play good."

Cumpton added that Estacado (District 2-4A runner-up at 8-1-1) possesses an offensive attack that compliments the Mats' defense well.

"They're a good solid ball club," he said. "They don't have the great breakaway back they've had in the past. They're a lot more of a ball-control type team this year than we have seen them in the past. And they've been pretty good at that. They've got that big ol' offensive line up front (averaging 223 pounds tackle to tackle)."

"They run the fullback quite a bit. The run the fullback, the tailback and the wingback reverse. They're very similar to what we do, but they do not run any option."

The Matadors have also been putting the ball in the air with more frequency this season, Cumpton said. "They're throwing a little bit more," he said. "Not a lot, but a little bit more. Mostly play-action stuff."

"Their passing game is more geared to a big-play type deal. They try to lull you to sleep and run and run and run and then go deep with it. We've got to be alert and not let anybody get behind us."

As always, the Matadors are blessed with an abundance of speed, and Cumpton hinted that the Whitefaces may go with pooching and squibbing their kickoffs to slow Estacado down.

"We'll mix it up," he said. "We'll pooch kick some and maybe kick it deep. And that depends on the weather and how the wind and those kind of things as to how you approach that kind of stuff."

"But special teams will be a factor. They always are. We've tried to emphasize that to our team. The kicking game will be a factor."

One area the Herd may have an advantage in is health. Hereford has not had a starter miss a game because of injury in four weeks while the Mats have recently been without starting quarterback Zebbie Lethridge and All-State tailback Robert J. Johnson. Both are expected to play Saturday.

Cumpton said it does make a difference going into the postseason at full strength.

"We were healthy last year," he said. "And we've been fortunate the last month, we just haven't had any injuries. That's good ... knock on wood. We've been lucky."

Pheasant season means much to area

What's this region's biggest tourist attraction during the month of December? Hint: It flies. Second hint: Hunters come from all over the United States including Kansas just to hunt this exotic fowl. That's right, it's the beautiful ring-neck pheasant.

Mark your calendars because Dec. 8-23 is pheasant season. The numbers are still below normal but a two-bird limit can be taken if hunters are willing to walk that extra field.

Thanks to the cooperation of our farmers, local civic clubs, Chambers of Commerce and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, hunting opportunities exist for virtually every sportsman. It is a credit to all concerned that nature's best eating and prettiest trophy is available to the public.

No longer do our sportsmen take their hunting money out of state; now visitors bring in valuable dollars that circulate in our economy. If you have any doubt about the economic impact during pheasant season, just try to purchase a motel room on opening weekend.

Perhaps we ought to let these hunters know that we appreciate them and encourage them to visit us more often. Who knows, one of these hunters just might be a key player in deciding where to expand a business.

Our next several columns will list some of the open pheasant hunting opportunities. If your group wants to be included on this list, make sure someone contacts us in care of this newspaper. We will need the phone number for reservations and any details such as cost, headquarters, dates and times.

Quail hunters report that the coveys are smaller and fewer. The rains fell at the wrong time and the number of times is down from last year. Generally, hunting is better in the north and east areas because these areas were a little wetter this year.

We are still working on the 1990 edition of Outdoors Christmas shopping list. If you are tired of receiving skinny ties and loud sweaters, now is the perfect time to drop us a note with your gift suggestion. We will add your suggestion to our 1990 list and then you can clip out the entire list and circle your own suggestions.

Hornet QBs sting defenses

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer

Throwing a football comes quite naturally in the Clements family.

Last year it was Steve Clements who shredded opposing defenses on the way to the career passing lead with 8,204 yards. He also led Huntsville to an 11-3 record and the state quarterfinals.

So this year, when Steve moved on to the University of Texas, the state's defensive backs probably thought they could breathe more easily.

Wrong. Huntsville junior Chuck Clements has stepped right in and taken over, thank you.

The youngest son of Hornets coach Joe Clements completed 164 of 283 passes for 2,492 yards and 25 touchdowns while becoming the second consecutive Clements to win the Class 5A passing title.

In 4A, another Hornet, Athens quarterback Blake Armstrong, was the passing leader with 2,314 yards.

Chuck also has the Hornets, 9-1 and No. 8 in the Associated Press Schoolboy Poll, back in the thick of the state championship hunt.

Ho hum. Just another season for the Clements quarterback factory. Joe Clements said he was surprised at Chuck's performance.

"I didn't really think he'd do this well," Joe Clements said prior to Huntsville's 34-17 win over Conroe McCullough.

It was one of Chuck's more mediocre performances. He completed 16 of 27 passes for 295 yards and three touchdowns, but he had seen better days, such as 354 yards against Waco, 336 against Silsbee and 327 against Conroe.

"I hoped for the best and expected the worst," Joe Clements said. "He's really been a pleasant surprise."

Chuck is less surprised at his success and said he is capable of even more.

"It really doesn't surprise me ability-wise," he told the Huntsville item. "I always felt I had the ability to do it. Getting out there in front of the lights and the crowd and doing it is something different."

"I haven't clicked in all aspects. My game hasn't come together like I know it can."

Meanwhile in Athens, Armstrong was busy living up to his name for the second consecutive year.

Armstrong completed 156 of 291 passes for 2,314 yards while gliding to the 4A passing crown. He won the title last year with 2,400 yards.

Given Armstrong's outstanding statistics, it's no coincidence Athens receiver Mike Richardson was the state's best at his position with 61 catches for 1,021 yards.

The senior quarterback said his favorite target doubles as a close friend.

"We get along real well,"

Armstrong said. "I've thrown the ball to him since we were in the seventh grade and we have a good relationship off the field. We joke around with each other a lot."

Armstrong, who first tossed a football when he was 5, has become accustomed to success.

"I think I was a little surprised (at being the state's leading passer) last year as a junior," he said. "I didn't think I had it in me. But this year it didn't surprise me as much."

Athens coach Billy Mitchell said Armstrong's determination and leadership skills are what boost his team most.

"He's a leader and the kids respect him because of his ability," Mitchell said. "He gets a lot of ink in the papers, but he can back it up. The kids respect that."

Frosh girls hold off Vega, 29-26 Playoff tickets still available

I'll take that

Chasity Rickman of the Hereford Lady Whiteface freshman Maroon team flies through the lane for a rebound during Thursday's game with Vega as teammates Jaime Simpson (22) and Lori Coronado (30) look on.

The Hereford Whiteface sophomores and Lady Whiteface freshman Maroon basketball teams opened their seasons Thursday with varying amounts of success.

The Herd sops dropped an 86-41 decision to Amarillo Palo Duro at Whiteface Gymnasium while the freshmen girls held off Vega 29-26 at the HHS Gym.

Palo Duro 86, Herd sops 41
With most of the Hereford squad having had only three days in the gym after the end of football season, Palo Duro had little trouble dominating the game.

The Dons edged out to 19-15 lead after the first quarter, then opened up a 20-point advantage at 37-17 in the second. Hereford bounced back with nine straight points to close the gap to 37-26 at halftime.

Palo Duro widened its lead with a 16-9 third-quarter advantage before outscoring the Herd 23-6 over the final eight minutes.

Both teams had three players finish in double figures with PD's Cassius Williams leading all scorers with 23 points. Chad Backus added 16 and Gary Middleton 10 for the Dons.

Hereford was paced by Michael Kubacak with 12 points with Michael Melendrez getting 11 and Chad Sandoval 10. Jason Tatarevich added four points for the Herd while Cory Scott and Reuben Gutierrez each scored two.

The sophomores will return to play at 3 p.m. Saturday when the visit Amarillo Tascosa. The game has been moved up from its original 4:30 p.m. start because of Saturday's football game.

Frosh girls 29, Vega 26
Hereford overcame a fourth quarter in which the Herd did not score a point to hold off Vega's comeback attempt.

The Herd posted a 14-8 lead in the first quarter as Jill Walser and Jennifer Holmes each scored four points. Hereford upped the margin to 22-13 at halftime as five different players put the ball through the hoop.

Hereford outscored Vega 7-4 in the third period to go up 29-17, but failed to get a shot to fall in the final eight minutes.

Vega's Toni Schenk, who led all scorers with 17 points, provided all the offense in the fourth quarter with nine points, but Hereford's defense held down the stretch.

Hereford was led by Holmes with eight points while Walser finished with six. Lori Coronado added five for the Herd with Shambryn Wilson scoring three. Amanda McMeen, Michelle Brock and Irene Medrano each had a basket and Chasity Rickman hit one free throw.

Tickets for Saturday's Bi-District playoff game between the Hereford Whitefaces and Lubbock Estacado are still available.

Reserved-seat tickets may be purchased at Troy's Sweet Shop through noon Saturday. Advance tickets are $5 for adults and $2 for students.

All general-admission tickets at the gate will be $6 regardless of age.

Notre Dame facing hard road on way to Orange

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The road to a possible national championship Orange Bowl game resumes Saturday and it figures to be little rockier for No. 1 Notre Dame than for No. 2 Colorado.

The nation's top two teams have agreed to meet in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Night, even though the official invitation can't be tendered for more than a week.

Notre Dame's invitation, that is, Colorado has earned an automatic berth by clinching at least a share of the Big Eight crown. The Buffs need only a tie at home against Kansas State to become the first team other than Nebraska and Oklahoma to win consecutive titles since Missouri in 1941-42 - when the league was known as the Big Six.

Meanwhile, Notre Dame is home against No. 18 Penn State, the second of its killer trioka of Tennessee-Penn State-Southern Cal. The Orange Bowl will be holding its breath.

So will some other bowls whose teams haven't yet qualified under the NCAA requirement that a bowl team must have a winning record. Teams on the bubble include 5-3-1 Baylor (Independence Bowl), 5-3-2 Syracuse (Aloha), 5-5-0 Air Force (Liberty), 5-3-1 Indiana (Peach), 5-3-1 Michigan State (John Hancock), 5-2-2 Tennessee (Sugar, Fiesta, Gator or Peach) and 5-4-0 Alabama (Sugar, Fiesta, Gator or Peach).

Other games that could have an effect on the bowl picture include Rutgers-Temple, Syracuse-West Virginia, Cincinnati-Alabama, North Carolina-Duke, Baylor-Rice and Air Force-Texas-El Paso.

Colorado is a five-touchdown favorite over Kansas State, one of college football's losingest programs (305-525-40). This year, though, the Wildcats are 5-5 and are shooting for just their third winning season in 36 years, a stretch that includes five winless campaigns - including 1987 and 1988 - and five others with just one win.

"Probably the most improved team in the country," Colorado coach Bill McCartney called the Wildcats. "They've really upgraded their personnel. Their quarterback, Carl Straw, is seasoned and tough and he's thrown for over 2,000 yards.

"They have good receivers, which gives them a wide-open and dangerous passing game. This is a worthy opponent, one we can't overlook."

And despite Penn State coach Joe Paterno's paeans, there is no way Notre Dame will overlook the Nittany Lions, a traditional power with a seven-game winning streak after an 0-2 start. The losses were to Texas and Southern Cal by a total of nine points.

"Notre Dame is a great football team," Paterno said. "We obviously will have to play better than we ever played. It will be a real challenge to go out there and be in a competitive game with them."

The rest of the Top 10 finds Boston College at No. 3 Miami, No. 4 Georgia Tech at Wake Forest, No. 5 Brigham Young at Utah, No. 6 Florida at Kentucky, No. 7 Texas at Texas Christian, Maryland at No. 8 Virginia, Memphis State vs. No. 9 Florida State at Orlando and No. 10 Washington at Washington State.

Also, Eastern Washington at No. 12 Houston, Purdue at No. 13 Iowa, No. 14 Tennessee vs. No. 15 Mississippi at Memphis, Minnesota at No. 16 Michigan, South Carolina at No. 17 Clemson, No. 19 Southern Cal at UCLA, No. 21 Ohio State at Wisconsin, No. 22 Illinois at Indiana, No. 23 Michigan State at Northwest-ern and Georgia at No. 24 Auburn.

No. 11 Nebraska is idle and No. 20 Louisville and No. 25 Southern Mississippi have concluded their regular seasons.

McCartney has impressed upon his team that "Oklahoma and Nebraska both suffered long droughts when they were not able to run the ball against Kansas State. That surprised me. They forced Oklahoma and Nebraska to punt more this year than I'll bet they have in the last five years combined."

It would be surprising if Colorado were unable to run on the Wildcats because tailback Eric Bieniemy leads the nation in rushing with 151.3 yards a game.

This marks the third straight year that Notre Dame is ranked No. 1 against Penn State. Paterno hopes his defense is up to the task.

"I don't know whether we're physically capable of matching up with the Irish," Paterno said.

Ten tips on a picture perfect paint job

Painting the interior or exterior of your home is the easiest and most affordable way to redecorate for a fresh new look.

Before beginning a painting project, many do-it-yourself painters have a number of questions. To make your next painting project a success experts have the answers to the most frequently asked painting questions.

1. How much paint do I need?
As a general rule, a gallon of paint should cover about 400 square feet over a smooth, sealed surface. However, different factors may come into play, such as how porous a surface is, or whether it has already been painted, so it's always a good idea to carefully read the label.

2. What's the difference between gloss levels?

A gloss finish is shiny, light-reflective, and has high washability. A flat finish is matte and light absorbent, with a low washability. The perfect balance between the two is a satin finish. Read the label to find out what's best for the particular room you're painting.

3. Is it O.K. to use latex over oil-based paint?

Yes, but only if you prepared the surface properly. Paint won't stick to a dirty or glossy surface. And yes, it's also O.K. to use oil over latex.

4. Do I use oil primer or latex primer.

Generally, for interiors you'll want latex primer over drywall or plaster and oil-based primer over wood trim and metal. Oil-based primer is best for exterior wooden siding.

5. How can I get one-coat coverage?

Follow the directions on the can. Apply the paint generously and avoid excessive spreading, and you'll cover most colors in one coat. One coat coverage is easiest to achieve when you buy top quality paint, rollers and brushes.

6. What type of paint works best for a specific room.

There's no hard and fast rule. A flat finish looks nice in the living room and bedroom and is perfect for ceilings because of its low reflectivity. Semi-gloss enamel is the best solution in rooms subjected to more moisture and wear and tear, like the kitchen or bathroom. A satin finish is perfect anywhere in the house.

7. How do you treat mildew before painting?

Scrub the surface with a solution of one part bleach, three parts water. Rinse and let dry completely before painting.

8. How do I prepare the surface before painting?

While this varies according to the project, you always want the surface to be clean, dry, smooth and gloss-free, whether you're working inside or out. Read the label for more surface-specific instructions.

9. How do product warranties work?

Most product warranties for paint are limited to replacing the product or giving you your money back. Warranties do not cover labor cost.

10. How can I tell what the color will look like on the wall?

A wall color's appearance is affected by what offsets it: drapes, carpet, woodwork, etc. The type and amount of lighting also has a strong effect on color. In general, you can expect a color to appear a shade darker on the wall than on the chip, something to keep in mind if you're choosing pale pastel colors.

By following these tips, you can feel confident that your painting project will give you a look that you will be proud of and enjoy for years to come.

Eye care prevents blindness

An estimated 500,000 Americans are legally blind and some 47,000 lose their sight each year to disease and eye injury. According to the experts at the Better Vision Institute, however, scientific advances in eye care mean half these cases are preventable or treatable.

The four most common eye conditions leading to blindness are glaucoma, cataracts, muscular degeneration and diabetic retinopathy.

Early diagnosis and treatment by a professional can, in most cases, prevent blindness. Many eye diseases progress unnoticed until loss of sight indicates a problem. Regular eye exams are the best way to detect a problem in time to fix it.

Ninety percent of the estimated 40,000 cases of accidental vision impairment that occur each year are also preventable. Read first-aid recommendations on cleaning supplies and other household products. Wear safety goggles for sports and activities that may endanger the eyes. In case of an eye injury, seek professional attention promptly.

The Better Vision Institute emphasizes that a basic knowledge of first-aid for the eye and regular visits to an eye care professional are two key steps in preventing blindness and other eye and vision problems.

Institutes of learning were first called "universities" in the 12th century.

Celebrate the harvest, Thanksgiving with flowers

The feast of "Harvest Home" was shared by English villagers when they brought home the last loads of grain from the fields. It was a celebration of the final harvest of the season and people rejoiced and gave thanks that their work was done and they had food to sustain them through the winter. The origin of today's Thanksgiving springs, in part, from this old custom.

The pilgrims of Plymouth carried on their ancestors' tradition of giving thanks following their treacherous journey from England to the New World. When their first successful harvest was gathered, they celebrated with a sumptuous feast of corn and wild turkey.

Today's Thanksgiving celebration includes some of these same traditions: a feast fit for any king, colorful fall decorations, and the company of relatives and friends.

And when people gather together on the fourth Thursday of November, they give thanks for their blessings and express gratitude for their good health and fortune, just as the pilgrims and English villagers did over 300 years ago.

As was true with the early Thanksgiving celebrations, floral decorations are still used to adorn holiday tables and serve as symbols of bounty and celebration. With this in mind, Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD) designed a special gift to help create a festive mood for the holiday season.

The FTD Autumn Harvest Bouquet is an array of rich fall colors with a touch of the old "Harvest Home" tradition. Wheat stalks and oak leaves reminiscent of early Thanksgiving celebrations accent the vibrant floral hues of yellow, orange and red carnations, butterscotch pompons and yellow daisy pompons.

This arrangement is a perfect addition to any holiday table and can be used to express a variety of sentiments during the holiday: tell relatives or friends in distant cities you're thinking about them; say thank you for being invited into your host's home; or decorate your own table. Everyone can appreciate the thought and expressiveness behind a holiday arrangement. And, after the excitement of the holiday has ended, the flowers will serve as beautiful reminders of a special holiday.

For advice on selecting the perfect floral arrangement to express your feelings during the holiday, consult your local FTD florist.

Revenge is not always sweet... It can be deadly.

Tonight, see the real stories of people obsessed with getting even... and driven to murder.

Help bring them to justice.

Save your sight

You and your family are at risk for vision loss, especially if you don't seek regular professional care.

In this country, many lose their sight each year from cataract, glaucoma and diabetic retinopathy. Even measles-related vision loss is increasing, due to a gap in many children's inoculation schedules. Cataract, a clouding of the lens of the eye, causes millions of new cases of blindness annually around the world. Even in developed nations such as the United States, many people aren't aware of the dangers of untreated cataract, or don't realize they are afflicted. Cataracts develop gradually, without pain or redness in the eye, and can best be detected by regular ophthalmic examinations. Fortunately, most cataracts may be successfully treated with surgery.

Glaucoma, an increase in the pressure of the fluid within the eye, is also a silent disease. Groups such as Lions clubs often conduct glaucoma screenings at local health fairs and other community events. However, diagnosis of glaucoma must be made by a physician through a simple, painless procedure—an exam many people are careless about scheduling. Undetected glaucoma can cause vision loss, even blindness. Most at risk are people over age 40, those with diabetes or high blood pressure, and blacks. However, everyone should be tested for glaucoma regularly. Anyone over age 40 should be tested once every two to three years.

Surprisingly, diabetic retinopathy, a complication of diabetes, is responsible for the majority of new cases of blindness in the United States, and throughout the developed world. Anyone with diabetes is at risk, and may eventually develop vision impairment. Most frightening are the risks facing people with diabetes who are unaware they have the disease. As the symptoms of Type II diabetes are usually less severe, millions don't realize they have the disease. Damage to the heart, kidneys and eyes often results from untreated diabetes—even blindness.

Although many groups and clinics offer free diabetes screening, diagnosis must be made by a physician. The earlier treatment begins, the lower the chances of impairment. Cataract, glaucoma and diabetic retinopathy and to a lesser extent, measles, are serious causes of vision loss. Technology does exist to lessen their severity or even reverse their effects. Unfortunately, many people aren't aware of the risks they face in losing their vision. Many new cases of blindness can be eliminated by public education efforts. Reminding people to have annual checkups, providing free vision screening and educating people about the risk factors associated with diabetes, volunteers dedicated to serving the community. This year, the Lions have also introduced SightFirst, a global blindness prevention effort.

In the United States and elsewhere, Lions' SightFirst programs will educate the public about eye care, and conduct vision screenings, build clinics, provide eye glasses, fund surgery and purchase medical supplies. Their efforts will work to eliminate all types of preventable blindness.

The tragedy of blindness is often avoidable. Make sure your family is aware of the special risks they may face, and has regular eye exams. Their health and sight rely on it.

Make your car safe for winter

A change in seasons is a good time to give your car a quick checkup for safe and trouble-free driving.

Lights OK? Wipe grim off windshield wipers; replace if worn. Brakes OK? Check tires for wear and recommended pressure; too many drivers run tires too soft, hurting handling, fuel mileage and tire life. Most tires are "all-weather," but consider snow tires if you need them.

If you face really cold weather, make sure your car's ready. If starting's balky, your battery may need charging or replacing. Remember, a good synthetic engine oil flows easily at 35 degrees below zero F. for easier starting and faster lubrication. Sluggish running may suggest a tuneup.

Check drive belts, hose and fluids: OK an window-washer? Radiator coolant full? Remember, it isn't just an antifreeze, but helps prevent rust and corrosion; renew every two years at least.

The kangaroo rat, a tiny desert rodent, has never been known to drink water. It gets all of the moisture it needs from desert roots and herbs.

The Junior and Senior High Youth Fellowships will meet from 6-7:30 p.m. Sunday at the church.

The Adult Fellowship Progressive Dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at the home of Ken and Idie Gearn for hors d'oeuvres. Those planning to attend need to contact Velta King.

There will be a Sunday school teachers' meeting in the large fellowship hall following the Sunday worship service.

The Women's Bible Study Class will meet at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the church. Helen Rose will lead the study in Romans.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Ben Bedford, a missionary from Argentina, will be the guest speaker during the regular 11 a.m. Sunday worship service. At 7 p.m., a city-wide Thanksgiving service will be held at the Assembly of God Church, 606 E. 15th St.

There will be no services Wednesday. Also, the church offices will be closed Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving holiday.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Commitment Sunday will climax the annual stewardship drive program in First United Methodist Church on Sunday, Nov. 18. All members who have not already returned their commitment cards with pledges to the church budget for 1991 are reminded to do so during the morning worship service. On Commitment Sunday, an all-church dinner will also be held following the morning worship service.

Dinner, which will be catered by K-Bob's Steak House, will be served at noon in the fellowship hall. It will be a celebration of the completed stewardship campaign which has been conducted by the finance and stewardship committee. The Circuit Riders plan has been followed in this campaign as it has been in recent years.

Youth Handbells and the Youth Choir will meet at their regular times on Sunday afternoon. The Children's Choirs will perform during the morning worship service Sunday.

U.M.Y.F. will meet at Tony and Elaine Calkins' home at 341 Centre for their meeting at 6:30 p.m.

There will be no Kid's Day Out on Thursday due to the Thanksgiving holiday. The church office will close on Thursday and remain closed until Monday, Nov. 26.

The Hereford Ministerial Alliance will be having their annual Thanksgiving service Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church of Hereford with David Morris serving as host pastor.

The evening will feature congregational singing and special music lead by Richard Selmon of the First Assembly of God Church.

Larry Cothrin of Avenue Baptist Church will be bringing the special message.

The public is invited to attend.

Frio Baptist church wishes to invite the public to their regular services.

Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. and worship services start at 11:00 a.m.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

WISE KING SOLOMON: A GREAT LOVER OR—A GREAT DIPLOMAT?

I KINGS, CHAPTER 11, TELLS US... "SOLOMON LOVED MANY STRANGE WOMEN...THE DAUGHTER OF PHARAOH...AND WOMEN OF THE MOABITES, AMMONITES...ETC., ETC...AND SOLOMON HAD 700 WIVES, 300 CONCUBINES!"

SOLOMON FIRST MARRIED AN EGYPTIAN PRINCESS, THE DAUGHTER OF PHARAOH SIAMON XXIST DYNASTY (976-958 B.C.) WITH A FATHER-IN-LAW LIKE THIS, HE DIDN'T HAVE TO WORRY ABOUT TROUBLE ON HIS SOUTHERN BORDERS—IN FACT, EGYPT CONQUERED THE PHILISTINE STRONGHOLD OF GAZA, GIVING IT TO SOLOMON AS A WEDDING PRESENT!

ALL OF SOLOMON'S WIVES WERE PRINCESSES OF OTHER COUNTRIES AND FROM THESE MARRIAGES CAME GREAT TREATIES AND COMMERCE—SUCH AS CEDAR FROM LEBANON, TO BUILD HIS TEMPLE, FROM FATHER-IN-LAW, KING HIRAM OF TYRE!

HAVING THE RULER OF ALL HIS NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES AS A FATHER-IN-LAW, SOLOMON WAS SAFE FROM ATTACK AND SPENT ALL HIS TIME AND ENERGY IN MAKING HIS KINGDOM THE RICHEST IN THE NEAR EAST—IN THE ENTIRE 40 YEARS OF HIS REIGN, ISRAEL NEVER HAD TO GO TO WAR!

IT WORKED SO WELL, HE EVEN MARRIED OFF ALL HIS CHILDREN IN THE SAME MANNER!

NEXT WEEK: A MAN CAN WIN A BIG FIGHT JUST BY HOLDING HIS HANDS UP?!
