EQUIPMENT FOR GUARD COMING IN

EVERYTHING FROM "A SHOESTRING TO A KITCHEN"

RIFLE RANGE TOO

Expected That Uncle Sam Will Soon Arrange Target Field

Complete equipment for the new rifle company of the National Guard recently organized here arrived Thursday evening and Captain Morris is now busy in details of its distribution and upkeep.

The outfit consists of 65 rifles, 130 uniforms, with belts and bayonets, shelter halves, four garbage cans, four tents, 130 blankets, and a complete field kitchen. Captain Morris says he has everything from "a shoe string to a field kitchen."

The stuff has been stored in the Armory, over the Electric Service station. It is expected that before long steps will be taken to install the promised firing range, where the boys will practice at regulation targets, at varying distances.

Mrs. W. S. Higgins Dies After Linger- ing Sickness

After a lingering illness of months, Mrs. Mary F. Higgins, aged 69 years, wife of W. S. Higgins of Hereford, expired about 1:45 o'clock Wednesday evening, December 28.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist church Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock by the Rev. E. B. Atwood, assisted by Rev. B. F. Fronn-berger, interment in the Hereford Cen- tery.

Mrs. Higgins was perhaps the pioneer woman settler of this section, coming to this community in 1891 with her husband. She faced and conquered the trials and hardships of these early days with the unflinching and smiling hardi- hood of the typical American pioneer and spent her declining years in the contentment which comes from the knowledge that she had contributed largely to the social, religious and economic advantages now enjoyed by the residents of this favored section of the country. She was loved and known among her hosts of friends as a splen- did type of even-tempered, christian woman.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Higgins is mourned by three daughters, Mesdames Charles Hodges, Will Rambo and J. S. Orr, and two sons, O. K. and Claude Higgins, all residents of this community.

NEW BUSINESS NAPOLEON

This is George K. Culp, of New York, who is the father of a new system of selling merchandise which has opened the eyes of the nation's captains of finance. He has goods made in mass to sell at retail, particularly in auto tires, and his system enables him to sell much cheaper, at the same time making money for everybody concerned, from the manufacturer down to the user of the tires. Culp is no hog. He is the moving genius in 1200 stores in America, but owns only one-fifth interest in any store. He, however, triples the profits of the main owner of a store.

FERTSCH SAYS WE SHOULD COUNT OUR MANY BLESSINGS

Prof. L. M. Fertsch, former superin- tendent of Hereford's public schools, who has been spending the Holidays with his family here, expects to return to his studies in the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque next Monday.

Prof. Fertsch likes his work very much but says the people of this com- munity do not really know how many blessings they have on this earth, when compared with other states and other sections of the country.

POULTRY SHOW GROWS COMMITTEE ENLARGING ESTIMATES FOR COOPS

THIRTY-NINE CHICKEN PENS AND NINETEEN HEAD TURKEYS ENTERED TO DATE. TWO WEEKS TO GO YET, TOO

PREMIUMS OFFERED FOR WINNERS

Over $100 in Cash Prizes and Numerous Merchandise Prizes Have Been Secured, With More to Come. J. M. Lipscomb, Plainview Judge, May Help Breeders

"Publicity Promotes Poultry Pro- gress" is the slogan that has been adopted by the local poultry committee of the Chamber of Commerce in preparing for the coming Poultry Show, to be held on January 17-18.

And the public is responding nobly to the publicity, too. Never before has the interest in chickens and turkeys been so manifest. Merchants here tell the committee that a large percentage of the Christmas purchases made this year were paid for in checks issued by local commission and produce men in payment for turkeys, chickens, eggs and butter. There is a big demand right now for good breeding turkey stock and requests for information along this line are reaching the office of the Chamber of Commerce daily.

The committee canvassed the town Thursday and again Friday for cash and merchandise prizes for the entrants. Up to noon Friday $105.50 in cash and a generous number of merchandise prizes had been secured. The Brand will print these donations in detail in next Tuesday's issue, by which time they will be tabulated and put in shape to avoid errors.

Although it is two weeks off before the Show, and no entry blanks have been issued to date, a total of thirty-nine pens of poultry and nineteen head of turkeys have been voluntarily entered with the committee, not to mention some baby chicks, wild geese, capons, and other special attractions. Originally the committee planned for fifty pens of chickens but now realizes that the Show has outgrown this estimate already and arrangements are being made to double the original number of coops.

An Entry blank is shown on another page of this paper. Fill it out and mail to the Secretary.

J. M. Lipscomb, noted Plainview Judge, has offered his services to the committee, and it is entirely probable that he will be asked to come up and give some demonstrations in culling and selecting layers, etc.

Help a good cause along—if you haven't any real chickens of your own tell your neighbor about the Show—maybe he has some pure blooded stock.

Up to noon Friday the following entries had been secured. Several came in after the list was compiled and will be given next week. Watch the list grow!

Accidents Will Occur—A Goose- less Narrative

It is claimed that Secretary of State Hughes presents an unruined, dignity to the world under all circumstances, and never has that calm assurance been shattered. But the distinguished Sec- retary has never hunted the wild goose on the Plains of Texas. Vern Witherspoon thinks that if Uncle Sam's Sec- retary of State had been in his shoes on Thursday that serene front for which he is famous would have been spilled all over the landscape.

According to the way the boys tell it Vern, who had watched all season for a chance at a real shot at a real goose, was ambushed in a pit, on the side of a lake, heavily armed and thoroughly concealed. The remainder of the crowd were scattered around the lake. A squad of fat geese came within a stone's throw of the pit. It was a tense moment.

Vern crouched up slowly and carefully for that sure shot—and his artillery suddenly exploded accidentally, while the geese whirled and beat a rapid retreat. Nonplussed, but determined to get in at least one shot, Vern leveled his tricky weapon and snapped to his full height—and suddenly—sprawled on his back in the pit, while the bunch screamed with laughter and the geese disappeared in the distance.

Vern had been squatting on the tail of his overcoat in the pit and when he straightened up he was thrown as neatly as though Jim Robinson had secured a half Nelson on him.

One swallow does not make a sum- mer, however, and Vern believes that one double accident will not spell a gooseless season for him.

M'DONALD IS TO DIG WELL FOR SLATON

SECURES CONTRACT TO SUPPLY WATER TO CITY MAINS

SUBLETS A PART

Local Men Drill to Water Bearing Sand. Well Like Hereford's

The contract for sinking a 24 inch well from which to supply water for the city of Slaton has been secured by D. L. McDonald, who returned from that point a day or so ago. News was received this week that the attorney general of Texas had approved the City of Slaton's bonds, $55,000 for a sewerage system, and $35,000 for a water system, and action in letting the contract followed.

It is understood that owing to exces- sive railroad charges in moving his equipment, Mr. McDonald will sublet the drill contract to parties at Slaton and will take personal charge of the drilling after striking water bearing sand, which is deeper than at Hereford. The well will be similar to the city's well here but a five stage pump will be installed.

Swine Committee Working Well on Convention Plan

Preparations for the coming Swine Breeders convention and sale continue locally with increasing momentum. The steering committee, composed of E. W. Harrison, Leslie Neal and G. W. Brumley, have issued a letter to every member of the association, extending a cordial invitation to visit Hereford on these dates.

A sub-committee has charge of the arrangements for the banquet on Tues- day night, January 17, at which it is expected 300 people will be present. Work of getting the barn in shape will soon begin.

Earl Lewis of Childress, secretary of the association, is busy with details of securing attendance, speakers, etc., and will probably arrive here in advance of the other members in order to line up last minute arrangements with the local committee.

Miss Owen Gives Dinner Party
On Thursday evening Miss Zena Owen very charmingly entertained a number of her friends with a cafeteria dinner.

The guests arrived at 7:15 and a delicious dinner was served cafeteria style, after which Progressive Forty-two furnished delightful entertainment. Victrola music was enjoyed throughout the evening and at its close Miss Owen sang two very beautiful solos, upon the request of her guests.

Recital

The Broadwell home was opened to patrons and guests of Miss Lambert when she gave her semi-annual pupils recital, on December 23rd. The brightly lighted rooms were gay with Xmas decorations and the open fire gave an added touch of cheer to the winter evening. The guests were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Broadwell, and after a short social period, were so seated by Miss Helen that all could see and hear the young pianists.

Every number given, from the transcription of Old Black Joe, played by Little Lolita Wright, to the difficult classical numbers by the advanced students, showed careful preparation and conscientious study, as well as thoughtful care in selection of pieces by the teacher. Many deserve special mention. Little Miss Knight, who comes thirty miles to take lessons from this prominent teacher, has had only three months training, played her part with confidence, and showed what remarkable advancement can be made in so short a time, with proper training. Then there were the little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford of Plona, and Josephine Watson, also from the country, among the youngest students.

Some of the classical numbers which should be spoken of were the beautiful "Bird as Prophet," by Schumann, played by Miss Kathleen Hawkins, The "Serenade," which is very appealing when played as Miss Pittman and Miss Powelson played it. "The Reverie," of Strauss, by Miss McDonald and "Sunbeam Dance" by Miss Emma Jean Donald.

The last number on the program was made more interesting by the description and poem read by the teacher. One could plainly hear the song of the sea and the ladies' plaint, as Miss Powelson played it. There were about eighty guests to hear the following program:

- "Old Black Joe," arranged by Sidney Steinhilmer—Lolita Wright.
- "In The Swing," Milton D. Blake—Ella Broadwell.
- "Minuet in G," L. van Beethoven—Misses Wanda Wilkinson and Helen Lambert.
- "Song of the Wood Nymph," L. Galbraith—Miss Louise Ricketts.
- "The Daisies," Spaulding—Ruth Conkwright.
- "Tinkling Bells," Spaulding—Mary Katherin Crawford.
- "Enticement," Albert L. Morris—Misses Kathleen Hawkins and Mary McDonald.
- "Improvisation," Charles Demorest—Juanita Standifer.
- "Daddy's Birthday Waltz," W. Rolfe—Veda Hicks.
- "Genevieve," L. Adolph Coerne—Miss Mary Wilkinson.
- "Arab Dame," Mathilde Bilbro—Misses Frances Guinn and Ruth Haberer.
- "Reverie," Richard Strauss—Miss Mary McDonald.
- "Melody in F," Spaulding—Ruth Marie Mountz.
- "Sunbeam Dance," M. L. Preston—Miss Emma Jean Donald.
- "Be Cheerful," Spaulding—Josephine Watson.
- "Mazurka Impromptu," Carl Bohn—Miss Naomi Halsell.
- "Dance on the Lawn," "Merry Girls," Harris Harthorn—Tex Knight and Miss Helen Lambert.
- "The Bird as Prophet," R. Schumann—Miss Kathleen Hawkins.
- "The Meadow Brook," C. W. Krogmann—Inez Jowell.
- "Marion's Birthday Party," Mrs. H. B. Hudson—Helen Crawford.
- "Petite Scene," E. Shutt—Ruth Haberer.
- "Serenade," Franz Schubert—Misses Glenola Powelson and Eloise Pittman.

NEW DISEASE AMONG HOGS OF PLAINS COUNTRY

Post-Mortem Examinations Prove Not Cholera—No Herds Reported Affected in Floyd

A new disease has been found existing in several herds of Plains hogs, recent shipments to Fort Worth from Plainview having been discovered sick on reaching destination. A post-mortem examination by government veterinarians there found the sick hogs affected with what might be called inflammation of the bowels accompanied by a slight case of pneumonia, the disease being termed necro-bacillosis.

The Fort Worth Live Stock Reporter carried the following article relative to the disease that has been found on the South Plains, though no cases have been called to attention, originating in Floyd County:

"Necrobacillosis, a disease of hogs, is becoming prevalent in parts of Texas, according to G. H. Flaherty, hog cholera specialist of the Bureau of Animal Industry. During the past few weeks the disease has been found in Wheeler, Childress, Baylor, and Palmer counties and parts of East Texas.

According to Dr. Flaherty the disease usually is fatal, and there is no treatment for it. Symptoms are similar to cholera symptoms, and death generally occurs within a week or ten days. Although the disease is not rapidly infectious the whole herd is in danger when one animal succumbs. The only way to avoid the danger, Dr. Flaherty said, is to move the herds to clean pens and quarantine the animals infected."

The Plainview Herald says: "Dr. Flaherty has recently been in the Plains country, having been called to Kress and Tulla for examination of livestock affected with this disease. The editor of The Herald talked with him in Tulla last Wednesday night. He believes proper sanitation and segregation of affected animals is the best way to handle the disease. Lots in which affected animals have been held should be plowed up. The germs do not thrive in damp soil and wetting down lots is recommended.—Floyd-Ja Hesperian.

Rich, deep soil, properly prepared, pure seed of suitable variety, and thorough cultivation, are good insurance for a corn crop even in off seasons.

Has Forty 200-Egg Hens

There's a farm woman in Johnson county who knows her eggs—and the hens that lay them. Here is the report of a recent visit to her farm by Robert S. Clough, county agent: "We had a most interesting experience at Mrs. Mallard's. Mrs. Mallard has been a co-operator in poultry work for several years and has followed the recommendations of the Missouri College of Agriculture very carefully. This past year she has been trapping. She has forty birds that will go over the 200 mark. Her top bird at that time was 242 with several days to go. She will probably have a flock average of 175 because her hens were still in heavy production at the time. Mr. Townsley and I went over the flock, testing our culling ability against the trap-nest record. Mrs. Mallard had all the information at her finger tips, telling us exactly what the bird had done after we had passed judgment.—Farm & Ranch.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1921

What is human conduct but the hourly and daily sale of our souls for "dimes"—the foregoing is published broadcast as an epigram of the "clever" Bernard Shaw. A He! Human people in the mass do not hourly, or daily, or even weekly, or yet even monthly, sell their souls. Because the human person seeks comfort and entertainment and amuses himself sometimes with regrettable little vices and falls into error and sin, he sells his soul. The soul is not easily sold. And mark you, the soul was made by God is not so easily sold as some people imagine, either.

LOOK OUT FOR MORE PROPAGANDA

No doubt our readers have heard of a recent hullabaloo in New York against our modern American histories written by some very able American college professors. Don't worry over it, folks. It's all propaganda. The earmarks of propaganda are all over it. New York is the home of propaganda; you may be sure that when a bunch of fellows anywhere in the United States get ready to spring some doctrine or scheme on us simple folk, they start it in New York with huge clouds of smoke by day and lots of fireworks at night.

People of common sense who think now that the farther time moves away from some historical event, the more truthful must the histories of that event become. That is because prejudice die with the generations that were intimately concerned with the event. It is now about 140 years since the American revolution was fought and it is pretty safe to say that histories written by American scholars in the last quarter of a century are more truthful than those that went before and which propagandists would now like to foist on us again.

It is also enough to say that the Daughters of the Revolution approve the histories attacked.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922

"The art of government," says communist Bernard Shaw, who has made a fat fortune by writing brutal cynicisms, "is the organization of idolatry." Government in a democracy, is by the people and for the people. Without their consent it would not exist. Not liking the blood, or the torture, or the separation of families of the legalised free love, or the starvation of millions, all of which go naturally and freely with Communism, the people of democracies gladly consent to government. If you call that idolatry, Bernard, make the most of it!

SHERIFF'S BOARDERS MAKE ESCAPE

The two star boarders at the Hemphill County boarding house took French leave of the jailer Wednesday morning, and are gone where the woodbine twines and the homebrew spreadeth cheer in the holiday season. They have not been heard of since they hiked. The jailor was accustomed to taking the men over to the court house and letting them put in time by doing janitor work.

They gave him the slip this time and were gone before he had any suspicions of a mutiny in his court house cleaning department. Bill Martin, in jail for stealing a saddle and having served thirty days with 114 days yet over him, is gone, and H. A. Giles, with 30 days yet to serve for stealing a pair of shoes, are the men who gave the jailor the slip.—Canadian Record.

CARRIES CLOTHES AND SHOWS SPEED

Thursday night, about eleven o'clock those who were still out on the streets saw a man making record time down Second street toward the Denver station, carrying his trousers and shoes in his arms.

It is reported that the man's name was Couch and that he claims to have been whipped by the Ku Klux. Reports state that he received a severe chastisement, was brought back to town and turned loose on upper Second street. He says he was told to see how fast he could go down the street and he didn't propose to soldier on his job.—Childress Post.

DIMMITT CASTRO COUNTY

A Christmas Dinner

A most elaborate Xmas dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Flanagin, at their residence at 202 Highland Park, Dimmitt, Tex.

The guests began arriving at eleven-thirty, and were ushered into the reception room, by Miss Ray Young, sister of Mrs. Flanagin.

The room was beautiful with its decorations of holly and mistletoe. The large south window held a lovely Xmas tree with all its suitable decorations.

At one o'clock the large double doors leading to the dining room were thrown open and dinner announced. The guests stood enraptured for a moment as the lovely scene met their view. A large Xmas wreath and bells suspended above the table, held red and green ropes extending to the respective places of the guests, while the snow sprinkled upon the table and Xmas tree in the center surrounded by candles, was suggestive of true Xmas weather.

Favors for the first table were tiny green and red boxes of chocolates, tied with red and green ribbons. For the second table, sprigs of mistletoe tied with ribbon.

Words are inadequate to describe the bounteous feast, suffice it to say that from the turkey with its garnishings to the dessert, carrying out the Xmas colors, everything was perfect.

The afternoon was spent enjoying sweet music, conversation and "Kodaking." As the shadows began to lengthen, and the lights were turned on, the guests reluctantly departed, each feeling that Mr. and Mrs. Flanagin were indeed an ideal host and hostess. The day will long be remembered by the following families: Tom Tate, Doc Lovelace, I. B. Brooks, Holt Lovelace of Plainview, E. D. Woodlee, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, C. J. Mapes, Fred Galley, and Miss Ray Young and Messrs. Eugene Lovelace and Jack Tate. Thirty-five in all. One who enjoyed the day very much.

The "Merry Christmas" time brought many pleasant things to this community. There was the usual Christmas tree filled with gifts for young and old, accompanied by a splendid program, presenting anew the great Christmas theme. The little folks and some that are not so little, all who took part did nicely. Then at the close of the program "Old Santa" came blustering in

A bunch of the older boys spent Friday in getting the tree for the occasion, driving more than one hundred miles, but they had a good time. Incidentally they hunted some. Dick Calloway got a fine mallard duck, one of the Galleys got a prairie chicken and the whole bunch got a jack rabbit and lots of fun.

The social gatherings this week were numerous. A family gathering at the Galley home on Saturday. Chicken with all the trimmings and a good time. All present except Dixon and Mary Turner, who are at College Station and hard times kept them away.

The Hersheys took dinner with Arch and Margaret Conklin. The Sharp family had dinner with Charlie Johnson's family. Irad West and family dined with his brother in Hereford.

FIFTY-TWO HOURS OF PLEASURE FOR A DOLLAR

The Panhandle Herald boasts of the fact that it is called by some "The Weekly Headache," explaining that it got this pseudonym from the fact that when a subscriber gets his copy he sits up late at night reading it, and so has a headache next day. M. T. Wilkerson has paid The McLean News a compliment that is not in the least exaggerated, and is, if anything, more smillevoking than the name given the Panhandle paper. We sent him a sample copy, and after he had finished reading it he turned to his wife and said: "It took me an hour to read this paper, and I enjoyed it every minute; fifty-two hours of pleasure worth any man's dollar and I am going to subscribe." We have his money; his name is written in our book of lives; we are pleased, and so is McLean News.
