

Tech President Warns of Energy Crisis

Cautioning that "our nation faces the most serious energy shortage it has ever known," Texas Tech University president Dr. Grover Murray urged citizens to seek

Dr. Grover Murray

"reasonable profit motives, operational rules and regulations" for the petroleum industry in an address to the Hereford Lions Club here Wednesday at Civic Club Center.

"If viable and practical policies relating to energy, natural resources and the environment are not adopted by this country of ours, quite probably history will record the decade of the 1960's as the beginning of the decline of the United States as a major world power," claimed Dr. Murray.

Dr. Murray, who terms himself a geologist "by choice, education and experience," has announced his forthcoming resignation after 10 years as president at Tech. The guest speaker was introduced by Lion Milton Adams at the club luncheon Wednesday.

In other business, the club recognized "students of the six weeks" from La Plata Junior High, heard a Leo Club report from David Rudder, and introduced Jim Anderson as a new member. David Ruland, committee chairman, announced the club's annual Pancake Supper is scheduled Feb. 26. Jennifer Griffin and Joe Walker, 8th graders, were the two students honored.

Dr. Murray told Lions that "the pervasiveness of the energy crisis will demand your attention today and every day until solutions are found." He pointed out that it is "a critical and serious national problem and not just an oil company problem.

"To a very considerable degree this nation reached the pinnacle of world leadership as a result of development of its energy supplies. The evolution of energy came to pass because of (1) American leadership in the science, engineering and technology of mineral exploration, production and development; and (2) because of the existence of a highly successful profit-incentive system."

The Tech president said much has been written and spoken regarding the profits of the energy industry, adding that many of the comments have been "emotional, inaccurate, prejudicial, politically motivated, and possibly deliberately falsified."

Spectacular fortunes are made in the production of energy, but the risks are equally spectacular, stressed Dr. Murray. He also pointed out that the major oil companies have been owned for decades largely by stockholders, "people such as you and I."

Raising the question of why the petroleum industry has been the target of so much criticism and animosity, Dr. Murray said the answer may be relatively simple. "We live in a petroleum-based economy and culture. Our nation and its activities would collapse immediately if all petroleum—and all its by-products—were removed from access."

"Policies which fail to insure adequate supplies of petroleum for this nation are incomprehensible and little short of folly. But what have the critics to lose? All they need do is shrug their shoulders and say, 'the oil industry has fallen down on the job.'"

"If the leadership of this country wants a viable energy industry, then they must insure reasonable health and viability within the industry. This can be guaranteed only through reasonable profit motives, operational rules and regulations," claimed Dr. Murray.

"During the last few decades exploration for all mineral resources—not just petroleum—has been more closely controlled by economic and political maneuvering than by scientific or technological advances. This is true nationally and internationally. The competition is welcome, if all participate on an equal basis, but not under conditions in which U.S. companies are forced to stand essentially alone in their relationships with those countries in which they produce oil."

"Challenges are not new to us and to our form of government. In outliving every other form of government which existed at the time of our country's birth, we have stood up to any challenges and we have helped overcome much tyranny. For decades we have faced the threat of the totalitarianisms called communism and fascism."

"But today, through a series of events and developments directly or indirectly related to energy, we face an equally dire—or even greater—threat in the form of international British Socialism and the so-called Third World."

Dr. Murray said that Daniel Moynihan, in an essay in the June 1975, Reader's Digest, "has posed the problem far more eloquently than I can, and I urge you to study his article."

Two general points may be made about the "doctrine of British Socialism" says Murray. "First, it contained a suspicion of, almost a bias against, economic development. The fundamental assertion was that there was plenty of wealth to go around if only it were fairly distributed. Redistribution, not production, remained central to the ethos of British Socialism. Profit became synonymous with exploitation."

"The second point about socialistic doctrine, as it developed in Britain, was that it was anti-American. The reasons for this are not obscure. The British were not overmuch admiring of Americans in that era, nor we of them. In part, their attitude began as aristocratic disdain, but—more importantly—America was seen as quintessentially capitalist."

Dr. Murray said the doctrine of British Socialism was carried so the colonies in the first half of the 20th century. By 1950, he continued, Fabian Socialists—not communists—could claim that the largest portion of the world's population lived in regimes of their fashioning. "Before very long the arithmetical majority and the ideological coherence of those new nations brought them to dominance in the United Nations and, indeed, in any world forum characterized by universal membership."

"British Socialism was, and remains, a highly moral creed. It is not a politics of revenge; it is too civil for that, but reparations? Yes, reparations. The movement, in part, rested on the assumption that there existed vast stores of unethically accumulated wealth. There were scores to be settled."

Dr. Murray claims that in the light of events, "it seems quite apparent that our federal bureaucracy—and even our Congress—already is badly infiltrated by espousers of the Third-World concept, as well as a concept of egalitarianism which says: Take from the have's and give to the have-not's."

"No humanist—no Christian—no one who has seen the plight of the millions of poor, undernourished and starving in the world can object to efforts to improve their lot. But I cannot—and will not—be a party to the destruction of this great nation of ours to benefit those nations which will not help themselves and which attempt to mask their own ineptness by alleging injustices."

"A simple comparison of economic growth between Japan and India clearly highlights the fact that privately managed businesses are far more successful than public sector or publicly managed ones. Similar comparisons can be made between the U.S. private economy and the Soviet Union public economy. And, in the event these comparisons are not convincing, review what happened to Australia, or even British, economies and private business activities before and after socialization of those countries. And here a home the bunglings and the deficits of the food stamp program and social security should be enough to convince anyone that government should stay out of the private enterprise system."

"In these lights, what are the motives of our public servants, including members of Congress and of the various state legislatures, who continue to press for nationalization of the liquid energy industry of this nation? In this light, can we possibly conclude that the federal bureaucracy will be more efficient and effective than private enterprise?"

"The OPEC nations are using economics and the concept of reparations to get what they want, and some of our bureaucrats—as well as some member of Congress—are running over each other to help them do so. Why?"

"The real answer, as all of us know, is in the realms of economics and politics. Investments and operations in our society go where the prospect of profit appears greatest... The petroleum industry knows these things but had done a notoriously poor job of explaining them to the American public. At the same time, as an educator, I must say the public often shows a remarkable resistance to education and, at times, an outright preference for emotional and demagogic stopgaps rather than sound solutions."

"When the price of gasoline exceeds a dollar or more, when present gas supplies are rationed consistently and new connections are unattainable, when the price of petrochemicals affects the entire commodity structure, or when OPEC or individual producing states apply additional economic-political sanctions against us—then and only then will some of the so-called representatives of the people try to get the U.S. oil business cranked up and back on production. Then they will discover this cannot be done next week, or next year, but will take nearer a decade."

"In this context, I wish to close with some general observations:

(1) Potential, discoverable resources of oil and gas in the U.S., and abroad, are still large, but the rate of development must be accelerated if the energy needs of the world—and specifically the U.S.—are to be met until controlled nuclear fusion is a reality.

(2) Within two decades, nuclear energy may well supplant fossil fuel as a major energy source, but use of fossil fuel as a base for the chemical industry will increase.

(3) Petroleum supplies, and the development of additional reserves, are not limited by potential resources, or science and technology, but by policies affecting the economics of exploration, drilling and production.

(4) No industry can search for and develop new products—in this case, new oil and gas reserves—under regulations and conditions which basically say that, if you risk capital and don't find or develop any production, that's tough and it's your loss...but if you do find something, we are going to be partners. The basic concept of free enterprise in this country has been and, increasingly, is being prostituted by the misguided, or misdirected.

(5) Repression of domestic exploration through restrictive regulations and in response to emotional, unobjective and uninformed environmental objections has already placed this country in an energy crisis—and reliant upon foreign, unreliable sources of energy.

(6) Any near-future, fossil-fuel energy shortage in this country shall not be the fault of nature or explorationists but primarily that of those who have failed to insure adoption and coordination of policies which will stimulate exploration for—and production of—energy from all available and potential sources.

(7) History amply demonstrates 'oil is found in the minds of men.' Given proper and reasonable incentives, the explorationists of this nation have the minds and the tools to provide our nation with its needed petroleum resources. They cannot do so in a framework which includes restrictive geographic, environmental, financial and even political parameters and barriers.

(8) Failure of the elected leader of this nation—specifically Congress and the President—to provide the economic atmosphere and incentives for private industry to accomplish the multiple tasks of providing additional sources of energy, new alternative types of energy, new or modified types of transportation, maintenance of all acceptable level of environmental quality, and soon may well result in a depression of such devastating nature that history may well record 'There Was a Great Nation.'"

Farmers Invite Bidders To Auction

The success of stock shows is often gauged by the response of bidders at the livestock sale, and members of the Hereford Young Farmers are hoping that local bidders will show up in abundance Saturday to help make their stock show and sale one of the best ever.

"WE'D LIKE to express our appreciation to the bidders who participated in last year's sale, and the Young Farmers invite those bidders and all other interested persons to be on hand for Saturday's auction," commented Tommy Sparkman of the Young Farmers, chairman of the steer division superintendents for this year's show.

"Things looked rough from the auction standpoint for the 1975 show, but area merchants and individuals came through and helped make last year's sale a success, and we hope they will do the same this year," he added.

Sparkman pointed out that the Young Farmers wish to express their appreciation to the following merchants and individuals who participated in last year's sale:

Adrian Wheat Growers, Aldridge-Harding-Aycock Law Firm, Allred Oil Co., American Duster, Arrowhead Mills, Frank Bezner & Son, Big T Pump Co., Black Grain, Bob and Marcie's Feed & Supply, Bob's Barbeque and Boots & Saddle.

ALSO, Bradford Trucking, Cattle town, Inc., Caviness Packing, Championship Club, Champion Feeders, Kenneth Christie, Clifton Cattle Co., Floyd Cole, Consumer's Fuel, Dawn Co-Op Elevator, Deaf Smith County Booster Club, Deaf Smith County REC, and Dewesse Fertilizer.

Also, Jim Easley, Easley Order Buyers, Easter Grain, Farr Better Feeds, First State Bank of Vega, Kenneth Frye, First National Bank, Grain Handling Inc., Gregg Auction Service, Earl Holt, Hagar & Sons, and Earl Harkins.

Others included Hereford Butane, Hereford Farmers Gion, Hereford Grain Coop, Hereford Lions Club, Hereford Feedyards, Hereford Parts, David Hutchinson, Hereford State Bank, Hutto Veterinary Clinic, Hereford Young Farmers and Ink Spot.

Also, Inman Trucking, Don Johnson, Leroy Johnson, L.J. Jones, Livestock Health Products, McCaslin Lumber Co., McCathern Char., McCuller Machine & Supply, Buster Miller, Donnie Myers, New Holland, Oglesby Implement and Oldham County Implement.

ALSO, Olson Cattle Co., Parmer County Implement, Olin Parris, Pitman Grain Co., Pitman Feedyards, Pre-Feeders, Ted Robb, Pat Robbins, Roarch Implement Co., Ira Scott, and Security State Bank.

Among others were Sugarland Feedyards, Lloyd Shultz, Shupe Bros. Trucking, Tip Top Oil Co., Truman Touchstone, Thuet Fertilizer, Taylor Evans Farm Store, United Beef Producers, AVI Inc., Vega Wheat Growers, Bobby Veigel and Robert Veigel.

Also, Vogel Cattle Co., Wac Seed, Wall & Son Drilling, Walco International, George Warner Seed, West Texas Telephone, White Implement, Whiteface Aviation, Osborne, Buick, Bob Anthony and Moor-Man Manufacturing.

Saturday morning, the annual 4-H and FFA judging contest will be held. Judging teams will rank animals for points in the event.

Climaxing the stock show will be the livestock sale, which is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Prior to the sale, a floor price will be set on all animals.

THE NUMBER OF ANIMALS put on the auction block at the sale will be determined on a percentage basis from each class. In the Four County show, 60 top lambs, 60 top market hogs and 30 top steers will sell.

Exhibitors from Deaf Smith and Oldham counties may sell two animals per division, while exhibitors from Castro and Parmer counties will be limited to the sale of one animal per division.

General superintendents of this year's show are Layton Sawyer, George Muse and Joe Schultz.

Steer division superintendents are Tommy Sparkman, Jack Andrews, Roy Carlson and Steve Olson.

MARKET SWINE superintendents are Jimmy Christie, Joe West, Ray Schlabs, Connie Urbanczyk, Gerald Marnell, Bill Caraway and Bill Dutton.

Superintendents for the lamb division are Jim Bob Perrin, Ronnie Andrews, Rocky Andrews, Jerry Stewart and Ed Hammett.

school tax would be $1.26 a head here; 87 cents at Dimmitt; 88 cents at Plainview, and 72 cents at Pampa. The county tax would be 65 cents here; 43 cents at Dimmitt; 31 cents at Plainview, and 35 cents at Pampa.

The combined county and school tax in the over-500 pound category figures to be 60.7 cents a head higher here than in Castro County, 71.7 cents higher than Hale, and 83.6 cents higher than Gray.

Film Of Shriners Hospital Shown To Hereford Kiwanians

A two-year-old boy and his ability to adapt to new artificial arms in a Shriners Hospital was the subject of a film viewed by the Noon Kiwanis club this week.

Several Shriners were present at the meeting, including Shriners that belong to the Kiwanis club and other Shriners from Hereford. Remarks were made before the film by two Shriners from Amarillo, Earl Sampson and John Myers. Myers is hospital chairman for the Shriners in Amarillo.

Myers and Sampson told the group that the 22 Shriners Orthopedic and Burn Hospitals around the nation have an annual budget of $35 million. The money comes from the dues of over a million Shriners and the Shriners activities like the Khiva Shrine Bowl held in Lubbock each year.

The hospitals do not charge for their services. An average stay, the Shriners said, for a burn victim was about 70 days. Cost of such a stay could run as high as $100,000. One such case at the Galveston Burn Hospital has totaled that amount for medicine alone. There is no cost to the patients or their parents. The Galveston unit is the closest to Hereford, but some cases are taken to Salt Lake City.

The film dealt mainly with two-year-old Ricky and his stay at an orthopedic unit at St. Louis. Ricky was born with no arms. The film showed how the two-year-old had learned to use his feet much as a normal child would use his hands to stack blocks, throw a ball or eat with a spoon.

Ricky was fitted with a pair of arms at the Shriners hospital and was taught how to use them. Physical therapy sessions enabled him to use the arms to eat, grasp a bean bag and other simple tasks. Ricky was just an example of many other children that are treated annually.

Kiwanians made plans to attend the WTSU-Bradley game in Amarillo Saturday night and were also invited to a Buffalo Club luncheon to be held in the Civic Club center Friday afternoon.

Poinsettia Plants Homegrown

With a little luck and plenty of tender loving care, that poinsettia plant you received for Christmas can be brought into flower for Christmas, 1976.

"The plant you produce won't be quite the same quality plant as the one you received, but it can be a rewarding experience to produce attractive poinsettias for next Christmas," says Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

After the colorful bracts of the poinsettia are no longer attractive, gradually reduce watering until the soil is dry, explains the horticulturist. Supply just enough water to prevent the stems from shriveling. Store the dormant plant in a cool, well ventilated place at 60 degrees F. or above. About mid-April, cut the stems back to six inches above the ground and repot the plant into a container that is one to two inches larger in diameter than the original pot. Use a good potting mix—one made up of two parts soil, one part peat moss, and one part perlite by volume.

Water the plant thoroughly and place in a sunny window, keeping it at 70 to 75 degrees F. When new growth begins, fertilize the poinsettia every two weeks with a water soluble, complete fertilizer. Use the rate recommended for pot plants on the label of the fertilizer container.

"Once the danger of frost is past, move the plant outdoors where it will receive moderate shade in mid-afternoon," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist. "As growth develops, cut or pinch back the top, leaving three or four leaves on each shoot. Repeat this procedure each time the plant sends out new shoots until mid-August. Then bring the plant indoors and set it near a sunny window where the temperature will remain between 65 to 70 degrees F. Continue to water and fertilize but take care not to overwater since the plant requires less moisture indoors. As the plant puts on new growth, it will require additional water."

To have the plant in full bloom by Christmas, keep it in complete darkness from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. starting the first week in October and continuing until Thanksgiving, advises Janne. Flowering will be delayed if the plant receives any light during these hours because the poinsettia will set flower buds about 10 weeks after daylight time drops to 11 hours or less per day.

Methodists Plan Fund Drive

City and area kickoff meetings for the McMurry College Annual Fund in the Amarillo District begin Tuesday morning at Trinity United Methodist Church, according to Oden Farris, Chairman for the Amarillo District.

McMurry is a Methodist Denomination supported church in Abilene. The breakfast meeting at Trinity UMC is scheduled for 7 a.m. with the Rev. Vernon O'Kelly of Panhandle serving as cluster chairperson. Workers from the following Methodist churches are Wesley, Claude, Happy, Panhandle, Vigo Park, Wayside, and Wyatt Memorial. A noon luncheon on Tuesday will be held at the Colonial Cafeteria with Duane Byars of Amarillo the chairperson. This meeting will include Polk Street, San Jacinto, St. Paul, St. Stephen and Canyon Churches. Friona United Methodist Church will be the site for a 7 a.m. Wednesday breakfast which will cover Hereford First Church, Hereford Wesley, Adrian, Wildorado, Bovina, Lazbuddie, Oklahoma Lane, and Vega. The cluster chairperson is Floyd Reeve of Friona. Delhart Central United Methodist Church will host a Thursday breakfast at 7 a.m. for

TAES Offers Home Calendar

For the home gardener who wants a "day-to-day" plan to follow throughout the year, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has the answer—a new "Garden Calendar."

The calendar has just been published and is available from the Department of Agricultural Communications at Texas A&M

Santa Fe Exec Obtains Post

Amarillo John S. Reed, chairman and chief executive officer of Santa Fe Industries, Inc., has been appointed to membership on the 1976 U.S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee by Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon.

Reed will serve as railroad industry chairman during the 1976 campaign, succeeding B.F. Biagini, president, Southern Pacific Lines. Reed will stimulate sale of Series E savings bonds through payroll savings plans in the railroad industry.

University for 25 cents per copy, announced Justin T. McBride, county Extension agent.

McBride describes the new calendar as a daily guide that lets the gardener know "when to do what" for a successful garden. The calendar also features a list of recommended vegetable varieties for this particular area of the state along with a planting guide which provides such useful information as row and plant spacings, time required for crops to mature, and expected yields.

The "Garden Calendar" deals primarily with vegetable gardening, but also includes timely hints on growing fruit and nuts, shrubs, flowers and lawn grasses, points out McBride.

Since the key to a successful garden often hinges on doing the right thing at the right time, the "Garden Calendar" should be just the thing for most home gardeners in Deaf Smith County, believes McBride.

To order your calendar, send 25 cents to Department of Agricultural Communications, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

WT Chamber Winter Meeting Set

Frank Junell of San Angelo, President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced today that the winter meeting of the Executive Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held in Fort Stockton January 29.

The WTCC Executive Committee is composed of the officers, past presidents, the eleven district vice presidents, six other members appointed by the president, and chairmen of the 10 standing committees, also named by the WTCC president.

The 1976 winter meeting will be held at the Alpine Lodge in Fort Stockton and will convene at 9:30 a.m. with President Junell presiding. Reports will be heard from various officers and chairmen on WTCC activities in progress and proposed new activities.

The meeting will recess at 11:45 a.m. for lunch. WTCC members from a large area surrounding Fort Stockton have been invited to attend the luncheon. They will be welcomed by President Junell and other WTCC officers who will speak briefly on the activities of the organization.

Immediately following the luncheon, the Executive Committee will reconvene and adjourn at 3:30 p.m.

Civil Service Has Job For Soil Conservationist

The U.S. Civil Service Commission is currently accepting applications for Soil Conservation Technician, starting salary $7,975 in North Texas. These positions are located in Clarendon, Dalhart, Decatur, Snyder, Tahoka, and Throckmorton, with a possibility of having future vacancies in other towns. Both full-time and part-time job opportunities will exist.

Soil Conservation Technicians apply knowledge of soil conservation methods, techniques, and practices, and of agricultural land use. In order to qualify, applicants must possess a total of two years of experience, six months of which have provided a knowledge of conservation practices, of equipment used for installing and maintaining conservation practices, and a basic understanding of agricultural land use.

Applications will be accepted until Feb. 26, 1976. Applications postmarked after that date may not be accepted. For early consideration applications must be postmarked on or before Feb. 5, 1976.

Necessary forms may be obtained from U.S. Civil Service Commission by calling 1-800-492-4400.

Security Seminar Slated In Amarillo

A free retail security seminar has been scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 10 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the lobby of the Amarillo Civic Center.

The seminar is sponsored by the Amarillo Police Department Crime Prevention Unit, the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, the Small Business Administration of Lubbock and area police departments.

The purpose of the seminar is to bring together most of the different types of hardware available to the businessman for protection against loss to criminal acts.

The seminar will present retailers with an opportunity to look at and ask about items designed to protect merchandise and money.

Types of displays will include alarms, locks, safes, decorative grilles, cash registers, lighting, glass and closed circuit TV.

Door prizes will be awarded every thirty minutes throughout the day, and a CB radio will be given away as a special prize at 6 p.m.

VA Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—Who can change the name of the beneficiary of my VA life insurance?

A—Only you can, and you must notify the VA in writing.

Q—I recently read that I may be entitled to an additional nine months of schooling under the GI Bill. Is this correct?

A—Yes, if you were originally entitled to 36 months entitlement, were enrolled in a standard undergraduate college or first professional degree program when your entitlement was exhausted; if you have not completed requirements for a baccalaureate or higher degree, and if you need up to nine months to continue your pursuit of a bachelor or first professional degree.

Q—I know that I can claim unusual medical expenses at the end of the year to reduce my income for VA pension purposes. I am on a special diet which includes expensive foods and vitamins. Can these items be included in my claim?

A—Yes. Cost of foods, beverages and vitamins, when specially prescribed by a doctor

Sunflowers Yield Well Dryland

Caution Advised In Boat Usage

"Sit down, you are rocking the boat." is an old saying, but one you should think about if you are among the thousands of Texans who hunt or fish from their boats.

Hunters and fishermen invest in small, easy-to-handle boats that can get them into out-of-the-way places.

A spokesman for the Parks and Wildlife Department says that the vast array of rowboats, johnboats, dingies, punts, canoes and kayaks have certain things in common—size and lack of stability.

Sudden movements in these boats can get a sportsman into cold water. There is a loss of stability when he stands to land a catch or squeeze off a shot.

The P&WD suggests that the sportsman stay seated in his boat. If he must move around, it should be slowly and deliberately, always holding on to a fixed part of the boat.

Capsizeing the boat is another problem in winter. In both cases the sportsman is unexpectedly in the water.

The P&WD reminds that the best defense against capsize is a knowledge of the body of water in which you are operating and the ready accessibility of personal flotation devices (PFDs).

If you do capsize, remember: Don't panic. Locate all passengers and get them immediately into their PFDs. If anyone is unconscious, get them into a PFD and lash them to the boat making certain their head are out of the water.

Remove all heavy clothing and boots and get all cartridges and lead sinkers out of pockets. Continuously check to see if anyone requires attention. Keep everyone calm.

Stay with the boat until help arrives. Drowning statistics prove that many people lose their lives when trying to swim what they believe to be a short distance. Remember that the shore line is usually further than it looks. Also, bear in mind that a damaged boat will more than likely float indefinitely.

In Texas, the legal operation of a registered motorboat requires at least one PFD for every person on board. Should you find yourself in an emergency situation where PFDs are not available, remember that these items can also be utilized for flotation: oars, bat buckets, sparetires/inner tubes, coolers, battery boxes, gas cans, large plastic containers, tackle boxes and duck decoys.

Clothing can also be used to keep you on top of the water. By tying a knot in the ends of shirt sleeves or pant legs and forcing air into them, you are creating an efficient means of staying afloat. Waders will also hold pockets of air.

If you fall overboard or capsize your boat, think, use common sense and remember that panic is more dangerous than deep water.

Although sunflowers did not fare too well in the 1975 market place, the new crop yielded well in dryland experiments at the USDA Research Center at Bushland. In an experiment conducted by Soil Scientist, Ordie R. Jones, maximum yield was 1,850 pounds per acre. The experiment was designed to determine the best plant population and planting date for different levels of soil moisture at planting.

Hybrid 896 sunflowers were planted on April 7, April 24, May 20, June 16, and July 15 at 10-, 14-, 18-, and 22-thousand plants per acre. Soil water contents at planting, adjusted in April to simulate wet, medium, and dry years, were 7.0, 4.9, and 3.7 inches of plant available water in the top 6 feet of soil.

Some of this water evaporated during the dry summer and late plantings had less soil moisture than early plantings. Weeds were controlled in all plantings with a preplant incorporated application of Treflan at 1.5 pints per acre. Head moths were controlled at flowering on April and May plantings with seed oil content. Seed harvested from April 7 plantings contained 48 percent oil. Oil percentage dropped to 43 percent from April 24 plantings and still further to 38 percent when plantings were delayed to May 20.

Jones was enthusiastic about dryland sunflowers in the Southern High Plains. Sunflowers yielded 1,800 pounds per acre under ideal dryland conditions—early in the season and down to 500 pounds per acre with very dry conditions later in the year. "If sunflower price stabilizes around 10 cents per pound, returns should be much greater than from other crops we can grow," Jones concluded.

Three applications of methyl parathion at 0.5 pound per acre made with a high-clearance sprayer.

"My research showed that planting date and soil water content at planting had the greatest effect on yield, but plant population had little effect on yield," Jones stated. Highest yields were obtained from April plantings regardless of soil water content at planting. Yields from April 7 planting on the wet, medium, and dry soil were 1,850, 1,590, and 1,500 pounds per acre. April 24 yields were 1,660, 1,590, and 1,300 pounds per acre. Yields declined drastically from plantings made later during the dry season. May 20 plantings produced 1,040, 1,110, and 990 pounds per acre on the three soil moisture levels. Plantings on June 16 and July 15 produced less than 800 pounds per acre regardless of soil moisture

Do you know what sidereal time is? Sidereal time, of which we hear little, is an accurate measurement of time. It's the measurement of time derived from observation of the meridian transits of the stars and differs slightly from solar time.

The mean sidereal day, for example is only 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.09 seconds. The time required for the earth to make one complete revolution around the sun is the sidereal year.

The sidereal year is 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9.5 seconds. Every fourth year, as the reader knows, the extra hours—over and above the 365 days, are combined into an added day—in Leap Year. But the effect of this small time divergence has no noticeable bearing on our weather.

Getting More Mileage Out Of Toys

By now the "newness" may have worn off this year's Christmas toys and the children are bored with their playthings. Mrs. Ilene Miller, a family life education specialist, says, "She's with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Parents often complain that their child has a room full of toys he doesn't play with and he doesn't seem to appreciate all they've done for him."

If this sounds familiar, Mrs. Miller suggested that the key to understanding is to see the situation from the child's point of view. Children have short attention spans and may lose interest in the toys they play with day after day.

"Toys are not as appealing if the child sees and uses them everyday. So alternate some of his toys. Send them 'on vacation' for a month or two. When the child's interest in his toys begins to fade, it's time to bring some toys back from 'vacation' and put other toys out of sight for a while," she advised.

Also, if the toys don't stimulate creativity, the child's interest may wane. Select playthings which require imagination and can be used in a variety of ways so the child will find his toys more fun and stimulating, the specialist said.

"For example, cups or boxes that can be nested or stacked appeal to toddlers. The 3- to 6-year-old will enjoy blocks, dolls, puppets, art activities and dress-up clothes.

BEN DID MORE THAN FLY KITES

Did you know that Benjamin Franklin was one of the contributors to the field of gemology? After receiving a gift of several gems from a London friend, Dr. Haberdon, Franklin proceeded to experiment with them.

The gems were tourmalines. These lovely stones appear in a variety of colors. It is not unusual to see a two-colored stone, e.g., green and raspberry.

Franklin set a large tourmaline in a pivot ring so that either side could be turned outward. He then noted a curious phenomenon: when he wore it, the heat from his finger caused the stone to attract light objects. He had a magnet on his finger! The heat was giving the stone an electrical charge.

We now know that tourmaline transcends all stones in this quality known as pyroelectricity. When warmed, one end becomes charged with positive electrons and the other end acquires a negative charge. When the stone cools, the charges are reversed. This knowledge gained from Franklin's observation has since led to scientific advances.

Of course tourmaline generates interest other than the scientific. Its transparency allows one to gaze into an internal world of unusual patterns created by its inclusions. When viewed under a gem microscope, it introduces a new realm of intricate design.

A visit to Cowan Jewelers may prove as interesting as this story. I may be able to display a fascinating tourmaline or another gem of interest to you. In order to become an American Gem Society Jeweler, I have undergone extensive gemological training. If you are looking for fine jewelry, my knowledge will help you make a wise selection.

Envelopes To Honor Homemakers

First day of issue for a Bicentennial era envelope honoring the American homemaker is scheduled Feb. 2 during a special ceremony at the National Cotton Council's annual meeting at Biloxi, Miss.

James J. Symbol, Southern regional postmaster general of the U.S. Postal Service, Memphis, will present albums containing the new 13-cent embossed envelope to Council President C.L. Denton, Jr., and 16 past presidents. Also participating in the ceremony will be Biloxi Postmaster Lorie

D. Gollette, Jr.

The envelope stamp design includes a spinning wheel and a quilt in a pattern of 200 years ago as reminders of the contributions which homemakers and textiles have made to American life since the days when women spun cloth and thread for family use from home-grown cotton and wool.

The presentation is scheduled at 3:30 p.m. in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Biloxi.

More than a thousand cotton industry leaders are expected to attend the Council meeting which concludes Feb. 3.

In Germany, it is a common notion that if birds find a person's cut hair, and build their nests with it, the person will suffer from headache.

Industry Task Force

Ed Barrett of Barrett and Crowfoot Feedyards and Pitts Harrison, manager of Pitman Feedyards pose with Mrs. Ray Polan, chairman of the Heart In Industry division of the Deaf Smith County unit of the American Heart Association. Barrett and Harrison are joining other area feedlot managers in encouraging their employees to a film presentation entitled "I Am Joe's Heart," to be shown at the REC building Feb. 3. A blood pressure clinic will also be held and a doctor will be on hand to answer questions. Mrs. Polan has been distributing information on heart disease and diet to employees of the county's 12 major feedlots.

Heart Association Seeks To Prevent Premature Deaths

By MRS. RAY POLAN
Heart In Industry Chairman
The American Heart Association is an organization of people—people helping people. The organizational structure outlined in the heart care program is designed to help prevent premature death and unnecessary suffering in the community by controlling cardiovascular diseases.

In many instances, these diseases are preventable if, for example, people know and heed the warning signals of heart attack and stroke, and if people are familiar with the risk factors and avoid smoking, excess weight, improper diet, lack of exercise and high blood pressure.

Early detection through blood pressure clinics and heart screenings can prevent many needless deaths. Training in cardiopulmonary resuscitation can help keep people alive until they receive medical attention.

The American Heart Association is the only national voluntary health agency fighting heart diseases through research, education and community service.

The Heart-In-Industry program plays an important role in education and community service.

One out of every two employees now living will eventually die of some form of cardiovascular disease if present rates are allowed to continue.

Many of these deaths are needless. Each year, over 100,000 Americans die needlessly because they do not seek medical attention early enough.

Statistically, this means approximately five per cent of all deaths in our community occur needlessly from heart attacks alone. These are lives that could be saved with the medical knowledge we now have.

Four out of every five people who recover from a heart attack go back to work, usually at the same job. Their production is often better than before their attack.

The goals of the Heart In Industry Program are to:
1. Reduce needless deaths. 2. Reduce lost man hours. 3. Reduce unnecessary costs to business and industry. 4. Reduce disability.

These goals can be accomplished by providing knowledge which will reduce the employee's chances of having heart attack, stroke or other forms of heart diseases.

Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Teamsters President: "If he (Ford) can't support labor, I don't know how labor can support him."

On Wall Street

By BOB HILL

I wrote an article over a year ago about digital watches and predicted a sharp drop in the price of the "Electronic" watch as non-watch manufacturers got into the act. But, no one could have predicted just how sharp the drop in prices turned out to be. The lowest price for a digital watch 15 months ago was $150. Texas Industries has just introduced a digital watch which sells for $20. The producers of these watches aren't the traditional watch makers. They are U.S. semiconductor manufacturers, makers of the integrated circuit which is the heart of the electronic calculator. Even the electronic calculator took three years to drop from $150 to under $20.

The Texas Industries $20 digital watch is in a case made from a tough plastic called polysulfone. TI is also offering a $30 model in a metal case.

Other companies are having to slash prices to the T I level to maintain sales.

The retail chains are buying heavily for 1976 with Sears, Zale's, Penney's and Ward's leading the parade. In fact, sales have been so strong for first quarter deliveries and production is sold out into the second quarter, that the normal slack season for watches may not materialize. Of all watches sold in 1975, 60 percent were sold in the fourth quarter but those sales could turn out to be below the first quarter of 1976 sales with the introduction of the $20 watches.

The inexpensive digital watch does two things. It keeps potential competitors out because sales and profits forecasts have to be thrown out the window when the price of digital watches plummets to $20. The cheap price also builds sales.

Earlier sales estimates for 10 million digital watches to be sold in 1976. Now it looks as if world wide sales could hit 20 million units. Of the 1976 total sales, U.S. semiconductor companies will snare 80 percent. U.S. manufacturers believe this will spell bad news for mechanical watch sales. With the new digital watch production capacity in the U.S., experts now figure that over-production of watches could hit 10 percent and that means gloomy times for the Swiss and Japanese watch companies.

Dance To Aid Heart Fund

"Square 'Em Up for the Heart Fund" will be the main call when the Dimmitt Promenaders host the second annual square and round dance Feb. 7 to raise funds for the American Heart Association.

The top tapping will get started at 7:30 p.m. for rounds and the Grand March will begin at 8 p.m. The dance will be held at the Castro County Exposition Building in Dimmitt.

There will be plenty of dancing room to enjoy the calling of Sid Perkins of Albuquerque, Knox Day and Dub Stewart, both of Amarillo, and Johnny Gillenwater and Eston Breitting both of Tulia. Les and Alberta Grumke from Amarillo will cue the rounds for the evening.

Mrs. Joyce White of Lubbock, Region 2 director of the American Heart Association, will be on hand for the occasion and states that all funds donated in Castro County this year will stay in the county to purchase equipment for the new CPR program that will begin in March. The main equipment for the CPR (Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation) course will be the Resuci-Anna, a dummy used for the Basic Life Support Course. These classes will be conducted for members of the community.

Admission to the benefit dance will be by donations at the door and door prize tickets will be sold during the evening.

The Promenaders encourage spectators as well as dancers to attend this dance and there will be plenty of sitting room for non-dancers to watch and enjoy the music.

Dave Hopper, manager of Champion Feedyards Inc. presents a $500 check to Bill Johnson, chairman of a steering committee to establish a facility similar to a YMCA here. The funds will be utilized in planning and preparation for a local facility.

Prison Term Is Reversed

The five year prison sentence given to a Hereford man for stealing cattle was reversed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday.

THE APPEALS court ruled that there was insufficient evidence to convict Ronny Mack Deas, but upheld the five year sentences given his brothers, Tommy and Jerry Deas.

All three men were convicted of stealing 12 branded cattle from the Texsun Feed Yards here on Aug. 2, 1974. The cattle were recovered from Nichols Truck Pen in Houston four days later.

"Jerry Deas secured the truck used in the commission of the crime and was seen in the company of his brother, Tommy, and the accomplice Larry Noland," the appeals court said. "We hold this to be sufficient corroboration to support his conviction."

THE APPELLATE court said the only evidence tending to connect Ronny Mack Deas with the crime was his conversation with another man about finding a buyer for some cattle in Houston.

"There is a complete absence of any corroboration of the fact that he had knowledge that the cattle which he attempted to sell were stolen," the criminal appeals court said.

Officers Make 2 More Arrests

Deaf Smith County Sheriff's officers continued their crackdown on local burglary this week as they arrested a Hereford man and a local juvenile Friday night following a burglary in the Westway community.

George Escamella, 19, of Hereford and a 15 year-old boy were arrested about 11:30 Friday night after a burglary at Westway Fertilizer.

Among items taken in the burglary were candy, gum, tools and cash.

County Sheriff Travis McPherson reported that officers from his department were assisted by sheriff's reserves in the arrest.

County, School Meets Slated

Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court will hold a regular semi-monthly meeting Monday, beginning at 10 a.m., in the courthouse, and a special meeting of the Hereford School Board has been called for 7 a.m. Tuesday in the school's administration building.

The posted agenda for the commissioners' session lists 17 items of business. They include discussion of office space for the state welfare department, study of tax exemption for persons over 65, consider resolution regarding hail suppression, open bids on precinct 3 building, consider increasing hours of JP Glen Nelson's secretary, and several other routine matters.

Only three items are listed on the school board agenda for Tuesday morning. The trustees will hold further discussion on the building trades project, consider easement from city on west and south boundaries of Tierra Blanca property, and hear a report from the committee on exemptions.

The Abundant Life

By BOB WEAR

The past can be a mighty drag on the present, and it is for persons who do not master the art of forgetting. "Living in the past" is a frequently used statement made about older people, and some do live in the past; but they are not the only ones who do this.

MANY PEOPLE THINK SO MUCH about the mistakes they have made; or about something unpleasant that happened to them; or about some good opportunity they missed; or about hardships they suffered; or about something else that should be forgotten; that they spoil the present. All of these things should be forgotten, to the extent they remain where they belong; in the past.

We have learned some lessons from the happenings of the past; surely we have. The lessons must be remembered, and, if we think of the mistake, or the unpleasantness, or the missed opportunity, or the hardships; let us do so in relationship to the good lessons we learned from them.

WHEN WE THINK ABOUT our past achievements, let us do so as a source of encouragement; not as something to fill the whole lifetime.

"We ought not to look back unless it is to derive useful lessons from past errors, and for the purpose of profiting by dear bought experiences." Washington.

There are good memories, and bad memories from the past. The good memories can help us in many ways, and we should think of these often as a source of encouragement and help to us. The bad memories can be forgotten, and must be forgotten. If they enter into our conscious thought, we should expel them as quickly as possible.

WE MUST CERTAINLY FORGET the wrongs done to us by others; forget to the extent we can. This can be done much more than some people realize, and doing it is much more important to one's well-being than some folk think it is. We can and must forget these wrongs so that they no longer upset us, because remembering can make our present a miserable time and may lead to vengeance. We cannot afford to let this happen.

Forgetting is the way to better days, and better times for us.

"There is a noble forgetfulness that which does not remember injuries." C. Simmons.

IF THERE IS SOME CORRECTION we can make concerning our past actions, we must make it and forget it; if no corrections can be made, forget it. Forgetting is the only way. This is how we subordinate the past to the present, and we must never be foolish enough to subordinate the present to the past.

Forgetting is very necessary in keeping our living in the present, where it belongs.

Hereford Opens District At Plainview

PLAINVIEW. Co-leader Plainview and rapidly-improving Hereford, a pair of young, ambitious ball clubs, play here Tuesday night in the Whitefaces' District 4-AAAA opener. Tip-off is 7:30.

The schools' JVs play at 5:45 following a sophomore contest at 4.

Booster Fete Tonight

The Whiteface Booster Club, along with mothers of the high school basketball boys, will sponsor a chili supper Monday at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, and admission is only 50 cents for all interested sports fans.

The chili supper will serve to introduce members of the varsity, junior varsity and sophomore basketball teams. District 4-4A cage action starts

Plainview opened district play with a 68-51 victory over Lubbock last weekend, which halted a four-game skid. Three of those defeats were a total of only eight points, which prompted Bulldog Coach Bill Phillips to remark his team was "snake-bit."

Plainview is only 8-14 overall for the Whitefaces Tuesday in Plainview. Students are also planning a bonfire rally after the supper.

Mack Tubb, booster club president, said the club members and team mothers planned the event as an "unofficial" kickoff for the district basketball race. Athletes will also be required to pay admission because of University Interscholastic rules.

and hadn't been very consistent, especially offensively, prior to its "turn-around" in the district opener.

"Then, John Setser has been out about three games (with an ankle injury)...and Ronnie Ray was sick and missed a game and part of another." They're both 6-0 senior guards; Ray, a starter, is averaging 7.8 ppg.

Phillips, however, hopes both will be ready for the Hereford game, although Ray is the only likely starter.

Hereford, 11-10 on the season and playing very well of late, will go with its regular line-up of center Mike Hull (10.8), whose average has been climbing steadily; forwards James Mays (12.3) and Paul Trolinder (9.9) and guards Kelly Kitchens (12.3), the long-range bomber, and Mike O'Rand (5.2).

"They have two good post people; they're both big and strong," pointed out Hereford Coach Barry Arwine. He was referring to 6-3 junior Lindsey Dye and 6-4 senior John Daniel. Dye is averaging 9.9 points and 10.2 rebounds, while Daniel is scoring 8.6 points and 5.7 rebounds.

However, after those two, it's pretty much helter skelter. Junior James Poarch plays a wing in Phillips' double-post set-up and is averaging 9.4 ppg., although the 5-10 junior has been scoring very well in recent outings.

Jerry Hearn, a 6-0 senior and averaging only 3.1, will team with Ray on the backline.

Phillips has been playing an awful lot of people, mainly out of necessity, and a pair of "Greg's" Bassett and Hearn, both 6-3 junior forwards, are averaging 6.0 and 4.6 ppg. Six-two senior center Mark Stambaugh is a 5.3-contributor.

"A key to our winning in the district will be how much scoring we can get from our forwards," confided Plainview Varsity Assistant Richard Dye.

"The league looks awfully balanced...and I think another key to our season is that we've got to win our first two (district games at home and gain no less than a split in the other two on the road.

District 4-AAAA Round-Up Lubbock Host To Monterey

While Hereford opens its district season Tuesday at Plainview, Monterey and Lubbock go at it in a loop encounter on the Westerners' hardwood.

Monterey swept Lubbock a year ago as the Plainsmen, actually, two-timed everybody in the district en route to the championship. However, Lubbock is a vastly improved club this season, although they still figure to be a big underdog against the defending champs.

The Plainsmen are 1-0 in league play after nipping Coronado, 38-37, in their district opener, although they're a disappointing 12-11 overall. Lubbock comes in 0-1 in loop play (after losing at Plainview, 68-51), while the Westerners are 7-16 overall, although they've already matched last years' total number of victories (when they went 7-23).

Monterey has the district's No. 2 scorer in Scott Gardner

(14.3) while Steve Lowery and Jody Overbeck are other scoring threats. Ironically, they have both tallied 213 points in 23 games for 9.3 averages.

Rounding out Coach Joe Michalka's starting line-up will be playmaker Casey Conine (4.9) and cornerman Jeff Griffith (4.2).

Lubbock will test the Plainsmen's gritty defense with a corp of deadeye scorers, including forwards Cecil Ross (14.8) and Gary Norris (13.9), who rank No. 1-4 in league scoring. Six-five center Floyd Smith is also around and comes in at 11.1.

Mitchell Stockton, a 5-8 senior, and Robert Stearnes are averaging 7.8 and 6.9 respectively, as they both spend most of their time working the ball inside.

A two-game flurry of action Friday will find Hereford traveling to Monterey and Coronado invading Lubbock. Plainview sits the night out, although the Bulldogs have a non-district home date against Clovis, N.M., Saturday.

"Lubbock has tremendous shooters. Really, I can't see any one team going 8-0 or another finishing 0-8. Even Coronado. Coronado's been picked high, but the last five years they're always picked high.

"I can't see where there is any one intimidating big man in the district. Hull (Hereford's Mike) may be the closest to it...although Gardner (Scott) and Lowery (Steve) are good ones." The latter two both play with Monterey.

Plainview lost its top seven players from a 19-12 club, so Phillips and Dye knew what they were in for this season...

"We knew it'd be a long hard road and even before the start of the season, we told our kids if they could win 50 percent of their (non-district) games, they should be proud of themselves," claimed Dye. "We were looking at it the other day and there were 10 games we've played that could have gone either way."

"We feel like we've played the toughest non-district schedule; we don't play Dumas, Perryton or Canyon. Actually, Levelland is the only 3-A team we play. And, we've played four 4-5A schools--Odessa. (See HEREFORD, PG. 11A)

Tech Visits Razorbacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. - The Arkansas Razorbacks, who have fizzled somewhat in Southwest Conference play, tries to move back into first-division contention here Wednesday night against runner-up Texas Tech. Tip-off at run-down Barnhill Fieldhouse is 7:30.

The Porkers are only 3-4 in SWC play after winning seven of eight non-conference encounters in December. However, after shellacking tough Houston (92-47) here in its conference curtain-raiser three weeks ago, the Porkers did a complete turn-around losing squeakers to SMU (82-81), the same Houston team (72-71) and Texas (59-57). Coach Eddie Sutton's Hogs blew a late 10-point spread against the Cougars and frittered away a huge 20-point spread against the Cougars.

Texas Tech, meantime, is 6-1 in league play and boasts an attractive 13-3 overall mark--the best in the circuit. However, the Raiders are still chasing Texas A&M (5-0) in the SWC.

And, even though the race has not reached the halfway stage, it looks more-and-more like A&M and Tech will duel for the championship since all the other teams have lost at least three (conference) games.

"With the (SWC) tournament giving every team a chance, every game from now on will be tough," claims Tech Coach Gerald Myers. "About eight teams can knock off anybody. We're just taking 'em one at a time."

"We've still got room for improvement," he assured. "I have been pleased, though, with our balanced scoring." Myers has been receiving the best bench play in the conference and apparently it has been strengthened even further by the recent eligibility of 6-9 sophomore forward J.C. Eakin, a transfer from Angelo State, who contributed nine points in a recent 94-82 victory at Baylor, including a perfect four of four from the four.

Forwards Mike Russell, averaging 8.3 points and 6.1 rebounds, and Grant Dukes (4.9) have also been doing outstanding relief work, along with frosh guard Geoff Huston (6.1).

The starters, as usual, will be Rick Bullock (21.9), Grady Newton (11.1), Rudy Liggins (6.3), Keith Kitchens (6.7) and Steve Dunn (4.5).

Tech is averaging 73.7 ppg., while allowing only 64.0. The contest, actually, matches the top two defensive clubs in the league since Arkansas is allowing a mere 61.4 ppg. The Porkers are scoring at a 78.7 clip, although that figure is slightly misleading since non-league lightweight victims included Southwest Missouri State (83-57), Eastern New Mexico (102-55) and Indiana (Ind.) State (91-71).

The Razorbacks, who split with Tech a year ago as both teams tied for the No. 2 spot behind A&M, are young and small as Sutton starts a senior, junior, two sophomores and a freshman...and another yearling and soph are among the top three reserves.

The front-line of 6-4 sophomore forwards Ron Brewer (11.1) and Marvin Delph (16.1), along with 6-8 center Daryll Saulsberry (13.6) are all new to the starting line-up...and yet each is scoring heavily in double figures. Delph and Brewer combined for 52 points in a recent 100-65 rout over TCU.

Six-one Robert Birden, one of only two seniors on the roster, is also averaging 10 ppg. and gives the Porkers good floor leadership. Standout frosh Sidney Moncrief, who has been explosive at times, rounds out the line-up. Moncrief who can play guard or forward is averaging 9 ppg. as a team-leading 7.4 rebounds per game.

Top reserves and added height is provided by 6-8 senior Jack Schulte, 6-7 soph Jim Counce and 6-5 frosh Chris Bennett.

Arkansas is also hopeful 6-4 senior forward Charles Terry will be back in action. Terry has missed the past four ball games with a foot injury and the loss has, obviously, hurt the ball club.

Arkansas owns an 8-1 record on its home court(s)---here and in Little Rock---having lost that one-pointer to SMU.

Mavs Win, Lose In Canyon Play

CANYON- La Plata's Mavericks saw a lot of Canyon the past week--winning two of three games here against Canyon White, while also taking three of six games in the three-day Canyon Tournament.

On Tuesday, White defeated La Plata, 56-33, in the ninth-grade. Richard Olson scored 10 points for the loser.

However, the La Plata eighth-graders won, 33-32, as Joe Walker tallied 15, while the Mavs also grabbed the seventh-grade contest, 48-34, behind the scoring of Aubrey Richburg (13) and Alan Wartes (9).

In the Canyon Tournament of Friday, Borger Red ousted La Plata's ninth-graders, 65-62, while the Mavs' eighth-graders defeated Canyon White (again), 30-25, only to lose in the second-round to Plainview Estacado, 45-18.

However, the La Plata seventh-graders won two games in the tourney--oustering Canyon White for the second time in three days, 34-25, and topping Borger South, 46-32.

Plainview Coronado inflicted the third defeat of the week on La Plata, 39-30, in a losers' bracket game Friday night.

La Plata's ninth-graders slipped under the .500 mark at 6-7 and have now dropped four games in a row.

La Plata's three teams return home Monday against Plainview Coronado.

Midland, Midland Lee and Big Spring. We've played four El Paso schools--Burgess, Bowie, Irvin and Eastwood. We've really only been 'blown out' four times. Big Spring blew us out in the second game."

Dye insisted Eastwood is "the best team in the state."

"They've only lost one game...and they beat Hobbs, 87-69, in the finals of the Hobbs Tournament. They also beat Hobbs, 105-69, at El Paso."

"Eastwood beat us, 66-44, but they were ahead, 23-4; before we started to play good ball."

He went on to say Plainview "played its best ball of the season in that Hobbs Tournament." The Bulldogs topped Midland Lee (57-55) in the first round, lost to Eastwood and, then, nipped El Paso Irvin (44-43) to capture third place.

"It was a great field," he added, reeling off names like Eastwood, Hobbs, Albuquerque Valley, El Paso, Jefferson, Irving, etc.

Actually, this year's Plainview club consists mainly of the junior varsity squad of a year ago.

"We had three juniors on the club last year that played over a quarter of a game--Jerry Hearn, Stambaugh and Daniel," he said, pointing out that was all the experience the current crew has. This season, there are four juniors who "play quite a bit"--Dye, Bassett, Hearn and Poarch. Three of 'em actually start.

"When we played Amarillo (10 days ago), we were ahead, 50-43 with four minutes left, but Daniel fouled out...and Dye fouled out." The Bulldogs, eventually, were outscored, 12-2, down the stretch and blew it, 55-52.

"Dye is the strongest rebounder in the whole district," contends the varsity aide. "He's tremendous. He's 6-4, 210 pounds...and solid."

"I thought Irvin was one of our best games," he continued.

"They were averaging 75 ppg." The El Pasoans fell 32 points under their average.

"Actually, we've come on the last few games," remarked Dye, noting the Bulldogs have been allowing only 49.2 ppg. over the last six games; however, their only two victories during that span were over Levelland (57-38) and last week-end's triumph against Lubbock.

The Plainview staff hopes their club has, finally, snapped out of its doldrum.

Albuquerque has the top two scorers, but Amarillo owns the lead in the tight Southwest Hockey League chase.

Doug Christy and Steve McDonald, both of the Chaparrals, have tallied 66 and 63 points, respectively, to top the SWHL in scoring.

Meantime, Amarillo, coming off a five-games-in-as-many-days road trip to Albuquerque, Butte and Billings, has leap-frogged ahead of the Chaps into first place. It was the sixth time the league lead has changed hands between the two clubs.

The Wranglers have announced new game times which will be 7:30 p.m. on all school nights and 8 p.m. of Friday and Saturday.

Bufs Set Dual In Track

CANYON-- "I'm optimistic about our team; we have a lot of talent, but it's talent that needs experience," claimed West Texas State Track Coach Bob Kitchens, whose Buffaloes open their indoor home season here Saturday with a dual against Texas Tech.

WTSU has a pair of defending Missouri Valley Conference champs in half-miler Joe Tiony and sprint ace Alvis Wright, while Marvin Self, defending discus champ in the outdoor league championships, is the lone senior on the 25-squad roster.

Other key members of the squad include Tommy Humphries and Neil Burum in the pole vault, Curtis Lindley in the long jump, Mike Parman in the shot put, Joe Bishop and Brent Sherrod in the high jump, Ricky Labus, Zack Cummings and David Willis in the 60-yard hurdles; Gary Thomas in the 600-yard run, Karl Wright in the 60-yard dash, John Chemarino and Jay Jones in the mile run, Bill Flemmings in the 440-yard dash, Gabriel Boit in the 880-yard run and Wayne Cure, Gary Thomas, Rick McGuire and Bill Flemmings in the mile relay.

Other indoor meets on WTSU's schedule include the USTFF Indoor Championships in Oklahoma City Feb. 14, a triangular with Wayland Baptist and Lubbock Christian here Feb. 19 and the MVC Indoor Championships in Columbia, Mo. Feb. 28.

State's outdoor schedule begins Mar. 13 with a dual at Eastern New Mexico.

All indoor meets here will be held at the WTSU Activities Center.

WTSU Skein 'Crum-bled'

As Denny Crum was slipping out of the Amarillo Civic Center the other night, somebody from West Texas State hollered out he'd like the Louisville Coach to meet a friend of his.

"I'd be glad to," replied crafty Crum. "I'd also like to meet that good-looking manager of yours!" Elaine Coleman be careful, the handsome Louisville coach is on the prowl.

His Cardinals were "on the prowl" that very same evening. West Texas State's nine-game winning streak came to an end. "We could very easily be 16-0," claimed Crum, whose club has dropped four contests by a combined 15 points.

"We have to have an all-out effort from everybody to beat anybody. Even tonight (against WTSU), we didn't get a good effort from all five people. Gallon (center Ricky) got in early foul trouble...and didn't do a thing."

"Cox (Wesley) played great, but he always gets himself up for the big ball games. If he only played like that against everybody. He could play like that every game... if he really put his mind to it. Why did you see some of those assists he made?" Cox, who scored 18 of his 22 points in Louisville's break-away first half, threw one pass, nearly the length of the court, and found guard Phillip Bond open for the easy layup.

"One game last year, Cox scored 32 points against Wichita State, hitting 15 of 16 from 'the field,'" continued Crum. Ironically, the only shot he missed was blocked by 6-10 Bob Elmore.

Crum was fully aware WTSU Coach Ron Ekker didn't put as much emphasis on the Louisville game as the one two nights later against Missouri Valley Conference foe Bradley.

The super-successful Crum, however, didn't necessarily go along with the same line of thinking.

"They're all important; maybe ya don't always want the kids to think so, but at the end of the season, it's the total wins (See WTSU, Pg. 14A)

Discipline Essential

Among the jobs becoming more difficult each year are those of coaching, on either high school or college level.

In our own community there is still a particular kind of prestige and glamour attached to the coaching profession and our coaches are just a little bit special in the community. If for no other reason, they are special because we entrust our boys and girls to their care for a great many hours of character development in the course of a year.

But today's coach has a special challenge. His principles and techniques have not changed, but the society in which he must work has changed, and not for the better.

Coaching high school athletes, in particular, demands discipline. The coach is not going to get the job done without it. Discipline need not be drudgery or irritating or confining, it can be wholesome and enjoyable, especially the way the Perryton coaching staff operates.

But discipline is hard to sell in today's permissive society. Some say it doesn't belong because it prevents the full expression of the individual's freedom and rights. Young people have been encouraged to "do their thing" and discipline is repugnant to them.

Yet no athletic team is successful without discipline. It is up to the coach to instill it.

The coach often fails to get the full support of the parents of the athletes he coaches because they aren't able to cope with their son's attitudes. When it gets tough, he wants to quit, and they encourage him.

Sometimes the coach fails to get the support of the community because it is getting to be the popular thing to question the value of athletics and to question seriously the money it takes to field and equip any athletic team. In any economy move, attention is first directed at athletics as one of the "frills" a school can do without.

Yet an athletic program is probably needed now more than ever. Certainly a physical education program is needed more than it ever has been. Young people of today, instead of spending their free time outside running and playing and developing hearts and lungs, are apt to be sitting in front of the television set.

A physical education program and an athletic program has a lot of value. How do you measure the community pride that goes with a district champion team like we had last fall?

The coaches have a tough job, but the coaches in our community are doing an excellent job. We hope that people realize this and give them all the support due them.

—The Perryton Herald

Females By Eight

The latest health data indicates U.S. women outlive men today by eight full years. The average male's life span in this country is 67 and the average woman can look forward to reaching the age of 75.

Of course, this is the average, which means that large numbers will live far beyond these average ages, since so many die before reaching them.

The importance of the latest data is to confirm continuation of the trend of greater female longevity, which was only two or three years at the turn of the century. U.S. women, who now control most of the nation's wealth, and who still enjoy many legal and social advantages, plus equal rights in practically every field, have never had it so good. As distinguished foreign historians have said, America is truly the world's greatest matriarchy—far better or worse.

... Looking Back

50 YEARS AGO

There has been a lot of sickness in town lately, caused by bad colds in most cases...A trade was practically completed this week whereby Hereford may acquire another brick building. The deal involves the transfer of the vacant lot on Main Street, between the Star Theatre and the Ford Motor Co....Better pay your poll taxes by Saturday if you want to vote in Tuesday's paving election and help select candidates for offices in the July primaries.

25 YEARS AGO

Mayor W.E. Dameron pointed with pride to the face the Hereford Chamber of Commerce recognized the contribution made to the town by firms whose service dates back nearly to the origin of the community, presented plaques to two firms, E.B. Black Furniture Co. and Rockwell Brothers Lumber Co....As the March of Dimes campaign got into its second week, John Alkin, campaign director, again reminded residents of the great need because of the epidemics over the nation in 1950, the vast amount of research necessary and the depletion of polio funds.

5 YEARS AGO

A near-record number of entries are expected to swarm into Hereford this week to compete in the annual Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show today, Friday and Saturday at Deaf Smith County Bull Barn....Deaf Smith County residents have only three days in which to register at the county tax assessor-collector's office in order to have a voice in any of this year's national state and local elections.

1 YEAR AGO

The past year didn't seem so bright at first for area sugar beet farmers when severe drought hit during the late spring and too much rain fell during the early fall....Another move is again in progress by local attorneys to create another judicial district made up of possibly two or three counties including Deaf Smith as a result of every increasing case load in Judge Archie McDonald's 69th Judicial District court.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maquire

THE $100 MASTERPIECE—In 1958, a bronze statuette bearing the signature of Elisabet Ney turned up in a Boston auction house. The appraiser checked his reference books and learned that there was a museum in Austin, Texas, named for her.

Since he was confident that no one in the East would want a sculpture by an "unknown" Texan, he sent a drawing of the 18-inch bronze to Austin and asked if the Ney Museum wanted to buy it. The price would be $150.

Fortunately the museum curator had a set of photographs that Miss Ney had made of all of her works. From the photos, the bronze was identified as one the sculptress had done of Lord Brownlow on the Island of Madeira in 1864. It would be a valuable addition to the museum's collection, but there was only $100 in the treasury.

Off went a letter saying that $100 was all the New Museum could pay. The auction house accepted the money and shipped the statuette. Thus 94 years after Miss Ney completed the sculpture, Lord Brownlow found his way back to her studio in Austin. This piece is valued now in the thousands.

STAY-AT-HOMES—More than a third of all Texans haven't taken a vacation trip in more than five years!

According to a study by the Texas Highway Department, 36.4 percent of the citizens haven't had a major trip (five days or more) in at least 60 months. Only 34 percent take an annual vacation and another 8.5 percent say they try to get away from it all once every couple of years.

HELP WANTED—A University of Texas professor of history is looking for some special kinds of pen pals.

He wants to hear from anybody who was elected or appointed to any state office in Texas between 1921 and 1933. He would also welcome letters from anybody who knew someone who was a state official during those years or who has some interesting reminiscences about Texas politics of that era.

Dr. Norman Brown wants firsthand information about that period to include in a book he's writing. He intends to call it "Hood, Bonnet and Little Brown Jug: Texas Politics, 1921-33."

Write him at the Department of History, The University of Texas, Austin 78712.

TRAVELING TEXAS—In Albany, the former Shackelford County jail is known as "The Alphabet House."

When it was built in 1879, various contractors furnished the native stone. To make it easy for the county to pay them for the limestone, they were asked to carve their initials into each block. Today most of the letters of the alphabet, one to each limestone block, are still visible.

WHEN COTTON WAS KING—For many years, the Houston Cotton Exchange Building roof was adorned by a zinc statue of a bale of cotton wearing a king's crown.

That was Houston's way of saluting "King Cotton" as Texas' principal money crop.

The Houston Cotton Exchange, built in 1884, wore the crowned bale until a fourth floor was added to the building in 1907.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—The Legislature needs firsthand information when it starts assessing needed action. For that reason it is necessary for our legislative leaders to see situations as they actually exist.

It is commendable that these men and women take time from busy schedules to find out for themselves exactly what the picture is in a given situation.

On Jan. 1, Rep. Joe Hanna of Breckenridge, chairman of the House Energy Resources Committee and Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo, chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee, went to Alaska for a six-day fact-finding tour of the Alaskan pipeline.

The information they received while viewing the operations in 20 below zero weather, will be invaluable as they continue to work the state's energy puzzle.

We must have this information and the only sure way to know it is accurate is to view it and talk to the engineers, geologists and companies who are preparing to bring the oil to us.

Hanna and Sherman reported they found some erroneous information was finding its way back to us. They saw for themselves a reported 600,000 gallon oil spill, but it was in fact only 6,500 gallons that had been spilled and had been cleaned so it was hardly noticeable.

Useful information they brought back and will include in reports to their committees is that Alaskan oilmen are enthused at the prospect new formations tested show there is more oil still undiscovered than all previously discovered.

They also report a natural gas cache in Alaska approaching 26 trillion cubic feet and a gas line alongside the big oil pipeline might be forthcoming.

Finally, they say, look for the first North Slope oil in the second quarter of 1977.

Information of this nature will be beneficial in working with the problem and give us a good idea of what we in Texas need to do and what we are going to have to live with in the next few years.

Bobby Templeton

Brand New!

It happened! That's right an 8 lb. 6½ oz. fella with the makings of a tackle for a football team.

My son, delivered at 8:55 p.m. Friday at Deaf Smith General Hospital, created some excitement in me that I never experienced before. I really hadn't thought about it until we were on our way to the hospital (at 3:30 a.m. Friday) after the first signs of birth. It hits you all at once—the future responsibility, fatherhood and family leadership.

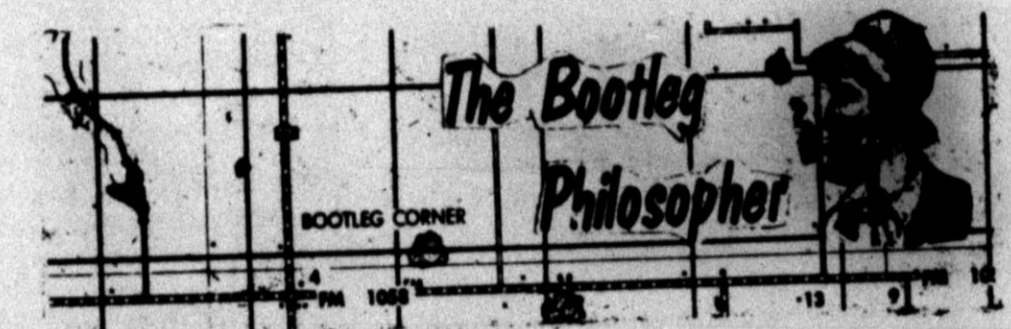

I am still thinking about those thoughts with many mixed emotions as I write this after a long and exhilarating day of over 20 hours. I feel like standing on the tallest mountain and shouting out in all directions the thankfulness and joy I have in my heart.

Whether trite or not, that's the way I respond to one of the Lord's most amazing miracles. I could continue on this line for some time, but I think it's been stated adequately.

His name is Mark David Templeton. At least he can say he had his name in print once if never again. I guess that's this editor's prerogative as a proud new father. He was advertised more through word of mouth as I and his grandfather (the mother's dad) have combed the Hereford-area spreading cigars and the good news.

There's nothing like that first baby and I learned to appreciate the team effort of the medical crew. It wasn't all easy and certainly not like written in the textbook.

Well, enough for awhile on the baby. I am closing with a smiling face to return to the mother, who has my greatest thanks and love.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith farm on Bootleg Corner seems to be back in standard form, his letter this week indicates.

Dear Editor: As some of you may know, I was suddenly carted off to the hospital a few weeks ago, but I can now report that I'm back in fairly good working order.

Thought I'd tell you about a dream I had. I dreamed that for some strange reason the three TV and radio network editors and the leading

Court Ruling Offers Hope

WASHINGTON—A little-noticed decision by a federal court in Hawaii late last year offers hope of curbing a union's use of tax funds in a labor dispute.

The court said "no" to the growing practice of financing strikes by dipping into unemployment compensation funds.

In this particular case, unions of employees of the Hawaiian Telephone Company were trying to collect unemployment compensation while on strike. State officials were willing to pay it, so the company sued the state to block payment.

The case turned into an important test of principle, in which the telephone company was joined by the National Chamber, the Chamber of Commerce of Hawaii and the Hawaii Employers Council. Ranged against them were the State of Hawaii Department of Labor and Industrial Relations, two locals of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the Hawaii State Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO.

WHY SHOULDN'T strikers receive government financial help? Because they are out of work by their own choice—not involuntarily—and the object of their action is their own private gain.

Strikes are an economic contest. It is the cost of the strike to each side that is supposed to bring about a reasonable compromise and keep the dispute as short as possible.

If the unions can draw on public funds, though, then there is no pressure for them to agree to a reasonable settlement. They know they can hold out much longer than management, and so does management. Under those circumstances, management is likely to give in and grant the union demands, no matter how expensive or unreasonable—after all, if you know you're going to lose anyway, why endure the expense of a long strike?

But it is really the public that loses when management capitulates too easily. A wage increase that is not earned by a corresponding increase in productivity leads almost inevitably to a price increase.

(Employers are especially nettled when unemployment compensation funds are used to support strikes against them, because these funds are provided entirely by employer contributions. It is rather like forcing the condemned man to pay the costs of his execution.)

IN THE HAWAIIAN Telephone case, U.S. District Judge Martin Pence ruled that "unless the state activity is but a peripheral concern of the act of there is an overriding state interest, a state may not assist either party in a labor dispute...."

"On its face, therefore," said the judge, "Hawaii's statute irreconcilably intrudes into the federal process of free collective bargaining."

newspaper and wire service editors all gathered at my grass farm out here one day. There was Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor, David Brinkley, James Reston, and too many others to mention. "Look," the president of CBS said. "We're getting tired of having to chase all over the world with our cameras and reporters every time a world crisis breaks out in some country we never heard of before."

"That's right," John Chancellor chimed in. "I've been in the news business all my life and it was only a month ago I heard of Angola. Took two secretaries half the morning to find it on the map."

"Yeah," Walter Cronkite put in. "Beirut, Zaire, Zanzibar, Belfast—every one of them has been in a world crisis at one time or another. Everybody gets excited, world leaders confer and wring their hands, we report it all, then the crisis fades away and we get set for another one. It's getting monotonous. There ought to be some way to stop it."

This dream is pretty wild because at that point I spoke up.

"I've got an idea," I said. "Let's teach the world a little lesson. Let's make up a mythical country, manufacture a crisis there, put it on TV and radio and in the newspapers, and then sit back and see how the world leaders perform."

"Great idea," David Brinkley said. "What are we going to call this country?"

"I've got the perfect name," I said. "Let's call it Hypodermia."

"Great," James Reston of the New York Times said.

They all agreed and that evening the news was filled with the new world crisis developing in far-off Hypodermia. "Internal strife is boiling over in the towns and throughout the countryside," the reports went. "Two Soviet ships loaded with supplies have been sighted off the east coast of Hypodermia."

Lights burned late at the U.S. State Department that night and by next morning Washington was seething with excitement.

"Where is Hypodermia?" one State Department expert asked.

"What difference does that make?" another put in. "Let's get our aid on the way and we'll find out later where it is."

"Should we tell Congress about this?" another asked.

"No," another answers. "You tell Congress and it won't be 24 hours before the whole country knows."

Unfortunately, a nurse came in to give me a pill before I finished this dream, but you've got to admit it has some side-splitting possibilities, especially when you think of all those cargo planes loaded with U.S. aid circling the globe trying to locate Hypodermia so they can land and protect our interests.

Yours Faithfully,
J.A.

And because of the Fairness Doctrine, TV newscasters also lean over backwards to present both sides of the story. "TV journalists sometimes have to strain to find a believable other side to the news, and they invariably do. VA, HEW Agree On Expanded Services For Disabled

The Veterans Administration and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare have agreed on new principles expanding services for the disabled and their dependents. A joint statement between the VA and HEW's Rehabilitation Services Administration (RSA) was signed by officials of both agencies. In attendance were VA's Dr. John D. Chase, Chief Medical Director; Rufus H.

Wilson, Chief Benefits Director; and Dr. Andrew S. Adams, RSA Commissioner. Each agency encourages the disabled to make maximum use of vocational rehabilitation services offered by state and federal governments. The agreement calls for increased coordination in medical rehabilitation research, vocational rehabilitation of the handicapped, use of special facilities, job placement and employer relationships. The VA officials said they were pleased to update the agreement, noting progress attained since the program was started in 1971. Past cooperation between the federal agencies was emphasized by Dr. Adams who described the VA as "a vital link in the rehabilitation of disabled Americans."

Buffaloes Off Prior To Trip

CANYON- West Texas State takes a well-deserved rest after hosting rugged Louisville and Bradley the past three nights, but the Buffaloes do have a couple of road games at the end of the week--and both of 'em are important Missouri Valley Conference encounters.

The Buffaloes, pace-setters in the MVC and a nifty 13-2 overall, play Wichita's pre-season conference favorites Thursday at the Wheatshockers'

"Roundhouse; Coach Ron Ekker's crew then move on to Des Moines for a Saturday afternoon tilt against Drake.

Wichita State, who is 2-1 in conference play, owns an 8-7 overall mark going into Monday night's home game against rugged Cincinnati. Drake is 1-2 in the league and 6-8 overall as Coach Bob Ortel's team has struggled after a 1974-75 campaign that saw the Bulldogs capture the National Commissioners Invitational Tournament and wind up 19-10.

Latest MVC statistics show WTSU still leading the circuit in defense (.614) and scoring margin (10.0), while falling to second in field goal percentage (.505). However, the Buffs are last in offense (70.8) and free throw percentage (.617) and stand only fifth in rebounding (40.8).

Individually, WTSU guard Maurice Cheeks owns the MVC's top field goal percentage (.613), while center Dallas Smith ranks No. 6 in rebounding (7.3) and No. 10 in scoring (14.0). Forward Brad Schreck is No. 11 in scoring (13.0).

The Buffaloes don't return home until Feb. 5 when strong North Texas State (13-2) comes into Amarillo for the final non-conference game.

Buff$ $eek Fan $upport

The Buffalo Club of West Texas State University, currently in a drive to raise a minimum of $125,000 for the WTSU athletic program, held a membership meeting here Friday at the Civic Club Center. Don Tardy of Hereford introduced the guest speakers from Canyon, George Blackwell, a Buffalo Club official, and Cliff Baker, a member of the WTSU athletic committee.

Blackwell explained the Buffalo Club is the only fund-raising club for the WT athletic department. All money contributed toward memberships go directly into the WT athletic department budget, and the drive is being conducted to assure a high level intercollegiate athletic program at the university.

Blackwell said surplus funds had been used in the past to make up deficits in the athletic department, but no surplus funds are now available. The Buffalo Club raised about $50,000 last year and previously raised about $20,000 two years prior.

He reported the WTSU board of regents had recently approved the university's continuance in the NCAA and in the Missouri Valley Conference for one year. At the same time, however, regents noted that outside support of the athletic department would be required and the amount was set at a minimum of $125,000 this next year.

Baker pointed out that contributions are tax deductible. He said benefits include the knowledge of helping the area university maintain its athletic program, reserved parking at all home football games, and newsletters from the athletic department.

Those who contribute $250 or more also receive a beautiful bronze plaque, it was noted by Blackwell. Any sports fans wishing to join the Buffalo Club can send a contribution to: Buffalo Club, Box 49 WT Station, Canyon, Tx. 79016.

For the past five weeks, Missouri Valley Conference Commissioner Mickey Holmes "has been sick." After watching West Texas State's Valley leaders play former league member Louisville the other night, poor Mick was even sicker.

Holmes, naturally, knew about a pre-game remark made by West Texas State Coach Ron Ekker in regards to the Bradley game, two days later, being more important than the contest at hand against Louisville.

"Yeah... and they're playing like it!" snapped Holmes after Louisville's Wesley Cox swished another basket to leave the Buffaloes some dozen points behind. "You think maybe it (the comment) might have upset the Cards?"

To be sure.

EMBARRASSED COMMISSIONER

"They (WTSU) are not playing well at all," sighed Holmes as the Cardinals went on a nine-point tear early in the second half to take an insurmountable 50-36 lead. "Look-it here, in 10 times down the floor (at the outset of the second half), they (WTSU) turned the ball over seven times!"

The last five in a row.

"When Cox and Bonds (Phillip) WANT to play, they (the Cardinals) can beat anyone," awed Holmes, showering praise on a team that had won or shared seven MVC titles during its 10 years in the league prior to abandoning ship after last season. Louisville became the fifth school in the last four years to walk out of the Valley.

Ironically, Holmes is in his fourth season as commissioner. Currently, there are seven members in the sprawling monstrosity that stretches from Peoria, Ill. to Las Cruces, N.M. It's not the most convenient number to have.

"We've discussed it," confided Holmes when that oft-used word "expansion" was brought up. Holmes wouldn't admit it, but it's no secret such world renown universities as Arkansas State and/or Illinois State might very well be next in line. It was the addition of WTSU and New Mexico State three years, which--among other reasons--forced Cincinnati, Memphis State, St. Louis, North Texas State and Louisville to beat a retreat. Now, if schools from the likes of Jonesboro, Ark., and Normal, Ill., join the scramble, there is no telling how many others may pack their bags.

It's already confidentially rumored Tulsa is receiving a bundle for staying in the MVC for no other reason than to "uphold" the lone football image in the conference. Without Tulsa in football...

Even the past season, Missouri Valley champ Tulsa remained in the Tangerine Bowl picture right up until the final moment.

"It finally got down to two teams--Tulsa and South Carolina," claimed Holmes. "So, they asked each school how many people would they bring. The Tangerine Bowl asked Tulsa and said it would bring 5,000. They asked South Carolina and were told it would bring 10,000."

"They brought in South Carolina."

To this day, Holmes never found out how many fans the Gamecocks actually did bring to Orlando, but admitted, "the place was filled up."

Ironically, if and when the MVC does decide to expand--again!--Holmes doesn't necessarily feel the additions have to be an uneven number of one or three, which would ideally form a compact eight-or-10-team circuit.

MORE THE MERRIER

"It (the final number) really doesn't mean that much; of course, if we ever went to 10 (schools), we'd have to go to separate division," explained Holmes, failing to mention such a maneuver would throw the MVC out of proportion...with one strong division and one weak one.

Actually, perhaps even more on the mind of Valley officials is something the coaches probably shudder-a conference tournament such as the one the Southwest Conference will inaugurate this season.

"We've kicked this around," confided Holmes. "Of course, the coaches don't like the idea."

"But," he chuckled, "did you ever hear of any coaches in a conference that do?"

He pulled out a piece of scrap paper...

"It'd work something like this..." he explained, drawing a bracket and pairing off a make-believe alignment.

In break-down fashion; Team No. 4 vs. No. 7, with the winner playing No. 2, and No. 5, vs. 6, with that victor meeting No. 3. The regular season champ would receive a free ticket to the finals (ala SWC). The No. 2-4-7 survivor would collide with the No. 3-5-6 leftover for the right to play the No. 1 team in the finals.

"We spent a lotta time thinking about the best way to set it (a tournament) up of course, there are some other ways we came up with," said Holmes. "But, this one REWARDS a team for finishing high in the standings. The No. 4 team (against No. 7) and No. 5 team (against No. 6) would be home teams...and the No. 2 and No. teams would also be home teams (in the quarter-finals), but the last two games we'd play at neutral sites."

"But, again, nothing's definite; we're just in the 'talking' stage."

Holmes' immediate concern is this year's race, which finds the seven ball clubs so "so-so." there is a strong possibility the runner-up will not land a post-season tournament bid.

A year ago, the MVC sent Louisville and New Mexico State both to the NCAA Tournament--the Cardinals finishing third that count. But, sure, the Valley games are important," said the coach of a team who won or shared conference titles during three of his first four seasons.

Unofficially, it was the last meeting between U-L, a member of the spankin' new Metro Six Conference, and WTSU and the Cardinals walked off with six of the seven contests. Next season, WTSU has reportedly picked up two perennially nationally-ranked teams in Tennessee and Arizona State.

However, a WTSU official denied knowing whether the Louisville series has come to an end.

"I don't know whether they (Louisville) are on the schedule or not," he said. But, it's no secret one of the major reasons Louisville athletic officials pulled out of the Valley was because of the addition of West Texas State and New Mexico State; U-L felt two such distant teams wouldn't bring any interest to the Blue Grass State in any athletic venture...not to mention the heavy cost of traveling expenses.

Crum, a former assistant to ex-UCLA Coach Johnny Wooden and who perhaps could have had the Bruin job after his club "has been improving each game" since that "terrible" three-game stretch in which we just stood around. But, the kids have been working hard since then...and we've beaten some good ball clubs the past few games (Idaho State, Tulsa, Drake, Wichita State and WTSU).

Crum, who is 110-26 while in his fifth season and appears headed for another tournament," said Kentucky State, whom the Cardinals defeated, 106-93, in the Holiday Classic 'could hold their own against some of the ranked teams. They've got a lot of talent on their club." K-State, now 10-2, is ranked No. 1 among the nation's small colleges.

The youthful Louisville mentor has piloted his teams to third and fourth-place finishes in the National Tournament and, naturally, has his sights set on even loftier goals; if not this year, then next. He has the entire club which consists of seven juniors, five sophomores and a freshman--coming back next season.

Besides hopefully-waiting post-season tournament No. 5, Crum is also anxiously looking toward the off-season...

"I'm going to Alaska!" he grinned sheepishly, knowing it's probably as cold there as his team was hot at the Civic Center the other night. "I'm going to speak at the Lathrop High School clinic (in Fairbanks)...and I'm gonna take my son with me, so we can both do a little hunting."

Meantime, Crum will also "hunt" for that elusive National Championship.

A "crackpot" can do it

It doesn't take a "crack shot" to shoot an insulator.

It doesn't take much of a man, nor any particular skill, to win a shoot-out with an insulator. It's a wasteful, irresponsible act...and an obvious offense.

And it can't be shrugged off as kid's play. Anyone old enough to shoot a gun is old enough to respect its use.

Insulator shooting can knock out electric service, causing untold losses to farmers, businesses, and families. It could even be vital to the medical well-being of someone.

If you see anyone shooting at insulators, report the act to your county sheriff. You'll be helping in a crackdown on crackpots.

in the 32-team field-- and Drake to the National Commissioners Tournament, which the Bulldogs surprisingly captured.

However, this season, there is no Louisville...New Mexico State (8-8) has already lost more than they did all last season (30-7)...Drake (6-8) isn't even a shadow of the same club they were in '74-75 (19-10)...

In fact, West Texas State (13-2), far-away, has the best overall record and Bradley (9-5), with the next best mark, is a long way off; and the Braves stand only fourth in conference play. Everybody else has dropped at least six ball games--and over a third of the season still remains.

So, it's bad enough the MVC won't have a team in the NIT. Chances for a runner-up making the NCAA Tournament appear just as nil.

MAYBE THE BUFFS CAN FINISH 18-8

In fact, the only way the MVC could conceivably land a second team into the Nationals, is if that runner-up happened to be --of all teams-- West Texas State. The Buffs... at least at this stage of the game... would appear to be the only club with a good enough overall record as the MVC's second-place team: it'd take at least an 18-8... possibly even a 19-7 worksheet... to nail down that NCAA spot.

What this all means is one of the other teams would have to win the conference, which would mean an automatic bid... even if they lost eight, nine or ten games overall. It would appear Southern Illinois (4-1 in league play and 10-6 overall) and Wichita State (2-1 & 8-7) has the best shot of surpassing the Buffaloes, who, actually, don't appear to be a championship calibre ball club in the first place.

"I guess you'd really say it (the championship race) is up for grabs," confirmed the popular Holmes, who was a member of the service bureau in the Big Eight Conference for a number of years prior to taking over his present position in '72.

"I would say the only team that I think is really out of it is Tulsa. They just don't appear to have the talent.

"And, I'd say New Mexico State is a little below par.

"But, the rest..." Holmes said he "wasn't the least bit surprised" that North Texas State, playing in its first season after dropping out of the MVC, has won 13 of its first 15 games.

"I thought they had a lot of talent last year; in fact, next to Louisville, I felt they had as much talent as anyone in the league." NTSU wound up a dismal 6-20 in '74-75. Holmes would have seen his usual barrage of games the first seven weeks if it hadn't been for those nasty crutches.

As commissioner, he usually looks at the ball clubs rather than the officials, which he leaves solely in the hands of Bobby Scott, the MVC's supervisor of officials.

"Really, I don't even know that much about 'em (officials)," he blushing grinned. Irv Brown, who has worked no less than four National Championship Tournaments and is regarded as one of the top officials in the country, worked the Louisville-West Texas State contest.

"Irv's been with us three years now," said the MVC boss, noting Brown also works Pacific Eight, Big Eight and WAC games, too.

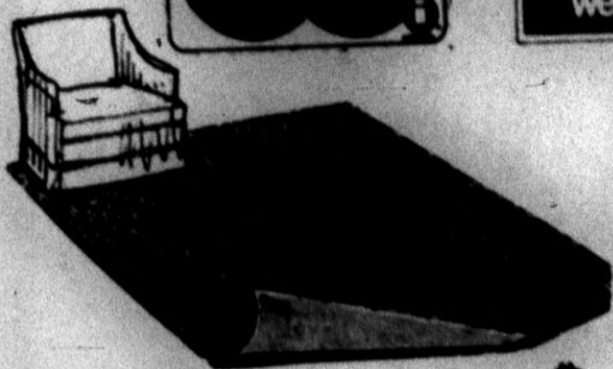

"Quite a number of officials work several conferences; it's nothing for 'em to work five or six games a week."

When Holmes isn't on crutches, it's nothing for him to be at five at six games a week.

Mrs. Dewitt Seago, member of the library staff, directs an energetic group of pre-school youngsters who attend a story hour Tuesday morning. A similar program for first through fourth grade students is held at the library each Friday afternoon, beginning at 4 p.m. The pre-schoolers' session is conducted at 10 a.m. every Tuesday.

The library proves to be an interesting place for these children, who hear a story read by Mrs. Dewitt Seago, at right. In addition to books, the youths are introduced to special programs including puppet shows, family movies and guest entertainers.

DSC Library Offers Variety Of Services

Photos By Sandy Pankey

Bill Albright is one of several local residents who have contributed books, magazines and records to the county library. A memorial shelf has been established as a tribute to deceased patrons.

Deaf Smith County Library offers facilities for a variety of activities in the community. Local Daughters of the American Revolution have taken advantage of the Genealogy Room, which houses records instrumental in their research. Pictured are Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Jess Robinson of the DAR.

Xerox copy can be printed at the library for 10 cents a print as operated here by Miss Rhonda Stewart. Other equipment available is a micro-film reader donated by Los Ciboleros Chapter of DAR. Hereford board for exceeding its 100 per cent

Hereford citizens joined forces this year to purchase an upright piano in order to expand the program potential of the library's Heritage Room. Here, Mrs. Gwen London, head librarian, admires the tone of the instrument.

Family counseling is now available at the library through cooperation of Hereford Family Services Center. Al Des Marteau is present for parental discussions during each story hour.

Offering entertainment for every age group, the county library has compiled a collection of table games which can be borrowed on the same system as books. Miss Rhonda Stewart, library employee, examines a toy from the array. In the background is a poster promoting the Artist of the Month, a regular feature at DSC library.

Banquet Showcases Camp Fire Girls

The accomplishments of Hereford Camp Fire Girls and their adult leaders were cited Friday evening in the Bull Barn, where the annual Father-Daughter Banquet was held.

The evening of awards presentations culminated with conferral of the coveted Wo-He-Lo Medallion on 16 Horizon Club members. Provided by Hereford Rotarians, the Medallions were bestowed by James D. Peeler, president of Hereford Camp Fire Council Board.

Wo-He-Lo recipients included Cheryl Laine Arney, Kiska Ann Hodges, Gene Ann Shipley, Melinda Gale Matthews, Elizabeth Ann Phillips, Catherine Ann Walker, Helen Ann Lesly, Lynnette Cawthon, Linda Mendez, Delfine Ulibarri, Hilda Garza, Grace Valdez, Melinda Sue Watts, Teresa Nell Rhoton, Dalme Jean Barber and Dolores Abalos.

Aubyn E. Hodges was master of ceremonies and welcomed the large gathering of Camp Fire girls, their fathers and leaders. Theme of the dinner was "Building On Yesterday, Today for Tomorrow."

Five members of the Camp Fire Council were recognized by Horizon member Cathy Walker, who also praised the efforts of Hereford Rotary Club and the Lions Club. Helen Cherry, who has served in several capacities for the organization for seven years, and Evelyn Lesly, a leader for five years, were recipients of the Wakan Award.

The Hitini citation was bestowed on Nell Hodges, who has been active on the Board of Directors, and Bunny Watts, a leader for several years. Also, Lois Turpen, board members for five years, was honored with the John Collier award, named after one of the founding fathers of Camp Fire.

Melinda Matthews, Horizon girl, presided during a Bicentennial ceremony, which was followed by a flag service conducted by Po-Ne-Wa Horizon Club.

A lengthy awards program for participation in candy sales earlier this year was introduced by Hilda Garza. Elizabeth Phillips was called to the podium to read the list of Bluebirds who sold at least 24 boxes of candy and the names of Camp Fire girls who sold 48 boxes.

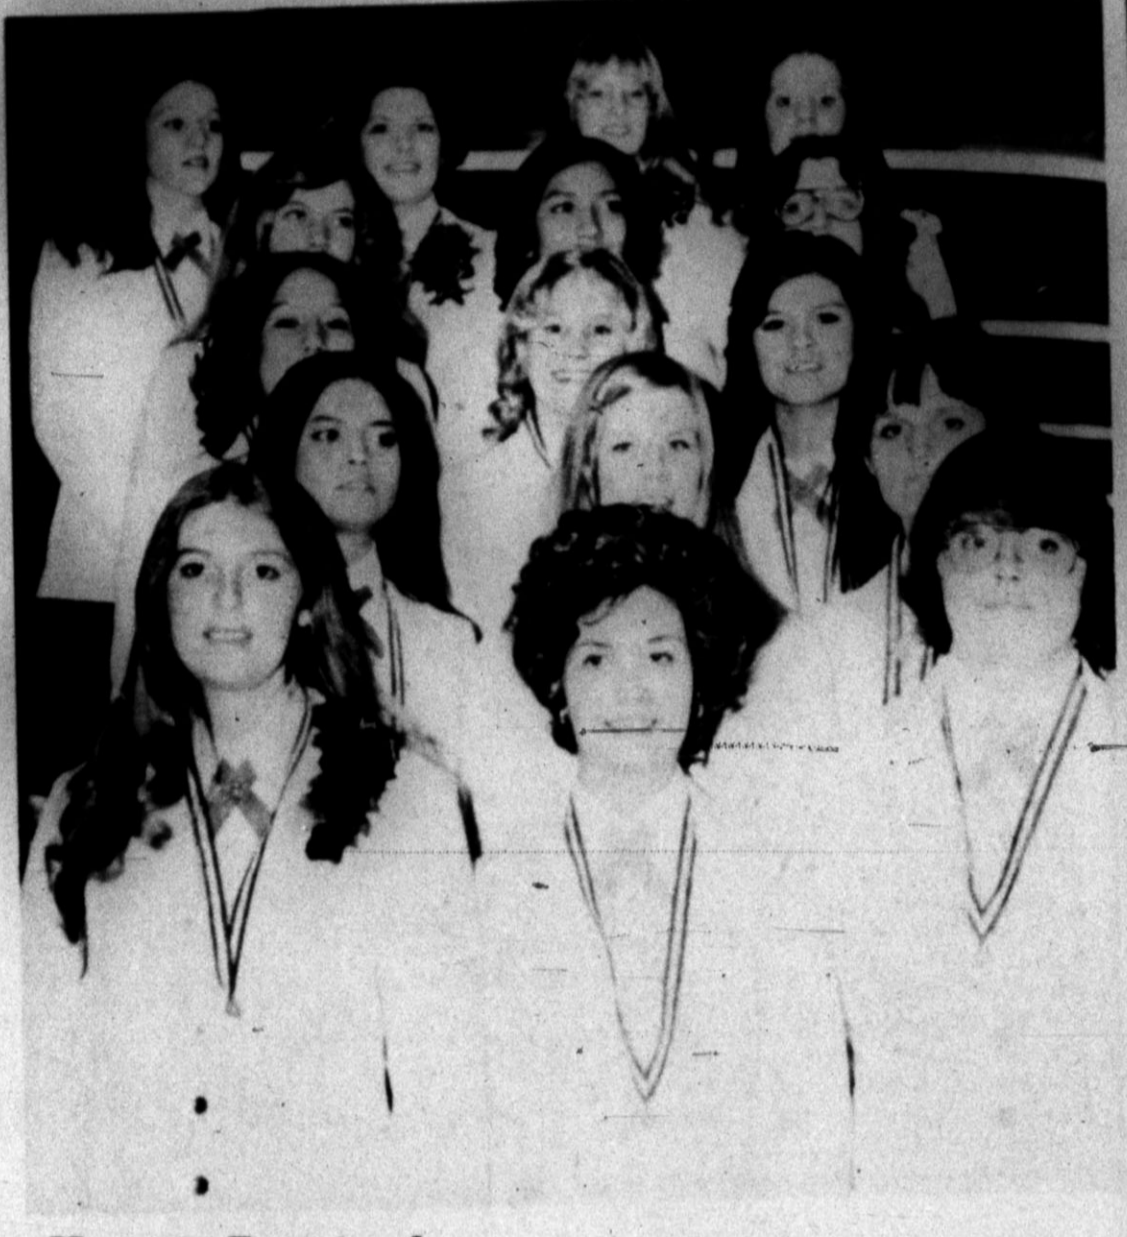

Campship awards for candy sales topping a total of 100 were recognized by Helen Lesly, who explained that proceeds of this project help in day camp and resident camp activities. Grace

Valdez then introduced the four Camp Fire chapters which had the best sales record this year. These groups included Busy Bluebirds, Tanda Wahanka Adventurers, Wakan Ki Lo Discovery Club and Peaceful Explorers Horizon Club. (See the accompanying story in today's issue for a listing of girls cited for candy sales.)

Camp Fire Girls and leaders with several years of involvement in the youth organization were distinguished for their service records. Delfine Ulibarri announced those girls who have seven year memberships and Teresa Rhoton cited ten year memberships. Lynnette Cawthon recognized Judy Crowley, Mary Hamby, Leona Mazurek, Glenice Thompson and Cindy Norvell for their service as Camp Fire leaders for five years.

Wa Tah Ni Ki and Ma We Ha Ya Horizon Clubs were responsible for the program dialogue with each Camp Fire chapter participating in segments of the musical portion. Randy Vaughn served as music director with accompaniments provided by Mrs. Sam Long. Delivering the invocation was Dolores Abalos.

Honors Received

Years of involvement in the Camp Fire Girl Organization climaxed for 16 Horizon Club members who were awarded the coveted Wo-He-Lo medallions during the banquet Friday evening. From left beginning at front row are Cheryl Arney, Delphine Ulibarri, Jean Barber, Dolores Abalos, Elizabeth Phillips, Melinda Matthews, Grace Valdez, Melinda Watts, Linda Mendez, Teresa Rhoton, Hilda Garza, Gene Ann Shipley, Cathy Walker, Lynnette Cawthon, Helen Lesly and Kiska Hodges.

Candy Sales Cited

Camp Fire Girls who participated in the candy sales project this year were recognized during the annual Father-Daughter Banquet Friday evening at the Bull Barn. (See detailed account in this issue.)

Special praise was dealt to Tommie Cherry, a sophomore Horizon Club member, who sold more than 200 boxes of candy. Also honored were members who have been involved in Camp Fire for seven and ten year periods.

Couple Exchange Vows Saturday

White gladiolas and blue pompons decorated the altar of St. Mary Catholic Church Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Joan Marie Frische and Charles Stocker, both of Canyon.

Monsignor Schaffe officiated the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frische of Canyon and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Stocker, also of that city.

Miss Elaine Frische of Dawn served as maid of honor to her sister and Glen Stocker of Canyon, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

Bridemaids included the bride's cousin, Mrs. Glen Lott of Vega, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Aline Stocker of Amarillo and Mrs. Henry Ramaekers of Umbarger.

The bridegroom's brothers, Jeff Stocker of Amarillo, Billy Stocker of Canyon and Gene Stocker of Krum, were groomsmen.

Escorting guests to their seats were the bride's cousin, Eugene Schenk of Vega and Philip Brandt of Umbarger.

Henry Ramaekers of Umbarger served as lecturer and acolytes included the bride's brothers, Frank and David Frische, both of Dawn, and the bride's cousin, Mark Bizilas of Dalhart.

The bride's cousin, Kimberly Wick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wick of Canyon, was flower girl and Johnny Magera, nephew of the bridegroom and son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Magera of Houston, was ring bearer.

Miss Donna Kendall sang wedding selections, "Whither Thou Goest" by Guy Singer, "Prayer For A Love Like Christ" by Norman Clayton, "Wedding Song" and "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother."

Mrs. Vincent Ramaekers of Umbarger provided accompaniment.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza gown designed by Bori Joy's of New York. It was fashioned with an empire waistline designed with a princess neckline and long bell sleeves accented with Venise lace.

The A-line skirt featured two bands of Venise lace border and the full flounce and chapel train was trimmed with sculptured Venise lace.

The two-tiered finger-tip veil of imported bridal illusion was accented with matching lace and attached to a caplet covered with Venise lace and seed pearls.

She carried a cascade of white baby roses, pompons, stephanotis, babybreath designed with a removable corsage.

As a good-luck pieces, she borrowed her grandmothers silver rosary which was entwined in the bridal bouquet, a linen handkerchief belonging to her great-grandmother and earrings which were a gift from the bridegroom.

Bridal attendants wore French blue knit gowns designed with empire waistlines, long sleeves trimmed with ruffles, and a V-shaped ruffled neckline.

They carried nosegays of blue carnations, babybreath, white pompons and streamers. And as gifts from the bride they wore silver crucifix necklaces.

Miss Kate Manz of Canyon invited guests to sign the registry book in the reception and dinner held in the parish hall of the church.

Miss Angeline Haschke and Miss Juanita Hartman, both of Umbarger, served tea and coffee. Others assisting included Miss Arlene Kock and Miss Faunette Kinkade.

Mrs. Larry Sanders of Canyon and Mrs. Kenneth Wieck served the two four-layer cakes connected by a stairway. They were topped with miniature figurines representing the bridal party.

The refreshment tables were covered with blue tablecloths trimmed in lace and centered with blue candles in crystal holders.

For a wedding trip, the bride wore a blue knit pantsuit. The couple will make their home at Vigo Route, Tulia.

The bride was formally employed by Dawn Co-op and in a 1973 Hereford High School graduate.

The bridegroom is currently engaged in farming. He served four years in the United States Air Force and is a 1971 graduate of Canyon High School.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Flies of Elk City, Okla and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuele of Columbus, Neb.

Deadline Near For Pageant Entrants

Less than three weeks remain for local lasses to enter the Miss Hereford Pageant, which this year is offering a contest category for most ages 3-28.

Mrs. J.W. Robinson, chairman of the pageant's steering committee, has announced that Feb. 13 is the cut-off date for enrollment in the Miss Hereford, Miss Teen Hereford and Younger Divisions. The latter category is a new addition to the pageant activities, which all come under the umbrella of the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

More than $1,100 in scholarships will be awarded to those earning top berths in competition on March 6 in Hereford High School auditorium. Miss Hereford, who will represent this community at the state finals, will receive a $500 grant. The first runner-up will be given a $300 scholarship and second runner-up will earn a $100 scholarship.

Also, $50 each has been designated for scholarships for the talent winners in the Miss Hereford and Miss Teen divisions. Miss Congeniality honorees in both categories will be presented $25 scholarships.

Miss Teen Hereford, who will also bear the title of Miss Bicentennial 1976, will receive a $100 scholarship to the school of her choice.

"Old Glory" will be the theme of the pageant, scheduled to commence at 7:30 p.m. March 6. Mistress of ceremonies will be the renowned Judy Mallett, who was Miss Texas 1973 and has gained notoriety with her version of "The Orange Blossom Special" on the fiddle.

Former Miss Herefords will be invited to make a return visit to the stage to entertain. Also on hand, of course, will be the reigning queen, Monica Herring, and Miss Teen, Donna Kendall.

Admission to the evening performance will cost $3 per person and will include a free program featuring all the entrants. Girls who have announced intentions to vie for the Miss Hereford crown so far include Delores Abalos, Donna Kendall, Melinda Watts, Lisa Lyles, Delfine Ullbarri and Beverly High. Miss Teen entrants are currently Patty Hendon, Margie De La Cruz and Michelle Moore.

Prospective contestants for the senior division of the pageant are asked to contact Mrs. Robinson or Mrs. Glenn Watts. Entrants in the Younger Division can obtain necessary forms from the Chamber of Commerce office or from Mrs. Dan Warrick, chairman.

Three winners will be chosen in the pageant's Younger Division and this trio will appear on the Miss Hereford float in the Bicentennial parade here July 4. Competition will start at 2 p.m. March 6 in the high school auditorium and there will be no talent contest.

Five judges will select the Cutest Miss (ages 3-5), Miss Petite Hereford (ages 6-9) and Miss Junior Hereford (ages 10-12). Results of judging will be announced during the afternoon festivities and the winning three will be presented trophies during the evening pageant.

John Gilliland will emcee the Younger Division contest and admission will cost $1. No advance tickets will be sold.

4-H Club Presents Program

Mrs. H.L. Ward was elected as nominee for HD Club Woman of the Year by members of Wyche Extension Club Thursday afternoon in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Also, during the business meeting with Mrs. L.B. Worthan presiding, Mrs. E.C. Hewitt Jr. was elected to represent the club at the THDA district meeting scheduled March 25 at Perryton.

Also, members gave individual donations to the local heart fund.

Members of Argen Draper

4-H Club presented the program on the purpose of the organization with assistance from club leaders, Mrs. Gene Combs and Mrs. Bill West.

Argen Draper was welcomed as a guest and Mrs. Johnny Worthan was recognized as a new member by hostesses, Mrs. Leo Hellman and Mrs. J.H. Holden, and club members.

They included Mmes. Ira Ott, Robert Trowbridge, Frank Duncan, Leroy Bodkin, Ward, Hewitt, W.P. Aze and Bob Thuit.

The next meeting was scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Feb. 5 in the home of Mrs. Bodkin.

Remove carpet spots caused by holiday traffic by pouring a generous amount of baking soda or corn meal on the spot. Work it into the pile with your fingers. Leave it overnight and vacuum off the next day, suggests Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Outstanding Students

Two students at St. Anthony's Catholic Parochial School were presented trophies as students of the six weeks Thursday morning during children's mass. From left is Amy Schumacher, a sixth grade student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jo Schumacher, and first grader Charles Hund, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hund.

Widowhood Presented As Program

"Widowhood" was the program presented by Joyce Shipp, county extension agent, to members of Cultural Extension Club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Tom Hargrave.

Mrs. M.H. Wiseman read the opening exercise "Consider" and roll call was answered by "Ways I Keep My Family Healthy and Happy."

Mrs. M.W. Sumner presided over the short business meeting in which members scheduled their next meeting at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 13 in the home of Mrs. J.G. Gandy.

Mrs. Della Stehr was welcomed as a guest by members present. They included Mmes. Ira Scott, Mayna Mac Love, A.D. Dettman, Ada Houser, Art Lewis and Grady Parsons.

Counselor To Address Association

A special education counselor will address the Hereford Association of Children with Learning Disabilities during a meeting at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in Community Center.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

Jose Griego will be the guest speaker and will center his presentation on "Environmental Differences" and their effect on youngsters.

President of the local association is Dickie Dobbins.

JOHN FUHRBACH

YMCA Establishment Discussed By AAUW

Robert Mayfield spoke to members of the American Association of University Women on the need for a YMCA in Hereford at a meeting of the organization held in the Heritage Room of Deaf Smith County Library recently.

Mayfield told the association members that such an organization could be started with a board of directors to initiate the program the first year, and estimated that the expense for the first two years would be approximately $50,000.

He pointed out that the association members could assist with such a project with input on girls' sports, fund raising and publicity.

John Fuhrbach, a jeweler and gemologist from Amarillo also addressed the group. Centering his discussion on diamonds, Fuhrbach told his audience that 23 tons of ore is required to obtain 3 1/2 carat diamonds.

Fuhrbach also displayed life-size samples of the world's most famous diamonds. He ended his presentation by explaining the correct method of cleaning diamonds and other jewelry.

The organization's next meeting will be held Feb. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Heritage Room of the library. A fashion show and special display will be presented by Mrs. W.J. Gilliland and Mrs. Richard Barnard.

Comings And Goings

BY FAY GAUGELL

PUPPET SHOW

Well it's happened again. That is, the Matlocks, Dwayne and Sandy, who are directors of young folk at Hereford Nazarene Church, staged a puppet show at King's Manor on Dec. 19.

The stage again featured a Punch and Judy section complete with curtains. Attached on one side was a simulated white picket fence, over which youngsters' funny faces appeared with their wall-eyes and huge mouths.

The following youngsters participated: Lee and Ann Umsted, Larry McNutt, John Stentz, Steve Douglas, Steve Vaughn, Karen Hall and Lori Hinton. Most of the songs were written by Bill Gaither who is so popular now.

They sang in parts and so far as we're concerned there was nary a monotone in the group. Hands, mouths and voices were perfectly synchronized. Matlock was out front and Mrs. Matlock was the power behind the scenes or more literally behind the fence.

David Hill offered prayer before the group began with "Let's Just Praise the Lord" then "Alleluia."

At this point the new baby called "Precious" was introduced and he soloed. Matlock introduced two numbers "Through it all" and "I Can Never Outlove the Lord."

Puppet "Tinker" who came with the Matlocks from Oklahoma is thinking of retiring having puppeted two long years. He gave his testimony of his life. He was a boll of cotton, always dreaming and praying to be useful in his life. When disappointed he always bowed his head between the pickets and said, "Please God do use me in your plans!" Very impressive this was and contained the whole essence of what the Matlocks are instilling in these youngsters.

"He Touched Me," "Because He Lives" and "The King is Coming" were all done Fortissimo and with much gusto.

It thrills oldsters to see the wholesome fun these youngsters have and to know they are being influenced aright.

Mrs. Davidson expressed our thanks and feelings to the group and the program ended.

The Alice Ward Circle of United Methodist Women met Jan. 14, in the Lamar Memorial Garden Room.

Mrs. Grant Hanna presided. It was voted that a book in memory of our four deceased members be placed in the Manor library. Those deceased are: Mrs. Lena Pryor, Novella Stallings, Thelma Chisum and Flora Bryant.

Mrs. Hanna handed out new yearbooks, then launched into an impressive pledge service built around the theme of giving. Each of us held a penny, then after some thought, gave it away as a token of our desire to give self. The pledge cards were turned in. A song and prayer served as devotion time. The program entitled "Are You Boxed Up?" was developed as Fay Gaugell divided us into Buzz Groups: each group studied a comic picture representing the types of boxes in which we often find ourselves. After the groups buzzed, one leader from each group reported on her groups' ideas and conclusions. Two new members were enrolled: Mrs. Elizabeth Fly and Mrs. Vera Wright. This brought our attendance up to 26.

American Legion Holds Meeting

The American Legion Post 192 and Auxiliary served as host and hostesses during a dinner for the Zone 2 meeting held Thursday evening in the Legion Hall.

Benny Womble, commander of the local post, opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance and Grant Hanna introduced program speaker Mrs. Thong and her mother Mrs. Nhu't, refugees from South Vietnam that are currently living in Hereford.

A dance instructor at Larrymore Studio, Mrs. Thong told of her life in Saigon and how she came to America when the Communists infiltrated the country.

A question and answer period followed.

Zone commander Francis Wilhelm of Nazareth presided at the business meeting and noted that towns represented at the meeting included Friona, Nazareth and Tulia.

The next zone meeting was scheduled in February in Hart.

It was also announced that the Freedom Train will be in Odessa Feb. 6-9 and the 18th District convention will be held March 13 and 14 at Nazareth.

Dinner was prepared by Grant Hanna and Homer Logan.

Presenting Books

Two books were donated to Deaf Smith County Library Thursday morning by Westway Home Demonstration Club. "Pioneer Women in Texas" and "Women in America" were presented to Gwen London, librarian, by Grace Covington, center, and Mrs. Gaylon Bryan.

Deaf Smith County Extension Agent

Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Council will meet Monday in the county courtroom at 2:30 p.m. Each club in the county will reveal their club woman of the year nominee and plans for the annual appreciation luncheon to be held in February will be discussed. All club members are encouraged to attend along with each club president and council delegate.

Miss Susan Montgomery, assistant County Extension Agent in Dallam County, will be receiving training from this agent Monday and Tuesday of this week. Many of you will remember her co-worker, Robert Devin, who worked here for two years as assistant County Extension Agent.

HOMEMAKER'S MAILING LIST

Attention ladies--if you're not on our monthly newsletter mailing list, but would like to be, please call us at 364-3573 and leave your name and address. We send newsletters monthly, containing consumer and homemaker information. We'll also share your good ideas with others, along with recipes and helpful hints.

Make plans to attend the Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Take time to eat at the 4-H Adult and parent Leaders Concession. They'll be serving chili, sandwiches, hot dogs, corn dogs, drinks, homemade pie, brownies, etc.

Proceeds from the concession will be used to help finance trips of local 4-H members to State 4-H Contests they've won the right to compete in. While you're at the show, take the opportunity to view the show animals and the youngsters who have worked so diligently with them throughout the past several months, and don't forget to support the sale on Saturday.

A trend toward "dressing up" is evident among young women, reflected by their increased consciousness of clothes.

Today's young women see clothing as an important tool for communicating in society, reports a May, 1975, survey by the PRADS Statistical Department. They polled 3,400 high school seniors and 600 college freshmen who are members of the Distributive Education Clubs of America.

At the time of the survey, 94 per cent of the young women questioned agreed that a person has an obligation to herself and to others to look her best and that clothes help a person look her best.

But in January, 1974, only 72 per cent agreed with that statement.

Of those polled in May, 1975, 66 per cent believed that the popularity of jeans has crested and a trend toward "dressing up" has begun--but in the earlier survey, only half the young women thought the popularity of jeans had peaked.

Also, in 1975, 93 per cent agreed that clothes express the wearer's personality, while only 88 per cent agreed with the statement when asked earlier.

The surveys showed a marked change in attitude toward the politicization of clothes. In the latest survey, 62 per cent agreed that clothing could convey an expression of protest of ideological conviction, while only 37 per cent agreed with the concept in the 1974 survey.

The survey also indicates that parents and young people have moved closer together in their opinions today of what young women should wear. In January, 1974, 37 per cent said that their parents would like them to dress differently, while only 21 per cent felt their parents disapproved of their clothing choices in 1975.

Patriotic Record Cut By Youthful Resident

By KERRIE WOMBLE
Women's Editor

Mary Rando Baca was praising the ideals of this nation long before the Bicentennial spawned an influx of patriotic tableaux.

Rooted before a speaker's platform since schooldays, Mrs. Baca has recorded her nationalistic views on a 45 rpm record produced by Halo Recording, a local studio. "I Am The Nation," the speech which has earned Mrs. Baca considerable credit as a public speaker, is backed by "May God Bless America," written personally by the young elocutionist.

The rousing testimonial record has been distributed in this region, although Mrs. Baca's voice has been heard by large audiences in Texas, New Mexico and Washington, D.C. where her patriotic programs have been presented. She is available to give an address to banquets, schools, churches and civic groups.

"Because I am not a man and cannot fight for my country in battle, I thank God for my ability and talent to speak for my country," she commented.

BORN IN A family of 18 children, Mary Rando helped support the brood in the absence of her father. She was reared at Friona and was active at the Baptist Mission there, teaching classes on Sunday mornings and nights, and participating in youth work on local and district levels.

At the age of 15, the Mexican-American girl entered a talent show sponsored by the Friona Jaycees in 1966. She won a first prize of $125 and was introduced to the circuit of after-dinner speeches, church programs and school assemblies.

The George Washington Home Medal from the Freedom's Foundation, at Valley Forge, Pa. was conferred on a vivacious Mary Rando, who was enrolling in numerous scholastic activities. As a junior student, she was cited by her peers as Miss Future Teacher of Friona High School, was president of the Spanish club and taught an adult-Spanish class. She was chosen "Most Talented" in her junior and senior years.

During her high school years, she was first runner-up for Queen of Friona's Maize Days Celebration and copped second place in a talent show sponsored by Dimmitt Future Homemakers. Mary Rando was again on top in talent competition staged at Lubbock by Texas Farm Bureau. Her showing there earned her a berth at state finals at Dallas, where she was first runner-up. She was the only one of 13 contestants invited to speak at the state convention's final banquet.

In the summer of 1969, the Friona High School graduate was guest speaker at citizenship seminars at San Benito and McAllen. She appeared with Cleon Skousen, author of "The Naked Communist," Herb Philbrick, who wrote "I Led Three Lives," and John Noble, who authored "I Was A Slave In Russia" and "I Found God In Russia."

Two weeks later, she attended the State Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar in Waco, where she was involved in the program. Mrs. Baca has spoken to large delegations, including the District teacher's meeting at Amarillo, six thousand Student Council members at an Austin convention and a long roster of Panhandle organizations.

Mrs. Baca has appeared on programs with Congressman Bob Price at his request and was invited to be a guest in his home in the nation's capital during the summer of 1967. She stated that she "enjoyed this visit very much" and that Price wrote her story into the Congressional record.

In 1971-72, the local woman worked as an intern student for Price in Washington, D.C. She then moved to Amarillo and was employed in Price's office during his election campaign. She remembers that this was "a year full of experiences and lots of education."

Coming to Hereford three years ago, Mrs. Baca managed the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant here and was hired as curator at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame in April. She married Earl A. Baca in July.

She has attended West Texas State University and New Mexico State University at Las Cruces, N.M.

Copies of the recently released record are available from Halo Recording or from Mrs. Baca.

Methodists To Answer Call

United Methodist Women of the United Wesley Methodist Church of Hereford will hold one of their important annual observances this week—the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial. About 1.5 million women in 35,000 local units in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The Call, inspired by special mission needs, focuses on prayer, a deepened spiritual life and a guided mission study. Major events of the observance include the Quiet Day and an interpretation of the mission projects in the United States and abroad for which a special offering will be made. Each woman who takes part is asked to give for others by denying herself, and to cultivate through prayer a spiritual oneness with planners, mission workers and those serving in church-related ministries.

The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial for women of the United Wesley Methodist church will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday at 832 W. Park. Raymond Higginbotham's residence.

The Women's Division of the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church sponsors the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial and has designated two aspects of the large United Methodist mission program to benefit from this year's special offering.

The Division says of the 1976 mission aspects:

In the United States the offering will be used for "Healing Ministries and Services for the Aged." Through the programs and project benefiting from this offering, the lives of many senior citizens will be enriched.

Overseas, the offering will be directed toward "Support of Victims of Oppressive Societies and Systems." Those victims may be identified as political prisoners, exiles, refugees and women in the urban labor force in Asia, Africa, Latin America. Programs include education and development, community building research and publication ventures.

The service for the Quiet Day, "And All These Things Shall Be Added..." was written by Margaret Tyrell (Mrs. J. Boyd), retired staff member of the Women's Division of the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church.

United Methodist Women is the successor body to two former denominational women's groups—the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild, and is related to the Women's Division of the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church. Last year the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial offerings of United Methodist Women totaled approximately $700,000.

On The Turnrow

By Jim Stolert

IF YOU NOTICE a panick-stricken look on the faces of local cattlemen lately, there's ample reason.

The cattle feeding industry had just started turning a profit again in the past few months, but it's shades of 1973-74 now as the cattle market has taken an alarming nosedive over the past two weeks.

We were visiting with Ed Barrett Thursday afternoon, and he pointed out that the aforementioned nosedive amounts to about $88 a head. There's not much chance of making a profit on a pen of cattle when your market has taken a tumble like that.

Concerned cattlemen are hoping the market will take an upturn, but they're worried, and there's no blaming them either.

SOME QUARTERS are predicting that after this backslide, the cattle market is going to spiral upwards, but the man who has bills to pay on pens of cattle right now won't benefit much from future upswings unless they come along soon.

Barrett paid tribute to the remarkable resiliency of the cattle industry though, even at a troubled moment. He opined that the cattle industry is about the only business he's seen that can take a jolt like the one thrown at it over the past two years and survive.

"Cattle feeding saw half of its assets taken away during the past two years, but the business carries on. Any other industry with half of its assets taken away just couldn't keep going. The fact that cattle feeding remains an important area industry is a tribute to the hard work and good management exercised by local cattlemen to make sure that they survive," Barrett commented.

We're inclined to agree with his opinions, and hope local cattlemen quickly figure out how to manage their way around this current market slump.

TURN

A GROUP of local farmers, headed by Arliss Edwards, who farms 30 miles northwest of Hereford, brought a letter into the office Thursday to have it reprinted in the form of an ad in this issue of The Brand.

The letter is taken from the Jan. 15 issue of Farmland News and is headlined "You Lied, Mr. President."

The letter was written by Bruce A. Barrett of Cambridge, Neb. These local farmers agreed that it expresses a viewpoint held by a great many agriculturalists, and I agree too. We hope you'll take time to read the letter; it is blunt and very true.

Mr. Edwards explained to me on the phone the other night that he and some of his neighbors had noticed the letter and got into a discussion concerning how "the little people and the farmers are getting the dirty end of the stick." The group of farmers decided that they would like for more people to see the Barrett letter, and they acted to make it available to the Brand's readership.

"WHEN THINGS go well for the farmer, they go well for the country and everyone in it, but when the farmers start getting knocked down like they have been lately, it gets hard on everyone," said Edwards. "We know things could be worse, and we're not demanding to be handed an ideal situation, but it would help a lot if the administration would just deal straight with us," he added.

We hope that as our country begins its third century, our leaders will become more aware of the major role the agricultural industry has played in making this nation the greatest and most powerful on earth, and that those leaders will take the steps necessary to insure that agriculture ascends the economic ladder, rather than being pushed back to the bottom rung slump.

Identification Project Helps Cut Down Thefts

Even when a farmer is fully insured, the theft of a major piece of machinery can cost him a lot of money in lost work time.

Operation Identification, now being conducted by the Sheriff's Department, is helping residents in the Deaf Smith County area cut down thefts by "branding" their farm implements and equipment as they would their cattle.

It works like this: Residents use carbon steel dies or electric engravers to mark their Texas driver's license numbers on their equipment, and place signs around their property telling potential thieves that it's branded. Officers of the local department will show them how the engraving is done.

"Having your equipment marked discourages thefts because it makes your tractors, harvestors, trailers and other major pieces hard to resell or fence," said Sheriff Travis McPherson of the Deaf Smith County Department. "It also makes them easier to recover, because the driver's license number is registered in a computer system."

TURN

WITH THE ANNUAL Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show coming up Thursday, Friday and Saturday, you'll have an opportunity to see some fine livestock, and at the same time, you'll be seeing youngsters learning by doing.

There's real responsibility and more than a few financial burdens that go with raising livestock for the show ring, and a lot of lessons to be learned along the way.

FFA and 4-H youth from a four county area will be here to compete in the show, and those who are lucky enough to have raised the top animals will send their stock through the auction ring Saturday.

It's in the sale ring that it comes down to loss, break-even or profit, and we hope to see a good turnout of local businessmen at the sale Saturday afternoon to show their support for the efforts of these 4-H and FFA members.

department will show residents how to buy and use the steel dies, which come in a set containing all the letters and number required for the job.

McPherson explained the method. Find a flat surface and wipe it free of grease and dirt. Pick out the dies that spell out your driver's license number, and the state prefix (for example, TX 5311211). Strike the letters and numbers into the surface with heavy blows, so that they'll be sharp and clear. Sheriff McPherson warned that the dies will crack cast metal, and shouldn't be used on such surfaces.

He suggested that equipment be marked in these places:

—tractors and harvesters in seat bottoms, instrument panels and near serial number.

—Plows, shredders, grain drills, other planters and cultivators on the tongue or hook-up attachments and at least one other location.

—Trailers on the tongue, catches and at least one other location.

—Irrigation pumps near the serial number.

"It's a small amount of time to spend compared to the high cost of the equipment," said McPherson. "And it's an important preventative measure to take, especially out on a farm where no one is around for miles to see a thief."

Naman Defends Ag Conservation

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco has termed Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz's denunciation of the Agricultural Conservation Program as a malicious attempt to raise doubts in the public's mind as to the real value of the program.

Butz, speaking recently in Iowa, had labeled the ACP program "the rural Congressman's pork barrel...nine-tenths of this is a waste of money."

The Texas farm leader pointed out that the Administration had lost in its attempt to cut the program budget in half this year when Congress denied the Administration's request to defer $90 million of the program contained in the fiscal 1976 appropriations act for the USDA.

Naman said that the $14.78 million earmarked for Texas this year will be used by farmers and ranchers for long-range conservation programs including erosion control structures, water impoundment, vegetative planting irrigation projects and other permanent conservation measures.

Naman noted that most of the money allocated through ACP will be matched equally by farmers and ranchers carrying out conservation programs covered under the Act.

According to ASCS spokesmen, Texas usually receives approximately 8 to 10 percent of the total national allocation.

"Not only are these projects beneficial to farmers and ranchers, they are environmentally sound. Such projects prevent soil erosion, water pollution and keep our air free of blowing dust, all of which are of benefit to all our citizens," Naman said.

Naman continued, "this action by the Secretary to undermine and destroy a time-tested and important program for farmers and ranchers again shows that he has no practical knowledge of the farm situation and is only trying to demagogue a worthwhile program to death."

The Farmers Union president pointed out that in 1973, when the program was not in effect, conservation projects carried out by farmers and ranchers were substantially reduced. "Many of the projects carried out under the ACP program are very expensive and the only way they can be completed is by matching funds with the farmers own investment," Naman said.

"The $175 million allocated for the ACP program should be looked on as an investment for the future food producing ability of this nation. It's time the Secretary quit trying to kill this program and get on with trying to improve the family farmers income," Naman stated.

Immigrant Still Influencing Style

America would have been deprived of its favorite cotton fashion if a 20-year old Bavarian immigrant had been more successful in his attempts at panning for gold.

Levi Strauss was among those who flooded into California in 1850 hit by the gold fever. Unlike some of his companions, however, he went prepared to earn enough money to finance his grubstake.

As the story goes, Strauss carried with him some rolls of sturdy cotton denim which he intended to sell to makers of tents and Conestoga wagon coverings. But his plans were changed by a chance meeting with a miner who complained about not being able to get any pants strong enough to withstand the rugged Western life.

Strauss took the miner and a roll of the cotton fabric to a tailor, and instructed him to make some pants.

Thus the first pairs of Western "levis" were born and since that year's gold fever has been replaced by a blue jeans craze which the National Cotton Council reports is still going strong.

The best way to earn a rest is to complete your work.

The one time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down.

About the only time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down is when it leaves one of Lindsay's plants. Once assembled in your field, it seldom causes a problem. Those big, sure-footed towers power their way around the field, carrying water to crops.

Hour after hour, day after day. Until you decide to shut down. That kind of performance doesn't just happen. It's the result of constant testing — both in the plant and in the field. Lindsay puts these rigs through the most punishing conditions — loads on more stress in a week, usually, than they're likely to see in a lifetime of normal use.

But we know that no system is 100% perfect all the time. That's why we're ready to help with an extensive parts inventory and factory trained servicemen if you ever have a problem. Before you buy any center pivot irrigation system, be sure to let us tell you about all the advantages of owning a Lindsay Zimmatic.

WHAT IF YOU COULD make an item for $5.00, but you could only sell it for $3.50? How many of those items would you plan to build next year? How long do you think you could stay in business?

YOU'RE RIGHT! NOT MANY and not very long, but that's exactly what the farmer is expected to do! When current market prices get below the cost of production—then there is no incentive for the farmer to produce. Of course, with little or no incentive—production is reduced. What results? Why—shortages, of course. And when there is a scarcity of anything, what happens to the price? It's really very simple economics, but some of our legislators and our top administrators and their advisors must never have taken even the basic course.

WELL, WHAT'S TO BE DONE? THE MAJOR task is to get government out of business—especially agri-business. When markets are interrupted by government and the price of a commodity then falls below cost of production, it appears to leave little doubt who government is really working for.

FOR THOUSANDS OF YEARS it has been proven—that wage and price controls do not work. The only really productive system is free trade based on supply and demand. The profit incentive provides the greatest stimulus to production. You'd think that would be pretty easy to understand, but obviously it's not. SO WHAT CAN WE DO? FOLKS, we need to communicate with people—not just our neighbors and friends in or around agriculture. We need to educate people across this great land of ours—and since there are only relatively few of us in productive agriculture, we have to "target" our information where it can spread and do the most good. Some suggested groups are legislators, educators—other Chambers of Commerce, consumer groups, labor unions and anyone else who is able to reason and can understand that you can't subtract 3 from 2 and come up with a plus.

THERE IS ONE OTHER VERY important benefit of high agricultural production—you know it, and it's called Balance of Payments. Our farm products have brought our country out of the red in dealing with foreign producers. We have established greatly in overcoming recession and fighting inflation.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN doing something positive about this situation—give us a call at the Chamber and we'll put together some ideas aimed at educating the consumer and providing a decent market for the producer.

IT'LL TAKE SOME STRONG support from you—and your friends—plus lots of HUSTLE, HUSTLE, HUSTLE.

The Abundant Life

By Bob Wear

Many things go wrong that should never go wrong. Consequently, there is much loss of human well-being; much loss that is unnecessary. Much of this we just let happen, because we could "work it out".

In human relationships, there will be problems always; and difficulties of one kind or another will be with us forever. If, however, we are always ready and willing to exert the effort to "work it out", many problems and difficulties will disappear, and the others can be modified.

Misunderstandings may be one of our biggest, but most unnecessary problems. It may be that some are inevitable, but the majority should never occur; and, at the moment they begin it is usually possible to make all necessary corrections. Whatever it is, in most instances; we can "work it out". If there is sufficient desire, and adequate effort; the persons involved can usually maintain pleasant associations.

Too many of us seem reluctant to talk things over, to do our utmost to communicate; to make sure that we understand and that we are understood. The fullness of communication will be helpful in preventing much of the difficulties, and can often be the means by which we can "work it out"; when difficulties already exist.

In some instances, making allowances, justified allowances, will be the wise way to settle what might otherwise become a very unpleasant and non-productive situation. It is a very foolish person who is never willing to make such allowances. If we make ourselves implacable, we will be embroiled constantly in some kind of wasteful hassle.

This charitable attitude will often be helpful to us, as we try to "work out" our problems, and especially our differences with others. Oftentimes, this will be the only way to avoid tragic and heartbreaking misunderstanding.

We may not be able to always "work it out", but the efforts to do so are certainly justified.

We must be willing to forego an advantage, when this is the conclusion of good judgement. It is not always right or wise to do this, but there will be times when it is the only sensible action.

Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the most important thing in life is to know when to forego an advantage.

When we demonstrate that we are sincerely interested in doing everything we can to "work it out", when there is an obvious need to do so; most other persons involved will do their best, too.

If you indicate your willingness to be friendly, men are bound eventually to reciprocate by manifesting a spirit of friendliness toward you. —Gow

If we act soon enough, and act with good intentions and a pleasant disposition; we can usually "work it out".

Realtors Get Certificate

A certificate of achievement was presented to the Hereford Board of Realtors by the Texas Real Estate Political Action Committee at a meeting of the organization's regular monthly luncheon and business meeting held at the Civic Club Center Tuesday.

The certificate was presented to the local realtors in recognition of the organization's exceeding its 100 per cent contribution by 33 per cent.

Program chairman Tommy Bowling presented a film entitled "Uncle Sam, The Man And The Legend," to those in attendance.

The board currently has 12 books on the same topic and plans to present the books to representatives of local schools in the near future.

Members also voted to sponsor an Uncle Sam contest, which will be open to students from elementary grades through high school. Awards will be presented for first, second and third place.

Jean Coker presided at the luncheon and business session. The organization's next meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 10.

Army Course Completed By Captain

Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.—Captain Chris L. Tannahill, son of Mrs. Tress Tannahill, 1608 S. 70th St., Friona, Tex., recently completed an advanced medical department course at the Army's Academy of Health Sciences at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Students studied the organization and administration of medical units and hospital management.

Capt. Tannahill entered the Army in 1970 and holds the Air Medal and the Army Commendation Medal.

The captain, a 1965 graduate of Friona High School, received his B.S. degree from West Texas State University, Canyon, in 1969.

His wife, Glenda, was with him in Texas during the training.

'You lied, Mr. President'

Dear Mr. President:

I am a 38-year-old married father of three children. I am a member of the swiftly vanishing group known as farmers and ranchers. I am not on welfare, I am not on food stamps, I do not belong to a union, I have no pension plan. I have no paid vacation, and I do not strike when each little thing is not grand and glorious. I work an average of 80 hours a week, 52 weeks a year.

What I am terribly upset about, Mr. President is you. Ever since the end of World War II the United States has had a cheap food policy. This worked very well for about 25 years.

In 1973 our prices advanced to where we were actually on a par with the rest of the economy. This, of course, brought cries of despair from people who were actually having to pay over 15 per cent of their disposable income for food. This was terrible, how were they going to buy their motor homes for those 30-day paid vacations? How were they going to buy boats for their 3-day and 4-day weekends at the lake? How were they going to pay for the three color T.V.'s and three cars?

But we had become so dependent on imported oil to do all this running around that we were having to import great amounts of oil at black market prices from the Arabs. How were we going to pay for this?

We had only one thing to export, food. Labor had priced itself out of the world market. How were we going to export large quantities of grain and still have cheap food for the American consumer?

The answer, of course, was to encourage the American farmer to produce to full capacity. Plant every acre, fence row to fence row, was the cry. Promise him, to use your terms Mr. President, "unfettered world markets," hoping of course that the world grain production would be huge, thus building a huge surplus at home and depressing prices back to poverty level for us. But the plan failed.

While the U.S. farmer did his part and produced a record crop of everything, the world didn't fare so well. Russia was plagued with drought. They came to our "unfettered" market for grain.

In the meantime, George Meany saw an opportunity to drive a more plush deal for one of his supporting unions, the Maritime Union. They refused to load our grain under the pretense of stabilizing our farm economy and our food prices. Stabilizing it lower of course. This way the union could take up the slack between the raw materials and the higher prices that were already on the way. Mr. Meany came huffing and puffing to the White House, and you, Mr. President, laid down like a whipped pup and called a moratorium in our grain exports to Russia. The plan worked well. The price of our grain has gone down ever since. It is back to about the cost of production.

You sent members of our State Department (excluding Mr. Butz, of course, because he is for the farmers) to Moscow to work out some nickel-dime deal that is shot full of loopholes and doesn't amount to anything. In the meantime, Russia bought the grain they needed from other countries. Mr. Meany is happy, he has what he wants, you have what you want, the American public has what it wants and the American farmer has been put back where he belongs, at the very bottom of the economic ladder, and all is well.

Mr. President, I have one thing to say: "Honesty knows no compromise—one is either honest or dishonest; either steals or doesn't; either lies or tells the truth."

Mr. President, you lied to the American farmer—BRUCE A BARRETT, Cambridge, Neb.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Gladys Manjeot

Shrubs are often referred to as the aristocrats of the garden for use by entryways, terraces and in view of key windows in the house.

The "best" shrubs are those that fully serve the purpose for which they are planted and that will perform at their best with a minimum of attention. Least successful are those that serve no particular purpose in the landscape.

These are plants that may have been bought because they looked good one sunny spring day in the nursery or were donated by friendly neighbors or just happened to be there when you moved into the other house. It is surprising to see how many such random plantings there are especially if old property has been purchased.

Since we are studying new catalogues and making visits to the nurseries, conferring with other gardeners, and seeking to enlarge our landscape plan or even starting a new yard, I would like to stress the importance of purchasing good materials (plants) and to make the selections wisely. The following are some of the flowering shrubs, which have been tested for our area. Later we will list those which are used primarily for foliage.

Jasmine--(Jasminum) blooms in January or early February, yellow, star-like flower and J. nudiflorum is the best variety

Pussy Willow--(Salix discolor) blooms in January and February, furry blossoms

Forsythia--(golden bells) blooms in late March or April, profusion of yellow petals

Pyracantha--(coccinea lalandii) blooms in April, dainty white flowers, best variety is firethorn

Lilac Hybrids--(syringa hybrids) bloom in May, fronds of dainty flowers in purples; lavender, pinks and reds.

Flowering Quince--(Chaenomeles lagenaria) blooms in May, brilliant red flowers

Flowering Almond--(Prunus glandulosa) blooms in May, pink or white flowers

Spiraea--(Nippon) blooms in late May, pink or white dainty lace-clustered flowers

Crab Apple--(Various Vantes) blooms in mid-May, pink or white flowers (lovely)

Weigela Hybrids--(dense shrub) blooms in mid-May, pink or red flowers (very beautiful)

Evergreen Mock Orange--(Carpenteria, Calif.) blooms in late May, white double blossoms

Spanish Broom--(Spartium jancium) blooms in late May, bright yellow flowers

Tamarisk--(Tamarix pentandra) blooms in June, red-purple minute blossoms on branches

Hardy Heather--(Erica tetralix) blooms in early summer, dainty rose or purple flowers on spikes

Beauty Bush--(Kolkwitzia amabilis) blooms in June, dainty pink flowers, bell shape

Mock Orange--(Philadelphia species) blooms in June, double light pink or white flowers, fragrant

Butterfly Bush--(Buddleia hybrids) bloom in early summer, white, purple, pink spikes of blossoms

Bottlebrush--blooms in late summer, will winter-kill if not protected, does well in dry soil, spiked red tubular brushes of minute flowers

Darwin Barberry--(Berberis darwinii) evergreen and blooms in late spring, yellow tiny flowers

Red Barberry--colorful year-round bears tiny yellow flowers

Crepe Myrtle--(Jegstroemia) blooms in July and August, white, pink, purple and red trusses of tiny flowers (very lovely)

Rose of Sharon--(Althea) blooms late in August, white, rose, purple, pink and two-toned

Pomegranate--(evergreen) blooms in August and September scarlet flowers (very attractive)

Hybiscus--(rosa-sinensis) blooms in August and September, red, white and pink flowers

Deciduous--(leaf losing shrub) easy to grow and adds beauty to garden

Flowering Plumbago--(Plumbago capensis) blooms all spring and summer, has blue-purple flowers and will winter-kill if not protected

A COLOR SCHEME can be carried out by planting shrubs. A blend from white through dark red or deep purple can be very striking.

Many of these are excellent materials for arranging. For good effect, plant more than one of a kind and carry out a design.

Many of them make excellent background plantings and others will be beautiful if planted where there is a natural background of foliage shrubs or a brick wall, rock wall or weathered wood fences. Landscape designs are not complete without the use of the flowering shrubs.

Many of those listed make excellent and effective screening. Flowering shrubs are not only a joy to the one planting and maintaining them, they are very pleasant for the neighbors to look at from a picture window or the patio. Yes, there is real pleasure in gardening and planting choice materials.

CAUTION: In a recent horticultural magazine, this article appeared. Heavy users of peat moss should note that the material can be overused as a soil additive. Peat can be beneficial when added to new soils but the continued use year after year will ultimately cause problems, say some of the experts.

Most peats take about seven years to break down completely. In the process, the particles become finer, gradually packing in the space between the soil particles. Eventually this will make for poor drainage. With a high enough percentage of peat in the soil, it can sometimes become difficult to wet down and continued use of peat could even change the soil type.

One of the answers to a problem created thus, would be to have your won compost pile.

Select a place where materials can be handled well and will be accessible to the gardens. In the recent "Horticulture" and flower magazines, I have noticed compost frames, which can be easily placed and will take care of the compost collected.

Save trimmings from vegetables and other parings and bury these (after chopping them) in flower beds or in the spaces where vegetables are grown. All of us are guilty of being wasteful: even table scraps should be used (do not use any of the things which are greasy) I have used this method for several years and, when used, the difference is certainly noticeable. The soil is more friable and does not need as much water.

A machine I would like very much to have is a grinder in which stalks, leaves, stems, etc can be ground and added to the soil or be composted. Am hoping my budget will allow such a purchase this year.

Since we are having extremely dry weather, the house plants are in need of humidity. Do not forget to mist the plants at least once a week. Some need it oftener, especially the ferns.

SUGGESTION: If you have some peat moss left over, place in an air tight bag and sprinkle it generously, then close bag securely and tie carefully to keep out the drying air. This is also the correct way to keep potting soil. It should not be allowed to dry out. These long winter evenings read a garden book. I have found these very interesting and entertaining: "How to Know The Wild Flowers" by Mrs. William Starr Dana, "The Sweet Apple Gardening Book" by Celestine Sibley, "My Friend the Garden" by Fernand Lequene...and "The Book of Cacti and other Succulents" by Claude Chidman. These are not only interesting and entertaining, but they all have some wonderful helps.

Two 1890's-style coach cars are similar to the train cars in which presidential candidates of past eras traveled. This will be the nearest location to Hereford of the train's tour.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children and senior citizens.

The Legion post hopes that many Hereford citizens will take advantage of this Bicentennial attraction. Other civic, community and veterans' organizations wishing to sponsor a bus trip for young people may call the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office.

Scribbles and Scratches

MUCH CONTROVERSY has flurried around the Alibates Flint Quarry near Amarillo due to the recent designation as a National Park. Much improvement and civic support will be required to refine the area for tourists.

According to a report by Mrs. H.F. Neely, Mrs. Ralph McCullough recently described the flint quarries to members of Pioneer Study Club. Mrs.

McCullough is the club's chairman of beauty spots, hiking trails and parks.

The Alibates site is unique in that several shades of flint are found there. This is the only known quarry to have more than one color. This indicates that early man traded and carried the siliceous rock artifacts throughout the Southwest, Mrs. McCullough surmised.

Inhabitants of this region combed the Alibates to fashion chisels, drills, fish-hooks, buttons, hoes, scrapers, hammers, awls, axes, spears and arrows. Most traces of early life in this area have disappeared, thus the Alibates is a solid key to the past, a historical treasure.

It is known that the rare quarry has served mankind for at least 12,000 years and was used as late as 1870 by North American Indians, who carved tools from the hard rock.

A campaign has gotten to a wobbly start, encouraging the Panhandle residents to become interested in development of Alibates. Guided tours are established at a Park Ranger's station on Highway 136 at Bates Canyon near Lake Meredith.

Exhibits depicting Alibates Flint Quarries are to be erected at West Texas State University.

THE DIFFERENCE between inflation and a depression is that during inflationary times, you get robbed of everything you earn; in a depression, you have nothing worth stealing.

MADAMES, IF your precision haircut has grown out and you're thinking of having it trimmed back to those super-short lengths that are so easy to care for, consider the new fashions. According to the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Inc., the lengths are slowly creeping back down to the shoulders.

Of course, clothing and corset designers no longer have the spinning toe hold they once exercised over the well-dressed woman, who has asserted her right to flaunt an individual appearance. But there is still the natural feminine curiosity as to whether she is adhering to or denying the popular mode of fashion.

So, here are recommendations for those of you who want to know how you compare with what's vogue:

The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, January 25, 1976

The updated wave will create an important coiffure fashion statement for Spring-Summer 1976, according to the 64,000 member National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

The updated wave is molded within the boundaries of precise haircutting to flow with natural, ethnic freedom," explains Lylal McCaig of Omaha, Neb., the Association's Styles Director.

The latest techniques in perming will be used to create the new, free-moving waves.

"The processes of perming, haircoloring and conditioning will reflect the softness, shininess and healthiness of beautiful hair," McCaig added.

Lengths will vary with attitudes. The most fashionable Spring-Summer lengths will be from very short to mid-length, above the shoulders," McCaig said.

Exotic flowers in the hair and sleek chignons (fashion knots) will enhance the exotic and tropical influences in Spring-Summer fashions. Large hair-combs will also be an important Spring-Summer coiffure ornament.

Hairstylists throughout the country are reviewing new short and mid-length hairstyles designed by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association for Spring and Summer.

The new coiffures, which feature the updated wave in most designs, were created by Styles Director McCaig and four members of the Association's exclusive styling body—the Official Hair Fashion Committee, which is composed of more than two-hundred of the nation's foremost hairstylists. The four are: Hayden Hitchcock of Hutchinson, Kan.; Jackie Holt of Decatur, Ala.; Sue Lack of Myrtle Beach, S.C.; and Max Matteson of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The variety of hair lengths and moods accentuate fashion and coiffure influences.
