

Parents Critical of School's Disciplinary Class

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

A Hereford Independent School District alternative to off-campus suspension of students who commit severe HISD-policy violations drew fire from five sets of parents in Tuesday night's regular monthly meeting of the school board.

The parents protested the district's Special Assignment Class (SAC) as an alternative to suspension, stating the instructor—Glen Williams—did not adequately provide educational help to students and often became overly upset with participants in the program.

SAC involves a minimum of five days, which are spent in a special room at the Old Central School. Students are required to study during their stay in the five-hour-a-day program and obey a stringent set of regulations, which include no talking in class.

Parents of students who seriously violate school-district policy may accept the suspension alternative by signing a contract.

The parents' group, led by spokesmen Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Hutto and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hughes, requested a closed meeting in order to discuss personnel (Williams) and the facts which led to their children's SAC punishment.

Board president Sallie Strain granted the closed meeting, which was protested by a representative of The Brand who stated the action was a possible violation of the Texas Open Meetings Law since the agenda did not specifically mention the discussion of personnel and specific instances involving students.

Trustee Mack Tubb said the board was "not concerned about your newspaper story," adding that the use of juveniles' names should be done only in closed session.

The closed portion of the meeting lasted 1 1/4 hours before the board reconvened in open session.

Superintendent Harrell Holder asked Hutto if he believed Williams had abused his authority in the SAC program.

"I don't believe it's conducive to the learning atmosphere for someone to be yelling at a kid all the time," Hutto responded.

Mrs. Hughes said Williams had been "very rude" with her when she questioned SAC procedures. "He informed me in no uncertain words that this program was no problem with him," she told the board.

"I was astounded that anyone could be so rude," she added. "The children are terrified."

Holder asked Mrs. Hughes if her child had been abused in SAC.

"The children are abused to the fact they sit in those cubicles and look at a wall and are told, 'Do not turn around or it will cost you an extra day.'"

She added that Williams told her child that special instruction pertaining to classwork would not be done in SAC—a point Holder disputed, although he admitted that the purpose of the program "is not to offer kids the same-quality education they'd be offered back at school."

Several readers have called our attention to a typographical error in the Sunday article concerning the Special Assignment Class offered by the school district. Hours for the class were reported as being from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., but one sentence stated that students "are provided with a single restroom break during their 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. stay." That, also, should have read from 8 to 1.

DESPITE THE IRANIAN SITUATION, the weather and local happenings, the top topic of conversation here and all around the area is inflation interest rates and the economy in general.

There's so much national action in the news concerning budget cutting by the government, an 18 percent inflation rate, interest heading toward 20 percent, money-market certificates paying 15 percent, and big retailers clamping down on easy credit terms that it is enough to make a person wonder where we're heading.

The picture might be a little simpler if election-year politics weren't mixed up in most of the developments. Budget balancing by this administration and this Congress by trimming $15 to $18 million out of next fiscal year's budget sounds good...until you remember that seven weeks ago, President Carter's budget called for an increase of $41 billion this year over last year.

It seems to be a consensus that the gross national product will dip in the second quarter. The government defines a recession as a dip in the GNP for two consecutive quarters, so we may experience a recession in the second quarter. Perhaps that could bring interest rates down by Christmas.

But if the nation is in for a recession during the next few quarters, we can't think of a better place to be than in Hereford, West Texas, and the state of Texas.

In the last decade, the nation has officially charted three recessions, and Hereford hardly felt any of them. The future for Hereford, for the Panhandle and the Golden Spread is too bright, too busy, too exciting for us to get down in the dumps for very long.

The magazine also suggests: "No businessman in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a hole, half or quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned."

If U.S. Takes Any Military Action Militants Threaten to Kill Hostages

Trustees Take Oath

Paul Ramirez and James Gentry, left, took the oath of office Tuesday night after being re-elected to the Hereford School Board. County Clerk B.F. Cain administered the oath. The two were returned to at-large seats on the board in Saturday's election. Three candidates filed for the two expiring terms, and challenger Stephanie Ramirez finished third in the only contested race on the local level Saturday. The trustees re-elected Sallie Strain as board president last night.

The Moslem militants occupying the U.S. Embassy in Tehran today threatened to kill all 50 American hostages if the Carter administration takes any military action against Iran. Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh announced Iran has decided to overthrow the regime in neighboring Iraq.

"We warn the U.S. government, with all frankness, that if America launched any military aggression against Iran, we will kill all the hostages immediately," said the militants' statement, carried by Tehran radio.

"We declare to the American people, with all seriousness, that the responsibility for what we will do would fall directly on ### the U.S. government."

U.S. officials have hinted at a naval blockade or mining of Iran's ports if President Carter's new economic and diplomatic sanctions fail to free the hostages, who began their 158th day in captivity today.

Carter has appealed to America's European allies to join the United States in cutting off exports to Iran, but so far none of the allies has shown signs of giving more than vocal support to the reprisals.

Ghotbzadeh's announcement on Iraq was carried by Tehran radio, which quoted him as saying: "We have decided to overthrow the Baathist regime of Iraq." There were no further details. Hostility between Iran and the pro-Moscow regime in neighboring Iraq has been growing in recent days.

Mild Weather Is

Forecast in Texas

By The Associated Press
Clear skies and mild temperatures were forecast for all of Texas today.

Highs were to be in the 70s and 80s. There was no mention of rain in state forecasts.

Clear skies and cool temperatures dominated the weather scene early today. There were a few clouds over the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 30s and 40s except in the Valley where readings were in the 60s. Extremes ranged from 28 at Dalhart to 64 at McAllen.

Tehran radio reported an artillery exchange across the border Monday night and Tuesday and said the Iraqi positions were "smashed." Iran, which withdrew its diplomats from Baghdad on Monday, announced that it closed the offices of the Iraqi diplomatic representative in Tehran and the Iraqi news agency.

In addition to the announcement on Iraq, Ghotbzadeh said the Algerian Embassy in Washington would handle Iran's affairs now that Carter has broken diplomatic relations with Tehran.

Inflation Could Taper Off, Barring New Shocks to Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation's sizzling pace could be cut in half after mid-year, barring any new shocks to the economy, says Charles L. Schultze, President Carter's top economic adviser.

While inflation is likely to continue in the 17 percent to 18 percent range for the next several months, Schultze said, the rate could dip below 10 percent after mid-year if oil price rises moderate and mortgage interest rates stop climbing.

Schultze, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, said his optimistic scenario allows for a rate of increase in oil prices of 20 percent in the second half of the year, down from the 75 percent to 85 percent of recent months.

It also assumes mortgage interest rates will decline after mid-year by 2 percentage points, which he said is a "conservative" projection. But even if mortgage interest rates just stay at about their current level of approximately 16 percent, inflation still could dip below 10 percent, he indicated.

"There is a large potential after the next three months or so for a significant reduction in the rate of inflation," he said in a speech at the National Press Club.

The Carter administration is now forecasting an increase in consumer prices of 12.8 percent for the year as a whole, which assumes an easing in the rate of inflation after mid-year to offset the 18 percent rate in January and February.

Consumer prices increased 13.3 percent last year, double the administration's original forecast. The worsened rate last year was blamed on the unexpected increase in world oil prices. U.S. officials say that barring any new crisis, oil prices should remain relatively stable during the remainder of this year.

Schultze said that after discounting special factors such as interest rates and energy costs, the nation's underlying inflation rate is now about 9 percent.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported that sales of new, single-family homes fell 9.5 percent in February to the lowest level since the 1974-75 recession.

Sales were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 532,000 units in February, down from January's 588,000 and 26 percent below the 715,000 units of February 1979.

That made February sales the poorest since March 1975, when high interest rates and a shortage of mortgage money pushed sales down to an annual rate of 477,000.

And a department analyst who asked not to be named said, "I expect it to drop further in March" because of Federal Reserve action in February and again last month to make borrowing more expensive.

Poerner Due Here Thursday

John Poerner, Democratic candidate for the Texas Railroad Commission, will make a flying visit to Hereford Thursday afternoon, it was announced today.

Poerner is scheduled to land at Hereford Municipal Airport at 4 p.m. Thursday. Interested persons are invited to greet the candidate there and hear him make brief remarks about his candidacy for the Railroad Commission.

Poerner was appointed to the commission Jan. 1, 1978 by Gov. Dolph Briscoe. He began serving as commission chairman in 1979. Poerner served three terms in the Texas House of Representatives.

Iran-Iraq Dispute Is Erupting Again

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The long-standing hostility between Iran and Iraq, smoothed over during the final years of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's reign, has erupted again in border clashes, mass demonstrations and a war of words.

Here is an explanation of why the Middle Eastern neighbors are at it again.

Q. What are the causes of the current dispute?
A. The arguments center on claims to territory, but there are also important differences over religion and ethnic minorities. And the Iranian revolutionary leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, who called Tuesday for the overthrow of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, has a personal grudge. The Iraqi government gave him asylum for 14 years but expelled him in 1978, after it made peace with the shah, and he went off to Paris.

Q. What are the territorial claims?

A. The hottest issue just now is Iran's occupation of three small islands at the entrance to the Persian Gulf which Iran seized in 1971 from what soon after became the United Arab Emirates. Iran's military bases on the islands could control the shipping lanes through which so much of the world's oil passes. Iraq wants control of the islands returned to the Arab side of the gulf. The Iranian leaders say the islands are Iran's, and it is going to keep them.

Q. Are there any other territorial problems?

A. Iraq wants to renegotiate the 1975 agreement that gave navigation rights in the Shatt al-Arab estuary, the waterway to the gulf on which both Abadan, Iran's oil refinery center, and Basra, Iraq's chief port, are located. Under a 1937 treaty, the

Shah Recovering Well in Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - Iran's ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, apparently recuperating well, left the Maadi military hospital today, 13 days after undergoing successful surgery to remove his cancerous spleen.

One of the Egyptian doctors looking after the shah said Tuesday that the former Iranian ruler was in "excellent" condition and was responding well to treatment.

The shah drove to Kubbeh palace, where he reportedly will be staying for a few days. He was accompanied by Egyptian Vice President Hosni Mubarak, who is filling in for President Anwar Sadat during Sadat's four-day Washington visit. Former Empress Farah Diba followed in a second car.

The empress and their four children have been staying at one of the smaller presidential guest houses, Tahra Palace. But Egyptian Foreign Ministry sources said the family will split up, and the children will be living apart from their parents.

Small Plane Crashes On Interstate 35

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP)—A small plane apparently was trying to land on Interstate 35 about 12 miles north of Fort Worth when it hit power lines and crashed on the median Tuesday evening, witnesses said. One of the two student pilots aboard was killed, the other seriously injured.

"If they were trying to land on the highway, they would have made it if not for the power lines," said Brent Arrant, who witnessed the crash about 6 p.m.

"It looked like they had plenty of power," he said. The plane was flying very low but rose just before striking the lines, he added.

It's simply an alternative to suspension."

Concerning the allegations against Williams, Holder said, "All we're getting is one side of the story."

The parents said their main point of contention was the reportedly unclear set of SAC rules enclosed with the contract they signed.

"All we're asking is how can we fulfill our terms of the agreement," Mrs. Hutto said.

"We understand the benefits of this program. We just want you to help us know what's going on."

She said the rules did not clearly inform parents as to what the SAC program actually is.

Holder agreed to meet with concerned parents at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 17, to go over the rules to determine whether some should be clarified or changed.

Trustee James Gentry thanked the parents for their concern over the program.

"For your kids, it's punishment. If my kid was sent there, it would be punishment, as far as I'm concerned. But, I hope you will also see that there are students in this system that cannot be suspended for five days without failing all their courses," Gentry said.

"Your kids could pass; but there are some kids who literally would never graduate."

The parents expressed appreciation to the board for listening to their complaints and agreed to attend the meeting with Holder.

Gentry and Paul Ramirez, both re-elected Saturday to three-year terms on the school board, were sworn in by Deaf Smith County Clerk B.F. Cain after results of the election were certified by trustees Tuesday.

Gentry and Ramirez each received 714 votes in the election, while challenger Stephanie Ramirez picked up 106.

Trustees re-elected Mrs. Strain as board president. Tubb was elected vice president and Ramirez secretary.

Elida Alonzo, spokesman for a group of parents who reportedly are against the appointment of Shirley Elementary assistant principal Robert Boyd to the school-district office of Title I and Title I Migrant monitor, presented trustees a petition calling Boyd an "unsuitable candidate" for the position.

The petition stated that Boyd's "lack of sensitivity" to parents and children "makes him an unsuitable candidate for any position within the school system."

The petition did not go into specifics, and Mrs. Strain refused to allow Mrs. Alonzo to discuss specific instances.

"Are you aware that any employee of the school district

Surgeons Reattach Coed's Severed Hand

DALLAS (AP) - Surgeons worked early today to reattach the nearly severed left hand of a North Texas State University coed injured in an accident during an art class.

The surgery for Christie Legg, 21, of Longview, began about 3 p.m. Tuesday at Baylor Medical Center and was still under way early today.

The girl was cutting wood with a band saw in class at nearby Denton Tuesday morning when the saw slipped and cut into her arm, nearly severing the left hand just above the wrist.

Late Tuesday surgeons told her parents, George and Dorothy Legg no complications had developed. At that time, the surgeons had worked for five hours, painstakingly using microsurgery to reattach nerves, ligaments and veins.

Legg said he was told the surgeons expressed "cautious optimism," adding they said her prognosis was good "because she never went into shock and she always had a pretty good blood supply to her hand."

Town Needs Help, Water Supply Gone

GRAFORD, Texas (AP) - Although the town's water supply has dried up, assistance from other communities has begun to pour in abundantly for the 577 residents of this small Palo Pinto County community.

The town began pumping water from a creek below the dam after a small reservoir that supplies the community's drinking water dried up two weeks ago.

Then the creek dried up, it hadn't rained since February, and the town was in its fourth day without water Tuesday when other people responded to reports of the community's desperation.

The Coca-Cola Co. donated 3,400 one-gallon jugs of water "to the elderly and other people who don't have a way to get water," said Arlene Howard, city secretary.

The Southland Corp. of Dallas planned delivery today of 4,000 10-pound sacks of ice for residents to put in their freezers and melt as needed.

Two trucks, donated by Don Breedlove of Dallas, with two trailers donated by the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., were hauling water to the town by late Tuesday.

No Danger Seen In TMI Water

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) - In the unlikely event Three Mile Island's contaminated reactor building is leaking radioactive water, there's no danger of it showing up in public water supplies, officials say.

Local, state and federal officials stressed Tuesday there is no danger to drinking water in nearby communities, despite the previous day's report that radiation was found in test wells around TMI's huge reactor containment building.

"At this point I don't think there's any reason to be concerned," said Mayor Arthur Morris of Lancaster, which draws about half its water from the Susquehanna River downstream from the nuclear power plant that was crippled in March 1978.

Eight test wells were drilled earlier this year to check for any leakage of highly radioactive water flooding the basement of the huge containment building.

has the right to a hearing, a legal counsel?" Mrs. Strain asked.

Mrs. Alonzo said she knew of that fact, adding she was also aware that Boyd's contract as assistant principal had been extended for one year.

In Boyd's capacity as Title I monitor, he is responsible for keeping the program in compliance with federal and state law.

The board accepted the petition but told Mrs. Alonzo it could not take action on the matter.

Dr. Holder told trustees he had received a "stack" of letters from teachers supporting Boyd as assistant principal at Shirley.

Trustees voted to hire teacher Connie Howell and accepted resignations from Theresa Vines and W.C. Osborn.

Holder presented the personnel report, which showed a total of 5,150 students in the school district on Tuesday, a drop of 20 from last month. Last year at the same time, there were 5,345 students in the district.

Holder said that the district had lost $91,000 in state funds for reduced average daily attendance this year.

As of Tuesday, there were 1,072 students in high school, 1,242 in junior high and 2,401 in elementary school. There also were 404 students in the fourth- and fifth-grade kindergarten programs and 31 in special education classes.

Texas State Teachers Association president Robert Priest and Classroom Teachers Association head Rose Mary Shook reported that the annual TSTA-CTA installation dinner would be at 6 p.m. Monday in the high school cafeteria.

Officers for the 1980-81 school year will be elected for both organizations at the meeting, and the school district's "teacher of the year" will be named.

The board voted for incumbents Ray Sneed of Dalhart and Robert Sanders of Amarillo for re-election to the Region 16 Education Service Center (of Amarillo) board of directors.

Their names were the only two names on the ballot. Due to the length of time involved in the discussion of the SAC program, Mrs. Strain postponed the remainder of Tuesday's meeting until next week. That meeting will begin at 5 p.m. next Tuesday.

Trustees present at the meeting were Mrs. Strain, Tubb, Gentry, Clark Andrews, David Hutchins, Paul Ramirez and Jim Arney.

DALLAS (AP) - The jury trying three former Bishop College administrators was sent out of the courtroom Monday while a former teacher discussed a committee he formed to inquire about missing payroll checks.

U.S. District Judge Patrick Higginbotham ruled that the testimony by William L. Drake, associate director of the college's criminal justice department, was not relevant to the case.

The defendants in the case are Dr. Milton K. Curry Jr., former president of Bishop College; Reginald Leffall, former vice president, and Walter Johnson, former assistant to the vice president in charge of business affairs.

They are charged with taking funds from the college's restricted retirement fund for use in the general operating budget, making fraudulent statements to a bank to obtain loans, and conspiring to defraud the government.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - March freezes wiped out Texas peaches equal to half of last year's production, the Texas Department of Agriculture says.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown estimated Tuesday the loss of about 350,000 bushels, valued at about $3.5 million.

Gillespie County, the biggest peach producer in the state, lost 90 percent of its crop from freezes on March 1 and 17. Other losses came from a hailstorm on Monday.

"It's an American Airlines Boeing 727. There's only the crew aboard plus the hijacker. He's demanding to go to Cuba," Hallen said.

production in the Panhandle also was expected to drop 90 percent.

"The situation could be worse," Reagan said. "East Texas did not experience any weather damage, and we are expecting a full crop."

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Texas Military Institute officials, who are exhibiting the Magna Charta here this week, are miffed that local school officials are not very interested in have their students view the priceless, 765-year-old document.

The document, one of four remaining originals, is at the institute for four days as part of its month-long tour of five Texas cities. It is only the fourth time the document has left England.

The Magna Charta is considered the basis for just and legal freedoms in English-speaking countries, and first introduced many concepts included in the U.S. Constitution. It was viewed by more than 35,000 persons in Luling and Austin, the first two tour stops.

But Gene Scott, TMI's director of development, said local schools are not taking advantage of invitations to view the Magna Charta.

"We did this as a public gesture for the city and have been totally stymied by the schools' failure to participate. We've had less than one-third the expected response," said Scott.

Scott said one high school principal told him the Magna Charta "wasn't important enough to disrupt school activities."

"We aren't getting anything out of this. The total cost statewide is between $80,000 and $90,000, with our school's share amounting to $25,000," said Scott.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The county medical examiner Tuesday ruled homicide in the shooting death of 29-year-old Gerald B. Johnston, a former schoolboy cross country champion and a member of the U.S. Modern Pentathlon team.

The victim's body was found Monday at his home.

Johnston, whose athletic career ended in 1973 when it was discovered he had cancer, had been shot twice in the head, said Bexar County Medical Examiner Dr. Ruben Santos.

Family members said radiation treatments cured Johnston's cancer, but left him unable to compete in the five-sport event that combines fencing, riding, swimming, running and marksmanship.

Johnston was the world running champion as a member of the junior pentathlon team in 1971, and was a member of the 1966 state championship cross country team at Highlands High School here, said his father, Howard Johnston. He also was the city cross country champion.

Lt. Walter Hall said Tuesday that police had no leads, but believe Johnston was killed during a robbery or burglary.

Hall said investigators were told Johnston's home had recently been burglarized, and that the athlete had several valuable antiques.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - An Austin policeman was injured Tuesday in a collision with a stolen van driven by an escapee from a nearby federal prison, officials said.

Bobby Cherry, 23, fled the Bastrop minimum security facility in a government van, according to Veeler Gausz, public information officer at the prison.

Austin police spotted Cherry about 30 minutes later. Cherry fled on foot after the collision with the police car in South Austin. He was captured and taken to the county jail, according to police reports.

Officer Hector Polanco was taken to Brackenridge Hospital for treatment of chest and back injuries.

Cherry is serving a three-year term for interstate shipment of stolen property.

Gausz said Cherry was working outside the prison when he made his getaway.

Ann Landers

Vomiting To Stay Slim

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Much has appeared in your column about anorexia nervosa, but never have you discussed bulimarexia, the practice of forcing oneself to vomit to stay slim. This syndrome differs from anorexia nervosa in the following ways:

Anorexia nervosa is self-starvation, usually by teenage girls. They become so denourished that their lives are jeopardized. The anorexic focuses on starvation. The bulimic focuses on the binge. One turns away from food in an attempt to cope with problems, while the other eats and then attempts to undo it by vomiting.

I am 19 years old and have been vomiting for three years. In the beginning it was a diet technique, and I had it under control. If I happened to eat something that might cause me to gain weight, I would simply get rid of it. Soon it became a ritual after every meal. Many days there were no meals at all. Only binging and purging.

I have had therapy, hypnosis and classes on behavior control. The focus was on eliminating the bad habit without finding out what was causing the sick behavior. Now I'm seeing a psychologist who is helping me understand why I use food to express or suppress my emotions, instead of discussing and dealing with them in a positive way.

I encourage anyone who has either anorexia or bulimarexia to seek professional help. Until the reason is found, it is almost impossible to stop this self-defeating behavior.--S. L.C. Student Who Never Misses Your Column

DEAR S.L.C.: Thanks for the splendid input. I must tell you, however, I have printed several letters on bulimia (you are calling it bulimarexia). If you are a steady reader, your newspaper is cutting my column, or they do not print on Sunday.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the woman who owned a lovely ski house in the mountains and whose daughter attended Radcliffe.

She said her daughter's boyfriends from Harvard, Yale, Princeton, etc., always brought a ham or turkey and wrote thank-you notes. How nice! The Midwestern and Southern boys--nothing.

Being financially well off, the woman probably didn't realize that poor boys from the South and Midwest were probably intimidated by her wealth, while the rich boys from the Ivy schools weren't.

When I was in college I could barely afford to buy food for myself, let alone turkeys and hams as house gifts.

Money can sure put people in different worlds, can't it?--I Like Midwesterners Myself

DEAR LIKE: Your point is well taken but all generalities are worthless, including this one. Some Ivy Leaguers are clods--some Southerners and Midwesterners are class acts--and take my word for it, money has nothing to do with it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can a mother do about a 28-year-old son who has a good income, a new home and three expensive vehicles, yet insists on bringing his laundry every week and manages to show up for dinner very often?

He never offers to pay for groceries or washing powder. Does he think I get them free? The truth is I'm afraid to say anything because he has a terrific temper. I've hinted--to no avail. Help me!--Somerset, Pa.

DEAR SOMERSET: The "kid" is spoiled rotten--and you did it. Your only hope is to show him this column, admit you wrote the letter and tell him you'd appreciate a modest check every week--to help meet expenses. If he loses his temper, tell him he's lost his cook and laundress.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995 Chicago, Illinois 60611.

As it rotates, the earth wobbles on its axis. This deviation, known as Chandler's Wobble, reaches its peak every seventh year. Some scientists believe earthquakes are more numerous in those years. The next peak year will be 1985.

Endorsement Is Critical

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Mayor William Green is in a tough spot. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, his good friend and longtime political benefactor, is running for president. In ordinary times, Green almost certainly would endorse him, and still might. But he might not, because Philadelphia needs every dollar of federal aid it can get these days. And a Green endorsement of Kennedy almost certainly would anger the Carter administration. As of now, the mayor is firmly on the fence with just under two weeks to go until the Pennsylvania primary April 22. It is said that neither contender for the Democratic presidential nomination has asked the mayor directly for an endorsement, although Kennedy and Green have spoken several times in recent months. The mayor isn't talking. "He hasn't said anything new on it..." says his press secretary, Kathy Gosliner. "He hasn't granted any interviews... and I don't think there will be any." Candidate Kennedy, of course, isn't so reticent. "I have enormous respect for him, and he'll be making his judgment, I'm sure," he said at a recent news conference in Philadelphia.

The Carter administration has expressed itself in a different, but no less convincing fashion. Only last week, for instance, the Commerce Department awarded Philadelphia a $2 million research center for the U.S. footwear industry. Also in contention for the award was Lynn, a shoe manufacturing city in Kennedy's own state. "President Carter has gone over the line in terms of exploiting the incumbency," complained a Kennedy campaign aide, James Flug. Whether Flug was right or not, it's that kind of leverage to spread federal money around that must worry Green and the people around him. There were times, when Green himself was running for political office, that Kennedy was very helpful to him. Some of Kennedy's aides express bitterness that Green has failed to endorse the senator. Others, in what could pass for an example of sour grapes, say an endorsement really isn't worth much. They point out that Kennedy lost the Illinois primary, even though he had the support of Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne, and Carter lost the New York primary, though he had New York Mayor Ed Koch's support. But if endorsements don't mean much, Kennedy is running an odd campaign in Pennsylvania. His first campaign act during a trip last week was to call a news conference to receive the endorsement of Philadelphia District Attorney Edward Rendell. Two days later, he called a news conference to receive the endorsement State Rep. John White. Presumably, neither man has as much clout in Philadelphia as the mayor. But then again, neither man had as much to lose.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, April 9, the 100th day of 1980. There are 267 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On April 9, 1968, thousands attended funeral services for slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King, Jr., in Atlanta.
On this date:
In 1865, Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to Union Gen. Ulysses Grant to end the Civil War.
In 1682, the French Explorer La Salle reached the Gulf of Mexico after traveling down the Mississippi River.
In 1939, 75,000 people crowded around the Lincoln Memorial to hear black singer Marian Anderson after she had been barred from Constitution Hall. In 1940, German forces invaded Norway and Denmark in World War II. Five years ago, the White House said President Nixon had given South Vietnam private assurances in 1973 that the United States would react vigorously to any communist violation of the Vietnam peace treaty. Last year, making his first public appearance since cancer surgery three months earlier, John Wayne presented the "best picture" Oscar at the Academy Awards. Thought for today: Courage is the first of human qualities because it is the quality which guarantees all the others. — Sir Winston Churchill (1874-1965)

Monterey Creams Herd In Sweep

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor
LUBBOCK — It was hard to say which routing hurt the worst—or maybe it wasn't quite so difficult after all.

It could have been the 23-2 spanking the Whiteface varsity baseball team had received earlier this year by the Amarillo High Sandies. But had a Harris Poll been counted following the brutal 24-0 and 16-2 melees the squad endured from the Monterey Plainsmen here Tuesday, it might have shown the squad leaning in favor of just staying home to catch a Gilligan's Island rerun.

The losses turned a perfect 2-0 district mark into a .500 batting record and sent the Herd's season slate to 12-6 just as quickly. For the Plainsmen, (now holding an unblemished 4-0 tally in district play) the Tuesday wins weren't particularly out of the ordinary after the reigning district champs compiled a 148-7 point spread in its 11 victories since spring break.

"I don't know what to say except that we just got drilled," said head coach Davis Ashby after his team's disappointing loss. "We just went into the first game real tight and it never eased up for us. We made eight errors in the first game and you just can't do that and expect to come out alive when you play against a team like Monterey."

In the opener of the doubleheader, the Whiteface only managed to garner one hit as MHS hurler Steve Coleman (8-1 on the year) fanned eight potential batters and the Herd could accomplish little more in its defensive play.

Plainsman Kent Potts riddled the HHS team with each consecutive bat as he hustled three for three while teammates Coleman and Mike Reid did some whittling of their own at the plate after both went 2-2 for the contest.

And as if that wasn't enough, Coleman and Potts netted a home run apiece, Coleman also added a triple to his tally, six Plainsmen each grasped two RBIs and Robert Fowler and Monty Hopkins clinched to runs batted in to complete the tally for what added up to a grand total of 24 trips around the diamond for the Lubbock squad.

And the nightcap wasn't very contrary to became little the rule for the Whitefaces, except that the score and the names were changed to protect the innocent.

The two and only HHS runs accumulated in that affair came as Norman Hill capped a single that scored Dickie Torres with the bases loaded and Ernie Suarez was walked to score the final run for the Herd, but left two runners stranded in the final and fifth inning of the contest.

"I don't know how we will react to the loss—I hope we can come off it as we've done in the past, but we'll just have to wait and see Saturday," said Ashby.

The Herd is slated to lock horns with the Lubbock Coronado Mustangs at 1 p.m. in a game that could keep the Herd on the running boards during the first half of the district race.

The Mustangs squeaked past Plainview Tuesday in a doubleheader of their own, 11-10 and 3-2. (Hereford had previously defeated Plainview in the squad's opening district double header) which lands the Lubbock team two games out of the district lead at 3-1 behind Monterey.

Orantes Defeats Frawley In Tennis Championship

HOUSTON (AP) — Rod Frawley's upset victory over fifth seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain in the first round of the $175,000 World Championship Tennis tournament at River Oaks Country Club surprised everyone—including Frawley. "I thought I'd have to play very well just to get a few gaffes off him," said Frawley, who eliminated Orantes 7-6 7-5 in one of eight first round matches played Tuesday. "I didn't realize how fast these courts are. They are not like the clay in Europe."

Orantes became the third seeded player to exit from the tournament. Brian Gottfried of the U.S. upended seventh seeded Vijay Amritraj of India on Monday and fourth seeded Hans Gildemeister of Chile had to withdraw because of his nine-month old child's illness.

Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia defeated Peter Feigl of Austria 6-2, 6-2 Great Britain's Buster Mottram beat Corrado Barazzutti, Italy 7-5, 6-1 to keep alive their hopes of making the WCT Championship tournament in Dallas April 28-May 4. First prize is $100,000.

Coming in for the Slide

Sophomore third baseman Ken Cosper comes in for a slide at the third bag during a doubleheader with the Levelland Lobos this past weekend. The Whitefaces garnered 13-3 and 10-4 wins over the Levelland squad, but weren't no fruitful against the Monterey Plainsmen Tuesday after they slipped to 2-2 in district play with two losses to the Lubbock team.

Watson Tries for Golf Throne

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A small crowd hugged the sidelines to watch as a young man with tousled copper hair pitched the ball toward an imaginary target in the practice area.

"Who's that?" said a tyke in a baseball cap. "I think that's Tom Watkins," said the lady nearby.

"Now, it ain't, that's Lanny Watson - he's a champ," corrected the man in the blue blazer.

"It's not Lanny, it's Bobby, I think — Lanny is his brother," said the woman.

"I don't know," said the guy. "All I know he is pretty good."

"Somebody told me he was the best," said the kid.

This is the sort of conversation Tom Watson might hear all the time around the golf circuit if his mind weren't riveted on the task at hand. The identify factor is one of the major problems of the boyish shotmaker from Missouri, who is finding it difficult to convince people that he is the heir apparent to Jack Nicklaus' golf throne.

Watson, 30, has been the dominant force on the pro golf tour for the last three years — leading money winner, Player of the Year and winner of the Vardon Trophy (lowest stroke average) in 1977, 1978 and 1979. Since 1977 he has won a total of $1,275,993 — an average of $17,013 in the 75 tournaments played.

Yet the most constant criticism of the golf tour is that it is an exercise in dullness, just a bland tapestry of young lions with blond hair, plaid slacks, $125 shoes and faultless swings — guys answering to the names of Tewell, Mitchell, Eichelberger, Burns, Stadler and Watson ... or is it Watkins?

Whatever became of Arnie Palmer and his army? Where did Nicklaus go? Why isn't Johnny Miller making those funny quips any more? Has Trevino gone serious on us?

"I am trying to build a career of tournament victories," Watson has confided to close friends. "I don't strain to be a gate attraction, something I am not. I hope, when I am through playing, I will be judged on my accomplishments."

Soccer Team Ties Friona

The Hereford Twisters held their second scrimmage game of the season against the Friona Cats on Sunday, March 30 and came out of the affair brandishing a tie after the duel with a score of 2-2. Emilio Romero scored the first goal and Juan Rodriguez drilled in the second one to match the final tally of the contest in twin figures.

The Twisters are slated to play against Texas Tech this Sunday at 3:45 in Lubbock. The public is invited to attend the game. Anyone interested in playing with the Twisters may contact Emilio Romero at 364-3110 or 364-2505. Practice sessions are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6 p.m. The children's soccer team also practice on Tuesdays at 6 p.m.

Egg Quality Is Improving

COLLEGE STATION — Not so many years ago, most consumers would not break an egg directly into a skillet because the chances of it being one of poor quality was great. But that has changed, according to a Texas Department of Agriculture official.

Strict egg standards enforcement and a high-quality Texas product have helped consumer confidence reach an all-time high. Richard Champion, director of the department's consumer services division, told more than 100 representatives of the Texas egg industry at the recent 25th Annual Commercial Egg Clinic sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Prior to the passage of the current Texas Egg Law, this state was a favorite dumping ground for low quality eggs by out-of-state producers," said Champion.

The Texas egg industry retaliated with well-enforced egg quality standard, he said.

"Today, any firm which does not follow these standards has a choice—it can comply with the law or go elsewhere with its eggs," he said. Egg breakage is the biggest consumer complaint now, Champion said. The greatest amount of breakage occurs in retail and consumer handling, he noted. However, cooperation is important at all levels of the egg industry, including the producer, retailer and consumer.

Bergland Says Grain Reserve Awaits Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he will open up the government's grain reserve program, as soon as President Carter signs legislation enabling him to do so, so farmers can store corn that had been destined for the Soviet Union.

In a separate announcement later Monday, Bergland said the department today will begin offering to buy wheat directly from farmers. The direct purchases will be in addition to the existing practice of asking country elevators to submit weekly bids on wheat offered for sale to the government.

Bergland said local prices USDA will offer wheat producers will be posted at county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. "Sellers may then offer a specified quantity of wheat at the posted county price through the county ASCS offices," he said. "A farmer must have title to and possession of the grain at the time an offer is submitted."

The wheat purchases will be "on a first-come, first-served basis," Bergland said. Regarding the expanded use of the reserve for corn, Bergland said in an earlier interview he expected Carter to sign the bill momentarily and that farmers might be able to begin consigning corn to the reserve by the end of this week.

The bill, passed by Congress last week, would allow farmers who did not comply with last year's acreage programs for wheat and corn to take part in the grain reserve. Until now, only farmers who complied with acreage set-aside requirements were eligible to take part in the program. It allows farmers to store grain — thus keeping it off the market — for up to three years, or until market prices rise enough to trigger its release.

A week ago Bergland said corn also would be bought directly from farmers if country elevators did not soon begin offering more corn for sale to the government at reasonable prices. "On the corn-purchase policy, we're awaiting the president's signature on the amendments to the farm law, which would allow us to extend a reserve opportunity to persons who were not in the farm program last year," Bergland said.

"Once we get his signature, we will immediately wire our state and county offices and start to receive grain under that (reserve) program. "The details are being worked out today," Bergland said. "I expect that we'll be authorized to take grain into that reserve by the end of the week."

Bergland said the canceled Soviet corn orders will be removed from the market "one way or the other. Either we'll get it in the reserve or we'll buy it." The grain reserve program is being opened up and purchases made to offset the effects of President Carter embargoing further U.S. sales of wheat, corn and other products to the Soviet Union in retaliation for its actions in Afghanistan. Carter canceled the delivery of about 17 million metric tons of U.S. grain the Soviets were expected to take in the fiscal year that begins Sept. 30.

Risk Exposure, Risk Tolerance Determine Crop Insurance Need

Each year, Ben A. Jordan, Jr. visits with hundreds of farmers who carry insurance policies on the money they invest in their crops, which isn't surprising for someone whose job is Regional Director for USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. But Jordan has also become somewhat of an expert on the subject of not carrying insurance.

college tuition bills to pay might make a different decision than a farmer without such expenses. A farmer nearing retirement might make a different decision than a younger farmer. And farmers differ, too, in their willingness to cut back their family's standard of living.

Once exposure and tolerance to risk are considered, the next step is to consider what — if any — insurance to purchase. Start by finding out what protection is available on the crops you grow, where you grow them and what it would cost. In Texas, this information can be obtained without obligation by writing to Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, USDA Building, College Station, Texas 77840.

The same cash flow projections mentioned earlier can come in handy here, too, Jordan suggests. Using each of the different loss assumptions, have an FCIC representative show you what indemnity payments you would collect, depending on the level of coverage you select.

In considering the cost of the insurance versus its benefits, be sure to take into account that premiums for crop insurance are fully tax deductible as a farm business expense. So the net cost is the after-tax cost. Be certain also to ask about discounts that can be earned for favorable production experience; they can be substantial.

"The final decision to carry or not carry insurance, as well as how much to carry, is yours", Jordan emphasizes. The more facts you get and the more carefully you weigh them, the better your chances are of making the right decision at the right time."

Pepper problems for home gardeners seem to revolve around the problem of yield per plant, points out Dr. Sam Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M Extension Service, Texas A&M University. While squash and okra oftentimes overwhelm the garden basket, the pepper plant often stands proud, lush and barren, or at best produces only a small yield.

All peppers are somewhat particular about temperatures for fruit set, notes Cotner. And peppers fertilized with heavy applications of nitrogen or those not given adequate phosphorus may develop into great looking plants but will not produce anything to eat. Cotner offers these tips to Texas gardeners who will be planting peppers this year. Broadcast a complete fertilizer such as 10-20-10 before planting your vegetable garden. Work it into the soil to a depth of four to six inches. Do not sidedress peppers until after a good fruit set.

NCC Endorses Cutback In Govt. Regulations

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Cotton Council has strongly supported House Appropriations Committee Chairman Jamie Whitten's call for a reduction of costs associated with unnecessary government regulations.

The Mississippi Democrat, presiding over considerations of various regulatory agencies' 1981 budget requests, recently warned Congress and the Administration that repeal or suspension of many regulations is "absolutely necessary" to prevent a breakdown of the U.S. economy and increase productivity.

Council President Herman Propst, in testimony filed with a House appropriations subcommittee, said the explosion of government regulations has been a major factor in the real decline of productive agriculture research. He noted that research resources in many instances have been shifted into projects necessitated by regulations that frequently are "overly stringent, unnecessary, impractical, and counter-productive."

Propst said Congressional action to eliminate needless and excessive regulations would allow research directed toward reducing costs and increasing future productivity to grow without hiking current outlays.

"Such action in our judgment would also cut government spending and lower prices to consumers." As another inflation-fighting measure, Propst called for more aggressive action in the export credit area to enable U.S. agriculture to take full advantage of its potential for overseas sale. He pointed out that the long-term trade balance deficit has contributed heavily to inflation, and urged changes in laws and accounting procedures to more accurately reflect the self-sustaining aspect of the export credit program.

Regarding regulations, the Anson, Tex., producer pointed out that the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's cotton dust standards threaten "the very life" of the U.S. cotton industry.

"Many feel these standards will not fully resolve the byssinosis problem even with mandated capital equipment costs of some $2.5 billion for our industry," he stated. "The ultimate solution is to find and eliminate the unknown substance in cotton dust that causes byssinosis in susceptible workers, and that answer can only come from research."

Propst said USDA and industry scientists have developed a two-year, $9 million research plan which they believe can find a practical solution to the problem, and a joint industry-USDA recommendation on the program is expected by mid-April. The Council president said a task force of more than 100 specialists from government and industry, after a two-year study of every area of cotton research, has recommended an increase in cotton scientist years from the current level of 431 to 594.

"There are two questions every farmer owes it to himself to ask: First, what is his current risk 'exposure' and, second, what is his current risk 'tolerance'. The first is a matter of looking at how much risk he faces and the second is a matter of deciding how much risk he is willing and able to afford. Both of these can change from one year to the next."

One of the most useful approaches is to make cash flow projections. "Even a rough set of projections is helpful and easy to prepare," Jordan suggests. "Start with a ballpark estimate of what your costs will be, what your production would be in a good year and what price your crop would bring. Then make another projection that assumes a one-third crop loss, another that assumes a two-thirds loss and still another that assumes a total loss."

"With these kinds of figures in front of him," says Jordan, a farmer can very quickly see what his risk exposure is and whether it exceeds his risk tolerance."

"Some of the things to be taken into consideration include the potential cost of additional interest if a crop loss delays repayment of loans on a timely basis, the effect that a loss might have if it limits the amount of money that can be borrowed in the future, and the impact it might have on the growth of the farm business if future profits had to be earmarked to pay off past losses."

Jordan points out that even farmers with similar financial circumstances can differ substantially in their risk "tolerance." He notes that it is not just a question of how much a particular person can afford to lose in a given year but also how much he is willing to lose. A farmer with

Peppers Finicky Species

COLLEGE STATION — Whether sweet or pungent, long or blocky, hot or mild, the pepper is often the most finicky plant in the vegetable garden. Picking the proper variety and growing it right will help solve many problems.

Pepper problems for home gardeners seem to revolve around the problem of yield per plant, points out Dr. Sam Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M Extension Service, Texas A&M University. While squash and okra oftentimes overwhelm the garden basket, the pepper plant often stands proud, lush and barren, or at best produces only a small yield.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 31-year-old woman and have three children. I work an average of 62 hours a week. Sometimes I do a lot of standing on a concrete floor. My problem is I have an awful lot of what I call broken or varicose veins - dark purple, blue and red veins, some of them are bulging. They're mostly in my lower thighs. I had a few varicose veins on the front of my left thigh before I became a teenager. I worry about this condition because the veins get larger and more numerous with age. My legs become tired and begin to ache after I stand for about 15 to 30 minutes. They always feel better after I sit and elevate them for awhile. My veins have become continually worse over the years. Could you send me some information on what I can do for this condition?

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 31-year-old woman and have three children. I work an average of 62 hours a week. Sometimes I do a lot of standing on a concrete floor. My problem is I have an awful lot of what I call broken or varicose veins - dark purple, blue and red veins, some of them are bulging. They're mostly in my lower thighs. I had a few varicose veins on the front of my left thigh before I became a teenager. I worry about this condition because the veins get larger and more numerous with age. My legs become tired and begin to ache after I stand for about 15 to 30 minutes. They always feel better after I sit and elevate them for awhile. My veins have become continually worse over the years. Could you send me some information on what I can do for this condition?

DEAR READER - Varicose veins are those that are overstretched. They're somewhat like an elastic balloon that's been overstretched and doesn't snap back to its original shape. The overstretched veins affect the tiny valves inside the veins. The valves help to prevent the blood from flowing back down toward the foot. These large dilated veins prevent the valve flaps from meeting properly and so they're leaky valves.

Anything that increases the pressure inside the veins to cause them to dilate and distend can help contribute to the problem. That's really why standing is a factor in causing varicose veins.

When you stand perfectly still, the veins represent a tall column of blood that creates pressure. The vein walls aren't very thick or strong in contrast to the walls of the arteries.

If you move your legs, walk or otherwise contract the muscles, the contracting muscles in the legs squeeze the veins inside the muscles and literally milks the blood out of the leg toward your heart. This, in turn, drains the veins underneath the skin that you can see. That's why walking and any form of exercise involving the legs actually helps to prevent the accumulation of blood in the veins and helps to prevent the build up of pressure that contributes to varicosities.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will give you more details about the veins in the legs and the pressure factors involved and what can be done about them.

Since you apparently started having a problem very early in life, that suggests an inherited tendency toward weak veins. The best preventive measure is to wear some kind of properly fitting external pressure garments such as support hose. If you wear something that provides enough pressure, this will counterbalance the tendency of the veins to stretch or dilate when they're filled with blood.

Start wearing some form of support hose. If you have severe varicose veins, talk it over with your doctor and perhaps he can fit you with some Jobst stockings. These are custom made to create the greatest pressure at the foot and gradually decrease the pressure as you go up toward the top of the thigh.

The Newspaper Bible

HOW ABOUT THAT? GOD ISN'T MAD AT ME!

God did not send His Son into the world to condemn it, but to save it.

There is no eternal doom awaiting those who trust Him to save them. But those who don't trust Him have already been tried and condemned for not believing in the only Son of God.

Their sentence is based on this fact: that the Light from heaven came into the world, but they loved the darkness more than the Light, for their deeds were evil.

They hated the heavenly Light because they wanted to sin in the darkness. They stayed away from that Light for fear their sins would be exposed and they would be punished.

But those doing right come gladly to the Light to let everyone see that they are doing what God wants them to.

Afterwards Jesus and His disciples left Jerusalem and stayed for a while in Judea and baptized there.

At this time John the Baptist was not yet in prison. He was baptizing at Aenon, near Salim, because there was plenty of water there.

Lakers, Seattle Win Openers In Series

Johnson & Johnson Lead Teams In Semifinals

By The Associated Press
If what Los Angeles' Earvin Johnson did to the Phoenix Suns was magic, then what Seattle's Dennis Johnson did to the Milwaukee Bucks was downright legerdemain. Johnson & Johnson teamed up on different ends of the West Coast Tuesday to get their respective teams, the Los Angeles Lakers and the Seattle SuperSonics, off on the right foot in the opener of their best-of-seven National Basketball Association conference semifinal series.

In Los Angeles, Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 13 points, 16 assists and 12 rebounds to lead the Lakers to a 119-110 victory over the Suns. While the Magic Show was doing its tricks, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar contributed 30 points, Norm Nixon 26 and Jamaal Wilkes 19.

Up the coast in Seattle, Dennis Johnson's three-point basket from about 26 feet with one second to play in overtime lifted the defending NBA champion SuperSonics to a 114-113 now you've won it-now you haven't triumph over the Milwaukee Bucks.

The Bucks had taken the lead with six seconds to play on Marques Johnson's breakaway stuff. Dennis Johnson then dribbled the ball from backcourt until he let fly from outside the three-point line, hitting nothing but net.

Western Conference semifinals resume tonight in Los Angeles and Seattle. In the East, the Boston Celtics entertain the Houston

Rockets in their best-of-seven opener while the Philadelphia 76ers, leading Atlanta 1-0, are at home against the Hawks.

Tuesday, the difference was at the foul line, where the Sonics sank 31 of 39 compared with the Bucks' 15 of 23. And Milwaukee's Brian Winters and Junior Bridgeman, who combined for 34 points a game during the regular season, managed only 14 ... together.

The Bucks sent the game into overtime when Dave Meyers sank two free throws with one second remaining in regulation to tie it at 103, Seattle's Gus Williams led all scorers with 30 points and Dennis Johnson added 24. Bob Lanier topped Milwaukee with 27.

Lakers 119, Suns 110

The Lakers led by as many as 22 points with 4:20 remaining but Phoenix closed the gap in the closing minutes with a series of three-point baskets by Mike Bratz, who finished with five of them and a career-high 25 points. Walter Davis added 24 and Alvan Adams 21.

The Lakers led 70-66 midway in the third quarter but scored 13 of the next 15 points to break the game open.

Nixon and Mike Cooper alternated guarding Paul Westphal, who finished with just 14 points.

When the Celtics step on the court tonight against Houston, they will be seeing their first action in 11 days. Two Celtics think the layoff will help the team against the Rockets, who had to go the full three games to beat San Antonio in their opening-round series, which ended Sunday.

"The layoff was really good," said M.L. Carr. "We're ready to play and we want to play. We saw those games on TV and we saw the excitement. Now we want to be part of it."

SWC Inking Start; Tech Wants Wacker

By The Associated Press
Southwest Conference coaches were able to officially ink high school basketball players to letters of intent today, but one of the most highly sought recruits indicated he will wait until Thursday to sign.

Mike Wacker, San Marcos' 6-8 center, has narrowed his choices to Iowa, Texas, Baylor, Texas Tech and Texas A&M.

Several players from Western Junior College of Snyder, which went undefeated in winning the national championship, have been widely sought but indicated they would follow their coach, who has been hired at Tulsa.

Several other top players indicated early where they would play. SMU had an oral commitment from 6-7 forward Kirk Lundblade of Plano, who scored 30 points in the Class 4-A finals and was named by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce as Texas' top schoolboy basketball player.

New SMU coach Dave Bliss also landed 6-7 forward John Briggs of Highland Park and Dave Gadis, a 6-0 point guard from Indianapolis.

Wacker's father, Southwest Texas State football coach Jim Wacker, said he had no idea where his son will go. He said his son listened Monday to final pitches from Texas Tech and Texas and was to visit with a Baylor coach Tuesday night.

"Mike told me he wanted to hear one last shot from everyone, and then he would isolate himself Wednesday and make his decision. I honestly don't know what he's going to do. Iowa was here Sunday night, and the Southwest Conference schools are coming in. Alabama is the only school Mike visited that is probably out of the picture."

Briggs, who averaged 18 points and 12 rebounds, had also considered Arkansas. Lundblade, who averaged 20.6 points, narrowed his choices to SMU, Baylor and Arkansas before making his decision.

A 6-6 junior college player from California announced he would go to Baylor, while Texas had commitments from a guard and a forward, both from out of state. A 6-6, 215-pound power forward from Pittsburgh announced for TCU.

Two Houston players, 6-6 Michael Young of Yates and 6-5 Matthew England of Madison, were being recruited by Houston and Rice.

Houston Milby's Paul Cunningham was leaning toward signing with Texas Tech or Texas-EI Paso, and Tech, SMU and TCU were at the head of the list for 6-8 Ricky Cobb of Wichita Falls.

A 6-3 guard from South Oak Cliff, Puntus Wilson, earlier was leaning toward TCU but Nevada-Las Vegas entered the picture late.

Arkansas had commitments from two 6-9 schoolboys, one from Kansas and the other from Colorado, and hoped to sign 6-2 schoolboy star Ricky Norton of Okolona, Ark., and 6-5 Darrell Walker of Westark Junior College.

Tech's Williams Receives Award

WACO, Texas (AP) — The award for the Southwest Conference senior basketball player displaying the best sportsmanship will be presented Saturday to Texas Tech's Kent Williams.

The three-year starter will be presented the award during the Spenco Hall of Fame Luncheon that will conclude the 15th annual Texas Basketball Coaches Clinic and all-star games in Waco.

The award is given in honor of R.E. "Bill" Henderson, who coached 25 years at Baylor, taking his 1948 team to the NCAA finals against Kentucky.

Nominations are submitted by conference coaches, team captains and game officials. Arkansas' Sidney Moncrief was last year's winner.
