

CSF campaign now underway

Donations for the 1989 edition of the Christmas Stocking Fund are now being accepted at The Hereford Brand, and the food drives for the program are gearing up.

The Christmas Stocking Fund is Hereford's charity to assist some of the community's less fortunate during the holiday season. Through CSF contributions, gifts of food, clothing, medical and utility assistance are provided to those in need.

Last year, CSF contributions reached the $16,000 mark—the highest in the charity's history. CSF means warm clothing for cold children, help for a family who lost everything in a house fire, much-needed prescription medicine for an elderly widow, and a heater that worked for a woman who had no means to pay for repairs to her furnace. Food baskets delivered by CSF, churches and civic groups coordinating their efforts with CSF, mean a touch of holiday cheer for folks who couldn't have afforded it otherwise.

CSF is administered by an anonymous committee of volunteers representing a broad cross-section of the community. Applications for assistance from CSF are thoroughly screened and processed by the committee.

"We have great hopes for another record-breaking year for our holiday charity this year," said a CSF spokesman. "The need is always great, and despite reaching new highs for the past three years, there are always more calls for help than we're able to address."

Local businesses are again mounting food and clothing drives for CSF and Hereford schools will launch another traditionally successful canned food drive. A CSF spokesman says corn and ranch-style beans are especially welcome canned food items. Employees of the City of Hereford and Energas Co. will be assisting with CSF deliveries again this year, and the Hereford Key Club will help gather foods from the various school campuses.

Sign-ups for assistance from this year's CSF drive are continuing from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays at the county Red Cross office, 224 South Main, through Dec. 15. Applicants should take proof of Deaf Smith County residence, along with complete information on accounts and bills if they are requesting assistance with utility, doctor or pharmacy bills.

Donations to CSF may be made in person at the offices of The Brand, 313 Lee, or they may be mailed to CSF in care of The Brand, Box 673, Hereford, TX. 79045.

The Brand will publish listings of CSF donors periodically. Those wishing to donate anonymously should so designate their contributions.

80's Bull Chip to be awarded

The "Bull Chip of the Decade" will be awarded to someone who has had a tremendous impact on Hereford and Deaf Smith County during the 1980s at the annual "Eat Your Heart Out, Neiman-Marcus" Fun Breakfast to be held Thursday at 6:30 a.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

The breakfast will also feature displays and specials from several Hereford merchants to help kick off the holiday season in Hereford.

A fast-paced, fun program is promised by co-chairmen John Stagner and Charlie Bell. There will also be several giveaways, games, announcements and the presentation of the Honorary Bull Chip award.

Chamber executive vice president Mike Carr said that a short visit from Santa could be included "if everyone behaves between now and the breakfast." Other "special" guests are also expected to be on hand.

Persons are urged to make their reservations by 5 p.m. Wednesday by calling the chamber at 364-3333.

Researchers have told us that it's probably not what we eat but how we eat it that causes the majority of health problems. "Fast foods" became the habit for many Americans, and now researchers say people don't even take enough time for those.

The trend is now moving to food that people can eat with one hand while they are doing another activity. Forecasters predict that by the year 2,000, about 25 percent of the nation's autos will come equipped with a small microwave oven!

Busy people will simply buy one-handed meals and pop 'em into the microwave on the drive home from work. It's supposed to provide more leisure time for golf, tennis and other activities.

Shucks, we thought eating was a leisure-time activity.

Lewis Grizzard, the syndicated columnist, told this tale at a newspaper convention. Grizzard said he was on an airplane, seated next to a good-looking, well-built blonde. In the course of conversation, she told him she was a nymphomaniac travelling around the country in search of new and exciting sexual partners. Grizzard asked her what kind of men she found to be the most satisfying, and she said cowboys and Jewish men were her favorites. She introduced herself as Lola Lane and asked what his name was.

Hereford High School twirlers Dawn DeBord and Gina Alley dance as part of their halftime routine during Saturday's Hereford vs. Big Spring playoff game at Lubbock. There was no dancing after the game: Hereford lost a 22-19 heart-breaker.

Kalka wins contest

Bernadette Kalka missed just six games and came closest on the Hereford vs. Big Spring tie-breaker to win first place in last week's Hereford Brand Football contest.

Mrs. Kalka will win $25 in Hereford Bucks for her effort.

Placing second was Jim Marsh of Hereford. He picked the same total points as Mrs. Kalka, but picked Hereford to win by a bigger margin. He'll receive $15 in Hereford Bucks.

Finishing third was Nicholas Tarr of Hereford. He also missed just six games and will win $10 in Hereford Bucks.

There were four entrants who missed seven games and nine who missed eight games.

This week's contest will be split into two parts: the grand prize game for persons who have finished first, second or third during one of the weekly contests, and the regular contest.

Those eligible for the grand prize contest, where someone will receive $100 in Hereford Bucks, include Celia O'Rand, Mike O'Rand, Jimmy Thomas, Bobbie Kitchens, S.T. Loerwald, George Loerwald, Greg Coplen, Robert Gamez, Valentin Zamora, Dan O'Dell, Butch Casey and Weldon Peace.

Also, Melinda Gamez, Andy C. Scott, Cory Schumacher, Debi Lewis, Dennis Sargent, Virginia Adams, Tony Shakocius, Treva Blair, Ed Crandall, Elvis Davis and Lewis McDaniel.

Also, Austin Hutton, Raymond Hill, Jackie Murphey, Linda Peace, Lois Hillwig, Andy Kalka, Shelly Moore, Bernadette Kalka, Jim Marsh and Nicholas Tarr.

The winner among the grand prize contestants will win $100 in Hereford Bucks. Second place will earn $50 in Hereford Bucks, and third place will win $25 in Hereford Bucks. Hereford Bucks may be spent at any business in Deaf Smith County and are made available by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

There will be two separate deposit boxes for entries this week: one for those eligible for the grand prize game, and another for regular entries.

Arrowhead: crunching along

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

The "crunch, crunch" of Hereford Rotarians chewing on samples of Apple Corns punctuated a presentation by Pete Holcombe, plant manager of Arrowhead Mills, Inc., on Monday.

Holcombe covered everything from the company's early beginnings in the 1950s to Arrowhead Mills' latest product development. While many speakers use visual aids to supplement their verbal presentations, Holcombe came well prepared with a "tasty" aid.

Rotarians received free samples of Apple Corns, a new product which is currently undergoing market testing. The Rotarians themselves were asked to submit written reactions to the new breakfast cereal.

"The major spurt of growth came from 'hippies,'" Holcombe said of the early years of Arrowhead Mills.

From its very beginnings the company has specialized in the production of natural foods. An estimated 95 percent of Arrowhead Mills products are sold through the natural food industry.

This hometown industry has grown far beyond Deaf Smith County borders. Today, Arrowhead Mills products are sold in all 50 states and a number of foreign countries including Canada, New Zealand, Hong Kong and the United Kingdom.

In the early years, Arrowhead Mills was limited to the production and marketing of corn meal and stone ground whole wheat flour.

Over the years, the market for the natural foods produced by the Hereford company has expanded. It is no longer limited to the "counter-culture" which was the primary buyer of Arrowhead Mills products during the 1960s. Since that time, interest in health foods has become widespread.

"People today are wanting something quick but healthy," Holcombe said.

McMorries is named inspector

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

Jim McMorries was approved Monday by Deaf Smith County's commissioners as the official septic tank inspector for the county.

Commissioners voted on the selection of McMorries following a brief executive session. After choosing an inspector, the commission turned its attention to setting fees for septic tank inspections.

"You (the county) should be able to get something out of it (inspections) just for having to handle the stupid things," McMorries said.

As county septic tank inspector, McMorries will be working as an individual contractor, not as an employee of the county. The newly-appointed inspector cautioned commissioners against setting a single fee for all septic tank inspections.

He indicated that a fee appropriate for a single-family dwelling might be grossly inadequate in a commercial situation.

"We're looking at three or four or five inspections (for some commercial plants)," McMorries said.

In the end, commissioners approved a range of fees including $60 for private homes and $150 for commercial sites with a single septic tank system. Fees are to be negotiated individually for commercial sites with multi-septic systems. In addition to these fees, septic tank owners will also be required to pay any appropriate fees for filing documents related to the inspection.

Commissioners decided to select a local septic tank inspector last October to provide a savings to county residents. According to state law, inspection and certification is required on any new septic tank or on any existing system which receives substantial repair.

If a state inspector certifies a system, property owners can expect a fee of $150 to $200. The state charges the county for inspections and then the county passes on those charges to the owners.

Jeryl Baker of Lone Star Agency, Inc. informed commissioners of a change in policy dealing with the "cafeteria plan" provided for county employees. This program allows employees to have funds withheld from their paycheck for qualified expenses. The employee pays these expenses and then is reimbursed from the "cafeteria plan."

The employee benefits from the program since funds allotted for the qualified expenses are not counted as taxable income.

Baker said that the Department of the Treasury recently altered policy governing the payment of medical expenses covered by the cafeteria plan. According to new policy, an individual can claim all or any part of the amount to be withheld from his paycheck for medical expenses at any time during the year.

In other words, if an employee has asked that $100 a month be withheld for payment of medical expenses, the employee can claim $1,200 (total amount for the year) as soon as he has incurred those expenses. Before, the employee could only claim up to the amount which had been withheld up to the date of the claim.

Baker expressed concern that an employee could pay for part of a year, claim for a whole year and then leave the county payroll before paying the entire amount.

"I don't think the county wants that expense," said County Commissioner John Strubling (Precinct 1).

Commissioners voted to remove medical expenses from the qualified expenses included in the county's cafeteria plan. Health premiums, group term life premiums and child and dependent care costs will continue to be included in qualified expenses.

In other business, commissioners approved a request to cross a county road with an electric fence line. The section of road to be crossed is located in the northeast portion of Precinct 4.

Nomination rejected

FORT WORTH (AP) - Nolan Ryan is handling his political future much like he's handling his future in professional baseball - he's taking it one year at a time.

But a source extremely close to baseball's all-time strikeout king - his wife, to be exact - says he may be very interested in pursuing the state's top agriculture post in a couple of years.

"He's not ruling it out, of course," Ruth Ryan said. "Maybe in a couple years... I think he'd be great."

For the time being, however, the only ballots in Ryan's future are the ones that undoubtedly push him into baseball's Hall of Fame five years after he retires.

The Texas Rangers pitcher on Monday officially brushed aside a push by the Texas Farm Bureau to put him on the ballot for state agriculture commissioner. He made his announcement in front of about 500 delegates gathered at the bureau's state convention.

Top-ranking bureau officials, whose organization represents 327,589 member farm families, wanted Ryan to go head-to-head with incumbent Democratic Commissioner Jim Hightower.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 15, I ran away from home. The first year, I hitchhiked all over the country and met all kinds of people. One couple made a lasting impression on me.

In 1982 I was hitching from Southern California to San Jose. I took a ride with a man who knew I had no place to live. He and his family opened up their home to me. They fed me, gave me a clean bed and treated me with respect. They never asked for anything in return. I stayed with them for a week.

When I left I did something I am ashamed of. I sneaked out of their house in the middle of the night and took some of their possessions, including a leather jacket and a piggy bank that belonged to their son.

I have thought about this family often these past years. Not only would I like to apologize but I also want to thank them for treating me as if I were a member of the family. It was the first time in my life that I felt truly accepted. I want them to know that their kindness has never been forgotten. I'm writing this letter not only for that family but for all the generous people who have taken in runaways and shown compassion. So, my dear friends in San Jose, this means you. --Ohio

"If it gets in the papers it could ruin his career." Some people suggested that it would make me look like a mean bitch. My best friend said, "Forget about it and get on with your life. This kind of publicity will be damaging to you."

I am getting on with my life, but I'm glad I pressed charges and I am writing to encourage other women to do the same. Why? Because I respect myself enough to say it is wrong to beat me up. Because women need to know that they should never tolerate violence. And men need to know that beating up a woman is a crime. The man who beat me up is getting help. I did him a favor. He might have killed his next girlfriend.

I believe I did the right thing. Ann, what do you think? -- North Jersey

DEAR N.J.: You did the right thing for all the reasons you stated. It would have been easier to let the incident drop, but by going public you performed a service for women everywhere. As Edmund Burke said, "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What's the best (and cheapest) way to locate a missing family member who has disappeared? -- Worried in Dubuque

DEAR D: Contact the Salvation Army. Its record of success is excellent.

Steers hold off Herd in area match

Herd comeback falls a mere three points short

By SAM W. WALLER
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces fell short Saturday in coming back from a 16-point deficit in their area playoff game with Big Spring at Lowrey Field in Lubbock as the Steers held on to advance with a 22-19 win.

The game lived up to expectations with both teams amassing more than 300 offensive yards apiece. Matt Bromlow led all rushers with 183 yards on 34 carries and scored all three Herd touchdowns. Jason Walterscheid completed nine of 18 passing for 119 yards with two interceptions. Russell led the Herd receivers with eight catches for 105 yards.

The Steers spread the ball around, using seven ball carriers to rush for 231 yards. Fullback Terry Bailey led with 72 yards on seven carries while tailback Jermaine Miller had 58 yards on 10 tries. Big Spring quarterback Rance Thompson hit on six of 12 attempts for 102 yards with a touchdown and an interception. Wingback Neal Mayfield hauled in five receptions for 88 yards and a score.

"It was a great football game," Big Spring head coach David Thompson said. "Both teams played hard. You just can't say enough about the way those kids fought back. Bromlow is a great back."

Herd coach Don Cumpston expressed similar feelings about the game.

"The game went about like we expected," he said. "We knew they had an excellent offensive team and we felt like it would be a relatively high-scoring game. I thought we played excellent on defense from about the middle of the third quarter on. I thought we played pretty good offensively even in the first half even though we only had one touchdown."

The game started out as a defensive battle, though, as both teams went three plays and punt on their first two possessions.

The Herd got things moving on its third turn with the ball driving 81 yards in 11 plays. Bromlow got the score on a 10-yard run with only seven seconds left in the opening period. Hereford was left with a 6-0 lead when Eddie Cantu's kick hit the left upright.

The Steers responded with a quick strike, going 71 yards in four plays. Thompson hit Mayfield for 42 yards and Bailey bolted for 21 to set up a six-yard Thompson to Mayfield score. Big Spring missed a chance to take the lead when Jason Davis' kick went wide to the left.

Hereford moved right back down the field following the kickoff, but Brett Confer fumbled after taking a pass to the Big Spring 18-yard line with Steers cornerback Jim Rangel getting the recovery.

The Steers took advantage of the turnover, gaining at least 16 yards on each of the next four plays to take the lead. Kevin Rodgers scored from 24 yards out on his only carry of the night. The score was left at 12-6 when Thompson's pass was incomplete.

The Herd was forced to punt on its next possession from the Big Spring 40. Bromlow got off a high floater that hit at the 15 but bounced back to the 22 before being downed.

The Steers continued the momentum with a nine-play drive that reached the Herd 23. After two incompletions, Gerald Cobos came on to boot a 39-yard field goal that was eventually the difference in the game.

Hereford had a chance in the final minute of the half and reached the Steers 41 in four plays, but Confer couldn't hold on to Walterscheid's Hail Mary pass at the goal line as time ran out.

The Steers picked up where they left off taking the second half kickoff in for a score with an eight-play drive. Mayfield got his second touchdown with a 10-yard run around left end.

The Herd's woes continued following the score when Freddy Rodriguez picked off a Walterscheid pass at the Big Spring 10.

The Steers were finally forced to punt after scoring on four straight possessions and Hereford began to come back.

Walterscheid scrambled for 11 yards on the first play and Bromlow went for 19 two plays later, leaving a pair of Big Spring defenders on the turf with fakes. The tailback raced for 16 more yards to set up his five-yard score.

Confusion reigned on the conversion attempt when Hereford lined up to go for two. While the coaches were screaming for a time out, Walterscheid was dropped for a 10-yard loss.

"We didn't have our formation just exactly like we wanted on that one," Cumpston said. "We had a little miscommunication there, and that happens. We would like to have run (the play) to the other side."

The Herd defense then took the ball away from the Steers on the next to possessions. Two plays after the Herd kicked off, Jeromy Gowdy stepped in front of a Thompson pass at the Steer 41 and returned it to the 13. Bromlow made the most of the opportunity with a six yard run and Cantu brought the Herd to within three points.

"The wide receiver ran out deep in the flat," Gowdy said of the play, "about 10 yards deep, so I was back covering him. Then I saw the back come out and I just came up on him."

On the first play after the kickoff, Aaron Savage knocked Bailey loose from the ball and Jason Lueb recovered at the Steer 45.

The Herd inched its way toward a possible winning score. Penetrations were even at three each while the Herd had a 17-14 lead in first downs.

After converting on fourth-and-five at the 40, Hereford faced fourth-and-three at the 27. At that time, Cumpston elected to go for the first down instead of a field goal to tie the score. Bromlow reached the Big Spring 14, but a clipping call killed the drive.

"We were on the 25 and (a field goal) would've been a 42-yarder and there was lots of time," Cumpston said of his decision not to kick, "about eight minutes to go in the game. We felt like we could line up and make about three yards and we made about 11. We got the penalty there and then we had to punt. It put us back to the 40 and it was fourth-and-18."

Bromlow's punt went through the end zone for a touchback and the Steers tried to run out the clock.

The Herd defense held Big Spring to third-and-10 after the punt, but Thompson got loose on a naked bootleg for 19 yards to enable the Steers to run another five minutes of the clock before being stopped.

Mayfield gave the Herd a chance when he shanked a 12-yard punt out of bounds at the Hereford 27, but on third down, Walterscheid was stripped of the ball as scrambled.

The Herd defense held and used three time outs to force another punt, which Mayfield sent through the end zone. Walterscheid misfired on his first two passes, failing to see a wide-open Confer in the left flat, and watched helplessly as his next throw bounced off Backus' hand and into the arms of Big Spring's Rye Bavin with only 27 seconds left.

"They knew we were going to throw at that time," Cumpston said. "We were behind three and there was only two minutes to play and we were trying for a big play and they got it."

Hereford finished the season at 8-3 while the Steers, now 9-2, advance to the regional playoff game against Fort Worth Brewer, a 23-8 winner over Stephenville.

Cumpston praised his team for their effort in the game.

"This is a group of kids that I thought, all year, played pretty hungry," he said. "They had something to prove. I'm not sure a lot of people, when the season started, thought they were going to be the kind of team that could get in the playoffs. I think they did great. I have nothing but good things to say about them. They did everything we asked them to do, and they worked at it."

"It's just a shame for it to end like it did because we felt like we could play some more. We felt like we had come far enough and were good enough and were playing well enough to play a while. It just didn't work out."

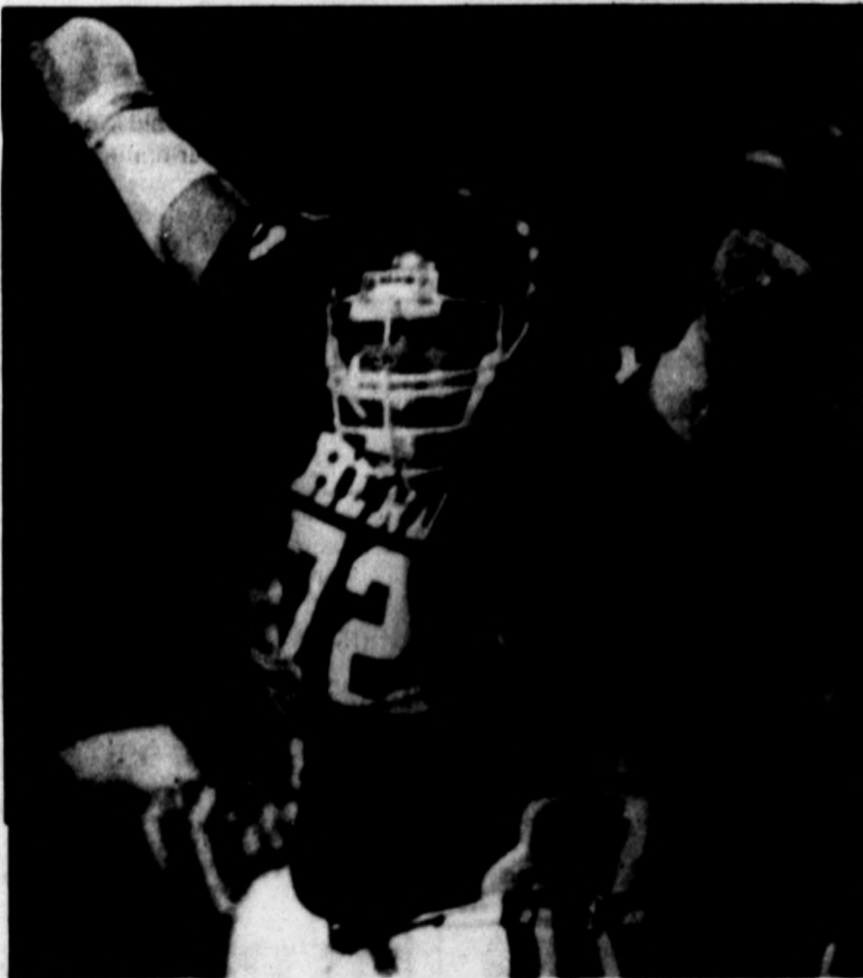

Cumpston added that the success would not have been possible without the support of the fans.

"I would just like to thank the community," he said. "It looked like we had a great crowd down at Lubbock. The support was just tremendous. The people of this town have always responded well and we appreciate them and their support."

"Like I said, it's a disappointing way to end the season, but when you get to this point there's only going to be one team in each classification that's happy at the end."

IT happens

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

IT. That is not a complete sentence but that's what a penalty called against the Hereford Whitefaces in Saturday's 22-19 playoff loss to the Big Spring Steers may best be called. Especially in a family setting.

IT can't be seen on Saturday's game film. You can look for it. You can look from up above, from the camera's perspective in the press box at Lowrey Field. IT simply can't be seen.

It's easy to know what to look for. A clip is defined as "to throw oneself across the lower part of the leg or legs of (an opponent who is not carrying the ball), so as to cause him to fall; an illegal act" in Webster's New Universal Unabridged Dictionary.

The penalty when IT really happens is a necessary part of football. There hasn't always been a penalty for clipping. Back in football's infancy, you could hit anyone, anywhere, anytime. Caveat plegian: let the player beware.

But football was becoming too brutal. Too many people were being maimed, many of them from clipping. It was either outlaw clipping or outlaw football early in the century.

Clipping lost. The penalty for clipping hasn't always been 15 yards. For a time it was half the distance to the goal line, then it was 25 yards.

There are certain conditions where clipping is legal.

There is a clipping zone. It goes from the offensive tackle on one side of the line of scrimmage to the offensive tackle on the other side of the line of scrimmage, and goes for three yards on each side of the neutral zone.

Also, if a player turns his back on another player and the block that would have been clean isn't, then it's the fault of the player who turned his back.

When IT actually occurs, it can lead to a devastating injury. But IT wasn't there Saturday night when Hereford faced fourth-and-two at the Big Spring 26, trailing 22-19 but moving into position for at least an Eddie Cantu field goal attempt.

Instead, IT was called. Instead of fourth-and-two, the Herd faced fourth-and-17 and had to punt the ball away.

"That was a killer," Hereford coach Don Cumpston said after the game. "We had all the momentum. We had a definite scoring opportunity... We overcame a lot, but we couldn't overcome that."

That is better known as IT.

Hereford had just closed the gap to 22-12 with 1:58 left in the third quarter on the second of three Matt Bromlow touchdown runs when defensive back Jeromy Gowdy intercepted a pass at the Steer 41 and returned it to the 13.

Gowdy was a little disappointed. He thought he could score.

"They sent two people out on my side," Gowdy said. "The first one went deep in the flat, then the other one broke out. I went to him and stepped in front of him and intercepted it. "I thought I saw a touchdown (on the return) but a guy got in front of me and I couldn't make it. I wish maybe I could have made a cut or do something else."

Gowdy was kept busy during the first half when Big Spring ran at will through the Herd, the secondary was called on to make several stops in the first half.

"They ran the trap a lot," Gowdy said. "They were just getting right through our front line. In the second half we got to kicking but it was a little too late... We knew what they were going to be doing, but they just ran right over us."

The bitterness of the loss cast a shadow on an otherwise brilliant season for the Herd, Gowdy said.

"We did a lot of things people didn't think we could do," Gowdy said. "At the first of the season, especially after the first three games, we (the team) were the only people who thought we would be here."

"We could have gone a lot further, but they got some breaks and made some plays. I'm satisfied with the season, I guess, but I really wish we could go a lot farther."

Matt Bromlow has a little satisfaction that many members of this year's team can't have: he gets to come back for some revenge next season.

The junior running back had 34 carries for 183 yards and three touchdowns in the game.

But there's still bitterness with the loss.

"I sure didn't see anything on that play (when the clip was called)," Bromlow said. "I think it hurt us a little bit. It was not the main factor. We made a lot of mistakes. I think we played hard, but we just ran out of time."

The possession on which IT was called began with a Jason Lueb fumble recovery at the Big Spring 45 at the end of the third quarter.

"Jason's fumble recovery was a major spark for us," Bromlow said. "But before you know it, well, we just ran out of time."

The Herd's offense was slowed in the first half, but some halftime adjustments helped the Herd.

"They had the strong safety slide down on the line, and several times on the strong side toss he would be behind the line of scrimmage waiting for me," Bromlow said. "At halftime we changed to more tandem sets, and we put Greg (Urbanczyk, the fullback) on the strong safety so I could get outside."

"I'm satisfied with the season, but I'm disappointed we didn't go farther. We were underdogs because no one thought we would be this far."

"It makes me feel a little better, knowing that we got this far. I love football, and I hope next year will be even better."

If next year's better for Bromlow, it's going to be great: he finished the 1989 season with 1,550 yards in nine games.

Lady Whitefaces sixth at Amarillo

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces finished sixth at the Amarillo Girls Invitational Basketball Tournament by splitting a pair of games Saturday.

The Lady Whitefaces took a 52-39 win over El Paso Irvin in the second round before falling to Clovis, 48-33, in the fifth-place contest.

Against Irvin, Hereford pounded away at the inside, getting 19 points from Donna Grotegut and 16 from Shantel Cornelius, both post players. Cande Robbins added five points while Chandra Brown and Stacy White had four. Brienna Townsend and D'Ann Hill also added a basket each for the Herd.

Mary Shinsato and Jackie Wade led Irvin with 14 points each.

"We played a lot better against Irvin than we did against Palo Duro on Friday," said Coach Dickie Faught.

"The games we had Saturday gave us a chance to work on different things," he added. "We were able to work inside against Irvin and then Clovis played zone the whole game. I was a little excited about seeing how we could handle that."

The zone kept the Herd from getting much inside scoring after Cornelius' team-leading 10 points. Robbins (four points), Grotegut (five) and Brown (two) could barely match that total combined.

Townsend also had 10 points to share the scoring lead and Jennifer Bullard added a basket.

Clovis was led by Pepita Bailey's 10 points and had five others with at least six each.

The Lady Whitefaces will open the district season tonight when the defending state champion Levelland Lobocettes visit Whiteface Gymnasium at 8. The JV contest will begin at 6:30.

In boys basketball, the Whitefaces will travel to Class 3A power Dimmitt for an 8 p.m. game. The JV will start at 6:30.

San Francisco scores late to defeat Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The tale of this game could be read in the welts on the ribs of Joe Montana and Phil Simms, the swelling in Lawrence Taylor's right leg, the fatigue on everyone's face.

It could be heard in the anger in the voices of the San Francisco 49ers and the New York Giants on the field and in their weary, sometimes bitter words afterward.

For 3 1/2 hours Monday night, the teams with the best records in the NFC played a brutal game of football. In perhaps a preview of the conference championship matchup, the 49ers came away a 34-24 winner.

"I think we'll see them again somewhere down the line," said Giants defensive end Leonard Marshall, still upset by the play that knocked Taylor out of the game in the second quarter with knee and ankle sprains.

"Lawrence Taylor was cut down on a cheap shot," Marshall said. "He was cut (down) from behind."

San Francisco tackle Steve Wallace, who was involved in the play, said that after Taylor went down "there was bad blood. They were saying we shouldn't have cut him ... but it wasn't intentional."

Five turnovers by the Giants - including two interceptions and a fumble on their final four possessions - kept the 49ers from giving away their second straight game.

Mike Cofer, given a reprieve by a penalty, kicked a 45-yard field goal with 4:12 remaining to put the 49ers ahead for good. Cofer had missed badly from 50 yards, but got a second chance because New York's Reyna Thompson had lined up the neutral zone.

"We made a good comeback, but we made a couple of mistakes at the end of the game and that lost it for us right there," Giants coach Bill Parcells said.

Joe Montana completed 18 of his first 19 passes, including three for first-half touchdowns, to give San Francisco a 24-7 lead. Then, after being knocked out of the game briefly with sore ribs, he returned to conduct a familiar game-winning drive in the final minutes.

"I like to think we're going to win them all, but then there's a game like this where you work and you work and you're still hanging by your fingernails at the end," said Jerry Rice, who caught his 15th touchdown pass.

"Nobody likes to play like that, but when it's close we know we can come through every time."

The Giants, boasting the stingiest defense in the conference - 16 points per game - permitted Montana to improve his league-leading 70 percent completion rate, hitting 27 of 33 passes for 292 yards.

But Simms brought the Giants back, engineering two second-half touchdown drives and New York eventually tied the score at 24 midway through the final period.

After Cofer's field goal, however, Simms was intercepted for the third time, this one by Eric Wright, setting up Tom Rathman's 1-yard insurance touchdown with 1:08 remaining.

Simms completed 25 of 48 passes for 326 yards.

Rookie David Meggett took a swing pass from Simms, raced through the secondary and slipped a tackle by Chet Brooks at the 15 as he completed a 53-yard scoring play to cut the lead to 24-17.

When Carl Banks slapped the ball out of Montana's hands and defensive end John Washington recovered at the New York 13, the Giants had a chance to tie it.

But Jim Burt, a recent 49ers pickup to shore up the nose tackle position in Michael Carter's absence, forced a fumble by Meggett to kill one threat, and Brooks' interception of a Simms pass at the 49ers' 1-yard line with 1:40 left in the game wiped out another.

The Giants finally drew even with 7:06 left after Banks hammered Mike Wilson and Mark Collins recovered at the San Francisco 30. Disdaining a field goal on fourth-and-goal from the 7, Simms lofted the tying pass to Odessa Turner in the left corner of the end zone.

It was a gamble that paid off for the Giants, but their luck ran out when Cofer got his second chance for a field goal and Simms threw the ball straight to Wright.

Tech readies for bowl

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - Those attending the All American Bowl might be better off leaving their watches at home, says Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes, whose 25th ranked Red Raiders meet No. 20 Duke in the Dec. 28 game.

"Don't plan on a three-hour ball game," Dykes said at a news conference Monday. "We may be playing five or six hours because we're going to be throwing it, too. It's going to be wild. I think it will be a great matchup and I imagine there will be a lot of points scored."

"We'll do everything we can to put on a good show here," said Steve Spurrier, the Duke coach. "It should be a heck of a game."

The bowl, Duke's first since its 1960 team defeated Arkansas 7-6 in the Cotton Bowl, has altered the campus attitude at Durham, said Joe Alleva, assistant athletic director.

After so many years of Duke "not attending a bowl game, this is indeed a pleasure," he said. "Normally around October, we start thinking about basketball, but Spurrier and his team have changed that."

Alleva and T Jones, Tech athletic director, picked up 10,000 bowl tickets each, and both said they expected most if not all of them to be sold to their fans. Duke's ticket office at Durham reported that 1,500 tickets were sold Monday, their first day on sale.

Duke and Tech, both 8-3, have never played each other. Duke has been to only six bowls. Texas Tech's last postseason trip was to the 1986 Independence Bowl where the Red Raiders lost to Mississippi 20-17.

Clarkston Hines, the Duke receiver whose 38 career touchdown catches is an NCAA record, said that when he and his teammates received their All American invitation Saturday, "we were all extremely happy to be able to come to Birmingham. I'm excited already."

Duke ended its regular season by defeating North Carolina 41-0 to finish 6-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference and share the title with Virginia. Texas Tech went 5-3 in the Southwest Conference to give it at least a tie for third place.

"We have a bunch of guys who still believe in Santa Claus," Dykes said. "They dream and believe things can happen. The chemistry is right on this team and we had a very surprising season. We beat Texas and Texas A&M because we had a commitment."

Spurrier said he believes that quarterback Billy Ray, who left

Alabama to play for Duke, will be recovered from a sprained shoulder in time for the bowl game. "Billy's excited about it," he said.

"We have one of the best games in the bowl lineup," said the All American chairman, Steve Bradley.

Mavs shop Tarpley

FORT WORTH (AP) - The Dallas Mavericks are seeking to trade suspended forward Roy Tarpley to another National Basketball Association team, a Fort Worth newspaper reported today.

One team owner told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Monday that the Mavericks have had trade talks with the Golden State Warriors and Los Angeles Clippers about Tarpley, who was suspended indefinitely by his substance-abuse counselors following his arrest Nov. 15 on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

"I think (Mavericks owner) Donald Carter will take whatever steps are necessary to make things work," the owner, who was not named, said. "A lot of people would be interested in Roy."

"The Mavs aren't a team that's going to sit on its hands," the owner said. "They are making a lot of calls and engaging in a lot of communication."

Mavericks vice president Rick Sund, who could not be reached by the newspaper for comment, said recently that he does not expect Tarpley back "for a long time."

Mavericks General Manager Norm Sonju said Monday he has been in contact with Dr. David Lewis, director of the ASAP Family Treatment Center concerning Tarpley, but still does not know when Tarpley will be allowed to return to the team.

"It's totally Dr. Lewis' call," Sonju told the Dallas Times Herald Monday. "They may ask for our opinion. But so far, there is no telling when Dr. Lewis will be satisfied that Roy is ready to return."

Sonju said he has talked to Lewis and Gary Bettman, the NBA's general counsel, within the past few days about Tarpley and reports that Tarpley seems to be making progress.

It is not known if any team that might acquire the troubled star would have any assurance that he could be activated to play. His trade value would depend on a team's willingness to take that risk.

Tarpley is one strike away from a mandatory two-year suspension under provisions of the league's anti-drug policy.

At the time of his suspension, he led the NBA in rebounds with 16.8 per game.

A court date of Dec. 11 has been set for Tarpley on the driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest charges.

How to Prevent Accidents When Digging Near Underground Gas Lines

Natural gas is delivered through a system of underground piping. Some of these pipes might be located beneath the ground where your excavation work is to be done. Personal injuries and property damage can occur if the pipes are struck or disturbed by digging, drilling or blasting.

Before excavating, drilling or blasting, you or your contractor should thoroughly check the surrounding area to see if any gas pipeline warning signs are in or near the proposed work site.

Prevent an accident-call in advance

If any warning signs are nearby, call the number shown on the sign or contact the company at the number shown below and indicate the county, township and section in which you will be working. Please call 48 hours in advance of any excavation operations; the phone line is in operation seven days a week, 24 hours a day. If we have pipelines near the area, we'll be happy to dispatch trained field personnel to mark or stake the facilities at no cost to you.

Colorado moves into grid No. 1

By The Associated Press
 Colorado is No. 1 in college football for the first time in school history. While members of the team said it will be fun to have some "bragging rights," they won't consider their work done until Jan. 1. That's when the Buffaloes, previously No. 2 behind top-ranked Notre Dame, meet the Fighting Irish in the Orange Bowl for what could be the national championship. Colorado moved up in The Associated Press poll on Monday after Miami beat Notre Dame 27-10 Saturday. The Fighting Irish, who had been No. 1 since the first week of the season, fell to No. 5, while Miami rose three places to No. 4.

Alabama, the only other major undefeated team, moved up two places to No. 2 while once-beaten Michigan remained third after beating Ohio State 28-18. Alabama, which had the week off, finishes its regular season Saturday at Auburn. The top five teams all figure to have a shot at the national championship. Colorado can win it by beating Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, but if the Buffaloes lose it would open the door for the other four teams. "It is going to be our ultimate challenge," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said. "Anyone who knows anything about Notre Dame and its great traditions knows that they will bounce back from the Miami loss. You can count on that." Colorado players expressed reserved pleasure on Monday. "It's really not a big deal, because we've still got one more to play," defensive co-captain Michael Jones said. "If we lose, it all goes out the window." "It's a great feeling," guard Darrin Mullenburg said, "but we know we have to prove it and finish it off with one last game." "I feel the same as I did when we were No. 9," linebacker Alfred Williams said. "It feels good, but there's no golden light shining on me. The way everything has fallen, I think we should be in the top two. It's funny how the rankings go, but it'll be fun to have some bragging rights." University president Gordon Gee was a little more enthused. "We now have a football team our chemistry department can be proud of," he said, referring to the Nobel Prize for chemistry recently awarded to CU chemist Thomas Coch. "To remain (No. 1)," McCartney said, "we know that we have to defeat Notre Dame. If we do that, we can lay claim to be the national champions. It is going to be our ultimate challenge." Colorado, which completed an 11-0 regular season on Nov. 18, received 53 first-place votes and 1,468 of a possible 1,500 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Miami got three first-place votes, with two going to Alabama and one to Michigan. Alabama received 1,351 points, while Michigan got 1,332 and Miami 1,319. Notre Dame, whose 23-game winning streak was snapped by Miami, received 1,231 points. Florida State and Nebraska, who will meet in the Fiesta Bowl, are No. 6 and No. 7. Although both teams were idle, each dropped one spot because of Miami's move. Rounding out the Top 10 are Tennessee, Arkansas and Illinois. Tennessee beat Kentucky 31-10, Arkansas downed Texas A&M 23-22 and Illinois routed Northwestern

63-14. Auburn is 11th, followed by Southern California, Houston, Clemson, Virginia, Texas A&M, West Virginia, Penn State, Brigham Young, Duke, Ohio State, Michigan State, Hawaii, Pittsburgh and Texas Tech. No teams moved into the Top 25 and none dropped out, although there were several shifts in the order. Texas Tech and Pittsburgh dropped the most, the former falling seven spots after losing to Houston 40-24, the latter plunging five places after losing to Penn State 16-13. The victory propelled Penn State from No. 22 to No. 18, the biggest jump of any team.

Syracuse replaces UNLV as No. 1

By The Associated Press
 Lots of folks figured Syracuse would be No. 1 sometime this basketball season, and it has happened already. Kansas, meanwhile, went from nowhere to somewhere in hurry. Syracuse, ranked No. 3 in the preseason, moved up two spots after Kansas, then unranked, knocked off No. 2 Louisiana State and No. 1 UNLV in consecutive games. "I really don't pay any attention to them," Kansas coach Roy Williams said Monday when the rankings were announced. "Needless to say, it's going to get a lot of attention tonight and tomorrow until Thursday. But I really could care less. I know we've got to do it on the court." The Jayhawks got it done on the court in winning the preseason NIT, knocking off No. 25 St. John's in the title game after beating Alabama-Birmingham, LSU and UNLV to gain the finals. "The reason I don't pay a lot of attention to the polls - let me change that - the reason I don't pay any attention to the polls is because in basketball you do get a chance to play at the end of the year" in the NCAA Tournament, Williams said. "I'm glad you say the players get the credit first," he told a caller to his weekly radio show. "That's really not any genius sitting over there on the bench. The players have to do it. They believe in what we're trying to do. We have intelligent kids who are doing a good job of carrying it out."

Syracuse coach Jim Boheim was no less ambivalent to his club's placing. "We don't pay much attention to that," he said. "We've been ranked No. 1 in the last 12 years. It's not going to make much difference." "By the time the end of the season rolls around, I hope we'll be classified as a good basketball team." There seems little doubt of that. The Orangemen opened what is expected to be a stellar season with a 95-79 victory over Rutgers Monday night. Syracuse received 23 first-place votes and 1,453 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters in edging Arizona by 11 points. The Wildcats opened the season by beating defending national champion Michigan in the Tipoff Classic. Georgetown was No. 3, followed by Kansas and Maui Classic winner Missouri. Arizona received 10 first-place votes and had 31 more points than Georgetown (2-0) which moved from 10th to third and received nine No. 1 votes. Kansas (4-0) was on top of 16 ballots and had 1,266 points to edge fellow Big Eight member Missouri, which had 1,248 points. UNLV (3-1) was one vote back in sixth, followed by Duke (1-0), Illinois, LSU (1-1) and Michigan (0-1). Arkansas (2-0), ninth in preseason, had two first-place votes to lead the Second Ten. North Carolina, which lost to Missouri in the title game in Maui, fell from seventh to 12th. It was just the second time in the last 74 polls - starting in the 1984-85 season - that the Tar Heels were not ranked in the Top 10. They have been in the rankings every week since Jan. 4, 1983. Louisville (2-1), third at Maui, was 13th, followed by Indiana, UCLA, Temple, Oklahoma, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame and St. John's. Georgia Tech was 21st and Memphis State, Oklahoma State, Florida and North Carolina State rounded out the Top 25. Kansas was the only newcomer to the poll. Minnesota, ranked 20th before losing to Cincinnati in its opener, dropped out of the rankings.

Kansas' jump was the best of any unranked team since Alabama-Birmingham rose to 13th in the first regular-season poll of the 1984-85 season. The lone switch means three conferences still have four teams in the Top 25. Kansas joins Missouri, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State as the Big Eight members in the Top 25. The Big East has Syracuse, Georgetown, Pittsburgh and St. John's and the Atlantic Coast Conference has Duke, North Carolina, Georgia Tech and North Carolina State. The Big Ten now has three - Illinois, Michigan and Indiana - with Minnesota's departure.

They're busy in Austin Speaker wants vote soon on comp

AUSTIN (AP) - Speaker Gib Lewis, declaring the House won't accept the Senate version of workers' compensation reform, said he hopes senators will change their minds and agree instead to a business-backed overhaul measure.

The House is scheduled to take up the bill supported by Lewis Wednesday. The House Business and Commerce Committee passed the bill Monday with a 7-0 vote.

The proposal for changing the way workers are compensated for on-the-job injuries was initially authored by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby in an attempt to break an 11-month stalemate on the issue. However, it was heavily amended by senators before they sent it to the House.

"The bill that left the Senate was probably much, much worse than current law," Lewis said. "We will under no condition accept that bill, or any bill that would resemble that."

Minor, technical Senate amendments were retained by the House sponsor, Rep. Richard Smith, and some other changes were made. But Smith, R-Bryan, said the bill sent to the full House is essentially that written by Hobby and supported by Gov. Bill Clements.

Lewis said the right plan could end lawmakers' third try this year to overhaul the workers' compensation system. The regular session and an earlier special session failed to end the impasse.

Although he said he has no reason to think votes will change in the Senate, Lewis said he hopes "wisdom will prevail." Opponents have said portions of Hobby's plan are unfair to workers.

The Senate-approved plan sharply differed from Hobby's measure, and from earlier proposals by House members, on the questions of calculating benefits and resolving disputed workers' compensation claims.

Hobby's plan would restrict jury trials in compensation cases. It also would establish a specific schedule of monetary payments for permanent injuries.

Business lobbyists say large awards by juries and high injury benefits have caused increases in employer-paid premiums, which are up 148 percent since 1985 and scheduled to rise another 22 percent by Jan. 1.

The Senate-passed bill would restrict the admission in a trial any issues not raised at the state agency administrative hearing on a workers' compensation case. But senators refused to go along with requiring all potential evidence on every dispute to be presented at the administration level.

The Senate bill also changed the so-called impairment schedule for permanent injuries, adding more flexibility to the plan so benefits could be linked with a person's ability to hold a job in his field.

One amendment added to the bill by the House committee would allow the Houston Oilers' football team owner to deduct contractual disability payments to players from workers' compensation payments, said Rep. Steve Wolens, D-Dallas.

Lewis said that if Smith's bill passes the House, he hopes the Senate will accept it and avert the need for a conference committee to work out differences.

"Hopefully, the wisdom of this bill will just kind of just overcome the entire East (Senate) side of the Capitol ... and we can go home," he said.

The Business and Commerce Committee didn't vote on a proposal by Rep. Jim Parker, D-Comanche, to adopt the workers' compensation bill as passed by the Senate. Parker said he presented the measure because his constituents want action after months of deadlock.

"The truth of the matter is that the workman's compensation issue in my area of the state has become such a crisis that I'm not sure if I go back home from the Legislature this time without a workman's compensation bill, that I will be allowed to return," he said.

School finance: deja vu time

AUSTIN (AP) - Facing a court-ordered May 1 deadline, another task force on public schools has started working. But some members say they're experiencing deja vu.

"It seems like in 1977, the problems were (governmental) ethics and education. Here I am in 1989, and the problems are ethics and education," said state Rep. Jim Rudd, a House member since 1977.

"I've been through a number of school reform movements. I hope this time we get it right," added Austin lawyer Camilla Bordie, former longtime aide to Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Since 1983, two select committees have studied public education. The one that began work Monday, chaired by Houston businessman Charles Miller, was created by Gov. Bill Clements to recommend ways of meeting the Texas Supreme Court ruling that the current finance system discriminates against property-poor school districts.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said he has seen "seven or eight or 10 reports from prior select committees on education" during his legislative career.

"We made some major departures ... with House Bill 72 (in 1984). And had we had the grit to follow through with them, we wouldn't be here today in this mess," said Parker, who chairs the Senate Education Committee.

Clements has said he will call the Legislature into session this spring to deal with the problem. The court said lawmakers have until May 1 to fix the system.

Miller said he hoped the committee's final recommendations could be sent to the governor and Legislature by March 1. He said he favors an early March special legislative session to enact reforms before the court-ordered deadline.

Committee member Larry Jenkins, who chaired a 1988 study of public education, said school reform is the most crucial issue facing Texas today and that significant changes are needed.

"We can't keep on doing things the way we've always done, or we can anticipate getting the things we've always gotten - which is declining scores, lower international competitive nature and certainly much lower knowledge development in our kids," Jenkins said.

An overhaul, he said, is needed to "change the existing system to one that promises considerably more than what we've been able to achieve simply by trying to Band-Aid the current one."

Proposals for meeting the court's order range in cost from $1 billion to more than $10 billion over five years.

Clements has said "no new taxes" for school finance reform, and his order to the task force said spending more money without significant reform in the system's "structure" won't work.

Judges' districts will need a session

AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers need more time - and probably another special session - to satisfy a federal judge's demand that they overhaul the election of state judges in urban counties, House Speaker Gib Lewis says.

A federal judge in Midland has given the Legislature until early January to change the countywide election of state district judges in nine urban Texas counties, saying the current system violates the federal Voting Rights Act.

Opponents of the current system have urged that the judges be elected from single-member districts.

The Legislature is meeting in special session to deal with overhauling the state's workers' compensation system. But Lewis said Monday he isn't sure there will be enough time before the Dec. 13 adjournment to also deal with the judicial elections issue.

"Judicial reform is not as simply as saying 'judicial reform.' There's three or four different scenarios, and all of them are very controversial," said Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

"I think you're going to have to have a special session dedicated to judicial reform. It's just not that simple," he said.

Lewis said a resolution is being readied to ensure that lawmakers address the issue in a timely fashion. He said he hopes the measure would "maybe give us a little more time than the Jan. 1 deadline."

Gov. Bill Clements, who controls agendas for special sessions, has insisted that the current session remain limited to workers' compensation until a reform bill is passed.

But the House and Senate remain at odds, as they have been through the 140-day regular session and an abortive 30-day session in June and July, and two weeks of this special session already have elapsed.

Lewis said he and Clements have discussed judicial election reform. "The time factor will be the indicator on whether or not we can do that (add it to this session's agenda)," Lewis said.

"He's concerned about it and so am I, and we're working on what would be the acceptable plan. We don't know what that is," the House speaker said.

"Invariably, every committee that looks at education turns to structure because that's where you can go in and tinker with the system. That's where an amateur educator can go in and really wreak havoc," he said.

THE LIFE OF A LOBSTER PORTLAND, Me. (AP) - The lobster is a deep-sea survivor.

Though female lobsters lay from 5,000 to 100,000 eggs at a time, few survive the attacks of sea birds, fishes, squids and even other lobsters.

Growing lobsters periodically shed their hard green or red shells for a soft new one. The defenseless lobster then must hide in an undersea crevice till the protective shell hardens.

American lobsters are caught in the Atlantic Ocean from Canada to Delaware and are usually 1 or 2 feet long and average about 2 pounds in weight. They have five pairs of legs, with claws on the front pair.

Fishermen use lobster pots to catch the shellfish one at a time. If two or more lobsters enter the trap, they often fight and may break each other's claws, which furnish much of the meat.

CO-FIRING SAVES ENERGY

NEW YORK (AP) - A re-emerging technology utilizing a small percentage of natural gas along with coal or oil for boiler firing can save fuel and help control pollution, reports Energy User News magazine.

Popular some 16 years ago, the combustion system is called "co-firing" or select use. It normally uses between 1 and 20 percent natural gas to fire coal or oil boilers.

According to research, co-firing not only saves 5 to 15 percent in fuel costs compared with 100 percent coal use, it also improves combustion characteristics of both coal and oil furnaces by reducing the amount of unburned carbon in furnaces and reducing the excess air needed for combustion.

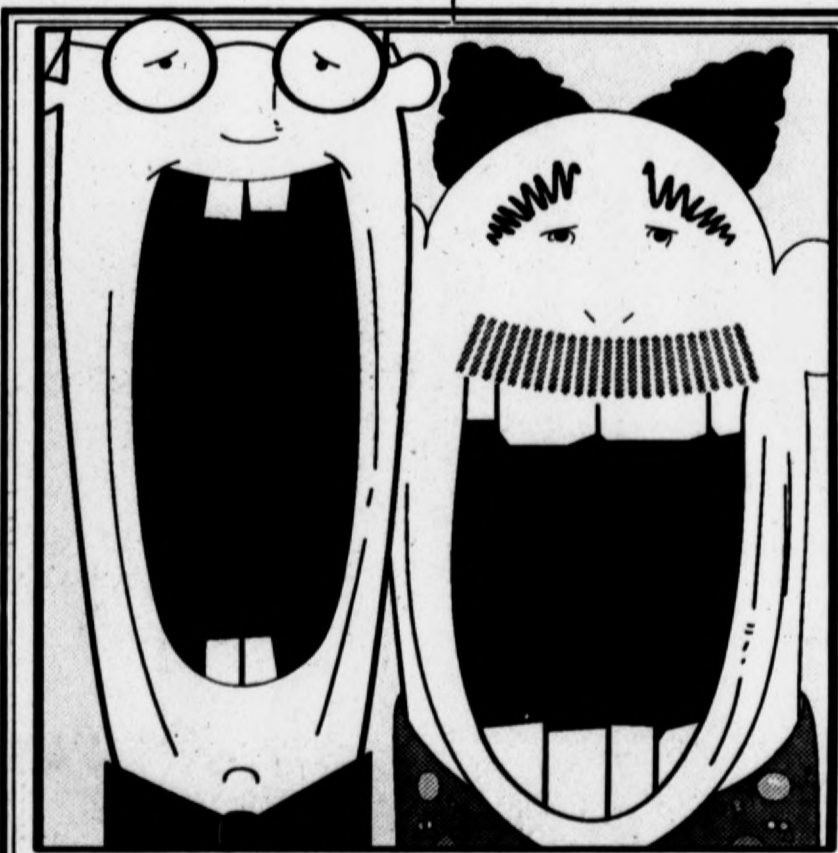

In addition, small percentages of natural gas used in large coal and oil furnaces can reduce sulfur dioxide and nitric oxide emissions, the two gases most often indicted as the main contributors to acid rain.

John Glenn set a transcontinental speed record in 1957 when he flew a jet from California to New York in 3 hours, 23 minutes and 8 seconds.

Food safety program set to educate public

A comprehensive Texas Food Safe educational program will be launched across the state early in 1990 by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. James Denton, poultry marketing specialist with the Extension Service and program chairperson, said this new effort relates to the issues of improving nutrition, diet and health and food safety.

"We plan to address all aspects of food safety in this consumer-oriented program," he said.

Denton said there is need for public education on food-related hazards ranging from bacterial contamination to chemical residues and natural food toxicants.

He said the chemical residues include those in food additives, artificial sweeteners, residues of growth hormones, animal drugs, pesticides and insecticides.

Research studies show that an estimated 6.5 million to 33 million Americans--or three to 14 percent of the population--become ill each year from microorganisms in their food.

The illnesses can be greatly reduced by informed consumers who practice food safety in their homes, Denton said.

"Individual consumers can improve food safety and reduce foodborne diseases by proper handling, care and preparation of food. They can exercise some control over microbial contaminants, a major risk in food safety," he said.

He said the Environmental Protection Agency's worst-case estimate of pesticides in food potentially causing about 6,000 cancer cases each year, or two in every 100,000 people, also can be reduced.

Denton said Extension's producer-oriented programs such as low-input sustainable agriculture and plant protection efforts are striving for optimum use of production resources to increase profits while maintaining or improving the environment.

The new food safety program will be launched at a Jan. 15 meeting of consumers, producers, dietitians and other health care professionals in Waco. Food safety meetings also will follow in many other areas of the state during the year.

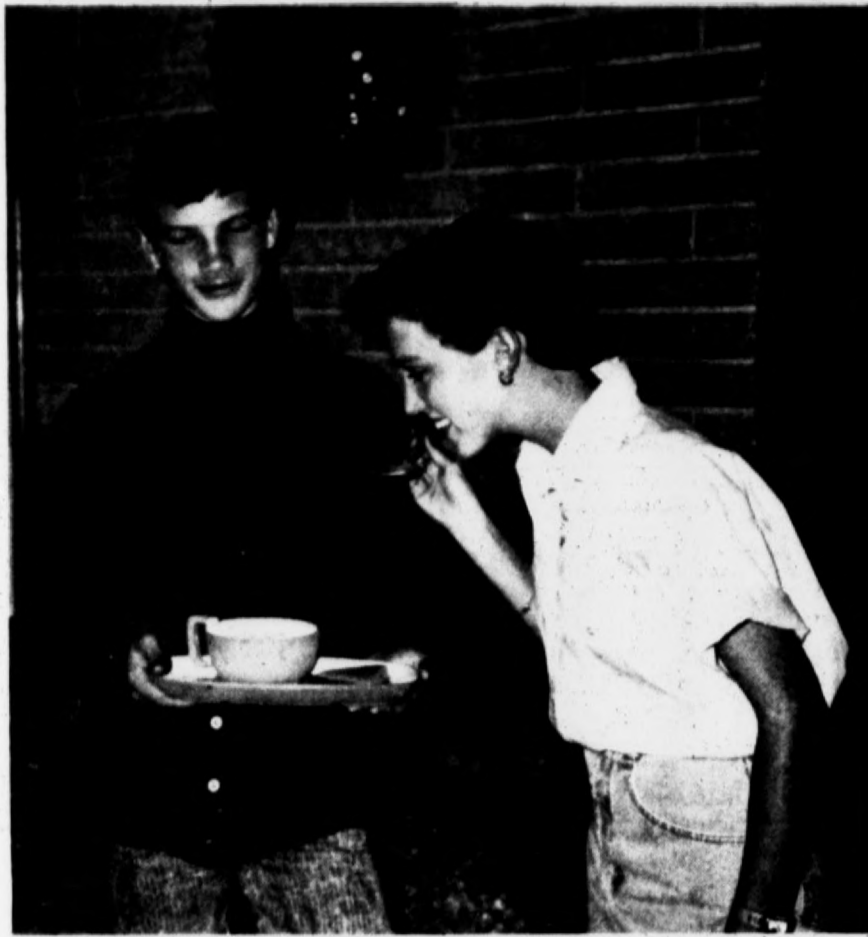

Speakers at Waco will include members of the Texas Food Safe Extension team, composed of Denton, Food Technologist Dr. Al Wagner, Meats Specialist Dr. Dan Hale and Nutrition Specialist Dr. Bethann Witcher. They will address subjects in their respective areas of expertise.

Irene Keating, a team member and home economics director for the Extension Service in South Central Texas, will discuss program goals at Waco. She said the new food safety thrust will enhance other ongoing Extension nutrition programs.

Keating said special training for county Extension faculty members also will be initiated early in 1990 in Travis County, other South Central Texas locations and other areas.

Food safety exhibits and educational materials for the effort are being developed by the Extension Service in cooperation with Texas food-related associations and commodity groups. The food safety programs will continue for several years, Keating said.

The Jan. 15 meeting will be at the Waco Convention Center, just off Interstate Highway 35.

Literacy program given by Dettman at meeting

Audine Dettman presented a program on literacy when members of the La Afflatus Estudio Club met recently in the home of Mary Williamson.

Dettman reported that the state of Texas rates highest in the literacy program. She mentioned that Mrs. George Bush has adopted literacy as a main project and devotes much time to it. Literacy topics in this area are a children's program, "Reading is Fun", and an adult program, "Adult Reading is Fundamental", which is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Library. Adult classes are held at Stanton Junior High School. Dettman is a teacher in Hereford.

President Williamson presided over the meeting and Lydia Hopson reported the next meeting will be the Christmas dinner on Dec. 5.

Those present for the November meeting were Lola Jewell, Louise Kinsey, Pet Ott, Della Stagner, Alberta Higgins, Hopson, Williamson, Dettman and visitor, Margaret Broman.
