Government To Buy Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deals have been made totaling $66.1 million for the government to buy nearly 16.6 million bushels of wheat to help take up the slack created when further sales of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union were embargoed earlier this year.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said Tuesday the purchases will be made regularly until all of the embargoed wheat is removed from the market. The wheat bought so far represents slightly more than 10 percent of the total expected to wind up in government hands.

One of Bergland's senior aides said the wheat purchases "should be a positive factor" in helping boost prices at the farm level.

Most of the grain was bought from country elevators that serve farmers, Bergland said. The average price paid for the wheat was $3.99 a bushel.

Bergland said the wheat purchases would continue "until a quantity equal to that suspended from shipment to the Soviet Union has been removed from the market."

The plan involves the eventual purchase of about 4 million metric tons of wheat that Bergland says will be "isolated from the market and used only for overseas food assistance programs after the U.S. Congress approves the Food Security Act."

For the last two years, Bergland has sought congressional approval of a food security program under which the grain would be stored and used for overseas hunger relief.

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of wheat. The 4 million tons would be about 146.8 million bushels. The wheat bought in the first round of purchasing equals about 452,000 metric tons.

By comparison, U.S. wheat production last year was about 2.14 billion bushels or around 58.3 million metric tons.

President Carter on Jan. 4 suspended further sales of grain and other products to the Soviet Union in response to its actions in Afghanistan. About 17 million metric tons of wheat and corn, mostly corn, were affected.

A program to buy corn also has been announced and purchases are expected to begin soon.

Howard W. Hjort, Bergland's chief economist and policy strategist, told a news briefing later that about 65 million bushels of wheat were offered for sale to the government in the first round of business, quadruple what was bought.

Under a complicated formula described by Hjort, prices paid for the wheat varied greatly according to location and kinds of wheat, despite the weighted average price of $3.99 a bushel.

Basically, he said, wheat prices last Wednesday, March 19, at key terminals and port locations were used as a starting point. Deductions from those prices then were made to account for handling and transporting the wheat from country elevators to the most logical terminal market.

At that point, a "basis price" was determined for wheat at country elevator locations. If wheat was offered by an elevator at the basis price or up to 20 cents a bushel above the basis, it was accepted by the government, Hjort said.

Bergland, who joined Hjort after the briefing, told reporters that in many cases "no real market exists" at country elevators because no one is buying or selling wheat.

Thus, he said, the department attempted to determine prices that were fair and realistic to all concerned, taking into account locations and the other factors.

The wheat purchases announced by Bergland — revised later by USDA from its earlier figures — included the following quantities from these states:

In Kansas City, the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service commodities office announced the price ranges, in dollars per bushel, for wheat purchased from each state, by class of wheat:

Hard red winter wheat: Colorado, 3.60-3.80; Kansas, 2.9 1/2-1.35; Montana, 3.40-3.78; Nebraska, 2.85-4.05; New Mexico, 3.40-3.78; Oklahoma, 3.90-4.10; South Dakota, 3.50; Texas, 3.90-4.4 1/2 and Washington 4.00-4.33.

Soft red winter wheat: Indiana, 3.98-4.03; Missouri, 3.75-4.09; North Carolina, 4.25; and Ohio, 4.05.

White wheat: Idaho, 3.28-3.83; New York, 4.40; Oregon, 3.95-4.15; and Washington, 3.78-4.06.

TG&Y Announces Store Expansion

The Hereford TG&Y Family Center, located in the Park Plaza Shopping Center, has completed plans and work is underway to add 19,500 square feet to the existing building. The expanded store is expected to be completed this summer and will provide 52,556 square feet for the new building. The store will employ about 53 local residents in the expanded facility.

J.A. Russell, division vice president of TG&Y, the Oklahoma-based national chain of stores, announced the plans this week. Russell stated that the company has three classes of stores—the expanded variety store of about 15,000 square feet; the family center unit ranging from 20,000 to 30,000 square feet, and the larger family center which is planned in Hereford.

Depending on the size of these family center units, Russell added, they go heavily into sporting goods, hardware, wearables, fabrics, automotive lines and several other departments, considering the needs of the community. J.M. Newgent, president of the company, stated: "We know that the economy of Hereford is excellent and that its future prospects are good. We want to be part of the progress of Hereford."

TG&Y Stores was founded in 1936 by R.E. Tomlinson, E.L. Gosselin and R.A. Young, who gave the initials of their last names to the name of the company. It has always had its national headquarters in Oklahoma City, during its growth to a major chain with more than 900 stores coast to coast in 29 states.

Sales for the stores reached the billion dollar mark in 1977 and will exceed the one and one-half billion mark this year.

Kennedy Wins in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy won a new lease on his challenge for the White House with a surprise landslide over President Carter in New York and another upset in Connecticut. But he still is campaigning against long odds.

Republican Ronald Reagan padded his hefty Republican lead, winning big in New York on Tuesday while losing to George Bush in Connecticut.

Kennedy's first primary victories outside his own Massachusetts came just as the Carter camp was gaining support for its less-than-subtle suggestions that the time had come for Kennedy to quit and help Democrats unite behind the president.

The defeat he dealt Carter in New York, 59 percent to 41 percent, virtually guaranteed that the senator from Massachusetts will be competing all the way to the Democratic National Convention.

But Carter gained nominating delegates in defeat, and his national count reached 45 percent of the majority it will take to win the Democratic nomination.

Kennedy said Tuesday night that the voters had sent a clear message to Washington and to their party: "They can no longer afford an inflation rate of 18 percent and interest rates that match..."

"And I think we're going to see that repeated in states all across this country," he said.

Carter's campaign chairman, Robert Strauss, said it won't happen. He called the twin losses "no more than a dip...in the road toward the nomination." He said the primaries in Wisconsin and Kansas next Tuesday will put the president "back on the victory road."

Kennedy seemed to be conceding as much. Aides said he did not plan to campaign personally for those contests, but would turn at once to Pennsylvania, which holds the next of the primaries. (See PRIMARIES, Page 2)

SS-Tax Freeze Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Budget Committee, backed by a Senate directive to end budget deficits, is drafting a 1981 federal spending plan that may allow a partial freeze on Social Security taxes.

Preparing for the start of the panel's work today, the Senate served notice Tuesday that there is a limit to how deeply it will slash spending to battle inflation, turning back a Republican plan to tie federal spending to the Gross National Product.

By a 56-41 margin Tuesday, senators approved a Democratic resolution directing the committee to balance the budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Budget Committee and sponsor of the Democratic plan, said the panel will aim for a spending limit of about $613 billion, which would require cuts of about $16 billion from the budget submitted in January by President Carter.

That also would put the panel close to Carter's revised spending plan and to the $611.8 billion figure approved by the House Budget Committee.

The resolution approved by the Senate earmarks any surplus for tax cuts, with half the money to be used to partially offset the Social Security tax increase due to take effect next Jan. 1, and the other half for business tax reductions.

Muskie's proposal was offered to dilute support for a resolution by Sen. William Roth, R-Del., that would have required an additional cut of $29 billion. But such cuts, Democrats contended, would hurt the poor or damage national defense.

Adoption of the Muskie substitute blocked a yes-no vote on the Roth plan. And to show their anger, 37 GOP senators voted against the final resolution, even though most favor a balanced budget. Only three Republicans voted with

Muskie. Roth's resolution sought to limit fiscal 1981 spending to 21 percent of the Gross National Product. (See BUDGET, Page 2)

Captives May Be Tried If Shah Not Returned

By The Associated Press

The majority of Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council wants to put the American hostages on trial if the shah and his fortune are not returned to Iran. Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, Iran's justice minister and the council's first secretary, said today.

He also told reporters at his weekly news conference in Tehran that he advocates breaking diplomatic relations with the United States.

Beheshti said trying the hostages is "the general idea in Iran" and most members of the Revolutionary Council are behind it if the shah is not brought back to stand trial for his alleged crimes. The ailing shah escaped extradition proceedings in Panama and flew Monday to Egypt, where he is hospitalized.

Beheshti was the second major leader of the revolutionary regime this week to advocate trying the hostages because the shah had been allowed to leave Panama. The threat of such trials was raised often after young militants seized the U.S. Embassy last Nov. 4 but had not been made for several months. It was revived on Monday by Ayatollah Sadegh Khalkhali, a leading revolutionary and former chief judge, who said after the new Iranian Parliament meets, those Americans accused of being spies would be judged by revolutionary courts and sent to prison if found guilty, while the others would be freed.

However, Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said on Tuesday there were no plans to try the Americans, and those demanding they be tried were "irresponsible people."

"They can shout 'til the end of the world but I will not heed them." Egyptian President Anwar Sadat told reporters in Cairo as the Iranian revolutionary leaders fired off more threats against him and the hostages.

Egypt's president said in giving asylum to the ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, his old friend, he was honoring "true Islamic values and all three celestial teachings which call for tolerance."

"Islam is the religion of love and not vengeance; it is a religion of brotherly feelings, not hatred and bitterness," he declared Tuesday in a pointed rebuff to the militant preaching of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the Iranian revolutionary leader.

But Ghotbzadeh said the shah "will either have to return to Iran" to face trial "or die." He said the shah's flight to Egypt made the release of the hostages "extremely difficult."

Brand Farm Editor

The Brand has received word that a bill proposed by 19th Congressional District Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock calling for farm commodity loan prices to be set at 65 percent of parity has been approved by the House Agriculture Committee.

A spokesman for Hance's office reported that the measure, HR-6815, will now go to the House Budget and Rules committees before it goes before the full House.

According to the Hance spokesman, the approval of the bill marked the first time in more than 30 years that the agriculture committee has approved legislation which bases farm prices upon the concept of parity.

Parity denotes the purchasing power of farm goods compared to a base established on farm prices in 1914. Under that concept, 100 percent parity would mean establishing farm prices in comparison with other manufactured goods using 1914 prices as a base of equality.

A simplified version of the measure would mean that if a bushel of corn would buy a shirt in 1914, under 100 percent parity that same bushel of corn should also buy a shirt today.

The Hance spokesman admitted that the 65 percent parity bill will face tough opposition in the full House, as well as from the administration.

However, the spokesman pointed out that the bill marks a significant step "because it is a totally new direction in policy for the House Ag Committee."

According to the spokesman, Rep. Hance was pleased over passage of his bill in the Ag Committee, pointing out that it was an indication that members of that committee are coming around to the viewpoint of farmers to a greater degree.

"This could prove to be one of the most significant votes in years on the part of the House Ag Committee. Tying farm price loan rates to parity is something we have needed to do to protect the farm industry," stated Hance in a comment on the legislation.

Under the legislation proposed by Hance, the price of all farm commodities with the exception of milk would be set at 65 percent of parity.

The milk price support level is already in excess of the 65 percent figure.

OK Male Stripper Says Rights Violated

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) - The chance to sit in a bar and watch members of the opposite sex take off their clothes should be just as available to women as it is to men, argues a lawyer for a male stripper.

Monroe Inker, whose client is charged with obscenity, said after a court hearing Tuesday that he will try to get the complaint dismissed on constitutional grounds.

"There are women stripping every night around the corner and no one says anything," Inker said.

Inker's client is Vincent L. Dirienzo, 28, of Boston, who calls himself the "Italian Stallion." He and Philip A. Lariviere, 23, of Worcester, the "Cherry Kid," were charged after two undercover policemen watched their act.

Both are accused of disseminating obscene material, the charge for allegedly dancing in G-strings last December at the Merry Mac Club.

House Committee

To Ok Defense Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Armed Service Committee, unhappy with the size of President Carter's military budget, is moving toward approval of $5.6 billion for additional planes, ships, tanks and missiles.

Still undecided, however is the fate of a fleet of new cargo aircraft sought by the administration to carry heavy Army equipment to distant trouble spots, such as the Persian Gulf.

The Armed Services research and development subcommittee voted overwhelmingly against the program last week in the belief the Pentagon does not need a new cargo aircraft.

The full committee planned to interrupt its work on the defense bill today to hear last-minute arguments from the administration for $80.7 million to begin preliminary work on the cargo fleet, which eventually might cost $6 billion.

USDA Head Says

Farmers Paying Price

WASHINGTON (AP) - A senior Agriculture Department official says farmers are paying the price for a substantial slowdown in food price inflation.

Howard W. Hjort, the department's director of economics, policy analysis and budget, said Tuesday that compared with a year ago prices of food at grocery stores have risen only 5.8 percent, which he described as "almost unbelievable, given what is happening to the overall economy."

Earlier, the Labor Department reported retail food prices showed no change in February and that food at grocery stores actually declined 0.4 percent from January.

Prices of food eaten away from home, however, rose 0.7 percent in February.

"The basic reason for these relatively small increases in food prices is at the farm level," Hjort told a news briefing.

NLRB Employees

Plan Demonstration

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National Labor Relations Board, the federal agency in charge of resolving labor disputes in private industry, has become embroiled in a contract dispute with its own employees.

Members of the NLRB employees union planned to demonstrate today at board headquarters here and at 33 regional offices across the country to publicize their "dissatisfaction and outrage" over management's contract offer, said union president Pamela Hoffman.

Ms. Hoffman said the union, which represents 2,000 lawyers, clerical workers and investigators, planned to demonstrate for several days.

She said the employees will hand out leaflets charging that "the agency which is supposed to protect the rights of employees and unions is now acting in complete disregard for the rights of its own employees."

Ms. Hoffman, an investigator in the San Francisco office, said the main disputed issues involve working conditions, rather than wages, which are set by Congress.

Connally, Reagan Wind Up Tour

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) - Bounced by new-found support from former nemesis John Connally, Republican presidential hopeful Ronald Reagan concluded a whirlwind tour of Northeast Texas by pooh-poohing his defeat in the Connecticut primary.

Reagan was edged in Connecticut by Texan George Bush, who spent his boyhood years in that Northeastern state. Reagan he said he hadn't expected to win in Connecticut anyway, calling it "George Bush's state."

Reagan said Tuesday night he was pleased with the outcome and added he was happy with returns from New York, where he soundly defeated Bush and Republican John Anderson.

Making his first appearance before the May 3 Texas primary, Reagan courted sure-fire support in this conservative region of East Texas after a brief rally and fund-raiser at Dallas-

Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Shortly after deplaning from early morning campaign stops in New York, Reagan was greeted by Connally, who then announced he was throwing his support to the former California governor, "the second best man I can think of."

The silver-haired Connally, who served three terms as Democratic governor of Texas before switching parties, towered over 69-year-old Reagan, as the two stood arm in arm, posing for photographers.

"This country desperately needs a change," Connally said amid accolades for his former opponent. "I want to be part of the effort that set the course of this change."

At a Longview Chamber of Commerce banquet later Tuesday, he continued to praise Reagan.

"I've always believed if you can't whip 'em, join 'em," he told a cheering crowd of 1,700. "He (Reagan) penetrated the very roots, the very core of the feeling of the American people. I saw it tested in Florida ... New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Vermont. But I said wait until South Carolina and South Carolina came and it went and they spoke and it was still Reagan."

After garnering only one delegate and racking up $11 million in campaign debts, Connally bailed out of the Republican race March 9, still stinging from a sound whipping in South Carolina.

Connally reiterated that he is not interested in a vice presidential slot or a position in Reagan's administration, should Reagan be elected.

"I have stated repeatedly that I do not want to be vice president," Connally said. "The idea of being vice president does not appeal to me. I don't want anything. I don't want an appointment."

Before departing for Wisconsin, Reagan was greeted by thunderous applause at the Chamber of Commerce dinner, where his strong criticism of Democratic policies won him two standing ovations.

"It is time for the government to get out of the energy industry and turn it loose in the free market," he said. "It is also a time to begin a moral and military re-armament for the decade ahead."

He said the Carter Administration had made a shambles of the national economy by choosing a path of federal deficit spending and easy money. But the economic damage was nothing, he said, when compared to "what the Democrats have done to national security."

SALT II and foreign policy toward the Soviet Union have "depleted the great arsenal of democracy," he said.

"The president says if we don't approve the SALT treaty, no one will like us. I think it's time for the American people to say, 'We don't care if they like us. We want to be respected.'"

Carter's foreign policy borders on "appeasement," Reagan said, adding "it is time for the men and women of the business community to come to the rescue of the country."

Turning to inflation, Reagan said the blame should not rest with consumers and business, but with government.

"We've heard a lot of talk about inflation ... and that somehow we are to blame and that we should settle for a smaller piece of the economic pie," he said. "But government causes inflation and government can make it go away" by halting the influx of newly printed money and initiating an across-the-board tax cut.

California Town - Bargain Homes for Middle Class

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) - Connie and Rick Nieto, just married and in their 30s, wanted a baby and their own home. They figured one dream would have to wait.

"We figured we couldn't made their second dream come true.

Just as they learned they would be parents, they also found that Palo Alto Housing Corp. had picked them, by lottery, to have a chance to buy a new condominium for $40,000.

Slightly more elaborate models in the development were selling at nearly triple that price on the open market - outside the program.

State officials who push the "bargain home" plan call the concept "inclusionary" because it gets middle-class people into the housing market, people who might otherwise never get the chance.

In this wealthy community a short drive south of San Francisco, where the average home costs $150,000, 50 people are on the corporation's bargain list, which has replaced the lottery.

About 1,000 more want to get on the list, said Sylvia Seman, director of the corporation.

Under the Palo Alto plan, begun in 1974, builders of developments larger than 20 units must sell 10 percent of the units at below market rate (BMR) prices. The BMR price covers only the builder's construction and financing expenses; it doesn't cover land costs.

To be eligible, a family's income must fall within 80 percent to 120 percent of the median community income.

Dave Williamson, supervisor of community development for the state Housing Department, says Palo Alto's plan is more effective than those tried elsewhere because it ties the price of a BMR unit to the cost of living, limiting the profit a BMR owner can make when reselling.

"That means 30 years from now, they're going to have affordable housing in Palo Alto," Williamson said.

Williamson hopes the concept will catch on: "We think it's a useful tool for communities that see the major solution to their housing problems in terms of new construction."

While the concept has been tried in Boulder, Colo., and in Maryland's Montgomery County, officials say the program is doing well only in California. Recently, the planning commission of posh Marin County north of San Francisco approved a law providing for bargain homes.

Williamson thinks the concept can succeed in California because builders "realize only a certain market can afford a $100,000-plus home." They want to build as many units as possible and know plenty of profit is still available, he said.

Oddly enough, despite the demand for BMRs, the city has a low rate for new construction and is not an ideal site for the program. In the last four years, only 50 units have been involved in the program.

Murders, Rapes Jump in Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Department of Public Safety says there were 373 more murders and 1,101 more rapes in the state last year than in 1978.

The DPS said Tuesday law officers cleared 73 percent of the 2,226 murders by an arrest and 52 percent of the 6,028 rapes in 1979.

Col. Jim Adams, DPS Director, said the number of major criminal offenses committed in Texas last year rose by 68,140 to 791,304 - or by 9.42 percent.

Only 21 percent of the crimes were cleared by an arrest, Adams said.

Texas' annual crime rate rose 6.4 percent in 1979, with the largest increase in rape and motor vehicle theft, he said. The crime rate is based on the number of crimes per 100,000 population.

Adams said there were an estimated 72,687 motor vehicle thefts, a 22.2 percent increase, and a 19 percent increase in rapes from 1978. He said murders were up 16.9 percent over the previous year.

Property valued at over $610 million was stolen in 1979, and only $216 million worth of property was recovered, Adams said.

He placed the number of drug arrests at 47,879, down 19 percent from the previous year. The reason for the lower number of arrests, he said, was that the DPS concentrated on major narcotics cases.

However, Adams said, all criminal arrests - not including traffic cases - totaled 763,541, up 2 percent.

Partial reports on arson reflect 5,347 cases in 1979, with property damage totaling more than $78 million. These figures, mandated by Congress in early 1979, came from reports covering approximately 64 percent of the state's population.

Adams said 10 police were killed in the line of duty by criminals last year, two more than the previous year. Three other officers died in duty-related mishaps. A total of 3,256 assaults against police officers were reported for 1979.

The DPS figures were compiled from data submitted by 709 Texas sheriffs and chiefs of police whose jurisdictions represent 99.3 percent of the state's total population.

Prison Siege Ends in Mexico

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) - A 30-hour siege ended in a blaze of gunfire when police stormed a prison cafeteria, killed three inmates and rescued three of their hostages unhurt, officials said. Another hostage was killed in the shootout and a fifth, the prison warden, was killed by the convicts earlier.

Sharpshooters stormed the cafeteria of the Nuevo Leon State Penitentiary on Tuesday night where the convicts had taken the five prison employees hostage, police said. The dead hostage was a prison cook.

Police said the three slain convicts were led by Carlos Lopez Atencio, a 50-year-old Cuban exile serving time for robbery. Lopez Atencio claimed he was a veteran of the U.S.-supported Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba in 1961 and was wanted in Fort Worth, Tex., for armed robbery, a police spokesman said.

The spokesman, Jose Elizondo, gave this account of the siege:

Lopez Atencio and two other inmates took a .45 caliber pistol away from a prison guard Monday afternoon and entered the prison cafeteria, where Warden Alfonso Domene Valdez, two women secretaries and a driver were having lunch. The convicts took them hostage, along with the cook.

The convicts shot the warden in the head, killing him, about half an hour later, but the police did not learn of this until they stormed the cafeteria Tuesday night.

Lopez Atencio had said in negotiations that the convicts would kill their captives unless they were freed unconditionally and given a car to take them to the U.S. border, 150 miles to the north. The state attorney general and a priest negotiated with the convicts by telephone while the police prepared their assault.

By a special act of Congress in 1939, baseball was the first athletic sport to be honored with a commemorative postal stamp.

Primaries

big-state Democratic primary elections on April 22.

With victory in Connecticut, his boyhood home, Republican Bush won a chance to keep going. He was at work today in Wisconsin.

But the odds are as bleak for him as for Kennedy. Reagan, like Carter, has built a commanding lead in nominating delegates, and it will take a succession of landslide defeats to stop him.

"There are a lot of primaries to go, and I'm sure there will be wins and losses, but I think we're well on the way," Reagan said.

These were Tuesday's Democratic results:

New York
Kennedy 574,566 or 59 percent, for 164 delegates.

Carter 399,862 or 41 percent, for 118 delegates.

Connecticut
Kennedy 98,571 or 47 percent, for 29 delegates.

Carter 87,108 or 41 percent, for 25 delegates.

Lyndon LaRouche 6,481 or 3 percent.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. 5,357 or 3 percent.

Uncommitted 13,290 or 6 percent.

Brown did not campaign. He's waiting for Wisconsin. But the Kennedy revival was a blow to his strategy, which was based on the assumption that he could emerge there as the only alternative to Carter.

In the Connecticut Republican primary, the numbers read:

Bush 70,070 or 39 percent, for 15 delegates.

Reagan 61,333 or 34 percent, for 14 delegates.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois 40,481 or 22 percent, for 6 delegates.

Rep. Philip M. Crane of Illinois got 1 percent; the rest went to campaign drop-outs, a minor entry, or went uncommitted.

New York Republicans didn't vote directly for presidential candidates. They chose among candidates for convention seats, electing 73 Reagan supporters and only 6 for Bush. The other 38 were uncommitted.

The delegates gained by Reagan and by Carter were evidence of the problem facing their challengers.

In his double defeat, Carter gained 143 delegates. In victory, Kennedy captured 193.

That brought Carter's national delegate count to 746 of the 1,666 it will take to win the nomination. Kennedy has 385.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Kennedy would have to win 63 percent of all the delegates yet to be chosen in order to catch Carter. That's a tall order under a system that awards delegates in proportion to the popular vote, and so rewards losers along with winners.

On the Republican side, Reagan emerged with a national total of 293 delegates. It will take 998 to win the nomination. The 87 delegates Reagan won in Connecticut and New York came in states that virtually shut him out four years ago, and the territory in which the former California governor was strongest then is still ahead of him.

Kennedy had been saying all along that he would break through in states like New York and Pennsylvania. He put Illinois in that bracket, too, until he lost it.

Inflation was his major campaign theme, and he said it had taken hold at last - on an election day that began with the government's announcement that the cost of living soared at a rate that would mean 18 percent annual inflation.

Powell said the defeats will not affect Carter's stay-at-home campaign strategy. The president has ruled out active campaigning while American hostages remain captive in Tehran, Iran. Powell said that decision "is one that will not be affected by election returns."

"But think about the prospect of cutting that $45 billion from the budget," he said. "Think about what that would mean to elderly Americans - many of whom are already ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-clothed."

Meanwhile, the congressional black caucus announced it will fight the spending cuts proposed by the House Budget Committee last week in arriving at balanced budget.

"We are resolved to take this disgraceful budget...to the people," said Rep. Cardiss Collins, D-Ill., who heads the group.

While consumer prices increased 1.4 percent in each of those months, average weekly earnings showed almost no increase.

The department estimated that average after-tax weekly earnings of a worker with three dependents stood at a seasonally adjusted figure of $201.26 last month. But that amounted to only $84.85 in terms of what a worker could buy in 1967.

One year ago, workers' average after-tax earnings stood at $190.38 a week, but that was worth $91.66 in 1967 dollars, the government said.

In the same report, the department noted that over the last 13 years, workers' average hourly earnings have stayed ahead of inflation by only a razor-thin margin.

National Product, the total value of the nation's goods and services. By doing that, Roth claimed, the government would send a clear signal that it plans to limit spending even beyond 1981.

Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd said the plan adopted by the Senate "is not soft on inflation - it's bitter medicine. But it does not make promises that cannot be kept."

Byrd said the GOP plan was "straight out of the school of Herbert Hoover...with its promise of a chicken in every pot."

NEW YORK (AP) - Teenage fans and old folks alike gathered to gape and gasp at what they thought was actor Sylvester Stallone dangling above the East River. But it was a stuntman there.

Stallone, who starred in the hit movie "Rocky," is a fitness buff but too valuable a property to risk dangerous scenes. So it was stuntman Tony Maffatone - a dead ringer for the star - who climbed a cable to the Shooting of the film "Hawks" got underway Monday despite the protests of island residents angered at having their shortest link with Manhattan taken away for use as a movie set. The filming was further delayed by legal action and weather.

Tops No. 576 Elects Officers, Chairmen

TOPS chapter 576 held their installation of 1980 officers Tuesday morning in the Community Center during their regular monthly meeting.

Newly-appointed officers were Sue Rogers, leader; Janell Davison, co-leader; Novella Hewitt, secretary; Alice Rieves, treasurer; Winnie Anderson, reporter; and Alice Koenig, weight recorder.

Appointed as various committee chairmen were Regina Warren, assistant weight recorder; Lilah Grubb, hospitality; Mamie Kendall, contest; Sunny Brush, song leader; and Veta Sturges, gift for monthly queen.

Families Gather For Celebration

The Lance and Walsler families gathered at the Easter Community Center Sunday for their annual March Birthday Dinner. Several residents from Hereford attended the event.

Those celebrating birthdays were C.R. Walsler, 92; Zella Mae Crump, Wayne Walsler, Don Walsler, Brad Walsler, Jerry Don Lance, Preston Clark, and Kristie Halford.

Those present from Hereford were Messrs. and Mrs. Reese Dawson and Terese, Tim Dawson, Mike Dawson, Ken Walsler and Jill, W.H. Walsler, Richard Clark, Dawson and Mitchell and Jim Clark.

Also attending from Hereford were S.L. Walsler, Mrs.

Don Walsler, Deann and Mikel, Mike Harris, Tracie and Mike Gentry and Marie Halford.

Other relatives and friends present for the special celebration were:

Messrs. and Mrs. Guy Walsler, Jack Walsler, Jerry Don Lance and Camille, and Earl Lance, all from Summerfield.

Attending from Canadian were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Purcell and grandchildren. Attending from Lockney were Mr. and Mrs. Cleatis Hayes, Devra and Cody.

Durven Baker Jr. and Keith Pothuze came from Perryton and Mr. and Mrs. David Hays, Scott and Dondi attended from Dimmitt.

Local Delegates Attend Federation Convention

Representatives of Pioneer Study Club and Summerfield Study Club were in attendance this weekend at the 20th annual convention of the Top of Texas District, Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Villa Inn in Amarillo.

Attending from Hereford were Mrs. William W. Wimberley and Mrs. R.L. Wilson, both from Pioneer Club; and Mrs. Clayton Sanders, Mrs. Ray Johnson, life member, and Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill, life member, all representing Summerfield Club.

The two local study clubs shared hostess duties during a brunch for board members Friday morning, March 21. Mrs. Johnson delivered the invocation. The theme for decoration at the brunch was "A Tapestry of Togetherness." Mrs. Wimberley was in charge of door prizes.

Contest awards won by local clubwomen included: Eunice Peterson, Pioneer Study Club, winning first place in oils and second place in palette in Arts category; Mrs. Lookingbill winning first place in china painting; Mrs. Guy Walsler, Pioneer and Summerfield Study Clubs, winning first place in knitting; Ethel Curry, Summerfield Study Club, winning first place in ceramics.

Pioneer Study Club also captured a first place ribbon for Mrs. Wimberley's President's resume, a second place citation for legislation and first place for their beautification project. Summerfield Study Club won first place honors for their M.D. Anderson Hospital project and a second place for their veterans project. Both clubs had their yearbooks cited among the top ten in the district.

Highlight of the convention for the Panhandle clubwomen was an address from Mrs. B.M. Sims of Wellington, incoming state Federation president. She spoke on "Patches for the Future," outlining plans for the coming administration.

The current FFWC president Mrs. H.B. Bratton, also spoke during the convention. Her topic was "Diversify: By Voice, Mind, Heart and Hand."

Sixty-four clubs were represented at the convention, which attracted 198 delegates. Included on the business agenda were plans for the 83rd annual state convention to be held April 24-26 at the Hilton Inn in Amarillo. This will be the first state convention in 56 years to have been held in the Panhandle.

The next Top of Texas District meeting is scheduled in the spring of 1981 at Borger.

Officers Installed

The 1980 TOPS #576 officers were installed during their regular meeting Tuesday morning in the Community Center. Those installed were, seated from left, Sue Rogers, leader; Novella Hewitt, secretary; and Alice Rieves, treasurer.

Ann Landers Homosexual Groups

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You pride yourself on being "objective, even-handed and fair." We shall see. I bet my husband $10 that you will not print this letter. It seems a young, intelligent, attractive male (employed by the Library of Congress) quit going to the synagogue because he could no longer stand to listen to that old refrain, "Have I got a girl for you!" The guy was gay.

So now he goes to a synagogue for homosexuals, both male and female. It is called Bet Mishpachah, which means "House of Family." They meet in a Methodist church, and it is one of nine such groups for Jewish homosexuals.

It is estimated that there are 40 gay rabbis in the United States but only one has gone public. He lives in San Francisco, naturally. (Where else?)

Several years ago you gave a lot of coverage to "Dignity," an organization for Catholic gays. You have also referred to Methodist and Unitarian gay groups, but never a word about Jewish gays--as if they didn't exist. I shall watch with interest to see if you print this. -- A Wasp From McLean, Va. Who Reads You In The Washington Post

DEAR WASP: Every

ethnic and religious group has homosexuals. I know of no exception. The reason I have never mentioned a synagogue for Jewish homosexuals is because I never knew one existed. Thank you for letting me know so I can pass the word. The principle purpose of this column is to educate people, and that means ALL people. And now, please hand over the $10 to your smart spouse.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been trying to have a child for three years. We have been seeing a specialist regularly, taken every test imaginable, had surgery and are using fertility drugs.

The emotional stress we've been going through is terrible. But the worst part is listening to the stupid comments of thoughtless, ignorant people we run into every day. We are sick and tired of remarks like this: "Why don't you adopt a baby? You'll get pregnant right away. It has happened to so many couples we know."

We hope all the self-appointed experts who read this will recognize themselves and think twice before they offer foolish and unwanted advice.--Chicago.

DEAR CHICAGO: I'm sure your anxiety and frustration have frayed your nerves and worn out your patience, but those "thoughtless and foolish people" are actually trying to give you hope and encouragement. Many couples whose history is similar to yours have managed to conceive shortly after adoption--so don't knock it, dear. It could happen to you!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll make it simple: Boy meets girl, gives her diamond engagement ring, they mar-pitcher as an heirloom. P.S. Eighteen years? He sounds like a heel.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage--What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Committee Formed To Name Officers

The nominating committee, which will recommend a new slate of officers for the 1980-81 year, was appointed Monday evening during a meeting of Veleda Study Club in the basement of the County Library.

Club president Norma Walden, who conducted the business meeting, appointed the following to compose the nominating committee: Janice Brownlow, Margaret Zinser, Marcella McLain and Billie Birdwell.

The recent meeting was special because it was Guest Night and the large crowd was treated to excerpts from the hit musical "Gypsy." Meredith Wilcox offered narration on the life of Gypsy Rose Lee and Jane Gulley performed tunes from the Broadway musical which depicted her life on the stage. Piano accompanist for the program was Linda Gilbert.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Birdwell, Teddie Poindexter, Frances Crume and Mrs. Zinser.

Welcomed as guests were Vera Threewit, Buddie McBrayer, Sharon Loerwald, Ann Meyer, Hope Loerwald, Lynn Gowdy, Carla Patterson, Toni Sonnenberg, Nancy Cross, Harriet Nichols, Helen Cavin, Wanda Hoover, Lois Lemons, Norma Hendon, Joan Womble, Helen Lee, Angie McCreary, Sylvia Calvit, Ruth Long, Janice Bell, Pat Smart, Evelyn Kirby, Carolyn Johnson, Martha Layman and Janette Case.

Members in attendance, other than those already mentioned, were Carolyn Waters, Darlene Fields, Joyce Ritter, Jean Ruther, Juanita Brown, Arvella Lauderback, Norma Martin and Retha Tucker.

The club's next meeting will be April 14 for election of officers in Mrs. Ritter's home.

Without nectar, there could not be honey. The flower nectar, mixed with enzymes within the bee's body, breaks down into dextrose and levulose, both simple sugars. This thin, partly ripened honey is stored in open cells in the bee hive. The bees fan their wings in front of the cells to evaporate excess water.

Herd Baseballers Upend Pampa, 5-4

The Hereford Whitefaces varsity baseball team edged out defending district 3-AAAA champs Pampa 5-4 in eight innings here Tuesday and boosted their season standing to 8-4; two games shy of their first district match with Plainview on April 1. But in this instance, the win was a hard earned one and one that almost didn't pan out for the Whiteface diamond crew as they had themselves as well as the Pampa squad to contend with. "We didn't really play our best game—you might say—if you want to be positive about it," said head coach David Ashby. "We gave up five errors and I don't think they earned a run all day long. I know we gave them at least three of the four they got off us, but a win is a win."

"The errors we made are what killed us, but all the infielders made one so at least we were consistent," he added. The Harvester's riddled the Herd for three runs in the second on a Clyde Coffe double and Andy Richardson's triple in that frame, but the Whitefaces tied up the score in the fourth and fifth frames.

HHS third baseman Ken Cosper began the long awaited Hereford scoring spree as he reeled off a single that got past the Pampa left field while John Dudding followed and drove him in with a single. Then catcher

Don Delozier sacrificed to bring Dudding home for the second HHS run.

The Herd doubled up the contest in the fifth stanza as Norman Hill singled and drove in Randy Ellis. But the big Whiteface gun didn't sound until the seventh inning arrived.

All-District outfielder Edward Dominguez carried the park with a homer to tie the game once more and sent the contest into extra innings and Delozier capped the performance in the eighth as he drove in Cosper off second base for the winning run.

"Pampa really didn't hit the ball that hard except on a couple of base hits—most of the time we just missed played their shots and it almost cost us," Ashby said.

Lopez Bounds To LPGA Top

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Here comes Nancy. Shaking off a sluggish 1980 start, Nancy Lopez Melton is back among the Top 10 money winners on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour.

Melton, the tour's most dominant player for the past two years, is winless in 1980, but her $19,600 second place finish Sunday in the LPGA tournament at Las Vegas boosted her into third place on the money list.

She and 40-year-old JoAnne Carner are co-favorites in the $150,000 LPGA tournament that opens Thursday at Mesa Verde Country Club.

Carner, the defending champion, is enjoying one of the best starts in the LPGA's 30-year history. She has won $78,986 already for a $27,800 lead over her closest challenger, Donna Caponi Young. Melton trails Carner by more than $45,000.

Young won the Las Vegas tournament, picking up $30,000 for her one-stroke victory over Melton.

Carner, who was seeking her fourth straight victory, finished in a seventh place tie.

A year ago at Costa Mesa, Carner, Melton and Young finished regulation play in a five-way tie with Jan Stephenson and Chako Higuchi. Carner won it on the second extra hole.

A 1-under par total of 287 at Las Vegas indicated that Melton has her game back in form.

Last year, five of her eight victories came in the first five months of the year, two in March and three in May. She led all money winners with $197,488 in 19 events.

'Bionic Thumb' Part of Legend Of National Champion Cards

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "Ooeyville-lay is-yay Umber-Nay Un-way" is the proud boast of a guy who leaves his thumb on the dinner table.

Translated into English, the words say: "Louisville is Number One." Forward Wiley Brown, the so-called "Bionic Thumb," had earned the right to shout it from the rooftops after Louisville's 59-54 win over UCLA in the championship game of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Louisville's victory provided a spectacular climax to a 33-3 season that will undoubtedly become the makings of local legend.

After all, it is the first title ever for this town, and everybody says the first time is always the best.

In many ways, Wiley Brown typifies the unusual makeup of this cast of characters. A 6-foot-8 block of granite from Sylvester, Ga., the sophomore center lost part of his right thumb at age 2 in an accident with a knife.

Brown taught himself to play basketball left-handed. This year, he was fitted with an artificial thumb that earned him the nickname "Bionic Thumb."

Brown rushed off to a team meeting Monday without the thumb. A frenzied student manager was forced to search through bags of garbage to retrieve it.

On the court, Brown communicates in pig-Latin with teammate Derek Smith. The two use the code language to set up plays without tipping their hand to the opposition.

Consider some of these other heroes in Red and Black:

—Rodney McCray, the only player signed in last year's lean recruiting campaign, was forced into the breach when his older brother, Scooter, was lost for the season with a knee injury. Rodney, 6-7, responded by leading the team in rebounding.

"We wouldn't be here without him," Coach Denny Crum said.

—Tony Branch, a little-used senior guard who sprang off the bench to save Louisville in the NCAA opener. His off-balance shot beat Kansas State 67-66 in overtime. When he's not playing, which is often, he's providing music, which is always loud.

Crum tried to loosen up his troops before Saturday's 80-72 semifinal win over Iowa with his version of a disco step. The players got loose, all right. They roared.

—Poncho Wright, a 6-5 Indianapolis native, gave Louisville a slogan. The finals were played in Wright's hometown, which he calls "Naptown." Chanted Wright throughout the playoffs: "The 'Ville to Naptown!"

—Roger Burkman, a whirling dervish native of Indianapolis who festered on the bench for three years before emerging this year as "Instant Defense." All knees, elbows and floppy blond hair, Burkman came to personify the major change in this year's team — a scratching, clawing, tenacious foulcourt defense. "We get in the other guy's shirt," explained guard Jerry Eaves.

—Darrell Griffith, All-American guard, nicknamed "Dr. Dunkenstein" for his slam dunks. This year, Griffith became the complete player. This month, he became a man possessed. He dedicated the winning of the national title to a school chum who is battling cancer.

With four seconds to go and the title in hand, Griffith leaped and waved an index finger at the roaring Louisville partisans crammed into Market Square Arena.

Knicks Kayo Cleveland, Spurs Win Game

Coach Red Holzman of the New York Knicks isn't glib or loquacious or particularly quotable or the king of one-liners or given to exaggeration. He is, rather, a master of understatement.

—Item: The Knicks ended a three-game skid and snapped Cleveland's eight-game winning streak Tuesday night with an impressive 128-115 victory that boosted their playoff hopes and eliminated the Cavaliers.

Holzman: "We played well and we shot well."

—Item: Mike Glenn came off the bench and scored 19 points in 19 minutes on 8-for-8 shooting from the floor — including a three-point basket — and 2-for-2 from the line.

Holzman: "Mike Glenn had an incredible night."

Elsewhere, the San Antonio Spurs whipped the Houston Rockets 126-107, the Boston Celtics nipped the Washington Bullets 96-95, the Milwaukee Bucks ripped the Chicago Bulls 122-111, the Seattle SuperSonics tripped the Phoenix Suns 104-95, the Portland Trail

Blazers clipped the Kansas City Kings 106-102 and the Utah Jazz beat the Denver Nuggets 109-91.

Ray Williams scored 27 points to pace a balanced New York attack. The Knicks broke on top early and, with Williams scoring 13 points, the Knicks held a 38-29 first-quarter lead. Williams had 24 at the half and the Knicks led 66-62.

Spurs 126, Rockets 107

George Gervin scored 24 points and Mike Gale led a key second-quarter outburst that helped San Antonio defeat Houston. It was the Spurs' seventh victory in nine games and left them 1 1/2 games ahead of the Knicks in the race for the fourth Eastern Conference playoff spot. The score was tied at 29 after one period but Gale came off the bench to score eight points and hand off six assists as the Spurs outscored Houston 37-22 in the second quarter. They led by as many as 24 in the third period.

Celtics 96, Bullets 95

The Pistol outshot the Bullets. Pistol Pete Maravich scored all his 19 points in the final period, including a three-pointer with 51 seconds remaining, to give Boston the triumph. The Celtics' triumph put them 2 1/2 games in front of second-place Philadelphia in the Atlantic Division with just three to play.

Bucks 122, Bulls 111

Milwaukee needed last-quarter heroics by Marques Johnson, who came off the bench after the Bucks had nearly squandered a 24-point lead and scored 10 of his 18 points. The Bucks were also helped by the steady play of Brian Winters, who had 21 points, and Quinn Buckner as they took a two-game lead over Kansas City in the Midwest Division. Junior Bridgeman led the Bucks with 22 points.

SuperSonics 104, Suns 95

Dennis Johnson scored 12 of his game-high 26 points as Seattle pulled away in the third quarter. Seattle, which plays in Phoenix tonight, leads the Suns by two games in the battle for second place in the Pacific Division. Both have three games remaining. The Sonics dominated the boards with Jack Sikma pulling down 17 rebounds.

Trail Blazers 106, Kings 102

Dave Twardzik and T.R. Dunn each made a pair of free throws in the late going to nail down the triumph for Portland. Twardzik hit one with 18 seconds left to put Portland ahead 104-102 and Dunn was fouled after rebounding a missed shot by Kansas City's Scott Wedman with four seconds to go. The Kings did not score in the final 2:38.

Calvin Natt led Portland with 24 points as the Blazers moved two games ahead of idle San Diego

Borger Trophy Is Boost for Netters

The Hereford High varsity boys tennis netted a first place win in the Borger Tournament held this past weekend ahead of Lubbock Estacado, Plainview, Pampa, Borger, Spearman and Memphis tennis squads while the girls only managed a fourth place berth in the competition.

But even though his girl's crew didn't fare that well in the tourney, head coach Robert Cox still was about as tickled as a hog in a wallow.

"It was great (the Herd's performance in the tourney) I thought even though our girls didn't do as well as we had hoped, but they're still young to the game and they'll smell a little glory later on," he said.

"The main thing this tournament gave us that we didn't have before is the confidence in knowing we can go out and compete with some of the better teams," Cox noted. "Some of the people on the team have taken a whole new outlook on their game for the time being and whether or not that feeling of assured success will last very long is up to them."

And the HHS boys team must have been one group that was feeling a little robust after they chalked up wins in all their first round matches of the tournament with the exception of one--Trent Thomas, who later went on to win the consolation bracket of the singles competition.

"The key to this tournament is not exactly the spot you win, but rather if you win enough matches to add up some team points," Cox said. "Those first-round wins we got in the first day really helped us out in those team totals."

In the last day of the competition, Adolfo Garcia won his singles match with Spearman's Wayne Meek 6-4, 6-3 while Trent Thomas took the consolation berth with a win over Mike Spence of Pampa 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

In boys doubles: Tim Hamlett and Roy Rodriguez gave away one set 3-6 to the Spearman duo Beedy-Body and then finished up the match with a two set win 6-2, 6-2.

In addition, Robert Castro and Raymond Duncan won sixth place after being beaten by Estacado's Green-Daily pair.

Clary Montemayor and Beth Frye both faced defeats in the singles portion of the girls competition as Montemayor dropped a game to Stacy Spector of Borger 6-2, 3-6, 6-1. Frye lost in straight sets to Jane Neilson from Borger 6-1, 6-2.

In the girls doubles competition; Plainview's Barten-Landry team upended Karla Driskell and Lisa Snyder 7-5, 6-3 and then the Hereford duo took an eighth place spot in the tourney as a result of a default in the next match.

Hereford's Zinser-Montemayor team garnered a fourth place finish in the tourney after being defeated in the third place match by Memphis duo Fowler-Montgomery 6-3, 6-4.

"Zinser and Montemayor played the best of anybody in the tourney as far as the girls team is concerned," said Cox. "That doesn't mean that they're necessarily the best players on the team as a whole, but they played the best this time and a lot better than they usually do so progress is being made."

"We're still working on fundamentals in the girls play and until we get those down we're still going to be behind other teams in competition," he added.

The Whitefaces next outing is slated for Friday and Saturday as they compete in the Amarillo Tournament.

Win First Meet

The 7th grade junior high girls won their division in the Hereford Junior High Girls Meet held here this past weekend and grasped the title honor with 150 total team points. Wheat Leaders Charge Problems 'Home-Made'

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Texas and U.S. wheat leaders are in the third day of a three-day series of legislative and administrative conferences regarding the wheat price plunge today in Washington.

Producers Board Chairman Leo Witkowski of Hereford is leading a three-man delegation along with Producers Association President Otis Harman of Tullia.

Harman is a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Wheat Growers, wheat growers legislative liaison, while Witkowski is a member of the executive committee of U.S. Wheat Associates, the producer foreign market development arm.

Wheat group representatives scheduled meetings with individuals including Congressman Tom Foley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, Stuart Eizenstat, assistant to the president for Domestic Affairs and Policy, and Tom Hughes, Foreign Agricultural Service administrator during the three-day session.

On Monday, Bergland attended a meeting of the National Association of Wheat Growers and the U.S. Wheat Associates where he torpedoed hopes carried by those organizations for a hike in wheat price supports.

"Any further dramatic increases in the wheat price support loan rate, as some have suggested, would put export expansion in jeopardy," Bergland claimed.

"Exports are thriving despite the partial embargo on sales to the Soviet Union. A substantially increased loan rate would tend to price us out of the world market," he added.

Bergland admitted that farm income is expected to drop substantially this year, but claimed, "None of that decline can be laid directly to the suspension of further grain sales to the Soviet Union. Sharply higher costs of production are what is putting such intense pressure on farm income."

Area wheat officials countered Bergland's allegations, however.

"It is not realistic to compare present prices to pre-embargo levels and use the pre-embargo price as a target for farmers to be comfortable with. Wheat prices were on the upward trend ahead of the embargo. They would likely have continued," stated Harman in response.

"The real price problem faced by farmers is not only the price decline, but price reversal and depressing market psychology -- which adds up to as much as $1 per bushel. If this trend continues into the 1980 harvest season, only 12 weeks away, Texas farmers alone could suffer a $100 million income loss from that realistically anticipated at planting time last fall," he added.

Harman charged that the depressing market psychology is related to the manner in which the government is attempting to purchase wheat from the country elevator and farmers on a "low-bid" basis, with no set-aside program planned for the 1980 crop, failure to increase loan rates to a realistic value level and failure to raise entry and release levels of the farmer-held reserve.

Harman also blasted the current plan to use post-embargo purchased grain for PL-480 shipments, rather than market purchases from the trade.

Witkowski charged that many of the present farmer problems stem from the home front.

"Despite the embargo, U.S. wheat exports are now 105 million bushels ahead of the same period just a year ago in areas of permanent markets worked for through market development programs by producers. That strong market demand and shorter world stocks indicate that exports are doing their share and that the farmer's price problems are "home made" by domestic policy decisions," Witkowski stated.

Extra Riders Signal Danger on Equipment

COLLEGE STATION — Extra riders on farm equipment continue to account for many farm and ranch accidents each year, points out Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"A large share of extra rider victims of such accidents are children who should not be allowed near farm machinery operations," warns Nelson.

"The wisdom of letting children climb, run and play freely in a machine shop while dad works as a welder nearby would be questioned immediately by all. Yet, many times children are allowed to play freely around dangerous moving farm equipment even though the hazards may be much worse," points out Nelson.

Most motorized farm equipment has no provisions for safely carrying passengers other than the operator. Also, trailing implements and vehicles are not designed to haul people, emphasizes the engineer. Rider falls from farm equipment can be eliminated only by keeping extra riders off the equipment in the first place.

"It boils down to recognizing the fact that children do not belong near operating farm equipment and that extra riders of any age have no place on moving equipment," cautions Nelson. "Operators should also mount 'No Riders' stickers on farm equipment to serve as a daily reminder to enforce this rule."

Pull the Wool

The expression "to pull the wool over one's eyes" comes from the time when gentlemen wore white wigs, usually made of wool. Highwaymen would pull a victim's wig down over his eyes before relieving him of watch and wallet.

Bug Battle Continues

Area farmers are continuing to battle a massive population of greenbugs in the area, hoping to stave off further damage to a wheat crop that has already been hard hit by the elements. Here, a Grumman Ag-Cat applies pesticide to control greenbugs plus a herbicide aimed at knocking down "winterweed" in a wheat field near the Ford community. In the background, cattle graze in a wheat field across a county road and away from the field being treated. Mild winter weather prompted an early buildup of insect pests this year, and unless the weather lends a helping hand, area farmers may be in for a severe "bugging" by pests this year. [Brand photo by Jim Steiert]

Higher Target Prices Provided for by Act

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1980, signed by President Carter, will provide for higher target prices for wheat, corn and grain sorghum for those producers who do not exceed their normal crop acreage (NCA), according to word received from the USDA.

The Act raises the 1980 wheat target price to $3.63 per bushel, with the corn target set at $2.35 per bushel and the sorghum target set at $2.50 per bushel.

The target price on barley under the provisions of the act will be $2.55 per bushel. According to Jim Williams, acting Secretary of Agriculture at the time of the target price announcement, those who exceed their NCA will receive benefits "based on the formula target in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977."

The formula establishes 1980 target prices for operators who exceed their NCA at $3.08 per bushel for wheat, $2.05 per bushel for corn, $2.45 per bushel for sorghum and $2.29 per bushel for barley.

The 1980 target price for upland cotton, as announced by Williams, will be 58.4 cents per pound.

According to John Fuston, Deaf Smith County ASCS executive director, the provisions would also have a bearing on disaster payment rates. Wheat, milo and corn disaster payment would be based on half the target price if the producer fails to make 60 percent of his established yield.

Payments are based on a lower rate if the producer exceeds 60 percent of his established yield. Fuston explained.

Williams reported that the new act extends the disaster payments program through the 1980 crop year for producers of wheat, feed grains, upland cotton and rice.

Producers who plant within their NCA will be eligible for disaster payments on wheat and feed grains, based on their higher target levels.

"Combined disaster payments under all programs will be limited to $100,000 per person," stated Williams.

Middleman's Share Jumps 12%

WASHINGTON (AP) — The middleman's share of what consumers pay for food increased nearly 12 percent last year, says a new analysis by the Agriculture Department.

Called a marketing spread, it represents the difference between what farmers are paid for raw products and what consumers pay for food at retail stores.

The marketing spread includes all charges for handling, processing and distributing farm-produced food.

Retail food prices overall rose an average of 10.9 percent in 1979, including food bought at grocery stores and meals eaten away from home.

The report, issued Tuesday, said grocery store food prices rose 10.8 percent last year.

Farmers Got Less, Consumers Paid More

Marketing Spread Grew Wider in 1979

WASHINGTON — The difference between what farmers receive and consumers pay for food—called the marketing spread—widened nearly 12 percent in 1979, the largest increase in five years, according to a report issued today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The marketing spread, representing charges for handling, processing, and distributing a market basket of U.S. farm foods, accounted for slightly over half the 10.8-percent rise in grocery store food prices last year. Increased farm value accounted for about a third of supermarket food increases and higher fish and imported food prices accounted for the rest of the 1979 gain, according to the report by USDA's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service.

Unlike the farm value of food, the marketing spread has risen each of the past 10 years and has been the most persistent cause of rising food prices, the report said.

The report also shows these facts about 1979 food prices:

--Grocery store food prices increased only 3.9 percent (annual rate) in the last 6 months of the year; but a 15.5 percent annual rate during the first half raised the average for the whole year to 10.8 percent.

--Farmers received about 39 cents of every food dollar spent in grocery stores, virtually the same as in 1978.

--Retail prices rose 17 percent for red meat, 12 percent for fresh fruits and vegetables, 10 percent for bakery products, 8 percent for fats and oils, and 5 percent for poultry. Dairy product prices went up 12 percent, while egg prices averaged 10 percent higher.

--Prices of inputs, such as fuel and food containers used by food processors and retailers, rose 13.5 percent.

--Average hourly earnings of workers in processing and retailing rose 8.3 percent.

--After-tax profits of food chains with over $100 million in annual sales averaged 1 percent of sales for the second and third quarters combined of 1979, compared with 0.9 percent during the same period in 1978. After-tax profits of food manufacturers averaged 3.4 percent of sales during the first 9 months of 1979, compared with 3.2 percent a year earlier.

Hearing to Examine Foreign Farm Ownership

AUSTIN — A legislative subcommittee will investigate foreign ownership of Texas agricultural land at an April 9 public hearing at Amarillo.

The House Agriculture and Livestock Subcommittee on Agricultural Land will meet at 1:30 p.m. in the Seminar Room, Quality Inn on I-40.

"This hearing is for the purpose of obtaining direct input from Texans affected by foreign ownership of Texas farm and ranch land," said subcommittee chairman Pete Paterson, D-Brookston.

Patterson said foreign ownership of agricultural land is concentrated in three highly productive areas of the state:

--Upper Texas Panhandle, consisting mostly of irrigated wheat, milo and corn production.

--Upper northeast Texas in the heart of the state's dairy industry.

--Lower Rio Grande Valley, primarily Hidalgo County, center of vegetable and citrus industries.

"Foreign land speculators have contributed to the rising cost of farm and ranch land at the same time they enjoy tax benefits. Unfortunately, Texas does not have a registration law and it is very easy for a non-citizen to conceal his ownership," Patterson said.

In the last session, Patterson and other subcommittee members sponsored legislation seeking stronger registration requirements for foreign owners of Texas agricultural land. "I feel the bill was defeated primarily due to lack of understanding the overall impact of foreigners owning real property or the tax advantages they receive," Patterson said.

At present, 29 states have laws regulating non-citizen ownership of U.S. agricultural land, ranging from simple registration of ownership to an absolute ban and divestiture on holdings.

Other committee members are Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale; Tip Hall, D-Ponder; Tony Garcia, D-Pharr; Betty Denton, D-Waco; and Agriculture and Livestock Committee Chairman Forrest Green, D-Corsicana, ex-officio member.

Vaccine Could Help Reduce Scours Losses

Accurate diagnosis, proper treatment, and a new vaccine could cut Texas cattle losses due to scours as much as 85 percent, says Dr. Ed Murray, of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association. "Since scours add up to an annual loss of $250 million to cattlemen across the nation, and one out of every four cattle losses is the result of calf scours, cattle producers would be wise to take the proper procedures to prevent scours from getting a foothold in their herds," states Dr. Murray, the chairman of the bovine and ranch committee for the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

A new vaccine, to vaccinate the cow during pregnancy, will help reduce the high incidence and severity of viral scours among new calves. The vaccine, a two-dose program, can be given while pregnancy checking or while handling the herd for other purposes. The second dose should be given about a month before calving. While the usual practice has been to vaccinate the newborn calves within hours of birth, the management of reaching each and every new calf so quickly is a near impossibility on a larger ranch. Dr. Murray, a Spur veterinarian, states that the vaccine helps reduce viral scours that are attributed to the two most common scours viruses, the rotavirus (once called reo-like virus or reovirus) and the coronavirus.

A vaccinated pregnant cow "vaccinates" her calf against the scours with its first drink of colostrum. A single dose given to the calf within six to twelve hours after its birth provides the same protection for those cattle producers who prefer this management method, states Dr. Murray.

"Accurate diagnosis," stresses Murray, "should be strived for by the cattlemen who is faced with the treatment problems of calf scours. Treating scours without knowledge of the culture sensitivity may be wasted money, time, effort, and result in calf losses." Dr. Murray recommends several steps for treating scours:

--consult your veterinarian immediately at the first sign of scours. Avoid waiting for the problem to spread to other calves in the herd, or for the calf to become dehydrated.

--separate the scouring calf and dam from the rest of the herd if possible.

--have the veterinarian make an accurate diagnosis and implement proper treatment.

With an accurate diagnosis the calf then can be treated with the proper drug. And proper body-fluid replacements—the results being the reduction of scours spreading among the herd and positive results in cutting calf losses.

Prompt medical attention is an important factor, adds Murray. Calves not treated quickly may lose vital nutrients, body fluids, and electrolytes, resulting in dehydration and a high mortality rate.

"The reduction of cattle losses simply adds up to good management for the cattle producer, especially financial management," Murray stated. "Loss of a newborn calf causes the producer to lose the entire year's profit from the cow as well as the additional expense of feeding the cow a year without a calf. 1980 figures approximate the cost of one newborn calf at $275."

Cattlemen should consult their veterinarian to see if the new vaccine is the proper management procedure for their herd, added Dr. Murray.

Tech Announces Deadline For FFA Judging Contest

LUBBOCK — Panhandle and South Plains vocational agriculture teachers who wish to enter student teams in the Texas Tech University Future Farmers of America (FFA) Judging Contest should submit entry forms and fees by April 16.

The entry forms, requests for entry forms or other inquiries should be addressed to Dr. Marvin J. Cepica, Department of Agricultural Education, Texas Tech University, Lubbock 79409.

The contest will be held April 19 in the Texas Tech College of Agricultural Sciences and the Livestock Arena. The arena is located on the southwest corner of Indiana Avenue and the Tech Freeway.

Regional FFA judging events will include livestock, dairy cattle, milk quality and dairy foods, poultry, meats and agricultural mechanics. Winners from these events will advance to the State FFA contests to be held at College Station later. Texas Tech FFA events will include wool, land, cotton, crops and grass.

Cepica, contest coordinator, said this year's agricultural mechanics section will include plumbing, carpentry, concrete and masonry, leveling and land measuring. The power and machinery area of the agricultural mechanics will include sprayers and tractors. Electrical power and processing will include electric motors, electric controls and sensing devices.

Texas Tech faculty will serve as superintendents. Winners will be announced in the University Center Ballroom on the day of the contest.

Registration will begin April 18 when the Aggie Council, a student body of the College of Agricultural Sciences, will sponsor a "hamburger feed" for the high school students.

The contestants will have opportunity to visit with Texas Tech faculty and students to discuss the university's teaching and research program in agricultural sciences.

High scoring teams and individuals will be awarded trophies, banners, ribbons and medals.

The FFA contest is organized by the College of Agricultural Sciences.

TSCRA Brucellosis Policy Issued

FORT WORTH — Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, meeting in San Antonio March 9-12, issued a resolution regarding the newly-adopted brucellosis eradication program for cattlemen by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The program needs continued review and guidance, says TSCRA President John S. Cargile of San Angelo, Texas, and the association strongly supports the following nine points:

1. Continued funding for sufficient brucellosis research to increase understanding of the epidemiology of the disease and to develop better diagnostic procedures to distinguish field strain infection from vaccinal titer.

2. Increased calfhood vaccination of heifer calves.

3. Acceptance by USDA as soon as possible of reduced dosage levels for Strain 19 vaccine, which will give sufficient immunity, reduce titer levels, and possibly allow vaccination of heifers over ten months of age.

4. Continued evaluation and improvement of the Market Cattle Identification Program, including improving the effectiveness of the MCI trace-back procedure.

5. Improved education of and relationship with the private veterinary practitioner, who is a key person in a successful brucellosis control program.

6. Adequate laboratory capabilities to provide fast and efficient testing support for the brucellosis program.

7. Continuous reviews to determine the performance of people involved in the program, including federal personnel, state personnel and cattlemen.

8. Indemnity payments based upon the fair market value of animals destroyed because of brucellosis.

9. Adequate funding of the cooperative state-federal program, so long as it is effective and acceptable, to assure the disease is brought under control.

TSCRA, which represents 14,000 cattlemen in Texas, Oklahoma and surrounding states, also seeks additional changes in the Uniform Methods and Rules from time to time as needed to make the brucellosis program operate at optimum effective levels while protecting economic stability of producers.

Frontier Districts

A margrave was the German title of the count in charge of a mark (or march), one of the large frontier military districts set up by Charlemagne and his successors to protect the Frankish Empire. Of the six marches, two frontiers lent their names to modern nations. The Danish march gave its name to Denmark. The east march of Bavaria — Ostmark — evolved into Österreich and Austria.

Romania, though smaller than Oregon, has nearly 10 times as many people — almost 20,000,000.

Inflation Hurts Society

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —

Hardly the invisible enemy, as President Carter called it, inflation has now driven deep into consumer territory, inflicting many casualties and all but driving families out of house and home.

The consumer price index continues to rise at an 18 percent annual rate. Inflation-adjusted hourly earnings have fallen for seven straight months and now are 6.5 percent lower than a year ago. The savings rate is well under four percent, or about half what it was four years ago.

Taxes are up. The Tax Foundation estimates the tax take this year will rise to 35.8 percent of the average paycheck from 34.7 percent in 1979. Fifty years ago a worker toiled 42 days to pay taxes; now it's 131 days.

Credit outstanding is up, although at less than half the 13 percent rate of increase for 1979. Wasn't the increase bound to slow? Ten years ago households had $1,660 in installment loans; now it's $4,000.

Besides, the Carter administration and the Federal Reserve have clamped down on the ability of banks to make consumer loans. With real incomes falling, prices rising, savings shrinking and credit restricted, there is no choice but to retreat for millions of American households.

The job situation is holding up well. Unemployment, expected to rise during February, instead fell 0.2 percent from January's 6.2.

Improvements in productivity, or production efficiency, have all but evaporated from the American industrial scene, and without them no real improvement can be made in prices. Bankruptcies may rise.

In fact, many major American companies have ceased to make money on an inflation-adjusted basis. Others are failing to earn enough to cover dividends. They are living off their stored capital.

Some banks are in less than healthy condition. As far back as last October the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency, John G. Heimann, said the nation should prepare for failures of some large banks. Many savings and loan associations also have been losing money.

Home building, necessary to provide for a demographic bulge in the home-buying population, has been reduced to less than 1.5 million units a year, when the need is said to be closer to 2 million units.

It is unlikely that Americans, creative as they have shown themselves to be, can find a way around the anti-inflation restrictions now being imposed. The only obvious course is for them to retreat.

In retreat to a lower standard of living, it is argued, the victory will be won; inflation will be defeated and the groundwork set for the next economic advance. But critics disagree, saying the anticipated recession could destroy much of the desire to fight.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, March 26, the 86th day of 1980. There are 280 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On March 26, 1953, Dr. Jonas Salk announced discovery of a new vaccine for polio.

On this date: In 1847, Beethoven died. In 1913, more than 1,400 people died in floods in Ohio, Indiana and Texas.

In 1975, the South Vietnamese government announced the arrest of several people for plotting to overthrow President Nguyen Van Thieu.

In 1976, the U.S. and Turkey agreed on a four-year accord under which American military installations would reopen in Turkey in exchange for economic aid.

Ten years ago, American air attaché Donald Crowley was released in the Dominican Republic two days after he was kidnapped.

Five years ago, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger warned of a great danger in the Middle East because of his failure to achieve an Egyptian-Israeli peace agreement.

Last year, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin signed the first Middle East peace treaty in modern history in Washington.

Today's birthdays: Playwright Tennessee Williams is 66. Author Erica Jong is 38. Journalist Bob Woodward is 37. Actor Alan Arkin is 46.

Inmates Transferred After Jail Siege

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Dozens of Essex County Jail inmates were transferred to detention cells early today after a 13-hour siege that began when about 60 prisoners took over two floors of the facility and threatened to throw hostages out of a 10th floor window.

One guard was severely beaten during the takeover, which began about 2:40 p.m. Tuesday when another corrections officer was shot with a gun believed to have been smuggled into the 12-story jail by a visitor, officials said. One guard was dangled from the window before the incident ended.

The captured guards — estimates of the number varied between five and seven — were to leave the jail when the prisoner transfer was completed, authorities said.

A team of negotiators, including two New York television newsmen, met through the night before announcing a settlement at 3:45 a.m.

According to County Prosecutor Donald Coburn, authorities agreed not to prosecute inmates for taking hostages or damaging jail property, but refused to agree that inmates would not be charged in the shooting of the guard.

The county said it would investigate to determine which prisoners had been responsible for assaults on jail personnel during the takeover and would prosecute them.

It agreed to set up grievance committees and not to restrict visitation rights of those involved in the siege, Coburn said.

Coburn said about 60 inmates were involved in the disturbance, which was limited to the 10th and 11th floors, where 110 inmates charged with murder, armed robbery or violent crimes were housed.

Guards said tension in the 600-inmate prison had been brewing for some time.

"They're the majority. They rule," said one guard. "It was bound to happen."

Wearing white towels around their heads, inmates shouted obscenities through broken windows, taunting troopers and police who surrounded the jail and threatening to throw hostages out 10th floor windows.

At one point, the inmates hung a hostage, identified as Al DeRogatis, out a window. The guard dangled for about 10 seconds, then was hauled back inside.

Inmates initially demanded guns, ammunition and other weapons, said Sheriff Charles A. Cummings. But they later modified their demands, seeking increased visitation, better food and amnesty, he said.

Corrections officer James Dubose was in fair condition early today after he was shot with a gun reportedly smuggled into the jail by a visitor. He escaped by elevator shortly after the incident began.

Another guard, Carmine Blasi, was released by the hostages about six hours later. Authorities said he had been beaten severely, but his condition could not be determined immediately.

A third guard who became ill while working in the jail was taken from the facility in an ambulance.

Controls Affect Cardholders

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Your pocketful of plastic may carry less clout than it used to.

The impact of the recent credit controls announced by President Carter varies according to where you live, the type of credit you have and how much you spend.

More than a week after Carter unveiled his anti-inflation program, including moves designed to down consumer spending by making it harder to buy now and pay later, lenders are still trying to figure out exactly what to do.

"We don't see any clear cut trend," Tim Lynch, a spokesman for MasterCard (formerly Master Charge), said on Tuesday. "Most banks aren't promoting new cards ... Others are making the qualifications more stringent."

U.S. Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on consumer affairs, called officials of the Federal Reserve Board to testify at a hearing on the controls today. Another hearing by another subcommittee was scheduled for next week.

Among the things faced by the millions of Americans who already have credit cards are bigger minimum monthly payments, limits on cash advances, annual fees and higher interest charges.

Different cards, however, have different strings. There is also a difference between the "travel and entertainment" cards like American Express or Diners Club, whose customers generally must pay their bills in full each month, and the bank and store cards which offer users the option of paying a little bit at a time and incurring a finance charge on the balance.

James Stetler of Diners Club was quoted by Advertising Age, a trade journal, as saying: "The new ruling is meant to restrain consumer credit and not business expenses. Diners Club members use the card primarily for business expenses."

A full-page American Express ad in The Washington Post on Tuesday, addressed to cardholders, said: "You are expected to pay your bill in full every month ... You don't get in over your head. That's why our Cardmembers can continue to use the American Express Card in the manner in which they always have ... responsibly."

Where possible, banks and other creditors are raising interest rates. In places where state usury laws put a ceiling on interest, lenders are experimenting with new fees. In Miami, for example, the Southeast Banking Corporation said it would charge MasterCard and Visa holders an $18 annual fee, beginning next month.

Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank and one of the most aggressive in the field of consumer credit during much of the past decade, announced new rules on Monday. Among the changes: no new MasterCard or Visa cards; minimum monthly payments of $15 for current cardholders; no installment loans to new customers.

Many of the changes began even before Carter's action. Lenders, faced with the high cost of borrowing money themselves, found it was no longer profitable to grant loans at current rates. In the state of Washington, where there is a 12 percent usury ceiling, Seattle-First National Bank eliminated advertising for credit cards last summer.

Ted Finally Scores Big

NEW YORK (AP) — Finally, it was the way it was supposed to be all along for the heir to Camelot.

After weeks of defeat, something other than Kennedy almost never knew in politics, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was a big winner.

The Kennedy family was there.

The Kennedy smile was there.

The Kennedy crowds were there — as they were all week during a grueling week of campaigning as he drove toward his upsets.

"I love New York. And Connecticut, too," Kennedy laughed Tuesday night after scoring upset primary wins in the two states that could revive his faltering bid for the White House.

"We haven't had too many of these evenings," said the man who had already lost 19 of 21 contests to the president. "But I tell you, we're going to have a lot more."

Asked what his victories meant for Carter's chance for renomination, he smiled his big smile and laughed again.

"I think we've got another candidate that's going to get the nomination," he said.

And now, claiming that Kennedy is back on track, the Massachusetts senator's inner circle says it's the president who has to turn his campaign around.

Kennedy himself said his win showed the voters "were sending a very clear and powerful message...that they no longer can afford an inflation rate of 18 percent and interest rates that match."

His aides said the double triumphs showed the American public finally losing patience with the president, and that the concern about Chapquiddick had been eclipsed by concerns about such things as economics and foreign policy.

At the White House, press secretary Jody Powell said Kennedy still would have to win 63 percent of all the delegates yet to be chosen in order to catch Carter.

Even in defeat Tuesday night, the president picked up 143 delegates, running his total to 746 — or roughly 45 percent of the delegate votes needed for nomination. Kennedy increased his delegate total to 385.

Kennedy aides said the victories would provide a big psychological boost and mean more money for their cash-short campaign.

But at the same time, they virtually conceded the president would win two primaries next week in Wisconsin and Kansas, while Kennedy emphasizes the Pennsylvania primary on April 22.

Kennedy has dropped plans to campaign in Wisconsin, and has no personal campaigning scheduled in Kansas, either.

Instead, he probably will begin his drive in Pennsylvania on Friday. Aides said his campaign there will be virtually a carbon copy of the one he ran successfully in New York.

Issues Prevent Carter Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Week after week, Democratic primary voters have agreed with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on the issues, but voted for President Carter.

On Tuesday in New York and Connecticut, that paradox ended and Kennedy cashed in. Associated Press-NBC News' polls of Democratic voters say.

In both states, voters said they agreed with Kennedy's policies, not with Carter's. And they said they trusted Kennedy enough to believe he would do what he says — and thus they voted for him.

Thus, in one sense, Kennedy finally got the test he had asked for repeatedly in the past weeks — a vote on the issues.

On the Republican side in Connecticut, George Bush won his third primary by hitting Ronald Reagan where he was not thought vulnerable. Bush split both the conservative voters and the rock-solid GOP rank-and-file with the former California governor.

Throughout the primary season, Democratic voters have said they agreed with Kennedy, not Carter, on key issues. Nonetheless, they provided Carter with a long string of primary victories.

Tuesday that changed and Kennedy broke the string.

In New York, Democratic voters favored wage and price controls by a 56-24 margin, the AP-NBC News poll of 2,189 Democratic voters showed. And among those who favored controls, Kennedy won votes by a 66-32 edge over Carter. Those who opposed controls split their vote.

In Connecticut, where voters backed a moratorium on nuclear power plant construction 55-32, Kennedy, who has said he favors an end to nuclear power plant construction, won the backers of a building halt by 51-40 and again split the opponents with the president, according to the AP-NBC News poll of 1,497 Democratic voters in that state.

Another key to the Kennedy victory in New York was the overwhelming backing of Jewish Democrats. Kennedy took the Jewish vote, which was 38 percent of the Democrats, by a 79 to 19 margin.

This can be traced in large part to displeasure over the Carter administration's Middle East policy, particularly its recent vote in the United Nations against Israeli settlements on the West Bank and its subsequent repudiation of the vote.

About 41 percent of the Democratic voters gave the Carter administration good marks for its Middle East policy, while 55 percent gave it low marks. The rest were undecided. Jewish voters in particular were unhappy with the policies, with 37 percent giving it high ratings and 62 percent low marks.

The reason voters pulled the lever for Kennedy was that — this time — the Massachusetts senator, not the president, was the candidate they trusted.

LONGMONT, Colo. (AP) — Police say they had no trouble finding suspects in a burglary at Longmont Central School — the suspects left their pictures behind.

Police investigating the robbery found a stack of Polaroid pictures showing three boys aged 10-13, as well as a shot of the room where the burglary occurred, said police officer Graham Fowler.

The pictures were left on a desk along with an aerosol can scratched with the initials of one suspect, Fowler said.

Besides the camera, the suspected thieves took lunch tickets, model cars, colored pens and books for a total haul valued at $121, he said.

Three youngsters were taken into custody, police said.

Lawmakers Croon Their Feelings On Bill

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — It wasn't the usual way to end debate on proposed legislation.

Decorum was shattered Monday night when about a dozen members of the Minnesota House rose to sing a few bars of "Don't Fence Me In" during the final vote on a fencing bill. The bill passed on a 91-39

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN-Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton spent a day-and-a-half last week answering questions to a federal grand jury in Houston about allegations he accepted a $5,000 bribe last November.

Clayton told reporters afterwards he answered all questions, did not take the Fifth Amendment and discussed several subjects during the questioning. He is alleged to have taken the bribe in exchange for his help in obtaining a multi-million dollar state insurance contract for an undercover FBI informant.

Clayton maintains he took the money to avoid embarrassing the donor, but he planned to give it back and never spent the money. His lawyers handed over the stack of $100 bills to federal prosecutors last week and received a receipt listing the serial numbers of the bills.

Authorities say it may take several weeks for the grand jury to return an indictment or a "no bill" decision on the Speaker.

In the meantime, business in the House has slowed down until Clayton resolves his troubles. Many of the Speaker's friends are predicting that if he is indicted, he will abandon plans to seek an unprecedented fourth term as speaker.

Recruiting Clayton Foe
The only announced candidate to unseat Clayton, Rep. John Bryant of Dallas, admitted last week he tried unsuccessfully to recruit an opponent to run against Clayton for re-election to the House.

Bryant said he made an 11th-hour trip to Hereford before the filing deadline to offer support to Sheriff Travis McPherson and four other men if they would run against Clayton.

Bryant told reporters Clayton worked for four months to find him an opponent, and he was merely returning quid for quo.

He also flatly denied having any advance knowledge of the Brilab probe which touched Clayton's office, contrary to Rep. Buck Florence's allegation two weeks ago.

Scuttling the Primary
Texas Democrats were to meet last week to discuss cancelling the non-binding presidential primary they voted for last week.

Neither Carter nor Kennedy Democrats seem to want the primary, saying it would be pointless and a waste of campaign funds, said Ms. Billie Carr, leader of the party liberals.

She also theorized that if Kennedy dropped out of the race before May 3, (Texas primary date) liberals could vote uncommitted and beat the president.

Interest Raised
The three-member State Depository Board has hiked the interest rate for state deposits 2 1/2 points to an historic high of 14 percent.

A State Treasury Department official estimated the higher rate would earn Texas about $50 million a year more interest on time deposits of about $2 billion.

Oil Well, Mexican Courts
The head of Pemex, the Mexican national oil company, said the half-billion dollars worth of lawsuits stemming from the runaway oil well blowout in the Gulf of Mexico don't mean a thing - unless they are heard in Mexican courts.

He said the flow of oil has been halted and is no longer a threat to the Texas coast, but that Pemex will not consider paying for damages already caused by the oil spill unless legal action is taken through his country's courts.

The state of Texas, the federal government and other groups have filed lawsuits seeking damage payments totalling $500 million.

No such lawsuits have been filed yet in the Mexican courts.

AG Briefs
When the Legislature overruled the ad valorem property tax to almost nothing last year, some people speculated it would cost county tax offices more than $1 million to bring in $200 statewide, if they were forced to collect it.

But Attorney General Mark White found a loophole last week that keeps the county tax officers off the hook.

In a legal opinion, White ruled tax collectors can use a section of the law which says taxes don't have to be collected on property unless $5 or more is due.

The ad valorem tax was more than $10 million until the Legislature practically phased it out last session.

The State Property Tax Board is expected to adopt the rule at an April 30 meeting.

White also overturned a provision in the 1979 property tax code that would have denied the new over-65 homestead exemption if the homeowner failed to file for it by April 1.

White said while the March 31 deadline can be used for administrative purposes, such as to encourage early application, the county tax assessor may not refuse a claim for exemption even though it was not filed on time.

He also supported a state law which prohibits Texas Department of Public Safety personnel from political activity.

Can't wear soft lenses

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB - My wife had cataracts removed from both eyes in 1973 and has been wearing soft contact lenses. She is now having difficulty with the inside of the eyelids from the formation of small nodules which the doctor says are caused from an allergy to a protein build up caused by the material in the soft lenses. He wants her to try hard lenses and if that doesn't work he advised her she would have to depend on cataract glasses to see. With all of our modern technology and great medical expertise, we find it hard to believe that there is not a better solution to our problem.

DEAR READER - Isn't it wonderful to be able to choose between having soft contact lenses or the regular hard contact lenses? And beyond that there is still another choice - having a solid lens inserted inside the eyeball itself. There are new contact lenses under development which are still in the experimental stage that may be able to be left in the eyes for days on end.

My advice would be to do as your doctor recommends. If the regular contact lenses are well fitted, your wife may get along with them very well. Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-6, Your Cataracts Are Coming. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, almost everyone will develop cataracts if they live long enough. It's because of the very nature of regeneration of the lens inside the eye itself. For that reason, I think all mature adults should learn something about cataracts if they aren't already well informed about them.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm writing about my 31-year-old son. He's been having stomach spasms for the past year. He's had all the tests taken including barium enemas, X-rays, brain scan and about everything you can think of and all the tests are negative. He's been to several different doctors and each one has a different diagnosis. He has tried all the treatments and nothing seems to help.

He still gets two or three spasms a day and some of them last a couple of hours and some are only 10 minutes. At present he's on 98 percent low-fat milk and Sanka coffee but I don't see any improvement with that. He's tried Maalox, Maalox plus Librax, Mylanta, Valium, Donatal, Metamucil and all sorts of other antacid pills.

DEAR READER - I can't tell what you mean by stomach spasms. However, since he's had such an extensive work up without finding anything significant, it suggests that there is no structural, serious disease that would be life threatening or disabling. Of course, you can still have a very severe pain from spasms of the colon or at the outlet of the stomach, pylorospasm or esophageal spasms. A problem doesn't have to be life threatening to be pretty uncomfortable. Perhaps you're trying to tell me he has a spastic colon so I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Irritable or Spastic Colon and Constipation. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will give you some helpful hints that he might use in reference to diet which may help his problem.

Now, some people who have severe digestive complaints and there's nothing to see on X-rays and tests that are commonly used really have milk intolerance. It's worth a try. So I would suggest that your son try two things. First, eliminate all milk from his diet, including all foods that include any milk or dairy products in their preparation.

Texas Briefs

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A 15-year-old El Paso youth has pleaded guilty in the Jan. 30 shooting death of a motorist.

Donald Joe McCutchen pleaded guilty to delinquent conduct in the death of Steve Montano, 29, who was shot after he stopped his car to help a group of teen-agers.

Under state law, McCutchen could be held in a detention home until he is 18 years old.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Adult book store owners and movie theater operators will ask a federal judge Friday to stop police actions shutting down their businesses.

The plaintiffs say the police department issued a warning earlier this month that operators of the adult theaters and bookstores would be arrested if they were still in business after April 1.

The lawsuit against the city contends the law allows the stores to operate in certain areas of El Paso.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Four persons remained hospitalized Tuesday and five others were in jail following a weekend gang fight, police said.

Four teen-agers and a 31-year-old man were charged with attempted murder after the stabbing incident in the parking lot at an El Paso bar.

The victims were listed in good condition.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A former El Paso police detective who pleaded guilty to a marijuana charge has received a four-year suspended sentence.

Gilberto Preciado admitted using a telephone in a drug deal. U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton told Preciado he was a man who knew better and that he clearly knew he was breaking the law.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The trial of a California man accused of assaulting an airport security officer continued here Tuesday.

Lawrence B. Hill, 36, Norwalk, Calif., is accused of aggravated assault on patrolman Richard Talamantes.

The city policeman, who also worked as a security guard, testified Hill was intoxicated when the incident occurred at an inspection station at El Paso International Airport.

Both men fell through a large window onto the flight line pavement.

Talamantes testified he suffered pain "like somebody holding me underneath a cigarette lighter."

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General Mark White says counties can authorize the killing of dogs that attack livestock if a majority of voters approve.

Williamson County Attorney Bill Stubblefield of Georgetown asked White if a county ordinance is constitutional that says dogs — registered and tagged or not — may be killed when found attacking sheep, goats, calves or other domestic animals and fowls.

The ordinance says the dogs may be killed by anyone witnessing or "having knowledge" of such attacks without liability to the dog's owner.

White said "it is well established that property which is dangerous to the safety of the community may be summarily destroyed without violating due process of law." He cited several court decisions in other states.

However, he said, before such an ordinance may be adopted it must be approved by an affirmative vote of county voters.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has granted a 4 percent increase to approximately 40 members of Texas Bulk Carriers, Inc., and the Texas Tank Truck Carriers Association.

The increase, effective April 10, is expected to produce $4,155,037 in additional revenue for the two carrier groups.

Texas Bulk Carriers had sought an 8 percent increase and the Texas Tank Truck 6 percent, the commission said.

Bulk carriers, mostly interstate haulers, handle dry cargoes, including fertilizers and chemicals. Tank truck carriers handle liquid products and operate basically within the state.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has granted an 8 percent rate increase to Chemical Express Carriers, Inc., effective April 1.

The new rate is expected to increase revenues by $1,617,000, or $202,000 less than Chemical Express requested.

The commission said Chemical Express handles 65 percent of the cement transported in the state under commission authority.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements announced the appointment Tuesday of Geraldine Schwarzbach, an El Paso high school teacher, to the Teachers' Professional Practices Commission. Her term extends to Aug. 31, 1981.

FROM THE HALLS of Montezuma to the shores of — Cape Cod? This was the scene recently as Marines staged a mock amphibious landing on the Massachusetts beach to open three days of war games designed to test U.S. readiness to fight in winter weather.

Bruno Gets Good Sendoff

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ladies in minks, men in work clothes, they came by the thousands to view the casket of reputed crime boss Angelo

Bruno. But not all were there to pay their respects.

"I came to see the Mafia, the new godfather," one woman said. Plainclothes law officers had other reasons for being there.

Private funeral services were being held today for the 69-year-old Bruno, who was assassinated by two shotgun blasts to the head as he sat in a car outside his home Friday night.

His gray metal casket lay on a flowered pedestal before a huge spray of white lilies Tuesday as dozens of police set up barricades and directed slow-moving traffic past the funeral home.

Members of the immediate family and close friends were the first admitted, gaining entrance as their names were checked off a list. Then the Rev. Stefan Juliano of the Epiphany of Our Lord Roman Catholic Church conducted a brief rosary prayer service, and the parlor was opened to the public.

Peter Jacovini, the funeral director, said that an hour later he had exhausted his supply of 2,500 prayer cards.

"We had probably more than 5,000 people," Jacovini said.

Outside, several hundred persons watched as the known and the unknown went inside to pay their respects to the widow, Sue.

and the two Bruno children.

Many refused to talk to strangers, especially reporters.

"Go home! It's a disgrace. Show some respect," one man shouted at photographers.

Meanwhile, several plainclothes agents with cameras, earplugs and microphones tried to keep track of organized crime members who may have come to pay their respects to the family.

Mary Melino, who said she was a neighbor of the Sicilian-born Bruno, told a reporter after viewing the casket it was "really jammed inside. I never saw anything like it."

Another neighbor, Ann Mecci, said she did not think those in the crowd were merely curious. "I think they really liked him. I don't know why he was killed. He was really a good man. I hope that this doesn't start any kind of violence around here," she said.

Bruno, named by informant Joseph Valachi as head of the local crime syndicate, was said to have taken the reins of mob leadership in the Philadelphia-south New Jersey area in 1959. He served 2 1/4 years in prison for refusing to testify before investigators in 1970.

The Lighter Side

The Dog Did It — Honest
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Eric Nystrom will have to go to state officials to get a new tax refund check. His reason — the dog ate it. Honest.

Nystrom, 20, son of State Sen. Jack Nystrom, returned home Monday night and found that his 7-month-old basset hound, Alice, had mangled his Iowa income tax refund check for $195.16.

Alice declined to eat the portion of the check declaring the amount due, but she did consume the rest, making it non-negotiable.

Nystrom, R-Boone, says he and his son pondered what to do.

One idea, he said, was to see if the consumed portion of the check could be recovered...ah, that is, to see if Alice digested the paper.

They waited a while with no result.

Nystrom said he would approach state officials to get a new check. "I'm going to tell them that the first one was no good, that it didn't pass," he joked.

Picky Thieves Hit School

MORRISTOWN, Tenn. (AP) — It was no laughing matter, but there may have been a few snickers among the students at Meadowview Middle School.

The school was burglarized Monday night but, according to Detective Billy Joe Seal, only 10 items were taken.

The haul — 10 wooden paddles, one from each teacher's desk.

Reaching Out — From England To The Pacific

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — When the information desk telephone rang at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital, corpsman Richard Janushan thought it was a prank.

"It was a little kid, and I couldn't quite understand him," the 24-year-old sailor said. "At first I thought he was speaking a foreign language, but then I realized it was definitely a very strong British accent."

The boy said he was 10 years old, that his name was Gerard Love, and that he had dialed at random from Corby, North Hamptonshire, England.
