Stock show begins today

Steers will be weighed in this evening at 4 p.m. to officially start the annual Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show, which runs through Saturday at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford.

The actual show begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday with the steer show. Barrows will be judged Thursday at 4 p.m., and lambs will be judged Friday at 4:30 p.m.

The annual sale will be held at 12:30 p.m. Saturday. All events will take place at the Bull Barn.

Along with Deaf Smith County 4-H'ers and FFA members, the show will include exhibitors from Oldham, Castro, Parmer and Randall counties. However, only animals from Deaf Smith County exhibitors will be included in Saturday's sale.

Steers will be divided into three division, small frame, medium frame and large frame.

In the hog show, barrows will be divided into Berkshires, Chester Whites, Durocs, Hampshires, Poland Chinas and Spots, Yorkshires and Crosses, with weight divisions in each class.

In the lamb show, there will be five classes, including Purebred Finewool, Crossbred Finewool, Hampshires, Suffolks and Southdowns. Lambs in each class will be divided into weight divisions.

In each of the shows, a five-county grand and reserve champion will be selected. If the five-county winner is not a Deaf Smith County exhibitor, then a county grand or reserve winner will be selected.

Heading the show for the Hereford Young Farmers are general superintendents Bill Caraway, Gerald Marnell, Charlie Stengel, Ray Schlabs and Tom Schlabs.

Division superintendents include: MD, Franks, Rick Hales, Gerald Jesko, Jeff Mercer and Chris Urbanczyk, steers; Kevin Urbanczyk, Wade Boren, Daniel Olsen, Nicky Morgan, Brent Self, Chris Cater, Ronald Fetsch, Chad Strafuss, Kenneth Schlabs and Brian Urbanczyk, barrows; and Mark Urbanczyk, Chris Meiwes, Dennis Schilling, Terry Watson, Mike Meiwes and Arnie Artho, lambs.

The Deaf Smith County 4-H will operate a concession stand throughout the show and sale.

Enjoying beautiful weather in park

Amy Wray, left, and Patrick Hagemeier, both 7, enjoy a great day to ride the teeter-totter at Dameron Park in Hereford. A cold front cutting through the region today will end the spring-like conditions, with temperatures in the 30s and a chance of rain in the forecast for Wednesday and Thursday. The colder weather is here just in time for the Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show, which begins its five-day run with the weighing-in of steers today at the Bull Barn.

Kidnap charges pending

A 17-year-old girl was kidnapped and beaten unconscious several times Friday evening after a man grabbed her from her car and forced her into his pickup in the 800 block of Baltimore Drive.

The girl said in police reports that she and two friends were forced off the road in their vehicle when the man forced her into his pickup. She said in the report that the man had threatened to kill her before he released her Saturday morning.

Police plan to charge the suspect with aggravated kidnaping, but the alleged kidnapper was not in custody this morning.

Sign-up available for CHOF NY trip

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

It's not too late for local residents to sign up for the grand opening of the Cowgirl Hall of Fame Cafe in New York City on Feb. 12, it was reported Monday by Margaret Formby, CHOF board chairman.

Thirty people signed up earlier to take advantage of a special airfare package, but anyone who wants to be a part of the group in New York is still welcome, said Mrs. Formby. The only other arrangements being made are for the hotel.

Reservations are being made at the Intercontinental Hotel, with rates expected to be about $180-200 a couple. Anyone desiring to join the group should call the CHOF here, 364-5252.

Sherry Delarmarter, owner/manager of the Cowgirl Cafe, has a dinner party planned for the Hereford delegation on Feb. 11 at one of her four restaurants.

The Cowgirl Cafe will feature traditional Western foods like ribs, steak, chicken, and foods that feature a home-state of an honoree that will be highlighted on the menu.

Each quarter of the restaurant's dining area will showcase memorabilia of a CHOF honoree. Mrs. Formby said the Hall completed a licensing agreement with Delamarter recently. Part of the deal, said Mrs. Formby, is for Sherry to come back every year to prepare the reunion supper during the Rhinestone Roundup.

Formby said Delamarter will be featured in New York Woman magazine, and the New York Times is scheduled to publish a feature article on the new Cowgirl Cafe.

The Hereford group is planning to have a couple of days of free time while in New York City. Mrs. Formby urged other interested residents to call Hereford Travel Center about airfares.

The formal opening party will be open only to Hereford residents and the New York City press, said Formby. A feature will be the appearance of Patsy Montana, CHOF honoree, who was the first female country singer to sell a million copies of a record.

Bush meets on deficit reduction

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Bush is meeting with congressional leaders, and aides say trimming the nation's enormous budget deficit is the top item on the agenda.

Bush, who promised Congress an "offered hand" of cooperation, had a chance to make good on his words at today's meeting with House and Senate leaders.

Budget Director-designate Richard Darman said participants in the session would try to agree on the approach they will follow in negotiations over the federal budget. He called the meeting a chance "to rise above bickering and procedure."

Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater said Bush would not lay out specific budget proposals at today's meeting, preferring instead to wait until he addresses a joint House-Senate session on Feb. 9.

Bush has said he will outline modifications to Reagan's $1.15 billion fiscal 1990 budget at that time. However, Fitzwater said, today's session should set a pattern for future dealings between the Bush White House and Congress.

"He intends to meet with them frequently, to talk about a number of issues, talk about the budget process and planning, talk about foreign policy, bipartisanship," Fitzwater said. In his first working day on the job, Bush on Monday met with his Cabinet and attended a swearing-in ceremony for senior White House aides.

He also spoke to anti-abortion marchers through a telephone hookup, telling them abortion is an "American tragedy."

Bundy executed in Florida

STARKE, Fla. (AP)--Ted Bundy, the "diabolical" law school dropout who confessed to killing 20 women in four Western states, was executed in the electric chair today for the 1978 rape and murder of a 12-year-old girl.

At 7:06 a.m., six minutes past schedule, the executioner turned on 2,000 volts of electricity and Bundy gently arched back in the chair and clenched his fists. One minute later, the power was turned off.

"At 7:16 this morning, the doctor at Florida State Prison pronounced Theodore Bundy dead," said Jon Peck, a spokesman for Florida Gov. Bob Martinez. "He was executed right on schedule."

Bundy was condemned for the kidnapping, rape and murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach of Lake City. Her body was found in an abandoned pigsty. He also was sentenced to death for killing the two Florida State students in Tallahassee in 1978.

In his final statement, Bundy said, "Jim and Fred, I'd like you to give my love to my family and friends."

Jim Coleman is Bundy's attorney from Washington, D.C., and Fred Lawrence is a Methodist minister who spent the night in prayer with him.

In addition to praying, a remorseful Bundy, 42, also placed two last calls to his mother in Tacoma, Wash., to say farewell.

"He sounds wonderful," Louise Bundy said after the first telephone call. "He sounds very much at peace with himself."

At the conclusion of the second, Bundy's mother told him, "You'll always be my precious son," according to today's Morning News Tribune of Tacoma.

Bundy, who had dodged three previous execution dates through appeals, has been called a suspect in as many as 36 deaths.

The execution brought a sigh of relief in the LaConner, Wash., home of Vivian Rancourt, whose daughter, Susan, was among Bundy's victims. "Good," Mrs. Rancourt said when told Bundy was dead. "The only thing I can say is thank God, it's finally over."

Around 5:30 a.m., the final preparations began with a prison official shaving Bundy's head and right leg, where the electrodes were later placed.

Forty-two people witnessed the execution from behind a plexiglass partition. They included 12 official witnesses, among them a state representative and three state attorneys; 12 reporters; and 18 other people, mostly corrections officials.

More than 100 people supporting the execution and about two dozen against milled around outside the Florida State Prison. At 7 a.m. a small group of death penalty supporters lit sparklers and firecrackers and cheered, while opponents silently held candles and then held a memorial service.

Within a half hour of the execution, a hearse carried Bundy's body out of the prison to Gainesville for an autopsy.

Bundy, who dropped out of law school after a year, is believed to have stalked young women near college campuses, shopping centers and parks in the West and Northwest, targeting those with long, dark hair, parted in the middle.

Rogers says he didn't resign

Ken Rogers, former chairman of the industrial development committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, said Monday that The Brand incorrectly reported last week that he resigned as committee chairman.

"I have never resigned from anything in my life," stated Rogers. "The Chamber year ends on Dec. 31 and I simply stayed on as chairman, waiting for a new chairman and committee to be organized," added Rogers.

During a meeting of the industrial development committee last Tuesday, C of C director Temple Abney reported that Bud Eades had accepted appointment as the new chairman.

Lifestyles

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 34-year-old male. I tested positive for the HIV virus in November of 1985.

These past three years, I have remained in fairly good health, due to exercise, proper nutrition and regular sleeping habits. I neither smoke nor drink. Recently my T-cell count has declined, so I have started on a program of immunomodulators.

Although my physical condition is good, emotionally I'm a wreck. The long-term effects of living with this disease are indescribable. Some days my hands shake so bad, I'm sure some of my co-workers think I'm having withdrawal symptoms from drugs or alcohol.

Every cough, sneeze, ache or pain has become a cause for panic. I feel as if I'm living with a time bomb, never knowing when it will go off.

This is my third year of celibacy. My heart cries out for closeness, but I don't dare take the chance of infecting anyone. Total abstinence is a must for me.

Three good friends have experienced terrible deaths from this disease this past year. My best friend is now dying. AIDS has taken over my entire existence. I dream about it almost every night. All my spare time goes into volunteer work with the AIDS support group, helping others in pain and sorrow, has saved me from going to pieces.

I'm horrified when I hear of the irresponsible sexual conduct that is still rampant in many gay circles. These people must be insane. Don't they realize that one reckless encounter can be a death sentence?

If my letter can save just one person from this terrible sickness, my misery will not have been in vain. Thank you, Ann Landers, for the great service you provide.--F.R., Tallahassee, Fla.

DEAR FR.: It is you who has provided the service today and I thank you. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We need more women physicians, especially in family practice, gynecology and obstetrics.

I hate going to a male doctor and so do many of my female friends. Please, Ann, tell women physicians that we need them in our lives.--Indiana Plea

DEAR INDY: We're going to be seeing more women in medicine. Most medical schools have a female enrollment of 30 percent or more and the percentages are increasing all over the country. Thanks for giving me the opportunity to cheer them on.

La Plata Study Club hears about life in Yugoslavia

La Plata Study Club recently met in the home of Suzanne Stevens and heard a presentation from Anna Kovacs.

Kovacs spoke of her native country, Yugoslavia, and recounted how she and her family escaped after the Communist invasion following World War II. They came to the U.S. in the fall of 1951.

She told of their train ride from New York to Hereford and mentioned various things that happened after their arrival here, including enrolling the children in schools, learning the English language, and obtaining U.S. citizenship.

In other business, "Happy Birthday" was sung to Clara Brown.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Stevens and Audine Detman, to Brown, Peggie Fox, Mildred Fuhrmann, Julie Helms, Lois Matchett, Lavon Nieman, Margaret Schroeter, Rose Mary Shook, Yvonne Simpson, and Avis White.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR READERS:

During the winter season, when fireplaces are being used quite often, I receive many letters from readers asking how to clean the smoke-darkened areas of brick around the fireplace.

One way that I suggest is to use an art-gum eraser which can be purchased at an art supply store. The eraser can be kneaded until it becomes pliable, then pressed against the smoke-covered bricks. Repeat this procedure until the eraser has removed the smoke stains. When it becomes soiled, just knead it again and continue on.

Since the art-gum eraser works quite well on porous surfaces, if your fireplace has a smoother brick or stone surrounding it, it may take a little more work to remove the smoke stains.

When the eraser has removed as much of the smoke stain as possible, wash the brick with a solution of one-half cup trisodium phosphate (found in hardware stores) to a gallon of water. Caution: To protect your skin, be sure to always wear gloves when using trisodium phosphate and follow directions on the box.

There's nothing more unsightly than the face of a beautiful fireplace darkened with smoke. Follow these simple steps and enjoy the warmth and beauty your fireplace can add to your home. — Heloise

CLOTHES ROD ORGANIZER
Dear Heloise: I have four growing girls who are close in age. They share two bedrooms and two closets and I was constantly hearing "Your clothes are on my side" and disagreements about closet boundaries.

I solved this by collecting the plastic lids from coffee cans. I cut a hole in the middle of each lid large enough to accommodate the wooden clothes rod and then made a slit from the center hole through the outer rim. On each lid I wrote one girl's name with a permanent felt-tip marker.

I placed my new inventions on the clothes rod in the appropriate closet between each daughter's hanging clothes. Now they can tell at a glance where their boundary is and their clothes stay separated. — A Happy Mom, Tulsa, Okla.

BETTY STEPHAN, NEOMI VILLEGAS

Big Brothers/Big Sisters Match of the Month

Big Brothers/Big Sisters honors Big Sister Betty Stephan and her Little Sister, Neomi Villegas as the "Match of the Month." These two celebrate their first year anniversary this month.

Neomi is the daughter of Richard Villegas, and attends West Central Elementary School.

Big Sister Betty has provided a great role model for Neomi which is especially important as Neomi is being reared by her father. They enjoy cooking together and Betty is trying to provide guidance that only a female can give to a little 11-year-old girl who is growing up. Betty makes a lot of neat clothes for Neomi, also.

Neomi looks forward to spending the night on the Stephans' farm, a real treat for a little city girl.

We salute this match as an outstanding "pair" of friends in the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization, a United Way Agency.

BRAD SMITH

Smith decides on Tech

Hereford defensive end Brad Smith has made a verbal commitment to play college football at Texas Tech University.

Smith, 6-6, 220, helped lead Hereford to a 9-2-1 record and the regional round of the Class 4A playoffs in 1988. He was all-District 1-4A and honorable mention all-state.

Smith made his decision after visiting Tech over the weekend and after earlier visiting Nebraska and Texas Christian University. Smith also plans to cancel visits to The University of Texas and Baylor University.

Smith told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal "Texas Tech has what I want. It's close to home, it's a good school and its football team is up-and-coming and I want to be a part of it." Smith also told the Lubbock paper he was "really sick of the recruiting stuff. Tech has everything I want. There is no reason for me to delay my decision any longer."

Smith is the sixth player to make a verbal commitment to Tech. Smith is expected to sign a formal letter of intent on the first day letters may be signed, on Feb. 8.

FLIES TO WORK

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A lot of people hurry to work every day — especially if they're late — but assistant basketball coach Dave Holmgren of California State-Sacramento literally flies.

Holmgren, a former Navy pilot, jumps into his private plane every morning at his home in Yuba City and flies to the Sacramento campus. After logging the necessary flight hours for an FAA license, Holmgren plans to use it to help recruit high school stars.

NEW STADIUM

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — California State University, Fullerton, will begin construction of a new football stadium in February of 1989 and plans to play its first game there in the fall of 1991.

The first opponent scheduled for the new stadium is Mississippi State of the high-ranking Southeastern Conference, which will take the field against Fullerton Sept. 7, 1991.

"We are excited to schedule a team from the Southeastern Conference for our inaugural game in the new park," said Fullerton athletic director Edward O. Carroll.

NEW COLONIALS

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — The U.S. Military Academy and Fordham University will join the Colonial League in 1990, a year when the league plans to compete in more intercollegiate sports.

The Colonial has completed three seasons of football and now plans to branch out. The founding members of the league, all listed as Divisional 1-AA football teams, are Bucknell University, Davidson, Colgate, Holy Cross, Lehigh and Lafayette.

49ers: A force for the future

MIAMI (AP) — With or without Bill Walsh, the San Francisco 49ers will be a force in the NFL next year. And into the next decade.

Although Walsh might resign as coach and just handle front-office duties, the 49ers' organization is strong enough to survive and prosper. Just ask the man himself.

"The only way a team wins is through continuity of the organization," Walsh said Monday, hours after the 49ers beat Cincinnati 20-16 for their third Super Bowl title of the decade. "If you're struggling, get better players, don't just change coaches."

"People with the right chemistry all participate together and are involved in the decisions. We have worked well together for years. I think our staff is as good as any."

But it could be changing. Walsh has coached for 31 years, the last 10 with the 49ers. Although he says he remains enthusiastic, he likely won't stay on the bench.

Defensive coordinator George Seifert is one of the rising assistants in the league and, Walsh said, "I hope he's a head coach (next year). He sure deserves it."

Does he deserve the chance in San Francisco? If Walsh does step down as coach, a main proviso could be that Seifert takes over.

The 49ers have made the playoffs the last six years, even though they've been challenged by either the Rams or Saints throughout that span. The NFC West is the conference's toughest division and will get tougher for the Niners.

"The problem with an extended season, with the extra five weeks, is that you become emotionally spent," Walsh said. "It's tough to generate that enthusiasm again. The opposition is aware of it and wants to play you desperately. Don't you think the Saints and Rams and Falcons are gearing up to get at us because they think they're better than us?"

No team has been better than the 49ers in this decade, of course, even though they haven't won consecutive Super Bowls. And no quarterback has been more successful in the '80s than Joe Montana.

This victory was especially gratifying for the 10-year veteran, who has a new contract, guaranteed for three years, that pays him $2.5 million a season.

"This was really sweet after where we were earlier in the year," said Montana, the engineer of the remarkable 92-yard drive to glory against Cincinnati. "When we were 6-5 and had lost two really tough games, you couldn't even imagine this."

It's hard to imagine the 49ers without Walsh and Montana at the helm. But with Steve Young, one of the Niners' best athletes, as his understudy, Montana will have to face even more quarterback controversy questions if the team has a new coach.

"We overcame a lot this year," All-Pro running back Roger Craig said. "Not the least of it was the quarterback controversy."

In view of Montana's superb playoffs, however, Young figures to be a substitute for a while longer.

Craig had a magnificent season and is in the best shape of his life. Jerry Rice, the game's most dangerous receiver, also is approaching his prime. John Taylor, whose only reception on Sunday was the 10-yarder that won the game, might be the complement at split end that Rice has never had in San Francisco.

The offensive line will be the focal point in the draft since center Randy Cross has retired and tackle Steve Wallace broke his ankle against the Bengals.

Defensively, no team uses its personnel better. Except for nose tackle Michael Carter, safety Ronnie Lott and cornerback Tim McKyer, they are situation players. Lott is the only defender with a lot of mileage, but he was as good as ever in his eighth season.

Rice, the Super Bowl MVP, had the first strong postseason of his four-year career.

San Francisco welcomes winners

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cornerback Tim McKyer boogied atop a cable car and Most Valuable Player Jerry Rice waved from a vintage convertible Cadillac as 300,000 screaming fans welcomed home the San Francisco 49er Super Bowl superheroes.

"It was a great win, a great season. We're so proud of the 49ers in this city. We're known for a lot of things, and I'm glad sports is now up there with them," said an ecstatic John McGee, 21, who strained against a police barrier Monday under a shower of confetti tossed from offices along the Market Street route of the homecoming parade.

The San Francisco youth said what he really wanted was to touch the players, but couldn't get close enough. But his moment came when he held up a souvenir newspaper edition blazoning "Team of the '80s" across the front and saw one of the players look at the paper and then smile at him.

"There was some eye contact," beamed McGee, whose voice was hoarse from screaming.

Coach Bill Walsh, his third Super Bowl victory of the decade safely under his belt and the game trophy clutched in his hands, roared in a convertible beside Mayor Art Agnos, who wore a red 49ers sweater. Sharing the car was team owner Edward DeBartolo Jr.

Quarterback Joe Montana, his wife, Jennifer, and their two daughters waved from the seats of one cable car, as dozens of police motorcycles and squad cars flanked the procession, lights flashing.

Retiring center Randy Cross videotaped the fans as they cheered with joy, while defensive back Ronnie Lott did a mock imitation of the "Ickey Shuffle" aboard another cable car.

"Three Super Bowls. The Niners are the team of the decade. They're awesome," said an unidentified young woman wearing a red 49ers cap and cheering the team at the foot of Market Street.

Joe Jachens, 21, said the 49ers are the best team ever — even better than the famous Pittsburgh Steelers of the '70s. "I think they'd kill them (Steelers) now," he declared emphatically.

Gov. George Deukmejian said in a statement that the team not only laid claim "to the 'Team of the 80s' designation, but proved to the world that California "is the state of champions."

"I salute the Super Niners, their management, coaches, and fans on a historic victory yesterday," he said.

Police said the celebration went well, without the broken windows, trashed police cars and other bedlam that accompanied 49er Super Bowl victories in 1982 and 1985.

"This is great," said Police Lt. Rich Holder. "In '82, it was scary. See all these officers? They're wearing soft hats. That wasn't the case in previous years."

Bengals honored by fans at homecoming

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals wide receiver Cris Collinsworth has come up short in two attempts at winning a Super Bowl, but he still hopes for another chance.

He was among a Bengals' delegation cheered loudly Monday at a city-sponsored homecoming as the team returned from Miami and Sunday's 20-16 loss to the San Francisco 49ers in the Super Bowl.

"I don't know how many more chances I'm going to get to bring a championship here, but I hope to get a few more. You people are the greatest in the world. Thank you very much," said Collinsworth, who has been with the Bengals since 1981 and turns 30 on Friday.

The Bengals' loss Sunday was their second to the 49ers in the only two Super Bowls in which Cincinnati has played. San Francisco beat Cincinnati 26-21 in January 1982 in the Super Bowl at Pontiac, Mich. Collinsworth is one of only seven Bengals players who was a member of the team for both Super Bowls.

"We have so much to be proud of. Our fans have so much to share. We're looking forward to next football season," Bengals linebacker Reggie Williams said.

Williams, 34, a 13-year veteran who began serving as a Cincinnati City Council member last June, said he will decide soon whether to return for another season with the Bengals.

"We're going to make that decision very shortly. This is a very emotional time, and I don't want to make a hurried decision," Williams said, referring to Sunday's last-minute loss. "The body is very beat up. But we'll make that decision soon."

A roaring, banner-waving crowd of at least 3,000 people received the Bengals' leadership and players as heroes, despite Sunday's loss.

"We thank you for your presence here. It's very heartwarming," Paul Brown, general manager and founder of the Bengals, told the crowd at Cincinnati's downtown Fountain Square plaza. "Our men played a tremendous football game, and I've got to say it was a great game, too. You're super, we love you, and thank you."

Coach Sam Wyche said the fans were a big part of the reason the Bengals, who finished 14-5, were undefeated at home during the regular season and the NFL playoffs. Wyche referred to Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium, home field of the Bengals, as "the Jungle," a name coined by Bengals fans.

"I told the ballclub after the game, although we didn't win on the scoreboard, we made the winning effort," Wyche said.

Racing board wants OK

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of the Texas Racing Commission has asked Attorney General Jim Mattox to decide whether state law prohibits the commission from adopting rules on simulcasting.

Simulcasting is the televising of races conducted at one racetrack for display at another track. Pari-mutuel wagering is conducted at both tracks.

"Although the (Texas Racing) Act does not explicitly mention simulcasting, the plain language of the statute indicates that simulcasting is authorized by the act and that the commission is authorized to adopt rules to regulate simulcasting," said Hilary Doran Jr., commission chairman, in the Monday letter to Mattox.

Doran said he hopes for a response from Mattox in 30 days. He said he requested the opinion because "some of the commissioners had said that they'd rather have the attorney general rule on it before they went into a discussion on the rules."

Simulcasting would be good for track owners and for the betting public, Doran said.

"Why should somebody in San Antonio have to drive all the way to Dallas to see a horserace, when they could go out to the racetrack in San Antonio and view it there?" he said.

The commission at a Monday meeting also set a total of $1.8 million in first-year licensing fees for the three counties authorized for greyhound racetracks.

That includes $400,000 each in Cameron and Nueces counties, and $800,000 in Galveston County.

White on the drive

The Lady Whitefaces will try to end a two-game losing streak when they play at Canyon Randall at 6:30 p.m. today. The Whitefaces will meet the Raiders in the nightcap at 8 p.m.

Williams leads Pacers over Nuggets, 117-102

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

When you work hard, good things come your way. In Herb Williams' case, good things happened to be rebounds.

The forward grabbed a team-record 29 rebounds — breaking the old Indiana mark of 25 set by Dan Roundfield in 1977 — and scored 21 points to lead the Pacers to a 117-102 victory over the Denver Nuggets on Monday night. The win snapped Indiana's five-game losing streak.

"The rebounds were just coming to me tonight," Williams said. "I went to a lot of them, but a lot just fell in my hands."

Williams, known for his defensive skills, also showed he could score.

"I'm not going to sacrifice it anymore," Williams said of his offense. "I kind of fell into that thing where people say you're a good defensive player. Well, I can score. I can do both."

"Three or four years ago I put up a lot of good numbers. I've always been a scorer, and I'll always be a scorer."

Williams entered the game averaging 12 points. He scored eight points during the decisive third period when he, Reggie Miller and Rik Smits led a Pacer surge that inflated a five-point halftime lead into a 97-70 advantage.

"We came out awful in the second half," Denver coach Doug Moe said. "Everybody who's played against us has had a career night."

"All the other teams look the same to me. I don't care if it is Indiana, Little Sisters of the Poor or whoever. We are just playing awful."

In the only other NBA games, it was Cleveland over Golden State 142-109 and San Antonio over Miami 119-110.

Miller and Smits scored 12 points apiece in Indiana's third-period outburst.

"We just wanted to come out strong in the first five minutes (of the second half), and that's what we did," said Miller, who finished with a season-high 27 points.

Chuck Person also scored 20 points for the Pacers. Alex English had 25 for the Nuggets.

Cavalliers 142, Warriors 109

Larry Nance scored 22 points as Cleveland halted Golden State's eight-game winning streak.

The 142 points was Cleveland's highest output of the season.

The 6-foot-11 Nance, going against 6-8 Larry Smith and 6-5 Mitch Richmond, took control of the game early, scoring 16 first-half points to help Cleveland to a 72-52 halftime lead.

Ron Harper scored 21 points, Mark Price 19 and Mike Sanders 18 for Cleveland. Chris Mullin led Golden State with 27 points.

Spurs 119, Heat 101

San Antonio snapped a seven-game losing streak behind Willie Anderson's 26 points and nine assists.

The rookie forward also came up with a career-high six steals as the Spurs produce a franchise-record 22 thefts.

The Spurs used a 22-6 third-quarter run to blow open what had been a tight game. An 8-0 surge at the end of the streak gave San Antonio a 76-66 lead.

Miami scored just 12 points in the third period, missing 14 of its 19 shots from the field and turning the ball over nine times.

Grant Long led Miami with 16 points. Rory Sparrow, who has led the Heat in scoring with a 13.6 average, was held scoreless.

"One of them is 39

the other 2 are doing fine."

Hoosiers nip Michigan by 1

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Leave it to Indiana coach Bob Knight to leave no stone unturned against Michigan.

The 18th-ranked Hoosiers cut No. 10 Michigan down 71-70 in Big Ten play Monday night, then Knight took the knife and sliced into Bill Frieder's soft non-conference schedule.

The Hoosiers, playing the likes of Syracuse, North Carolina, Louisville and Notre Dame, lost four of their first seven games. Since then, however, Indiana has reeled off 13 straight wins, including all six Big Ten games.

"We had the snot knocked out of us early," Knight said. "We know what it means to lose big against good teams. But getting beat by a good team tells us what we need to do to beat those teams. That's really important."

"According to Dick Vitale's magazine, we played the fifth-toughest non-conference schedule over the last five years. That's what I want. We're not going to schedule someone who can't play. I don't care about losses in December. I just want to find out where... we are."

At the moment, that would be first in the Big Ten and nicely on track for an NCAA tournament bid.

In the only other Top Twenty game, No. 2 Georgetown beat St. John's 75-64.

The Wolverines spent December toiling against the likes of Tampa, Northern Michigan and Youngstown State, including a loss to Alaska-Anchorage.

As a result, they started the Big Ten season with a lofty 12-1 record. But with January came a 3-3 conference record that has dropped them to 15-4 overall.

"We're still struggling at times," Frieder said. "We are still having breakdowns in our offense which is the result of our guard play."

Following the Hoosiers' 84-71 defeat at Notre Dame, Knight went back to a three-guard offense. The trio of Jay Edwards, Joe Hillman and Lyndon Jones has started 19 games for Indiana over the last two seasons and the Hoosiers have posted a 19-1 record in those games.

Against the Wolverines, it also was the scoring of Edwards that carried the day. He scored 20 of his 28 points in the second half — five in crunch time.

Glen Rice had 28 points for Michigan.

Indiana shot 55 percent while the Wolverines hit only 49 percent of their shots. Michigan also hurt itself by missing six of 15 free throws while Indiana sank 13 of 16.

No. 2 Georgetown 75, St. John's 64
Dikembe Mutombo, a seldom-used sophomore, blocked a school-record 12 shots as Georgetown beat St. John's in a Big East game marred by a scuffle.

Jayson Williams, the leading scorer on St. John's, and John Turner began pushing and then swinging with 14 minutes left in the game. Both were ejected and, under conference rules, cannot play in their next Big East game.

Georgetown, 15-1 and 5-1 in the league, won its sixth straight game.

SERVICE CONTRACTS

If you buy a big ticket item, such as a car or high tech appliance, you may have the option to buy a service contract as well. Before you do, here are some things you should consider.

A service contract may promise to protect you from expensive repairs in the future. But don't sign up for one until you understand all the terms. For instance, you may have to follow a precise maintenance schedule. If you don't, you could avoid the coverage. And to prove you cared for the product properly, you may have to save all your repair and maintenance receipts. For example, an auto service contract may require receipts for oil changes or tune-ups. So ask questions. And watch out for vague limitations that may void the contract for just about any reason.

In addition to determining the cost of the contract itself, find out about extra fees. Is there a deductible each time the product is serviced or repaired? If you decide to sell the product or terminate the contract, will you have to pay a transfer or cancellation fee?

Also make sure the company has the financial resources to honor all claims. Independent firms may have an insurance company backing the contract. The insurance company would then pay outstanding claims if the firm decided to disconnect its phones and close up shop.

In some states, service contract firms must have backup insurance. To find out about your state regulations, contact the state attorney general's office or state insurance commission. Also, ask if the insurance company is licensed and whether it has any complaints.

Some states view service contracts as insurance. As such, service contract companies may have to register according to insurance laws. For consumers, this means the company meets state standards and has enough money in reserve today claims.

Remember, don't sign before comparing contracts between dealers, manufacturers and independent companies. And keep in mind, you may not need a service contract if it simply duplicates the warranty coverage.

BROCCOLI CREAM SAUCE

Makes enough sauce for 1-1/2 pounds macaroni

- 1 (10-ounce) package frozen broccoli, thawed, or 10 ounces fresh broccoli blanched
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon finely ground white pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 garlic cloves, peeled
- 1 cup heavy cream

Combine all the ingredients in a food processor fitted with the steel blade. Process for about 15 seconds or until it becomes a thick, smooth sauce. (If you like to keep the broccoli chunky, then process for only about 10 seconds.) Serve over hot macaroni.

TORTELLINI IN VODKA CREAM

Serves 4-6

- 1 pound cheese tortellini
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
- 1 teaspoon red pepper flakes
- 1/2 cup vodka
- 1 cup canned whole tomatoes, drained
- 1/2 cup coarsely grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 cup coarsely grated Romano cheese
- 1 cup heavy cream

1. Cook the tortellini. Drain well and transfer to a large serving bowl.
2. Melt the butter in a saucepan over medium high heat. Sprinkle in the crushed red pepper flakes. When the butter is bubbling rapidly, pour in the vodka. Simmer for 3 minutes.
3. Add the whole tomatoes and both grated cheeses. Simmer for 3 more minutes. Pour in the cream and simmer for 1 additional minute.
4. Remove the sauce from the heat. Pour the sauce over the tortellini and serve.

Dr. Lanny Hall begins WBU presidency

PLAINVIEW, Tx (special)--Wayland Baptist University begins a new chapter in its 80-year history next Monday when Dr. Lanny Hall assumes his duties as 10th president of the university.

Executive vice president of Howard Payne University since 1986, Hall was named president by Wayland's Board of trustees on Dec. 15.

"Dr. Hall comes to us with outstanding recommendations and and excellence has been his trademark throughout his professional life," said Dr. Don Newbury, HPU president.

"His commitment to and zeal for Christian higher education are exemplary, and I predict for him continued distinguished service in the presidency. This is a great day for Wayland Baptist University.

Hall is a graduate of North Texas State University with both the bachelor of science and master of education degrees in secondary education.

He received the doctor of philosophy (Ph.D.) degree in educational administration from the University of Texas at Austin in 1985.

Before joining the HPU staff Hall was deputy executive secretary for special programs for the Teacher Retirement System in Austin.

Previously he spent three terms as a member of the Texas House of Representatives, from 1979 to 1984. He also has three years of political experience on the national level, having served on the staff of House Majority Leader Jim Wright from 1975 to 1978.

A lifelong Southern Baptist, Hall is an ordained deacon and has been active in all phases of church life.

He and his wife Carol have two children.

James Whitcomb Riley, a lawyer's son who won fame as the "Hoosier Poet," was born here in 1849.

During his career, he was a sign painter, an actor in a medicine show, composer, playwright and journalist.

Riley wrote many poems, some in pure English but most in the country dialect of Indiana. Among his works is "The Ole Swimm'n' Hole and 'Leven More Poems'" (1883). Riley, whose poems appeared widely in newspapers, also traveled about the country lecturing and reading his verses. He died in 1916.

the unanimous support of the Search and Executive committees," said Board Chairman J.B. Roberts of Plainview.

A former state legislator, Hall, 39, officially replaces Dr. David Jester as head of the university. Jester resigned in May 1987, and Dr. Glenn Barnett has served the past 18 months as interim chief executive officer.

He has been the number two man on the staff at Howard Payne, also a Baptist school, since April 1986.

"Dr. Hall has distinguished himself in every aspect of his vital role at Howard Payne University, itself. The fungus involved is more closely related to the fungus that causes athlete's feet. It is easier to treat than the other problem, candida or yeast of the groin.

Your description of a red rash on the scrotum makes me think you have candida, and that is not going to respond well to self-treatment. Some of the same medicines are used, but I think you will need guidance and help from a dermatologist and prescription medicines to really control your problem. This can be cured. But you will need to continue to keep the area dry. A hair dryer on a low setting helps; however, just controlling the moisture alone is not likely to do enough for you.

The Netherlands proclaimed its independence from Spain in 1581.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 29-year-old male with severe jock itch. I have suffered from this for at least eight years and have tried every available treatment — ointments, powders, multiple washing, even a doctor-prescribed ointment. These will appear to help initially, but the irritation soon returns. I perspire quite a lot in this area, and it will bring about a clammy, musty smell with a red rash on my scrotum. The itching can be unbearable at times. I have no other problems and am very athletic. DEAR READER: You may have one of two conditions. One is tinea cruris, the most common form of jock itch. This is a fungal infection, but it usually is of the thighs, adjacent to the scrotum and not on the scrotum

Appreciation expressed

The blood drive committee of the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce received recognition earlier this month from Coffee Memorial Blood Center in Amarillo. The local committee sponsored blood drives in 1988 which netted 657 pints distributed by the Coffee Blood Center. Shanna Avery, right, of the Coffee Memorial Blood Center, presented the plaque of appreciation to Carol Kelley, center, chairman of the committee, and to Sue Malamen, left, outgoing president of the Women's Division.

The fleet greyhound is the fastest dog in the world. It's been clocked at 41.7 miles per hour.

Blood drive committee recognized

The blood drive committee of the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce was recognized recently for their efforts in conducting local blood drives.

Hereford residents donated a total of 657 pints of blood in 1988 during the local blood drives, which were sponsored by the blood drive committee and aided by such organizations as the Keywanettes, National Honor Society, and Key Club. Some of the blood was donated during the October Health Fair.

Shanna Avery, coordinator of volunteer services at Coffee Memorial Blood Center in Amarillo, noted that Hereford gave the most blood of any city in the Texas Panhandle with the exception of Amarillo. "We try to get other cities to collect more blood than Hereford, but they are never able to do so," she said.

Coffee Memorial Blood Center personnel presented a plaque citing the local committee's efforts to outgoing Women's Division President Sue Malamen during an appreciation dinner held Jan. 12 at K-Bob's Steak House in Hereford. Committee members and their spouses attended, and the plaque was then presented to committee chairman Carol Kelley, chairman of the blood drive committee.

The committee's first blood drive of 1989 will be held tomorrow from 4-7 p.m. in the Community Center.

Abundant Life

OUR DIFFERENCES

By Bob Wear

We differ in more ways than the ways in which we are equal. There is no such state of being as a total, common level of equality. "There are differences in heredity and environment which have to be recognized."-Wm. Ross.

These differences, however, do not necessarily create a climate of hostility or a society in which we mistreat each other. We human beings have many things in common, but we are not absolutely equal. One may be as good as the other, but this is not equality.

We must respect and preserve the ways in which we are equal, but we must not destroy the best in the human experience trying to force, artificially, an equality that never was and never can be. Even God recognizes human differences, but he never did intend that we create an atmosphere of antagonism because of our differences.

We must learn to live with an appreciate our differences, or take the consequences of a miserable social climate. Some people are prosperous, and some are not. Some are industrious, and some are not. Some are well-schooled, and some are not. Some are good managers, and some are not but waste everything they get. Some put forth great effort to help themselves, and some do not try. Some people are lucky, and some are unlucky.

We are learning that human capacities differ, that inherent and acquired characteristics vary; that our reactions to the same stimuli are different; that even those who have the most in common are different in some ways. There is nothing wrong with this, unless we make something wrong out of it.
