Senior Center additions planned

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Plans for a proposed addition to the Senior Citizens Center were unveiled Thursday during a meeting of the Hereford Senior Citizens Association board of directors.

Primarily because of growth problems in dining and activity areas, the board has recommended a two-phase building program which would cost an estimated $500,000.

Shirley Garrison, board president, will send out letters to more than 800 HSCA members next week explaining the needs. Input and comments will be received from members at the next regular monthly business meeting, Monday, June 12. The plan will be submitted to members for a vote at the July 10 business meeting.

Garrison said Phase I of the building program would include an additional 7,789 square feet of space, featuring a multi-purpose auditorium. The auditorium would be used as an exercise area, but also would have a stage for use in concerts, plays, seminars, etc. This addition would be on the north side of the existing building.

Phase 2, an addition on the south side, would include new activity and game areas (some in court-yards), as well as an atrium area and garden area. This addition is planned for 6,044 sq. ft. Phase I is expected to be more costly, possibly in the $300,000 range.

The existing building contains about 14,418 sq. ft., and both additions would almost double the floor space at 28,251 sq. ft.

Margie Daniels, executive director, and the board are in the process of drawing up a statement outlining the proposal and why the additions are needed. "We are running out of space and not fulfilling a number of needs for our seniors," Mrs. Daniels said.

Garrison said the board will apply for grants to help on the cost of the project, if it is approved by the membership. A fund-raising program will also be initiated if the plan is approved.

Daniels said the center is currently serving about 450 meals each day. During April, the center served and delivered (to homebound members) a total of 10,400 meals. She said the additions would "open up more space in the dining area, as well as provide space for expansion of activities."

FDA looking at cattle feed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Federal officials are looking into an Oklahoma City-based company that allegedly has been shipping contaminated cattle feed to major feedlots in Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Since 1985, Rio Arriba Minerals Inc., a New Mexico corporation doing business as Big E Industries in Oklahoma City, Durant and Amarillo, Texas, has received inedible oils and toxic products from out of state, officials said Thursday.

Those unauthorized products - including pesticides and PCBs - allegedly were blended with other fats and oils at plants in Durant and Amarillo, then were sold to unsuspecting feedlots and stockyards as "blended feeding fat," a safe cattle food, said Gerald Vince, district director of the federal Food and Drug Administration.

Big E Industries operates under a number of names, including Action Trading Co., Galleria Ltd., Earles Enterprises, Molex Chemical Co. and United Western Energy Corp.

All the companies are allegedly owned and operated by Harvey L. Earles of Oklahoma City, officials said.

Earles said Thursday he has "complied with everything they (the FDA) have asked me to do." He declined to discuss details of the FDA's allegations and would not say where his feed was being shipped.

Although no tainted meat has been discovered, the FDA considered the potential for dangerous contamination so great that it asked a federal judge Wednesday to issue an injunction forcing the company and all its operating companies to stop the shipments.

U.S. District Judge Lee West did not act on that request Thursday.

The FDA's main worry is the potential danger to animals who ate the feed and to humans who ate contaminated beef, Vince said.

Demos fear suspicious House

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Democrats are trying to elect new leaders in an atmosphere of suspicion that shows few signs of abating despite the resignation of Speaker Jim Wright.

Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., certain to replace Wright as speaker in an election scheduled for Tuesday, said he hoped to return the House "to a mood of mutual respect and conciliation between the parties."

Wright, in a luncheon with reporters, said, "There has to come an end, there must come an end" to the use of ethics as a political weapon. "Do I believe that's going to happen overnight because I said it? No, I do not."

Democrats had hoped Wright's resignation, which followed the resignation of the No. 3 Democrat, Rep. Tony Coelho of California, also because of controversy over personal finances, would put the ethics issue behind them.

So they were angered Thursday about news reports that the Justice Department was checking personnel practices in the office of Rep. William H. Gray III of Pennsylvania, the fourth-ranking House leader and now candidate for Coelho's slot in the coming succession.

"The Democrats very clearly believe this is a concerted, planned, coordinated effort. It is a continuation of the 1988 campaign. I think there is certainly a feeling now that the White House is accountable," said Rep. Steny Hoyer, D-Md., a member of the Democratic leadership.

House Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., sent a letter to the Justice Department decrying the leaks in the Gray case.

But Republicans, who caucused Thursday to discuss ethics, otherwise made clear they saw no reason to let go of the issue with which they have been battering the Democrats for months.

Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., who launched the ethics investigation which eventually brought down Wright, said Thursday he was "angry at the tone" of Wright's speech before the House on Wednesday.

Wright's calling it "mindless cannibalism" that had engulfed him was "an insult to the ethics committee and every decent person in the House... It was not mindless, it was very serious," said Gingrich, who as the House Minority Whip is Michel's next in command.

Gingrich said while Justice Department leaks of the case involving Gray were wrong, the political parties could "police each other" by checking into possible wrongdoing by the opposition. "Jim Wright's a symbol of how sick the Congress has become," he said.

While some clearly remained in a confrontational mode, others said the point of deepest angst had passed with Wright's resignation.

Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., said the speaker's announcement was "a catharsis."

Rep. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D., called on those "couple of dozen members" who have been badmouthing the House to stop. "I think it's time for the members of this House who don't want to serve here to leave," he said.

New terraces may stem flow

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

"This is something we've never done before in this part of the world," said Pat Reilly, range conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, about a terracing system recently built in Deaf Smith County.

Terracing is nothing new to erosion control, but a series of two recently completed terraces apply some innovative additions to an established method. The terraces were constructed northwest of Hereford, approximately six miles north of Garcia, on land operated by Brown Farm and Cattle. Terracing was combined with controlled water flow to give a whole new dimension to erosion prevention.

Water erosion is frequently eliminated through the use of raised terraces built across fields and pastures. These terraces restrict the rapid flow of water, preventing soil from being washed away. This works well when the water held back by the terraces does not stand for a long period of time, causing crops to be "drowned." In instances where water remains standing, terraces may create a problem in an attempt to solve another problem.

"There have been a lot of places (with erosion) where we've had to tell people 'we can't help you,'" Reilly said.

Brown Farm and Cattle approached the SCS office with a problem which came close to fitting in the "we can't help you" category.

If terraces alone had been utilized, approximately 110 acres of crop land would have been flooded by water held in check by the terraces.

Steven Bednarz, SCS area engineer of Amarillo, was able to provide a solution to the problem. He designed a system where water would flow out of the area within 48 hours rather than the two hours predicted if left to the will of nature.

This controlled water flow prevents the washing away of soil and yet releases the standing water before it has a chance to drown out crops growing on the land below.

"He (Bednarz) is pretty much a hot shot on weird water situations," Reilly said.

Using the engineer's design, the Browns built two terraces, both better than a mile long, in a field with a serious water erosion problem.

"We went canoeing (in the field) once," Dennis Brown said. Dennis was responsible for much of the actual construction of the project.

The new terrace system may cut back on cases where the SCS has had to say, "We can't help you."

In addition to the terraces, the system includes culvert pipes placed at two strategic locations to permit the controlled release of water. Before the project could be built, the SCS office and the Browns obtained an easement from the county permitting them to release the water into a bar ditch along a county road.

"That's usually a no-no," Reilly said of the release of water into the county ditch.

"We don't want to just move the erosion from the field to the bar ditch," he added.

County commissioners found this particular proposal acceptable because the terraces also prevented erosion on the county road. The water flowing down the hillside was washing into the ditch prior to the building of terraces. Much of the soil eroding out of the field was ending as silt in the county-maintained ditch.

The system designed by SCS and built by Brown Farm and Cattle is intended to cope with the biggest rain which can normally be expected in a 10-year period.

When at full capacity, the terraces will hold 127 acre feet of water. That equals better than 450 million gallons of water.

"That's more than's in a whole lotta little lakes," Reilly said.

SCS officials hope that the principles used in this terracing system may be applicable to other erosion problems in the county. The controlled water flow concept may cut back on the number of "we can't help you" cases serviced by the local soil conservation office.

Boy's body found

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

The body of Caleb Fluhman, 7, of Hereford was found Thursday near the site where he apparently drowned on Sunday.

The boy was caught in a flash flood on the Canadian River near Roy, N.M. while on a family outing during Memorial Day weekend.

Reports indicate that the boy was discovered by a family friend who decided to walk the river bank "one more time." The body had floated to the surface near the location where Caleb was caught in a sudden rise of water.

Caleb and two other children had been crossing the Canadian River using stepping stones. The other children had safely completed the crossing when the flash flood struck.

Graveside services will be held for Caleb at 11 a.m. Saturday in the cemetery at Roy. The Fluhman family is originally from the Roy area.

Survivors include his parents, Richard and Stella Fluhman; one brother, Christopher; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Ebell of Roy and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fluhman of Mills, N.M.; and a great-grandmother, Iris Bauler of Hereford.

A memorial fund has been established at the First National Bank of Hereford.

Trade schools facing action on bad loans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Private trade schools across Texas that recruit "anybody who's breathing" to attend class could face stiff federal sanctions in 1991 unless more students begin repaying their government-guaranteed loans.

According to officials, some unscrupulous trade schools around Texas have no screening of students, plucking them out of welfare lines and off the streets.

The schools collect the students' loan money as tuition, yet the students either fail to receive the kind of education they need to land a job that will earn them enough to repay the loan, or drop out because they were not prepared for the training, said Joe McCormick, executive director of the Texas Guaranteed Student Loan Corp.

According to U.S. Education Department figures, 16 private trade schools in Texas had student loan default rates of more than 60 percent in fiscal year 1986. A total of 71 of the 228 schools on the agency's list had default rates exceeding 40 percent, including trade schools, and public and private two and four-year institutions.

Official newspaper burned in protest

BEIJING (AP) - Hundreds of students today burned copies of an official newspaper to vent their anger over the increased government condemnation of the democratic reform movement in Communist China.

Earlier in the day, about 1,000 helmeted soldiers jogged near Tiananmen Square in the latest government ploy to intimidate the students, who have been staging anti-government protests since mid-April.

In Nanjing, about 400 students from universities there began walking toward toward Beijing, 1,000 miles to the north, to add their support to the pro-democracy movement.

An American student in Nanjing said the Chinese were inspired by the U.S. civil rights movement and its marches on Selma, Ala., and Washington.

The demonstration by about 500 students outside the office of the Beijing Daily came as activists entered the fourth week of their defiant occupation of Tiananmen Square.

"Rip it up and burn it!" shouted students crammed into a narrow lane outside the paper's gate as they threw dozens of copies of the daily into a bonfire.

The students were particularly incensed by an article in Thursday's edition claiming dissension among different factions directing the movement.

The Beijing Daily, which is controlled by the city Communist Party, is known for its hardline views.

In Tiananmen Square, about 10,000 students were massed today in defiance of martial law orders to move. Up to 200,000 students have occupied the square, the symbolic heart of China, since they launched their protests six weeks ago.

The People's Liberation Army troops ran out of a nearby train station and through the surrounding neighborhood today before they returned to their camp, about a mile from the square.

It was the third straight day that troops have appeared on city streets, reinforcing government pronouncements that the army is poised to carry out Premier Li Peng's order of martial law for Beijing.

Chinese sources said factories and work places were also ordering workers to participate in a pro-government march today through central Beijing. Several sources said workers were being paid $2.70, and were given bread and eggs to join the rally.

The propaganda blitz against the students even reached the storefront of the American fastfood restaurant Kentucky Fried Chicken near Tiananmen. A large banner outside the restaurant read, "Maintain stability and unity. Protect order in the capital."

The students, who have gained considerable support from ordinary citizens, are demanding more democracy, an end to corruption among officials, and a dialogue with the government.

Outside the capital, hundreds of university students crashed a pro-government rally on Thursday and blocked several thousand workers and peasants from entering a stadium.

"Chinese people, don't let the government trick you!" the students yelled. "Oppose government scare tactics!"

Beijing citizens blocked troops from entering the city after Premier Li Peng declared martial law on May 20.

Communist Party chief Zhao Ziyang, a reformer who advocated concessions to the students, has reportedly lost his post and is under house arrest. But Chinese and diplomatic sources said it is unclear whether hardliners led by Deng Xiaoping and Li had the clout for a purge against Zhao's followers.

"All the indications are that there have not been firm decisions" made about reshuffling the nation's leadership, Western diplomats said.

We had such a good year ...

The third grade students of Charles Lyles at Aikman School in Hereford wanted to express their thanks for a good 1988-89 school year, so they (and a few of their parents) paid for a yard sign in front of the school and presented Lyles with a plaque thanking him for his efforts this year. "He is a very caring teacher," said one parent.

TV show helps nab suspect

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) - John E. List's first life as a church-going accountant ended 18 years ago when he disappeared after the slayings of his mother, wife and three children in their Victorian mansion.

His second, almost parallel existence ended Thursday when FBI agents arrested List in an accounting office in Richmond, Va., wrapping up a search that had led to all 50 states, Europe and South America.

The arrest came 11 days after Fox television network's "America's Most Wanted" program broadcast details of List's case.

The show re-enacted the slayings, and displayed photos of List from before the killings and a sculptor's bust of how he might look today. One viewer called to say a man resembling List was living in the Richmond suburb of Midlothian, the FBI said.

"I don't know what a guy who's killed five people is supposed to look like, but he was not that person," said Pat Ferguson, who lives two doors away from the man she knew as Robert P. Clark but who agents said was List.

"He worked hard in his yard, went to work every day, went to church every Sunday. The guy was so average."

List is accused of shooting to death his mother, Alma, 85; wife, Helen, 45; and their three children, Patricia, 16, John Jr. 15, and Frederick, 13.

Their bodies were found Dec. 7, 1971, in the family's 18-room mansion in Westfield, 10 miles southwest of Newark. Police said they found a confession written by List and addressed to his Lutheran minister on the dining table.

"Nobody believed he could do something like that," said Frank Chenitz, who lives a few houses away from where the mansion stood. It was destroyed by fire in 1972.

"I say give him a fair trial, because we've only heard one side of the story," said Chenitz. "But the things he's accused of, if he did them, then he deserves the worst. They were atrocities."

After the slayings, investigators found that List had two mortgages on his house, was failing as a financial consultant and had been siphoning money from his mother's $200,000 savings account.

Since 1971, List lived most of the time in Denver, where he met a woman at a Lutheran church function in 1977 and married her eight years later, authorities said.

Authorities said List's new wife, Delores, was unaware of his past and was shocked by his arrest.

At a federal court appearance Thursday in Richmond, the suspect denied being List and signed an affidavit as Clark.

The FBI said it identified him as List from fingerprints in his Army records.

A magistrate ordered him jailed pending a bond hearing Monday.

List is charged with five counts of first-degree murder and fleeing to avoid prosecution.

Pentagon plagued by cookie monster

WASHINGTON (AP) - An army marches on its stomach, Napoleon supposedly remarked, but senators say a 15-page set of specifications for government issue cookies may be carrying the concern with rations too far.

The specifications, showing the Pentagon pays equal attention to chocolate chips and computer chips, were read aloud Thursday at a hearing by the Senate Governmental Affairs subcommittee on oversight of government management.

The subcommittee was looking into the strict specifications for commercial and off-the-shelf products, along with excessive requirements, that have turned away would-be contractors.

"The cookies shall be well-baked," said Sen. William Cohen, R-Maine, reading just before lunch from the guidelines for chocolate chip oatmeal cookies. "They shall be browned on the bottom surface and outer edges, but not appreciably browned on the top surface."

"They shall be wholly intact, free of checks or cracks. ... The cookies shall be tender and crisp with an appetizing flavor, free of a burnt or scorched flavor."

Specifications for sandwich cookies require "each cookie shall consist of two round base cakes with a layer of filling between them. ... The base cakes shall have been uniformly well-baked with a color ranging from not lighter than chip 27885 or darker than chip 13711.

"The color comparisons shall be made under ... sky daylight with the objects held in such a way as to avoid specular refracture (glossiness)."

"The filling shall be centered so that it does not protrude beyond the perimeter of the base cakes."

"Would Mrs. Fields comply?" Cohen teasingly asked Greg Saunders, the Pentagon's assistant for commercial acquisition.

"I suspect it would be too high quality a cookie," Saunders replied. Saunders defended specification, saying the department has to have a number of specifications for food items because many remain on the shelf for up to five years.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several years ago you wrote something called "Is It Love or Infatuation?" I had been seeing a girl I was crazy about but was too shy to let her know. I sent her that column and it really broke the ice. We will be celebrating our eighth wedding anniversary June 3. Will you please run it again?--Mexico City

DEAR MEXICO CITY: With pleasure. Here it is. Happy Anniversary.

LOVE OR INFATUATION? Infatuation is instant desire. It is one set of glands calling to another. Love is friendship that has caught fire. It takes root and grows--one day at a time.

Infatuation is marked by a feeling of insecurity. You are excited and eager, but not genuinely happy. There are nagging doubts, unanswered questions, little bits and pieces about your beloved that you would as soon not examine too closely. It might spoil the dream.

Love is quiet understanding and the mature acceptance of imperfection. It is real. It gives you strength and grows beyond you, to bolster your beloved. You are warmed by his presence, even when he is away. Miles do not separate you. You want him nearer. But near or far, you know he is yours and you can wait.

Infatuation says, "We must get married right away. I can't risk losing him."

Love says, "Be patient. Don't panic. Plan your future with confidence."

Infatuation has an element of sexual excitement. If you are honest, you will admit it is difficult to be in one another's company unless you are sure it will end in intimacy. Love is the maturation of friendship. You must be friends before you can be lovers.

Infatuation lacks confidence. When he's away, you wonder if he's cheating. Sometimes you check.

Love means trust. You are calm, secure and unthreatened. He feels that trust, and it makes him even more trustworthy. Infatuation might lead you to do things you'll regret later, but love never does.

Love is an upper. It makes you look up. It makes you think up. It makes you a better person than you were before.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I want to tell you what a recent column of yours did for me. It opened my eyes--once and for all.

Eleven years ago I learned that my husband was unfaithful. I began divorce proceedings. Before the divorce was final, he begged and pleaded with me to take him back. I decided to give him another chance.

Last year, I found out that he had been cheating all these years with the same woman. I divorced him. Three months later he came to see me, threatened suicide and rededicated his life to Christ. I took him back absolutely certain that this time we would live happily forever. (I am 49 and he is 51).

Three weeks ago I learned that he is still seeing the same woman. I ordered him out of the house and am getting a second divorce. He is begging and crying again--same old story--but I am finished with him once and for all.

Your column about the little girl who put the snake under her coat really opened my eyes, Ann. When the snake bit her and said, "You know what I was when you picked me up," I really saw myself. Thanks, Ann.--Millen, Ga.

DEAR MILLEN: Glad you made the connection. I hope this time it sticks. Thanks for letting me know.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. The Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation was established in 1958. Hugh O'Brian was inspired by Dr. Albert Schweitzer to begin this foundation. The leadership seminars began in California and have spread all over the United States. They were designed to give America's youth a better insight to the incentive system in the U.S.

Professionals from seven areas of business spoke at the seminar. Those areas included government, entrepreneurship, volunteering, medicine, the stock market, technology and banking.

Ashley was recently elected the 1989-90 student council secretary at her high school. She was also elected president of the Junior Engineering and Technological Society and secretary of the Junior Forum. She is a class officer and is active in the tennis program of BHS.

Toastmasters hold meeting

The Ranch House Restaurant provided the setting of Thursday morning's meeting of the Hereford Toastmasters.

Invocation was given by Clark Andrews and Lynn Cook presided over the business session.

Cook also served as grammarian and presented "nuance" as the word of the day. Table topic master was Joe Walters while Joe Weaver served as general evaluator. Toastmaster was Tom Weemes and timer was Milton Adams.

"Local Firm Goes Bigtime" was the speech given by Andrews who gave the history of SeedTec. Joe Don Cummings discussed "The Most Interesting Person I Ever Met" concerning being drafted and his early army days.

Table topics included "Texas Rangers" by Weaver; "Jim Wright" by Andrews; "Dallas Cowboys" by Cook; and "Satanism" by Sam Milam, guest.

LONDON (AP) - Dustin Hoffman heard cheers for his British stage debut as Shylock in Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice."

The production, which opened Thursday, also won acclaim from the critics.

"In side curls and skullcap, Hoffman gave Shylock humor, a passion for revenge and a tortured dignity when he loses all. It was a far cry from Raymond Babbit, the autistic savant he plays in his current hit film 'Rain Man,'" wrote Reg Evans of the British domestic news agency Press Association.

The production by Sir Peter Hall at the Phoenix Theater also starred British actress Geraldine James as Portia.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: You made an important point in your column about liquid diets that are supervised by doctors. You said that watching a person starve to death will not prevent the death. I'm appalled that the medical profession has turned to liquid diets as a means of weight reduction with so much evidence that diets of liquid only are harmful. Isn't it probable that undetected damage will be done and become obvious later and then not be attributed to the diet?

I have been following a program that strikes a balance between an "all-liquid" diet and a well-balanced low-calorie diet. I have included a description of it for you. Do you agree with this diet?

DEAR READER: Except in those rare cases of morbid obesity or life-threatening conditions, I recommend only a well-balanced, calorie-limited diet. Whether you have an excess restriction of calories by a liquid diet or solid foods that contain far too few calories, the excess calorie restriction can be harmful. If the calorie intake is too low, you will use the protein in your diet to manufacture glucose which your body must have. Normally, the brain uses 125 grams of glucose a day, or 500 calories.

The best approach remains to follow a sensible, calorie-limited diet and have a regular exercise program that helps to improve your metabolism. Exercise turns on your metabolic system to lose weight, but a low-calorie diet shuts down your metabolic system to prevent weight loss.

I'm convinced that most people do not understand weight control at all or they wouldn't use those liquid diets or any other of the advertised quick-weight-loss schemes that are usually not effective and may be harmful to their health.

Everyone thinks of the calories in their food and never about how their body eliminates calories. A calorie is a measure of heat energy in your food. That heat energy is eliminated as heat from your body by your skin. The brain affects your appetite to control calories of heat taken in, and it controls your loss of calories of heat through your skin. It is out of date to think of weight control as being only a matter of calories in your diet.

To help you understand the truth about weight control, read my book, "The Weighting Game: The Truth About Weight Control." You can obtain it by sending $11.95, plus $2 postage and handling, to THE HEALTH LETTER, Dept. B, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read the enclosed news story about a woman who lost 102 pounds and her teenage son who lost 151 pounds. They had eaten enormous amounts of food, but on the diet their appetite disappeared in three days. Is this true?

DEAR READER: There are some people who are overweight simply because their appetite is completely out of control. Their appetite can be cut by simply eliminating all carbohydrates. The weight loss then occurs because the person consumes far fewer calories than before. Such diets are not new at all. They have been around for over 25 years. They simply prove that anyone can lose weight if he or she stops eating. The ultimate example is total starvation leading to death.

In about three days the brain switches to using incompletely metabolized fat products, obtained from using body fat for calories. But these diets are dangerous. They cause changes in body chemistry similar to diabetic coma and can cause heart attacks and liver damage. The morbidly obese should lose weight under a medically supervised program.

Deshaies nearly no-hits Dodgers

HOUSTON (AP) - Mickey Hatcher was almost apologetic about breaking up Jim Deshaies' no-hitter in the eighth inning.

"I felt like calling up to the press box and asking them to give me an error," Hatcher said.

Deshaies pitched seven and two-thirds innings of no-hit baseball, leading the Astros to a 7-2 victory Thursday night.

He didn't allow a hit until Hatcher's grounder back to the mound glanced off Deshaies' glove for an infield hit. Eddie Murray started the ninth with a single to right field and Hatcher decided to keep his hit.

"When Eddie got his hit the next inning, I decided not to call," Hatcher said. "He (Deshaies) was like a nightmare to me. I couldn't hit him with a tennis racket. The hit came and I felt like falling down. "We got two donkey hits off him or it's a no hitter. He obviously does a great job against us all the time."

The victory extended Houston's winning streak to seven straight games and kept Deshaies unbeaten in his career against the Dodgers in the Astrodome with a 6-0 record.

"As soon as you think you have someone's number they are likely to jump up and tattoo you," Deshaies said. "I started to get my rhythm in about the sixth inning. I thought about a no hitter then."

Deshaies thought he caused his own downfall by going for the ball.

"I think if I'd have left it alone, it would have been an out. 'Raf' is good at those kind of balls," Deshaies said.

Although Deshaies lost his no-hit bid, he helped the Astros improve their home record to 11-17. They have a 17-7 home record, the best in the major leagues.

Now they're trying to improve before the home crowd.

"Any time you get the first game in a series it's nice," catcher Craig Biggio said. "But we've got to come back tomorrow and the other nine games and get the job done."

"It's just a matter of time before we start winning here. We're doing it on the road and I'm sure we'll do it here soon."

The Astros scored two runs in the second on an error by catcher Mike Scioscia and a grounder by Biggio.

Bill Doran's single and a two-run single by Ramirez scored three more runs in the third. A sacrifice fly by Gerald Young and Biggio's homer in the sixth gave Houston its other runs.

A wild pitch by Deshaies and a sacrifice fly by Dave Anderson in the ninth inning provided the Dodgers with their runs.

"We didn't swing the bats real well tonight but he did a great job," Scioscia said. "When the score got to 5-0, we started getting a little disheartened."

"He's a real good pitcher. There's no magic to it. He just put it all together tonight."

Deshaies, 6-3, was disappointed but not despondent that he lost his no-hitter.

"You don't get that many opportunities at a no hitter so you like to take advantage of it," Deshaies said. "But the important thing is we won the game at home."

Ex-coaches plead guilty in S. Carolina steroid probe

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - Three former assistant football coaches have pleaded guilty to charges stemming from alleged steroid use within the University of South Carolina's athletic department, and two other defendants await trial later this month.

Tom Kurucz avoided trial by pleading guilty Thursday to two counts, including lying to a grand jury. Jim Washburn and Keith Kephart pleaded guilty to lesser charges.

During a nearly two-hour hearing, U.S. District Court Judge G. Ross Anderson also denied a subpoena seeking notes and other material gathered by Sports Illustrated for its article about alleged steroid use by some football players.

The judge also asked university attorney Joseph McCulloch to give him material obtained during an internal probe into alleged steroid use within the athletic department. After looking at the material, the judge said he would rule on a subpoena seeking the material.

Attorney John Hardaway had requested two subpoenas on behalf of his client, John L. Carter of Bethesda, Md. Carter is charged with giving steroids to four former Gamecock players, including Tommy Chaikin.

It was a story co-written by Chaikin, who played for South Carolina from 1983 to 1987, in the Oct. 24 issue of Sports Illustrated that led to a grand jury probe and the indictment of Carter and four former coaches. In the article, Chaikin said he and other players used steroids and about half the 1986 team used the muscle-building drugs.

In a plea arrangement with prosecutors, Kurucz, 42, a Gamecock coach from Dec. 1982 to Dec. 1986, pleaded guilty to a felony charge of lying to a grand jury on Dec. 21 when he denied knowing coaches gave steroids to players. He also pleaded guilty to dispensing steroids in early 1985, a misdemeanor. All other charges, also misdemeanors, were dropped.

Kurucz, who declined comment, could be sentenced to a maximum of six years in prison and fined $350,000.

Washburn and Kephart pleaded guilty to one misdemeanor count each of importing steroids into the state. All other charges, also misdemeanors, were dropped.

They each face a maximum one year in prison and $1,000 fine.

Kephart, 44, who was the Gamecock strength coach from July 1982 to July 1988, said he began using steroids for a shoulder injury under the direction of a doctor.

"I then made a serious mistake of continuing the process on my own," Kephart said in statement. "At no time were any student-athletes involved in the process."

Washburn, 39, who was at South Carolina from December 1982 to the summer of 1988, declined comment.

The coaches pleaded innocent to the charges May 4 at their arraignment.

A fourth coach charged in the case, Tom Gadd, asked Thursday that charges against him be dismissed. But Anderson denied the motion. Gadd faces a maximum sentence of four years and fines totaling $301,000 if convicted.

Separate trials for Gadd and Carter are scheduled to begin June 19.

Carter faces a maximum of $1.3 million in fines and 17 years in jail if convicted on the five misdemeanor counts he faces.

Anderson did not set a sentencing date.

Higuera coming back nicely

By HILLEL ITALIE
Associated Press Writer

Milwaukee manager Tom Trebelhorn wants to bring along Teddy Higuera slowly, but the Brewers' ace isn't making it easy.

Higuera, recovering from back surgery and a sprained ankle, held the New York Yankees hitless Thursday night until Alvaro Espinoza's leadoff single in the sixth inning.

"It was quite an emotional game, taking the no-hitter as deep into the game as he did and then giving up a couple of base hits," Trebelhorn said after the Brewers' 5-0 victory.

"I didn't want to see anything happen that we could prevent by taking him out after six. The scoreboard was in our favor."

Higuera's fastball was clocked at 89 mph and he threw 74 pitches in his fifth start of the season since coming off the disabled list May 1. Trebelhorn saw no point in letting him continue.

"The only thing that would have come out of it was another ankle injury or he would give up some more runs and take a little away from outing he had had."

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Detroit 8, Baltimore 3, and Seattle 3, Texas 2. Minnesota and Chicago were rained out.

Higuera struck out seven, walked one and raised his lifetime record against the Yankees to 10-2. New York manager Dallas Green, however, was unimpressed. "He's not the Higuera they expect him to be later in the season," Green said. "He didn't have a good fastball. Sometimes you win with less than your best stuff. He got us out. He did his job."

The Brewers used a balk and catcher's interference to take a 4-0 lead after two innings against Dave LaPoint, 5-4.

Yankees rookie Deion Sanders, the fifth pick in the NFL draft after an All-American season at Florida State, was 0-for-3 with two strikeouts in only his second major league game.

Orioles 8, Tigers 3

Jim Traber and Rene Gonzales homered to key a six-run first inning and Baltimore won for the 12th time 15 games.

Rookie Randy Nosek, 0-2, making only his second start since being called up from Class AA London, Ontario, did not survive the first inning, giving up all six runs on four hits and two walks.

Dave Schmidt, 5-4, won his fourth consecutive start despite allowing a leadoff homer to Gary Pettis in the bottom of the first and another leadoff shot by Fred Lynn in the fifth.

Mariners 3, Rangers 2

Dave Cochrane homered with one out in the ninth inning to lift Seattle past Texas, only the Mariners' third victory in 11 games.

The Rangers had tied the game in the eighth on Scott Fletcher's two-run double, but Cochrane connected on a 0-1 pitch from Texas starter Kevin Brown, 4-2, for his second homer.

Mike Schooler, the third Seattle pitcher, worked 1 2-3 innings to win his first decision of the year.

Jim Presley gave the Mariners a 1-0 lead when he opened the fifth with his third homer and the Mariners' first hit off Brown.

Baseball camp planned

The Hereford Independent School District Community Education Program will sponsor two baseball camps this month, Hereford High School baseball coach T.R. Sartor has announced.

The camps will be divided by age group, Sartor said, with ages nine to 11 meeting June 19-23 and 12- to 14-year-olds attending June 26-30.

Sessions for the camps will be from 10 a.m. to noon. Sartor said afternoon sessions may be added if camp enrollment is large enough.

Instructors for both camps will be Sartor and HHS baseball assistants David Ashby and Bill Bridge.

Sartor said the camps will touch on all phases of the sport.

"We're going to work with the kids on their hitting and fielding," he said, "and we'll work on pitching also."

Cost for the camps will be $30 per person, Sartor said, which will include insurance.

Campers will be required to provide their own gloves and shoes and are requested to wear baseball pants for sliding drills.

Registration deadline is June 16 for nine- to 11-year-olds and June 23 for the 12 to 14 age group.

Registration forms will be available at the HISD Administration Building at 136 Avenue F.

Persons wishing more information about the camps may call Sartor at 364-8603, Ashby at 364-0144, Bridge at 364-5457 or the HHS fieldhouse at 364-0616.

The home run Dusty Rhodes hit to win the first game of the 1954 World Series for the Giants against the Indians was estimated to have traveled 260 feet into the right field stands at the Polo Grounds.

On the same day, April 9, 1978, George Gervin of the San Antonio Spurs scored 33 points in one period in an NBA game and David Thompson of Denver made 32 points in a single quarter.

IFCA team roping rescheduled

Start time for the International Feedlot Cowboy Association team roping event has been moved from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, according to Greg Carlile.

The roping, which will take place at the Circle A Arena at Westway, was rescheduled so it wouldn't conflict with the Hereford High School graduation ceremonies, Carlile said.

Pistons win away from finals

CHICAGO (AP) - The fans see the Chicago Bulls down 3-2 to the Detroit Pistons and on the brink of elimination from the NBA playoffs, but Michael Jordan is concerned with the number 24.

That's the tally of Chicago turnovers in Wednesday night's pivotal 94-85 Pistons' home victory in Game 5 of the best-of-7 Eastern Conference championship.

Jordan, held to 18 points as his team lost for the second time in three nights, said the Bulls' playoff survival depends on his team holding on to the ball in Game 6 tonight at Chicago Stadium.

"We've got to come out and take care of the basketball," Jordan said after Thursday's practice at the Deerfield Multiplex.

In tonight's game - the first June contest in the history of the Chicago franchise - Jordan also is concerned with scoring more against Detroit's tough defense, which has been gangling up on the NBA's three-time scoring champion.

"Hopefully, I can break away from the double and triple teams and get some shots," he said. "I don't think it's in our best interests to force shots."

Detroit's Dennis Rodman said the Pistons have been happy to shut Jordan down, forcing him to dish off the ball to his teammates.

"If Jordan wants to pass, we'll let him pass - we'll let him do that all night," Rodman said.

On Wednesday night, Jordan and his teammates seemed to get colder from the field as the game went on.

"We took our shots in the first half and made them, but we couldn't down the stretch," Jordan said.

"We had the shots to win the ballgame," he said. "We just didn't hit them."

Craig Hodges, who topped Chicago with 19 points, said, "We had our chances. We just didn't execute."

Rodman likens the conference finals, which the Bulls once led 2-1, to a boxing match.

"This has been like two boxers giving each other every punch he has," said Rodman, whose 14 rebounds Wednesday night helped topple Chicago.

But he thinks Detroit has one big advantage.

"I think we tire them out because of our bench strength," Rodman said.

Indeed, The Detroit reserves outscored Chicago 26-2 Wednesday night.

Vinnie "The Microwave" Johnson came off the bench for a game-high 22 points. He scored 16 points in the final quarter, giving star guard Isiah Thomas loads of rest.

Thomas doesn't want the series to come down to a duel between Jordan and himself.

"The thing I can't let happen it to be seduced into this Isiah against Michael Jordan thing ... Detroit can't win that way," he said.

Jordan, an avid golfer in the offseason, said he has had to cancel several appearances on the links in charity tournaments because of the Bulls' extended season.

"That's OK. I'd rather be doing this," Jordan said.

SMU adds assistants

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist took another step in its rise from the dead with the hiring of four assistant football coaches.

The final personnel-related penalty from the harshest punishment ever dealt by the NCAA expired Thursday, allowing coach Forrest Gregg to hire four full-time aides. He now has nine.

The school remains on probation until Sept. 1, 1990, but that edict pertains mainly to auditing and off-field operations.

The four staff additions include former all-pro cornerback Tim Lewis, who played under Gregg while he coached the Green Bay Packers, and Billy Kidd, an SMU graduate assistant who played four years with the Houston Oilers.

In addition to Lewis, Gregg hired Kansas State assistant Jon Tenuta and longtime Missouri assistant Mike Wade.

Gregg said he was relieved to have the additional help as the Mustangs prepare for their first season of football since 1986.

The 1987 season was scrapped by the so-called "death penalty," when the National Collegiate Athletic Association handed down its punishment for a far-reaching athletic scandal at SMU, and the school decided to scrap its 1988 season rather than play an NCAA-limited schedule of Southwest Conference games only, all on the road.

"Now we'll be able to do much more on the field and in recruiting with a full staff," Gregg said in a statement released by the school Thursday.

China offers $25 mil for fight

NEW YORK (AP) - Mike Tyson can have a trip to China and the lion's share of $25 million.

The Chinese government has offered that much to stage a fight in Beijing between the heavyweight champion and former champ George Foreman.

Bill Wheeler, a Seattle lawyer with contacts with the Chinese government, said Thursday he has a deal to have Tyson fight Foreman in Beijing. Bill Cayton, Tyson's estranged manager, confirmed he had reached a preliminary agreement to have Tyson fight Foreman in China, but "the final decision if the fight is to take place is Neither Tyson nor adviser Don King could be reached for comment.

"I believe the China deal has all the credentials," Cayton said. "I understand the Chinese government will put up a letter of credit. I will recommend it highly to Mike."

"I have received communications from the government of China. When the deal is finally confirmed by Mike Tyson, we will go ahead."

Cayton cautioned that negotiations for the Foreman fight are far from complete.

"The terms and conditions are superb. It's a huge payday, similar to what he made against (Michael) Spinks," Cayton said.

Tyson made about $21 million for knocking out Spinks in one round last June.

Foreman, the heavyweight champion from Feb. 16, 1973, to Oct. 30, 1974, stopped Bert Cooper in two rounds Thursday night in Phoenix. He is expected to fight Tyrell Biggs or Evander Holyfield this summer.

"It would depend on George Foreman winning these ... fights," Cayton said of a Tyson-Foreman matchup. "If he fails to win, the deal is off."

Cincinnati relief pitcher Rob Murphy worked in 76 games in 1988 and had no victories.

Purchase won the 1919 Jockey Club Gold Cup without opposition. All the other horses entered were scratched.

NEW YORK (AP) - Singer Carly Simon, honored for her commitment to helping children, told youngsters to hold fast to dreams.

Simon and New York Mets slugger Darryl Strawberry were among the adults and children receiving community service awards from the Association to Benefit Children, a group that helps poor, handicapped and AIDS-stricken youngsters.

"Any time you have a dream, don't imagine it's an impossible dream," Ms. Simon told the group of about 100 children in Central Park.

Urethane may taint drinks

Seven basic principles for developing and maintaining a healthier diet were suggested in the most recent Dietary Guidelines for Americans.

Dr. Mary Kinney Sweeten, a nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said that one of these guidelines concerning consumption of alcoholic beverages suggests that if an individual uses the beverages to do so in moderation.

"Alcohol, like other food substances, may contain small amounts of some additives such as urethane," Sweeten said.

She said urethane, a byproduct in the manufacture of some alcoholic beverages, may be a potential cancer-causing substance.

Sweeten said a report in the April FDA Consumer by Marian Segal said urethane is a known carcinogen for several species of animals, and as such, must be viewed as a potential carcinogen for humans as well.

Concerns about urethane originated in 1985 when Canadian claims said the chemical had been detected in certain wines and distilled spirits, Sweeten said. The Food and Drug Administration along with the bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms began looking for ways to reduce or eliminate urethane in alcoholic beverages.

She said the report indicated that bourbons generally contained the highest levels of urethane, with up to several hundred parts per billion (ppb).

It appeared that the distillation conditions, such as temperature needed to produce the characteristic flavor of bourbons, resulted in urethane levels significantly higher than those found in some other distilled spirits such as vodka, according to the division of regulatory guidance in the Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition.

Sweeten said urethane forms during fermentation of alcoholic beverages, and heating a fermented product increases the levels. The substance also is related to the type of soil and fertilizer used to grow the raw products. Even weather can contribute to its formation.

She said the report indicated certain factors influencing urethane production can be modified. Urea, often added during fermentation and capable of producing urethane, has been eliminated by all the major U.S. wineries. Manufacturers also are experimenting with different baking conditions for sherry.

"The FDA and ATF took immediate action on the matter and met with industry groups voicing concerns about urethane levels," Sweeten said.

A large number of wineries have agreed to a 1995 goal calling for table wines to average less than 25 ppb of urethane and for dessert wine levels to be less than 90 ppb.

The report said the FDA and ATF also are working with several countries, including Japan, France, Germany and Switzerland, to reduce urethane levels in any alcoholic beverages they send to the United States.

Sweeten said the risk to consumers is still not clear, but the National Toxicology Program, a federal research program, has given urethane a high priority for study.

LONDON (AP) - Shirley Temple Black, America's best-know child actor in the 1930s and 1940s, has been nominated to be ambassador to Czechoslovakia.

Ms. Black, 61, has held several government posts since her Hollywood days. She was ambassador to Ghana from 1974 to 1976.

The nomination, made by President Bush on Thursday during a stop in London, will require Senate confirmation.

If We Ran This Ad On TV, You'd Only Have 30 Seconds To See It.

Now you'd only have 25 seconds, and you wouldn't be able to go back and look at the opening line again or pause (19...18...17...) to consider its significance. You wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with this advertisement—and it wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with you. In fact, if we tried to say just this much in a 30-second TV commercial, throwing in only a brief mention that newspapers offer coupons, give you great flexibility of size, and can leave a lasting impression on your customers, we'd run out of...

"We Reach Thousands Everyday."

St. Jude Novena, say it when problems arise or when one seems to be deprived of all visible help or for cases almost despaired of: Most holy apostle, St. Jude, faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the Church honors and invokes you universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things almost despaired of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use I implore you, of that particular privilege given to you, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despaired of. Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, particularly (here make your special request) and that I may praise God with you and all the elect forever. I promise, O Blessed St. Jude, to be ever mindful of this great favor, to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you, Amen. Say this prayer for 9 consecutive days, by the end of the 9th day your prayer will be answered, publication must be promised. Thank you for a favor received. L.P.
